The following is a reply to a Certified letter, received by me on February 20, from the Clark Education Association (teacher's union), Political Action Committee, requesting me to make an appointment for an interview with them with regard to my candidacy in the next Clark School Board Election in April. Since no return address was furnished it has become necessary for me to use this means: "Gentlemen: In response to your Certified letter, dated February 19, please be advised that I appreciate the opportunity of seeking the endorsement of your "Political Action Committee." It is with sincere regrets, however, that I must decline the opportunity As a candidate it is my strong contention that as such I would be a representative of the electorate, at large, and their children. This is the endorsement I seek. Obtaining the endorsement of a Political Action Group of the teacher's union appears to be a conflict of interest, the teachers being represented at the bargaining table by the union. In prior elections, when your organization has requested lengthy written explanations by the candidates as to their positions on particular issues, they were promptly used as fodder for a negative campaign. As an elected Board Member my obligation would be to the voters and their youngsters. Since I choose not to h obligated to any self-interest group, I must pass on your request. Thank you for the opportunity. John Schroeck, Candidate, Clark School Board

I am a good candy hider. I have so many hiding places around the house, I am often pleasantly surprised to discover some stash hidden away for months in places I forgot about. I am a gold medal winner at reading. My sons can be killing each other, the house could be falling down, the laundry could be piling up like Mount Nakiska, but I will be tuned out and turned on to another time in another I'm sure if you thought long and hard you would discover talent within yourself that you never knew existed. We are all, in one way or another, a champion.
