Lesniak easily wins both Senate elections; Hartnett takes Rahway vote three to one

By R. R. Faszczewski
Although Rahway Business Administrator Joseph M. Hartnett overwhelmingly carried his hometown in the Democratic Primary for State Senate Tuesday, he was defeated in the district as a whole to lose the party's nod to incumbent Assemblyman Raymond J. Lesniak in a bid to take the nomination for the State Senate seat vacated by the conviction of former State Sen. John T. Gregorio of Linden on conspiracy charges.

Unofficial figures showed Mr. Hartnett with 1,254 votes in Rahway to 466 for Assemblyman Lesniak.

However, the Rahwayan lost by big margins in the other three municipalities in the district, Elizabeth, Linden and Carteret. Unofficial tallies showed Assemblyman Lesniak winning by margins of 4,200 to 900 in Linden, 5,700 to 1,500 in Elizabeth and 550 to 34 in Carteret.

The other two challengers for the Democratic nomination, Rocco J. Gallo and John Brady, both of Elizabeth, tallied 46 and 20, respectively, in Rahway.

In the Special Election, to determine who will fill the vacant Senate seat until the November General Election, Assemblyman Lesniak was also the unofficial winner.

In Rahway he tallied 873 to 856 for Republican candidate, Alfred D. Palermo of Linden, 181 for Harold J. Young of Rahway and 122 for Rose Zeidweg Monyck.

Over the whole district unofficial figures showed the closest margin between Assemblyman Lesniak and Mr. Palermo in Rahway with the other three municipalities showing substantial distances between the first-and-second-place finishers.

Assemblyman Lesniak will now serve out the remaining months of the Senate term until the November Election, when he will again face Mr. Palermo, who is the Republican nominee for a full two-year term; Mr. Young, Mrs. Monyck and Joseph C.

Scanlon of Linden.

This leaves his Assembly seat open, and a Special Election will probably have to be held within the next month or so to fill that seat.

In other races on the ballot, in the Democratic Primaries for the two Assembly seats in the 20th District, which includes Rahway, and for the party's nomination for sheriff, register and freeholders the Regular Democratic Organization of Union County candidates apparently took all the seats.

There were no contests in the Republican Primary for any of the legislative or county positions.

Rahway voters followed the county trend in giving the most votes to the party regulars for the two Assembly seats, with 809 for Freeholder Thomas W. Long of Linden, 785 for incumbent Assemblyman Thomas J. Deverin, 225 for Henry Kielbasa of Linden, 60 for Peter T. Mitros and 54 for Millard O. Birt. Incumbent Sheriff Ralph Froehlich led Ron Szpond in Rahway by a margin of 794 to 252. The organization candidate for register, Joanne Rajoppi, defeated A. Howard Freund in Rahway 698 to 202.

However, in the race for the Democratic freeholder nod, for three seats, Rahwayans gave City Councilman-at-Large Walter McLeod and Leon Wasielewski, both of Rahway, their biggest vote, with 1,072 for Mr. McLeod, followed by 940 for Mr. Wasielewski, and 569, 547 and 538 for Ron Scorese, Brian W.

Fahey and Michael J. Lapolla, respectively, the three organization candidates; 134 for Albert M. Monyck of Rahway and 93 for Anthony S. DiMaio of Elizabeth.

The highest votegetter in the GOP Primary in Rahway was Mr. Palermo, the Senate candidate, followed by Blanche Banasiak, one of the two Assembly contenders; Freeholder Frank H. Lehr, Robert C. Miller, another of three freeholder hopefuls, who was tied with William M. Kelly, the sheriff candidate; Julia T. Richie, the third freeholder contender, and Robert F. Gonor, the second Assembly nominee.

Complete results can be seen in next week's Rahway News-Record.

Janine Horbacz leads honorees

A Rahway woman, Janine Horbacz, shared the highest prize which goes to the student or students who best represent the ideals of Union County College at commencement exercises on June 2 at the college's Cranford campus.

She was one of two representative part-time students to be included among those receiving the Post-Day Prize, the highest award given by the college.

The Carteret High School graduate also received her associate in arts degree in business at the commencement. She attended the college part-time while working as an executive secretary with Merck & Co., Inc. of Rahway, and was one of five student speakers at the commencement.

The Rahwayan, who served as vice president of the college's part-time student government, was also the treasurer of Phi Theta Kappa and received a scholarship to attend an honors institute sponsored by Phi Theta Kappa.

She is also the president of the Merck Running Club as well as a member of the Central Jersey Road Runners Club and the New York Road Runners Club.

Rahway celebrates Hospital Week

Rahway Hospital joined other hospitals around the country in celebrating National Hospital Week from May 8 to 14.

The theme for this national week was "We Treat You Like Family," and at Rahway Hospital many groups were honored during the week.

On Monday night officers of local first aid squads were invited to a dinner and to hear a guest speaker. This also gave them the chance to ask questions of hospital administrators who were attending.

On Tuesday Auxiliaries were each given a rose, the symbol of service of the hospital, and enjoyed a special presentation in honor of the Auxiliaries' 65th anniversary.

On Thursday employees who have been with the hospital for increments of five years were treated to a dinner at Pegasus at the Meadowlands. A photographic display in the cafeteria featured a poster which stated "Employees are the Key," and pictured many of them in their various posts in the hospital.

On Friday a plaque honoring past presidents of the Medical Staff was unveiled in the Medical Staff Lounge. Physicians also had complimentary Danish and bagels.

Parking Authority moves caucus

The Parking Authority of the City of Rahway will hold its caucus meeting on Wednesday, June 15, in place of the original date of Wednesday, June 22. The meeting will be held in the Council Conference Room in the Rahway City Hall at One City Hall Plaza, Rahway, at 7:30 p.m., reports Donald R. Andersen, secretary.

Chamber members beautify park

The Rahway Chamber of Commerce Park Committee May 28 began project "Beautification" of the triangular park at the corner of St. George Ave. and Pierpont St.

Chamber president, Anthony Lordi, and chairwoman, Barbara Lightner, along with committee members, Marvin Lightner, Eva and Tony Pascale, Helen Mackow, Eric Rickis, Phil Carr, Sharon Surber, Tom Cusmano, Ray Eggers, Glen Bloom, James Fulcomer and Joe LoPiccolo, began the beautification project by planting flowers, placing sod and planting of Azelia bushes.

Philip Matarese, who lives directly across from the park couldn't help but get involved. Mr. Matarese, a retired Rahway fireman, has offered to help maintain the park on a regular basis and has donated the use of his water and electric to the chamber committee.

"This is only the beginning" declared the chairwoman, who promised "this will be the most beautiful park in the city."

Chamber member, Mr. Carr, has designed and donated a metal sculpture of the chamber logo which will stand in the park along with the American flag.

Other chamber projects include the beautification of the railroad station and the Grand Ave. park located at the corner of St. George and Grand Aves.

Those interested in joining the Rahway Chamber of Commerce should telephone Mr. LoPiccolo at 750-0700 or 388-1291.

Merck gives $100,000 to Georgetown

Georgetown University in Washington, D.C. was awarded a $100,000 grant from Merck & Company, Inc., of Rahway, for the development of the Pharmaceutical Information Exchange, a computer database, at the Dahlgren Memorial Library at Georgetown University Medical Center. The computer database, to be called Rx, will provide bibliographic listings of journal articles and other reference materials describing the actions and uses of new pharmaceutical products.

According to University President Timothy S. Healy, the system will also be the basis for research study to test whether computerization of information about new pharmaceutical products can reduce the time interval between inroduction of a product and the physician's awareness and use of the product.

This system will enhance the capabilities of Dahlgren Library, a state-of-the-art electronic library.

The Merck grant also addresses the goals of The Georgetown University Campaign, the five-year $115 million capital fundraising effort launched by the University in May, 1982. The campaign seeks to double the existing endowment, support students and faculty through restricted endowment, consolidate programs through new facilities, renovations and conversions, and support ongoing programs. To date, the campaign has raised $56.5 million of its intended goal.

Comm. Grant views Thunderbirds

The recently installed commander of the Mulvey-Ditmars Post No. 681 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Rahway, Leonard F. Grant, Jr., and his family were guests this Memorial Day weekend of the Air Force at McGuire Air Force Base.

Comm. Grant, his wife, Mrs. Betty Grant; sons, Leonard Grant, 3rd and Benjamin Grant, along with nephew, Paul Dunaway, attended the Air Force Thunderbirds' ramp party on May 29. They had been invited by Air Force C-141-B pilot, Capt. Tom Czachor, and the public affairs officer.

The Canadian Air Force team, the "Snowbirds," demonstrated its flying abilities. With nine CT-114 Tutor aircraft the Snowbirds did 23 different maneuvers.

The United States Air Force put on several demonstrations including air-to-air refueling, air strikes by F-104 fighters from the New Jersey Air National Guard and an airborne assault by the Army Special Forces Reserve Unit.

"If I had any doubts about the capabilities of our Air Force they were certainly laid to rest this weekend," said Comm. Grant.

According to the commander, the highlight of the weekend was the flying demonstration by the Thunderbirds. He said the flying group symbolizes peace and goodwill.

Activated in June, 1953, the Thunderbirds have flown 2,456 official aerial demonstrations and have flown in all 50 states and 45 foreign countries in North, Central and South America, Europe and the Pacific.

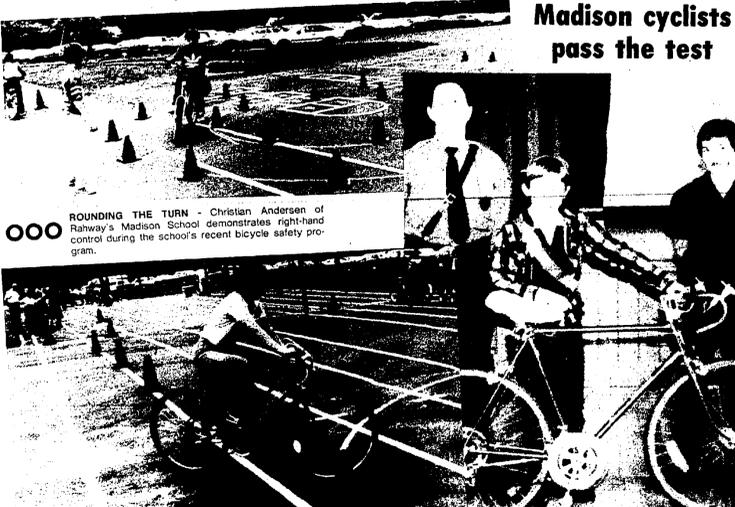

Comm. Grant awarded the seven pilots of the Thunderbird team VFW pins and buddy poppies.

He pointed out the buddy poppy and Memorial Day are symbols that represent the men and women who have served their country in time of need and for those who have paid the supreme sacrifice.

Comm. Grant was on the Thunderbirds inspection team along with Major Gen. Earl Sadler and two colonels.

City students address Union commencement

Rahway's Janine Horvack and Diane Markko were among five student representatives to address nearly 700 graduates of Union County College at commencement ceremonies on Thursday, June 2, on the South Lawn of the Cranford campus. The 689 graduates included students from the college's Cranford and Scotch Plains campuses as well as 90 students from the schools of nursing. In addition, another 79 students enrolled in one-year county college academic programs were candidates for certificates and diplomas at the graduation ceremonies. Dr. Saul Orkin, the college's president, presided over the ceremony. Dr. Orkin was assisted by representatives of the college's Board of Trustees, administration and faculty. Dr. Leonard T. Kreiman, vice president for academic affairs at the college, presented the Alumni Prize, which goes to those students who have earned a 4.0 grade-point average throughout their careers at Union. Dr. Donald Billiar, chairman of the Cranford campus, had presented the Post-Graduate Award, which is presented each year to the graduate who most nearly exemplifies the ideals of the college. Musical selections were performed by the New Jersey Brass Quintet. The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. Frank Trezoglou, the

Arts center ready for Italian festa

The Garden State Arts Center will become the meeting place for Italian-Americans throughout the state attending the afternoon piazza activities on Saturday, June 11, and Sunday, June 12. Tony Allen will be master of ceremonies. Featured programs include Italian singers, dancers, and musicians. Italian-American art and cultural exhibits will be displayed in the big tent. A large area will contain a variety of Italian foods and delicacies. It is expected 15,000 people will visit the arts center during this celebration. Those attending should bring their own chairs to better enjoy the outdoor activities and the bocce tournament on the lawn, a spokesman said. A Mass will be said at 9:30 p.m. each day in the open piazza area. Arrangements are being made by the Rev. Francis Crupi of St. Mary of the Mount Virgin Church in New Brunswick. He will be assisted by other priests. At 7:30 p.m. a three-hour stage performance will include a presentation by the United States Marine Corps Color Guard, singing of the national anthem, the presentation of officials by general chairman, Modesta Ferrara, the presentation of two scholarship awards, the parade of Le Belle Signore. The program will continue with songs by Ronald Crupi.

Letters to the Editor

Councilman Bodine angered at meeting

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following was submitted as an open letter to the people of Rahway, and the First Ward in particular by First Ward Councilman Lawrence C. Bodine of 1987 Luffers St.

Most people who know me know I don't lose my temper easily. At a recent Council meeting I walked out rather than allow myself to become any angrier. I regret that and I apologize to my constituents for doing so because there was still one more piece of business on the agenda.

However, I felt and I still feel your basic rights as Americans are being revoked by Council President Harvey Williams and City Clerk Bud Senkowsky. Here's the story in short.

Second Ward Councilman John C. Marsh was questioning at length a $48,000 change order for a storm sewer contract. Mr. Williams allowed Mayor Daniel L. Martin to respond to Councilman Marsh's questioning regarding the error that created the extra expense. On the councilman's last words Mr. Williams called "roll call" knowing full well there were other councilmen with questions. When Sixth Ward Councilman James J. Fulcomer and myself protested, stating we wished to speak and ask for a "point of order," the city clerk, Mr. Senkowsky, "ruled" we were in the middle of a roll call. One person out of nine had voted and that's hardly in the middle of anything.

Mr. Senkowsky was requested by more than one councilman on more than one occasion to not interrupt the proceedings and to keep his comments to himself. Just because he was once a councilman, an office for which you'd think he had more respect, does not give him the right to influence the decision of the chair.

Mr. Williams, who appears to be a reasonable man, might have allowed further debate had it not been for the city clerk's unsolicited remarks. It should be noted every Council member is allowed to speak on any motion twice. Only one Council member spoke on this issue at all. I must say in other aspects of his duties the city clerk appears to do a fine job, and I even helped fight to have money put into his budget for part-time help.

However, his conduct at Council meetings is terrible. This is the second time in three months I was denied a right to speak on an issue and the third time in the same period my word was figuratively "slapped in the face."

Now, whether this is because these two Democrats are trying to "oust" my ward for having elected a Republican, or whether Mr. Williams cannot chair a meeting without Mr. Senkowsky's coaching, or whether Mr. Senkowsky is not satisfied with being a city clerk, I don't know.

I do know if I am not allowed to speak and ask questions on items on which we are voting then my ward is being denied representation for which it is constitutionally being taxed.

The reasons why I bring this to the attention of the public are simple. There are over 4,000 residents in my ward including over 1,900 voters, and I warned these two gentlemen the first time they asked me to deny my right to speak the First Ward would know what they had done.

After the second time the question became: If they can do this to me and the ward I represent can they not do this another councilman the right to speak and another ward is represented? Then, are we not a dictatorship?

A Word to the wise

Now, while I have the attention of the politicians before they take their summer rest before launching the fall barrage of charges and countercharges for the General Election, I think I will repeat some of the ground rules The Rahway News-Record and the Clark Patriot have laid out in order to be FAIR TO ALL, while giving us a decent chance to produce top-quality coverage of elections.

McGuire spreads wings

On Memorial Day, Monday, May 30, McGuire Air Force Base offered an air show during the Annual Open House and Capabilities Demonstration.

Highlighting this year's aerial performances were the world famous Thunderbirds, the official air demonstration squadron of the Air Force. The team flies the supersonic F-16 fighter Falcon combat fighter. Since they performed their first aerial demonstration in 1953, team members have flown 2,455 aerial demonstrations in this year's air show.

Union graduates area seventy-six

Seventy-six Clark and Rahway residents were among 819 Union County College, Cranford, Elizabeth and Scotch Plains students, who were candidates for associate degrees, certificates or diplomas conferred at the college's first commencement on Thursday, June 2, at the Cranford campus.

Union County College was established on Aug. 17, 1982 through a consolidation of Union College, which was founded in 1933, and Union County Technical Institute, which was formed in 1960.

There were 610 candidates for associate degrees, including 90 students enrolled in the Cooperative Program in Professional Nursing of Elizabeth General Hospital in Elizabeth and the Lehigh Valley Hospital in Plainfield.

The June 2 ceremonies were conducted on the South Lawn of the Cranford campus.

Clark and Rahway residents who were candidates for associate degrees, certificates or diplomas and their majors were:

Anti-crime bill passes in House

Legislation that would provide vital federal support to state and local crime-fighting efforts has won overwhelming passage in the House of Representatives.

The Justice Assistance Act, HR 2175, would provide $760 million over four years for targeted law enforcement grants to states. The bill was part of an omnibus crime package passed by the House.

Another key component of the anti-crime package is a bill to impose strict penalties on anyone convicted of tampering with or over-the-counter drugs or other products.

I joined the majority of my colleagues in the House in supporting this anti-crime legislation. While most violent crime that affects the public is under the jurisdiction of state and local law-enforcement authorities, the resources currently available to local agencies and police departments are inadequate to deal effectively with the problem.

The Justice Assistance Act would provide crucial support to state and local authorities for their crime-control efforts and focuses on several critical areas where crime-fighting efforts at all levels of government must be strengthened.

One of the major problems in combating crime is that of career criminals and repeat offenders. The program currently available to local agencies and police departments would help reduce the incentives for career criminals to return to crime. These programs include counseling for juvenile offenders so they do not establish a life-long pattern of crime—a significant amount of crime, well over 50% in many categories, is committed by people between 14 and 22 years of age.

Other proposals to discourage career criminals would develop prison industry programs so prisoners could learn skills to gain employment when released rather than return to crime.

Although crime affects everyone, we know the elderly are particularly vulnerable. HR 2175 includes an amendment stressing the importance of supporting programs which address the increase in the incidence of violence committed against the elderly and which also address the fear and stress among the elderly associated with such crimes.

Another key provision of HR 2175 would allow neighborhood watch and anti-crime programs to receive funds through their states to maintain and improve their services. These local Neighborhood Watch groups are increasing throughout the country and making great strides in the fight against crime.

I am pleased this legislation has passed the House early in this new Congress as a signal of our need to strengthen our efforts against crime. The federal government has a responsibility to assist state and local authorities in their crime-fighting efforts. It is our responsibility to provide them with adequate resources to do this.

Retention of seniority urged for teachers

The executive director of the New Jersey Education Assn., Dr. James P. Conneron, recently told the State Board of Education subcommittee on seniority that retention of seniority is the most important factor in determining the incentive for young people entering the teaching profession to become quality teachers.

Dr. Conneron also said those currently teaching would have less incentive to become qualified in other subjects if Commission proposals on seniority were adopted.

The state and local districts are currently encouraging teachers to win new endorsements in mathematics and science to help alleviate the shortage of teachers in those areas. But that Commissioner Cooper's proposal would lessen the value of additional subject-area endorsements, Dr. Conneron added.

"We feel employees who give years of service to a district accrue rights along the way," the education group head declared. "People who have proven through long years of service they teach well should be given a chance to prove they can teach any subject in which they have received endorsement."

County seniors set schedule of tours

The Senior Citizens Council of Union County is accepting reservations for its one-day and several-day trips. The one-day trips include Bridgeport, Conn., and a trip to Port Jefferson including a ferry ride to Bridgeport, Conn., and a trip to Longwood Gardens in Pennsylvania, Thursday, July 28; Tarrytown, N.Y., famous for Legend of Sleepy Hollow, Thursday, August 25; Amish Country, Friday, Sept. 30, including Farmers Market, Candy Factory in Lehigh, Pretzels Factory, Kitchen Kettle and lunch at Millers Smorgasbord.

In the fall and winter of 1983 there will be plans made for a foliage tour in October and in December a trip to Bethlehem, Pa. for a day and night light tour and a trip to see the Christmas Show at Radio City Music Hall.

An overnight trip to Mystic Seaport in Connecticut and Newport, R. I. on Wednesday and Thursday, June 8 and 9, will include visiting the Mystic Seaport Museum, guided tours, a picnic supper on a riverboat cruise, tours of Newport and a meal. The two-day and overnight cruise will be $95 per person.

NAACP to discuss vote drive

The regular meeting of the Rahway Branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People will be held on Monday evening, June 13, at 8 o'clock at the Ebenezer African Methodist Episcopal Church at 253 Central Ave., Rahway, according to the branch president, John J. Robertson.

Mr. Robertson stated that the agenda for this meeting will be an evaluation of the membership and voter registration drive now underway which will be continuing until the end of June.

Other items on the agenda will be the Education Committee's report on the May 21 Scholarship Benefit Luncheon which was held at the Westwood Lounge in Garwood under the chairmanship of Mrs. Marie Brown, and the upcoming National NAACP Convention to be convened in New Orleans from July 11 to 17.

Mr. Robertson has been elected by the membership to represent the Rahway Branch at this annual national-wide convention.

Within the confines of the convention, he will express the will of the Rahway Branch and vote in behalf of this branch on the important policy-making matters brought before the convention, he noted.

James Carter wins accountants' award

During ceremonies recently at Rahway High School James Lamar Carter was awarded an engraved plaque by the National Assn. of Accountants in recognition of his outstanding grades in accounting and bookkeeping.

The student is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Carter of 871 E. Hazelwood Ave., Rahway.

He was active on the track team, and plans to attend Union or Rutgers College in the fall.

The award was presented to the school by the chapter president, Morris B. Kadin, a certified public accountant.

Warm weather is time for tomatoes

Now is the time for setting out tomatoes, eggplants and melons, all those warm-season crops that can't tolerate cool temperatures. Many eager gardeners already have these plants in the ground.

Nighttime low temperatures of 35 degrees and lower last week were necessary for the gardeners to protect these plants with paper bags, leaf mulch or plastic milk cartons.

Gardeners who want to plant these cold-sensitive crops should have to worry, according to Joyce Riva Mulhall, program associate at John Hopkins University Cooperative Extension Service.

"It's not as advisable to keep an ear to the weather forecast just in case, and plan on protecting those plants wherever evening temperatures are expected to dip below 45 degrees."

Fibrosis unit to form county branch

The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, Greater New Jersey Chapter, will be forming a Union County branch.

The first meeting is scheduled to take place July 14 at Memorial General Hospital on Galloping Hospital Rd., Union, at 7:30 p.m.

The foundation is dedicated to finding a prevention and cure for the disease through research, patient services and public education.

Parents of children with cystic fibrosis, young adult patients as well as supporters of the cystic fibrosis cause, may attend.

Please telephone the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation in Woodbridge at 634-2997 for more information.

Fairleigh cites Grace Jimenez

Grace Jimenez of Rahway recently received her bachelor of science degree from Fairleigh Dickinson University.

Mr. Master-Karnik is the director of the Summit Art Center and an assistant professor of Museum Studies at New York University. He is an art critic and the recipient of an Art Critics Fellowship from the National Endowment for the Arts.

The exhibition is on view in the art school studios and in the Studio Gallery. The museum schedule is from Tuesday to Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. It is closed Mondays.

Admission is free.

Success runs in township family

At graduation time many high school seniors are to be congratulated. But only a handful can be cited for their outstanding accomplishments on the way to obtaining their diploma.

Cynthia Galiszewski, from Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, is one of those who has been most helpful, she said. "She's always been there to help pick up the pieces when things didn't go right."

And the Johnson senior is quick to point out her sister's accomplishments as well as her own, noting she's Sharon's best friend. Sharon Galiszewski set seven school records this year for girls' cross country and winter and spring track. The Galiszewskis, who attend St. John the Apostle R. C. ## Bell expands electronic switching

In some areas new, electronic telephone service recently began with telephones being served by new, computerized New Jersey Bell switching equipment. Some 8,000 customers will be served by the new equipment, which speeds calls to their destinations faster than ever before. It also provides customers with special dialing services designed to make phone calling faster and more convenient, reports a Bell spokesman. Customers' first indication of the new service will be a distinctive, new dial tone, according to Bill McKinlay, New Jersey Bell's area community relations manager. Mr. McKinlay said the computerized equipment establishes connections electronically about 1,000 times faster than more conventional, electro-mechanical systems. The equipment also monitors itself constantly, insuring virtually trouble-free operations. The system's electronic memory enables customers to program their telephones to provide auto-calling services. Call Waiting, for example, signals the customer talking on the phone when someone else is calling. The customer can either put the first call on hold and handle the second, or finish the first conversation and take the second call. With Call Forwarding, customers can instruct their telephones to transfer all their incoming calls to another number. The customer simply dials a code from his phone, followed by the number to which calls are to be directed. The calls then are transferred automatically. Three-Way Calling lets customers add a third caller to a conversation already underway. The customer puts the second party on hold, dials the third party's number and, by depressing the telephone switchhook,

FIRE-WISE Cookouts: Cook steaks, not people

By Rahway Fire Chief James T. Heller
The cookout season approaches once again. As in years past, armchair quarterbacks across America take up their utensils and attempt to transform themselves into Gordon Bleu chefs. While it's beyond the scope of this column to suggest ways to make the year's first cookout more edible, here are handy hints for making all your cookouts more firewise.

The outdoor chef must be appropriately dressed and equipped for his task. A stout apron protects the clothing from spatters of hot grease, but make sure it's long enough that its tails can't touch the grill surface. It's wise to wear short-sleeve shirts and light-fitting clothing. Loose, long sleeves, neckties and the like are too easily ignited by momentary contact with the hot surfaces.

Don't attempt to grill outdoors with ordinary kitchen utensils. Those oversized skewers, spatulas and other implements aren't just for looks. Their length permits you to keep a safe distance from the hot coals.

Now that you're dressed and equipped, let's review how to handle a grill full of fire and how not to. If the wind is gusting, schedule your cookout another day. Blustery weather can midrange your charcoal starter, blow hot embers about the neighborhood or even upset the grill.

Use only a liquid labeled as a charcoal starter to start the grill. Other flammable liquids may burn too fiercely or lend an unpleasant flavor to food cooked over a fire started with them. With most foods you must wait until the flames have gone out before putting the food on the grill.

Apply starter only once. Don't try to "pop up" a lukewarm grill by squirting starter onto lighted coals. The flame of ignition can easily travel along the stream of fluid and cause the can in your hand to explode with fiery violence. This can occur in less than a second, so even the use of "short" squirters is no protection.

Handle foods on the grill surface only, with year-long-handled utensils. Exercise special caution when there are small children about; it's often good practice to keep them away during lighting and cooking.

After the cookout keep an eye on the grill until the coals have utterly cooled. A neighbor child or pet can reach a painful burn from touching a grill used hours before, and a pet or the weather can easily upset a still-hot grill with the danger of a grass fire.

This summer resolve to cook firewisely and enjoy the great outdoors all the more.

A Legislative Report from Senator Don DiFrancesco

Civil Service needs reform--now

New Jersey's archaic civil service system is one step closer to being modernized to public employees are rewarded and promoted based on merit rather than just seniority.

After months of scrutiny, a Senate committee released a bill, sponsored by Republican Sen. Gerald Cardinale, of Bergen County, that would mark the first major reform of the 75-year-old civil service system governing public employees. This bill deserves prompt attention by the full Senate.

For years the legislative and executive branches have been astutely aware the present system is unfair and acts as a disincentive for employees to work harder. It is virtually impossible under the present system to reward an employee for a job well done by way of advancement or to fire a worker for substandard job performance as is done in private industry.

The civil service system has been a stumbling block in the Kean administration's efforts to streamline government and increase its efficiency. However, the current administration is not the only one to recognize the problems with the civil service system.

Former Govs. Brendan Byrne and William Cahill recently testified in favor of Sen. Cardinale's bill. They had firsthand knowledge of the inequities in the system. When Gov. Cahill was leaving office he asked Mr. Byrne to promote two state troopers who were doing a good job. When Gov. Byrne attempted to make those promotions, he was sued by two troopers who would be passed over if the advancements took place. Gov. Byrne eventually succeeded. However, it took him two years to do so.

Under the proposed bill, a specific merit system would be devised, including the selection and advancement of employees, on the basis of their skill and abilities rather than purely on a seniority basis. Employees would continue to be protected from political favoritism through a mandatory hearing process. Before an employee was suspended, a hearing would be held at which the employee would have a union representative and attorney present.

Sen. Cardinale's bill would encourage public employees to work harder because their efforts would be rewarded. At the same time, it would protect workers from being their jobs because of changes in the political leadership.

Wave sweeps Clark from tourney

By Roy Hoagland
Clark's Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School Crusaders Lacrosse Team was eliminated from the state tournament by the Green Wave of the Delbarton School of Morris-town, 12-4.

The pointmakers for the Crusaders were Dave Francioso, who hit the net twice while Robert Arbenzy and Edward Paduano had one each.

John Shoemaker and John Dolan each scored a goal in the first 30 seconds of the second half. Shoemaker had three goals scored 10 seconds into the third period on a pass from Dolan, and then Dolan scored unassisted 12 seconds later to give the Green Wave a 7-4 lead.

Dolan, a junior attacker, finished with three goals and three assists. John Burke and Don Healy each scored twice, and Bill Clapp and Jose Rionda each scored once.

Clark closed its season at 8-7, while the Green Wave has a 13-3 record.

Blind get TIPS as phone operators

Through the use of a specially-designed terminal called TIPS*, TSPS Information Processing System, blind people are now able to effectively function as telephone operators on the computerized operator consoles (TSPS) used nationally by the Bell System.

Sighted operators use this console to handle all types of calls with the exception of directory assistance. All information regarding the processing of a call is presented by the console through the use of a microprocessor and voice synthesizer within the TIPS equipment.

When a call comes in on the console, particular keys light up to indicate how the call was dialed and what the operator must do. TIPS in turn relays these lights and cues the blind operator with an audio message. Using this information and that provided by the caller, the operator can then process the call.

When the console display screen shows some additional information such as the amount due on a coin telephone call, TIPS translates the information onto a small braille display at the front of the console so the operator can read this information and take the appropriate action.

WELCOME TO SUMMER - Clark Councilman Raymond Krov, left, and John Bodnar are shown in the diving area of the Clark Community Pool. The pool opened last weekend and township residents may use the facility free of charge this weekend.
