Substance abuse curriculum

Chemical use and abuse has been identified by many people as one of the most serious threats to Americans and American life. What many people may not realize is how early in their lives some children first try drugs. Rahway's new Pre-K-12 Chemical Health Curriculum teaches what students need to know in order to say "no" to drugs. You are invited to attend a special information session on the new Chemical Health Curriculum on February 25, 1988, in the Rahway High School auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Copies of the Chemical Health Curriculum for grades pre-kindergarten through twelve will be available that evening for you to examine. In addition, you will have the opportunity to participate in a brief demonstration lesson. I encourage you to attend this very important program. When we attack substance abuse in the school, home, and community we will begin to win the war against this serious threat to our children.

Contra(ry) vote

The Democrat Congressmen of N.J., by recorded vote on February 3, have declared their belief that it served our interest to trust the Cmmunist government of Nicaragua and to reject a helping hand to those Nicaraguans willing to fight the Communist tyranny. If the faith of these Congressman in the goodwill of the Communists proves to be misguided, I hope that they will resign from office. If not, I hope the voters will boot them out of office as unworthy or guiding the destiny of our by Pat DiMaggio You shouldn't judge a book by its cover and shouldn't judge people on what they do for a living. But some of us have noticed certain stereotypes. Although we re certainly not prejudiced, we do seem to have some pre-conceived notions about certain types of people. See if ou can recognize any of the following: Librarians have poor eyesight. They all wear glasses. Construction workers drink beer a lot and swear.

Writers wear vests or jackets with suede patches on the lbows and drink an awful lot of coffee. Truck drivers like to whistle. Fat people are jolly.

Skinny people are nervous or neurotic. Childless women are frustrated, Unmarried men are insecure.

Divorcees are swingers. Blondes are dumb. (This is the stupidest one I ever Accountants can't balance their checkbooks. Men with long hair and beards are not trustworthy.

Housewives don't work. Women make poor drivers. Staff writers for weekly, local newspapers are utterly ascinating, beautiful and talented people.

FLAVORED DENTAL FLOSS - We all know how important it is to have clean teeth and to brush and flose them regularly. Well, I have a great idea that I use and would like to share with your readers. I put a strand of dental floss in a small cap that I fill with mouthwash the night before. When I get up the next morning, after brushing my teeth, I floss with a great tasting floss and my teeth are twice as clean. Terry G., Joplin, Mo.

children were small. I occasionally left them with a babysitter. When it was their first time with a new babysitter, whether they stayed at home or went to the sitter's house, here is what I would do. Each of my children had a special blanket. Before leaving them, I would spray (ever so lightly) my perfume on a small area of their blanket. From the time they were six months old, even six years old, it would reassure them that Mom was still around. Pamela S., Waterbury, Conn.

SWEET SMELLING BLANKET - When my

MONEY SAVER - When preparing fruits and vegetables, lay an old newspaper on your counter to catch the peelings. (Don't lay the peeled veggies, etc., on the newspaper.) When you are finished, just roll up the whole mess and put in the garbage. Some people use paper towels for this job, but newspapers are a lot less expensive. Regina T., Boutte, La.

HANGING FLOWER POT - At a garage sale, I found a hanging flower pot which cost very little. Not having any use for it at the time. I hung it on the rod in my clothes closet. Pretty soon, it was a catch-all for small items I didn't have a convenient place for. This could be used in a child's closet to hold small toys, hung in the sewing room, workshop, garage or any place a catch-all for small items is needed. Sandy E., Watervliet, N.Y.
