A PROBLEM THAT MUST BE SOLVED

The argument is advanced that for Rahway to install the septic sewer disposal plant, as demanded by the State Board of Health, would entail an expense, which at this time the city is not prepared to meet. While there are no definite figures, it is estimated that the cost of such a plant would be $100,000. It is sufficient to say that it would require an expenditure of considerable money. Not the least to be considered, perhaps, would be the purchase of land necessary. Another important matter to be considered is a suitable location for the plant. Those who have property for sale, would no doubt be willing to dispose of it, providing they received their price, but considerable opposition could be expected from owners of adjoining property. It has been stated that the disposal plant would in no way mar, menace or leave property surrounding it. The fact may be all right, but most of us would feel very uncomfortable, with the knowledge that the city's sewage disposal plant was located in the vicinity. There are no two ways of looking at it. Rahway at present, is confronted with a very perplexing problem. Equivalent almost, to a crisis. How best to meet and adjust this problem, is a matter with which the authorities are now wrestling. Let us hope that by the aid of the satisfaction of all concerned, and any assistance required of the city in a spirit that it is for the benefit of the city, that the problem of sewage disposal may be solved. Any improvements towards better conditions should be looked upon as an asset. It is by diverting our sewage from the river, we can improve that water materially. It is believed that everyone interested would rejoice, since of recent years there has been much complaint regarding the pollution. With a small amount of precaution, and adding here and there a touch to the hard work of nature the Rahway river could readily be transformed into a source of pleasure, in which we could all feel a considerable amount of pride. The entire of the city, at least, the river needs be up to a very noticeable degree.

"THINGS TO HAPPEN"

Under the heading "Things to Happen," the Record will publish hereafter for the benefit of those interested a summary of the events contemplated by churches, societies, clubs, etc. The date will be given, and the nature of the entertainment and the place where it is to be held. This information, which should be of value, will be given gratis, and will be published with the date of the entertainment. It will apply only to those, however, who have the date of the event printed in the Record. Hereafter, the Record has given gratis, many columns of free advertising. We feel now, that as the date of business the line must be drawn somewhere, and will therefore the date that unless the printing is done at the Record office there will be a business proposition, such as has been made several times recently, to offer a printed matter, done in another office, with the request to give it a good write-up. Talk about contentious scripples!

GOVERNMENT PRINTING

Printers in all parts of the country are most strenuously opposed to the Government entering into competition with them, to the extent of printing business cards on stamped envelopes free, and thus depriving the local printer of business. The matter has also been taken up by many local printers. Rahway Local No. 235 has called attention to what seems to be an injustice, to Senator George and Congressman Tuttle. Both have consented to use their efforts for and diverting the volume of printing into the channels where it properly belongs. Congressmen from many other districts have also agreed to use their endeavors to abolish this injustice to the printing trade.

ENTERTAINMENT FRIENDS

Mrs. Howard Jackson, of Harrison street, entertained a number of her friends, Wednesday evening, in honor of her birthday anniversary. Social occasion marked the evening with games and instrumental music being the features. Refreshments were served and a number of presents were received. Those present were: Mrs. John Mather, Mrs. W. C. Watson, Mrs. John High, Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. R. M. Miller, Donald High, Mrs. G. M. Way and Mrs. Arthur Smith.

LOCAL MOOSE SOON TO OPEN NEW QUARTERS

Rahway Lodge No. 1203 Loyal Order of Moose have leased the W. P. Peckham property at 32 and 34 West Main street, opposite the P. R. R. station for a term of five years. The property is to be remodelled to make it suitable for club rooms. A large oval window is to be placed in front which will give light and greatly enhance the appearance. It is proposed to display a large moose head in front to be illuminated by electricity. The lodge is to be congratulated on securing such a prominent site for its quarters.

Lumps of Comfort

It is our pleasure to supply you with the best quality Coal for your Stove, fireplace or furnace. When we haven't anything in the line you desire, we don't if any dealer in town has it. Our figures are reasonable as the market permits; our facilities for delivery second to none. Red Ash Coal—spills economy. Try a ton; it will do a ton's work.

To-night the fourteen episode of "The Perils of Pauline" will divide house with Mary Platter, the queen of the "Movies" who will be seen in "A Normandy Romance." This recent episode of the series is possibly the most thrilling yet released of the series.

To-morrow there will be another high class vaudeville show of five all feature Broadway acts, and five first run photo plays. The management has been selecting unusual casts in booking the vaudeville, and at the theatre recently, and the public is convinced there is no need of going out of town for amusement. One feature of tomorrow's show will be Baker Buchanan and Clark in their comedy dramatized, "Brave Prince Tommy," which comes especially well recommended.

Monday will be shown the sixth episode of the popular serial, "Trey O' Hearts" and a carefully selected program of other dramatic and comedy photo plays, including the two part drama, "The Pipes of Pan," and a Ford Sterling Comedy.

Another big seven reel program Tuesday featuring "The Danger Line." Beginning at next Wednesday night the Empire will sell regular coupon reserved seats for the vaudeville performances, for the convenience of patrons. Seats may be reserved a week in advance, and those desiring seats throughout the season are invited to order their names on the subscription book, which will be open at the office of the Empire.

Beginning Monday the box office at the Empire will open at noon and remain open throughout the day.

ENDEAVORERS ENTERTAINED

A business meeting and social of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian Church was held at the residence of the Misses Edythe and Mildred Terrill, on Hamilton street, Tuesday evening. After the standing committee had been announced by the new president, Clarence V. Ludlow, he gave an address, encouraging all to enter with a new spirit into the work of the society. At the increased attendance at the Sunday meetings he said new features would be added continuously to attract still larger numbers and every member would be expected to do something, so that the society might be what it was meant to be, a training for the church.

Several applications for membership were read and upon favorably recommending them, the First Presbyterian Church was taken up and Miss Ada Woodruff was appointed to attend to the provisions and Miss Eleanor Lutz was appointed to care for the arrangement of the tables. The social part of the meeting on Tuesday consisted of games, followed by serving of refreshments.

The present were: Clarence V. Ludlow, A. N. Baynes, Rev. L. V. Graham, Jr., George Mingo, Lester R. Hall, Howard Charles and the Misses Irene Harriman, Margaret Jane, Edythe and Mildred Terrill, Ada Woodruff, E. LaForge, Edna Woodruff, L. Cartwright, Mildred Ludlow and Lizzie Garthwaite.

GIRLS' CLUB MEETING

An enthusiastic meeting of the Girls' Club of the First Baptist Church was held Tuesday evening in the new basement room of the church. A short business meeting was called to order by President Mrs. L. A. V. Hilary after which a social time was devoted to hold a "Halloween Soiree" in the lecture room on Saturday, October 31, at which time the C. E. Society is invited to attend. It was also decided to hold a "Halloween men's Night" on Tuesday next. The feature of the social hour was the stereoscopic views from a machine owned by Almetta Whitely, and operated by Rev. F. G. Merrill. Refreshments were served.

Those present were: Mrs. L. A. V. Hilary, the Misses Jennie and Anna Mather, Gertrude and Grace Corbush, Ruth Bodwell, Mabel Swann, Hazel Thompson Helen Worth, Ruth Ramsey and Ethel Price.

IMPORTANT!

If you believe every advertisement you read, the Country is full of stores willing to sell you pianos for next to nothing—which is just about what those pianos are worth. You are better off to pay a reasonable price for an instrument that is really worth while—one you will treasure long after the cost is paid up. We can think of no finer pianos and player-pianos at moderate prices than the time-honored Bradbury's, on sale at 869 Broad St. Newark. Those are instruments it is safe to buy. In fact, we do not know of any other make—however high-priced—that contains so much first-class material, or gives a tone of such full round quality, as the Bradbury.

CITIZENS B. L. MEETING

A meeting of the Citizens B. and L. Association was held last evening at the office of Charles J. Stamler in the Post Office building. An application for a loan was received and with consideration at the next regular meeting to be held on Nov. 15.

Six new members were received. The prospects of the association are bright. Past books were given the subscribers. H. L. Lamphar is president of the association and William H. Wright is treasurer.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Marie E. Stewart wish to extend thanks to the neighbors and friends for the many acts of kindness shown them in their recent hour of sorrow.

O. HENRY'S STORIES

—Makes the Whole World Kin—

By O. HENRY
Copyright, 1911, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

THE burglar stepped inside the window quickly and then he took his time. A burglar who respects his art always takes his time before making a dash. The house was a private residence. By its boarded front door and unimpaired front door the burglar knew that the mistress of it was sitting on some ornate piazza telling a sympathetic man in a jockey cap that no one had ever understood her sensitive, lonely heart. He knew by the light in the third story front window, and by the glances of the woman, that the mistress of the house had come home, and would soon extinguish his light and retire. For it was September of the year and of the sun, in which season the house's good man was to consider the roof garden and the atmosphere of his mate and the more durable blessings of decorum and the moral education.

The burglar lit a cigarette. The guarded glow of the match illuminated an instant points for a moment. He belonged to the third type of burglar. This third type has not yet been recognized and accepted. The police have made us familiar with the first and second. Their classification is simple. The collar is the distinguishing mark.

"Can't raise the other one," said the burglar.

When a burglar is caught who does not wear a collar he is described as a desperado of the lowest type, a sturdy victim and depraved, and is suspected of being the desperate criminal who stole the handkerchief out of Patrick Henry's pocket in 1876 and walked away to escape arrest.

The other well known type is the burglar who wears a collar. He is always referred to as a Raffles in real life. He is invariably a gentleman by daylight, breakfasts in a dress suit and posing as a paperhanger, while after dark he fills the nefarious occupation of burglary. His mother is an extremely wealthy and respected resident of Ocean Grove, and when he is questioned by the police he is asked for a call to the Police Gazette. He always has a wife for every state in the Union and dances in all the territories, and he never forgets his matrimonial gallery out of their stock of cuts of the ladies who were cured by him. He has, after having been given up by five doctors, experienced great relief after the first dose.

The burglar was a blue sweater. He was neither a Raffles nor one of the cheap front door burglars. The police would have been baffled had they attempted to classify him. They have not yet heard of the respectable, distinguished burglar who is both above and below his station.

opened his eyes. His right hand was under his pillow, but remained there. "Stay still," said the burglar in a conversational tone. Burglars of the third type do not like to be disturbed. The burglar looked at the round end of the burglar's pistol and his will.

"Now hold up both your hands," commanded the burglar. The citizen had a little pointed, brown and gray beard, like that of a painless dentist. He looked solid, esteemed, irritable and disgusted. He sat up in bed and raised his right hand above his head.

The burglar looked down at his pistol and then he took his time. A burglar who respects his art always takes his time before making a dash. The house was a private residence. By its boarded front door and unimpaired front door the burglar knew that the mistress of it was sitting on some ornate piazza telling a sympathetic man in a jockey cap that no one had ever understood her sensitive, lonely heart. ## ECCENTRICITIES OF O. HENRY.

A True Bohemian, Loving Life and Laughter Better Than Work. William Sydney Porter, who as "O. Henry" introduced to American literature a new type of short story, was a man of many moods, a fun loving, jolly, and was as popular with his associates in the literary field as he was with the public. He was forty-three years old when death closed his promising career. He was at work just before he died on a play called "The World and the Door" and on his last long novel, "The Dream." He had intended doing "serious writing" henceforward, his former crisp, snappy, amazingly dramatic short stories having been mere play to him. Brilliant as they were, he wrote them in slouchy fashion when the ideas struck him or when he needed funds for his wife's treatment. He was a true tonic, a stimulant, a heartener and a life and laughter better than work. Only a few days before the end of his career he was at the big magazine was handed a note from him by a messenger, who waited for an answer. He read it and laughed and said, "If you want to see my old tricks." The note was to this effect: "Please send me $25. I intend to do with me and thought I'd pay from the looks of him I don't think he'll mind." The writer could have anything he wanted—and almost any price for his stories—so well as he liked and he gave the messenger $25.00 or $30.00 worth three or four hundred words, as he pleased.

HOWDY PAH!

Of course there are quite a number of men in Rahway who know what "Howdy Pah" means. We do not. But we do know that the Loyal Order of Moose, is one of the enterprising civic societies of Rahway, which is making great gains in membership and popularity. An innovation is a "bulletin" to be issued at intervals, giving such information as will interest every "moose." The society has secured their quarters adjacent to the new P. R. station which will be comfortably furnished, and kept open every evening for the satisfaction of members. A series of civic lectures for the winter months promises an abundance of pleasure.
