Freeholder meeting in city backed

I would like to thank Rahway Sixth Ward Councilman James J. Fulcomer for writing, sponsoring and successfully securing the adoption of a resolution asking the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders to hold a regular meeting in Rahway during October.

If the county board accepts then concerned citizens can voice their questions on resource recovery (the waste-to energy incinerator) conveniently to the freeholders in the Rahway City Council Chambers. After all, the freeholders have the real power of locating this facility in our city. It's about time we heard from all of them. They have more power on this con troversy than our city government, yet most of the time our city officials seem to be the only ones talking.

Older Americans get renewed aid

The Older Americans Act, which was first approve 1965 and is now the center piece of the federal commit-

The President has indicated he will sign the bill into law. As the ranking Republican on the House Select Committee on Aging, I strongly suported re-authorization of the act and fought in Congress o defeat efforts to eliminate some of the programs and to

The renewed act authorizes the government to spend more than $1.2 billion a year over the next three years to help meet the needs of the nation's elderly. The money will be used to provide an estimated 10 million senior citizens with nutrition, transportation and health services. Additionally, funds are provided for various research and monstration and training programs that benefit the age-

New Jersey senior citizens have benefitted enor-Much of the problem has been attributed to the Pennously from the various programs and services provided tagon's practice of purchasing most of its spare and under the act.

For example, in fiscal 1984-24 nutrition sites scatered throughout the state served more than 3.6 million billion on spares and replacement parts and 77 percent of those purchases were on a non-competitive coass.

The House-passed legislation amends the fiscal year the homebound. Nearly 300,000 older New Jerseyans were provided with transportation, legal aid, home care and other supportive services. Nearly 1,900 older New Jerseyans have part-time jobs through the Title No. 5 enior Community Service Employment Program. Aspart of re-authorization process I brought the Ag-year, opens the spare-parts bidding system up to competition, a move the General Accounting Office (GAO) pittee to New Jersey earlier this year to receive estimates will yield some 30 to 40 percent in savings. The estimony as to how well the program is working in the amendment also requires contractors to supply parts at state and how it could be improved. Many of the recomtheir lowest commercial price or justify reasons for any nendations advanced by witnesses at the New Jersey earing are included in the Act. These are welcomed and needed changes that will serve to strengthen the Older Americans programs which I and many others in Congress believe are among the l most cost-effective in the nation. Authorities acknowledge they enable millions of elderly beneficiaries to lead secure, satisfying, independent and productive lives. This assistance has helped them to remain out of institutions, hospitals and nursing homes at huge savings to the federal government.

The demand for services for the elderly will continue o increase with the "graying" of American. In New Jersey alone, while the population grew 2.7 percent bet increased by 21.3 percent. By the year 2,000 the percent tage of New Jerseyans over 60 will grow from the current 16.7 percent to 18.5 percent. Meeting the needs of our growing population is a challenge and an opportunity.
