SCHOOL-TAB DEFEAT HISTORY REVIVED

Mrs. Henderson victorious on third attempt in four years; Rizzo, Matusaitis win

By Joan Gorzenik
After three unsuccessful attempts in four years to gain a seat on the Rahway Board of Education, Mrs. Lillian Henderson was victorious at the end of Tuesday's delayed school election.

Mrs. Henderson took the three-year full-term post by defeating newcomer, Kevin Wittek, by a 36-vote margin. She was overwhelmingly supported in the Fourth Ward, Districts One and Two, carrying it with 104 votes and the Fourth Ward, Districts Three and Four, with 90 votes.

The two incumbent candidates, Louis Rizzo and Ronald Matusaitis, held on to their board posts for an additional three-year term. They garnered 573 and 511 votes, respectively. Their strongest support was felt in the Sixth Ward, Districts Three and Four.

supervision at the Woodbridge State School in Woodbridge. She has been employed there for 16 years.

She is a member of the Friendship Baptist Church of Rahway and its Nurses Unit Women's Auxiliary and Gospel Chorus. She is also an advisor to the Youth Choir.

Mrs. Henderson served as president of the Rahway Jaycees from 1975 to 1976, and received the Key Woman Award, the highest honor bestowed by the state Jaycees, in 1978.

Mr. Matusaitis is currently serving as the Board of Education president. He is assistant vice president of operations for Paul's Trucking Corp. in Woodbridge. He is an active member of the Sideliners Club of Rahway and is also active on the Rahway Municipal Democratic Committee.

Mr. Rizzo has completed his 21st year as a member of the Board. He served as its president for five consecutive years from 1963 to 1968 and again from 1977 to 1978. He has been a resident and homeowner in Rahway since 1934.

Mr. Rizzo was the president of Town Hardware of Clark for 33 years before his retirement last year.

City voters also defeated the School Board budget by an approximate 100-vote margin. The current expense portion of the budget was defeated 441 to 324, while the capital-outlay portion was voted down 451 to 315.

The greatest opposition to the budget was felt in the Second Ward, Third and Fourth Districts, and the Fifth Ward, First and Second Districts.

The total number of voters to cast their ballots was approximately 996 out of a possible 13,000. Board attorney, Leo Kahn, commented voter turn-out was the "lowest in 20 years." Official results of the election may be seen in next week's Rahway News-Record.

Government taken over by Girl Scouts for day

By R. R. Faszczewski
There was a takeover of Rahway's city government on April 12, not by subversives but by Girl Scouts.

Girl Scout Government Day started at 2 p.m. in the city, when the Scouts went on a tour of the Rahway Water Works on Westfield Ave. The next stop was the Council Chambers in Rahway City Hall, where the Scouts were greeted by City Clerk Francis R. Senkowski, and taken on a tour of the Municipal building and the Police Dept. and orientation in the various departments, where they stood in for department heads for the day.

The Scouts attended a dinner at El Bohegon Restaurant in Rahway, followed by their assembly in the Council Chambers at 7:30 p.m. to take part in the meeting of City Council, with each of them helping their counterparts on Council and in the administration.

Adult leaders in charge of the group were Mrs. Barbara McLaren, the Rahway Girl Scout Assn. chairman, and Mrs. Barbara Bettie, senior advisor.

Following is a list of Rahway's city officials and their Scout counterparts for the day: Mayor Daniel L. Martin, Charlene Schimmel; Business Administrator Joseph M. Hartnett, Claire Gilchrist; Mr. Senkowski, Helen Bettie; Council President Vincent Addona, Christine Schmitt; Councilman-at-Large Walter McLeod, Kelly Faughnan; Councilwoman-at-Large Irene Rinaldi, Kelly McLean; First Ward Councilman Lawrence Bodine, Patricia Rinaldi; Second Ward Councilman John C. Marsh, Karen Miller; Third Ward Councilman Max Sheld, Sandra Yesko; Fourth Ward Councilman Harvey Williams, Ellen Burke; Fifth Ward Councilman Walter Pitts, Maria Alexander; Sixth Ward Councilman James Fulcomer, Kimberly Endosker; Director of Law Alan Karcher and Council Attorney Charles Brandt, Susan Berko; Police Chief Theodore Polhamus, Djuna Mitchell; Fire Chief James Heller, Gail Wooley; Civil Defense Director J. Milton Crans, Danielle Wright; Comptroller Roger Pribush, Jennifer Stock; Tax Assessor Thomas Luby.

Shelley Tompkins, Superintendent of Water Thomas Schimmel, Susan Kravenko, Recreation Superintendent Richard Grischke, Darlene Deering, Health Officer Anthony Diege, Sondra Brown; Municipal Judge Marcus Blum, Christy Patla, and Director of Public Works and City Engineer Frank Koczar, Megan Donovan.

During the regular City Council meeting a proposed ordinance to require extra security measures for businesses open from 11 p.m. to 5 a.m. was postponed for introduction until April 19 because of objections to a requirement for the businesses to have two employees on duty during the above hours in addition to having a security officer or security device on the premises.

Although Councilmen Bodine and Rinaldi said the requirement for two employees might present problems for certain businesses, Councilman Sheld replied the reason for the measure was to protect the businesses and the city because establishments such as all-night dairy stores have been the sites of the greatest amount of burglaries lately.

It was agreed the matter would be referred to the police for review.

Jobs sought at waste plant

By R. R. Faszczewski
A city resident was assured by administration officials April 12, the Rahway government would exert as much leverage as possible to get jobs for city residents at the proposed resource-recovery plant in Rahway, although, since it will be a private business Rahway has very little control over the hiring practices.

According to Eddie Smith, a resident of the Fourth Ward, when the plant, which was originally proposed for Linden but was voted down in a referendum, came before city officials there, they negotiated at least 50 of the jobs with Widmer-Ernst, the waste plant developer, would be for Linden residents.

Mr. Smith said since Linden had gotten that concession when it was in a negative position, Rahway's positive consideration for the plant should place it in a better position to get the job concessions.

However, Mayor Daniel L. Martin said the city government itself has no direct control over the number of jobs to go to Rahway residents because Widmer-Ernst is a private firm.

Business Administrator Joseph M. Hartnett told Mr.

Smith the city does not have its greatest amount of leverage for the jobs now because many state approvals are still needed before Widmer-Ernst comes back to the city for final approval to operate the plant.

However, he assured Mr. Smith when the process came back to the city it might be possible to try and win some concessions on jobs. He estimated the approvals might take up to a year, but the city could possibly talk to the company about jobs three months before that.

In other action at its April 12 meeting, City Council:

Introduced an amendment to the Zoning Code which would allow homeowners to park vehicles in side-yard, off-street parking spaces which started at the front line of their homes and/or were connected to garages. The public hearing on this measure will be held on Monday, May 10, at 8 p.m.

Adopted ordinances changing its June meeting to the Wednesday after the second Monday of that month, setting the fee for dog licenses at $4 per year and prohibiting parking at all times within 100 feet of the intersection of Stone St. and Jefferson ave.

Harnett apologizes for Fulcomer's remarks

I could not believe my eyes when I read in your newspaper Councilman James Fulcomer likened me to Nazi minister, Joseph Goebbels, and likened a budget report I issued to Nazi persecution of Jews. I am ashamed and embarrassed any city official would respond to a simple budget report in such a distasteful manner.

Even if Mr. Fulcomer feels persecuted by a report that contains information he doesn't like, by what right does he shame me in front of millions of Jews and Poles by suggesting his trivial comment in any way whatsoever compares to theirs?

I feel very sorry for him that he feels a need to disgrace himself and our city with such unbecoming conduct. On his behalf and that of our city, I apologize to anyone who suffers the memories of Nazi horror.

An intelligent response to our budget report would have been to refute the facts, statements and analyses contained. Obviously this response was not available to the councilman because the facts, statements and analyses therein are the truth and irrefutable. Thus, the Councilman chose a much, much lower road in a feeble and repugnant effort to defend himself from the truth.

For the councilman to further suggest I am not only a Nazi but have deliberately lied because I am afraid of losing my job only further proves he cannot refute the facts, and therefore must attack the person who issued the facts.

Perhaps the councilman should compare his record for getting "people's respect and trust with mine. Municipal Council has twice approved my appointment as city administrator, once by bipartisan vote and once by unanimous vote, while just this year the Council rejected Councilman Fulcomer's bid for the post of Council president, even though his own political party controls the vote.

Mr. Councilman Fulcomer had the facts, he could have attempted to attack our report; if he had a reputation for being truthful, he would have done so. Instead, he chose to attack me, and I am sure he is not alone in feeling this way.

Most important, I must assure you do not fear the judgment of the people of Rahway, whether they are Jewish, Polish or any other, especially if they are comparing Mr. Fulcomer's reputation with mine.

Seniors to hear spring sing

The residents of the Senior Citizens Housing Center in Westfield will be entertained on Wednesday, May 5, by the Chautauque of Westfield, a women's choral group.

Recently, residents at the Ashbrook Nursing Home were treated to this spring program.

Any program, whether singing, dancing, or anything else, is welcome. The Chautauque is asked to telephone Phyllis Anderson at 232-6869 for further information.

College plan moves to state board

The agenda of the April 16 meeting of the State Board of Higher Education included consideration of a petition from the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders to establish a public community college in Union County by joining the Technical Institute in Scotch Plains and the Union County Vocational School.

The proposed merger has the support of the Board of Trustees of Union College, the Board of Education of the Union County Vocational School, and the Board of Education of the Union County Technical Institute.

Union College and the technical institute now provide public education services in lieu of a county college under contract with the coordinating agency.

Union College was founded in 1933 as a federally-financed Vocational-Technical Institute. Projects Administration project institution and became an independent institution two years later. In 1965 the college was designated a county-assisted college and the Board of Chosen Freeholders provided financial aid to all full-time students from Union County. In 1969 the college became the focal point of the current arrangement known as the Union County Vocational School System.

Union County Technical Institute, which is the post-secondary arm of the Union County Vocational School System, was founded in 1960, and

Testimony is urged at water-tank hearing

On Tuesday, April 27, at 8 p.m. the Clark Planning Board will vote on an important legal question concerning the five-million-gallon water tank proposed by the Middlesex Water Co.

Does the Clark Planning Board have jurisdiction over this application?

The Water Tank Objectors are a group of residents of both Rahway and Clark. We are working very hard to inform the public of the impact this structure, a 45-foot tall by 147-foot in-diameter tank, would have on the surrounding residential homes in both communities.

We need your support at the meeting as well as any expert testimony you can give us. Expert testimony on our behalf is expensive. But the damage to our neighborhoods if this water storage-tank application is approved would be costly also.

If approved, the water tank will forever be a fixture in our communities. We hope to have your support and attendance at the meeting at the Clark Municipal Building at 5 p.m. on Tuesday, April 27.

Further aid cuts would hurt students

More than 20 years ago, after the Soviets launched the first satellite, America reacted by increasing emphasis on education so as not to be outdistanced in the race to explore outer space.

Amid a wave of national concern, Congress approved a variety of programs providing financial aid to college students. The intent was to strengthen American education, and to ensure no student of ability would be denied an opportunity to attend college because of financial need.

Over the years millions of students have received loans and grants under these federal programs. While a considerable amount of money has been spent in providing this assistance, the return on the investment has been enormous in terms of the benefits to society.

However, as the Administration seeks to curb federal spending in the face of a deepening recession, these programs are being targeted for a second round of budget cuts. For the 1983 fiscal year, beginning on Friday, October 1, the President has proposed a 48% reduction in student financial aid. This would be on top of cuts approved last year by Congress.

As of last October, students from families with incomes above $30,000 must prove a financial need. Maximum interest rates for students were raised to 9% and for parents to 14%. Because these changes weren't effective before the start of the school year, their impact will not be felt until next year.

The effect of these cuts, the President has proposed other revisions to save the government $900 million in 1983 in federal aid to education. The President would further tighten the aid programs by applying the needs test to lower-income students, cutting graduate students out of the 9% loan program, terminating interest subsidies for loan guarantors or if a student quits school and doubling loan fees.

Guaranteed student loans and Pell grants, direct grants to low- and middle-income undergraduates, would be hardest hit by the plan. The 1983 appropriation for Pell grants would be slashed to $1.8 billion from $2.4 billion for the current fiscal year. Millions more would be saved by disqualifying thousands of students through the tightening of loan requirements.

The President's recommendations would cut New Jersey an estimated $45.2 million, almost half the amount of student aid funds the state now receives. State officials calculate 28,000 New Jersey students would have to forfeit their Pell grants, and some 40,000 would be denied interest subsidies.

Federal aid to education was cut about 13% last year when the Administration revoked eligibility requirements for students in denying taxpayer-funded assistance to students financially capable of paying for their own education. Since these revisions in the aid and grant programs, the mood on Capitol Hill has changed and there is mounting opposition to further cuts in these programs.

In my view it would be ill advised and unfair to approve further reductions at this time. The terms of the crippling impact the cuts would have on personal lives and the higher education system in this country would far outweigh the benefits to be derived from the dollars saved. There are many other areas of the budget where reductions can be made without touching such vital programs as education.

With tuition rising faster than at any time in the last decade, and the chipping away at family finances, federal loans become a necessity for more and more college students. It is the most prudent investment we can make in the future of America.

City man whistles goodbye to ship

For Navy Petty Officer Second Class Gregory J. Mintel, whistling "Dixie" has become a catchy tune to a sad goodbye.

Petty Officer Mintel is a crewman aboard the U.S.S. Dixie, a destroyer tender which recently returned from her final western Pacific and Indian Ocean deployment.

Dixie claims distinction as the Navy's oldest continuously active ship. She is scheduled for decommissioning in June after 25 deployments and 42 years of service to the fleet.

The petty officer, 21, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Mintel of 646 Jackson Ave., Rahway.

"I wanted to get away and see some of the world," he said. "I wanted to get what training the Navy could give me in the computer field."

He qualified as a data-processing technician through the Navy's basic data-processing school, and completed courses toward a business major at National University in San Diego.

"I chose data processing because it's a growing field," he said. "Just about every business is either using or going to use a computer. And it's challenging."

Petty Officer Mintel recounted his career assets as he looked to the future.

"I've grown a lot as a person," he said. "I've learned to adapt to any situation and learned a lot about people and how to work with them."

"I see myself getting into a good job in the future," he continued, "because I was working full time and going to college full time before the deployment. I plan to get my associate's degree before I get out."

"We spent a lot of repair time in Diego Garcia," he added. "The biggest thing was trying to keep things together and co-ordinated. We were confined in close quarters. We were usually anchored away from shore and we had only a few liberty hours allowed per day using boats to and from shore."

Mintel said he was making a working atmosphere conducive to teamwork was the key to making the deployment a success.

"I tried to keep the guys working and promoted unity in everything they did," he said. "My attitude was, 'When there's a job to do, let's get it done.'"

The sailor was graduated from Rahway High School in 1978, and joined the Navy that year.

Mintel said he was making a working atmosphere conducive to teamwork was the key to making the deployment a success.

"I tried to keep the guys working and promoted unity in everything they did," he said. "My attitude was, 'When there's a job to do, let's get it done.'"

The sailor was graduated from Rahway High School in 1978, and joined the Navy that year.

College plan moves to state board

The agenda of the April 16 meeting of the State Board of Higher Education included consideration of a petition from the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders to establish a public community college in Union County by joining the Technical Institute in Scotch Plains and the Union County Vocational School.

The proposed merger has the support of the Board of Trustees of Union College, the Board of Education of the Union County Vocational School, and the Board of Education of the Union County Technical Institute.

Union College and the technical institute now provide public education services in lieu of a county college under contract with the coordinating agency.

Union College was founded in 1933 as a federally-financed Vocational-Technical Institute. Projects Administration project institution and became an independent institution two years later. In 1965 the college was designated a county-assisted college and the Board of Chosen Freeholders provided financial aid to all full-time students from Union County. In 1969 the college became the focal point of the current arrangement known as the Union County Vocational School System.

Union County Technical Institute, which is the post-secondary arm of the Union County Vocational School System, was founded in 1960, and

Testimony is urged at water-tank hearing

On Tuesday, April 27, at 8 p.m. the Clark Planning Board will vote on an important legal question concerning the five-million-gallon water tank proposed by the Middlesex Water Co.

Does the Clark Planning Board have jurisdiction over this application?

The Water Tank Objectors are a group of residents of both Rahway and Clark. We are working very hard to inform the public of the impact this structure, a 45-foot tall by 147-foot in-diameter tank, would have on the surrounding residential homes in both communities.

We need your support at the meeting as well as any expert testimony you can give us. Expert testimony on our behalf is expensive. But the damage to our neighborhoods if this water storage-tank application is approved would be costly also.

If approved, the water tank will forever be a fixture in our communities. We hope to have your support and attendance at the meeting at the Clark Municipal Building at 5 p.m. on Tuesday, April 27.

Further aid cuts would hurt students

More than 20 years ago, after the Soviets launched the first satellite, America reacted by increasing emphasis on education so as not to be outdistanced in the race to explore outer space.

Amid a wave of national concern, Congress approved a variety of programs providing financial aid to college students. The intent was to strengthen American education, and to ensure no student of ability would be denied an opportunity to attend college because of financial need.

Over the years millions of students have received loans and grants under these federal programs. While a considerable amount of money has been spent in providing this assistance, the return on the investment has been enormous in terms of the benefits to society.

However, as the Administration seeks to curb federal spending in the face of a deepening recession, these programs are being targeted for a second round of budget cuts. For the 1983 fiscal year, beginning on Friday, October 1, the President has proposed a 48% reduction in student financial aid. This would be on top of cuts approved last year by Congress.

As of last October, students from families with incomes above $30,000 must prove a financial need. Maximum interest rates for students were raised to 9% and for parents to 14%. Because these changes weren't effective before the start of the school year, their impact will not be felt until next year.

The effect of these cuts, the President has proposed other revisions to save the government $900 million in 1983 in federal aid to education. The President would further tighten the aid programs by applying the needs test to lower-income students, cutting graduate students out of the 9% loan program, terminating interest subsidies for loan guarantors or if a student quits school and doubling loan fees.

Guaranteed student loans and Pell grants, direct grants to low- and middle-income undergraduates, would be hardest hit by the plan. The 1983 appropriation for Pell grants would be slashed to $1.8 billion from $2.4 billion for the current fiscal year. Millions more would be saved by disqualifying thousands of students through the tightening of loan requirements.

The President's recommendations would cut New Jersey an estimated $45.2 million, almost half the amount of student aid funds the state now receives. State officials calculate 28,000 New Jersey students would have to forfeit their Pell grants, and some 40,000 would be denied interest subsidies.

Federal aid to education was cut about 13% last year when the Administration revoked eligibility requirements for students in denying taxpayer-funded assistance to students financially capable of paying for their own education. Since these revisions in the aid and grant programs, the mood on Capitol Hill has changed and there is mounting opposition to further cuts in these programs.

In my view it would be ill advised and unfair to approve further reductions at this time. The terms of the crippling impact the cuts would have on personal lives and the higher education system in this country would far outweigh the benefits to be derived from the dollars saved. There are many other areas of the budget where reductions can be made without touching such vital programs as education.

With tuition rising faster than at any time in the last decade, and the chipping away at family finances, federal loans become a necessity for more and more college students. It is the most prudent investment we can make in the future of America.

City man whistles goodbye to ship

For Navy Petty Officer Second Class Gregory J. Mintel, whistling "Dixie" has become a catchy tune to a sad goodbye.

Petty Officer Mintel is a crewman aboard the U.S.S. Dixie, a destroyer tender which recently returned from her final western Pacific and Indian Ocean deployment.

Dixie claims distinction as the Navy's oldest continuously active ship. She is scheduled for decommissioning in June after 25 deployments and 42 years of service to the fleet.

The petty officer, 21, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Mintel of 646 Jackson Ave., Rahway.

"I wanted to get away and see some of the world," he said. "I wanted to get what training the Navy could give me in the computer field."

He qualified as a data-processing technician through the Navy's basic data-processing school, and completed courses toward a business major at National University in San Diego.

"I chose data processing because it's a growing field," he said. "Just about every business is either using or going to use a computer. And it's challenging."

Petty Officer Mintel recounted his career assets as he looked to the future.

"I've grown a lot as a person," he said. "I've learned to adapt to any situation and learned a lot about people and how to work with them."

"I see myself getting into a good job in the future," he continued, "because I was working full time and going to college full time before the deployment. I plan to get my associate's degree before I get out."

"We spent a lot of repair time in Diego Garcia," he added. "The biggest thing was trying to keep things together and co-ordinated. We were confined in close quarters. We were usually anchored away from shore and we had only a few liberty hours allowed per day using boats to and from shore."

Mintel said he was making a working atmosphere conducive to teamwork was the key to making the deployment a success.

"I tried to keep the guys working and promoted unity in everything they did," he said. "My attitude was, 'When there's a job to do, let's get it done.'"

The sailor was graduated from Rahway High School in 1978, and joined the Navy that year.

Shields raps Reagan cuts for aging

The executive director of the Union County Area Agency on Aging, Peter M. Shields, stated today there has been over one million dollars cut for 1982 in federal and state funds for the Older Americans Act social services and nutrition programs administered through the New Jersey State Division on Aging.

Mr. Shields added this reduction is proposed to be doubled for 1983, according to President Ronald Reagan's fiscal year 1983 budget. The services to be cut cover home-delivered and group-dining meals, nursing and home-health care services, transportation, legal and other services all of which assist the elderly in avoiding more costly institutionalization.

"These cuts do not make good business sense when they will force people to seek nursing-home placement due to lack of appropriate home health care," he concluded.

Stricter laws regarding the misuse of Social Security numbers are now in effect, according to John H. McCutcheon, the manager of the Elizabeth Social Security Office.

A law signed by President Ronald Reagan in late December, 1981, provides criminal penalties for: (1) using a Social Security card obtained with false information, (2) using someone else's Social Security number, (3) buying, selling, or counterfeiting Social Security cards, or (4) possessing a regular or counterfeit card with intent to sell or alter it.

An unlawful act affecting the Social Security card or number is now considered a felony rather than a misdemeanor, added Mr. McCutcheon.

Penalties for conviction can be a fine of up to $5,000 or a prison term of up to five years or both.

According to Mr. McCutcheon, individuals wishing to report misuse of Social Security cards or numbers should call the nearest Social Security office listed in the telephone book.

STATE VISIT - Gov. Thomas H. Kean

STATE VISIT - Gov. Thomas H. Kean appears as the special guest of Mayor Virginia McKenney on the mayor's Suburban Cablevision channel No. 3 program during April. The mayor hosts the monthly television program, "Rosella Park: A Jewel of a Town," from 7 to 7:30 p.m. each Tuesday during the month. Subject matter discussed by Gov. Kean and Mayor McKenney during the program include the governor's filling of the United States Senate seat recently vacated by Harrison A. Williams, Jr., the governor's appointment of former Union County Manager George Albanese as the state's commissioner of human services, budgets and related "Cap" limitations, gross receipts, jail conditions throughout the state and juvenile crime.

THE WINNER IS! - Rahway Mayor Daniel L. Martin, left, draws the name of the winner of a contest sponsored recently by the merchants of downtown Rahway, as John Guitta, a merchant, holds the box.

"I switched to gas heat because I needed some work done on the old oil furnace. I would be more economical for me to go to gas heat, so I converted. The gas heat has been fine. We have no more soot and there's no problem with delivery of fuel. In a number of years it will pay for itself."
George Hoffman, Hawthorne, N.J.

"We like gas heat because it's very convenient and very clean. We use it to heat our rooms, drapes, and curtains more often with oil heat than with gas heat. And gas heat is very quiet and economical. We found that we're saving more money in space heating than we were with oil. Really, I'm not kidding."
Theresa Musson, West Paterson, N.J.

"I converted my house from oil to gas heat about a year ago. I have saved at least 30% off my fuel bill and, on top of that, by converting to a gas hot water heater I have saved even more. We have no more soot in our family, which we never had before. Also my oil-fired furnace had to run to give me hot water in the summer."
Ron Markovich, Butler, N.J.

Education unit asks full aid, tax reform

Leaders of the New Jersey Education Association, led by Thomas H. Kean, are asking the Legislature to provide full funding of education according to state constitution, law, and to reform the tax structure to do so.

In testimony before the Legislature's Joint Appropriations Committee, the association's president, Edith A. Fulton, protested Gov. Kean's proposal to distribute $50 million less in equalization aid than what the "Thorough and Efficient" Education Law of 1975 calls for, and protested the state's executive director, Dr. James P. Connelley, who has been cutting federal taxes and state income tax, in order to fund education and stabilize local property taxes.

Connelley declared, "I have been gradually increasing income tax, in order to increase state funds, in order to fund education and stabilize local property taxes."

Some people have told us that the governor is merely the "agent" of the Legislature. But the Legislature has no right to cut the state income tax, which is a state tax. The governor has the right to cut the state income tax, which is a state tax. The governor has the right to cut the state income tax, which is a state tax.

out of three districts have completed their budgets and are anticipating full state funding, she said.

The president noted the proposed cutbacks would hurt urban and other property-poor districts the most. She added proposed cuts of $15 million in compensatory education aid would also hurt urban districts more than others.

Mrs. Fulton asked the Legislature and Gov. Kean to allocate more aid for vocational education, aid for education, public school security guards, programs for pre-school handicapped children, the State Office of Equal Educational Opportunity, public school nutrition programs, and school employee pensions.

In the area of higher education, Mrs. Fulton asked for more state aid to county and state colleges, and argued against tuition increases at these institutions.

Dr. Connelley noted efforts by Governors Richard Hughes, William Cahill and Brendan T. Byrne to put education on a sound financial footing. He said the state government funds itself with a shortfall in revenues because of the ineffectiveness of the state tax structure, but urged against repeating that pattern because "the state is not served in the long run by annual budget battles in which local districts are forced to play Russian roulette with their budgets and employees, and have no way to make long-range plans."

He declared President Ronald Reagan's cutbacks in education aid have made the fiscal picture for schools even more desperate, and said the state should raise its taxes because the federal government has lowered federal levies.

Union County officials are working with municipal governments and boards of education in an effort to ease the burden of increasing material costs and budget limitations through the initiation of a purchasing program.

The program, called cooperative pricing, would allow municipalities to purchase materials jointly through guidelines issued by the State's Division of Local Government Services, allows municipalities to be included in county bid packages for items such as gasoline, heating fuel, cinders, rock salt and road paving material.

County director of purchasing, Sue Belluso, said, "We're promoting the practice of joint governmental assistance and economy through both lower bid prices and reducing municipalities' overhead costs in preparing and awarding bids. The tight fiscal situation most government bodies face makes these kinds of programs essential."

In a cooperative pricing agreement, the county draws up the specifications, and the municipalities bid. However, separate contracts or purchase orders are executed between each participating government agency and vendor.

The bid specifications notify each potential bidder of the desire to make the resulting prices available for other participants in the agreement, and the vendor, in submitting the bid, acknowledges those prices will be extended to other participating members.

All 21 county municipal governments and boards of education were sent information packages after the Board of Chosen Freeholders approved the county's participation in the program in Feb. 1981.

"To date," the county purchasing director says, "11 municipalities and two boards of education have been approved for the program." Once approved, municipalities can participate in the any cooperative pricing agreement for five years.

Participating municipalities include Clark, State approval takes approximately one month from the time a governing body decides to participate. The county will hold a meeting for all participants on Feb. 21.

bodies in a few months to receive input into materials which local officials believe should be included in cooperative agreements.

The program is still in the experimental stages. Road material bids will be received this month, gasoline next month, rock salt in July and heating fuel in September.

Auxiliary elects new officer slate

New officers for 1982 to 1984 were elected recently at the annual meeting of the Rahway Hospital Auxiliary.

The Auxiliaries elected were: Mrs. Claire McClure, president; Mrs. Maydel Grahil, vice president; Mrs. Shirley Levitzky, secretary; Mrs. W. F. Stoops, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Eleanor Major, treasurer; Mrs. Muriel Reese, assistant treasurer; and Miss Veronica Ritter, assistant shop treasurer.

After the annual business meeting, the Auxiliaries heard a lecture on "Nutrition and Lifestyle" by Carol Donovan, an assistant professor of health at Kean College in Union and one of the initial recipients of a nursing scholarship from the Auxiliary.

Emergency squad plans fund drive

The Rahway Emergency Squad has set Monday, May 3, as the starting date for the 1982 fund drive throughout the city.

The drive will run nightly, and be conducted by canvassing door to door until each home is visited by the squad's volunteers.

The squad responded to over 2,400 calls for the year ending on Dec. 31, 1981, and has already completed nearly 600 calls for this year to date, reports William E. Hering, the publicity chairman.

The squad will retire the last in a long line of Cadillac ambulances this May, and the last 1976 Cadillac is being replaced with a new Ford van-type rig, which will be used for transportation and third backup to the two first-response modular rigs, the spokesman noted.

This will be the first time in nearly 31 years, a Cadillac rig will not be in the fleet of four vehicles, since the General Motors Cadillac Division no longer manufactures the ambulance, according to Mr. Hering.

Since the Rahway squad, like the 450 others in New Jersey, does not charge for any services rendered, it must rely on the people and requests $10 donations per family which breaks down to 20¢ a week for round-the-clock ambulance service, he noted.

Residents were urged to have a check for the volunteers when they ring your bell. It helps us with no record, and is your tax receipt, concluded Mr. Hering.

Mayor to give up his own pay raise

Following the defeat of the city's budget referendum, he is giving up his own pay raise for 1982, reports Mayor Daniel L. Martin of Rahway. An ordinance adopted by the City Council last year provided a 10% pay increase for city employees this year, with the mayor's increase taking effect on March 1, giving him an additional $817 for the year.

"It is not the amount of money that is significant," Mayor Martin said, "but rather I feel it is my obligation as the mayor to show the citizens I am not just willing to cut the budget, but to cut my own salary."

"A good mayor should lead not with rhetoric, but by example," he added. The mayor stated he would not ask other city employees to take salary cuts.

"Although in cutting the budget, we will have to bring overtime costs down, and possibly defer certain benefits, I will not ask any other city employees, whose families depend on their salaries, to take pay cuts," the city's chief executive explained.

The official pointed out he is preparing a package of cuts to submit to the Council for paring the budget by the $182,025.62 rejected by the voters in the budget referendum.

The people have expressed their desire for a cut in the city budget," Mayor Martin declared, "and I want them to know their mayor is the first to respond by cutting his own salary."

City G.O.P. slates county chairman

Union County Republican Chairman Alfonso Piana of Roselle Park will be the keynote speaker at the Rahway Republican Open Screening Convention scheduled to convene at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall on Broadway.

The purpose of the convention is to select the Regular Organization of the Republican candidates for mayor and councilmen-at-large.

Hospital slates colorectal tests

Cancers of the colon and the rectum are the most common internal cancers for both men and women; there are over 100,000 new cases annually. Though almost three out of four patients might be saved by early diagnosis and prompt treatment, colorectal cancer kills more than 50,000 Americans every year, reports a Rahway Hospital spokesman.

Two factors contribute to the high death rate from colorectal cancer: 1) it is often undetected until it is too late, the spokesman noted. The usual symptoms of colorectal cancer are bleeding, a persistent change in bowel habits, either constipation or diarrhea or both alternately, and an increase in intestinal gas causing varying degrees of abdominal discomfort, he added.

The colorectal program, which is free and open to the public, will be held in the conference room on the hospital's main level. For further information, please telephone the Education Office at Rahway Hospital at 381-4300, extension 391.

Girl Scouts to honor their leaders

Leaders in the Delaware Raritan Girl Scout Council, which includes Rahway, will receive a letter from Mrs. Orville L. Freeman, the president of the Girl Scouts of the United States, saluting them for their contributions to the development of the 13,000 girls served by the council.

In his proclamation, Gov. Kean cited the leaders for their skilled partnership with girls, and for their imagination and self-confidence.

Girl Scout leaders will be honored in their local communities by parents, girls and community leaders.

RAHWAY YMCA

Exercise can keep heart pumping right

May has been designated as National High Blood Pressure Month. The Rahway YMCA is supporting the effort to educate as many people as possible about high blood pressure.

Blood pressure is the force of the blood against the walls of the arteries and veins created by the heart as it pumps blood to every part of the body. When arteries, the small arteries that regulate blood pressure, constrict, blood cannot easily pass through them. When this happens, the heart must pump harder to push the blood through. This increased pump increases the blood pressure in the arteries. If the blood pressure increases above normal and remains elevated, the result is high blood pressure (hypertension).

High blood pressure adds to the workload of the heart and arteries, and this may contribute to heart failure and atherosclerosis. The narrowed blood vessels may not be able to deliver enough oxygen to the body's organs and tissues.

When the heart is forced to work harder than normal for a long period of time, it tends to enlarge. A slightly enlarged heart can function well, but a heart that is very much enlarged has a difficult time keeping up with the demands on it.

Arteries and arteries, too, show the wear and tear of high blood pressure. Eventually, they become hard and, less elastic and scamed. This is a natural process as people get older, but high blood pressure accelerates it.

Hardened or narrow arteries may not be able to deliver the amount of blood the body's organs need to function properly.

There is also the risk a blood clot may lodge in a narrowed artery, depriving part of the body of its normal blood supply. These of the vital organs often damaged are the heart, brain and kidneys.

In 90% of the high-blood-pressure cases, the cause is unknown. For this reason, understanding high blood pressure and why it happens is a major goal of the American Heart Association. Although scientists do not completely understand the disease, they already have developed drugs with long-term effectiveness in treating high blood pressure.

In the other 10% of the cases, high blood pressure is a symptom of an underlying problem, such as kidney abnormality, a tumor of the adrenal gland or a congenital defect of the aorta. When this other health problem is corrected, the blood pressure usually returns to normal.

A person may have high blood pressure for years and never know it, because usually there are no symptoms. But blood pressure can be measured with a quick, painless test. The doctor uses a sphygmomanometer, a rubber cuff that is placed around the person's arm, and then inflated with air. The cuff squeezes against and compresses large arteries in the arm, momentarily stopping the flow of blood.

As the air is released in the cuff, and the blood begins to flow, the doctor listens with a stethoscope to the sound of the blood pushing through the artery. While listening and watching a gauge, the doctor records two measurements. The pressure of blood flow when the heart beats is called systolic pressure, and the pressure of the flow of blood between heartbeats is called diastolic pressure. Both numbers are then recorded as the blood-pressure measurement.

Blood pressure can be reduced through prescribed medication, through a controlled diet and in many cases through exercise. The Rahway YMCA, a voluntary organization for men and women, has programs for people with high blood pressure. For more information, please contact the "Y" at 1564 Irving St. or telephone 383-0057.

Parents letting off steam?

Q. I recently had a very heated argument with my wife about "disciplining" children. I maintained that what passes for discipline is actually a system of adult rules applied unfairly to kids without any consideration for the child's desires and understanding. Further, I said punishment is often just a way for parents to let off steam by coining at their kids and then thrashing them. Please give me your views on this subject.

A. Of course, yelling and screaming at children is hardly discipline. They properly resent it and rebel. They would have no spirit if they didn't. Real discipline involves esteem for the child as a person. It also includes an effort to understand the youngster and patient effort to establish mutual respect. Naturally, definite standards should be set up, but the child must understand why.

Children respond to strong, quiet control when based on an intelligent approach. Parental arguments overheard by children inevitably undermine discipline respect.

Pet group to cite best adopted strays

People For Animals, Inc., a stray rescue organization, will hold its Third Annual Stray Pet Contest on Sunday, May 2.

Any individual who rescued a stray dog or cat from a street, alley or woods, or who adopted one from a pound or a shelter is eligible to enter," stated Arlene Krampetz, the vice president and the chairwoman of this event. The categories include: Oldest, most beautiful, most unique, nicest spayed pet and the pet able to do the best trick.

The chairman noted, "The strays we see in this contest are the most fortunate ones. Most strays, of which our nation has 30 million, lead a nightmarish existence. The oversaturation of homeless pets is directly caused by pet owners allowing their pets to breed. That is why our organization urges neutering before the first litter."

She added People For Animals, Inc. has a low-cost spay/neuter plan available. The Stray Pet Contest will take place on the Washington Reservation in conjunction with the Trinitas Museum's Pet Fair. Judging will take place at 2 p.m. Those interested in this contest may please telephone 486-0388 after 6 p.m. or 344-1073, or write to the organization at 10

Concert to feature two county students

Ken Goldman, a cellist and Jennifer Bidle, a soprano, are both juniors at Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights, and will be guest soloists at the Westfield Glee Club Spring Program to be held at Roosevelt Junior High School in Westfield on Saturday, April 24.

Mr. Goldman studied the cello privately for seven years, and is currently studying under Marion Feldman at the Preparatory Division of the Manhattan School of Music. He has played with the West Orange Collegiate Symphony as the principal cellist with the 1982 Central Jersey High School Orchestra. A member of the New Jersey Youth Symphony for the past three years, he was the 1981 winner of that orchestra's student conducting competition.

Last summer, he was one of 17 cellists selected from across the country for the Young Artists Instrumental Program at the Boston University Tanglewood Institute. This summer he will spend six weeks studying at the Downeast Chamber Music Center in Maine, and in the fall will return to take his seat as the second cellist in the 1982 New Jersey All-State Orchestra, and to continue to teach the cello privately.

Jennifer Bidle studied voice with soprano, Alice Helgeson of Berkeley Heights, for two years. She is currently active in both the music and the drama departments at the high school. She has appeared in a number of musical productions at the high school, including "Noye's Fludde," "Camelot" and in the play "Brigadoon."

She was selected for the New Jersey All-State Chorus in 1981 and 1982. Miss Bidle will perform a set of songs in the second half of the program with her accompanist, Miss Anne Marie Valinotti.

Tickets will be available at the door the night of the concert.

Thirty aides cited by college fund

Thirty persons in New Jersey were honored by the United Negro College Fund for their voluntary help in the 1981 telethon.

The 30 received awards during a reception recently at Public Service Electric and Gas Co. in Newark. The reception was hosted by Harold W. Sonn, the president of the electric firm, who served as the state's general chairman for the 1981 telethon, and Verdel L. Roundtree, the fund's executive director in New Jersey.

The telethon was broadcast in the metropolitan region over television on December 27, 1981, and resulted in pledges of $550,000 from areas in northern New Jersey, New York City, Westchester County, Long Island and southwestern Connecticut.

In the New Jersey area, more than $158,000 was pledged, and $104,000 has been collected so far. Pledges are still being fulfilled.

The telethon was part of a nationwide effort by the fund to raise money to help support 41 historically-black colleges and universities throughout the country. More than 50,000 students attend the schools, and more than 80% of them require financial aid.

Contributions to the fund help increase scholarship aid, pay faculty salaries, buy textbooks and equipment, expand course offerings and make the participating schools more competitive.

The telethon, which featured "The Lou Rawls Parade of Stars," was aired in 30 cities throughout the United States.

The success of the annual fund-raising campaign depended on volunteers. In 1981, more than 7,500 new volunteers participated nationwide. In the tri-state area alone, more than 425 persons contributed to the effort.

Two of the 30 awards presented during the reception went to Gus Henningburg, a television personality and commentator, and Trish Morris, the executive director of the Newark Day Center, who served as co-hosts of New Jersey's portion of the telethon. Each received an Appreciation Award.
