Hall of Fame to induct city athletes

Bob Henderson, Jr.

Two former Rahway High School baseball stars, Charles Mauren and Bob Henderson, Jr., will be among those inducted into the Union County Baseball Hall of Fame at the 46th Annual Hot Stove League Dinner on Tuesday, Jan. 19, at 6:30 p.m. at the Town and Campus Restaurant in Union.

A life-long Rahway resident, Mr. Mauren was named to the Union County First Team in 1928 and to the All-State and All-Union County First Teams in 1929 as the third baseman.

During his career with the Union County Industrial League, the Rahway Twilight League, the Cranford Athletic Club and other teams, he played second and third base, shortstop and in the outfield.

Included in his accomplishments are a 407

bating average in 1937. Mr. Henderson, the son of the former Rahway mayor, Robert Henderson, pitched for the Indians from 1954 to 1957, when he set records for two consecutive no-hitters.

His two-year records at Rutgers University and Upsala College are 11-2 and 11-3. The mound ace was named to the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference All-Star Team in 1960, and holds the Upsala College single-game strikeout record. He tried out with both the Baltimore Orioles and the Minnesota Twins.

The Hot Stove League Dinner is sponsored by the Union County Baseball Assn. in co-operation with the Union County Dept. of Parks and Recreation.

Ticket information for the affair may be obtained by telephoning the county department at 352-8431.

Rahway Adult School offers touch of class

A total of 92 courses in 11 categories, ranging from mini-courses to foreign languages to home skills will be offered in the Rahway Adult School's spring term which will begin on Monday, Feb. 1, reports Paul R. DiGiano, co-ordinator of adult education.

NEW HOME FOR JUSTICE - The new Hughes Justice Complex in Trenton, designed by Grad/Hillier was dedicated on Jan. 7.

New Jersey launches new home for Justice

The state's new Richard J. Hughes Justice Complex, at the southwest corner of Market and Warren Sts., Trenton, was formally dedicated on Jan. 7.

Honored guests included former Governors Richard J. Hughes, Robert Meyner, and William T. Cahill, and the Governor-Elect Thomas Kean.

The president of the State Bar Association, William J. Hughes, conducted the dedication ceremonies, which included unveiling a portrait of Gov. Hughes, who led the state from 1962 to 1970, and then served as chief justice from 1973 to 1979, the only man in the state's history to have held both positions.

By summer, the Hughes Justice Complex will house: The State Judiciary (the Supreme Court, Appellate Court and Tax Court); the Division of Law and Public Safety of the office of the Attorney General, and the Dept. of the Public Advocate.

This combination of legal agencies under one roof is unique in the United States. The first department began operating in its new offices on Jan. 11. 2,500 state employees will work in the justice complex, with 300 visitors estimated to come to the building daily.

Grad/Hillier, a joint venture of The Grad Partnership of Newark and The Hillier Partnership of Philadelphia, designed the 1.2 million-square-foot aluminum and glass building.

The office building portion of the complex is chevron-shaped and nine stories high. Bridges across a skylit atrium on the inside of the "V" lead to a separate courthouse and conference center. This component, six stories high, is elevated on four large columns so its first level is actually at the fourth floor of the office building.

Speaking at the groundbreaking three years ago this February, Gov. Brendan T. Byrne stated, "The concept of justice must be creative and progressive. In the elegant building that will house all our justice efforts, the architects have shown the imagination and innovation to accomplish this goal."

The Division of Building and Construction of the New Jersey Dept. of the Treasury is the construction agency for the project.

In 1976 the state began discussing the notion of a modest "law building" to replace the several government buildings scattered throughout government facilities. By moving several justice-related departments into their own building, space in the State House Annex could be freed for use by the legislative branch.

The Hughes Justice Complex almost quadruples the scope of the original scheme. Added to the initial project were the new Supreme Courtroom, the newly-created tax court, and a shared, judiciary-managed computer facility. With room for another 500 employees, this will be the first time a new state office building will not be overcrowded from the start.

The complex, whose final cost is $93.4 million, is the largest single public building in New Jersey. The project was not funded by the state, but rather by an agency of the county where it is located.

Mercer County Improvement Authority Bonds are secured by the lease rental for the life of the bonds, some of which will not expire until 2012, at which point the state has the option to purchase the building for $1. The state's "lease" guarantee enabled the bonds to receive an "AA" rating from Standard & Poor's.

New Jersey citizens benefit in many other ways from the new justice facility. Comparable buildings in the state, according to a Dept. of the Treasury study, would cost approximately $15 a square foot to lease, if they existed. The bond retirement and replacement-tax costs will be $5.6 million a year, or $10.07 a square foot for the useable office spaces and courtrooms. That amount not only covers the lease, but is also repaying the mortgage on the complex.

$100,000 may be added for road work

By R. R. Faszczewski
Another $100,000 will be added to an ordinance adopted last year for the resurfacing of sections of Central Ave., Maple Ave., Madison Ave., Audrey Dr., Cora Pl., Paterson St., Lafayette St., W. Lake Ave., New Brunswick Ave. and Hemlock St. if an ordinance introduced by the Rahway City Council on Monday is adopted next month.

When an attempt was made by Third Ward Councilman Max Sheld to place on the agenda a resolution to rescind one adopted last year to establish the map, that move was voted down.

In other action, the council:

Approved tax anticipation notes to a maximum of $2,500,000 to temporarily finance the city operations for this year until the tax levy is collected for 1982 to cover them.

Agreed to veterans' tax deductions amounting to $100 for the 1981 tax year and $1,300 in senior citizens' deductions for the same year.

Okayed the refund of first step in acquiring green acres funding for more parks in the city, was withdrawn from the agenda, and thus was not introduced.

Authorized a senior citizens' deduction of $225 for William Maloveta for the 1982 tax year.

Condemned martial law and the suppression of human rights by the Polish government.

Added Reliance Savings and Loan Assn. of Rahway to the list of legal depositories for city money.

Granted an operator's license for Warren's Place at 246 Monroe St., Rahway, and raffle licenses to the Citizens Youth Recreation Committee and St. Mark's R. C. Church.

ON THEIR GUARD - The staff of Roosevelt School in Rahway selected Michelle Banasiak, left, and Melanie Bostrom as co-patrols of the month for December. The girls were selected for outstanding performance of their duties. Their safety patrol post is at the Lake Ave. entrance to the school where they have afforded extra attention to preschool and kindergarten students who enter and exit the building there. They were recommended for their superior service by faculty members, as well as Mrs. Mary Johannesen, the police crossing guard at the corner of Lake and St. George Aves. Both girls are sixth-grade students at Roosevelt. They were awarded gold badges as well as a token of appreciation from the school principal, Eugene Warga.

Family dancing teacher to lead steps in Clark

The dance instructor at Temple Beth Or in Clark and the Ansche Chesed Synagogue in Linden, Mrs. Rosalind Neustein, will lead the members of Clark Lodge No. 2882 of B'nai B'rith in all kinds of dancing at the lodge's general meeting on Sunday, Jan. 17, at 8 p.m. at Temple Beth Or.

Both Mrs. Neustein and her husband square dance. Their daughter performs with the Rutgers-Douglass Hillel Folk Dance Group. Their sons danced at Hillel when they were undergraduates at Rutgers University, and their granddaughters have been introduced to folk dancing.

The instructor taught folk dancing at the Jewish Educational Center Adult

School, the Bruria High School for Girls, the Linden Adult School and the Plainfield Jewish Community Center.

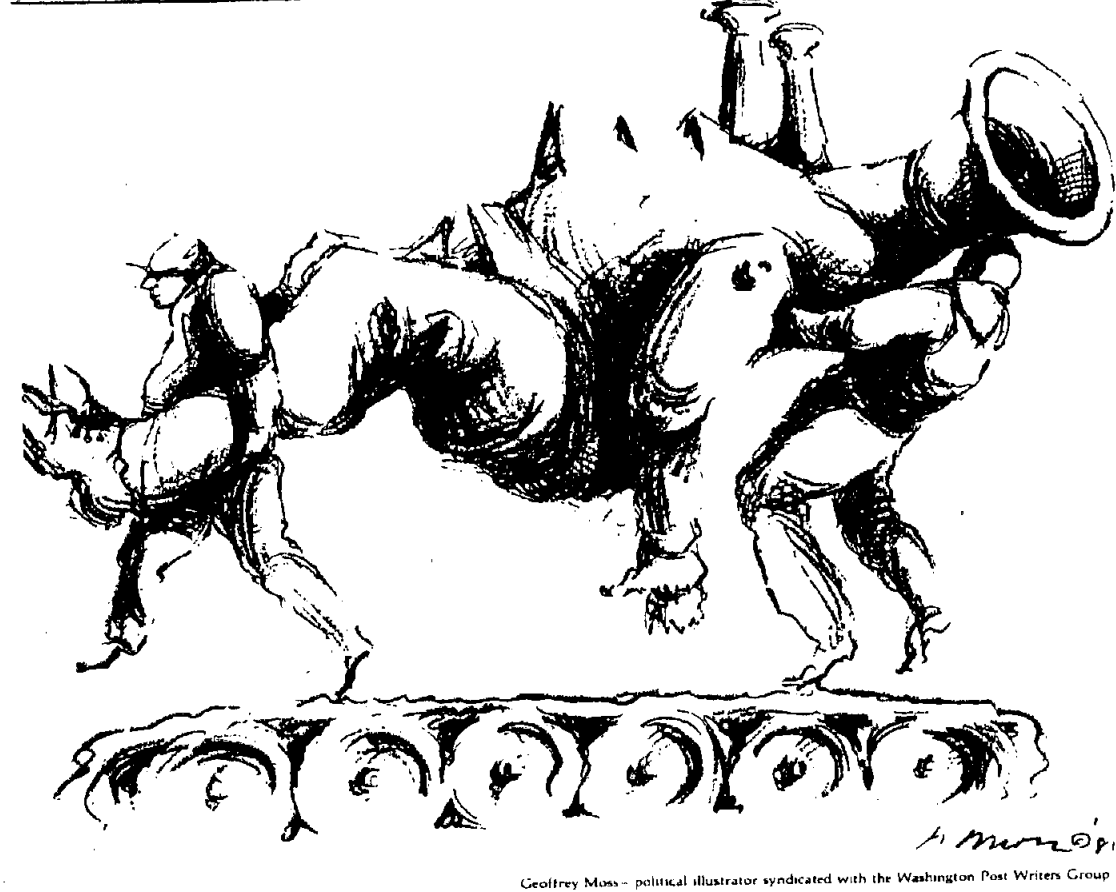

She has a bachelor of arts degree from Brooklyn College and a master of arts degree from Columbia University.

Admission to the meeting will be free, and refreshments will be served.

KEEPING IN TOUCH - Teresa McGeary, the executive director of the Union County Council on Alcoholism, standing, and Lee Brody, the executive director of the New York-New Jersey Phone TTY, Inc., show Nancy Filoux, an interpreter of the hearing impaired at the Union County Council on Alcoholism how the council's teletype device can be used by the hearing impaired to contact the council for information and/or personal and family help with a drinking problem. ## Employee-owned firms growing in 1980's

By William Foote Whyte and Joseph Raphael Blas
EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the twelfth in a series of 15 articles exploring "Working, Changing and Choosing." In this article, social scientists William Foote Whyte of Cornell University and Joseph Raphael Blas of Northeastern University discuss the growing trend of employee-owned firms. This series was written for "COURSES" by NEA-NEPSAC as part of a program of the University Extension, University of California, San Diego, under the direction of the National Endowment for the Humanities. Amid debates over the relative merits of government ownership versus private ownership, the employee-owned firm is emerging as a third alternative. It is a company in which the employees own the company, either directly or through a trust. The employee-owned firm is a relatively new phenomenon, having emerged in the 1970s. It is a company in which the employees own the company, either directly or through a trust. The employee-owned firm is a relatively new phenomenon, having emerged in the 1970s.

Other countries have been experimenting with employee-owned firms for some time. In Sweden, for example, the employee-owned firm is a well-established form of organization. In the United States, the employee-owned firm is a relatively new phenomenon, having emerged in the 1970s. It is a company in which the employees own the company, either directly or through a trust. The employee-owned firm is a relatively new phenomenon, having emerged in the 1970s.

While the workers do not actually own the firm, they do have a say in its management. This is done through a system of employee representation. The workers elect representatives to a board of directors, which then makes decisions on behalf of the company. This system of employee representation is a key feature of the employee-owned firm.

Letters to the Editor

Mr. Monyck decries American dream death

The beautiful American freedom to practice religious principles, the giving of charity, and the adoration of the beautiful new-born babies can only lead to believe the taxpayer is being raped.

Religious zeal has been laid to rest in the form of a Jonesboro, Calif. has caused this country to become a welfare state and the cure firm born representing the New Year in Manhattan and the largest city in Union County are the result of out-of-control romances to be supported by the thrifty, tax-paying members of society.

When does it stop? How does it stop?

Mr. Ervin complains about sewer department

Prior to Thanksgiving Day of 1981 I tried desperately to get the Rahway City Hall engineering waste and sewer service to do something about the awful smell and arising health hazard towards my family and neighbors caused by a broken line in front of my house, located at 248 Williams St., Rahway. The broken line or pipe is approximately six to eight inches away from the curb. It was told by the department personnel it was my problem, so, therefore, believing them, I had Roto-Rooter come to service this matter.

After their inspection of my basement line they told me the rest was the city's problem. I then talked to the city engineer, and he maintained his position the problem was mine.

He said, however, say his department would remove the dead tree that perhaps could have created this problem. However, as of Jan. 6 nothing, but nothing, had been done.

I would deeply appreciate it, if on behalf of myself, family, neighbors and friends some results could be forthcoming.

William A. Ervin

Real class setting aids future teachers

Four area residents Patricia Kelley and Lisa Williams, both of Rahway, and Deldre Castellano and Doree Castellano, both of Rahway, are among 21 Union County students who are attending their skills in the teaching areas of paraprofessionals and educational fieldwork program being conducted by Dr. Robert J. Smith, a professor of education and the co-ordinator of the program.

The students are all liberal arts education majors who are serving as paraprofessionals in local schools. They have been placed in classrooms of special day classes, and are working in the classrooms of elementary schools and hospitals throughout the county.

Patricia Kelley and Lisa Williams are from Rahway, and Deldre Castellano and Doree Castellano are from Union County.

REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

by Congressman Matt Rinaldo

Housing must stay inside 'safety net'

The growing scarcity of housing in the United States affects all classes of people, but none so severely as the poor and the elderly. In many large cities, even suburban housing is in short supply.

The nation's housing crisis is being worsened by the worst slump since the depression, cannot afford to construct housing for the elderly or middle-income buyers at prices they can afford.

As a result, the housing industry is falling far short of meeting the national goal of producing 2.6 million housing units annually as a replacement of the aging, sub-standard dwellings, and to meet the demands of a growing population of young families.

The housing industry has been battered by sharp increases in the cost of borrowing money and by a drop in the reserves of the savings and loan institutions, which are the chief source of credit for home builders and buyers. The resulting scarcity of mortgage financing is causing a severe decline in new construction, and is adding to the high cost encountered by families looking for homes of their own.

According to the National Assn. of Home Builders, nearly three and a half million potential buyers are removed from the housing market every time interest rates rise 1%. Even before the credit crunch developed in the housing market, home-buying costs were soaring beyond the reach of many Americans. For the poor and senior citizens, the only hope seemed to be government-subsidized housing. For new families and middle-income Americans, it rests on a sharp drop in interest rates, and that may take some time to achieve.

The situation is much worse than in 1975, the last time the housing industry was in a serious recession. At that stage, President Gerald Ford directed the secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development to release $2 billion in funds to assist in the purchase of home mortgages and to build subsidized housing, particularly projects for the elderly. These moves mildly stimulated the depressed housing market, but they failed to overcome fundamental difficulties such as inflation in the price of land and the high cost of credit.

There appears to be no housing policy worthy of the title right now except to wait for interest rates and inflation to abate. Recently, the Office of Management and Budget proposed ending federal subsidies for low-income housing construction by next fall as part of an effort to cut government spending. Fortunately, Housing and Urban Development Secretary Samuel R. Pierce, Jr. has vowed to fight the proposed cutbacks, which have not found any support in Congress.

The Reagan Administration has already reduced the level of government support for new housing units from 260,000, under the proposal of the Carter Administration, to 175,000, in the current budget.

This is occurring at a time of unprecedented need among the poor for decent housing at affordable levels. New Jersey alone needs 70,000 units of senior citizen housing, but will be fortunate if HUD is able to fund a few thousand units.

Ironically, while this disruption was happening, there would be no savings from the section 202 subsidy program until 1985 at the earliest. Under the plan, funds for building and operating subsidies would be reduced from $1.4 billion in 1982 to $400 million in 1983. The special program of housing the elderly also would be eliminated, but they failed to overcome fundamental difficulties such as inflation in the price of land and the high cost of credit.

The elderly and the poor would not be the only ones to suffer. Middle-income families would have a much more difficult time competing for Federal Housing Administration mortgage insurance as the funds are lowered from $35 billion in 1982 to $24 billion in 1983.

Another mortgage guarantee program, Government National Mortgage Association (GNM) would be reduced by 20% a year until it is phased out.

Additionally, the Office of Management and Budget has proposed the elimination of the Community Development Block Grant and other development action grant programs be totally eliminated in 1984. They are authorized to receive $4.1 billion for 1982 and only $1.2 billion in 1983.

What if it were the federal government would be closing the door on its long-standing commitments to help meet the nation's growing housing needs. Who would be left to build low-income housing?

Private builders and banks find it impossible to finance senior citizens' housing construction without federal mortgage insurance. There are no federal mortgage insurance programs for senior citizens' housing or housing for poor families without government aid, and it must continue that assistance as part of the President's safety net.

A LIFE-SAVING GIFT - A spokeswoman for the Greater Westfield Section of the National Council of Jewish Women, which includes Rahway and Clark, announced the donation of two recording manikins by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Scott. The manikins are a part of the group Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation classes, which are being taught to community members. The group has 10 certified Red Cross and American Heart Assn. instructors. All courses are five weeks, two hours per week. Anyone interested in taking a course may telephone 232-2772 and ask for Mrs. Kuperman or write: NCJW, 16 Woodbrook Circle, Westfield, N.J. 07090. The instructors, shown with their new gift, Recorder Annie, on the floor, and Resuscitator Baby, in the back, left to right, are: Top row, Eleanor Piers of Scotch Plains, Janet Weitz of Union, Arlene Weichstein of Scotch Plains, Dr. Robert Furman of Westfield and Robert Weitz of Union; bottom row, Rita Selesner of Scotch Plains, Ellen Goltzner of Westfield, Judy Dorosa of Springfield and Men Baker of Fairwood. Not shown is Andrew Shumsky of Elizabeth.

SHOPPING FOR HOME - This fellow was found wandering in the Bradecore Shopping Center parking lot in Colonia. He has been held for seven days by his owners to come for him. Since no one came, he has been placed up for adoption. He is a people-lover and is about one year old. Bradecore, as he was named by his owners, is a member of the Franklin State's associate Board of Directors. Mr. Bradecore, the president of Garden State Brickface and the director of the Franklin State Bank. "The Franklin State Bank was the first bank in this area to purchase bonds, and since 1966 has been the largest purchaser of these bonds in the Central Jersey banking industry." The bank has an office in Clark.

Wardrobe planning to be confab topic

Three sessions on "Wardrobe Strategy" will be conducted on Monday evenings, Jan. 18 and 25, and 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock, and repeated on Tuesday afternoons, Jan. 19 and 26, from 3 to 5 o'clock.

The programs will be held at the Union County Cooperative Extension Service auditorium at 300 North Ave. E., Westfield.

Mr. Healey asks each person attending to bring in a garment for an example of how "Wardrobe Strategy" can work. Registration for the series may be made by telephone to the extension office at 233-9366. There will be a booklet fee.

If the weather is hazardous on any of the above dates, please telephone 233-9366 before 4 p.m. of the evening series and before noon of the afternoon series to check for cancellations.

Radio hobbyists study 'Operational Amplifiers'

The operator of amateur radio station W2EUP in Scotch Plains, N.J., will be the speaker at the Monday, Jan. 18, meeting of the Tri-County Radio Assn.

Mr. Franklin was employed by the General Electric Corp. working in industrial electronics, until his retirement. He is currently a consultant to a company conducting technical seminars. He is a graduate of the New Jersey Institute of Technology, and is a professional engineer.

The operator's presentation and demonstration will be on experiments he has been conducting on "operational amplifiers" used as active filters such as the low, high, and band-pass types.

The "OP-AMP" is the most versatile integrated circuit in current use and is available widely, reports an association spokesman.

Association meetings are held every Monday at 8:30 p.m. at the Scotch Plains Park Ave., Scotch Plains.

SECOND IN COMMAND - Thomas M. Zuczek of Elizabeth was elected to assistant vice president by the Board of Directors of the City Federal Savings and Loan Assn. Mr. Zuczek joined City Federal in Oct. 1980, and has served as the branch manager for City Federal offices located in the Woodbridge Shopping Center and in Union in the Towne section, and currently manages the North Elizabeth office. A native of Elizabeth, he has taken courses at the Garden State Chapter of the Savings and Loan Institute, and the American Management Assn.

'Super Sunday '82' aim: $300,000

The Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey campaign goal of $300,000 has been set for "Super Sunday '82," according to the event's chairman, Tom and Bonnie Forghash of Westfield. This represents a 20% increase over the goal set for and reached by last year's one-day Phone-A-Thon.

The chairman also noted the community will answer the call for increased pledges because of the effects of inflation cut backs in social programs and increased pressure on the Israelis to spend more for arms to combat the military buildup of the Arab world, which raises and allocates telephone Hillel Korin, the campaign director at 351-5060 or Marty or Barbara Ostroff, the Super Sunday recruitment committee chairman, at 322-1946.

Though it has an area of more than one million square miles, less than 100 square miles of the Atlantic coastline is free from a permanent blanket of ice.

SPORTS

WINNING STYLE - Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School basketball player, Craig Grogan, No. 25, is shown in action in the Union County Regional High School Tournament, recently, in which he was voted to the All-Tournament Team. Clark won the tournament, in which Henry Tran of the Crusaders was named the Most Valuable Player.

The Rahway High School Winter Track Team has been invited to compete in the United States Olympic Invitational Track and Field Meet at the Meadows Arena on Saturday, Jan. 16, 1982.

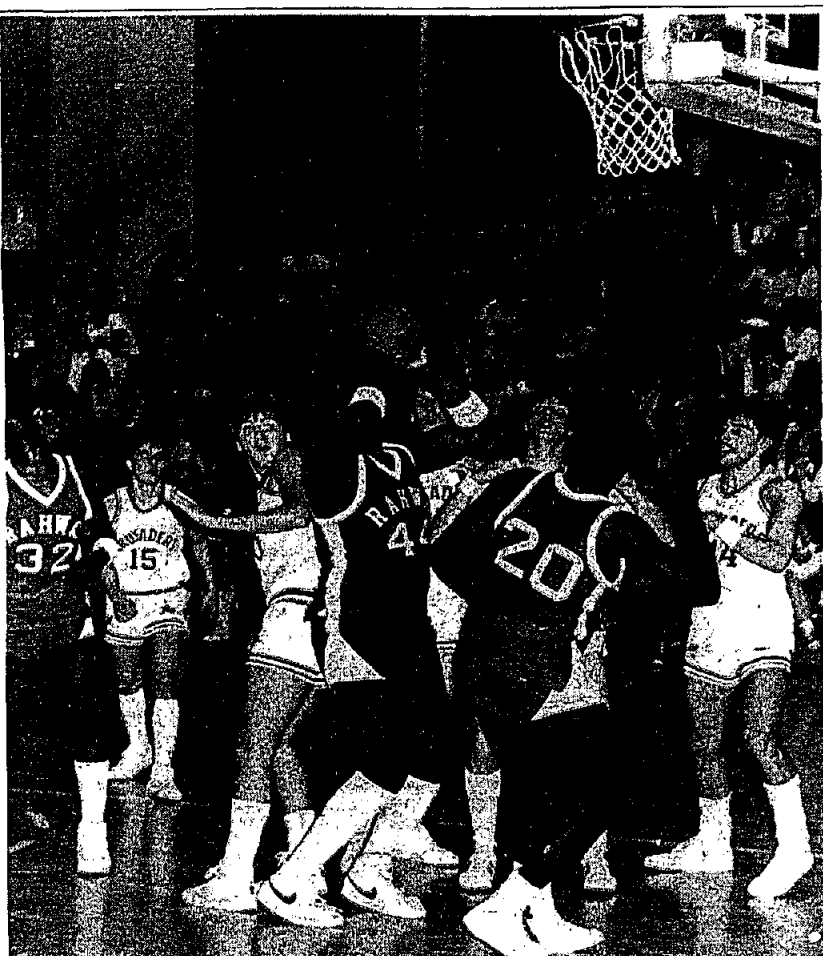

Rahway's first team won an event on the first set of races on Dec. 14 of last year at the arena.

Robert Osborne of Rahway won the 600-yard run in one minute and 14.2 seconds, and the 1000-yard run in two minutes and 38.2 seconds.

Zack Lutterloh, No. 21, won the 1000-yard run in two minutes and 38.2 seconds, and the 1000-yard run in two minutes and 38.2 seconds.

The Rahway team won 21 of the 22 races, including the 1000-yard run in two minutes and 38.2 seconds, and the 1000-yard run in two minutes and 38.2 seconds.

The Rahway team won 21 of the 22 races, including the 1000-yard run in two minutes and 38.2 seconds, and the 1000-yard run in two minutes and 38.2 seconds.

Indians battle back; but Clark wins war

By Ray Hoagland

The Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School team thrashed its way to a victory over the Rahway Indians 49-40 on Jan. 5.

But Rahway was dropped for two on eight counts. This ability to withstand the onslaught caused its trainer, Tony Orlando, Sr., to argue with the referee for some time following the bout. "If he (Kali) stopped the bout in the second round," Orlando said, "that would've been okay; Gary was losing. But he was coming on in the third, and I thought he looked good."

Sprohovich disagreed. "If the fight had gone on," the trainer said, "I would've hurt him more. I should've focused on my right hand; then I could've knocked him out cold."

Fourteen more exciting matches are scheduled for tomorrow night at the Elizabeth Armory.

The boxing match between Bobby Ceyz and Jeff Madison of St. Louis, Mo., will be held at Atlantic City on Sunday, Jan. 17.

On Thursday, Jan. 21, at the Joe World in Totowa, the very popular, Nino Gonzalez of Bayonne, a former New Jersey Golden Gloves champion, will face Jeff Madison of St. Louis.

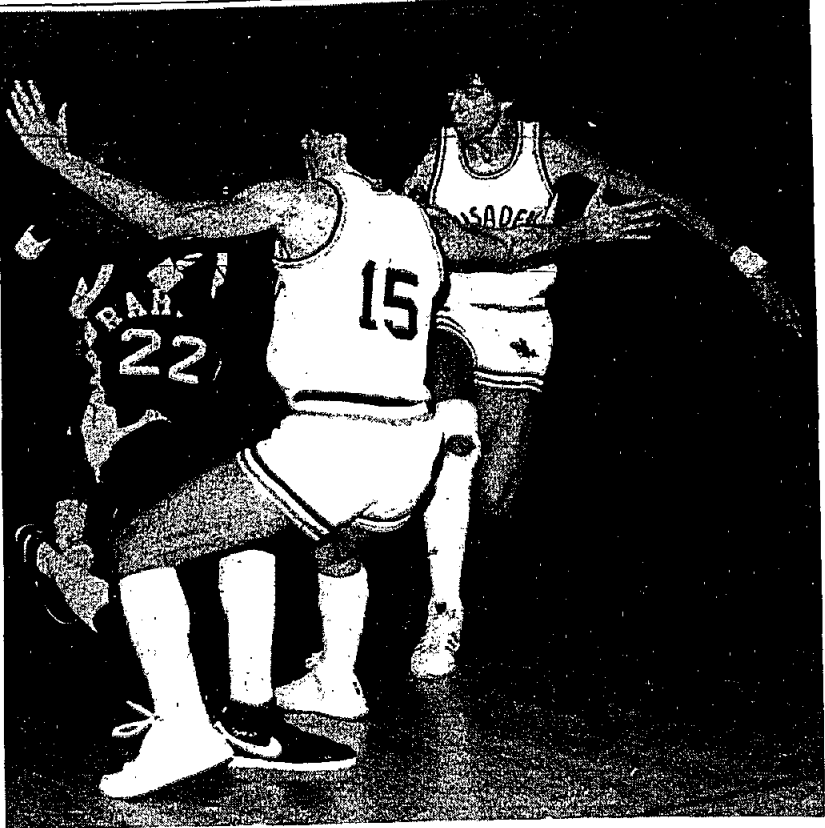

The Rahway High School team captured three of the four North Jersey Section No. 2 state titles last year.

Arthur L. Johnson Regional was the winner in Group No. 3, Berkeley Heights in Group No. 2, and Benedictine Academy of Elizabeth won in Group No. 1.

In last week's action at the New Jersey State Golden Gloves in the Elizabeth Armory, Rahway's John Sprohovich scored a technical knockout over Gary Rotondo of Elizabeth Recreation in one minute, 39 seconds of the third round.

Sprohovich connected with two sweeping rights hands to the face which prompted referee, Gary Kali, to stop the match.

Rotondo, of Clark, a natural southpaw, recently switched to his right hand at the suggestion of Vito Vassallo, who had been a professional boxer. He dropped his left hand, allowing Sprohovich ample opportunity

ALL-OUT EFFORT - Rahway's Dorsey Wilkins, No. 22, attempts to get past Clark's Drew Gattuso, No. 15, in the Jan. 5 game of the two cross-town rivals.

Indians hold off Cougars

By Ray Hoagland

In a thriller, the Rahway Indians Basketball Team of Jim Ladd held off a strong Cranford Cougars team to post a 66-52 win on Jan. 8 before a large crowd at Rahway.

Rahway led 11-10 at the end of the first period, then increased its margin to 28-22 at the half, and had a big third period to take a 48-34 lead into the final session.

The first period ended with the Crusaders ahead 18-11, and they were never behind.

After a close first period that was tied three times, the last time at 8-8, Craig Esser hit from the left side, then Rahway's Greg McLeod made one of two from the line. Esser scored a bucket, then the Clarkies scored six of the next eight points, by Rusty Marshall, Esner and Henry Tran as the period ended.

Esner, a junior forward, scored 24 points after the Crusaders were on top 16-9, then the Indians made their bid in the last period. McLeod cut the lead to 37-32 with six minutes and seven seconds left in the game, then Esner hit from the key for a 39-32 lead, and two free throws.

McLeod made the next four points, and it was 43-34. With one minute and 13 seconds to go in the game, McLeod scored on a layup. He then missed a foul shot, and Blair Ligs made two fouls, and Tran closed out the scoring.

Johnson outshined the Indians 17-6 from the line, and Rahway had the edge from the floor 17-16.

Rahway had 23 field goals to 15 for the Cougars.

Indians top Raiders in comeback game

Coach Jim Laddley's Rahway Indians overcame a five-point deficit in the last period to win at a home basketball game over the Scotch Plains Raiders 61-52 on Jan. 4.

Consecutive three-point plays by Tom Burke, Bryant Caldwell and Stan Wolkowski sent the Indians into a 54-48 lead. Caldwell had 15 points, eight of them in the last period, and Greg McLeod had 13 points and 22 rebounds.

Burke had 14, Wolkowski, 14, and Royal Green, two.

Rahway trailed 10-6 at the end of the first period, but the Indians outscored their rivals, 55-42 in the last period.

Scotch Plains had the edge 21-20 from the floor, but the Indians had a 21-10 lead from the line.

Johnson girls add to Rahway misery

By Ray Hoagland

Coach Tony Falzone's Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School girls cage squad of Clark defeated Rahway 42-33 on Jan. 5.

Nancy Jasinski led the Crusaders with a 20-point effort, as she hit 10 of 11 from the floor. Nancy Jasinski and Chris Cwicka combined for all 13 of the Clark first period points.

The Clarke came down the court, and tossed the ball away, something they had been doing all game.

How many turnovers did the Crusaders commit?

"Too many," the coach said. "That's the name of the game. That's why we lost."

Coach Margaret Egan of Mother Seton Girls' team dropped a last-second game to Queen of Peace in North Arlington 38-37 on Jan. 8.

After Whitney Brown, who had 24 points and 16 rebounds, hit on two free throws with 38 seconds left in the game, Karen Long of the Patriots, who had 18 points, answered with a basket as the clock showed 11 seconds to go.

The Clarke came down the court, and tossed the ball away, something they had been doing all game.

The New Jersey industrialist and state Republican Party finance chairman has taken the reins as the national chairman for Upsala's $12 million Capital Campaign, a recently-launched effort to help improve and expand the college at its campuses in East Orange and Wanaque in Sussex County. A senior majoring in human resources management, the younger Sullivan has done his bit for Upsa's as a center on the football team for the last three years. The elder Mr. Sullivan lives in Essex Fells, and is the president of Bomont Industries of Totowa.

Swimmers take trophy in Elizabeth tourney

The Rahway High School Swim Team, under the direction of Coach Richard Nolan and his assistant, Ron Ervick, won a third-place team trophy at the Elizabeth Invitational Swim Tournament on Dec. 30 of last year, where eight high-schools competed. Rahway swimmers took first place in five of the ten events. The top 12 swimmers in each event scored points for their team.

Rahway started out by taking first place in the 200-yard medley relay with Chris Zrinski swimming backstroke, Jim Cirone, breaststroke; Pat Walker, butterfly, and Todd Breza, freestyle.

The freestyle-relay team finished fourth with Todd Downey, Pete Turley, Chris Shuster, and Glenn Barrett. Each swimmer could be entered in two individual events.

Cirone won the 200-yard individual medley and the 100-yard breaststroke. Zrinski took first place in the 100-yard backstroke and second in the 200-yard individual medley. Barrett won the 200-yard freestyle.

Trailside to present show for birds

The Trailside Nature and Science Center will offer information on what to feed winter birds on Sunday, Jan. 17. Combining a slide show and discussion, "Birds at Your Feeder" will begin at 2 p.m.

Trailside's museum curator, Debi Jamison, will host this program. The slide show, which will be presented in the visitors' center at Coles Ave. and New Providence Rd., Mountainside, will help participants learn how to identify birds such as juncos, white-throated sparrows, downy woodpeckers and white-breasted nuthatches, all found in the Union County area during winter.

Visitors to Trailside, a Union County Dept. of Parks and Recreation facility, may view birds at the bird-attraction area. Located outside the visitors' center, the area contains shrubs and pine trees which offer sources of food and shelter. Feeders contain sunflower, thistle and mixed seeds.

A section inside the center has been reserved so visitors can bird watch and record sightings. A reference book is available to help with identification.

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO...

If You Smell Gas

YOU—AND EVERY MEMBER OF YOUR FAMILY SHOULD KNOW THIS: (Even if you don't have gas service in your home).

Natural gas has a better safety record than any other form of energy and you can help to keep it that way by using it properly and by knowing what to do if you smell gas, whether the odor is in your home, the building you are in—or even outdoors. The odor of gas—indoors or outdoors—indicates potential danger.

Natural gas itself has no odor. A harmless chemical is added which gives off the characteristic "gas smell," so you can easily detect a gas leak. If you ever smell faint whiffs of this odor do the following:

1. Check to see if a pilot light is out, or if a burner valve is partially turned on. If you cannot find the source of the odor, call us at once. Open windows and doors to dissipate gas.
2. Never light a gas appliance if a strong odor of gas is present—and never use matches to look for gas leaks. Avoid operating any electrical equipment—including light switches or thermostats.
3. IF THE ODOR IS EXTREMELY STRONG GET OUT OF THE BUILDING IMMEDIATELY AND CALL US FROM A NEIGHBOR'S PHONE.

A GAS ODOR CAN OCCUR IN A HOME OR BUILDING WHICH DOES NOT HAVE GAS SERVICE.

If this happens, open all doors and windows and call us at once. Do not operate any electrical equipment, including light switches or thermostats. If the odor is extremely strong, follow step 3 above.

A GAS ODOR MAY BE PRESENT OUTDOORS.

If you detect a gas odor outdoors do not try to locate the source but call us right away. Even though most outdoor "gas odors" are caused by other reasons, we will investigate them immediately.
