A national trend of electoral participation being at its lowest levels among 18 to 20 year olds and then increasing gradually up to those in their 40's and 50's was reflected in the 1977 gubernatorial election in New Jersey.

A poll by the Eagleton Institute of Politics at Rutgers University in New Brunswick listed 80% of the respondents in the 18-to-20-year-old category as probable non-voters. For respondents in the 21-to-24-year-old category and the 25-to-29-year old category the percentages of probable non-voters were 59% and 51% respectively.

For respondents in their 30's, 40's and 50's the percentages of probable non-voters were 40%, 26% and 27% respectively. The study suggests the problem of declining voter participation is more the result of young citizens nor being turned off. "Today's youth do not perceive the fundamental differences between the parties which had emerged out of New Deal political cleavages," it concludes.

When the study looked at educational levels, the percentage of probable nonvoters remained relatively constant from those with an eighth-grade-or-less education to those who did not complete high school - 44 to 47%.

New postal regulations

add rate for odd sizes

Sait Lake City, Utili, meeting of the services of Governors.

The board also adopted a recommended 76 surcharge for oversized and odd-shaped pieces of mail.

The new size standards were recommended by the Postal Rate Commission in April, 1976 and adopted shortly after that by the service's governors. It was stipulated, they would not become effective until after last spring, giving customers at least two years to prepare for the change and exhaust their supplies of non-conforming envelopes and cards.

The governors directed both the surcharge and new minimum size standards become effective on the same date.

minimum size standards become effective on the same date.

This means after July 15 pieces will be non-mallable if they are less then 3.5 inches high, five inches long, or seven thousandths of an inch thick.

Subject to the 76 surcharge will be first-class mail weighing one ounce or less and single piece third-class mail of two ounces or less which exceeds any of these dimensions — 6.125 inches high, 11.5 inches long, or a quarter inch thick.

Also subject to the surcharge are odd-shaped pieces within the weight untis noted above. The acceptable size radio for such pieces is: The length must be between 1.3 times and 2.5 times the height.

There are two basic reasons for the new standards. These surcharge on oversized and odd-shaped pieces will reflect the extra costs of handling them. Because of their dimensions, they usually cannot be put through lettersorting machines. The upcoming prohibition on smaller malling pieces and filmsy cards is based on the fact they can become trapped in other mail, test and jam mail-processing machinery. And, as a result, other mail can be damaged.

There are some exceptions to the minimum-size prohibition. If a piece is more than one-fourth of an inch thick it does not have to measure at least 3.5 inches high or five inches long. Thicker pieces, such as film mailers, can be mechanically culled from the "fiver" of letter mail moving through a post office's facing mailers, can be mechanically culled from the "river" of letter mail moving through a post office's facing and cancelling equipment. Also exempted — from all but the minimum thickness standard — are keys, identification cards and tags. Film cartridge envelopes, if lightweight, will be subject to the surcharge.

The typical scheme, according to the director, involves the sale of a letter or memorandum to a consumer at a fixed price, usually.$50. The purchaser of the letter then sends $50 to the person whose name appears at the top of a list. The purchaser is told to place his name on the list and sell the letter to two other people.

Rules of politeness shouldn't help spies

By E. Sidman Wachter Attention should be drawn to a commendable bill placed in the Congressional hopper this year. Introduced by Rep. William Young, a Florida Republican, it would repeal the Foreign intelligence Surveillance Act of 1978.

FISA is the strange law, supported by President Jimmy Carter and applauded by Communiates all over the world, which outlaws most United States government wire-tapping for national security purposes. Believe it or not, in order to place a wiretap on enemy agents operating here in the United States against our own government, it is now actually necessary to obtain a judicial warrant.

This means we must notify enemy agents in advance when, where and how we plan to spy on them.

Rep. Young's measure in only common sense. We are already acting in too much of a "My Dear Alphonse" manner. We are not engaged in some pleasurable fencing duel with an honorable adversary with rubber-tipped foils. We are engaged in a life-and-death struggle with our sworn enemy, the international Communics compliancy. No holds should be barred. Even the privacy assured U.S. citizens by our Constitution should not obtain for enemy agents plotting our downfall.

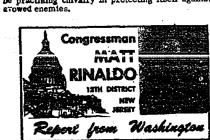

The Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act of 1978

should not obtain for enemy agents plotting our downfall.

The Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act of 1978 put the power of deciding on electronic surveillance into the hands of a special group of "judges" appointed by Chief Justice Warren Burger of the Supreme Court. This panel of seven "judges" is to approve or disapprove all warrants for electronic surveillance of "spies, counter-spies, embassies, international terrorists and saboteurs."

How about possible leaks? Why the enforced delays? Spying is honorable when performed in the service of one's country. Why should American espionage be hamstrung by such absurd regulations while the Communists are "hugging," shadowing, penetrating and "disinforming" the Councils of the Free World, especially of the United States?

And let us not forget the rediation beamed by Soviet Communists at the "hugging" constantly being discovered there. A secret war is being waged for the control of the interest. Boy Scout rules of honorable dealing should have no place in the grim world of espionage and counter-espionage. The times are far too perilous for a major power to mes are far too perilous for a major power to

Aliens shouldn't get free ride on welfare

For two centuries millions of immigrants from all over the world came to America in search of freedom, jobs and hope for the future. Their labor was responsible for building the nation's railroads, mining our coal, developing the cities and producing the most advanced and productive industrial society in history.

Lately, however, there are signs Americans who are descended from earlier generations of immigrants are becoming disenchanced with the picture we are holding up to new immigrants.

Instead of offering aliens a challenge to work and produce, our laws are encouraging them to become captives of a welfare state where it is easier to go on the public dole than to find a job. The working alien is being replaced by the welfare alien.

Five states — New Jersey, New York, California, Florida and Illinois — bear the brunt of these welfare aliens. Approximately 37,000 aliens received $72 million in Supplementary Security Income benefits in one year in these five states. Many of them came to the United States aware they could obtain SSI benefits after being in the country only 30 days.

The General Accounting Office reported 8% of all legal aliens take advantage of loopholes in the SSI laws within the first month; 41% within six months after their arrival and 63% in the first year.

The SSI program was designed to assist United States citizens — moatly the blind, disabled and elderly — who did not quality for Social Security. But court decisions broadened the scope of the law to cover legal aliens, even though Congress never intended to lure immigrants looking for public assistance and free medical care.

That has happened in thousands of cases as documented by the General Accounting Office. One case cited by the General Accounting Office, one case cited by the General Acc to was let up to the family settled here, they filed for a waiver, which was granted, and the son was allowed to join them. Almost as soon as he arrived, he became qualified for a lifetime of therapy. In addition, the parents can draw monthly SSI payments for caring for their son. When the boy turns 18, he will be eligible for lifetime SSI support.

Thousands of cases of a similar nature violate the immigration and Naturalization Act which states an alien likely to require public assistance will be denied admission to the United States. It also states if an alien becomes a public charge within five years after entry the alien is subject to deportation. However, 30 days after arriving in the U.S. the alien can sign up for financial assistance and free medical care under SSI. I am appalled by those flagrant abuses of our immigration laws and by the action of the courts in extending SSI benefits to legal aliens almost as soon as they step off the plane.

To remove these inconsistencies, I have joined in sponsoring legislation to amend the Social Security Act to require a five-year residency before an alien can apply for public assistance under either SSI, Ald to Families with Dependent Children, or Medicaid, Aliens who become blind or disabled after arriving in this country would be exempt from the provisions of the bill and would be evaluated individually.

The legislation also would make it necessary for the sponsors to live up to their obligation to support the allens within the five-year residency period, as they had pledged to do.

had pledged to do. I hope the courts would interpret this legislation in such a away as to make the affidavit of support by the sponsor a legally-binding agreement instead of a broken moral pledge. **■★★★★★★★★★★

Beefless Wednesdays can cut soaring prices

The New Jersey Division of Consumer Affairs has added its voice to the call for consumers to support the Beefless Wednesday — Cut Back One Day" program. The division is urging consumers to eat beef at least one less day per week, preferably on Wednesdays. Beef prices have soared over the last year and the predictions are for more of the same in the coming year if something is not the new to dampen this charr infletionary trend.

There is no solid guarantee the call for a beef consumption cutback will reduce demand to the point where the Sc George Ave, pleaded innocent, while James Russo of the Sc George Ave, address sumption cutback will reduce demand to the point where it will actually force prices down. But if demand is not reduced, it is almost certain, beef prices will keep going up at the same devastating rate we have seen over the

Resident considers pothole contribution to city safety

Alas, the past winter certainly has taken its toll on our roads - potholes I mean. There really aren't too many more of these destructive little devils here in Rahway though, either a credit to our efficient roads department or to the original builders, rest their souls.

Last Sunday my wife and I were peering out into our street, Stone St., enjoying the warm weather when our conversation turned toward the medium-sized pothole we have in our section of the street, it seemed as though all the potholes in Rahway had been filled except our poor neglected pothole. Why all the others and not ours? I'll bet ours is the only remaining hole in the entire city of Rahway, poor little fellow, it certainly is an inconvenience to all those motorists who had previously roared by day after day.

Our section of Stone St. - behind Rahway Junior High School -- is frequently used as a shortcut enroute to St. George Avc. from the Garden State Parkway. The alternative is a string of traffic lights on Westfield Ave. Judging by their excessive rates of speed, I can only assume the drivers are going through severe with drawal pains caused by deceleration to 25 miles per hour from 55 miles per hour. It must be similar to the "bonds" a diver gow when rising to the surface to determine the county unit's largest ing drive. The goal for 1979 he had a diver gow when rising to the surface to determine the county unit's largest ing drive. The goal for 1979 he had a diver gow with our pothole? Why won't they lix it?

Wait a minute. Here I am complaining about nasty potholes while feeling sorry for speeders. Stone St. has many young chitdren equipped with bleydes, tricycles, bats and halls, etc., and, if there is any place where the 25 mph ought to be enforced, it's here. Do you realize our poor maligned pothole actually forces speeders to slow down and be careful and watch where they are going?

Here's something which makes things safer for everyone and doesn't cost the tarpayers or the motoriat --like's carefule --a cent. A rare combination i Should a governmental official be premitted to hold more than one elective office?

Should one person be allowed to hold more than one paid governmental office either elected or appointed? Should there be specific limitations on dual job holding or only broad limitations?

Should prohibitions on multiple office holding be detained in the State Constitution or in lav?

These are some of the questions which legislators must answer when considering legislation to control dual job holding.

The historic New Jersey practice of simultaneously holding more than one public office has been extensive. The New Jersey Constitution contains few limitations on multiple office holding. A legislator may not be nominated, elected or appointed to any statutory salaried state civil office or position if it has been created during his term of office. A congressional representative also may not be governor. The governor cannot hold any salaried state or federal office while he is governor. New Jersey law further prohibits dual holding of the office of congressional representative, state legislators, county clerk, register, surrogate or sheriff. I've Jerseyjains and their legislators senerally have accopted the practice of municipal officials holding county positions or state legislators bolding municipal or county elected or appointed office. Prior to 1971, common law principles involving dual holding of compatible offices were applied by the courts as a series of cases involving multiple office holding in incompatible offices were decided mullifying the practice in several instances.

Incompatibility as defined in judicial decisions is "...a conflict or inconsistency in the functions of an office" and "where...one office is subordinate to another."

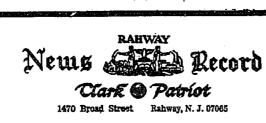

In 1971 the Legislature passed a law legalizing dual holding of elective county office and elective municipal office and holding legislative office and any elective or appointive office in county or municipal government.

Recent New Jersey judical decisions declared the positions of sc body member.

While enactment of the pending legislation would be an important reform, New Jersey citizens should be aware several states have broad dual job holding prohibitions in their constitutions, Michigan, Missouri, Arizona and Kentucky prohibitlegislators from holding any other paid

The seminars present information on such questions as how to use a retirement plan to help pay children's college expenses and how a spouse canbe a more valuable member of the family financial team.

A basic part of the program is an analysis of the relative advantages of the three forms of operation—proprietorship, partnership and corporation—to the practicing professional.

"The availability of corportion pension plans has changed in recent years, and the advantages thus to be gained are stressed in the seminars," says Cene Balliett, director of City Federal's new division.

Since then PSE&G filed new rates decreasing consumer bills of $17 million. The decrease reflected a drop in the amount of idedral taxes PSE&G must pay under a new tax law. The rate of corporate income taxes decreased from 48 to 46% as of Jan. I of this year.

Edison telegraph plan saved Michigan town a Col. Coleman, he was sure he could send messages both ways on the same wire at the same time. The colonel roared, just before he fired the dreamer.

"Any damn fool ought to know a wire can't be worked both ways at the same time," he exclaimed.

""Your," discouraged and nearly beaten, Edison headed for Boston early in the winter of 1867-1868. He arrived hungry and dirty and sought a job in the telegraph office. Edison wrote later in understatement: "My appearance caused much mirth."

The Boston crowd stifled laughter when rustic-looking Edison sat down to the key. They had arranged for the fastes operator in New York to send messages while Edison received. The sender tride every trick, but Edison kept up. Recognizing he was supposed to be the joke, the inventor went along until there was a pause in the incoming messages. Then he signalled: "Say, young man, change off and send with the other foot.

Edison's feeling of triumph was short-lived. Overcome by despair and frustration at 20, he told a friend: "I have got so much to do, and life is so short. I must hustle."

Experimenting every spare monent—during working hours or after—with whatever he could beg or borrow, he finally perfected a duplex telegraph which could send messages both ways on the same wire.

Edison's joy was premature. Long distance tests proved the device workable but unsuited for the poor wires of the day. Nevertheless he quit his job and placed this boylishly boastful advertisement in the Ismusry, 1869, Issue of "The Telegrapher:" "T.A. Edison has resigned his situation in the Western Union office, Boston, and will devote his time to bringing out his inventions."

"T.A." hoped above all Col. Coleman and a good-sized army of doubters in a string of mid-western towns might see the advertisement and realize Edison at last was on his way.

Thomas A. Edison's life-long genius for combining intelligence with showmanship had its first real chance to sparkle in the winter of 1864, when ice snapped telegraph wires at Port Huron, Mich., and threatened to isolate the community for weeks.

Seveniren years old and thoroughly bored in his job as Port Huron's telegraph operator, Edison knew his town scarcely knew he existed. He also realized whoever found a way to get Port Huron back in touch with the string of neighboring Canadian towns across the St. Claire River would be an instantiocal hero.

Edison acted with the speed and style which would become his hallmark. He ordered: "Get a locomotive down by the river -- and fast."

The mystified town fathers complied. Edison instructed the engineer to give a series of long blasts on the locomotive whistle, sending out an "S.O.S." in Morse Code. A telegrapher on the Canadian side understood and answered in kind. Contact was restored. Who needed wires?

Newspapers accorded the inventor glowing attention, winning the fledgling telegrapher a better job at Stratford Junction in Ontario, Canada.

Edison had to report hourly on his 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. shift to assure superiors in other towns Stratford Junction was fully alert. Since that interfered with his rest, he devised an ingenious clockwork mechanism to trip the telegraph key every hour while he napped.

Inevitably, the company investigated and put the elegring telegrapher on warning. Soon after he was fired when a locomotive ran unchecked through Stratford Junction, only narrowly avoiding a collidion with an oncoming train, Edison apparently was not to blame, but any excuse was good enough to get rid of a careless hand.

Off went the young operator to join the wandering bord of "flicktoner eligerers" an elegrapher ended to the part of the part of the part of the part of the wandering bord of "flicktoner eligerers" an elegrapher ended to the part of the part of the part of the wandering bord of "flicktoner eligerers" an elegrapher ended to the part of the part of t an oncoming train, Edison apparently was not to blame, but any excuse was good enough to get rid of a careless hand.

Off went the young operator to join the wandering band of "lightning slingers," as telegraphers called themselves. On and on he drifted -- to nearby Adrian, Mich., then to Fort Wayne, Cincinnati, Louisville, indianapolis, Memphis, Nashville, New Orleans, and points between over a four-year period.

By 20 Edison had not convinced anyone he was more than a dishevelled, untrustworthy tramp. He was usually sleepy, often arrogant, sometimes careless, occasionally incompetent and nearly always openly rebellious.

Perhaps the only thing which saved the young inventor was his strong dislike of alcohol. One early encounter had left him violently ill and confirmed abstainer. He did become a tobacco chewer -- and spitter -- as did most telegraphers.

Telegraphy bored Edison, although he was unusually adept at the key. He recognized quickly both manpower and equipment were being badly wasted. He set his sights on easing the work and the boredom.

At 17 he perfected a machine which taped incoming messages and ran them back at slower speed to be transcribed at his leisure. Scoffing old-timers refused to use the equipment. Edison then experimented with various kinds of script until he perfected a handwriting which enabled him to transcribe at the exceptionally fast rate of 55 words a minute. No one wanted the script -- except Edison, who used it all his life.

He fretted especially at the inefficiency of telegraph wires. In Memphis at age 18 he told the office manager, MESSAGE ACROSS THE WATER... Whenice snapped the telegraph wires in Port Huron, Mich., in 1864 Thomas A. Edison, the local telegraph operator, suggested a hocomotive be used to blast out "So.C.3." on its whistle to a train engineer, shown, in a Canadian community across the St. Claire River. The message was understood and the town was again in touch with the outside world.

Rangers win tourney

The Rangers, a group of seventh-and-eighth-grade boys from the Charles H. Brewer School of Clark, won the Fourth Annual Lacrosse Tournament by scoring a total of 95 goals. The tournament is decided on total goals rather than won-lost records.

This year the Brewer School had 14 teams entered and the captain of the winning team was Bill Ambrose, reports James R. Fowers, physical education instructor. The fi-Thomae's two-out tricle, then Thomas scored on Dave Baruka's hit to center.

The Indians' pitcher was the batter who drew the first two-out base on balls given by Cranford pitcher, Bob Colineri. The Cougars scored in the first when Kalescky drove in Don Putzer who had singled and moved up on an error.

Rahway's record is now 1-0, while Cranford is 0-1.

Crusader girls knock

Thirteen Crusa-ders went to bat in the sec-ond inning. Cindy Schroeder wins in tennis

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was abstracted from "The Crusader," the Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School student newspaper from Clark.

In the past eight seasons Johnson soccer reams won 10 or more games in a season four times, at the same time picking up two Watchung Conference titles in addition to several appearances in the later rounds of the Union County Conference and New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Assn. Tournaments.

Perhaps the most outstanding was the 1975 club, which compiled a record of 14-4-1, two of these losses coming in the county tournament final to Pingry and in the sectional final to Governor Livingston Regional High School of Berkeley Heights.

The team was led by inside, Paul Malicky, the scoring leader; wing, Keith Ruggleri; fullback, Wayne Jasinski, and goalle, Bob Fitzpatrick, Ruggeri, Jasinski and Fitzpatrick were all named to the First Team All-Union County.

A record of 13-3-2 was scored by the 1974 team led by Ted Leissing and Sam Furiness. They drove all the way to the state Group No. 3 semi-finals before losing to Ewing.

John Herson and Bob Page led the 1970 team to an 11-3-1 record.

In 1972 a 12-5-1 record was posted by the Crusaders, sparked by Joe Malicky and Jeff Grysko.

The Clark school has had its moments on the gridinon also. The 1970 team had a 6-2-1 record and won the North Jersey Section No. 2, Group No. 3 title. The teams only two defeats were to Weatfield, 21-6, and South River, 22-12. The ream featured a staunch defense and a steady offense sparked by running backs, Jeff Tomasovic and Ed Pinkham.

An awesome offense combined with an outstanding defense in 1973 to produce one of the most excluding teams in the school's history. The Crusaders scorched their first eight opponents, outscoring them 215 to 15. They won the Watchung Conference National Division title, taking all five games casily.

Johnson Regional High School Football Team of Clark, shown during one of his games, recently signed a letter of intent to attend the University of New Hampshire on a full football scholarship. Franciotti was also considering attending the University of Connecticut, Seton Hall and Fordham Universities. After a two-day visit to the University of New Hampshire, he overwhelmingly decided to attend college there. He rushed over 1,500 yards, averaging 4.6 and made over 200 tackles in his varsity starts. BEST OF BUNCH . . . The Rangers recently won the Fourth Annual Charles H. Brewer School Lacrosse Tournament in Clark. Team members, shown left to right, are: Kneeling, Stan Goldfarb, Chris Columbo, John Rieder and Steve Makow; standing, Phil Venditto, Erik Rosenmier, Mike Karamus, Bill Ambrose, team captain and Alan Feld.

Don't be surprised the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athietic Assn. goes back to the old rule of allowing all boys and girls basketball teams to play in the state tournament.

There has been strong sentiment to return to the old open-door policy. A final decision on that matter would come from either the NJSIAA executive committee or from a vote by the general membership next December. The NJSIAA closed the door, noting it was suffering serious financial losses in poorly-attended opening round games. But one of the suggestions which will have to be considered would require the competing schools to pick up the early-round tab.

Also to be considered by the NJSIAA is a proposal all state tournament officials for all games be assigned by the grate association. That's a tough suggestion to implement, since getting schools to agree on an approved slate of officials and getting the various official associations to make their members readily available will take an inginense amount of work.

Get What You Need!

Get What You Need!

Giving your home the right decorating touch, without having to put a big touch on your bank account, is often a matter of mind over money.

Many people would be amazed at how far a moderate amount can go when it's accompained by a little ingenuity and a lot of knowiedge of just what is needed. If, for example, you'd like to have a headboard, you don't have to buy one. You can use your head and create a chie set of stripes backing up the bed from old strips of wellpaper. If you'd like something more solid, simply attach a bedspread to a plece of plywood and set it up behind the bed.

You have to use your head (as well as your feet) when you shop for carpets to get the right floor for your family and for the function of the room. One help is the Mark of Performance classification system one major carpet company has developed to describe the durability of its carpets. There are five categories: Category indicates that the Bigelow carpet is suitable for light traffic areas, such as guest rooms. Carpets labeled in grooms. Carpets labeled in grooms. TO DIET OR NOT TO DIET...THAT IS THE QUESTION

It seems like the world has good dichtappy. How many weight? There's the high-protein diet, the superfree diet, the fat man's diet, the weight watcher's diet, the grapefruit diet, the banans diet, the water diet, the starvation diet, the liquid protein diet and the diet food diet.

No sooner than one of the diet allows sells a million or soo books, the government or somebody comes along and says it's all wrongsometimes even hamful. And off we go again stuffing ourselves with all the "good-ics" we had to give up, while we wait for the next self-administering fad diet to emerge.

There is no doubt that we are living in a very weight-conscious society with many theories as to what is the best and fastest way to lose weight. Many are based on eating special foods, others require periods of total abstinence from food and drink, and some involve taking appetite reducing pills of one sort or another.

All of the fad diets seem to have one caiam in common—you can lose weight fast and you can administer the regimen to yourself. The more sensible diets warn you not to use them without physician's consultation. But in many cases, the consumer who is hungry to try anything that works, figures that he or she might say, "no." Feeling guilty about not getting expert advice often causes the person on the weight-loss program to adoi-ty-yourself diet formula, you no doubt found that a doi-ty-yourself diet formula, you no doubt found that a doi-ty-yourself diet formula, you no doubt found that a doi-ty-yourself diet formula, you no doubt found that a doi-ty-yourself diet formula, you no doubt found that a doi-ty-yourself diet formula, you no doubt found that a doi-ty-yourself diet formula, you to make extain it is done safely under supervision of a qualified physician. The best news in some time was the passing of the referendum for the renovation and expansion of the athetic fieldhouse at Veteran's Memorial Field. Gene Hering, a sophomore from Clark, hammered three home runs as Brookdale College coasted to an 18-3 win over Ocean College of Toms River.

The Clark boy hit solo homers in the second-, fourth- and fifth-innings and also singled home a run in six trips to the plate. Vic Kurylak of Rahway's double highlighted a two-run fifth inning as he paced the Princeton University Tigers to a 6-to-5 win over the Dartmouth College team in an Ivy league contest in Tiger Town. Lift Withka of Osceola had a high game of 173, as her team nipped 5t. Paul's 2-1 and Dot Kotuby of 5t. Paul's shot a 152.

The Mixed Team scored a sweep over the Trinity Methodist as Jeanne Hodge rolled 179 and Vallie Stevinson of Trinity hit 172. The Scatterplins won 3-0 over the Leftovers. Lynn Sinisgallo rolled 166 for the losers.

Understanding

What are the characteristics of the successful elementary school principal? Here are answers from The Center for the Advanced Study of Educational Administration at the University of Oregon, as reported by National Elementary Principal, a quarterly publication of the National Association of Elementary School Principals.

Most principals believe the school is there to correct the learning and behavioral difficulties of children.

Successful principals can work offectively with people and secure their cooperation. They are proud of their teachers, and they inspire confidence and enthusiasm.

They are aggressive in securing recognition of the needs of their schools, frequently critical of restraints imposed by the central offers and of inadequate recourree.

COUGHING?

A coughing dog is no matter to ignore. It is usually the sign that your dog has some underlying disease such as bronchitis, pneumonia, heartworm, or even heart disease. If it persists, you should consult a local veterinarian.

PROTECT YOUR PET AGAINST the most serious canine diseases: ask your veter-inarian about immunization.

instian about immunization.

One of the most frequent causes of coughing is a respiratory disease commonly called "canine cough" or tracheobronchitis. This disease complex, characterized by a hash, hacking cough, is caused by a variety of viruses and bacteria. Routine vaccination against distemper, hepatitis, and parainfluenza protects dogs against the recognized viral causes of this disease.

Bordetella bronchiseptica, a bacterial organism, is recognized as an additional cause of this disease. Recently, BORDEGEN C*. a new vaccine against Contestlie bronchiseptica, has been developed by Pitman-Moore, the veterinary division of Johnson & Johnson. & Johnson. Adding BORDEGEN C to a regular vaccination program will provide broader protection against this respiratory disease. Visit your veterination today and have your dog immunized.
