Nude dancing ban is needed in city

battle to keep the Razz'l Dazz'l Fantasy Runway a mulivice bar on Routes 1&9, from reopening

The governing bodies in Carlstadt and North Prunswick are using a nudity ban upheld recently by the U.S. Supreme Court to close dance clubs featuring naked women in their communities. We support Rahway officials in their estempt to keep Razz'l Dazz'l from reopening

The Supreme Court upheld a similar ban on nude dancing in Erie, Pa. The justices said towns have the right to require renformers to wear a minimum amount of clothing. Rangil Dazzil, which also sold adult videos and maga zines has remained closed since last year. The Do Wop Corp., which owns the club, was closed last year when city officials enforced as ordinance requiring identities, addre ses and fingerprints of minority shareholders in businesses seeking a license to operate in the city. While a Superior Court judge supported the city ordinance. Do Woo had the requirement everturned by a state appeals court. The Do Wor attorney said the city only enforced this ordinance for "eir business, and not any of the other businesses in town Rehway may have a stronger legal leg to stand on with the nude dancing ban. While there are other go-go bars in Rah way and neighboring Linden, these are governed by liquor laws since they serve alcohol. Nude juice bars are outside "is requirement since they do not need liquor licenses Mayor James Kennedy and the City Council want to improve the appearance along the state highway, replacing the small, rundown motels along the strip. They are rightful ly concerned about the problems that accompany a nude juice bar, such as drug use and other criminal activity. There is a small residential community near the club that also would be affected by its reopening Linden tried to create a sexually oriented business zone in 1998 when it was concerned about another nude juice bar opening on Routes 1&9. City officials hope to prevent these businesses from opening in town by placing these heavy restrictions on their operation. "This is a perfect match between serves," explained Dr. Adam Hecht, Overlook's on-site interventional neuroradiologist "Our area serves an elderly patient population and we will be able to provide relief that they can't find elsewhere Personally, it's one of the more satisfying procedures that I do, to see a patient who couldn't even walk before, being able to get up and move around within a few hours. The pain that results from a compression fracture can be excruciating In severe cases, it confines an other wise healthy person to bed or to a wheelchair. Until vertebrosplasty was developed just a few years ago, the only way to relieve the pain was bed rest and analgesics such as Tylenol 3, which includes the narcotic painkiller.

Once a compression fracture has been diagnosed by an orthopedist or neurosurgeon, the patient can be referred to Overlook for treatment Because the entire procedure uses the latest imaging technology, there is no need for an incision.

After the patient receives a local mesthetic, the radiologist inserts a needle into the bone and injects a dye into it. The dye shows up on a fluoroscope, so the radiologist can track the rest of the process with pinpoint accuracy Using the same needle, the radiologist carefully injects a medical-grade cement directly into the bone. When the right amount of consent is in place the radiologist withdraws the needle and the procedure is complete

The cement hardons within 10 manutes. After a rest of two to tour hours in a recovery room, the patient can sit up with the help of the radiolo gist, then stand and move around. Patients are ready to leave the hospital right from the recovery room Some report an immediate cessation of pain More commonly patients describe significant relief from pain, increased mobility less reliance on analgesies, and a better quality of tife within 24 hours To find out name about vertebro plasty at the Atlantic Health Neuros

School finance plan approved

Ry Robert Coakley Staff Writer The state Local Finance Board approved a lease ourchase agreement May 10 for the Rahway Board of Education's elementary school addition project. The school board will borrow $9.2 million to build additions to all four of Rahway elementary schools for statenandated pre-school and full-day kindergarten. "About $9.2 million is what we are going to finance right-now, and we have been approved for $14-million," said Al DiGiorgio, board secretary and school business DiGiorgio explained that the space will be owned by someone else, who will lease it back to the school board. Once the school board finishes paying it off over the course of 20 years, ownership reverts back to the district FFL Services, a subsidiary of First Union, will supply the money. "They are the owners, we pay the lease to them, and when the lease is paid off, ownership reverts back to us in 20 years," DiGiorgio said. The other option the school board had was to put the project to a vote via public referendum. However, the preschool and full-day kindergarten are state-mandated programs, and the school board wanted to get the financing in place as quickly as possible because they have to be ready by a certain date, DiGiorgio said. "If we went out to public referedum and the voters defeated it, it would have been delayed.," DiGiorgio said. "It is delayed right how because it took six months to get a meeting with the state Department of Education to approve school, kindergarten and special education class. "We don't know what we will do," DiGiorgio said. Maybe the state will extend the date to start pre-school and full-day kindergarten. It is not offical yet. We are hoping that is what will happen, but it probably won't." Once full-day kindergarten starts, the school board expects a dramatic jump in enrollment, meaning the space available now will probably have to be doubled. DiGiorgio said.
