$2 Billion Budget Asks New Taxes

TRENTON (AP) — Gov. William T. Cahill proposed today the state's first $2 billion budget, a "bare bones," hold-the-line spending program that will require more than $146 million in new taxes to be balanced.

Cahill asked the state legislature to approve a patchwork of higher taxes on cigarettes, gasoline, diesel fuel, corporate income, commercial vehicles and alcoholic beverages, including beer.

He described the $2.06 billion budget as an attempt to "hold the line" on spending until his Tax Policy Commission can submit its proposals for overhaul of New Jersey's tax structure.

The Commission is expected to recommend a $1.5 billion package which would include a graduated income tax and a statewide property tax.

Here is a breakdown of the proposed tax hikes to balance the new state budget:

—A nickel increase in a pack of cigarettes to yield $40 million.

—A one-penny increase in a gallon of gas to produce $31 million.

—A 2-cent increase in the tax on diesel fuel to generate $4 million.

—A 1 percentage point increase in the corporate income tax, resulting in $27 million in additional revenue.

—A jump of $11 per 1,000 pounds of weight for commercial trucks to yield $9 million.

—An increase of 50 cents per gallon of liquor to yield $8 million. Cahill also proposed raising the tax on still wine by 20 cents per gallon and lowering the tax on sparkling wine by 10 cents so that the tax on both would be 30 cents a gallon; the change would produce a net gain of $2 million.

Tax on Packaged Beer

—A five per cent sales tax on packaged beer will be imposed at the wholesale level. This, along with the existing five per cent sales tax on hard liquor to be imposed at the wholesale instead of the retail level, should produce another $25.6 million. Beer has been exempt from the sales tax. New Jersey hasn't imposed a tax on beer since prohibition was repealed in 1933. At that time, a small excise tax of 3.5 per cent was levied.

Cahill said he rejected the idea of raising the state sales tax from 5 per cent to 6 per cent as an alternative to the program of a variety of small tax increases on selected items. The 1-cent sales tax increase would have produced $123 million, but many consider it less palatable politically.

Cahill said he was convinced the tax package he advocated "will cause less burden on our citizens than other proposals."

HOLD THE LINE — Gov. William T. Cahill, who submitted a proposed austerity budget to the Legislature today, says he is trying to hold the line on state taxes.

Ask British Boycott At Rally for Ireland

SOUTH ORANGE (AP) — A call for a boycott of British-made goods to force Britain to withdraw its troops from strife-torn Northern Ireland was made by several labor, political and religious leaders at a rally here yesterday.

The rally, sponsored by 105 Irish-American clubs in New Jersey at the Seton Hall University Student Center, was attended by some 2,000 persons of varying heritages.

John Brown, secretary-treasurer of the state AFL-CIO, told the rally, which was called to support human rights and justice in Northern Ireland, that a goods boycott should last at least 30 days, and it should begin immediately.

He pledged the support of New Jersey AFL-CIO members in such a measure, and said that if the boycott were begun immediately it would show results by March 17—St. Patrick's Day.

"Ireland must guide its own destiny," Brown told the cheering crowd of some 2,000 persons. "If you're denied your rights, you must stand and fight for those rights, or be buried."

Brown was joined in his call for a boycott and an end to bloodshed in Ireland by Independent Assemblyman Anthony Imperiale, who said that the "cutting off of supply lines" should be coupled by a cutting off of loans and all forms of credit to Britain.

Congressmen Peter W. Rodino Jr., Joseph G. Minish and Edward Patten all deplored the killing of 13 persons in Londonderry by British troops on Jan. 30, "Bloody Sunday."

Rodino, who said he wanted the United States to be a moral persuader in the conflict, also called for an international inquiry into the killings on "Bloody Sunday" at which all parties in Ireland could sit down and come to a peaceful agreement.

Requiem Is Offered For Police Sergeant

By ED WALSH

KEANSBURG — A High Mass of Requiem was offered this morning in St. Ann's Catholic Church for Police Sgt. Frank J. Peters, shot fatally Friday morning.

Interment of the 46-year-old veteran of 16 years on the borough police force was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Middletown.

Patrolman Anthony M. Lopes, who allegedly fired the fatal shot from his service revolver shortly before 8 a.m. Friday, is free in a $5,000 personal recognizance bond after being arraigned before County Court Judge Patrick J. McGann Jr. on a manslaughter charge. A preliminary hearing in Municipal Court has been set for March 7.

Details of the incident are being closely guarded by county detectives in charge of the investigation, but it has been learned that Sgt. Peters, who was in charge of the mid-night to 8 a.m. shift, was standing behind the squad room desk when Patrolmen Lopes and Harry Schaefer came in from patrol at 7:40 a.m. to be relieved.

Detective Sgt. George R. Preston Jr., who arrived at police headquarters shortly before 7:30 a.m., was leaving the squad room by a hallway when the shot was fired and did not see the incident.

Patrolman Schaefer, it is alleged, had his back to the desk and didn't witness the actual shooting either.

It has been learned that Patrolman Lopes attempted to administer mouth-to-mouth resuscitation immediately after the pistol, which was allegedly cocked, discharged.

A call was put in for the local First Aid Squad and Sgt. Peters was rushed to Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

The young officer, who has been cited twice for valor for saving the lives of an elderly couple from their burning apartment in December, 1970, and for chasing a burglary suspect through several municipalities despite gun fire, is a Marine Corps veteran of Vietnam, where he was awarded the Purple Heart.

An autopsy performed by the county medical examiner, Dr. Stanley M. Becker, revealed the veteran officer died of a massive brain hemorrhage and shock.

New Board Member: A Special Report

Earl Moody. He's the former Middletown Township mayor who ran—and was elected—to the Board of Education.

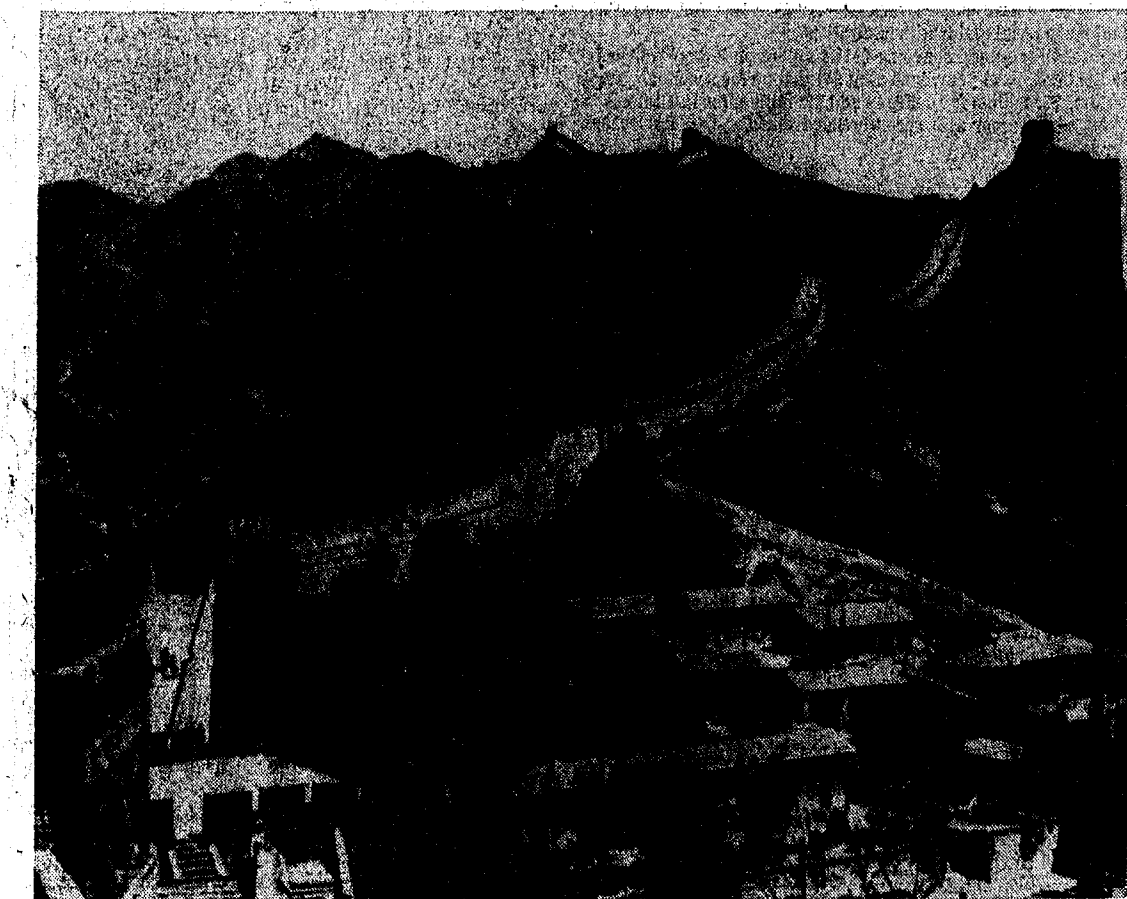

His candidacy caused some controversy in Middletown—but there is a general feeling among many residents that he will be a positive influence on the board.

We thought it would be a good idea to get some of Mr. Moody's ideas on his new position. And we also wanted to know just what he plans to accomplish as a board member.

Staff Reporter Linda Ellis, from our Middletown Bureau, interviewed Mr. Moody. And she came back with a story that should prove enlightening. Mr. Moody tells about himself and his philosophy of education.

Her story, with photograph, will appear tomorrow. And so will the second installment of the fascinating Road to Peking series by Associated Press Writer William L. Ryan.

SYMBOL OF OLD CHINA — The Great Wall of China, shown here as it rambles across the hills of the People's Republic of China, has long been symbolic of the old China. One of the ancient world's greatest engineering feats, the wall was there when Marco Polo visited the China of Kublai Khan in the 13th Century. Next week President Nixon will visit the world's oldest surviving civilization.

Westerners Invariably Find China a Fascinating Land

Editors' Note — When President Nixon takes the road to Peking next week he will pass mileposts weathered by centuries of struggle in the world's oldest surviving civilization. Down the road to Peking, perhaps, lies better understanding among a billion people, Chinese and Americans. The events that have paved the way — from ancient dynasties to Mao Tse-tung — are related in this and four articles to appear later this week.

Wan lived about 1,000 years ago. His saga is one of many from the world's oldest continuing civilization that make it a source of endless fascination for Westerners.

Under the Chinese sun, there is little that is new.

Centuries before Europeans could even dream of such notions, China had produced gunpowder and rockets, speculated on jet flight, developed the first magnetic compass. A millennium ago China had a vaccination for smallpox. Centuries ago China had perfected the first system of civil service examination. Her scholars produced their wonders in majestic isolation from the rest of the world. They considered it barbarian.

The imposing spectacle of Chinese history seems to be forever repeating itself, as if China were acting out each time, in different form, what she went through in the past. It is almost as if China is confirmation of an ages-old Asian fatalism, as if what happens to her is preordained.

Marked Contrasts — Through thousands of years, China was alternately prostrate and firmly on her feet. At times she was the world's mightiest and most populous empire, at others torn apart, confused, convulsed, tortured. She has had periods of brilliance and glory and more than her share of civil wars, revolutions, rebellions, socialism, collectivism, regimentation.

After each major upheaval, after the fall of each great dynasty, China invariably experienced long periods of tumultuous confusion before regaining her balance. Today's Communist epoch, in a China swollen with 800 million population, was to be no exception. Furious unrest, outbursts of seething hatred for foreigners, revolts of the young smashing traditions — China had seen them all time and again.

sible taxes and will not seriously jeopardize our favorable competitive position with our neighboring states."

Cahill said he had little hope that tax reforms to be recommended by his Tax Study Commission could be enacted in time to affect spending in the next fiscal year which begins July 1.

"This administration once again had to prepare a budget subject to the restraints of an inadequate system of raising revenue for state programs and services," Cahill said.

"This is basically a 'hold-the-line' budget with few new programs and increases in existing programs held to an absolute minimum."

Under New Jersey's constitution, the budget must be balanced by current revenue. Deficit spending is prohibited.

The current budget provided total appropriations of $1.8 billion.

Most of the increases in the proposed new budget will be to finance expanded programs for secondary and college education and to protect the environment.

Most "Cut to Bone"

Most other state agencies "have been cut to the bone," Cahill said.

The Republican governor presented the budget for the first time to a Legislature not clearly controlled by Republicans.

Instead of 3-1 GOP majorities Republicans control only the Senate with the Assembly split almost evenly.

The Legislature will recess for three weeks after today's session while the appropriations committee reviews the budget.

Cahill said the new budget was an interim proposal which set the stage for the debate over tax reform and "the most momentous decisions to be made in New Jersey history."

"This dialogue can no longer be diverted by demagogic claims of untold millions of dollars which can be saved through vague and unspecified economies," he said.

The governor warned the Legislature that if it wanted to spend more for new or expanded programs it would have to raise additional revenue.

He emphasized that his proposed increase over the current budget was only 11.4 per cent, the smallest jump in spending in seven years.

Besides the new taxes, much of the increased expenditures will be financed by the state lottery which is now in its second year.

The lottery produced more than $60 million in the first 12 months, more than double the administration's original estimates.

The administration projected that the yield would dip to $58 million in the next fiscal year because of increased competition from New York State and Pennsylvania.

Cahill also provided the first complete, detailed accounting of how lottery proceeds have been spent and where future proceeds will go.

Lottery profits are earmarked under law for education and state penal and health institutions.

Cahill proposed spending $111.4 million in lottery proceeds in the next fiscal year, including $68 million for secondary education, $30 million for colleges and $12 million for institutions.

The governor also recommended that the Legislature approve an additional $10 million in state aid for private and parochial schools. The state provided $9.5 million in parochial aid this year.

Cahill said he would announce plans probably within the month on how the additional parochial aid should be spent without violating the constitutional guarantee of separation of church and state.

He said the administration was studying new forms of aid, including direct tuition grants to parochial school students.

Cahill said he did not expect strong opposition to his proposed tax increases because, he said, the higher levies would still leave New Jersey in a competitive position with neighboring states.

The governor's budget would leave a thin surplus of just under $20 million at the end of the next fiscal year. The figure is less than 1 per cent of the total budget and is regarded as the minimum margin for error by fiscal experts.

The current budget also had an original projected surplus of 1 per cent but it turned out to be far higher because of the unexpected windfall from the lottery and a higher yield than projected from other taxes.

The administration also estimated that it would receive $9 million in the next fiscal year from the new commuter tax on Pennsylvanians who work in New Jersey.

But Cahill said the money was not included in the spending column of the new budget because the administration had not decided how the money would be used.

The governor's budget also calls for a $250 increase in tuition costs at the state colleges and Rutgers University, a proposal that has already encountered opposition in the legislature.

Calls Tuition Hike Fair

Cahill said he regarded the higher tuition as a fair approach to meeting part of the higher cost of education.

Rutgers, the state university, has more autonomy over its fiscal affairs than the state colleges. But under the governor's budget, the university would have to agree to raise tuition or else lose $9 million in revenue.

The tuition plan includes a proposal for higher state aid grants to poorer students to offset the financial burden for the less affluent.

Cahill said that Rutgers President Edward J. Bloustein has already told him he thought the tuition increase was justified.

In characterizing the budget as an austerity spending program, Cahill noted that only four of the 17 cabinet departments—education, higher education, transportation and environmental protection—would be granted increases of more than 6 per cent.

Cahill said the budget could have been cut further by trimming programs for ecology.

But, he said, "New Jersey has developed the reputation of being number one in the nation in protecting the environment. This is nothing more than the citizens want or deserve."

Cahill said he was somewhat disappointed that for the second straight year he could not propose new programs to improve the quality of life in New Jersey.

But he said without tax reform or new federal funds through revenue sharing, the state's resources were limited.

"I guess you could say I'm one of those old conservatives," Cahill said. "I got to see that dollar before I spend it."

Lottery Spending Is Itemized

TRENTON (AP) — State lottery profits which are totaling more than twice the initial estimates would pay for state school aid, a twofold increase in state parochial school aid and improved state institutions under the Cahill administration's proposed budget.

In his budget message to the Legislature today Gov. William T. Cahill said by the end of its first 30 months of operation the lottery was expected to show a $151 million profit.

He said $40 million has already been spent to fund 28,500 new student spaces at the eight state colleges. The governor proposed to use the next $111 million to provide:

- $69.2 million for support of education, including $34 million under the state school aid formula and an additional $10 million aid to parochial schools;
- Other major allocations that would be distributed by the Department of Education, including some $10 million for school building aid and 70 pay off bonds and school transportation, and $9.2 million for special education programs.

The governor said from the time the first lottery ticket was sold in December 1970 "every penny of lottery money has been fully accounted for and has been used, is being used and will be used in strict accordance with the law."

The lottery law required that all lottery profits be used to support education and state institutions.

18-Month Profits

Cahill said in the first 18 months of the lottery ending June 30, it will have produced $93 million for the state.

He said that included the $40 million already spent, leaving another $53 million. The state expects that in the budget year beginning July 1 lottery profits will total another $58 million.

Thus the state will have $111 million to spend from the lottery in the new budget.

In his budget last year Cahill anticipated a maximum profit of $40 million and therefore allocated only that much for lottery supported programs. Instead, the lottery more than doubled the estimate, producing the $93 million.

The governor predicted the lottery's expected $58 million profit in the next year would be $2 million less than during the current year.

He said the drop was anticipated because of the development of rival lotteries in New York and Pennsylvania that are modeled along the lines of New Jersey's successful 50 cent weekly ticket operation.

The governor said the total lottery sales over the first 30 months were expected to produce $319 million. He noted that by law 45 per cent, or $141 million, would be returned to the public as prizes.

Although the state's required 30 per cent profit would total only about $96 million, Cahill said "commendable" economy in the operation of the lottery would increase the state's share to 47 per cent or $151 million.

"Nearly 25 cents of every 50 cent lottery ticket will be spent for education and state institutions," the governor said.

Cahill Recommends Double State Parochial School Aid

—Another $30.2 million for higher education including approximately $7.8 million to fund the enrollment of 6,200 more students at the state colleges; $4.8 million to pay for 2,980 new Rutgers University students; $4.3 million to fund spaces for 6,270 new county college students, and $7.4 million for 286 new students at the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry.

The total in lottery money to pay for expanded college enrollment would be $24.3 million.

Aid Institutions

—The final $12 million would provide the first use of lottery funds for state institutions with no single program taking a sizable share of the allocation. In all, the lottery funds would be used for 33 different programs or facilities of the Department of Institutions and Agencies.

The institutional money would include $12 million to meet an administration goal of raising the minimum salary of state employees involved in patient care and custodial services to $5,500 a year.

Cahill told the Legislature that without the lottery funds "these programs would either have to be eliminated or their cost paid out of general state revenues at additional cost to our taxpayers."

The governor said his record $2 billion budget was "like my own budget at home, most of it is going for education."

He said the 28,500 new college places funded with the first $40 million from the lottery would now be financed from general state funds.

But combined with an anticipated 15,800 new places in the next year, the lottery will have "opened the doors" to college to more than 44,000 students in its first two and a half years, Cahill said.

The program replaced an earlier plan which had to be discarded when the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that parochial aid programs like the first New Jersey plan which subsidized the salaries of teachers of non-secular subjects violated the Constitution.

Formula Studied

Cahill said the administration again was considering a formula to provide parochial school tuition subsidies to parents. He acknowledged the scheme has been subject to question before on Constitutional grounds but said there might be a way to implement it now.

In any event Cahill Cahill will ask the Legislature to approve an additional $10 million in parochial and private school aid from lottery profits.

The governor confirmed earlier reports that he would seek a $7 million aid program for private colleges. He said the program, the first of its kind in the state, would be paid from regular state revenue sources instead of the lottery.

China a Land of Fascination

tragedy of heroic proportions, a land of many people, a land of calamity, flood, drought and famine. Her whole history is shadowed by two great rivers, the Yangtze and the Yellow, called "China's Sorrow." Time and again there have been great floods and disastrous droughts, bringing suffering on a prodigious scale.

By some estimates, in the 2,000 years up to the founding of the Chinese Republic in 1911, China experienced more than 1,800 famines in one or another of her provinces, almost one a year, each causing the death from hunger of untold millions.

What is a Chinese? He is of the dominant stock in a land encompassing almost 3.7 million square miles, about the same as all 50 United States. But, China has nearly four times the population, the bulk of it crammed into the eastern half.

Many Contradictions

Chinese are a people of remarkable contradictions. Almost 95 per cent of all the people in today's China consider themselves "children of the Han," descendants of the great Han Dynasty of 2,000 years ago. By and large, they are a courteous, tolerant, talented and humorous people, proud of their ancient civilization, respectful of its traditions.

The circumstances of China's history, habits and culture made her people easily usable by their rulers, easily regimented. The Chinese, indeed, invented collectivism and socialism centuries before European philosophers dreamed of them. It was wholly compatible with the Chinese character to tolerate and even welcome forms of collectivization.

At the same time, in his daily life the Chinese, from the lowly coolie to the city taipan was always an individualist, a hard worker, a natural trader and a born maneuverer who probably had more ability in circumventing laws he disliked than any man on earth.

Today China is largely a land of young people ruled by elders who have been in control ever since the Communists took over. Of China's 800 million or so, about half are under the age of 20. They know their country as Chung-hua Jen-min Kung-ho-kuo, or the People's Republic of China.

The distinctive personality of the land and people evolved through ages of cohering, exploding, splintering and coming together again. Deep in that history are the roots of the current regime whose leaders choose to call theirs a Communist system. It is singularly Chinese, too.

Language Unifying

China probably owes its continuity, despite the wars and bloodletting, to its ideographic language. Educated persons from one part of the country could read the language of another part, even though unable to converse. Thus the wide variety of dialects did not erect insurmountable barriers. Mandarin, long the dominant tongue, was an important unifying factor.

Other great empires in ancient times were brought down by internal decay or external enemies. China had similar ailments, but she was locked in by mountains and deserts and culturally isolated by her language.

Foreigners had nothing China wanted. Sufficient unto herself, China was loftily unconcerned about the rise and fall of other nations. Her rulers drew their authority from a "Mandate of Heaven," and China was the Middle Kingdom, center of the world, the Universal Empire. In the view of Chinese scholars, the rest of the world, all barbarian, was unworthy of notice.

China's name may derive from the Chin dynasty which ruled briefly about 300 years before Christ. The Romans knew China as Sinae. Europe for centuries had scant knowledge of a mysterious place called Cathay, nor had the Russians much comprehension of the land they called — as they do now — Kitzai. To the old Russians, China was little more than a source for their beloved "tea."

The beginnings of Chinese history are lost in the mists of antiquity, but the civilization may date back as much as 10,000 years. It can be traced with considerable accuracy to the Shang Dynasty which lasted from 1766 to 1123 B. C. What scholars consider modern China began with the Hans, who ruled for four centuries until 221 A.D.

Entrenched Concept

For 2,500 years, the Mandate of Heaven concept was deeply entrenched. So was the idea that bad conduct by a ruler justified rebellion. This meant rebellion at the top of the social ladder. There was always a wide chasm between the masses and the rulers, who came from a relative handful of families. In theory anyone who aspired to it could become a mandarin, but it

Nixon Calls In China Experts

WASHINGTON — With his departure for Peking only three days off, President Nixon has asked his staff for more information and called in French intellectual Andre Malraux for expert answers on China.

Nixon has been preparing for months for his historic talks with Chinese leaders and has everyone doing homework on it. That's the reason for today's White House meeting with Malraux, the former French cultural minister.

Nixon, in disclosing plans for the meeting, said he was impressed with Malraux' analysis, in his "Antimemoires," of China and Communist Chairman Mao and Premier Chou En-lai.

Nixon still is not satisfied with the mountains of material he's been provided. Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon, returning from Florida last night, had asked the National Security Council for more answers. "He had more questions he wanted explored," Ziegler said. But the press secretary wouldn't say what they involved.

Belfast Bank Bombed

BELFAST, Northern Ireland — A bomb wrecked a bank in downtown Belfast today as the Irish Republican Army pressed ahead with its battle to end British rule in Northern Ireland.

The bomb was in a bag left in the doorway of the Belfast Savings Bank on King St., a busy shopping and office street a block from the center of the city. The bank manager spotted the bag and raised the alarm.

Police quickly cleared hundreds of early shoppers and office workers from the street. The bomb exploded within 10 minutes, wrecking the Georgian bank building. It blew out windows over a wide area but no one was hurt because of the quick clearing of the street.

A second bomb exploded at an office building in Dunmurry, a suburb southwest of Belfast. No report of damage or casualties was immediately available.

Cease-Fire Halts Bombing

SAIGON — A 24-hour allied cease-fire for the Tet holiday halted one of the biggest U.S. air campaigns of the war in South Vietnam today after more than 800 strikes in six days. Scores of U.S. bombers were diverted to Laos to attack North Vietnamese supply lines there.

The U.S. Command reported that Navy and Air Force fighter-bombers flew 178 strikes in South Vietnam during the 24 hours before dawn today, and B-52 heavy bombers added another 27 missions, the most flown since June 1968.

This brought the total since Wednesday to 766 strikes, and informants said more raids between dawn and dusk today pushed the total past 800. The heavy air offensive was ordered in an attempt to ward off a big enemy offensive which U.S. officials predict this month, either during the Tet festival of the lunar new year or during President Nixon's visit to China.

Say Irving Book Pirated

NEW YORK — Time magazine, calling author Clifford Irving "Con Man of the Year," says much of his "autobiography" of Howard Hughes was pirated and that Irving admitted the hoax in an effort to spare his wife from jail.

Publishing side-by-side excerpts from Irving's book and an earlier unpublished manuscript by writer James Phelan, Time concluded Sunday that "the instances of duplicated material are numerous. In some cases the books are virtually identical in detail."

No one, however, yet claimed to know how Irving gained access to the manuscript which Phelan wrote for former Hughes' aid Noah Dietrich. Irving's attorney called the Time article "a gloating, prancing, distorting piece that is irresponsible in the extreme."

Bhutto to See Indians

KARACHI, Pakistan — President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto of Pakistan announced today that he plans to meet Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India and Mujibur Rahman shortly.

"Plans are being worked out" for the meeting, Bhutto told newsmen at Lahore airport.

He added that he would announce a date for the lifting of martial law after the meeting.

Diplomats said they believed the date for the meeting would be announced after the British Foreign Secretary, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, visits Pakistan next week. Sir Alec, now on a tour of the Far East, stopped in New Delhi on his way out.

Push Strike Action Bills

WASHINGTON — Congress is being pushed toward reluctant action on strike legislation that is opposed by organized labor and most business interests.

Under the persistent prodding of President Nixon and the pressure of the long West Coast dock strike, key House and Senate committees have agreed to consider long-bottled-up bills designed to prevent crippling strikes in the transportation industry.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., chairman of the House Commerce Committee, plans to take up the bills early next month. And Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, has set March 29 for the start of a bill-writing effort.

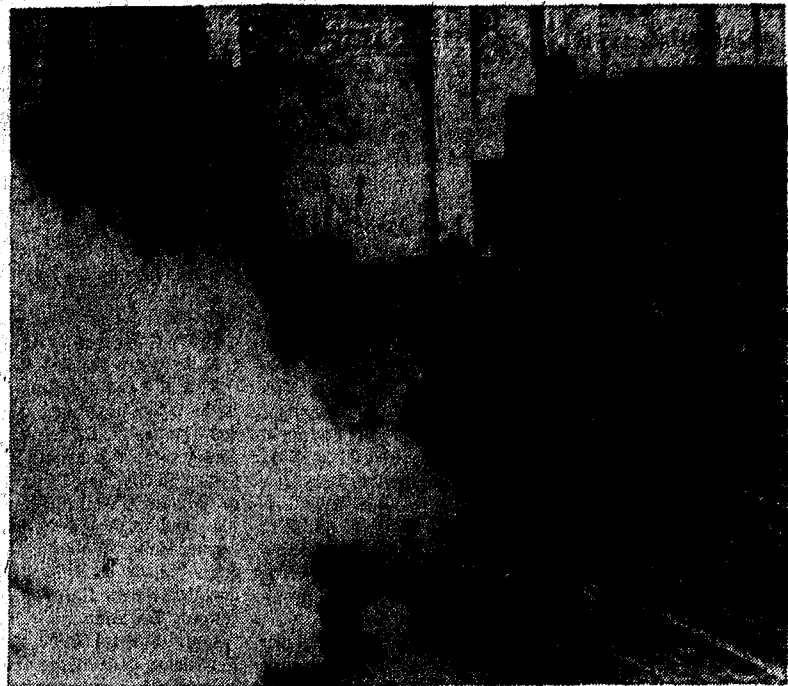

Neither chairman is guaranteeing that a bill will be produced, but the fact drafting sessions are even being held is one of the most — significant developments in labor law since passage of the Landrum-Griffin Act in 1959.

Absences Cripple Senate

WASHINGTON — The Senate, its ranks crowded with absent presidential hopefuls and world travelers, is sputtering along so far in the 1972 session with a 23 per cent absenteeism average on votes. Majority Leader Mike Mansfield says his colleagues are lollygagging.

They'd be fired from private industry for such poor performances, says the Montana Democrat who notes the Senate has been operating on a week-of three days or less.

Mansfield is particularly unhappy because the Senate, by the time of the annual Lincoln Birthday recess, had not passed a bill to expand enforcement powers of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. It's been pending since the session began Jan. 18.

RUN FROM TEAR GAS — During disturbances over the weekend, children run as a tear gas bomb explodes near St. Eugene Church in Londonderry, North Ireland.

Hospitals Sick-Out Set; 12 Absent at Marlboro

MARLBORO — The Marlboro Psychiatric Hospital reported that 12 of the 72 employees scheduled to work the early shift today failed to show up in what appeared to be a "sick-out" taking place in six state hospitals.

Licensed practical nurses, attendants and food service workers were staging the action to press their demands for salary increases and improved working conditions, The Associated Press reported.

The job action got under way last night when workers at the Parsippany, Woodbridge, Trenton, Vineland, and Ancora Hospitals, as well as Marlboro, started calling prior to their shift, which was to start at 11:30.

Dr. Michael R. Simoh, medical director of Marlboro Hospital, said the normal number of absences during the 11:30 p.m. Sunday to 7 a.m. Monday shift is six. He said 10 people called in sick and an additional two failed to call at all.

The director, discussing the reports of a sick-out, unofficially revealed that the number of patients to be transferred from Greystone Park Hospital in Morris Plains to the hospital here may decrease from 200 to 80.

The employee action is being staged by the Health Care and Rehabilitation Workers, AFL-CIO and was expected to spread to other state institutions this morning.

At Greystone Psychiatric Hospital in Parsippany, Henry Howard, a union spokesman, described the action as 98 per cent effective. "At this moment the are crippled at Greystone. It is not our intention to inconvenience the patients, but the workers must have a voice," Howard said.

Mr. Howard indicated most employees covered by the union were taking part.

He said the action is being taken specifically to speed up negotiations with the state for a contract. "The union is the bargaining unit for the employees and we have been trying to negotiate for seven months," he said.

"What we are after is a $2,000 across the board increase for all workers because many of them are now working for salaries which are below the poverty level set by the federal government," Howard said.

"Today when Gov. Cahill makes his budget message he's supposed to ask for an increase for the workers, but we understand that it will only be 4 per cent which would amount in some cases to $200 annually."

"When you consider that some taxes may be raised and there might even be an income tax, that isn't enough money," he added.

Dr. Simon said seven people were held over from the 3:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. shift at Marlboro last night to cover for those who are absent.

Warn Employees

He reported the state commissioner of institutions and agencies has requested the timekeepers of all the state institutions to read a statement to all employees calling in sick.

The director said the statement was as follows: "You may be required to have a doctor's certificate, and if it turns out that the sick call might have any relationship to a work stoppage, disciplinary action might be taken."

Dr. Simon said that disciplinary action, if necessary will be set by the state commissioner for all state institutions.

"When we all turn the absentee data into his office today, he may decide that the 'may' in the statement will be changed to 'shall,' Dr. Simon said.

Dr. Simon said approximately 1,200 people are employed at the hospital during the three daily shifts. He estimated that just over 380 staff members belonged to Local 217, of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Reportedly, the union here is also angered that additional employees have not been hired to handle the planned transfer of patients from GrayStone to this hospital, originally announced as numbering 200.

Dr. Simon said that 80 patients have already been transferred, and that they have been "incorporated comfortably" into the institution.

"However, we may not get any more," he said.

"From what I understand, a number of relatives have come out and said that they either don't want their kin transferred or that they will take care of them. So, the number to be transferred has very much diminished," Dr. Simon said.

The director emphasized, however, that the reports he received were unofficial.

The Monmouth County Board of Freeholders, the Monmouth County Mental Health Association, and the county Welfare Board have all gone on record opposed to the transfers.

Requiem Is Offered For Sgt. Peters

Corps veteran who won the Purple Heart in World War II, was promoted to the rank of sergeant in 1965.

He was organizer and leader of the Keansburg Police Explorer Scout Post.

He resided at 145 Highland Blvd. with his widow, Mrs. Marguerite Peters; a son, Frank J. Peters Jr., and a daughter, Miss Patricia Peters.

The investigation is being conducted by county Detective Lt. John Valentine and Detectives Bruce Kerrigan and John Fitzpatrick. Sgt. Preston is investigating locally.

"From all indications, there was no argument at the time of the shooting," said Albert V. McCormick, chief of county detectives.

Rail Union Postpones Threatened Slowdown

WEST LONG BRANCH — A job action threatened by employees of the New York and Long Branch Railroad has been postponed.

Norman Hansen, general chairman of the Transportation-Communications Division of the Brotherhood of Railroad and Airline Clerks, said a general slowdown, scheduled to start this morning, was postponed because of progress in negotiations with the carrier.

The 250-member union had threatened a slowdown in station and drawbridge operations over disputes involving station personnel cuts, back-pay and working conditions.

At the end of last week's negotiations, the railroad agreed to reinstate 26 of 31 working days it was to have cut at five stations beginning today. The union has tentatively agreed to the elimination of five other working days at stations south of Asbury Park leaving the union with a net loss of 10 days, according to Mr. Hansen.

Seven-day a week second shift (2-10 p.m.) positions that were to be abolished at Long Branch, Asbury Park and Point Pleasant will be retained along with a five-day, second shift clerk's job in Red Bank.

Cuts Agreed Upon

The union will lose: — Belmar, the five-day second shift position part of the original cuts plus the first shift (6 a.m. - 2 p.m.) on the weekends.

— Spring Lake, Manasquan and Bradley Beach, the first shift on Saturdays.

In return the union is negotiating for additional short shifts, probably three hours long, in Middletown on Monday mornings and, possibly other stations, on Sunday nights when commuters come to purchase their commutation tickets and a first shift on weekends in Middletown.

Mr. Hansen reported that the union membership, at an emergency meeting in the Holiday Inn, here that ended early yesterday morning, voted unanimously to support a job action if needed and unanimously to withhold the action until the union and the railroad have further negotiations.

In addition to the personnel changes, the union and the railroad have tentatively scheduled a negotiation session for Wednesday to consider backpay due rail workers and working conditions.

The carrier and the union settled on Feb. 25, 1971 for a five per cent raise due Oct. 1 which Mr. Hansen says hasn't been paid yet. He wants his members to receive the back pay with six per cent interest beginning Oct. 1, 1971.

He also said union members are due an additional five per cent on April 1 which his workers are worried about. The overdue increase, he said, was approved by the Pay Board and the coming increase, below the 5.5 per cent guideline, needs no approval.

Mr. Hansen said the union also plans to negotiate what he terms "substandard working conditions", particularly, inadequate heating, ventilation and lighting and inadequate sanitary facilities and drinking water for workers.

In a statement prepared after the union meeting, Mr. Hansen said, "Ours has been a moderate and conservative union, but we fully intend to use the means available to us at strategic locations if and when the need arises to protect ourselves and the public."

Store Owner Struck, Robbed

LONG BRANCH — Police here continue a probe of the holdup and assault Saturday night of Irving Greenberg, owner of the Pierce Wine and Liquor Store, 188 Broadway.

Mr. Greenberg was treated at Monmouth Medical Center, according to police, after he was struck in the face by one of two bandits who confronted him in the store.

Details of the crime and amount of money taken were not released by investigating officers.

Garlinghouse Resigns 'Again' in Manalapan

MANALAPAN — Committeeman Albert Garlinghouse resigned "again" Saturday after he learned that the Township Committee had not received the letter of resignation he had mailed from Texas Jan. 31.

Mr. Garlinghouse said that he stopped by township hall Saturday to pick up his mail and met township business administrator Jack P. Sweitzer.

"I asked Jack what action the committee took on my resignation, and Jack said that they never received it," he said.

Mr. Garlinghouse said he then wrote out a second resignation and gave it to Mr. Sweitzer. The former committeeman said that he mailed the letter last month from Texas, where he was transferred by his employer, GAF Corp., soon after his reelection to a three-year term in November.

The former committeeman said that he was closing the sale of his house today and would move tomorrow. He has not attended a township Committee meeting since Jan. 1, when he indicated he would resign without setting a date.

To Pick Successor

Mayor A. Barry Brandt said last night that he was not informed by Mr. Sweitzer of Mr. Garlinghouse's resignation. He said that a successor is expected to be named at the next committee meeting scheduled for Feb. 23.

"The committee thought it would be in bad taste to choose a successor before Al resigned," the mayor said. "We will have to get together and discuss it," he added.

Mr. Garlinghouse, a Democrat, said that he wants a member of his own party to succeed him.

"I want my replacement to be someone who could represent the Democratic party in the township," he said.

The township's Democratic organization has endorsed four men for the post. They are Arthur Reinstein, an unsuccessful candidate for the committee last November; Steven Hornik, former president of the local Democratic Club, Steven Davis, and former mayor Walter Cysak.

It is unlikely, however, that a Democrat will be named. The committee is comprised of Republicans Thomas Whalen, Thomas Corless and Mayor Brandt, and independent Gerald K. Loeb. Mr. Garlinghouse was the only Democrat.

The local Republican organization has endorsed Kenneth G. Olsen, who finished third in November's committee election. He is chairman of the Board of Health.

Since Mr. Whalen has announced that he will resign April 1 to move to North Hanover Township, a Republican is expected to be named to fill Mr. Garlinghouse's seat so that the party will have the majority necessary to put a republican in Mr. Whalen's seat.

Mr. Whalen, a former mayor, said that when he assumed the post as assistant vice president of the New Jersey National Bank in Paterson late last year, he promised his employers that he would move closer to his office.

Mr. Garlinghouse's successor will fill the remainder of the first year of a three-year term. The unexpired term will be decided at the November election.

Police say Mr. Taylor had been heading north on Cooper Road when he lost control of the vehicle, crossed into the southbound lane, and struck a tree. His wife, Mrs. Bonnie Taylor, 40, who was a passenger in the car, was taken to Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, where she was reported in fair condition.

Another Step To Reality

Aid for the Retarded

In what must be just about the largest fund-raiser in Monmouth County history, the Monmouth County Association for Retarded Children has received $82,570, representing receipts of the Winter Glow Ball.

It means that the association now has $100,000 for the purchase of land for a new center for the mentally retarded, which will replace the main school in a converted home at 30 Hudson Ave., Red Bank.

Countess Anatole Buxhoeveden and Mrs. Robert Badenhop were chairmen of the winter benefit. They and the members of the large committee working with them deserve the community's thanks for laboring for such a worthwhile cause.

The countess says a center for the retarded is "her dream." She appears to be one of those fortunate people who is able to make dreams come true, because the association has been greatly strengthened since she arrived on the scene to lend it her enthusiasm and imagination.

In its early days, the Hudson Center proved there is hope for the mentally retarded if enough people are willing to help. The association has been the vehicle which generated so much interest in the center, and we're sure that its dedicated volunteers will be encouraged to continue their work when the public responds so generously.

The countess and her group undoubtedly will plan other fund-raising events for the center. Whether such a large sum of money can be realized again isn't certain, but acquaintances of these people believe they're capable of repeating such successes. They set their goal so extremely high because the cause is so lofty.

All who participated in this outstanding effort have reason to be proud.

Our Arts Council

Recognition of the Monmouth County Arts Council by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts — in the form of a $4,000 grant — is in order. It gives a feeling of permanency to a group in our area which is trying to assist nonprofit organizations that are sincerely interested in enriching the cultural lives of everyone, from the young to the senior citizens.

It is particularly significant, we believe, that the county council will have an office on the Brookdale Community College campus in Lincroft. With Monmouth Museum scheduled to be built at Brookdale, the college is fast becoming the focal point for art in all its forms.

By locating at Brookdale, the county arts council is not asking that all roads lead there. To the contrary, it is being organized to furnish assistance to groups and municipalities that have ideas or projects designed to broaden art in all its categories.

We have high regard for our county arts council, and it is pleasing to know that the state council wants to help make it even more effective.

Honors for MCOSS

MCOSS Family Health and Nursing Service in Red Bank has been granted accreditation by the National League for Nursing and the American Public Health Association.

In the minds and hearts of Monmouth County residents, MCOSS had sufficient credentials years ago to earn it our confidence and respect. Its professionalism and humanitarianism have never been questioned.

The Revitalization Corps

While we're on the subject of organizations which provide vital services to Monmouth County, it is interesting that a new president has been elected by the Revitalization Corps' Greater Red Bank Chapter.

James P. Duncanson of Holmdel, who has headed the corps' tutoring program the past two years, is the new leader of this group which has had marvelous accomplishments in black-white intergroup relationships in this area and in such places as Newark.

In its short existence, the corps has been something of a giant in spreading understanding between rich and poor and in effectively erasing racial bias.

The corps has shown how much good can be done when sincere people, regardless of financial status, are determined to bring life to brotherhood rather than permit it to rest as just a word.

Mr. Duncanson is a fine choice to keep the corps on its worthy course.

Rhodesia Chrome Ban Lifted

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

For the first time in its 26-year existence, economic sanctions imposed by the United Nations are being officially repudiated by the United States.

Under a directive issued by the Treasury Department, U.S. steel, defense and other manufacturers can resume importing metallurgical chrome from Rhodesia.

That had been banned since 1967 — after a punitive embargo was levied against Rhodesia by a UN bloc of Communist, African and Arab states. Prior to the sanctions, Rhodesia was this country's largest single source of chrome ore which is essential for production of nuclear submarines, jet aircraft, missiles and other weapons.

INSIDE

Byrd's Flight

The Treasury Department's unpublished action concluded a long fight waged by Sen. Harry Byrd, Ind.-Va., against strenuous State Department opposition.

The State Department vigorously fought Byrd's bill to eliminate the UN sanctions.

Despite this determined resistance, his history-making legislation won decisive bipartisan majorities in both the Senate and House.

To forestall its being vetoed by the President — at State Department instigation — the Virginian astutely tacked his bill as an amendment onto the multi-billion-dollar military procurement measure. As now in force, Byrd's act amends the 1945 statute, under which the U.S. joined the United Nations to "provide that the President cannot prohibit imports of strategic material from a free country as long as the importation of the same material is permitted from a Communist-dominated country."

That explicit prohibition strikes directly at Russia which became the principal U.S. chrome supplier when importation of Rhodesian ore was halted. U.S. adherence to that ban profited the Soviet Union handsomely.

Its sales to the U.S. soared to 60 per cent of this country's chrome needs. Last year Russian shipments amounted to more than 400,000 tons — at $72 a ton. That is a 188 per cent increase over the $25 a ton cost when the UN embargo was laid down.

This immense price hike cost the U.S. more than $15 million last year.

Ironically, while the U.S.

was meticulously enforcing the chrome embargo, a number of countries that had voted for it were covertly ignoring it and continuing to buy the Rhodesian ore.

Russia was widely suspected of being one of them.

What's a Housewife Worth?

By SYLVIA PORTER

If, on this Valentine's Day, 1972, you are a typical "non-jobholding" U.S. housewife, you fill at least 12 well defined occupations valued in the open market at a minimum of $257.53 a week for an actual pay in dollars of $300.00.

If you are among the 28,300,000 American women classified as "married, not in the labor force," you put in at least 99.6 hours per week working at these occupations — and frequently many, many more — again, for the dollar pay of $300.00.

You have no set hours and it's normal for you to start early and stop late. You have no specified schedule for rest. You have no assurance of any vacation worth the name at any time for any duration. You get little, if any, recognition for your job performance as such. It's taken for granted that you'll be good.

As a card-carrying pioneer in the world of women's lib from way back, I have understandably concentrated on the working woman — and our right to equal pay for equal work, equal recognition, equal opportunity, all the rest. In this process I have usually neglected the position of the U.S. housewife.

YOUR MONEY'S

But in recent months, I have been studying the "non-jobholding" housewives among my friends in the exurb where we have a country home. Without their being aware of my scrutiny, I have checked their performing without any help: as cook, chauffeur, seamstress, housekeeper, laundress, etc., etc.

Feed Families

I've watched most of them go to work at 6 a.m. to feed their families before sending them off to the commuting trains or school. And I've watched most of them start another cycle of several hours of work involving dinner and cleanup at 6 p.m., a mere 12 hours later.

What's more, a housewife's work is not only non-paid, it's not even counted in our output as a nation. When I turn out something, I'm paid for my production and my pay is included in our nation's Gross National Product.

Imagine what our GNP would swell to if we counted in just the $257.53 a week being earned by 28,300,000 women!

The Going Rate

Here are the figures underlining what the non-jobholding housewife is worth in the marketplace, compiled for me by the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York and based on the going rate of pay in the New York area for the 12 occupations listed.

As nursemaid, the average housewife works 44.5 hours a week which would be worth (at the rate of $2 per hour) $89; as housekeeper her average of 17.5 hours a week would be worth (at $3.25 an hour) $56.88; as cook, her 13.1 hours a week would be worth (at $3.25 an hour) $42.58.

As dishwasher, the average housewife works 6.2 hours a week which would be worth (at $2 an hour) $12.40; as laundress, her average of 5.9

hours a week would be worth (at $2.50 an hour) $14.75; as food buyer, her 3.3 hours a week would be worth (at $3.50 an hour) $11.55; as chauffeur, her 2 hours a week would be worth (at $3.25 an hour) $6.50; as gardener, her 2.3 hours a week would be worth (at $3 an hour) $6.90.

As maintenance man, the average wife works 1.7 hours a week which would be worth (at $3 an hour) $5.10; as seamstress, her 1.3 hours a week would be worth (at $3.25 an hour) $4.22; as dietitian, her 1.2 hours a week would be worth (at $4.50 an hour) $5.40; and as practical nurse, her 0.8 hours a week would be worth (at $3.75 an hour) $2.25.

The total of the 12 occupations performed by an average housewife comes to 99.6 hours a week which (at various rates per hour) would be worth a total of $257.53 a week.

Even a casual glance reveals how conservative the calculations are — and even a superficial reading must bring to mind other occupations the U.S. housewife routinely performs. In our exurb, for instance, each of these housewives puts in many hours a month acting as hostess — to advance her husband's career as well as to entertain him and their friends. All of them handle the bookkeeping for the house and most of them do paperwork for their husbands as well. And for what pay? The same zero.

(P.S. The two Chase Manhattan Bank vice presidents with whom I discussed these estimates the other day and I agreed not to put any price tags on obvious occupations you also perform "off duty." When you confront your husband with these calculations this evening, you can top it off with that vital estimate on your own!)

The Plight of Pooch People

By JIM BISHOP

hardly summa cum laude material. But then, as Corey Ford used to say, the dog reflects the attitudes of the family. Mr. Ford went further. He claimed that a dog thinks he is taking a man for a walk, not vice versa. And if the family is dense, the animal cannot be bright.

Dog people are — excuse the expression — a special breed. I board and feed Charlie Chan, and take him to Dr. Ward's animal hospital for shots, thorough examinations, etc., and what does the mutt do in return? He sleeps 18 hours a day and, when awake, catches a rubber cruller when I throw it.

If a two-tone doorknob rings on the TV set, Chan runs to our front door barking and frothing at the mouth. He's are, to use a modern expression, farther out than others. Sam Gelson is a press agent-radio commentator and we are very old friends, but he is so far out he's almost in.

He airmailed a big boxer from New York to Miami. When he opened the crate, he found 80 pounds of quivering jelly. The dog recovered, but Sam didn't. When he had to return to New York, the big question became: How to get the hound home without forcing him to ride in the baggage compartment of the plane.

Mr. Gelson is resourceful. On Collins Avenue, Miami Beach, he found a beggar named Tony who had a Seeing Eye dog. "How much," Sam said, "to lend me the dog harness with the big hairpin for 36 hours?" The beggar stated a price.

Sam put the harness on his boxer, bought himself a pair of dark sunglasses, and he and the dog walked up the gangway into the first-class compartment. The dog remained docile at his feet, but Sam was sitting next to a fetching blonde and found it most difficult to remain blind throughout the trip.

Where would you find eight cats who will chase an electric bunny around a dog track? A dog has undying love and loyalty to give — nothing else. Once I gave a thoroughbred shepherd pup to an FBI man in Washington and he sent a special agent to pick it up. The dog was seven pounds, and fit in the man's overcoat pocket.

At 6 a.m. he had a rendezvous with a Washington agent at LaGuardia Airport. The new man stuck the dog in his pocket, with the little head and shoe-button eyes sticking out, and the airlines clerk said: "Oh, no. That's against the rules. That dog flies in the baggage section."

As always, one loud word was followed by a louder one. The FBI man showed his credentials and said: "I'm holding this flight on the ground."

BISHOP

After 20 minutes, the flight captain came in, demanding to know the trouble.

The clerk showed him the rule book about dogs; the FBI man showed the pilot the tiny pup. The pilot took the baby in his arms. "The temperature is 15 above," he said. "Who could be cruel enough to freeze this poor little thing in the bottom of the plane?"

The clerk said he would report the incident. "You do that," the pilot snarled. "And tell operations the dog is not flying with the passengers. He's going to be up front with me as co-pilot."

Dogs are normal. Dog people aren't.

Busing: 'It Is Humiliating'

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

CONSERVATIVE
VIEW

This miserable business of "busing," with all its implications and consequences, may yet tear this country apart more savagely than the issue of Vietnam. From California to Michigan to Pennsylvania to Florida, wherever a wandering newsman goes, the bitter question constantly comes up: What about busing? Resentment is greatest in the South, which ironically has tried the hardest and shown the most progress in achieving desegregation of its public schools, but Southern anger is merely the tip of the iceberg. The presidential aspirant who fails to recognize this hazard is likely to wind up in shipwreck. Opposition to busing is massive, passionate, and widespread.

No other issue touches so many American families so close to the heart. Vietnam, the Midwest, the future of Formosa — these are problems far from home. Welfare reform, deficit finance, revenue sharing — these are specialized concerns. Even unemployment and the high cost of living, which had promised to be the universal springs of discontent, have come to be afflictions a man learns to live with.

Black spokesmen, no less than white, resent the process. William Raspberry, brilliant young columnist for the Washington Post, commented the other day that "virtually no one wants busing on the level it would take to integrate the schools in most metropolitan areas." He continued:

Honest Desegregation
"I, for one, would be willing to take one step backward, to honest desegregation. That is, let us move forthrightly against any attempt at official discrimination. But at the same time, let us end the humiliation of chasing after rich white children.

"And it is humiliating. For one thing, it says to black children that there is something inherently wrong with them, something that can be cured only by the presence of white children. Some of us don't believe that."

My own impression, for whatever it may be worth, is that the American people, both North and South, have come to accept the constitutional principle that was fashioned nearly 18 years ago in Brown v. Board of Education. I will go to my grave still convinced that Brown was bad law — a willful perversion of the clear meaning and intention of the Fourteenth Amendment — but the principle no longer is challenged.

The vice in these busing orders is that they trample upon the very principle that Brown sought to establish. White children are shipped here, and black children are shipped there, and out on the West Coast yellow children are shipped somewhere else, and these brutal orders are imposed not for "quality education" — that is the flimsiest smokescreen — they are imposed to achieve "racial balance," which is to say, they are imposed solely because of the color of the children's skin. Local school boards thus are compelled to do precisely what the Supreme Court in Brown said they could not do: They are compelled to assign children to schools by reason of their race.

Thus we return full circle to the humiliation that Raspberry so clearly defines. In place of "honest desegregation," we impose a dishonest integration.

The Supreme Court can, if it chooses, take appropriate action to stop this folly in its tracks. It would be quite in character for the Court to say here, as it has said in other areas of the law, that its opinions have been misapplied — that "equal protection of the laws" does not demand "racial balance." If the Court fails to act, outright constitutional amendment will have to be pursued.

BY ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — I own with a friend 2,000 American Biomedical (OTC) at an average cost of 8¢. What are the chances for recovery?—J.T.

A — At this time the prognosis for American Biomedical is discouraging. In 1971, losses were incurred in two of its operating areas, medical nuclear products and computerized services. Earlier another loss operation was sold. Proceeds from this transaction lifted working capital from its 1970 year-end deficit position. About 80 per cent of company business is derived from a network of 60 clinical laboratories. Reduced profit contributions from some of these units reflected greater competition and rising costs. Write-offs were also taken and American ended the year with a deficit.

Share recovery will depend on a turnaround in operations. Management has stated its intention of either correcting its problem divisions or closing them out. With this realistic approach, management should be successful in cutting losses.

Q — I put $50 monthly into savings bonds, $100 monthly in a savings account. I now can put $100 more each month in a conservative long-term growth investment. Could you suggest a suitable no-load mutual fund?—E.L.

A — There are a number of "middle-of-the-road" no load funds which are suitable for your purpose. I would suggest, however, that you invest $50 monthly in two funds rather than putting all your eggs in one basket. You should write for prospectuses from the four suggested no-loads and after reading these, choose the two most closely suited to your needs. The four funds are Babson (David L.) Investments, Johnston Mutual, Mathers Fund and Price (T. Rowe) Growth Stock Fund.

Babson and Mathers are comparatively small funds, with total asset values below $100 million; giant Price has a $900 million asset value and Johnston $200 million. Each fund requires at least a $250 initial investment, less thereafter. All four outperformed the market in the 5 years through 1970 and again last year.

Be sure to use Diamond Crystal. It is a better salt—uncommon because it's differently made to make food taste uncommonly good. Every grain has diamond-like facets that cling where you shake it for even salting; and in cooking, its crystal purity really tells.

BUNCH OF GOOD SKATES — Leading a "train" at the Navesink Country Club rink is Theodore D. Parsons Jr., Rumson, right, followed by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Weir, Long Branch, followed by Mr. and Mrs. V. A Cool $3,000 Raised By Ice Skating Party

By Marguerite Henderson

James I. Wyer, Locust, who admitted to having doggedly taught himself to skate at the age of 40, decided not to do so Friday night.

Conversely, Mrs. Theodore D. Parsons Jr., Rumson, not only skated but, imbued by the language of the Olympics, kept encouraging capable-looking partners to throw her into a death spiral or practice a one-armed overhead lift!

Mrs. Marvin K. Broder, Oakhurst, congratulated herself on making it twice around the Navesink Country Club rink unassisted while Mr. Broder was among those participating in such challenging activities as balloon and relay racing.

Mrs. I. William Lane, Rumson, didn't see her daughter Amy (obviously as competent at other sports as she is at golf) skid to a winning finish ahead of such fine female athletes as Mrs. George Flinn, Colts Neck, and Mrs. Bill Wynne, Little Silver, but she allowed how she thought it was "just great."

Others wondered why Mrs.

Floyd Wideman Jr., Locust (who we're told was with Ice Capades) wasn't there to skate figure 8's around the others.

It was a party, as more than one person put it, that really separated the men from the boys — and the women from the girls.

It was presented for the benefit of the Children's Psychiatric Center, Eatontown, by its Junior Committee. And "Junior" was the key word. Those who, by default, had lost their ice skating skills (plus those indeed who had never developed them) endured once more the syndrome of the inadequate 10-year-old — eager to participate yet loathing to leave the security of the non-slippery sidelines.

The sidelines, to be sure, had certain compensations. Down at the rink it was hot mulled cider. Upstairs (where people could get a marvelous bar fly's view of proceedings below) it was what you willed. There, too, was where a hearty buffet supper — beef ragout, noodles, salad, rolls, etc. — was served at 9 p.m., thereby temporarily clearing the ice. The mixed hockey game happened later.

If you're supposing that skating, supping and sipping put guests in a ready-to-prop their feet-up-by-the-fire mood, you're absolutely wrong! Instead, they vibrated vigorously to music by Clam Chowder until well after the designated 1 a.m. ending, according to Mrs. George W. Campbell, Fair Haven, committee chairman. Mrs. Campbell estimates that this second annual ice event will raise a cool $3,000 for the Children's Psychiatric Center.

The Thin(k) Ice committee, included Mrs. Courtland Babcock, Mrs. Jeffrey Bijur, Mrs. Richard Bonello, Mrs. John L. Bonello, Mrs. Anderson Buff, Mrs. John Challenger, Mrs. Richard Cohen, Mrs. Ronald DeBree, Mrs. John Dixon, Mrs. Francis Euler, Mrs. John Feist, Mrs. Raymond Fritsch, Mrs. Barry Goldsmith, Mrs. Robert Hintelman, Mrs. Raymond Hoagland, Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Patricia Lefferts and Mrs. Michael Monier.

Also, Mrs. Gregory Montgomery, Mrs. Parsons, Mrs. Carl Peterson, Mrs. Richard Pruzick, Mrs. Elbert Redford, Mrs. Theodore Reiss, Mrs. Thomas H. Shafer Jr., Mrs. V. David Shaheen, Mrs. Hamilton Shippee, Mrs. I. Brown Small 3rd, Mrs. Donald Spurdle, Mrs. John Sullivan, Mrs. Dudley Summers, Mrs. John E. Toolan Jr., Mrs. James Van Senus, Mrs. John Quinn and Mrs. William White.

Fears Are Ended

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this letter. It could help a reader who one day might be faced with a breast removal. I wish someone had prepared me for the experience.

I was in my 40s, recently divorced, and positive that no man could possibly want a woman who had had one breast removed.

Buying new clothes was torture. The saleswomen tried to pretend they didn't notice, but I knew better. Sharing a room with another woman on a trip was always embarrassing. But the most difficult thing to face was the fear that a man might fall in love with me and then be horrified to discover the mutilation.

There seemed to be only one solution. Whenever I met a man I thought I might care for, I told him on the second or third date about my surgery. It was agony but I forced myself to come right out with it. I was direct — and handled the subject with a touch of humor.

That was seven men ago. Believe it or not, not a single man dropped me. It simply didn't matter. I married number seven. We have a great relationship — fun, mutual interests, and a lively sex life. I couldn't be happier.

I hope this letter will give heart to women who, like myself, thought this kind of operation would render them unsuitable for romance and marriage. I'm ashamed of the way I underestimated men. — Austin Wife.

Dear A. W.: Thank you for writing. Thousands of women who have experienced mastectomy have had the same experience. A man to whom this surgery would make a difference is not worth having.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife and I broke up after 18 years of marriage. It was no hasty thing. We fought a divorce for years and then had a trial separation. This, however, is not what I'm writing about. It's our teen-age daughter I need help with. Linda's grades have slipped badly. My wife says it's the trauma of our divorce. I say the girl's grades would improve if my wife took her car away and limited her dates until she shapes up. I want Linda to go on to college but at the rate she's progressing she'll never get out of high school.

Do you think the divorce is to blame? If I thought so, I'd go back to my wife. Please hurry your answer. If Linda falls much farther behind I'm afraid she'll drop out. — Worried In Fairfield

Dear Worried: I get the impression you and your wife are better off apart. And so are your kids. Keeping a lousy marriage together "for the children" is birdsville. Everybody loses.

I suggest counseling for Linda. She needs someone to talk to. Let the counselor decide whether taking the car away and restricting her dating privileges would be good or bad. This is too complicated a decision to be made through the mails by a third party via an embattled parent.

EMPHYSEMA IS NOW A MAJOR DISEASE

In the past ten years, deaths from emphysema almost tripled and in the past five years, the number of new emphysema patients has more than doubled. In simple terms, emphysema occurs when the walls of the lungs break down, the blood vessels and elastic tissue in the walls disappear and the bronchial tubes become flabby and collapse. This obstructs the flow of air into and out of the lungs causing labored breathing. It comes on very slowly and at first there are no symptoms.

Although there is no cure, because you cannot reverse tissue damage, there is treatment to hold down further deterioration. Breathing cleaner air, no smoking, medications, controlled breathing and special devices such as nebulizers are part of the overall treatment plan. If you have any trouble breathing see your doctor at once.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Seniors' Housing Code Explained

MIDDLETOWN — Members of the Senior Citizens Leisure Time Group heard about requirements of the township housing code from Joseph Zemalkowsky, township housing officer.

Senior citizens who contemplate selling their homes and moving into senior citizen housing have been concerned about code requirements. Mr. Zemalkowsky explained the extent of property inspections required for certificates of occupancy.

A committee in charge of the group's Valentine Day party included Mrs. Bea Coe, Mrs. Mary Wacker, Mrs. Nell O'Callahan and Mrs. Mabel Wynn.

The seniors plan a trip to New York's Radio City by bus Tuesday, March 21.

Elected officers for 1972 are Robert Cook, president; Mrs. Grace Kaiser, first vice president; Mrs. Ruth Leventhal, second vice president; Mrs. Violetta Gibson, treasurer; Mrs. Marion Roche, recording secretary, and Mrs. Marie Harrison, corresponding secretary.

Members of the executive board are Murray Nichols, Mrs. Ann Ceres, Martin Boberg, Mrs. Bea Coe, Mrs. Mildred Anderson, William Corris, Mrs. Helen Kelly and Mrs. Ann Gough.

Chamber's Award Goes To Doctor

LONG BRANCH — Dr. Charles L. Zukauskas has been selected by the Greater Long Branch Chamber of Commerce to receive the third annual Louis G. Libutti Memorial Award in recognition of his services to the organization.

The presentation will be made at the annual dinner Sunday, Feb. 27, in West End Manor, at which president John F. Kieley Jr. and his 1972 staff of officers and directors will be installed.

The award was established by the chamber after the death two years ago of Mr. Libutti, as he was about to begin his second term as president, in recognition of the progress made under his leadership.

Dr. Zukauskas, director of surgery and vice president of the medical staff of Monmouth Medical Center, was nominated for the award, according to executive director James M. Moran, as a result of his active participation in the 1971 membership campaign which saw the chamber gain greater support from the professional and business life of the community.

Long active in civic affairs, the physician is a lifetime resident here.

House Burns, Adjacent One Saved

HIGHLANDS — Quick action by local firemen Saturday night prevented a house adjacent to a burning dwelling from being demolished.

Police today continue a probe of the blaze, which demolished the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Matthews, 56 Seadrift Ave., and scorched the adjacent house owned by Mrs. Lillian Maxson. The Matthews family is in Florida.

Six firemen and a First Aid Squad member were treated at the scene for minor injuries and for smoke inhalation.

Injured were Walter Katz, a first aidman who suffered cuts of both knees; Assistant Fire Chief Mickey Anderson, sprained ankle; John Card, a sprained ankle and smoke inhalation, and John Franklin and Joseph Grzelka, both with cut hands.

Also treated by first aidmen Walter and Frederick Katz were George Connell and William Wiczorek, who required oxygen for smoke inhalation.

Fire Chief Howard Bray said the origin of the blaze is being investigated.

Firemen and equipment from Atlantic Highlands and Sea Bright also responded to the fire alarm.

EX-MAYOR HONORED — Former Little Silver Mayor Thomas B. Judge, left, receives a copy of the resolution the borough Council adopted thanking him for his six years of service to the borough from Mayor Charles F. Rell, as Mrs. Judge looks on. Mr. Judge declined to run for reelection last November.

Garage Construction Delayed by Court

FREEHOLD — Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cameron of 18 Bowtell Court, Middletown, are temporarily enjoined by court order from constructing a two-car garage next to their home.

Superior Court Judge Merritt Lane Jr. issued a preliminary injunction and remanded the matter to the Middletown Zoning Board of Adjustment for a proper finding of facts. The board was directed to act at its February meeting.

Judge Lane also directed the zoning board to file with the court by March 1 a record consisting of the building inspector's denial, the petition of appeal, all exhibits before the board, a copy of the board's minutes granting the variance and a copy of the minutes of the remand action.

The preliminary injunction was sought by Mr. and Mrs. George DeGraff of Bowtell Court, Middletown, who have filed a court complaint to block construction of the garage.

The complaint alleged that there was no credible evidence before the zoning board to show undue hardship or that the negative criteria had been met.

The DeGraffs alleged there was no need to build the garage six feet from the property line in a zone that required a 25-foot-sideyard setback.

Judge Lane said he was aware of the past practices of county courts to deny a preliminary injunction and that this action was a drastic remedy requiring exacting sound judicial discretion. Preliminary injunctions are usually granted to prevent immediate irreparable harm, he said.

"Gentlemen," he said to the attorneys, "a new day is dawning."

Judge Lane said it appeared that the plaintiffs had an excellent chance of setting aside the variance. "Why should the court allow the defendants to spend money if I think the variance is questionable," he said. He said earlier that if the defendants constructed the garage while litigation was pending and if the court declared the variance invalid, the court could order the garage removed or moved.

Judge Lane said the complaint could be heard in about a month and to assure quick action he directed that the timetable be included in the court order.

The judge also directed the plaintiffs to file with the court by March 1 a transcript of the zoning board's December meeting and of the February meeting if a transcript is made.

Thomas T. Warshaw of Red Bank represents the Camerons. Gerald A. Dienst of Red Bank represents the DeGraffs.

Blinded by Sun, Drives Into Train

TENNENT — Harold Travis, 43, of 47 Stanford Drive, Hazlet, was the driver of a car which struck a train on Main St.

Police say Mr. Travis had been driving west at 4 p.m. Thursday and was apparently blinded by the sun. He failed to see the railroad's flashing signals and crashed into the left front of a Penn-Central train.

Mr. Travis was taken to the Greater Freehold Area Hospital, Freehold Township, by members of the Englishtown-Manalapan First Aid Squad. Police say he was admitted for treatment of severe facial and mouth cuts.

Trooper Joseph Suszko of the Tennent State Police was investigating officer. No summons was issued.

West Virginia U. Wins Forensics Tournament

WEST LONG BRANCH — West Virginia University took first place honors and won the Sweepstakes Award in the first annual Woodrow Wilson Forensics Tournament at Monmouth College.

The 18-member West Virginia team went away with the Woodrow Wilson Award, a traveling trophy that will be exchanged among future Wilson tournament winning teams.

Sweepstakes coach award went to West Virginia's coach, James Pirkle, who explained the team left the West Virginia campus at 4 a.m. Friday, Feb. 4, and braved a heavy snowstorm in the Appalachians to arrive in time for the competition, which began Friday afternoon and continued all day Saturday.

A team from Glassboro College finished second, followed by West Chester (Pa.) State College in third place. Fourth place went to Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, W. Va.; while a team from the University of Maine took fifth place.

More than 180 students representing 27 colleges and universities in a geographical area extending from Maine to Georgia participated in the two-day event.

William A. Yaremchuk, assistant professor of speech and dramatics at Monmouth and director of debate and forensic activities, served as tournament director. He was assisted by Monmouth students who doubled as hosts and contestants.

Students who scored high in the Woodrow Wilson tourney now qualify for invitations to the national individual speaking events finals at De Paul University, Chicago, this spring.

Two Monmouth students were awarded trophies for their efforts. They are Donald Treat, a junior from Jackson, fifth place in after-dinner speaking; and Maria D'Amico, a sophomore from Westwood, fourth place in oral interpretation.

Tournament winners were determined by the number of points members of teams earned while competing in up to five of 10 areas of speech competition.

Team members ranking among the top five highest in each category were awarded individual trophies.

Judging was handled by team directors from the participating colleges and universities, and by faculty members from Monmouth's Department of Fine Arts.

Three Hospitalized After Crash in City

LONG BRANCH — Three persons remain in Monmouth Medical Center today after being injured in an Ocean Blvd. accident Saturday night.

They are Dorothy Buonaquist, 18, of 49 Shrewsbury Ave., Highlands; Christine Smith, 20, of the same address, and Gordon J. Campbell, 23, of Plainfield.

Hospital officials last night said Miss Buonaquist is listed in fair condition. She was admitted to the hospital while unconscious, police said.

Miss Smith suffered a fractured nose and head and leg injuries. Her condition was listed as satisfactory.

No information was available on Mr. Campbell, who complained of dizziness and arm pains.

Police said the trio were riding north on Ocean Blvd. in a car operated by Mr. Campbell in the southbound lane. The car, according to police, was in a collision with another vehicle operated by John Kirsch, 40, of 272 Wilson Ave. here.

Mr. Kirsch was treated and released at the local hospital for broken teeth and cuts of the lip and scalp.

He told police he saw the oncoming car in the southbound lane and stopped his vehicle before the collision.

Mr. Campbell told Patrolman Gaetano Mistretta that he was unaware that he was in the wrong traffic lane. He said he is unfamiliar with the Ocean Blvd. traffic pattern.

Mr. Campbell was charged with careless driving and driving while on the revoked list.

Hit and Run Case Solved, Chief Says

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS — Alert investigation by local and Highlands police solved a hit and run accident case here yesterday in just two hours, Police Chief James J. Egidio says.

The chief reported that at 1:50 a.m. yesterday Edgar Brown, 28, of 12 Hudson Ave. was struck by a car as he crossed Rt. 36 at First Ave. The vehicle stopped momentarily at the scene, then fled, Chief Egidio said.

The victim, only slightly injured, was taken to Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, where he was treated and released.

Responding to a teletype message transmitted by local police, Highlands officers found the wanted vehicle parked in that borough at 3:50 a.m. The driver, Henry M. Jackson Jr., 26, of 63 Seadrift Ave., was arrested.

Local Patrolman Robert Breunling, investigating officer, took a statement from Mr. Jackson and charged him with leaving the scene of an accident. The suspect was released in his own recognition for a Municipal Court hearing Feb. 28.

2 Men Jailed For Shoplifting

HAZLET — Two Newark men who pleaded guilty to shoplifting charges in separate incidents were sentenced to 10 days each in the county jail by Municipal Court Judge Vincent J. Agresti.

James L. Bayde pleaded guilty to taking a stereo tape player from J.M. Fields Department Store, Rt. 35, and John O. Fields pleaded guilty to taking four steaks from the Path Mark Super Market, Rt. 35.

Both men were given credit for 10 days served in jail while awaiting a hearing.

Stephen A. Darby, 24, of 807 Sixth St., Union Beach, was fined a total of $225 after being found guilty of driving while on the revoked list and failing to notify the state Department of Motor Vehicles of an address change.

YOU WILL STOP SMOKING ON MARCH 22

...if you join the JACQUELYN ROGERS SMOKENDER Seminars starting in your area... (or, of course, you may stop smoking without SMOKENDERS, if you'd rather).

The trick is: HOW YOU FEEL AFTER YOU STOP. If you want to stop without "climbing the walls" and with a feeling of Reward — and, best of all, WITH A SMILE — then come to find out about the JACQUELYN ROGERS SMOKENDER METHOD.

...and bring your cigarettes! Remember, this is the method that requires you smoke as many as you like while you learn how to break the habit. In small, manageable segments. Step-by-step. (At risk of being totally unbelievable, we'd like to mention that SMOKENDERS IS fun, too. It's hard to imagine quitting being fun, isn't it?)

So come to a FREE Explanatory Meeting in your area. (No kidding — FREE — To find out. Because we know you can't push a smoker into quitting. We don't push. But let us warn you! Most smokers who come to find out about the JACQUELYN ROGERS METHOD find it makes a lot of sense, and they can't wait to start!)

...if you happen to miss the FREE Explanatory Meeting, come to a FREE Mini-Briefing 15 minutes before the Seminar Starts — and decide, then.

And it won't hurt a bit. We think smokers are great and treat them with fondness and respect. You see, we were all smokers ourselves who did it with SMOKENDERS. SO COME, but don't expect any of that Seare business or Willpower stuff. And bring your friends. They may thank you for a lifetime.

MONEY STORE

WE SELL CASH

CONSOLIDATE YOUR BILLS. If you're a New Jersey homeowner, it's a beautiful way to pay off all those people you owe. And get all those things you've dreamed of in the bargain.

The Money Store™ is just like the local grocery store or hardware store only better. We sell money. If you're a New Jersey homeowner, we can sell you all the money you need. At a price you can afford. That's what pays the bills. And makes dreams come true. Your dreams.

On our shelves is an end to all those monthly payments you can never get ahead of. Plus an ample supply of all kinds of dreams. Vacations to Hawaii or away from your mother-in-law. A color TV, so you can fight with your wife or husband over which program not to watch. New furniture, clothes, or college tuition. A washing machine and dryer, a toaster, or a whole new kitchen. Even an addition to your home to replace the one your kids wrecked.

The Money Store™ is a loan company, only different.

Because when you borrow money from a loan company, you always feel like you owe them a favor in addition to the money. We don't sell favors, only the money. And just like a grocery store we make a profit doing it, 15% of the money we sell you (annual percentage rate). All those credit card companies you owe charge up to a tidy 18% interest. And those small loan companies charge up to 24%! So you save in the bargain when you buy your money from us. And you can use it to pay back what you borrowed from them.

We have money stocked in all sizes and shapes. In bill paying size and dream buying size. But we recommend our special 2-in-1 size to pay off your bills and buy your dreams at the same time. That way you won't get into the same old bind all over again.

The single monthly bill you'll be left with will be lower than all the other monthly bills combined.

And will fit your budget a heck of a lot better. Even with all those dreams you want. Because you can pay for the money over 5 years or more (small loan companies make you pay within 3 years and credit card companies within 2 years).

If you discover some buried treasure on your trip to Hawaii and want to pay back the money sooner, that's ok too. We won't charge you anything extra. We only charge you for the length of time you actually use the money.

The Money Store™ is Royal American Investment Corp.

A part of the largest organization in New Jersey specializing in selling money to homeowners. And as such, we have lots of money. Millions! We can sell you any amount up to $10,000 or even more, depending on the amount of equity you have in your house (equity is the present resale value of your house less the amount you owe on the mortgage) and your ability to repay.

SECONDARY MORTGAGE LOANS

Teacher Hits Prison Treatment

CALDWELL — Carole Graves, president of the Newark Teachers Union, and two other union leaders left Essex County Jail yesterday after completing 77-day terms for striking in 1970.

Supporters gathered in a downpour outside the jail at 8:30 a.m. to cheer Mrs. Graves as she emerged.

"I went in with no guilt and I came out with no shame," said Mrs. Graves, who faces another three months in jail on a contempt charge arising from an 11-week 1971 strike.

Also released yesterday were Donald Nicholas and William Troubleshoot, both vice presidents of the union.

Mrs. Graves complained bitterly of conditions inside the prison and charged that prison officials had harassed her.

"Dostoevsky said, 'The degree of civilization in a society is mirrored by the conditions in its prisons,'" she quoted. "It's my opinion that we are somewhere back in the age of the Neanderthal man, especially for women prisoners."

Say Princeton Discriminates

PRINCETON — Princeton University may lose more than $20 million annually in federal aid unless it submits a plan to eliminate hiring and promotional practices which allegedly discriminate against women.

Princeton Personnel Director Richard Hirsch said the university has been notified by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare that HEW must receive the plan by March 3 or future federal monies would not be forthcoming.

With three weeks remaining to the deadline, Hirsch said, "The plan is still in its working stages, and is, I guess, about two-thirds completed."

According to Hirsch, the HEW notice came last month. Since that time, he added, "We have been devising an affirmative action report, and the timetables involved will cover the next two years."

The notice came in a letter after HEW investigated hiring and promotion policies at the university, which started to admit coeds to its undergraduate school two years ago. The probe itself was brought on after the New Jersey chapter of the National Organization of Women filed a lengthy report on the status of women at the university with the federal government.

Yancey Services Today

NEWARK — Services will be held today for Robert M. Yancey, 67, the Essex County Court judge who died Thursday of gunshot wounds.

The services will be held at Bethany Baptist Church, 117 W. Market St.

Yancey was shot in a room of the Downtowner Motor Inn Wednesday night.

Mrs. Naomi Stout, 41, an East Orange housewife who was convicted of stabbing Yancey in an attack in his chambers in 1967, has been charged with the murder.

Yancey was New Jersey's first black county court judge. A graduate of Rutgers Law School, he was a former assistant U.S. attorney, Gov. Robert B. Meyner appointed Yancey to the Essex County District Court bench in 1956, and he became a County Court judge in 1958.

The jurist, a native of Esomont, Va., is survived by his widow, Adele; a son, Robert M. Jr.; two daughters, Mrs. Yvonne Amos and Jacqueline Yancey, and five grandchildren.

Sues Over Prison Rat Bite

HACKENSACK — As authorities attempt to piece together incidents which led to vicious knife fights at Trenton State Prison over the weekend, one former inmate plans to file suit for a different kind of wound he received while in solitary confinement.

The former inmate, Ramon A. Alvelo, 32, of Saddle Brook, says he had to receive a series of 28 painful rabies shots in his stomach and back after being bitten by a large rat at the prison. His suit, seeking punitive damages, will be filed in Superior Court here.

Alvelo spent 19 months in the prison between 1969 and 1971 on a breaking and entering conviction. He says the rat bit him April 3, 1971, while he was sleeping in "the hole," the name for solitary confinement given to Cell No. 8 in Wing II of the prison.

Defendants in the suit were to be Trenton State Prison Warden Howard Yeager, Director of Corrections and Parole Albert C. Wagder, and former acting commissioner of the Department of Institutions and Agencies Maurice Kolt. According to Alvelo, the suit will say he was not the first inmate to suffer a rat bite and prison officials were aware of the rodent problem.

Case Comments

NEW BRUNSWICK — U.S. Sen. Clifford Case of New Jersey said here yesterday that a definite date of withdrawal of American armed forces from Vietnam should be fixed as a means of ending the U.S. involvement in the conflict there.

The three-term senator who's up for reelection November, said that he admired President Nixon's Vietnam peace efforts, but he didn't think they would work.

Case fielded questions at a reception sponsored by Ripon Society, a progressive Republican group.

On the question of school busing, Case said it was wrong for one to say "never bus."

He said that while not everyone was rational about the issue, he wanted the "blue collar guy to be satisfied that he's safe, but that he doesn't have to make his suburb an enclave against the influx of blacks."

On economic matters, the senator commented that Nixon's price-wage controls "were a little late in getting started." He declined comment on the way they were working.

"I'm not too happy either about the endless succession of budget deficits," Case added.

Rutgers Balks on Tuition

TRENTON — Officials say New Jersey's state colleges will have to cut their budgets unless the state-recommended $250 tuition hike goes through.

Rutgers University's Board of Governors has thrown a wrench into the state's plans for a tuition increase by refusing to authorize the $250 hike.

The Rutgers board voted Friday to authorize some hike, but not as great as $250.

The State Board of Higher Education ordered the eight state colleges last month to boost tuition from $350 to $600, but the board could only recommend that Rutgers raise its tuition to $650 from $400.

Higher Education Chancellor Ralph A. Dungan said Saturday it may not be possible to go ahead with the increase at the eight state colleges if Rutgers refused.

But other state officials are reportedly unwilling to roll back the increase.

Manure Price Tops Milk

LUMBERTON — Pennsylvania's Gov. Shapp says milk costs more in his state than in New Jersey. But has he looked into the price of cow manure?

A recent study shows it can cost more than milk. "Milk is currently $6 per hundredweight (48 quarts)," explained Richard L. Washer, Burlington County agriculture agent.

Cow manure packaged for sale to home gardeners in five pound bags brings nearly $14 per hundredweight.

Two cow manure entrepreneurs in Lumberton, Richard and Jack Allen of Eayretown Road have set up a cow-shaped billboard to advertise their product. The Allen brothers say they sell 25 to 30-pound bags for $125 per bag.

Delay in Electrification Plans Holds Up Funding, Volpe Says

MIDDLETOWN — Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe says federal funds for improved rail commuter service at the Shore hinge on completion of state plans for electrification of the New York & Long Branch Railroad.

Mr. Volpe said his department is willing to guarantee loans for new equipment, but not until the state comes to grips with the long-standing question of electrification.

The railroad is electrified from New York to South Amboy, and there have been many plans to extend the electrification to either Red Bank, or to the end of the line in Bay Head.

The state reportedly is leaning towards the partial electrification, but Mr. Volpe said he thinks the line should be electrified to the end.

Mr. Volpe said that he disapproves of giving federal subsidies for inefficient service. He said subsidies should have strings attached to assure good performance.

The secretary was here Saturday for the annual Lincoln Day Dinner sponsored by the Monmouth County Republican organization.

At a pre-dinner press conference at the Navesink Golf & Country Club, Mr. Volpe praised New Jersey for its highway safety record.

"New Jersey," he said, "has one of the finest records — a total of 33 deaths recorded per 100 million vehicular miles during 1970, down from 3.3 in 1969; This is quite low. The national average was 4.9."

Mr. Volpe also praised the national interstate highway program for saving an estimated 5,000 lives a year.

The interstate program, he said, should be completed by 1978. It was scheduled for completion in 1966 at a cost of $27 billion.

He acknowledged that the program has run far behind schedule and the cost has more than doubled.

"There have been many changes in criteria, construction problems, innovations, and highway beautification, he said, "these weren't on the drawing boards in the '50's." The interstate program started in 1957.

"Obviously," Mr. Volpe said, "a dollar doesn't get you what it did in the '50's."

During the press conference, Mr. Volpe added his name to a growing list of high-ranking Republicans who have been attacking Democratic presidential candidates who have voiced criticism of President Nixon's latest Vietnam peace proposals.

Mr. Volpe said if the North Vietnamese could expect easier settlement terms from a Democratic president, they would be less likely to settle the war now before the November election.

Another Republican official, Thomas B. Evans, co-chairman of the Republican National Committee, entered the dispute Saturday.

He said Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine was "clouding the issue" when Muskie said Nixon had criticized aspects of Lyndon Johnson's Vietnam policies in 1965 and 1966.

Evans, addressing a Lincoln

MAKING A POINT — Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe makes a point to Mrs. Ann D. Flynn, State Republican Committeewoman, and Monmouth County Republican Chairman Benjamin H. Danekin, prior to the GOP's annual Lincoln Day Dinner Saturday at which Mr. Volpe was featured speaker.

Day dinner in Elizabeth, said Nixon was not a presidential candidate in 1965 and 1966.

Hits Muskie Stand

On Friday, Secretary of Housing George Romney told a republican audience in Paramus that Muskie's two-point Vietnam peace proposal would "jeopardize our relations with every nation on this earth."

Muskie has proposed the U.S. set a date for a total military withdrawal from Indochina, with release of American prisoners and the safety of the remaining troops the only conditions.

After the press conference, Mr. Volpe went to the dinner in Atlantic Highlands where more than 800 persons turned out at the Shore Casino. It was one of the largest and most successful county Lincoln Day Dinner.

In a speech delivered at the dinner, Mr. Volpe turned to politics saying "it would be a great tragedy if President Nixon isn't reelected for another four years."

He cited the President's record in bringing the war to an honorable end; his "bold" moves in fighting inflation, and to bolster employment.

He urged the Republicans to "do your part to make sure that New Jersey does its part in the November election."

"No matter how good it looks," Mr. Volpe said, "you can't stop working until the polls are closed. The reelection of the President is a must."

4-H Favorite Food Contest Was 'Tasteful and Tasty'

By MARGOT SMITH

LINCROFT — "Tasteful" and "tasty" describe the scene in Brookdale Community College's Barn D Saturday where nearly a hundred colorful place settings were laid out by youngsters competing in the fifth annual 4-H Favorite Food Contest.

Four handsome trophies, depicting a proud, high-capped chef, went to first place winners, a boy and three girls, and dozens of ribbons were awarded.

Debbie Tilley, 11, of Englishtown cooked up a pink and white layered cherry pudding parfait and set it among Valentine's Day decorations in matching colors for first prize in the Unit One competition.

Cheryl Bolton, 10, of Brick Township demonstrated that patience pays off with meticulously decorated Easter eggs hanging on a mini-tree to accompany her fruit salad dessert, Unit Two's top-winner. Cheryl won and "excellent" commendation in last year's contest.

"Heavenly Hawaiian Cream" Barbara Fredericks, 11, of Freehold created "Heavenly Hawaiian Cream" for a dessert that was truly heavenly in a setting that looked like a magazine photograph, and won her a trophy for best in Unit Three.

Fancy sandwiches were much in evidence and John Creviston, 16, of South Toms River assembled a first prize winner based on the Scandinavian open-faced theme and employing all the healthy basic food elements. He won a first in the Advanced category, plus Ocean County's Chef's Hat award for the highest scoring boy.

Representatives of 25 4-H clubs in Monmouth and Ocean counties submitted entries that were scrutinized by 17 judges. Contestants were judged on preparation techniques menu balance, flavor, texture, and the appropriateness, correctness and visual appeal of their table settings. Bonus points were awarded for cooperative attitudes, originality of table settings and the ability to recover from mishaps.

The contest was co-sponsored by the New Jersey Natural Gas Company and the Cooperative Extension Service.

Brain Food Bowl Quiz

While the judging took place, members took part in a Brain Food Bowl quiz conducted by Alfred E. Saunders of Freehold, a vice president of Monmouth County National Bank.

Additional prize winners were: Advanced Unit; Anne Van Derveer, 13, Freehold, second, and Stephanie White, 17, West Long Branch, third.

KITCHEN TROPHIES — Barbara Fredericks, 11, of Freehold and John Creviston, 16, of South Toms River were first prize winners in the 4-H Clubs Favorite Foods Contest at Brookdale Community College.

LITTLE GIRLS, BIG WINNERS — Debbie Tilley, 11, of Englishtown, left, and Cheryl Bolton, 10, of Brick Township, won first awards for their fancy desserts at the 4-H competition.

Network Channels Ablaze With Ancient Day Splendor

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — The network channels were ablaze with the splendor and pageantry of ancient days last night. There was "Cleopatra" on ABC "Ben Hur" on CBS, and, happily, "Elizabeth Regina" on the Public Broadcasting channels.

"Cleopatra," the $40-million film of nine years ago, finally made it to the small screens. A fantastic riot of opulence and mob scenes, the goings-on in Caesar's Rome were very entertaining. The 1959 spectacle "Ben Hur" has been broadcast before, and was also drama painted with a broad brush.

Both were made to be shown on the huge screens of theaters, with the result that the vast scenes with hordes of people tended to look like disturbed ant hills when seen on television screens.

There can be no complaints about "Elizabeth Regina," a BBC import that picks up in a six-part series where "The Six Wives of Henry VIII" left off. With Glenda Jackson playing the vital, fiery daughter of Henry and Anne Boleyn, the first episode concentrated on the rocky road to the Tudor throne — the death of ailing teen-aged Edward VI, and then of Elizabeth's older half-sister, Mary. There were plots, schemes, double-dealing, skulduggery, jealousy and even imprisonment in the tower of London for the future queen.

Made for TV

The series was made expressly for television and used closeups and comparatively few people to carry the story. The fine acting, authentic costumes and backgrounds, and the well-written scripts made English history come fascinatingly alive.

Earlier yesterday, Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic Orchestra appeared in a CBS "Young People's Concert." The subject was Franz Liszt and his preoccupation with the legend of Faust. Bernstein's informal and incisive commentary was as lucid as ever and heightened the enjoyment of the music for the average viewer. ABC on Saturday night took a first, tottering step toward restoring Sherlock Holmes to television. It presented a 90-minute pilot feature, an adaptation of A. Conan Doyle's "The Hound of the Baskervilles."

While it remained fairly faithful to the Conan Doyle story and attempted to recreate the atmosphere of Victorian London and environs, it lost something in the transition. It was hard to accept former matinee idol Stewart Granger in the role of the master detective. Somehow it still belongs to the late Basil Rathbone, the way "Perry Mason" belongs to Raymond Burr and James Bond to Sean Connery.

The story suffered from age and obliqueness. And even Holmes' ostentatious detective work came out as a gimmick.

Film Shown For Firemen

KEANSBURG — The First Aid Squad hosted members of the New Point Comfort Fire Co. at a showing of the film, "The Breath of Life," on loan from the county library. The film dealt with the proper method of mouth-to-mouth and cardio-pulmonary resuscitation.

Hazlet's Conservationists Study Funds for Land

HAZLET — The Conservation Commission is investigating procedures for applications to state and federal agencies for funds to purchase land for conservation purposes.

Members anticipate making applications to the Housing and Urban Development Administration (HUD), the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation (BOR), both federal agencies, and to the state through its Green Acres fund.

Several commissioners set a tour last weekend to inspect the Natco Lake area, creeks, wetlands, tidelands and open areas in the township which they might anticipate purchasing.

They also plan to make note of any areas which are not taken care of properly or where residents tend to dump trash. Any areas found to be in poor condition or harmful to conservation will be reported to proper township departments so they can be cleaned up.

Mrs. Geri Bookbinder announced the commission has received two blue spruce trees to be planted in memory of Robert R. Brady, former tax collector who died last month as the result of an automobile accident.

The trees are a gift of Harold Jacobsen of Middletown, former Hazlet resident and a nurseryman.

Mrs. Bookbinder said Mr. Jacobsen has also offered to present trees to the 1972 Raritan High School graduating class.

It is Mr. Jacobsen's wish that the class of 1972 in turn offer the trees to other township schools and that the trees be planted at various school sites.

The trees will be received as gifts through the commission. Mrs. Bookbinder said the blue spruce trees in Mr. Brady's memory will probably be planted in Memorial Park. The commission is scheduled to meet Feb. 17 with the Recreation Commission to discuss various parcels of land purchased for recreation purposes.

The conservationists' main concern will be to see how the land will be used and to offer suggestions in the best interest of ecology.

Variance For Office Is Denied

NEW SHREWSBURY — The Board of Adjustment has denied a variance to allow construction of a contracting office and storage area at Blossom Road and Apple St.

The one-story building was proposed by Wallace S. Davidson of 20 Henry St., Shrewsbury, and would have contained two offices, and planned outside storage of equipment and materials.

The site is located in a commercial zone, but it adjoins residential areas on two sides. Three nearby residents had objected to the construction saying it would devalue their property.

The board ruled that the plan would not be aesthetically pleasing, would not conform to the intent of the zoning plan, and would cause traffic problems.

The board recommended variances to the Lexington Construction Co., Freehold, to complete the Sugar Maples Estates subdivision, off Riverdale Ave. by building seven homes on oversized lots.

The homes, in the $40,000 class, will have 125-foot front lots instead of the required 200 feet, and 30-foot side yards instead of the required 35 feet.

Story of Stolen Check Termed Lie

RED BANK — James T. Helphinstine, 45, of 144 Monmouth St. is being held in the county jail, Freehold, pending a Municipal Court hearing on a charge of giving false information to police.

Helphinstine is being held in lieu of $200 bail. His court hearing is set for 9 a.m. today.

Police said Helphinstine called police headquarters about 12:30 p.m. Wednesday and reported someone had robbed him of his unemployment check.

Investigation by Patrolman Robert Kuhn revealed Helphinstine had the check on his person, police said.

Woman Faces Court Hearing

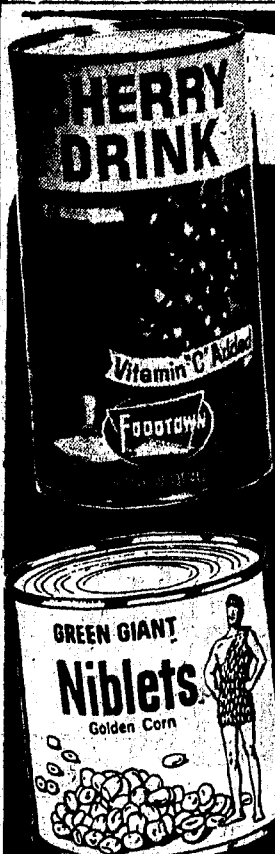

RED BANK — Miss Evette Tomalino, 35, of 105 Locust Ave., is scheduled for a Municipal Court hearing today on charges of loitering and being under the influence of alcohol.

She has been released in $50 bail pending the hearing.

Police said Miss Tomalino was arrested about 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Colonial Restaurant, Broad St., where the restaurant owner accused her of falling asleep at a table and of refusing to leave the premises.

Heroin Possession Charge Faces 2 Men

LONG BRANCH — Police report the arrest of two Leonardo men on charges of possession of heroin. They identified the suspects as John V. Nelson, 21, of 29 Oakwood Road, and Edward J. Mulvaney, 20, of 17½ Monmouth Ave. Both were released in $500 bail each pending an appearance in Municipal Court Thursday.

Americans Finish 5th in Winter Olympics

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — "A story book ending," said one man who helped write it, unflappable U.S. hockey goaltender Michael Curran.

"Unbelievable," said Coach Murray Williamson. "But there the American hockey players were—thanks to some help from Russia and Finland—with silver medals no one would have predicted winning when the 1972 Winter Olympics opened 10 days earlier."

And the Games in Japan's scenic, snowy north ended with one other surprise—the first medal ever won by Spain in any Winter Olympics. Francisco Fernandez Ochoa, 21, won the men's slalom run down the tricky, corkscrew Mt. Teine course by a margin of one full second.

In yesterday's only other event, Vyacheslav Vendenin made up a one minute deficit over the last 10 kilometers as Russia won the 40 kilometer cross country skiing relay by a 50-second margin over Norway.

That gave Russia a total of eight gold, five silver and three bronze medals and a wide victory margin in the medals race.

The United States finished fifth with three golds, two silvers and three bronzes, behind Russia, East Germany with 4-3-7, Switzerland with 4-3-3 and the Netherlands with 4-3-2.

The hockey medal was the only one earned by American men. The others were won by women athletes with the three golds going to Northbrook, Ill., speed skaters Dianne Holum, 20, and Anne Henning, 16, and to slalom skier Barbara Cochran, 21, of Richmond, Vt.

The U.S. hockey squad finished its competition Saturday night with a 6-1 victory over Poland, giving it three victories and two losses. It could have finished anywhere from fourth to second—and the Americans went out to cheer for the Russians to beat Czechoslovakia Sunday, which would clinch third for the Americans.

But then the unexpected happened. Besides Russia polishing off Czechoslovakia 5-2 in the showdown for the gold medal, Finland upset Sweden 4-3, knocking the Swedes out of the medal race.

The Russians ended up with four victories and a 3-3 tie against Sweden, and the Americans and the Czechoslovaks both had 3-2 records—but since the Americans beat the Czechoslovaks 5-1 earlier, they got the silver.

Was it hard to root for the Russians?

Easy to Root

"It was very easy," said Williamson. "I admire the Russians. They are good hockey players and good athletes."

And besides, he said, five games against the Russians earlier this season gave the Americans "A good lesson in European hockey—something we hadn't been exposed to."

"If I had it to do over again, I would like another crack at the Swedes," Williamson said. The Swedes were one team that beat the Americans, 5-1 in a game only 16 hours after the Americans defended their right to play in the Class A tournament of the Olympics with a 5-3 victory over Switzerland. The other team was Russia, with a 7-2 victory.

Early in the tournament, Williamson said, "The breaks were against us. Later they were for us. We consider ourselves very fortunate and satisfied."

Even before the Finnish and Russian victories put the Americans into second place, Williamson said he considered the American hockey showing a success since the other Class A teams enjoyed a six-to-seven-year edge in experience.

The United States had three of the four youngest players in the tournament—16-year-old Mark Howe, son of former Detroit Red Wing superstar Gordie Howe; Robbie Florek, 20, of Needham, Mass. and Henry Boucha, 20, of Warroad, Minn. The fourth young player was Soviet goalie Vladislav Tretiak, 19.

"Howe held his own throughout the tournament," Williamson said, but the Detroit youngster said he was dissatisfied with his performance.

"I played okay on defense but I missed a lot of goals I should have had," Howe said.

Over-all, Williamson said, "I would just have to say it was a courageous performance. . . every kid played to the fullest of his potential."

He called the U.S. team "the greatest bunch of kids in attitude, living habits, training habits and devotion."

"There is no way anybody would surpass that team," he said.

This was the Americans' first Olympic hockey medal since they beat the Russians in the final game and won the gold in 1960 at Squaw Valley, Calif.

Goalie Curran came up with two excellent games in the Americans' 5-1 victory over Czechoslovakia and their 4-1 triumph over Finland. For the Finnish game, the Americans were tired after their rugged contest against Russia, and Curran's saves—some at almost point blank range—helped his teammates win that game which had a crucial bearing on their race for a medal.

Behind Ochoa in the slalom race came two Italian cousins, Gustavo and Roland Thoeni. Ochoa led after the first round with a time of 55.36 seconds and improved in the second with 53.91 for a total 1:49.27.

Gustavo Thoeni, winner of the giant slalom earlier, had the fastest run of the day—53.59 seconds on his second descent—and was second with 1:50.28. Rolando took the bronze with 1:50.30.

Tyler Palmer of Kearsage, N.H., was America's fastest, finishing ninth in 1:52.05, ($758-$437). He had trouble with the snow and said he still had not become used to the snow in Sapporo. He called it "peculiar and different from snow conditions in both the United States and Europe."

Bullets Give Lakers Fight

By The Associated Press

How do you stop a speeding Bullet? It's easy if you have the Los Angeles Lakers' ammunition.

The Lakers, badgered by Baltimore rookie Phil Chenier, turned on the power behind Wilt Chamberlain and Jim McMillian to pull away to a 121-110 National Basketball Association victory over the Bullets yesterday.

"We really didn't get going until McMillian started getting some open shots in the second half," said Los Angeles guard Jerry West, who scored 28 points.

Chenier, who scored 28, kept Baltimore in the game until under the three-minute mark.

Then Chamberlain, sidelined portions of the second half for strategic reasons, whipped in a stuff shot for a 106-100 Laker lead with 2:14 remaining. Then McMillian scored four of his game-high 31 points among three Laker baskets for an unsurmountable 112-100 advantage.

In the other NBA games, the Milwaukee Bucks ripped the Boston Celtics 117-109; the Atlanta Hawks stopped the Buffalo Braves 133-119; the Detroit Pistons walloped the Cleveland Cavaliers 136-121; The Golden State Warriors trimmed the Chicago Bulls 107-83; the Houston Rockets defeated the Cincinnati Royals 112-111 and the Seattle SuperSonics stopped the Portland Trail Blazers 127-117 in overtime.

In yesterday's American Basketball Association games, it was: Indiana 123, Memphis 110; Kentucky 121, Carolina 98; Virginia 124, Denver 123 and Dallas 123, New York 117 in two overtimes.

Saturday's NBA results: Milwaukee 123, Golden State 100; New York 106, Cleveland 91; Chicago 117, Atlanta 106; Detroit 113, Buffalo 87; Phoenix 117, Cincinnati 95 and Seattle 125, Portland 97.

The Bullets, despite a distinct height disadvantage with center Wes Unseld hurt, played the Lakers on a par until the late going. Los Angeles Coach Bill Sharman said his team was forced into several changes by the hustling Bullets.

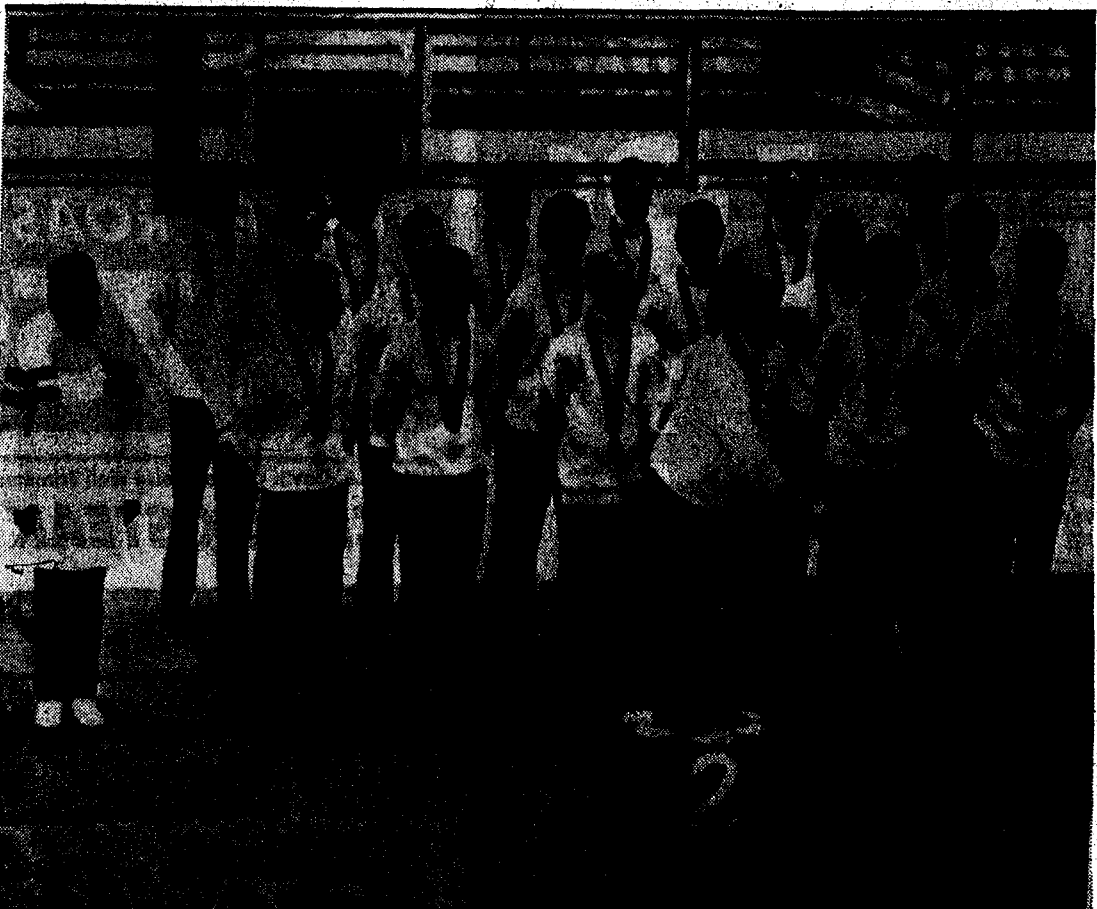

He took the highly-regarded Chamberlain out of the game because we wanted to go to a pressing defense."

Baltimore Coach Gene Shue said his team "played a real smart game" until they had a late "breakdown."

Kareem Abdul Jabbar poured in 51 points as Milwaukee broke Boston's nine-game winning streak.

Jabbar scored 27 points in the first half, but the Bucks trailed 58-54 at the intermission. Then Jabbar and John McGlocklin led a second-half rally that pulled it out.

McGlocklin had 18 points while Bob Dandridge contributed 15 to the Milwaukee offense. Jo Jo White led the Celtics with 31 points and John Havlicek added 23.

Rangers Beat Los Angeles; Goalie Hurt, Flyers Get Tie

By The Associated Press

Despite a record-tying 38th goal, rookie Rick Martin of the Buffalo Sabres wasn't feeling so hot at last night's 4-4 deadlock with Philadelphia, so he figured Flyer goalie Don McLeod should feel some pain, too.

Martin whacked McLeod on the leg with his stick during a goalmouth scramble with 15½ minutes left to play and the goalie came out of it with a painfully sprained knee.

Since all National Hockey League teams dress two goalies, that wouldn't have been so bad . . . except that Doug Favell, the Philly starter, was given a heave-ho game misconduct by referee John Ashley late in the second period for arguing too long and too loudly about Buffalo's third goal.

Helped Off Ice

McLeod was helped off the ice by a couple of teammates but was able to continue after a 20-minute respite. Despite obvious pain, he blanked the Sabres the rest of the way and the Flyers earned the tie on Bobby Clarke's goal with 8½ minutes left.

Elsewhere, Boston and Montreal tied 2-2, New York beat Los Angeles 4-2, Chicago defeated Toronto 3-1 and Pittsburgh downed Vancouver 6-4.

Rod Gilbert scored on the first shot of the game and Ted Irvine and Gene Carr also tallied early in the first period as New York bolted to a 3-0 lead over Los Angeles. The Kings rebounded on second-period goals by Real Lemieux and Butch Goring, the latter a penalty shot, before Jean Ratelle clinched the victory.

World Hockey Draft Beckons Orr, Esposito

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Boston Bruin superstars Bobby Orr and Phil Esposito were chosen by Dayton yesterday in the closing rounds of the World Hockey Association's first player draft.

"Sure, it's a long shot, but if they ever do play in the World Hockey Association, we have the rights," a spokesman for the Dayton team, which has no nickname yet, conceded.

Unfortunately for Dayton, both Orr, the National Hockey League's premier defenseman, and Esposito, who scored a record 78 goals last season, are under long term contracts to the Bruins.

In earlier rounds, NHL veterans Dennis Hull, Jacques Plante, Red Berenson and retired star Andy Bathgate were among the players chosen Sunday as the WHA wound up its first draft.

A spokesman for the new pro league said "eight of nine" of its 12 teams had reached agreements with some players. He said some NHL players, whom he wouldn't name, had signed written contracts.

Hull, Bobby Hull's younger brother, scored 40 goals for the Chicago Black Hawks last season. Plante, the Toronto Maple Leafs' 43-year-old goaltender, has won the Vezina Trophy five times as the NHL's top goalie.

Dennis Hull, Plante and Bathgate were picked by Miami, Berenson by Quebec and Bobby Hull by Winnipeg.

Opens in Fall

The WHA, scheduled to begin play this fall, has said it will not recognize the NHL's reserve clause.

The weary team officials made some novelty selections as the list of available players, started to dwindle. Gov. Wendell Anderson of Minnesota, a star defenseman for the University of Minnesota in the early 1950s and a member of the 1956 U.S. Olympic team, was picked on the 70th round by the Minnesota Fighting Saints.

A WHA spokesman said

with a straight face the Saints realized the governor might not be available now, but "they figure he has the kind of job where he might be available at any moment."

Minnesota also chose two pro football players, Jim Carter of the Green Bay Packers and Noel Jenks of the Minnesota Vikings. Both played hockey in college.

Chicago Prepares Welcome For Olympic Medal Victors

CHICAGO (AP) — Strings of red, white and blue pennants canopied La Salle Street in front of Chicago's City Hall yesterday as the Metropolitan area made ready to welcome home its Olympic medalists.

Anne Henning, a sturdy 16-year-old speed skater from the Village of Northbrook, a northern Chicago suburb, and 20-year-old Dianne Holum, also a Northbrook product, will arrive at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport at 7:45 a.m. today.

Between the two of them, Misses Henning and Holum are bringing home two-thirds of the gold medals won by the United States at the 11th Winter Olympics in Sapporo, Japan.

Miss Holum captured first in the women's 1,500-meter speed skating event, and took a silver medal in the 3,000-meter. Miss Henning won her gold in the 500-meter, and took a bronze in the women's 1,000-meter.

The other U.S. gold medal was won by Barbara Cochran of Richmond, Vt. in the women's slalom.

Northbrook, deserving of its designation as the Fastest Town on Skates, will salute its skaters with a parade through

The group being feted will include Northbrook skaters Leah Poulos, Greg Lyman and Neil Blatchford, also members of the U.S. Olympic speed skating team.

Governor to Welcome

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, who maintains a home in Northbrook when he's not living in the state capital, will officially welcome the skaters home.

Schools in Northbrook will be closed for the celebration. After the festivities in Northbrook, the skaters will travel by motorcade to Chicago's loop, where they will be treated to a ticker-tape parade along streamered downtown streets and made honorary citizens of Chicago by Mayor Richard J. Daley.

TIEUP ON GOAL — Toronto Maple Leafs rightwinger Rick Kehoe (16) is tied up near the Chicago Black Hawks' goal in Chicago yesterday, but manages to push through for a goal. Black Hawks' goalie Tony Esposito, (35), defenseman Doug Jarrett (4) and Jerry Korab (22) move in to stop Kehoe's advance.

WINS HOPE—Vice President Spiro Agnew, left, and Bob Hope present Bob Rosburg the Eisenhower Perpetual Trophy just after he had won the Bob Hope Desert Classic in Palm Springs, Calif., yesterday. Rosburg finished with 344 for five rounds, 16 strokes under par. He won his first tournament in 11 years and picked up $29,000.

Rosburg Wins Hope Golf

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Bob Rosburg, a balding, paunchy 45-year-old veteran, fought off a flock of youthful challengers with a final round 67 yesterday and won the $29,000 first prize in the Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

Rosburg posted a 90-hole total of 344, 16 under par in this five-day marathon as he scored his first victory since taking the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am in 1961 — more than a decade ago.

Wins By One

He won by a single stroke over Lanny Wadkins, a 22-year-old rookie who matched his five-under-par 67 in the bright, warm sunshine that bathed the 6,500 yard Indian Wells Country Club course.

Johnny Miller, a bitterly disappointed 24-year-old, was tied for third with his close friend, Jerry Heard, also 24. Miller three-putted three of the last four greens after he had taken a brief lead.

Miller finished with a 67 and Heard, who led by two strokes when the day's play started, had a 72, including a triple bogey seven on the second hole where he hit his tee shot out of bounds with the ball glancing off two trees and coming to rest in a swimming pool. They had 346 totals.

Arnold Palmer, the defending champion and four-time winner of this event, was in the thick of the race in the early going, bolting into contention with three consecutive birdies starting on the fifth hole.

But he failed to birdie the par five eighth hole and then, on the ninth, hit his tee shot out of bounds. He'd done the same thing twice in Friday's round. He said he hadn't hit one out of bounds in the last five years.

He took a double bogey six on that hole and was out of it. Palmer finished with a 69 for 248, one stroke back of Bob Murphy, who had a 66-347.

Finish Back

Jack Nicklaus had a 68-351 and Lee Trevino closed with a 66-354, well back in the field.

Nicklaus also won an automobile for hitting his shot closest to the hole on the par-three 15th, and donated it to the Eisenhower Charities, beneficiaries of the tournament proceeds.

"I just missed some putts when I had to make them," the skinny, blond Miller said. "If I'd just played medium after the 14th, I'd have had a 64 and won it."

It was on the 14th, a 468-yard par five, that Miller took a brief lead.

He reached the green with two big shots and ran in a 10-foot putt for an eagle. Rosburg birdied the hole, but Miller had a one-stroke lead.

But then he shot himself out of it. He three-putted the 15th from nine feet, missing the second from less than two feet.

Rosburg, a former baseball player at Stanford University, had to work hard to salvage par on the next hole, making a six-foot putt.

Rosburg carded a routine par on the next hole, but Miller had another bogey, three-putting from about 70 feet.

Bishop Win Forces Tie

Red Bank Regional lost its second Shore Conference "B" Division game in as many outings Friday night against Freehold, 62-56, while Asbury Park tore up Ocean Township, 85-58.

The outcome will be a division playoff for second place this week between the Bucs and Bishops to see which team will compete in the Shore Conference eight-team playoff.

In another "B" game over the weekend, Toms River South nipped Monmouth Regional, 62-59.

The big weekend showdown pitting Neptune and Long Branch, the two kingspins of the "A" and "B" Divisions, respectively, saw the Filers roll easily, 82-70. The victory leaves Neptune with a 20-1 record. The Wave is 15-5.

In other conference action, Lakewood took second place in the "A" Division by topping Middletown Township, 77-65, and Keansburg kept Point Pleasant Beach winless in the "D" Division with a 67-65 triumph.

Rumson-Fair Haven Regional kept Shore Regional down in the dumps with a 76-69 victory, and Manasquan foiled Henry Hudson Regional, 59-52.

IT WAS WORTH IT — Ed Foster of Belford, left, takes a jab to the chin from New Brunswick's Jerome Phipps in the 175-pound quarterfinal bout of the N.J. Golden Gloves championships over the weekend. Foster came back to win the three-round bout on a unanimous decision.

Lion Grapplers Top TRN To Clinch 'A' Circuit Title

Middletown won the "A" Division wrestling title Saturday by downing Toms River North, 28-16, and Manasquan bought at least a share of the "B" title by whacking Red Bank Regional, 32-16.

In action Friday, Brick

Township nipped Long Branch, 25-21.

Middletown won its 13th of the season while polishing off Toms River North, last pretender to the throne. The Mariners suffered their first conference loss and are 9-2 on the year.

Phil Steiner (123) remained undefeated, and Bill Lane (136), who has two draws, also won again.

A pair of undefeated, but tied, wrestlers put on the top show as Manasquan dumped Red Bank Regional. John Rodriguez and Tommy Seitz of Red Bank met at 106, and drew, 3-3.

Charlie Simmons of Red Bank, who is undefeated at three different weights this season, won again at 115, and John Lee, heavyweight, also kept his record intact.

Jim Ewin (136) of Red Bank and Craig Kelsey (148) and Alex Mounpousis (168) of Manasquan recorded pins.

King Wins

Tom King (98) was the only Rumson grappler to win in his team's loss to Howell. He had a pin as did undefeated Art Beins (157) for the Rebels.

Monmouth Regional's Mike Turpin (168) pinned his man, and Dank Arczynski (106) had a decision for the only bright spots in the Falcons' loss to Freehold. Ken Leota (115), Lloyd Larkin (178) and Mike Rabe (heavyweight) had pins for the Colonials.

Charlie Hearn (130), undefeated Mickey Deitz (136) recorded falls in Matawan's easy win over Shore Regional.

Raritan took only three weights from tough Cedar Ridge. Ron Ploe (115) pinned his man, and Bobby Heun (168) and Jim Schweitzer (heavyweight) had decisions.

Wall got pins from Don McGirr (130) and Jack Hamill (heavyweight) in its win over Southern.

The Best Warranty This Side of a Rolls-Royce

You can't put a price on the warranty you get with a Volkswagen. You see, a Volkswagen warranty runs twice as long as anybody else's small car warranty. And only one car, the Rolls-Royce, has one better.

Here's how ours works: All you do is maintain the car according to the Volkswagen maintenance schedule. If any factory part is found to be defective in material or workmanship within 24 months or 24,000 miles, whichever comes first (except normal wear and tear on service items) any U.S. or Canadian VW dealer will repair or replace it free of charge. See your dealer for details.

More Than 5,000 Inspections Per Car

The story behind our warranty starts at the factory. Where 1,104 nit-picking inspectors have one job, and one job only. To find something wrong with a Volkswagen before that Volkswagen finds its way out of the factory.

Every one of the more than 5,000 parts that go into a VW is carefully examined. Some of them get the once-over two or three times. If one of our inspectors is unhappy with only one of the parts, the whole car gets pulled off the line. Sometimes we pull as many as 225 VWs a day. But it's worth it. We pick the lemons. You get the plums.

The Most Advanced Service System In The World

No other car maker anywhere can offer you Medi-car, Volkswagen's ultrasensitive Electronic Diagnosis. It's designed to spot problems in your Volkswagen when they're at the minor adjustment stage. Long before they can do any real damage to your car or your wallet. Every one of our dealers has VW Diagnosis. And you get the first four check-ups free with a new VW.

The Highest Resale Value

Based on what's happened in the past, no other economy car on the road holds its value after 3 or 4 years as well as a Volkswagen. So, if you're thinking about buying a new car, think about what it's going to be worth when it's an old car. Because when the time comes to part company with your VW, you won't be left holding the bag.

Unless that's what you carry your money in.

Laver Ups Tour Margin With Win Over Rosewall

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rod Laver gained a small measure of revenge yesterday as he defeated fellow Australian Ken Rosewall 4-6, 6-2, 6-2 to win his second straight world championship tournament and boost his over-all lead in the pro court tour.

The 33-year-old Laver set a record for tennis money winnings last year of $290,091 but still lost the WCT title to Rosewall in Dallas in November. The defeat sent Laver on a 2½-month vacation in which he said he didn't touch a racket for seven weeks.

Laver returned to the tour last week in Richmond, Va., and won, and repeated here in the so-called United States Pro Tournament, unveiling the form that has earned him the reputation of the game's No. 1 superstar.

Laver earned $10,000 for his victory over Rosewall yesterday and added 10 points to his WCT total on this 12th stop of the 20-tournament tour to boost his lead over runnerup Rosewall to 20 points.

List of Victims

The 5-foot-8 Laver, who now lives in Corona Del Mar, Calif. stroked his way to the final round with victories over Bob Maud, Tony Roche, Bob Lutz and Tom Okker, losing only one set in the four matches.

Laver put all the strokes on display that have helped make him tennis' first million dollar-plus prize winner.

Except for the first set Sunday, when Rosewall broke through Laver's serve in the fourth game and went on to win 6-4, Laver was in control. He ran the 37-year-old Rosewall from sideline to sideline with forehand and backhand crosscourt shots, often dumped the ball tantalizingly over the net down the lines and pressured throughout with a serve that earned him the nickname "Rocket."

The 5-foot-7 Rosewall, who features one of the game's best backhands, advanced to the final with victories over Nikki Pilic, Roger Taylor, Marty Riessen, and Arthur Ashe. He earned $5,000 as the runnerup prize and boosted his WCT point total by seven points to 51.

Ken Loses Fourth

It was Rosewall's fourth defeat in the last six matches with Laver. This was Rosewall's first WCT tournament start of the year and his first tennis since winning the Australian Open last Christmas week.

Bottom Five Shuffled Again In Register's Top Selections

The top five teams on The Daily Register's Top 10 remained the same after a week of action, but, once again, the big shift took place among the second five.

Neptune, the winningest team in the state, knocked off

Long Branch last week to prove its superiority over Shore Conference foes.

St. Rose keeps right on rolling along at second place, while Long Branch, which beat Asbury Park last week, held onto the third spot, while the Blue Bishops remained fourth.

Manasquan, tied for the Shore Conference "C" crown with Shore Regional, is the fifth team on the ladder.

CBA is Back

Christian Brothers Academy is back on the beam, but Mater Dei almost reversed the Colts' course last week. CBA is sixth, just ahead of Keyport.

Keyport's Red Raiders had to go some to win the "D" Division crown. The Raiders proved that they were worthy of the title by defeating a sizzling Wall Township team in the final scheduled "D" game of the season.

Shore Regional's hot streak is over. The Blue Devils have lost three of their last four games, and have dropped from sixth place to eighth.

Rumson-Fair Haven Regional finds itself back on the elite list after a long absence. The Bulldogs defeated Shore over the weekend and have won four out of five games.

Henry Hudson Regional is still in 10th place. The Admirals split their two games during last week's action.

Andy Bott led the losers with 24 markers.

Porsche Audi: a division of Volkswagen.

The 914 is our idea of the perfect ski lift.

It seats two people very comfortably side by side. And it carries enough paraphernalia in its two trunks for a very long weekend.

The mid-engine design gives the car near-perfect balance. That and rack-and-pinion steering make for slalom quick handling.

With four-wheel independent suspension to smooth out the moguls (bumps!).

When the snow comes, you don't have to worry about the radiator freezing or the carburetor icing. The engine is cooled by air. And fed by electronic fuel injection.

And you don't have to worry about yourself freezing. The removable fiberglass roof shuts out the elements like a hardtop. And the heater is just short of a fireplace.

There are five forward speeds for mashing through the slush. And four-wheel disc brakes for surer stopping.

The price should be easy even for a beginner.

Change Asked On Milk Dating

TRENTON — Gov. William T. Cahill has been asked to support legislation which will replace the currently-used pasteurization date with a five-day expiration date on milk containers in New Jersey.

The request was made in a letter from James M. Neilland, executive director of New Jersey Food Council, which is working to implement open dating on perishable products sold throughout the state.

Mr. Neilland explained that several small dairies cannot afford the cost of indicating both the day of pasteurization and the "more-meaningful" shelf-life expiration date.

open dating program on milk, which comprises the bulk of their production, these small companies are declining to participate in the program on their byproducts, Mr. Neilland reported.

He said the proposed change is supported by Dr. Oscar Sussman, director of New Jersey Consumer Health Services, and by Charles J. Irwin, director of the Division of Consumer Affairs.

Gov. Cahill was urged to expedite legislative action so that shoppers throughout the state will have the full advantages offered in Phase I of the open dating program, which covers most fresh bakery and dairy products.

Film 'Cabaret' Impresses

By NORM GOLDSTEIN

NEW YORK (AP) — The movie version of "Cabaret" is offered with colorful virtuosity and a Brechtian quality that — to its credit — imbues it with a soul as well as a song.

Far from the usual image of a big, bouncy, spectacle "Hollywood" musical, "Cabaret" is more a romance-drama with music; bright song and dance playing off an underlying feel of impending doom. "Cabaret," — a 1966 Broadway hit based on Christopher Isherwood's stories and John Van Druten's play, "I Am a Camera" — is a tale of life in Germany of the early 1930s. Berlin is on the last legs of its "divine decadence," just beginning to goosetep to disaster. With gentle understatement, the film captures that 30s look and feel of the dread to come.

A leggy Liza Minelli is Sally Bowles, the Kti Kat Club singer — a flighty cuckoo of Pookie Adams ancestry; Michael York is the young English instructor who becomes her friend and lover.

Joel Grey — re-creating his Broadway role with significant improvements for film — is the sardonic master of ceremonies at the cabaret, serving as the link between the real world of Berlin and the symbolic microcosm of the club. At his bizarre best in exaggerated makeup, Gray introduces and-or performs the song-and-dance numbers which serve as a kind of Greek chorus in commenting on and complementing the storyline, from the opening "Willkommen," to the bouncy "Money" and the title song at the close.

For once, the musical numbers help rather than hinder the plot, blending rather than intruding.

Bob Fosse is director-choreographer of "Cabaret," generally succeeding at both. Juxtaposing sharp, quick cutting with a "soft" camera effect, he achieves visual-verbal balance of a theme that is alternately tender and terrifying.

There are soft spots and faults, but over-all, "Cabaret" is a most pleasant evening's entertainment.

The Daily Register incorrectly listed the Summit woman as the victim in an earlier story.

Pupils Surprise 'Picture Lady'

LINCROFT — Students in Joseph LaBach's sixth grade class at the Lincroft Elementary School turned the tables on Mrs. William Ludwig, the PTA's "Picture Lady," by teaching her art appreciation.

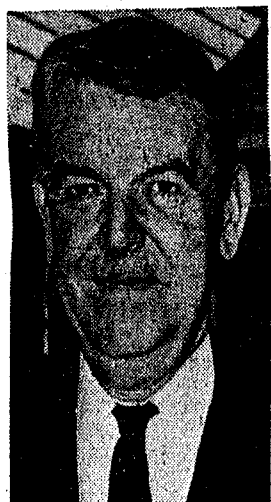

The pupils surprised Mrs. Ludwig with a presentation on cave man art, featuring murals and clay models of ancient tools and weapons.

State Wants to Put an End To Repairman's Business

By HALLIE SCHRAEGER

FREEHOLD — Armed with complaints from 16 Monmouth County consumers, the state Division of Consumer Affairs is seeking to put an end to the business of an appliance repairman who says he serves up to 50 customers a day.

The repairman — John Martin, also known as John Gilmarin of 226 Sylvania Ave., Avon — was fined $200 for contempt of court Friday by Superior Court Judge M. Raymond McGowan, who found him guilty of violating a court order directing him not to take service charges for work without completing repairs. The fine is payable by the end of this week.

Martin's attorney, Richard E. Beck of Freehold, said his client might appeal the court's ruling.

Martin, who advertises in the Yellow Pages, trades as A Automatic Appliance Service, Automatic Service, A Automatic Service, AAA Automatic Appliance Service and Whirico Whirlpool Service.

Simmill's Order

Judge McGowan found him guilty of two violations of an order of the late Superior Court Judge Elvin R. Simmill, dated March 24, 1970, by allegedly exacting service charges from consumers, promising to return to perform certain appliance service and repair work, and failing to do so.

Deputy Attorney General Thomas H. Sullivan presented testimony from three northern Monmouth County women to bolster his motion to have Martin held in contempt of court.

Mrs. Dorothy Gilbert, 71 Grand Ave., Atlantic Highlands, testified that she called A. Automatic Appliance Service in August, 1970, to repair her electric range and paid a service charge of $13.13 to the man who came to look at it.

Call Later

Mrs. Gilbert said the man told her she needed a new control box and his office would call and tell her how much it would cost.

"The only time they ever called was when I threatened to call Consumer Protection... and the Better Business Bureau," said Mrs. Gilbert, who testified she called the company's office "around eight times... over a three-month period."

She said she was told the part would cost $66, not including labor.

Mrs. Gilbert said each time she called, the woman in the office said it would take another week to 10 days and "We'll call you" — but they never called.

She said she finally gave up and called Russek Appliance Service, Fair Haven, which came in a few days and repaired her range for $28.87.

Mrs. Grace E. Murphy, 33 Jean Ter., Middletown, testified that she called Whirico Whirlpool Service to repair her washing machine in June, 1970, when she was just home from the hospital with a new baby and had two others in diapers.

She said Martin came and told her she needed a rare part, but she could use the machine in the meantime. When she did use it, "It leaked all over the floor," she said.

Mrs. Murphy testified that Martin told her he would have the part in a few days and would put it in right away.

She did not wait very long, however. The check for $13.13 paid to Martin as a service charge was dated June 11, 1970.

"I called them every day that week until June 16," she testified. "They kept telling me I would have to wait."

Another Company

On June 16, she said, she called another company, General Refrigeration Sales and Service, which fixed her machine so she could use it that day, ordered a part and installed it within nine days, all for $34.60. Martin's company had told her the part alone would cost $47.50, she said.

Mrs. Murphy testified that three days after she filed a complaint against Martin with the Better Business Bureau in Red Bank in July, 1970, she got a call from his office saying the part was in.

Judge McGowan found Martin guilty of violating the court order in those two cases.

Testimony was also heard from Miss Diane L. Harrison, 9 Branch Ave., Red Bank, but Judge McGowan dismissed that count against Martin because Miss Harrison was not present when the repairman came to her home.

A Mistake

Martin testified that the reason the other company installed a different, less expensive part from the one his company said was needed for Mrs. Gilbert's stove was that one of his employees was out on that call and "possibly, somebody made a mistake."

He testified that he did not recall telling Mrs. Murphy she could use her machine and that he had not told her he would furnish the part without further payment. However, he said, he got authorization to order the part.

"That part is on my desk. I paid for that part," he testified.

Martin said he stocks "quite a few parts," but it is not unusual to have to wait two months for a part he doesn't stock. However, he said "ordinary parts we can obtain in a week to 10 days."

Judge Angered

He angered the judge by saying he hadn't read Judge Simmill's order, which was issued by consent of both parties.

The state is acting against Martin under the New Jersey Consumer Protection Act through a complaint filed in Superior Court last month.

The complaint filed by the attorney general's office alleges that at various times in 1969, 1970 and 1971 Martin or his employees demanded and got service charges for house calls, but failed to return as promised to perform repair and service work, "rendered cursory, perfunctory, and inadequate examinations of the appliances," quoted excessive prices to discourage consumers from ordering actual repair work and "for the sole purpose of securing service call charges ranging from $11.50 to $13.65," and rendered "shoddy and unworkmanlike repair services."

Order Asked

The state demands a court order enjoining Martin from engaging in the business of home appliance repair servicing, requiring him to pay back the money he received from the 16 complainants and assessing civil penalties for each alleged violation of the Consumer Protection Act.

Judge Simmill's order came in settlement of a case involving similar complaints against Martin brought by the state in behalf of 33 dissatisfied customers.

Mrs. Gilbert and Mrs. Murphy are among the 16 customers listed in papers filed in the second complaint.

Others are Robert J. DeMund, Ft. Monmouth; Frank Flardo, Keyport; Peter Harrison and Marjorie Doody, Red Bank; Emily Marascio and Margaret Benner, Little Silver; Leonore Gonzer, Wanamassa; Mrs. Richard B. Sallee and Mrs. Thomas Hadfield, Middletown; Mrs. R. J. Shellenback, Lincroft; Mrs. S. H. Segall, Oakhurst; Herbert A. Boley, Monmouth Beach; Mrs. Rosine Carotenuto, New Monmouth, and Mrs. Frank Mulligan, West Long Branch.
