

Landmarks gets wide support for theatre plan

At a session of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders in Elizabeth on July 27, the non-profit Rahway Landmarks group aroused an outpouring of praise for a presentation seeking county support for its efforts to acquire and preserve the Rahway Theatre, reports a spokesman for the group.

On hand to issue appeals on behalf of the Landmarks project were: The Rev. James Ealey, the pastor of the Second Baptist Church, representing the Rahway Ministerial Assn.; Robert Markey, representing the downtown business community; architect, John Bracco, who attested to the theatre's architectural integrity; and Sixth Ward Councilman James J. Fulcomer and Mayor Daniel L. Martin, representing the city government.

George Argasi, the administrator of the Rahway Hospital, was also scheduled as one of the speakers, but was unable to attend due to illness.

The presentation opened with a showing of a 15-minute audiovisual slide show, produced by the Landmarks group for promotional purposes, and narrated by Mike Jarnos of station WCTC. This portion of the presentation was itself applauded for the effectiveness with which it conveyed the group's message. To date, the presentation has been seen and heard on eight other occasions, the spokesman noted.

Rahway Landmarks' president and Board chairman, Robert Balfour, introduced each speaker, beginning with The Rev. Ealey.

In a plea for county support, The Rev. Mr. Ealey characterized the Landmarks project as a "noble challenge," as he alluded to the theatre's recent brief conversion to a showplace for pornographic films and the lesson that episode conveyed concerning morality and vulnerability.

Mr. Markey spoke of the positive impact that a performing-arts center could have on city real estate values, while Councilman Fulcomer challenged the county to follow the city's example in issuing a resolution of support for the Landmarks project.

Mayor Martin reflected on the fact, shortly after they first organized in 1979, the Landmarks group had approached the City Council for its support of their objectives. He noted that, at that time, the Council's position was the group would first have to prove itself as to its seriousness.

There was evident agreement among the freeholders and others present when the mayor proclaimed the group had now achieved this important first step, and it was time for both the city and county to get behind the effort, Mr. Balfour pointed out.

It is expected the freeholders will issue some sort of resolution of support at their next regular session, the Landmarks spokesman concluded.

Newsletter aims at needs of seniors

Senior citizens in Union and Middlesex Counties can receive a free publication entitled "Focus on Aging" from the Community Relations Dept. at the Rahway Hospital.

"Focus" is published every other month from September to June, and features articles and information of interest to senior citizens.

The May/June issue featured a talk by Rep. Millicent Fenwick, a question-and-answer column from the local Social Security office, travel tips, health facts, consumer news, a trivia

DOUBLE JACKPOT—The winner, Jack Guthrie, left, of Lebanon, and the runner-up, Greg Jannone, right, of Bound Brook, in the Junior Men's Division of the Rahway Fourth of July Bicycle Races, finished in the same order this year as they did last year. This is a first for Rahway. Both men belong to the Central Jersey Cycling Team/Getty, and they train together.

During special monthly quiz and general items of interest.
For example National Nutrition Month, recipes and shopping strategies are featured.

Now in its third year, "Focus" is mailed out to senior-citizen centers, libraries, organizations and individuals in the hospital's service area.

If you would like to be added to the mailing list, send a postcard to "Focus on Aging," Community Relations, Rahway Hospital, 865 Stone St., Rahway, N. J. 07065, or telephone 381-4200, extension 352.

The next issue will be out in September.

A Rahwayan, Bruce D. Buechler of 687 Madison Ave., recently received his bachelor of arts degree from Rutgers University.

Rahway duet takes first place in state

At the New Jersey State Playground Olympics held in Tenafly, first-place medals were won by Dave Temple in junior basketball foul shooting and Vin Sprobach in the intermediate softball throw for distance.

Second-place medals were taken by Sam Jacobs in the midget softball throw for distance and Clavon Jackson in the intermediate softball throw for distance.

The junior boys 200-yard relay team of Norman Jackson, Cliff Crawford, Francis Brewer and James Lembrick also took second place.

Third-place medals were won by Kelly Warren in the midget 50-yard dash and Natalie Farrell in the intermediate softball throw for distance.

Fourth-place ribbons were won by Brewer in the intermediate mile run, Crawford in the 880-yard run, Crawford in the junior softball throw for distance, Gina Cataldo in the intermediate softball throw for accuracy and JoAnne Rieger in intermediate basketball foul shooting.

Fifth-place ribbons were won by Jackson in the junior 50-yard dash, Eileen Garrison in the intermediate 100-yard dash, and the junior girls relay team composed of Sharon Powell, Jill Howard, Kelly Warren and Shelly Farrell. Entrants from over 40 communities such as Paterson, Phillipsburg, Randolph, Tenafly, Manalapan and Asbury Park participated, and the Rahway youngsters did a great job, reports the city summer playground director, Jim Ladley.

Suspect sought in child abandoning

The Rahway Police Dept. is investigating the abandonment of a newborn baby at Rahway Hospital on July 20. The details, the incident as reported by Det.

Sgt. Edward Tilton, are as follows: On July 19 at approximately 8:22 a.m. a black female walked into the Rahway Hospital Emergency Room and stated she was in labor. She was admitted, and gave birth to a female child at approximately 8:57 a.m. the same date.

On July 20 it was discovered by hospital personnel the black female had left the hospital and, as of this time, police have been unable to locate her. The child has been placed under the care of Division of Youth and Family Services. The black female is described as light complexioned with reddish hair, freckles on her face and a pock mark located on the right cheek bone near the right eye. She is approximately in her late thirties, five-feet, seven-inches and weighing 150 pounds with a bandana tied around her head.

Below you can see a New Jersey State Police composite drawing of the described person. The department is sending copies of this to all major newspapers in the state in an effort to have the composite and description publicized to assist in locating the individual.

If information is obtained it can be related to the Rahway Police Dept. Detective Bureau, by telephoning 388-5600.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Det. Tilton told The Rahway News-Record on Monday that all information provided at Rahway Hospital by the baby's mother was checked out by the Rahway Police Dept. and found to be fictitious.

UPDATE
Representatives of the New Jersey Dept. of Human Services are searching for the mother of the infant mentioned above.

The mother, who entered the hospital under the name of Emily Clausen, delivered the baby girl on July 19, and left the hospital on July 20, leaving the baby there.

The Division of Youth and Family Services, a component of the department, has placed the infant in a foster home temporarily, while it searches for the mother.

City ranks in middle in county tax boosts

Final figures released by the Union County Board of Taxation reveal Rahway fell exactly in the middle of Union County municipalities in tax-rate increases for 1982, according to a report issued by City Business Administrator Joseph M. Hartnett.

Of the 20 county municipalities, Rahway tied with Hillside for the 10th-lowest increase in tax rate. Both communities had a total tax-rate increase of 7.7%.

Three municipalities experienced decreases in their tax rates. They were Linden, Clark and Kenilworth. The tax rate for 1982 decreased by 1% in each of those municipalities.

The figures include 20 of the county's 21 municipalities since Westfield has a tax revaluation for the year, which completely altered its tax structure.

DOUSING THE FLAME—Employees at the Rahway Hospital were recently instructed on fire safety and the correct way to use fire extinguishers by the members of the Rahway Fire Dept. and the Approved Fire Protection Co. Employees got a chance to extinguish different types of fires, and they were reminded to think of the letters R. A. C. E. when fire strikes. Rescue anyone in immediate danger; activate the nearest alarm; contain the fire by shutting doors and windows; and evacuate persons in the area of the fire if it becomes necessary.

REPORT FROM WASHINGTON
 by Congressman
Matt Rinaldo
 12th District, New Jersey
Reform needed now in insanity defense

The House Judiciary Committee will continue hearings early this month on legislative proposals to rewrite the rules governing insanity pleas to prevent felons from hiding behind a defense of mental incompetency.

One of the bills that will be taken up by the committee is a measure I have offered which would create an additional verdict of "guilty but insane" in the spirit of a recommendation from President Ronald Reagan's Task Force on Violent Crime.

Defendants convicted under this law would still be committed to mental institutions for treatment, but unlike present procedures, they could not be released without court approval.

In the case of John Hinckley, Jr., my bill would require the federal courts to continue their supervision of his treatment so he could not be released from St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington, D.C., without a determination by a federal court he is no longer dangerous to himself or others. This finding would be based on a recommendation by the hospital, but the government also would be represented at the hearing by the attorney general, who could argue against the release.

The decision to free the defendant would have to be based on the preponderance of the evidence. In other words, there would have to be conclusive proof the defendant is no longer a threat to himself and society.

Under the guilty but insane verdict, a jury would be able to find the defendant to be in need of medical treatment, and also find him guilty of a crime.

Another proposal being considered by the Judiciary Committee would shift the burden of guilt to the defense would have to prove insanity beyond the shadow of a doubt, rather than asking the prosecution to prove sanity. Had this been the case in the Hinckley trial, it likely the verdict would have gone the other way.

It is expected the Judiciary Committee will vote for a bill this session calling for some reforms. However, it is unclear at this point what specific changes the committee will propose in the insanity plea. The reform of the insanity defense is supported by a large number of responsible professionals, including prominent psychiatrists, leading professors of law, members of the Justice Dept. and a committee of the American Bar Assn.

In my view, an overhaul of the insanity plea would promote the integrity of the justice system, protect the community and insure our values are more safely and satisfactorily protected than they were in the Hinckley case. The acquittal of Hinckley has stirred widespread interest in legislation to rewrite the Criminal Code. Americans are outraged and rightly so—a man who shot the President of the United States could be found not guilty by reason of insanity, and is eligible for release from medical custody in minutes. Victims of the crime of Hinckley are outraged and rightly so—a man who shot the President of the United States could be found not guilty by reason of insanity, and is eligible for release from medical custody in minutes. Victims of the crime of Hinckley are outraged and rightly so—a man who shot the President of the United States could be found not guilty by reason of insanity, and is eligible for release from medical custody in minutes.

If anything, the Hinckley defense illustrates it is about time Congress and the state legislatures took action to make sure this kind of assault on our system cannot occur again.

DATELINE: TRENTON
 A Legislative Report from Senator Don DiFrancesco

New juvenile law is long overdue

By next fall you will begin to see dramatic changes in the way juvenile offenders are treated. These changes are long overdue. They are the result of an exhaustive study made by the Legislature in response to growing juvenile involvement in the crimes, particularly violent offenses.

The statistics speak for themselves. In 1980, juvenile arrests for violent crimes increased 12% in New Jersey over the year before. Minors were responsible for 25% of the violent crimes in which arrests were made. Juveniles accounted for close to half—46%—of the arrests for non-violent crimes that year in New Jersey.

Clearly, the present juvenile justice system, which was enacted at a time when the prime concern was stopping petty theft and vandalism by juveniles, is inadequate for the present situation.

For instance, under present laws, the toughest penalty a juvenile can receive for a crime, even murder, is an "intermediate" three-year detention term.

The reform package signed into law by Gov. Thomas H. Kean recently provides for longer detention terms for violent crimes. Murder carries a detention sentence of 20 years and other serious crimes up to four years.

The new juvenile justice system, which will go into effect next September, is designed to provide equitable punishment for offenders.

Those who commit violent crimes or are repeat offenders would be locked up for a longer time. Those youths who commit petty crimes would be given counseling, instead of detention terms.

The other major changes are:

- Family-crisis intervention centers would be set up in all 21 counties to counsel troubled youths and their parents.
- A family court would be established with authority to order parents to become involved in the rehabilitation of their children if the court determines the family is contributing to the child's delinquent behavior.
- The names of juveniles who commit serious crimes, including extensive property damage, would be released to the public.

The Legislature spent more than two years developing this new juvenile justice system. Hopefully, it will take less time to see some positive results.

County parks set August schedule

Two of summer's most popular programs in the county are roller skating at the Warranaco Skating Center in Warranaco Park in Roselle and swimming at the Wheeler Park Pool in the John Russell Wheeler Park on Rte. No. 1, Linden.

Spokesmen at both facilities have announced their August schedule, which will be in effect until the facilities close for the season.

The Warranaco Skating Center will offer skating to rock and disco music from 3 to 6 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. on Friday to Sunday.

Admission is $1.75 for adults and $1.25 for youth 17 years of age and under.

Skate rentals are available for $1 or skaters may bring their own skates. Provided the skates do not have metal wheels. Skating is on a smooth cement surface, and a snack bar and lockers are available.

The rink may also be rented by clubs, teams or individuals for private sessions and parties. The information number at the rink is 241-3263.

If the steamy days of July are any indication of what the rest of the summer holds in store, county residents should consider becoming members of the Family Swim Plan at Wheeler Park, also known as Linden Pool. For $50, plan members have exclusive access to the pool from 7 to 8:45 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursdays. Member ship includes general public swimming times as well.

With the Rahway Pool closed for renovations this year, Wheeler Park has expanded its schedule, and the public may now swim from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday, from 1 to 7 p.m. on Thursday, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday, and from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

Your opinion sought on homestead rebates

By Assemblywoman Maureen B. Ogden
 Recently every homeowner in the state all 1,471,244 of us received our so-called "homestead rebate" checks from the state government.

The checks, drawn from a $260 million fund which represents about 20% of the yield from the state's gross income tax, are paid each year as a means of partially fulfilling the Constitutional commitment that proceeds from the tax will be used exclusively for property tax relief.

Theoretically, the checks, averaging about $190, represent a rebate against property taxation. A recent amendment to the law, however, directed that the amount of the rebate be paid, if any, to the owner of the property.

The state's income tax became low in 1976, and is now the largest revenue source in the tax structure. The rebate program has been in effect since 1977.

It is interesting to note that although the Property Tax Relief Fund drives in money for the state all 1,471,244 of us received our so-called "homestead rebate" checks from the state government.

The rebate was negotiated in the gross in order to gain efficient votes for passage by the Legislature. Since the time, they have been the subject of an elaborate and costly debate.

Estimates of the cost to administer the homestead rebate program range as high as $7 million annually. In 1977, the first rebate year, one half the amount was mailed twice during the year causing charges former Gov. Brendan Byrne had anticipated the system by mailing the checks immediately prior to the Primary and General Elections.

The formula for the rebate is based on the amount of the income tax paid, if any. The amount varies because the formula does not include the amount of the income tax paid, if any.

Under the direction of Jim Avidon, the stage director, and Angela Corbo, the music director, the cast is headed by Jim Stonaker in the role of Curley, Barbara Rawlings playing Aunt Eller and Ken Sanford as Jud Fry.

Cast as Ado Annie and Will Parker are Peggy Sages and Paul Petrucci. Complicating their relationship are Bill Gonzalez as Ali Hakim, the peddler, and John Tennessee as Annie's father, Andrew Carnes.

Other principal players include Peter Tulley as the Skinner, Charles Delat as Fred, Joe Brady as Slim, Meg Kinney as Gertie Cummings and Milt Cones as Cord Ham.

Tickets for all performances cost $3.50, and will be available at the door. The show will run from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 12, and 8 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 13.

Kumpf's cagers down Brewer

Clark's Carl H. Kumpf School Basketball Team on July 20 defeated the Charles H. Brewer School Basketball Team, 18-10. Kumpf's team to victory, scoring 18 points each. Jeff Carovillano added his talents to Kumpf's effort by scoring four points, while Brian Carovillano scored two points. In addition, Bob Deissler carried the team along with his defense. The final score was Kumpf 18, Brewer 10.

Furthermore, Melissa Buzib and Jennifer Kuznetz competed in a hula hoop contest. Melissa Buzib won all three trials. Also, the team of Brian and Jeff Carovillano and Bob Deissler defeated Kenny Cospio and Brad Koes in a basketball game.

Brewer kickballers among unbeaten

Over 200 youngsters have registered to date to participate in the activities at Clark's Charles H. Brewer School Playground.

Brewer's kickball and basketball teams are well into their respective seasons. The kickball team sports a 2-0 record, and is preparing for its big game with Valley Road. The basketball team, on the other hand, is currently 0-3.

A bowling tournament was held recently at Brewer. Pat Slower rolled the high game, a 118. David Brown's 111 placed him second, and Marc Hayden's 106 was good enough for third.

Green problem cuts Galloping Hill rates

An improper mix of normally-used grounds-keeping solutions has caused eight greens at the Galloping Hill Golf Course, on the Blvd., Kenilworth, to be closed to players.

The 27-hole course will remain open with some temporary greens, and rates have been reduced, effective on Friday, July 30, to compensate for the inconvenience to golfers. It will be possible to play a full 18-holes by splitting play between the three nines.

It will take from two weeks to a month to repair the damaged greens, according to county officials. During that time, golfers may take advantage of a 30% rate reduction across the board as follows:

WEEKDAY RATES	CURRENT	REDUCED
GOLFERS
County residents	$4.50	$3.15
Non-resident with I.D.	$7.00	$4.90
Non-I.D.	$10.00	$6.50
Seniors	$2.50	$1.75
17 and under	$2.50	$1.75
Season card	$27.50	$19.25

WEEKEND & HOLIDAY RATES	CURRENT	REDUCED

Williams, bats bring city to playoffs

By Ray Hoagland
The first four innings were a tense pitchers' battle between Williams and Kevin Morris of the P.A.L. Rayhawk had one hit and the visitors three.

The P.A.L. started the bases in the top of the first, but failed to score on a great double play that Williams started by throwing to Frank Urs, who made a fine throw to first baseman Steve Marcinko.

The first Recreation hit by Frank Jack was a single into centerfield, and stole second, but was stranded.

With the team deadlocked in a scoreless tie in the last of the fifth, Wohlhab opened the inning with a double into the trees in right center. He was advanced to second by Urm, and scored on a squeeze play by Bob Buckley, who beat the play to first base.

In the sixth inning Jack reached on an infield error, and scored in front of Wohlhab's long homerin over the top of the trees in rightfield to close the Recreation's scoring at 5-0.

Buckley had two hits, and Wohlhab had a single and a homerin.

The Recreation's last night hosted Cranford in the second game of the playoffs.

Brewer linksters test evil eyes

A group of 12 youngsters from Clark's Charles H. Brewer School Playground were able to test their golf skills when they visited the Ashbrook Pitch-and-Putt Course. The course consists of nine short holes.

Kevin Shackleton, the senior winner, utilized strong chip shots and steady putts to card a 32. Maureen Kennedy, Paul MacDermont and Richard Regan finished tied for second, seven shots behind Shackleton. Greg Shubert, the junior winner, carded a 36. Billy Shackleton and Jerry McDade finished second and third, respectively.

Brewer's softball and hockey teams concluded their seasons quite successfully. The softball team's final record was 2-2, while the hockey team's record was 3-1, good enough to clinch at least a tie for the inter-playground championship. Key players on the hockey squad were Steve Biss, Leo Urs, Dave Slater, Steve Washington, Shawn McCalla, Joe Colombo, Henry Falcon and Kevin Shackleton.

Two new sports teams, basketball and kickball, have been organized, and their members have been preparing for competition. Although the basketball team appears to have some weaknesses to iron out, the kickball team seems ready to roll.

There's an Answer!

by Norman Vincent Peale and Ruth Stafford Peale

Doing your best all you can ask

PANGS OF GUILT
Q. I have pangs of guilt about the way my children live. I have guilt feelings about my 21-year-old daughter who has anorexia and is depressed. I still feel like I have to be her mother, counselor, leaning post, friend—everything I always was. I want to be relieved of this ever-present guilt feeling over the way my children have turned out. Not one of them will go to church. My husband and I attend regularly, and they were brought up to be good Christians. Now they are like atheists. I find it so hard to cope in today's world.

A. All any parents can do in the rearing of children is simply to do their best, setting before them a good example, seeking to guide them to right thinking and attitudes. If the children rebel, that's their own choice. You need have no guilt feelings about this outcome. Just be available to them always, and surround them with your love. Concentrate on filling your own mind with positive, hopeful thoughts. Visualize a good outcome for your children. We are sending you our booklet, "The Rewards of Positive Living," which is free to any reader of this column. Write to me at Box 500, Pawling, N. Y. 12564.

WEIGHT GOES UP
Q. What is the answer for obesity and overweight in the realm of the mental and spiritual? If what we think and believe, instead of what we eat, has the upmost effect on our physical bodies, then what is the answer to this problem?

A. In the past four years my weight has gone up drastically, and it scares me. I'm only five feet, four inches tall, but my weight is nearly 200 pounds, and I cannot cope with it.

A. A good medical checkup is important to begin with. Then the main way to cope with obesity is to change from a negative to a positive attitude toward the problem. To do that, picture in your mind precisely what you want to look like, the weight you want to be and exactly when you expect to attain that weight.

Affirm, "I can cope. I am coping." Make a habit of this procedure. Then you will be able to regulate food intake to reach your goal.

If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale, write to them at Box 500, Pawling, N. Y. 12564.

Heart group offers more than sympathy

When the need to express sympathy arises, many members of the public support the Heart Assn. by contributing to its memorial program.

A spokesman for the Metropolitan Chapter, which serves the residents of Essex, Hudson and Union Counties, reminds the public its tribute program also includes, in addition to the memorials, all occasion cards, fitting for birthdays, weddings, anniversaries, graduations and other happy events and get-well cards.

All contributions help to advance the research, education and community service activities of the American Heart Assn., the only organization totally dedicated to the elimination of premature death and disability due to heart disease, the spokesman noted.

Inquires about the tribute program or any of the other association activities can be directed to 789-3088 in Union County.

Area keggers to roll on cable

Suburban Cablevision will cablecast "Summer Strike," a tournament comprised of local high school students and men competing in a single-elimination style, on Tuesday, Aug. 10, at 7:30 p.m. via TV-3. The bowlers will be Jim Murphy of Clark versus Charlie DeGregorio of Linden.

This game will be in the men's division and the champion of this division will receive a $500 prize.

It's strange how often you get a person's opinion without asking for it.

Rahway merchants plan Sidewalk Sale

Once again, the Rahway downtown merchants will hold their Annual Sidewalk Sale Day event on two days, on Thursday and Friday, Aug. 12 and 13. Shopping on Aug. 12 will be from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and on Aug. 13, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The downtown area, Main St. from E. Milton Ave. to Monroe St. and E. Cherry St. from the parking lot to Main St., will be closed to auto traffic for the two days. During the shopping hours, the area will be a pedestrian mall. Merchants along the mall area will be displaying their wares, and take advantage of the newly-installed park benches to rest and enjoy the newly-decorated downtown area. Shoppers will also be able to have lunch at the outdoor cafes and in the mall-like area.

Visitors during the event will be able to find all sorts of bargains from household goods to personal items for themselves or friends. It will be a good time to stock up on sale priced items for gift giving or for your wardrobe. Merchants along the mall area will be displaying their wares, and take advantage of the newly-installed park benches to rest and enjoy the newly-decorated downtown area. Shoppers will also be able to have lunch at the outdoor cafes and in the mall-like area.

ADDING IT UP - Leon Rygiel of 3 Cornell Circle, Clark, recently received his degree in computer science from Seton Hall University in South Orange.

SENDING THE WORD - Elaine Gzarnecki of 1 Emerald Ct., Clark, recently received her degree in communications from Seton Hall University in South Orange.

HIGH HOPES - A few people live on a budget, but most seem to be "spend and save" rather than "save and spend."

This trend is likely to continue, says a recent survey by the National Bureau of Economic Research.
