Black Caucus Head Wants Special Watergate Prober

By DORIS KULMAN

POINT PLEASANT BEACH — The chairman of the congressional Black Caucus yesterday called on President Nixon to name "an impeccably clean" special prosecutor to probe the Watergate bugging and to appoint a blue ribbon commission to thoroughly investigate it.

Any investigation by Assistant Attorney General Henry E. Petersen "will be tarnished" by Petersen's admitted friendship with top White House aides apparently involved in the scandal, Rep. Lewis Stokes, D-Ohio, told a press conference here.

Doubts Nixon

Mr. Petersen took over the investigation of the illegal wiretapping at Democratic National Headquarters after Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst withdrew. Mr. Kleindienst explained that he has had "personal and professional relationships" with some person involved in the case.

He doubts President Nixon was ingorant of the Watergate events, Rep. Stokes said at the press conference preceding his speech to the annual luncheon of the Episcopal Church Women of St. Thomas Church, Red Bank.

"It is very difficult for me to understand these kind of things happening right under the President's nose with people who are his most trusted confidantes without his having some knowledge about it," he said.

Citing the resignation of L. Patrick Gray 3d as acting director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Gray's admission that he destroyed Watergate documents, Mr. Stokes said "It is obvious that the FBI's hands were tied . . . it is apparent the Justice Department was involved . . . the Justice Department through Mitchell (former Attorney General John Mitchell) obviously told some lies . . ."

Congress Should Act

"Maybe this scandal will help Congress reassert itself," Mr. Stokes said, averring that the legislature has permitted the president to usurp some of its Constitutional prerogatives.

Responding to audience questions after his speech, Rep. Stokes said the legislature's refusal to act when the President ordered dismantling of the Congressionally-enacted anti-poverty program despite legal doubt that he has the Constitutional right to do so "is further proof that Congress has abdicated its powers."

The Black Caucus has had to take leadership in trying to save the anti-poverty program "and there is some evidence" administration officials "are about to try to reverse themselves to some degree," he said.

In his prepared speech, Mr. Stokes declared that "there are many people who would say that the Watergate scandal is the least of many criminal activities engaged in by

Say Ex-Nixon Aide Urged Bugging OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former top White House aide who says he passed a lie-detector test on the Watergate scandal is reported to have urged a speedup in the illegal bugging of Democratic national headquarters.

Charles W. Colson, once President Nixon's special counsel, also is said to have recruited young men to pose as homosexual supporters of the presidential campaign of Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D.

Colson, who repeatedly has denied any prior knowledge of illegal wiretaps or political sabotage and cited the lie-detector test as proof, is quoted as asking a colleague in February 1972: "When the hell are we going to get this bugging play approved."

The source of the new allegations, reported in Time magazine and The Washington Post, was said to be Jeb Stuart Magruder, former No. 2 man in the Nixon re-election campaign.

The Post, quoting "highly reliable sources," said Magruder has told his story to federal prosecutors. It said Frederick C. LaRue, a principal campaign deputy to former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, manager of the Nixon re-election effort, confirmed Colson made such a call to Magruder but believed the time was March, not February.

The fresh allegation came as a wide variety of public figures urged Nixon to appoint a politically independent prosecutor in the case, and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew warned that GOP election chances will suffer if Watergate is "still dangling" by the end of next year.

Although Agnew said he has total confidence in the President's determination to resolve the affair, he said that resolution must come reasonably soon because the case is "being discussed as a coverup and it's eroding confidence."

Nixon, meanwhile, spent the night at his Camp David, Md., retreat. He summoned his personal secretary, indicating his may be preparing a major announcement, and reportedly conferred with Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst.

Sources on the White House staff said presidential aides just below top rank are urging Nixon to fire a number of their superiors—including chief of staff H.R. Haldeman and chief domestic adviser John D. Ehrlichman.

Two Republican senators — Charles H. Percy of Illinois and Lowell P. Weicker Jr. of Connecticut—also increased the pressure on the President to move decisively on Watergate.

"Out, get 'em out!" Weicker said of White House aides who may be implicated.

Percy said the President must "declare inoperative" his policy of suspending such aides if indicted and firing them if convicted.

"That is simply not acceptable," Percy said as he urged Nixon to report to the nation on exactly what he knew and did not know about illegal espionage and alleged high-level attempts to cover it up.

The two senators appeared on the ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Percy said he will introduce a resolution this week empowering Nixon to appoint a special prosecutor in the case, subject to Senate confirmation.

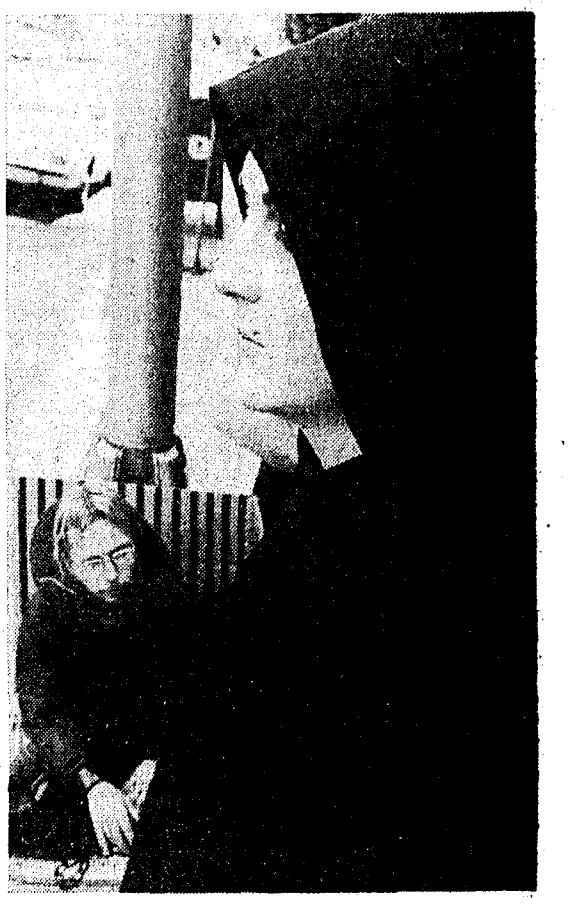

Similar calls came from Democratic governors meeting in Huron, Ohio, and from American Bar Association President Robert W. Meserve.

Speaking for himself and not the ABA, Meserve said there is good precedent for the move in President Calvin Coolidge's appointment of a special prosecutor in the Teapot Dome scandal in the 1920s.

Percy said he hopes Nixon will make his resolution unnecessary by taking the initiative and appointing himself a prosecutor of impeccable character, integrity and political independence.

Time magazine reported career lawyers in the Justice Department are urging the man now in charge of the case—Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry A. Peterson—to follow the lead of Kleindienst and disqualify himself because of the possibility he would be asked to testify if any White House aides are put on trial.

Meanwhile, Time said two convicted Watergate conspirators—former White House aides G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt—burglarized the office of Los Angeles psychiatrist Lewis Fielding after being told he had refused to give the FBI information on a patient, Daniel Ellsberg.

Byrne Has Spotlight In Democratic Race

TRENTON (AP) — With the campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nominating going into high gear this week, many observers — including several of the candidates — have their eyes on Brendan T. Byrne.

Byrne entered the campaign with a splash last week, handing Republican Gov. William T. Cahill his resignation as a Superior Court judge and then using Cahill's outer office to announce his candidacy.

Byrne, a former Essex County prosecutor and president of the Public Utility Commission, quickly picked up the endorsements of Hudson, Bergen, Sussex and Hunterdon county party leaders. Mercer County Democratic Chairman Richard J. Coffee dropped out of the race to support Byrne.

However, the three other major candidates — Assemblywoman Ann Klein of Morris County, State Sen. Ralph DeRose of Essex County and Senate Majority leader J. Edward Crabiel of Middlesex County, expect Byrne's campaign to slow down once the novelty wears off.

The three said they didn't yet know how to assess Byrne, who has never sought elective office, and Mrs. Klein said she was waiting to hear his positions on taxes, education, urban problems and the environment.

"I think he's going to have to come up with some quick positions and do some fast traveling to catch up," DeRose noted.

There had been talk when Byrne entered the race that other candidates would drop out, but so far only Coffee has. The deadline for withdrawing from the June 5 election is Wednesday.

In addition to Mrs. Klein, Crabiel and DeRose, Byrne faces two other hopefuls who are given little chance of winning — former Assemblyman Vito Albaness of Bergen County and Francis Forst, business manager of the New Jersey Turnpike Employes Association.

On the Republican side, Cahill is being challenged by Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr. of Cape May County.

Byrne plans to spend the week filling out his campaign organization.

Coffee, who has become Byrne's campaign manager, assessed the former judge's campaign this way: "Coming into the race this late, organizational politics become the all-important thing."

Nixon's Tax-Reform Program Aims at Tightening Loopholes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration today unveiled a tax-reform program that would tighten loopholes to "remove the spectacle of high-income taxpayers who pay no tax by parlaying tax deductions and exclusions."

One proposal would establish a minimum taxable income. Another would limit what the administration called "artificial accounting losses."

The package also would provide property-tax relief for the elderly, an investment tax credit for oil and gas exploration to meet the energy crisis, and a tuition credit for students in nonpublic schools.

It includes a simplified tax form called 1040s which is designed to make tax time easier for about 20 million Americans. The new form includes an over-65 credit and liberalized deductions for child care.

Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz presented the administration's long-awaited tax-reform plan to the House Ways and Means Committee, which isn't expected to act on it for several months.

The administration is not asking for a general tax increase, which Shultz said is both "unnecessary and undesirable."

The government expects to gain $800 million in tax revenue by closing the two loopholes, but would lose $1.1 billion through the other changes, including $500 million on a property-tax credit for the elderly and $400 million on tax simplification.

Shultz Cites Aim

Shultz told the committee the tax-reform measures are designed to "collect a reasonable amount of income taxes from those citizens who are not now paying a fair share of the tax burden."

The "widespread tax-shelter market introduces significant distortions into our economy," Shultz said. It also has "a dangerously demoralizing effect on the operation of our revenue system."

The minimum-taxable-income proposal would prevent a taxpayer's exclusions and deductions from offsetting more than one-half of his income. Thus, he would have to pay taxes on at least half his revenues.

Shultz said the great majority of high-income persons are responsible taxpayers, but "taxpayers who have large income and pay little or no tax do exist in limited, but significant, numbers."

The limitation on artificial accounting losses is designed to eliminate the practice of using losses from one business activity to offset earnings of another.

Shultz said that, if Congress approves the package, losses on income-producing property henceforth could only be deducted from future earnings on the property that lost money.

The loss "may not be used to offset or shelter other unrelated income of the taxpayers," Shultz said.

"Taxpayers may still purchase investments on which the income can be tax-free for substantial periods, but the tax system will no longer pay them to buy such investments," he said.

The changes apply to individuals, except for farmers. They do not apply to corporations.

Low — and middle-income elderly persons would receive a refundable credit for property-tax payments exceeding 5 per cent of household income up to a maximum $500.

Law Students to Aid In Tracking Polluters

NEWARK (AP) — The U.S. Attorney's Office and Seton Hall University School of Law have joined forces in a program that will put law students on the trail of water polluters.

U.S. Atty. Herbert J. Stern predicted that the program will allow his office to quadruple its efforts against polluters.

Selected students will work with the four assistant U.S. attorneys on Stern's 52-man staff who currently specialize in environmental law enforcement.

Dean John F. X. Irving of the law school said the students would receive four credits per semester for their work. Fulltime students normally carry 16 credits per semester, and need 84 to graduate.

Z. Lance Samay, an assistant U.S. attorney who heads the environmental enforcement squad, said he expected the program to be well under way within three months.

About 10 students are expected to be in the program at its start.

The students must pay interviews by both the law school and Stern's office, and then be screened by federal investigative agencies.

Stern explained that the students will do the spadework to track down polluters who are discharging wastes into navigable waters without a federal permit.

Polluters must apply to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for the permits under the terms of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act amendments passed in October, 1972.

That legislation grants polluters who apply for permits immunity until 1975 from the refuse Act of 1899.

The Refuse Act was the law under which Stern's office filed several major environmental suits last year. Stern said the amendments have restricted his environmental enforcement powers in some respects.

But he said the additional manpower from Seton Hall would give his office the capability of paying more attention to pollution.

Stern said his office has in the past hired a half-dozen law students as interns during the summer between their second and third years, but he said this was the first year-round program involving students. They will not be paid.

A Time for Golfers; A First for Keyport

The golfers' season, which comes into full bloom with Daylight Saving Time, is here. In acknowledging that, The Register's sports editor, Chuck Triblehorn, has a "special" for them.

Newcomers to the area will be especially enlightened by the stories which describe what Monmouth County has to offer in the way of links, instruction and club facilities. They'll appear in a tabloid being prepared for tomorrow's editions.

A first for Keyport. That's what will be happening Wednesday night when the borough's Historical Society goes "back to the good old days" with a stage show and movie in the Strand Theater, the name of which will be changed for the night to "The Surf," its original name.

Bette Spero has written a delightful story about the benefit performance, which actually will be a tribute to the late Juanita Hall, star of "South Pacific" and other great productions who was a Keyport native.

It will appear in tomorrow's Daily Register, Northern Monmouth County's largest newspaper and Monmouth County's most interesting newspaper.

Black Caucus Head Wants Special Watergate Prober

this administration. After all, what is worse? To bug Democratic headquarters or to try to dismantle the poverty program? To hide a million dollars in campaign funds or to impound an average of $11 billion dollars every year for Congressionally-approved programs? To send yourself congratulatory telegrams about mining Haiphong Harbor or to actually mine Haiphong Harbor?"

Rep. Stokes said that under the Nixon administration "the number of poor people increased for the first time in a decade" while "industry enjoyed a 19 per cent windfall in profits," the civil rights gains of the sixties were eroded, and "our national priorities still have nothing to do with the needs of black, poor and disadvantaged Americans."

"The President's 1974 budget takes away $10 billion from the people who need it most" and gives almost half of that amount to the defense industry, Mr. Stokes said.

"The budget takes $1.5 billion away from elementary and secondary education and spends it instead on a Trident submarine. It transfers $200 million in child nutrition funds to the purchase of SAM-D missiles. It cuts health training and education programs by $86 million and then allocates that money to the Air Force for research and development.... takes $34 million out of the budget for libraries in exchange for $38 million worth of helicopters for the personal use of the President and his family."

Favors Big Business

The budget also "gives $19 billion to industry in tax welfare," Mr. Stokes declared. He said that while the administration labes a 6 per cent wage increase for workers "inflationary," executives of some giant corporations get raises exceeding 200 per cent last year.

The President wants to spend about $7 billion to restore North Vietnam, but last month vetoed a $2.6 billion bill to provide vocational training for the handicapped, Rep. Stokes said.

He said the Air Force wants to build 30 production models of a new F-14 jet fighter, with eventual total production of 747 planes at a cost of 117.8 billion. The plane is being advertised just like the F-111-B, which cost several billion dollars and "it couldn't even get off the ground," the Congressman said.

Looking at Watergate "from the black perspective, Rep. Stokes reminded his audience that "there wasn't any talk about an investigation, there wan't any talk about indictments" when the late J. Edgar Hoover, former FBI director, revealed that he had "bugged" the telephones and hotel rooms of the late Dr. Martin Luther King and other black leaders.

"Bugging isn't a problem until they're bugging white people," he said, "just as drugs and crime weren't problems until they spilled over from the inner city into the white suburbs."

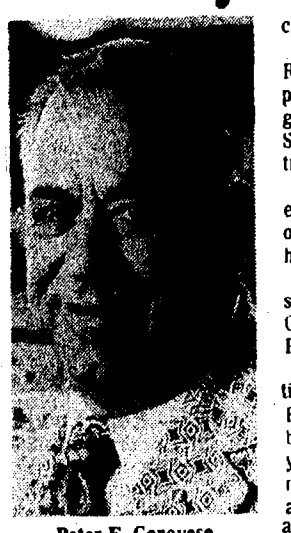

Genovese Is Honored For Service by Rotary

RED BANK — Peter E. Genovese of Holmdel was honored by the Rotary Club at a dinner in the Molly Pitcher Inn Saturday night when he became a Paul Harris Fellow, an award given by Rotary International to its most distinguished members.

Lyman Peck, past district governor of Rotary, presented Mr. Genovese with a plaque and pin before more than 250 Rotarians and friends who attended.

Mr. Genovese was lauded by speakers for his contributions to the community, especially his fund raising efforts for the club's annual scholarship awards to area students.

Included in the evening's program was entertainment, "This Is Your Life," presented by Dr. Leonard Danzig. Mr. Genovese's early life as a Monmouth County farm boy was recalled when a note arrived from his former school teacher, Miss Anna Brasch of Middletown, the only teacher he ever had in a one-room school house.

Peter E. Genovese

Toastmaster of the evening was Rotary president Dr. J. Alvin Parker.

The main speaker was Arthur West, president of the N.J. Farm Bureau, who works with Mr. Genovese in his capacity as president of the Farmers and Gardeners Association, Holmdel.

Chairman of the dinner was Roger J. Fitzsimmons, vice president of Rotary. Dr. Morgan P. Colio and Edward Strauss were in charge of tickets.

Melvin Lowenstein presented a silver tray to Mrs. Genovese for her support of her husband and Rotary.

In addition, Dan Dondi led a singing program featuring Dr. Colio, Frank Pingatore, Dr. Parker and Mr. Lowensteing.

Mr. Genovese, is semi-retired as president of Crate's Beverages here, He and his brother purchased the firm 26 years ago. He has been a member of Rotary since 1948 and was president in 1958. In addition; he is a past president of the Red Bank Chamber of Commerce; a member of Holmdel's Board of Education and Planning Board; a director of the N.J. Soft Drink Association; member of the N.J. Migrant Labor Board and the Farm Bureau; a Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, and a UNICAN.

Tax-Reform Plan Unveiled

Equivalent relief would be provided for elderly renters, with the credit based on the amount of rent assessed by the landlord to pay his property taxes. Usually this is about 15 per cent of rent, the administration said.

The elderly, as well as working mothers, also would benefit from the proposed simplified tax form.

A taxpayer over 65 would receive a special credit. From a $1,500 base amount, the taxpayer would deduct Social Security and railroad retirment benefits and could subtract 15 per cent of the difference from his tax bill.

The age credit would replace the complex retirement-income credit and would result in an over-all tax reduction for the elderly of about $200 million.

The new form also provides a deduction for all child-care expenses up to $4,800 a year or to the equivalent of the earned income of the lesser compensated spouse, whichever is smaller.

The deduction would be phased out on a dollar-for-dollar basis form incomes in excess of $22,800. There would be a revenue loss to the government of less than $200 million.

Proposed Form 1040S also would streamline deductions by providing a miscellaneous-deduction allowance of $500 for every taxpayer who itemizes deductions.

Not everyone would qualify for Form 1040S, Shultz said, but it would benefit "the more than 20 million taxpayers with simple family and financial transactions."

Shultz said the form should make it possible for the average taxpayer to compute his tax without professional help.

"We believe there is overwhelming need for major simplification of our tax system and propose to provide it," he said. "The burgeoning complexity of the existing system seriously threatens its effective operation."

Tuition Tax Credit

The tax credit for nonpublic school tuition would apply to 50 per cent of the tuition paid to nonprofit schools up to a maximum credit of $200 per child. The credit, which would be refundable, would be phased out for families earning above $18,000.

The proposal, which already is included in the administration's 1974 budget, would cost the government about $300 million.

The proposed investment credit for exploratory drilling for oil and gas is designed to encourage domestic exploration "for which there is critical need," Shultz said.

He said a driller of a new exploratory well could claim a 7-per-cent investment credit for his intangible drilling cost plus an allowance for geological and geophysical expenses.

There would be a supplementary credit of 5 per cent against the first tax due if the exploratory well is productive.

Madison Man Also Seeks GOP Assembly Nomination

FREEHOLD — William J. Wynne, Old Bridge, Madison Township, has also filed in the June 5th primary for an Assembly nomination in District 12 (Bayshore) as a "Republican Regular."

Mr. Wynne will try to defeat "Regular Republicans" Dr. Michael Arnone, a Red Bank councilman, and Richard A. Cooper, a Madison Township councilman, for the GOP nomination for one of the two seats to be decided in the November election.

Running unopposed for the Democratic nominations for the two Bayshore Assembly seats are Madison Township Mayor William E. Flynn and Richard Van Wagner, Middletown.

Filing as an independent for election to the Bayshore's State Senate seat in November is Assemblyman Peter P. Garibaldi, R-Middlesex.

He will run against Assemblyman Eugene J. Bedell, D-Mon., and incumbent State Sen. Joseph Azzolina, R-Mon., who are running unopposed for their party's nominations.

There will be a Republican primary fight in the 10th district (Coastal) since Joseph T. Erbe, 414 Washington Ave., Spring Lake, filed against incumbent Assemblymen Brian T. Kennedy, R-Mon., of Belmar, and Joseph T. Robertson, R-Mon., Spring Lake Heights.

The Democrats will have a five way battle for the nominations for the two Assembly seats in the Coastal District.

The candidates endorsed by the Democratic organization are Mrs. Gertrude Berman, a Long Branch councilwoman, and William P. Fitzpatrick, a Point Pleasant councilman. Also filing for the Democratic nomination was Evelyn Karcher Graff, 18 Washington Ave., Spring Lake.

Mrs. Graff slogan is "Democrat against corruption, busing and income tax."

Also filing for the Coastal Democratic assembly nomination was Dr. Edward J. Lueddeke, an Optometrist from Spring Lake.

Teachers To Weigh Salary Offer

LONG BRANCH — Representatives of City teachers will meet with Neil Rothman, president of the Long Branch Education association, tomorrow to study a $270,500 salary package offered by the Board of Education.

Mr. Rothman last night said tomorrow's session will determine if the representatives go back to their respective schools and recommend approval of the pay package offer.

He said the offer involves an "average" pay hike of $838 per teacher. That figure, he added, is not an across-the-board pay increase — it is an average figure set by the amount offered.

The new contract, Mr. Rothman said, would establish a teachers' pay guide ranging from $8,400 to $14,480. He added that he is drafting a table of salary steps under terms of the offer.

Mr. Rothman denied a report that teachers are expected to ratify the offer.

"It is not quite that simple," he said. "I cannot be expected to predict what the teachers will do or will not do. I do hope for a firm vote on the issue within two weeks," he said.

The LBEA and the school board have been negotiating since last autumn. A mediator from the state Public Employment Relations Commission was unable to bring about an agreement.

The teachers' unit then declared a stalemate in order to get a state fact finder to enter the talks.

Mr. Rothman said that there are still several other issues — other than money — to be considered. He declined to spell out what these issues are.

Teacher Pacts Denied

HAZLET — Three teachers who have gained tenure this year were not offered teaching contracts for the 1973-74 school year.

Two of the teachers, identified by Board of Education secretary Robert G. Havens as Mrs. Mary Haberle and Miss Sandra Murren, teach in elementary schools.

The third teacher was identified as Gary Schadewald, a high school science teacher.

All other staff positions for the coming year were confirmed when board members meeting in special session Saturday night, approved contracts and adopted terms and conditions of employment with the Hazlet Teachers Association and the Hazlet Administrators Association.

With the exception of one secretarial position, that held by Mrs. Estelle Gaeta, all members of the secretarial and clerical staff were rehired.

Board president John T. Yannuzzi said contracts averaged approximately five per cent in increases for district employes.

Board members set May 17 as the date of a hearing in connection with expulsion proceedings against a student allegedly involved in an altercation with a teacher.

Marlboro Purchase Plan For Utilities Held Invalid

FREEHOLD — Marlboro Township has lost in its bid to obtain a court order directing four utility companies to sell their plants to the township at prices established 10 years ago.

Marlboro sought to buy the Central Jersey Water Co., the Central Jersey Sewerage Co., the Pinebrook Sewer Co., Inc., and the Village Water Co. at the prices fixed in 1963.

Superior Court Judge Merritt Lane Jr. held that since the state Board of Public Utility Commissioners (PUC) had not approved this aspect of the agreements, the court could not compel the utility companies to perform under the 1963 agreements.

Judge Lane said the PUC declined to rule on the fixed price aspect and that this must be viewed as an implied disapproval. The judge noted that the PUC spoke in strong terms against the fixed-proce provisions.

Marlboro had entered into agreements that gave it a 10-year option to purchase. The selling price of the water companies was to be based on $450 per home connected and the selling price of the sewerage companies, $295.

When the companies refused to comply with the agreement, Marlboro sued.

The PUC approved the franchises for the utilities but said in each of the four petitions that it could not test the reasonableness of the price provision. The PUC said the price may have a direct affect upon the services provided by the companies and they may be discouraged from making improvments because of the fixed price.

Marlboro apparently wanted to acquire the four companies at the 1963 prices rather than have to buy them at prevailing market value which would be established either by negotiation or condemnation proceedings.

Weather: Sunny

Partly sunny today, high in low 60s. Increasing cloudiness with chance of rain developing tonight and continuing tomorrow. Low tonight in upper 40s. High tomorrow in mid 50s. Wednesday mostly cloudy and mild, chance of showers.

In Long Branch, yesterday's high temperature was 60 and the low, 47 degrees. It was 57 at 6 p.m. and the overnight low was 40. Today's 7 a.m. temperature was 44.

A winter-like storm developed in the northern Rockies early today as unseasonably cold air spun light snows from Wyoming into the Black Hills of South Dakota.

Stockmen's and travelers' advisories were posted in the region. The snow became mixed with rain or turned to rain at lower elevation.

Showers and thunderstorms were scattered from the northern Rockies and the Great Basin to the Ohio Valley.

Most other regions enjoyed fair skies with the exception of the central Pacific coast, where gale warnings were issued for the coast of northern California as northerly winds approached 80 miles per hour.

Sandbagging operations along the Illinois and Missouri shores of the Mississippi let up yesterday as flood waters began to recede slowly.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 25 at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., to 73 at Brownsville and Corpus Christi, Tex.

To Weigh Transplant Of Clams

STAFFORD TOWNSHIP — The N.J. Shellfisheries Council tonight will weigh the possibility of transplanting clams in Monmouth County's condemned waters to upolluted waters, either in Monmouth or Ocean County.

Two transplant plans will be considered at a meeting tonight in Stafford Township Hall, starting at 8 p.m.

One plan, proposed by Monmouth and Ocean clammers led by Robert Schnabel of Red Bank, holds that Monmouth County clams should be transplanted to the Forked River-Barnegat Bay area.

Another proposal comes from the Baymen's Association of Highlands, headed by Highlands Mayor James T. White. The Baymen suggest transfer of clams from condemned waters of Monmouth County to a non-condemned area of Sandy Hook Bay.

Merchants To Get Tips

EATONTOWN — Local merchants will have a chance to hear expert advice on bad checks and shoplifting during a program sponsored by the Eatontown Police Department at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Borough Hall.

Police Chief William Zadorozny has announced that representatives of the Federal Bureau of Investigation will discuss the problem of bad checks. In addition, the chief of security of Bamberger's here will present a program on shoplifting. The police chief has urged all Eatontown merchants to attend.

Decision Due in 3 Months On Expressway Alignment

By JIM McCORMICK

NEW BRUNSWICK — The final alignment of the 38-mile N.J. Turnpike spur from South Brunswick to Toms River is expected to be finalized within three months so that construction can begin by November.

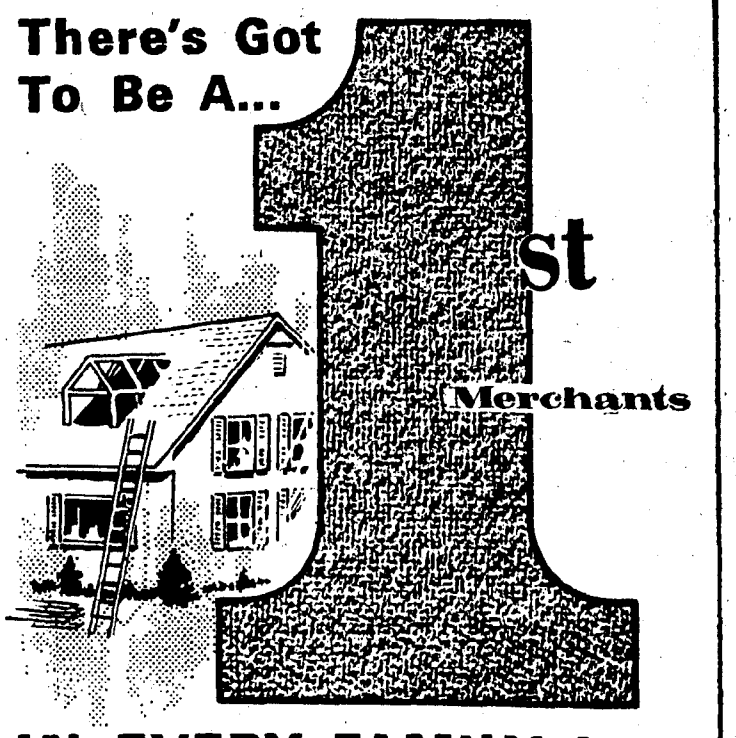

Gov. William T. Cahill's approval last week of the environmental impact studies on the tentative "yellow" route has given the authority's engineers the "green light" to proceed with the spur's design work.

"However, they (property owners) are being advised that the present studies are of a broad preliminary nature and the location of the survey stakes or soil boring tests does not necessarily indicate that the highway would be constructed at those locations," according to a Turnpike Authority spokesman.

Howard Heydon, chief turnpike engineer, said that 1,000 property owners have been notified, but that only 600 to 700 properties will be required for the spur.

Mr. Heydon said property owners have been notified in Monroe, Manalapan, Freehold, Jackson, Manchester and Dover Townships. The spur, which is slated for completion in two years, will be constructed through portions of Middlesex, Monmouth and Ocean Counties.

The spur will run from the turnpike in South Brunswick to the Garden State Parkway in Toms River. It is designed to relieve traffic to the shore areas.

Rogers to Face Indochina Quiz

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State William P. Rogers appears before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today in the face of mounting congressional concern over continued fighting in Indochina.

During his last appearance, in February, Rogers expressed administration confidence that the Jan. 27 Vietnam cease-fire agreement would be observed.

Within the past two weeks, however, the United States and North Vietnam have formally accused each other of violating the agreement; U.S. bombers have intensified strikes in Cambodia, and the White House has announced that Henry A. Kissinger will return to Paris for talks seeking "strict implementation" of the accord.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee released on Friday a staff report on stepped-up U.S. bombing in Cambodia. The study concluded that the United States is "far more deeply and directly involved in the conduct of the war in Cambodia than ever before."

The report disclosed a daily average of 58 B52 bombing sorties beginning March 16, three times the rate of the first two weeks in March, and an average of 184 tactical and gunship sorties daily.

Wounded Knee Buildings Burn

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. — A fire late last night destroyed the trading post and burned some smaller buildings here, an Interior Department spokesman said.

Thomas Oxendine, director of communications for the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA), said the trading post was the largest building in the beseiged village. He said he could not identify the smaller buildings that were burned.

Federal forces surrounding Wounded Knee, which has been occupied by militant Indians since Feb. 27, did not know the cause of the fire, Oxendine said.

The trading post, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Clive Gildersleeve, served as a sleeping quarters and gathering place for most of the militant members of the American Indian Movement (AIM) occupying the village.

An anticipated meeting between the government's chief negotiator and AIM leaders failed to come off earlier yesterday, and a federal spokesman said the government is losing patience with the insurgents.

Wage-Price Controls May Expire

WASHINGTON — Wage-price controls die at midnight unless Congress agrees today on a compromise bill to extend presidential authority to regulate the economy.

If that authority is to be renewed for one year, both houses must act on the controls bill. But the Senate-floor route has been blocked by maneuvering over a postcard-voter-registration bill.

A minority of Southern and conservative senators has stalled the registration bill, sponsored by Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo. A vote to close off debate on the registration bill was set for this afternoon.

However, McGee, according to aides, will not budge from his position of holding off wage-price action until he gets a final vote on his measure. He had blocked action on the controls bill when Congress recessed 10 days ago.

Meanwhile, there was apprehension over what might happen if President Nixon's largely voluntary Phase 3 controls are allowed to lapse.

"In just one day prices could go up and they would be very, very difficult to roll back," says Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

But other congressmen suggested that meat prices — which cannot exceed a ceiling ordered by Nixon — could be rolled back if raised, should presidential control authority expire. Mandatory controls also affect the food, construction and health-care industries.

Psychiatrist to File Affidavit

LOS ANGELES — Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist was to file an affidavit today about a 1971 burglary of his office records with the Pentagon papers trial judge who says he has been told there is a possible link between the break-in and the Watergate case.

Although defense spokesmen have declined to name the doctor, Time magazine said yesterday that he was Lewis Fielding of Beverly Hills.

Ellsberg, 42, and Anthony J. Russo, 36, former researchers for government projects, are being tried on espionage, conspiracy and theft charges for copying the top secret Pentagon study of the Vietnam war in 1969.

On Friday, U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne, who is hearing the trial, disclosed a possible link between the trial and the Watergate case.

Byrne said he had been told that the burglary of the psychiatrist's office had been carried out by E. Howard Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy, convicted conspirators in the Watergate bugging incident.

Hunt was a White House consultant at the time, and Liddy served as liaison between the White House and the FBI.

Time said Liddy and Hunt burglarized Fielding's office Sept. 3, 1971. "They had been hired to trace the leak of the Pentagon papers," the magazine said.

Because the burglary was alleged to have been committed by former White House aides, defense attorneys were considering asking that the government indictments against Ellsberg and Russo be dropped.

Couple Weighs Suit After Raid

COLLINSVILLE, Ill. — A man and his wife who were terrorized in their bedroom by federal agents say they will decide today whether to file criminal charges against members of a narcotics squad who have admitted they raided the wrong address.

"Imagine how horrible it was to have my wife having to watch me beg for my life," said Herbert Giglotto, a 29-year-old Collinsville boilermaker, of the raid last Monday night.

He and his 28-year-old wife, Louise, said yesterday they would meet with their attorney today in St. Louis.

Another couple victimized by a similar raid the same night at their home a few miles north of the Giglottos' apartment filed a $100,000 damage suit Wednesday in U.S. District Court in Springfield.

Donald Askew, 40, and his wife, Virginia, 37, said that, as in the raid the same night on the Giglotto apartment, agents did not show search warrants but simply smashed through doors.

St. Louis officials of the federal Drug Abuse Enforcement Program have declined comment.

But Myles J. Ambrose, director of the program and a special assistant attorney general, said yesterday that an investigation is being conducted.

SHE'S A PUZZLEMENT — Joseph Scherer, left, past commodore and member of board of governors of Shrewsbury River Yacht Club, Fair Haven, and Henry Runyon, also a board member, puzzle over a female mallard's choice of nesting spots — along main passageway to their club. She was startled when members started showing up for summer season. They were startled, too.

Crisis Confronts Yacht Club: Nesting Mallard Won't Yield

FAIR HAVEN — The mallard mama set undisturbed on her 13 eggs in the cement flower urn on the long dock of the Shrewsbury River Yacht Club, nesting securely in the spring sunshine with her fine feathered mate swimming nearby in the river.

She was undisturbed, that is, until last week when yacht club members first unlocked the gate to the dock in order to spruce up their landmark clubhouse, set on pilings in midriver, for the summer season.

Then the gentle mallard became distraught. Suddenly she found herself next to the flow of besneakered traffic to the clubhouse. The activity on the passageway sent her flying off to the river below, leaving her eggs unprotected.

Little could she know that club members also were distraught and were genuinely concerned for her well being. Certainly they would postpone planting geraniums in her comfortable urn. But they also wanted to help settle her nerves and, perhaps, move the female duck to a more secluded spot . . .

"We really didn't know what to do," says Mrs. Robert Lloyd Jr. of Rumson, wife of last year's club commodore, who was to have planted geraniums in the decorative urn.

"Finally, after we had gotten a lot of advice, we moved the urn a few feet each day away from the walkway," says Mrs. Lloyd. "Do you know that mallard would come right back to where the urn had been and stomp around. One day she was walking in wet paint . . ."

"Anyway, the club opens officially on Saturday," she continues. "So we're going to post a sign warning members not to disturb her. Also, the men are creating some sort of shield to put around the urn. And, next year, we're going to move the urn away from the passageway altogether."

Mrs. Lloyd says that duck eggs take 28 days to hatch. According to members' calculations, baby mallards should appear sometime next week after the club opens.

Right now the dappled female is still nesting, though somewhat warily, in the yacht club's urn. How she will maneuver her new ducklings remains to be seen — by the whole salty, maternal fleet of the Shrewsbury River Yacht Club.

YACHT CLUB'S MAMA — This female mallard sits on 13 eggs in decorative urn on main passageway at Shrewsbury River Yacht Club, Fair Haven. She didn't figure on club opening next Saturday — and members didn't figure on tiptoeing past a mother duck to get to their boats.

Arbitration Plea Denied By Court

FREEHOLD — The Middletown Township Education Association was told by a Superior Court judge it could not seek arbitration to resolve a dispute it has with the school board concerning a vacancy for a department chairman position at the Thorne Junior High School.

Judge Merritt Lane Jr. said the matter was not a proper subject for grievance in accordance with the contract between the teachers and the school board because there was no factual dispute involved.

The teachers had sought to go to binding arbitration in their attempt to have the school board fill the position which has been vacant for about a year.

Representing the teachers, Peter S. Falvo Jr. of West Long Branch argued that the teachers feel that the position should be filled and that the board's action in not filling it affects their employment.

Peter P. Kalac of Middletown, representing the school board, said the school board was not obligated to fill the position, adding that the board fulfilled its obligation by posting the vacancy bulletin board and considering applicants for the post of language arts department chairman.

Judge Lane noted that the dispute between the teachers and the school board did not involve an interpretation or application of the contract. The judge declined to express an opinion whether or not this matter could proceed before the state Commissioner of Education.

MODERN MOTHERS MEET

UNION BEACH — The Modern Mothers Social Club will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Vincent Lamano, 318 Bayview Ave.

Health Planning Unit To Elect Tomorrow

EATONTOWN — The Monmouth County Comprehensive Health Planning Association will sponsor a public meeting to elect a 30-member advisory board tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Monmouth Shopping Center civic auditorium.

Under federal legislation enacted seven years ago, the association will be responsible for the planning and approval of all health services in the county which receive federal money.

The federal law says that 51 per cent of the advisory committee members must be consumers of health services. The balance of the board is to be made up of providers of health services—medical groups, hospitals, insurance companies, nursing homes, health agencies—and representatives of government, industry, and labor.

About 20 per cent of the members must be representatives of the poor or minority groups.

Tomorrow night's meeting is open to all county residents aged 18 or older.

The county association is part of a six-county planning group called the Central New Jersey Comprehensive Health Planning Council. Other member counties are Somerset, Ocean, Hunterdon, Mercer and Middlesex.

Eighteen of the board members elected tomorrow will be named to the board of directors of the Central N.J. Health Planning Council.

The Central N.J. Comprehensive Health Planning Agency will become operative on July 1, when it will begin assessing health care resources in the six-county area, and decide on a priority of needs.

It will review all proposals for extending health care programs or facilities or beginning new ones.

The Central N.J. Comprehensive Health Planning Agency will begin with a budget of $150,000 a year. Fifty per cent of the total sum will be in federal funds and the rest will be raised in each of the six counties. Each county board of freeholders has voted $6,000.

The Monmouth County Comprehensive Health Planning Association was organized amid a lively physician-chiropractor battle 18 months ago.

At the first meeting to elect, a six-member temporary organizing committee in September, 1971, the medical fraternity didn't show up. The chiropractic fraternity did—and all three representatives of providers of health services elected were chiropractors.

The state Health Planning Council, which was to oversee the whole process, stepped into the fray, declared that having all three representatives of the providers of health services from the same profession wasn't broad-based representation as required by the federal guidelines, and voided the election.

A month later, with a crowd of 500—five times the first meeting—overflowing the civic auditorium, representatives of a health agency, a hospital, and the county medical society were elected. Not one chiropractor was nominated.

Chelsea School Funds Reported in Budget

LONG BRANCH — Assemblyman Eugene J. Bedell, D-Monmouth, disclosed Saturday night that budgetary "fine print" has allowed Gov. William T. Cahill to keep the $500,000 item for the Chelsea School here, in the current state budget. The school serves teen-agers who have some history of drug abuse.

Mr. Bedell made the announcement to the Long Branch Division of the United Civic and Taxpayers Organization at its installation dinner in the Rum Runner restaurant, Sea Bright.

The assemblyman said he was able to get 11 budget subcommittee votes for deletion of the funds from the budget. He added, however, that some "fine print" in it allowed the governor to apply surplus funds from last year's appropriations to the school's current budget.

Mr. Bedell estimated that the therapeutic treatment center will serve about 150 day students this year and about 50 resident students.

He also told the taxpayers' group that he does not condemn the drug treatment program. He said he is critical of the location and the "waste of money" in attempting to rebuild the former Star of the Sea Academy to initiate "the governor's pet project."

Service Station Chain Loses Supply Bid

FREEHOLD — A small service station chain in Monmouth and Ocean Counties says it will have to go out of business unless it can continue to be supplied with gasoline from Crown Central Petroleum Corp.

Octane Petroleum Co. Inc., which has nine stations in the two counties, was unsuccessful in its bid to get a temporary court order requiring Crown Central, its supplier for the past 20 years, to continue the supply.

Superior Court Judge Merritt Lane Jr., in declining to issue the temporary injunction, said Octane had failed to meet the burden required for a court to take the drastic action of issuing an injunction.

The judge noted that the issues were difficult to decide: if he granted Octane's request, Crown Central could be forced to breach its supply agreements with its own stations and if he denied Octane's request, it could go out of business.

The judge said he will hear oral testimony at final hearing to resolve the matter. No date was fixed for the hearing.

"If the injunction is not granted," Asbury Park attorney Benjamin Edelstein told the court, "we will suffer. It means death to the business, bankruptcy."

Crown ended its 20-year contract with Octane in October. Since that time it has been selling gasoline to Octane on a "spot basis."

As of April 15, Crown discontinued sales to all "spot basis" customers, including Octane.

Judge Lane noted that a contract Octane had with Crown had expired last October and that Crown had not made any promises concerning supply to Octane when it began buying gasoline on a spot purchase basis.

Crown produces about two per cent of its crude oil requirements and relies on other suppliers for the balance of its needs, he continued, adding that Crown owes more than 65 million gallons of gasoline to other companies in exchange for the crude oil it has received.

Judge Lane said Octane failed to establish that it made concerted efforts to obtain gasoline from other sources and there was no evidence that Crown deliberately sought to curtail competition.

Shortage Predicted

The approaching gasoline shortage has been in the public eye for some time, said Judge Lane, adding that it seemed odd that Octane now says that it was not aware that Crown might have to reduce its supply and in the absence of a written contract, might stop altogether.

Octane has no right to compel Crown to break its contracts nor does it have the right to demand that it receive its previous quota or an equal amount to that of Crown's contracted stations, he said.

Mr. Edelstein maintained that Crown was obligated to continue to supply Octane with gasoline until Octane could make a reasonable substitution and that if it could not, then Crown would be obligated to continue the supply.

The attorney maintained that Octane had helped establish Crown gasoline and now that Crown has its own stations it has decided to push Octane out.

Edwin C. Landis Jr. of Newark, representing Crown, said that Crown had decided before the shortage to establish its own stations rather than to rely only on distributors. The shortage of products did not occur until early this year, he said.

He added that if the shortage ends and if Crown wants to remain in business, it will have to establish outlets for spot sales because it can't build stations fast enough.

There are no reasons why Crown wants to stop doing business with Octane or with the 20 others except that there is no gasoline to sell, said Mr. Landis.

He said if Crown were required to furnish gasoline to spot distributors, such as Octane, it could not meet its obligations to its own stations.

Woman Dies After Car Hits Trees

OCEAN TOWNSHIP — A 53-year-old Asbury Park woman died Saturday morning after the car she was driving struck three trees in succession on Wickapecko Drive.

Police report that Dorothy F. Hudson, 1004 Fourth Ave., Asbury Park, died in Jersey Shore Medical Center, Neptune tune, three hours after the car she was driving slammed into three trees at 8:11 a.m.

Police said the vehicle was northbound when it veered to the left side of the road. The cause of the accident has not been determined.

Investigating officers are Patrolmen Robert Swannack and Joseph Torchia.

Monmouth College Honors 'Front Man'

WEST LONG BRANCH — Monmouth College's Al Davis was given a surprise and special honor at the Student Government Association awards dinner this year.

Deans, the institution's senior administrators and academic department heads shot to their feet to give the startled recipient a standing ovation, then followed with a thunderous burst of applause as outgoing student president Harold McCullough presented him the SGA Humanitarian Award "for continuous efforts to promote friendship and happiness among the college community members."

Davis (no one but Mrs. Davis ever calls him by his given name, Aldean) is Monmouth's "front man." He's the neatly uniformed, invariably smiling, sentry who — each weekday between 8 and 4 — guards the college's Cedar Ave. gate, and, in the guarding, serves as an ex-officio welcoming committee of one.

Warm, Helpful

As the college president, Dr. Richard J. Stonesifer, puts it: "Davis is what we'd like the public to find everyone representing Monmouth to be — a warm, helpful and understanding friend."

The Cedar Ave. gate is the visitors' entrance, so Davis spends a good bit of his time giving directions, distributing passes to the guest parking lot and generally conveying the impression that he's glad the newcomer is paying campus call. "I like everyone who comes here to feel really welcome," he explains.

Cedar Ave. also is the VIP approach to the college — the one through which the president and most of the college's other top officers drive. Davis has a special greeting for each one — sometimes a wave, sometimes — as in the case of Monmouth vice president Edward T. Soriano ("I love that man!") — a special salute.

A 'Stopper'

Some drive on through. Others — unless there's an auto waiting behind — stop to chat. Dr. Stonesifer is one of the stoppers. "Unless I've had a few words with Davis in the morning," he says, "I don't feel the day's officially begun."

A native of Atlanta, Ga., where he and his wife were married in 1946 by the father of the late Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., Davis, his wife Annie Grace (a caterer, who doesn't like to cook, but "does" some of the shore area's poshest parties), and their son Stoney, who is completing work for a master's degree at Chico State College in California, came to New Jersey 22 years ago.

Davis joined the Monmouth family only three years ago, after serving a 14-year chauffering stint for B. J. Grad, the architect who designed the new College Center under construction on campus. It wasn't he, however, who pointed Davis to his present post. It was a nephew, a patrolman on the Long Branch police force, who heard of the opening and suggested Davis apply for it. "He knew," says Davis, "that I liked kids.

Regular Assignment

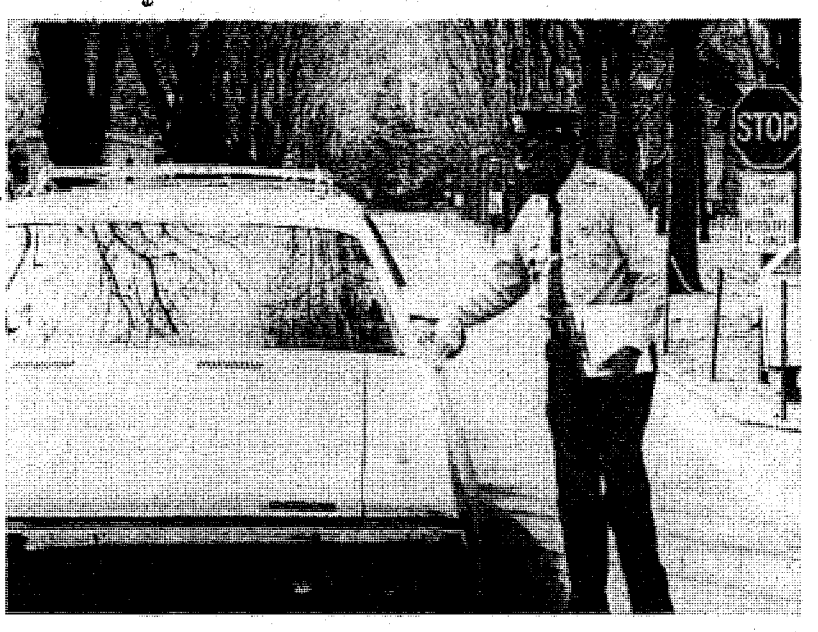

"I came, saw Mr. Soriano, was hired and have been here ever since." Only for the last year, however, has he been assigned regularly to the visitors' gate. "I have Mr. Muzzi (Frank C. Muzzi, director of the campus police department) to thank for that," says Davis. "He thought I was right for the post and put me on it fulltime."

Davis knows most of them, and manages to keep track of what they're doing and how they're doing in their studies, because — as he explains — "I know how important education is."

"Sometimes the students get discouraged; I see them dragging through the gates, not smiling, not wanting much to talk. I say, 'Hey, what's the matter?' Sometimes they tell me it's just too hard. All the studying. They don't think they'll ever make it. I just tell them to hang in there; they'll get through if they try.

"We talk a little bit. And, you know, most times they perk up. And lots of times when they come back down the drive later, they'll stop and thank me.

"'Davis,' they tell me, 'you made my day perfect!' And you know that makes my day perfect, too."

WELCOMING COMMITTEE OF ONE — Monmouth College's "Davis" welcomes visitors to Monmouth College at his post as guard at the institution's Cedar Ave. gate. His manner rated him Student Government Association's Humanitarian Award.

Peace Group Plans to Initiate Suit Against Police, Township Officials

MIDDLETOWN — People's Coalition for Peace and Justice (PCPJ) members plan to file a complaint in Superior Court, Freehold, today seeking punitive and compensatory action against the state Policemen's Benevolent Association (PBA), Police Chief Joseph M. McCarthy and the township for actions which allegedly took place in the public library April 6.

That was the date when George Merritt of Plainfield, a black man whose conviction in the stomping death of a Plainfield policeman was overturned by the state Supreme Court, was to have spoken here.

He was prevented from speaking, allegedly because of disruption by PBA members from throughout the state, and alleged failure of Chief McCarthy to maintain order.

In the suit to be filed today, PCPJ spokesman Joseph A. Rogers said his organization will also seek a restraining order to prevent any illegal actions from taking place Saturday when George Merritt has been rescheduled for another talk, this time in the First Unitarian Church of Monmouth County, Lincroft.

Today's suit will charge conspiracy with intent to disrupt the April 6 meeting, Mr. Rogers said.

But he emphasized that the main purpose will be to get a restraining order "so that George Merritt may speak without the violence intended by the PBA."

He said PCPJ is asking that Chief McCarthy be required to enforce the law so that order will prevail Saturday.

That meeting is scheduled to take place from 1 to 3 p.m. in the church.

Mr. Rogers said he plans to meet with Chief McCarthy Tuesday afternoon to discuss Saturday's gathering, the program layout and what PCPJ expects. He said he will demand that Saturday's program not be disrupted.

PCPJ's request to conduct a second Merritt talk at Brookdale Community College, Lincroft, was turned down, Mr. Rogers said. He filed an application there last Wednesday.

The main problem, he explained, was the stipulation by the college that PCPJ have between $100,000 and $300,000 in liability insurance coverage for the meeting.

"I don't think Mr. (Robert) Leonard dealt with us in good faith," Mr. Rogers said. "When he was first contacted, we were denied permission at Brookdale," he continued. "The second time he found a better way to prevent us from having the program," he added, referring to the insurance requirement.

Mr. Leonard is community services director at the college.

"Depending on whether or not the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) will take the case, we plan to go to court over Brookdale," Mr. Rogers declared.

Motions in Superior Court Friday to amend a temporary restraining order secured April 5 against the public library were denied by Judge Merritt Lane Jr.

In that case, PCPJ sought to amend the original complaint against the library to include the PBA and various individuals. Today's complaint is a result of Friday's action.

Eatontown attorney Brian Boyle of the ACLU will defend PCPJ today.

New County GOP Club Installs Tonight

Mayor Dante Massa, of Howell Township has been elected president of the new Monmouth County Republican Club.

The club will meet tonight in the Mutual Aid Bank, Rt. 9, at 8:30 p.m. to install officers.

Membership is open to any individual 18 years or older who is a resident of the county.

Mayor Massa said: "The Monmouth County Republican Club will offer another outlet for those residents of the county who want to become involved in the future of the county while enjoying themselves.

"Since this is the first Republican Club in the county open to both men and women, we believe that the social aspect should be emphasized." Mr. Massa added.

Mrs. Rosemarie Olsen, Republican municipal chairman of Manalapan, was elected vice president.

Also elected were Brielle Councilman Robert Collinson, treasurer; John R. Stewart, Freehold, secretary, and William Adams, Sergeant-at-arms.

Elected as trustees were Spring Lake Heights Mayor Peter Maclearie, Freehold Township Deputy Mayor Gerry Pratt, Marlboro municipal chairman Richard Previte and Darlene Gordon, Howell Township.

Woman Sues Horse Owners

FREEHOLD — A Middletown woman who claims she was injured when her car was in collision with some horses on Kings Highway, Middletown, has filed suit against the horse owners, John and Alicia Howie.

Mrs. Frances Murphy, 42 Crestview Drive, Middletown, and her husband, George, allege that the Howies were negligent for allowing their horses "to run loose on the public highway" last Dec. 29.

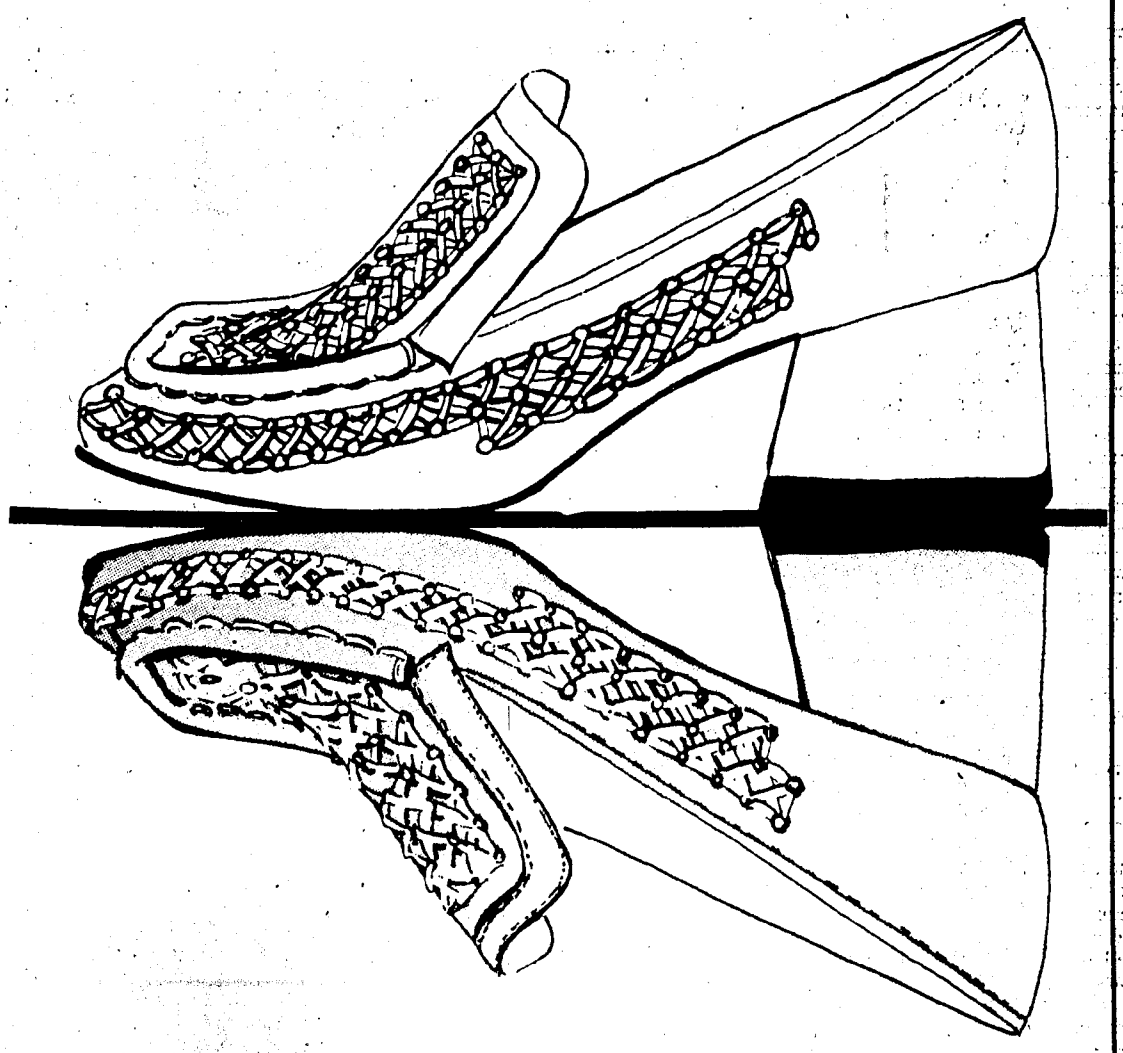

Their suit for damages was filed by Thomas F. Shebell Jr. of Asbury Park.

Bureaucrats, Wounded Knee

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON SCENE

The bureaucratic build-up outside Wounded Knee is a testament to the government's way of doing things. No less than 400 federal officials have descended upon the small South Dakota village to negotiate, mediate, consult and occasionally exchange gunfire with the Indian occupiers. Cost to the taxpayers: Around $2.7 million.

Yet at this writing, the Indians remain armed and angry.

Take the problem of roadblocks, for example. The daily crisis reports from Wounded Knee, intended for Justice Department eyes only, tell how armed local residents threw up their own vigilante roadblock. Assistant Attorney General J. Stanley Pottinger "met with them at the roadblock shortly after it was established but failed to talk it down," declares a crisis report.

Next day, the vigilante group refused to allow the Community Relations Service's peace-keeping team into Wounded Knee. While "no CRS personnel were in Wounded Knee" to restrain the militants, a "most serious incident" took place. According to a report, the incident "involved the alleged looting of a rancher's home and cattle by W K (Wounded Knee) occupants." Three days later, serious shooting broke out and one militant Indian was critically injured.

No Action

Still, Pottinger took no action against the unauthorized roadblock. "Pottinger has indicated to CRS and at staff briefings," states a report, "that he is inclined to arrest the leaders of the roadblock, but most other agencies advise against it for purposes of public relations or convenience."

Explaining what is meant by "convenience," the report tells of a "planned march on WK by clergymen and others (Easter) weekend. The government would rather have the marchers detained by a citizens' roadblock than by an FBI one."

The Easter march fizzled and Pottinger finally ordered the roadblock removed. But Meanwhile, he was having trouble with the government's own roadblocks. He obtained an order from Washington to put all federal roadblocks and bunkers under the command of U.S. marshals.

"Previously," notes a report, "the marshals, the FBI and the BIA (Bureau of Indian Affairs) police each manned their own units, and it was difficult to verify and control the repeated incidents of federal vehicles and troops (mostly FBI and BIA police) moving into the WK perimeter."

The CRS peace-keeping team has now returned to Wounded Knee. But the Indians and the federal officers are still manning their armed bunkers. As one federal official put it, "We're now back to zero again."

Military Martinet

Maj. Gen. Daniel Graham, a short, ramrod-straight authoritarian, is moving from the Defense Intelligence Agency to the Central Intelligence Agency to take charge of strategic estimates.

He has already alarmed CIA hands by writing in Army Magazine that vital security estimates should be made by military analysts, although he acknowledges that DIA estimates have been slanted in the past to please the Pentagon bosses and the CIA estimates have been more accurate.

The alarm hasn't been allayed any by reports reaching CIA headquarters of his conduct as head of the Wakefield (Va.) High School PTA. As leader of an arch-conservative faction, he tried to apply his military gumshoe methods to Wakefield High.

He circulated a memo, for example, urging that five teachers be fired and eight others be enlisted as informers. He wanted them to keep an eye on suspicious teachers and students. The Graham faction also brought pressure to oust the school's able principal, who finally left voluntarily.

In one stormy PTA meeting after another, Graham has fought student privileges including the right to participate fully in PTA activities. So vehement is he at PTA meetings that some neighborhood government officials are afraid to argue with him for fear he'll retaliate against them in their jobs. In response to our inquiries, Graham sent words through his secretary that he wouldn't speak with us.

Visitors just back from North Korea remind us that Kim Il Sung's Communist regime is still one of the most oppressive on earth. They describe the towns as drab, the social life as sterile, the people as regimented and the atmosphere as harsh. Individually, the North Koreans were friendly and curious. But in the presence of others, they became stiff and strident. Their private opinions suddenly conformed to the rigid official line. North and South Korean delegations, meanwhile, are preparing for another round of negotiations. The northerners have been maneuvering for political advantage, the southerners for family and cultural ties that would break down the barriers between their divided country.

Sikkim Strife

Hush-hush reports smuggled out of the Himalayan kingdom of Sikkim charge that India is financing riots against the regime of King Palden Thondup Namgyal as part of a plot to take full control of his land. The dashing king became a special favorite of Americans when he married a pretty New Yorker, Hope Cooke. Lately demonstrations have shaken his monarchy and Indian troops have crossed the border "in the interest of law and order." Insiders close to the royal family have gotten word to us that, even as the troops moved in, Indian political officer K.S. Bajpai began to pressure the king to "hand over all power" to India. The king's sister, Princess Pema Tsedeun Yapshi-Pheunkhang, has told friends that Indian intelligence agents have been financing the opposition parties leading the riots.

Hijackers Come to Earth

By JIM BISHOP

THE REPORTER

The unhappy landing, as U.S. hijackers learned, occurs at Jose Marti Airport in Havana. "Oh mother!" Richard D. Witt moans. "I want to be anywhere in the U.S. — even in jail — as long as I get out of here." Farland Grant nods: "I'm ready to face the music in the United States . . ."

Witt hijacked an Allegheny Airlines plane out of Pittsburgh on Sept. 18, 1970. Grant packaged a lot of matches and some gasoline and detoured a Northwest Airlines jet from Detroit to Havana on Jan. 22, 1971. What happens to the dozens of hijackers when they land in Fidel Castro's Paradise of People?

To find out, two Washington reporters, Martin Schram and John Wallach, went to Cuba, then wrote the story for Penthouse magazine. Witt is 19, short, black, fast-talking. Grant is tall, 20, black and slowthinking. Schram and Wallach had to meet the hijackers "accidentally" in a park along the Malecon to get the story — in whispers.

Witt and Grant expected to be greeted as revolutionary heroes. "When the plane arrived, there were these dudes with AK-47s. One dude came on the plane with a gun. So he takes you down the stairs. They take you into a room. They make you strip. They check your rectum."

Grant listened, smiling and shaking his head. The interrogation is numbing. Castro demands that hijackers prove they are not CIA agents. It isn't easy. Two hijackers, Haron Baron and Jeff Shorr, committed suicide. Gabor Babler, one-time Hungarian, expected the Cubans to give his gun back, pat him on the back and say: "Come on, we're friends. Let's go see Havana."

The soldiers never said a word. They slammed him in a cell. In all, the records list 85 U.S. planes hijacked to Cuba. A rare few militants managed to escape to Algeria; anyone who remained went to prison. Twenty still live in a guarded building in Siboney called La Casa de los Transitos.

Two managed to convince the government that they had no criminal past and are dedicated Communists. One teaches at Havana University. The other lives aimlessly at the Hotel Nacional. In the prisons, when black hijackers sit for dinner first, and Latin hijackers last, the Latins are served first.

The blacks wear afros; the Cuban guards call them "monkeys" Witt and Grant are now out of jail. "I've been arrested 12 or 13 times for nonsense stuff — like wearing a dashiki," Grant said softly. Witt said: "Every week we get picked up for one thing or another."

There are plenty of prisons: Castillo del Principe; La Cabana; Department of State Security jail, called "Hados," also Pecota Andres Lucia Costa. Below Principe is a pit of solitary confinement. Babler, the Hungarian has spent four years in prison.

del Principe; La Cabana; Department of State Security jail, called "Hados," also Pecota Andres Lucia Costa. Below Principe is a pit of solitary confinement. Babler, the Hungarian, has spent four years in prison.

In solitary, the guards gave him little to eat, no newspapers, no books, and refused to permit him to whistle or sing. Whenever a hijacker asks what he is charged with, the guards do not know. When he asks when he may be freed, they say "a few days" or "next week."

Babler was asked to compare U.S. prisons with Cuban. "I-I need to laugh. In the U.S. prisoners must diet not to get fat. Here you must lie down and not move a finger so you can get up. The food is too much to die, not enough to live."

Pepe runs the Pecota prison. He accepts no complaints from U.S. hijackers. He stands outside their cells and fires his pistol. If they don't like it, he tells them to write a letter to "Fidel." He beat Babler with a chair. He beat a Negro named Raymond Johnson with a baseball bat.

When new hijackers land in Havana, they yell between the bars of their cells: "Any Americans here?" And the hollow echoes come back: "I'm Larry." "I'm Johnson." "I'm Hank." "I'm Barry."

John Peabody tried a half dozen times to commit suicide by falling headfirst from the top bunk of his cell to the concrete floor. He failed. Two tried to hijack a Cuban plane to the U.S. Castro has issued an order for pilots to crash planes if they are hijacked. If pilots return alive, they will be tried and executed for treason.

Babler has a message for potential hijackers. "Let go back all the hijackers from Cuba who wish to go back. Let them talk. There will not be one person who will wish to hijack an airplane anymore. Only a mental idiot will hijack a plane in the future."

Richard Witt says: "After what I have seen in Cuba, the States looks like a dream world." . . .

Jobs for the Young

Kendall H. Lee, director of the National Alliance of Businessmen's Monmouth-Ocean Division, has set a goal of obtaining 400 summer jobs for disadvantaged youth between the ages of 16 and 21.

He said the division will coordinate its drive with the state's Employment Service and area agencies concerned with youth employment. Initially, the division is appealing for help from 175 mayors, corporation presidents and personnel directors in the two counties.

Monmouth County has some large corporations that undoubtedly are geared to help in this special job placement, but operators of small businesses should join in this worthwhile venture, and we do not think it should be confined to just those from poverty areas. Many youngsters want to use their time away from schools and colleges for more than the pleasures of vacation, and their desire to earn money should be encouraged.

Middletown Township's Human Rights Commission is asking township residents who have a need for help, however menial the job may be, to contact its secretary, Mrs. Meral Cox of Navesink. The commission also invites suggestions about setting up activities to keep the young people occupied.

Many municipal governments which participated in last year's federally-funded program that permitted the hiring of young people in the summer enjoyed a twofold reward. One was that a lot of "odd jobs" that were put off from month to month were completed, and the other was that the young people's enthusiasm was contagious among other municipal employes.

With vacation periods coming up in most county business establishments, the proprietors would be doing themselves a favor by contacting Mr. Lee. Besides lessening the strain on themselves, the owners could get the enjoyment that comes from community involvement.

Inasmuch as so many young people are ready and willing to be helpful, rather than destructive, adults should look upon part-time employment for them as an opportunity. We hope the National Alliance of Businessmen attains its goal. It could mean that Summer 1973 will be a pleasant chapter in the story of our troubled times.

Welcome, Rutgers Caravan

Where is Rutgers University going in athletics?

That's a question that has been asked, and not really answered, since the university's highly publicized coaching changes three months ago.

It's also the subject of the Rutgers Athletic Caravan which will stop in Monmouth County tonight.

The caravan idea is the brainchild of the new acting athletic director, Fred R. Gruninger, who saw the need to project the Rutgers' message throughout the state.

Since the middle of March, athletic department personnel have been traveling to all parts of New Jersey with presentations similar to the one which will take place in Molly Pitcher Inn, Red Bank, tonight.

All phases of Rutgers' new approach to intercollegiate athletics will be presented, with ample time for pertinent questions — and significant answers.

Rutgers' image as our state university is important in athletics as well as academics and neither should be second rate.

We welcome the Rutgers Caravan to the county.

Postal People Day

Today is Postal People Day across the nation, and most post offices in the county have scheduled ceremonies to observe it. For stamp collectors, it is a special occasion because it will be the first-day-of-issue for 10 unusual eight-cent postage stamps.

The U.S. Postal Service, which replaced the Post Office Department, has not yet achieved its promised efficiency. There is considerable evidence that, since the word Service became part of the official title for postal deliveries, the mails have become a complicated mess.

Greater reliance on automation was supposed to hasten the delivery of letters from one coast to the other. That hasn't happened and, worse yet, mail deliveries between adjoining municipalities take longer to accomplish.

The problem is nationwide and part of the reason for it is that more and more uses are found for the Postal Service, including the abundance of "junk mail" so many homeowners complain about. Postal People, who are homeowners, too, are just as unhappy about the sad conditions.

There was a time, not too long ago, when the village post office was a municipality's most important institution. Residents went there to pick up their mail, and a bit of gossip as well. The postmaster or postmistress was an authority on such matters as who was healthy or ill, who was vacationing where, etc.

Monmouth's population explosion changed that picture. What had been twice-a-day deliveries in business sections became once-a-day deliveries throughout the county because new residents demanded that their mail be brought to them.

Just about every business and service that gleefully embraced the computer age has known its moments of sadness. Those super efficient machines can cause some colossal blunders which produce angry customers and clients. Cures are found, in time, and we are confident that the U.S. Postal Service will eventually be able to exterminate the bugs which are befouling its machinery.

If the top brass had decided to name today U.S. Postal Service Day, the nation would pay it little heed. Whoever is responsible for calling it "Postal People Day" deserves a gold star, if not a stamp issue in her or his honor. Whatever fault we find with the Service is not extended to our local Postal People, humans we admire because they strive to do a job — often under difficult circumstances. Today, and this week, is our time to say "thank you" to them.

Energy Crisis Can Be Overcome

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

CONSERVATIVE VIEW

One of Mr. Webster's definitions for "crisis" goes this way: "a paroxysmal attack of pain, distress, or disordered function." So defined, our nation is indeed experiencing an energy crisis. The condition is serious, but not necessarily fatal. The crisis can be overcome. All that is required is that we pay the price to meet it.

A part of this price can be reckoned quite simply in dollars. Congress almost certainly will approve the President's recommendation for the "deregulation" of prices on new supplies of domestic natural gas. The price to gas consumers eventually will go up. The price of gasoline already is going up, and it will go much higher in coming months. We can look for higher rates on electric power as well. A massive program of research on new energy sources will have to be financed from public funds.

"We're Not Connected With Any Nixon Funds; We're Just On Our Way To Do Some Food Shopping"

Another part of the price will have to be reckoned in discomfort, inconvenience, and immeasurable risk — and it is this part of the price that needs to be understood. It might be called, for shorthand purposes, the ecological price.

The Trans-Alaska Pipeline must be built. That statement, it seems to me, has passed beyond opinion and become simple fact. Alaska's North Slope contains an estimated 10 billion barrels of proven reserves. Once the pipeline is built, some 600,000 barrels a day can be moved; after five years, production will rise to an estimated 2 million barrels a day. We have to have that oil — and the ecological price, painful and distressing as it may be, will have to be paid.

Back to Coal

A second example: For at least the next 10 to 20 years, like it or not, we will have to put far greater reliance on coal than we have witnessed in recent years. Coal is by far the most abundant of our energy resources, yet it fills only 20 per cent of our energy demands. The trend against coal has been spurred in recent years by environmentalists and by public health specialists who have complained — rightly and properly — against the ravaging of our land and the pollution of our cities. It is not necessary to retreat to the ugliness and grime of the old days, but there must be some retreat; and it will be painful.

The President has called for tripling the acreage leased on the Outer Continental Shelf for drilling for oil and gas. By 1985, according to industry projections, this accelerated leasing program could increase annual production by and estimated 1.5 billion barrels. We have to have it; and we will have to accept the added risk of spills and sea pollution.

At present, only 30 nuclear power plants are in operation; they produce barely 4 per cent of our electricity requirements. The inescapable truth is that we must have many more such plants, and we must move ahead rapidly with research in both nuclear fission and nuclear fusion. If we are willing to pay the ecological price, we can obtain 25 per cent of electrical energy requirements from nuclear plants by 1985, and 60 per cent by the end of the century.

No Pleasant Prospects

Now, none of these prospects is especially pleasant. Those who have fought so long for a better environment are bound to be dismayed at the thought of even a temporary retreat from the new standards they have won. Yet the alternatives, in my own view, are unrealistic or dangerous.

The principal alternatives are a drastic reordering of our whole way of life, or a foolhardy reliance upon other nations. A full-scale reordering, enforced by compulsions scarcely imaginable in a free society, would require a rationing of energy in the name of fuel conservation. Such a program might entail restrictions upon automobile use (or automobile horsepower), restrictions upon heating and air conditioning, and severe cutbacks in industrial production. Even greater dependence on foreign sources of energy would invite disaster.

The President's program provides too little for research, especially in the field of solar energy, but otherwise it is both prudent and necessary. It is also painful and distressing, but the pain and distress can be borne.

Today in History

On this date —

In 1803, the U.S. Navy Department was created by an act of Congress.

Red Bank Students Urged to Apply for Music Class

650 Branch Ave.
Little Silver, N.J. 07739

To the Editor:

Residents of the Red Bank Regional High School District and of the three elementary districts of Little Silver, Red Bank and Shrewsbury have a clear opportunity to ensure that the RBRHS music staff and its offerings not be cut back in 1973-74 as has recently been suggested.

The opportunity lies in encouraging next year's high schoolers to add one or more of the music offerings to his or her schedule. A call or note to the guidance office can effect this change or parents can clip a coupon published in The Register that will make the job that much easier.

In some cases, the addition of a music course may require a student to attend school for a full nine-period day.

As parents of high school musicians, we have long been aware that when students take advantage of the breadth of our high school's music program, the length of the school day has little or no impact on the benefits derived from it.

Sincerely,
Seymour and Marilyn Siegler

Pupils' Safety

The Daily Register has received a copy of the following letter for publication:

Shrewsbury Boro
Teachers Assocation
20 Obre Place
Shrewsbury, N.J. 07701

The Honorable
Robert Lawrence, III, Mayor and Members of the Borough Council
Borough of Shrewsbury
77 Broad St.
Shrewsbury, N.J. 07701

Dear Sirs:

The Shrewsbury Boro Teachers Association is concerned with the hazardous traffic problem at the corner of Obre Place and Samara Drive which we feel endangers the safety of the students of Shrewsbury Boro School.

At the last meeting of the Borough Council on April 10, a bona fide representation of the P.T.A. requested that the Borough Council address itself to the safety of the Shrewsbury children by hiring a crossing guard at the intersection mentioned above for all periods when the children are going to or coming from school. It is our understanding that this request was not completely discussed, seemingly indicating little or no concern from the council.

As educators, as well as parents, citizens and taxpayers, we are shocked by the apparent lack of interest on the part of the Borough Council in this serious problem of traffic safety. The association wishes to go on record in full support of the P.T.A. in its petitions to the council regarding the safety of the Shrewsbury children.

Very truly yours,
Robert Minehardt,
President

FROM OUR READERS

The 4-Year-Olds

6 McLaren St.
Red Bank, N.J

To the Editor:

It would be greatly appreciated if you would print this answer to the letter that appeared in your column of April 17 from the chairman of the Lower Tax Committee.

Dear Chairman,

In this democratic society we live in, it is the right of all people to vote, as it is our right to appeal a decision unfairly, unjustly, or carelessly given. All of the citizens of Red Bank who are backing the four-year-old program are not refuting your idea of lower taxes. What I refute is your comments about the program being a "babysitter." I challenge you to investigate the depth the merits of this program before making such an erroneous statement.

Surely a person of your intelligence would agree that it would only be fair to do so. How can you possibly condemn something you know nothing about?

Do you have any idea how much more difficult it is to get a child ready for school and send him off for 2½ hours a day, than it would be to send him outside to play? More effort is required to send them to school — yet we do so to give them the head start in education they deserve. This head start helps them not only in their education but also helps fight prejudice and bigotry, and this is something you should take the time to investigate.

You quote that only 485 names appeared on the petition given to the Board of Education. I answer no, this is not a majority, but obviously the majority, like you, are totally uninformed of the merits of the program. This small number reflects those who really care about children. Would your prefer to spend $20 more a year on a child's education than to put out a few thousand a year to retain them in prison, or support them on welfare?

It is impossible to be a citizen who cares and yet wear blinders to all issues except the issues concerning yourself. Our pont is that the taxes can be held down and that the borough make internal adjustments within itself to provide this education. So I beg of you, take off your blinders that refuse to allow you the sight required to make this world a better place to live, and to raise a family.

Sincerely,
Glenda Moore

Loyalty Day

47 Laurel Drive
Little Silver, N.J. 07739

To the Editor:

On July 18, 1958, a Joint Resolution of Congress resolved that the first day of May each year be designated as Loyalty Day. It's a special day to reaffirm our loyalty to the United States and for the recognition of our heritage of American freedom. The President was requested to issue a proclamation calling upon all government officials to display the flag of the United States on all government buildings on that day, and to invite the people of the United States to observe the day in schools and suitable places with appropriate ceremonies.

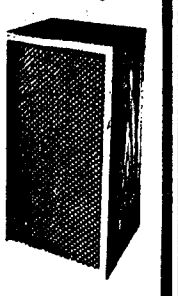

Loyalty Day was inaugurated as an occasion for Americans of all races, creeds and colors to show in a dignified and orderly manner their love of country, of the flag, and of the freedoms we enjoy. It's a day to compare our freedoms, under our form of government with the oppression that people suffer under dictatorships.

On April 7, 1961, another Joint Resolution of Congress designated the first day of May each year be observed as Law Day. This resolution directed that the day be celebrated by the American people in appreciation of their liberties; for their rededication to the ideals of equality and justice under law in their relations with each other, as well as with other nations; and for the cultivation of that respect for law which is so vital to our democratic way of life. This resolution also called for display of the flag and for observances with appropriate ceremonies by public bodies, private organizations as well as in schools or other suitable places.

Thus, the first of May is a day to rededicate ourselves loyally to support our country and our leaders; to resolve to perpetuate our ideals of democratic processes and for all Americans to pledge ourselves anew to compliance with all the laws of our country, to bring up our children to be law-abiding citizens, and to support law enforcement agencies everywhere. Let us each one display our family flag, and in all our endeavors do our part to show that we are a united nation, made up of loyal and responsible citizens.

The Vacuum Cleaners

By SYLVIA PORTER

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

Before 1973 ends, you will have bought more than 8,100,000 vacuum cleaners and paid a whopping $703 million for machines ranging from what the trade calls a "stick" to fancy jobs with attachments promising to spray paint, cut wood or catch bees.

You will have spent from $15 to $400 for one of at least 17 brand names plus an unrecorded number of machines carrying private labels selected by big retailers. Some of these are made by the manufacturers of the brand names, and usually the only differences in the machines produced by one manufacturer for several different retailers will be in the colors, shipping containers — and prices.

But you won't know that the sleek cleaner you see with one price tag in one store with one name is a duplicate (with a different name) of a cleaner in another store with another price tag. And you won't be able to find out unless the store salesman tells you.

It's the Season

It's that spring cleaning season of the year, a peak period for use and purchases of vacuum cleaners. To help prevent you from being "cleaned," too, here are some key questions and answers on prices, horsepower claims, guarantees, etc.

Q. How do you decide what cleaner is right for you?

A. For general cleaning, there is the canister or tank, which depends on suction alone. There is the upright which cleans from both suction and brush agitation. And there is the combination model which has the best features of both, does a top-notch cleaning job and has two different motors.

Of course, on an appliance that can be as costly as this, deal only with a reputable company. The brand name, which has an excellent reputation and is recommended by your friends would surely be an obvious choice.

Q. What about service, durability and a guarantee?

A. The less a vacuum cleaner costs, the less chance it will last long — but you certainly don't have to spend $400 to get a good cleaner. As Charles A. McKee, president of Electrolux, one of the long-established names in vacuum cleaners, put it:

"Don't fall for the gimmick attachments which, in the hands of a skilled demonstrator, look so easy to use. If you want a hair dryer, don't look for it as a vacuum cleaner attachment." Buy a regular hair dryer — and the same goes for a paint sprayer or electric saw.

As for service and guarantees, you must investigate these before you buy. But McKee warns that "while long-term service contracts are available, a buyer should not be burdened with this costly service agreement."

Q. Does high horsepower mean high cleaning efficiency?

A. No — and this is an area in which you well may waste money. Horsepower is not a reliable guide to efficient cleaning. For the horsepower figure usually refers to peak motor power and the power actually delivered by the motor is almost always less. High power does not necessarily mean high suction.

A gain to quote McKee, "A vacuum cleaner claiming 2½ horsepower won't necessarily do a good cleaning job if the rug nozzle is poorly designed and the filtering system is inferior. Also the average home is wired for 120 volts and it is extremely unlikely, even remote, that you could provide that much power without blowing a fuse."

Q. What about plastics?

A. There are some plastics that are very good and the better machines do use better plastics.

Q. Why would a new cleaner quickly lose efficiency?

A. Because the dust bag may be clogged, even though it isn't filled. The paper of the bag simply may not allow for a good air flow. The Vacuum Cleaner Manufacturers Association is now working with the American Society for Testing and Materials to develop vacuum cleaner standards as an aid to consumers.

These standards would help you recognize a drop in cleaning efficiency.

To help cope with admitted problems of poor service and unfulfilled guarantees, the industry's association also has begun to work with the ASTM to establish standards for performance, guarantees and service.

There is no question that inferior cleaners and broken guarantees are plaguing this industry now — which is the basic reason these buying hints are so valuable.

One last guide: if you have many different types of carpet and other materials in your home and you don't know how a cleaner might perform, insist on having the cleaner's efficiency demonstrated in your own home — on your own carpets, your own oil paintings, your own venetian blinds, etc.

Hold Harris Intertype

By ROGER E. SPEAR

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Q — Should I get rid of my 174 shares of Harris Intertype (NYSE) now trading at less than half my cost? — A.Z.

A — At the time your shares were purchased Harris had just reported record earnings. For the subsequent two years net declined 38 per cent to $2.03 a share. In the first half of the current fiscal year to end June 30, net rose 25 per cent. Sales were up substantially in the December period and backlog was at record levels which should at least sustain the current rate of recovery through the year end. Factors which caused the two-year earnings slump are now behind and a continued upturn in operations is anticipated.

Particularly promising are prospects for the company's fully computerized phototype-setting system, the only system of its kind on the market. Sales in this division have been fast paced and backlog is sufficient for four to five months. In view of the company's improving outlook shares are well worth holding.

Q — I am contemplating investing $25,000 in GMAC commercial paper, paying 6⅞ per cent on 30-89 day maturities. I plan to roll this over every 30 days because I anticipate higher interest rates. I wonder if this is safe. I am single, 75, in good health and have an ample income. — L.T.

A — General Motors Acceptance Corp. issues short-term promissory notes — commercial paper — which is considered prime. Ratings on about 500 finance and industrial corporations offering these debt obligations are available from the National Credit Organization. Interest rates in this sector have been moving upward rather steadily since February, 1972. Further advances from here on will probably be at a slower pace. However, interest rates on short-term money tend to fluctuate more widely than on longer maturities.

Most dealers in commercial paper are large institutional houses, although many corporations issue their notes directly. The profit for the dealer is small, thus most do not sell in amounts under $15,000. A round lot is $100,000.

New Auto Firm To Make Debut

HAZLET — The grand opening of All American Inc., which specializes in AMC and Jeep automobiles, is scheduled for tomorrow.

Charles Straub III is owner and business manager of the new showroom on Rt. 35 at Bedle Road. He is the son of Charles Straub Jr. and the grandson of Charles Straub Sr. of Straub Motors, Keyport.

For every licensed driver who registers during the grand opening, All American will donate $1 to the American Heart Association; and for every car purchased through May 31, the association will receive $10.

Mr. Straub is a graduate of Christian Brothers Academy, Lincroft, and of Villanova University, where he won honors in accounting. He recently completed dealer management preparation at the General Motors Institute at Flint, Mich.

The general and sales manager is Vince Zannelli of Toms River. The parts manager is Donald Bennett of Red Bank, who formerly was assistant parts manager at Straub Motors. He is a graduate of Middletown Township High School and a veteran of the Army military police.

Pat Vallese of Long Branch is service manager. And mechanics are Tom Albach of Laurence Harbor and Ernie Whaite of Morgan. Salesmen are Ed Gearity of Toms River and Art Marino of Old Bridge.

Auto Service Fees Raised on Parkway

WOODBRIDGE — Inflation, as it has to many other things, has caught up to travelers on the Garden State Parkway. The cost of breaking down is going up.

At their monthly session Highway Authority commissioners voted unanimously to raise the service fee from $4 to $5 between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. and from $5 to $6 between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m.

This fee does not include work done on a vehicle nor does it include cost of towing, which also has been increased.

Passenger car towing cost will increase from $8 to $10 plus 50 cents per mile between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. and from $8 to $12 between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. plus the same 50 cents per mile.

Towing of a two-axle truck will cost $15 for the first mile and $2 for each additional mile while tractor trailer vehicles will be charged $25 for the first mile and $2 for each additional mile.

Parkway service to motorists is provided by 15 private garages approved by the authority.

VP Post To Lowden

RUMSON — Charles E. Lowden has been appointed president of Hermann Warehouse Corporation, South Brunswick.

He succeeds Edgar V. Dunn, who has taken over the presidency of Hermann Forwarding Company.

Mr. Lowden joins the warehouse company from CIBA-Geigy Corp., Ardsley, N.Y., where he was national marketing manager for the Plastics & Additives Division. Prior to his CIBA affiliation, he held executive posts with the marketing and new ventures divisions of M&T Chemicals, Inc.

He is a graduate of St. Peter's College, Jersey City, and received a master's degree in marketing from Seton Hall University in 1963.

He served as an Army intelligence and security officer in Germany from 1955 to 1957.

You will stop smoking on May 29

. . . if you join the JACQUELYN ROGERS SMOKENDER Seminars starting in your area . . .
The trick is: HOW YOU FEEL AFTER YOU STOP. If you want to stop without "climbing-the-walls" and with a feeling of Personal Reward—and, best of all, WITH A SMILE—then come, find out about it.
. . . and bring your cigarettes! Remember, this is the method that requires you smoke as many as you like while you learn how to break the habit. In small, manageable segments. Step-by-step. Intelligently.
So, come to a FREE Explanatory Meeting in your area, and decide then—but don't expect any of that Scare business or Willpower stuff. And bring your friends, they may thank you for a lifetime . . .

Removing Learning Roadblocks: Getting a Student to Try

By Leslie J. Nason, Ed. D.

(First of a Series)

No one lives up to his learning potential.

Every one has at least a partial block in some area of learning. Some can't remember what they have read even after reading an article two or three times. Some have trouble putting their thoughts on paper. Some are poor test-takers. The list of blocks to learning goes on and on.

Learning blocks are not outgrown. Just keeping students in school is not the solution since group methods of teaching do not automatically remove learning blocks.

The Council for Educational Development and Research, Inc. opened a report on secondary education with the statement "A student who does poorly in elementary school generally carries his learning handicaps into high school — providing he stays in school that long."

Indeed some learning blocks are carried throughout a person's life even though he may have graduated from college.

This should not happen!

With proper coaching these blocks could have been removed.

Teachers and counselors should show students how to remove learning blocks. They can't do it for them — the students must be willing to TRY!

Motivation alone is NOT the answer!

Each student must be given the personal attention and support that will get him to try in spite of his feelings of inadequacy and fear of failure.

To get that first try a specific procedure must be suggested that will bring some immediate success. That's what the series "Removing the Roadblocks to Learning" is all about — suggestions to students and adults on how to solve their learning problems.

For example: Sam was failing spelling tests. This was more than just low marks in spelling. He had a serious learning block. He avoided written assignments because he didn't know how to spell the words he wanted to use. He had trouble with word recognition and consequently was a slow reader. He pictured himself as a poor student — unable to learn along with his classmates.

His lack of confidence which started with spelling had spread to all of his learning activities.

Sam was studying spelling the wrong way. He depended entirely on reading the words. Immediately after seeing a word he could spell it. In the classroom he could only hear the word as the teacher pronounced it. Unfortunately Sam had not trained his mind to bring up the correct spelling of the word as it was heard.

My suggestion to Sam:

Learn to "SEE" how a word is spelled when you HEAR the word.

Learn to pronounce it correctly and glibly.

Close the book or turn the list over and again pronounce the word seeing in your mind how it is spelled.

You should then practice writing the word. The writing is important since in taking a test it must be done fast enough to be ready for the next word. Writing the word has another advantage — you are associating the correct spelling with your own handwriting rather than with the printed word in the book.

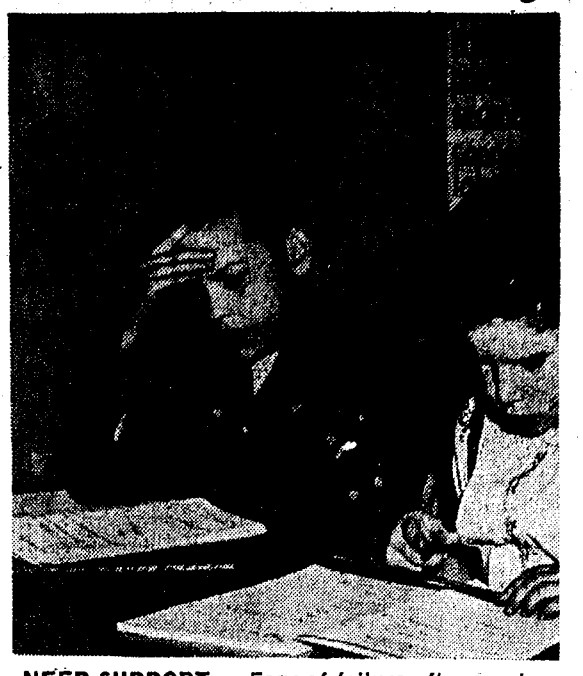

Sam studied spelling in the evening and his mother tested him in the morning before school.

His success in spelling tests was immediate.

The big step in getting him to try had been successful. His self-confidence was returning. He was now willing to try out suggestions for the improvement of his reading.

The next article discusses the removal of roadblocks in reading.

NEXT: The Widespread Learning Block.

NEED SUPPORT — Fear of failure often produces a serious learning block.

Kindergarten Blends Best Concepts Of 'Old and New' at Rumson School

By MARGOT SMITH

RUMSON — New kindergarten entrants will find themselves in an "open space" environment next September at the Deane-Porter School, but one that blends the best of the "old" and the "new."

Kindergarten children moved into the multi-purpose room this year when unsafe portable classrooms were abandoned. The two experienced kindergarten teachers, Mrs. Harriet Dohrn and Mrs. Barbara Goodwin, pooled their resources and began to plan a program that involved team-teaching. Providing for the different needs of all the children was a big motivation in taking this step.

Every morning and afternoon, each kindergarten teacher meets with the 20 pupils assigned to her for a brief period of sharing experiences, discussion, and orientation for the day's activities.

Through continuous evaluation of the children's capabilities, Mrs. Dohrn and Mrs. Goodwin set up daily "learning-centers" at which small groups of children work and play together to develop basic skills.

Following the orientation session, children move about to the various centers while Mrs. Dohrn and Mrs. Goodwin work with groups of four to six children on individual skill development, tasks in reading, writing and mathematics, or in readiness skills. Miss Nancy Klimm, a student aide from Rumson-Fair Haven Regional High School has assisted the teachers in carrying out their program.

The Big Task

A big task of teachers in the open-space environment is helping each child adjust to the structures and freedoms that abound, and Mrs. Dohrn and Mrs. Goodwin establish limits that benefit a child working by himself and within a group.

The second part of each day is devoted to the more traditional kindergarten activities—music, dramatization, art, and, of course, lots of play activities that help to develop good muscle coordination.

When visitors enter the room, they are likely to find Mrs. Dorhn telling a story to enraptured faces, or Mrs. Goodwin being served a cup of tea by some children in the playhouse.

The atmosphere is relaxed—children are often stretched out on the floor perusing books or simply watching a tadpole glide by in the tank in the science corner. Yet, a stimulating environment provides a challenge to each dhild to be curious and inquiring.

Registration Wednesday

Registration for kindergarten children planning to enter Deane-Porter in September is scheduled for Wednesday through Friday, from 1 to 3 p.m. All Rumson children who will attain the age of five by Oct. 15 are eligible to attend. Parents will have an opportunity to meet with the kindergarten teachers; Mrs. Lillian Marcellus, the school nurse, and Mrs. Mary Bartley, the principal. Children will be able to explore the kindergarten room and have a preview of what's in store for them next fall.

Freehold Twp. Man Accused of Larceny

FREEHOLD — A 24-year-old Freehold Township man was accused of three breakins and two counts of grand larceny in an indictment handed up by a county grand jury.

Douglas Snyder, Schreibers Lane, is charged with breaking into the home of John Mosher, Farmingdale, then of Rt. 9. Freehold Township, last Jan. 25 and stealing $1,030 worth of property. He is accused of breaking into the home of Dewey Sherbo, Nomoco Road, Freehold Township, March 2 and stealing $805 in money and property, and breaking into the home of Clara Groneman, Pittenger Pond Road, Freehold Township, with intent to steal the same day.

In other indictments handed up to Superior Court Judge M. Raymond McGowan, the county assignment judge:

John M. Logan, 29, of 247 S. Pearl St., Red Bank, is accused of attempting to obtain $175 under false pretenses and conspiring to do so in Red Bank Dec. 28.

Logan is accused of conspiring with one Theodore Queen (who is listed in overt acts in the indictment but was not himself indicted) to obtain money from Morton Joy, owner of the Better Housekeeping Shop, Red Bank, by cashing a stolen money order for $175.

The indictment alleges that Queen solicited Logan's signature on the money order, which had been stolen from West Bergen Market, Red Bank, and that Logan endorsed it.

In the second count, Logan is charged with attempting to obtain money under false pretenses from First Merchants National Bank, Red Bank, by falsely representing that he was the lawful payee of the money order.

John A. Frazier, 167 Atlantic Ave., Long Branch, is charged with breaking into the Matawan Lumber Co. building, Sutphin Ave., Matawan, with intent to steal Dec. 15.

Karen A. Beraud, 19, of the same address is accused of aiding and abetting Frazier in the alleged break-in.

Arthur Guthridge, 43, of Maple Ave., Cliffwood, is charged with possessing a revolver without a permit Aug. 27 in Matawan Township.

Ronald Heffner, 21, of 250 Broadway, Long Branch, is accused of stealing $400 Feb. 27 from John Betcher, trading as the Long Branch Getty Station, Broadway, Long Branch.

James McCall, 194 River St., Red Bank, is accused of receiving stolen property, $365 in money and possessions of Lloyd Rice, Twin Brooks Ave., Middletown, in that township last May 25.

Devin L. Partyka, 3 Washington St., Freehold, is charged with carrying a rifle without a permit in Freehold Township Feb. 14.

2 JWV Leaders Accorded Honor

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — Sol L. Friedman of Long Branch, N.J., and Harold Feibish of West Long Branch, N.J., both past commanders of Long Branch Post 316, Jewish War Veterans, were inducted into the Legion of Honor of the Chapel of Four Chaplains yesterday at the chapel, 1885 N. Broad St., here.

Their names will become a permanent part of the chapel records.

Mr. Friedman is now serving as fourth district vice commander of the Department of New Jersey. He is also director of the Long Branch Police Reserve and Civil Welfare, a post he has held for the past 12 years.

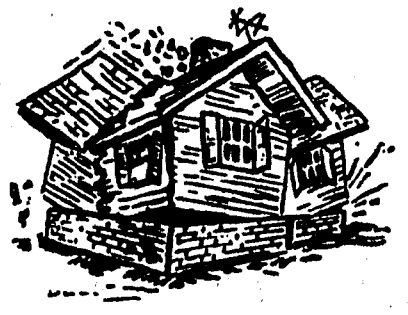

Mr. Feibish is national deputy public affairs officer and is a member of the Jewish War Veterans Press Association. He has been public relations officer for the Joint Fraternal Orders of the Greater Long Branch Area, Long Branch Lodge, Knights of Pythias, Joseph Finkel Lodge of B'nai B'rith and Long Branch Post 316, Jewish War Veterans.

The Legion of Honor of the Chapel of the Four Chaplains is composed of a corps of men who "have proven their devotion to their fellowmen, regardless of race, creed or ethnic background."

It commemorates the four chaplains who stood united in prayer as they went down with the S.S. Dorchester, a symbol for all Americans.

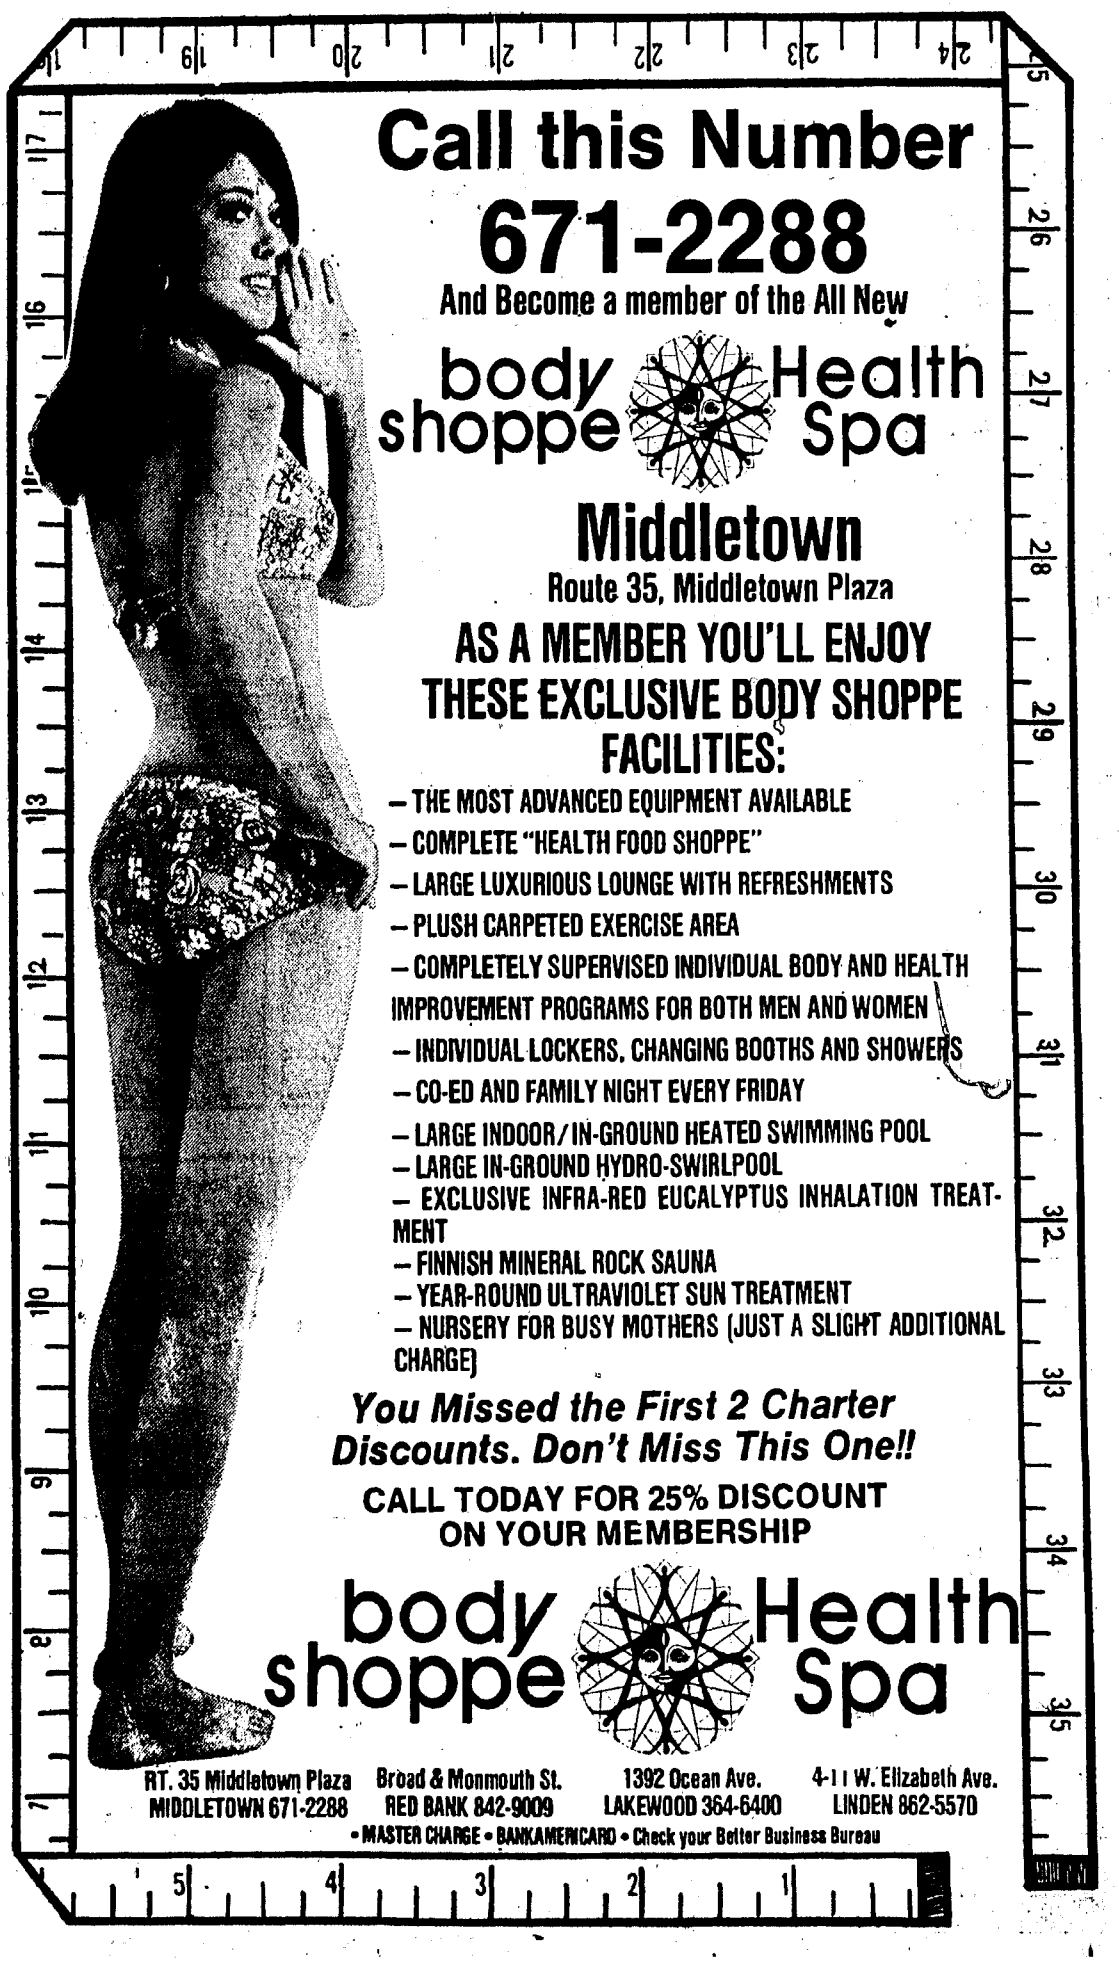

The chaplains were the Rev. George L. Fox and Clark V. Poling, both Protestant; the Rev. John P. Washington, Roman Catholic and Alexander B. Goode, Jewish.

CHECK TERMITE DAMAGE
Every year at this time, homeowners find winged insects that suddenly fly out and then drop their wings and crawl all around. These little insects are TERMITES and indicate that there are still thousands of other termites still eating the house, causing further destruction to the wood of the house.

The cost of repairs far exceeds the cost of treatment and goes higher with delay.

Your Horoscope, Birthday

MONDAY, APRIL 30 — Born today, you are in many ways a remarkable person. Artistic, practical, deeply spiritual — and just as deeply worldly — you are a mixture of traits that most people consider diametrically opposed to each other but which you are capable of melding into a synchronized whole. You are a reliable person, one to be counted on to keep a promise, to show up when he is needed, to bow out when another needs a chance. You know how best to use your talents and abilities to make others happy with you, satisfied with themselves.

Kind, gentle, sympathetic, you are somewhat inclined to be overly generous with your material possessions well as with your moral support. There are times when you have given so much of both to others that you have not enough left for yourself. In the interest of your own goals, you would be wise to husband your resources — at least until you are well on the way to your own achievement. Those close to you should be willing to aid you in your moves to get ahead.

You are seldom angry — but when you are, those on the receiving end would do well to stay out of your way.

The high degree of sympathy you have with people enables you to know precisely where and when you can hurt them most — something that you take advantage of when you are angered beyond reason, though you would never do so given time to think though the possible consequences.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

TUESDAY, MAY 1

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Confidence and self-control make this a day of opportunity for you. Should you fall short in either trait, you are in danger of suffering real loss.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — The more receptive you are to another's ideas, the more you will have to choose from later on when a decision is necessary.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Take part in social activities on the employment scene or at home. Friends and neighbors look to you for leadership at this time.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — The Leo who seeks to do good should find himself extremely busy today. There is much to be done in the way of improving your surroundings.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Reconsider your recent recommendations. You may be thinking more of yourself than of the "other fellow"; if so, there could be trouble ahead.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Look to your laurels! This may be a day when competitors turn out to be somewhat more than your bargained for. Keep in readiness.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Your loyalty may well be put to a severe test today. Concern may depend upon you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Make an effort to assimilate new knowledge in time to make use of it to complete successfully your present project. There is much to gain in afternoon.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — The fearless approach to today's problem will prove half the battle in solving it. Be careful in the use of what weapons you have.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Keep calm and put your wonderful powers of concentration to work on a problem left over from yesterday. You can make do with much less than you have.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Extend your sympathy to one in need of moral support. Take care, however, not to be too hasty in giving another more than that.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Your impulsive streak may well take over this morning and lead you into error. You can protect yourself if you will use your judgment.

Sheinwold's Bridge Advice

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"Please say a sharp word or two about foolish opening leads," requests a Boston reader. "The lead of the jack from J-x is so foolish that I never for a moment thought that my partner could be making it. I played him for a singleton, and thus allowed a slam to be made against us."

"My partner, West opened the jack of spades. I took the ace of spades and returned a spade. That was the end of us.

"Declarer took the queen of spades, drew trumps and cashed the king of spades. Then he got to dummy to discard his clubs on dummy's last two spades.

"What do you think of all this foolishness?"

The answer is simple. It was all very foolish. North's jump to slam was very poor. West's opening lead was ill chosen. And East's spade return at the second trick was the worst mistake of all. (Sorry to be so rough with my correspondent, but truth comes first.)

North's bid of two clubs was the Stayman Convention, asking the opener to show a four-card major suit if he has one. South didn't have a four-card major, so he bid two diamonds. It was just a coincidence that South had length in diamonds.

When East look the ace of spades, he should have known that South couldn't have all of the missing spades. If South had started with four spades, he would have bid spades instead of diamonds at his second turn. So East should have switched to clubs, defeating the slam. There is no rule that prevents the defenders from listening to the bidding and drawing conclusions from it.

Birthday Show For Ellington

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight jazz pianists gave a concert of Duke Ellington music yesterday afternoon on Ellington's 74th birthday.

The pianist-composer being honored wasn't there. He was accepting an honorary doctorate from Clark College in Atlanta and appearing with his band the night before in New Orleans and the night after in Dallas.

Earl "Fatha" Hines, who was scheduled to wind up the concert at the New School, played in the first half because some of the musicians got confused about daylight saving time and were late. Hines, who is never late, brought all the delight and individuality of his style to "It Don't Mean a Thing," "I Got it Bad" and "Perdido," the last which he'd also played at Ellington's birthday party in the White House four years ago.

Brooks Kerr, who had been a pupil of the late pianist Willie "The Lion" Smith and who played at his funeral last Monday, played Ellington's 1939 "Portrait of the Lion."

Ray Bryant played three of the best-known songs, "Prelude to a Kiss, "Sophisticated Lady" and "Satin Doll."

Wild Bill Davis, who played organ in the Ellington Band 1969-71, played two selections from the Second Sacred Concert and "Harlem Airshaft." Bobby Short sang and played, "Something To Live For."

New York Produced TV Series a Rarity

NEWYORK (AP) — Every so often, a television producer throws caution to the winds and makes a series in New York City. The latest caution-thrower is Bob Precht, bravely embarking on "Calucci's Dept."

His half-hour comedy show, scheduled to appear on CBS in the fall, is the only network series being made here this year on a full-time basis.

There've been others in past years — ABC's "Corner Bar" and NBC's "Car 54, Where Are You?" — but New York-made television series don't appear often. They're as rare as a summer snowfall in Death Valley.

High production costs and limited facilities are the main reasons. So why is producer Precht facing the woes of shooting in New York instead of decamping to the easier life of Hollywood?

"It's mainly because we're based here in New York," said Precht, whose father-in-law is Ed Sullivan. Sullivan's production company is making "Calucci's Dept.," which concerns a state unemployment office staffed by eccentrics.

"I also think CBS genuinely is interested in reestablishing some production here in New York," Precht said. "So, with those two things working together, we decided to produce the show here." Won't it cost more to shoot the series in Manhattan?

"We hope not. I think the costs are going to be competitive with those in California because the production people — the craft unions and so forth — are eager to establish more production here," he said.

"What we're saying to them in a sense is: 'Okay, fellas, we have a great opportunity here. Now let's make sure that it works economically.'

"And I think the guys are really going to make an effort to do that."

Okay. But the majority of television writers who can quickly turn out published, professional scripts have long since moved to Los Angeles. Can you find writers like them here?

"Well, that does present a problem," Precht conceded. "However, we believe that there are some good young writers in this town, and we hope to find them. We may have to go to California, but we hope to create our own pool of writing talent here.

"We think that there are some people writing for the legitimate stage here that could write for television under the supervision of some good people we have."

Thirteen episodes of "Calucci's Dept." will be made.

COUNCIL OFFICERS — Richard Natelson, standing, has been elected president of the Red Bank Regional High School's Student Council. With him are Cathy Chernoff, center, vice president, and Carol Penn, corresponding secretary. Kneeling are Anne Callan, recording secretary, and Richard Baynton, treasurer.

Another Natelson To Head Students

RED BANK — Richard Natelson of 19 Laurelwood Drive, Little Silver, has been elected president of Red Bank Regional High School's Student Council.

He is the third son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Natelson to be elected to the top student position in the high school. Other Natelson Student Council presidents were Steven, five years ago, and David, three years ago.

Others elected last week were vice president, Cathy Chernoff; treasurer, Ricky Baynton; recording secretary, Anne Callan; corresponding secretary, Carol Penn, and representatives at large, Todd Jailer, John Curchin and Laura Jailer.

Three voting machines were provided at sites in the school corridors, and election officials checked registry and provided assistance at each voting area.

Freshmen, sophomores and juniors registered to vote in March. Thirty-eight per cent of those eligible to vote exercised their right: 118 juniors, 88 sophomores and 74 freshmen.

Natelson ran on a platform of communication and community, and in his preelection speech before the student body called on his fellow students to find their "senses of identity and pride" by joining the "community of Red Bank Regional."

He blamed student apathy for the ineffectiveness of Student Council's communications efforts, and called for renewed efforts at all levels within the school.

EPA Urges Sewer Service Agreements

NEW YORK — The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has recommended that the Bayshore Regional Sewerage Authority in New Jersey should immediately establish service agreements with all municipalities within its boundaries.

In a newly released draft environmental impact statement, the EPA office here reports that Matawan Township and portions of Marlboro Township have not yet complied with state orders directing them to sign such agreements.

The statement recommends similar expansion and upgrading of the Middlesex County Sewerage Authority (MSCA) and the signing of service agreements with Perth Amboy, Woodbridge and Carteret, all within MSCA territory.

The EPA also cautioned the Middlesex authority that its plant outfall must be relocated to meet new water quality standards set for Raritan Bay.

The Bayshore Authority will hook its feeder lines into the Monmouth County Bayshore Outfall Line emptying into the Atlantic off Sandy Hook.

EPA is recommending that MCSA relocate its outfall to a new location where water is deeper and circulation better, to comply with water standards in Raritan Bay.

Keeping the outfall line in its present location, the EPA claims, would cause continuing deterioration in the receiving waters of the bay.

Copies of the draft environmental impact statement, entitled "Wastewater Treatment Facilities Construction Grants for the Lower Raritan River Basin and for the South Shore of Raritan Bay, N.J." are available from the Water Quality Lab, Raritan Arsenal, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Edison, and from Kenneth Hiltbrunner, Monmouth County Planning Board, Quart St. and Lafayette Place, Freehold.

Public comments are invited and should be submitted in writing before May 30 to Charles Durfor, chief of Water Programs Branch, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Region II, 26 Federal Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10007.

Hematology Board Certifies Physician

LONG BRANCH — Dr. Richard A. Krull, a physician in the Department of Medicine of Monmouth Medical Center, has received notice of his certification by the American Board of Hematology. He was reported to be the only practicing physician in Central Jersey to have received this certification. Dr. Krull is also a Diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine.

A graduate of Syracuse University, Dr. Krull received his medical degree from New York Medical College and served his residency with the U.S. Public Health Service, followed by a fellowship in Hematology at Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York City. He joined the MMC medical staff in 1970.

He also serves on the staffs of Jersey Shore Medical Center, Paul Kimball Hospital and Freehold Area Hospital, and is a consultant to the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital, Staten Island.

Dr. Richard A. Krull

Instructor at MC Delivers 'Paper'

WEST LONG BRANCH — Milton S. Palanker, instructor in the Monmouth College department of psychology and philosophy, delivered a paper on "The Logistics of Primate Field Studies" at a special National Science Foundation-sponsored course conducted at Smith College in Northampton, Mass.

Dangerous Khyber Pass Provided Pleasant Memory for Rumsonian

the STATE

By The Associated Press

Lawmakers Urge Year-Round D.S.T.

NEWARK — Legislators from three eastern states are urging Congress to pass legislation permitting states in the Eastern time zone to adopt Daylight Saving time all year.

The legislators — State Sens. Wynona Lipman and Frank Dodd, both New Jersey Democrats; Rep. Hildegarde Boswell, D-Md., and Assemblyman Clark Wemple, R-N.Y. — all said such a system would decrease the crime and accident rates and reduce the demand for power from utility companies.

They met Saturday, the day before clocks were turned ahead for the beginning of the annual six-month Daylight Savings Time period.

Dodd, who has been corrdinating efforts in 21 states in the Eastern zone for such a measure, said, "year-round Daylight Saving Time would provide an extra hour of daylight in which children could return home from school and also allow housewives to shop without fear of returning home in the dark."

Dodd said the meeting was the first "regional approach" on the matter.

By turning the clocks ahead one hour, dusk would arrive one hour later.

Poll Shows Agnew GOP '76 Pick

PRINCETON — Vice President Spiro is the leading choice of Republican voters for the 1976 GOP presidential nomination, according to the Gallup Poll.

In a poll released yesterday, Agnew was named by 35 per cent of Republicans question as their favorite for the nomination. Gov. Ronald Reagan of California was second, with 20 per cent, and former Secretary of the Treasury John Connally had 15 per cent.

Connally, though a registered Democrat, is among those who have been mentioned as a possible Republican candidate. He was active in President Nixon's re-election campaign last year.

The poll, carried out between March 30 and April 2, gave Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York 11 per cent and Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois 8 per cent.

Those questioned were asked: "Here is a list of people who have been mentioned as possible presidential candidates for the Republican party in 1976. Which one would you like to see nominated as the Republican candidate for president in 1976?"

Cahill Assails Sandman Stand

ROCKLEIGH — Gov. William T. Cahill charged yesterday that Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr., his opponent in the June 5 Republican primary election, is demonstrating "fatal insensitivity" to state problems by opposing President Nixon's revenue sharing program.

"Let the Cape May Congressman explain to the voters his attack on President Nixon for a program that has finally brought New Jersey a share of the federal tax dollar that we have sought for so long," the governor said.

Cahill spoke at a testimonial dinner for former Bergen County GOP Chairman Anthony J. Statile at the Rockleigh Country Club here.

The governor said that he didn't envy Sandman's task of explaining to homeowners his refusal to support the revenue sharing program.

"He displays a fatal insensitivity to the problems of New Jersey that could spell disaster for the Republican Party."

Cahill cited Bergen County as being one beneficiary of the Administration's new program.

Newark Seniors Poor Readers

NEWARK — The median reading test score of Newark high school seniors is that of the eighth grade average in the rest of the nation, recent tests indicated.

But other test scores show that the students in the state's largest city aren't below average in intelligence.

Many high school seniors are reading at the level of fifth graders, the tests show.

The reading problems begin in the third and fourth grades, the tests indicate, and continue through high school.

Charles Bell, president of the city school board, called the scores "disgusting."

Mayor Kenneth A. Gibson's Education Task Force released an analysis of the tests, saying they showed that 'Gross inefficiency exists at every conceivable level within Newark's students' progress in school."

Students Raise Charity Funds

NEW BRUNSWICK — The dance marathon and the bicycle race were back in vogue at two of New Jersey's colleges yesterday, and the reborn high jinks of earlier college days raised more than $30,000 for charity.

At Rutgers University here, 27 couples put in 45½ hours each on the dance floor while their supporters held raffles, sold candy and ice cream to raise about $30,000 for the American Cancer Society.

Union College President Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen and Michael Johnson of Springfield, president of the student Government Association, were among about 250 persons who participated in a 25-mile "Ride or Hike for the Retarded" sponsored by the Union County unit of the New Jersey Association for Retarded Children.

Both finished the 25 miles on bicycles, and Iversen, who is in his 60s and cycles regularly, said he wasn't even tired. Iversen was supported on a $4 a mile basis by the Student Government Association, and Johnson was to receive the same donation from the college's Board of Trustees and 10-cents a mile from a large number of other sponsors.

ABC Shakedown Probe Reported

TRENTON — The state attorney general's office has been conducting a probe over the last three years of charges of shakedowns by a former Division of Alcoholic Beverage Control supervising inspector, according to published reports.

Tapes, depositions, affidavits, a variety of documents and grand jury testimony were reported gathered by state officials accusing Clarence Johnson of Camden with receiving kickbacks from tavern owners in the Camden area but no state action is pending against him.

Johnson was found guilty earlier this month at ABC departmental hearings of shakedowns and accepting gifts, it was reported, and the evidence was available to the attorney general's office for many months prior to the hearing last January.

Just before the ABC finding on Johnson was handed down, state Division of Criminal Justice Director Evan W. Jahos said his office had investigated Johnson "thoroughly."

NCE Gets Gift From Graduate

NEWARK — Newark College of Engineering has received a $50,000 gift from an engineering firm headed by a graduate, enabling the school to enter the field of microelectronics next year.

Dr. William Hazell, president of the engineering school, announced receipt of the gift Sunday.

The bequest, in the form of stock, was given by Drexler Technology Corp. of Palo Alto, Calif.

The firm is headed by Jerome Drexler, a 1955 graduate of NCE.

Hazell said the gift would support graduate student funding in microelectronics, the study of miniature circuitry.

Additional private and government funds will be sought by the college to expand the school's capacity in the field.

RUMSON — Picture the Khyber Pass, a precarious strip between Pakistan and Afghanistan.

Mountaineers, armed with rifles, stand on guard.

Those who make the crossing are advised to do so during daylight hours — and they are to stay inside their cars and keep the windows closed.

Picture the family of Geoffrey V. Azoy, Orchard Lane, traveling through the pass in a Volkswagen — and having a flat right in the middle. His son, Whitney, who is with the U.S. Foreign Service at Kabul, Afghanistan, broke the rules to get out and change the tire — and found that someone had stolen the jack.

As the mountaineers gathered around, he spoke to them in their native dialect. About 25 of them laughed, leaned their rifles against nearby rocks — and lifted up the car while he changed the tire.

Heartwarming Twist

What was initially a frightening experience had a heartwarming twist. Mr. Azoy adds that his son offered the leader money to be distributed among the men — and was told that they helped people because they wanted to and wouldn't accept the gift.

A memento of that trip — in the form of a rifle — hangs above a downstairs doorway in the Azoy residence. And Mr. Azoy says it wasn't the easiest souvenir to bring back home. When he carried it into the airport at Beirut, he says he was lucky he wasn't gunned down himself.

The next problem was where the rifle should be put for the flight. He wasn't allowed to keep it in the passenger compartment — and he wouldn't allow it to be put in the baggage compartment, where it might be broken. So the rifle was stashed in the pilot's cockpit until Mr. Azoy claimed it when the plane landed at JFK.

Although he's now a long way from Afghanistan, Mr. Azoy keeps in touch with his son via a shortwave radio which is set up in an upstairs room of his home. Hanging on a wall above the radio is a map which is dotted with markers indicating the 240 countries with which he has communicated.

Mr. Azoy, who says he's probably "one of the oldest 'hams' in the country," collects radio pals much as other people collect stamps. After each initial conversation, "hams" exchange by mail cards which give their name, address and code. And Mr. Azoy's card collection fills file box after file box.

With a little help from the 60-foot tower in his backyard, Mr. Azoy also communicates on a regular basis with his son in Afghanistan. Several times a week, he makes the call — and if his son is at home, he responds.

Wireless Days

Mr. Azoy has been interested in radio since 1912 and has had an operator's license since 1914. Those were the wireless days, he recalls, of spark transmitters. And messages were sent via telegraph code rather than voice. The advent of the vacuum tube made the modern, more efficient radios possible and the sparks type was outlawed.

Mr. Azoy's son got his operator's license when he was 15 and takes his radio equipment — a link with home — with him wherever he goes.

Mr. and Mrs. Azoy, who reside in a 90-year-old home which was formerly a gardener's cottage, also are the parents of Miss Mary Azoy, a 1971 graduate of Princeton University, who now lives in Massachusetts.

Mr. Azoy was born in East Orange and was graduated from Princeton and the Stonier Graduate School of Banking at Rutgers University. He served in the Navy in World War I as a radio operator and in World War II as a major in artillery.

He entered the American Foreign Service in 1921 and for several years was attached to the U.S. Embassy in Havana. In 1925, he became associated with the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. and represented it in Cuba, Puerto Rico and Venezuela.

He joined the Chemical Bank of New York in 1931 and after his retirement in 1964 as a senior vice president, he was New York representative of Banco de Comercio of Mexico. He traveled extensively in that country and, through his interest in archeology, became a student of the various Mexican pre-Columbian civilizations.

Mr. Azoy also has traveled throughout Europe, Africa and Asia. On the recent trip to Afghanistan, he and his wife also visited Turkey, Iran, Pakistan and Lebanon.

He is a former vestryman for St. George's By the River Episcopal Church and served as president of the Rumson Community Appeal. He is a member of the Garden State Amateur Radio Association, which meets at the Red Cross headquarters in Shrewsbury.

The association, he says, "died" about six years ago — but then some members decided that they should get it together again. It has grown to a membership of about 100 and meetings feature technical speakers from Ft. Monmouth and Bell Telephone Laboratories Inc., Holmdel.

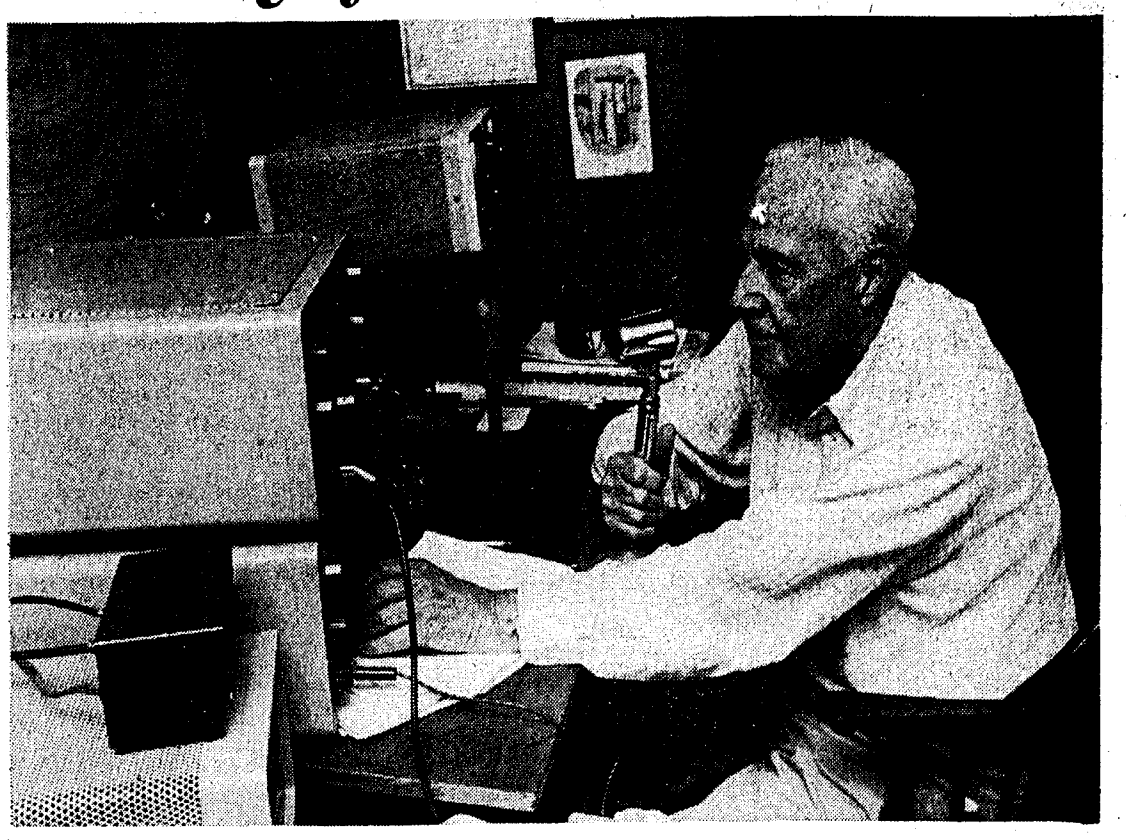

He has been a trustee and treasurer of the Monmouth Museum since its inception in 1963. He explains that he is a friend of Charles B. Harding, who served as its first president, and attended an early organization meeting. At that time, it was decided that Mr. Harding should be president, William B. Leonard (current president) should be vice president and, since Mr. Azoy was experienced in banking, he should be treasurer.

The museum, he says, started off "touch and go" and was a financial struggle. Membership, a major source of income, has grown to 900 — and there are hopes to double that figure. Plans are proceeding for construction of the new museum headquarters on the campus of Brookdale Community College, Lincroft.

He is a director of the Monmouth County Branch of the English-Speaking Union and recently presented a program on Afghanistan for one of its meetings. The organization, he explains, has the long-range goal of promoting better relations among English-speaking countries of the world. And on an annual basis, it sponsors a high school exchange student for a visit to England.

From his years of communicating via radio with people throughout the world, he notes that "It seems clear that English should become the almost international language of communication." English, he explains, is used in a basic and sometimes broken way when Swedes talk to Romanians, Russians talk to Greeks, and even when Russians talk to fellow Russians in varying parts of their own country.

And it is in English that Mr. Azoy (known in the radio circuit as K2GTZ) sends his '73's (best wishes) throughout the world.

CALLING ALL COUNTRIES — From his home in Rumson, Geoffrey V. Azoy has communicated via shortwave with 240 countries. He has also traveled extensively and has served as treasurer of the Monmouth Museum since its inception in 1963.

It Was a Big Night for Little Silver

By SHERRY CONOHAN

FT. MONMOUTH — It was a time for celebrating with friends . . . for visiting with neighbors infrequently seen . . . for talking over old times.

It was the gala, huge birthday party held in Gibbs Hall Saturday night to mark the 50th anniversary of the borough of Little Silver.

The dinner-dance took place exactly 50 years to the day after Little Silver residents voted 279-80 to become a borough and, as Mayor Charles F. Rell had promised, there was no speech making and a minimum of introductions.

"I just wish to say enjoy yourself. That's the purpose of this dinner," Mr. Rell told the assembled 512 guests as they sat down to begin their meal.

The Rev. Benjamin M. Stillwell of Embury United Methodist Church in Little Silver, offered the invocation and a dance band of the U.S. Army played music throughout the dinner and until the witching hour of midnight.

Get Legislative Congratulations

During the introductions, Assemblyman Chester Apy, R-Monmouth, and a Little Silver resident, presented the mayor with a resolution passed by the state legislature extending congratulations to all officials and residents of the community on the occasion of the borough's 50th anniversary.

Joseph C. Irwin, director of the Monmouth County Board of Freeholders, extended greetings and congratulations to the group on behalf of all the people of Monmouth County. "Little Silver is one of the outstanding boroughs in the county of Monmouth," he said.

The evening clearly belonged to the people of Little Silver who filled the giant banquet hall to capacity. It was a relaxed and throughly enjoyable affair with a lot of table hopping and and visiting in the aisles among old friends and infrequently seen acquaintances alike.

"Oh, there's George over there. I haven't seen him in a long time," one man remarked to his wife in the type of comment that was repeated often.

The dinner had been sold out for weeks and, as Mayor Rell remarked, "we could have sold twice as many tickets if we could have found a hall that was twice as large."

After the dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Rell cut a huge three tiered birthday cake, slices of which were given to the dinner guests.

In addition to the dance band, entertainment was provided by Group II, consisting of Renee and Mike Maxwell who sang and performed a Mike Nichols and Elaine May skit, and James Fagan, a baritone, accompanied by John Olsen. All are Little Silver residents.

Those introduced during the evening included former mayors Thomas B. Judge, who served as toastmaster, Gordon N. Litwin, Charles W. Stephens and P. Paul Campi, and James E. Harvey Jr., the son of the borough's first mayor.

Mayor Rell presented an award to Mrs. Barbara Seaman for her winning design in the borough's recent 50th anniversary emblem contest. He also cited for special credit Mrs. Robert B. Kennedy and Alfred E. Pound, cochairmen of the dinner, and Stephen G. Greenwood, the borough administrator, for his coordination of all 50th anniversary year events.

And, in a fitting conclusion to the brief program, Mr. Rell announced that ground would be broken this week for the foundation for the planned Little Silver historical museum. The museum will be situated on borough-owned property near the library. The old Post Office at 56 Church St. will be moved to that location.

The old Post Office building is being donated to the borough by the Double G Land Corporation for use as a historical museum.

Action Due on Seniors' Bills

TRENTON (AP) — The Assembly returns here today for the last scheduled meeting of the current legislative session with final action expected on bills to aid senior citizens and the proposed state budget.

The Senate met last Thursday for the last time until next Nov. 12 barring a presently unanticipated need for an additional session.

A final vote is expected on the proposed $2.39 billion state budget which has already been approved by the Senate.

In its closing meeting the Senate hastily acted on two bills recommended by Gov. William T. Cahill affecting senior citizen bus fares and drug prices.

The measures would provide half-fares on buses for senior citizens on weekdays except between 6 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. and all day on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. It provides a $6.4 million appropriation to subsidize the program.

The other bill would amend the state law that now prohibits all discounts and other bargain offers except for trading stamps, to allow pharmacists to discount medication sold to senior citizens.

To be eligible for the benefits of both programs an individual would have to be 62 years of age or older.

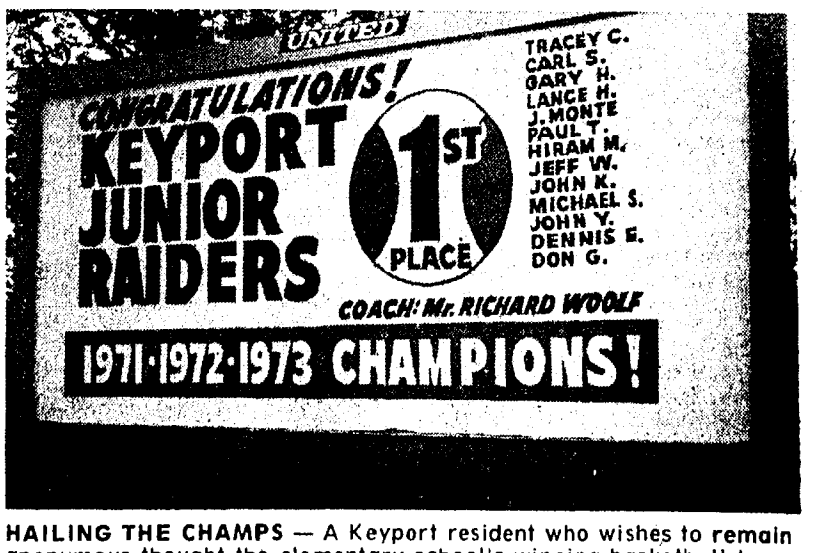

Sen. Joseph P. Merlino, D-Mercer, introduced a similar senior citizens' half-fare bus program early in 1972 but it failed to advance in the Legislature because of opposition from the Republican majority. The Cahill administration claimed it could not finance the plan with the $13.9 million price tag placed on it by Merlino.

However the administration says it has been able to reduce the total cost of the program to $6.4 million by eliminating interstate bus rides from the plan and by restricting it to non-peak rush hour periods.

Assembly action is also anticipated today on two Cahill administration measures that passed the Senate last Thursday under emergency procedures.

The bills would expand the rate for computing pensions and permit retirement at any age after 25 years of service on a police or fire department.

The bills have a $2.7 million price tag in the first year they would be in effect and would affect about 20,000 police and firemen in the state.

HAILING THE CHAMPS — A Keyport resident who wishes to remain anonymous thought the elementary school's winning basketball team wasn't receiving enough publicity for winning the league title three straight years. The resident expressed her feelings for Coach Richard Woolfe and his squad by having this sign placed on a billboard at Maple Place and Broad St.

Knick Muscle Hustles Celts

UNSIGHTLY — Don Nelson of the Boston Celtics gets a close look at the hand of New York Knicks Jerry Lucas during heated second period action of yesterday's Eastern Division finale.

BOSTON (AP) — The New York Knicks credited hard-nosed defense yesterday for their series — deciding victory over the Boston Celtics in the National Basketball Association'a Eastern championship playoff.

"Our defense picked them up right away, that was the key," said old pro Walt Frazier, who hit for 25 points in the Knicks' 94-78, seventh game triump before a packed crowd of 15,320 and a national television audience.

Meminger Sparkles

"We knew we had to play physical and aggressive," said young Dean Meminger who came off the bench at the start of the second period and rallied a sluggish New York offense.

"We were physical and aggressive from the start," Meminger added. "In the last three games, we played well enough, but weren't physical enough and lost. I felt we just had to beat them here today. We have a lot more depth than the Celtics."

"They were playing with a two-man offense, Dave Cowens and Jo Jo White, and you can only play so long with that," Frazier said. "What John Havlicek did to us in the last two games was a miracle. Today we forced him to use his right hand more."

Havlicek, playing with a possible dislocated right shoulder, managed just four points, two on free throws. Cowens and White scored 24 and 22 points respectively but the New York defense stopped other Boston shooters.

The 78 points was the fewest by a New York opponent this season.

Defense Foils Losers

"Their defense took a lot away from us and, in my estimation, that's what always wins," Havlicek said.

CARTY BAT IS HEALTHY

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Texas Rangers figure to be happy with Rico Carty as a designated hitter for their pitchers this season. In one exhibition game Carty made three hits and helped win a 6-4 decision over the Baltimore Orioles.

"New York played great and won it," Boston Coach Tommy Heinsohn said. "We got beat, that's all. We weren't flat. The ball just wasn't going in the basket for us. we had good shots, but the ball just wouldn't go in."

The victory sent the Knicks into the NBA's championship series against the Los Angeles Lakers. The first game in the best - of - seven showdown, will be in Los Angeles tomorrow night, with the second game also scheduled for the West Coast Thursday night.

The third game will be played at New York's Madison Square Garden next Sunday afternoon.

Cold at Outset

Both the Knicks and Celtics were ice cold at the outset of their decisive meeting.

The Celtics moved to a 22-19 first-period lead, but then the Knicks warmed up as Meminger replaced ailing Earl Monroe. New York York finally pulled away late in the first half, taking a 45-40 lead at the intermission.

The Knicks then turned it into a rout as Boston lost its poise completely in the third period. With Frazier scoring nine points, the Knicks charged to a 72-57 lead after three periods and crushed Boston's hopes for its first NBA title since Bill Russell's retirement in 1969.

23 for Frazier

Frazier, who had only two points in the opening period, finished with 23 as the Knicks continued their quest to recapture the NBA title they won two years ago.

Bill Bradley and Willis Reed each connected for 15 points, while Dave DeBusschere and Meminger had 13 apiece. Meminger also was standout with thith his playmaking and defensive ball-hawking.

Cowens and White topped the Boston scoring with 24 and 22 points respectively.

The Boston attack was hurt badly as Havlicek, the team captain and leading scorer, was ineffective because of an injured right shoulder. Havlicek, unable to shoot properly, managed just four points, two on free throws.

Mets Gain Control On Buc Downside

By The Associated Press

The Pittsburgh Pirates are having an up and down year and the season is only in its first month.

After a quick start who Pirates won eight of games, Pittsburgh n... dropped its last five to come back to the field. The Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the Pirates in both ends of yesterday's doubleheader, 9-8 and 2-1, to push them into third place, one game back of the front-running New York Mets.

Koosman's Fourth

Jerry Koosman hurled a four-hitter and recorded his fourth straight victory as the Mets defeated the Atlanta Braves, 1-0.

The Mets scored their only run in the second inning when Ed Kranepool drilled a single to left, advanced to third on Wayne Garett's single to right and scored on Jerry Grote's sacrifice fly to center.

Koosman, 4-0, was never in trouble. He walked a batter in the first and yielded singles to Ralph Garr in the second, Rod Gilbreath in the third, Larvell Blanks in the sixth and Dave Johnson in the seventh.

Elsewhere in the National League yesterday, Chicago blasted San Diego, 10-4; St. Louis stopped San Francisco, 8-3; Houston edged Montreal, 4-3, and Cincinnati shut out Philadelphia, 8-0.

In yesterday's American League Play, the Yankees took two from the Minnesota Twins 6-3 and 11-1; Chicago blanked Boston, 5-0; Detroit topped Kansas City, 6-1; Oakland defeated Baltimore, 4-1, and Cleveland beat California, 3-2.

At Boston, Wilbur Wood's seven-hitter and second-straight shutout combined with home runs by Bill Melton and Dick Allen for Chicago's victory over the Red Sox.

Joe Coleman scattered eight hits and batterymate Duke Sims hit a two-run homer as the Detroit Tigers defeated the Kansas City Royals.

Oakland's Catfish Hunter won his first game of the season with last-out relief help from Rollie Fingers to help defeat Baltimore.

George Hendrick's ninth-inning lead-off homer was the winning run in Cleveland's victory over California.

Canadiens Down Hawks In Stanley Cup Opener

MONTREAL (AP) — Ken Dryden, poised in front of the Montreal nets, was doing a little mental mathematics after Chicago had scored two goals in just over one minute of play in yesterday's National Hockey League Stanley Cup opener against Montreal.

"My thoughts were, 'two goals in 62 seconds,' " said the Canadiens' law-trained goaltender. "Then I started multiplying by 60."

He shouldn't have bothered, because the Black Hawks didn't do nearly as well in the final 59 minutes against Dryden as they had in the first.

The result was an 8-3 Montreal romp.

Can the turning point of a game in which 11 goals are scored be a save by one of the goalies?

It can, if you're Chicago Coach Billy Reay.

Power Play Goals

Jacques Lemaire contributed a pair of power play goals and Chuck Lefley also scored twice for the Canadiens. Pete Mahovlich supplied a short handed goal and despite all that fire power, Reay thought the outcone might have been different, except for a save for Dryden.

The score was 3-3 midway through the second period when hefty Jerry Korab zoomed in alone on Dryden. He faked the goalie and had him at his mercy as he fired. But at the last moment, Dryden swept his stick back and miraculously stopped the shot, preserving the tie.

"That stop was the turning point," said Reay.

The victory in the nationally televised game gave Montreal a 1-0 edge in the best-of-seven series which continues tomorrow night.

Lemaire's second power play goal eight and a half minutes into the final period touched off a Montreal explosion.

In rapid order, the Mahovlich brothers, first Pete then Frank, scored goals and then Chuck Lefley scored his second of the game, making it a rout and knocking Tony Esposito out of the Black Hawk nets.

Back up goalie Gary Smith finished the game for Chicago.

The Hawks stung Montreal goalie Ken Dryden for a pair of scores in the first 62 seconds of play after a power failure had delayed the start of the game by some 13 minutes.

First, Pit Martin broke in on Dryden for the game's opening goal at just 35 seconds. Twenty-seven seconds later, the Hawks were on the board again when Ralph Backstrom connected on a rebound.

It didn't take the Canadiens long to get even. First, defenseman Jacques Laperriere canned a long slap shot from the blue line at 2:28. Shortly afterwards, Laperriere was finished for the game, suffering a broken nose in a collision.

U.S. Routs Russia For Olympic Revenge

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Ernie DiGregorio of Providence and Swen Nater, the 7-footer from UCLA, paced a United States National basketball team to an 83-65 victory over Russia yesterday in the opener of a six-game series.

The first game between the two national teams after Russia's disputed victory in the 1972 Olympic Games final at Munich was rough and brought injury to Bill Walton, the national collegiate player of the year from UCLA.

Walton suffered an injury to his left knee and Coach Bob Cousy said it was doubtful he would play in the second series game tonight. But the big center said he hoped to see action in the game because it is his hometown of San Diego.

Nater and DiGregorio led the U.S. scorers with 14 points each and Nater was the game's top rebounder.

"I'm happy we won, but it was the roughest game I've ever played in my life," Nater commented.

A knot was visible on his forehead and Swen declared, "It was an elbow. They don't have great leapers, but they get great position."

Cousy, coach of the Kansas City-Omaha pro team who is handling the national aggregation for this series, said, "I think the kids underestimated them a little bit. We've got to execute better. We've got to be more physical.

"I have never seen anything like that. It's mayhem out there, especially under the basket. The international game is very, very physical inside. We just couldn't get the ball inside to Walton. He must have been knocked down four or five times."

Cousy wasn't happy with some of the passing which he termed of the "hot dog" variety early in the game.

Blomberg Shines In Yanks' Sweep

NEW YORK (AP) — Ron Blomberg broke out of a slump with a tie-breaking two-run single in the first game and two RBI hits in the nightcap as the New York Yankees swept an American League baseball doubleheader from the Minnesota Twins, 6-3 and 11-1, yesterday.

Blomberg, given a life when catcher George Mitterwald dropped a pop foul that would have been the third out, delivered his key single as the Yankees scored four times in the sixth inning of the opener.

Boby Murcer started the uprising with a one-out single off Bert Blyleven, 2-4. Graig Nettles, who homered in the second inning, walked and the runners moved up on an infield out, setting the stage for Blomberg's single up the middle.

The Yanks added two more unearned runs on another walk and singles by Gene Michael and Horace Clarke. Mel Stottlemyre scattered seven hits to even his record at 3-3.

Blomberg scored the go-ahead run in the fourth inning of the nightcap as the Yanks broke a 1-all tie. He singled off Bill Hands, 2-2, with two out and raced home on Johnny Calison's checked-swing double over third base.

The Yanks added two runs in the sixth on Matty Alou's bunt hit, singles by Murcer and Nettles and Blomberg's double, which chased Hands. They scored seven more in the eighth, including a run-scoring single by Blomberg, his fourth straight hit of the twin bill, Thurman Munson's bases-loaded triple and a bases-loaded walk to Blomberg which forced in the final run of the inning.

Fritz Peterson, 2-3, allowed six hits before giving way to Lindy McDaniel with one out in the eighth. The Minnesota run was unearned and came in the second inning on an error by third baseman Nettles, Danny Thompson's double and a single by Phil Roof.

KISS AND MAKE UP — New York Yankees Matty Alou, right, gestures with both hands yesterday as he claims he was hit by a pitch thrown by Minnesota Twins Berg Blyeven in the first game. Home plate umpire G. Merlyn Anthony, left, didn't agree and Alou was called out on strikes. Yanks' Bobby Murcer moves in to bat.

Billingham Shuts Out Phils, 8-0

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jack Billingham pitched a five-hitter and struck out nine and Bobby Tolan drove in five runs as the Cincinnati Reds whipped the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-0, yesterday.

Billingham, 4-0, had a perfect game going until Mike Schmidt lashed a two-out single in the fifth inning.

The Reds scored four runs off Larry Christenson, 1-3, in the second inning with Tolan's three-run double highlighting the rally.

Tolan's second double of the game scored Pete Rose in the fourth and Cincinnati added three runs in the sixth, one scoring on Tolan's single.

BUNCHING UP — It appears that everyone wants to own the same spot on the spacious Navesink River during the 12th annual Long John Regatta, hosted by the Monmouth Boat Club. Actually, the boats are all going into a turn and heading home during the windy action Saturday. The wind increased overnight causing the cancellation of yesterday's activity.

Guest Scores In Long John

RED BANK — Sixty-three Lightning sailboats from all over the north eastern section of the country gathered for the 12th annual Long John Regatta this weekend at Monmouth Boat Club here.

While Red Bank sailors dominated the event with three placing in the top 10, Ocean City skipper Bob Seidelmann was the winner by packing in two second place finishes.

Blustery overcast weather, with moderate to strong winds, ranging from 15 to 22 knots and gusting to 30, effected a chilly and exciting environment.

The third race, scheduled for yesterday morning, was canceled due to the heavy gusty winds which increased overnight.

Two boats lost their masts and eight others capsized during the second race when white caps suggested the inevitable.

Numerous boats also retired because of equipment failure. Chase and rescue craft, following a relatively mile but testy first race, were active picking up shivering sailors, loose gear and righted, but submerged boats.

Bill Shore and Seidelman were consistant leaders throughout. The remaining top 10 also showed the experienced ability to negotiate strong westerly winds in competitive style.

John Schneider, who placed third in the first race, lost his mast on the down wind leg of the second.

The regatta was sponsored by Lightning Fleet 70 using the facilities of the MBC.

The program was supervised by Patrick Corr, fleet captain; Maurice Shaw, fleet secretary and regatta chairman; Willem Verkooyen, race committee chairman and Bob Cabeen, rescue supervisor.

Five place trophies were presented to the winning skippers and their crews. In addition, a presentation of the Perpetual Trophy was made to Seidelmann.

2. Bill Shore (Ontario, Canada), Frederico and Mary Jane Melro.
3. Ralph Messersmith (Red Bank), Dave Allen, Bob Caulk.
4. Chris Sprole (Surf City), Steve Sprole, Rich Hinsel.
5. Jack Elfman (Surf City), Debbie Mobus, Bill Meragenthaler Jr.
Other Red Bank Skippers in Top 10. Reid Dickerson (7th), Sandy Huntsman (8th).

Falcon Four First at Penn

PHILADELPHIA — Monmouth Regional was the only county high school to come up with a team winner in the 79th Penn Relays at Franklin Field here.

A Golden Falcon quartet of Mike Sherrod, Charles Sumrell, Odie Huffman and John Davis won the two-mile relay in its group with a time of 8:11.3.

Toms River South also won a mile relay in 3:29.4.

Larry Bunting, Neptune's premiere hurdler, won the 120 high hurdle invitational race with a 14.2, to bring home another gold medal.

Monmouth Regional also got a second place in a mile relay, and Rumson-Fair Haven Regional took a third, also in a mile relay.

A girls' quartet from Red Bank Catholic, Donna Tappin, Katy Dwyer, Kim Tracy and Pat Seaman, finished sixth in the quarter-mile relay for girls.

Wadkins Wins—Suddenly

DALLAS (AP) — Lanny Wadkins earned the Byron Nelson Golf Classic title yesterday on a flubbed two-foot putt by heartbroken Dan Sikes at the first hole of sudden death and found it a "a shock-hard to enjoy" although the missed stroke meant about $500 an inch.

The 23-year-old Wadkins, taking his first tour title of the year and the $30,000 first prize parred the 553-yard par five No. 15 playoff hole and watched in amazement when Sikes blew the near gimmie for a bogey. Sikes won $17,100.

"I had accepted the fact he was going to make it and was thinking about the next hole," said Wadkins, who birdied five of the last seven holes for a three-under-par 67 to tie Sikes. A dejected 42-year-old Sikes, seeking his first tour victory in five years said of the putt "I just jerked it. . . .I'm not very proud of it.

"What happened to me today ought to teach anyone never to look at the scorecard. I saw I was the only under par while I was on the back nine and thought I could play to the clubhouse and win with two under."

Sikes made a 40-foot par putt on the 18th hole to tie Wadkins at three-under-par 277 with a final-round 71.

"That putt was like an explosion," Wadkins said. "It was hard to accept. But I had battled all day. I wasn't even on the leader board when I was two over par at the 11th hole. I didn't know how I stood until I got to the 18th tee."

Sikes said he didn't like the fact he was hurried to the extra hole by the television people.

"I would have liked to sit down a minute and collect my thoughts, Sikes said. "I don't want to alabi, though."

Wadkins said "I felt hot and I was ready to jump out there."

Wadkins had birdied five of the last seven holes on putts of 10, 15, 6 inches, 20 feet and matched Sikes' putt with a 15 footer of his own on the 18th green.

Both Sikes and Wadkins finished at three-under-par 77. The 42-year-old Sikes, who started the day four under along with Bob Dickson for the lead, shot a final-round, one-over-par 71 on the treacherous 6,932-yard Preston Trail Golf Club.

The 23-year-old Wadkins, who trailed Sikes by seven shots at one juncture, sizzled the course with a three-under-par 67, including a 32 on the back nine.

Watkins began his charge on the 12th hole with a bird. He followed it with birdies on 13, 15, 16, 18.

Sikes, attempting to strike a blow for the middle age set and win his first tournament in five years, birdied the 16th hole with a tap—in 18 incher to set up his miracle par on the 72nd hole.

Dickson limped in with a 3-over-par 73 for third place money for 279—one under par. Only three players broke par over the demanding course

Boyntons Lead PBA Conquest

NEW MONMOUTH — The Boynton brothers, Anthony and Fred, scored impressive wins here Friday night in an amateur boxing card sponsored by the Middletown P.B.A. and Mater Dei Booster Club.

Anthony, making his debut, won a decision from Jim Bascomb of Orange, a protege of Tomy Galento, at 150 pounds.

Fred, the state Golden Gloves champ, upped his record to 18-1 with a decisive win over veteran Willie Capuano of Paterson, also in three rounds. Capuano was state Golden Gloves champ in 1972, and runner-up in 1971.

In all, the Middleotnw P.B.A. won five of eight bouts. Ron Causby of Matawan P.B.A. added another local win with a three round decision over Stan Adair of Elizabeth Recreation.

Paul Lanzo of Middletown P.B.A. started the night on the right foot for the P.B.A., decisioning Ron Vogel of the Franklin Boxing Club in three rounds.

Undefeated Jack Sharkey, Middletown flyweight, was hurt in the first round but came back to win the next two and the decision

Wave Wins Over Huskies

LONG BRANCH — Long Branch remained unbeaten in 10 straight games here yesterday by defeating Shore Conference "A" Division foe Matawan Regional, 2-1.

The Green Wave, loser to Red Bank Regional in its season opener, has won nine and tied one with Toms River North.

The victory over the Huskies gives the Branchers a 5-0 mark in the league. Raritan and Middletown Township are tied for second with 4-1 records.

Steve Conte chalked up his fourth win in five decisions by coming on in relief of Joe Graziano in the third inning. Conte struck out 10 Huskies.

The winning run scored when Jim Graziano walked on four straight pitches with the bases loaded in the sixth inning.

The Branchers tied the game in the fifth when Jim Graziano doubled and Fred Balina singled on the next pitch.

Matawan's lone run came on an error by the Wave catcher when he threw to second base in an attempt to nab a base runner stealing. The ball went into center field allowing Skip Deitz, who had singled, to score.

The Huskies defeat dropped them to 5-6 overall and 4-2 in the circuit, right behind Raritan and Middletown.

Barry McClune was the losing pitcher for Matawan. He went the distance, giving up just four hits and fanning eight.

Long Branch Still Reigns, But St. John Slips to 5th

The similarity between this week's Daily Register Top 10 and last week's is that Long Branch, leader of the Shore Conference "A" Division, is still holding down the top rung on the county ladder.

From there the similarity comes to a crashing halt — and just remember — we told you so.

Opportunist Middletown Township climbed into second place when St. John Vianney lost a pair of games — the most recent being a 5-2 defeat to Raritan, Saturday.

Wall Township jumped from fourth to third and Shore Regional skipped two spots to fourth.

St. John dropped to fifth just ahead of St. Rose of Belmar. St. Rose was no where to be found on last week's list of the 10 best.

Mater Dei fell two notches to seventh and Raritan hopped a spot to eighth.

Ninth and 10th places are held by Keyport and Henry Hudson Regional, respectively. Neither the Raiders or Admirals were listed last week.

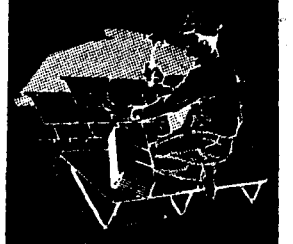

Red Bank Regional, Matawan Regional and Howell all disappeared from the Top 10 after sustaining defeats last week.

THE DAILY REGISTER TOP 10
1. Long Branch (9-1-1)
2. Middletown Twp. (6-1)
3. Wall Twp. (7-1)
4. Shore Reg. (8-3)
5. St. John Vianney (11-3)
6. St. Rose (5-1)
7. Mater Dei (5-3)
8. Raritan (6-4)
9. Keyport (5-2)
10. Henry Hudson Reg. (4-2)

"It's a game of inches," said Lou DeGeorge, the Red Bank Regional baseball coach, "and lately, they just haven't been our inches."

DeGeorge was referring to his team's nosedive in the Shore Conference "C" Division. The Buccaneers, The Daily Register's pre-season choice to take the "C" flag, have lost their last three league games.

Similarly, Monmouth Regional, selected by The Register to capture the "B" title, has lost its last three games in the division, and coach Vinnie Sprouls isn't smiling much lately, at least not in front of his Golden Falcons.

Red Bank opened the season with four consecutive wins and then promptly lost the next four.

We're dropping games in the seventh inning," explained DeGeorge, "and some of those losses have come on bizarre plays."

Mishlen Injured

The Bucs, who have been waiting for ace pitcher Ron Mishlen to get over his arm trouble, lost a game to "C" rival Wall Township on a grand slam in the seventh last week. You can't blame the loss on dumb luck or mental or physical errors, but what preceded it can be attributed to all three.

Fred Brenner, who had a no-hitter for five innings, opened the seventh with a strikeout, but walked the next man. The following batter got on via a swinging bunt. He should have been out at first, but the umpire declared that the Buc first baseman had his foot off the bag when he took the throw.

So, instead of two outs and a man on second, there was one down with runners on first and third. The next batter was hit by a pitch to load the bases, and in came Rich Ayres who had the misfortune of throwing the gopher ball.

"Four of our five losses have come in the seventh inning," moaned DeGeorge.

Sprouls' Falcons are making the physical mistakes. Twelve errors cost Monmouth a ball game against Rumson in an important "B" tilt last week.

"I know we have the talent. We may not win this division, but I think we're going to surprise some of these teams the next time around," Sprouls insisted.

Ruffin Stars

Although the Falcons are 3-5 overall and just 1-4 in the division, Sprouls isn't altogether dissatisfied. Gene Ruffin, the team's top hurler, is also the batting leader with a .450 average. Kevin Johnson, last year a first-team All-Monmouth County selection by The Daily Register, is not hitting for average, but for good reason. No one seems to want to pitch to him. He has an on-base average of .456, and has picked his batting average up 48 points from .200 of two weeks ago.

Red Bank's DeGeorge isn't writing off the season or the division fight yet. "Our goal is to play in the state tournament," said DeGeorge. "Your record has to be just over .500 in order to qualify, and right now ours is even. We play three games this week, and we need to win at least two in order to make it."

The deadline is this weekend.

DIAMOND CUTS

The Bubble hasn't burst yet for Long Branch (9-1-1) and Mike Marchitto, the Wave coach, is keeping his fingers crossed. Long Branch owns a narrow lead over Raritan and Middletown with Matawan Regional right behind them.

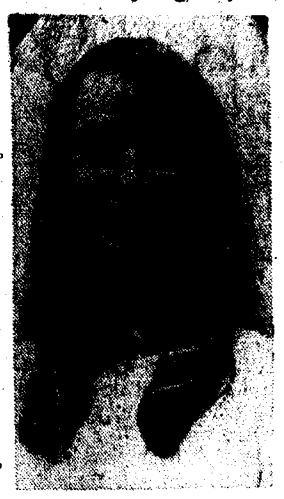

The team to watch in "B" is Ocean Township, although coach Bob Olshan insists that Central Regional could fool everybody. "They've got some of the toughest stickers in the entire Shore area," says the veteran Spartan mentor.

Wall, Southern Regional and Asbury Park are deadlocked in the tight "C" race, but an indication of where the strength really is can be found in the three team's overall records. Wall has one loss in eight games, Southern is 4-4 and the surprising Blue Bishops are 3-4.

Shore, an early runaway leader in "D," had better not look back. Henry Hudson Regional, Keyport and Point Pleasant Boro are not far off the pace. Shore's only loop loss came at the hands of Boro. The Devils have yet to play Hudson.

Dear Ann Landers: Now that society has taken a permissive attitude toward hard-core pornography it seems that whenever I go to the mailbox there is some dirty thing that I have to tear up so my children don't see it.

I don't know how in heaven's name I got on these mailing lists. I have never sent for anything except a seed catalog and kitchen gadgets. I have no interest in this trash and I don't want it coming to our home. Mind you, I have no desire to deprive those who enjoy looking at garbage but why must people who don't want it be subjected to this invasion of privacy?

Will you please tell us, Ann Landers, what we can do? — Mrs. Square America

Dear M.S.A.: The federal government has been successfully prosecuting several major purveyors of mail-order obscenity as a result of complaints filed by postal inspectors. The most effective way of handling the problem, Mrs. Square America, is to reseal the envelope and write on it, in bold letters, Postal Inspector, Please. Then drop it in the mailbox. No stamp is necessary.

Dear Ann Landers: First let me say I have two wonderful parents. They mean well, but . . .

I am 28, have been happily married for eight years and we have four children. We built a house that was finished a few months ago, about 40 miles from where my parents live. We expect them here every Sunday.

My father is a pleasure and gives the children a great deal of attention, but my mother can't sit down for five minutes. She is either rearranging the cabinets, vacuuming, polishing the furniture or tidying up a closet. I am a good housekeeper and don't need any help. I've mentioned my feelings to her but to no avail. Meanwhile my husband becomes more irritated by the minute. He interprets her activities as a slam against my housekeeping. I want my mother to be a guest in our home, relax and enjoy her grandchildren.

Any suggestions? — Neat Enough For Us

Dear Neat: Your mother's non-stop vacuuming, polishing and tidying up has nothing to do with your housekeeping. It is a manifestation of her discomfort, her inability to be a part of the family. These activities are an excuse to isolate herself. Once you and your husbnad understand this, YOU will be able to relax and let Mrs. Clean do her own thing.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married three weeks. We just had our first big fight. We've agreed to let you be the referee and your decision will be final.

Seven days after we returned from our honeymoon Ben started to read the newspaper at the breakfast table. I told him I consider this an insult and I asked him to stop. Ben says it's a lifelong habit and I have no right to make such a demand. He also claims he is not much of a morning communicator and it is better for our relationship if I try not to force him to be chatty. I say, now that he's a married man, he should be mature enough to drop his bachelor-type habits. What do you say? — Betty

Dear Betty: I say now that you're a married woman, you should be mature enough to leave him alone. Some people are not morning communicators and for them the newspaper can be a blessing.

Don't flunk your chemistry test. Love is more than one set of glands calling to another. If you have trouble making a distinction you need Ann's booklet, "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference." Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request and 35c in coin to this newspaper.

Cimiluca-Tryon

NEW SHREWSBURY — Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Harrison F. Tryon, 50 Wyckham Road, of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Michele M. Tryon, to Michael Cimiluca 3rd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cimiluca Jr. of Wayne. An August wedding is planned.

Miss Tryon, a music education teacher, is an alumna of Red Bank Catholic High School, and will be graduated next month from Georgian Court College, Lakewood.

Mr. Cimiluca, who will graduate next month from Villanova (Pa.) University, is an alumnus of DePaul High School, Wayne. He is vice president of a family owned business, National Spring Company in Jersey City and Newark.

Lange-Mills

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Miss Patricia Lynne Mills and Robert James Lange, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lange, Oak Tree Lane, Rumson, N.J., were married here yesterday in the H. M. Queen Mary wedding chapel. A reception followed in the Kings Grille.

The bride is the daughter of Robert L. Mills here and the late Mrs. Lois Mills. She was attended by Miss Terry Mills, her sister, who was maid of honor, Miss Irma Vasquez, and Mrs. Jeanne Grove.

Arthur Lange was his brother's best man. The ushers were Bruce Bednash and John Valianos.

After a honeymoon in Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Lange will reside in Highlands, N.J.

Mr. Lange is a laboratory computer design engineer at Monmouth Medical Center, Long Branch, N.J.

Club To Install 8

SHREWSBURY — The Woman's Community Club of Eatontown will have its annual installation dinner here Thursday at 7 p.m. in The Shadowbrook.

Mrs. Edna C. Chase, treasurer of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs will install Mrs. John Dietz 3rd, president; Mrs. Kenneth Payseur, first vice president; Mrs. Frank Osgood, second vice president; Mrs. Sumner Clarke, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Snell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James Frangella, financial secretary; Mrs. Vincent Festa, treasurer, and Mrs. Robert Quinn, federation secretary.

The drama department will entertain.

The Evolds Feted On Anniversary

FREEHOLD — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evold, 58 W. Main St. were feted in honor of their Golden Anniversary at a surprise family reunion at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Gibson, 10 Hance Blvd.

The party followed diocesan ceremonies conducted in St. Mary's Cathedral, Trenton, by Bishop George W. Ahr. At that time Mr. and Mrs. Evold received a personalized commemorative scroll.

Mr. Evold is a lifelong resident of Freehold. Mrs. Evold is the former Margaret Leddy of Red Bank.

RUMMAGE SALE

CLIFFWOOD BEACH — A rummage sale will be conducted at the Bayview Presbyterian Church, Greenwood Ave. and West Concourse, Thursday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. There will be a bag sale on Friday, and there will be a food and cake sale on both days. Mrs. Gladys Greenwood is chairman of the rummage sale, and Mrs. Abbie Schwahl, chairman of the cake sale.

GARAGE SALE

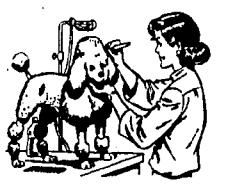

MATAWAN — The Matawan League of Women Voters will conduct a garage sale at 191 Church St., Thursday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Rain date is Friday. Mrs. Roger Schenone is in charge of items residents may wish to donate. Among the goods for sale will be kitchen gadgets, phonograph, television, stuffed animals, magazines and toys.

Red wines are usually served at room temperature; white wines are usually chilled.

GUEST NIGHT

WEST LONG BRANCH — Monmouth County Christian Women's Club will have its annual Guest Night dinner Friday at 8 p.m. here in Squire's Pub. Arthur S. DeMoss, insurance magnate will be the speaker. Mrs. Laura Meyers, Belmar, is ticket chairman and Mrs. Doris Brause, Red Bank, chairman of the club. Entertainment will be by Mrs. DeMoss, a soprano, and a barbershop quartette.

AMERICAN MOTORS BUYER PROTECTION PLAN

1. A simple, strong guarantee, just 101 words!

When you buy a new 1973 car from an American Motors dealer, American Motors Corporation guarantees to you that, except for tires, it will pay for the repair or replacement of any part it supplies that is defective in material or workmanship. This guarantee is good for 12 months from the date the car is first used or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first. All we require is that the car be properly maintained and cared for under normal use and service in the fifty United States or Canada, and that guaranteed repairs or replacement be made by an American Motors dealer.

2. A free loaner car from almost every one of our dealers if guaranteed repairs take overnight.
3. Special Trip Interruption Protection.
4. And a toll free hot line to AMC Headquarters.

Management Trainees
Now is your chance to secure a good future, with pay, with a fast-growing quality restaurant chain. We have over 340 shops operating in 13 states from Maine to Virginia.
We need aggressive, self-disciplined and self-motivating people to enter our development program which is 12-18 months in length. Earn $140 - $170 per week while you learn the basics of good management and take part in our excellent fringe benefit program. You will also be able to train in nearby locations. Relocation will become necessary at some future date with all costs being assumed by FRIENDLY ICE CREAM.
You need only three basics to apply: you must be a high school graduate, own a car and be over 21. Although not required, some college and some restaurant experience would be to your advantage.
Our managers run their operations without the normal risk of ownership and are earning between $12,000 and $20,000 per year with many over $20,000.
If you live within reasonable traveling distance to our shops in Matawan, Shrewsbury, Englishtown or Bricktown, we would like to talk with you.

NOTICE
TO ABSENT DEFENDANTS
SUPERIOR COURT OF NEW JERSEY:
MONMOUTH COUNTY
DOCKET NO. F 3486-72
THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY TO: SQUIRE GARNETT, his heirs, devisees and personal representatives and his, their, or any of their, successors in right, title and interest, MRS. SQUIRE GARNETT, his wife, STATE OF NEW JERSEY

YOU ARE SUMMONED AND REQUIRED to serve upon Herbert Harvey, attorney pro se, 537 Stevens Road, Morrisville, Pennsylvania 19067, an answer to the complaint filed in a civil action in which Herbert Harvey is plaintiff, and you are defendants pending in the Superior Court of New Jersey, within 35 days after May 1, 1973 exclusive of said date. If you fail to do so, judgment by default may be rendered against you for the relief demanded in the complaint. You shall file your answer and proof of service in duplicate with the Clerk of Superior Court, State House Annex, Trenton, New Jersey, in accordance with the rules of civil practice and procedure.

The action has been instituted to foreclose a certain tax sale certificate issued by the collector of the Borough of New Shrewsbury, Certificate No. 552 recorded in mortgage book 2282, page 472 in the Monmouth County Clerk's Office.

The land affected by the said suit is Block 105 Lot 41 as shown on the assessment map and tax duplicate of the said Borough of New Shrewsbury.

You and each of you are made defendants in said action because you claim, may claim, own or are reputed to claim or own the said land, or some part thereof, or some lien upon or interest therein.

Sewer Work Progressing

BELFORD — Progress in the Monmouth County Bayshore Outfall Authority's (MCBOA) $12 million master sewage plan is being seen and felt.

At a meeting in the newly opened MCBOA offices atop the Belford pumping station, Authority Engineer Otto Milgram reported the station is completed and ready to become operative once earlier contracts are completed.

Mr. Milgram said only five pieces of peipe remain to be installed in the first contract of Stage I in the Sandy Hook ocean section. He said this should be completed by next week.

Under contract 2, the land section, all the piping is in place.

In the land section of Stage II, from Middletown to Union Beach, Mr. Milgram said pipe is currently being installed. He reported work at the Union Beach pumping station is "moving very fast." Foundation for that structure has been poured, and he expects the roof to be on shortly.

Mr. Milgram said the Belford pumping station has been nominated by the American Concrete Institute for an award to be presented May 9 for outstanding buildings constructed of reinforced concrete. The award is made annually, he said.

Authority members voted to join the Water Pollution Control Federation, and named Knud Scholer, executive director, to serve as MCBOA's official representative.

Appropriation of $215 to purchase two battery — powered emergency lighting units for the Belford pumping station was approved.

On Mr. Scholer's recommendation, a salary increase for pumping station superintendent Robert Latsch Jr. was approved. Mr. Latsch, after three months at the site, will receive a weekly salary of $190.

Dr. Sheehan Keynotes Seminar in California

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. — Dr. George A. Sheehan of Rumson, N.J., was the keynote speaker Saturday at the opening session of a seminar sponsored by the California College of Podiatric Medicine in cooperation with the Department of Medicine of the University of California Medical Center here.

The theme of the seminar was "The Athlete's Dilemma: 'Overuse Syndrome of the Foot and Leg.' "

Dr. Sheehan, who writes the "Innocent Bystander" column in The Daily Register, Red Bank, based his opening talk on material from one of those columns. "Weak Feet; the X Factor in Sports Medicine" is the title of his speech. He also addressed a session yesterday on "How to Treat a Runner's Knee."

Among the nation's doctors, trainers, coaches and athletes at the seminar were George Rhoden, 1952 winner of the Olympic Gold Medal in the 400 and 1,600 meter relays.

Dr. Sheehan, a Red Bank cardiologist, also is a fellow in the American College of Sports Medicine and a member of the American Medical Joggers Association.

Brookdale Trustees Surmount Blackout

LINCROFT — The faulty transformer in the Lincroft substation of the Jersey Central Power & Light Co. plunged Brookdale Community College into darkness Thursday night — along with 1,800 customers — but it didn't interrupt the meeting of the college's board of trustees.

The board called for flashlights when the lights went out, and proceeded through its agenda.

Among other actions, it set salaries and employment policies for the campus police force it recently approved establishing.

The salary range is from $10,584 for captain, the highest rank, to $7,896 for patrolman.

Each candidate must have completed a state recognized police training course.

The board learned that 60 students from 21 different high schools are enrolled in the two-year-old "credits in escrow" program which permits high school seniors and second semester juniors to take college courses for credit while completing work toward their high school diplomas.

PBA Ball Is This Friday

MATAWAN — The third annual Policemen's Benevolent Association dinner-dance is scheduled Friday in the Magnolia Inn, Freneau Ave.

Tickets for the affair, which will begin at 8 p.m., may be obtained from any PBA member or at police headquarters.

Highlands Ospreys Is School's Nickname

HIGHLANDS — The "Highlands Ospreys," a nickname for the Highlands Public School submitted by fifth grader Jeffrey Miller, was the winning entry in a "What Will Our Name Be?" contest conducted by the Student Council.

Veterans' Benefits Discussed

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS — A talk on benefits available to veterans was given by C. Eugene Allen, county and local service officer, for a meeting of American Legion Sandy Hook Bay Post.

Veterans with certified 100 per cent service connected disability, he said, are not required to pay real estate taxes. And those in need of care may be eligible for the new 100-bed facility at the state soldiers' home at Menlo Park.

Local Girl Scouts have been given permission to distribute a letter on "Love of Our Flag" to those attending the Memorial Day parade. Joseph Bissonnettee is in charge of placing flags on the graves of veterans at Bayview Cemetery, Middletown. He is also coordinating arrangments for a forthcoming post garage sale.

Plans to paint the post home are being directed by David Carr, vice commander. Michael Cassone is chairman of the annual summer bus trip to a baseball game at Shea Stadium.

George Himmel, a past commander, will be backed by the post for the office of county vice commander.

Living Outdoors In Many Forms

By AL HORAY

Just what type of activity is considered to be camping?

We had not given such a question much thought until yesterday, when a reader told us that he is "not a serious camper," but he and his young son go afield and live out of the family station wagon.

Campers Corner

They bunk in the wagon, says he, and cook-as-catch-can on the tailgate or a picnic table or nearby fireplace if one is available at the campground. Also says our friend, a Highlands footwear engineer, he and his son drive less than 100 miles to live afield. No exotic locations or distant campgrounds for Ralph.

If that is not camping of the first magnitude, we wondered, just what is camping? When a family goes afield on a camping jaunt, we opined, it does not require an expensive canvas abode, a well-furnished van or motor home or a wheeled camper of any kind. The type of camping which Ralph enjoys is the everyday "car camping," the most popular type of outdoor living done anywhere, whether the outdoorsman lives in the vehicle or pitches a tent on a nearby site.

Bike Camping

Another popular form of getting away from it all has become the fad of bike camping. Carrying more than a backpacker, the bike camper is still severely restricted on the number of conveniences he can take along for his comforts. The old axiom: "make out a skeletonized list of camping gear — then discard some of it," applies to the bike camper as it does to the hiking outdoorsman.

A good, lightweight touring bike which weighs between 25 and 35 pounds is required for comfortable bike camping. A 10-speed rig should be considered the minimum in gear ratios for easy hill climbing, down-grading and trail riding. Carrying baskets and saddle bags will fill up rapidly as the prospective camper begins to load up his gear for a trek afield. Discard the frills.

Some bike campers boast of covering 100 miles per day on the nation's roadways. Others linger along the route and tally up a leisurely 50 miles per day. Other experts at two-wheeled travel camping will insist that a 75-mile day gives them plenty of time for sight-seeing, resting, dining and making mileage count toward their final destination.

Camp The Waterways

Just as there are drive-in, hike-in and fly-in campers, there are also a goodly number of canoe campers who take advantage of the natural waterways to get back into the boondocks to set up a hunting or fishing camp.

While the idea of canoe camping sounds like a real adventure to the uninitiated, it requires some preconditioning for the chore of paddling and portaging the boat and its cargo over sometimes rough terrain. Numerous stints in the canoe should be the order of the day for newcomers to the skittish boats.

Waterways regulations require approved floatation gear for each occupant of the canoe in the event of an upset and the gear should be stowed low in the boat for use as a stable ballast. It should be loaded so the bow (front) of the vessel rides slightly higher in the water than the stern.

Despite plans for pleasant marine travel, it should be remembered that new boots or shoes should be well broken-in before going afield. A rough or muddy portage in new boots could spoil an otherwise pleasant sojourn afield.

Camping, we have decided, is camping. Whether you bunk up in the back of the family station wagon or go afield in a canoe or a luxury job costing more than a year's wages.

Yankees Drop Burke From Club Operation

NEW YORK (AP) — Michael Burke, top official of the New York Yankees since 1966, announced yesterday that he no longer would be involved in the operation of the club, but will continue to serve as an owner and become special consultant to the team.

George M. Steinbrenner III, who headed the 13-man syndicate that purchased the Yankees from the Columbia Broadcasting System for $10 million last Jan. 3, was in New York Saturday, but had returned home to Cleveland when the announcement was made. He said in a statement issued by the Yankees that he was "most pleased that Mr. Burke would remain with the Yankees as an owner and special consultant."

However, observers close to the team felt that Burke was actually forced out by Steinbrenner in an effort to give more control to Gabe Paul, the administrative partner brought into the Yankee operation by Steinbrenner in January.

Paul, the former general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, Houston Astros and Cleveland Indians, was seen to be Steinbrenner's choice as top aide when he suprisingly quit Cleveland to join the Yankees, so sources close to the team were not suprised by the move.

Burke was chosen as Yankee president by CBS when it bought the Yankees for $13.2 million in 1966. His present title had been general partner along with Steinbrenner and chief executive officer.

Still GM

The statement said Lee MacPahil would continue as general manager in charge of the entire baseball operation and Paul would continue as Yankee administrative partner.

When Paul left his post with Cleveland as president, treasurer and general manager Jan. 10, Steinbrenner said, "With Mike and Lee and Gabe we'll have a stronger group."

Burke, who took over the team from Dan Topping when its fortunes were on the decline, was seen in the owners' box when yesterday's game began but was not there when the announcement was made.

Burke was instrumental in the decision to keep the American League club in New York's Yankee Stadium after its other tenant, the football Giants, decided to move to New Jersey. In yesterday's announcement, Steinbrenner added that "if the Yankees are successful, much of the credit is due to Mike because he's been an integral part of the rebuilding."

In an earlier move Howard Berk, whose title in New York hierarchy was administration director, said Friday he was leaving the Yankees to return to CBS.

10th Walking Race Set for Boardwalk

SEASIDE HEIGHTS — The 10th annual Olympic Development 10-mile walking race on the board walk takes place here at 10 a.m. May 6 and once again is expected to attract some of the East's top competitors.

Ron Daniel of Hamilton Township, who won last year's race in onehour, 14 minutes and 45 seconds, will be back to seek another boardwalk title.

He'll get some strong competition from, among others, ex-Princeton star Ray Somers, who won the recent Capt. Ronald Zinn Memorial 10-mile walk at Asbury Park; Shore Athletic Club's Todd Scully, who barely missed making last year's U.S. Olympic team, and Long Island AC's Steve Hayden, an Olympian who set the Seaside Heights record of 1:14:13 in winning here in 1970.

A victory in the National AAU mile walk at Madison Square Garden two months ago has been a high light of Daniel's year. Scully and Somers gained the fourth and fifth spots in the National AAU 20-kilometer walk April 15 in Santa Barbara, Calif.

The race is open to all amateur athletes and novices to the sport of race walking are especially invited to participate. Trophies will go to the first three individual finishers as well as to the winning club team and the high school team that has the most men completing the course under the two-hour time limit.

The race is sponsored by the borough, sanctioned by the AAU and is being staged by the Shore Athletic Club. Entry information is available from the NJAAU race walking chairman, Elliott Denman, 28 North Locust Ave., West Long Branch.

No Primary Fights Seen In Freehold

FREEHOLD — No primary contests are indicated in either political party for nomination to the three vacant seats on Borough Council.

Filing as Republicans for the two available three-year seats on council were incumbents W.J. Gene Kelsey and Ralph G. Musgrave Sr. Walter J. Baillie Jr., who was appointed to fill a vacancy last month, has filed for the one remaining year of the unexpired term.

Filing in the Democratic primary for the vacant three-year terms were Stephen Serafin of 21 Kiawah Ave. and William R. Jones Jr. of 20 Ann St. James Cullen of 352 Park Ave. has filed for the one-years unexpired term.

Mr. Kelsey has served on Borough Council and as police commissioner for three years. A 19-year resident of the borough, he owns and operates the Coffeehouse on the Square in the borough.

Mr. Musgrave of 56 Court St. is a lifelong borough resident. He served in both World War II and the Korean War and has worked for Prudential Life Insurance Co. for the past 22 years. He is seeking his second three-year term on council.

Mr. Baillie of 21 Jerseyville Ave., was chairman of the Planning Board for 2½ years, and has been chairman of the local Republican executive committee for the past three years. He works as a salesman of road equipment.

Mr. Serafin has been a member of the local police department for 25 years, rising from patrolman to captain. An army veteran of World War II, he is a past commander of the Disabled American Veterans and a member of Monmouth Post 54 of the American Legion.

Mr. Jones, is a native of the borough. He is employed as a land surveyer with James P. Kovacs Inc., here. A Navy veteran, he is an exempt volunteer fireman with the Goodwill Hook and Ladder Co. a former member of the Planning Board and a member of Monmouth Post 54 of the American Legion.

Mr. Cullen is also a lifelong borough resident. He has worked for the past 15 years for Frank C. Gibson Inc., local mechanical contractors. He served for seven years on the recreation committee, and is a member of the Knights of Columbus and of Steamfitters local 638.

Four in Keyport Seek Two Seats

KEYPORT — There are two three-year Borough Council seats at stake in the November election and four candidates from three political parties have filed for them.

Incumbent Republican Councilman Joseph H. Collins Jr. will be joined by Harold E. Laughlin of 158 Main St. in the GOP column. Incumbent Councilman Donald H. Redmond, who was elected to his first term in 1970 as a Democrat, has filed under the banner of the Keyport Independent Club.

James R. Birmingham of 6 Jackson St., a former member of the Board of Education, has filed as a Democrat.

Mr. Collins is seeking his second term. His running mate, Mr. Laughlin, was unsuccessful in a council bid last year.

A Democrat Files In W. Long Branch

WEST LONG BRANCH — Two incumbent Republican councilmen are unopposed in the June primary as they seek the party's nominations to run for new terms on the Borough Council.

Only one Democratic candidate filed for a council nomination. He is Dr. James K. Flanagan of 7 Lawrence Ave., an assistant English professor at Monmouth College.

The GOP incumbents are Jack L. Piantanida and Robert M. Shirvanian. Mr. Piantanida has served since 1971 while Mr. Shirvanian has served since 1967.

Dr. Flanagan is a graduate of Seton Hall University and received his master's and doctorate degrees from the University of Notre Dame.
