THE INNER BOILER
Made for Round or Square Furnaces
Invented and Manufactured in Rahway
A PRODUCT OF NATIONAL VALUE

The Inner Boiler is merely an auxiliary boiler... an added section to your furnace. The water of the heating system circulates through the Inner Boiler which is placed directly over the oil flame in such a way as to insure much quicker heating of the water, thus conserving all wasted heat from the flame and reducing the oil consumption from 25% to 35%.

In small homes the Inner Boiler should nearly pay for itself in one season's heating; and in the larger homes, two family and three family houses and other buildings where the consumption of oil is large, the Inner Boiler should pay for itself twice in one season's heating.

Heating engineers of some of the most reputable and outstanding organizations in New Jersey recommend and sell the Inner Boiler, among whom are:
