

Referendum to seek special waste-plant vote

By R. R. Frazesewski
At a meeting which saw every seat in the audience of the Rahway City Hall Council Chambers filled, the city's Governing Body on Monday adopted a resolution calling for a referendum on the subject of resource recovery to be placed on the Tuesday, Nov. 6, General Election ballot.

However, the question as to whether a resource-recovery plant should actually be built in Rahway will not be the one to be decided at the November referendum.

The Council resolution, one of five proposed on resource recovery, calls upon the county clerk to place a question on the ballot in November to see if city residents wish Rahway to spend about $10,000 to hold a special election (referendum) on whether the county resource-recovery facility should be located between Rte. No. 1 and the Rahway River in Rahway.

The measure, which was introduced by Republican Sixth Ward Councilman James J. Fulcomer and seconded by Republican First Ward Councilman Lawrence Bodine, also had the support of Republican Second Ward Councilman C. Marsh and three Democrats, Councilman-at-Large Vincent P. Addona, Fourth Ward Councilman Harvey Williams and Third Ward Councilman Max Sheld.

Three Democrats, Councilman-at-Large James Cadigan and Fifth Ward Councilman Walter Pitts, opposed the measure.

An attempt to postpone the resolution until the Tuesday, Nov. 13, Council meeting was turned back, with the above three Democrats supporting postponement and the six councilmen who voted for the resolution voting against postponement.

Several members of the public had expressed support for a resolution introduced earlier in the meeting by Councilman Marsh, which would have asked the City Clerk to put the question of whether the resource-recovery facility should be located in the city at all on the General Election ballot.

An attempt by Councilman Addona to place a five resource-recovery resolutions on the council agenda, where they would have been voted on as a package, failed because Councilman Bodine wanted to comment on the measures individually.

The Marsh resolution was postponed until the November meeting by a six-to-three vote along party lines, with the Democrats in favor of postponement and the Republicans against.

One of the residents, Terri Malone of Inman Ave., went over the history of resource-recovery proposals in Rahway since the City Council adopted a resolution in 1981 to support the study of a proposal at that time by Widmer-Ernst Co. to construct a facility which would have taken in garbage from about 10 communities in the vicinity of Rahway.

She pointed out Linden had defeated a proposal for a similar facility in its city by a vote of 11,000 to 1,000 previous to the adoption of the 1981 Rahway ordinance and the N. J. State Department of Environmental Protection had withdrawn its support for the plant proposed for Linden.

She also said the Rahway Governing Body had adopted a resolution in the November referendum to support the 1983 plan. Widmer-Ernst had withdrawn its proposal and gone out of the resource-recovery business.

The Inman Ave. resident, who is a legislative aide to Councilman Marsh, said the city administration on Feb. 14 of this year had given its response to the first draft of the county proposal for a resource-recovery facility without the Council knowing about it.

She added if the citizens of Rahway were not given an opportunity to vote on the matter the Department of Environmental Protection would force the city to accept the facility.

Councilman Cadigan replied he couldn't see how the citizens could vote intelligently on the matter of resource-recovery without having all the facts on it.

Pointing out the second draft of the county proposal would not be ready until later this year, he also noted although representative government meant the citizens should have faith in the decisions made by the officials they elected he did support the right of citizens to petition for a referendum on their own and this was the way it should be handled and not by a resolution of the Governing Body.

He called the move for a referendum in the November election a "White Elephant."

Mr. Ludmer said he was opposed to the facility and had no political motives. He cited articles from a daily newspaper, some of them supplied to him by Business Administrator Joseph M. Harner, which said that one resource-recovery facility had been forced to shut down and another one, in Duluth, Minn., had exploded.

Mr. Harner also added most of the large resource-recovery operations were municipally owned and he didn't want to see Rahway get stuck with a "White Elephant."

Although he said a referendum on resource-recovery would probably be a waste of time since it would be non-binding, Alonzo W. Lawrence of Madison Ave. objected to the mayor's linking all the benefits of resource-recovery to the city to financial benefits, saying the residents would probably give up the tax breaks to be received from the plant if they didn't have to put up with the hazards of having it in the city.

However, Ray Giacobe of Midwood Dr. said plants in several cities have been shown to work correctly and if one is built in a near-by community Rahway will probably get the pollution from that community anyway.

He also wanted to know if by 1987 the county has no plan also to put its garbage what the opponents of resource-recovery proposed to do with it.

It was also pointed out by Councilman Addona that as of July 3, 1,166 respondents to the mayor's survey on whether the study of resource-recovery should continue had said yes, 338 had said no and 411 had signed up to go on a bus trip to see a resource-recovery plant in operation.

A Council committee, consisting of Councilmen Fulcomer, Williams and Pitts, and set up at the mayor's request, was appointed by Councilman Sheld, the Governing Body president, to verify the results of the survey.

County to address R.A.G.E. today

The research co-ordinator for R. A. G. E. (Rahway Against A Garbage Environment), Robert Brandt, today urged all county officials to attend the next R. A. G. E. meeting today at 8 p.m. at the Rahway Italian-American Club.

"County officials promised to have a group at the meeting to answer questions on the county incinerator proposed for Rahway," the spokesman said.

Mr. Brandt added the county officials had been invited to the June 28 R. A. G. E. meeting, "but our invitation came too late for them to send a full contingent."

He said R. A. G. E. agreed it would be "better to have the county fully represented" at the July 12 meeting "especially since our flyers weren't ready in time to distribute for the June 28 meeting."

Mr. Brandt, who has been researching the environmental, traffic and other aspects of the proposed incinerator, said, "We need information—answers to our questions. Our independent studies have determined the incinerator would be hazardous to our health" to say the least, but we want to hear from the county why it wants to put this in Rahway."

MARINO IT OFFICIAL - Participating in the July 3 signing of a purchase contract for the Rahway Theatre are: Norman Sawfield, center, the president of the Wood Plaza Theatre Group, the seller; Alan Hurley, left, the secretary, and Sandra Sweeney, right, the president, of Rahway Landmarks, the buyer. The Landmarks group plans to convert the 55-year-old theatre into an arts center.

Landmarks keeps spirit moving

During June Rahway Landmarks, Inc. raised nearly $9,000 toward the purchase of the Old Rahway Theatre.

There was the flea market at the Grover Cleveland School, a busy day, even though it was rained out the previous Saturday and a busy previous week for Sandy Sweeney, Eric Ricks and all their committees, reports a spokesman.

There was a bus trip to Atlantic City. Sandy Sweeney was in charge and is planning another trip on Friday, July 20. Please telephone her at 738-0636.

St. Mary's R. C. Church of Rahway ran a classical organ concert on June 24, with all the free-will donations from the audience going to Landmarks. The artist was CJ Sambach. Tom Rooney was in charge.

An anonymous donor promised a two-for-one donation matching the profits from the auction and the trip to Atlantic City.

The motorcycle raffle is still going strong. Chances may be obtained from Phil Carr by telephoning number 381-4455 or by telephoning Mrs. Sweeney at 738-7769. Ron and Ken Carpenter of the Central Cycle and Marine on Rte. No. 1, N. Linden, have donated $8,000 worth of motorcycles to be raffled off on Monday, Sept. 3, at the theatre.

More rigorous test awaits high schoolers

Student scores on the ninth-grade High School Proficiency Test (HSPT) and the Minimum Basic Skills Test (MBST) were announced recently by Rahway Superintendent Brunette noted students' scores on the new test appear to be lower than on the Minimum Basic Skills Test and cautioned the public against comparing the test results.

"The tests do not measure the same thing," he added. "Therefore, comparing scores on the basic skills and the new test would be as inaccurate as comparing scores on a social studies test and a science test."

The Minimum Basic Skills Test measures basic skills that students need, at the very minimum, to progress satisfactorily through their schooling. The new test measures more rigorous ninth-grade basic skills that students should master in order to become productive members of society.

"Where the basic skills test measures reading and mathematics skills that can be mastered through practice and drill, the new test requires students to apply knowledge and use more advanced thought processes than the basic skills test," Mr. Brunette said.

For example, on the MBST, the basic skills reading test asks students to compare the area of a rectangle next year. Until that time we cannot draw any legitimate inferences about students' scores on the new test.

The superintendent noted, "The state department of education is providing curriculum services and a detailed list of the skills required to help local districts prepare students to pass this more rigorous test."

"When the basic skills tests was first given in 1978 average scores were lower than they are today. It takes time for the skills that are measured to be introduced into the curriculum and for students to receive sufficient instruction in these skills. Three years passed before we saw improvement in the basic skills test results statewide. There is time before the new test becomes the high school graduation test for ninth graders. In 1984-1985, to introduce a new curriculum and help our students master these skills."

"By raising the minimum standards for high school graduation, we are bringing attention to the fact that we must have the best three-year plan to help their place in today's labor force," he concluded.

The new test asks students to compute the total area of a figure composed of several rectangles, thus requiring several steps of reasoning.

"We will use the new test results to pinpoint our students' strengths and weaknesses in the skills tested and to revise our curriculum where necessary," the superintendent noted. "The state department of education is providing curriculum services and a detailed list of the skills required to help local districts prepare students to pass this more rigorous test."

Unemployment reforms go into practice

Unemployment insurance claims filed by full-time students and corporate officers become subject to new eligibility criteria as of July 1, Commissioner Roger A. Bodman of the New Jersey Dept. of Labor reported.

Commissioner Bodman noted these are the first of sweeping changes to be made in the state's unemployment insurance system as a result of reform legislation signed into law last March 26 by Gov. Thomas H. Kean.

The revisions are aimed at restoring the bankrupt program to solvency within two years. The trust fund from which unemployment benefits are paid is currently $328.2 million in the red.

Commissioner Bodman said the Division of Unemployment and Disability Insurance is fully prepared to begin processing claims under the new law.

The new series of changes, which affect the method of figuring benefits amounts and provide for more stringent penalties for gross misconduct discharges, voluntary quits and the fraudulent collection of benefits, will become effective on Monday, Oct. 1.

Under the new full-time student provisions students enrolled for 12 or more credit hours at any public or other non-profit educational institution will be disqualified from receiving benefits unless they earned the major portion of their wages while attending school.

Assistant Commissioner Frederick C. Kneiser of the department will be in the department to include the payment of benefits based on part-time or summer employment.

However, said Mr. Kneiser, students may be eligible if their employment included at least 20 weeks worked while attending school on a full-time basis.

Director James A. Ware of the Division of Unemployment and Disability Insurance said all 40 local offices were prepared to implement the changes when they opened for business on July 1.

County to receive $14,000 grant

The Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs of the Union County Dept. of Parks and Recreation was recently notified by Governor Thomas H. Kean of New Jersey. The office was awarded to receive a $14,000 Historic Preservation Survey and Planning Grant.

The grant will enable the office to provide the county with a preservation specialist, who will perform a variety of functions regarding the county's historic structures, according to William Higginson, the administrator of the office.

The specialist will promote public awareness of the county's physical heritage, maintain the county's Historic Sites Inventory and nominate historic places for inclusion in the state and national registers, said the administrator.

The grant was made available through the U. S. Dept. of the Interior, National Park Service, Historic Preservation Fund. The N. J. Dept. of Environmental Protection of the Office of N. J. Heritage is administering the program.

The preservationist will also assist the county's 21 municipalities in developing an awareness of the historic resources available at the legislative and planning level and act as the liaison between the county and state government, Mr. Higginson added.

The specialist will also provide information on tax benefits available to eligible

Congressman Bernard Dwyer Reports

House gives more Head Start

The House of Representatives recently approved an extension of our nation's most cost-effective investment, the Head Start program, which provides a wide range of educational, nutritional and social services to economically disadvantaged children.

The House passed reauthorization of the Head Start program which would allow approximately 30,000 additional pre-school children the Head Start opportunity. Currently the program is available to approximately 415,000 children, less than 20% of those eligible.

Project Head Start was launched in 1965 to help economically-disadvantaged three to five year olds achieve their full potential. The program began as a six to eight week summer program and has since grown to become a full-year program for most of its participants.

Head Start has been a pioneer in providing a unique approach to helping children, emphasizing strong parental involvement and comprehensive service delivery. The program's objectives include working to improve children's health, aiding their emotional, social and motivational development and improving the skills to go into school and to achieve success in school.

Since its inception Head Start has been the subject of numerous studies and evaluations and the clear consensus is simple: Head Start works.

As a member of the House appropriations subcommittee which has jurisdiction over Head Start, I have had an opportunity to learn about the many accomplishments of Head Start and to work with my colleagues on the subcommittee in providing funding for a strong and effective program.

Head Start is a preventive program. Head Start children score better on standardized tests, achieve more in school and are less likely to fail a grade, drop out, or require special-education classes. Participants are more likely to receive adequate medical care and be normal height and weight, have fewer absences due to illness and have better performance on physical tests.

Not only does the program show lasting gains in school performance, but families also benefit. For every 15 children in Head Start, 10 parents volunteer services to the program. The program also serves a number of handicapped children with special needs.

The legislation passed by the House would reauthorize the Head Start program for two more years and provide for modest increases.

The legislation was approved by an overwhelming margin, 499-10, and also includes funding for a number of other important programs for children. The following Through program and child-care information and referral services. As a co-sponsor of an earlier version of this important reauthorization bill, I was pleased to see it garner such widespread support, and I am hopeful the Senate will act on the bill in the near future.

Modest investments in programs of proven success and cost-effectiveness such as Head Start represent sound budget and spending policy. Clearly Head Start is an invaluable investment that pays off for children, for families, for communities and for the nation.

Letters to the Editor

Fulcomer responds to Marsh supporters

When my public record is distorted once I sometimes overlook the distortion.

However, when another distortion is published from essentially the same source then I feel I have an obligation to set the record straight for the public.

A case in point is a newsletter published by Councilman John C. Marsh and a letter to the editor written by one of his associates. The impression was left in his news release that my support for a referendum on resource recovery developed after the Rahway Republican City Committee under my leadership voted to support an appropriate resolution for a referendum, a request which was published in this newspaper.

When Mr. Marsh first attempted to introduce a resolution for a referendum I stated I favored a resolution for a referendum but I would not support a resolution which included biased and hysterical language. When the language in the resolution Mr. Marsh wanted to introduce was cleaned up I seconded the motion to place it on the agenda and told the clerk I would co-sponsor it.

At the meeting where Mr. Marsh was censured for dishonesty I made clear I favored a referendum on the issue. At that meeting Mr. Marsh was present and Teri Malone was present.

Doesn't the signer of the letter talk with these two fellow leaders of R. A. G. E. being himself a leader, or does he jump to distorted conclusions on his own?

Long before Mr. Marsh sent any flyer on resource recovery I mailed out at my personal expense an informative poll on the proposal to site resource recovery in Rahway to the registered voting households in my ward. That poll was mailed in the winter of 1983-1984.

Its results were made public in 1981 and I have continued to vote in accordance with the wishes of my constituents. No poll was taken by any other councilman, including Mr. Marsh, before Mr. Marsh and every councilman voted for the first City Council resolution to consider resource recovery in the private sector are for less than 10% there was no explanation as to the reasoning for such an increase.

As the county operation budget is already in place for 1984 and we assume this increase would not go into effect until January 1, 1985 or when the new freesholders are sworn into office, we respectfully urge the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders to delay this action until such time as this organization and others of the Union County community have sufficient time to study your reasons for the proposed increase.

Mr. Doone: Marsh using Mr. Brandt

Robert Brandt either doesn't know what he is writing about or is just being used by Councilman John Marsh and his close friend, Teri Malone.

Councilman Marsh was censured for dishonesty, not for his opinion. He should have read the censure resolution or the newspapers before he signed that letter.

I have been following the resource-recovery issue for years. Mr. Brandt's description of various councilmen's positions is not what I have read or heard.

Concerning polls, I received an objective poll from Councilman Marsh in 1981. It was an informative report and poll from Mayor Daniel Martin this summer and scare sheets from Councilman Marsh in his reelection campaign this year.

Mr. Brandt's letter seems to be just another one of Teri Malone's "I love John Marsh" letters.

The tactics being used by Councilman Marsh and Teri Malone in R. A. G. E. are hurting their cause. They should wise up and change their tune before they bury themselves in their own garbage.

County chamber: Delay salary raise

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a copy of a letter written by Clifford M. Peake, the president of the Union County Chamber of Commerce, 1355 Jefferson Ave., Elizabeth, to Charlotte DeFilippo, the chairwoman of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

The Executive Committee of the Union County Chamber of Commerce, Charlotte, is very concerned about the timing of the announced 10% raise for all members of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

A 10% raise in salary, coming a year after a 33 1/3% increase for all freesholders, announced at the freesholders meeting on Thursday evening, June 28, to be voted on for approval at the following Thursday evening, July 5, certainly does not afford the public sufficient time to react to the proposal. Furthermore, at a time when most salary increases throughout the private sector are for less than 10% there was no explanation as to the reasoning for such an increase.

As the county operation budget is already in place for 1984 and we assume this increase would not go into effect until January 1, 1985 or when the new freesholders are sworn into office, we respectfully urge the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders to delay this action until such time as this organization and others of the Union County community have sufficient time to study your reasons for the proposed increase.

Educators honor Dr. J.T. Farinella

Speakers for the Institute for Development of Educational Activities (IDEA/EA), Inc. and the Kettering Foundation announced today Dr. John T. Farinella, the Clark superintendent of schools, was recently selected as a member of the 17th IJDE/EA Academy of Fellows summer program.

Dr. Farinella was chosen as one of 800 outstanding American educators to receive this honor and participate in a week-long seminar held at Claremont McKenna College in Claremont, Calif.

During the week, a faculty of nationally prominent educational leaders addressed the following and met with them in small groups to consider leadership challenges generated by the school reform proposals of the President's Commission on Excellence in Education and other distinguished groups during the past year. The speakers addressed:

Clark AARP sets deadline for Caps Code

The American Assn. of Retired Persons (AARP) of Clark, which meets at the Clark Travel Agency, 131 Veterans-of-Foreign-Wars Hall at 6 Broadway, Clark, will not have meetings during the summer.

However, both the program and your committees are planning programs for the fall season.

A reminder to all who have signed up for the Caps Code trip on Friday, Sept. 14, the balance of payment must be made by Friday, Aug. 10, at the very latest.

Payments are to be made to the Clark Travel Agency, 131 Veterans-of-Foreign-Wars Hall at 6 Broadway, Clark, N.J. 07066.

There are still a few seats available for anyone interested in joining the group on this three-day trip. Non-members may participate in the trip. Those interested in joining local AARP chapters may telephone Clark Travel Agency for details.

Schering puts college 'on wheels'

Union County College is expected to help county residents explore opportunities in higher education.

At each step a counselor will provide visitors with information on college and university admissions procedures and student financial aid programs. College staff on board the van will also assist those who wish to fill out applications and answer questions on higher education, including graduate and technical programs with special emphasis on community colleges.

The center will provide counseling in career opportunities, visas to the United States and other follow-up information by mail or telephone call.

Papers set deadline Affidavits required

The Rahway News-Record and The Clark Patriot do not accept unsigned letters to the editor or political press releases.

All letters and political releases must be signed and include the full names and addresses of all persons submitting them.

In addition, those submitting letters and releases must come to the office of the editors at 219 Central Ave., Rahway, in order to pick up the affidavit of the signers or by another notary public.

These affidavits may be notarized at the newspaper office or by another notary public.

Clark legion seats new officers

Comm-lead John Specht of Clark Post No. 328 and his staff of officers were installed on July 1 by Union County American Legion Comm. Jack Stanier and his county officers.

Approximately 100 witnessed the combination installation of the officers of the American Legion Clark Post and Ladies Auxiliary who will lead the post for 1984-1985 year.

Comm. Specht, a member of Post No. 328 for five years, has donated many hours in all legion programs and served by the Assembly, with a program to assist from investing or depositing funds in banks that do business with South Africa.

Currently, up to $1.9 billion of public employees retirement system funds are invested in banks, some of which deal with companies that trade with South Africa.

"I believe it is a step in the face of the 55,000 black state and municipal employees enrolled in the employment retirement systems to find they are unknowingly contributing to racial injustice by supporting the apartheid government of South Africa," said Councilman Williams.

The first two goals in the program were to install officers and set up the American Legion Auxiliary President Jesse Cox presented a Certificate of Appreciation to Teri Malone for her tireless efforts during the American Legion Poppy Drive which the post held in May.

Industry input

The United States Dept. of Labor's Employment and Training Administration (ETA), in cooperation with the 50 states and other jurisdictions, has established 595 Private Industry Councils (PICs) to help develop local training programs under the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA).

R. A. G. E. responds to debate challenge

Responding to Rahway Business Administrator Joseph Hartnett's challenge to debate Dr. James Hilbert, an environmental expert who addressed Rahway citizens at the June 14 R. A. G. E. meeting, Rahway Second Ward councilman John Marsh, the chairman of R. A. G. E., said "R. A. G. E. is delighted to have this opportunity of a public debate so the citizens can judge for themselves."

Councilman Marsh added that R. A. G. E. will produce an expert in the field of environmental effects of garbage incineration to debate one of the Martin administration's choosing.

"However," he noted, "since Mr. Hartnett is not an elected official and has no credentials or qualifications in the field of resource recovery, garbage incineration, or environmental protection, it would be completely inappropriate for him to participate in the debate other than as a citizen."

In a letter to Mr. Hartnett the councilman criticized the Fourth Ward Democratic Club; the Rev. James Ealey, the pastor of the Second Baptist Church of Newark; Larry Finn, the legal counsel for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People; Rahway Councilman-at-Large Walter McCord; Rick Proctor, the president of the Rahway Board of Education; and John Robertson, the president of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

"Councilman Williams stated, 'When I began this effort, I had four goals in mind. The first was to gain the Rahway City Council adoption of an ordinance similar to the Karcher bill. The second was to address the Assembly in support of the Karcher and Brown bills.' The councilman continued, 'We have been successful to that end. We must now develop an awareness campaign to generate public support for the legislative initiative. Our only setback thus far has been the city's unwillingness to furnish us with a list of the banks that do business with the state of New Jersey and the government of South Africa.'"

"He concluded, 'I hope the residents of New Jersey will write to their legislators in support of the passage of these bills.'"

Williams speaks before Assembly on South Africa

Rahway Fourth Ward Councilman Harvey Williams was invited to address the New Jersey General Assembly on July 10 because of his efforts to support Assembly Bill Nos. 1308 and 1309.

Don Margesen extended the invitation to the Rahway councilman, acknowledging the five months of effort which Councilman Williams expended promoting the bills sponsored by Assembly Speaker Alan Karcher and Assemblyman Willie Brown.

The bills, if passed by the Assembly, would prohibit the state from investing or depositing funds in banks that do business with South Africa.

Other elected officers who were installed are Donald McAnlis, secretary; William Cox, finance officer; Mike Mikus, service officer; Michael Tolo, chaplain; judge advocate, Nelson Mechtouaski; Theodore Lambach, historian; and Joseph Adamski, sergeant-at-arms.

After being installed the officers will continue to work in the tradition of the American Legion and the Clark post will continue to convey to all veterans of the war its members are always available and its doors are open to all.

Comm. Specht stated he has watched each year and it has played a very important part in community and children and youth programs and has constantly participated in veterans programs locally and at veterans' hospitals.

American Legion Auxiliary President Jesse Cox presented a Certificate of Appreciation to Teri Malone for her tireless efforts during the American Legion Poppy Drive which the post held in May.

Asthma handbook offers new help

About five million Americans over the age of 17 have asthma, a lung disease that results in breathing problems, usually occurring at sudden and unexpected times.

Asthmatic episodes make breathing difficult. Respiration becomes labored as air is forced through constricted airways of the lungs. Knowing what to do can help asthma, with the result there may be fewer and milder episodes.

The American Lung Assn. of Central New Jersey, which is headquartered in Clark, just issued "The Asthma Handbook," which covers facts and fiction about causes of asthma. A public health service grant and contributions to Christina Seal helped subsidize publication of the illustrated booklet that gives case histories of different kinds of asthma. It is intended to help the asthma sufferer control asthma episodes as well as aid family members in understanding what is happening to the asthmatic, reports an association spokeswoman.

The factors that trigger asthma vary widely and episodes may be caused by combinations of factors. Among them are allergies, household products that can irritate sensitive lungs, household or industrial dusts or fumes, air pollutants and smoke, the open weather, especially in fall or springtime, she added.

Weather extremes in humidity or very cold air can trigger asthma. Pollen and mold spores can cause allergic reactions, especially in fall or springtime, she added.

The handbook states strong emotions can affect anyone's breathing, so for some people, emotions can trigger an asthma episode. Nighttime asthma may often be prevented by making medicine before bedtime.

While cigarette smoking does not cause asthma it can cause permanent damage to lungs. And smoke from cigarettes, cigar or pipes can be a powerful trigger for asthma, according to the spokeswoman.

"The Asthma Handbook" is available from the association at no cost to residents of Union County.

Clark's Hanewald tops Kenilworth
By Ray Hoagland
Clark, behind the seven-inning pitching of Ed Hayes, scored a 7-1 win over Kenilworth in an American Legion Baseball League game.

Clark had 13 hits. The winning pitcher fanned eight and walked two to improve his record to 2-0.

Clark took the lead for good when it scored three times in the fourth inning. Mark De Mille, who had three hits and drove in a run, led off the inning with a single. Following a walk, Vin Sabba singled in De Mille with the game's first run. With runners at second and third Al Scherb drove in two runs with a double.

Clark is now 5-2, while Kenilworth is 1-6.

The Roselle Legion team defeated Rahway 6 to 5, Rahway Post No. 5 scored three times in the top of the fifth inning as Joe Puzla and A. J. Gable sent in a run batted in. Rahway is now 5 and 3, while Roselle is 3 and 3.

For the Tuxedo Circular on Saturday, July 28, members of the Union County Hiking Club and their guests will meet at the police station on Rte. No. 17, Tuxedo, N.J. at 9:15 a.m.

This will be a moderately fast-paced hike of about 10 miles.

Under the supervision and guidance of Capt. Shirley Lawrence, the camp director, Camp Tecumseh offers swimming, boating, fishing, hiking, softball, volleyball and arts and crafts.

The camp is accredited by the American Camping Ass'n. having received one of its highest ratings during last year's inspection.

The high rating was largely due to newly-moored cabins able to house both campers and training counselors, a modern kitchen enabling campers to prepare their own meals, a day, reports Capt. Lawrence.

Campers will also get the opportunity to spend one or two nights at Camp Tecumseh's Pioneer Village, camping out under the stars.

There will also be special programming such as music instruction, nature hikes and campfire programs.

American Heart Association

Open Letter to the Merck Inter-Union Council

Do you really want to export jobs?

It is beyond belief that any union would support a position that could result in the loss of members' jobs.

But that is what the Rahway O.C.A.W. leadership did recently. Speaking for you, they went to Washington to oppose a drug export proposal under consideration by the U.S. Congress. Merck and other U.S. pharmaceutical makers support the proposal because it will let American workers produce medicines for export that otherwise could only be produced in foreign countries.

Why, then, did this union, citing the unanimous support of the Inter-Union Council, oppose a move that would protect and create U.S. jobs? Was it because of our contract talks? Was it an effort to divert attention from the bargaining issues? We have to wonder, because those issues should provide little to argue about. Let's look at them:

- Are wages truly an issue when Merck already pays top dollar in our industry and our communities and has offered increases?
- Is the two tier wage system truly an issue when new employees will get everything current employees get except previous cost-of-living adjustments—and still be ahead of comparable workers elsewhere?
- Are medical benefits truly an issue when Merck employees already have one of the best medical plans in the country, with all premiums paid by the company, with real improvements offered, and with a new deductible that must reflect today's spiraling rise in medical costs?
- Are new work rules at Rahway truly a major issue when they are already in place at most other Merck facilities?

Whose interests are served by opposing a drug export proposal meant to provide jobs for American workers?

We hope the members of all unions who are part of the Inter-Union Council will join us in rejecting this counterproductive approach.

Let's spend our time bringing this dispute to an end. Our proposals aim to keep Merck economically healthy and able to provide top wages, top benefits, and top working conditions.

Let's Work Together to Get This Contract Settled.

Clark's Hanewald tops Kenilworth
By Ray Hoagland
Clark, behind the seven-pitching of Ed Hanewald, scored a 7-1 win over Kenilworth in an American Legion Baseball League game.

Clark had 13 hits, the winning pitcher fanned eight and walked two to improve his record to 2-0. Clark took the lead for the first time in the fourth inning. Mark De Mille, who had three hits and drove in a run, led off the inning with a single. Following a walk, Vin Sabba singled in De Mille with the game's first run. With runners at second and third Al Scherb drove in two runs with a double.

Open Letter to the Merck Inter-Union Council

Do you really want to export jobs?

It is beyond belief that any union would support a position that could result in the loss of members' jobs.

But that is what the Rahway O.C.A.W. leadership did recently. Speaking for you, they went to Washington to oppose a drug export proposal under consideration by the U.S. Congress. Merck and other U.S. pharmaceutical makers support the proposal because it will let American workers produce medicines for export that otherwise could only be produced in foreign countries.

Why, then, did this union, citing the unanimous support of the Inter-Union Council, oppose a move that would protect and create U.S. jobs? Was it because of our contract talks? Was it an effort to divert attention from the bargaining issues? We have to wonder, because those issues should provide little to argue about. Let's look at them:

- Are wages truly an issue when Merck already pays top dollar in our industry and our communities and has offered increases?
- Is the two tier wage system truly an issue when new employees will get everything current employees get except previous cost-of-living adjustments—and still be ahead of comparable workers elsewhere?
- Are medical benefits truly an issue when Merck employees already have one of the best medical plans in the country, with all premiums paid by the company, with real improvements offered, and with a new deductible that must reflect today's spiraling rise in medical costs?
- Are new work rules at Rahway truly a major issue when they are already in place at most other Merck facilities?

Whose interests are served by opposing a drug export proposal meant to provide jobs for American workers?

We hope the members of all unions who are part of the Inter-Union Council will join us in rejecting this counterproductive approach.

Let's spend our time bringing this dispute to an end. Our proposals aim to keep Merck economically healthy and able to provide top wages, top benefits, and top working conditions.

Let's Work Together to Get This Contract Settled.

The award is presented each year by the graduating class to the faculty member it deems to have been most outstanding during the class' four years of medical school at a graduation celebration for the graduates, their parents and spouses and the school faculty and spouses. In the background is Dr. Mark Jacobson, an assistant professor of pediatrics at the school and the master of ceremonies at the celebration.

Delaware cites Susan Roselli - A Rahway woman, Susan Marie Roselli of 599 Linden Ave., received her bachelor of arts degree from the University of Delaware in Newark, Del., on Saturday, June 2.

Regional honors office scholars

Students and employees involved with the Co-operative Office Education Program of the Union County Regional High School District No. 1, which includes Clark, were honored at a dinner recently at the Town and Campus Restaurant in Union.

Sixteen students of Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, School Board members, administrators, teachers, employers and Business Education Advisory Committee members were present.

Joseph Milano, a certified public accountant and the president of the advisory committee, presented the Mc Cusker Memorial Award to student, Karen Rose.

Miss Rose of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield received the highest grade-point average in the regional district for her course work in accounting. Her instructor is Julius Rossi.

Students in the co-operative program attend classes part of the school day and work outside the school the remainder of the day. The co-ordinator of the business education department for the regional district is Emma Massey.

ACE ACCOUNTANT - The Union County Regional High School District No. 1 recipient of the McCusker Memorial Award for the highest grade average in accounting was Jonathan Dayton Regional High School of Springfield student, Karen Rose, shown with business education teacher, Julius Rossi.
