Embroidered Centrepieces

We Are Going to Sell Them at Less Than Cost

It is rarely that we can give you such a treat as this; we delight in doing it; we know it will make friends for the store.

These beautifully EMBROIDERED CENTREPIECES were made up for SHOW PIECES—samples for stores, that they might illustrate to their patrons just how the finished pieces would look when embroidered. Naturally, they are in some of the handsomest designs evolved by the makers for stamping lines, and the embroidery work is done with a skill and perfection hard to match.

There are only one or two pieces in any of the designs, but there are many designs; the lot is really large and includes 18, 22, 25 and 27 in. sizes of Centrepieces; most are embroidered in white; many are richly embroidered in colors.

In conjunction with this sale of centrepieces we will have a limited lot of the most exquisite Guest and Other Towels with embroidered ends, some done in white, some in colors, and they will be sold, as the centrepieces will be, at less than the cost of manufacture.

It is worth while to mention that the Centrepieces include many of the famous ROYAL ROSETTY, PARILUSTA, black and other designs.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

 But for other kinds of paving material including the asphalt paving blocks and the new type of paving material described in Tuesday's issue of Record.

The motion was seconded by Councilman Page. Councilman Trembley was on his feet instantly and attacked the motion. He said he objected first because the story of the excess rate over those of Newark was only unproven hearsay and second because the petitioners of Irving street expressly specified that they wanted brick pavement. "We have been five months getting this far," said Mr. Trembley, "and we will be another five months getting as far on the new bids." He intimated that the story of the discrimination against Rahway probably originated in the brains of other contractors, firms that wanted to down the lowest bidder for reasons of personal gain. Other councilmen took part in the discussion which became heated for a time. Councilman Valentine named the streets in Newark where brick pavements had been laid at the rate of $2.15 per yard while the lowest bid for the same class of paving in Irving street was $2.35.

In the course of the discussion attention was called to the failure of the water board to make the water connections necessary in order to permit the work of paving Irving street to proceed. Councilman Trembley said

 Councilman Valentine reported that he was informed by Engineer Clyde Potts that the plans for the sewage disposal plant were completed and recommended that they be filed at once at Trenton. It was pointed out by other members headed by Councilman John Wolke that the plans had not been submitted to council and Mr.
 Wolke objected to the filing of the plans until council had inspected them.
 To this Mr. Valentine replied that the plans were substantially the same as when the original draft was submitted to council.

Councilman Gage urged that the plans be filed at once in order to comply with the requirements of the state board of health. It was also pointed out that there would be an advantage in filing the plans ahead of the other towns that were under orders from the state board in the matter. The plans were ordered filed and it was intimated that Rahway and Cranford might later join in the construction of a joint plant for the two cities.

Much discussion followed the second reading of an ordinance amending the ordinance relative to the recording and payment of fees in the office of the receiver of taxes and the city treasurer. The amendment provided that funds so received should be credited to a fund to be known as the "Municipal Search Fund." After a squabble in which the relative authority of the city council and the board of water commissioners was the chief topic, the ordinance was lost by a vote of 8 to 1.

Councilman Valentine reported that a tank car of tarvia street dressing was on its way to this city and would arrive within the week. He also recommended that the old hook and ladder truck be sold.

Title was taken to an ordinance providing for the laying of sewers in Elizabeth avenue from Spott avenue
 to Jackson avenue.

there was a "nigger on the fence" and intimated that there was some one with influence either in the water board or dominating it who had a purpose in blocking the paving of Irving street. Councilman Valentine replied that the water board would attend to the connections in ample time to permit the paving to proceed and Councilman Trembley said that such connections and alterations as were needed should have been made at once in order that the earth would have time to settle, otherwise there would be caving-in as was the case in Main street.

When the matter was put to a vote, Councilmen Trembley and Wolke voted against the motion. Councilman Farrell was absent. The motion carried by 8 votes. Councilman Valentine then moved that the city engineer be instructed to advertise for bids on all kinds of pavements. This was later altered to "brick and asphalt block pavements" and the motion as amended passed. Motion was then made that the city engineer be instructed to proceed at once with the advertising for bids and the drawing of specifications. Engineer Marsh was called into the chamber and directed to proceed with the advertising at once and try to have the matter published in time to have the bids in by the next meeting.

A likely tilt followed the reading of a letter from the Mayor recommending Harry J. Orr as chairman. The ordinance providing for the increase of the number of chairmen from six to eight was taken from the table and passed and in this connection Councilman Valentine for the police committee reported that two men named on the present list, were unavailable for police duty according to the report of Chief Ramsey. These men are Chance-men Bierworth and Hughes and according to the report of the chief they are never able to serve when called upon.

Councilman Trembley scored the chief on other matters and when the names of the two men were proposed it was proposed to revoke appointment of the two men he questioned the right of council to do so without charges being preferred. City attorney Dobbins declared that the city council had full control over the chance-men. The motion to revoke the appointment of Bierworth and Hughes was later amended to leave out the name of Bierworth and the chief was directed to recover badges and other city property in the possession of Hughes.

Councilman Valentine reported that he was informed by Engineer Clyde Potts that the plans for the sewage disposal plant were completed and recommended that they be filed at once at Trenton. It was pointed out by other members headed by Councilman John Wolke that the plans had not been submitted to council and Mr. Wolke objected to the filing of the plans until council had inspected them. The plans were ordered filed and it was intimated that Rahway and Cranford might later join in the construction of a joint plant for the two cities.

phone directories have been issued and 140,000 New Jersey Division telephone directories and it is planned to push the work of delivering these directories to completion as rapidly as possible.

The new telephone toll rates that become effective July 1st are shown in the New Jersey Division Telephone Directory. The public should bear in mind, however, that these rates do not take effect until July 1st. They are printed in this directory at this time so that the public may have ready for use on July 1st a complete list of the new rates.

The new New Jersey Division Telephone Directory is similar in form and make-up to the February New Jersey Directory. It has been found that this directory, taking the place in New Jersey of the small local books and the General Suburban Telephone Directory issued once a year, gives more complete information and meets the needs of telephone subscribers in New Jersey better than the old method of furnishing telephone directories to New Jersey subscribers did.

The New Jersey Division Telephone Directory is issued three times a year. It assures the most accurate and up-to-date telephone information possible. It improves the service rendered the public by reducing the number of wrong connections, calls made in error, delays arising through connection with special operators and calls to "information."

The new New Jersey Division Telephone Directory contains 404 pages and about 110,000 names set in a type especially designed for the telephone directory after a careful study and consideration of type faces. It is a condensed form of type the same height as that used in the New York City book.

The New York City Directory, which is delivered at the same time, is a book of 884 pages containing over 800,000 names, and will be especially valuable to all subscribers who may have occasion to call telephone subscribers in Greater New York.

"Service to any place at any time"

You Can Depend on Bell Telephone Toll Service

BELL TELEPHONE TOLL LINES are the important links that bind the many telephone exchanges into the one vast Universal Bell System. They bridge great distances and overcome the isolation that "local service" alone could not prevent. They are the all-important lines that make Bell Telephone subscribers neighbors, whether they live in the city or in the country, within a few blocks of each other or hundreds of miles apart.

Every effort is made, therefore, to make Bell Telephone Toll Service dependable because when storm or disaster blocks the railways, when mail is delayed and transportation stopped, then the need of Telephone Toll "service to any place at any time" is felt most keenly.

Our Toll lines are built in a most substantial manner to withstand bad weather and storms. They run as straight as possible from point to point through the sparsely settled sections and avoid the busy streets of the cities where there would be likelihood of interruption to service by reason of the city's activities. Every possible safeguard is provided to secure an uninterrupted service.

The best constructed lines, however, are sometimes forced to give way to severe storms, blizzards or floods. At such times, service would be seriously handicapped were it not for our careful provision for spare apparatus and special workmen to meet just such emergencies. For instance, the unusually severe sleet storm in the Western part of New York State last January destroyed pole lines and equipment to the value of $125,000.00. Yet the damage was repaired in record-breaking time and the service restored with little inconvenience to telephone toll users.

DIPLOMAS AWARDED

education and the members of the class were then presented with their diplomas by Mr. Jardine.

Commissioner H. B. Gore-Kelly of the board of education introduced Dr. Corson as a friend of Rahway and her people and as one that had formerly been intimately associated with the interests of the local schools.

Dwelling principally on the development of the high school in the past ten years, he pointed out the great advantage of possessing a high school diploma which he described as one of the most desirable of possessions. Referring to his personal experience as a member of the board of education for the city of Newark he said that among those who failed in the examinations a large proportion were those who did not have diplomas.

America, he said, as a nation was possessed by a passion but it is not for conquest; it is for learning. No other nation on the globe, he said, devotes so much time, thought and money to the advancement of education. The high school he said was an American institution and a high school commencement was a most representative function. Formerly said the speaker the idea prevailed that education was only for the few. Today this theory has been exploded and the efforts of educators throughout the land are being directed toward extending the scope of the schools so as to reach young and old. The courses are each year being adjusted so as to meet the needs of the greatest number.

Referring to conditions in Europe, the speaker described the opening of the first school for the general public in Switzerland and the progress of the movement since that time. Napoleon, he said, missed the opportunity of his life in not establishing a similar institution in France. Such an act, he said, would have changed the history of France and of Europe.

In reviewing the growth of the high school idea in this country, the speaker said that in 1831, the third high school in America was established in Newark. Of the other two, one was in Boston and the other in Philadelphia. In 1850 he said the number in the nation had increased to eleven. In 1870, in spite of the shock of the civil war, the number had increased to about sixty and today he estimated the number of high schools in the country at about 14,000.

Dr. Corson said that inasmuch as the people govern in this country, it is necessary that they be educated. Communities that did not support a high school, he said, were backward while those communities that maintained a flourishing high school never had to worry about loss of population.

Dr. Corson dwelt at some length on the value of high school training as a developing influence for the mind aside from the actual knowledge gained in a course. Many, he said, thought that the high school was valuable only to those who intended to use in life, the actual information acquired in the course. The fact is, he said, that the most valuable feature of a high school training was the training of the mind so that it could grasp and turn to account, any kind of information to the fullest extent.

Dr. Corson pointed out the three general types of intellect that underlie the nation's progress: the thinkers, the leaders and the doers. These he classed as the minds of ideas, the minds of leadership and minds of action, or factor minds. In response to the demands of these types of mind, he said, the high school had three courses—the classical, commercial and the technical.

In closing he complimented Rahway on having a good high school and mentioned his having recently read of the defeat of the ball team of one of his Newark schools by a Rahway team.

In addition to the solo sung by Miss Madison, other musical features of the evening's program were: a recitative and aria "Ah, Moon of My Delight" sung by Arthur L. Perry, manual training instructor. Mr. Perry's wonderful voice was at its best and the song was a rare treat to the audience. Miss Yerna Houghton sang "The Secret" and scored a great hit.

After the close of Mr. Corson's address, a sextet composed of under-graduates sang "Row Us Swiftly." The following composed the sextet: Miss Vivian Madison, Miss Yerna Houghton, Miss Zelde Mills, Miss Helen Orris, Miss Beatrice Miller and Miss Eva Wyckoff.

The Benediction was pronounced by Rev. C. S. Kemble.

The class colors are gold and white, class flower, chrysanthemum; class motto, "Nil Sine Labore."

MR. WOODRUFF TO THE MAYOR

The following letter has been sent to Mayor Fyfe by Mr. Woodruff:

Dear Sir: Mrs. Woodruff and myself yielded to the solicitation of the Government to erect a post office building in our city in place of the old building which was erected in 1880. In addition more than $2000.00 has been spent for equipment of the post office, also upon the solicitation of the Government, and the way to have the old money so expended for equipment returned to us is the agreement of the Government to repay the same in sums of $1000.00 and interest each year for the ten years for which the building is leased.

ask if you are willing to be at all party to the matter brought before your Charter Revision Committee the other evening in respect to the proposed plan to erect a Federal post office building in our city. It is my belief, based upon what has been said to be within the past few days, that our citizens generally have no desire to be parties to the proposed plan to erect a Federal post office building in our city.
