Mayor cites administration's commitments; Cadigan unanimously elected council head

By Pat DiMaggio
Councilman-At-Large James Cadigan was unanimously elected council president at the Rahway Municipal Organization Meeting on Jan. 2.

Cadigan asked for "understanding, patience and sometimes forgiveness" during his tenure as president. Calling it a tough job to hold order, he thanked his colleagues for the opportunity.

A graduate of St. Benedict's Preparatory School and the Newark College of Engineering, Cadigan served six years on the Rahway Board of Education and is a past president. He is also past president of the Rahway Citizens Youth Recreation Committee (CYRC).

Beginning his fourth year on the council, Cadigan promised to run the meetings "in a business-like manner. I'd like to see the city business over with in a reasonable time so that citizens with legitimate complaints can get them heard." He cited this as his major goal as council president.

He also promised to appoint a committee to work with the administration on the planned Resource Recovery Facility and a committee to study the Board of Education budget if turned down by the voters, so "we will be prepared."

Mayor Daniel L. Martin gave his sixteenth annual report on the state of the City.

Daniel L. Martin

In his address, the mayor promised to continue to plan for the future. "Building a better Rahway has always been the chief endeavor of this administration and will always be. Our never-changing approach to this goal is to concentrate always on the future; that is, to plan ahead. Foresight and planning, with the discipline to resist short-sighted temptations, are among the most important ingredients of good government."

Citing his commitment to provide tax relief, the mayor said, "With respect to the municipal budget and municipal taxes, we did our job in 1985. We brought our budget in at more than $200,000 below the state budget cap and achieved the lowest municipal tax increase in Union County. As several council members put it, we 'bit the bullet' in 1985."

- Mayor speaks on:
  - property values
  - Corporate Center
  - resource recovery
  - high school renovation

Mayor Martin was critical of the Board of Education saying tax relief was not achieved in the schools portion of taxes. "It was the council's position, after careful analysis, that this could have been done without any impairment of educational programs. However, by a one vote margin, the school board rejected council's position. We can only now wonder how, after fighting against the council and even arranging a large demonstration in council chamber, the school system found large sums of money to award very substantial pay raises to administrators and employees."

"The point is not to begrudge anyone a just pay increase," Martin continued, "but the point is if such efforts could be made to find money for pay increases double the cost of living, why could not such efforts be made to cooperate with the City in finding ways to give the taxpayers a break? I urge every council member right now not to forget these facts in 1986." Calling Rahway "the hottest town around," Mayor Martin said the City outpaces the state and county in property values. He attributed this to the programs, plans and economic development activities undertaken by the City over the years.

In planning for the future, Martin cited the approval of a development contract for the Rahway Corporate Center Project, and acceptance of the first payment of the $30 million project. He applauded the council committee on Resource Recovery and called the approval by voters thru a referendum "a message of support and a challenge." In pursuing Resource Recovery, we still have the highest degree of responsibility to see to it that it's done right. Negotiation and approval of a host community contract that is in the best interest of the people of Rahway is a critical part of our agenda in 1986. And I want every citizen of Rahway to know we will not let them down."

Listing projects completed by the city, Martin said Rahway became the only municipality ever in New Jersey to complete two senior citizen projects in one year, the new Grand Avenue Projects. "Providing for our senior citizens is such an important part of community life," explained Martin, "and every town should be doing the things we're doing in Rahway. It's clear that a healthy and progressive generational change is occurring in Rahway. The younger generation isn't moving out, it's competing to move into Rahway as a highly desirable hometown — that's one of the things making Rahway property values so strong. But this would not be possible if we did not have the foresight to provide services and opportunities for the aging generation. It is this balancing of two trends, this pro-

James Cadigan

"I like to think to plan ahead," said Martin, "to chart a course, to establish alternatives and directions. Foresight combined with integrity is the highest service we can render. Rahway's present is excellent; its future even better. Building a better Rahway is more than just a theme, it is our daily work."

In other business the council:

— Approved a resolution creating a temporary budget for 1986.

— Approved a resolution authorizing issuance of petty cash funds.

— Approved a resolution authorizing appointment of auditors for the City of Rahway and the Free Public Library and Water Department.

— Approved a resolution authorizing legal depositories for public moneys.

— Approved a resolution authorizing The Rahway News Record, The Daily Journal, The Newark Star Ledger and The News Tribune as the official newspapers for the City of Rahway for 1986.

Board of Adjustment meeting rescheduled

The Rahway Board of Adjustment meeting scheduled for Jan. 20 has been rescheduled for Jan. 21 at 7:30 p.m.

Seminar offered to learn facts on new graduation requirements

In April, Rahway High School ninth graders will be the first class to take the New Jersey High School Proficiency Test. Students must pass this test to be eligible for high school graduation.

Mr. Roy M. Valentine, Principal of Rahway High School, has organized a seminar for parents and community members on Tuesday, January 14, 1986, at 7:15 p.m. at the high school auditorium. Mr. Valentine believes that parents and students need to know more about this important potential graduation requirement.

Mr. Valentine has stated that parents, teachers, and students must share the responsibility for the performance of this year's ninth grade on the High School Proficiency Test (H.S.P.T.). Teachers and school administrators are engaged in a variety of activities to prepare pupils for the test. It is important for parents to learn all they can about the H.S.P.T. in order to help their children be successful.

The State Department of Education has set the following passing scores for the test: seventy-seven (77) for writing, seventy-five (75) for reading, and sixty-one (61) for mathematics. The Department expects that in urban school districts the failure rate will be forty percent in the reading and writing sections and sixty percent in the mathematics section. These predictions have caused concern among school districts throughout the state. It should be noted that the Commissioner of Education has stated that "The cutoff scores were arrived at through a statistical process that did not include considerations of how many might fail the exam."

The keynote speaker and moderator will be Mr. Frank Bruente, Rahway Superintendent of Schools. Elementary and secondary school administrators will participate.

Panel members will discuss the test itself, the school's responsibility and parents' responsibility. There will also be a question-and-answer period. Parents of students in both elementary and secondary schools are encouraged to attend this important program.

St. Mary's plans parish census

St. Mary's Parish, Rahway, is beginning a census of its own. With the assistance of approximately 500 volunteer census takers under the direction of Theresa Mikajlo, Census Committee Coordinator, the church hopes to contact all of the Catholic persons living within its parish service area.

St. Mary's Parish census is an opportunity to meet people, welcome new parishioners, encourage the unchurched, and to let people know that St. Mary's cares about the people of Rahway. The census has nothing to do with money or donations of any kind.

Actual door to door canvassing will take place in early March. A follow up in which the parish will attempt to communicate with those reached through the census is already being planned by the Rev. Joseph M. Quinlan, Pastor.

Rahway Hospital's Board Chairman acts as mentor

Gordon Harris

In his three years as Chairman of Rahway Hospital's Board of Governors and 14 years on the board, Gordon Harris has seen the hospital through two building fundraising campaigns and has served on every board committee. Now he is taking his extensive experience on the road, acting as a mentor to other hospital boards through a program developed by the Hospital Research and Educational Trust (HRET), an affiliate of the American Hospital Association.

The Governing Board Mentor Program is a project designed to help hospital boards evaluate their own performance, in light of the changes taking place in the health care system. The mentor visits hospitals and acts as a discussion leader during a one to two day retreat.

"The mentor program is a process of self-appraisal," said Mr. Harris. The mentor acts as a catalyst to get the board members to discuss their problems, he explained.

"It's a subtle process; you have to lead them where they need to go," he said. Mr. Harris does this by asking questions, steering the discussion down the right path, and by being a good listener. An outgoing person by nature, he has had to learn how to keep himself in check and not give out his opinions, thus serving as a counselor rather than as a consultant.

A retired Rahway businessman, he has a great deal of leadership experience in the community, having served as President of the Rahway Rotary, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Businessmen's Association. He was also President of the Alliance for Health Care, a joint venture of Rahway Hospital, Raritan Bay Medical Center, and the John F. Kennedy Medical Center.

Mr. Harris was selected as a mentor partly because of his participation on the New Jersey Hospital Association's Council on Governance. The committee is working to improve the quality of hospital boards.

Five state hospital associations and one metropolitan association are cooperating on the mentor program: New Jersey, Indiana, Ohio, New Mexico, South Carolina, and Greater Cleveland. Each association nominated trustees within their states to serve as mentors. All of the 21 mentors chosen are hospital board members and have attended a three-day training session.

Each mentor is limited to conducting three programs a year. So far Mr. Harris has served as a mentor at two hospitals, one in New Jersey and one in Massachusetts.

His experience in October at a small town community hospital in the Boston suburbs was a challenging one. The hospital was just beginning to feel the pinch of competition, while its board and chief executive officer were having some difficulties getting along.

As with all of the mentoring assignments, Mr. Harris was well prepared to deal with the situation before he even arrived on the scene. The board members fill out an extensive self-evaluation questionnaire which the mentor reviews before he goes to visit the hospital. And since Mr. Harris also had several phone conversations with the CEO in advance, he had insight into what the attitudes of the board and CEO were.

Rahway Hospital honors physicians at dinner dance

About 300 members of the Rahway Hospital Medical/Dental Staff and their guests turned out for the annual dinner dance at the Shackamaxon Country Club in Scotch Plains, held in December.

The Medical/Dental Staff honored three members: Dr. Arthur Lovino, D.D.S., and John Sarno, M.D., for their service. Dr. Introcaso and Dr. Sarno each received a clock and Dr. Lovino was presented with a plaque.

Gordon Harris, Chairman of the Board of Governors, was also recognized for his service to the hospital, and presented with a plaque commemorating his achievements. Mr. Harris is retiring from his position at the end of this month after three years in office, but will remain on the board.

After enjoying a delicious array of hors d'oeuvres and a five-course dinner, the guests danced to the music of the David Aaron Orchestra. As dinner dance chairman, Herbert Langer, M.D., coordinated the event.

YOU MAY QUALIFY FOR FREE PROGRAMS THAT CAN LOWER YOUR GAS BILLS.

Elizabethtown Gas, working through participating social service agencies, offers low-income* and moratorium-protected** customers a chance to lower their gas bills by providing conservation measures free of charge.

Programs range from simple measures you can install yourself to direct grants and actual installation of the conservation measures most cost-efficient to your home. If you fall into any of the categories listed below, we urge you to contact us by filling out and mailing the coupon below or by calling our toll-free conservation hotline:

1-800-221-0364
Weekdays 8:30 A.M. - 5 P.M.

YES! I am interested in the low-income conservation programs. Please have a representative contact me.
