To have or have not--Big Brothers decides?

along comes another glimpse of horror to unsettle normal, God-fearing parents, present and prospective —for which we are indebted to the World Future Society.

This is a think tank which, like most of its ilk, sees things to come in terms of a world government administered by elitits, in the December, 1978, issue of its "Futurist" magazine, one Jerry Bergman calls for licensing of would-be parents.

This genius earns his living by teaching educational psychology at Bowling Green State University in Ohio and thus has lots of opportunity to peddle his theories to impressionable collegians, who will buy almost anything of an off-bear nature.

But other adults must surely be far less receptive to his unnatural proplest. Mr. Bergman argues, fallaciously, since people must have licenses to drive a car, buy a gun or practice medicine — actions in the public domain — parents should be licensed to have children — an action in the private domain. He posits his argument on the assertion most parents "have virtually no training in general nutrition, developmental psychology or the legal rights of children."

We say, "thank heave they do not," if the possessors of such knowledge are going to be as fatuous as Mr. Bergman. It is clear the human race has kept going and expanding and also progressing in knowledge, invention and culture ——if not in godliness—for a very long period of time. Parents have known nothing of all these "isms" and could nothave cared less. They have understood instinctively their children need love and care and instruction at least of an elementary nature. That they must be trained in getting along with their siblings and then with others in how to take care of themselves, their bodies and their belongings, in how to earn their daily bread and in how to conserve and "make do." Such training has traditionally included a respect for property rights.

Imperfect parents have been raising imperfects offspring in an imperfect manner through all the lifes—but the futurist. He even wants the — all powerful—stat

Would they discriminate against linke-believers, Americanists, Roman Catholics or even enrolled Republicans because in their view such individuals are unbalanced or not quite smart? Would these decision-makers be super-humans free of bias, prejudice and just plain vindictiveness?

Come, come, Prof. Bergman. America is the land of the free, and even the most apathetic of our citizens abbor any prospect of government intrusion into the most private and personal aspects of their lives. They possess constitutionally squaranteed rights of privacy and personal responsibility.

Add to these the large percentage of Americans who rely on the Biblical admonition, "Be fruitful and multiply," and there is a ready-made army prepared to do battle with any infringement on their personal decisions on child-bearing within the bonds of matrimony. The "child-license" propagandiats should be licked before they get beyond the gabbing stage.

Having said this, however, we should perhaps add for cases of proven child abuse, state legislation —not federal —which would require immediate sterilization of an abusive parent would be highly desirable. But, to put "experts" in charge of spotting a potentially-abusive parent in advance would be no more practical than are the present psychological tests used to determine which convicts have been "cured" of criminal tendencies. Too many go public to rape and murder alanced budget good, but cut spending now

The recent proposal of Gov. Jerry Brown of California for a constitutional convention aied at requiring a halanced federal budget is not as far fetched as it may seem. Legislators in 22 states already have called for a constitutional convention for basically this same purpose, and other states, with the exception of New Jersey, have indicated they intend to take the same action. There already exists a firm base of support in Congress. Before the end of the last Congress, 43 such

Budget-trimming laws can avoid useless cuts

Both the federal and state budgets for fiscal year 1980, which begins Monday, Oct. 1, were released last month, and, predictably, not everyone is satisfied.

Gov. Brendan T. Byrne faced a shortfall until hastily-enacted increases in motor vehicle registration fees and other last-minute manipulations combined to cover, for now, a $290-million deficit.

President Jimmy Carter, despite his public insistence his is a "lean and austere" budget, is far from his goal of a 65 inflation rate and is still in the red to the tune of $29 hillion -- meaning the federal government will spend, each week of fiscal 1980, over $00 million it does not have.

All of which goes to show an annual trimming of the budget gives us only partial answers to the problem of runaway government spending and the inflation which results from it. Holding down costs is a goal which must be attended to daily, with all levels of government. If these plains are enacted and implemented, we may be shie to avoid the annual wringing of hands over impossibly-ewollen budgets.

- The so-called "sunset" law which recently passed the Assembly would require agencies of the state government to periodically justify their existence before being cllowed to continue. The "sunset" appropriate form will be sent by you by mail. No forms are available for placing assures rermination of unnecessary divisions of government. As a co-sponsor of this bill, I urge have been appropriate form will be sent by you by mail. Who forms are available for placing assures rermination of unnecessary divisions of government. As a co-sponsor of this bill, I urge have been appropriate form will be sent by you by mail. Who forms are available for placing assures rermination of unnecessary divisions of government. As a co-sponsor of this bill, I urge have been appropriate for having more divisional contraction to certain unneceded agencies, we also get rid of waterful government continuations. The Big Brother aspects of government to continue, and the propose of the story in the continuatio sors and co-sponsors, and there were five such proposals submitted in the Senate with 27 sponsors and co-sponsors.

But a constitutional convention could present hazards. The Constitution could be amended en masse with amendments piled on top of amendments. As President Jimmy Carter commented at his press conference, it would be a radical departure from the policy of amending our Constitution over the last 200 years.

The president's own budget with a deficit of $29 hillion in the near fiscal year -- half of what it was two years ago -- certainly heads our nation in the right direction, indeed, if there are no tax cuts and employment remains around its current levels, there would be a heavy budget surplus by 1982, according to the Administration's timetable.

The problem is one of credibility. Many states which have demanded a belanced budget are insisting at the same time Congress continue costly agricultural subsidies, and others want new programs enacted like the President's welfare plan, which would cost billions more than the current program. They cannot have it both ways. A balanced federal budget generally means lower amounts of assistance to the states and cities.

It would be difficult to devise a constitutional amendment prohibiting any deficit spending without adding provisions which would allow Congress and the White House to deal with unanticipated military or security needs and dire economic conditions such as another recession. As President Herbert Hoover discovered, a balanced budget isn't worth snything if millions of Americans are out of work.

Achieving a balanced budget has become much harder hecause of well-organized pressure groups and the fact the percentage of fixed costain the budgethas shot up to almost 60% of total spending. This includes the $59.8 hillion.

Today's federal obligations come to $3,921 for every man, woman and child in the nation, an increase of 8.7% hust in the past year. By 1982, if the debt continues on its pressur course, the burden for every individual will be $4,4 ment spending.

The passage of "sunset" legislation, the creation of a legislative oversight committee and more attention to a balanced budget can cut the cost of government.

By acting on such fiscally-responsible measures now, we can move immediately to halt government growth, avoid deficit spending and save tax dollars.

American administrations and to the American people exposing the terrible brusality practiced by Communist regimes against their own people.

On Dec. 15 of lest year, President Jimmy Carter, a Rockefeller stooge and the latest of a long line of fools to occupy the White House, joited the Free World — but not the Communist World — when, on nation-wide television, he gleefully announced the United States will recognize Red China as the official government of China. As the experience of the 1950's proved, the narion can have prosperity, high employment, low inflation and a favorable rate of growth, if federal spending is less than 20% of the Gross National Product. During that prosperous period, it ranged from 16 to 18% compared to 22% in the past year. China.

President Carter, who is living proof of the theory of anti-matter, received zilch in return --no promise Communist China will not attack Free China, no assurance Red China will settle its outstanding U.S. Inancial claims, and, of course, no commitment the Chinese Reds will alter their repressive human rights conditions. The next time this peanut bender from Panama lashes out against alleged human rights violations in such Christian, anti-Communist governments as Rhodesia and South Africa, I hope he gagoon his words, the damn hypocrite. Christian, anti-Communist governments as Rhodesia and South Africa, I hope he gago on his words, the damn hypocrite.

Ever since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt, one American administration after another has granted the Communist world concession after concession without receiving anything in return except Americans killed in Europe, Korea, and Vietnam, not to mention thosekilled in the U.S. by Communist "liberation" fronts referred to by the leftistnews medis as "terroristorganizations" without any mention at all of their Communist connections.

As predicted by most conservatives, left-wing "liberals" like Sen. Harrison A. Williams were quick to extol the new trade possibilities which will surely materialize after the U.S. "bormalizes" relations with Communist China. But what Sen. Williams and others of his scarlet like do not mention is the fact the U.S. will gain little from trade with the Chinese Reds who, in return, will gain all they want and need --another propaganda victory, embassies in the U.S. from which Communist propaganda, espionage and hard drugs --earmarked for or youth -will be pushed, computers, American businessmen, wheat and long-term credit loans guaranteed by the American taxpayers, the higgest bunch of fools the world has ever seen. Nobody, but nobody will ever go broke underestimating the stupidity and apathy of the American people. God, it sumbelievable.

Communism is raterialism pure and simple. America is as materialistic as it's possible to get without openly endorsing a Socialist-Communist form of government. Unless there is a moral and spiritual awakening in this nation --and soon --our children will indeed live under Communism exactly as predicted by one Communist butcher after another.

In closing, Americans should remember the pinks, punks and perverts running the animal farm referred to as our federal government will not voluntarily relinquish their privileged positions. They can be either voted out of power or carried out. But one way or another, these "liberal" grave digger The people have a legal right to a referendum by submitting the signatures of 25% of the registered ralld voters. This they did, but were challenged and obstructed by the mayor. He withdrew the ordinance which we challenged, killed our court action and, then, a few days later, passed a new ordinance for more money for the same purpose. He foiled, defeated and broke the very law provided for the protection of the people.

The mayor told the people to abandon the project means to lose $400,000 aiready spent on it. That's not so. Almost half of that --$168,000 -- was paid for the land which can be retrieved, perhaps with a profit. But, if it means losing $232,000, so be it, better than to spend $11,000,000 to save it.

Now Leonard Grant takes me to task for charging the mayor with defeating the will of the people, the right to referendum. Mr. Grant must have gone to the same school by claiming 75% of the people voted for the mayor. Yee, Mr. Grant, God did bless me with a spirit of independence, courage to speak up and the will to revolt against wrong doing as I see it. Because I am dedicated to Rahway, I am trying to serve the people by preventing wasteful expenditures of taxpayers doilars. If you and the mayor were right, why didn't you allow the people to vote on it on Nov. 7? We would cheerfully abide by that result -- that's democracy.

and senior circles in thing out their retural moniter tax forms was published by Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo, whose district includes Rahway and Clark.

Copies are available to residents of the district by contacting Rep. Rinaldo's district office at 1961 Morris Ave., Union.

The representative said the booklet was published to help senior, citizens receive all the federal tax deductions and exemptions to which hey are entitled.

"The aim is to avoid a situation in which senior citizens pay more federal income tax than is really necessary," he added.

The looklet was compiled with the assistance of a congressional Select Committee on Aging. The lawmaker said it would be particularly helpful because of changes made in the tax code.

Several major tax relief measures became law late last year, including a one-time exclusion of up to $100,000 in capital gains tax for persons aged 55 or older who sell their homes, and a 15% credit on up to $2,000 in qualifying expenditures, for energy conservation devices.

A simila, service for senior citizens has been provided by the legislator in each of the last three years.

"There was a havey response each year, with many who used the checklist telling me they had been helped considerably," he pointed out.

The Union County representative, who is a member of the House Select Committee on Aging, added: "While my checklist has been designed for senior citizens, taxpayers in all age groups could dind it helpful, especially in these days of Inflation when it is important or cisirm all possible deductions." He added bulk suppiles of the booklet, "1979 income Tax Checklist for Senior Citizens," are available on request to senior citizen clubs and organizations in the county.

Indians' Jim Stewart rewriting record books

There was a time when Jim ScewartorRahway High School resembled the provertial 98-pound weaking more than a star basketball forward.

"That's because he was a skinny kid," said his coach. Tom Lewis, "but he didn't know it. He's always gone inside with the big, strong players and has more than held his own."

Stewart, a six-foot, four-inch, i55-pound senior, still doesn't frighten anyone physically, but his scoring feats have given more than one opposing coach an "Excedrin headache." When he isn't popping in 15 to 18 foot jump abots, Stewart is scoring on driving, twisting layups.

What maket kee even more dangerous is the fact even when fouled he manages to get off a shot, so there's a possibility of a three-point play. And at the free throw line he's dynamice, converting on between 85 and 88% of his shots. Last winter he connected on 100 foul shors and has made 78 more this season, proof of his ability to draw fouls.

The city star, everaging 22.5 points per galme, never has scored fewer than 12 this season. Two weeks ago he taillied 33 in his team's 78-61 triumph over Cranford and he came back with a school-record 41 on the local property of his decording the best week of his high school lite, when he's doing now."

Stewart needs just 78 plats to become the third 1,000-point scorer in Rabway history. In his sophomore year he tallied 103 points, 432 as a lunior and 520 this season. Since he's had 102 points inhis team's 150 to 18 foot jump abots. Stewart is scoring provess, the coach raves about Stewart with helping to unity the ream, which possesses talent but didn't play as a team in the early part of the season. Eric Rogers, point guard and Vinnie Joines, another forward, also provide Rahway with scoring punch, but Lewis pointed out it has taken hard ward and searchifee by the entire team for the Indians.

A scholar-athlete, the care is a member of his this season. Two weeks ago he tallied 33 in his team's 78-61 triumph over Cranford and he came back with a school-record 41 on Jan. 26 as the Indians (14-

Other winners were Nancy Striessel in the 100-yard butterfly and Cathy McGuire in the 50-yard breaststroke.

A new team record was set by Kim Paimer in the 11- and 12-year-old 50-yard breaststroke.

The next competition for the Rahway girls will be a rematch with Plainfield YWCA. The Rahway team is a strong favorite to win the meet and finish the remainder of the season undefeated, reports spokes-woman, Rose Ann Palmer.
