Council, mayor at odds over city's auditing

By Sean Daily

The City Council and Mayor James Kennedy could be entering yet another dispute because of city government appointments.

The position at stake is city auditor, specifically, what accounting firm will audit the books of the city government, the city's water department and, possibly, the Rahway Public Library.

Two resolutions were brought before the council on Wednesday to hire two competing firms for the auditing jobs. These two firms would be hired to audit the books of the Water Department and the city government between July 1, 1995 and June 30, 1996.

One, sponsored by Councilman Sal Mione, calls for the hiring of the firm of Reysel, Perier & Neral. This firm was hired for last year's audit and was paid $34,400.

According to Councilman Jerry Coleman, the firm of Reysel, Perier & Neral contributed to Kennedy's mayoral campaign. The firm has received an auditing job for the Rahway government ever since Kennedy came into office, he added.

Currently, the mayor puts up a nomination for an auditing firm which is then approved or rejected by the council.

Kennedy could not be reached for comment, however, Peter Peisner, the city's business administrator, said he could neither confirm nor deny Coleman's allegation.

"My comment on this is, 'is that illegal?' It's not illegal," said Peisner.

"The key here in this allegation is that this is a smoke screen," he said. Coleman added that it was not Kennedy's place to appoint the auditor for Rahway, but the council's. The council and Kennedy are already embroiled in a lawsuit to determine which branch of government makes the appointments to the Board of Adjustment and the parking, housing and sewerage authorities.

County incinerator shuts down

Officials say a crane fell, tore down electrical lines

By Donna Segal

Managing Editor

The Union County trash incinerator in Rahway was shut down June 5, after a crane fell on its side and tore electrical lines.

The Annapolis Inc. crane reportedly fell when it was moving into position to take a 20-ton side off a truck. No one was injured.

The accident occurred at 6:10 a.m., while a permanent temporary emissions control system was being installed. According to Joseph Spatola, Union County Utilities Authority deputy executive director, the incinerator was re-opened Saturday morning, and all three burner units were put back in operation.

The site was installed Saturday also.

The accident resulted in the emission of carbon monoxide exceeding state permit levels but, said Jeffrey Callahan, UCUA executive director, no public health hazard was caused.

The emission "was a short duration event, it all concluded in about a three-hour period," Callahan also said. He added that there is "no major deflection factor in the environment, a large margin of safety between what our permit conditions are and health risks, so we wouldn't expect that there would be any health risks."

Coleman to hold a write-in campaign

By Sean Daily

Staff Writer

"I didn't lose to Robert Rachlin, I lost to the city, county and state Democratic machine."

Those are the words of City Councilman Jerry Coleman, who was one of two incumbent councilmen to lose the Democratic candidacy for their council seats.

Coleman lost the Democratic candidacy to Robert Rachlin in the 1st Ward last week. Rachlin will therefore be carrying the Democratic banner against his Republican opponent, Robert Vesey, in November.

Coleman, however, said he will be running a write-in campaign for the council. He said his chances are good, since most of the voters in the 1st Ward were "independdents" who never voted in the primaries and who are "not going to be tied into a party past the primary."

According to Coleman, his campaign "basically instructs the residents not to pull a lever." Instead of voting for Vesey or Rachlin, Coleman will be instructing the voters to write in his name on a space provided in every voting booth.

"It's actually easier to write in a name than to pull a lever," he said.

If there are people who have trouble doing this, Coleman will make people available during the November elections to give them assistance. He added that people who need help voting are legally entitled to have someone enter

Residents show appreciation to city's finest

By Sean Daily

Staff Writer

If you didn't know better, you would have thought Rahway was being invaded.

At least 45 police and emergency vehicles crowded into the area around City Hall on Saturday, and represented police departments from Brick Township to Bayonne and from the port authority, the sheriff's department, the state police and the Union County police.

"I was so busy that day I couldn't keep track," said David McGrath, president of the Rahway Police Benevolent Association.

But it was not a siege on a criminal stronghold that brought all these officers to Rahway. Just the opposite, in fact.

Saturday was Police Appreciation Day in the city. The event, organized by the Rahway PBA, was intended to dissolve the "wall of apprehension" between civilians and police.

"It was really our day to show our appreciation to our citizens," said McGrath.

The highlight of the day, of course, was all the hardware that the various police departments brought to the event.

The vehicles and units that were present that day included police beats from the state police and Newark, the bomb disposal truck with a remote-controlled bomb robot from the Union County Police, K-9 units from Carteret and the Sheriff's Department, a bicycle patrol unit from Bayonne and a Mobile Command Station from Elizabeth.

"There must have been eight guys with bicycles," said McGrath.

"It was packed," he added.

And, keeping with the spirit of the day, residents got the chance to ask questions about the units and their equipment and even climb over, under and into the vehicles. According to McGrath, that was the whole point.

"Whenever you see a cop, you think you're going to get a ticket," he said. "You never really have a chance to talk."

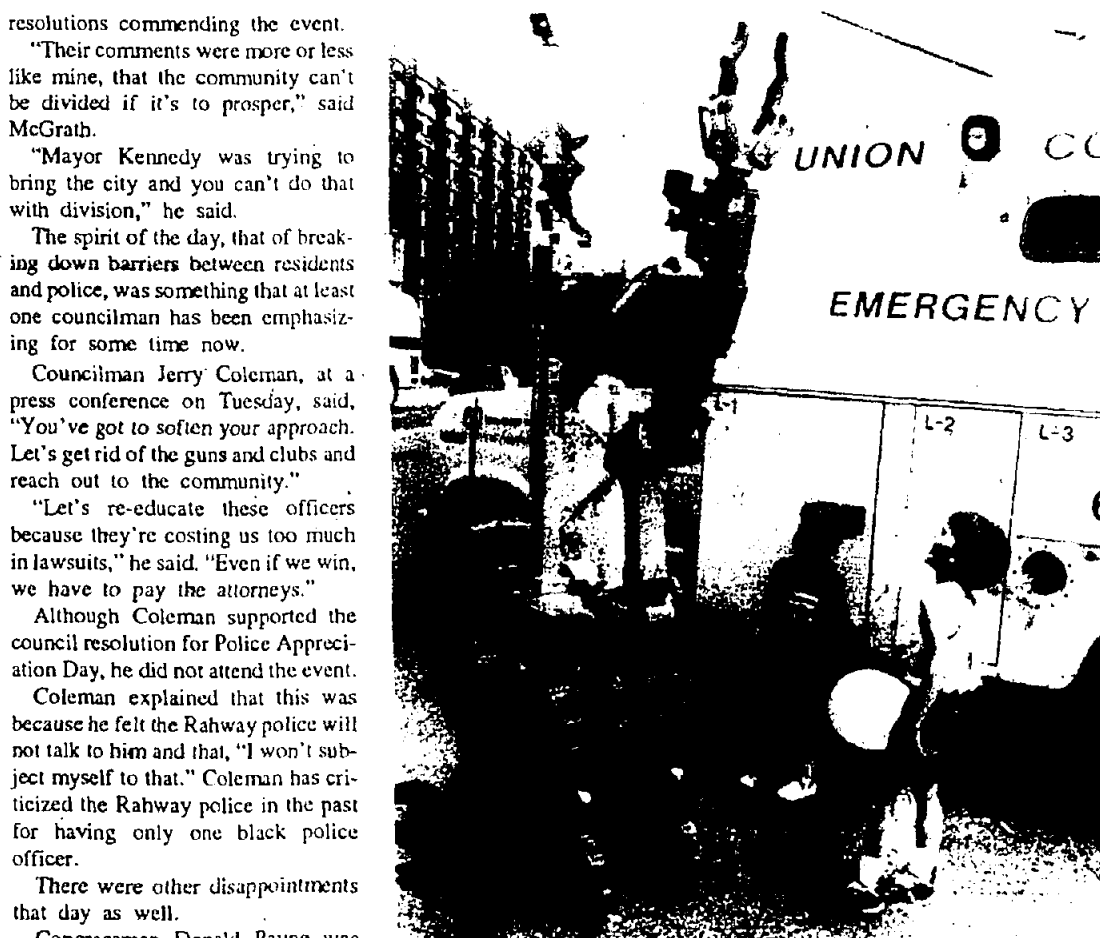

"Everyone had a good time," he added. "You don't see that too often."

In addition, there was a 21-gun salute to honor the five officers who were killed in the line of duty in Rahway. The first was killed in 1913, the most recent in 1971.

A number of dignitaries also attended the event. Mayor James Kennedy, Councilman Chester Holmes and Freeholder Linda Stender all presented the Police Department and Chief of Police Barry Henderson with

The city celebrated Police Appreciation Day Saturday. Included in the celebration was a 21-gun salute to honor the five officers who were killed in the line of duty in Rahway.

Battle for ward seats begins

By Sean Daily

Staff Writer

The candidates for the 2nd Ward seat on the City Council began to square off even before the primaries last week.

The issue they are disputing is Prospect Street, a residential street that is used by commuters, to avoid a blinking stop sign at Whittier Street and Linden Avenue and to catch a traffic light further up Whittier Street.

The ordinance to make it a one-way street passed May 23 and was co-sponsored by Janusz. Janusz is not against the ordinance, he said, but how it got to the council.

According to Janusz, Simon did not bring a proposal to change Prospect Street to him, but waited until he announced his candidacy to bring the proposal before the council.

This delayed the action that the council could have taken. The only reason that he was able to pass the ordinance on May 23 was because there was a special meeting that night and he was able to get it on the agenda, he said.

If it had been brought before him, Janusz added, he could have pushed the change through the state Department of Transportation, and "we could have had gotten a one-way street by now." The change for Prospect Street still needs to be approved by the DOT.

"Bob never came to me," said Janusz. "They hid it from me to further their political gains."

"It has never happened, that I remember, that a councilman wasn't able to sponsor a traffic ordinance," he said, adding that such requests have always been forwarded to councilmen as a "courtesy."

"It's not that he wouldn't work with me," he said. "It's that he tried to bypass me for political gain and at the cost of safety of residents."

Simon, a member of the Environment, said he would not work with me, he said. "It's that he tried to bypass me for political gain and at the cost of safety of residents."

Janusz, Simon begin campaign

(Continued from Page 1) Councilman Janusz, replied that, "What I think he's angry about is the fact that it was done and he didn't know anything about it until it was introduced." Simon said he learned about the problem on Prospect Street when he talked to a neighbor who had tried to change the street to a one-way street two years ago but stopped because of a "personal tragedy."

"Being realistic, the councilman (Janusz) lives maybe 15 or 20 streets away, and I imagine he would have heard about it beforehand," said Simon. Simon said he first talked to Bus Administration Peter Pelisser, who told him to talk to Lt. Ed Hannan of the Traffic Bureau. He added that he talked to Mayor James Kennedy. "I said, 'You know, it's a one block street and there are kids' and he said, 'Go for it.'"

Hannan said to Simon that he would need to talk to the residents

Appointment right discussed

(Continued from Page 1) Coleman stated that based on past resolutions, the council appoints the auditing firm for the library and the library pays for the contract out of its own pocket. McCoy disagreed. He said that while the issue is not clear, many libraries that "pay their own bills, like they have their own auditor." "If we pay for it, we have to pick him or pick her," he said. McCoy added that the library had been selecting its own auditor ever since he came to the library. The library's auditor, Reydell, Perier & Neal, was already hired in January during the reorganization meeting of the board of trustees, and has been the library's auditor since 1991.

"Let me thank Councilman Janusz," said Coleman. "Because of this initiative, we're learning that we have these appointments when the mayor has made them." Pelisser replied that the mayor has put up the nomination for the auditor for the past 20 years, since before Kennedy took office. He added that "if the council has ruled that this is a strictly council appointment, that's fine."

Coleman sponsored his own resolution at Wednesday's council meeting, having the firm of Lerch, Vini & Higgins for the city and water department votes. The council could also be locking horns with the Rahway Public Library in the future over auditing services. The council's dispute with the library is the same as with the mayor: Who makes the appointment to the job?

According to Keith McCoy, library director, the library and the council have been analyzing this problem over since he came to the library three years ago.

County incinerator shuts down

"The repair cost had not been determined by press time, but (Olgen Martin, the company that operates the facility, will share the cost with the county that owns the crane. "There would be a settlement between them," Calahan said. He added that there were some losses during the time that the incinerator

Coleman says he will not give up

(Continued from Page 1) they were "tired" of Coleman. "His approach to politics seemed more dramatic than effective," he said. "I appointed Jerry to things and he wasn't interested. The same with the Register; they didn't want to be involved and now they're making it a big bully thing," he added. According to Kennedy, this came out of Coleman's "He forgets that more people voted against him than for him," he said. He added, "I've heard this from so many candidates. The last one with a write-in campaign had I think four or five votes." Radwin agreed.

"Historically, write-in campaigns usually don't work. He was in the same position on the ballot as Dave Brown and I thought, 'Dad, I don't want to be a write-in candidate.' He added that Coleman has "not been a team player in the Democratic organization." "He seems more happy being on the front page and losing than winning and not," said Kennedy.

He added that many residents of the 1st Ward said that

Locals celebrate Rahway's finest

(Continued from Page 1) "We work so hard to work for Rahway, to build up the town, and we don't even get a snapshot," he said. "The main message of the thing was to bring the community together," he added. "It's really difficult in say."

Program promotes education

Rahway's Roosevelt School is stressing books and bricks this spring as the means to motivating children and parents to get excited about education. The 325 students in the K-5 elementary school have read more than 10,000 books and passed the Accelerated Reader Test since the acquisition on Dec. 1, 1995, of the new reading comprehension program for the school's computer lab. The school is also attempting to sell 500 engraved bricks this spring for a walkway through the building's courtyard, which has been transformed into a learning laboratory complete with greenhouse and planting beds.

The Accelerated Reader Program has stimulated student interest in reading by rewarding students for each book read and successful completion of a five-question comprehension test. The more difficult the book, the more points awarded. Students can redeem points for prizes such as books, zipper pulls, bumper stickers, patches, hats, water bottles, T-shirts and tote bags.

The walkway, which stretches across the courtyard, will contain some 2,000 bricks including 500 special engraved bricks. Parents, students and community residents have purchased more than 390 engraved bricks at a cost of $25 each. One hundred and fifty additional bricks must be sold to complete the project. The deadline is June 18.

"The walkway project will better enable our students and teachers to use the courtyard as a learning laboratory. The engraved bricks help us to pay the cost of the entire project," Landgren said.

Medical waste treatment plan approved

With a 6-1 vote, the Zoning Board of Adjustment approved the use variance application of Earth Care Systems Inc. Monday night.

Board Chairman William Schneider made a motion to adopt a resolution in favor of the medical waste treatment facility. "This board has been asked by Earth Care to give a decision on a use variance, and nothing else," he said. "The property in question is in an industrial zone and it is far enough away from residential properties separated from the area by the New Jersey Turnpike and heavy industrial properties."

"This is well suited for the intended use. There have been on-site inspections of the same type of facility at Muhlenberg Hospital in Plainfield, and it adheres to all safety measures." He added, "This board does not profess to be experts in this matter. It came to the Board of Adjustment for a lot of the requirements for a use variance."

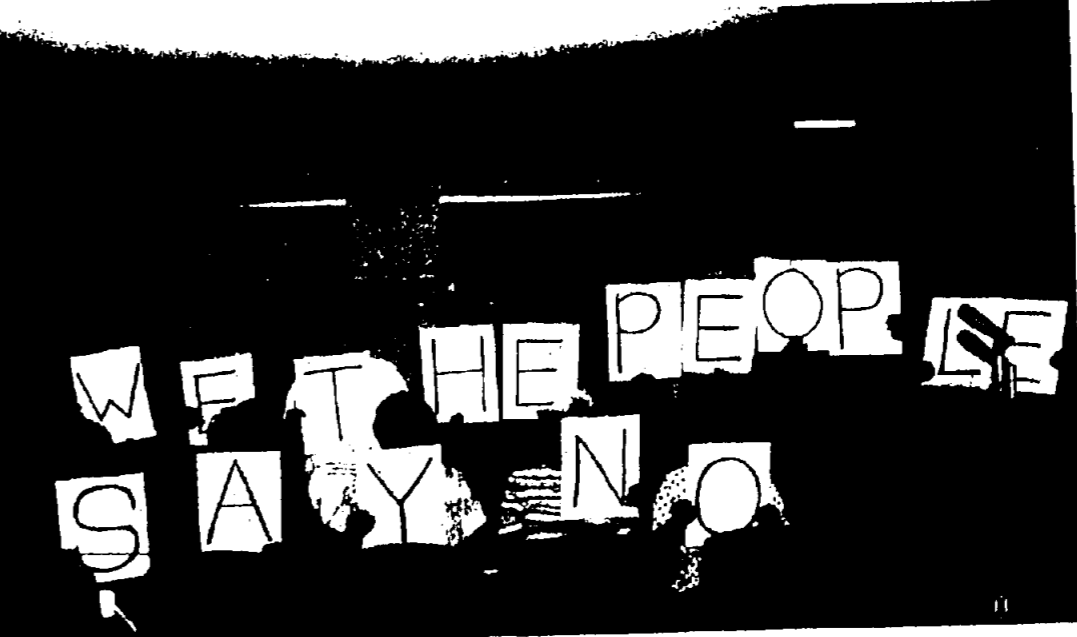

Schneider said the board could not speak on behalf of the residents, and requested that further review and actions on the application be forwarded to the City Council.

Commissioner Philip Carr did not agree with the rest of the board. He voted no and said, "I do not believe it promotes the general health and welfare of the population."

"I don't think the board looked into it enough," he later added. "During the one month delay, we never met, there were no testimonies, and none of the board members together to discuss it. During that month, nothing happened."

"If the hazardous waste incinerator comes here, it's another black eye against us. It will decrease the value of real estate in the town, and the young people may decide to move to where there are none of these problems."

Economic strides

Since 1993, the Union County Alliance has been working, along with other county agencies such as Union County College, Union County Economic Development Corp., and Union County government, to face the economic challenges of the 21st century. How it will do this is explained in broad strokes in "The Next Century," its document outlining eight goals ranging from business expansion and reinvention to enhancing communication and coordination among municipalities.

The plan emphasizes business expansion, including upgrading the infrastructure, communications, and expanded communitywide purchasing power to revitalize downtown shopping areas of municipalities, but also addresses housing, environment, health care and human services, and cultural resources to make this a county where people live — not just work.

The report concentrates on making Union County a county which integrates the best, most efficient resources of each individual town for the benefit of the whole by promoting its infrastructure of highways, railroads, airports and support links. Such a strategy has been created due to a declining manufacturing base.

The report states that Union County is positioned to retain its core of industrial and transportation resources that once made it as economically significant as any post-World War II industrial area. In addition to local and county efforts, Union County is involved with a regional effort to attract and retain industry to the northeast region of New Jersey. Due to the efforts of the Union County Economic Development Corp., Union County is in the forefront of these efforts.

But much of that manufacturing has long since deserted the county. The county can no longer consider itself a manufacturing-based post-war economy and must adapt to a different economic-based economy.

In 1994, the Alliance commissioned Mark Lapping and James Hughes, the dean and associate dean, respectively, of the School of Planning and Public Policy at Rutgers University to develop a foundation document of baseline economic and demographic information.

Lapping and Hughes concluded that the loss of manufacturing is the core of the county's economic decline. The report states Union County is becoming a service-based economy, yet "from 1986 to 1991, seven firms closed or relocated for every two that moved into the county. The impact on jobs was dramatic. At the same time, Union County did not benefit from the wave of large-scale retail and regional mall development and office construction, nor did the county benefit greatly from the state's long-term shift to a post-industrial, service-and-information-based economy."

Where does that leave us?

If the county cannot retain or attract the manufacturing sector, logic dictates that it must turn to retail and service-based businesses.

It is evident that Union County is in an economic flux. With such fiscal uncertainty, relevant socio-economic information must be gathered before action is taken, be it either in the private or public sector, to truly revitalize Union County. If a report such as "The Next Century" had been drafted 25 years ago, the county's economic future might have been determined earlier, thus avoiding the uncertainty we are currently faced with.

But it wasn't. It's here now. And for that we should all be thankful because no other county in the state is addressing problems and promoting themselves like Union County. We feel that the report should be distributed to as many businesses in the county as possible. It is critical that everyone is on the same wave length concerning a revitalization strategy. The findings from any locally commissioned reports must be freely shared and the Alliance must grow stronger.

We urge all Union County residents to ask their elected officials what they're doing to help in this process. Keep apprised as to the economic growth of your town and the surrounding towns. With county and municipal officials, business owners and residents keeping their eyes open, the effectiveness of gauging the economy greatly increases.

As the saying goes, "Together we stand, divided we fall."

Fly the flag

Many of us take the flag for granted. The only holidays we think of flying the flag are on Memorial and Veterans days, when we honor Americans who fought and/or died in battle to protect our freedom.

Flag Day is another reminder to display the red, white and blue — symbols of our country's freedom and democracy.

Friday is Flag Day, and all Americans should take pride in displaying the American flag. Fly the flag Friday and every day through the Fourth of July and beyond, and display your continued commitment to our country's freedom.

"Let your speech be always with grace; seasoned with salt."

Remember to always focus on the children

Editor's note: The following is an open letter to the Rahway community from Superintendent of Schools Anthony P. Cavanaugh.

Just over four years ago, you welcomed me as I moved into the community and asked me to help move the Rahway public schools into the 21st century. We did just that and much more. The way we did it was by tapping the resources that were right here in the community for the good of the children. We sent a clear message that those who work the school system for their own personal gain were not welcomed. We put together a philosophy of educational goals and a strong community team that valued our children and what was good for them. Our accomplishments are quite amazing.

College acceptances have soared, standardized test scores have skyrocketed, statewide test results in grade eight and have shown significant gains. Our students are doing better today than at any other time in the recent past. We have generated hundreds of thousands of dollars for our community.

schools through supporters such as Merck, the Rahway Foundation for Educational Excellence, the National Science Foundation, Goals 2000, the Statewide Systemic Initiative, the DeWitt Wallace Foundation, Exxon, Ogden Martin, among others. These funds have made us an educational leader in both the state and the nation. Reading Recovery, Science, Mathematics, Technology are what we do best in Rahway and everyone knows it.

We have not neglected, however, the fine and performing arts, the humanities and athletics at every important program and avenue leading to student success. Our students are achieving at levels that have never been reached before. These tremendous strides and successes could not have been accomplished without the support of our community and the diligence and guidance of our outstanding professional staff. Together we have made a tremendous difference in the lives of children.

Our staff has traveled all over the county and the world to receive training so they can be the best at what they do. They should be commended for their commitment to the job that they do so well. Our Rahway Foundation for Educational Excellence has led our classrooms along the path to self-expression and growth. Our parents, concerned community members, governmental officials and business partners have also made an impact on the exemplary job that our schools are doing. They have supported our schools, our children and me as their leader. Their support is much appreciated. I call on them to provide the leadership necessary to work with the Board of Education in ensuring that the next superintendent of schools is of suitable character to lead the community into the 21st century.

It is with a heavy heart and sincere being with Phelan. Phelan has remained at the center of Justin's life throughout college.

I've observed Justin doing homework while sitting on his living room couch. He was completely focused on reading a piece of music. One of the musical skills you pick up in college is an ability to hear music in your mind just by looking at the notes. College doesn't teach you how to do this. Justin was making a mountain of pillows, climbing on top of it, and the possibility that he might, at last, enjoy an eight-hour slumber in the land of Morpheus, the god of dreams, must first be put to rest. Justin was making a mountain of pillows, climbing on top of it, and support of our community and the diligence and guidance of our outstanding professional staff. Together we have made a tremendous difference in the lives of children.

Our staff has traveled all over the county and the world to receive training so they can be the best at what they do. They should be commended for their commitment to the job that they do so well. Our Rahway Foundation for Educational Excellence has led our classrooms along the path to self-expression and growth. Our parents, concerned community members, governmental officials and business partners have also made an impact on the exemplary job that our schools are doing. They have supported our schools, our children and me as their leader. Their support is much appreciated. I call on them to provide the leadership necessary to work with the Board of Education in ensuring that the next superintendent of schools is of suitable character to lead the community into the 21st century.

Do not attack

To the Editor:

I am grateful for, and thank, the large number of voters who came out in the Democratic primary and chose me to seek re-election as mayor of Clark. With my running mates, current Council members Kuchar, Ruggerio and Soyka, we have committed ourselves to a program of progress and principle over policies.

We will continue, as a team, to convey our message to the good people of Clark that government can expand services while keeping taxes in line; that we can increase recreation for our youth; that we can give our seniors transportation, health services, tax advice and activities; that we can protect our environment, yet bring business activity and new construction to town; and that we have a vision for the future, where we strengthen even more the sense of community in Clark.

I call upon my two opponents in the November election to pledge themselves to conduct a campaign based upon issues and not upon personal attacks and discussion of the private lives of our families. My opponent in the primary conducted such a campaign, so it can be done. I pledge to conduct my campaign on the issues.

Mayor Robert S. Ellinger, Clark

To the Editor:

I wish to thank all of the people of Clark who supported me as councilwoman at large in the recent election.

I intend to make positive proposals as a council candidate and do the best for the community I call home. I am well aware of the many families and residents who

SPORTS

Union and Johnson were the best

Farmers won county championship and Crusaders captured section crown

Union and Johnson Regional continued to be the top two teams in Union County this year, both teams winning conference championships.

Union won a sixth consecutive Watching Conference American Division title while Johnson captured a second straight Mountain Valley Conference Mountain Division crown.

Union won a sixth consecutive Union County Tournament title and ninth overall by besting Johnson 4-3 in the final.

Johnson won a second consecutive North Jersey Section 2, Group 2 championship and reached the Group 2 state championship game for a second straight season.

LAURA LABONIA, Union: For the second consecutive year Labonia was the winning pitcher in the state, posting a 25-4 record. The junior was 27-2 last year and 21-3 her freshman year.

Union finished 25-4 this year and Labonia pitched every inning but one. She will enter her senior season with a 73-9 mark, 27 wins shy of breaking the state record of 99 set by 1992 Ramsey graduate Heather Wilson. Eight of Labonia's losses have come by one run and the other five by two runs. Four of her losses have come in extra innings.

Labonia had an even earned run average of 1.00. In 179 innings she gave up 114 hits and 59 runs (25 earned), struck out 181, walked 31 and hit five batters.

She had four no-hitters, two one-hitters (one shared), five two-hitters and seven shutouts (one shared). In her three-year career Labonia has thrown 11 no-hitters (three of them perfect games), 13 one-hitters (one shared) and 34 shutouts (one shared).

A first-team All-State selection last year by the Star-Ledger and Associated Press as a pitcher, Labonia is also one of the best hitters in North Jersey. This year she batted .467 (50-for-107) and drove in 37 runs. She belted 33 singles, 13 doubles, three triples and one home run. Labonia struck out only twice, walked 13 times and had two sacrifices.

Labonia also came through in the clutch, getting game-winning hits for Union in the seventh inning of its UCT semifinal and final victories.

Labonia went 5-for-5 with three doubles and five RBI in Union's 19-2 win over Immaculata.

ERICA KIRSCHNER, Union: The three-year varsity starter moved to catcher this year after two years as a stand-out rightfielder. Heeded to Wagner College on a partial softball scholarship, the senior batted a team-leading .495 (46-for-93) and drove in team-leading 46 runs. She hit 21 singles, 11 doubles, 10 triples and three home runs.

ANDREA DAVID, Union: This senior shortstop will play next year at Montic State. Considered one of the best fielding shortstops in North Jersey, David saved many runs with her first play in the field. The two-year starter batted .365 (31-for-85) this year, scoring 23 runs and driving in 30. She hit 28 singles, one double, one triple and one home run.

KATHY PELLERITO, Union: Johnson Regional was one out away from winning the UCT for the first time since 1981 when this senior third baseman stepped up to the plate and, on an 0-1 pitch, drilled a base hit to right field that brought home two runs to tie the game at 3-3. A two-year starter, Pellerito will attend Trenton State and attempt to make the softball team. She batted .396 (42-for-106), scored 14 runs and drove in 26. Pellerito belted 40 singles and two doubles.

MICHELE WHITE, Union: A three-year starter and four-year varsity performer, White will play next year at Middlesex County College for head coach Irene Cohen, a 1982 UHS graduate who went on to star at Trenton State College. The senior second baseman batted .457 (42-for-92), scored a team-leading 44 runs and had 24 RBI. She belted 31 singles and 11 doubles and was the only Union player not to strike out this year.

KAREN KOLMOS, Johnson Regional: In only her sophomore campaign, Kolmos has become one of Union County's dominating pitchers. With a 15-5 record, Kolmos helped the Crusaders to a 23-3 mark and led them to their second-straight Group 2 final. In 188 1/3 innings, Kolmos allowed just 57 hits, struck out 140 and gave up 11 earned runs for a .64 ERA. Defensively, few played the pitcher position better. Kolmos recorded 47 assists and eight putouts, with just one error for a .982 fielding percentage. Kolmos batted .381 (29-for-76) and drove in 20.

LAURA ZAMBUTO, Johnson Regional: Although she struggled from the plate through the first half of the season, the senior first baseman was up the state's best pitching during the Crusaders' run to the Group 2 final. Although Johnson fell to West Deptford 6-5 in 10 innings, Zambuto's three-run homer in the fourth inning gave Johnson a chance at winning the school's first state title. Defensively there are few better than Zambuto. She had an impressive .984 fielding percentage.

TARA TUMMINELLO, Johnson Regional: This senior shortstop is the total ball player. Not only does Tumminello have the capability to dominate a game with gloves, but as the Crusaders' leadoff batter, she performed outstandingly. Finishing with a .405 batting average and 305 at-bats, Tumminello was the team's swiftest base runner against all opponents. Feared as a bunt specialist, her 19 RBI (third best on the team) is evidence she can handle the bat with runners on base. Defensively, no ball is out of range for the speedy Tumminello.

KELLY MULLIGAN, Johnson Regional: Leading the Crusaders with 81 at-bats, this senior rightfielder drove in a team-high 28 runs with 27 hits and batted .335. She also led Johnson with three triples and one home run. Mostly used as the designated hitter last year, Mulligan was the senior leader in Johnson's all-new outfield. She recorded 15 putouts, 16 assists and showed great range and arm strength, as well as accuracy, on throws from the outfield.

LORI BENE, Linden: For the third straight year, this senior shortstop batted better than .500. At .555, Bene went 30-for-54 and drove in 19 runs. She also hit for power with 12 doubles, three triples and two home runs, while striking out only 10 times. Bene was also outstanding in the field. She had a .950 fielding percentage and recorded 41 putouts and 81 assists.

JYNGER JONES, Rahway: This senior centerfielder was the leading hitter for the Indians with a .425 average which included a home run, two triples, three doubles and nine RBI. Defensively, Jones committed just four errors and 24 attempts.

JACKIE BARA, Roselle Catholic: This senior leftfielder was one of three captains who brought needed leadership to a young Lions' squad. With the second strongest arm on the team, Bara could run runners down at any base.

Snapple Bowl III at UHS July 18

The road team is 2-0. Middlesex County proved superior in the first Snapple Bowl, winning 35-14 two years ago at Union High School's Cooke Memorial Field.

Last year Union County evened the series at 1-1 by edging Middlesex 17-15 at Sayreville High after New Providence's Rich Dwyer kicked a 27-yard field goal with less than two minutes to go.

The Home News & Tribune's Snapple Bowl III will take place at UHS Thursday, July 18. Tickets are $5.

Eighty of the top scholastic football players from the Class of 1996 in Union and Middlesex counties will line up against one another to, once again, decide which county reigns supreme on the gridiron.

Proceeds from the game will again benefit the Lakeside School in Edison and the Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountaintop.

Game director Marcus Borden, the head coach at East Brunswick and one of the Middlesex coaches this year, said that more than $9,000 was raised and donated to the charities last summer.

Players from both squads visited the two facilities last year and each participating charity will again host a pap rally the Monday before the game.

Borden's latest addition to the lineup will be a banquet at The Pines Manor in Edison on July 17, the night before the game. Players and cheerleaders will attend the banquet free of charge with tickets priced at $30 for others wishing to attend.

Middlesex will continue to wear the aqua and orange colors of the Miami Dolphins and Union will suit up in the silver and black of the Oakland Raiders.

Area players on the initial Union County roster include: ELIZABETH: Spencer Timmons, Quarran Rogers, John Duque, John Fro, Lee Miller, Al Hawkins, Aaron Marker, Julian Hambrick, HILLSIDE: Alex Ballard, Brian Jackson, JOHNSON REGIONAL: Dan Luoddeke, Greg Layden, Dan Guzovich, Frank Metzler, LINDEN: Pete Tchorzewski, Wilson Rosenberg, Ken Chardonn, RAHWAY: Javier Gonzalez, ROSSELLE: Shawn Allen, Mike Sorzo, ROSSELLE PARK: Bob Harris, Bill Schenstul, Jon Henshaw, Jamie Oltchick-SUMMIT: Kwon-Foote, UNION: Carlos Rinolo, Rudy Pont Du Jon, Anthony Russell.

Area head coaches that will coach the Union County squad include: JOHNSON REGIONAL: Bob Taylor, ROSSELLE PARK: John Wagney, ELIZABETH: Jerry Moore, HILLSIDE: Darryl Sellers.

Roselle Park stars

The following are Roselle Park Youth Baseball League results:
T. Grosso & Girls 29, Elizabeth General Medical Center 10: Meghan Haddad had four home runs and nine RBI, one of her home runs a grand slam. Cheryl Zapala had four hits, Joanna Riley and Christine Allen and Nicole Casper pitched well.

Magie Hill Karate 12, Elizabeth General Medical Center 12: Lisa Pichino, Amanda Strahan and Ashley MacDermott pitched well in the first-round playoff game. Tara Vida went 3-for-3, Alyssa Lefano's single started a sixth-inning, seven-run rally which won the game and Nicole Haeck reached base safely all four times.

Force Hardwood Floors 12, Magie Hill Karate 4: Jody Napoliello had a home run and winning pitcher Nicole Schreiber went 4-for-5 for FHF. Melanie Scott and Melissa Rimoldi also played well.

Burger King vs. Cicciello Bros: Nicole Gurses and Dara Alfano had three hits and Amanda McKelrick, Kayla Katsnowski and Melissa Conney two.

Cowles, who competes in the 60-64 age group, will compete at next week's Randolph High School Classic Track and Field Meet.

He is also planning to compete in the Garden State Games July 6-7 at Edison High School, the Summer Track Festival Aug. 5 in Maplewood and the New Jersey State Meet Sept. 6-7 at a site that still has to be determined.

Local students honored for achievements

Clark resident Laura R. Zambuto, a senior at Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, was awarded the Loyola Scholarship from the University of Scranton in Pennsylvania. She plans to major in biology, play softball and be active in Student Government.

Zambuto is an honor student. She is also a four-year member of the Student Council, most recently chairwoman of the high school sponsored annual blood drive. She is active in the Peer Leadership program and she is a first baseman on varsity softball team. Zambuto also received an MVP award for winter track and field, where she is a shot put and received second place Mountain Valley Conference and third place Union County. Zambuto also received academic awards: Ursula College Merit Scholarship, Moravian College Commencement Scholarship and Maitland High School Dean's Scholarship.

In an unprecedented occurrence, students enrolled in the religious school at Temple Beth Or of Beth Tera in Clark, captured each of the top awards in an area-wide essay contest on the 3,000th anniversary of Jerusalem.

More than 300 youths composed essays on the theme "If I Forget Thee O Jerusalem." The contest was held in conjunction with the Jerusalem

Union resident Gregg Buttermore rehearses for the Celebration Singers' upcoming performances, scheduled for Saturday at Scotch Plains/Fanwood High School.

Celebration Singers to perform

The Celebration Singers announced two concerts have been scheduled for Saturday at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. at Scotch Plains/Fanwood Senior High School.

This non-profit musical organization, directed by Tom Pedas, offers a tuition-free choral training program for 45 children, aged 9-13. The spring shows will feature several selections combining both the adult and children's choruses.

State playwrights' works featured in theater fest

Celebrating New Jersey writers, the John Harris Theater and Playwrights Theatre of New Jersey have joined forces to co-sponsor a New Jersey Theater Festival of works by state playwrights.

The fest, staged readings will be held at the John Harris Theater cabaret in Englewood today at 8 p.m., when a group of one-act plays directed by Joseph Megel will be presented. They are "Voices Carry," by Rosemary McLaughlin of Hoboken, "Stangers," by Lawrence Harvey Schulman of Metuchen, and "Hymns for the Drowning," by Akshil Sharma of Edison.

The festival will continue tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Playwrights Theatre of New Jersey with "White Jazz," by Marc Alan Zaporen of Montclair, directed by Joseph Megel.

On Saturday, two readings will be offered: "The Road Block" by John Patrick of Jersey City, directed by Brian Platt at 2 p.m. matinee, and "Piz and Joe" by Dominique Cleri of Boonton, directed by Joseph Giardina at 8 p.m.

"We are happy to launch this collaborative event to give a platform to new work by New Jersey writers," said Ted Rowles, producing director of the John Harris.

"Audience members have an opportunity to hear a variety of New Jersey voices," added Playwrights Theatre Associate Artistic Director Joseph Megel. Most of these New Jersey playwrights have been presented at other venues and have garnered many awards between them.

The one-act play series includes "Voices Carry," which shows how apartment dwellers become involved in the problems of the teenage neighborhood. "Stangers" will focus on a man and woman envisioning their lives together before either of them say a word; "Hymns for the Drowning," in which a man from a traditional East-Indian/American family learns to cope with his brother's tragedy.

In "White Jazz," a pianist looks at his roots and struggles to get to the music he wants to play.

"The Roadblock" focuses on philosophical and sociological questions as motorists are stopped at a drunk-driving checkpoint. Then, personal responsibility and guilt are the central concerns of "Piz and Joe" as a two-character play about a woman and her physically challenged brother.

Named a Distinguished Arts Organization for a second time by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, Playwrights Theatre is the only professional theater in the state dedicated solely to the development of new plays. This is the theater's 10th anniversary season. The John Harris Theater has been recognized as a "Regional Center of Artistic Excellence" by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts and presents readings of new works throughout its season.

Dancing Days

With the summer recess approaching, parents are looking for activities for their children. The answer may be the exhibition sport of the '96 Olympics: ballroom dancing. Through this hobby, children learn coordination, rhythm and new forms of music. Contrary to popular belief, partners are not needed to take dancing lessons; at Ballroom Magic in Springfield, dancing programs will be available for kids this summer, and private lessons and group classes are always open to adults. For more information, call 467-8522.

Pushcart Players to perform tomorrow at Hillside High

Pushcart Players, the theater company for young audiences, will perform its new musical, "Dear America," at Hillside High School tomorrow night at 7:30. "Dear America" is a musical journey that explores ethnic roots and promotes ethnic diversity in the United States. It is the story of a post-World War II immigrant who discovers the legacy of ethnic diversity in her travels throughout the United States.

Specifically designed for school children in grades K-8, "Dear America" gives an "off Broadway" feel to school auditions. Pushcart is in its 21st season of producing theater for young viewers in schools and local theaters. Productions are accompanied by a study guide for classroom teachers and discussions with the cast following performances. Hillside High School is located on Liberty Street in Hillside.

Shakespeare fest holds final matinee

The New Jersey Shakespeare Festival is offering one more student matinee performance of "Two Gentlemen of Verona" tomorrow at 11 a.m. Actress Dana Reeve has returned to the festival, appearing in this musical version of Shakespeare's play, which won the 1971 Tony and Drama Critics' Award for best musical.

Tickets for the matinee have been priced at $10, which includes admission, a post-show discussion and a study guide prepared by the festival's staff.

The play retains Shakespeare's original language and lyrics by John Gure, the author of "Six Degrees of Separation" and "The House of Blue Leaves." The music was written by Gail MacDermot, who composed "Hair."

"This is the perfect way to introduce students to Shakespeare in a thoroughly entertaining and enlightening manner," said NSF Artistic Director Bonnie J. Monce. "The language is all Shakespeare, but the music adds an element that makes it extremely accessible for students."

School groups interested in scheduling performances should contact Mark Rosier at (201) 408-3278. The festival offers discounts to adult groups; those seeking information should also contact Rosier.

"BE A GREEK FOR A DAY"

Jazz pianist will perform at Watchung

During Prohibition and the Depression, uptown Manhattan was the center of the jazz universe; pianist Rod Richards remembers that era, and continues the tradition today.

Charles "Red" Richards, the last of the true Harlem stride players, will perform for the Jazz Series at the Watchung Arts Center tomorrow. The pianist will be joined by sax player George Kelly for an evening of hot jazz, starting at 8 p.m. Tickets are $10, and include light refreshments.

Richards went to his first "rent party" in Harlem as a teenager. Hearing the likes of James P. Johnson, Willie "the Lion" Smith, Donald Lambert and even Fats Waller play piano at such gatherings inspired young Rod to abandon his classical training for an on-the-street education in jazz. Since then he's toured the world with his own bands and those of other top players. Roy Eldridge, Bobby Hackett, Sidney Bechet, Buck Clayton and even Frank Sinatra have known his two-fisted approach to the piano.

His playing yields nothing to age. There's a touch of Teddy Wilson in his playing, perhaps some Art Tatum as well, but Richards is an original, making every piece clearly his own.

George Kelly has recorded many times with him over the years, and with other top jazz names as well. He originated many of the arrangements and solos that have become standards every player uses. Doc Cheatham is an example of a contemporary who has shared a few sides with Richards.

Seats for this concert may be reserved in advance. By calling 753-0100, arrangements can be made to have tickets held at the door.

The Watchung Arts Center brings frequent jazz, folk, classical and contemporary music concerts to residents of three contiguous counties from its location on the Watchung Circle. It's a mile from Route 78 and Route 22. Parking is free adjacent to the building or at nearby municipal lots.

Joni Fritz, as Lisa, and Jonathan Sang as Rob go through the process of "Letting Go" in the play written by Clark resident Maylee Martin. Performances of "Letting Go" have been scheduled for June 21 and 22 at 8 p.m. and June 23 at 3 p.m. at the New Jersey Women's Theatre Cooperative Stage, located at 33 Green Village Road in Madison.

Drama aims to help survivors 'let go'

"Letting Go," the play written by Clark resident Maylee Martin, will return to the New Jersey Women's Theatre Cooperative Stage for three performances. Originally produced in January, the play explores what happens when a young mother, the victim of an untimely death, struggles from beyond to help her husband and young son in "letting go."

Martin wrote the story as a tribute to her husband, Richard Terrano and for her son, Michael.

"I wanted Michael to know his first mom," she said. "There was a wonderful love story between Rich and his wife and much that Michael, who was 3 when she died, did not understand. The story is for them, but it also encompasses the 'letting go' necessary by parents, aunts and uncles in making room new people in their lives and the 'letting go' of jealousies and fears that both my daughter, Leigh Anne Ruble and I went through in the process of bringing this new family together."

While the story focuses on the process of letting go after the death of a loved one, it also says the departed, from her new dimension, must let go of her family.

"Terry Terrano was a wonderful, loving woman. It must have been hard to leave her little boy and the husband she loved so much behind. It's her 'letting go' too. Performances of "Letting Go" have been scheduled for June 21 and 22 at 8 p.m. and June 23 at 3 p.m. at the New Jersey Women's Theatre Cooperative Stage, located at 33 Green Village Road in Madison.

Sculpture remains on display

There's a lady sitting in the lobby of the Watchung Arts Center. A woman of few words — none at all, in fact — but no one ignores her.

The building is open from 1-4 p.m. on weekdays and Saturdays, allowing visits to the two galleries there. The two galleries and sculpture lobby are housed in the Watchung Arts Center, which is on the Watchung Circle about a mile from Route 78 and Route 22.

For more information, call 753-0100.

Blooming bride

Flowers are in full bloom on this princess-style gown of pink organza. Small pearls and organza blossoms encrust the bodice and embellish the A-line skirt. Pink elbow-length gloves and short flower-embroidered tulle veil complete the look.

Giving creative gifts can make the big day more memorable

Giving a small gift as a token of appreciation to bridesmaids, ushers, honor attendants, flower girls and ring bearers has long been a custom of brides and grooms. Traditionally, bridesmaids and ushers received the same gift and honor attendants received something a bit more special, but today the trend is to personalize the gift to reflect tastes or interests of each attendant.

Here is a sampling of creative and personalized gifts for everyone in the bridal party:

For the bridesmaids and maid of honor, a certificate for a massage, facial or manicure; a photo album with snapshots of the bride and each attendant; manicure set; silk scarf; freshwater pearl necklace; or a decorative journal.

For the ushers and best man, a golf ball machine filled with a favorite candy; shaving case; great looking vest for the wedding day and beyond; a bottle of vintage port; portable cassette player; a day of skiing, fishing, etc.; or a cabinet of double corona masquero cigars.

For either, a leather business card case; fountain pen; sports wristwatch; weekend bag; leather address book; engraved stationery or two tickets to a concert or sporting event.

For children, computer game software; heart locket; charm bracelet; classic children's book or autographed baseball.

"Wedding attendants are special friends and relatives of the bride and groom who often are called into service to help with the wedding arrangements as well as provide moral support to the couple during an emotionally charged time," said Millie Bratten, editor in chief of "Bride's Magazine." "A small, heartfelt gift from the bride and groom shows consideration and appreciation for their love and friendship."

Hair pieces build confidence

Hair growth takes place in the roots — follicles — where healthy cells divide and multiply, pushing the hair strands outward.

Unfortunately, some treatments for cancer inhibit the growth of healthy hair cells. Feelings — especially positive feelings — play a vital role in the restoration of health. The way you think and feel about yourself each day often begins with looking in the mirror. Hair accessories and wigs can become an important aspect of personal appearance.

Horizon Wigs and Beauty Supplies, located at 705 Jersey Ave. in Elizabeth, specializes in wigs and hair pieces for chemotherapy patients. For a free consultation, call Jackie at 354-9096.

Summer Wedding Guide

Something old, something new

Modern styling and a classic shape are combined in the cutaway satin bodice with diamante-studded illusion sleeves that descends to a full tulle skirt.

Honeymoons can combine cultural, sporting activities

One area in southern Mexico has it all: history, food, beaches

If your ideal honeymoon destination combines tropical sunshine with a culturally rich area, consider the Bays of Huatulco on the southern Pacific coast of Mexico.

With fewer than half a dozen resorts around Tangolanda Bay, this area offers close glimpses of sea turtles, dolphins and tropical fish. The landscape is rocky with large saguaro cactus dotting the hillsides and the beautiful Sierra Madre mountains as a backdrop to palm trees and sandy beaches.

The majority of the resorts are all-inclusive, which means you'll know just what your expenses will be before you arrive.

Water sports abound. The calm bay provides opportunities for snorkeling, sea kayaking and sailing. Picture yourself horseback riding through the Mexican jungle and galloping along a beach or sipping a refreshing tropical punch on a romantic sunset cruise.

Just a five-minute cab ride from Tangolanda Bay, is the small town of La Cruz. There are a number of shops which offer excellent buys on silver items, a market area and some good sidewalk restaurants with a variety of menus from seafood and sushi to the excellent regional mole sauces, which combine chocolate and spices.

The nearby town of Santa Cruz has picturesque, beautiful, whitewashed restaurants serving the freshest seafood found anywhere.

Set in a valley surrounded by the Sierra Madre, the colonial city of Oaxaca is a 45-minute plane ride from Huatulco. Here the evidence of cultures dating from several centuries B.C. blends with magnificent architecture. The archaeological zone of Monte Alban is located six miles southwest of the city.

Originally a Zapotec sacred city begun in about 600 B.C., it covers a 15-square mile flattened mountain top. The priceless objects from Tomb 7 at the site are now on display at the Oaxaca Regional Museum, located next to the ornate Church of Santo Dominguito in town.

Huatulco can be reached from Dallas in two-and-a-half hours and provides a winning combination of an area rich in culture with warm, unspoiled surroundings.

Flowers can last forever

After months of planning, most brides wish their wedding celebration could last forever. But the wedding day, like all good things, must come to an end. To help newlyweds savor the memories, here are some tips for keeping the bouquet intact for years to come.

Wedding flowers may be dried, turned into potpourri or individually pressed within the pages of a book. To properly preserve a bouquet, don't delay. Begin the drying process before leaving for the honeymoon. Turn the bouquet upside-down and hang it in a dark, dry place. In two weeks, it should be completely dry. To make potpourri, remove fresh petals and place in a bowl, out of sunlight for about two weeks.

After the petals dry, add a drop of scented potpourri oil.

Flowers, cut close to the base and placed inside a large book, make beautiful pressed petals that can be used to decorate pages of a wedding album or stationery.

Bad attitudes may cause unhappiness

"Nothing is good or bad, but thinking makes it so," William Shakespeare wrote 400 years ago.

This quotation from one of the greatest stages and observers of human behavior mankind has ever known, is one of the basic truths of emotional health.

The reality is that often it is not what happens to us that is good or bad, but rather the way we think about our situations that can affect happiness and a sense of well-being.

In other words, the view that we choose to take of things, rather than what actually happens to us, may cause unhappiness, anxiety and mental turmoil.

As much as these ideas are usually not created by an objective reality, they often have less to do

Focus on Mental Health

By Barbara Albenberg

with reality than with our viewpoints about that reality.

Thus our feelings and behavior often result from irrational thoughts or fallacious beliefs.

We all tend to have preconceived notions about what is happening in our lives. These ideas are largely based upon previous experiences and patterns of thought which have been validated by those experiences.

This person feels exhilarated, rather than depressed and anxious,

Consider for a moment the perceptions of one of my clients who was raised by two exclusive, elderly nuns. Many of her days seemed endless. Day after day, she passed the time in a grey, quiet, and unstimulating atmosphere. She felt bored, lonely and generally unhappy.

Now, 25 years later, when she wakes up to a grey day, she believes it will be a bad day. And so she stays in bed or hangs around the house, miserable and lonely, until the weather changes. To the contrary, another person can pull up the window shade in the morning and say "Great! Today I can stay home, read a good book, clean out those drawers I've been meaning to get to or just veg out."

This person feels exhilarated, rather than depressed and anxious, and her day is spent in the satisfying way.

And so we see that not only do thoughts affect our feelings, but also affect our actions, which in turn have consequences.

Since there is more than one way of seeing things, we need to challenge distorted thoughts and explore alternative viewpoints. Ask yourself, "Is there a way of rethinking this so that it makes more sense?" Sometimes looking at things differently can help you feel better and act more effectively.

"We are talking about a disease that usually has no symptoms. An otherwise healthy individual can be blinded by glaucoma if it goes undetected," said Charles Crane, an Elizabeth-based ophthalmologist who is participating in the program. "But loss of sight usually can be prevented if the glaucoma is diagnosed and treated early enough."

It is thought that more than 2 million people have glaucoma. Glaucoma occurs because the pressure in the eye is too high and damages the optic nerve. High pressure is not treated by taking blood pressure medicine, and a person with high eye pressure usually cannot tell there is a problem.

Glaucoma 2001 is a public service project of the Foundation of the American Academy of Ophthalmology, the world's largest association of medical eye doctors.

Hospitals unite to treat kids with blood disorders

The Valerie Fund, New Jersey's largest provider of comprehensive care for children with cancer and blood disorders, has announced the addition of a sixth center to its growing network of pediatric oncology/hematology centers — one of the most advanced in the country.

The new Valerie Fund Center is located at the Saint Barnabas Health Care System in Livingston.

The center will be a joint partnership of United/The Children's Hospital of New Jersey and Saint Barnabas Health Care System. The Children's Hospital of New Jersey is the largest and most specialized provider of care to the children of New Jersey. Saint Barnabas Health Care System is the largest health care provider in the state, treating nearly 1.5 million patients annually. The alliance will be called the Children's Health Network.

Richard Silks, director of the new Valerie Fund Center, as well as director of the Valerie Fund Center at United/The Children's Hospital of New Jersey, said between 30 percent and 40 percent of pediatric patients in the immediate catchment area of Saint Barnabas Medical Center, including hematology and oncology services, travel to New York City for care. In an effort to continue the mission upon which The Valerie Fund was initiated, the Valerie Fund Center at Saint Barnabas will provide a range of services addressing the medical needs of patients and families.

In addition to state-of-the-art medical care, the Valerie Fund offers emotional support and counseling to children and their families, and operates Camp Happy Times for children with cancer. The Valerie Fund Children's Centers are located at Children's Hospital of New Jersey/United Hospital Medical Center in Newark, Cooper Hospital/University Medical Center in Camden, Monmouth Medical Center in Long Branch, Newark Beth Israel Medical Center in Newark, Overlook Hospital in Summit and now St. Barnabas Medical Center in Livingston.

Cancer Society opens page on World Wide Web

Because information is power, and the Internet has become one of the most powerful electronic information tools today, the American Cancer Society's New Jersey Division has developed its own home page on the World Wide Web.

The web site address is: <http://www.cancer.org/nj.html>.

When users visit the division's home page, they will be able to access a variety of information, from making memorial fund donations with a credit card to the latest tobacco control ordinances in the state. The page also provides information on how to volunteer your services.

"The World Wide Web will allow people to find out the latest information about the American Cancer Society in New Jersey," said chairman of the board Steve Sperto. "With just a few clicks you will be able to access a variety of topics relating to the treatment, detection and life-saving research concerning cancer."

Trip to Italy planned

Robert Becker, chairman of Elizabeth General Medical Center, and weekend assistant at Holy Spirit Parish in Union, will take a group on a spiritual pilgrimage to Italy November 11-22.

The tour will include visits to places of both cultural and spiritual interest. Some of the highlights will be: Ovieto, Siena, Florence, Assisi, Lucciano, San Giovanni Rotondo, Pompeii, Mount Cassino and Rome.

While in Rome, there will be a papal audience provided the Holy Father is present. Mass will be celebrated daily in the cities listed above, and in Rome at St. Peter's Basilica there will be a private Mass.

There will be a "Rome by Night" tour the last night of the tour to see the famous monuments and fountains lit up at night.

There will be several presentations of "Discover Italy" held at Holy Spirit Parish in Union in June and July. For more information on dates and times, call Barbara or Ed at 687-6795.

Anyone interested in joining the group and would like a brochure can call 687-6795 or write to Becker at 936 Potter Ave., Union, N.J. 07083.

Chevy Venture set to take the minivan world by storm

Chevrolet challenged minivan manufacturers recently by introducing the Venture, a minivan that gives customers unique features — while retaining the minivan qualities they love.

Chevrolet's Venture of few exclusive features in several key areas — seating, space, storage, power and "creature comforts" — all housed in a minivan that customers in research clinics describe as "classy" and "upscale."

Chevrolet Venture features include:

- Dual-mode sound system. Front seat passengers can listen to the radio while rear seat riders listen to tapes or CDs or vice versa.
- More standard horsepower. Venture has more standard horsepower, 180 HP, than any other minivan. A powerful 3400 V6 engine with sequential fuel injection is teamed with an electronically controlled 4-speed automatic transmission.
- Pollerbus filter. The driver and passengers can enjoy breathing cleaner air due to this standard feature.
- Power sliding passenger-side door. Providing a larger opening than the Chrysler minivans, this optional passenger-side door can be operated from a keyless remote, the overhead console or the "B" pillar. Located behind the front passenger seat.
- More storage areas. Venture has more storage areas (26) — including a netted storage area between the front seats — than any other minivan.
- Convenient seats. The seatbacks fold forward and the entire seat folds and slides forward, easily adapting to several people — cargo arrangements.

"Many of Venture's exclusive features make for happy families," said John G. Middlebrook, who succeeded the retiring Jim Perkins as Chevrolet General Manager, May 1. "The dual-mode sound system is my favorite. The adults can listen to Bob Seger, while the kids are in the back listening to Hootie and the Blowfish."

Musical can be enjoyed in one of three seating configurations — huck-a-bunch and splashbunch — all of which seat seven passengers — and all of which are lightweight and create "space on demand." Venture's driver's seat can be lowered or raised with a manual seat adjuster — the only one in the industry. Seatbacks can be folded down and used as tables. Single or dual child safety seats are optional. Convenience is also enhanced by ordering Venture's optional fourth door, a left side sliding door with a protective child lockout feature.

Loading cargo is easy. To stow as many as 14 grocery bags, removing seats is unnecessary — just slide the third seat forward. Remove seats for even more cargo space is easy too because they're the lightest in the industry. Venture can accommodate 4' x 8' sheets of plywood with the seats folded flat, with the seats out (in between the wheel wells), and with the luggage closed.

And travel is always easier if you have a place for your stuff. The Chevrolet Venture has 26 storage areas, more than any other minivan, built-in storage pockets in all doors — even the sliding doors, a convenient netted storage area between the front seats and the side rear trim panels. The driver's seat even folds forward so packages can be stored behind it and coat hooks can be used easily.

Available in regular and extended lengths, Venture features a comprehensive standard safety package.

Like Goldilocks searching for the perfect pot of porridge, it's hard to find one van that's just right for everybody. Understanding this, Chevrolet today unveiled its "Family of Vans."

Officers Mitch Friedman, Ron Posyton, David L. Hochberg, John Lauricella, and Trustee Jim Tino, Sr. enjoy a light moment at the Union County Auto Dealer's Annual Golf Outing Dinner, last Monday evening, after a great day on the links at The Suburban Golf Club in Union. Annual Golf event to benefit the American Cancer Society of Union.
