$510,000 bond issue draws calls for 'pay as you go'

By R. R. Faszczewski
Although officials and residents present at the Rahway City Council meeting on Monday agreed the city should try to purchase major equipment by paying for it at the time it is acquired, some of the officials said state laws made it impossible to do that at this time.

However, Mayor Daniel L. Martin replied the state "CAP" limit on spending precludes a "pay-as-you-go" system for spending capital dollars for most municipalities in the state because recent labor settlements, reaching into the range of 8 to 10% increases per year, have brought many municipal budgets at or over the spending limit—thus eliminating current funding of large capital items.

Mayor Martin added the city hasn't replaced many pieces of equipment mentioned in the ordinance for four years and, because of expenses of wage settlements, the municipality might be faced with a "tradeoff" to one tax point used for equipment purchase versus the employment of one and a quarter policemen.

Hartnett replied the second mower would provide added efficiency and this had been proved by the mower already in operation. The administrator also explained with one street sweeper out of service the city needed to purchase another one to do the work of the first one.

Although Sixth Ward Councilman James J. Fulcomer said he would vote for the ordinance this year because the city had failed to buy equipment for the last four years, starting next year the community should set up a program to pay for equipment each year as it was obtained.

Episcopal Church, which is on Irving St. and Elm Ave., said since there were only a limited number of funerals perhaps the city could station a police officer in front of the church to make sure no cars parked there during funerals.

Passed on Tuesday reading an ordinance which would establish bus stops on Elizabeth Ave. at W. Grand and W. Scott Aves. on W. Scott Ave. at Elizabeth Ave. on Irving St. at Elizabeth Ave. on W. Inman Ave. at Princeton and St. George Aves. and at Bryant St. on Jaques Ave. at W. Hazelwood Ave. and Bryant St. on Central Ave. at Bryant St. on Main St. at Lewis St. and at E. Milton Ave. between Irving and Broad St. The measure would also eliminate several bus stops deemed no longer necessary.

Introduced an ordinance providing for the installation and operation of a traffic signal at the intersection of Woodbridge Rd. and Randolph Ave. The public hearings and possible adoptions of all of the introduced ordinances will be held on Monday, April 9, at 8 p.m. Governance Body members also.

Named the city's health officer, Anthony D. Delge, as the registrar of vital statistics due to a vacancy in that office created by the retirement of the previous registrar. Authorized the mayor and city clerk to enter into an agreement with Scotch Plains to provide health services to that township at a fee of $18,000 per year. It was explained city health inspectors provide services to other municipalities usually on holiday or vacation days when it would not be interfering with their Rahway duties.

County college accepts 'dynamic' role

"There's a sense of dynamism prevailing at Union County College as 1984 unfolds and we must use that to resolve issues critical to the future of the college and to provide the necessary services so vital to the community of citizens we serve in Union County."

College will be headed in 1984. "I sense a dynamism, an urgency, which says we must keep moving and keep accomplishing in the ongoing consolidation of Union College and the Union County Technical Institute into Union County College," Dr. Kreisman said.

"We are beginning to operate as a single entity and it is our hope that more substantial progress can be made along those lines in 1984," Dr. Kreisman continued. "While many of the services and publications of the college are now together, the major task which remains is to make sure the various constituencies, serving Union County College recognize their allegiance to the new school, while at the same time continuing to honor what was good and true from their earlier affiliations. The task of bringing all groups together is one on which we set a high priority for this coming year. A major review of existing and possible new programs, an effort to broaden its offerings to the general community and developing plans for future computer needs at the college are three other major priority areas to which the officials at the college will be directing their energies this year, the acting president declared.

The college has taken other measures to establish true consolidation, including the integration and expansion of academic and administrative computer services. This included the purchase of a VAX 11/780 microcomputer for academic purposes, he noted.

acquainted with one another. The establishment of faculty ranks for Scotch Plains was also a major step. The progress made in consolidating all the services at Union County College to date, is directly attributable to Dr. Orkin. Without his vision, courage and sense of when to do what, little of what I've just described would have been accomplished. He is and will be missed," Dr. Kreisman continued.

comprehensive community college. The college hopes to find a new leader by the start of the next academic year. A master plan committee comprised of faculty, staff and students has been created, with the charge of reviewing the college's philosophy, goals and objectives. The committee will help develop the new college's first master plan, a significant achievement which will allow the college to best fulfill the needs of its constituencies, he said.

Landmarks treasurer thanks newspapers

As the treasurer of the Rahway Landmarks 30-Month Fund-Raising Project I would like to express our deep appreciation of the super publicity you have accorded our project in The Rahway News-Record/Clark Patriot and the Atom Tablette. We are also very grateful for your generous financial support.

The character of the donations has amazed me. In my connection with many fund-raisers in the past the solicitors always chortled over the dollar bills as compared to the usual "loose change." Until quite recently there weren't many contributions to this fund that were under $100. Some are over $1,000. Very few are from other than private citizens. Recently some corporate money has begun to flow in our direction.

While many of the individual donations elicited from your newspaper campaign are smaller, in the aggregate they amount to triple the previous weekly income. We thank everyone and can assure you that "We will own the building in the very near future."

Until recently we have had a paradox. Everyone wants a theatre for the performing arts and is anxious to guarantee the building will not re-open as a porno movie house and would like the influx of business engendered by such a cultural drawing card.

People, however, withheld their financial support waiting to see if someone else would pitch in to make this dream come true. The over $30,000 collected so date certainly proves the answer.

Once the building is purchased it can be used to raise revenue, even while it is being renovated. Cultural groups can be solicited for restoration where they cannot be obtained for purchase.

We're almost there, but one more fact should be made known: Over 30 $1,000 interest-free, five-year loans have been offered. That's $30,000 of up-front money. More loan money is becoming available daily.

What are the leaders giving? An opportunity for the immediate purchase of the theatre and effectively a gift of 30% interest earnings. (An estimated 10% interest rate with the lender in the 50% tax bracket—$250 spread over five years.) The security is the building itself.

Loans must be repaid, however, and donations will ultimately make the dream a reality. Continue to tell the people we need the help. To this tax-exempt, non-profit organization I am dedicating. Every $100 received this month is as good as $200 received next year.

Folks, please give now...and thank you.

A word of tribute to a great man

During his tenure as the Supervisor of Veterans Affairs and Registrar of Veterans Graves for Union County many awards, citations, commendations, resolutions, medals and plaques were awarded to Paul Angelo.

I know personally, for I authored some of these commendations. To say he fulfilled his office and job description would be a gross understatement. He poured his heart and soul into it, working many hours on his own time and putting himself entirely into his efforts. He was a great person, who put the plays on the board and knew how to quarterback them—sometimes to the point of being self-critical because things were not falling into place or someone on the other end was dropping the ball.

Despite his recklessness in Union County and throughout the state, his roots were eternally imprinted here in Rahway. He was particularly known for his work at St. Mary's Cemetery. He spent many of his off hours at the cemetery and a great number of people found comfort in the words of encouragement he extended in times of need.

He was well-versed in the family history of the parishioners and knew relationships of people even though names were different. He had an uncanny knack for remembering names and family history. Paul belonged to several organizations, but basically was entrenched as a member of Joseph F. Dietz Post No. 361 of the Catholic War Veterans in Rahway.

The post and Auxiliary members will mourn his passing. We have lost a good friend and officer, who always extended himself to the limits. This coming Memorial Day will be tough on us because Paul won't be here to direct the placement of the flags.

Our final salute to our fallen comrade is to say, "Job well done—rest in peace, old buddy."

How appropriate that his final resting place be St. Mary's Cemetery. Now he can direct from above and no one will be able to do a better job than he did for in Union County.

Put state budget under microscope

Just over a month ago I presented my proposed budget for the coming year to the New Jersey Legislature. My presentation began the process of debate and compromise that will determine how the state will spend its money, how it will raise revenues and what plans it will make for the future. The outcome of this debate will affect every resident of this state—not only this year, but in the years to come.

My budget contains no new taxes. In fact, I proposed cuts in taxes on both individuals and businesses. I talked the Legislature to continue the phase-out of the state income tax, which is higher than that of other states.

The budget I submitted does contain a major increase in the amount of aid the state provides to local jurisdictions—school districts, cities, towns and counties. This increase is designed to hold down property taxes while it provides state help for functions that would otherwise have to be paid for by local governments and local taxpayers.

The budget reflects the fact New Jersey as a state is doing well. Our economy is strong and growing stronger. More of our people are employed than ever before. The number of people applying for unemployment insurance is at its lowest level in more than a decade. And all of the other key indicators of our economic health—such as housing starts, construction contracts and new business incorporations—are up sharply over a year ago. The state finds itself in a position of strength, with an economy that is stronger than the economies of our neighboring states, stronger than that of the nation as a whole and strong enough to allow us to provide for the needs of the people of New Jersey without raising taxes.

My plan is designed to build on that strength, not to sap it. My budget contains a major investment in New Jersey's future—development to invest a record amount in our schools, our system of roads and bridges and in high-technology research. In short, in programs that will bring jobs to New Jersey in the years to come.

In any event, submitting a budget is a responsibility. It is a responsibility that I, as Governor, have accepted. I am submitting a budget that I believe is in the best interests of the people of New Jersey. I am submitting a budget that I believe will provide the resources necessary to meet the needs of the people of New Jersey in the years to come.

Joseph P. Ruffolo named postmaster

The appointment of Joseph P. Ruffolo as postmaster of Rahway was announced by Northeast Regional Postmaster General John G. Mulligan.

In his announcement, Mr. Mulligan indicated Mr. Ruffolo's knowledge and experience in the field of postal operations will be an asset in fulfilling all of the responsibilities of his new position.

The new postmaster began his postal career in 1964 as a part-time flexible clerk at the Air Mail Facility at Newark Airport. In 1973 he was promoted to supervisor of mail. He subsequently served in various supervisory positions in the Clifton and Orange Post Offices until his present appointment as postmaster of Rahway.

As the 28th postmaster of Rahway, Mr. Ruffolo will be responsible for all postal operations encompassing Rahway, Clark and Colonia, serving a combined population of nearly 72,000.

He will control a complement of 136 employees, an annual volume of 35 million pieces of mail and an annual revenue of $4.6 million.

Mr. Ruffolo succeeds Joseph J. Rein, who was promoted to address information systems manager for the Eastern Regional Headquarters of the Postal Service in Philadelphia.

Mr. Ruffolo was born in Newark and raised in Newark. He has been a resident of Colonia since 1974. He has three children: Joseph, 15, and Anthony, 12, and a daughter, Rose, 11.

He is a member of the United States Postal Service Columbia Area, and the Delaware Area, a civic organization in Newark.

He is also a member of the Colonia Parents Teacher Organization and has been a coach of the Clark Elementary League and assistant Scout leader. In 1978 he was elected to the American Legion Post No. 1278 in Rahway. With his regular support it appears certain that it will be reauthorized for another three years.

REPORT FROM WASHINGTON by Congressman Matt Rinaldo

Hearing to focus on older Americans

Legislation to reauthorize the Older Americans Act for another three years will be the subject of a Congressional hearing to be held in Elizabeth on Monday, March 19, by the House Select Committee on Aging.

As the senior Republican on the aging committee I arranged for the Elizabeth hearing so members can learn first hand how New Jerseyans below services provided under the act may be improved to better meet their needs. Local, state and national figures associated with programs serving the elderly have been invited to testify at the hearing.

The session will be held in the Elizabeth City Council Chambers in the City Hall beginning at 10 a.m. All New Jerseyans who have an interest in the Older Americans Act may attend.

Among the witnesses will be Dr. Lemmie Marie Toller, a commissioner of the United States Dept. of Health and Human Services' Administration on Aging in Washington; Jacques O. Leibel, the director of the New Jersey Division on Aging; and Peter Shields, the director of the Union County Division on Aging.

Also expected to testify are Mrs. Evelyn Frank, the director of the Union County Senior Citizen Council; Robert Farnighetti, the director of the Kean College of New Jersey Gerontology Center in Union; and Mrs. Joann Madlin, the vice president of the Gerontological Society of New Jersey.

The focus of the hearing will be the proposed three-year extension of the Older Americans Act which will expire at the end of the current fiscal year. It was last reauthorized in 1981.

Contracted in 1985 as the centerpiece of the federal commitment to the elderly, the act provides an array of beneficial programs that have helped the elderly cope with high fuel costs, nutrition needs, premature unemployment, lack of transportation and health and legal needs.

Last year nearly 100,000 older people in New Jersey were provided with transportation, 4,000 shut-ins were served, home-delivered meals, 1,000 seniors benefited from home-repair assistance and nearly 3 million hot meals were served to more than 600,000 seniors at cost-free senior centers throughout the state.

Participation in the program has increased over the years and the amount of federal funds has grown from $6.5 million in 1966 to nearly $1 billion. New Jersey receives about $21 million this year for Older Americans programs and in fiscal 1985 stands to receive about $30 million of the slightly more than $1 billion requested.

The Clark/Windfield Girl Scouts started off the year with a community encampment at Camp Lou Henry Hoover in September. Over 150 girls and leaders camped, hiked, went boating and enjoyed nature.

In November the girls honored the Veterans by joining Clark in a wreath-laying ceremony. December brought the Annual Brownie Trim-A-Tree. The Brownies made different types of bird feeders and hung them on the trees around the Clark Municipal Building. They then went into the Township Council Chambers, put on skits and sang songs and were treated to hot chocolate and cookies.

In January 120 girls attended a Hawaiian Nite-Swim Party at the Scotch Plains Young Men's Christian Assn. They also decorated coconuts for a contest. In February 150 girls and their leaders attended a 1950's skating party.

Many things are planned for Girl Scout Week. Many troops are holding their own parties and the week will end with a square dance tomorrow at the high school.

At this time the girls will contribute to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund. On Monday, March 19, the members of the Cadette

DOING THEIR PART - Members of Troop No. 864 of the Clark/Windfield Girl Scouts, sponsored by Clark's Frank K. Gehny School, made peanut-filled jars for the children at the Valerie Center at Overlook Hospital in Summit. The cards on the jars read, "We're Nuts About You." Working on the project are: Becky Latawiec, Gina Lewis, Chrissy Fenick and Jennifer Freick.

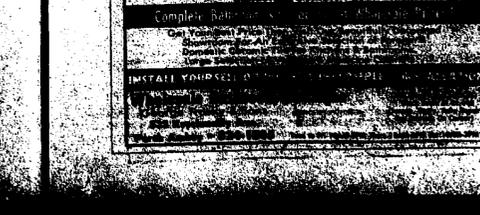

ON THEIR HONOR - Members of Troop No. 201 of the Clark/Windfield Girl Scouts go through their investiture ceremony.

HANGING UP THE FLAG - A troop leader and members of Troop No. 201 of the Clark/Windfield Girl Scouts display the troop banner.

FOR THOSE WHO GAVE ALL - Members of the Clark/Windfield Girl Scouts participate in the Clark wreath-laying ceremony on Veterans Day.

Girl Scouts come a long way

It's Girl Scout Week and the Clark/Windfield Girl Scout Assn., along with the Girl Scouts all over the world, is celebrating the 73rd birthday of Girl Scout. Girl Scout has come a long way since the day of its founding, as evidenced by the modern Girl Scout, according to an association spokeswoman.

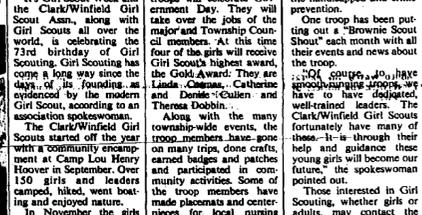

The Clark/Windfield Girl Scouts started off the year with a community encampment at Camp Lou Henry Hoover in September. Over 150 girls and leaders camped, hiked, went boating and enjoyed nature.

In November the girls honored the Veterans by joining Clark in a wreath-laying ceremony. December brought the Annual Brownie Trim-A-Tree. Taxpayers May Round Off to Nearest Dollar

Taxpayers who have been out of work and collecting unemployment benefits may owe income tax on these benefits if total income for the year exceeds certain limits. The Internal Revenue Service said.

However, if a taxpayer rounds off one dollar from all amounts must be rounded off. Amounts under 50 cents should be dropped and amounts from 50 cents to 99 cents should be increased to the next highest dollar. For example, $1.39 becomes $1 and $2.49 becomes $3.

One advantage to rounding off, according to the IRS, is that taxpayers are likely to make fewer errors in math because they will have fewer figures to deal with and compute.

SPOT LIGHT ON OUR SCHOOLS

HOW OUR FOREFATHERS LIVED - Lauren Millano shows her Indian diorama to first graders at Rahway's Roosevelt School. The dioramas were part of a third-grade project on the Indians on North America.

TAKING HOME GOLD - Jamal LaDuns wears his "gold" badge, having been chosen by his fellow patrol as Rahway's Franklin School's "Patrol of the Month." The badge will be worn for one month after which it will be relinquished to the successor. A new recipient is named monthly.

FOR MISS LIBERTY - Rahway's Roosevelt School Student Council sponsored a Restoration Project. The drive will be conducted from Feb. 13 to 29 and each Wednesday thereafter to the end of May. Roosevelt students will be joining the millions of school children across the nation donating pennies, nickels and dimes for this worthwhile cause. Winners of the poster contest shown, front to rear, are: Ashley Hernandez, first grade; Mary Telep, second grade; Corey Shine, second grade; Carly Gregorio, fourth grade; Stephanie Horing, fifth grade; and Erica Messersmith, sixth grade.

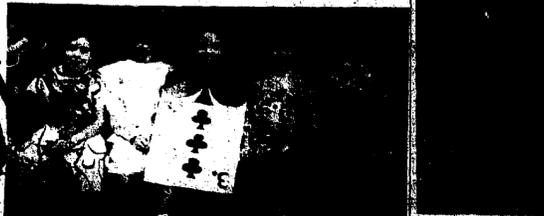

P. S. WE LOVE YOU - Heather Bowers and Stacie Tomczyk of Clark's Frank K. Hehny School touched the heart of Michael Wallace by remembering him on his birthday. Sharing in the surprise, left to right, are: Amy Gamba, Margaret Niemce, Cathy Tondo, Heather Bowers, Mr. Wallano, Stacie Tomczyk, Maggie Metz and Christine Cutic.

THANKS FOR YOUR CONGRATULATIONS - Harry Bowers, left, reads a magazine about the White House and the Presidency, and Maria Quinn holds a letter of thanks from President Ronald Reagan for birthday greetings sent to the President on his 73rd birthday, Feb. 8, by students in Mrs. Julie Weigel's fourth-grade class at Rahway's Grover Cleveland School.

LOOKING INTO HISTORY - In acknowledgment of Black History Month, Mrs. Paul Braxton's kindergarten class at Roosevelt School has been reviewing names and contributions of some famous black Americans from the past and the present. The topics discussed were arts, politics and sports. In front of the bulletin board display of black history, left to right, are: Mrs. Braxton, Rebecca Farnya, Tamara Umphries, Frank Tedeschi and Jeffrey Scriven.

WRITERS ON PARADE - Following an emphasis on writing, students in Mrs. Ann Hoener's fifth-grade class at Rahway's Roosevelt School did readings on the writing work for their parents.

READY FOR DELIVERY - The entire student body of Mother Seton Regional High School in Clark participated in a Thanksgiving food drive sponsored by the Student Council. In total, 21 baskets of food including a turkey in each one were delivered to St. Anne's Parish in Newark. The student body was meeting the request of the parish with its drive. Preparing the packages for delivery, left to right, are: Sister Jacquelyn Belsak, the Student Council advisor; Patricia Doherty, the Student Council vice president, and Vivian Pockels, the Student Council president.

MAKING RIGHT CHOICES - High school registration for eighth graders at the Carl H. Kumpf School in Clark was conducted by guidance counselor, Mrs. Mary Foster, and counselors from Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark. Schedules were formulated based on the students' individual abilities, interests and teacher and counselor recommendations. The students, their parents and counselors worked co-operatively to develop individual courses of study best suited to the students' needs. Kumpf eighth grader, Angela DeMarzo, center, and her father, Victor DeMarzo, left, discuss which courses she'll be taking in high school next year as guidance counselor, Mrs. Foster, offers her advice and suggestions.

MEET THE PRESS - Participating in a student press conference with the Union County Regional High School District No. 1 Board of Education, left to right, are: Clark's Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School newspaper advisor, Peg Greene, and editors, Joyce Lini, Nancy Madsen, and Vanessa Hroch and Board member, David Hart. The journalists posed questions ranging from the sale of ethnic shoes to the possibility of double science laboratory periods.

Facelift for the arts

In an action that reflects the recent groundswell of support for restoration of the Old Railway Theatre, Merck and Co., Inc., one of the nation's largest pharmaceutical firms and this city's largest employer, has agreed to fund a marketing study of the theatre as a county arts center.

Joseph Wesley Zeigler, who has been closely associated with the New Brunswick Cultural Center project, will conduct the study for Railway Landmarks, the non-profit corporation which hopes to acquire and restore the now-closed facility on Irving St. in downtown Rahway.

The study will concentrate on determining who represents the primary market for arts events in Union County, what mix of arts and other community events would be appropriate and what it will cost to operate the facility. It will involve multi-media surveys together with analyses of population statistics and the results of similar studies in other communities.

Rahway Landmarks volunteers will participate in the survey work and the personnel in the computer center at Montclair State College will tabulate the results. Mr. Zeigler intends to complete the study by mid-June.

Meanwhile, action has been taken to extend Railway Landmarks' purchase option on the theatre from the present March 4 deadline to Wednesday, July 4. This will provide time to complete the marketing study and to raise the approximately $80,000 balance still needed to purchase the theatre. (To date, approximately $95,000 has been raised in a combination of cash donations and interest-free loans. The full purchase price is $175,000.)

Eric Rickes, the Rahway Landmarks funding coordinator, cautioned the extension does not mean fundraising efforts can be relaxed.

"In fact, just the opposite," he warned. "We now have only four months in which to raise roughly the same amount it has taken us a year to raise so far."

As for the Zeigler study, Mr. Rickes pointed out previous studies have already indicated the theatre can be operated successfully as an arts center.

"But," he added, "before we can expect to be funded by major corporations and foundations, we have got to be able to define more clearly how the arts center will be operated and the opportunities it offers."

In Mr. Zeigler's words, "The study proposed is really a definition of exactly what the Railway Theatre can and should be and of how it can then best serve the Union County community." * * *

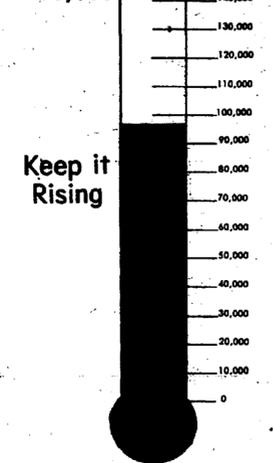

The following people have responded to our plea and our hopes for the Union County Arts Center are now becoming a reality. We'd also like to thank those people whose donations were received long before our plea effort was made. The list below does not include prior donations, without which this project would not exist.

We're on our way...but we're not there yet...so please...call now or mail the coupon with your pledge because time is running out.

Cablevision to air show on theatre

A crew from Suburban Cablevision's TV-3 recently spent the better part of a day inside the closed Rahway Theatre videotaping "the memories of a glorious past era that are permanently entombed there," reports a spokesman for Railway Landmarks, Inc.

However, sentimentality was but a small ingredient in the purpose of the taping. The resulting video views will serve as a backdrop for a serious discussion of the theatre's future as an arts center in a half-hour show to be aired two times during the next two months, the spokesman added.

Janet Shabestik will host the discussion program, to be aired on Monday, March 26, at 9 p.m. and on Thursday, April 5, at 7:30 p.m. Representatives of Union County government and county arts groups will participate, together with spokesman for Railway Landmarks, the non-profit corporation that hopes to acquire the "Old Railway" for conversion to a county arts center, the spokesman noted.

Rahway Landmarks' fund drive, which was launched officially in June of last year, has increasingly attracted the media to its cause. To date, it has raised approximately $85,000 of its $175,000 initial funding goal. (Approximately 10% of the $175,000 goal has been raised through individual contributions in the past two months, the spokesman noted.)

The arts center fund drive is managed by Union County Manager Arthur J. Grisil and co-ordinated by Eric Rickes, a Rahway

Landmarks trustee and past president of the Rahway Chamber of Commerce. The 1440-seat Rahway Theatre has been closed since November, 1981, following a very short-lived venture as a showplace for X-rated films. It opened in 1928.

Sandy Hook to open life-saving

The Sandy Hook Unit of the Gateway National Recreation Area will offer a children's "Discovery" program entitled "Blowing in the Wind-Kites," geared towards kindergarten and grade-school children at the Spinnacott Cove Visitor Center on Saturday, March 17, from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

A park ranger will discuss the phenomenon of flying and will establish comparisons between a flying kite and other "flying" objects. The children will also learn how to make their own kites and how to fly them. Participants should dress warmly. A portion of the class will be outside. For reservations please telephone 872-0092.

Rick Proctor cites Board experience

Rahway's Rick Proctor last week confirmed his candidacy for a third term on the Board of Education.

"This decision came after several months of deliberation and urging from numerous friends and associates," he stated. "It has been discouraging at times. However, after reflecting upon the improvements in the academic achievements of our Rahway students I know the rewards of the position outweigh the commitment of time and energy."

Mr. Proctor was first elected to the Board in 1978 and was selected by his fellow Board members to serve as the vice president of the body in 1980 and 1981.

In addition to his six years of service on the Board of Education, Mr. Proctor brings with him 10 years of increasingly-responsible management experience in municipal government. He is currently the director of Health and Human Services for Bloomfield with administrative duties including the supervision of a nursing program, a local mental health agency and environmental health and operation of the township animal shelter.

He began his career as a sanitary inspector for the Rahway/Clark Health Dept. and served as the health officer in Scotch Plains and Plainfield.

These positions have afforded him an opportunity to gain experience in personnel management and municipal budgeting and finance, the candidate reports.

Mr. Proctor stated, "My background in municipal government has given me a wealth of experience in most areas of public administration, which has been invaluable to me as a Board member."

In outlining his goals for a third term, the candidate noted, "We have made significant academic gains over the past few years. However, we haven't been able to provide all our students with a physical learning-environment which they deserve."

Phyllis Volker outstanding

A city woman, Phyllis Lynda Volker of 1166 Jefferson Ave., was selected for inclusion in the 1983 edition of "Outstanding Young Women of America."

She was nominated by a women's organization, a college alumni association or a public official for distinguishing herself in her home, her profession and her community.
