Golden Gloves coming to Rahway

By Sean Dally
Staff Writer
Rahway is going to be the scene of a lot of sweat and pain, and maybe even a little blood, on April 24. That's when the Rahway High School gymnasium hosts the Golden Gloves finals. Boxers from youth clubs and boxing gyms across New Jersey will converge on the high school for a shot at the championship prize.
The fights were announced at a press conference last Thursday in Rahway City Hall. Don King wasn't there — but he was mentioned by Mayor James Kennedy and Rahway Mayor Joseph P. DeLuca. Kennedy and DeLuca are both members of the Athletic League and Merck & Co. "Certainly, it's been one of the more entertaining events of the year," said Kennedy.
The April 24 event is the first night of the state finals and will continue the next night, April 25, at Batten High School in Elizabeth.
According to Sgt. Gene Decarlo of the Rahway Police Juvenile Bureau, the number of fights for April 24 has not been determined yet.
This is not the first time Rahway has hosted a Golden Gloves event.
Rahway's affiliation with the tournament began two years ago with a night of semi-final fights. The state finals came to Rahway only last year.
But the finals have already become a hit event.
The fights in the high school gymnasium last year, which had an attendance of between 1,000 and 12,000, were sold out. The event also sold about 300 of the more expensive "celebrity dinner" tickets; ticketholders had din-

Board presents p to quiet auditori

By Sean Dally
Staff Writer
The Board of Education presented next year's school budget to a quiet room last week — maybe one of the quietest on record.
No one, with the exception of Councilman Dave Brown, had anything to say about the 1998-99 school budget. The budget, worth $33,045,165 and with a $22,483,871 tax levy, was presented at a special board meeting last Thursday.
Next year's school budget is $796,264 larger than this year's budget of $32,246,901.
The tax levy is also larger — $852,504 more than this year's tax levy of $21,631,367. The Board of Education has pumped in $300,000 in tax relief from its reserve fund, so next year's net tax levy is actually $552,504 more than this year's tax levy.
According to Superintendent of Schools William Perino, the tax increase is 2.55 percent — less than the Consumer Price Index or cost-of-living increases.
Taxpayers will not pay much more in property taxes — $1.63 or one cent more per $100 assessed property value. The owner of the average Rahway home, assessed at $133,000, will pay $13.30 more in taxes this year.
Still, it isn't clear if this will satisfy voters. Voters have rejected the school budget every year since 1993 and some Rahway residents in this week's "We're Asking" said school taxes are too high. (See story on Page 3.)

This year's tax levy of $1.62 per $100 of assessed property value is a 1.62 percent increase over last year's levy of $1.59. It was still shot down by the voters.
The board also seemed happy with the budget.
"We're really happy with it," said board President Michael Strayak. "We feel confident with it, that it's less and has no extra fee, and we're looking forward to it getting passed this year so we can go ahead with the programs we've planned this year."
"It reflects our need to maintain our facilities, enhance our technology and make sure our students are getting a good education in a reasonably-sized classroom," said board member Paul Hansen.

The budget increase is mostly for salaries for six extra teachers. These teachers are meant to decrease class sizes in the elementary schools.
According to Perino, the anticipated average class size will be reduced in Franklin School from 24 to 21 students, with second-grade class sizes dropping from 28 to 21 and fourth-grade class sizes dropping from 33 to 24 students.
Third-grade class sizes at Roosevelt School will be reduced from 33 to 25 while fourth-grade class sizes will drop from 24 to 19 students.
Perino said there are "no anticipated bubbles" in Grover-Cleveland School's enrollment. If enrollment declines, he added, Madison School might not need the extra teacher. The budget also keeps all after-school activities, especially in grades six to 12.
In particular, next year's budget restores the stipends of seven assistant athletic coaches — extra money for existing teachers who coach sports. These stipends were eliminated from the school budget two years ago.
Other items of interest include:
• The Coordinator of Technology, a full-time $60,000 position, to be funded with school funds. This position had originally been funded by grant money. Perino said the district would always have a need for this position and did not want the position dependent on whether Rahway gets its grant money.
• A segregated preschool program for special education children. Perino said this program might result in these children needing less special education services in the future. Any savings that this program would generate are long-term.
• The budget's capital outlay account, which will be reduced next year by $83,975 to $232,460. That is despite large capital expenses like a new gymnasium floor at Rahway Intermediate School. According to Perino, money for these projects will be funded through a lease program and put in a special account.
• Winfield Park will still be sending its high school students about 15 in all, to Rahway High School this year. According to Perino, the Winfield Park Board of Education still has not decided whether it will send its high school students to another town's school.

Campaign ensures opening of historic tavern as museum

By Sean Dally
Staff Writer
The Merchants and Devoens Tavern on St. Georges Avenue is more than 200 years old, but it will be getting a new lease on life come June.
The Rahway Historical Society announced recently that it has collected enough money to turn the historic tavern into a museum.
The money, about $400,000, was collected through the Society's Make It Live or MILE campaign and will go toward restoring the building and bringing it to modern building codes.
"We are ecstatic," said society President Theodore Nevins. "The whole board is elated."
The MILE program, which began in the spring of 1996, gathered money from a variety of sources.
Much of the money was in the form of grants — a $150,200 federal ISTEA grant, normally used for developing alternative forms of transportation, and $177,497 from the New Jersey Historical Trust Fund.
The rest of the money was from local individuals and groups. Most of these were worth $1,000 or less, although the family of Greenwich, Ct. resident Dr. J. Brooks Hoffman contributed $5,000.
The money will be used for restoring the building and structural enhancements. According to Nevins, the building was never in danger of falling down, but it wasn't allowed to have gas.
"We're just bringing it up to code," he said.
The money will also be used to bring the electrical system in the building up to code, for grading, drainage and work to the foundation and basement and to restore the second through fourth floors on the four-story building. The first and second floors were restored in 1988.
The tavern is to be transformed into a museum on early tavern life and transportation.

Specifically, Rahway will have a number of state and federal grants in Rahway's case, the Shade Tree Department — that takes care of the city's trees. The city must also have an ordinance defining proper tree care and must spend $2 per capita on its trees. No figures were available for how much Rahway spends on its trees.

Rahway's Garay: from state champ to national winner

There simply was no leading Rahway's Antonio Garay on the team this year.

After winning his first NJSLA Tournament championship and becoming Rahway's first state champion in 32 years in 1966, a perfect 34-0 record, the talented Indian grapple won all five matches (three by pin) to capture the heavyweight title in the National High School Coaches Association championships held last weekend at the Palumbo Center in Pittsburgh.

Garay defeated Justin Stuebner of Minnesota 2-1 in the final to claim his national championship and set his first season record to 39-0, earning high school All-America honors.

Garay, Drake in North-South FB

Rahway and Johnson will both be represented during the 20th annual First Union North-South All-Star Football Classic.

Rosters were released Sunday at Nielsen Hall on the Douglas Campus of Rutgers University and the North squad will include Rahway tackle Antonio Garay and Johnson linebacker Brian Drake.

Garay (6-4, 255) will continue on scholarship at Boston College. This year he became Rahway's first state wrestling champion in 32 years and then the heavyweight wrestler on and was a national champion last weekend by winning all five matches against some of the best wrestlers from around the country.

Drake (6-0, 195) will continue his football career in the Ivy League at the University of Pennsylvania.

Drake earned several Defensive Player of the Year honors for his outstanding play that helped spark the Crusaders to a fourth consecutive North Jersey, Section 2, Group 2 playoff berth and final record of 8-2.

Rahway will take Sides with its excellent All-County hurler Dana

By Andrew McGinn Assistant Sports Editor

The Rahway High School softball team continued to have a great deal of success last year under the new guidance of first-year head coach Scott Karaman.

The Karaman-led Indians posted an impressive 18-5 record, the second-best in school history, and reached the North Jersey, Section 2, Group 3 semifinals before being ousted by Mount Olive.

Kerry Shine and Tonya Galimovskis, both now at Union County College, were All-County selections last year and the experienced leaders of the club. Despite the loss of these two talented players to graduation, Karaman is not expecting the Indians to slack, largely because of his junior pitching ace Dana Sides.

"She's the best pitcher in the county," Karaman said. "Dana is a pitching machine with lots of talent. She throws the ball extremely hard and has phenomenal control." Sides was a second-team All-County selection a year ago after hurling five no-hitters. She posted an 11-5 record, 3.20 earned-run average and struck out 73 batters in 85 innings, allowing just 71 hits and 25 walks.

Owner of a blazing fastball, Sides also possesses a change-up and slider among the pitcher's best arsenal. Also a constant home run threat at the plate, Sides paced Rahway with three round-trippers and seven doubles last year, while knocking in 15 runs and hitting a gaudy 42.

Sides will be counted on heavily at the plate as well this year, an area where Karaman says Rahway could experience some problems.

Senior catcher Jeanne Marie-Pagan, sophomore first baseman Heather Ellis, junior second baseman Vazquez Ortiz, senior shortstop Kelly Perotti and senior centerfielder Kasey Perotti are all returning starters.

"This is one of our best teams as far as we've ever had," Karaman said. "We won't be able to let anything happen to us. We would be just as good, if not better than we were last year. We only had three minors then and now we have five."

After having defeated Westfield twice earlier in the season, Rahway fell to the Blue Devils 6-1 in the Union County Tournament quarterfinals in a year where Karaman sees the county as being "weak," Rahway looking to go further in the UCT.

Rahway, which finished second in the National Division of the Watchmen Conference with an 8-2 record last year, was scheduled to open the 1998 campaign yesterday on the road against Scotch Plains. The Indians will be back in action tomorrow at 4 p.m. against Scotch Plains.

Johnson boasts many new faces

By Andrew McGinn Assistant Sports Editor

As is the case for most every high school sports team at some time or another, the Johnson High School boys' lacrosse team is faced with the task of replacing a number of players that were occupied by seniors last year. Mike Royle, Nick Wray, Fernando Casper and Bryan Healy are just a few of the key players from the 10-4 team of a year ago who were lost to graduation.

For many coaches, the term "rebuilding" would often enter into their vocabulary when faced with such a task, but Johnson head coach Keith Mazars is not one of them.

High School Boys' Lacrosse

"We're making a lot of mistakes now that we need to correct, but we expect to get better as the season progresses," Mazars said. "We lost a lot of players, but we have a lot of new faces. We have 16 sophomores and freshmen and, for the first time in Mazars' nine years with the team, a girl — freshman Angela Giamposi."

The remainder of the 23-person roster consists of sophomores: Paul Casper, sophomore defender Marcus Sanguinello are all returning from the 1997 squad.

Junior Todd Inzaghi and sophomore Jeff Howett are slated to start at attack, as are junior Jeff Dronkowski and sophomore Ricky McCormick at midfield. Senior Steve Myers, playing for the first time in Johnson, appears to have the inside track at a starting defensive position.

Because there are so many new faces and the team is so young, most of the position will likely be subject to change, depending upon early-season production.

Freshman Ryan Peters has inherited the starting goalie duties while fellow freshmen Ryan and Jason Best, John Brown and Brian Kennedy were the starters last year. Peters is expected to be a key player in the defense.

Sophomore defender U-Kim Tick will also see action on defense. "There are a lot of things in our conference in the state but we're all good athletes. We feel we can play with anybody on our schedule."

'Mattress' thrills audiences with mature cast

Theater Review

By Bob Smith
 Staff Writer

All a theater goes has to do is to walk into the auditorium at Union High School and look around to see setting of a castle in medieval days surrounds the stage and the balconies on both sides of the stage that is reminiscent of the creative work of Michael Annala, scenic director at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn.

In fact, thanks to Peter Avagliano, technical director and scenic designer of the Union High School Performing Arts Company's highly ambitious production of "Once Upon a Mattress," and his innumerable assistants among the students and staff who helped make scenery changing a breeze, walking into Union High School these days is not unlike walking into the Paper Mill Playhouse.

As this reviewer walked through the doors at UHS last Saturday night, there were several performers in the colorful, authentic costumes of the late 1300s offering music and song to the patrons. And one couldn't believe the extraordinary talents of Yvonne Rago, who directed nearly 100 people in various aspects of the musical play, with the able assistance of co-writer, Arma Myhal, assistant director and costume coordinator, Roberto Galich, choreographer — and what a job that had to be — Ronald Rago, orchestra director, and his marvelous orchestra, who played like professionals up in the left balcony. David Jones, the graphic designer and scenic

"More intricate, more vibrant and yet more delicate" is how pastelist Nancy Brangaccio describes her recent work, "Still Lives," to be exhibited April 4-30 at Swain Galleries in Plainfield.

Unique to this exhibit are Brangaccio's paintings of Oriental designed porcelain from Swain's own collection. Each urn, bowl, vase, double-handled cup and more will be displayed alongside Brangaccio's pastel of the object.

"My paintings are realistic but, of course, are also my own interpretation," she said.

Flowers, fruit and the setting complete her depictions. Surveying her earlier work, she explains that she currently uses more shading.

'Stealing Home' takes flight dealing with death

The Video Detective

By Jim Riffel

"Stealing Home" is a film that deals head on with death and how it can have sorrowful yet enlightening effects on people. Mark Harmon plays Billy Wyatt, a writer in his 30s who lives in a hotel room with a stripper. He had direction in his life but, unfortunately, it's scuttled down. Then he gets a phone call that changes everything. Katie Chandler, his childhood friend, committed suicide by shooting herself in the head at Sea Smoke, her family's beach house where the two spent many lazy summer evenings.

Harmon gets on a bus and returns home for the funeral. Her father then informs him that Katie wrote in her will that Billy is in charge of her ashes. Harmon takes the urn and sits down in shock. "She said you'd know just what to do with them," says her father. Harmon hasn't the vaguest clue what to do with them and the movie is a series of flashbacks of his life as he tries to figure out this difficult dilemma. As he sifts through these memories, he begins not only to realize what should be done with the ashes but also what should be done with his life.

Memories of her are not the only thoughts that help. He also remembers another friend he grew up with, Alan Agabon, played expertly by Jonathan Silverman. Silverman, for my money, is one of the best comedic actors around. He knows just when to pause, just when to accentuate a word, and just when to give a certain look. In one flashback, Silverman asks Billy to stop by Cindy Darrow's house and deliver the urn to her.

Billy agrees but the visit takes an unexpected twist when she seduces him, telling him she's had a crush on his for years. The next day, Silverman is at the golf course waiting for Harmon to arrive for their 9 o'clock time. A few moments later Harmon runs up, late and out of breath.

Silverman, set to drive, eye on the ball, says "So, Bill, how'd it go, you see my prom date?" "Yeah," says Billy, "I saw her." "Uh-huh," says Silverman, "So Bill, did you ask her for me?" Bill pauses for an awkward moment. Silverman takes his eyes off the ball and slowly lifts his head up. "Um...uh..." says Bill. Silverman snarls: "Bill...Bill, you slept with my prom date, didn't you?" Bill takes a step back. "No, of course not," he says. Silverman angrily drives the ball, shoves his club in the bag and walks down the fairway. "Yes, you did Bill, you slept with my prom date." A groundskeeper looks over at the two. "That's right" says Silverman, not breaking stride as he leaves a 9-iron over a tree to the right. "My best friend slept with my prom date." Bill watches as a 4-wood sails over a tree to the left. "My best friend," says John.

The film continues on with hysterical moments followed by sad and poetic scenes. In the end, Harmon realizes that he lost a beautiful friend but found the life that had escaped him.

New 'bug' has passion for driving

Like all of today's Volkswagens, the New Beetle expresses the German engineering passion of designing and building cars with exceptional road-holding qualities.

It begins with an extra rigid body structure and four-wheel independent suspension systems, both of which help give the New Beetle a rock-solid feel. The front suspension uses a MacPherson strut design with control arms, stabilizer bar and coil spring struts. The rear suspension employs a "V" profile independent torsion beam axle with integral sway bar and trailing arms. The torsion beam axle is mounted to the vehicle with Volkswagen's unique track-correcting bushings, a feature designed to minimize unwanted steering effects.

The New Beetle comes standard with power-assisted rack and pinion steering and 16-inch all-season tires. An anti-lock braking system is optional, and standard stopping power is provided by large, power-assisted dual-diagonal circuit ventilated front discs and solid rear discs.

Active safety in the New Beetle comes from its precise handling, the security of front-wheel drive, advanced braking and other accident avoidance aids like daytime running lights.

For protection when an accident can't be avoided, the New Beetle offers a highly advanced passive safety system that complies a multitude of state-of-the-art safety features and structural elements designed to work together to help protect its occupants.

This system begins with the New Beetle's exceptionally rigid body structure that includes energy-absorbing crumple zones. In a severe crash, these deformation zones sacrifice themselves in an accordion-like fashion, absorbing the energy to help spare the critical central structures.

This system works in concert with an advanced supplemental restraint system. In addition to front driver and passenger airbags, the New Beetle uses a new seat belt tensioning system that tightens and optimally positions

Lexus combines style and efficiency

A dramatic hint of what's in the future for luxury sedans, the Lexus HPS High Performance Sedan, concept vehicle combines advanced styling with innovative packaging efficiency and provides a showcase for a variety of new Lexus technologies expected in the near future.

HPS is a creation of Lexus' parent company's design studio in Japan. It is a high-performance luxury sedan, with priorities placed on compact and nimble exterior size, very powerful yet efficient engine output, superior construction, ample interior comfort and advanced levels of stability and safety.

Lexus designers sought to redefine the classic performance chassis layout of front engine, rear wheel drive. The HPS takes a step beyond so-called "cab-forward" designs and provides the cabin and trunk space of large prestige luxury models, yet occupies the similar footprint of a compact or sport sedan. It combines the performance and handling benefits associated with rear drive axles, yet space efficiency most commonly associated with front-wheel drive. As a result, weight is minimized and aerodynamic properties are enhanced to benefit acceleration and handling performance.

The aggressive front-end design embodies the spirit of the ground-breaking Lexus Coupe to sport sedan form. Its dramatic headlights incorporate self-illuminating high intensity discharge lamps with tapered high beams located in rounded enclosures. The signature inboard/outboard beam lighting arrangement is continued in the tailgate theme.

Extremely short front and rear decks and minimal body overhangs generate a taut, muscular stance. Subtle fender flares emphasize the 18-spoke performance wheels and fins, instantly conveying the car's intent. Despite its long greenhouse and short deck lengths, trunk space is exceptionally deep, thanks to careful packaging of rear suspension, fuel tank and other components.

The HPS is powered by an all-aluminum 32-valve V-8 engine using a newly developed intelligent variable timing system. A first for any V-8 engine, VTI provides continuously variable adjustment of intake valve timing in response to engine speed and load. This results in superb low-end torque, high power, excellent fuel efficiency and very low emissions.

Lexus combines style and efficiency

A dramatic hint of what's in the future for luxury sedans, the Lexus HPS High Performance Sedan, concept vehicle combines advanced styling with innovative packaging efficiency and provides a showcase for a variety of new Lexus technologies expected in the near future.

HPS is a creation of Lexus' parent company's design studio in Japan. It is a high-performance luxury sedan, with priorities placed on compact and nimble exterior size, very powerful yet efficient engine output, superior construction, ample interior comfort and advanced levels of stability and safety.

Lexus designers sought to redefine the classic performance chassis layout of front engine, rear wheel drive. The HPS takes a step beyond so-called "cab-forward" designs and provides the cabin and trunk space of large prestige luxury models, yet occupies the similar footprint of a compact or sport sedan. It combines the performance and handling benefits associated with rear drive axles, yet space efficiency most commonly associated with front-wheel drive. As a result, weight is minimized and aerodynamic properties are enhanced to benefit acceleration and handling performance.

The aggressive front-end design embodies the spirit of the ground-breaking Lexus Coupe to sport sedan form. Its dramatic headlights incorporate self-illuminating high intensity discharge lamps with tapered high beams located in rounded enclosures. The signature inboard/outboard beam lighting arrangement is continued in the tailgate theme.

Extremely short front and rear decks and minimal body overhangs generate a taut, muscular stance. Subtle fender flares emphasize the 18-spoke performance wheels and fins, instantly conveying the car's intent. Despite its long greenhouse and short deck lengths, trunk space is exceptionally deep, thanks to careful packaging of rear suspension, fuel tank and other components.

We congratulate Jaguar for a job well done and wish it success with this superior vehicle."

Competition for the grand honor for 1998 was fierce, with 11 luxury vehicles selected as finalists, representing the largest and most diverse field ever considered.
