

Council tables parking-fine cut for further study

By R.R. Faszczeni

A capacity crowd at Monday's Governing Body meeting saw the Rahway City Council table an ordinance which would have reduced on-street parking fines in the city from $5 to $3.

The vote was along party lines, with the Democrats supporting the tabling and the Republicans opposed.

Responding to a letter sent to the councilmen last week by Business Administrator Joseph M. Hartnett urging them to table the ordinance until the city's entire parking situation could be reviewed by the administration, the Business and Government Economic Development Committee and representatives of the downtown merchants, the introducer of the ordinance, Sixth Ward Councilman James J. Fulcomer, said the reason for tabling the ordinance was to stop its adoption and muzzle councilmen from talking on it.

He added, quoting from a letter from Benny Alfano, the secretary of a group asking for the reduction in fines, the committee proposed by Mr. Hartnett would be used by the administration, which backs the $5 fine, to prevent the lower fine.

Councilman Fulcomer urged his fellow councilmen to listen to the businessmen, many of whom spoke in favor of the ordinance at the meeting. He also read off a list of businesses, he said were from the Multiple Listing Service, which had been sold or were put up for sale since the $5 fine went into effect.

The councilman added after the fines were adopted, less shoppers had begun coming into downtown Rahway and those who had come had gotten disgusted with the fines and not come back.

In addition, he said, the residents in the shopping district could not afford to pay the fines when they parked overnight near their own homes.

However, Councilman-at-Large Vincent P. Addona, who introduced the tabling motion, said the city should look into a suggestion made earlier in the evening by Second Ward Councilman John C. Marsh to design a free area for shoppers and remove the meters.

He added if the committee proposed by the administration was seen as "stacked" merchants from all the business areas, such as Main St., Cherry St. and Elizabeth Ave., should be brought into the discussion on a blue-ribbon panel to also be made up of councilmen not running for reelection this year.

Councilman Addona explained the purpose of his tabling resolution was to take the politics out of the parking situation and come up with a good solution, adding now the Governing Body has no way of telling what fine amount is the best.

Councilman-at-Large Walter McLeod, who volunteered to serve on the blue-ribbon panel, seconded the Addona motion.

Councilman Marsh called for the complete removal of all the meters and the establishment of free parking zones and of zones where limited parking would be allowed without meters during hours agreed to by the merchants.

He added shoppers should be allowed to park free and there should be stiff fines imposed on commuters who took up spaces all day in city lots.

The highest fine which should be levied, according to the Second Ward representative is $2. He also urged a solid advertising campaign to alert commuters to the fact the city would start enforcing its parking regulations to the hit against those who abused parking spaces.

Mr. Alfano told the councilmen in 1972 or 1973 95% of the parking spaces in the downtown area had been taken up by the commuters and he had told the parking authority at that time it was losing money because of the 59-per-month fee it charged merchants to park at city facilities.

He added certain councilmen, who he declined to mention by name, had failed to live up to commitments made to him at that time about the parking situation.

Later in the meeting, after Mr. Alfano and several of the residents who had expressed concern about the parking situation had left, Council President Max Sheld held up a communication he said was on Mr. Alfano's business stationery, which, he said, supported the $5 fine because Mr. Alfano felt at that time, about two months ago, the commuters would take over if the fine wasn't instituted.

At that time, according to Councilman Sheld, Mr. Alfano had supported a $3 rate only in the parking lots and he was now proposing that fine for the meters on the streets.

Another merchant, Ken Clebak, disputed claims made by a former parking authority employee, Richard Billings of 1708 Irving St., that Mr. Alfano himself parked his own vehicle in front of his business for three to four hours in a 10-minute zone.

Mr. Clebak gave Mr. Alfano credit for reporting illegally-parked cars, keeping the parking spaces clear.

He added the commuters took up parking spaces all day but did not support Rahway's businesses because they were out of town all day and moved their cars after the businesses closed for the evening.

The merchant noted the people of Rahway can't afford the high fines and urge free shopper parking from 6 to 9 p.m. on Thursdays.

He added none of the merchants were getting rich in Rahway and too many second-hand stores were moving in.

The Republican candidate for First Ward Councilman, Adam A. Mackow of 309 W. Lincoln Ave., said there had been a dramatic increase in the number of downtown businesses for sale since the institution of the $5 parking fine.

Mr. Mackow added a Rahway Chamber of Commerce poll had shown these surveyed favored lowering the levy to $3 by a margin of 371 to 23.

He said he had in his possession petitions signed by over 1,000 people requesting the fines be lowered to $3 or less and promised his group would go out and get more signatures if the measure was not introduced Monday.

Citing the fact that fines in Elizabeth and Linden are $3, Clark has no overtime parking-meter fines and there is free parking at the malls in Woodbridge, the GOP candidate said this puts Rahway at a competitive disadvantage.

Another merchant, Jim Petrucci, said although tabling the measure and having a committee study the overall parking situation at first seemed attractive, by the time the committee came out with its findings it might penalize the merchants for the upcoming Christmas holidays.

He suggested the Council reduce the fines now and have the panel study the entire parking situation in the meantime.

A parking authority employee, Marty Spangle of 309 W. Lincoln Ave., said no one had called him about complaints made by residents of parking meters being mis-marked and cars being incorrectly ticketed.

He also said when the experiment of the parolled lot was proposed last year the authority had wanted the "lot" behind Meador's to be the unmetred one and the merchants had asked for the parolled lot to be at Main and Lewis Sts.

Mr. Spangle added the merchants had failed to support that effort because they had not issued the stamped tickets which would have enabled shoppers to park at free.

Merck, union aides ok proposed pact

Negotiators for Merck & Co., Inc., which is headquartered in Rahway, and the Merck Inter-Union Council today agreed on terms of a new master contract proposed by the council. It will be submitted to union members for a ratification vote, and the Inter-Union Council has indicated it will recommend approval, reports a Merck spokesman.

Following is a statement by Merck's chief negotiator, Donald Brooks:

"We are happy to join the Inter-Union Council in urging union members to ratify this proposal. Specific points in the new contract will be made known to union members by their leaders. The company does not plan any public statement of details of the proposal at this time. "Local contracts at several sites remain to be settled, and negotiators are expected to meet for that purpose in the near future. "We are hoping for an early end to this long labor dispute, with all its hardships for both sides. We are looking forward to getting our people back on the job as soon as possible."

A Legislative Report from Senator Don O'Rourke

Keep your child from being victim

You may have read the horrifying headlines in newspapers recently about children being sexually abused at two state institutions in Monmouth County and in a day care center in the Bronx. We in state government are very concerned about this assault on our children that is reaching epidemic proportions.

A list of 4,000 people convicted, charged or suspected of child abuse was compiled by the state department of human services. This list will be checked before any individual is approved as a foster parent or adoptive parent, day-care worker or employee in a state institution.

More than 2,500 cases of child abuse are reported annually in New Jersey alone. Some 10,000 children are reported missing in our state every year and many of them are sexually exploited and physically abused.

Efforts are underway by state officials to combat these heinous crimes.

Affidavits required

All letters and political releases must come to the office of the newspaper at 219 Central Ave., Rahway, in order to pick up affidavits to sign for the stories.

The National Center for Missing and Exploited Children has published a list of guidelines to use to protect children who are missing or abducted.

The suggestions include the following:

1) Their full name, address and telephone number.

2) How to make a long-distance telephone call (both directly to you by using the area code and by dialing '0' for the operator).

3) Never to go into anyone's home without your permission. Children should know whose homes they are not allowed to enter.

4) If they become separated from you while shopping teach them not to look for you, but to go to the nearest checkout counter and ask the clerk: 'All the or he work for the store, and he or she for assistance. Tell them to never go into the parking lot.'

5) To walk with and play with others. A child is most vulnerable when alone. If your child walks to school, have him or her walk with other children.

6) That adults do not usually ask for directions. If someone asks you for directions, tell them to ask someone else.

7) If someone is following them they should go to a place where there are other people, such as a neighbor's home or a store. They should ask for help. They should not try to hide behind bushes.

8) Never go in a car with someone if it is never get into a car without your permission. They should know who your car is allowed to ride. Warn your children that someone might try to lure them into a car by saying you said to pick them up. Tell them never to obey such instructions.

9) That a stranger is someone they and you do not know very well.

10) Instruct them to never tell anyone over the telephone that a stranger is someone they and you do not know very well.

11) Make sure they tell you if any adult asks them to keep a secret.

12) Never leave children unattended. Never leave children alone in a car.

13) Be involved in your child's activities.

14) Listen when your child tells you he or she does not want to be with someone. There may be a reason you should know about.

15) Notice when someone shows your child a great deal of attention and find out why.

16) Have your child's fingerprints taken. Know where to locate dental records.

17) Be sensitive to changes in your child's behavior or attitudes. Encourage open communication. Never belittle any fear or concern your child may express to you.

18) Take a photograph of your child each year (four times a year if the child is under two years of age).

19) Have a set plan with your child outlining what he or she should do if you become separated while away from home.

20) Do not buy items that have your child's name on them such as hats, jackets and tee-shirts. An abductor could start up a friendly conversation with your child after reading and using the child's name.

21) Be sure schools or day care centers will not release children to anyone but the child's parents or persons they designate. Instruct the school to contact you if your child is absent.

22) Urge you to follow these guidelines. Don't let your child become one more heart-breaking statistic.

Wyszynski cites incinerator pluses

Garbage-disposal sites are rapidly being filled to capacity. We, in Rahway, have an opportunity to solve that problem. Instead, the most practical and feasible solution to the disposal of waste would be to build an incinerator.

Obviously, the ideal location should be near a river because an enormous amount of water is needed to be used to spray the smoke, purifying emissions, which eliminate the fear of air pollution.

In true, of course, as stated in the McGraw-Hill 'Encyclopedia of Science and Technology' (C-1) Page 242 on Air Pollution Control the nitrogen-unburned hydrocarbons and unburned refuse dust emissions in stacks.

In Bell and Howell Technology Vol. No. 1, Page 156 it states hydrocarbons may be purified responsible for the higher incidence of lung cancers and lead is a cumulative poison which deteriorates the liver and kidneys and interferes with the production of red blood cells, but lead comes also from automobile exhaust fumes which would have to be exposed to over a long period of time.

Now with modern technology, air pollution control cleaning gases, filters packed with activated charcoal are used to absorb gases and the boilers must be heated above 1200 degrees Fahrenheit to destroy odors.

Dioxin in the chemical dictionary fifth edition Page 314-it states it is a toxic chlorinated hydrocarbon which occurs as an impurity in the herbicide 2,4,5-T.

It, too, can be removed by extraction with coconut charcoal.

The World Book Encyclopedia states industrial incinerators dispose of such widely-varied kinds of refuse as paints, oil and sewage sludge and municipal garbage.

Moreover, the energy from the incinerator can run a boiler, drive a turbine, heat a building or generate electricity.

St. Louis uses its energy output for local power generation.

Furthermore, industry and office buildings would be attracted to build here. Most important of all is that it would provide jobs. It could raise the salaries of city employees. It should lower the taxes to taxpayers and tenants.

Older Veterans need more care

Meeting the future health-care needs of the growing population of older veterans is a problem Congress will have to come to grips with in the very near future.

A recent study by the Veterans Administration (VA) indicates the number of veterans 65 and older is expected to more than triple from the current 3 million to 9 million between 1983 and 2000. By the turn of the century 63% of all American males over 65 will be veterans, and as such, will be entitled to VA health care if they choose to use it.

Unfortunately, the government is not going to be able to fulfill its commitment to these men and women unless dramatic changes are made in the VA's health care delivery system. This means the President and Congress will have to make some critical decisions about VA health care in the next two years if they intend to be ready for the surge of older veterans.

The study indicated the VA will need a minimum of 134,000 hospital beds by the year 2000, a 68% increase. The most dramatic increase would be in beds for long-term-care patients. The agency will need a minimum of 84,000 long-term-care beds by 2010 (40% more than the current number).

The future medical needs of our increasing population of older veterans was the subject of a recent Select Committee on Aging hearing I chaired in Bound Brook. The purpose of the session was to gain a better understanding of the effect the increasing number of older veterans will have on the VA system for delivering medical services to servicemen.

During the hearing both Peter Baglio and Paul Kidd, directors of the Veterans Medical Centers at East Orange and Lyons, respectively, testified they were particularly to the VA for permission to open geriatric evaluation units to help them better deliver medical care to New Jersey's older veterans. East Orange has proposed setting up a nine-bed unit while Lyons is seeking permission to establish a 10-bed unit. Both would be located in existing facilities.

The units would allow groups of aged veterans to receive medical, physical, mental and other care as part of an all-inclusive program rather than on a piecemeal basis. This concept has the support of VA officials.

In a letter to VA administrator Harry N. Walters, I urged he give the Lyons and East Orange applications favorable consideration.

If necessary I will work for additional funding in the VA budget to see these units are approved. They are important to the health care of our veterans, and I intend to do everything I can to see we fulfill our commitment to these men and women who served their country during time of need.

Acting Union County Manager, Louis J. Colletti, announced recently the Union County Legal Services Corp. has been awarded a grant totaling $88,786.

One grant from the New Jersey Dept. of Community Affairs will be used to provide free legal services to poor and disadvantaged residents of the county.

The legal services provided will be restricted to civil law problems, such as landlord/tenant disputes, matrimonial problems, school suspension cases, government benefit cases, which include payment discrepancies with welfare, Social Security and unemployment benefits and veterans affairs, according to Richard W. Bennett, Director of the Union County Legal Services Corp. The Union County Public Defender handles criminal cases.

Maximum income guidelines to receive legal services are: $6,075 for an individual, $8,175 for a family of two, $10,275 for a family of three and $12,300 for a family of four.

Neil M. Cohen, the President of the Board of Trustees of the Union County Legal Services Corp., said the grant is a plus for the corporation, since it is completely funded by grants and contributions to welfare, Social Security and unemployment benefits and veterans affairs, according to Richard W. Bennett, Director of the Union County Legal Services Corp. The Union County Public Defender handles criminal cases.

Battle on crime has many victims

I am pleased to be able to report the recently-released Uniform Crime Report for 1983 reveals a substantial decline in crime statistics in almost all categories.

This marks the second straight year crime in New Jersey has declined.

The report, which is compiled from statistics provided by every state, county, local law enforcement agency in New Jersey, also shows New Jersey is ahead of both national and regional trends in this area.

During 1983 crime, both violent and non-violent, declined by 9% in New Jersey as compared with 8% for the northeastern states, and 7% nationally.

Affidavits required

All letters and political releases must come to the office of the newspaper at 219 Central Ave., Rahway, in order to pick up affidavits to sign for the stories.

The National Center for Missing and Exploited Children has published a list of guidelines to use to protect children who are missing or abducted.

The suggestions include the following:

1) Their full name, address and telephone number.

2) How to make a long-distance telephone call (both directly to you by using the area code and by dialing '0' for the operator).

3) Never to go into anyone's home without your permission. Children should know whose homes they are not allowed to enter.

4) If they become separated from you while shopping teach them not to look for you, but to go to the nearest checkout counter and ask the clerk: 'All the or he work for the store, and he or she for assistance. Tell them to never go into the parking lot.'

5) To walk with and play with others. A child is most vulnerable when alone. If your child walks to school, have him or her walk with other children.

6) That adults do not usually ask for directions. If someone asks you for directions, tell them to ask someone else.

7) If someone is following them they should go to a place where there are other people, such as a neighbor's home or a store. They should ask for help. They should not try to hide behind bushes.

8) Never go in a car with someone if it is never get into a car without your permission. They should know who your car is allowed to ride. Warn your children that someone might try to lure them into a car by saying you said to pick them up. Tell them never to obey such instructions.

9) That a stranger is someone they and you do not know very well.

10) Instruct them to never tell anyone over the telephone that a stranger is someone they and you do not know very well.

11) Make sure they tell you if any adult asks them to keep a secret.

12) Never leave children unattended. Never leave children alone in a car.

13) Be involved in your child's activities.

14) Listen when your child tells you he or she does not want to be with someone. There may be a reason you should know about.

15) Notice when someone shows your child a great deal of attention and find out why.

16) Have your child's fingerprints taken. Know where to locate dental records.

17) Be sensitive to changes in your child's behavior or attitudes. Encourage open communication. Never belittle any fear or concern your child may express to you.

18) Take a photograph of your child each year (four times a year if the child is under two years of age).

19) Have a set plan with your child outlining what he or she should do if you become separated while away from home.

20) Do not buy items that have your child's name on them such as hats, jackets and tee-shirts. An abductor could start up a friendly conversation with your child after reading and using the child's name.

21) Be sure schools or day care centers will not release children to anyone but the child's parents or persons they designate. Instruct the school to contact you if your child is absent.

22) Urge you to follow these guidelines. Don't let your child become one more heart-breaking statistic.

Rahway Hospital to cite humanitarians

Rahway Hospital's 12th Annual Humanitarian Award Ceremony will be held on Tuesday evening, Sept. 18, at 8 o'clock in the hospital's conference room.

This year's recipients are Dr. Edmond Lee, an internist and cardiologist; Clair McClure, the immediate past president of the hospital Auxiliary; Edward Valvano, a Rahway businessman who has raised thousands of dollars for the Hospice program, and the Eastern Union County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The human relations committee of the board of governors of the hospital created the Humanitarian Award to honor those individuals and organizations who have offered outstanding service to the hospital and the community.

Relatives and friends of the recipients may attend.

For further information, please telephone the community relations office at the hospital 499-6137.

The Slovak Heritage Festival is held annually at the Garden State Arts Center in Holmdel. This year's festival will be held on Sunday, Sept. 16, at the arts center. The festival will include exhibits of folk crafts and art, traditional Slovak music, dancing, gymnasts, drillers, religious services and the traditional Boreada, the parade of fashions.

The Beada, which will begin at 1:30 p.m., will feature men and women in authentic costumes from a variety of Slovak communities. Each town and region has its own style of dress, representing a different piece of Slovak heritage.

This year's main program will feature the Limhora dancers, aged eight to 12. They are the sons and daughters of the local Limhora dance group.

This year's theme is "Slovak-American Women of Achievement." Four Slovak-American women will be honored. They are Mrs. Mary Kozick of Woodbridge for her cultural achievements, Miss Margaret Anna Adzima of Bayonne for her religious activities, Judge Ann Conti, a surrogate judge in Union County, representing political involvement and Mrs. Valerie Tomko, the wife of a former mayor of East Hanover, for her participation in community affairs.

The day's events will one again be broadcasted across the Voice of America and Radio Free Europe. It will be a chance for those who fled Slovakia to remember and for those still there to know they

Rape crisis center offers speakers
Sexual assault of children is a daily news item. Recent incidents have prompted the Union County Rape Crisis Center, under the direction of the Union County Dept. of Human Services, to develop a Speakers Bureau Program to address this problem at local schools and organizations to raise awareness and protection of children. Sandra Fleck, the director of the center, is addressing solid waste management issues. The focus of talks is awareness and protection of children. "By providing information to parents, children and educators the Rape Crisis Center intends to enlighten the public and prevent the victimization of children."

The center is located at the county offices at 300 Central Ave. in Rahway. The center recently completed the first volunteer training seminar, which involved 40 hours of training in crisis intervention and counseling techniques for some 15 graduates. Counseling is available on a continuing basis for victims and their families who feel the need for guidance after experiencing a trauma by contacting the center.

St. Mark's to resume parish classes

A spokesman for St. Mark's R.C. church in Rahway announced the resumption of the parish education program for the fall of 1984. Catechetical Sunday, celebrated nationwide on Sept. 16, will launch this year's program with a special Mass in which the teachers of St. Mark's will be commissioned for the forthcoming year.

The co-ordinator of religious education, Margaret Hoising, reports classes for grades one to six will begin on Sunday morning, Oct. 7, at 8:30 o'clock.

Classes for the junior high school grades will begin on Tuesday evening, Oct. 9, at 7:15 o'clock. This, the second year of preparation for parish confirmation, will focus on a more intensive study for those students scheduled for confirmation. The Sacrament of Confirmation in October, 1985.

GOP hits 'garbage-crisis mismanagement'

Union County Republican Freeholders Edward Slomkowski of Union Township and Alan Augustus of Scotch Plains and Freeholder candidates, Robert F. Connor of Linden and G. Richard Malgran of Plainfield, today criticized Democratic mismanagement of the county's garbage disposal program. They called for an effective education program to resolve the garbage crisis and called for an effective education program to resolve the garbage crisis and called for an effective education program to resolve the garbage crisis.

"The No. 1 crisis facing Union County is its garbage. Yet the Democratic majority of the Board of Freeholders is more concerned with power grabs and patronage games instead of giving the very serious problem its proper attention," said Mr. Connor.

"It is the consensus of state and county officials the only practical and cost-efficient solution to this problem is the building of a resource-recovery facility. The biggest problem in building such a facility is securing the site of the facility with the consent of the people of the host community," said Mr. Malgran.

"Almost every week in the city newspapers of the prospective host community questions are raised about the facility, yet not once have we seen official county responses to these questions in the same newspapers. If you read these local papers, you would think the county is ignoring the question," said Freeholder Augustine.

"Under state law the county is responsible for

United Counties welcomes ZEBRAS

The ZEBRAS are here. A spokesman for United Counties Trust Co. announced the arrival of the newest product, the ZEBRA. The ZEBRAS are long-term certificates of deposit. At today's rates United Counties' flexible terms of five to ten years give an investment the chance to double, triple, or almost quadruple.

United Counties designed the ZEBRA for those who wish to invest a relatively small amount of money. It will, in five to ten years, be able to finance a relatively large expense, the spokesman added.

ZEBRAS are ideal for such anticipated expenses as a child's college education, a new car or house, or a vacation. A ZEBRA may also be used as an IRA or Keogh, he said.

United Counties requires only a $500 minimum deposit and offers maturities ranging from five to ten years. ZEBRAS are available to individuals and businesses and are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. They can also be automatically renewed at maturity.

For further details on ZEBRAS please telephone the nearest United Counties Trust Co. branch at telephone 931-6845.

The firm has an office in Clark.

RAY'S ROUND

When the Lafayette Leopards of Easton, Pa., traveled to Kingston, R.I. on Sept. 8 to open their football season in the starting lineup was Ray Hoagland. The former Rahway High School star started all 11 games last season and was the team's third leading rusher and its leader in interceptions with five for 53 yards in returns, being named a team MVP for his season as strong safety and was moved to free safety for the last six games of the season. He is a 5-foot-10, 160-pounder, who is six feet, two inches tall, and weighs 175 pounds.

Chris O'Brien, a junior, played at goal last season. The five-foot, 10-inch, 160-pounder was in the net on Sept. 8 at the Summer Joyce Classic at Keene college of New Hampshire.

Freshman, Gerald Ryan, will be forward this year. He is five feet, nine inches tall and weighs 145 pounds. He was the captain of the Rahway team last season.

James Ryan is a mid-fielder and junior at five feet, eight inches and 150 pounds.

Lou Miele, a former inside linebacker from Clark's senior season with Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School and Bruce Madison, a former linebacker for the Montclair State Indians Football Team, this fall.

John Bukowick, also a former Crusader, will be playing for the William Paterson College team. Coach John Crea said of Bukowick: "He is the key to our success."

Described as the team's best receiver, he has a career total of 37 receptions for 669 yards and 11.8 yard average and five touchdowns. He has caught just four passes, but he averages 30.8 yards per catch.

Sue Martin won the Colonial County Club ladies title with an 86 over the Labor Day weekend.

Jane Schwenzer took the honors in the Ladies President's Cup with a 70.

In the Two-Man Best Ball first division the winners were Edward Ruotolo and Al Kanias with a 119. Second place went to Lou Petrozello and Frank Comarata at 127 and third to Edward Martin and John LaGuardia and Sam Grasso at 129.

In the second division the title went to Bob Giggarrita and Phil Fleischer with a 125, the runner-up spot to Dick DeLozier and Jerry Palumbo and Bill Toccoano at 126 and fourth to the team of Bob Korziol and Sam De Luca at 127.

Temple at Rutgers-130 p.m.-The Scarlet Knights to return to the winners circle over the Owls 20-7.

In the Penn State game, Albert Smith gained three yards on 11 carries, while Butchie Young played an outstanding game at safety. In the first week we had a 3-and-5 mark.

BEST OF THE GAME...

Bob Bunk, left, of the Cressco A.C. team in the Rahway Recreation Dept. Slow-Pitch Softball League all-star game.

In Guys and Gals first was taken by Bill McEntee and Comarata and Nancy Waters and Lee Carrano at 123, second by Dick Fuschetti and Bob Maszenc and Pat Citto and Hobbs.

The Birdie Division Flight 'A' title went to Bill Morton, Grasso, Dr. Anthony Coronato, Giacobbe and Hobbs.

Flight 'B' was won by Jerry Sheehan, Dr. Coronato, Ed Gallo, Hobbie and Dave Kuschnisky.

A HOLE-IN-ONE was hit by Doug Peterson at Ash Brook on the 159-yard, sixth hole using a No. 9 iron. He played with Fred Curtis, John Cursano and Charlie Tatz.

Jo Petronella at 125 and third by Lee Ballard and Bill Brewster and Helen Salerno at 124.

Two-Man Blind Draw was won by Earnie Hobbie and Bruce Madison, followed by Mayor Tom Cross and Ray Giacobbe at 59 and Grasso and Ray Matelli at 60.

Sheld praises New Jersey Transit on trestle removal

The councilman from Rahway's Third Ward, Max Sheld, today praised the work of New Jersey Transit in the demolition of an unused railroad trestle which was the cause of flooding throughout his ward.

The councilman complimented the city's request to remove the bridge, which traps debris and has caused home-threatening stream back-ups for years.

After eight years of frustration in dealing with the old ConRail administration the New Jersey Transit Authority in May with the assistance of Assemblyman, Tom Dever, who represents Rahway, secured a contract for the trestle's removal.

The councilman Sheld said without Assemblyman Dever's help the trestle might still plague us.

He added, "The individuals sent by the authority to operate a suggestion made by myself and City Engineer Frank Koczar at the hearings be trimmed at stream bed level or entirely pulled out was really complicated with."

If the things protruded over a foot above the water they could still trap debris and once more form a barrier to the passage of the water in the stream the Third Ward councilman pointed out. If this occurred all the work would be wasted.

For this reason Mr. Koczar and Councilman Sheld inspected the site on Aug. 27 and again on Aug. 29, when the water level was low. No pilings were seen and the channel was at least clear. The elimination of this hazardous condition will render life along the Orchard Street Brook more secure, the councilman concluded.

★ Slovaks to cite Ann P. Conti ★

Union County Surrogate Ann P. Conti was selected to be honored as a woman of Slovak heritage for her political achievement. She will receive recognition at the Ninth Slovak Heritage Festival on Sunday, Sept. 16, at the Garden State Arts Center in Holmdel.

Her maternal grandparents, Matthew and Anna Sopko, were born in Wlchovka, Bardi Joz, Czechoslovakia. They came to this country before World War I and settled in Mansfield.

Mrs. Conti is an attorney and obtained her law degree from Seton Hall University. She is a member of the American Bar Assn., the Union County Bar Assn., and the Greater Elizabeth Democratic Assn. She is married to Dr. Ralph Conti and is the mother of five children.

Three other women being honored by Arts Center for other areas of achievement are Mary Kosko, Margaret Adams and Valerie Tomko.

The Ninth Slovak Heritage Festival's display of ethnic pride will include exhibitions of arts and crafts, native foods, music, dancing and the traditional Beseda, a parade of authentic costumes from a variety of Slovak communities.

Charging Rahway Mayor Daniel L. Martin and the Rahway City Council with "deliberately misleading the people of Rahway" and "being secretly committed to depriving the county's incinerator of Rahway Second Ward Councilman John Marsh's support," Mayor Martin's loyalty? What's the county politicians promised Martin in return for his support on the incinerator? I'm beginning to believe there may be some truth to the persistent rumor county officials are scratching each other's backs in Rahway to put the incinerator here.

Councilman Marsh was bitterly angry Tuesday night when "not one councilman" would second his resolution calling for the referendum to remove all references to Rahway as being incorporated on the incinerator "until Rahway makes a decision."

The councilman said he is "beginning to believe there may be some truth to the persistent rumor county officials are scratching each other's backs in Rahway to put the incinerator here."

"If he declared, that we're true," they won't tell the county not to count on Rahway until we've studied the proposals and heard from our citizens."

"In the final analysis," Councilman Marsh concluded, "they want to delay their decision so ultimately we'll be forced to take the incinerator. When that happens, they had no choice, but by then, it will be too late for the citizens of Rahway."

Those wishing to participate in the South Mountain Raffle on Saturday, Sept. 22, with the members of the Union County Hiking Club and their guests should meet in the Tulp Springs parking lot on Cherry Ln., West Orange, at 10 a.m.

For this raffle of about six miles participants should bring flash.

County hikers to pedal in Hudson

The members of the Union County Hiking Club and their guests who wish to bicycle in the Hudson and Bucks County Special Bike Ride should meet at the Circle Diner on Rt. No. 202 N. in Flemington on Sunday, Sept. 16, at 10 a.m.

The starting point will be about 40 miles from the Flemington area and about 22 for those who start in Ringoes.

Participants should bring lunch, ice cream and a tour of the small shops.

Marsh: Did Martin make a deal?

Charging Rahway Mayor Daniel L. Martin and the Rahway City Council with "deliberately misleading the people of Rahway" and "being secretly committed to depriving the county's incinerator of Rahway Second Ward Councilman John Marsh's support," Mayor Martin's loyalty? What's the county politicians promised Martin in return for his support on the incinerator? I'm beginning to believe there may be some truth to the persistent rumor county officials are scratching each other's backs in Rahway to put the incinerator here.

Councilman Marsh was bitterly angry Tuesday night when "not one councilman" would second his resolution calling for the referendum to remove all references to Rahway as being incorporated on the incinerator "until Rahway makes a decision."

The councilman said he is "beginning to believe there may be some truth to the persistent rumor county officials are scratching each other's backs in Rahway to put the incinerator here."

"If he declared, that we're true," they won't tell the county not to count on Rahway until we've studied the proposals and heard from our citizens."

"In the final analysis," Councilman Marsh concluded, "they want to delay their decision so ultimately we'll be forced to take the incinerator. When that happens, they had no choice, but by then, it will be too late for the citizens of Rahway."

Those wishing to participate in the South Mountain Raffle on Saturday, Sept. 22, with the members of the Union County Hiking Club and their guests should meet in the Tulp Springs parking lot on Cherry Ln., West Orange, at 10 a.m.

For this raffle of about six miles participants should bring flash.

SAFETY FIRST - Jane Lorber, left, and Betsy Davison, center, Union County Medical Center Auxiliary "Safe-Ride" chairwomen, and Mrs. James Allen, right, the mother of newborn Stephanie Lauren, strap Stephanie in as the first baby to leave Mulhensberg hospital in Plainfield in a federally-approved infant seat provided by the Auxiliary's newly-launched project. Stephanie's special Valentine's gift-wrapping, but infant seat, one of the 40 seats that will be available on loan to parents of newborns, who must comply with New Jersey's law requiring infants under 18 months be restrained in a child-passenger restraint system that complies with federal motor vehicle safety standards while riding in a car in the state. The "Safe-Ride" program at Mulhensberg is the first of a project which the chairwomen hope to extend to all Union County hospitals in obstetrics departments by the end of 1984.

You can inspect your own chimney

If you're burning more wood these days you may want to inspect your flue for signs of a possible chimney fire.

"Home inspection is not a substitute for professional cleaning, said local chimney sweep, Bert Gunthner of the Safe Chimney Sweeps of Rahway. "But an occasional look up your flue can give you an idea when it's time to call in a professional for a look," he added.

"We're always willing to provide free chimney inspections," Mr. Gunthner pointed out. "But you can save us time if you have a better idea of what we're looking for."

Chimney sweeps consider an accumulation of soot or creosote inside the chimney a danger sign. Soot and creosote are two compounds formed from the incomplete combustion of wood.

Counties group appoints Coletti

Acting Union County Manager, Louis J. Coletti, accepted his second appointment to a national policy-making body in two months.

Mr. Coletti will sit for his second year on the Inter-governmental Affairs and Local Determination Steering Committee of the National Assn. of Counties (NACo), a Washington-based organization with 2,000 member counties representing 42,000 elected and appointed county officials.

As one of the 40 member counties, Mr. Coletti will be charged with formulating part of the American County Platform, NACo's official policy document outlining its legislative goals, as well as continuing to examine issues critical to local government.

Earlier this year Mr. Coletti was named to the National Committee on Professional Standards and Ethics of the American Society for Public Administration (ASPA), also headquartered in Washington, D. C. That agency, which also consists of representatives from all over the United States, establishes and promotes professional standards and ethics for public administrators.

March of Dimes issues warning on acne drug

According to a spokesman for the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation, there is enough evidence to prove a new prescription drug for acne can kill or deform the human embryo.

"Any sexually active woman should have a pregnancy test before treatment with Accutane," said Dr. Arthur J. Salisbury, the March of Dimes Vice President for Medical Services.

"She should avoid becoming pregnant during treatment and for one month afterward," he warned.

The drug was licensed for sale in 1982 with knowledge that it caused birth defects in test animals and with a warning against its use during pregnancy. Since then the manufacturer has twice sent letters to doctors and pharmacists nationwide to stress the risk of damage to unborn babies. The drug's packaging includes a red sticker warning of this risk.

However, to date the manufacturer and the Food and Drug Administration have received at least 29 reports of miscarriages and birth defects after use of the drug during pregnancy.

The most recent report of birth defects associated with the drug appeared in the June 22 issue of "The Journal of the American Medical Assn." Two cases were described by Dr. Paul L. Benke, an associate professor of pediatrics at the University of Miami and the Director of a March of Dimes-supported genetics clinic serving Florida's Palm Beach County.

Malformations in the two babies included hydrocephaly (enlargement of the fluid-filled spaces in the brain), abnormal ears, small mouth and cleft palate. Both babies died.

These malformations are consistent with earlier reports of hydrocephaly, microcephaly (very small head), small and malformed ears and eyes, very severe congenital heart defects and cleft palate in offspring of women taking Accutane early in pregnancy. They also resemble the malformations that have been produced in test animals.

A problem with any drug that causes major malformations is that it does damage in the early weeks of pregnancy, often before a woman knows she is pregnant. This is why it is necessary to have a pregnancy test before starting treatment with Accutane and to have a reliable way to avoid conception during treatment, according to Dr. Salisbury.

Social Security:

Many people in the Elizabeth area do not seem to be aware they can take care of a great deal of their business with Social Security over the telephone, John H. McCutcheon, the Social Security district manager in Elizabeth, said recently.

"The best time to call Social Security is after the middle of the month, he said. Of course, if a person has urgent business, he or she should call anytime.

The telephone may be used to:

- Apply for Medicare.
  - Find out how to change a name or address in Social Security records.
  - Report a change in marital status.
  - Report starting or stopping work.
  - Report a loss or stolen check or delayed payment.
  - Find out how to replace a lost Social Security or Medicare card.
  - Get help in filling out Medicare claims forms.
  - Request a statement of Social Security earnings record.
  - Get help in having claims decisions reviewed.
  - Ask any question about Social Security or obtain a free publication.
- The telephone number of the Elizabeth Social Security office is 1-800-272-1111. The office is located at 342 Westminster Ave.
