Platforms Or Political Bunk?

With the primary election over and the personnel of the city committees settled, candidates for offices will soon begin their political campaigns for the November 5 election.

Rayhaw, a city whose affairs have been too much steeped in politics in the past for its own best interests, will be deeply concerned with the outcome of the fall election, we hope.

The outcome of too many elections has depended upon the strength of an organization rather than the merits and qualifications of the candidates themselves, regardless of party.

Thus far, we have heard little of issues in the coming campaign. We hope that our candidates won't again use the old formula of: "I will do my best to give the city the best that's in me and will stand for an increase in salaries of employees, if and when conditions warrant."

Of course they will give their best. The question is: "Will their best be good enough for Rayhaw's welfare?" There are a few candidates who are coming en masse whose best will be good enough.

City employees and teachers will get their increases when the city is in a position to make them and not before. The affair will best be solved by putting those men into office who are efficient enough to put the city in that position.

The school teachers will be wasting their time if they again send out their regular questionnaire asking for the stand upon the salary question.

They should know that every man who is running for office, and most of us who aren't, want to see our employees getting just as much money as we can afford to give them.

The teachers will be doing a much better service if they ask the candidates to state their platforms for a better Rayhaw.

We want to know if our candidates will have the courage to deal with the better organization of the police department, what they think about bonded indebtedness, whether they will give us better streets and more efficiency in all city departments, what they think about plans for future industrial and home development, what their plans are for completing our sewer system, how they feel about improving school facilities and a host of other important municipal questions.

Rayhaw has shown progress in the past few years and must elect the men who will make continued progress possible. There are, among the candidates nominated September 17, candidates who can guarantee that progress because they have the qualifications.

Let's have no more of those mud-slinging, bear buying, cigar giving and baby kissing campaigns by candidates who haven't a platform. And to those who don't have a platform, we say get one and let's have about it. The platforms are open for as much comment as you want to make.

Our intelligent voters want to know what you stand for. But don't expect us to listen to mud-slinging statements. We want logical, clear thinkers and not political hacks. Our voters have shown wisdom in their nomination of the candidates this year.

They couldn't show it in other cases because in some wards men who have shown no right to serve a $21,000,000 corporation were put up for office unopposed.

Now it's up to our candidates to speak up and tell us why they think they have the qualifications to serve us.

In some instances, The Record's mind is made up on which men will best serve the city but in other wards, we are still unconvinced that certain candidates deserve support. We plan to find out what qualities these candidates as our representatives and take a definite stand, regardless of party, for those we think will best serve the city.

We urge our intelligent voters to make it their business to do likewise. Don't vote for a man just because he is a member of your political party when you will find out, after the election, that his opponent is more qualified to serve you even though his political affiliations are different from yours.

"Ding mentions that the 'best citizens live in this neighborhood and have lived there for generations.' To my way of thinking this is irrelevant. However, as a person who has lived in Rayhaw long enough to watch this neighborhood grow, I should like to advise you that none of the houses in the vicinity have been occupied by the same family for a generation.

"I appreciate the fact that these people take pride in their homes and also that they pay their taxes promptly. However, I'd wager more than thirty are would care to hear that few residents of Elm avenue have paid more to the city of Rayhaw in taxes than I have. And I might add that in constructing some 100 houses in Rayhaw, I have improved not one, but many neighborhoods.

Trenton Facts By SENATOR CHARLES E. LOZZAUX. How many of these advantages are afforded to the average man in the modern European forms of government with all their planned economy, their regulations and their strong central authorities dictating to every citizen how he shall labor, how he shall live, how he shall think?

When—and only when—the citizen can answer these questions to our satisfaction should we take their proposal seriously. When—and only when—they can prove that the man who work and earn are better off in their hands than in our own, should we consider scrapping our constitutional guarantees for their American liberties and projects.

Our heritage of freedom and opportunity is far too precious to wrap it up in a method foreign people call credit and to limit their freedom to the amount of money they have. The most important of these was the right to own property. I sponsored last year a bill to permit municipalities to refund their bonded indebtedness, which would have allowed them to borrow and build service charges—it will result in a saving of $100,000,000 to New Jersey taxpayers.

The basic problem faced by our municipalities is that the present method of raising money for their needs has not been solved. There must be some other way of raising money which will permit a proper distribution of government functions and allow the state to take over certain important obligations which municipalities are unable to maintain through their own resources, which are now only 50 percent collectible. I will discuss this matter in still greater detail in future articles.

Railroad's New Ticket Office Hours Opposed

Officials, Industries And Citizens In Protest Against Closed Office; Patrons Urged To Purchase All Tickets In Railway

Unless the Pennsylvania Railroad heeds the demands of Rayhaw citizens, officials and industries and increases its service in the local ticket office and freight house, there is a chance that several local industries will discontinue their present policy of attempting to aid the city by co-operating with the railroad and give much of their passenger and freight business to other railroads.

This was learned by The Record yesterday as the reduced hours in the local ticket office and curtailed staff in the freight house still continued despite protests of citizens, Mayor Barger, Common Council and industrial officials against the recent order which closed the local ticket office during mid-day hours.

The action follows a similar one taken by the Pennsylvania Railroad in Philadelphia, where the ticket office was closed from 7 until 9 o'clock to-night Monday and Tuesday nights.

If You Serve Prunes— Dress Them Up

Prunes Can Stay "Just Prunes" Or Become A Real Family Treat

By Helen Overholts Roes

Every now and then we feel that we must up and serve the members of the family prunes, and why not. They are healthy, easy to prepare, and very inexpensive. But the objections that we meet when we mention the subject very often make us forget all about the prime idea and turn to foods that cost to a great deal more, and are really less nourishing.

And so wonder we meet with a lack of enthusiasm over prunes. After all, time they have been cooked a good service, as just "prunes." Never any thought as to what can be done to dress them up or change them—never realizing that with proper preparation and cooking some of the most delicious dishes can be made.

Some one of these days when you get the prime urge say nothing about it to the family—but up and do something about it—and here is what to do—make PRUNES PUFF PUDDING

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons tapioca
2 eggs
2 tablespoons sugar
1/8 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar
6 tablespoons sifted flour
6 tablespoons sugar, tapioca and water in saucepan. Cook 30 minutes, until tapioca is transparent. Pour into casserole. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add sugar and beat again. Beat egg whites until stiff and add salt and cream of tartar. Continue beating until stiff and add sugar gradually. Pour batter over-prune mixture. Bake in a slow oven, 325 F., for 40 minutes.

Every now and then we feel that we must up and serve the members of the family prunes, and why not. They are healthy, easy to prepare, and very inexpensive. But the objections that we meet when we mention the subject very often make us forget all about the prime idea and turn to foods that cost to a great deal more, and are really less nourishing.

And so wonder we meet with a lack of enthusiasm over prunes. After all, time they have been cooked a good service, as just "prunes." Never any thought as to what can be done to dress them up or change them—never realizing that with proper preparation and cooking some of the most delicious dishes can be made.

Some one of these days when you get the prime urge say nothing about it to the family—but up and do something about it—and here is what to do—make PRUNES PUFF PUDDING

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons tapioca
2 eggs
2 tablespoons sugar
1/8 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar
6 tablespoons sifted flour
6 tablespoons sugar, tapioca and water in saucepan. Cook 30 minutes, until tapioca is transparent. Pour into casserole. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add sugar and beat again. Beat egg whites until stiff and add salt and cream of tartar. Continue beating until stiff and add sugar gradually. Pour batter over-prune mixture. Bake in a slow oven, 325 F., for 40 minutes.

Prunes can stay "just prunes" or become a real family treat. By Helen Overholts Roes.

THINK WHAT THIS CARE can mean to your Estate! In the purchase and sale of securities for trusts under its care, this institution has only one thought in mind: the interests and safety of beneficiaries. Decisions are reached after group study; each purchase or sale is the result of careful analysis by men who have given years to this type of work. Group judgment - although never infallible - is recognized as sound in reducing errors to the lowest possible minimum. Although lacking mechanical perfection, it is, however, the best method yet devised in dealing with human problems. This is only one factor of our estate management that will help to safeguard your heirs. May we discuss others with you at your convenience?

LETTERHEADS MEAN BETTER BUSINESS... WHAT kind of a "first impression" does your letterhead make on your customer? Does it make him say, "There's a firm worth doing business with?" We are experts in helping you design a letterhead that will fit your exact business requirements. Consult us today regarding your business printing problems. The Printerasters (The Rahway Record)

LET'S START OUR OWN P. W. A.

(Public Works Administration)

Let's start a little "P.W.A.-ing" of our own right here in Rahway. Let's do our part to put men and boys and girls to work. Let's create jobs for them by buying everything we can from local merchants. Let's employ local contractors on all building and repair work and patronize local shops for the various services we want performed. Let's pull together and as far as possible, let's buy things that are made in Rahway.

There are hundreds of people living in this city who are out-of-employment today who could have steady jobs if Rahway's buying public will just be a little more thoughtful and will patronize those who are in business here to serve them.

There is a mistaken idea among many Rahway people that they cannot buy as cheaply at home as elsewhere. And many believe that outside organizations offering various kinds of services do better work or charge lower prices than those of Rahway.

But it is reasonable to suppose that outsiders would be compelled to charge more for their merchandise or their services because there are very few places where rents, taxes and other overhead expenses are as low as in Rahway. And while in some lines of retail business the selection may not be as great, in most cases the merchandise that is offered is composed of the leading numbers, or in other words the best selling items of the particular line. The manufacturers and wholesale houses that sell New York merchants and those of other cities also sell the merchants and supply houses of Rahway. Our merchants are as good judges of quality as are the buyers in New York or any other city, in fact many of them received their training in the big city stores.

So let's do our buying at home as far as possible and in so doing we will be creating jobs for honest people, who in turn will spend their money here and every man, woman and child will profit either directly or indirectly.

LET'S BOOST RAHWAY!

Talks With Boys and Girls

By TRUMAN KILBOURNE

Let's elect the Georgian emblem. My friend, I'd like to nominate you as a charter member. Got an old broom handy?

Rahway's River

By Jessie M. Hartman

The Rahway river was at one time a source of pleasure and profit to the whole community. Craft of many kinds dotted its rippling surface, while upon both banks were the homes of the day's bathers. Here small boys and girls, no more than two feet high, were seen to be playing in the water. They were not alone. Their mothers, or nannies, played upon the grassy banks. Along its shores attractive homes were clustered and it was the center of the town's activities.

The town grew, became a busy industrial center—politics entered. A small group of leaders, more concerned with the penny of the moment than a community of the future, had neither patience nor money to squander upon sewage disposal. Here was the river, a quick and easy way to get rid of a problem; so though these men with sweetest lack of vision, the plan was adopted. An indifferent community looked on with scanty interest and had been paying a tremendous price for the industrial center—politics entered.

What once was, and now could be the center of attraction has become a festering sore of the town. It is a source of shame to the town. The river is a quick and easy way to get rid of a problem; so though these men with sweetest lack of vision, the plan was adopted. An indifferent community looked on with scanty interest and had been paying a tremendous price for the industrial center—politics entered.

What an asset this river might be to the city with the exercising of a little foresight. Cost of an adequate sewage disposal plant would be small compared to the cost of the present cessing and dumping of the river now insured upon an annual cleanup. A dam erected at eight feet would provide an ideal bathing place and by changing the fee for bathing, this cost would soon be eliminated. A park along its banks would add immeasurably to the enjoyment of the populace and would not only serve the community, but, together with ideal bathing, would attract visitors from communities all around.

bringing business and new life to the town, and knowing at home much of the money which is now spent at the water. Rahway is one of the best places for a city of this size. Rahway would be a city of beautiful homes, attractive desirable residents and featuring civic pride.

Change in Building Ordinance Recommended. Change of the ordinance allowing condemnation of buildings has been recommended by the committee after the suggestion of Mayor Burger that a change be made to allow for quicker action. The amendment will be presented soon.

Trenton Facts

By BRADDOCK CHAMBERS R. LOEBBAUX

Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles on the history of the State of New Jersey. The first article was published in the issue of the 27th of September.

One of the important problems to be faced by the 1936 New Jersey Legislature is now being discussed by the State Social Security Commission. The commission is considering the situation from all angles and collecting all available statistics. State welfare agencies are co-operating by preparing estimates of the cost of complying with the federal act.

Due to the widespread interest in the Federal Social Security Act and its relation to this state, it is planned to hold a public hearing at Trenton before any final conclusion is reached on proposed legislation or amendments to present laws. The hearing will be held on October 10, at 10 A. M. in the State House.

Present trends continue, traffic accidents in New Jersey will be as heavy this year as in 1934 when they totaled 1,227. Arthur W. Massie warned today in announcing 700 fatalities in the first eight months as compared with 726 last year.

New Jersey taxpayers will pay their taxes to the federal authorities for taxes paid. Ninety percent of the total unemployment insurance taxes paid would be placed in a trust fund in Washington, where it could be drawn upon any time New Jersey made application for insurance payments. The remaining 10 percent of the tax income would be for administrative use.

History Of State Offered By Record

Volume On History Of New Jersey Placed On Sale Here Today

As a service to the people of this community this newspaper has made available a book entitled "New Jersey" which offers to all a complete history of the life, history and resources of the state. The book delves into every phase of industrial, commercial, agricultural and life within the confines of the state. An examination of the volume reveals that the past history and the future possibilities of this state are not only unknown to many residents of this state but also the reader's food for thought. Much too often the average person is prone to accept the state in which he lives as a matter of fact, without giving any consideration to the forces which have aided its development and progress.

The chapter headings of the book indicate the wealth of information that can be found therein. Beginning with the history and government of the state, the volume discusses natural resources, the people and religion, education, agriculture, public utilities, transportation and commerce, community life and recreation, insurance and finance, industrial organization and development as well as to adults. It is the result of much research and study by a group of industrialists, economists, public officials and others. In an effort to place this book in the hands of everyone in this city, it is being sold at a nominal cost, less than the actual cost of printing, by this newspaper.

Those who are careful when they purchase their copies are not apt to lose it.

Chevrolet Trucks In Thrilling Tests Atop Pikes Peak

In the first formally observed and timed tests of motor trucks over the perilous hairpin turns and steep switchbacks of the Pikes Peak auto highway, near Colorado Springs, Chevrolet 1 1/2-ton and 3-ton trucks demonstrated their power, endurance and efficiency over the course of the annual Labor Day hill climb contest. In a distance of 12.1 miles, the 1 1/2-ton truck, driven by W. P. Bantrop, on its way to a record of 37 minutes, 52 1/2 seconds, with its full 3000-pound load (it made the run in 29 minutes, 13 seconds) and the off-duty at the finish. The 3-ton truck, which Harry Hertz drove to the summit in 33 minutes, 3 seconds, and the finish of the run of the 1 1/2-ton truck with full load.

THANKS, SENATOR LOIZEAUX

After years of effort, Rahway is to have steps taken to eliminate its 'death crossing' at Route 25 and Lawrence street.

Fire Prevention

The coming of Fire Prevention Week, which will be observed October 6 and 12, makes it worthwhile to meditate on what fire prevention means to you as an individual, a taxpayer, a homeowner and a worker.

you and me

I think that we are making very little effort to remove juvenile crime from our city or at least reduce it instead of allowing it to increase.

you and me

Our Common Council has pulled together mightily this year, considering the fact that it has been one of the busiest of many years.

you and me

For several years hats have come low over the eyes of our citizens, causing a mysterious shadow about the city.

Thanks, Senator Loizeaux

Some of our organizations might do well to interest themselves in such a youth development program. We have a number of organizations in Rahway which are doing anything of importance and they might do much to aid their city if they turned their attentions toward such a plan.

The King's English

A man who says he is a poet, and who writes poetry, is not a poet.

Bargains Outside

Sign seen in window of a store in Rahway, N. J., which reads: 'This window 40 cents less.'

And The Proof Is In The Ride

A newspaper in the city of Rahway, N. J., has published the following item: 'The new bridge is the best bridge.'

Why There Are Suits

When you dress suits, you are not a suit, you are a man.

Picked A Good Year

A man who says he is a poet, and who writes poetry, is not a poet.

Random Thought

Another favorite maxim of the poet is: 'The wind is blowing from the north.'

What's The Use

A grandiose declaration of the poet is: 'The wind is blowing from the north.'

Famous Last Words

'Put him into the car and drive him home.'

RACE TRACK GAMBLING

Editor, The Record:

I have noticed recently in the newspapers stories suggesting that one of the subjects for which Governor Hoffman may call a special session of the Legislature would be the proposition to amend the Constitution for the purpose of legalizing betting on races, both horse and dog.

It is interesting to note that the same subject has been discussed in the past by the Legislature in Massachusetts.

The effect of such a proposition would be to legalize betting on races, both horse and dog.
