BE IT ORDAINED by the Governing Body of the Township of Clark that Chapter 7, Article 1, of the Kevised General Ordin-ances of the Township of Clark, ealtilled "Boards and Authorities," be and the same is hereby amended as follows.

Public Service marks 75 years in business

Public Service Electric and Gas Co. of Newark marked the 75th anniversary of its founding last year. The anniversary was highlighted by the start or con-struction on a new corporate headquarters building in downtown Newark. The company hashad its headquarters in Newark since it was founded in 1903 by a group led by Thomas N. McCarter. Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new 26-story building, which will be called Park Plaze, were held in April of last year. By year-end steel for the 400-foot-highatructure was rapidly being put in place. Completion of the complex, which will contain 1,000,000 square feet of space, is scheduled for next year. The project is being erected by R.T. Urban Renewal Investors, a development partnerably owned jointly by Investors, a development partnership owned jointly by Rockcfeller, Inc., and Tishman Realty & Construction Co., Inc.

of which of have been producers, and 10 are still being drilled. Construction progressed last year on a national facility in Hillsborough Township adjacent to a PSE&G substation to test futuristic batteries for use in electric power systems. The project, known as the Battery Energy Storage Test (BEST) facility is a joint effort of the commany the Dept of Energy and the Uservice power systems. The project, known as the Battery Energy Storage Test (BEST) facility is a joint effort of the company, the Dept. of Energy, and the Electric Power Institute, which is supported by the nation's electric utilities. Development of the batteries would permit power produced by nuclear or coal generating stations during periods of low demand to be stored and later used at times of peak requirements. This would mean fewer generating units would be needed to meet peak demand and reduce the need for costly imported oil. During the last year the company completed the first phase of a $000,000 solar demonstration program. Operating data has been analyzed for solar hot water heating, space heating and pool heating systems in-stalled in 11 of 14 customers' homes. The program, which is designed to run for three years, is to assess the potential and determine the feasibility of solar energy as an alternate domestic heating source in New Jerzey. At least two houre years of operating data will be collected to gain greater insight into the operation and maintenance costs asso-ciated with these systems. Research continued last year in aquaculture at the company's Mercer Generating Station to utilize heated discharge water to enhance the growth of aquatic food products such as trout and shring. A prototype greenhouse has been built at the station which also will utilize the heated discharge water to ex-tend the growing season of agricultural products such as tomatoes and flowers. The program promises to provide a beneficial use of power-plant effluents and could lead to new industries in New Jersey, and additional sources of revenue for the company.

within the reach of the people. City Trust Services, N.A., which provides such services, has been sued by the New Jersey Bankers Assn. on the idea the govern-ment charter granted to City Trust Services was illegal. But Congress, lare in the year, enacted a law atmed at clearing up this point. As interest rates climbed to a point above New Jersey's outdated usury statute, City Federal was chie to keep its loan windows open for low down payment loann at each of its 69 branches through a purchase arrangement with the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp. That program alone has already helped more than 275 families with $12.5 million in mortgage loans in 1978. Total mortgage loans made during the year will exceed 2,700 for approximately $115 million. The recycling of money for mortgages for new home loans has been a major part of City Federal Savings' operations during the year just ending. City Federal Savings has marketed $8 million of GiviNia mortgage-backed securities and is today looking at the possibility of selling such securities in the Eurodolar market --all aimed at bringing in a fresh supply of funds with which to make new home loans. That effort also is expected to be helped in 1979 as City Federal Savings has nascent corporate Tax and Lean Accounts, Late in 1978, City Federal became the first savings and loan association in the New York Federal Reserve Bank District to be given authority to accept such deposits. Federal Reserve Bank District to be given authority to accept such deposits. Says Mr. Roessner of City Federal's performance in 1978, "There were many long overdue breakthroughs for the consumer. The government is beginning to recognize that savings and loan associations, in order to accommodate their charter responsibilities to serve the people, must become family financial centers. That's been City Federal Savings' goal, and we believe it will soon be reality for all savings and loans in the nation."

Show per annum, a step in the right direction. Living in the United States is the greatest privilege on earth. Let us be careful not to cheapen it. Let us pick and choose among those with good health, no criminal record and needed skills. Let us spend money wisely by increasing the Border Pariot to whatever extent may be necessary, for it will in the end be money as to:

As for any kind of amnesty, forget it. Amnesty for draft-dodgers was a colossal blunder. Let us have no more of the same. And let us unhesitatingly deport the illegals who have broken our laws in entering, no matter how long ago.

The Social Security Administration released some The Social Security Administration released some startling projections about the future impact of inflation. According to their figures, if wages rise at 5.75% a year --a rate below the current increase -- by the year 2050, the average worker will be earning $656,000. Before going overboard and dreaming of living like a Rockefeller, consider what you will have to reckon with on that $555,100 Jeasen if prices here rights at the Before going overboard and dreaming of living like a Rockefeller, consider what you will have to reckon with on that $050,000 satary if prices keep rising at $7,50 year --a rate less than half of the current accord inflation.
A loaf of bread which now coats 60 cents will cost $37,50. Today's 10¢ telephone call will cost $4,500 would cost $281,000 in the next century.
It could happen unless the government stops spending more than $1 billion a week it doesn't have while tolerating waste and taxes which are hurting out conomy.
When a country keeps going into debt as fast as the United States, it is no wonder the dollar, which was worth 100¢ when President Dwight D. Elsenhower left office in 1958, has dwindled in value to a measily 444 this year.
Essential remedies include balancing the federal bdget, eliminating wasteful goveriment spending, achieving a foreign trade surplus rather than a controlling oil prices.
The adoption of aludiret new tax --a value-added tax, recommended by some members of Congress -- is no the answer to curing findation. It would be inequitable and inflationary in an economy as complex as ours, in any event, one of the overriding needs is for leas, rather than more taxes.

distribution of a product -- was applied in Great Britain and what has happened to Britain's economy as a result of the tax is certainly nothing to write home about. Turning to VAT in the hope of economic salvation would be like setting fire to your home to prevent the spread of dry rot. The more sensible course for Congress and the Administration is to bolster the dollar by spending only what we have on hand -- which means an end to deficit budgets and eliminating waste in all branches of government. of government. With it must come a faster and more effective attack With it must come a faster and more effective attack on excessive federal regulation. Businesses are being needlessly snarled in bureau-cratic red tape. So are millions of individuals. The result is a multi-billion drain on the economy and a significant boost in the rate of inflation. Barry Bosworth, director of the Council on Wage and Price Stability, estimates governmentoverregulation is responsible for .75% of the current inflation. The cost of regulation amounted to a staggering $100 billion last year - $470 for each person in the United States. Much of it was unnecessary and a burden on the nation's economy. Moves are under way to reduce the extent of regula-tions, and in particular to cut down on paperwork. But the pace is painfully slow. In some arecase it has falled to offset the introduction of new regulations. In fact, the outlays of 41 regulatory agencies increased 100% over the past five years. Reducing inflation and restoring fiscal reasonableness in government nust be the overriding goal this year.

ing and political cowardice that have marked public policy for years. We've simply tried to do too much for too many, without the gumption to use fiscal and monetary restraints needed to keep the lid on inflation. So we have had: to keep the lid on inflation. So we have hid: Government overspending. Ten years ago, federal ex-penditures were $185 billion and we ran a small budget surplus. Even then, the spending figure was considered enormous. To-day, expenditures are at half or inflion dollars and the deficit adds up to around a billion dollars a week. Go back 30 years, to the height of the Fair Deal, and you find total outlays about one-fourteenth what they are now.

In 1976, the latest year for which we have hard figures, Americans paid $486 billion in taxes—federal, state and local. To put that in perspective, we spent $17 billion less than that on food, clothes and housing combined. In addition to socking individuals, the heavy tax bite on Deveregulation. Regulation at all levels of government is estimated at a whopping $100 billion a year. This includes salaries at agencies charged with making regulations, the costs to businesses and individuals to comply with those regulations and the "more function" costs i e an estimate of the to cusinesses and individuals to comply with those regu-lations, and the "opportunity" costs, i.e., an estimate of the new products that didn't get produced and the jobs that didn't get created because of the time, money and energy detoured into regulatory compliance. All of these factors give an upward push to inflation—not least the fact that firms that pay out for regulatory upin exclusion to the set the set of the fact that forms the pay out for regulation ultimately have to pass the costs along to consumer in the form of prices. Overblown bureaucracy. As government has swollen, has the army of bureaucrats. The federal payroll has risen fro 2 million in 1950 to about 2.8 million today. State and local government growth is even greater—from 4 million to nearly 13 million. This, of course, means increased outlays and the isk of deficits. So big government translates into big inflation, and that spells trouble for us all. Nobody escapes inflation. But there are hopeful signs, too. Although there are hold-outs, a majority in Congress and the White House now label inflation the number one domestic problem. The President has but together a program that embasizes government restraint put together a program that emphasizes government restrain nd already is catching flak from the big spenders. Wage and price standards have been invoked. If the wage/price focus is matched by a determination to implement wiser and more prudent fiscal and monetary policies--which are the real answer to curbing inflation--then the battle may just be won. After helping his pregnant wife from the car, the young man reached into the back seat and pulled out a blanket and pillow. Then they walked into the lobby of Rahway Flospital, right past the information desk, and into the community room. No, they weren't supposed to be headed for the labor and delivery area. They were meeting other couples in the community room where they would all take part in a parent education course designed to inform them about the childbirth process. Parent education courses have been given at Rahway Hospital since 1972. Since that time, more than 300 people have taken part in them. According to a hospital spokeswoman, "With the knowledge gained from the classes, the couples know what to expect from the labor and delivery process-and are as a result more relaxed and less fearful at that time."

Each course consists of five sessions that cover topics of pregnancy, nutrition, growth and development of the fetus, labor and delivery and baby care. Exercises that emphasize breathing and relaxation techniques are taught to the couples, who bring their own blankets and pillows in order to practice. Films and literature supple-ment the lectures given by specially-trained maternity nurses, and the couples are taken on a tour of the labor and delivery areas, the post-partum floor and the nurserv.

Enclusion on the part of the couples grows with each session, and it's par for the course that most of the husbands ask more questions of the instructors than the wives do. Each class is limited in size and a nominal fee is charged in cover operating express. Attendance at Each class is limited in size and a nominal fee is charged to cover operating expenses. Attendance at the classes usually beings when the woman is in her seventh month of pregnancy, and the course is open to either one or both parents. Any father who wants to be present during his child's birth is required to attend the classes. Since February, 1978, a refresher course has been offered to couples who have already completed the parent education course and who are expecting another child. This course is designed to review breathing and relaxation techniques and was started at the request of the couples who felt they needed an update on labor and delivery preparations. Both classes have received enthusiastic responses from the participants.

noy "Do I Smell Gas?' HERE'S WHAT

IF YOU SMELL GAS YOU-AND EVERY MEMBER OF YOUR FAMILY SHOULD KNOW THIS: (Even if you don't have gas service in your home) Natural gas has a better salety record than any other form of energy and you can help to keep it hat way by using it properly and by knowing what to do if you smell gas, whether the odor is in your home, the building you are in—or even outdoors. The odor of gas—indoors or outdoors—indicates potential danger. Natural gas itself has no odor. A harmless chemical is added which give off the characteristic "gas smell" so you can easily detect a gas leak. If you ever smell faint whilfs of this odor do the following: 1. Check to see if a pilot light is out, or if a burner valve is partially turned on. If you cannot find the source of the odor, call us at once. Open windows and doors to dissipate gas. Never light a gas appliance if a strong odor of gas is present—and never usematches to look for gas leaks. Avoid operating any electrical equipment —including light switches or thermostats. 3. IF THE ODOR IS EXTREMELY STRONG GET OUT OF THE BUILD-S IMMEDIATELY AND CALL US FROM A NEIGHBOR'S PHONE A GAS ODOR CAN OCCUR IN A HOME OR BUILDING WHICH DOES NOT HAVE GAS SERVICE. If this happens, open all doors and windows and call us at once. Do not operate any electrical equipment, including tight switches or thermostats If the odor is extremely strong, follow step 3 above. A GAS ODOR MAY BE PRESENT OUTDOORS.

If you direct a gas of outdoors do not try to locate the source but call us right away. Even though most outdoor "gas odors" are caused by other reaons, we will investigate them immedia ----- FOR EMERGENCY SERVICE -----Call us immediately—whatever the time, day or night, including weekends and holidays. United Nations cites children around globe

The United Nations has proclaimed this year as the international Year of the Child. The proclamation gives all countries a special year to put a fresh focus on bildeen's concerne children's concerns. "Far too many children, especially in developing countries, are undernourished, are without access to countries. are undernourished, are without access to adequate health services, are missing the basic educa-tional preparetion for their future and are deprived of the elementary amenities of life," reports a U.N.

Chief Smar warns:

Use extra care on ice

Winter isn't over yet, Clark Police Chief Anthony T whiter isn't over yet, Clark Police Chief Antiony 1. Smar warned, and be pointed out the great danger now is overconfidence -- a let down in the winter driving know-how we've built up over the early winter months. Chief Smar reminded all drivers our area often erneriences alternate thawing and freezing at this time of year. That means we may encounter ice where we previously drove on snow -- and ice is especially treacherous.

we previously drove on snow -- and ice is especially treacherous. For example, under normal conditions you can stop on dry pavement from a speed of 20 miles per hour in about 17 feet with regular highway tires. At that same speed, using those same tires, you can skid as far as 200 or more teet before coming to a stop under extreme glare ice conditions. That's almost 12 times your normal stopping distance. The chief put the problem in other terms. If you can stop on dry pavement in about 150 feet from a speed of 55 miles an hour you must slow down to 20 miles an hour or even less to skid to a stop on glare ice in the same distance.

hour or even less to skid to a stop on glare ice in the same distance.
Six tips to help overcome both speed-to-traction and winter visibility problems have been developed by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards and are endorsed by the International Asan. of Chiefs of Police. They are:

--Have good tires with good treads. Better yet, use snow tires which provide half again as much pulling power in snow as regular tires. Studded snow tires where permitted, offer still more help on icy surfaces, Radial tires may or may not improve traction on anow, depending on their tread configuration, i.e., a snow tread will perform as a snow tire.
- Always carry reinforced tire chains in the trunk of your car for use during severe snow and ice conditions. They provide four to seven times as much traction on snow or ice as regular tires.
- When you start out, get the "feel" of the road by accelerating carefully to see if your whele spin or hrake gently to see if they skid. Reduce speed accordingly.

brake gently to see if they skid. Reduce speed accord-ingly. --Increase your following distance -- it takes at least three to nine times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry payement. --"Pump" your brakes to slow or stop. Don't jam them on. An intermittent pumping action keeps the wheels rolling and helps maintain steering control. --Keep your windshield, windows and all lights clear at all times. Replace streaking wher blades gone dead from exposure to sun, wind and cily road film. Be sure your windshield washer solution contains adequate antifreeze.

The improvement in the quality of girls' basketball in the last few years has been exciting. And that could lead to a change in locale, eventually, for the four-game final round of the state tournament which will be played March 17 at the North Brunswick High's fine gymnasium, a facility which seats 1,200. which will be played March 17 at the North Brunswick High's fine gymnasium, a facility which seats 1,200. The girls are getting close to filling that gumnasium - the crowd for the me-charge admission last season was about 900. Mother Secton played inone of the games. The response has gotten so big the NJSIAA, under assistant executive secretary. Flo Pergallo, has set up configency plays for the use of a second gymnasium, if the crowd looks like it will gettoo big for the Raiders school, Sayreville will be pressed into use and the games will be split between the two courts.
"Coaching will improve, but we've got to wait until the girls who are playing in high school today go to college and get into the coaching ranks."
