Councilman Williams supports bond issue

Editor's Note: The following was submitted as an Known formally as a open letter to Max Vogel and to those who oppose the | three-credit course in Span-Rahway Board of Education bond issue by Rahway City ish Civilization, the trip will Council President Harvey Williams of 1628 Park St., be from Monday, June 6 to Dahway * * *

To set the record straight, there are no "unwary citizens" in Rahway. There may be some who are uninformed, some who rely on the opinions of others and are influenced by those opinions, some who are penny-wise and pound-foolish, and some who are reluctant to plan ahead. On the other hand, there are many Rahway at the Prado Museum and citizens who are for continued progress. As a parent who has had six children graduated from cluding Alkazar and the cat-

Taxpayers are paying between $125,000 and $150,000 a year in fuel costs. Do you have any idea what | may be obtained from Dr. it is costing the taxpayer in overtime to keep this non- Edreira by telephoning efficient heating plant operating "inefficently"? This cost, on top of the fuel cost, is enough to stagger the imagination. The teachers are teaching in cold classrooms, and students are expected to learn in cold classrooms. Do you think this is conducive to the learning process? How much worse must it get before you consider it to be "of an emergency nature"?

I feel perhaps some of the repairs needed now could Inave been taken care of in the past, but that is not the Issue. The important thing is a job has to be done; so let's et it done now!! Piecemeal repairs are not pertinent to our needs or practical to our wallets. Being a taxpayer and a public official. I do not wish to see our taxes rise, but the $60 to $70 a year is a small to see our taxes rise, but the 560 to 570 a year is a small price to pay for our educators to educate and our students that will barafit "The Profession of Playto learn in an educational environment that will benefit all citizens in the future.

The present city administrator has brought pride and progress to our city and, in particular, the downtown area. Why not our educational system?

I, therefore, urge all voters to vote "YES" on the school bond issue. There are no reasons that I can think of for not providing our students with the best educational environment

Even those Board members who are conscious of unnecessary waste and spending as I am support the bond ssue.

Mr. Raslowsky offers business expertise

On July 26, 1982 I was appointed to the Clark Board of Education to fill a vacated seat. During my eight months as a Board member I have been called upon to make unpopular decisions, which I the English Dept., will feel were for the betterment of the educational process. Being an election year, it was especially difficult to vote against many emotional issues that were addressed by the Board over the past several months.

After careful examination of the issues and without political motivation, I am convinced, the educational needs of our children must be our first and only priority. My efforts were channeled not only towards academics but also the business aspects of the Board. As an account executive for a major insurance company, my background compelled me to question and analyze vandalism damages at the Abraham Clark School.

With the aide of Philip A. Miller, our Board secretary, I was able to obtain a settlement of $7,500, which was a direct savings for all Clark residents. I believe it is the obligation of all Board members to use their respective talents and expertise for the betterment of the educational system. Edward J. Raslowsky

Jobless aid may be subject to taxes

Recipients of unemployment compensation during 1982 may be required to pay tax on a portion of the compensation if their total income for the year exceeded certain amounts.

Taxability of unemploy ment affects single people who had more than $12,000 income, including unemployment, during 1982, and married couples who had more than $18,000 income. If total income was less than these amounts, then no part of unemployment is taxable. In explaining the unemployment taxability issue, an Internal Revenue Service spokesman noted regardless of the amount of unemployment received, those who file a tax return must report the amount. Whether or not any unemployment is then included in taxable income depends upon a mathematical comparison between total income and the $12,000 or $18,000 base-income levels. The IRS spokesman noted the amount of unemployment compensation that must be included in taxable income is the lesser of the amount received or one-half the amount by which total income (including unemployment income) exceeds the base amount of $12,000 for single persons or $18,000 for married couples. Unemployment compensation has been subject to tax in prior years. The change, however, is before 1982 no part of unemployment income was taxable unless total income exceeded $20,000 for single persons or $25,000 for married couples. p.m. to 4 p.m.
