Nine vie for three seats on Rahway Board of Education

by Pat DiMaggio
Nine candidates who have filed for three seats on the Rahway Board of Education were invited to speak at "Candidates Night" hosted by the Rahway Democratic Club on March 3.

Incumbent Board members Eileen F. Benes and Bernard D. Miller, and candidates Dennis Hemenway, Lori Kennedy and Robert Munsey took advantage of the opportunity to voice their concerns with the present system of education in Rahway. Incumbent Board President Betta Jacobs and candidate David Summerer thanked the Democratic Club for hosting the event and sent regrets of their absence.

Mrs. Benes, a nurse at Muhlenberg Hospital, has been on the board for the years and has been actively involved with various school P.T.A. organizations for 13 years. "I feel my past experience makes me a better candidate," said Benes. "I feel if the teachers, the principals, the administration, the parents and the Board of Education all work together as one, we can maintain the quality of education we have, keeping in mind that we always have to try to improve it. I honestly care about your children and their education."

Dennis Hemenway is employed by St. Barnabas Medical Center and is active with the Elks and the Crippled Children's Committee. Hemenway promised to review the budget to go from a budget of $9.3 million to $10.9 million, an increase of $1.6 million," said Hemenway. "My question is why? My major goal is to attain a budget that is economically feasible and, at the same time, fair to all concerned with an emphasis on better education from Pre-School to the Seniors at the High School."

A graduate of the Rahway School System, Lori Kennedy has been a teacher for eight years.

"The Board of Education is in the business of educating children," said Kennedy. "I feel I have experience in both areas. I am a business woman and I have the experience of an educator." Kennedy said the morale of the staff is at a low point and promised to open the lines of communication if elected. "As a board member, I would like to sit down with the staff to discuss problems and issues," continued Kennedy. "One way to help morale is to recognize the efforts of the staff." Mrs. Kennedy said she was in favor of a good basic skills program and promised to improve and maintain student discipline.

Bernard D. Miller is in his fourth year on the Board of Education and is employed in the Engineering Department at Schering Plough. "My goal is to continue working toward assuring our children the best education possible within the frame work of a good budget," said Miller. He listed five objectives necessary to achieve this goal: opening the lines of communication between the board, staff, administration, the City and the public; a better utilization of the Intermediate School, equipped for 1600 students, presently handling less than 25 percent; reevaluation of the salaries of a number of administrative and supervisory positions in relation to the number of students and enrollment; implementation of a long range maintenance program; monitoring the impending High School Proficiency Test to see how it is handled in Rahway and throughout the state.

"April 15 is important," said Robert Munsey, "because it is your opportunity to choose candidates that are fully qualified to sit on the Board of Education and administer education in Rahway." Employed by Prudential Insurance Company, Munsey has been involved with CYRC and Rahway Recreation as a coach and an umpire for men's softball teams and was an Assistant Professor of Economics at Monmouth College for four years. "The budget has been turned down 20 times in the last 22 years," said Munsey. "Past boards have felt that the voters were at fault. I think not. The budgets were voted down because they deserved to be." Munsey pointed out that student programs have been the first to be eliminated when prior budgets were voted down and said, "I think there's been some slush. The money hasn't gone where it should have been in past years. People are suspect on the budget." Munsey said that the teachers have received the brunt of the criticism because of their recently negotiated 9 percent salary increase and pointed out that the budget shows an increase of 10.9 percent for administrative salaries. "We are at a crossroads," continued Munsey. "This is an opportunity for you to vote for a better education, an opportunity for you to say 'I want my dollar spent wisely in the most appropriate way.'"

Candidate Francisco Garay withdrew from the race. Voters will be able to voice their preference on April 15 when they will also vote for the Board of Education Budget.

Medals awarded to Rahway Cub Scouts

Cub Scouts William Blessing of 632 Keller Place, Kevin Zebrowski of 326 Maple Avenue, and Graig Erickson of 933 Lakeside Drive, all of Rahway, were awarded the Parvuli Dei Medal signifying outstanding progress in the Catholic Faith earned in Pack 523, St. John Vianney Church, Colonia.

Zebrowski and Erickson received their medals from the Rev. Francis Sergel, Pastor of St. John Vianney Church, during a special presentation at the 12:15 Mass on March 2. Blessing had received his medal earlier.

To qualify for the medal, a scout must satisfy written, oral and physical requirements directed toward a greater understanding of, and commitment to, the Christian Community. Of over 40 boys in Pack 523, the three Rahway residents were the only scouts to achieve the award this year.

In a separate ceremony at the Pack's annual Blue and Gold Dinner later in the day, Packmaster Gene Taylor, in behalf of Raritan Bay District Council, B.S.A., awarded plaques to the award recipients, noting that the award fulfills the Cub Scout Pledge to "do my duty to God and my Country."

Governor Kean to attend ceremonies

Senior housing project is memorial to late Senator Case

Governor Thomas Kean and Mrs. Ruth Case, widow of the late U.S. Senator Clifford P. Case, will be guests of honor at the dedication of the City's newest senior housing project on West Milton Avenue, Mayor Daniel L. Martin announced. "We are very pleased that Governor Kean has accepted our invitation to come to Rahway and join Mrs. Case and the Case family for our dedication of this project as our community's memorial to the late Senator," the Mayor said. The dedication will be held on Wednesday, March 26, at 11 a.m. at 337 West Milton Avenue. The public is invited.

Martin stated the dedication ceremonies "will mark the fulfillment of our community's desire to establish a lasting and meaningful memorial to Senator Case." Case, who was a Rahway resident his entire adult life, began his political career as a City Councilman before moving on to the State Assembly, the U.S. House of Representatives, and the United States Senate, where he served for twenty-four years. He died in March of 1982. "Clifford Case was one of those rare public figures," Martin said, "who rose above routine politics to become a statesman of world-wide respect and influence." "This universally respected public servant will always be a source of great pride to the people of Rahway," the Mayor commented.

Martin noted that in addition to Governor Kean and Mrs. Case, the entire Case family will be guests of honor for the day's events. He also pointed out the dedication of the Milton Avenue senior housing to Case's memory is "especially appropriate because of the Senator's life-long concern for the elderly and because it is located in the neighborhood where the Senator lived."

The Mayor stated the City and the Housing Authority would be issuing additional information about the Case Memorial in coming weeks. Arrangements are under the direction of John P. McGrath, Executive Director of the Rahway Housing Authority, and Joseph Hartnett, City Administrator.

Mayor Martin to host tv show

Meet the Mayor of Rahway, Daniel L. Martin, on Suburban Cablevision's TV-3 "Downtown: Rahway Report," on Monday, March 24 and 31 at 6 p.m. Mayor Martin will discuss "The Boy Scout Troop #47 in Rahway."

Guest speakers include Ed McLean, Scoutmaster, Alex Shipley, Institutional Representative, and Mike Dillow, Committee Chairman of Troop #47. Mayor Martin is producer and David J. Volk is director of the program.

the Case Memorial in coming weeks. Arrangements are under the direction of John P. McGrath, Executive Director of the Rahway Housing Authority, and Joseph Hartnett, City Administrator.

Rahway Hospital teams up with Heart Association

When the American Heart Association (AHA) chose the Rahway/Clerk area to start its first local unit in New Jersey, employees, board members, and other members of the Rahway Hospital family were there to help. Along with other dedicated volunteers and community members, they contributed to making the fundraising events held during February, Heart Month, a success. The President of the Rahway/Clerk unit of the AHA is Nicholas Quadrel, a Rahway businessman and Assistant Treasurer of the hospital's Board of Governors. Vice President is Councilman Fred Eckel. Dr. Michael Chen, a cardiologist on the hospital's Medical Staff, serves as the group's Medical Advisor.

During Heart Month, fundraising activities included a radio telethon, a phonathon to local small businesses, a bowling tournament, and the sale of "Lollipops for Life" at businesses and stores. At Rahway Hospital, volunteers and auxiliaries raised almost $250 selling the lollipops during Valentine's Day week.

In addition to fundraising, the Rahway/Clerk unit is also responsible for programming and education in the local area. "We plan to integrate the use of the hospital with some of the programming to be introduced," said Mr. Quadrel. Dr. Chen recently introduced a slide presentation on the warning signs of a heart attack at an AHA meeting for volunteers and he answered questions on the topic. The slide show will be made available to the local community.

A major focus of the programming will be the education of children on the prevention of heart disease, and programs will be conducted in area schools, according to Mr. Quadrel. Since high cholesterol levels and excess weight have been implicated as risk factors contributing to heart disease, the local unit is looking to educate children about the dangers of a poor diet, Mr. Quadrel explained.

With Heart Month behind them, volunteers for the Rahway/Clerk unit are working towards implementing these educational programs. The group was started this past November as the first local unit in New Jersey, though other local groups have been formed since. According to Shirley Bourque, an American Heart Association Field Coordinator, the Rahway/Clerk area was chosen because of its "community-minded and close-knit nature."

One group that has especially responded to the need for AHA volunteers have been the senior citizens of Rahway and Clerk. "Their spirit has been tremendous," said Mr. Quadrel. He cited the hard work of the members of the Rahway Kiwanis Golden K Club.

Members of the hospital family are also giving their support as volunteers. Freeman Whiting, hospital board member, is Community Relations Chairman of the Rahway/Clerk unit.

Dan Kabana, RN, who works in Medical Intensive Care, chairs the Program Committee. Also on the board of the local AHA unit are Lucille Sprowls, 1st Vice Chairman of the Rahway Hospital board, Sue Oris, RN, Head Nurse, and Lorraine Fedor, RN, Assistant Head Nurse.

Many of the AHA volunteers have had some personal experience with heart disease, which motivated them to become volunteers. Mr. Quadrel himself, who has had open heart surgery, said he feels a great satisfaction working with an organization whose service is so vital. More volunteers are needed to help with programming, fundraising, and community relations. If you would like to help call Shirley Bourque at the AHA office in Millburn: 376-3636.

Along with members of the Rahway Area Junior Woman's Club, they phoned local small businesses to raise money for the American Heart Association.

LOLLIPOPS FOR LIFE ... Rahway Hospital Junior Volunteers Robin DiAnno (left) and Patricia Prozioso, both of Rahway, show off "Lollipops for Life" to Arlene Parsons of Colonia. The hospital raised almost $250 for the American Heart Association through the sale of the lollipops during Valentine's Day Week.

Police Depts. join RID campaign

Police departments in New Jersey have joined in the public awareness campaign of REMOVE INTOXICATED DRIVERS (RID) to educate the public of the responsibility of social hosts to prevent guests from leaving parties and driving home drunk.
 "Over 100 police departments throughout the state have requested and received bumper stickers for the municipal and police vehicles and have received brochures for distribution to the public with the campaign slogan "Hosts don't let guests drive drunk," according to Lorraine Kaldon, state coordinator of RID.
 "We are pleased that the police, who have been responsible for the enforcement of drunk driving laws, are also so actively engaged in this aspect of education of the public," RID thanks these officers for their additional effort on their part," said the RID official.
 The RID host education campaign was initiated last year following the New Jersey Supreme Court decision which stated that "a host who serves liquor to an adult social guest knowing that the guest is intoxicated and will thereafter be operating a motor vehicle, is liable for injuries inflicted on a third party as a result of the negligent operation of a motor vehicle by the adult guest."

Persons desiring a copy of the host brochure should contact their local police department or may write directly to RID at P.O. Box 1614, Wayne, NJ 07470.

TAKE MY WORD
 BY JO & JOHN JACOBSON BETWEEN VS. AMONG
 Frequently Abused Words

Someone has got to take a firm stand against "word abuse." Take, for example, the word between. It is derived from the Anglo Saxon word, betweenness, combining the preposition be = "by," + between + noun = original, "a distribution of the numeral two." Grammatically, therefore, between is the proper choice of words when only two entities are involved: "The rivalry between England and France." When more than two objects are concerned, the correct word to connect them is among. "Among the four chairs, I like the red one best." However, between can also be used to distinguish between several points. "We have narrowed the search between Newark, Elizabeth and Hoboken." Between is more an earlier form of between and is still used in the expression "between and between," meaning an intermediate position.
 Between has some interesting related words: twig, "a small tree branch;" twist, describing "two threads twisted together;" twill, "a two thread fabric;" tweed is a three thread fabric associated with the Tweed River in Scotland, where it was manufactured; twice, "a double twisted cord." Other derivatives include: teen, which probably comes from "between twelve and twenty;" teeny, which is an alteration of tiny, and teenyweeny, "a teeny following the latest fashion in clothing or music."
 The confusion in the use of between and among is easily avoided when we understand the numeral two component incorporated in the word between. Conversely, among stems from an old English (450 to 1150) word, amongan (to = "in" + among = "a crowd"), originally meaning "a mingling."
 Now that the word origins have been cleared up, you should never again find yourself between and between concerning between and among; nor shall you abuse them!

Program for "frail elderly" asking for volunteers

The Community Health Law Project has released the following information in the community, volunteers can assist with decision-making, budgeting and bill paying, and arranging medical care and transportation. The staff of the Legal Resource Center trains and supervises volunteers in advocacy techniques for securing resources and problem-solving. Advocacy and friendship are two components by which the volunteer can ease isolation and provide a vital link to community services for the aged.
 The next training workshop is co-sponsored by the Community Health Law Project together with Union County College Center of Continuing Education Department. At the completion of the training each participant will receive a certificate and 5 continuing education units (CEUs). The workshop will be held at Union County College on two consecutive Wednesdays, April 2 and April 9, from 6:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.
 Persons interested in becoming a Friend/Advocate should call Karina Prichard at 355-8282 or write the Friend/Advocate Program, Community Health Law Project, 60 Prince Street, Elizabeth, New Jersey 07208.
 The Friend/Advocate is funded through a grant by the Union County Division on Aging and is sponsored by the Legal Resource Center of the Community Health Law Project, a non-profit legal and social advocacy organization.

Dental care available to senior citizens

The Senior Citizens Council of Union County, the Union County Dental Society have, for many years, provided the senior citizens of most of Union County with the opportunity to have complete dental care. This service is rendered in the private offices of those members of the Dental Society who have indicated their desire to participate in this now county-wide program.
 The Council screens the dental society members for eligibility to enter the program. This screening usually consists of meeting the State of New Jersey guidelines used for the pharmaceutical assistance program. The Council will then refer the eligible senior to their own dentist, if he or she is a participant in the program, or to a practitioner close to their home. In all, there are about ninety members of the Union County Dental Society who are involved in this program.
 For those eligible seniors, the fees are much lower than normal, and therefore make the availability of proper and caring dental treatment much easier to obtain.

Rahway students with special needs get education help

The following information was released by the Rahway Public School spokesman:
 The Pupil Personnel Services Department of the Rahway Public Schools provides a variety of special education programs for educationally handicapped students. One of these programs is offered in conjunction with the Union County Vocational-Technical Schools (UCVTS). Each year approximately 30 students from Rahway High School attend the special needs training program at UCVTS. Most of these students have ability which is impaired by a learning disability. Students receive instruction in English, History, Mathematics, Science, Health and Physical Education for one half of the day at Rahway High School and one half of the day at UCVTS. Most of these students have ability which is impaired by a learning disability. ## RAY'S ROUND

By Ray Hoagland

Couch Steve Shoff's Arthur L. Johnson Regional Crusaders, howling team will compete for the state championship on Saturday at the Edison Lanes.

The Crusaders who captured the state title last year finished in third place in Union and Cranford last Saturday at the Echo Lanes in Mount Laurel in the North Jersey Section 12 playoffs.

The Clark Crusaders finished with 2,064 points with a score by Vic Rispell of 613 in the individual scoring.

Mike Prohammer 520; Mark Cohen 288; Richard Morucci 538; Joseph Venturi 541; and Edward Webb at 184.

Couch Shoff's team captured the championship of the Union County tournament and the Mountain Valley Conference.

Kevin Boyle of Clark, who set a record for assists in a season for the St. Peter's College basketball was honored by Arthur L. Johnson High School when his uniform #24 was retired.

Boyle scored 1,415 points, more than any other player in the Crusaders history.

In the 1981 Union County final he had 14 points to lead the Johnson team to a 71-61 win over Hillsdale.

"It wasn't just Boyle's individual achievements that made him so special," said Johnson's coach Steve Petruzzelli, "it was the total impact that he had on our program during his three years on the team."

Rahway's Stan Smith was the fourth player to score over 1,000 in the school's basketball history.

"It wasn't just Boyle's individual achievements that made him so special," said Johnson's coach Steve Petruzzelli, "it was the total impact that he had on our program during his three years on the team."

Mike Prohammer 520; Mark Cohen 288; Richard Morucci 538; Joseph Venturi 541; and Edward Webb at 184.

London Tigers defeated the Rahway Indians in a first round game of the NJCAA, Section 2, Group 3, tournament on the local court on Tuesday, March 4.

Eden Patterson's only two points of the game proved decisive when the Tigers won 36 to 34 in overtime.

Patterson converted two from the line with 19 seconds remaining gave the Tigers their second win over Rahway this year both at Rahway at 35 to 32.

Smith led the Indians with 12 points hit with a layup with four seconds left in the game.

Jeff Mosley was immediately fouled and hit on one of two to close the scoring.

Robert Blackwell finished with 12 points.

Library plans story time series

The Rahway Public Library is presenting a story time series for Kindergarten through 3rd Graders. The next session will be held on Wednesday, March 19, from 3:15 p.m. to 4:15 p.m.

Boys and girls will hear stories, see a film or film strip and perform a simple craft. Registration is required. Contact the Children's Department, telephone 381-4110.

Accessability for the handicapped may be arranged if the Children's Department is contacted by Monday, March 17.

UCC planning Spring Run

Union County College will sponsor its second annual Spring Run on Sunday, April 13, at its Cranford Campus beginning at 11 a.m. as part of its Community College Week observance. It was announced by Irwin "Wynn" Phillips, director of athletics.

The Spring Run will feature a one-mile "Fun Race" at 11 a.m. through the Cranford Campus and a 5K (3.1 mile) Distance Run through the Cranford Campus and the adjacent Nomahegan Park in Cranford and Kenilworth.

Pre-registrations will be accepted through April 10 and check-in and post-registration for both races will be conducted from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. on April 13.

Prizes will be awarded in male and female categories, in seven age groups, Phillips said.

Phillips said all runners are invited to enter the two races. He said entry forms can be obtained from Union County College's Continuing Education Office, 1033 Springfield Avenue, Cranford, N.J. Additional information can be obtained by calling 276-7301.

NELSON VAILS READIES FOR KLRF — U.S. Silver Olympic medalist, Nelson Vails, smiles happily as he prepares for the May 18 Kodak Liberty Ride Festival (KLRF), a day-long celebration for thousands of Americans in over 100 U.S. cities. The KLRF is in celebration and support of the restoration of The Statue of Liberty/Ellis Island National Monument, New York City. Vails is one of many TV sport celebrities who will participate in this nationwide event.

Union County basketball tournament update

by Ray Hoagland

The Rahway Indians advanced to the quarter-finals of the annual Union County Boys Basketball tournament with a 69 to 49 win over the Summit Hilltoppers at Dunn Sports Center in Elizabeth.

Coach Tom Lewis' Indians jumped off to a 21-10 lead at the end of the first period and increased their lead to 20 points at the half.

Rahway's senior forward Stan Smith who tallied 24 points in the game, including the 1,000 in his career, was presented with the famous Butch Kowal trophy following the game.

Smith played with a 16-foot jump shot from the right baseline with six minutes and 48 seconds to play in the first half. The game was stopped as Smith was presented with the game ball.

"This is a great feeling," Smith said in front of his team mates in the locker room. "Three years ago, I didn't think I would score 1,000 points."

Robert Blackwell had 12 points, Pat Ladley and Dave Mayers had 11 and 10 for the Indians who are now 14-7. Clavon Jackson had 8, Sal Rose 2 and Bruce May 1.

Rahway had the edge from the floor 28 to 20 and 13 to 9 from the line.

Rinaldo blasts defense contract kickbacks

Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo, R-N.J., recently called for stiffer criminal penalties to crack down on defense contract kickbacks that may be costing taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars annually.

"A recent Congressional investigation indicates that some prime contractors on defense contracts commonly extract kickbacks from subcontractors as the price of receiving Pentagon business," Rinaldo said.

"The practice is believed to be widespread that it could involve up to 50 percent of the purchase price of the contract," he said.

Rinaldo said that the practice is illegal on government projects. These inflated costs are being passed on to the federal government.

The New Jersey Republican said Congressional investigators uncovered one kickback scheme in which the contractor subcontracted phony high bids from nonexistent companies to give the appearance of competition. The subcontract work was then awarded to a firm which by design had submitted a bid lower than the fraudulent ones and agreed to pay the prime contractor a kickback.

In a second case, he said, investigators found documents showing how a purchasing agent of a major defense firm received monthly payments, the use of a credit card, and gifts such as an air conditioner worth $1,000 from a subcontractor.

Rinaldo intends to introduce legislation in the House that would broaden the federal anti-kickback laws and increase the penalties for offenders. One shortcoming of the current law, he said, is that it makes kickbacks illegal only on government projects, not on those awarded as the result of sealed bids. He said the law should be revised so that it clearly makes it a criminal offense for subcontractors and other vendors to make under the table payments to a prime contractor.

He also wants to increase the current $10,000 fine and two-year imprisonment to a $100,000 fine and 10 years imprisonment. Top executives of the prime contractor would be made liable for fines to $1 million.

Tracing progress through history

The Old Broad Street Presbyterian Church and Cemetery in Cumberland County, the Longford Works in Passaic County, the Kline Farmhouse in Hunterdon County and the Tavern in Salem County — these are among some very special historic sites in our State. All of them date back to the 18th Century to the early years of the development of our nation. They are an important part of our heritage — a heritage that is being preserved in this state.

Did you know, for example, that there are nearly 1,000 sites that have been researched and identified as cultural resources and registered as state historic places? Nearly all are also recognized in the National Register of Historic Places.

The sites are catalogued in an unimposing volume recently published by the Office of New Jersey Heritage. To leaf through its pages is to look at the development of our state and to trace its progress.

There are farmhouses, old gristmills, schoolhouses, apothecaries, covered bridges and taverns of an era when the state was sparsely populated and predominantly rural. There are iron works, railroad stations, colleges, orphan asylums, fire houses, and bandstands — reminders of a period when the state had become more industrialized and more populated. And in the 20th Century, the listing is of theaters, modern cabins, metropolitan airports, cigar factories, submarines and rocket testing facilities.

One of the oldest and most clearly documented buildings in the state is the Clark House in Union County. It is a rare survivor of the late 1600s. To be in the house is to feel the nation's history and to see a determination is made on whether a candidate can contribute to our knowledge of history or science. The Clark House, for example, is unique because it shows the carpentry techniques used in England and Holland in that day and carried there by early German and Dutch immigrants.

The most unusual in the listing? Surely Lucy — The Fargate Elephant statue high on the list. It was built in 1881 by a real estate developer to attract buyers to the area.

Extension service holds breakfast

The Union County Cooperative Extension Service recently held their annual breakfast, this time country-style, at their offices on North Ave. in Westfield.

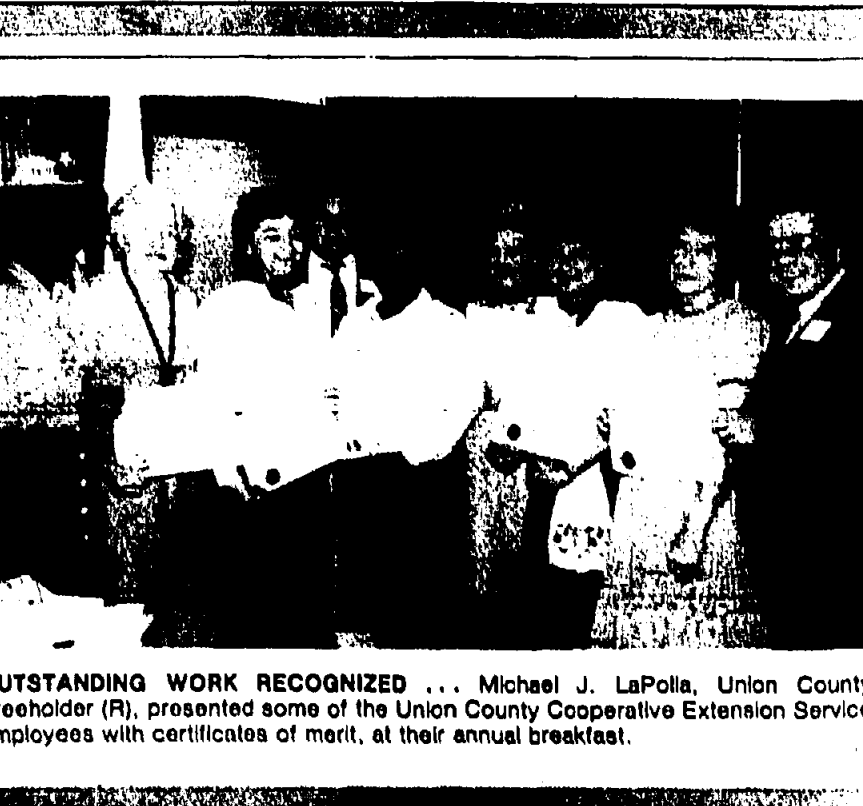

Various county, local and state officials, as well as invited guests, attended the breakfast, which also provided information on the roles of the extension service.

The Union County Cooperative Extension Service answers questions on agricultural problems, farm management, how to improve the environment, cultural practices, and much more.

In addition, the office assists people in managing financial resources, understanding human development and inter-personal relationships and selecting and creating suitable clothing and furnishings.

The office also runs the Union County 4-H Club, which helps youngsters nine to eighteen years old develop on socially, emotionally and intellectually.

At the breakfast, resolutions were given to the volunteers of the extension service from the Union County Board of Freeholders, recognizing their outstanding work. Michael J. LaPolla, Union County Freeholder, presented the resolutions.

OUTSTANDING WORK RECOGNIZED... Michael J. LaPolla, Union County Freeholder (R), presented some of the Union County Cooperative Extension Service employees with certificates of merit, at their annual breakfast.

"Shenandoah" curtain equals historical happening for old theatre

GABRIEL AND ROBERT ... Westfield and Winfield are represented in the March 14, 15, 21 and 22 UCEA production of "Shenandoah" in the persons of Mark Hardy, 13 (l) and Paul Burt, 10. Mark, an experienced actor, plays "Gabriel," Paul is "Robert," a kidnap victim.

"SHENANDOAH" LOVE ... Sabrina Prelada, a Senior in the Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School, and Sean Morgan, a Junior at Rahway High, play "Anne" and "James," an ill-fated young married couple. Sabrina and Sean both hope to pursue acting as a profession.

Union County Arts Center ... a long-awaited dream

"Shenandoah" dates are March 14, 15, 21 and 22; curtain time 8:30, all four nights. Tickets are $5 and may be reserved for pickup at the box office the night of the show by phoning the UCEA on 276-8743; or they may be purchased at the theatre Thursday evenings from 7-8 p.m.

"Shenandoah," a musical drama about the American Civil War, being presented by a company of more than 50 performers and musicians — all members of the Union County Education Association.

Besides the revitalized stage, patrons will also see a new name added to the Rahway's marquee: UNION COUNTY ARTS CENTER.

More than five years of effort by scores of dedicated volunteers will start to pay dividends on March 14 when, once again, the curtain goes up at the old Rahway Theatre on Irving Street.

A CLEAN SWEEP BY ELAINES ... Elaine Hamilton (l) and Elaine Oehme of the Rahway Area Junior Women's Club help prepare the spacious Arts Center auditorium for "Shenandoah."
