funding and support from city officials. The Rahway Library Board of Directors is in the process of looking for both an interim and long-term library direc tor to replace Keith McCoy. Also, steps have begun to build a new library, since there has been repeated public outcry at City Council meetings about the matter. McCoy said he is leaving his position because of library budget cuts by the council in the 1999-2000 city spending plan. The amount is too low to keep library services func

The library's children section is in the Rahway Recreation Center and its periodical section is in the Rahway Senior Citizens Center. There is no adult collection avail able at the moment, according to McCoy, since those books are being held in storage. The activity at the library's current locations has not been that successful, McCoy said. "Circulation is slow," McCoy said. "A few people came

Reward increased in Smith murder case

By Robert Coakley Staff Writer

The reward has increased to $20,000 for information about the murder of Helen Smith, the 84-year-old woman who was stabbed to death Oct. 15 inside the garage of her Rahway home. The victim's nephew has agreed to pay $10,000 and his employer is offering $5,000 for information leading to an arrest in this case, according to Union County Prosecutor Thomas Manahan. The Union County Crimestoppers Program offered $5,000 more for information leading to the arrest and indictment of the killer, said Rahway Police Chief Edward Tilton last week. "We know there are people out there with information about this case," said Manahan, adding that his office has received letters about the reward. Rahway Detective John Kaczor and Sgt. Ron Reale of the Prosecutor's Office said Smith left her home the day of the murder to get her hair done and go shopping.

Smith's body was found inside her 1986 Chrysler by Police Officer Jeffery Jordan after a neighbor called the police shortly after 3 p.m. The time of the murder was estimated between 11:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. The case has had few clues, said investigators. The murder weapon was never recovered. Smith's black purse was found in Woodbridge and mailed to her sister, Martha Miller, about a month after the murder. That was the first major development in the case, according to police. Miller had her sister's mail forwarded to her home after the murder. Whomever found and mailed the parse has not been indentified yet. People with information about the case, the victim's whereabouts prior to her death, or the pocketbook should call Kaczor at 827-2117. They also can call the 24-hour, anonymous Crimestoppers tip hotline at 654-TIPS. All calls are kept confidential and callers do not have to give their names to collect the reward money.

Participate in school elections

Monday is the deadline for candidates to file petitions to run for the Board of Education election in April Of the can didates to file petitions, three will be elected to a three year term on the board.

This also means Monday is the official start of the cam paign for the school board election, and residents --- those with children in the school district and those without should become educated about who is seeking office. They should decide if incumbents are doing a good job, and they should determine the qualities they believe a good school board member should possess.

This is important because although board of education positions do not pay a salary, school board members have a significant role in shaping the lives of children and control the biggest budget funded by property tax dollars, more than the municipal and county budgets combined.

School board members have the important task of deciding how money is spent in the annual school budget and setting policy for the district. Setting policy is an ambiguous term, but it includes deciding how meetings are conducted, what day classes begin in September and end in June, the maximum number of students assigned to each classroom and the books they use, and ratifying contracts with teachers, custodians and other vendors for bus transportation and food service.

This is quite an important job for a volunteer who will not be paid for their time or service, and it can seem to be a thankless job when parents and teachers don't see eye to eye with the board.

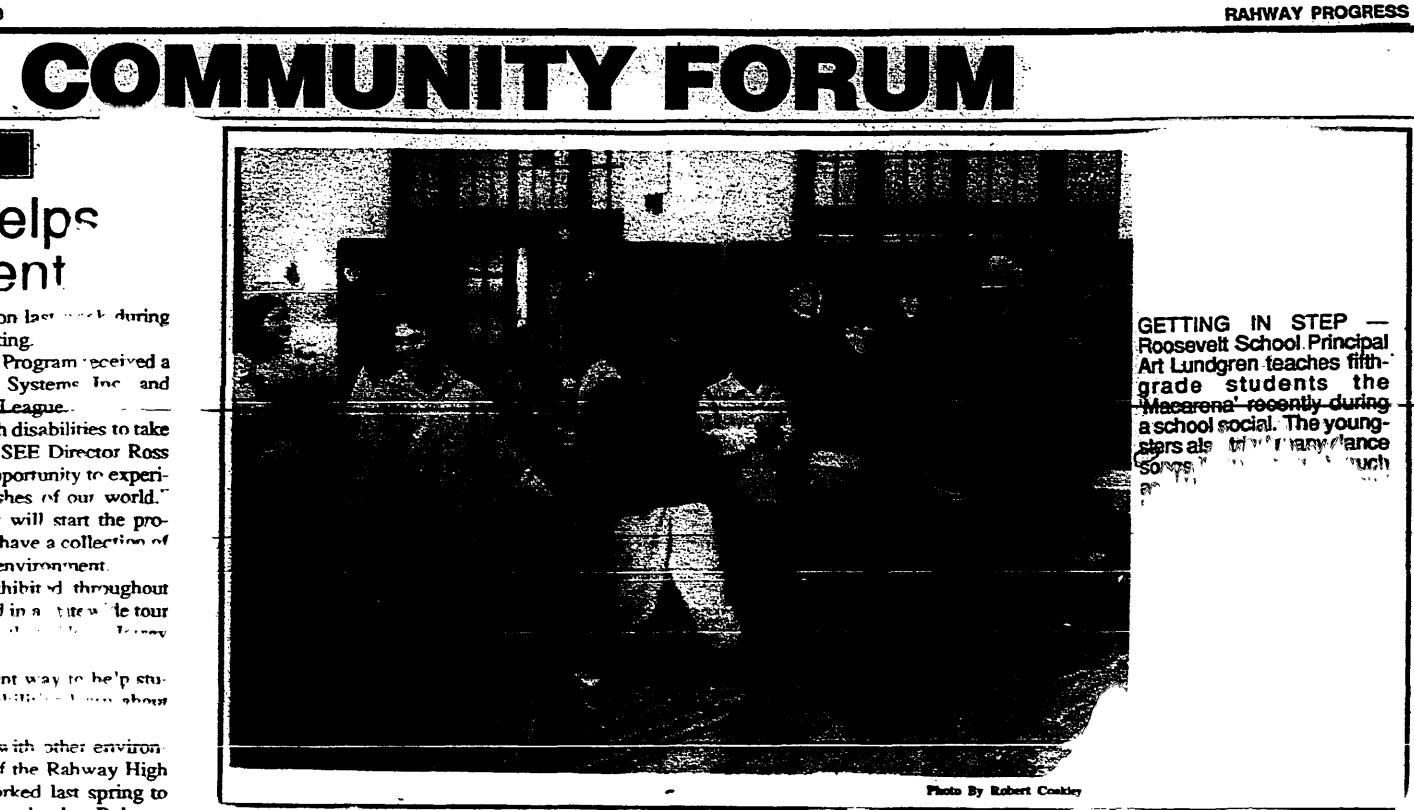

As always, we suggest parents attend school board meetings so they can become educated about the issues and attend debates that hopefully will be scheduled during the campaign to learn about the candidates. As always, do not feel afraid to ask questions.

Parents always should want to see improvement in their school district so their children can receive the best possible education to prepare them for the future. Whom they elect will be responsible for that

And while parents become educated about the issues facing the school district and the positions of the candidate they should not forget to vote in the school election, which is scheduled for April 18.

Junior forward Phil Bauknight led four Lions in double figures against St. Patrick's, pouring in 17 points. Guards Demetric Gosa and Ryan DeGracia added 11 points apiece, while Jim Sweeney had 10. St. Patrick's looked as though it would run the Lions from the Dunn gym early, taking a 19-2 lead. Slowly, the Lions cut into the deficit until they reached their closest at 55-50 with 3:30 remaining. "We had a good second and third quarters, but down the stretch you have to make the plays," Roselle Catholic head coach Pat Hagan said. He noted that at 55-50 a St. Patrick's tip-in started its final run. "If we had gotten a rebound instead of giving up the tip-in, things may have rowed the gap to 21-13.

Parsippany used four consecutive wins, two by one point, to grab a 19-6 lead after seven bouts against Rab way. But slowly, Rahway made its move until Ony Pius put the Indians within striking distance with a 19 5 decision over Kaan Erpanur at 189 Pius, a senior, traded and five team points instead of four for a major decision But time expired before Pius could record his sixth take down of the two-minute period.

Stueber said Pius, a first-year varsity wrestler and a junior varsity county champion last around showed what hard work can achieve.

"Ony's a very good athlete whom we sometimes have to walk through during a match," Stueber said. "He wrestles well, but the next step — the strategy of the match — he needs to learn. But if he had one more year, he'd probably en-to-the Meadowlands and place in the numbers." With the Indians trailing 26-20, Garay charged at Keith Meyers off the opening whistle. He posted three take downs and thought he had a pin at the end of the first period. The on-mat official gave the "pin" signal, but the off

What makes 23-year-old John Kaefer, formerly of Basking Ridge, so unique in his musical accomplishments throughout his young life is his casualness and naturalism.

To talk to the young man, a graduate student at the Yale School of Music, whose new choral work "Psalm 27," will be premiered March 4 by the Summit Chorale at Summit Middle School, one gets the impression that his career is the simpless thing in the world.

Kaefer, who began composing classical music at the age of 10, and who has received many prizes from the Rence B. Fisher Foundation, La Scho la Cantorum, the International Horn Society and the International Clarinet Society explained with more how "saim 27" came about

"I first started writing a piece for soprano and piano in August of 1998. used a different text. I wrote a shor piece, about four minutes, which was my first version of 'Psalm 27,' and brought it to my mentor and friend. mposer David Diamond

Kaefer, who mentioped that he "always found the Psalms musically and spiritually inspiring," reviewed his Bible, chose 'four Psalms, all with contrasting themes and moods" and began work on one of the first four Psalms. "I wanted each of the four songs to be brief, yet couvey the eno tions of the Psalmist. I decided simply set the first half of verse of Psalm 27: 'The Lord is my light and my salvation, whom shall I fear.' I jotted down harmonic and melodic lines that fit into the musical Feb. 16. A new exhibition at the Kent Place School Gallery in Summit titled "Open and Shut" provides art fans an opportunity to view the work of New Jersey artists Barbara Mathis and Laura Chenicek. The exhibition, which opened Feb. 7, runs through March 3.

Mathis is primarily a figurative painter who likes to place her subjects in unique environments and then entice the viewer to enter that space. Her "Sleeper" paintings are gresented from the voyeur's point of view, catching glimpses of private moments such as an oblivious woman taking a nap, enveloped by huxurious painted fabrics and bed linens.

In contrast, Chenicek's paintings offer the viewer direct access to her childhood memories. Landscapes, which represent the pleasant outward appearance of things, have been cut in half and then partially or fully reconnected with painted zippers, laces, snaps and other closures. In some paintings, the zippers are partially opened to reveal portraits of the child's emotional past.

While both artists have emotional healing as a central theme in their work, they aproach the subject from very different directions. In Mathia's paintings the subjects are involved in their own unconscious, dream state and are immersed in restorative sleep. Conversely, Chenicek's work shows a conscious effort to reveal memories and come to terms with past events. Jointly, the artisty have more than three decades of experience painting and exhibiting in the New York metropolitan region, and their work appears in private and corporate collections.

The public is invited to attend a reception and meet the artists on Friday, Feb. 11, 6 to 8 p.m. in the Kent Place Gallery, which is located in the Hyde and Watson Theater, 42 Norwood Ave., Summit. The gallery is open Monday to Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. or by appointment with Judy Lapides, Pratt Institute graduate and/Kent Place School art teacher, and gallery director. For more

Yankee Buffet By Walter Elliott Staff Writer Union's Yankee Buffet, at 2660 Morris Ave., is a restaurant where liners can find a finely executed variety of traditional Chinese and Westem cuisines. When owner Michael Yeung opened Yankee Buffet two years ago, there were at least two other restaurants offering buffet-style Chinese fare along Morris Avenue. One can presume the local openings are part of a national acceptance of the Southern buffet restaurant. Part of Yeung's approach in distinguishing Yankee Buffet from the rest is to provide a balanced presentation of Oriental and Occidential styles. One can sense the blend walking into the dining room. While the 230-seat room features new modern tables and retains roof chandeliers from the former dining hall, the booth partitions and walls are illustrated with either glass exchings of mythical Chinese animals or a photo mural of Taiwan's Wuevi Mountain.

For those who prefer Western fare, Yankee Buffet offers a 20-item "International Food" table. Items run from barbecued chicken on a stick to mini-pizza wedges to onion rings. A buffet staff member replenishes most food stock about every five minutes. That includes a heaping tray of medium-sized crab legs, which patrons repeatedly exhaust. Complimentary nutcrackers for crab and lobster are found at the utensil counter, along with three serving sauses, chop sticks, two rice cookers and four crock pots of soup. The egg drop soup sampled consists of large and small egg flakes suspended in an opaque yellow broth. One who makes more than one run to the buffet room will likely encounter a wait staff member who wants to take your dish. Unlike some buffet places, which charge by the plate, the staff wants a diner to have a clean palates.

The staff tended to watch and serve a growing number of diners Thursday. Although the dinner buffet opened at 5 p.m. that day, the room began to fill with groups of four to six patrons. Many of the dining parties, going by the way they warmly greeted each other, were either families or

The 80-item-a-day buffet has five price categories, from $3.49 to $10.99 per person, depending on the time of the week. There is also a 150-item menu and limited buffet for take-out customers. ### Tutoring & Enrichment

INDIVIDUALIZE YOUR CHILDREN'S EDUCATION The pressure is on students of all ages to perform well. Achievement levels or standardized tests and grades on report cards are being emphasized more than ever before. How do you, the parent, know what to do? How do you, the parent, know to whom to tum? There are so many choices today in the field of supplemental education. The most important quality a tutoring center can offer is its staff. The more diverse and the more qualified the faculty, the greater the opportunity for the student to learn at an optimum level. No one person can effectively teach all subjects. Always check the certification and experience of the person who will be working with your child. When? checking certification, make sure that the teacher is certified by the state, not just by the company offering the tutoring. Are the instructors teaching within their certified field? Where and what have they taught and for how many years? Class size in small groups is important. Small does not have a definitive number. As how many students are in a group. Ask if students are on a similar academic level as your child. Ask if the teachers will individualize within the group. Ask how the individualization will be accomplished. Ask if you as the parent can have input into the way your child will be instructed. How long is the session? Where your child will be learning is another important aspect of the tutoring or enrichment situation. Most students work best in quiet rooms and not in large boisterous areas. Students who need tutoring seem to respond better to teachers in a setting other than their home. A proper environment is one in which the student feels comfortable and is not embarrassed to be seen. The atmosphere of a center is critical. Is it air conditioned? Can parents speak with the individual teacher? Can parents speak with the owners? Are the owners educators? Is the schedule flexible? Are the children already enrolled satisfied?

Students have different needs when choosing a tutor or center. Gifted and talentied students need challenging as much as many students need reinforcement. Can the tutoring center promise individualization or is there a set program into which the student must fit? Just as everyone has different clothing sizes, so too do children need different learning approaches. Will the tutoring center adapt to your child's learning style? It is imperative in today's society to understand how children learn most effectively. "Where do we go from here?" is a common question. What is the best situation for my child? Do I need a tutor? Is my child gifted and talented? What courses should I be: choosing for my child? How do I begin the college process? What do I need to know? Mrs. Rhoda Asch, a partner at The Enrichment Center in Westfield says, "Our faculty of over 65 state certified and experienced teachers offers students the resources needed to succeed in education. We have staff members for almost any subject." The Enrichment Center offers private tutoring as well as classes of 4-8 students. The group classes are divided by ability and grade level. Mrs. Elaine Sigal, a partner at The Enrichment Center, says, "Our students return to us whenever the

Tips can avoid bridal mishaps

You can spend an entire year planning your wedding day down to the letter, but unless you have a fairy godmother, there's no way to guarantee that the day will be perfect. According to Bride's magazine, little preparation goes a long way to ward ensuring that wedding-day mis haps don't get out of hand. If you organize an "emergency kit," and keep it stashed nearby at the ceremony and the reception, coping with certain last-minute dilemmas will be a breeze. Bride's suggests you start with a pretty basket, decorated to match your wedding theme, there include the following: • Needle, thread, buttons and safety

Happy endings start with well-planned beginnings From the romance of the bridal gown to the many details of the reception and ceremony, a bridal couple can avail themselves of many services once unheard mean is. Things happened so quickly I hardly ----member my own wedding! That s why photography is so important.

Next to the bride and groom, the most important person at the wedding is often the photographer. To help ensure wedding memories are recorded for years to come. Fast man Kodak Company offers the following tips: • Getting to the Chapel Some of the best memories sappen even before "the big day." The bride trying on eils, the flower girl rehearsing her part, the groom at his spontaneous moments - they should all be recorded. Delegate attendants as official recored keepers. Arm them with Kodak Funt Savar 35mm single-use camers and let them snap away.

· Bridal Shower Blues Sure, the bridal shower is fun. but what's at girl to do when it's time to send out thank you notes and she can't remember which guest gave which crystal wine decanter? As each gift is opened, have the maid of honor snap a shot of hie birdw with the gift and the dozens of great ways to use the pictures guests took with guest who gave it. The benefits: no gift confusion; it's single-use cameras. Consider using these candid shots as easier than writing everything down; and with a quick note thank-you notes, for scrap-books, home decorating, etc scrawled on the back, the photos seve as great thank-you Additionally, friends and family will love receiving

One of the most frequently heard complaints uttered by wedding trends is for brides to place single use carners on the more than 2.5 million couples who get marries' each tables, inviting guests to capture caudid moments. Kodak recently introduced the Kodak Fun Saver wedding party packi containing five ringle use cameres. Each camere is designed with elegent florest at the graphic and then the exposures.

• Work With Your Photographer - Even the best rofessional wedding photographers can't record the memories unless you work with them. Before the hectic big day, plan to meet with your photographer to discuss the style of photos you want who is investigation where say to

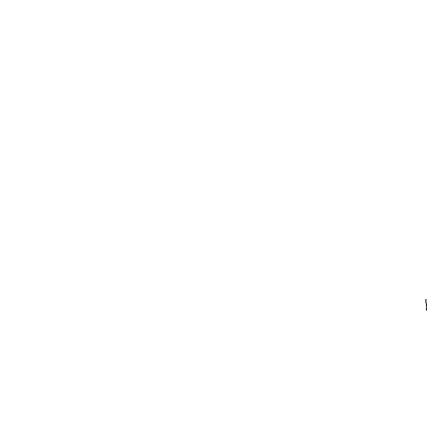

• Let Your Photographer Have Fun Of course you'll want posed wedding portraits, but give your photographer the flexibility and encouragement to have fun experimenting with candid situations. So often, these shote onjure up the best and funniest memories of the werdding

MAIN STREET ANTIQUE CENTER By Fred Muntzner Antiques Center When a person listens to Cousin Brucie on the radio there are moments when their mind drifts back in time. "Remember when Now Over 50 Dealers you danced with that special person that you wished you could dance with again". This memory is so important to you because you realize the time is gone, never to happen again. It seems that human nature always judges the important things in life by how much they are missed. Sometimes we are so STI Morris Avenue, cluttered with current happenings that pressure our minds make us numb, that we don't recognize the importance of the moment. 908-273-9373 Growing up is necessary but forgetting how you were loved and loved someone is not. That should always be paramount in our SQ Last Thursday, I had the opportunity to visit the Main Street Antique Center in Flemington, NJ. The shop is owned by Kevin Initime of furniture & decorative and Nancy Klein. It is made of over 100 small shops that are run by independent dealers, it covers three floors. An Antique shop like this should be considered a national treasure. Its content is 25% antiques, mostly early American and Victorian and 75% to Furniture Collectibles Too! memorabilia of the 20th Century. Memorabilia isn't just. recognizing something from your past, it's bringing a part of you that you forgot, directly in front of you, with all its actual surroundings.

ANTIQUE

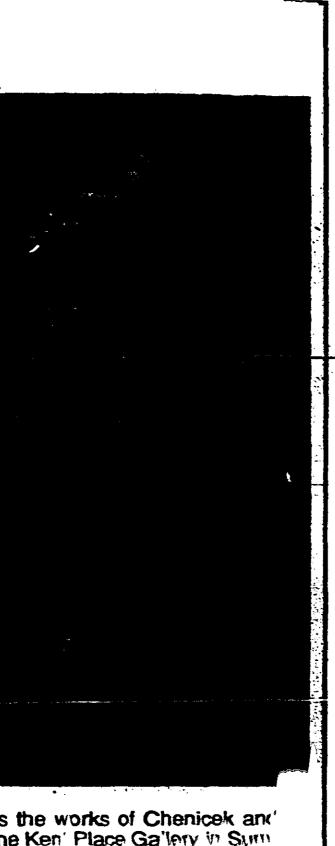

If someone was to ask me what my mother had hanging up on our living room wall, I couldn't remember. But at this particular antique center it all came back. It was a picture of swans. The memory wasn't vague but very vivid. I could recall exactly what was on the side night tables at the time. I saw my first Tom Thumb typewriter, that my mother bought me for Christmas. completely forgot about it, yet it possibly set the seeds for me to be a writer.

Nancy keeps a "Want book" for people toolding for certain things. She said "our favorite request is for Howdy Dowdy memorabilia The baby boomers are coming alive, they know who they are and what they want." In today's world the need for advanced education has become pressing. At twenty five years old students are attaining advanced degrees and MBA's, things are fast and being condensed for them. Nancy claims that the baby boomers of the 1970's are catching up with the desire for memorabilia of their youth to the baby boomers of the 1940's. Main Street Antique has many variety of antiques from pottery to furniture, in memorabilia, from accessories that were in the home, to children's toys. The third artist in the exhibit is FOX Owen Kanzler, who makes his living as an aerial photographer Aside from his commercial photos, he produces aerial pictures as fine art and has exhi-bited widely around New Jersey for many years. Kanzler has a knack for creating images that show the abstract nature of landscape when viewed from the air. Whether the visitor favors realism abstraction or photography this exhi-bit holds something everyone will be sure to appreciate. The Gallery at the Arts Guild of Rahway is located at 1670 Irving St at the corner of Seminary Avenue in downtown Rahway. Gallery hours are Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays from 1 to 4 p.m.; Thursdays from 1 to 3 p.m. and 5 to 7 p.m.; or by appoint Owen Kanzler, who makes his living Panel talk is Sunday The New Jersey Center for Visual Arts will sponsor a panel discussion Sunday from 1 to 2:30 p.m.

The topic will be the International Juried Show 2000 exhibition. An out standing group of contemporary art professionals will participate, including Dan Cameron, senior curator at the New Museum of Contemporary Art in New York and the US 2000 juror. Lisa Dennison, deputy director and chief curator, Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum; and Donald Kuspit. NJCVA curator Perijane Zaremook will moderate the event. The jurying process and the importance of juried exhibitions will be the focus of the discussion.

The panel discussion is free and open to the public. For more information, call (908) 273-9121.

Suburban Music lists its Center class offerings

The Suburban Community Music Center, at 570 Central Ave. in Murray Hill, is now registering students for spring semester, which runs now through May 20. Classes for young children include Music for Babies, for babies as old as 16 months; Music for Toddlers, between the ages of 16 months and 3 years; Cycle of Seasor 5. for shildren between the ages of 3% u 41% and Music Makara for ages 5 to All and Mugin Makare for again 5 .

In Music for Babies, a half hour class, parents/caregivers learn to play musically with their babies, forming an intimate bord which er ablishes a foundation for a lifetime of active involvement with music Activities that stimulate the babies responses include singing, listening rocking bouncing, druncing and th

"s, sticks, and scarves Music for Toddlere is a half hour class in which children interact with parent/caregiver in singing, chapting. moving, listening, and playing simple instruments, facilitating the process of minical growth and inculcating a low " music in the very young child Cycle of Seasons, a one-hour class includes singing, structured and cres tive movement, rhythm development, dramatic play, use of percussion instruments, and musical gam t to foster musical participation and appreciation. Parents and siblings join the children for the last 15 minutes of each class to enjoy interaction and a

4-moes, and games. In Music Makers, children are engaged in singing, movement, ear training, musical games, ensemble wrek, thythmic training, soil bearing read and write music For children who love to sing Fun damentals of Singing, with two groups for grades 1 to 4 and 5 to 8, focuses on correct breathing, tone production, diction physeing, ear maining and unique and simple part

Private lessons are evailable for beginning to advanced students in piano, guitar, recorder, saxophone. and in most orchestral instruments Intermediate-level recorder players can sign up for recorder ensemble Young beginning instrumentalists can take Suzuki violin, viola, or guitar Music for children with special needs, taught by a music therapist on the faculty, provides opportunities for children with mild to profound disabilities to discover the joy of music and benefit from its positive effects on the development of the whole child.

The Suburban Community Music Center, a non-profit educational instiunion in its 15th year, is full member of the National Guild of Community Schools of the Arts. All classes and lessons are taught by a highly professional faculty dedicated to bringing out the best in each student. For more information, call (908) 790-0700.

Auditions are set Westfield Community Players will conduct open auditions for Frederick

Loewe and Alan Jay Lerner's musical Brigadoon. Auditions will take place Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. and Monday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the WCP theater at 1000 North Ave. West. Those cast in the show, must become dues paying members of WCP. "Brigadoon" revolves around two American tourists who stumble upon a misty little Scottish village, that only comes to life for one day every hundred years. Featuring the lush, haunting lyrics of "The Heather on the Hill." "Almost Like Being in Love" and "I'll Go Home with Bonnie Jean," the 1947 Broadway opening of "Bri gadoon" firmly established Lerner and Loewe as premier musical theater talents.

Those auditioning should prepare a song and bring sheet music in the appropriate key. Reading from the script and a simple dance audition will also be required. Directed by Anne King with musical director Jonathan Flowers, rehearsals will be Sunday afternoons and Monday and Wednesday evenings, beginning March 20. Choreography is being done by Ann Marie Squerrini. Leading roles are available for nine men and four women. A non-singing man and woman must also be cast. The show opens May 13 and conunues May 19 and 20 and June 2, 3, 9 and 10, with all tickets available for $15

Funding has been made possible in part by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State, through a grant administered by the Union County Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs.

There is a new flashing speed limit sign to mark one of the school zones in Rahway, with more to follow in the future. The signs will allow drivers to see that they are passing near a school, even when the school is not in their immediate line-of-sight.

Third Ward Councilman Jerry Scaturo proposed having a sign that warns motorists they are entering a school zone near Franklin School on St. Georges Avenue. The busy street has one sign for each side of the road that will slow down traffic as it passes the school.

Scaturo first looked into having a flashing school zone sign near the Roosevelt School, which also is on St. Georges Avenue, but closer to the city of Woodbridge. When Walgreen's was built close to the school, parents told Scaturo they were concerned about traffic so close to the school. Also, drivers can not see the school until they are right next to it because of curves in the road. Other flashing signs to warn drivers will soon come, Scaturo said. Signs for Roosevelt School are planned, as well as signs for Madison School and Grover Cleveland School. "I called Police Chief Edward Tilton up, and he gave me Lt. Edward Hannan, who is retired now, and we started this project," Scaturo said. "We put in Franklin because that is on St. Georges Avenue on a highway too. And we didn't get too far, so we went to see Assemblyman Joe Saliga, and he was instrumental in helping us a lot in."

Suliga called the state in, and a few meetings with the state were held. The effort started getting attention and action was taken. State officials agreed that Franklin School needed a flashing sign first, and that one near Roosevelt would go up next, according to the board member.

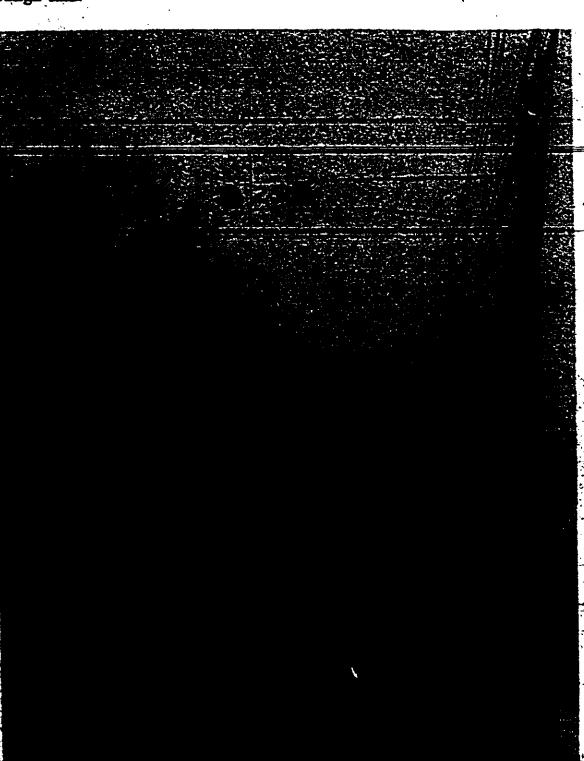

"I was happy to assist Councilman Jerry Scaturo and other Rahway officals who have worked inclessly to bring this project to fruition," Suliga said. "By coordinating our efforts; we were able to reach our goals and make traffic safety a priority around Franklin School."

Route 27 is a heavily travelled roadway, which can pose a danger for any pedestrian, especially youngers, Suliga said. "It's not just because of the traffic that we wanted the sign," Scaturo said.

"The school zone wasn't marked. If you ride down there, comeing from Linden, the school is on a curve. You can't see the school." "That's what our good selling point was to the state when Suliga had us sitting down with them. It's not a school crossing you can see. You are almost on top of it once you realize you are coming to a school zone." Scaturo's main goal is for speed limit signs to go where all the elementary schools m. Rahway are located.

"I look forward to working with the City of Rahway and getting another set of flashing speed limit signs installed near the Roosevelt School in the future," Suliga said.

Staff Writer The Rahway City Council approved a new contract Feb. 14 with the Rahway Fire Chief Officers Association. The contract is retroactive effective from July 1, 1999, and will expire June 30, 2003.

The salary increases are standard for the four years, said Deputy Chief David Hummel. There will be a 3-percent raise the first year and again the second year, and 31/2 -percent raises for the third year and fourth year of the pact.

This contract is between the city of Rahway and officers of the Fire Department, not the firefighters, which includes five batallions chiefs and the deputy chief.

The initial negotations did not start right away. The Firemen's Benevolent Association settled its contract before the start of the fiscal year in July, according to Hummel A preliminy meeting was held in the fall, and follow-up meetings were not held until November, Hummel said, because Rahway Business Administrator Peter Pelissier was working on the new city police contract and did not want to handle two. contract negotiations at once, Hummel said.

The fire officers agreed to wait, and the final meetings were held in January of this year. The contract had an amicable settlement between the fire officers and city, and will be in effect until the end of the 2003 fiscal year. Battalion Chief Robert Watt and Battalion Chief Gerard Dodman negotiated the contract for the union. There is not much difference between the previous contract and the current contract, Hummel said. There were some changes made regarding the 24/72 shift, with fire officers on call at headquarters for 24 hours, then be off for 72 hours. "They rewrote a lot of the contract to clarify some language, and put language in that was required due to the changes in the 24-hour work schedule," Hummel said. "This chief officers contract not
