County updates resource-recovery schedule

Union County officials have adopted a resolution amending the county's Solid Waste Management Plan. The amendments include the adoption of the 25 percent recycling goal advocated by the state of New Jersey, the investigation of all closed landfill sites in the county and the negotiation of agreements with the Hackensack Meadowlands Development Commission (HMDC) and Middlesex County to cover temporary landfill requirements until resource recovery is utilized. Other items covered in the county's amended plan are the adoption of an updated schedule for implementation of the resource recovery facility, the investigation of possible ash-residue disposal sites and the preparation of a detailed financial plan concerning the resource-recovery project. The resolution, passed by the Board of Freeholders on July 14, was sponsored by Freeholder Paul O'Keefe, a liaison to Union County's Solid Waste Advisory Council (SWAC).

"By adopting these measures," stated Freeholder O'Keefe, "we have made a firm commitment toward meeting the county-specific goals outlined by the New Jersey Dept. of Environmental Protection (DEP) as well as a substantial contribution toward resolving our state-wide solid waste crisis."

Unit sales growth also benefited from the inclusion in consolidated results, since the fourth quarter of 1984, of Banyu Pharmaceutical Co., Ltd. of Japan. Except for those already mentioned, unit sales of established in-line human health products as a group declined due to competition.

"Primatin", a new injectable antibiotic shown to have an unparalleled breadth of antimicrobial activity, was introduced in Germany during the second quarter. It and "Moxonid" (enalapril) are expected to be introduced in the United States by the end of the year, the spokeswoman noted.

In order to meet the state's recycling goal Union County will encourage residents to use composted leaves as much as possible, support the use of pavement-recycling techniques on all road resurfacing projects, encourage haulers to increase recycling levels at transfer stations and undertake educational programs to promote recycling. However, the amendment notes to fully accomplish the state's objective the DEP must develop additional markets for recycled materials including ash residue from resource-recovery facilities.

Merck earnings increase 8 percent

A spokeswoman for Merck & Co., Inc. of Rahway announced recently net income for the second quarter of 1985 was $137,928,000, compared with $131,373,000 for the second quarter of 1984. Earnings per share were $1.22, up 8 percent from $1.17 for the second quarter of 1984.

Sales for the second quarter were $877,372,000, a decrease of 2 percent from sales of $891,290,000 for the second quarter of 1984. Net income for the first half of 1985 was $269,450,000, compared with $256,498,000 for the first half of 1984. Earnings per share were $3.75, up 8 percent from $3.47 for the first half of 1984.

Sales for the first six months of 1985 were $1,733,653,000, essentially unchanged from $1,739,896,000 for the first half of 1984.

Sales for the quarter and first half were affected by the previously announced divestment in the second quarter of two subsidiaries, Calgon Carbon Corp. and Baltimore Aircoil Co., and by the continuing strength of the company's research, said Dr. P. Roy Vagelos, president and chief executive officer of the health products firm.

If the effects of these divestments and exchange were excluded, sales would show an increase of 9 percent in the quarter," Dr. Vagelos noted. "The negative impact on sales and income due to exchange was partly offset by an improved product mix and by the continuation of aggressive cost controls and productivity improvements, the president explained.

He added the gain from the sale of Calgon Carbon and Baltimore Aircoil did not have a significant effect on net income for the quarter. Earnings per share benefited from the re-purchase of company stock in 1984 and early 1985. Dr. Vagelos noted unit sales gains during the quarter and first half were led by the newer products of the company's research, including ivermectin, which has had outstanding acceptance for control of internal and external parasites in animals; and enalapril, an angiotensin converting enzyme (ACE) inhibitor recently introduced in several European countries for treatment of high blood pressure and congestive heart failure.

"Tonocard", discovery of AB Astra that Merck introduced in the United States in late 1984 for treating heart arrhythmia (abnormal heartbeat), also made good sales progress, he said.

Other products contributing to first-half unit sales growth were "Mefoxin", an injectable antibiotic; "limoptic", prescribed for control of glaucoma, a major cause of blindness; "Heptavax-B", a vaccine against hepatitis B; "Noroxin", an oral antibacterial for urinary tract infections; "Dolobid", a non-narcotic long-acting analgesic; and "Moduretic", a potassium-sparing diuretic for use in certain cases of high blood pressure.

Unit sales growth also benefited from the inclusion in consolidated results, since the fourth quarter of 1984, of Banyu Pharmaceutical Co., Ltd. of Japan. Except for those already mentioned, unit sales of established in-line human health products as a group declined due to competition.

Arts center offers 'Recognition Seat'

Rahway Landmarks calls it a "Seat of Recognition." Other arts centers have different names for it, but the objective is the same: GIVE CONTRIBUTORS THE OPPORTUNITY TO PROVIDE FINANCIAL AID TO THE PROJECT WHILE, AT THE SAME TIME, PERPETUATING THE MEMORY OF A LOVED ONE VIA AN INSCRIBED PLAQUE ON THE BACK OF AN AUDITORIUM CHAIR.

Rahway Landmarks is a bargain compared with some others. For example, an arts center in San Diego requires a $5,000 donation, spread over five years, for a single commemorative seat-back plaque. (For the same size donation, Landmarks offers a distinctive individual wall plaque in the lobby). The required minimum donation for a Seat of Recognition — only $1,000 — total.

It should be made clear the Seat of Recognition is merely a perpetual memorial, and does NOT grant the contributor a permanently-reserved seat for attendance at future shows. The honoree may be a person living or deceased, an organization, a pet, a memorable event... There are no specific stipulations. However, the wording will be negotiable, the number of words being limited mainly by the approximately four-by-six-inch uniform size of the plaque. Location within the auditorium may be freely chosen from among available seats in designated areas.

As a bonus the contributor will be granted a three-year complimentary membership in Rahway Landmarks (the non-profit organization operating the arts center), and the honoree's name will be listed in all future printed programs. Membership benefits include receipt of the Arts Center Newsletter (six issues per year) and discounts on souvenir items and on tickets to certain events.

Act Now... this offer will be limited to the first 200 seats only, and will then be increased to $1,500 and up per "recognition." Send in your check now to Union County Arts Center — Seat of Recognition, Post Office Box 1061, Rahway, N.J. 07065.

Host families to get scholarships

Scholarships of up to $800 that can be applied toward international education and travel programs are available to families who host English-speaking young people of high school age coming to the United States for a semester or academic year.

This intercultural exchange program is sponsored by the American Institute for Foreign Study Scholarship Foundation, whose offices are in Greenwich, Conn. and San Francisco.

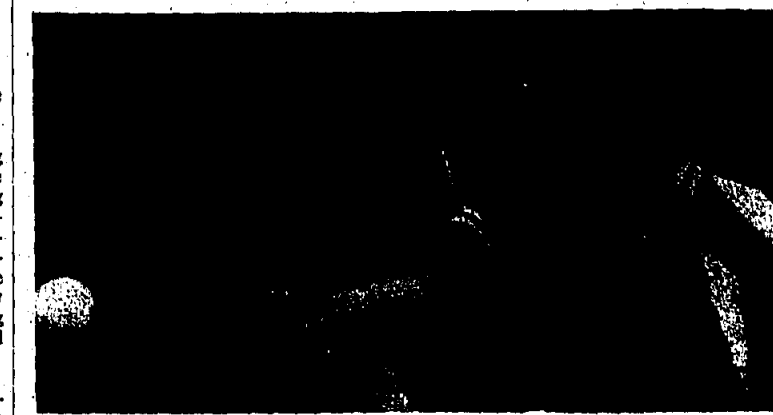

Visiting students come to the United States from Germany, Spain, Japan and more than 20 other countries. They attend local high schools during their stay.

"Many families could provide the ideal situation for a visiting student," said Paul A. Cook, executive director of the foundation. "We can match the student's interests to yours, and you can screen applications to choose the youngster you like best."

Host family members earn scholarships applicable to over 100 different international learning tours available for junior high school, high school, college or adult travelers. Programs ranging from one week to a full year include homestays, cruises and campus stays. Each has some educational and cultural focus, be it an intensive language immersion or a one-week tour, reports a spokeswoman.

For free information on how to become a host-family please telephone the foundation at 1-203-869-9090 in Connecticut or 1-800-243-4567.

Theatre preparing for limited opening

While being restored for eventual re-opening as a county arts center the Rahway Theatre may tentatively re-open later this year for a limited series of fundraising events. It will depend on how soon essential repairs and alterations can be made to meet basic requirements for a certificate of occupancy.

The theatre was acquired last September by Rahway Landmarks, a non-profit corporation. Since January the lobby areas have been about 80 percent restored by Conrad Schmitt Studios of New Berlin, Wis., a new heating plant has been installed and a good start has been made on general renovation. Further major restoration work, however, must await the start of a capital fund drive, which will, hopefully, commence within the next two to three months.

Funding co-ordinator, Eric L. Rickes, estimates, at today's costs, it will take at least a million dollars to transform the 1,400-seat facility to one that meets local building codes, is visually attractive and fully secured and provides all the basic creature comforts for patrons.

"Beyond these essentials," says Mr. Rickes, "to do all the things consultants tell us will eventually have to be done — such as new stage lighting and rigging and an enlarged orchestra pit — will require an additional tidy sum."

Although the theatre remains officially closed Rahway Landmarks has had income of over $30,000 since January of this year. "This is a combination of tax-exempt donations, membership dues, rental income from attached stores, and volunteer fundraising on a small scale via such things as flea markets and the sale of souvenir items," says Sandra Sweeney, Landmarks president.

GOP trio backs municipal home rule

The principles of the municipal home rule are backed strongly by Upper County Republican freeholder candidates, G. Richard Maignan of Plainfield, William H. Eldridge of Berkeley Heights, and James J. Fulcomer of Rahway, it was announced today.

Mr. Fulcomer, a three-term councilman, said the Republicans believe in the right of the people to decide the character of their own community and the people should have a voice in the proposed siting of any new county or state facility in their municipality.

Theatre book wins wide acclaim

When Rahway Landmarks published a small souvenir history book on the old Rahway Theatre last year it had no idea the book would find its way to several remote corners of the world, nor that it would be the catalyst for a book getting late, according to a spokesman.

The book, "ENOCE for a Worthy Performer," was published in December, 1984 to help raise funds to restore the Rahway Theatre, which the non-profit Rahway Landmarks had acquired earlier in the year. The 56-year-old facility is currently undergoing restoration for eventual reopening as the "Union County Arts Center."

Largely as the result of a flyer distributed in March by the theatre, the book has been sold in more than half the 50 states and in five foreign countries (Australia, Canada, England, Scotland and Spain).

Bookstores in England and Australia have ordered multiple copies of "ENOCE" and a few purchasers have written complimentary letters. Joe March of Wallend Boundary, England, wrote, "I thoroughly enjoyed reading the book; it is well-produced and a further tribute to the theatre."

Letters to the Editor

Mr. Hayden replies to Femia charges

In regard to the recent letter concerning me which appeared in this column recently from Donna Mochly Femia regarding her laughing about it my replies to one of my colleagues and my subsequent co-called attack, some of her remarks require clarification.

Before I proceed, I find it admirable to learn of Ms. Femia's cognizance of the merits of our Constitution which guarantees her freedom of expression.

However, receiving a few chapters of a book on manners might not be her behavior in public in the future!

During the meeting I sat like a gentleman while my colleague read a prepared discourse and it would seem to most that I would have been extended the same consideration. If a member of the audience has something to say that is the purpose of public portions of a meeting.

Perhaps for additional reading pleasure, Ms. Femia should glance over the "Revised Ordinances of the Township of Clark" as well as a state statute book, and it might enlighten her as to why I have my co-called "trials."

If pointing out errors and questionable practices while looking after taxpayers' money is a "trial" then I, too, am guilty! I do not invent issues. However, anything I feel is unethical, have questions about or spoken out against, I can document.

For example—an attempt to state leaves on an industrial property in the township, "emergency removal" of leaves from behind the municipal building which took two months to accomplish, which cost the taxpayers $12,000 which was paid to a hauler (refuse/recycling) tance/pick from the yellow paper (personal recommendation—one or two copies of one of my colleagues.

State law dictates that anytime more than $7,500 of tax dollars is to be spent advertising for bids is mandated before a contract can be awarded. And, when contracts with township employees are negotiated and finalized, and not one of the elected officials on the negotiating committee knows what the total cost of the package is—and what is exactly included in the contract—then I think something is wrong!

And, when I sit and listen to my colleagues during municipal budget deliberations push like heck for a salary increase or expense account money (when to the innocent taxpayers, they're preaching the saving of tax dollars—yes, young lady, I will speak).

I am totally against, and have been for many years, an increase in Council salaries. As it is, in addition to our salary $300 stipend is designated for each elected official to be used, if and when, they attend the League of Municipalities Convention in November. We are elected to serve our community and not to see what we can get from it!

Incidentally, Ms. Femia, a tape of that particular budget meeting is available for your listening pleasure. I have been a resident of this community for 19 years and have been in elected office in the past and it has always been my pleasure to serve. I have run on my reputation for honesty and integrity and will not be dictated to by a few self-serving novices. And, young lady, if I think something is amiss, yes, I will speak.

And, I would like to thank at this time the many people who called after your letter appeared as well as the many others who have called over the past few months. Even though most of our townspeople are not sitting and giggling in the first row at the monthly Council meetings it is very rewarding to see how many people are well aware of what is going on in Clark.

The concluding paragraph of your letter suggested I think back to "last month's public meeting and the words of a constituent."

Thanks for reminding me—because unfortunately I never did get to thank the former assemblyman, mayor and long-time resident of our town for commenting my efforts on behalf of the taxpayers. . . . Thanks, Bill!

So, young lady, after you've read and listened to the suggested material—and, after you see the documented information—we will see who gets the last laugh.

A REAL KICK... New Jersey Press Assn. scholarship winners, Susan Irving, left, and Sherry Slaughter, right, meet Giants kicker, Al Hall-Sheikh, at Giants Stadium in the Meadowlands Sports Complex. The Giants will meet the Green Bay Packers at the pre-season game on Saturday, Aug. 17 to benefit the John V. Mara Memorial Fund and the association's scholarship fund.

Giants, Packers to clash in press benefit

The Giants will meet long-time rival, the Green Bay Packers, at a benefit on Saturday, Aug. 17. The game will be held at Giants Stadium in the Meadowlands Sports Complex. The game will be a pre-season game on Saturday, Aug. 17 to benefit the John V. Mara Memorial Fund and the association's scholarship fund.

Lawrence High School, who played for the University of Delaware, began his professional career with the Giants. He was the club's starter for most of the 1982 and 1983 seasons before he was traded to the Denver Broncos in 1984.

The game at Giants Stadium will be marked by the return of New Jersey native, Scott Brunner, now a quarterback for the Packers.

In four seasons with the Giants, Brunner started 30 games and completed 482 of 986 passes (48 percent). His best season was 1982, when he started all nine games in the strike-shortened season and completed 54 percent of his passes with 10 touchdowns and one interception.

The Giants and the press association have a long history of raising money for charity. In 1977, when the first benefit football game was played, the Packers' No. 3 quarterback, Scott Brunner, was the key to the success of the game, which was held at the Meadowlands.

In June 12 students were awarded a total of $11,000 at the association's summer conference in Spring Lake, N.J. The students received $500 to $1,000 for undergraduates to a $2,000 graduate student award.

Tickets are $14 for the John V. Mara Memorial Fund and New Jersey Press Assn. Scholarship Fund Football Classic. Game time will be 8 p.m. Tickets are available at the stadium and through local ticketing outlets. Order forms may also be found in many New Jersey papers.

Game proceeds also enabled the press group to create the New Jersey Press Association Scholarship Fund, which provides in-service training to journalists, students and professors, and to fund educational programs, including the High N. Boy's Union Newspaper in Education Program to increase student reading skills.

The late John V. Mara, who served as president of the club until his death in 1965, was the son of Giants founder, Timothy J. Mara.

Mara bought the New York franchise in the summer of 1925 and is credited with keeping professional football alive during its early years when it was in danger of failing for lack of money and public support.

The Giants-Packers game's rivalry goes back to 1929.

Age cycle starts with Lollipopers

By Mike Black

The Sixth Annual "Holiday at Home" Fourth of July "Lollipopers" bicycle event in Rahway wheeled off under sunny skies with nearly 400 youngsters.

The morning's sessions and practice runs before the start of the event down the raceway course on downtown Irving St. had the flavor of a mini grand prix, including the excitement, generated by fond parents, relatives, friends and spectators.

Heats were geared to contestants' ages and type of vehicles ridden. Winners of each heat received a first prize ribbon. Other prizes included participant award ribbons. All contestants received special Lollipopers.

One of the youngest Lollipopers, two-year old Suzanne Miklavic of Rahway, wearing the latest in bonnets, rode a colorful plastic kiddie car. Tara Cashin, aged two and a half, competed on a plastic motorized motorcycle. An interview revealed the motorized motorcycle was really a slow-speed toy of vehicle. Another two-year old entrant was Holly Blessing of Rahway.

It was hard to know who was five-year-old look-alike twins, Daniel and

Jack DeSilva co-captains Union soccer

A Rahway athlete, Jack DeSilva, was named to co-captain the Union County College soccer team this fall.

DeSilva is a returning letterman for Union, which posted a 12-6-1 record last season.

Coach Tom Durkin describes DeSilva as "a tireless worker and the most talented servant to his teammates."

He is a potential All-American for Union, Durkin said.

Except for the less than four percent of Americans that live on farms, most people tend to think of soil only when it becomes dirt, smudged on our clothes or carried into the house on our shoes, says National Wildlife magazine.

Farm group to award $500 stipend

The Women's National Farm and Garden Assn., Inc. will provide a $500 scholarship contribution for a student at Union County College taking the plant science option in the biology program for the fall semester, according to Prof. William Dunscombe of Clark, biology department chairman.

The student chosen to receive the award will be designated by the college's faculty scholarship committee. Mrs. Wesley Minis, association education chairwoman, said the choice should be preferably a woman student, one who is likely to continue her education in the field of horticulture or agriculture.

Dr. Thomas M. Ombello, a member of the college's biology department, said an announcement would be made as soon as the committee makes a choice.

Cherry Hill man cycles to victory

The day was still being favored with sunshine and warm temperatures, when Dennis Coyne, from Cherry Hill, won the feature event at the Harvey C. Black Memorial Criterium "Holiday at Home" Bicycle Races on the Fourth of July in Rahway.

The feature event of 40 laps on the 867-mile course through Rahway's business center was completed in one hour, 18 minutes and 10 seconds with four fifths seconds with major competition in the senior 2-and-3 race.

Martin Graf of Switzerland placed 11th in the senior 2-and-3 race with a time of 1:18:10, just behind the first-place winner, Lloyd Rake of Tusculum in the veteran 45-to-55 year old event. Lloyd Rake of Tusculum won the veteran 45-to-55 year old event. Lloyd Rake of Tusculum won the veteran 45-to-55 year old event.

Trailside sprouts own garden

During the last year the Union County Cooperative Service has established an eighth of an acre demonstration garden near the grounds of Trailside Museum in Mountaineer.

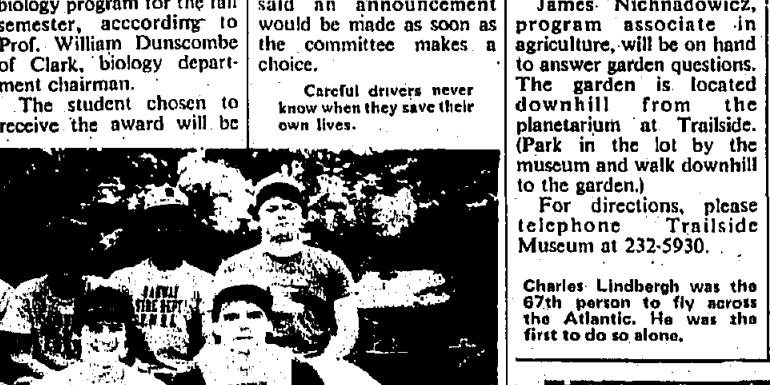

Readers may tour the gardens and sample some of the vegetables and herbs grown there on either Thursday, Aug. 8 between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. or on Saturday, Aug. 10 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

There will be exotic vegetables to taste, such as cape gooseberry, and old standards like tomatoes and peppers. There will also be herbs to smell and flowers to admire.

Armando Albarán can recall that hot summer day in 1966 as if it were yesterday. Two companies of the 25th Infantry Division moved out at daylight, headed for a heavily wooded area about 40 miles from Cu Chi, South Vietnam. Their target was an area snaked with enemy tunnels, pockmarked with bomb craters and home to uncounted Viet Cong enemy soldiers.

Mr. Albarán's platoon was bringing up the rear of the first company when the enemy trap was sprung.

Claymore mines thrown from the jungle exploded in their midst even as small arms fire began stitching its way through the Army infantrymen.

"I remember the explosion, being hit, and trying to get up again," he recalled. "Mr. Albarán knows of the cross fire that was working toward the front of the company."

dedication and commitment to helping disabled veterans lead lives of dignity and self-respect. Further, his efforts to remove obstacles in the workplace and insure full accessibility for disabled veterans on the job has set a national "model" for enlightened employment practices.

Mr. Albarán brings the toughest kind of credibility to his job as a vocational rehabilitation specialist with the San Antonio Veterans Administration (VA). The legless pants and wheelchair mark the dues he paid. But only a record of the help he provides his fellow disabled veterans marks the skill he brings to the job.

Currently he maintains an active case load of more than 200 individuals and travels over 1,000 miles a month in the San Antonio region. Besides providing direct counseling services to disabled veterans and their families he also visits training sites at college campuses and helps veterans with everything from filling out forms to obtaining needed medical services.

He goes wherever his help is needed because, "The worst thing that can happen is not to be able to assist a veteran."

And he stays by their side as they struggle through rehabilitation and recovery because "It's a matter of life and death."

Mr. Albarán's also turned that some kind of commitment against barriers.

Youth loop sets new tourney record

By Ray Houghton

The Youth Baseball League (seven and eight year olds) division from Rahway completed its season by winning three tournaments without losing a game.

The Rahway All-Stars outscored their opponents by a cumulative score of 135-28 in taking the titles of the Woodlake Country Club in Lakewood, and the Ford's Tournament, becoming the first all-star team to win the honors in three tournaments.

The manager of the team was Frank Eaton with coaches, Don Stewart, George Horton, Bob Brunetti, and Bill Reese.

Gary Ostrega, the professional at the Colonia Country Club, is a member of the New Jersey contingent in the National Amateur Golf Association.

On tracks weather can be used as an age detector. Another activity for the youngsters will be learning how to read animal signs and the likely locations of their trails and runs. This course will be held from 9:30 to 11 a.m. from Monday to Thursday, Aug. 12 to 15.

After mastering the basics students will try staking techniques that will enable them to get a closer view of animals. They will find out how to blend into the environment so the animals barely notice them and learn some ways to track living animals into their tracking area.

Please, telephone Trailside Nature & Science Center at 232-5930 for information on registration and fees.

They will learn the techniques of spatter vision and focused hearing, which enables one to spot a distant hawk or pick just one frog call out of a chorus. The class will be held from Tuesday to Thursday, Aug. 6 to 8, from 10 a.m. to noon.

During "Tracking Wildlife" time will be spent identifying animal tracks and learning to determine how long ago an animal was in the area. By studying the effects of wind and rain ero-
