Board of Adjustment votes against condominium plan

By R.R. Fuczkowski
An application for a change in zoning to allow a 15-unit, two-family condominium to be constructed in the area of St. John's, Emerson and Elm Avenues and Pierpont and Bryant Sts. was turned down by a 4-2 vote of the Rahway Board of Adjustment on Dec. 15.

The zoning board, on a 4-2 vote, rejected the plan. The board's decision was based on the fact that the proposed development would have an adverse effect on the character of the neighborhood.

The board also noted that the proposed development would be located in a residential zone. The board's decision was based on the fact that the proposed development would have an adverse effect on the character of the neighborhood.

Assembly Democrats pick Karcher as next speaker

By R.R. Fuczkowski
Rahway director of law, Alan J. Karcher, who is now serving as New Jersey Assembly majority leader, will take over as the next speaker of the body when it reconvenes next month.

The new speaker was nominated from Rutgers University in 1964, and from the Rutgers University Law School in 1967. He was admitted to the bar in New Jersey and in Washington D.C. the same year.

Alan J. Karcher, on the executive staff of Gov. Richard J. Hughes as administrative assistant, is the ranking Republican on the Finance and Insurance Committee in the Assembly.

Madison flies safety flag

Rahway's Madison School had its Green Pennant flag-raising ceremony on Nov. 25 around the flag pole in front of the school.

The safety patrol, presented their program to those in pre-school to third grade, culminating with the raising of the pennant, which signifies the completion of 30 days without a student-related accident.

The president of the Madison School Safety Patrol, Frank Reese, congratulated the children on their achievement, and encouraged them to continue with their safety practices.

The program, in effect 24 hours a day, seven days a week, was sponsored initially nationwide by General Motors and locally by the Rahway Safety Council.

A four foot by two foot Green Pennant emblem with the image of a school safety patrol boy, was given to Madison School to signify accident-free periods of participation in the program.

If a student-related accident occurs, the Green Pennant must be lowered, and displayed inside the school to dramatize the need for safety. Then another 30 consecutive accident-free days must be completed before the pennant can be raised again.

The Green Pennant focused attention on safe walking, bicycling and driving habits. The program has helped to reduce accidents in other cities, and it can do the same in Rahway if everyone will be just a little more conscious, according to Mr. Reese.

Madison School has completed 25 school years without an accident, and received a perfect Safety Award Certificate for the traffic safety performances.

Historian Board raps X-rated showings

The Rahway Historical Society Board of Trustees, Dec. 14 passed a resolution condemning the showing of X-rated movies in the downtown area of the city.

According to the resolution, the citizens and representative community organizations have an obligation to discourage situations and activities detrimental to the city.

Board members cited the fact the city's only moving picture theater is located in close proximity to churches and the parochial school, "corrupts the moral atmosphere of our downtown business area."

They added, "Such exhibitions will soon engender other immoral organizations in our downtown area."

In conclusion, the historical group urged the citizens and members of all community organizations to work to eliminate this type of activity.

City can't afford X-rated film policy

It is not the Rahway city officials and civic leaders who are the problem in the city. The problem is the city's policy of allowing X-rated films to be shown in the city. The city's policy is to allow any film to be shown in the city, regardless of its content. This policy has led to the city being the only city in the state to have X-rated films shown in its theaters. The city's policy is not only bad for the city's reputation, but it is also bad for the city's economy. Kean names Halpin to transition team

As part of his transition to the office of Governor James Florio, Governor-elect James Florio has named John Halpin to head a transition team. Halpin, who is currently the director of the New Jersey State Office of the Attorney General, will be responsible for coordinating the transition of the Governor's office. Halpin is a former member of the New Jersey State Assembly and has served in various capacities in the Governor's office. He is a well-known figure in New Jersey politics and is expected to play a key role in the transition process.

Don't get planted with bad Yule tree

If you are planning to purchase a live Christmas tree this season, be aware of several items when purchasing and caring for your tree.

The most important consideration when purchasing any live tree is its freshness. A green tree is not necessarily a fresh tree. Most trees are dark green, yet a light green color does not mean a tree is dry. The old stand-by of banging a tree on the ground to check for dryness is really a fallacy. Needles will always fall from a tree when it is banged on the ground. The reason for this is the way in which the trees are packed when shipped.

The Douglas Fir has been the most popular tree for the past few holiday seasons, and is generally the most expensive. This tree is full and has a sweet scent and full, soft needles. It could cost from $4 to $6 per foot, depending on the quality of the tree. The second most popular tree is the traditional, or Balsam Fir. There are two types of Balsam Fir, single and double needle. The double needle is fuller and generally looks better.

KEEPING IN SHAPE - Learning to stay in shape was one of the main topics stressed in a presentation by the staff members of the United County Program for the Prevention of Drug Abuse at the Children's Center. Students in the health classes of Mr. and Mrs. James Powers took part in the presentation by Mrs. Anita Pestice. She gave students advice about drug abuse, peer group pressure, and drug use. Children shown left to right are: Christine Mosier, Natalie Molinaro, Michael Feibush, Kelly Richter, and Chad G. Gist. They are shown talking with Mrs. Anita Pestice, center, from the county program.

Warnings offered on toy shopping

The United County Division of Consumer Affairs, the Dept. of Human Resources, wants your children to have a happy and safe holiday season.

Last year approximately 140,000 children required emergency room treatment for toy-related injuries. The Consumer Product Safety Commission tries to remove unsafe toys from the marketplace. The best way to protect children from toy-related injuries is careful toy selection and proper supervision of children at play.

The director of the division, Ellen Bloom, put together some guidelines to help prevent the accidents that could happen to your child.

"It's your responsibility to buy toys that suit the interests, age level and abilities of your child. Toys that are too complex and dangerous for young children may cause injury and possible injury," said the director. "Be aware of the terms of sale before you make your purchase. Investigate who the manufacturer is and check the warnings. You ought to know your options if a toy does not work or if your child is disappointed."

Blooms are one of the most common toys for children. Never purchase a battery-operated toy from one source since your child will use it in a controlled way. Make sure your child's battery is equipped with safety features. Toys that will make your child's body too hot should be avoided.

Look for labels that give age recommendations and safety information, such as "No Recommended for Under 3" or "Not for Use by Children Under 3." Toys that are not recommended for children under 3 should not be used by children under 3.

Check for toys that have sharp edges, small parts or sharp points. Before buying a toy, examine the warning demonstration model that is usually found in the toy store. Make sure the toy is safe for your child. Toys that are small enough to be swallowed should not be bought. Toys that have removable eyes and noses should not be bought. Toys that have removable parts should not be bought.

Prison term awaits users of firearms

BB guns and air guns are common household items, but a person in possession of a BB gun or air gun for more than 30 days is guilty of a crime, according to a new law passed by the United County Legislature.

The state's new firearms legislation mandates prison sentences when any type of gun is used in a crime, according to the United County assistant prosecutor, Richard P. R. R.

The term "firearm," he said, "encompasses BB guns, air pistols and spring guns as well as the more commonly thought of rifle, shotgun or handgun."

Mr. R. R. said there have been at least two cases where a person has been charged with a crime involving a BB gun.

Never take large amounts of cash to the store with you when holiday shopping. If you have the type of charge account that allows you the first month to use the item with no finance cost, by all means charge it, but remember to stay within your budget. Do not impulse buy. Consider your purchase carefully at home before going to the store. When purchasing batteries operated and electronic toys, ask yourself if you can afford the additional cost of the batteries.

You may consider purchasing last year's toys that are no longer as heavily advertised, and therefore may be less expensive. Toys often are not as glamorous in reality as they seem in television commercials. Many toys that have been advertised for a long time, board games, chess, checkers, dominoes, will give your child's interest for a greater amount of time than flashy new gimmicks.

Finally, save all receipts, original packages, price tags and even bags. You never know when you may need to return an item.

If you have any additional questions, about specific items, you may try telephoning the Consumer Product Safety Commission at 800-638-8326.

Toys have become increasingly expensive. Here are some tips from Mrs. Bloom for getting value for your money.

Check for toys that have sharp edges, small parts or sharp points. Before buying a toy, examine the warning demonstration model that is usually found in the toy store. Make sure the toy is safe for your child. Toys that are small enough to be swallowed should not be bought. Toys that have removable eyes and noses should not be bought. Toys that have removable parts should not be bought.

UIC's interest rate will be adjusted quarterly in keeping with the most recent Federal auction of one year Treasury bills. The rates for the one year Treasury bill for the quarter commencing January 1, 1982 have not been established but UIC's, as a special bonus, will pay 15.06% annual rate for funds on deposit in our new IRA until March 31, 1982.
