Christmas Seal Sales Far Below County Quota

Monmouth Communities a Long Way From the $14,000 Goal Set by Committee.

Urgent Appeal By District Chairmen

A campaign which actually saves life, cares for those who are sick and prevents the spread of such a dreaded disease as tuberculosis is surely worth the whole-hearted support of every citizen. If the public actually knew of the good accomplished day in and day out, 365 days a year, because of the money raised through the annual Christmas seal sale everyone in Monmouth county financially able to do so would make a contribution to the Christmas seal campaign through the purchase of Christmas seals. Such a campaign is now underway in this county. It began on Thanksgiving day and will be carried through the holiday period.

Mrs. Lewis S. Thompson of Lincroft, chairman of the Christmas seal campaign for Monmouth county, has informed the Red Bank Register that approximately only 34 per cent of the returns from the 24,000 letters with seals enclosed sent to residents of Monmouth county on Thanksgiving day have been received. The amount of the individual contribution this year is somewhat larger than that of last year, but the returns to date of $7,346 show that the amount expected to be realized of a quota of $14,000 is a long way from the goal.

According to the listing below it is plainly seen that Red Bank is not up to its usual standard in meeting appeals for charity. With a quota of $1,500, only $652.90 had been received up to Tuesday noon. Rumson, with a quota of $2,500, had turned in $1,322.50, and Middletown township, with $700 to be raised, had turned in $536. Not a community in the county had reached its quota up to the time The Register went to press.

The following table shows the community, quota and the amount received to date:

Nesbitt, Spring Lake; Mrs. Peter VanRixoort, Union Beach and Raritan township; Mrs. William Smith, Upper Freehold township; Mrs. Albert Woolley, West Long Branch, and Miss Madelaine Clancy, Wall township, West End and out of county.

Mrs. Thompson makes an appeal to all those who have not forwarded their contributions to do so just as quickly as possible as the sale officially closes on Christmas day. Returns are to be sent to the campaign headquarters, 131 Pearl street, Red Bank. Mrs. Thompson further states that the expansion and strengthening of the tuberculosis program throughout Monmouth county is dependent entirely upon the annual Christmas seal sale.

There are 15 tuberculosis clinics located at strategic places throughout Monmouth county which are operated the year around. Last year 128 X-rays were taken and 658 tuberculin tests were given.

Dr. Charles Gordon Heyd, president of the American Medical association, said in a recent broadcast in behalf of the seal sale that tuberculosis was the only one of several causes of death that showed a decline in death rate in 1934 and 1935.

The Monmouth County Christmas Seal Campaign committee has received many letters which clearly indicate the interest of Monmouth county citizens in this crusade. Some of these letters are from people ill with tuberculosis, and one such letter closed with the paragraph, "May I offer my small contribution with a willing heart." May all Monmouth county residents do likewise.

Mothers' Night Observance Held By Youths' Post

Largely Attended Meeting of the Sons of the American Legion Friday Night—Mothers and Ladies' Auxiliary Present.

Twenty-eight boys attended a meeting of Shrewsbury squadron, Sons of the American Legion, Friday night in the post rooms. Capt. Charles D. Bedford presided. "Mothers' Evening" was observed and most of the mothers of the members were present. The Ladies' auxiliary members acted as hostesses for the entire assemblage, providing both entertainment and refreshments. Addresses were made by John Pfeiffenberger, commander of the legion post; Mrs. Otmar Phillips, president of the auxiliary, and Mrs. Thomas Mead, past president of the auxiliary.

The squadron will dispose of a 15-pound turkey on the co-operative plan at the Strand theater next Wednesday evening. All returns on the sale of shares must be made by next Monday evening at the squadron rooms, 37 Broad street.

The charter membership list of the squardon will remain open until Thursday, December 31. Any boy who is a son of a World war veteran who is a member in good standing in the American Legion, is eligible for membership in the squadron.

The squadron is forming an orchestra.

Timely Appeal By Post Office Dept. For Early Mailing

Christmas Packages For Points West of Mississippi Should be Mailed Today or Tomorrow.

The postal employees at the Red Bank postoffice are very anxious to continue giving the public 100 per cent service, particularly at this holiday season, but can only do so with the hearty co-operation on the part of the mailing public.

Postmaster Edward vonKattengell, through the assistant postmaster, George R. Truex, has informed The Register that early mailing is a great help and urges those who have Christmas parcels going to distant points to mail them at once.

Parcels for points west of the Mississippi river should be mailed from Red Bank not later than tomorrow, Friday, December 18, to insure delivery at Christmastide. Christmas mail matter for points east of the Mississippi and southern and eastern states should not be mailed later than Monday, December 21.

Packages may be marked "Do not open until Christmas," and all parcels should be wrapped securely and addressed plainly. The return address of the sender should also be on all mail matter, and parcels of value should be insured. The postmaster also urges that valuable first class mail be registered.

Special delivery is excellent service for speed and can be used on all classes of mail. This is the only service that will be given by the Postoffice department throughout the United States on Christmas day. Air mail special delivery, will be delivered anywhere within continental United States within 30 hours from Red Bank.

Patrons are urged to use standard size envelopes and not so many bright colors, which are very trying on the eyes of the postal clerks. Cards with tinsel are unmailable unless in sealed envelopes.

All sealed matter is first class and must be prepaid at the rate of two cents an ounce on local matter and three cents an ounce outside of Red Bank. It is requested that patrons make sure that their mail matter has the correct amount of postage affixed thereon in order to avoid having it held up by virtue of insufficient postage.

Christmas cards in unsealed envelopes with just greetings and the name of sender require only a 1½ cent stamp and are rated as third class mail. By virtue of this low rate of postage it is not forwardable in case the sender has the wrong address.

The Red Bank postoffice will be closed all day Christmas day and attention will be given only to special delivery mail. Holiday collections only will be made from street letter boxes.

Gratifying News For The Clammers Of The Bayshore

State House Commission Makes Appropriation for the Continuance of Laboratory at Highlands and Purchase of Boat.

William Dennis, president of the Bayshore Shell Fisheries association, is in receipt of a communication from State Senator Frank Durand and Joseph N. Fowler, director of the Bureau of Shell Fish Control of the Department of Health, to the effect that they have secured an appropriation from the State House commission for additional funds to continue the operation of the testing laboratory at Highlands. They have also been notified that sufficient additional funds have been appropriated to purchase a boat to be used in connection with the laboratory.

Capt. Dennis has been agitating this matter for a considerable length of time, stating that the continuance of the laboratory is one of the most vital things to the preservation of the market for the clamming industry in the bayshore district.

One of the requirements of the United States Public Health Service, in giving the shell fish industry of Raritan bay a clean bill of health, is the operation of this laboratory in order to assure the government that the purity of the waters will be continued. It will be recalled that one year ago the inspection boat was scheduled to be withdrawn from these waters and the discontinuance of the laboratory was feared. Gratification will be general among those engaged in the clamming industry because there is no likelihood now of the boat being taken to other waters.

Capt. Dennis says that a great deal of credit should be given to Senator Frank Durand and Mr. Fowler of the State Department of Health for their good work.

At the September meeting of the Bayshore Shell Fisheries association both Senator Durand and Mr. Fowler were the chief speakers of the evening at one of the most largely attended meetings of the association. At that time they promised their co-operation in getting sufficient funds to confine the maintenance of the laboratory and to purchase a boat. Capt. Dennis says he has no doubt that the clammers will be delighted over this accomplishment.

Last Committee Meeting Of 1936 For Middletown

It Will be Held Monday, December 28, Instead of the Fourth Thursday of This Month—Road Contract to be Awarded

The annual settlement day meeting of the township committee of Middletown township will be held Monday, December 28, in the committee rooms at Middletown village. It is scheduled to be called to order at 11 o'clock. Ordinarily the regular meetings of the committee are held the second and fourth Thursdays of each month, but in this instance there will be no meeting Thursday, December 24.

The time will be spent chiefly in paying bills. It is also expected that a contract will be awarded for semi-permanent improvements on various roads. Some time ago such a contract was given out, but it was subsequently canceled at the direction of the state highway department on the ground that a technical mistake had been made in the manner in which it had been awarded. The state department will provide 90 per cent of the cost of improving the roads. Engineer George F. Randolph of Red Bank will look after the interests of the township when the work is done.

A letter was received from Mr. Randolph stating that the state highway department had informed him that the work of improving the Nutswamp road was to be delayed until spring. The contract was awarded several weeks ago and it is not among those rejected. The committee has decided to have the road improved for a longer distance than was originally planned and the highway department has agreed to pay half of the total additional expense of $730.76.

A letter was received from the township board of education asking that $68,000 be allotted for operating the schools the next eight weeks. Of this amount $27,000 is required for debt service. The letter was ordered filed.

A petition was received asking for lights on Taylor avenue, East Keansburg. It was referred to the committee on lights and roads.

Chester A. Henry, overseer of the poor, reported that $969.85 had been spent for relief purposes during November.

The Boro Busses company paid franchise taxes of $53.79 and the Rollo Transit corporation paid $44.24.

Charles H. Rupp, acting recorder, turned in $25 which he had collected in fines during October and November.

A letter from Van R. Halsey of Rumson, county treasurer, relative to taxes due to the county was referred to John T. Lawley, chairman of the finance committee.

George W. Pike of Port Monmouth was appointed constable.

Triad Election, Party Tonight

ARTIST AT CONCERT

MISS FRANCES BLAISDELL

Miss Blaisdell To Be Artist For Rubinstein Club

Red Bank Woman to Assist at Concert at Waldorf-Astoria—She is One of America's Leading Flute Soloists.

Frances Blaisdell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ferren F. Blaisdel of Bridge avenue, will appear as assisting artist at the first evening concert of the Rubinstein club of New York Monday night at 8:30 o'clock in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. Miss Blaisdell is recognized as one of America's leading flute soloists.

She moved to Red Bank with her family when a baby and received her first instruction on the flute from her father. She later studied under Rudolph Malchow and at the age of ten went to New York to continue her studies. She has studied with three of the greatest masters of her instrument, Ernest F. Wagner and George Barrere of New York and Marcel Moyse of Paris. She graduated with honors from the Institute of Musical Art at New York and for her extraordinary talent was rewarded with a fellowship at the Juilliard school of music.

Miss Blaisdell made her debut in New York as soloist with the New York Philharmonic, playing a Mozart concerto. She has been heard three times as soloist with the National Orchestral association at Carnegie Hall. She appeared as solist with the Musicians' Emergency Aid orchestra at Madison Square garden, playing the Bach triple concerto with Albert Spalding and Georges Barrere. Walter Damrosch was conductor. She has also been soloist with the Beethoven association, the Nassau Philharmonic and several times with Henry Hadley, eminent American conductor.

For four seasons she was the first flutist of the National Orchestral association under Leon Barzin. She returned recently to America from London, where she fulfilled a contract with the British Broadcasting company, playing solos and chamber music.

She has played twice in concerts at the Red Bank Methodist church, and the flute she now uses is a gift from Mrs. Edward H. Lafetra and Miss Emma Jane Lafetra. The flute belonged to Mrs. Lafetra's husband and Miss Lafetra's father.

Memorial Service On Borden Carillon

The Mary Owen Borden memorial carillon at St. George's Episcopal church, Rumson, will ring out the old year and usher in the new. J. Stanley Farrar, church organist, will play a recital on the carrilon, beginning at 11:30 New Years eve. Since the dedication of the carillon in 1934 it has been the custom of Bertram H. Borden of Rumson, the donor, to have a New Years commemoration at the church.

NEW YEARS EVE DANCE.

Fair Haven Yacht Club to Have Social Affair at Molly Pitcher.

The Entertainment committee of the Fair Haven Yacht club has arranged for a New Years eve dance to be held at the Molly Pitcher hotel Thursday night, December 31, and an unusual and enjoyable evening is assured those who attend.

F. W. Bailey is chairman and James Brooks and William A. Barry are assisting on the entertainment committee.

Notice.

All persons having claims against the borough of Little Silver for the current year are directed to present them to the Borough Clerk, in due form before the next regular meeting, December 22, 1936, to the end they may be audited and presented for the consideration of the council.

U. S. Department of Commerce Reports Great Gains Here in Business Over Two-Year Period.

Local Chamber Office Has Report On File

The United States Department of Commerce through its Bureau of the Census, Philadelphia branch, has issued a report which describes the kinds of businesses being conducted in Red Bank according to the census taken during the early part of last year. A nationwide census of business was taken during the first eight months of 1936 by enumerators who personally contacted approximately 3,000,000 business establishments. The returns are now being tabulated and the results of the census are being made public through press releases and in pamphlet form.

The Red Bank Chamber of Commerce has been favored with a detailed report of the kinds of businesses in Red Bank being conducted in 1935 as compared with the number being conducted in the same territory two years previous.

In 1933 there were 132 different types of stores, with total sales aggregating $3,974,000. There were 100 active proprietors and firm members with 404 full full-time and part-time employees, and a total payroll of $498,000. In 1935 there were 252 stores with total sales of $6,645,000, 196 active proprietors and firm members, 698 full-time and part-time employees and a total payroll of $738,000.

The classifications considered were food stores, eating and drinking places, general merchandising stores, apparel group, automotive group, filling stations, furniture, household and radio, lumber, building and hardware, drug stores, liquor stores and other stores.

The division of these various groups and other data compiled by the Bureau of Census for Red Bank is as follows:

	Number of Stores	Sales	Active proprietors and firm members	Employees (full-time and part-time) av. for year	Total Pay Roll
Food Stores	81	$1,999,000	62	168	$191,000
Eating, drinking places	29	313,000	30	52	46,000
General stores (with food)
General merchandise group	16	994,000	8	137	109,000
Apparel group	21	401,000	15	44	42,000
Automotive group	23	966,000	13	79	93,000
Filling stations	18	440,000	14	52	55,000
Furniture, household, radio	7	191,000	6	20	27,000
Lumber, building, hardware	12	557,000	7	73	95,000
Drug stores	11	384,000	7	42	45,000
Liquor stores (packaged)
Other stores	34	400,000	34	34	35,000

The above report will be followed within a short time by a complete report for the state, containing statistics for each city or municipality having a population of 2,500 or over, and also for each county. This report will be released in Washington and Philadelphia and a copy mailed to daily and weekly newspapers, as well as to chambers of commerce secretaries.

The 1935 business census was much broader in scope than previous censuses of business. Former censuses were limited to retailing, wholesaling, construction and hotels and in 1933 was expanded to include service establishments and amusements.

Copies of all publications relating to this census can be secured when issued by addressing the Bureau of the Census, 2041 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, or copies may be seen as used at the office of the Red Bank Chamber of Commerce, Patterson building, Broad street.

Testimonial For Thomas Field, Sr.

Middletown Man Honored by Monmouth County Hunt at Tea—Presented With Portrait of Himself.

A hunt tea, at which Thomas S. Field, Sr., field master of the Monmouth County Hunt, was guest of honor, was held Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wright Brown of Middletown. Mr. Field observed his 67th birthday anniversary Sunday.

A portrait of Mr. Field, painted by Raymond Nielson of New York, was unveiled. The picture was presented to Mr. Field and will hang in the Rumson country club. The subject is shown in hunting costume.

Frederick E. Hasler of Little Silver and Amory L. Haskell, master of field hounds, in short addresses praised Mr. Field highly. Mr. Field, it was pointed out, has served with the Monmouth County Hunt since the late Pat Collier brought hounds to Monmouth county in 1885. Mr. Field responded with a short address, in which he thanked his well-wishers.

The members of the hunt passed around a loving cup of champagne and sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Holmdel Bunco Party.

About $20 was cleared for the choir of the Holmdel Baptist church Friday night by a bunco party in the Sunday-school rooms under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society. The door prize, a hassock, was awarded to Ralph Morgan and a blanket was won by Holmes Duncan.

PLANS FOR NEW HOUSES.

Capt. Frank Farber Arranges to Build at Colt's Neck.

Frank Farber of Lincroft has had plans drawn by Vincent J. Eck of Red Bank for a residence for his own occupancy and for a house for a caretaker on his frog farm on the state highway a short distance south of Colt's Neck. Several ponds are on the farm in which frogs and turtles are raised. Mr. Farber anticipates building a restaurant at which frog and turtle menus will be served. He is employed as captain of a cruiser owned by Amory L. Haskell of Middletown township.

Activities Of American Legion

Two New Members Received and Arrangements Made to Provide Christmas Cheer for Ex-Service Men in Hospitals.

Edward F. Rowe of Everett and Alfred J. Lippman of Shrewsbury were received as members of Shrewsbury post of the American legion of Red Bank Monday night.

Mrs. Otmar Phillips, chairman of the child welfare committee, reported that a Christmas party would be given Thursday night, December 17, at the Marlboro hospital for the children of that institution. The post voted to contribute $5 to Rev. John Halloran, state chaplain of the legion, to be used in providing Christmas cheer for veterans at hospitals. Every post in Monmouth county will make a similar donation.

At the suggestion of George Hughes it was voted to register the names of veterans willing to supply blood for transfusions in emergency cases. All persons willing to make such contributions are to be requested to have their blood typed.

Senior Vice Commander Mortimer E. VanSauter reported for the house committee that chairs had been bought and that other action had been taken to better equip the post rooms.

Capt. Robert H. Rogers, made a report on the "Mothers' Night" observance held by the Sons of the American legion last week. Each boy at the party received a gift of a box of candy. Capt. Rogers stated that the boys would be instructed in five different kinds of work and subjects. An award will be given for completion of each course and any boy having five awards will receive a medal as a master prize.

George Hughes made a report on sick calls and relief, stating that medicine and fruit had been procured for two persons.

Members were advised to tune in their radio sets Thursday evening, December 24, for the annual Christmas party of the national commander. Broadcasting will be done from 6:30 to 6:45 o'clock.

Mr. Macholl of Lake Lovely post of South Amboy described the success of the bingo parties held by that organization and offered to assist the Red Bank post in holding such events here. A committee was appointed to arrange for bingo parties. Its members are Mortimer E. VanSauter, Morris Miller, Robert H. Rogers, Morgan Ellert, William Naulty, William Chandler, John E. Day, William Welsh, Archibald MacKellar, Jacques Norrell, Thomas Brockhurst and George Hughes.

The post voted to recommend George Hughes for appointment by the board of freeholders to have charge of burial allowances for veterans and headstones for veterans.

A letter was read from Harold Curtin, who is a patient at the United States Veterans hosptial at 130 West Kingsbridge road, New York. The writer said he was receiving good care at the hospital.

Arrangements were made to send cigarettes to veterans who are patients in hospitals.

Refreshments and a social time were enjoyed after the business meeting.

At a special meeting of the school board last week a resolution was adopted to hold a conference with the state school board in reference to refunding school bonds of the Cottage Park school. This matter has been discussed at previous meetings of the board, but no definite action was brought about until last week. Mrs. David Beaman, president of the Parent-Teachers association, told the board that a plan was being devised for the transportation of students to the Keyport high school in a more acceptable plan than at the present time. The payment of teachers' salaries, long past due, was under discussion but at the end of the discussion nothing definite developed. At a future meeting the case of a pupil recently expelled from school will be taken up.

The free public library, opened in the Bamman building on November 3, is proving more of a success than those who sponsored the movement anticipated. At the present time one hundred and eleven membership cards have been issued. Books borrowed total 428. More books have been received from the Monmouth county library. The library is open from 2:30 to 4:30 Tuesday and Thursday afternoons and from 8 to 9 o'clock Friday nights.

The Parent-Teachers association held a card party Friday night, with Mrs. Florence McKittrick in charge.

David Scott has made a large addition of meat and groceries to the stock at his store.

The annual Christmas party for the Methodist Sunday-school will be held Monday night.

Charles Holmes, leading weather prognosticator of this locality, is out with a prediction that the early part of the winter beginning Tuesday, December 22, and the latter part of the winter, ending March 22, will be severe, but that for the most part the weather will be mild. Mr. Holmes "goes by the caterpillar" in making this forecast. He finds that all caterpillars which he has observed have small portions of black, denoting cold weather, at the beginning and end of their bodies, while they have long portions of brown, indicating mild weather, in between. He says the color of caterpillars varies greatly each season and that he has never gone wrong yet in foretelling wintry weather by their autumnal appearance.

William McDougal, who has been very sick, continues to show improvement.

Items of Yesteryears From Register Files

Happenings of 50 and 25 Years Ago Culled From The News and Editorial Columns for Entertainment of Today's Readers.

Fifty Years Ago.

George H. Wild was elected commodore of the North Shrewsbury Ice Yacht club. Other officers were Samuel W. Morford vice commodore, Thomas Chadwick, A. W. Haviland and Oscar Hesse members of the Regatta committee and Captain George Coley, Thomas Hubbard and James B. Weaver members of the House committee. The club decided to purchase the ice yachts Uncle Bob and Zero for the use of club members and their friends. Each party's use of the boats was limited to half an hour.

Captain and Mrs. John S. Conover of Holmdel celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage.

A bill was introduced in Congress by Hon. William Walter Phelps directing the Secretary of War to lease to the National Hotel Company of New Jersey a tract of land on Sandy Hook for the purpose of erecting thereon two large hotels. The incorporators were to pay as rent the expense of running the three lighthouses and the two life saving stations then on the premises.

Dr. Edwin Field and Andrew R. Coleman were caught in the ice while hunting on Chesapeake bay. The ice cut through the sides of their boat and she sank. The men were rescued by a nearby schooner.

Leander B. Campbell won the shooting match at the Matawan Gun club grounds by defeating John Willett of Port Monmouth 42 to 38.

William Cullington was elected high priest of Hiram chapter, Royal Arch Masons of Red Bank. Washington lodge of Free Masons at Eatontown elected Harry B. Pitcher as their worshipful master.

At the annual meeting of the Keyport Oystermen's association Thomas S. R. Brown was elected president and Thomas Burrowes vice president.

Professor Reuben Applegate gave one of his entertainments at Little Silver Point. The entertainment was very good, but the attendance was very poor.

Holmes Walling of Shrewsbury took a position as clerk in Fred Wikoff's pharmacy at Red Bank.

J. B. Flynn was elected chief and William H. Nivison assistant chief of the Long Branch fire department.

Benjamin L. Trafford of Little Silver moved to New York, where he was engaged by a large truck manufacturing firm.

Jacob Smock of Leedsville still had in his possession the first piece of money ever earned by him. It was a Spanish quarter of a dollar issued in 1821.

Andrew J. Pope, a landscape gardener of Little Silver, returned from an eight months stay at Stockbridge, Massachusetts, where he had charge of a large landscape job.

The schooner John P. Long came ashore at the Highlands in a severe storm. The vessel was so old that her owners would not pay for the expense of hauling her off the beach and she was abandoned. Her crew made a successful landing on the shore at Coney Island.

F. C. Pattri of Keyport purchased the well known sloop Eldorado owned by persons in that vicinity.

The making of watches by machinery had been brought to such a perfection in the United States that the prices of time pieces had been reduced to a low figure. This was evidenced in that almost every man and boy was carrying one. This was particularly the case in Fair Haven and the popular amusement at that place was a swapping of time pieces "side unseen." Justice William Curchin dickered with Walter Little in a trade and Mr. Curchin found himself in possession of a watch that would run if it were conscientiously wound up at least eight times a day, while Mr. Little received a time piece that would go only when he took a walk.

Robert Fay was elected chief of Perseverance fire company at Eatontown.

The Seaside Fishery association bought two lots of river frontage at Parkertown from Dr. William F. Patterson as a landing and packing place for their boats and seafood. Samuel Burdge was president, John T. Johnson secretary and William F. Newman treasurer of the association.

The Pleasant View house at Middletown, opened as a temperance hotel, was a failure, and E. A. Newton, who conducted it decided to close up.

William H. Luke and Conover Applegate of Highlands joined in giving a grand ball at the village hall in Navesink.

Captain Benjamin Griggs bought the chapel building at Port Monmouth which had formerly been used as a Baptist church, and planned to convert it into a store.

Dr. Harry A. Clark of the Atlantic Highlands pharmacy stated that he was a mortar and pestle pulverizer and prescription filler of extraordinary talent but he did not know all about the methods of the modern drug business with its ornamentive adjuncts in the shape of fancy perfumery and toilet articles.

Mrs. Patrick Smith of Wallace street was recovering from the effects of falling against a heavy table and sustaining a broken rib.

The various posts of the Grand Army of the Republic in Monmouth county had their annual elections. R. R. Mount of Red Bank was elected commander of Arrowsmith post; A. D. VanDorn was elected commander of James B. Morris of Eatontown; John W. Hulse was elected commander of the Captain J. W. Conover post of Freehold and R. M. Worthington was elected commander of the C. K. Hall post of Asbury Park.

The Consumers Ice company was harvesting its first crop of ice for the season on Sherman's pond east of Red Bank. Seventy-five tons were cut from the first freezing.

Frank R. Wood and David Belshaw planned to open a restaurant in Mrs. French's building on Broad street, which had recently been occupied by J. M. Davis as a liquor store. Messrs. Wood and Belshaw were to seek a saloon license for the premises.

Oscar Hesse returned home with three large deer which he shot while on a trip in Pike county, Pennsylvania.

Chief Engineer Elijah Conk made tests of the fire hydrants to make sure they were unable in case of fire in extreme cold weather.

Miss Ella Roan of Brooklyn, formerly of Marlboro, and Tunis G. Cortelyou of Matawan were married in Brooklyn.

Twenty-Five Years Ago.

The anual entertainment and dance under the auspices of Shrewsbury lodge, Knights of Pythias was held in Odd Fellows hall. William Pope and Charles Klaus played for dancing. Dr. Walter S. Whitmore gave an address in which he outlined the principles of the lodge.

The Sperry and Hutchinson trading stamp firm was about to open a showroom in the Elsner building. Many stores in Red Bank and vicinity were giving out S. & H. green trading stamps with retail sales.

The Rumson Land & Development company was given permission by the Rumson council to extend its sewer system and William O'Brien of Red Bank was to do the work. Howard Longstreet was to supervise in the interest of Rumson borough at the rate of $3 per day for his time.

There was a big flag raising celebration at the Belford public school. Members of the Middletown board of education, Grand Army men and members of patriotic orders were present. A flag pole 73 feet in length was set up by Charles Burd of Red Bank.

Thieves ransacked the house of Mrs. Thomas Morford on Upper Broad street and stole a number of bed quilts, heirlooms of the family.

John McPeak of Rumson filed his bond for constable with James Enright and William Mears as bondsmen.

Axel Holm of Borden street sailed for Denmark. He had conducted a floor laying business in Red Bank several years. He owned property in Denmark and in order to hold it he had to be a Danish citizen and he returned for citizenship.

The clerks of the Red Bank postoffice pledged support to the national movement for extra pay for overtime work, the same as other government employees.

Muskrats were exceptionally plentiful and the hunters were having a profitable season. Among the most successful trappers were George Brower, Jr., and John Oakes, Jr., both of Red Bank.

Santa Claus made his annual visit to the store of Joseph Salz and distributed gifts among a large group of children who gathered there. Louis J. Tetley portrayed St. Nicholas.

A trotting match between horses owned by Wyckoff A. Pope of Colt's Neck and George Wilkins of Scobeyville took place on the county stone road at Colt's Neck. The match was for $50 and was won by Pope's steed.

One of the show windows in Salz's store at Broad and Mechanic streets featured a display of handkerchiefs so arranged as to represent St. James church and its new tower.

Miss Bertha Hendrickson, daughter of William T. Hendrickson, and Cecil S. Conover, both of Middletown, were married at the bride's home by Rev. Horace Goodchild.

Elijah M. Conk resigned as Red Bank's truant officer. The resignation was due to an argument between Mr. Conk and a Lakewood resident in the barroom of the Sheridan hotel.

William H. English of New York bought through Edward S. Allaire of Red Bank the beautiful estate of Theodore C. Blanchard of Middletown township, overlooking the North Shrewsbury river. It was understood that Mr. English paid $60,000 for the property.

Collins brothers of Port Monmouth started South on their annual cruise in their yacht Eleanor. They were accompanied by Rufus Eastmond, Lester Smith, William Tanner, Stephen Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Smith and the Misses Place and McCall. The party expected to be away two months.

Lester Walling of Belford and Herbert R. Leonard of Marlboro were appointed special township officers by the Middletown township committee.

Announcement was made of the marriage of Miss Grace Corkery of Boston to Joseph Maurer, Jr., of Keyport. The wedding had taken place November 19 in New York.

The stationery and novelty business of Elgin E. Cline at Keyport was bought by Walter B. Cherry of that place. Mr. Cline was head bookkeeper in the Matawan Tile company's office at Matawan and he put his sister, Miss Eva Cline, in charge of the store.

John Hintelmann erected a huge Santa Claus in his store at Rumson which attracted much attention, particularly from the children in that vicinity.

William Crane, a former member of the firm of H. G. Degenring & Company of Red Bank took over the Belford hotel, known as Ritter's, at that place.

Arthur G. Nelson, son of Andrew Nelson of Sea Bright, died of complications in his 21st year.

Nathan Delmeyer of Colt's Neck gave a party for his daughters Margaret and Carrie. A large group of friends came from the nearby countryside and spent a most enjoyable evening, featuring graphophone selections.

A Woman's club was formed at Farmingdale, with Mrs. G. S. Williams as president.

Harry Breese of Eatontown was laid up with an injured hand as the result of an accident which happened in Waters & Osborn's mill at Red Bank. The day before the accident he had told some fellow members that he had worked at the mill five years without even a minor accident.

William Crawford, aged 85 years, died of old age at his home at Crawford's Corner, near Holmdel.

The Bachelor's Walking club of Red Bank enjoyed a hike to Long Branch and return by way of Oceanic and Sea Bright. The walkers were Louis Tannenbaum, Vernon Bennett, Paul Schroeder, Arthur Eschelbach, Fred Ivins and Jack Rumpf.

Alonzo Bennett of Little Silver left for Florida, where he was to act as assistant engineer on a boat operating along the Florida coast.

Lem Ketcham of Red Bank was named on the State Dinner committee for turfmen to prepare for the annual banquet to be held in Newark.

William B. Lawrence was taken into partnership with William and James Hendrickson in the Lake Merlon Ice company's business. He was given an interest in the concern on account of his faithfulness and his valuable services.

Stuart Ellis MacKellar, son of Rev. and Mrs. Robert MacKellar of Red Bank, was married to Miss Sarah Allen Osborn, daughter of Howard Osborn of Manasquan. The ceremony was performed the past August. They started housekeeping at Peekskill, where Mr. MacKellar was employed.

O. G. Simmons, aviator for Robert J. Collier, made ten flights from Mr. Collier's summer residence at West Hill, Wickatunk, during one Sunday. One of his passengers was Henry Conover, aged 13, son of Charles E. Conover, who at that time was probably the youngest passenger ever carried in an airplane.

C. Mel Johnson was building a large addition to his hotel at the Highlands, a feature of one of the rooms being an old fashioned fire place which was being installed by John Woodward of Atlantic Highlands.

Mr. and Mrs. Nussbaum entertained a large group of friends in celebration of their 15th wedding anniversary.

Edward M. Little purchased the Episcopal church carriage shed at Fair Haven and had it moved to his lot on Church street to be converted into a bungalow.

"What I Found in South Dakota."

Well, we are all fine and while the heat has been more than we really ordered, yet we are becoming accustomed to it and may get so we like it after awhile. South Dakota is very much like North Dakota, but you will soon learn that it has quite a few very interesting places. The drive, however, from Bismarck, the Capital of North Dakota to Pierre, Capital of South Dakota, was not at all exciting, as we had the same old gravel, unoiled roads that we had all through North Dakota. The towns are small and few and far between and sometimes we would pass a few old shacks and afterwards find that it was a town listed on our map. We were driving along one afternoon and for miles we could see a group of towers which we first thought were oil wells, but upon getting closer we discovered that these towers were wind mills and that what we were coming into was a town by the name of Moffit and that practically every home in the town had a windmill. Most of the houses were small; some were real nice homes, but there were no lawns, grass or shade trees of any kind. We arrived at Pierre after about a four hundred mile drive and found quite a nice little city and while business seemed quite active right in the city, yet we met many people leaving the state and we were convinced that the messenger boy who rode his bike along side the Trailer, was right when he said to me "There is nobody here only those who cant get away,' when I asked him, 'How's everybody in South Dakota?"

We spent the night in the capital city and called on Governor Berry, who is a second Will Rogers, and received a fine letter wishing us every success on our trip. We also met Benjamin D. Mintener, Chief of the State Police and he told us to make ourselves at home and if anyone bothered us to just give him a call and he would come to our assistance no matter where we were. We camped at a fine station right in the heart of the city and had three visitors during the evening. John J. Lenahan and Wayne Luther of the Mennen Company of Newark, N. J. and Fred Orr of the Dakota Press Service were our visitors and they were all fine chaps and we had a fine time talking until almost midnight.

They still use the little Red School house out here and some of them are very small and only one room. They are often 30 or 40 miles apart. We passed one about 16 feet square with a horse hitched to a buggy and tied to the fence while another school about the same size about 40 miles further down the road with a saddled horse tied to the fence. The horses no doubt were the school marm's conveyance. In most cases there was not a house in sight and in one case we drove more than five miles before we sighted a single house after passing one of these school houses.

We left the capital city and drove thirty miles out of our way to visit the Bad Lands and although the roads were awful, yet it was a sight we will never forget and is certainly one of the great freaks of nature. It just seems that the earth has been washed away from these huge mountains, leaving them in the shapes of great images, pyramids, columns and in all colors of the rainbow. They go down below the level several hundred feet and then rise up several hundred feet above the level. It was a hot, dry drive over just gravel roads, but we witnessed a sight we will never forget. With proper publicity and a few hundred miles of good roads, this sight would bring thousands instead of the few who have the courage to make the trip. From here we went through the great Black Hills of South Dakota, and it was here that we really had a hair raising experience, when we stalled our motor within about 100 feet of the top of one of those little hills about 10,000 feet high. These roads are just gravel and were made in the original cow paths, round rocks and grades almost like climbing the side of a church steeple. Well, Ty was driving and he went to go from second into low and the motor went dead; he applied the brakes and tried to start and it would go a couple of feet and stop. We got out chucked the wheels with stones and I tried my luck, but it waas no better. About that time a couple of farmers came along and offered their help and one of them asked if the car was working all right and we told him it was and he said, "Why that's a Chevie isn't it?" I said, "Yes." And he said, "Why that Chevie will yank that out of there and I'll do it for you if you want me to." I said, "Go to it, old man," and he got in and gave her the juice and sho almost flew over that mountain. We were not feeding the motor enough gas and we had no more trouble on any of the other great grades in these thousands of mountains, and we certainly did thank those Dakota farmer boys. Here is where the faces of Washington and Jefferson are out in the rocks, and they are so large that you can see them for a distance of ten miles or more. We drove about a hundred miles through these Black Hills that day and came out in a real prairie and just as the sun was setting here came hundreds of real live buffaloes across those hills and one of them came up within twenty feet of our car and he looked as much surprised at us as we did at him. This was a rough and rugged trip but it was one we shall always remember.

Really the only green thing we saw in many parts of North and a good part of South Dakota is a thistle which grows green along the roads. It is known as the Canadian thistle and in some places the farmers are cultivating it and harvesting it for their stock.

Our Covered Wagon home on wheels and the Chevie are serving us like faithful servants, giving us all the comforts of home even out here in these great wide open spaces.

Our next letter will be from Wyoming and the Yellowstone Park.

FARM MACHINERY

Time Spent on Its Repair Is Well Invested.

Many a piece of farm machinery has had an untimely trip to the junk pile because repairs were neglected until it became more practical to buy a new machine than to bother overhauling the old one.

Such extravagance can be averted, according to Ellwood Douglass, county agricultural agent, by protecting machinery from the elements and checking every detail annually. First, an implement storage is needed, and a shop provided with heat and large enough to accommodate any of the farm machines is most convenient, especially when connected with the storage shed. Repairs may then be made in comfort during cold weather. The county agricultural agents have free plans for an implement storage shed and shop.

Before placing the machine in storage it should be thoroughly cleaned and any parts which might rust should be covered with oil or grease. Crank case oil applied with a paint brush is effective in preventing rust.

After cleaning, a thorough inspection should be made and all worn or damaged parts listed. It is best to order these parts soon after harvest and to put them on when the machine is repaired during the winter. In overhauling the machine, tighten all bolts, straighten bent parts, sharpen all cutting edges, apply a coat of paint and replace worn and broken parts.

New Pastor For Matawan.

Rev. Garrett Detweiler of Baptistown has accepted the call to the pastorate of the First Baptist church of Matawan and will take charge the first of the year. The pastorate has been vacant for several months since Rev. Carl Koeker, Jr., resigned to accept an appointment at Sacramento, California.

WPA Grant for Water Works.

The Public Works Administration has approved a grant of $45,000 for the installation of municipal water system for Englishtown. A public meeting will be held at Englishtown soon to discuss the matter.

William Curlis Goes To State Prison

William Curlis, 39 of Headden's Corner, was sentenced by Judge J. Edward Knight last Friday to state prison for 15 to 20 years for the slaying of Mrs. Alice Mills Smith over a month ago. Curlis was sentenced on a second degree murder charge although he pleaded non-vult to a first degree waiver of indictment two weeks ago. Assistant Prosecutor E. F. Juska told the court that an investigation indicated Curlis slew the woman with whom he lived in a drunken rage. Both Juska and Harold McDermott, Freehold attorney assigned by the court to defend Curlis, said there was no hint of premeditation in the crime to warrant a stronger charge.

Under his original plea, Curlis would have been liable to life imprisonment. The 65-year old Smith woman was beaten to death in her home November 5. Curlis was arrested nine days later when he returned to the vicinity after having fled following the murder.

Pays Dividend.

The APOG corporation, which took over the assets of the old Asbury Park and Ocean Grove bank, has declared the fourth dividend since the bank closed five years ago. The corporation distributed $60,000 among 7,500 depositors. This represents $1.95 a share on the preferred stock of the corporation.

Used 113 Rabbits for Supper.

The Algonquin Rod and Gun club of Cliffwood recently gave a hassenpfeffer supper for its members. In preparing the supper 113 rabbits shot by members of the club were used.

Falls from Trestle.

Charles E. Frye of Matawan fell from a railroad trestle at Farmingdale last week and suffered several fractured ribs. State police say that Frye jumped from a train and was unaware that it was on a trestle.

Death of Matawan Woman.

Mrs. Elmira Stoddard of Matawan died last Saturday week of heart trouble. For many years she had conducted a confectionery store. She leaves one sister, Miss Julia A. Barclay of Matawan.

Sale of a Farm.

Mrs. Arrilla Conine has sold her West Freehold farm to Abram S. Lott, a neighbor farmer who will operate it in connection with several other farms. The place contains 68 acres and a ten-room house.

FORD

LOWEST PRICE IN YEARS

and new operating economy

THE ADDITION of a new 60-horsepower engine to the Ford line for 1937 brings you a new, low price and gives you a choice of two V-type 8-cylinder engines, 85 horsepower for maximum performance, 60 horsepower for maximum economy.

The 60-horsepower V-8 engine was originally developed for use in England and France, where fuel costs are high. It has been proven there for two years with brilliant success. Now, brought to America, it creates an entirely new standard of modern motoring economy!

The "60" engine, available in five body types, is built in exactly the same body size and wheelbase — to the same advanced design — with the same comfort and convenience as the "85." And it delivers V-8 smoothness at speeds up to 70 miles an hour.

Two engine sizes—but only one car and one purpose—to give you more miles and more satisfaction for your money in 1937.

FORD FEATURES FOR 1937

APPEARANCE—Distinctive design. Headlamps in fender aprons. Modern lid-type hood. Larger luggage space. New interiors. Slanting V-type windshield.

BRAKES—Easy-Action Safety Brakes with "the safety of steel from pedal to wheel." Cable and conduit control. About one-third less brake pedal pressure required.

BODY—All steel. Top, sides, floor and frame welded into a single steel unit. Safety Glass throughout at no extra charge.

COMFORT AND QUIET—A big, roomy car. Center-Poise comfort increased by smoother spring-action with new pressure lubrication. New methods of mounting body and engine make a quieter car.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1936.

The Importance of Municipal Budget-Making.

The season for budget-making is at hand as the year draws to a close. Action taken by officials in making appropriations for municipal purposes within the next few days will have an important bearing as to the amount of taxes to be paid during 1937. However, sight should not be lost of the fact that, if you live in a borough, it is not entirely your mayor and council, or if you live in a township, it is not entirely your township committee, which is the dominant influence.

Your board of education is also a very large factor. In most municipalities hereabouts more taxes are raised for expenditures by boards of education than for municipal uses. For example, at Red Bank the municipal budget for the present year was considerably lower than for the preceding year. That spelled lower taxes, but on account of a considerable increase in board of education expenses taxes went up instead of down.

The time for adopting school budgets has not yet arrived. In February the people are permitted to vote on such appropriations. In other words they "make their own bed" and whether it is of thorns or roses is of their own doing. They vote away their own money at the ballot box and regardless of whether they make wise or otherwise use of this right they must "foot the bill." If unwarranted or extravagant expenditures are made the people have no one to blame but themselves, which is exactly as it should be.

But with regard to municipal budgets the case is different. The appropriations are not subject to the will of the people. Once tentatively adopted by the borough or township officials, they are almost invariably put through unchanged. It is true that budget hearings are held when citizens may express their views, but for some reason hard to understand this most important matter causes scarcely a ripple of general interest. Taxpayers cuss and "rear up on their hind legs" and find all manner of fault with municipal officials when taxes are increased, but at the one time of the year—right now—when they could most effectively let the officials know they want economy their voices are stilled.

Most officials are taxpayers and under normal conditions it is to their own interest to keep taxes down. But they are subject to all kinds of pressure from special groups to increase expenditures. Political threats and various other means are employed to force them to take such action. Human nature being what it is, it is not strange that they often capitulate, especially when the taxpayers show such little interest and accord little or no credit when taxes are reduced.

Now is the opportune time to be "tax conscious." Almost without exception municipal officials are receptive to suggestions. One does not need to attend council or township committee meetings to speak his or her mind. The average borough or township official is anxious to know the pulse of the people and to respond to the public will, and they can be contacted at other places besides official meetings. For this reason The Register is 100 per cent behind all officials who try to reduce expenses for the coming year in this formative budget-making time.

Expenses should be cut to the bone during the coming year so far as it is possible to do so without curtailment of essential public service. The depression, although vanishing, is not ended and many home owners are in distress. Prosperity cannot be restored until the purchasing power of this class is on a normal basis and there is no more immediate way to do this than to reduce taxes. The Register will examine the budgets of the various municipalities with more than usual care during the coming year (and also later the school board budgets) and will be delighted to accord credit where credit is due for decreased expenditures.

Death of Louis Kaiser a Great Community Loss.

Lincroft and this section of Monmouth county lost a prominent and charitable resident Sunday in the death of Louis Kaiser of Lincroft farm. Mr. Kaiser succumbed to a cerebral hemorrhage at his New York apartment after a short illness. Death overtook him in the prime of life. He was 39 years old.

Mr. Kaiser, who practised law in New Jersey for awhile and later acquired a seat on the New York stock exchange, bought Lincroft farm and moved there about five years ago. He improved the place considerably, building a palatial residence and at the time of his death was negotiating for the purchase of property to enlarge his estate.

He will be best remembered hereabouts for his generosity to charity and other worthwhile causes. For the past two years he and his wife conducted horse shows on their Lincroft estate, the proceeds from which were donated to nearby hospitals and the Monmouth County Organization for Social Service.

A patron of horse shows and harness racing, Mr. Kaiser owned some of the finest show horses in the country. His mare, Winning Ways, was three-gaited saddle horse champion of the 1936 season, and his Gold Digger won the five-gaited championship of the National Horse show in 1935.

Although the enjoyment of his family, fine home and great horses was suddenly terminated while he was still a young man, these same things plus a record for sportsmanship will remain as a memorial to him.

State vs. Local School Management.

One proposal which has been made as an outgrowth of the celebrated Princeton survey is that of abolishing local boards of education and of placing the management of the public schools entirely under the supervision of a state board or agency. Apparently this suggestion is receiving more attention in some of the Western states than it is in New Jersey where it originated.

Opponents of the proposal may find objections on the score that it would curtail home rule, but against this should be weighed large benefits which would reduce the cost of running the schools and eliminate overlapping educational agencies. It is readily observable that a large saving for the taxpayers could be effected by operating the schools on the basis of geographical or population needs instead of on the basis of municipal boundaries as is now done.

For example, consider the case of River Plaza pupils who are transported five miles or so to the Middletown township high school at Leonardo. River Plaza is Red Bank's nearest sizable neighbor and the pupils of that place could walk to the Red Bank school in less time than it requires to transport them to Leonardo. Moreover, they would enjoy greater comfort and convenience. But because they happen to live a short distance west of an imaginary boundary line the taxpayers must be put to the expense of transporting them and the pupils must be put to the inconvenience of starting earlier for school and arriving home later than should logically be true.

One might go on to enumerate many other advantages which would accrue from the proposed change. For one thing the service of many teachers capable of performing more work than they are now permitted to do would not be confined to one municipality but could be utilized to the fullest possible extent with benefit to the schools and with increased wages for the teachers in question. For another thing, the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund, now in a more or less bad way because of defaulted loans, would be fortified by the credit of the state.

Among other things the proposed plan gives promise of taking the management of the schools out of politics. In February the annual election for members of boards of education will be held, and in some municipalities political jockeying is already taking place for this event. Under state management this would be eliminated. Many other advantages over the present system might be cited; and the proposed change is worthy of more attention than it has received.

Proposed Waiting Room for Bus Passengers.

The letter and editorial in The Register last week urging that a waiting room for bus passengers be established at the corner of Broad and Monmouth streets has aroused wide comment. So far as The Register has been able to ascertain sentiment is 100 per cent in favor of the proposal.

The suggestion has been offered that this much needed convenience for the benefit of travelers could appropriatly be built by those who benefit most in a monetary sense from this form of transportation—the bus owners. According to all accounts they have enjoyed prosperity even during the lean depression years, and no reasonable person will begrudge this, for excellent service has been provided.

Regardless of all this, however, there should be a waiting room at the corner mentioned. It would not prove expensive to build; it would increase the prestige of Red Bank as a shopping center; and it would enhance the reputation of this community for hospitality. If private enterprise is not willing to finance the project subscriptions by public-spirited citizens or public funds should be available. Red Bank must offer the same advantages for the traveling public as other communities or suffer a loss of reputation because of being behind the times.

Society Can Never Fully Right This Wrong.

Stranger than fiction is the case of Louis Benevento of Keyport, who was arrested 17 years ago, shortly after having served in the army during the World war, on a false accusation of having committed a hold-up and robbery. His jail term was shortened because of good behavior and he was released after having served four and one-half years. He took up his residence at Keyport where he was not known, found employment there under the name of Bennett and soon won the respect of all who knew him as a hard-working, thrifty, law-abiding citizen. A person with a different temperament would have become embittered and an enemy of society.

Last week the whole truth came out. There was no hold-up and no robbery. The alleged crime was a fabrication on the part of a collector for a bakery, who in order to hide his defalcations, invented the story. The money which he stole was lost in gambling. Conscience stricken over having sent an innocent man to jail, he confessed his crime. Mr. Benevento had never mentioned his unjust punishment to his most intimate friends and the story has created a sensation.

He is now attempting to have the unfounded criminal record expunged and to collect compensation for the time that he spent in jail. No matter how much is paid to him, society can never restore the four and one-half years that it took out of his life by putting him in prison. This case should give pause to those who are prone to pass judgment on circumstantial evidence. Appearances are often very deceiving, as they were in this case, resulting in misplaced justice both for the innocent and the guilty.

Even to a greater degree this case is food for reflection with regard to capital punishment. If the charge against Mr. Benevento had been murder and had been as cleverly faked as the unjust hold-up accusation he would have been electrocuted 17 years ago. Society can make some measure of restitution for false imprisonment, but it cannot restore life.

Recently a celebrated book was published in which the author cited 100 cases in different parts of the world during the past 25 years of persons who had been put to death for murders which they had not committed. Their innocence was absolutely established after it was too late to save their lives. How many unproved instances of the same kind have occurred can only be guessed at, but that they must be numerous is indicated by the fact that so much of this kind of injustice has been revealed.

Both circumstantial evidence and capital punishment should receive more scrutiny. Their usefulness is littered with many examples of terrible injustice. Circumstantial evidence cannot be entirely disregarded as a factor of law enforcement, but the opponents of capital punishment present very effective arguments why it should be eliminated. They portray society in the role of a murderer and justly so when they cite examples of innocent persons having paid the death penalty. Even more convincing as an argument against capital punishment is the evidence which they present showing that murders are less prevalent in states where it has been abolished than where it is in force.

Look at This Team and See What Football Is !

Everybody has a feeling of sympathy for the "under dog," especially when the "under dog" puts up a brave battle against odds. For this reason even those who do not keep close tabs on sporting events will be pleased to note the fine compliment which has been paid to the Middletown township high school football team and its coach, Gilbert Augustine, in the invitation which has been extended to the team to play a game at Wilmington, Delaware, next year against the high school football gridders of that place.

Middletown's gridiron specialists must look good to Wilmington or they would not have invited a team so distant from Delaware. Evidently they consider the Middletowners a good drawing card, for they offered to pay traveling expenses up to $125.

Middletown has been the "under dog" in high school athletics, lo these many years! But look at its football team and its coach this fall and see what football is! Not so many years ago games between Red Bank and Middletown were annual Thanksgiving classics, but eventually interest waned because the matches were so one-sided. The games were always marked by good sportsmanship on both sides, which was in contrast with some contests played here and elsewhere.

Recently some of the Middletown township school board members voiced a desire to have the Thanksgiving games with Red Bank again made an annual feature. It is pleasant to have our neighbors express such friendly regard for the athletic representatives of this community; and after the great record made by the football artists on the other side of the river Red Bank is obliged willy nilly to sit up and take notice.

Editorial Views

(The opinions expressed in the Editorial Views hereunder do not necessarily carry the endorsement of The Register).

Economic Engineering.

Never was Herbert Hoover on sounder ground, either as engineer or economist, than in his recent speech to the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He gave a needed warning about present prosperity tendencies to repeat pre-depression mistakes by thoughtlessly booming wages and profits and blindly failing to lower prices. He said:

The debacle which terminated the end of another apparently highly prosperous period was largely contributed to by a failure of industry to pass its improvement (obtained through labor-saving devices) on to the consumer.

Apparently, Mr. Hoover has been reading the monumental study of "America's Capacity to Produce" made by Dr. Harold G. Moulton for the Brookings Institution. Dr. Moulton's careful statistics show that between 1922 and 1929 in the manufacturing industries the average productivity of workers increased 25 per cent. The same authority bears Mr. Hoover out when he says that "there was no corresponding reduction in selling prices—indeed, retail prices did not decline at all."

Comparable and accurate figures for savings in production costs since 1929 are not available for American industry in general, but the depression has forced notable economies, and in many cases these have exceeded the 25 per cent decline between 1922 and 1929. Few prices have declined; indeed, the tendency is up. Of course, no one should ask industry to pass on savings until it has regained depression losses. No one will ask employers to raise wages until they have made up for wages paid out of reserves. But now that many are feeling they can increase wages and dividends, it is time to ask them to consider the larger industrial statesmanship of lowering prices.

For raising wages and dividends benefits only a small portion of the population—even should all industry take action, but reducing prices as fast as production costs are reduced benefits not merely wage earners and investors, but everybody who buys. Lower prices raise the buying power of every dollar which may go to the purchase of industrial or farm products. It is in that sense the opposite of inflation, but it has about the only good effect of inflation—it encourages buying. Not from fear that the dollar will be worth less, but from the confidence that it will buy more.

The essential theory of capitalism is that every producer will sell more cheaply as he produces more cheaply, and that lower prices will result in ever-enlarging consumption. When this process of passing on to consumers the benefits of improved production processes is blocked by monopoly, the industrial system begins to lose its necessary outlet in an ever-expanding market.

It would be doctrinaire to say that such a blocking, caused by monopolies of employers (through trusts, mergers, "administered" prices, and even through some trade associations) and monopolies of employees (through union restrictions, out-of-line increases in hourly wage rates or any curtailment of production) was responsible for all failures of distribution and consumption experienced in the depression. Yet, as Mr. Hoover points out, the failure to lower prices as costs were reduced largely contributed to the loss of markets which at first looked like "overproduction."

Changing this tendency through industrial statesmanship is one of the great potentialities of the present. There is little hope that government can do it; the monopoly-fostering effects of one side of NRA should be clear by now. The possibilities of this essential kind of wealth-sharing through Government control are limited. There is hope that industrial leaders will see the need to exercise voluntary economic engineering—the best kind of economic planning.—The Christian Science Monitor.

Electricity For Monmouth Farms.

Farmers in the vicinity of Freehold are showing characteristic enterprise in the interest with which they are considering undertaking a government-sponsored rural electrification project. The program under advisement is aimed at supplying electric power to farms within a radius of ten miles or thereabouts of Freehold in sections where there is little probability that private power companies will string lines. Under the rural electrification administration, farmers living within reasonable distance of each other along a prospective power route would construct lines and wire their buildings with the aid of a government loan, which would be amortized within a period of 20 years. Power would be purchased from the Jersey Central Power and Light company, unless it was decided to establish a separate generating plant, at co-operative rates that would provide cheap electricity and at the same time help pay off the government loan for original construction.

The rural electrification plan has worked successfully in many areas in the West and it offers an interesting proposal to farmers in this section, many of whom have little hope of obtaining power from private companies. Especially at a time when electricity is becoming increasingly valuable on the farm, for operating machinery as well as producing light and possibly heat, the prospect of a co-operative distribution system financed on easy terms by the federal government seems likely to appeal to farm dwellers. It offers them urban conveniences in lighting and electrical appliances in the home and a chance to enjoy modern electrically-driven machinery on the farm.—Asbury Park Press.

Senator Barbour on Politics.

United States Senator Barbour has paid two visits to Bergen county within the past two months; once just before election at the Englewood Field Club, where he met a host of friends, again on Tuesday evening of this week when he addressed the Bergen County Grand Jurors Association at a dinner at the Swiss Chalet.

On the visit before election the Senator was flush with the enthusiasm of confidently-expected victory. On the visit this week it was all different; he had suffered defeat and showed it. But he did not show it by any exhibition of bad temper or by any sign of the sting that one feels in defeat.

Senator Barbour, on the other hand, was expounding the idea, and the ideal, of good sportsmanship in American politics, a lesson that is not a mere emptiness of words. He explained how sound our institutions are, governmentally speaking, when both parties view elections as closed books, without any exhibition of the political violence that is often found in other countries.

That is true. The defeated candidate, with very few exceptions, takes the defeat philosophically and in good part. The one exception worthy of note was Mr. Hoover, who never recovered from the sour attitude that resulted from his defeat in 1932. But the wiser and more temperate party heads paid no attention to him, and went ahead laying their plans for another campaign. Another who took his defeat with bitterness was Al. Smith, but of the others of the past 40 years, Governor Landon, John W. Davis, Governor Cox, Mr. Hughes, Mr. Taft, Mr. Bryan, Judge Parker—all went down to defeat gracefully and in the best traditions of good sportsmanship. Even back in 1876 when Samuel J. Tilden was cheated out of a Presidency by Rutherford B. Hayes, Mr. Tilden's calm demeanor put to route all talk of another civil war. That was only a little more than 11 years after the close of the Civil war, and it would have taken but a spark to touch off the strife again. That was probably the nearest this country ever came to political violence regarding an attempt to fight it out.

Senator Barbour has rendered a good service, in his role of defeated candidate, by extolling the system of majority rule in its best form.—Hudson Dispatch.

Open Plumbing for Taxes.

Whether it was industrial development, whether war, whether depression, it was a reason in the past 25 years for state and federal governments alike to extend the field of taxation in the United States. A study by Treasury Department agents has just disclosed a tendency on the part of states to invade tax areas usually reserved to the Federal Government, and the first impression the average taxpayer will probably receive from the report is one of disorder in the American taxing system.

This system—or is it?—like little Topsy, has "just growed"—but how! —since 1910. Until the Civil war, proceeds from land sales and customs duties were more than adequate for federal needs; states were satisfied with taxes on property. Even up to 1910 the central authority depended only on customs and a few excises, and states added only some minor sources and corporation taxes to their revenue taps.

Those were the days of open plumbing not only in the commodious new houses which the most taxable families were building, but days of open plumbing in taxation, too. That is, the pipes through which the taxpayer's money flowed governmentward were relatively visible. They were perhaps of a rather too generous diameter to suit the very human taxpayer, who probably groaned as loudly, but not as often, surely, as taxpayers do today. But the pipes were not intertwined with a maze of tiny hidden tubes installed by clever tax-plumbers to carry off as much of the flow as possible without arousing the taxpayer's suspicions. And they were not being installed by agencies in competition with each other for every drop that could be drained.

By 1932 the pipes had become so numerous and their turns and twists so inscrutable that Mr. Roosevelt, campaigning in Topeka, Kansas, was demanding that the Federal Government produce a "definite and clear-cut classification of taxes which it wishes reserved to it." To arrive at some agreement between state and federal governments as to their respective restrictions and privileges is a task still waiting for real attention.

The Treasury report asks for no reform, nor is it intended as a hint to states to keep off the federal grass. But it may prod taxpayers into a concerted movement toward a simplification of the tax structure. Open plumbing was recognized as an indispensable advantage to householders many years ago. And open-plumbing methods of taxation would prove as great an advantage today not only to the taxpaying individual but to state and federal governments. As President Roosevelt has said:

When legislators, administrators and voters are able to bring about an orderly dividing of the methods of taxation between the national government, the state governments and the local governmental units . . . then and only then can we as a nation take up the equally important task of putting some kind of a limit on the total of our taxes and on the total of the government debts.—The Christian Science Monitor.

APPRECIATION.

Letter From David Tumidalski About His Farewell Dinner.

December 11, 1936.
Catskill, New York.

To the Editor of The Register:

Dear Sir:

May I through The Register thank the people of Atlantic township for the very wonderful testimonial they gave in my honor?

Words cannot express the feeling and surprise that I experienced over the farewell dinner given in my behalf.

I would like to convey my appreciation to the churches, the fire company, the board of education, the executives and committee of the wonderful Boy Scout organization and all others who were in any way responsible for this pleasant farewell dinner.

I also wish to thank Senator W. Warren Barbour for the splendid letter in behalf of the scout organization and myself and the fire company for conferring on me a life honorary membership.

Gratefully yours,
David Tumidalski.

NOT OUR MISTAKE.

A Letter About the Sale of Middletown Township Bonds.

H. B. BOLAND & CO.,
50 Pine Street,
New York
December 10, 1936.

To the Editor of The Register.

Dear Sir:—

Some time ago your paper carried an article concerning sale by the township of Middletown of $100,000 refunding 3½ per cent bonds. You stated that these bonds had been purchased by C. A. Preim & Company of Newark, we are told. May we correct this and advise you that these bonds were purchased and sold by H. B. Boland & Company, 50 Pine street, New York.

Very truly yours,
H. B. Boland & Company.

(Editor's Note:—The writer of the above letter has been misinformed. The Register did not state that the refunding bonds were purchased by the company mentioned. However, this paper gladly publishes the letter in order to correct the false report.)

A Letter From the Far West.

Malchow's Barber Supply Company,
102 Broadway
Fargo, North Dakota,
December 9, 1936.

Thomas Irving Brown,
Red Bank Register,
Red Bank, N. J.

Friend Irving:—

Many thanks for the beautiful Monmouth County Pictorial magazine. When I looked at those aeroplane views of Red Bank and the Shrewsbury river it brought back my childhood and sent a chill up and down my spine.

That picture of Capt. Charles Irwin brings to mind he was one of my rivals for the four o'clock tide in the soft crabbing business over forty years ago. The Globo hotel nearly brought a tear to my eye and the picture of you reminds me we are not kids anymore. I just turned 58 myself.

In the picture of the Bar association taken 30 years ago, Dan Applegate, Fred Hope, Joe Reilly, John Applegate, Sr., and Jr., Henry Nevius and Warren Smock looked as if I had just seen them yesterday. The beautiful ice and speed boat pictures are a source of interest to everyone who comes into my place of business.

Mr. Enright of Oceanic told me many times I would have a hard time finding a place as beautiful as Monmouth county, and after 33 years in North Dakota I believe he is right.

I have been a subscriber to The Register for the past 35 years. Two-thirds of the people in it are strange names to me but I still get a great kick when I read about some of my old Mechanic street school classmates like yourself, Bob Hance, James Wolcott, Eddie Wise, Harry Degenring, Mel and Del Fisher, Joe Hesse, George Bray, Al and Marty Haviland, Lou Tetley, Peter Miller and many others I cannot recall at this minute.

I have been in Fargo 23 years. Was highly successful in the barber and beauty shop business. With the coming of depression shops sprang up like mushrooms till we now have 47 of each in a town of 30,000 and three large beauty schools, which is the hardest competition of all. Hard times brought an orgy of cut throat price cutting that nearly ruined us all.

I also had two traveling dance orchestras and about five orchestras in Fargo. Eight years ago in an auto accident I smashed both ear drums, so I retired from music altogether.

Last winter a Major Bowes unit played Fargo. One of the numbers was Billie Finegan's band of Oceanic. Some of the boys had dinner with us. One was Bill Boyce, whose mother was formerly Flossie Ziegler of Oceanic, an old friend of my Oceanic days.

You know, Irv, I used to sell The Register when it was located on the top floor of Spinning & Patterson's building. I remember John Cook well. He was a wonderful man. I admired his breezy, chatty way of writing editorials and he used the same entertaining style on his travel talks later on. I can't seem to remember anyone on The Register except you and George Hance.

The picture of Sea Girt brings to mond the Spanish-American war and the state camp where I soldiered with Henry Little, Corp. Harry Clayton and Sergt. Walter Field.

We have had three straight crop failures but the stores here seem busy. Don't seem to be any depression with most of them. I believe business is a little better and if prosperity ever touches me again I'll be heading for Red Bank to see all those old timers like Mort Pach, Al Miller, Bruno Mazza, Oscar Hesse and a host of others.

We have one daily paper here, The Forum, which covers the state. Fargo being the metropolis and largest city in a state of small towns.

When you think of North Dakota I suppose you always think of weather. We do not have as much snow as you have there. But, boy, we sure have chilly weather. From December 1 till April 1 it ranges from zero to 35 below. Out here you need storm windows and red flannel underwear.

North Dakota is strongly Republican, every office in the state including the legislature, is held by Republicans. But strange to state the voters favored Roosevelt by a large majority. A Democrat has a slim chance here, the state being in control of two factions, both Republican, non-partisan league, "Radical," and the regulars, "Conservative," with the non-partisans in control of most everything. North Dakota is a radical state and I wont mean maybe.

Well, Irving, thanks again for the beautiful book and your thoughtfulness. And my best wishes for a Merry Christmas to you, my relatives and all my friends in Red Bank and vicinity. I remain,

Yours truly,
William W. Malchow.

WILL RESTORE SALARIES.

Raritan Board of Education to Restore Teachers' Pay Cuts.

At the november meeting of the Raritan township school board a discussion of the restoration of the ten per cent reduction in salaries of teachers made in 1933 took place. During this discussion board members agreed that provision should be made in the next school budget to restore the salaries formerly paid. This will increase the next school budget $1,225. District Clerk P. O. Weigand and Custodian of School Funds Harry P. Seamon were also cut in 1933. The former now receives a salary of $300 a year and the latter receives $60 per year. President George D. Schanck said that it was his opinion that salary restorations were justified because of the spirit of co-operation displayed by the teachers during the depression in their attitude to help the board to economize without jeopardizing the school system.

AS I SEE IT

WILLIAM A. SWEENEY

(The views herein expressed are not necessarily those of The Register)

In introducing this column in The Register on December 3 I said that I was to be a sort of free lance writer and that my opinions might even clash with those of the editor. I did not anticipate any immediate differences, in fact I hoped there would never be any, but right here in the third week I find myself unable to agree with the editor's conclusion that the Christmas tree at the corner of Broad and Monmouth streets should be moved elsewhere because of the accident which befell Rudolph Malchow at that corner. Now, I regret the accident, just as The Register does, but I cannot see where the tree is in the slightest degree to blame for it. The driver of the car which struck Mr. Malchow was proceeding south on Broad street, that is from the fountain toward the Methodist church corner, and at the corner of Broad and Monmouth streets made a right turn into Monmouth street. Mr. Malchow was walking from the church corner to the opposite corner when struck by the car. Anyone going to the scene of the accident will be convinced that the tree in no way interfered with the vision of the car driver or of Mr. Malchow. That, I understand, is the opinion of those who witnessed the accident.

A Christmas tree, used for decorative purposes, is probably a small matter to argue about one way or the other, whether it comes down or is moved to some other location. My only reason for defending the tree is that I have in mind a larger use for it than a mere ornament. I would like to see a community "sing" around that tree, either on Christmas eve or early Christmas morning, participated in by the choirs of every church in Red Bank. And when I say "every" church I mean just that, without regard to creed or color. I cannot conceive of anything that would promote a better Christmas spirit, or a better community spirit than that somewhere around midnight on December 24 (any hour that would best suit all the churches), the town as a whole should raise its voice in "Silent Night" around a community Christmas tree. I do not claim the idea as original. I first heard it suggested by Miss Sadie Elliott. I merely elaborate upon it a bit and pass it on to the combined choirs of Red Bank. I do so not in the interest of sectarianism but of religion in its broadest sense and community solidarity. Time is getting short but a lot can be done in a week. Who will take the initiative?

Having had the temperity to disagree with the editor, I now hasten to square myself by congratulating him on his stand in reference to the suggestion of an Eatontown correspondent that more consideration be given to bus patrons at Red Bank. Ever since a bus stop was established at the Methodist church corner the public has been permitted to use the church porch as a shelter and the church steps as a resting place. I happen to be a member of the official board of that church and I have never heard any expression against the use of the church porch as a shelter from rain or the sun. Every once in a while, however, something is said about the way the privilege is occasionally abused. Some thoughtless persons, while waiting on the porch for a bus, will eat an orange or banana and throw the discarded portions over the church lawn. The church porch is also subjected at night to other abuses of a more serious nature.

When the question of the use of the church property by bus patrons first came up some years ago I recall that my own reaction to the proposition was that the church should put benches on the sidewalk, close to the curb, for the use of the public, just as a friendly, Christian act. That may be expecting too much of the church but I believe that a plan can be worked out between the church and the borough that would solve the problem in a manner satisfactory to everybody. The church could permit the use of the porch as a shelter, as it has for a long time, and the town, through its police department, could protect the church from abuses which have been particularly annoying of late. A policeman is stationed at that corner practically all day and all night, and it wouldn't add much to his work to keep an eye on the church property. Any abuse of the property could then be dealt with promptly. The bus company might even be permitted to put a bench or two at the edge of the sidewalk under the same conditions. In making these suggestions I want it definitely understood that I do not presume to speak for the church or its officials. No matter what I happen to belong to, or be identified with, I never speak for anybody but myself.

In this column last week some reference was made to the probability of a contest over the senatorial election in Cape May county, which returned a Republican victory in the last election by a majority of something over 400. The newspapers of Tuesday, December 8, carried a story to the effect that the contest had actually been started. The fact that my story of Thursday listed as a probability what had actually taken place on Tuesday might lead some people to the conclusion that I did not keep strictly up to date. As a matter of fact this it not essentially a news column. It is intended more for review and comment. Everything on a newspaper as big as The Register cannot be done on the morning of publication. Some copy must have an earlier dead line. My copy is handed in on Monday at the latest. If I attempted to change my articles day by day to meet changing conditions they would be more of a nuisance than they could possibly be worth. It is gratifying to know that what I predicted in my article actually came to pass before the newspaper was published. All the speculation in the article as to the effect of the contest is as pertinent today as when it was written. Upon it will depend whether the Republicans or Democrats control the next senate of New Jersey. In fact the whole course of legislation in the session of 1937 may be influenced by it.

Inasmuch as this column runs a good deal to church affairs this week I might as well mention one more matter which will fall within the category of news, although it happened some time ago—probably two months.

One Sunday morning at the First Methodist church of Red Bank a service called "promotion day" was held. The Sunday-school is graded and this service was the promotion of classes from one grade to another. As a mere onlooker and not a participant in the exercises I was only mildly interested until that stage was reached when awards were made for perfect attendance. As these records, starting with one year, went on up to 15 and finally to 20, I not only became interested but amazed. The award for 15 years of perfect attendance went to Miss Pauline Beck. Awards for 20 years of perfect attendance went to Miss Edna Antonides, Miss Beatrice Munsell and Richard Kirby.

Then there were some good records for family attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edington of Navesink road, in Middletown township, have three children in Sunday-school with perfect records for 11 years. They are Miss Marcina Edington and Wallace and Stuart Edington. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jeffrey of Marion street have four children with perfect records of attendance as follows: George, eight years; Robert, nine years, and Jack and Howard, ten years each. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ottinger, while not old enough to have made much of a record as yet, have at least started off well. Nancy and William Ottinger have perfect records for a year, and Edward, Jr., for two years.

I do not submit these rather belated figures for the glorification of any church but rather because I believe they have a greater news value than has been attached to them. They did not, so far as I know, receive a line in any newspapor, due, no doubt, to an oversight.

Twenty years' perfect attendance at Sunday-school is marvelous as a health record alone, to say nothing of the sacrifices that the children and the parents must have made on some of those Sundays. In calling attention to this record I believe that I am also carrying out the traditional policy of The Register. The late John H. Cook, founder of The Register, never posed as a churchman. But time and time again he said to me as a reporter: "Sweeney, get all the church news you can; churches are an influence for good and worthy of support."

FROM GEORGE WHITE.

The Register's Columns As a Forum for Discussion.

Wayside, N. J.
December 12, 1936.

To the Editor of The Register.

Dear Sir:—

I think the selection of William A. Sweeney to be the conductor of a column of general interest in The Register is an excellent one, and from the enterprise involved in such a selection I hope will come fine results.

The columnist can, if he will, have a great time in bringing out the salient details of questions dealt with, and need not confine his column to his own contributions or conclusions.

I have been told many times that in Monmouth county there are many thoughtful people who can study matters of importance in unconventional ways and who will be encouraged some day to join in serious discussions if a printed page be regularly made available for reading and to which they can make contributions.

Since I have been making occasional contributions to your columns I have become acquainted with many people, and have felt encouraged to keep on as well and as fully as I can.

I had a letter quite recently from the legislative correspondent of a North Jersey newspaper, telling me "to plug away" for what I was stirring up was mighty interesting reading, and today, to my surprise, I received a letter of sympathy from one who is in close touch with the state education department and who has a great deal to do with teachers of "economics," expressing a decided interest in any plan which would consummate some of the ideas I have expressed.

In a humorous vein I have decided that I have set up a program that will keep me busy for at least eight years, by which time I may have reached maturity at 90, and that program is largely made up of research and exemplification of the possibilities of poverty being avoided, as George L. Record expressed it, and how prosperity can be attained, as described by Henry Ware Allen in his recent book, emanating from a Wichita, Kansas, blind man somewhere near four score years of age.

Against Theron McCampbell's marshalling of economic authorities, on the subject of relieving real estate from public contributions, it may be there can be brought the wiser contributions of some who should receive more support than Professor Seligman and a number of others, and at least one University man that boldly suggests that untaxing land values and consequent increasing their magnitude would be a public curse rather than a benefit.

Perhaps there may be formed an association to be made up of sponsors for the support of The Register in this forum enterprise. Who knows?

George White.

NOT TO BE RAZED.

Rumor About Uzal H. McCarter Residence Said to be Untrue.

A rumor has been prevalent that the large palatial residence on the estate of the late Uzal H. McCarter on Harding road is to be razed during the coming winter. The estate is under the management of the Fidelity Union and Trust company of Newark. E. D. Prudin, one of the executives of that concern, stated in talking with a Register reporter last week that the rumor was not true. He said that the property was for sale. The house is the largest and most ornate in Red Bank. At one time it was the residence of the late Andrew Freedman.

The road to better and bigger business leads through The Register's advertising columns.—Advertisement.

Through The Ice Or Not? Timely Article For All

Fred C. Mills, National Director, Health and Safety Service, Boy Scouts of America, Issues Grave Warning.

The article below is being published by The Register for the general information it contains and as a safety warning to those who frequent the ice on ponds and rivers in this vicinity. It is particularly reproduced here because of the fact of the deeper waterway dredged along the docks at Red Bank and as a precaution to those who might want to attempt to go on ice too thin for use.

The article appears in the December number of the National Safety News and is copyrighted by the publisher, who has granted The Register the privilege of reprinting same.

About 9 o'clock one frigid February morning in 1932 two women and four men skated out over the icy surface of Pine Pond, at the Gypsy Trail club, Carmel, New York. Two hundred yards off shore a hole eight feet square was cut through the lake's frozen surface. One at a time two of the men, with ropes secured to their bodies, skated over the jagged edge and disappeared below the water's steaming surface, presently to reappear and pull themselves out on the solid ice shelf.

This was the beginning of a series of experiments made by representatives of the Girl Scouts, Inc., the Boy Scouts of America, the American Red Cross and the Skate Sailing association of America for the purpose of securing first-hand information on ice accident prevention and rescue, which might help to dispel the musty mist of paralyzing fear which had resulted from lack of accurate information. The participants in the experiments had been given thorough physical examinations several days before the work started and were checked upon carefully on the previous day and again each morning before the beginning of the experiments. Immediately after each man had completed his work and left the water, his pulse count, blood pressure and temperature were all carefully recorded by the doctor who was in constant attendance.

The names of those who made these experiments are almost forgotten, but the history of this type of accident indicates that their efforts have been worth while, and that the information given out has been used with success many times since in making ice rescues.

Where adequate precautions are taken, it is possible practically to eliminate submersion accidents. The thickness of ice necessary to support groups of people for sports is well established. Three inches is considered as a minimum for even small groups, but four inches of clear ice is quite satisfactory.

Thin spots can almost invariably be found on any large ice surface. They are caused by the slow freezing of the water at the farthest point from shore; agitation of the surface due to bubbles rising from springs on the bottom; moving currents of water, particularly where the inlet enters a lake, or in the case of rivers, at the place where the current runs with considerable speed.

Ice thickness can be measured by cutting a hole through its surface and using a piece of wire with the end bent at right angles, or a stick with a peg placed at right angles at one end.

It is suggested that warning signs or bushes be placed in holes found in the ice to attract attention to the danger. At night red lanterns may be placed on the ice near the hole. If possible, the dangerous point should be fenced off.

The following effective equipment for rescue work is recommended: a ladder 12 feet long, a plank of the same length, a long pole with a hook on one end and a loop in the other, and a 15-inch cork-filled life ring with 75 feet of quarter-inch Manila rope. All of this equipment should be painted with alternate red and white stripes to enable it to be seen either against a white background of snow or a brown background of dead foliage. The ring buoy should be placed with rope coiled in a box just large enough to hold it with a hook or hasp fastener. This box should be painted white with wide stripes running diagonally across the door. The equipment can be mounted on trees or on posts set in the ground.

In brief paragraphs there follow some of the notes and suggestions which resulted from the careful consideration of the experiments by those who worked in or observed them:

Notes on Experiments.

The shock of submersion in the ice water was not as great as had been expected, due probably to the fact that the experimenters were well clothed in wool under and outer garments and had exercised for some minutes before submersion.

The picture on looking up from under water through snow ice was white and cloudy; on looking through a hole in ice on dark day, yellow-green; when two feet back from hole, under ice, could not tell where hole was located.

No difficulty was experienced in climbing out on strong ice that was somewhat melted and offered a rough surface, when feet were kicked up and down to keep them afloat and to aid in propelling body over the ice edge. Glassy, hard ice offers no gripping surface; awls, spikes or knife point are important to dig in with.

After breaking through one-inch ice it was found possible to support the body by placing one hand on unbroken ice, although it was not sufficiently strong to carry the weight of the body, indicating that relatively thin, unbroken ice will support a person if he does not attempt to climb out.

After breaking through thin ice found it was necessary to break back a considerable distance from point of entry before ice was strong enough to support weight of body to pull out.

In all group rescues it is necessary that participants have something on their feet to keep them from slipping, such as skaters or "ice creepers," or that they brace themselves against some object imbedded in the ice. Persons who can get no foothold are practically unable to pull a person out of the water.

If a person breaking through ice is caught in ice formed over running water and carried underneath, he has little chance unless fortunate enough to find a hole.

There is no sound basis for the belief that ice forming on a body of water that maintains a constant level has an air space underneath. Seven-eighths of floating ice is always under water. A cubic foot of ice weighs 56 pounds; a cubic foot of water 62.35 pounds.

Houdini is reported to have claimed that while under the ice he remained alive by keeping his head in the air space. Belief that there is such a space evidently resulted from the fact that ice forming over streams at high water (which afterward recedes) is left, forming a bridge above the water's surface. The same thing may happen in tidewater. A thaw, however, soon melts the ice at its edges and permits it to settle.

Suggestions.

If you break through the ice, grasp the edge and count ten while you survey the situation. Then proceed with calm precision. Too violent action may hinder the rescue.

If the ice proves too thin to climb out on, the man in the water should attempt to support his body as much as possible with one hand placed lightly on the ice, and break his way forward with the other hand toward shore. Recently two boys and a man saved themselves when they could not climb out by breaking their way 100 feet to shore.

Skating alone on a woodland lake or stream is courting serious consequence. A companion, whether skating with you or not, will be in a position to render prompt aid or to call assistance in case of accident. Persons working nearby offer the same protection. If you must go out alone, carry a pair of spikes in your pocket and a pole over your shoulder if possible.

When crossing a stretch of ice of unknown thickness, carry a pole about 10 or 12 feet long which can be used to climb out on when laid flat on the ice across the hole.

Couples or groups skating on more or less isolated areas should take the precaution to secure and place on the shore where it will be immediately available some form of rescue equipment, such as a plank, preferably not less than 10 feet long; a stout pole of similar length, a ladder or a rope.

A coil of 3-8-inch clothesline, 50 to 100 feet long, carried by one member of the party, provides an effective means of rescue. The coil may be carried with a minimum of inconvenience when slung across the shoulder.

A person finding it necessary to enter the water to make a rescue should remove at least his shoes, stockings, coat and lower garments. After repeated experiments it was determined that progress could not be made for any considerable distance by one person fully clothed in attempting to tow another fully dressed.

The Sewing club of the Reformed church will meet at the home of Mrs. William Tansey today. Mrs. Tansey was formerly Miss Beatrice Wilkins of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Daniels have moved from their Weir bungalow to Farmingdale. They preferred to remain here but were unable to find a dwelling which they could rent. So far as they were able to ascertain every habitable place in this locality is occupied.

The new bungalow on the farm owned by Frederick Burghard and operated by Chriney Conover is almost completed. It will be occupied by William Layton, who is employed by Mr. Conover. Mr. Layton and his family expect to eat their Christmas dinner in their new home.

An honorary life membership in Atlantic township fire company has been conferred upon David Tumidalski, who recently moved from Scobeyville to Catskill, New York, where he is superintendent of the applejack plant of Laird & Company. This marks the first time that the company has ever given such an honor to one of its members.

Frederick Burghard's Big Brook Farm is being largely patronized by pheasant hunters. Almost every day, rain or shine, gunners are abroad. Arthur Pry is superintendent of the game preserve. The guides are Arnold Conover and Alfred Coon.

Word has been received here of the death of H. G. Pullum of Port Orange, Florida, a former resident of this place.

Mrs. Catherine Coss was suddenly taken sick last week and for a time her death was momentarily expected, but she rallied and is now showing improvement. Her granddaughter, Miss Catherine New, who is a trained nurse, is attending her.

Mrs. George Hughes and her daughter, Miss Helen Hughes, of Shrewsbury called on Mrs. Asher Crawford one day last week.

Mrs. Agnes Morris of East Orange, who was well known in this locality, died last week. Interment was made last Thursday in Atlantic cemetery. Mrs. Morris was a sister of Mrs. William Sturcke, who died about three weeks ago. Mr. Sturcke died in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilkins enjoyed an outing of two days last week at New York, where they attended a number of shows and other attractions.

Frank Demarest has a new sedan.

Dr. Robert Cooke will move in the spring to his farm at Scobeyville occupied by John Maher. Recently the outbuildings on the place were improved. Mr. Maher will vacate the farm. He has not decided where he will take up his new residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilkins and Herbert Wolcott were visitors at Asbury Park Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Demarest and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dafgard were visitors at Newark Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Comerford will move from Atlantic Stock farm to Hightstown next month. The farm which they will vacate was bought recently by Murray Rosenberg of New York, who is having plans drawn to build a palatial residence on it for his own occupancy.

Two human skeletons, together with bronze busts illustrating the helmets and armor of Roman soldiers, have been found at Brough in Yorkshire, England, beneath the old Roman road from the River Humber to York. They have been placed in Hull museum.

Personal Notes, Sales of Property, Building Operations, Lodge Doings, Births, Marriages, Deaths and Other Notes of Interest.

Benjamin F. Lane, 65 of Long Branch, died Friday afternoon after being in poor health nearly two years. For many years he was building inspector and before that he was a letter carrier. He also was a representative of the Carpenter's Union. A widow, two daughters and two sons survive him.

Football Injuries Fatal.

Vernon Slover, 22, of South Amboy, died last Thursday in the Monmouth Memorial hospital at Long Branch from injuries which he suffered in a football game at Freehold a few days previous. He died following an emergency operation for a ruptured kidney and internal injuries.

Suit for $300,000.

The Jersey Central Power and Light company is being sued for $300,000 for false arrest by Fred Evans of Long Beach, California, formerly of Asbury Park. Evans was arrested for stealing gas and electricity from the company and after spending five months in jail was acquitted.

Nurses Dislike Skunks.

When William Edmonds, Negro, of Asbury Park, tried to rescue his dog while it was battling with a skunk the animal released the usual barrage peculiar to skunks. Nurses and attendants at Fitkin hospital, where he went for treatment for a bite on his hand, had a trying ordeal in treating him.

Thrown From Horse.

Thomas McMasters, 68, of Wall township, suffered painful injuries last Thursday when he was thrown from a horse he was exercising at his farm. He was taken to the Beach Borough's hospital at Point Pleasant suffering from a possible fracture of the spine.

Brother and Sister United.

George L. Woolcott, 84, of Bradley Beach, and Miss Susie Woolcott, 71, of Long Branch, brother and sister, were reunited at the welfare home at Freehold last week. They have both been in the home for some time but the attendants first learned of their relation last week.

Judgment for $1,500.

Miss Mary Orr of Englishtown, suing Henry Conover, the executor of the estate of Miss Louella Conover for $2,760 for 46 months service in caring for Miss Conover before her death in February, 1935, recovered judgment for $1,500 at Freehold last week.

Fined for Reckless Driving.

Harold D. Hewes, 19, of Freehold, was fined $50 last week on a charge of reckless driving after he had crashed into a car owned by Murray Kruetner of Long Branch. Hewes was examined by a doctor who said he had been drinking but was not intoxicated.

Freehold Youths Arrested.

Thomas McCann, 18 of Freehold, was arrested at Newark last week on 16 charges of burglary at Freehold dating back two years. McCann made a full confession and implicated his brother, John, 20, who was arrested at Trenton last week on a charge of forgery.

Awards of $4,000.

Mrs. Irma Henry, an Asbury Park colored woman, was awarded judgment of $2,500 against the Asbury Park-New York Transit corporation for injuries she received when the bus in which she was riding struck a pole near Keyport. Her husband, Harrison Henry, was awarded $1,500 for medical expenses.

Hurt at Basketball.

Kenneth Chamberlain, a Manasquan high school pupil, suffered a dislocated right knee last week while playing basketball. The dislocated joint was set by Dr. James B. Lansing. Chamberlain was advised to forego sport for the rest of the winter.

Building Pleasure Yacht.

C. C. Galbraith and Sons of Keyport are constructing a 50-foot pleasure yacht for Oscar Bravo, president of a large sugar company at Puerto Rico. The boat will cost about $14,000 and will provide the maximum of comfort in pleasure sailing and fishing in tropical waters.

Convicted of Auto Killing.

Ray Jacquemot, formerly employed as an attendant at the Marlboro state hospital, was convicted last week of killing Anthony Artigliero of Marlboro with his automobile last December. Jacquemot, who now lives at Wilmington, Delaware, will be sentenced tomorrow.

Must Have Permission for Autopsies

Autopsies on bodies of patients who die at the Marlboro state hospital will not be performed in the future without the consent of the families of the dead persons according to an order made by William J. Ellis, state commissioner of institutions and agencies.

Keyport Woman Dead.

Mrs. Helen Bacon of Keyport died Tuesday of last week in the Monmouth Memorial hospital at Long Branch, where she had been a surgical patient two months. She was 72 years old and is survived by two daughters.

Adelphia Girl Weds.

Miss Marietta Halpin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Halpin of Adelphia, and Joseph Alexandria Dronne of Jerseyville were married at the bride's home Saturday, December 5. They will live with the groom's parents.

New Feed Store.

A store property on Throckmorton street at Freehold which was formerly occupied by S. E. Lambertson as an automobile showroom has been rented by a Toms River feed concern. The property is owned by St. Peter's church.

A New Distiller.

David Rottenstein, a graduate distiller from the distilling institute in Prague, Czechoslovakia, has been engaged by the Freehold Distilling company, headed by Joseph L. Donahay. He has been employed in this country since prohibition repeal.

Dogs License Free.

Millstone township dogs will not be taxed for 1937. So few claims have been filed for the loss of poultry, sheep or swine in the past three years that the committee found it had a balance of $903 in the dog fund.

Bonus for Employees.

The Steinbach-Kresge store at Asbury Park has announced that all employees of the firm will be given a Christmas bonus. The bonuses will amount to one week's pay for those employed over a year and proportionate amounts for others.

Has Three Wives.

At the trial of desertion and nonsupport at Freehold of Samuel Coleman, colored chef at the Hillcrest Inn, it was revealed that Coleman had three wives. Two of the wives appeared in court. Coleman was immediately arrested on charges of bigamy.

Old Tree Removed.

An elm tree in the Pennsylvania station yard at Freehold, said to have stood at the time of the Battle of Monmouth, was removed last week by the federal department of agriculture as a Dutch elm disease suspect.

Removed as Executor.

John A. DeRoche, 64, of Freehold, who for many years was deputy surrogate, has been removed as executor of the estate of the late William A. Perrino of Manalapan and given until today to post a bond to cover a $600 shortage in the estate.

Home From Hunting Trip.

Joseph S. Murphy and C. Arthur Burke of Freehold have returned home from a week's hunting trip in Georgia. They said game was plentiful there and the party of hunters of which they were members bagged 160 quail.

Teachers' Pay Held Up.

Unless Matawan township's $6,000 share of the school tax is paid soon, the Matawan teachers will be forced to go payless on their next pay day. The district clerk reported that $4,000 in bills must be paid before the teachers.

Johnson—Dey.

Miss Eva M. Johnson of Lakewood and Ross T. Dey of Ocean Grove were married last Thursday night at South Belmar by Recorder Ross R. Beck of Neptune. After the ceremony a reception was held at the Pine Tree Inn at Eatontown.

Jailed For Sounding False Alarm.

Leroy Hennessey, 27, formor captain of the Atlantic fire company of Long Branch, was sentenced to 60 days in jail Monday for turning in a false alarm of fire. He is still a member of the company.

Jailed for Drunken Driving.

John E. Rodermond, 52, of Portaupeck, was sentenced to 60 days in jail by Recorder Presley at Long Branch Saturday for drunken driving. He was arrested after his car crashed into a light pole and broke it off.

Dies of Pneumonia.

John J. Hart, an optician who for several years conducted a shop at Asbury Park, died in the Fitkin hospital Tuesday of last week. He is survived by a widow, two daughters and a son.

Increase in School Budget.

The Matawan school budget for 1037 will show an increase of about $7,500. A large part of the increase is due to the fact that the board is planning to restore pay cuts made during the depression.

Seeking an Armory.

The Freehold Chamber of Commerce has appointed a committee to organize a national guard unit at that place with the idea of eventually securing an appropriation for the erection of an armory.

Visits Old Home.

Edwin F. Megill, who was born at Farmingdale and is now a resident of Belgrade, Maine, has been visiting relatives and friends in his native town. Mr. Megill operates a large hotel in Maine.

Sent to Prison For Killing.

Jannie Spears of Carteret was sentenced to state prison from seven to 10 years last Friday week for the murder of William Douglas, colored, of Freehold last June. Douglas was killed in a fight over a woman.

First NYA Camp For Women

Former Hotel at Asbury Park Will be Utilized for This Purpose—Will Accommodate 80 Women.

Dr. Daniel S. Kealey, State NYA Director, has announced that New Jersey's first NYA camp for unemployed young women will be opened at Asbury Park during the first week of January.

Camp headquarters will consist of a three-story dormitory building with dining room, located in the northern part of the city and fronting on Sunset Lake and a neighborhood park. The building in past years was a hotel—the Hotel Morrow.

A 14-room building nearby will house the camp staff and provide classrooms, project work rooms and recreational facilities.

The Asbury Park camp will be one of 50 which NYA plans to have established next year throughout the nation to afford educational and recreational opportunities to approximately 5,000 young women now handicapped by unemployment.

The camp—as yet unnamed—will accommodate 80 young women at one time for three-month periods. The setup of activities will be similar to that of Camp Jane Addams, the NYA camp for New York state which Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt helped establish at Harriman Park, and to new camps to be opened soon in Rhode Island, Arkansas, Florida, Oklahoma, Missouri, South Dakota and Tennessee.

Application blanks for the New Jersey camp are being distributed at State Headquarters, 1060 Broad street, Newark; also at NYA's nine district offices in these cities: Newark, Jersey City, Paterson, Perth Amboy, Asbury Park, Morristown, Trenton, Camden and Atlantic City.

Applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 25, must pass physical examinations, and must be eligible for NYA employment by reason of financial circumstances.

Applicants will be interviewed by local welfare certifying agencies and by the camp director in an effort to restrict enrollment to young women who appear able to adjust themselves to group living and who give promise of benefiting by the experience of camp life. Preference, moreover, will be given to young women who have held a job before and who are between 20 and 25 years of age.

The campers will have the status of NYA project employees and will earn their subsistence plus $5 monthly in cash for personal needs.

Each girl will be assigned to a certain number of hours of work each day. Typical projects are housekeeping, transcribing books into Braille for the blind, and fashioning supplies for hospitals and WPA nursing projects.

The educational program includes instruction in English, domestic science, hygiene and public health, and simple economics.

For the hours between school and work there are games and athletic contests, hikes, musical and dramatic activities and handicrafts.

Arrangements for opening the camp are in the hands of Mrs. Sara L. Kearns, administrative assistant to the State NYA Director. Miss Anne Kneuer is the camp director.

"The aim of the camp," Mrs. Kearns explained, "is to help young women handicapped by financial circumstances gain a constructive and encouraging outlook through work, education and healthful outdoor recreation.

"Members of the camp staff will serve as guides and advisors rather than as monitors or drillmasters, with a view to having the girls develop self-reliance and initiative in working out every-day problems. Emphasis will be placed, above all, on community service and educational activities."

New Monmouth.

William Kelly is confined to the bed with grip.

John O'Neil returned home Saturday from Monmouth Memorial hospital, Long Branch, where he underwent an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Roberts spent Sunday with their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Roberts, who is a student at the New Jersey state teachers' college at New Brunswick.

The Baptist parsonage has been repainted outside and inside and other repairs have been made.

William Shuster of Union was a visitor here Sunday. He was formerly manager of the Atlantic & Pacific store at Campbell's Junction and he is now manager of the Jersey City district for the company mentioned.

The Christmas entertainment of Sunday-school of the Baptist church will be given Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Griggs of Chicago are expected to arrive here Saturday to spend the Christmas season with Mr. and Mrs. James E. Griggs and relatives at Red Bank. James H. Griggs is a teacher at the National College of Education at Evanston, Illinois.

Frank Benson has returned home from the New York hospital where he underwent an operation a few weeks ago. He makes two trips to the hospital each week for treatment.

A special anthem was sung by the choir of the Baptist church Sunday morning. At night a solo was rendered by Mrs. Thomas Roberts.

Carey and Haddon Johnston, who attend college at Wheaton, Illinois, are expected home Saturday to spend the holiday season with their parents, Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Johnston.

Friday and Saturday were busy days on the farms of William Morford, Aaron Nuckle and James E. Griggs. Pig killing was done on the three farms by William Downes, who is one of the leading weather prophets of this locality. He bases his predictions on the thickness of the hair of hogs and he anticipates a severe winter because the animals' coats are more woolly than usual.

The larva of the ant-lion digs a trap in the ground, hides at the bottom and devours ants that venture into it.

Seeks Vindication For Prison Term

Louis Benevento of Keyport, better known as Louis Bennett, has engaged Attorney E. V. Karkus of Keyport to seek vindication and possible compensation for four years he served in prison on the unfounded testimony of John Dougherty of Philadelphia. Bennett was arrested at Camden in 1919 shortly after being honorably discharged from the army. The arrest was du to a story told the police by Dougherty then a collector for a baking concern, that he had been robbed of $102 in a holdup. Bennett was picked up by police in a routine investigation and was falsely identified by Dougherty in a police line-up. The true story of the case was that Dougherty lost the money at gambling. Recently Dougherty became conscious stricken and told the true story to the police at Philadelphia.

Aged Colored Man Burned To Death

Samuel Henderson, a 70-year-old colored man, who lived alone in a shack on Atkins avenue at Asbury Park, was burned to death Thursday night when his dwelling was destroy by fire, Policeman Patrick Moyna made an unsuccessful attempt to rescue the man. The policeman was overcome by smoke and suffered cuts on his hands. He was treated at Fitkin hospital. The police stated they believed the fire was accidental.

Chili Pepper Stew With Meat Is "Chili Con Carne"

Cold Weather And Hot Dishes Mix Well

As the weather grows colder, chili grows hotter. That is the rule of the small Western cow towns. There are people in Oklahoma, Texas and other Western states who believe that chili con carne is something which the devil forgot to cart away when he was consigned to the lower regions. To this day, they faithfully follow the recipe which has been in use since far beyond the memory of the Americans.

Actually, chili con carne is Mexican—meaning chili pepper stew with meat in it—"with meat"—"con carne." In some parts of Mexico chili is made with or without beans and "con frijoles" signifies chili with beans—the plump red kidney bean or the more correct "pinto" bean.

Chili con carne con frijoles, including everything in the one dish, is the great between meal bite of the cowhand and the truck driver. High school and college students revel in it. In countless sections of the West, the kettle of chili waits, hot and zizzling, for the evening bridge game to come to an end.

Chili is so utterly competent that it calls for nothing except possibly crackers or bread and butter to round out the menu. Of course, a few slices of chilled tomatoes are sure to be nice.

And of course, the normal and natural beverage with chili is cold, bottled beer.

Given these aids, and chili becomes the center of an interesting little meal.

Chili con carne is economical to make and simple in preparation. The ingredients for good chili follow well established recipes, but the amount of chili pepper varies according to taste.

A true Western chili eater will assure you that unless smoke issues from the eyes and ears as one eats a bowl of chili, the dish lacks seasoning, but for the beginner or for the amateur chili eater, the smoke test may be omitted.

CHILI CON CARNE y FRIJOLES

1½ pounds ground beef steak
1 minced onion (large one)
1 large green pepper (chopped)
1 quart can sold pack tomatoes
1 can (small) pimientos (minced)
1 No. 2 can kidney or pinto beans
1 teaspoon (or more) of chili powder
1 teaspoon thyme
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 teaspoon salt
1 pinch red pepper

Fry the onion in a little oil or butter. Add the ground meat and brown thoroughly. Add tomatoes, beans and seasoning. Cook about half an hour or until thickenes down to desired consistency. Good chili is like a mushy stew. (And if you don't want to make it, you can buy good canned chili, ready to heat and eat.)

RICHMOND REVELS IN FINE HOME BAKING

Probably every home in Richmond has its prized and treasured recipe for a pie crust or a biscuit or a home-baked bread. If one could pry out all these Richmond baking secrets, the world would be astonished.

Here are just a few, coaxed out from family cook books:

PEANUT BUTTER BREAD

1 cup white flour
1 cup rye flour
½ cup peanut butter
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder

Sift the dry ingredients together. Add the peanut butter, working it in with the fingers or a knife. Add the milk and then place in a small well greased baking pan. Set to rise for 20 minutes. Bake one hour in moderate oven.

ORANGE BREAD

¼ cup butter or substitute
1 cup sweet milk
3 cups flour
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped nut meats
1 cup chopped candied orange peel
3 teaspoons baking powder

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs, well beaten. Sift flour thoroughly and mix salt and baking powder and work in the milk. Last, add the candied orange peel and nuts. Turn into well buttered pan and bake an hour in moderate oven.

To make candied orange peel, cut the peel from four or five oranges and slice in strips. Boil up in three different waters, draining well each time. Then, for the fourth time, bring to a boil in very little water and add a cup of sugar. Cook slowly until dry and candied. Spread out separately to dry.

RICHMOND HOT CROSS BUNS

4 cups flour
1 yeast cake
½ pint warm milk
¼ cup sugar
½ cup butter
½ pound currants
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon mixed spice

Mix flour, sugar, spices, currants, milk and yeast cake—work in the melted butter and salt. Mix well, beating thoroughly. Set aside to rise. Shape into buns. Let rise again. Place a cross on each bun with the back of a knife. Bake 20 minutes in quick oven. This makes a dozen buns. Colored cooks in Richmond, say that these buns call for a "knack." Probably three or four attempts will bring one to best results.

SERVE CINNAMON CUP CAKES AT YOUR PARTY

Cup cakes! Children's and grown ups' favorites. But when they're cinnamon ones they become almost "party" cakes.

CINNAMON CUP CAKES

½ cup butter
2 eggs
1¾ cups flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon cinnamon
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon vanilla extract

Cream butter and sugar together. Add the eggs and beat thoroughly. Mix together and sift all dry ingredients and add alternately with the milk to the creamed mixture. Add vanilla extract. Pour into greased muffin tins. Bake in oven of 375 F for about 25 minutes. Frost with boiled icing.

Homemade Candy Boosts Christmas Spirit In Home

Candy Parties for Children Eagerly Looked Forward To During Holidays

Home-made candy does so much toward increasing the Christmas spirit that every housewife should make it. Not only for her own home, but as gifts for friends as well.

This candy making can be made into a party if so desired, with great results, especially for the children that are home for vacation, they simply love to make candy. The following recipes are economical and very simple to make.

STUFFED DATES

Dates
Walnuts
Granulated sugar

Remove stones from dates and fill the cavities with walnuts or Canton ginger. Shape in the original form and roll in granulated sugar.

BUTTERSCOTCH

1 cup molasses
2 cups powdered sugar
1 cup butter
Pinch of soda

Boil all the ingredients until it forms a hard ball when tried in cold water (250-264 F.) Or if you desire a chewy candy, stop just short of this stage.

MOLASSES TAFFY

1 cup white sugar
2 cups brown sugar
¼ cup molasses
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup cold water

Cook all the ingredients until the mixture forms a hard ball when tried in cold water. Pour onto a buttered platter and when cool enough to handle, pull and then cut in small pieces.

FOR KEEPING THINGS HOT, CHAFING DISH CAN'T BE BEAT

During Christmas season, a large part of the entertaining is done in the form of "open house" with a buffet supper reigning supreme. At such an occasion when people are dropping in off and on over a period of several hours, a chafing dish comes in very handy as something hot is always in order and the hostess knows what a problem it is to keep things hot for one hour, more or less two or three hours. But by using a chafing dish and having the ingredients ready, it is no trouble at all to have something hot for the whole time. In no time, a hot dish is prepared. Here is a splendid example:

SALMI OF DUCK

Pieces of roast duck
1/3 cup each, butter and flour
1 tablespoon each, carrot and onion slices
2 cups rich brown stock, highly seasoned
¼ cup madeira wine
1 cup peas

Cook the butter, onion and carrot in the blazer until well browned. Skim out the onion and carrot and add the flour, pepper and salt. Add the stock. As soon as the sauce is cooked, add the madeira, the pieces of duck, and the peas. Serve as soon as the meat is hot.

HOLIDAY PARTIES CALL FOR ICE BOX CAKES

Exceedingly gay and beautiful for holiday parties, are ice box cakes. Though simple to make, they give the appearance of hours and hours of labor and much thought. Praise will run high if a cake such as this Pineapple Ice Box Cake is served. It is made by blending one and one-half tablespoons cornstarch with one-third cup of pineapple juice, then add one and one-half cups diced pineapple and cook over hot water until thickened. Then slowly pour on four slightly beaten egg yolks, return to the pan and cook for three more minutes over boiling water. Add a pinch of salt, and cool. Line a nine-inch spring mold with lady fingers. Lay them close together and use broken pieces to cover the bottom fully. It takes about eighteen double lady fingers. Cream two-thirds cup unsalted butter, add gradually one and one-half cups confectioner's sugar and beat thoroughly. When smooth and creamy, stir in the cold pineapple mixture. Then fold in four stiffly beaten egg whites and pour in the lined mold. Chill for one day in the refrigerators, place on a cake plate, remove the mold rim, circle the cake base with pineapple spears and decorate the top with more spears.

HOLIDAY EGG NOG

If you are keeping open house over the holidays, here is an old fashioned egg nog recipe.

Take a dozen eggs and put the yolks into one dish and then divide the whites evenly in two dishes. Beat yolks light, add two cups sugar, beat well and then add one quart of good brandy and one pint of jamaica rum, adding a little at a time, turn about. Then add three quarts of rich cream and one of the dishes of whites of eggs, beaten up light.

Take the rest of the whites and beat up stiff and add a cup of powdered sugar, add to this a quart of cream and stir into the above.

Make early in the morning the day it is to be used, so that the brandy and the rum have time to blend.

A SIMPLER VERSION OF EGG NOG

12 eggs, whites and yolks separated
12 tablespoons sugar
12 tablespoons brandy
12 tablespoon. jamaica rum
1 quart cream

Beat yolks light and mix sugar in thoroughly. Then add brandy and rum.

Whip cream firm and stiff and add to above mixture. Beat whites of eggs stiff and add last of all to the above.

Christmas Plum Pudding

Playing almost as important a part in the traditional celebration of Christmas as the yule log, the holly wreath, the mistletoe and St. Nicholas himself is the famous plum pudding, which has come to us with the passing of the centuries.

The original plum pudding or plum pottage as it was first termed, was served as an accompaniment to the first course of the Christmas dinner back in the days of the Normans. The method of preparation was to boil beef or mutton in its own broth which was thickened with brown bread. Half boiled raisins, currants, prunes, cloves, mace and ginger were then added. The mixture when done, was sent to the table with the best meats.

Plum puddings are best when served very hot. They should be steamed for one hour before serving. A flaming plum pudding which will add interest to your Christmas dinner may be had by pouring brandy over the pudding and lighting it just before it is brought to the table. Domestic Port or Sherry Wine are excellent to serve with the plum pudding.

Many housewives make their plum puddings right after Thanksgiving but those who have not, will find there is still ample time in which to prepare one.

PLUM PUDDING

3 cups stale bread crumbs
2 cups hot milk
8 eggs
½ cup domestic sherry wine
¼ cup brandy
1 lb. seeded raisins
1 lb. currants
¼ lb. citron, cut in strips
1 tablespoon mixed mace, cinnamon and cloves
1 lb. salted beef suet, chopped fine
Sufficient flour to dredge fruit

Soak bread in hot milk and let it stand until cool, then add sugar and yolks of eggs beaten to a cream, next the fruits dredged with flour, the suet, wine, brandy and spices. Beat the whole together and add last the egg whites, beaten stiff.

Turn into a well buttered mold, cover and steam for six hours. When ready for serving, steam in mold for one hour. Serve with a wine or brandy sauce.

Self Expanding Meat Balls Cooked Inside Of Sauerkraut

From Belford, New Jersey, Mrs. Ann Horning sends us a most appealing one pot dinner recipe. She calls it

PORK AND SAUERKRAUT DELUXE

Mrs. Horning, who is a regular reader of The Red Bank Register and an ardent advocate of the Three Meals a Day page, says that this is an old family dish but right here and now its fame will spread to many other families, we hope.

Well, anyhow, first you take a pound of pork ground up fine and season it with salt, pepper and a tablespoon of fine minced onion.

Now, into this meat mixture work in a half a cup of uncooked rice. Then work this into balls about the size of walnuts.

Put these balls in the bottom of a casserole and over them place one can of sauer kraut with just enough water to cover.

Instead of plain water, you may, if you like, use half water and half dry white wine (as in Alsace Lorraine) or plain water with a couple of tablespoons of vinegar added.

Cover and bake in oven for about an hour to an hour and a half, adding a little water from time to time if the mixture becomes dry.

Baked potatoes go splendidly with this and the meat balls are most interesting because when the rice becomes tender, it also swells up and the meat balls assume a fluffy appearance.

We are sure that Mrs. Harning will enjoy the package of Comet Rice and the Rice Ball which will be sent to her as a prize for this nice recipe.

DATE SOUFFLE

Eight satisfied "witnesses" will attest your skill when you serve them Date Souffle. Many cooks believe souffles are hard to make. This one, however, is simple but simply delicious.

4 tablespoons butter
5 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
3 eggs
1/3 cup sugar
1 tabelspoon lemon juice
½ package dates

Melt butter, add flour and salt. Mix thoroughly; stir milk in slowly. Cook until smooth and thick, stirring constantly. Cool. Add beaten egg yolks, sugar, lemon juice and dates. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into well-greased baking dish. Set in pan of hot water and bake, covered, for one hour in moderate oven (325 F.) Serve warm with cream.

HUBBARD SQUASH FINE FOR CHRISTMAS DINNER

Here are a few recipes for squash that will be just fine for Christmas dinner.

FRIED HUBBARD SQUASH

Remove the hard skin with a heavy knife. Cut the squash in half, take out the seeds. Then cut in strips an inch and a half wide and three inches long. Steam until two-thirds done; take out and set aside to cool. Season, roll in flour and fry slowly in butter. The squash can also be dipped in batter and fried like fritters if desired.

BAKED SQUASH

Select a good Hubbard Squash, wash and scrub the outside very clean, cut in pieces about three inches square, leaving the skin on. Arrange the pieces on a baking pan, season with salt and white pepper. Put a piece of butter on each slice and bake in a slow oven until soft. If desired, when done, sprinkle a little brown sugar on top of each piece and return to the oven for a few minutes until the sugar is melted.

FRUITED MACAROONS FINE AT TEA TIME

Macaroons for tea are no news, but when they're "fruited" they start talk—at the tea table! Mix 1 cup sweetened condensed milk and 2 cups shredded cocoanut together. Add 1 cup dates, finely chopped. Drop by spoonfuls on well buttered pan about one inch apart. Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) until a delicate brown. Makes two dozen.

MOLDED FRUIT JUICE

It's perfectly "correct" to eat your fruit juice in the new manner—with a spoon—when you mold it this way:

Dissolve one package lemon flavored gelatine in 1¼ cups warm water. Add ¾ cup canned grapefruit juice, 2 tablespoons sugar and dash of salt. Turn into individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold and serve.

Aroma And Taste Of Beef Roulade Tease Appetite

"Out-do" Yourself in Preparation That Will Go Straight To a Man's Heart

As the weather grows colder, a man's fancy turns to delicious dishes with tempting names and aromas. And dishes that not only smell good in the preparation but that just "out-do" themselves in taste. Such a dish is Beef Roulade, a tempting bit that goes straight to a man's heart.

BEEF ROULADE

2 pounds round steak cut in half-inch slices
¼ pound bacon cut in thin slices
1 small onion chopped fine
3 carrots cut lengthwise in slivers
1 dill pickle cut in slivers
½ to 1 cup bouillion
Flour
Butter or cooking fat
Salt and pepper
Chopped parsley

Pound the meat and cut into squares about 3 or 4 inches. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. On each slice arrange a thin slice of bacon, chopped onion, a sliver of carrot and a sliver of dill pickle. Roll, and tie with a string or fasten well with toothpicks. Roll in well seasoned flour.

Heat butter or fat in skillet and try the roulades until they are well browned. Pour enough bouillion in bottom of pan to prevent burning. Cover the skillet and allow the meat to simmer for an hour to an hour and a half, or until meat is tender. If during cooking the liquid boils down, add a small amount more. When done, remove to a hot platter, remove string, cover with gravy and sprinkle with chopped parsley. If bacon is not desired, substitute a dressing made as for poultry.

LET THE HOLIDAY SPIRIT PREVAIL IN THE SALAD YOU SERVE AT DINNER

A salad is, fortunately, something that can be dressed up to be one of the outstanding features on the table. And for Christmas dinner, everything, including the salad, should be gay and colorful.

With the turkey, a fruit salad is chosen by nine out of ten people. Whether it be a Waldorf salad, or pear and cheese, or pineapple and cheese or mixed fruits, all can be made cheerful by simply using a pastry tube and a little vegetable coloring. For instance, if serving a pear and cream cheese salad, the cream cheese can be colored red and piped around the edges or over the tops of the pears. Or a Waldorf salad can be trimmed with bits of holly.

An interesting variety of this salad, by the way, is to mix in chopped raw cranberries that have been standing for awhile in sugar.

If green salads are preferred, bits of pimiento add so much color. Or red and green peppers, sliced and crossed over the top of the salad. One can go much farther though, and make a beautiful jellied salad of strawberry flavored gelatine or plain gelatine with red vegetable coloring. Fancy shaped molds are still being used with great success and are ideal for increasing that holiday spirit.

CONTRAST IN SALAD DRESSING IS SMART

The new vogue for salad dressings is "contrast," and you'll find it in both taste and texture with this banana peanut butter mayonnaise:

Combine 1 ripe banana, mashed with ¾ cup mayonnaise and 3 tablespoons peanut butter. If too thick, thin with a little thin cream. Makes about 1¼ cups.

Grange's Birthday.

Atlantic grange celebrated its fifth birthday one night last week with a covered dish sociable and dance at the schoolhouse at Colt's Neck. Eighty persons were present. Music was provided by Joseph Gerripaldus' orchestra.

Cortez, the Spanish conqueror, brought the first long-horned cattle to North America. When the railroads came the long horns did not fit well into cattle cars, and other breeds were developed.

The World Of Stamps

By Quinton James

Just what reaction the abdication of King Edward VIII is to have in the philatelic world isn't altogether clear yet.

But there already has been an important development. Rush orders are still going to London from U. S. dealers in an effort to build up their supplies of the only issue of King Edward stamps to be put out by Great Britain.

This move is based upon the increased interest of collectors in the four-item set. It began the minute the king's marriage plans hit the front pages.

When the Edward stamps first appeared, the design was widely criticized. Some of the critics thought the photograph of the king's head was too "boyish" for the monarch of that great empire.

The stamps, which are innocent of any inscription beyond the word "postage" and the numeral of value, have appeared in just four denominations—¼, 1, 1½ and 2½ pence. They are in the usual colors.

London made no announcement about the addition of other values. One comment, when the stamps were first issued, was that they were being put out to get public reaction to the new design which contrasts so strongly with previous British stamp designs.

Philatelic observers now believe the King Edwards stamps may attain higher market values than usual, partly because of their short existence, but mainly because of the part they will have played in the story of humanity.

Anyway, the set will go down in philatelic history as the only stamps bearing the portrait of an uncrowned king of England.

No doubt the stamps will be either replaced or withdrawn shortly.

Six Austrian Scientists.

Six of Austria's leading scientists and engineers are pictured on as many semi-postals in this country's annual charity set. The background of each portrait indicates what each man's work developed.

Illustrated are: Joseph Rossel, designer of the screw propeller steamer in 1829; Karl Ritter von Ghega, builder of the Sommering railroad in 1854; Josef Werndl, arms technician, 1831-1889; Carl Baron Auer von Welsbach, inventor of the gas light, 1885; Robert von Lieben, inventor of the condensing pipe, 1906; Victor Kaplan, inventor of the Kaplan turbine in 1912. Values range from 12 to 64 groschen.

United States Catalog.

Delay until January 15 in the appearance of the United States catalog edited by Hugh M. Clark has been necessitated by nearly complete revamping of the known facts about the various varieties of the stamps of this country. Also a lot of information not heretofore detailed has been included.

Some of the data added: Listing of plate numbers of all U. S. Bureau of Engraving issues, U. S. proofs in trial colors and blocks of four of all normal colors; revenue proof section; rearrangement of envelope listings.

In addition, listings of those stamps printed since 1894 by the bureau of engraving are being compiled under the supervision of a committee of the Bureau Issues association, an organization formed by students and collectors of United States stamps.

FOR NEAR EAST COLLEGES.

Benefit Performance at New York Wednesday, December 30.

Mrs. Walter Huber of Riverside drive, will be among the residents of Red Bank and vicinity who will attend the annual opera benefit of the six Near East colleges, the matinee performance of "Carmen," at the Metropolitan opera house, New York, Wednesday, December 30, it is reported by Mrs. Chauncey L. Waddell, of Riverdale, New York, chairman of the committee in charge. The unusual interest in this year's event is attributed largely to the fact that it will be Madame Gertrude Wettergren's first appearance in "Carmen" since her phenomenal success in the title role at her single performance last year. In the cast also will be Ezio Pinza as Escamillo and Charles Kullmann, the American tenor, who made his Metropolitan debut last year, as Don Jose.

The Near East Colleges for which the benefit is being sponsored are the American University of Beirut, Syria; International College, also at Beirut; American College at Sofia, Bulgaria; Athens College in Greece; Robert College at Istanbul, Turkey; and the Istanbul Women's college. Serving with Mrs. Waddell, as Associate Chairman of the Opera committee, is Miss Alice Morrow, of Englewood, N. J., who has spent many years in Istanbul as a member of the staff of the Woman's college.

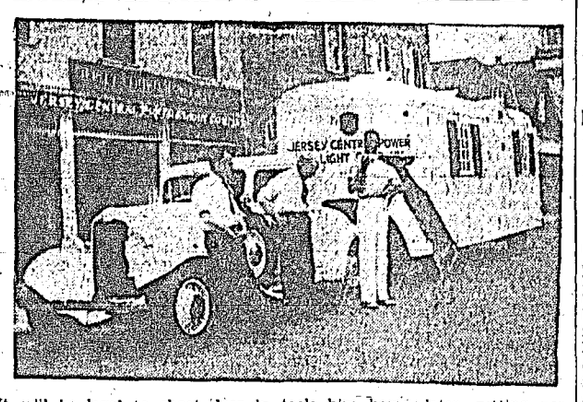

Ordered to Grant License.

The Asbury Park city council has been ordered by D. Frederick Burnett, state alcoholic beverage commissioner, to grant a retail consumption license to Campbell's Tavern at 601 Main street. Objection against the application had been made by Milton T. Kamm, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., which is across the street from the tavern. No representative of the association appeared at the hearing before Commissioner Burnett.

Butcher Cuts Finger.

Marvin Stout of White street, a butcher for Wagner's market on Monmouth street, was treated Saturday at Riverview hospital for a cut left middle finger. He received the injury while cutting meat.

BARNEGAT'S PET DEER

It will be legal to shoot deer in New Jersey beginning today and lasting until Monday, but under restrictions certain not to endanger the life of the buck deer shown above, ward of the state, entrusted for the time to Raymond Beckett, manager of the Barnegat office of the Jersey Central Power and Light company.

This deer's career is remarkable. He is known as Pete. His pictures are being shown nationally this week by Pathe, Metrotone and Universal. It is said that more than 10,000 people have come to Barnegat to see him, running around the streets more friendly than the average dog. His friends have made him a suit of red flannel to wear during the open season, as hunters do. On May 18, 1935 there was a bad forest fire five miles from Barnegat and Ray Beckett found Pete that day evidently about an hour old and without his mother. He picked him up in his arms and took him home, later getting permission of the game warden to keep him, for wild deer are wards of the state.

Here are a few facts hard to believe: Pete, 19 months old, will not give up his bottle, takes milk through a nipple every day, yet he also eats beef, lamb, chicken, cellophane, carbon paper, cigarettes, is very fond of chewing gum which he chews with relish for long periods without swallowing it. He eats fruit of all kinds. He was brought up in Mr. Beckett's kitchen, at first, like a puppy, then got the run of the town like a dog and everybody knows him. He is not afraid of people, nor nervous. He will climb into the driver's seat of the big truck shown above, will climb into anybody's lap if allowed to, or will caress the person with his soft nose. He is probably seeking cigarettes and chewing gum, of which he gets plenty.

STRAWBERRY VARIETIES.

Monmouth County Farmers Advised to Look Into New Varieties.

Monmouth county farmers who contemplate putting out a strawberry bed next season might well investigate the varieties this winter and order plants early. Some of the newer varieties are showing up very nicely and a late order might find the stock of these plants exhausted.

A good selection of berries for this section of the country which will fruit early in the season and bear through until quite late would include Catskill, Dorsett, Fairfax and Lupton, says M. A. Clark, assistant county agricultural agent. Catskill has been well received every year and has almost no disadvantages. Dorsett is an excellent berry but is not quite as hardy as some of the older strains. Fairfax is an excellent quality berry, although at times it has a dark color. Lupton is a particularly good shipper and is a welcome addition because it comes fairly late in the season.

Anyone putting out a new bed in Monmouth county would do well to consider trying New Jersey No. 35. This is an early berry which is receiving a lot of favorable comment from the first commercial trials this past season.

The Blakemore is considered to rank with the Catskill in some sections where early berries are grown, but it is subject to yellow leaf. The Premier or Howard No. 17 is, of course, one of the old stand-bys. It is hardy, a good cropper and has an attractive appearance. Aberdeen has been a good variety in Monmouth county. Some growers complain that it softens in shipments, but one of the largest growers in our section claims that it is less likely to soften if it is not picked until it is quite ripe.

Safety Campaign Meeting.

Telephone plant men of Monmouth and Ocean counties planned a winter campaign to increase safety and health in their organization at a meeting at Asbury Park Tuesday night. Frank E. Addicks, general plant manager of the company, said that forethought and reasonable care would avoid most illnesses and a great majority of accidents. Morgan Rehrig of Red Bank was on the committee in charge of the meeting.

Two Railroads Will Run Trains To Sports Areas

Pennsylvania Line Featuring Four Trains Every Sunday to Shrewsbury River Attractions.

How winter sports enthusiasts who reside in New York's metropolitan area may enjoy such thrilling and healthy cold weather outdoor activities as ski running, snowshoeing, bob-sledding, tobogganing, ice boating and skate sailing, at places in New Jersey and on Long Island, located within an hour's train ride from Manhattan, Brooklyn and Newarw, is described in a booklet just issued jointly by the Pennsylvania and Long Island railroads. It was distributed at the booth of these two railroads in Madison Square Garden winter sports show and at their depot information booths.

The booklet calls attention to the fact that the New York state authorities have turned Bethpage Park into a vast paradise for outdoor sports.

In the winter sports program which the Pennsylvania railroad provides for the millions it serves, there are two outstanding thrills within easy reach of New Yorkers, namely, ice boating and skate sailing on the Shrewsbury rivers at Red Bank and Long Branch.

To do a mile a minute on the steel blue surface of the Shrewsbury in an ice boat—well, that's the ace of thrills. And it isn't necessary to own a boat to participate in this sport, because the skippers of the North Shrewsbury and Long Branch clubs will take passengers. Or, if one prefers to skate, here's where an entirely new type of thrill may be experienced—that of skate sailing.

The Pennsylvania railroad, every Sunday, regardless of weather conditions, is operating three different morning trains out of New York for Red Bank and Long Branch, leaving Pennsylvania station at 8:15, 9:20 and 10:45 for the Shrewsbury ice ways. There are four convenient returning trains. The special round-trip excursion fare from New York is $1.50.

The booklet also carries the announcement that the Long Island railroad plans to operate "snow trains" to within a few minutes of the clubhouse door at Bethpage State Park. These, incidentally, will be the cheapest snow train excursions from New York city; the trip from Pennsylvania station or Flatbush avenue terminal, Brooklyn, will consume only an hour's time, and the round-trip fare is to be $1.00.

At Bethpage there are 1,300 acres of rolling, wooded country ideal for snow and ice events.

Snow trains on the Long Island railroad will be run Saturdays and Sundays during January, February and March, weather permitting.

Big Exhibit Of Holmdel Quilts

Close to 100 Ancient Bedspreads and Other Old-Time Curios Shown in the Chapel of the Baptist Church.

Quilts of various designs, some of which were made more than 100 years ago, were at the chapel of the Holmdel Baptist church one afternoon last week at an exhibition held by the Ladies' Aid society of the church. There were almost 100 exhibits and among the most noteworthy was an applique quilt owned by Mrs. Lottie Thorne which was reminiscent of the first cable laid between the United States and England. Around its outer edges is a pattern of a cable intertwined with the coat of arms of the United States and the crown of England. A dove of peace is also prominently shown. The maker of the quilt had intended to send it as a gift to the queen of England but did not do so.

A crib quilt used for the late Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Ely when she was a baby was another exhibit. An attractive blue and white applique quilt made by Mrs. Conover Taylor more than 75 years ago was one of the prettiest exhibits. An old umbrella and quilt owned by J. Herbert Schanck attracted much attention. Many ancient bedspreads were shown. Refreshments of tea and cookies were served by a committee of which Mrs. Harold Holmes was chairman. The members of the committee wore old costumes including hoop skirts.

The exhibition was not as largely attended as had been anticipated, but it created so much interest that there is a likelihood of its being repeated in the spring. The Ladies' Aid society cleared $10.

FIREMEN'S ELECTION.

New Officers Chosen by Tinton Falls Fire Company.

The Tinton Falls fire company has elected the following officers;

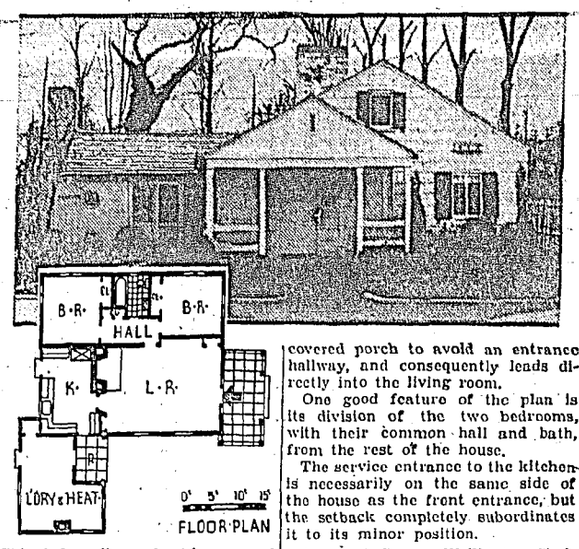

President—William S. England.
Vice president—Peter Farley.
Secretary—Edwin C. Reed.
Treasurer—William W. Bennett.
Chief—Edward Carney.
Assistant chief—John E. Lemmon.
Captain—David Scott.
Lieutenants—Christopher DeFazio, Ernest Pillis.
Engineer—Raymond Dixon.
Assistant engineer—John Homer.
Fire marshal—VanDyke Dixon.
Fire police—Vincent Juliano, William Pillis, William W. Bennett.
Trustees—Edwin C. Reed, Herman Ritzau, Edward Holloway, William W. Bennett.

The work of building beaverboard sidewalls and ceilings and of making other improvements to the fire house is nearing completion. It has been under way for several weeks, under the direction of William S. England. He and some of the other firemen have been doing the work during their spare time without charge for their services. The firemen are planning to have a New Years party in their improved quarters.

Trouper Returning Home.

Miss Clara Coleman, daughter of Mrs. Mabel Coleman of Rector place, dancing instructor, is on her way home from Dayton, Ohio, to spend the Christmas holidays with her family. She has been touring the United States and Canada with the Hollywood Hotel Revue, an R. K. O. production. Miss Coleman is a graduate of Red Bank high school. She is appearing under the name of Dianne Parish, which was her mother's stage name.

Dark Shutters Look Well On White Shingled Walls

Shingled walls and chimneys of whitewashed brick contribute to the distinctive air of this well arranged cottage. Darker ornamental blinds dress up the window spaces.

The main entrance makes use of a covered porch to avoid an entrance hallway, and consequently leads directly into the living room.

One good feature of the plan is its division of the two bedrooms, with their common hall and bath, from the rest of the house.

The service entrance to the kitchen is necessarily on the same side of the house as the front entrance, but the setback completely subordinates it to its minor position.

Architect George Wellington Stoddard designed this house which was constructed at Seattle for $4,385.

Inquiries about this house may be sent to the Architectural Forum, Chrysler Building, New York, N. Y.

Holmdel.

The Holmdel Sunday-school will celebrate Christmas tomorrow evening in the Reformed chapel with a sociable at which an entertainment entitled "Christmas Pictures" will be given with tableaux. Special music, stage decorations of evergreens and electric lights, a Christmas tree and refreshments for boys and girls will be among the features. The parents and friends of the Sunday-school pupils have been invited to attend.

A large dead tree on Chriney Holmes' place was taken down last week. A large tractor was used to pull it down.

The Chrismas Sunday program of the Holmdel church will comprise meeting of the Sunday-school at 9:45 a. m. and worship in the Reformed sanctuary at 11 a. m., with a sermon by Rev. Marshall Harrington on "Immanuel: God With Us." The hymns will be "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," "Thou Didst Leave Thy Throne," and "Joy to the World." The choir anthems will be "The First Noel" and "Luther's Cradle Song."

Joseph Copeland, who is employed on William H. LaBoyteaux's place, has bought a Ford coupe.

Clark Meyer is making a stay with relatives in Georgia. He expects to return in February.

The young people of the Holmdel church will conduct a candlelight Christmas service in the Reformed church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. This event will be featured by carols and hymns in a processional lighted by candles. A Christmas community message will be given by the pastor.

James Bennett has been engaged to act as driver of a truck by the Little Falls Laundry company. He will begin his duties when the company completes its new plant at Red Bank.

A meeting of the fire company will be held tonight.

Betty Schenck is stopping at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Gould.

The congregational committee of the Holmdel church will meet at the parsonage this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Jacob Stern has had the interior of his store repainted. The work was done by Charles VanPelt.

Elmer Sutphin of Red Bank played the offertory violin solo at the Holmdel church Sunday morning.

Clark Meyer is in Georgia with relatives. He expects to return to Holmdel in February.

Jacob Kinhafer was suddenly taken sick last week and for a time his condition seemed very serious, but he is now much improved.

The Atlantic-Holmdel Social Service organization met at the health center at this place Tuesday night and made plans for Christmas charity work.

Stanley A. Brown Buys Drew Place At Scobeyville

New York Advertising Executive to Build Pretentious Dwelling for His Own Occupancy.

Sale Made Through Charles E. Sweeney

One of the finest properties of its kind in Red Bank's rural section has been sold to Stanley A. Brown of New York, an executive of the advertising firm of Brown & Thatcher, who lives at the Ritz Tower and has his office on Fifth avenue.

The property is located on the main highway at Scobeyville at the corner of Woodland drive, formerly known as Hockhockson road, and was purchased from Warren Drew through Charles E. Sweeney of Rumson and Ennis-Vogel of West End, brokers in the transaction.

The property acquired by Mr. Brown comprises 60 acres, with a frontage of 1,000 feet on the main highway and a depth of 2,300 feet. Mr. Brown will take possession next spring and in the meantime negotiations are under way for the erection at that time of a pretentious residence which Mr. Brown will use for his home during the larger part of the year. The property was held at $18,000 and it is said that Mr. Brown contemplates spending in the neighborhood of $30,000 or more on his new home.

The property was originally known as the old Michael Collins estate, Mr. Collins having owned and resided on the premises for more than 20 years. At that time it consisted of 90 acres. The entire holdings were sold about three years ago through Mr. Sweeney to Harry B. Crooks, former Monmouth county detective.

About a year and one-half ago Mr. Crook rented the property to Warren Drew with the option of buying. Mr. Drew bought the place in due time for his own occupancy. Shortly after acquiring the property he engaged Vincent J. Eck of Red Bank to draw plans for the remodeling of the main farmhouse dwelling, with all the latest improvements, including a large solarium, and this was subsequently carried out.

In the transaction just closed Mr. Drew retains 30 acres of the property well in the rear from the main highway for his own use. His present dwelling will be moved to a high knoll but the large and small barns now on the property owned by Mr. Drew will be retained by Mr. Brown. Mr. Drew will also move from their present locations a cabin now used as servants' quarters and two other small outbuildings.

The house to be erected by Mr Brown will contain the usual first-floor rooms of a modern dwelling and the second floor will have six master bedrooms and six baths. It is understood that he will set his new dwelling some 600 feet southward from the main highway. With the Woodland drive wooded section east of his holdings and the contemplated improvements of M. Rosenberg on the former Atlantic stock farm property on the opposite side of the highway, Mr. Brown will have a most elaborate setting for his new home.

Steinbach-Kresge To Pay Bonuses

Arthur C. Steinbach, president of Steinbach Kresge company, Asbury Park department store, announced that a substantial bonus will be distributed this week to the store's 300 employees.

Said Mr. Steinbach: "Business during the year 1936 has seen our volume approach the peak of the late 20's and indications from the first weeks of the Christmas season are that the holiday business will show even greater increases than those enjoyed during the preceding months of the year. It has always been the policy of our organization to set aside a substantial portion of its profits for bonus distribution, and I am deeply gratified that this year it is again possible to resume this practice. Asbury Park and the North Jersey shore have been "coming back" much more rapidly than the average section of our country and I firmly believe that 1936 is just an indication of what is ahead."

The bonus, to be paid in cash, will be a graduated one, with a week's salary to all employees who have been with the store for more than a year and proportionate amounts for those employed less than one year.

Auto Inspection Stations Approved

The State House commission has given final approval to seven motor vehicle inspection station sites, although Assemblyman Homer Zink of Union, commission member, refused to approve them until he had made personal inspection. The station locations approved Tuesday included Freehold, Robertson property on Route 4, and Toms River, property of James Citta, state highway No. 4.

Grand Jurors Enjoy Dinner As Term Ends

Jolly Party at Tory's Restaurant Monday Night, With Albert L. Ivins, the Foreman, Acting as Toastmaster—Gifts Made.

The members of the September term of the grand jury of Monmouth county enjoyed dinner Monday night at Tory's inn, West Long Branch, after having concluded their duties for the term. An elaborate feast was served and everybody had a jolly time. Albert L. Ivins, foreman of the jury, acted as toastmaster. The guests were Judge J. Edward Knight, Prosecutor T. Raymond Bazley, Charles Frankel, Edward Juska, Sheriff George H. Roberts, Charles Miller and John N. Woodward.

Singing was one of the chief pastimes and was led by Benjamin L. Atwater, sergeant-at-arms. The jury made a gift of a traveling bag to Mr. Ivins. Gifts of wallets were made to Prosecutor Bazley and Mr. Atwater. To John N. Woodward, the jury clerk, was given a fountain pen. Mrs. Frank Groff and Mrs. Florence Cubberly each received an identification wristlet. A souvenir key ring was given to each jury member.

Other members of the jury besides those mentioned were Ward B. Demarest of Eatontown, Paul T. Ash of Keyport, Harry Willy of Holmdel township, Alfred J. Lippman of Shrewsbury; John B. Johnson of Freehold, Allison L. M. Stern of Scobeyville, E. E. Alexander and Edwin R. Smock of Belmar, Dr. Nathan Tannenbaum of Long Branch, George Zuckerman of Asbury Park, Harry M. Johnson of Highlands, Louis Buckbee of Little Silver, Taylor Palmer of Englishtown, Arthur B. Grant of Neptune City, George Freibott of Port Monmouth, John E. Day and Richard Smith of Red Bank, Dr. James Chasey of West Long Branch and George J. Imlay of Allenhurst.

Santa Claus To Come After All

Christmas Party to be Held at Carlton Theater by Different Organizations—Food Matinee Next Wednesday.

Santa Claus isn't dead after all.

Those among the young people of the borough who regretfully learned some time ago that Independent Engine company had abandoned its 28-year-old custom of staging Christmas parties at the Carlton theater—a festival at which Kris Kringle played host—will be pleased to hear that the Exempt Firemen's association has decided to carry on where the fire company left off.

In other words the Exempt Firemen's association will have Saint Nicholas appear on the stage of the Carlton theater Christmas morning to give a present to each good little boy and girl. Louis Tetley, who is past years has represented Santa Claus at Red Bank, is chairman of the committee in charge.

The exempt firemen, in addition to sponsoring a Christmas party for boys and girls of this section, will also distribute Christmas baskets to needy families. As one means of securing articles of food for these baskets, a food matinee will be held Wednesday afternoon of next week at the Carlton theater. Persons bringing such articles as canned goods, staple groceries, etc., will be admitted to this matinee, which will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

The feature attraction will be "Mad Holiday" with Edmund Lowe and Elissa Landi. In the supporting cast are Ted Healy, Zasu Pitts and Edgar Kennedy. Short subjects will also be presented.

The use of the theater, as in past years, has generously been donated by Morris Jacks, manager.

New York Man Rents Tinton Falls Farm

Howard Corlies of New York has signed a two-year lease on the farm estate on the Tinton Falls-Colt's Neck highway owned by the Mary Lane Holding company. The property, which comprises 21 acres, is located a short distance from Tinton Falls and is known generally as the old Wyckoff homestead. The Joseph G. McCue agency of Rumson made the rental. Mr. Corlies rented the place with an option to buy it.

Lowndes Cottage Sold.

The W. A. Hopping real estate agency on Linden place has sold Mrs. Charles T. Lowndes' cottage on McLaren street to Fred Oakley. The house contains a living room, dining room, kitchen and three bedrooms. There are two garages on the property.

Rebekah Lodge Has Christmas Party

The Navesink Rebekah lodge held a Christmas party in Odd Fellows hall Tuesday night after its regular business session. Miss Anella Lamb was chairman of the committee in charge, which consisted of Mrs. Carrie Patterson, Mrs. Iona Cook, Mrs. Della Amos and Mrs. Esther Caddick.

A lighted Christmas tree adorned the center of the room. Santa Claus, who was said to closely resemble George Rose, distributed gifts to the members present. A covered dish luncheon was served.

Those present were Mrs. Elizabeth Wood, Mrs. Frank House, Mrs. Walter Boyd, Mrs. Deborah Carter, Mrs. Jesse Gill, Mrs. Susie Webb, Miss Kathleen Stitt, Mrs. L. Whiting, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oakley, Mrs. Ruth Smith, Mrs. Frances Ottinger, Miss Edmea Fazzone, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Caddick, George Davison, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Amos, Edward Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. George Rose, Mrs. Iona Cook, Mr. and Mrs. John Hoffman, Mrs. Ella Klotzin, Miss Esther Weinstein, Mrs. Georgia Lawson, Mrs. Carrie Patterson, Miss Elsie Mattson, Miss Pauline Beck, Miss Anella Lamb, Mrs. Barbara Heyer and Mrs. Kato Morsereau.

New Chorus To Sing On Rumson School Program

Christmas Exercises Will Take Place in the High School Monday Night, December 21—Miss Magee Conductor.

The newly organized chorus of Rumson high school will make its first appearance at the school Christmas exercises to be given Monday night, December 21, at 8 o'clock, in the auditorium. The group will open the program with a processional.

The story of the Nativity will be told in music and pictures, and those taking special parts are Peggy Rankin as Mary, John Lambert as Joseph, Robert Purgavic as Gabriel, John Shea as Christ, Barbara McCless as the angel and Alfred Brighton, Ted Hammond and William Pilling as the shepherds.

Eighth grade girls will sing a descant with the chorus. Members of the chorus are Muriel Briggs, Lillian Briggs, Patricia Finan, Margaret Gaston, Doris Hillstrom, Nettie Hallanan, Ruth Mellish, Marie Monsen, Jane Pearsall, Muriel Seaman, Marion Pilling, Marjorie Smith, Mildred Lease, Grace Emery, Mary Lazaro, Anita Friberg, Doris Aumack, Noma Barrow, Thelma Buffa, Sue Byers, Kay Breitenbach, Shirley Bent, Agnes Fanning, Barbara Mount, Donald Applegate, Robert Breitenbach, Olof Friberg, Charles Jannarone, Harry Leo, Edwin Peters Robert Ring, Albert Sopp, Charles Schuller, Joseph Sickler, Robert Thomas, Donald Worthington, Frank Bailey, Anthony Jannarone, John Lambert, Howard Leon, James Lemig, Tony Mellaci, Tom Mapes, Charles Morris, Raymond McCue, Edward Sherman, William Ward and Anthony Williams.

The chorus will be conducted by Miss Margaret Magee, music supervisor, with Mabel Hendrickson as accompanist. The stage sets are being constructed by the art classes under the supervision of Miss Pauline Whitham.

Charity Dance Well Attended At Middletown

About 100 Persons Enjoyed Event Held by Civic Association at Louis Corlico's Restaurant Saturday Night.

About 100 persons attended the annual Christmas party and dance of the Middletown Village Civic association Saturday night. The event was very successful in every respect and many compliments were bestowed upon Mrs. Wardwell G. Thomas, Jr., and the members of her committee for the efficient manner in which they managed the affair. Music was provided by an orchestra.

The exact amount cleared is not known, as all the returns are not in, but it is certain to be larger than last year. The profits will be used to provide Christmas dinners for families in distressed circumstances. Last year the association gave food baskets to 38 families.

Louis Corlico donated the use of his restaurant and hall on the state highway near Middletown village for the party and dance. He will use all the profits from the sale of bar goods and food to give a party and dinner for Middletown township children Monday, December 28. Turkey will be the chief dish of the dinner. Mr. Corlico has been giving such affairs annually for the past five years. Last year he had 110 juvenile guests.

Event to Be Held at Headden's Corner Fire House.

Troop 77 of Boy Scouts of Middletown township will hold a bunco party tomorrow night at the Headden's Corner fire house. A turkey will be disposed of on the co-operative plan and a prize of $2 will be awarded to the persons selling the most shares. A second prize will be awarded in the form of free overnight lodging at the Boy Scout reservation at Allaire. Thomas Cairns is scoutmaster.

Fire Company At Rumson Wants New Apparatus

Oceanic Hook and Ladder Company Asks Council to Purchase New Service Truck—Action Deferred on Transfer.

A request for a new service truck was made to the Rumson mayor and council at last week's meeting by Oceanic hook and ladder company. The present truck, donated to the company a number of years ago by Senator W. Warren Barbour, has become obsolete and no longer gives satisfactory service. The matter was referred to the fire committee.

The council paid state school taxes amounting to $21,171.90 and state bonus taxes of $1,304.59 and also paid $4,500 to the board of education.

A letter was received from William H. Hintelmann, secretary of the zoning board, relative to the application of Luigi Catanzariti for a transfer of his tavern license from River road to 52 Black Pont road. Mr. Hintelmann stated that Porter Hoagland, chairman of the board, feels that due to substantial opposition on the part of adjacent property owners to the location of the business in a residential zone the matter should come up before the board at the next meeting January 4.

Plans for a parkway approach on the Rumson end of the proposed new bridge to Locust Point were shown by Lionel Lancaster, borough engineer. Mr. Lancaster prepared the plans on his own initiative to give his idea of an approach that would take care of traffic without any difficulty and at the same time add to the beauty of the shore front. The plan provides for a circle at the entrance to the bridge. There would be a new road intersecting River road east of the Presbyterian church. Hunt street would be a one-way street west and Washington and Lafayette streets one way north as far as River road. Mr. Lancaster gave copies of the plan to the council for examination. Efforts will be made by county and state to construct a new bridge with PWA funds.

Councilman Frank Nary recommended granting an exempt firemen's certificate to Walter Torborg of Rumson fire company. The council approved the election of Arthur G. Mellish and Francis G. Wyckoff as members of Oceanic hook and ladder company.

A. F. Zerr, relief director, reported six families, representing 29 persons, on relief.

A written request was received from Albert G. Scherer, Jr., for a fire hydrant on Bellevue avenue in the vicinity of his home. Councilman James P. Bruce reported that the Monmouth Consolidated Water company has agreed, pending approval by the home office, of the installation of a fire hydrant on Bellevue avenue and also one on Bingham avenue near the Metcalf property.

Councilman Sheldon T. Coleman reported receipt of $3,000 from the county from the dirt road improvement fund. The money had been allocated to the borough early in the year and made it possible for the borough to resurface several streets.

A motion was passed to pay salaries to borough employees December 23 so they will have the money before Christmas. The next meeting of the council will be held on Saturday afternoon, December 26, at 5 o'clock.

Plans For Men's Forum Being Made

Tentative Program for 1937 Adopted by Executive Committee—Meetings to be Held at Molly Pitcher Hotel.

A tentative program for 1937 has been adopted by the Red Bank Men's forum, which next month will begin the fourth year of its existence. The schedule calls for two sessions a month, on alternating Sundays in January, February and March. The meetings will be held at the Molly Pitcher hotel.

The executive committee, consisting of Theodore D. Parsons, J. Daniel Tuller, John Warren, Joseph C. Irwin, Lester R. Ross, John Colt, Glenn P. Wishard, Irving Riker, Nicholas G. Rutgers, Jr., Neilson Edwards and Wilmer A. Robbins, has held several meetings lately. It was decided to hold fewer sesion next year.

The subjects for discussion will include "Can the United States Remain Neutral?" "Can Democracy in Europe Survive?" "What Can Education Do For Us?" "Can Private Industry in America Survive?" "Can We Suppress Crime?" "University," "Rutgers University," "The University in Exile' and "Columbia University"

Last year the forum was sponsored by a representative group of about 100 men and women of Red Bank and vicinity. Invitations are now being sent by Secretary Robbins to those persons and others who might be interested. There are no membership fees, as the nominal expenses are met by voluntary contributions.

Announcement of the first session of the forum and the subject to be discussed will be made in the near future.

Rents Shrewsbury Home.

C. Ingalls Morton of Alston court, Red Bank, has rented the residence on Sycamore avenue, Shrewsbury, owned by Dr. Paul Livingston of South Orange. The house was built in 1928 on the site where the Fanshawe residence was located. The rental was made by the Joseph G. McCue agency of Rumson.

Louis Kaiser, Stock Broker, Dies Suddenly

Senior Member of Brokerage Firm of Kaiser & Co., Victim of Cerebral Hemorrhage Sunday at New York.

Louis Kaiser, owner of Lincroft farm, Lincroft, and Terre Haute farm, Bethel, Connecticut, died of a cerebral hemorrhage Sunday at his apartment in the Hotel Pierre, New York. He had been ailing for several weeks, but his death came as a shock to his family and close friends. He was 39 years old.

Mr. Kaiser was a member of the New York stock exchange and senior partner in the brokerage firm of Kaiser & Co. A patron of horse shows and harness racing, Mr. Kaiser was the owner of the mare Winning Ways, three-gaited saddle horse champion of the 1936 season, and of Gold Digger, that won the five-gaited championship of the National Horse show in 1935.

The Kaiser horses ran under the colors of Terre Haute farm, where Mr. Kaiser maintained extensive stables. Winning Ways was his most consistent entry. Defeated only once in her career, Winning Ways captured 63 ribbons during the 1936 season.

Other notable entries of the Terre Haute farm were Dangerous Lady, a bay mare, and Rising Tide and Beau Cheval, winners of four blue ribbons at the Orange horse show in South Orange in 1935. Broken Stripes, a promising two-year-old, died recently of pneumonia at the Lincroft farm.

A native of Newark, Mr. Kaiser attended Barringer high school there and was graduated in 1921 from Cornell university. He was a member of the Cornell football teams of 1919 and 1920.

He was admitted to the New Jersey bar and practiced law until 1926, when he acquired a seat on the Stock exchange and organized the brokerage firm of Kaiser & Co. He was a member of the Cornell club, Delta club, the Phi Lambda Phi fraternity, the American Horse Show association and the American Hackney Breeders' association.

Surviving are his wife, the former Iono H. Taxman of Kansas City; two sons, Louis Kaiser, Jr., and Bruce Kaiser; a sister, Mrs. Morris Sprayregen, and a brother, Charles Kaiser.

The funeral was held Tuesday at Temple Emanu-El at New York and burial was in B'nai Jeshurum cemetery at Hillside.

Mrs. Braun Dies Suddenly At Her Eatontown Home

Wife of Mayor-Elect Adolph L. Braun Succumbs to Heart Ailment—Active in Newark Church Work for 29 Years.

Mrs. Mina Ohl Braun, wife of Councilman Adolph L. Braun of Broad street, Eatontown, died suddenly early Sunday morning. Her death came as a shock to her many friends. She had been under a doctor's care for the past several weeks for a heart ailment, but was about Saturday. She was 74 years old.

She was born at Newark, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George A. Ohl, Sr., and moved to Eatontown more than three years ago. Mrs. Braun was married on January 14, 1885, in St. John's Lutheran church, Newark. For 29 years she held the presidency of the Ladies' aid society of that church, and was engaged in other church work. For thirty years Mr. and Mrs. Braun made their home at East Orange, where Mr. Braun is connected with Braun & Chamberlain. In January, 1935, Mr. and Mrs. Braun celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Braun before making Eatontown their permanent residence were summer visitors there for 15 years.

Three years ago Mr. Braun was elected a member of the Eatontown council and has held the presidency of the council for the past year. At the last general election he was elected mayor, succeeding Mayor Ira E. Wolcott, whose term expires, December 31, 1936.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Braun is survived by a son, George A. Braun of East Orange; two sisters, Mrs. Katherine Groel of New York and Mrs. A. Augusta Ohl of Eatontown, and a brother George A. Ohl of Newark. Two grandsons, George A. Braun, Jr., and Robert A. Braun, both of East Orange, also survive.

Services were held Monday night at her late home with Rev. William Macdonald, pastor of the Eatontown Presbyterian church, officiating, and Tuesday night at St. John's Lutheran church, Newark, with Rev. A. O. Broune, pastor, officiating. A private funeral was held yesterday morning. Intombment was in a mausoleum at Fairmount cemetery, Newark.

Engage Teacher At Atlantic Highlands

Miss Jane Harahan of East Orange was engaged by the board of education of Atlantic Highlands at a meeting Tuesday night to teach the fifth grade. She will succeed Miss Alice Herron, who has accepted a position in her home town of Nutley. Miss Harahan will begin teaching in January.

Members of the glee club and band of the Atlantic Highlands high school attended the radio broadcast of the Chesterfield program last night at New York.

Among the selections which will be sung by the choir at the morning service include "O Holy Night," "Nazareth," "Peace on Earth," "Christmas Comes Again," "Silent Night," "Away in the Manger," and "Sleep, My Saviour, Sleep."

Oceanport Man Buys Fair Haven Property

Carl Conover of Oceanport has bought a bungalow and lot on Fair Haven road, Fair Haven, from John Dowling of Yonkers, New York, for an investment. The property is located opposite the entrance to the estate of Thomas N. McCarter. The bungalow is of hollow tile construction, with stucco finish. Russell Hendrickson is the tenant. Mr. Conover will install a modern heating plant and will make other improvements.

The Ray VanHorn agency of Fair Haven was the agent in the transaction and Alston Beekman represented the buyer.

Civic Consciousness Committee Member

Carrying out new program plans that led to formation of the civic consciousness committee, members of the New York League of Business and Professional Women will soon begin an investigation of conditions in women's prisons in the metropolitan area. Studies of the parole system, particularly as it involves the work of supervising women paroled from prisons, the probation system and social work among women criminals will be undertaken.

Miss Alberta Bennett of Shrewsbury avenue is a member of the civic consciousness committee.

Eugene Ford New Fire Captain

Eugene Ford was elected captain of the Lincroft fire company Tuesday night to succeed Frank McCarron. Final plans were made for the company' ball Saturday night at the fire house. Allgor's orchestra will play for dancing.

Other newly-elected officers are:

Lieutenant—Henry Carney.

Yacht Club Plans Big Celebration New Years Eve

Molly Pitcher Ballroom to be Scene of Gay Party to be Sponsored by the Fair Haven Yacht Club.

The ballroom of the Molly Pitcher hotel on Riverside avenue will be the scene of one of the biggest and merriest New Year celebrations on the Jersey coast. The members of the Fair Haven Yacht club and their guests will "hit the deck" at the Red Bank hostelry from 9 o'clock until well into the morning of New Years day. By a special vote of the club membership at the last regular meeting the affair was opened to the general public.

Chairman Frank W. Bailey of the entertainment committee and his fellow members, James Brooks and William A. Barry, have engaged Bruce Cobb and his Colonels, a ten-piece orchestra, and one of the most popular swing bands in the state. The boys have arranged several special numbers for the enjoyment of the celebrants.

Present plans call for several feature dances, especially the number just before the stroke of midnight. The committee in charge of the dance has promised something new in the way of favors, including paper hats and noise makers.

John F. Hitchcock, recently re-elected commodore of the Fair Haven club, will be present, with other flag officers, to welcome the guests to the flag-draped ballroom. He anticipates that the members of several other clubs in the metropolitan area will accept invitations to be present. Manager Mulrheid of the Molly Pitcher hotel is preparing for at least 400 people.

Fashion Show Presented By Rumson Pupils

Economics Class Has Display of Winter Fashions, Mock Wedding and Motion Pictures—Class to Visit New York.

The economics class of the Rumson high school staged a fall review last Friday night in the school auditorium in the presence of a large gathering. The Modern Dress shop of Sea Bright exhibited the latest in winter fashions. Agnes Fanning was announcer and Mabel Hendrickson was pianist. The models were Isabella Purgavic, Erene Riley, Ruth Vital, Betty Sinclair, Kay Breitenbach, Ruth Mellish, Cora Boman, Florence Martin, Harriet Peters, Katherine Karinja, Anita Friberg and Thelma Buffa.

A mock wedding was performed to display wedding gowns. Those participating were Leonard Knudsen as minister, Thelma Buffa as the bride, Harold Kerr as the groom, Anita Friberg, maid of honor; Carl Jakubecy, best man; Edward Johnson, father of the bride; Mabel Hendrickson, Harriet Peters, Betty Sinclair and Ruth Mellish, bridesmaids; Sharon Hower and Carolyn Wilson, flower girls; Peggy Delanoy, page; Billy Murphy, ring bearer and Edward Strohmenger, William Davison, Donald Applegate and Raymond McCue, ushers. Florence Martin played the wedding march on the piano and Kay Breitenbach played the chimes. Joseph Sickler sang "O Promise Me." Miss Margaret Magee, music supervisor, was accompanist. Motion pictures were shown after the wedding. The ushers were Jane Snow, Gladys Niederer, Gretchen Flugal and Margaret Phelan.

The committee in charge was composed of Donald Applegate chairman, Irene Walker, Harriet Peters, Kay Breitenbach and Thelma Buffa. Miss Ruth Jeffrey, librarian, and Charles F. Wayte, economics teacher, were the coaches. James Lemig, Bill Ward, Harry Rafi and Edward Conover were stage managers and took care of the lighting effects. William VanBrunt was advertising manager and Harold Kerr ticket manager. Pauline Sears and Leonard Knudsen collected tickets. The programs were designed by Katherine Karinja.

Bouquets for the bridal party were provided by Dean's of Little Silver and Chester VanBrunt & Son of Rumson. The ferns and plants for the stage setting were from the greenhouses of Bertram H. Borden, president of the Rumson board of education.

With the proceeds from the review the class will visit New York on a sightseeing trip.

New Acting Supervisor.

Thomas B. Day has been granted leave of absence for six months from his duties as supervisor of roads of Middletown township and he is planning to go on a vacation trip for the benefit of his health. Craig Finnegan of Bolford, twnship engineer, is acting supervisor of roads.

Property of 191 Acres Purchased by Hackensack Resident, Who Will Use It for Summer Home.

Sale Made Through Joseph G. McCue

The James Higgins farm of 191 acres at Colt's Neck has been bought by George J. DeGarmo of Hackensack, who will remodel the large house on the property for a residence for his own use. The broker in the transaction was Joseph McCue of Rumson. Nathan and Martin Marx of Shrewsbury were the owners. The price has not been made public, but the farm was held at $17,500 and it is said to have been sold for that amount.

The property is in the heart of the village center, with a frontage of about 2,000 feet on the south side of the county road. It is bounded on the east by the farm of Elwood Douglass, county farm demonstrator, and on the west by the Maloney farm. For many years it was owned by the late James Higgins, whose widow is now a resident of Marlboro. Another former owner was the late John Giberson.

The house has twelve rooms and it is in fairly good condition despite being aged. A large dairy barn, a barn for horses and other outbuildings are on the premises. The farm has not been operated the past two years, but the soil is very productive and it has yielded some of the largest crops in this section of the county. The property extends from the county road about a mile and one-half to the Matthews farm.

The land is rolling and a lively brook flows through it. A portion of it has been rented by Frank S. Weeks for pasturage for his live stock. The new owner intends to have crops raised on the place by an employee. Mr. DeGarmo is engaged in the aircraft industry.

Several other sales of farms in Atlantic and Holmdel townships to business men of New York and other cities are said to be pending. The road between Eatontown and Freehold, where the Higgins farm is located, has undergone a remarkable transformation the past few years as a result of the sale of many farms to city folks for country estates.

Fire Destroys Restaurant In Amusement Park

Large Frame Building Closed Since September Burned to the Ground Sunday at Atlantic Highlands.

Fire Sunday night destroyed a large restaurant and bar and contents at Atlantic Beach amusement park at Atlantic Highlands. The loss is estimated at $20,000 and is partly covered by insurance. A small building which adjoined the restaurant was also destroyed. In this building were housed two small locomotives used on the park's miniature railway, but the engines were saved.

The origin of the fire is not known. The park has been closed since September. The building had been broken into several times since then and a number of articles stolen. The restaurant equipment and furnishings were worth as much as the building.

The fire was discovered by Joseph Ryan, proprietor of the Homestead inn, and Arthur Irwin. It was well under way then and by the time the firemen arrived the frame structure was a mass of flames. Unable to save the building the Atlantic Highlands fire department, assisted by companies from Leonardo, Brevent Park and Navesink, directed their efforts toward nearby buildings and prevented the fire from spreading. The Standard Oil company's storage tanks, a short distance away, were not in danger due to the direction of the wind.

The restaurant was operated last summer by Edward Schenecker, who is now in Florida. Samuel VanPoznak of Newark and Mrs. Christine Isbister of Atlantic Highlands are the owners of the amusement park.

Why She Likes The Register.

Mrs. J. Fitzsimmons of Jersey City in sending her renewal to the Red Bank Register states:

"Your paper is quite important to me as I have a summer home in Sea Bright and in consequence your paper has considerable news that is necessary to me to know."

Schools Close Wednesday.

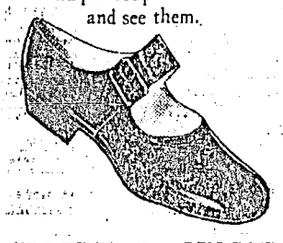

The Red Bank schools will close next Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock for the Christmas and New Year holidays. Pupils will return to their studies Monday, January 4.

Keansburg.

(The Red Bank Register can be bought in Keansburg at the stores of E. L. Miller, N. Santa Lucia, Philip Keller, Charles Vogel, I. Zuckerman.)

A hearing of two local liquor dealers for alleged violations of the liquor law was held before the borough council Thursday night in the borough hall. Nicholas Deturo, proprietor of the Club Rendezvous, pleaded guilty to the charge as well as Frank Johnson. Mr. Deturo in pleading guilty said that he had not been active in the management of his establishment for several months and that a bartender and a porter looked after the details of the business. Mr. Deturo explained that the porter was in the habit of "taking a nip" quite often and when detected by the bartender he had been admonished for indulging too freely. The porter is alleged to have kept up the habit of taking his "nip" with the result that liquor was replaced by water. When the ABC agents inspected Mr. Deturo's establishment on October 20 they found only one bottle of liquor that did not come up to the proof required by law. Mr. Johnson, when called to plead, told the council that he could give no explanation of liquor that did not meet the law's requirements. The ABC agents charged that one bottle of apple brandy was eight points below the indicated proof on the label of the bottle. Mr. Johnson was of the opinion the liquor was not deluted in his place, but had come into his possession from the wholesaler from whom it was bought. Attorney John Pillsbury of Atlantic Highlands represented the borough council and the state. He called John C. Holman, an ABC agent, who testified that he and Stanley Penn, another agent, made an examination of the liquor in the establishments of both defendants on October 20 and made tests of opened bottles. They found the alleged watered liquor in Deturo's place. The agent testifying to the tests made in Johnson's place found one bottle of apple brandy not up to the required proof. All other bottles tested, the agent said, came up to the required proof. At the conclusion of the hearing the councilmen recessed into a private room. When their deliberations came to an end, the following statement was issued: "Both of these defendants have admitted their guilt of having possession of illicit beverages. We have investigated thoroughly and while in these particular cases, we are satisfied that the license holders were innocent of any intentional wrong-doing, still it must be borne in mind that all licensees are responsible for any illicit beverages on their premises, regardless of their knowledge of intentions or anything else. We therefore impose a penalty of suspension of each one of the licensees for a period of one day, that of December 11, from opening until closing time."

Members of the Keansburg Gun club departed yesterday for Woodside in South Jersey to take part in the deer season.

Fire company No. 1 has opened a drive for associate members. Former Chiefs Rudolph Vogel and Richard A. Jessen head a committee for this purpose. Associate members have the same privileges of the fire house as active members, but do not participate at meetings of the company. Next year the company will celebrate its 25th anniversary.

The public school athletic field built with WPA funds has been completed. The project consisted of grading and enclosing the field between Ramsey and Myrtle avenue. The field was covered with six inches of top soil. A baseball diamond and tennis court have been provided. Bleacher seats have also been built, which will accommodate 500 persons. Surrounding the field a three-foot concrete wall was built. On this a six-foot wire fence was built. The WPA funds totaled $20,000 and the school board expended $1,180 for miscellaneous items. The school board has under consideration two other smaller projects for next year. These consist of cement walks, retaining walls, painting and plastering the walls of the schoolhouse. Applications for funds for this work will be made to WPA officials within a short time.

A human skull was dug from its grave by a dog Thursday night in a cemetery where early residents of Keansburg were buried. The dog is owned by Chester Lerman. He and several other boys took the skull to police headquarters. The cemetery is located on a bank that skirts the meadows through which Waackaack creek flows. For a number of years the banks of the cemetery have been gradually washed away, leaving a section of the cemetery in bad condition. Several years ago efforts were made to raise funds with which to build a bulkhead along the meadows, but these efforts were not successful.

State Orders Asbury To Refund Its Debt

The state municipal finance commission, directing the fiscal affairs of Asbury Park, has ordered the Asbury Park city council to adopt a 32-year refunding plan calling for the city's defaulted bond debts of 1969. The commission plan must be adopted within 30 days, otherwise the plan automatically goes into effect unless court action is brought by creditors.

Under the state's plan the city must provide $630,000 a year for debt service, to be raised by general taxation. Under the terms of the plan the city must have the funds in the bank by November 15 of each year.

A plan submitted by the city officials found unsatisfactory by the commission, provided for retirement of the debt over a period from 1937 to 1979. Under the city's plan the operating expenses would be fixed at $1,310,000 in 1937 and a raise of $10,000 each year until 1943. The state's plan limits the expenses in 1937 to $912,000 and a rise to $1,022,000 in 1941 and thereafter.

WOOD FOR FUEL

State Forester Urges the Cutting of "Weed" Trees.

Predicting that this winter will be "one of the biggest fuel wood consuming years," State Forester Charles P. Wilber urged today the cutting of what is called "weed trees" instead of the valuable commercial species.

"Only the dead, dying and deformed trees should be cut for fuel wood," Mr. Wilber said.

In the majority of woodlands there is no excuse for wrecking the forest for fuel wood, because usually every woodlot contains defective or weed trees which should be cut in order to improve the stand and allow the young trees to grow normal and healthy.

Will Cut School Rolls.

Tuition pupils, totalling 189 from five communities attending the Ocean township schools, will be cut from the rolls after June 30, 1937. This was announced in a letter written Tuesday by Eleanor Taylor, district clerk. The board of education took no action on a fifth election to vote on the proposition of enlarging the schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Walker have returned from Atlantic City, where Mr. Walker attended the state convention of real estate men. Mr. Walker was elected president of the association.

At a meeting of the borough council held Monday night, it was voted that all the pay cuts taken by borough employees will be restored January 1, and in addition three employees who were hired subsequent to the cuts will have their salaries raised. They are Charles Stryker, janitor of the borough hall, who will have a pay increase of $50, and Leo McCann, water meter reader, whose pay will be increased $100 per year. Officer Joseph Morley will be put on the same basis as other policemen, namely $1,850 per year. The cuts on borough employees were about ten per cent. The local American legion post is asking the council to permit them to sponsor the Salt Water day celebration. William Sexton, chairman of the two previous years' celebrations, has also asked the council's co-operation. The matter will be decided later.

An amateur show and entertainment will be held tonight at the high school auditorium to provide funds to take care of the underprivileged children's Christmas party to be held at Scheyichbi hall on Tuesday evening. Fred L. Kruser, former commander of the American legion post, is general chairman of the affair.

The Atlantic Highlands Lions club at its regular meeting Monday night decided to erect "welcome" signs at entrances to the borough. Most of the time at the meeting was spent discussing the proposed breakwater project in Sandy Hook bay. Army engineers have approved plans for the project and the Federal government is awaiting action by the state as to how much the state proposes to contribute toward the project. Club officials have been in conference with Senator Frank Durand and prospects for state aid appear bright.

Herbert Posten, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harry Posten, will return home this week from North Carolina State college for the Christmas holidays.

Mantell Hose company will award its Christmas dinner basket Wednesday night, December 23, at the Atlantic theater.

First avenue is being dressed up with streamers of colored lights for the Yuletide season.

The mayor and council at a special meeting Friday night authorized Dr. Frederick O. Runyon and Paul C. Carey of Newark, consulting engineers, to prepare plans and specifications for the new filtration system at the water plant. This is a PWA project. Resolutions were adopted giving proper officials authority to borrow money to pay the borough's share for the construction of the new athletic field. This is also a WPA project. The cost is $34,550 and the borough's share is approximately $4,400.

Plans are being made in Hopei, North China, to build a network of canals linking all the rivers of the province with the Grand Canal to expand cheap transportation facilities.

Keyport Man Heads State Realty Board

Samuel D. Walker of Keyport on Saturday became the first Monmouth county man to be elected president of the New Jersey Association of Real Estate Boards. The annual convention of the association was held at Atlantic City. Mr. Walker also attended the convention of the National Board of Realtors recently at New Orleans.

Mr. Walker said after attending the two conventions he was convinced that real estate is now on its revival from the "dark days." The state board went on record as favoring the revision of state real estate taxes to levy on productivity or income rather than on property itself. Theodore Appleby of Asbury Park was one of the six vice presidents named with Walker.

To Elect Officers.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Firemen's Police association of Middletown township will be held tomorrow night at Belford.

College Women Have Discussion On War And Peace

Meeting of Monmouth County Branch of University Women Monday at the Home of Mrs. J. Berkley Gordon.

Mrs. J. Berkley Gordon entertained the Monmouth county branch of the American Association of University Women at her home in Marlboro Monday afternoon. Mr. Amos Kraybill of Asbury Park, guest speaker, was introduced by Mrs. Edmund de Monseigio, chairman of the international relations committee. Mr. Kraybill spoke on the "The Cost of War and the Price of Peace."

The business meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. John L. Montgomery. Mrs. Arthur Gibb, literature chairman, announced that the next meeting of her department would be held at the home of Mrs. John L. Montgomery, Riverside apartments, Red Bank, Monday, January 4. The subject for discussion will be poetry and the leader will be Mrs. Leland W. Crafts.

Mrs. Edmund de Monseigio stated that the next meeting of the international relations department would take place Monday, January 25, at the north solarium, Asbury Park. The subjects will be "International Monetary Trade Policy of the United States."

Mrs. Arthur J. White reported for the new social studies department and presented "A Dozen Jersey Children," a booklet edited by Dr. Anna Starr. Mrs. White explained how the booklet is to be used as a basis of a state wide survey of the Jersey children, who fall into the different classes described in the book.

Mrs. White has formed a committee for work in Monmouth county comprised of Mrs. Henry Ackerson, who will represent Keyport and Matawan; Mrs. Paul H. Axtell, who will represent Middletown township; Mrs. Edgar Knapp, who will represent Rumson, Sea Bright, and Fair Haven; Mrs. Ernest Linburn, who will represent Long Branch, Elberon and Deal; Mrs. Frederick Bullwinkel, who will represent Atlantic Highlands and Highlands; Mrs. Wayne Hemphill, who will represent Asbury Park and Ocean Grove; Mrs. Mary Strong, who will represent Brielle and Manasquan; Mrs. James Pettis, who will represent Marlboro and Freehold township; Mrs. William Abernethy, who will represent Belmar and Spring Lake and Mrs. John L. Montgomery, who will represent Red Bank. Members are requested to co-operate with the chairman in their community.

Mrs. Harold S. Clark, fellowship chairman, announced that the next meeting, which will be held Monday evening, January 11, at the Elk's club in Red Bank, will combine the annual guest night with the followship entertainment, as reports must be made to National A. A. U. W. February 1. Tickets were distributed.

Mrs. Glenn P. Wishard spoke about the Peaceways Petition. This petition is to be signed by people who wish to discourage the manufacture and sale of warlike toys and aid in interesting the public in educational toys for children.

Mrs. Milton Vreeland, chairman of the Monmouth county federation of public health, presented to the members of the class of Mrs. John Morresy of Long Branch high school the $10 prize offered to high school students of Monmouth county for a skit written as a side walk interview. This skit was called "How Christmas Seals Have Aided the Cure and Prevention of "Tuberculosis." Those taking part were Henry Mielke, interviewer, Margaret Blair, Shirley Yellen and Bernice Beebe.

Those assisting Mrs. Gordon were Mrs. William Hermann, Mrs. Frederick Bullwinkel, Mrs. James D. Pettis, Mrs. Arthur Gibb, Mrs. Arthur J. White, Mrs. Karl Jansky, Mrs. Carl Feldman.

Keansburg To Have A New Theater

According to plans just completed and filed with the Keansburg municipal building department, negotiations are under way for the erection of a modern motion picture theater upon the Fowler site near Creek road. The structure will be the first of a series of buildings at the proposed amusement center and will be of fireproof construction with a seating capacity of 600 persons.

The project is proposed by Horace G. Fowler, one of Keansburg's pioneer residents, who has just completed a series of commercial enterprises at this place, including an ice plant and refrigeration storage plant which is one of the largest in Monmouth county; two factory buildings manufacturing leather goods and ladies' garments, and a coal and fuel terminal adjoining the Central railroad station.

Mr. Fowler has made a survey of the amusement activities along the bayshore section and feels that he is entering into the new field with a confidence of opening several exceptional opportunities leading to the possibilities of making this resort a winter haven as well as a summer resort.

Features of the new theater will include a cooling system connected directly with the storage plant of the ice house of Mr. Fowler's. Special heating facilities will be controlled from the main heating plant of the factory buildings and the entire block will be provided for auto parking.

Among the attractions of the newly proposed building will be spacious lounge rooms for the men and women patrons, as well as a smoking room. The interior will be decorated in a modern and attractive color scheme.

COLT'S NECK PARTY.

Guests Entertained by William Flock at Festivities Last Week.

William Flock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flock, entertained a number of friends at his home at Colt's Neck Friday night. Music, games and dancing were enjoyed. The guests were Shirley Douglass, Margaret White, Margery Conover, Jeannette Thompson, Dorothy Kelly, Charles Sutphin, Bernard Snedeker, William Gunther, Richard and Audrey Flock, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis V. Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Chrlney Conover.

Highlands.

(The Red Bank Register can be bought in Highlands from L. Greenspan, Mr. Mulitor, Bedle's drug store and Joseph Stamen).

The draw on the new highway bridge over the Shrewsbury river was opened for over two hours Tuesday while the dredge deepened the channel under the bridge. Shore traffic was re-routed via Locust Point, Rumson and the Sea Bright bridge.

The Lions club is sponsoring a minstrel show and dance to be given January 18 in the Highlands school auditorium for the benefit of the Methodist church. The show will be presented by the Fair Haven fire company, which organization gave the show recently to raise funds for school gymnasium equipment in that borough. Featured in the show are two old-timers of the stage, Frank Wesson and William Mason. They were headliners in vaudeville almost half a century ago.

Election of trustees will be held by the Methodist church Wednesday night, December 30. The board of trustees will be increased from five to nine members, together with a trustee-at-large. Those named for the board are Clarence Matthews, Tunis H. Lane, A. M. Robertson, David Patterson and Carl Marshall, members of the present board, and W. L. Parker, Frederick Kieferdorf, William Fehlhaber and William Card. William Fahrer has been named for trustee-at-large.

Rev. M. Wayne Womer of Newark occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church Sunday night. His topic was "The Observance of the Christian Sabbath." He said that only one out of every 25 members of the Protestant faith in this country attends church and that only one out of every 30 has ever been to Sunday-school. One way of meeting the problem, he said, is to rearrange the hours of church services to best servo the community. He said that more people would go to church if the services were more interesting and if they were held at hours more suitable to the community.

The Christmas entertainment of the Methodist Sunday-school will be held Wednesday night, December 23. Santa Claus will be present to entertain the children. A special service will take place Christmas eve from 11 o'clock to midnight and at the conclusion of this service members of the congregation will go around the town singing carols. Ninety-five persons attended Sunday-school last Sunday, the largest number in four years. Mrs. E. H. Mathis, wife of the pastor, is conducting a training class for Sunday-school teachers. It is an approved course and those graduating will receive diplomas.

The clergymen of the borough have united in a campaign to encourage Sunday-school attendance. A canvass will be made of the borough and parents will be urged to send their children to Sunday-school in any one of the churches.

The Republican club held a Christmas party Tuesday night in the Fredericks building. Gifts were exchanged and a covered dish supper was served.

George Dorsett, who has been a patient at Monmouth Memorial hospital twice within the past month, returned home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Shea were called to Boston last week by the death of Mr. Shea's father, who was killed in an automobile accident.

Members of the Trailers club will have a covered dish supper at the regular meeting tonight.

Mrs. Herbert Hartsgrove and infant son have returned home from Riverview hospital.

Miss Caroline Matthews spent the week-end with Rev. and Mrs. Harry Grimm of Atlantic City.

AUXILIARY HOLDS PARTY.

Members of Legion Organization Exchange Gifts.

Mrs. Dudley Shaffer and Mrs. Catherine Christman were hostesses at the Christmas party held by American Legion auxiliary, Shrewsbury unit No. 168, in the Post rooms on Broad street last Thursday. Baskets of candy were given as favors.

At the business session Mrs. Shaffer reported that over $47 had been spent for child welfare and rehabilitation since the last meeting.

It was announced that the covered dish luncheon and card party held in November was a financial success. Mrs. Thomas Mead will be hostess at another luncheon and card party at her home on West Front street in January.

At the local Junior Legion party held at the Post rooms last Friday the members of the auxiliary acted as hostesses. Beano was played and refreshments were served. Prizes and boxes of candy were given to the children.

Members of the local unit attended the county children's party held on Monday. Clothing and gifts of candy, fruit, ice cream and cakes were distributed. Those attending from Red Bank were Mrs. Otmar Phillips, president of Shrewsbury unit and also chairman of the American legion auxiliary county committee for child welfare and rehabilitation, Mrs. Dudley Shaffer, Mrs. Thomas Mead, Mrs. Carl E. Bremer and Mrs. William Newman.

Another party for the Veterans at Marlboro will be held on Dec. 17th. Entertainment will be from the Smoke Shop Tavern under the direction of Felix Santangelo.

To Talk on S. P. C. A.

Mrs. George Ford Morris of Shrewsbury will give a short talk on the work of the Monmouth county S. P. C. A. over radio station WBRB Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

It pays to advertise in The Register.

Christmas In The Schools Of Middletown

Entertainments Arranged to Take Place In All the Schools of the Township — High School Band to Give Concert.

Christmas will be celebrated by entertainments of various kinds in the schools of Middletown township. Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock a candlelight pageant will be given at the high school entitled "Adoration of the King and Shepherds." Christmas carols will be sung and a solo will be rendered by Ruth Sniffen. The accompanists will be Blckott Axtell and Dolly Simpson violinists and Daniel Collinson pianist.

Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock the following program will be given by the high school band:

"Jingle Bells" ..... Roberts
"The Black Prince" ..... Beaulac
Waltz, "When Lights Are Low" ..... Dunham
Song, "Parade of the Children" ..... Lake
Ballad, "The Lost Chord" ..... Sullivan
Novelty, "The Jolly Coppersmith" ..... Peter
Song, "Beneath the Holly" ..... Brockton
School song
"Star Spangled Banner"
March

At the Middletown village school an operetta entitled "Merry Old Soul" will be given Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock by the third and fourth grades. Children of the first and second grades will assist and sing several choruses as "the children of the Old Woman in the Shoe." Marian Knight of the sixth grade will recite "The Little Christmas Tree."

The pupils of the third grade have completed a Switzerland unit in the form of a large poster illustrating a scene in that country. Booklets were made in which pictures taken by the children, postcards and snap shots were placed. Some of the children have parents who have visited Switzerland and who provided articles made there and information about that country.

The Christmas entertainment of the River Plaza school will be given Tuesday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock. Preparations for Christmas were begun at this school some time ago when each classroom filled a Junior Red Cross Christmas carton for friends overseas. Each grade will make a contribution to the Monmouth county anti-tuberculosis fund.

The seventh and eighth grade nature club of River Plaza has completed a star group activity and is planning a Christmas treat for birds. Committees have made Christmas decorations in the class room. The girls are designing Christmas gifts made from cloth while the boys are constructing gifts made from wood.

"Twas the Night Before Christmas" will be given in pantomime by the seventh and eighth grade River Plaza pupils at the entertainment. Dressed in Christmas robes, they will sing carols. The fifth and sixth grade girls, attired as angels, will sing "Angels We Have Heard on High," with Marian Duryea taking the solo parts. "We Three Kings of Orient Are" will be sung by the boys of the fifth and sixth grades.

The fifth and sixth grade pupils are making Christmas gifts, including toys, book-ends, door-stops and ornaments. Tray cloths and hot plate holders are being made of gingham. The sixth grade is preparing an exhibition of stamps of France and its possessions in connection with its study of that country.

The first and second grades will give a short Christmas program entitled "Away in a Manger." Special parts will be taken by Marion Corcoran, Larry Villars, William Dedmidowitz and Beatrice Wolf. Christmas gifts made by the children will be given to their parents. The pupils of the two grades are making costumes for the play, decorating the room and Christmas tree and painting a box to be used as a manger.

The third and fourth grades of the River Plaza school are making wreaths and representations of Santa Claus. Each pupil will make a gift of his or her own making for parents. At the entertainment the pupils will sing "The Song of the Seasons," dressed in appropriate costumes. The rhythm band will play "Jingle Bells."

Christmas will be celebrated at the Navesink school tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The pupils and teachers are giving special consideration to library work as a project for the year. Books and magazines are being collected and donated. A large number of The National Geographic magazine was presented to the fifth and sixth grades by Miss Ingling.

Mrs. Conover's classes at the Fort Hancock school have been studying the story of the first Christmas. Scenes of this event have been depicted on a sand table and in posters. Tableaux of this kind will be shown at the Christmas entertainment. The third, fourth and fifth grades will recite Christmas poems of their own composition and the upper grades will present a dramatization of a portion of the "Bird's Christmas Carol." The pupils of all the grades have been making gifts to take home to their parents.

At Port Monmouth Christmas will be celebrated Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A pageant, "Christmas Through the Ages," will be given by children of all the grades, with a chorus of upper grade pupils. A number of carols will be sung. The program is under the direction of Miss Griffin and Miss Quail.

The pupils of the East Keansburg school have received a Red Cross portfolio from the Lithuanian Junior Red Cross. In it are illustrations of Lithuanian cities, Red Cross activities and embroidered articles. Last year the East Keansburg pupils sent a Christmas box to Lithuania and the portfolio is a return gift. The school has filled three Christmas boxes, made a dozen calico dolls, dogs and cats and collected $2.50 for the Junior Red Cross. The pupils are decorating the school and Christmas tree with hand-made ornaments. Gifts and cards are being made.

Christmas will be celebrated at the Leonardo grade school Wednesday morning at 8:40 o'clock. The program will comprise a march, "Christmas in Other Lands" by the pupils of Grade 8-B, a dance by June Maier, a Christmas surprise play by the third and fourth grades, "Come All Ye Faithful" by the school, songs and recitations by the first grade, scenes from Dicken's Christmas carol by the pupils of Grade 8-B, selections by the school orchestra, dance by the pupils of the second grade, Christmas carols by the seventh and eighth grades, Christmas poem by the sixth grade, "Knights of the Round Table" health play by the seventh and eighth grade dramatic club and march.

At the Leonardo grade school a newspaper club with 16 members has been organized under the direction of Mr. Lefever. The club issues a newspaper each month. Jane Carlisle is editor and her assistants are Mildred Druien and Laura Kahrer. The copies are produced on a duplicating machine from a master copy and about 40 are distributed each month to the various home rooms.

Class 7-A has elected Peter Cooke president and Sylvia Wilson secretary. The following committee chairmen have been appointed:

Home room chapel—B. Ellis.
Care of room—S. Johnson.
Attendance—H. Bellingham.
Class laws—J. Capenegro.

The 8-B literature class will dramatize "Christmas at the Cratchits" as its part in the Christmas entertainment. Leanor Isaakson and Gladys Mussy are directing this feature. The cast of characters follows:

Bob Cratchit ..... John McFadden
Mrs. Cratchit ..... Harriet Long
Martha ..... Verna Wilson
Belinda ..... Winifred Weiss
Peter ..... Edwin Shelly
Young Cratchits ..... Doris Warburton, Albert Buck
Tiny Tim ..... Robert Daverio

The assistant coach is June Maier and the stage managers are Theodore Maccaulay and John Lipuscek.

The Arts and Crafts club of the Leonardo grade school has elected Peter Cooke as its chairman. The club members have made decoration masks. The boys are making ship and airplane models and the girls are making Christmas gifts.

The sixth grade of the Leonardo grade school has bought its full allotment of Red Cross tuberculosis bangles and sent the money to the school nurse. A group of the grade pupils are making Christmas favors to be sent to World war veterans in hospitals. Irene Tkach and Betty Kitchner have completed painting an Egyptian scene as part of their study on life in Egypt. The sixth grade will contribute a poem for the Christmas entertainment.

At the Leonardo grade school the 8-B history class has chosen every other Friday and the 8-A history class has chosen every other Monday for history scrapbook periods. Among the subjects selected for subjects are changes in dress, development of transportation, development of communication, famous men, famous women, territorial expansion of the United States, the Presidents, inventions and explorers of the past and present. The scrapbooks are made from colored pictures in newspapers and magazines. Picture trading is a lively activity among the pupils.

The pupils of the fifth grade of the Leonardo school are making Christmas gifts for their parents. According to the teachers, boys are plying needles better than girls. The pupils are completing a large wall map of the United States. The pupils of the fourth grade have been making a study of Indians dwelling along the Amazon river.

The pupils of the third grade of Leonardo have just completed a large wall map of Middletown township. In chapel one day recently representatives of the class told the other pupils of the school about the subject. The object of this activity is to make the pupils of the school thoroughly familiar with Middletown township.

Christmas will be celebrated at the Lincroft school Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. A Christmas party will be held Wednesday afternoon for the pupils. A new feature has been introduced in placing magazines in the school each month and it is proving of large interest.

The primary pupils of Lincroft have made gifts to fill a Red Cross box to be sent to a foreign country. The pupils are making knitted mats, foot-stools, book-ends, tablecloths, napkins, painted vases, coat hangers and tie racks to give to their parents for Christmas gifts.

"The Doll's Counter," a play in three acts, was given by pupils of the seventh grade of the Fair View school last evening as part of the Christmas entertainment of that school. It was written by Muriel Davis and revised by Mary Davinson, William Southcott, Frank, Alexander and Muriel Avery.

Those taking part were Muriel Cusanio, William Southcott, Dorothy Tutas, Muriel Avery, Frank Alexander, Doris Pierce, Frank Mylock, Albert Glendinning, Charlotte Dobbs, Paula Menzel, Muriel Wilson and Genevieve Applegate.

The pupils of the eighth grade gave a play entitled "Alias Santa Claus." Those who took part were Wilbur Schneider, James Swackhamer, Jean Ciamato, Mary L. Delatush, James Glendinning, Henry Heyer, Patricia Conover, Robert Klotzin, Margaret Ross, Charity Fisher and Mary Boyd.

The pupils of the first six grades gave a pageant entitled "Love Lights and Tree." They made the scenery and costumes for this part of the program. All the pupils of the school participated in the entertainment. Gifts were made for the parents of the pupils and the school rooms were decorated.

POSTOFFICE GIVES WARNING.

Be Sure To Save The Top Portion Of Your Social Security Form.

The clerical force at the Red Bank postoffice, which is handling the Social Security forms, state they are having a great deal of trouble with people calling at the postoffice in regard to account numbers received by them.

The Register has been asked to advise the public that the top line and the bottom portion of the card is the employee's name; the next two lines are devoted to the home address of the employee. The bottom portion referred to is of no value. The top portion on which the employee's name appears is of great importance and should be kept with other valuable papers and not carried around loosely in the pocket where it might get lost.

All of the cards have not been sent out, but it is expected that this job will be completed within the next few days. Employees who have not sent in cards are advised that the dead line set was midnight, Tuesday, December 15, and that they better hurry before a penalty is imposed. Unless employers check upon their employees to see that they have filled in their cards, it is quite probable that trouble will develop after January 1.

Leonardo.

(The Red Bank Register can be bought in Leonardo from F. K. Kilduff, Harry Montgomery and Albert Jeremias.)

Mrs. Harry Chamberlain will be one of four hostesses at the monthly meeting of the World Wide Guild of the Red Bank Baptist church at her home here Friday evening. The annual Christmas party will be celebrated and Santa Claus will distribute gifts. Refreshments and an entertainment will be enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Finkle with their family have been spending a few days with relatives at Irvington.

Mrs. Margaret Conwell is slowly recovering from her illness of several weeks resulting from poisoning caused by poison ivy.

Donald Chamberlain spent the week-end with his grandmother, Mrs. John Chamberlain at Red Bank.

Mrs. Irving W. Teeple was hostess to Mrs. Minerva Dennis of Red Bank and Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Cross at her home Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Cross entertained Miss Mary Gray and Mrs. I. W. Teeple at their home Friday evening. Cards and refreshments were enjoyed.

The Woman's Republican club will hold a card party in Community fire house Monday afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

A missionary tea will be given this evening in the lecture room of the Baptist church by the Woman's missionary society. Sunday-school will meet Sunday morning at 9:45 o'clock. The subject for the morning service will be "Attraction for the Wise," with special music by the choir. The Christian Endeavor society will meet at 7 o'clock in the evening. The topic will be "The Christmas Carol." A candlelight service will be held in the evening at 7:45 o'clock, with special music by the choir. The Christian Endeavor society will meet at 8 o'clock Monday evening. Tuesday evening the Intermediate Christian Endeavor society will meet at 7 o'clock. The Christmas entertainment of the Sunday-school will be given Wednesday evening at 7:45 o'clock. Christmas service will be held at the church Christmas morning at 7 o'clock. New Years eve a watch night service will be held beginning at 9:30 o'clock.

JUST ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR WHY
"It's Buick again!"

The model illustrated is the Buick Special 4-door sedan, $945 list at Flint, Michigan. Fenderwells extra.

YOU don't have to go far afield for first-hand testimony on the marvelous goodness of the new 1937 Buicks.

Right here at home—among your friends and neighbors—are folks who can tell you plenty about this handsome traveler—and what makes it great!

Want a frank appraisal of Buick's flash-action oil-hushed valve-in-head straight-eight engine? Ask any Buick owner.

Want to know what Buick's Acrobat carburetor means — about Buick's double-end stabilization — about the soft straight-line certainty of Buick's tiptoe hydraulic brakes, with their easy-but-sure action?

Just listen to the voice of happy experience!

You'll run into a brand of enthusiasm among Buick owners that makes a salesman's talk sound lukewarm, but don't let that sweep you off your feet.

Just drop in and we'll show you the cold facts behind the warm fervor — how, in spite of extra bigness, extra power, extra beauty, extra performance, this year's Buicks — listing at $765 and up at Flint — are the easiest to buy in all Buick history.

Bolognini Well Received By 500 Music Lovers

Playing and Conducting of Willard Sektberg and Singing of Mrs. Thomas McClintock at Choral Concert Highly Praised

Remo Bolognini, prominent South American violinist, was guest artist Thursday night at the mid-winter concert of the Thursday Morning choral. He was accompanied at the piano by Willard Sektberg, conductor of the choral. Mrs. Thomas McClintock of Long Branch, president of the choral, sang incidental solos. More than 500 persons attended.

The program was varied and had two climaxes, one before intermission when the chorus joined with Mrs. McClintock and Mr. Bolognini in an interpretation of Rubinstein's "Seraphic Song," and the second at the close of the program when the audience joined with the chorus in singing "Adeste Fidelis" as the high sopranos in the chorus sang a stirring descant. Singing was well modulated, there being exceptional climaxes in such songs as Victor Harris' "Morning," Gretchaninov's "My Native Land," and the Bohemian folk song, "Waters Ripple and Flow."

In Schubert's "The Lord is My Shepherd" the chorus did some of its best singing of the evening. In this number, which is one of the masterpieces of choral music, the reverent feeling of devotion and serenity was apparent and made for a beautiful interpretation.

Mr. Bolognini made an impression on the audience. He is an artist of sincere integrity. The tone he produced from his famous violin, a 200-year-old Guanerius, was warm and glowing. The difficult passages in the various pieces he played were executed with ease and his intonation was impeccable. His work was admirable in many ways and the audience recalled him several times.

Mrs. McClintock sang the solo in Rubinstein's "Seraphic Song," using her voice with skill and taste. Mr. Sextberg provided admirable accompaniments to Mr. Bolognini's selections and his conducting was praiseworthy. Miss Thelma Mount, accompanist for the choral, was sympathetic and musicianly.

Mrs. Olive Wyckoff of Branch avenue, teacher of voice, said of the concert: "The Thursday Morning choral offered a worthwhile evening to Monmouth county music lovers. They presented a well-chosen and diversified program of Christmas carols and chorals under the able leadership of Willard Sektberg. Mr. Sektberg brings decision and a fine feeling for dynamics and tempo to his leadership. Under his guidance, the choral has greatly improved in tonal quality. This was especially noticeable in the rendition of Schubert's "The Lord is My Shepherd." The Meza voice singing in this number was pure and even in line, considering that this composition lies in a difficult part of the voice. Victor Harris' arrangement of "Morning" proved enjoyable. Some of the forte attacks, however, were a little harsh. The Holst "Pastoral" was a refreshing change from the average pastoral movement and the quick and clean diction was praiseworthy. Gaines' arrangement of Rubinstein's "Kammenoi Ostrow," with violin accompaniment, entitled "Seraphic Song" was one of the highlights of the evening. Mrs. Theresa McClintock's incidental solos, in this number, were rich and well balanced in relation to the choral. Mr. Bolognini's violin obligato left nothing to be desired.

"Red Bank owes a debt of gratitude to the Thursday Morning choral for the many exceptionally gifted guest artists it has given us an opportunity to hear. Mr. Bolognini is an inspired musician. His tone is sonorous and brilliant, and his technique is clean cut. His playing of Schubert's "Ave Maria" left one warmed by the tenderness of his tone and his rendition of Ries' "Perpetuum Mobile" left one lost in admiration of his technique. The quality which makes the work of this artist doubly enjoyable is his modesty of demeanor. Mr. Sektberg provided admirable accompaniments to Mr. Bolognini's selections. Miss Mount proved a very able accompanist to the choral. On the whole, one feels that the choral has grown in clearness of diction, in forwardness of tone and precision of attack."

A. Leroy Baker, tenor and Red Bank high school teacher, had this to say: "Under the excellent direction of Willard Sektberg, a newcomer to Red Bank, the women of the choral showed an almost unbelievable improvement over their last performance in the spring. The tone quality of the group has improved in that never throughout the concert was there a noticeable evidence of forced tone, which was noticed heretofore, particularly in climactic passages. There was a gentle restraint throughout, which was a great help to the general artistic effect. The balance of parts was for the most part almost perfect. Mr. Sektberg secured beautiful effects throughout the program, subtle effects of shading and clever handling of rhythms in spots, which made the program a delight to hear."

The names of Mr. and Mrs. Amory L. Haskell of Chapel Hill in Middletown township and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Irving Brown of Broad street were omitted from the list of associate members of the choral published in The Register last week.

A grand piano used at the concert was loaned by Storck's music store on Broad street.

Sorority Secretary.

Miss Clara Brousell of Long Branch, daughter of Moe Brousell, proprietor of the Monmouth waiting room on Monmouth street, near Broad street, and of Brousell's used car market on Maple avenue, was appointed secretary of Rho chapter, Iota Phi sorority, at a meeting of the organization Thursday night. Miss Brousell succeeds Miss Marcia D'Vorkin.

Two Resolutions Are Endorsed By Tri-County Group

Officials at Highlands Meeting Favor State Supervision of Ocean Highway and Postponement of Budget Set-up.

The Tri-County Municipal association at its monthly dinner meeting last night at Cedar inn at Highlands approved two important resolutions. One proposed by Mayor Alton V. Evans of Long Branch, vice president of the association, endorses legislation to make the boulevard from Highlands bridge to Asbury Park a part of the state highway system. Mr. Evans said he will have a bill to that effect introduced at the coming session of the state legislature.

The other resolution requests the legislature to postpone the new budget act until 1938 on the ground that it is too complicated and too severe. Municipal auditors and collectors attended meetings at Trenton Monday and Tuesday, at which Walter R. Darby, state auditor, explained the various phases of the law and the budget set-up. It is the opinion of many officials that sufficient time has not been given to enable proper study of the new budget act and that its enforcement now will result in a great deal of confusion.

Mayor George W. Hardy of Highlands, president of the association, presided. An interesting talk upon taxation was given by George W. Grimm, Jr., deputy tax commissioner of New Jersey. Thirty members were present.

Women's Chorus Sings Old Songs At Club Meeting

Singers Dressed in Colonial Attire Featured Program of Meeting of Little Silver Woman's Club Yesterday.

Fifty-five persons attended the Christmas meeting of the Little Silver Woman's club yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Eleanor Kenyon, the club president, presided. The meeting opened with the singing of "Come All Ye Faithful" by the entire gathering.

The program was in charge of the music committee. Mrs. J. William Helm led the club chorus in the absence of Mrs. Grace King, who is ill. The chorus, dressed in Colonial attire, sang a group of songs popular many years ago. A group of Christmas carols were also rendered. Mrs. George Ivins was the accompanist. Recitations were given by Jane McHugh of Red Bank and Isabelle Cline of Sea Bright. Mrs. Florris Johnson of Long Branch gave a monologue.

Mrs. Edward McClellan, chairman of the welfare committee, reported that the club will fill a number of Christmas baskets for needy families.

Refreshments were served by the hostess committee consisting of Mrs. Charles Eichman chairman, Mrs. Louis Gilbough, Mrs. O. E. Davis, Jr., and Mrs. Elsie Fanguel.

The international relations committee will meet the latter part of January at the home of Mrs. V. P. Wilkinson.

Church School To Give Entertainment

The Christmas program of the children of St. Mary's Episcopal church school of Atlantic Highlands will be held Tuesday evening, December 22, at 8 o'clock, in the church. A pageant entitled "The Perfect Gift" will be presented. Those taking part are June Mount as Mary, Edward Boylan as Joseph, Walter and Alvin Therkelsen and Kenneth Johnson the "Three Wise Men," Albert Gardella, Howard Mallen and Robert Boylan as shepherds and Alma Lindland, Shirley Therkelsen, Irene Johnson, Helen Boylan and Cachita Molinet as angels. Miss Dorothea Guttormsen is the reader.

A short play entitled "Helping the Poor at Christmas" will be played by June Mount, Bernice Abrams, Kenneth, Roland and Irene Johnson and Alvin Therkelsen. Recitations will be given by Gloria and Dora Abrams, Alma Lindland, Helen Boyland, Shirley Therkelsen, Cachita and Adelita Molinet and David Mallen. Old Christmas carols will be sung by children in appropriate costumes.

The children will receive gifts of candy and oranges, besides a Christmas gift. The candy is donated by Misses Doretta and Minada Vioring of New York, summer residents of Leonardo.

The program is under the direction of Miss Dorothea Guttormsen, assisted by Misses Alva and Blanche Therkelsen, Dorothy Johnson and Norma Thompson. Mrs. Ethel Friden will be the organ accompanist.

Connected with the store is a work shop. Special attention is given to speedometer sales and service. Mr. Carlisle has had large experience in this work as well as in radio servicing.

Samples Taken Of Water In Bay By State Board

Examination to Determine Whether or Not Ban on Clamming is to be Removed—Disconnected Sewer Pipe Closed.

Samples of the water in Sandy Hook bay were taken yesterday by the state board of health to determine whether or not the ban on clamming should be removed. The state board issued an order stopping the clammers from working while the sewer pipe from Highlands to Sandy Hook was disconnected.

Work on lowering the main has been stopped temporarily and will not be resumed for several weeks. The pipe has been joined together again and the sewage is now emptying into the ocean and not the river. About 500 persons are affected by the ban and an effort is being made to have the order rescinded as soon as possible.

Poor Overseer Submits Report At Fair Haven

George A. Hawkins Commended by Borough Officials for His Work During the Year—State Taxes Paid.

George A. Hawkins, overseer of the poor of Fair Haven, submitted a report of the activities of his office during the past year, at the meeting of the mayor and council Monday night. After the report had been read Mayor Augustus M. Minton and members of the council commended Mr. Hawkins for the manner in which he is handling relief affairs in the borough.

Mr. Hawkins provided milk for the school children as requested by Roland Fennimore, supervising principal. The office of overseer of the poor furnished the borough 62 days' road work, six days on garbage collection and five working days in the park. This work was given to men on relief who would have received relief tickets, thus saving the borough that amount of expense.

Mr. Hawkins received food from the Federal government for distribution among the needy through the efforts of Mayor Minton. Mr. Hawkins said the mayor has worked with him in every manner possible to help the office.

Every case was investigated and those found in want were supplied with food tickets, doctor, coal, milk or wood. Wood cut by men on relief was delivered by Mr. Hawkins in his truck to homes of unfortunate families, saving the borough the cost of five tons of coal. A number of men obtained work on WPA projects outside the borough. The relief appropriation was kept within the budget. In concluding his report Mr. Hawkins thanked the mayor and council for their co-operation.

The council paid state school taxes of $6,564.55 and state bonus taxes of $404.50. A request from the board of education for $5,000 was granted. Current bills amounting to $1,825.56 were paid.

A letter was received from County Treasurer Van R. Halsey relative to interest on county taxes which the borough owes. Percy D. Bennett, borough collector, said the borough owes the county about $700 interest but the county owes the borough as much and probably more than that sum in interest on county scrip. He said he has endeavored without success to obtain an accounting from the county. John S. Applegate, borough attorney, said the borough did not have to pay what it owes the county in interest until an accounting has been received. All county and state taxes have been paid by the borough to date.

Certification notices sent by the WPA will be executed by the mayor and the collector for the installation of catch basins on Lake avenue to correct a defective drainage condition.

An application by A. M. Linbarger of River road for appointment as constable was tabled for consideration after January 1.

Former Mayor Charles P. Cross, chairman of the firemen's Christmas tree parties for the children of the borough, extended an invitation to the mayor and council to attend these affairs. One party will be held at 11 o'clock Christmas morning in Fisk street school and the other at noon in the fire house.

A letter from Monroe Elsner complaining of the condition of Prospect avenue, near Harding road, was referred to the road committee. Councilman Tony Hunting reported that a new large evergreen tree had been planted in the park. This tree will be decorated with electric lights for the holiday season. Councilman Arthur B. Sickles reported the new hook and ladder truck should arrive within the coming week. He praised Fire Chief Oscar Becker and the assistant chiefs, Robert Amendt and John Wagner, for their services during the year.

These Little Pigs Went To Market

The largest family of pigs ever to come to Red Bank arrived yesterday from the farm. Headed by Mama, the family, numbering 26, includes Aunt Emma, Aunt Susie, Nicodemus, Arrabella, Sammy, Mickey, Willie, Jack, Eliza, Betty, Jiggers and Toots. They are all in the pink of condition and are waiting in Fowler's market, 7 Broad street, for someone to come in and take them home for a delicious meal.

Carol Services At St. George's Church, Rumson

Community Chorus of 50 Voices to Sing Sunday Afternoon, December 27, at 4 O'clock—J. Stanley Farrar, Organist.

A carol service will be held by a community chorus of 50 outstanding singers Sunday afternoon, December 27, at 4 o'clock, at St. George's Episcopal church, Rumson. J. Stanley Farrar, organist and choirmaster, is coaching the group. English and French carols will be featured.

Arthur Gibb, William Haskell, Mrs. Maurilla Walsworth, William Leonard, Nicholas G. Rutgers and Mrs. Lyons Stancil organized the chorus of mixed voices, and its popularity has grown to such an extent that rehearsals are held at Ralph hall, Rumson, rather than in private homes.

Those who will be heard in the carol service are Mrs. Florence E. Pawley, Mrs. Marjorie Morris, Mrs. Dorothy Uzdilla, Mrs. Theresa McClintock, Mrs. Martin Connelly, Mrs. Ivah N. Cadwallader, Mrs. Elvira Smart, Mrs. John Lindsay, Mrs. Arthur Gibb, Mrs. John Ballantine, Mrs. Harold Clark, Mrs. A. W. Sielcken, Mrs. Stancil, Miss Gladys L. Teacher Engaged By School Board At Fair Haven

Miss Dorothy Mazza of Red Bank to Teach Fourth Grade at Willow Street Sschool—Principal Gets Salary Raise.

Another teacher was added to the staff of the Willow street school at Fair Haven when Miss Dorothy Mazza of Red Bank was engaged at last week's meeting of the board of education to teach the fourth grade. She has been a substitute teacher for several months.

The board voted to increase the salary of Roland Fennimore, supervising principal of the Fair Haven schools, $250. The attendance dividing line between the Willow street and Knollwood schools was shifted from Cedar avenue to Hance road for beginners to relieve overcrowding in the Knollwood schools.

Community Tree For Highlands

The Highlands mayor and council Tuesday night appropriated $75 for the installation of colored lights on Bay avenue, from Jackson street to Cedar street, for the Christmas holidays. Mayor George W. Hardy donated electric wire for the tree and Borough Attorney William A. Stevens gave 100 bulbs.

The Atlantic Mason supply company of Atlantic Highlands was the successful bidder for furnishing material for road repairs.

Frank Hill, owner of the Seaside hotel, complained that his property had been damaged by sand dumped near the property by the dredge in the river. Grade levels have been changed, he stated, and he asked that changes be made in the sewer extension to remedy the trouble. He was told that due to financial reasons the change could not be made at this time.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING.

Mechanic Street Group Held Interesting Gathering Yesterday.

The executive board of the Mechanic Street School Parent-Teacher association met in regular session yesterday afternoon in Mrs. Beulah Ely's room. A history of the association was read by Miss Marguerite Enright, and Mrs. Charles Stillwagon read her report of the morning session of the fall council of the Monmouth County Parent-Teacher association held recently at Spring Lake.

Mrs. George Merrill announced that a series of discussion meetings for child study will be held in February and plans are being completed for a card party to be held in January.

The association decided to hold its executive board meetings on the second Wednesday and the regular meetings on the third Wednesday of each month. The next regular meeting will be held Wednesday evening, December 23, at half-past seven o'clock in the school auditorium.

Others present at yesterday's session were Mrs. Frank Kuhl, Miss Mabel Wilbur, Mrs. A. H. Hershon, Mrs. G. M. Olsen, Miss Helen Egan, Mrs. Russell Ohl, Mrs. H. B. McCormick, Mrs. Florence Kennedy, Mrs. Ada Paine, Mrs. Kenneth McQueen, Mrs. Arnold Bowen, Mrs. Ensley White, Miss E. S. Ernst and Mrs. Ely.

Democratic Santa Claus.

A very largely attended dance was held at the Leonardo grill Saturday night by the Middletown township Democratic club. The profits will be used to finance a Christmas party which the club will hold for children during the holiday season at its clubhouse on Leonardville road.

Gloria Concert Band of North Jersey, Comprising Over 30 Pieces, to Perform Under Auspices of Methodist Church.

When the 30-odd musicians of the Gloria concert band arrive at the Willow street school at Fair Haven tomorrow night a record crowd is expected to greet them. The young musicians will travel by bus from Prospect Park, a suburb of Paterson, and will reach Fair Haven about eight o'clock, a few minutes in advance of the beginnig of their program.

The Gloria concert band, directed for 15 years by Professor Gaetano Dittamo, has an unusual equipment, and Friday night's audience will hear a variety of the musical offerings, including snappy military marches, two or three of the classic overtures better known to the American audience, several novelty numbers, and a solo or two.

The program as it will probably be presented is as follows:

March, "Cheerio" ..... Goldman
"Man of the Hour" ..... Woods
"Poet and Peasant Overture" ..... VonSuppe
"Open the Gates of the Temple" .....
Arranged by Professor Dittamo
Medley of Billy Sunday Hymns
Sacred March, "Boston Commandery" .....
Carter
Trombone solo ..... Selected
Novelty, "Dusty Trombone" ..... Fillmore
"Children's March" ..... Goldman
March, "King Cotton" ..... Sousa
March "Gloria" ..... Losey
Overture, "William Tell" ..... Rossini
Bombasto March ..... Farrar
Novelty, "Opera in the Barnyard" ..... Lake
Old Timers' Waltz
"Stars and Stripes Forever" ..... Sousa

The Gloria concert band is coming to Fair Haven under the auspices of the Fair Haven Methodist church. Members of the Men's society of the church are in charge of arrangements.

Get License Now— Avoid The Rush

Additional employees have been engaged to facilitate the work of issuing automobile licenses at the office of George W. Bray. The customary last minute rush is due to begin soon and autoists are urged by Mr. Bray and his assistants to make their applications without delay. At the present time it requires only five minutes to procure a license. The new employees assist folks in preparing cards. The work is done with typewriters.

Approximately 2,000 licenses have been issued, which is about 400 more than was true during the same period last year. In 1936 slightly more than 6,000 licenses were issued. It is estimated that the number will exceed 6,500 this year.

Two Turkeys Won At Sunrise Shoot

Music by Junior Choir
Good Night ..... Milly Parker

Rev. Elijah F. Reed, pastor, in his Christmas message to his congregation says in part:

"The real Christmas season means the giving and receiving of gifts. Parents make sacrifices in order that their children may be made happy. Children save their nickels and dimes to purchase a gift for father or mother. Everyone is happy. The roll is called. Not one is forgotten.

"What would Christmas be without the church, its altars, sacraments, music and its services? In our thinking have we included the needs of the church?

"May I say—and I dont think you will call me selfish—that at least 70 per cent of our people in Little Silver worship out of the borough, making it doubly hard for the church to maintain. Therefore, we are asking you in your wide distribution of gifts, not to forget the local church. We are presuming you have a place in your heart for the church."

Two Young Men Hurt When Car Runs Into Tree

Edgar Gaskill and Hudson M. Hurley Injured in Accident at Colt's Neck—Hurley Confined to Hospital.

Edgar Gaskill of Little Silver returned home yesterday from Riverview hospital, where he had been laid up with injuries received in an automobile accident last week at Colt's Neck. He suffered two broken ribs.

Hudson M. Hurley, also of Little Silver, was also injured in the crash and is still confined to the hospital. He has a broken bone in his leg and the limb is in a cast.

The two young men were driving through Colt's Neck on their way to meet Mr. Hurley's father when the car skidded and crashed into a tree. Mr. Hurley was driving. They were taken to the office of Dr. Frank Niemtzow at Freehold and later removed to Riverview hospital. Mr. Hurley is in the garage business at Little Silver and Mr. Gaskill is an employee at the garage.

Firemen Need Funds To Carry On Relief Work

Councilman Arthur B. Sickles Makes Appeal at Council Meeting—Fire Company Provides Relief Throughout Year.

The Fair Haven Fire company will hold Christmas parties for the children of the borough at the fire house at noon and at Fisk street school at 11 a. m. on Christmas day. In accordance with the annual custom a Christmas tree will be decorated at both places and Santa claus will be on hand to join in the occasion. Last year about 500 children received boxes of candy, oranges and toys. This year the firemen expect to entertain approximately the same number.

The kiddies' parties are only a small part of the good work done by the members of the fire company. During the past few years the welfare board of the company has spent nearly $1,000 annually for the relief of the needy. Clothing, shoes and coal have been distributed and medical attention provided for destitute parents and children.

Last year 55 Christmas dinners were distributed, 144 children outfitted with shoes, rubbers, stockings and other necessary wearing apparel. Glasses have been bought for school children. Necessities have been purchased throughout the year. In many instances families are helped privately in a manner that relieves them of the embarrassment of asking public aid from the overseer of the poor.

The welfare board co-operates with the overseer of the poor and other relief agencies in handling relief problems, relieving the municipality of much of the relief burden.

The next two or three months will require considerable expenditures for relief and the firemen are endeavoring to continue to meet the calls made upon their resources. Each year the firemen appropriate funds from their fair proceeds for relief work, but this year the firemen have bought at their expense a new hook and ladder truck, which has somewhat depleted the company's funds.

Councilman Arthur B. Sickles, who is president of the company, explained at the meeting of the mayor and council Monday night that donations no matter how small that the residents of Fair Haven may want to give, would be gratefully received, as the firemen find it difficult to meet all demands, and do not want to refuse help to anyone in distress. Following the appeal over $40 was donated at the meeting. Mr. Sickles has requested that anyone desiring to help in this work could send the donations to Percy D. Bennett, secretary and treasurer of the welfare board.

Others on the welfare board besides Mr. Bennett are Harry B. Kurtis chairman, Russell Minton, George W. Curchin, Clarence Little, Arthur B. Sickles, Mrs. Elizabeth Little, Mrs. Viola Sickles, Mrs. Agnes Allaire and Miss Gladys Taylor. The Christmas tree committee consists of Charles P. Cross chairman, Oscar Becker, Robert Amendt, John Wagner and William Anderson, Jr.

The work done by the firemen's organization relieves the taxpayers of a considerable part of the expense that otherwise would have to be included in the poor appropriation and raised by taxation. The fire company has been commended from time to time for its public spirit in helping the community with its poor problems and for willingly contributing its resources to so many projects for the public good. Recently the firemen gave a minstrel show to buy equipment for the school gymnasium. The firemen contribute to the churches and to every civic enterprise that is a benefit to the community.

Liquor Store Moves To Larger Quarters

J. Lemburg of Atlantic Highlands will reopen his retail liquor store in its new location Saturday of this week. Mr. Lemburg recently bought the building adjoining his cigar and confectionery store on First avenue and he has had the front remodeled. There are three stores in this building and Mr. Lemburg has moved his liquor store into the center store. The new location is larger than the store where the business was previously located. New maple and walnut shelves have been installed by the Filmore Store Fixture Co. of New York. The store has a new modernistic front as have the other two stores in the building. Mr. Lemburg will carry a complete line of domestic and imported wines and liquors.

TWO STORES TO MOVE.

New Business Place to Open Here in the Spring.

The real estate department of the United Cigar stores, which controls the renting of Mrs. John F. Pope's stores at Broad and White streets, has notified Jerry's shoe store and George Noglow shoe shine parlor to vacate the premises at the expiration of their leases this coming spring.

The Register was reliably informed this morning that a well-known chain store will take possession of the premises now occupied by the two above-mentioned stores.

Senator Barbour Guest At Scout Dinner Tuesday

Monmouth County Solon is Praised for His Interest in Scout Movement — Council Meeting Precedes Dinner.

Senator W. Warren Barbour was guest of honor Tuesday night at a dinner given at the Rumson Country club by Amory L. Haskell. A meeting of the Monmouth Boy Scout council, which was attended by Senator Barbour and Mr. Haskell, preceded the dinner.

Matters affecting the Boy Scout movement in Monmouth county were discussed at the business session. A report on the activities of the Boy Scout camp at Allaire was submitted. Plans for winter scout activities were discussed.

Philip Jacobs of Red Bank, representing the scouts, praised Senator Barbour for the interest he has taken in the movement. Mr. Barbour said he was proud of the part he had taken in building up the council in the Monmouth district but declared that the main credit belonged to Frank C. Cobb.

While the dinner was non-political, several veiled references were made to the possibility that Mr. Barbour may be called upon to run for governor next year. E. Donald Sterner, state highway commissioner, pointed out that Mr. Barbour ran ahead of the Republican national ticket in New Jersey and that it is inevitable that he will soon be called upon to take the leadership in another battle.

Mr. Haskell, who served as toastmaster, introduced several members of the Boy Scout executive committee, whom he lauded for their interest in scouting.

Other speakers included Monroe Eisner of Red Bank, William S. Buchsbaum of Spring Lake, T. R. Crumley, president of the Jersey Central power and light company, Mayor William B. Bamford of Belmar, Sanford Flint, Morgan A. Knapp and Frank C. Cobb.

Arthur Brisbane, noted editorial writer, who donated the use of the grounds at Allaire for the Boy Scout camp, and Calvin Derrick, superintendent of the state home for boys at Jamesburg, sent messages of regret at not being able to attend. Both are members of the scout council.

Mr. Haskell gave a short report on the Sea Scout movement and stated that plans are being made to replace the S. S. Tucker, which was used by the Sea Scouts as a training ship until last September. The ship has since been scuttled. Mr. Haskell, who is Commodore for the local Sea Scout division, said that it is hoped to have another training ship brought to either the Shrewsbury river or Manasquan inlet.

Kendall Lee, Scoutmaster of Troop 84 of Asbury Park, asked that the troop be permitted to build a new lodge at Allaire. Permission was granted.

The council went on record in favor of having the Scouts continue in the movement to exterminate tent caterpillars.

Skilling Sextet Entertains Lions

The Skilling sextet of Long Branch, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Skilling and their children, Miss Violet Skilling and Robert, Chancey Addison and William David Skilling, gave a program of vocal and piano selections at the weekly meeting of the Red Bank Lions club Tuesday night in the Elks home.

District Governor Judge Harry W. Lindeman of Orange and State Director Robert Crockett of the South Orange and Maplewood clubs were guests. Others visitors included Anatole Chameroy of Red Bank and Arthur Toerk of Pittsburgh. The latter was introduced by his brother-in-law, Theodore D. Moore.

Sidney J. Wain, editor and publisher of the Standard, was admitted to membership. The roster now contains 72 names.

District Governor Lindeman declared that the Lions in New Jersey were moving forward in their principal objective of service for others. During the past six months Judge Lindeman has visited between 35 and 40 Lions clubs in the state.

John H. Burns, chairman of the boys' and girls' work committees, reported that the new Englishtown club will join with the Red Bank and Jamesburg organizations visiting the State Home for Boys at Jamesburg on Christmas day. Gifts will be distributed to 175 inmates.

THEY PAY FOR THEIR BONERS.

Register Reporters Buy Radio Outfit Through Their Carelessness.

Several months ago the boys of The Register's reportorial staff set up what they termed a "boner box" to receive contributions whenever the city editor detected a grammatical error made by them, the amount to be deposited entirely upon the carelessness of the writer and upon his experience in newspaper reporting.

Fines were imposed from ten cents up and "boners" made by the more advanced reporters called for amounts up to fifty cents. This voluntary check-up on one another's work not only helped produce better copy for presentation to the city editor but also gave the boys a lot of fun endeavoring not to get caught by the editor for carelessness in copy writing and presentation of facts.

This week it was decided to open the "boner box" and to spend the money for mutual enjoyment at this holiday season. Much to their surprise they had contributed, principally in small sums of ten and twenty cents, enough money to purchase a short wave radio outfit and by unanimous consent such a purchase was made. The set has been installed in the news rooms on the second floor of The Register building and the boys are enjoying it.

The "boner box" has been closed again and is now eagerly awaiting to receive the first contribution from a Register reporter that pulls a "boner" in his copy.

Entre Nous Club To Spread Good Cheer

The Entre Nous club of Red Bank made $98 at a recent card party and the money will be spent for food and clothing for needy families at Christmas time. Members of the club exchanged gifts at a Christmas party last week at the Roosevelt tea room at Little Silver.

Those present were Mrs. Thomas Hackett, Mrs. Howard A. Stockton, Mrs. Charles Giblin, Mrs. Harry Trees, Mrs. John Bannon, Mrs. Leo Green, Mrs. Harry J. Quinn, Mrs. Edward O'Flaherty Mrs. John Hughes, Mrs. Walter Layton, Mrs. John Pfeiffenberger, Mrs. David Sheridan and Mrs. Charles Chinnock.

Emile Girardin Celebrates His 80th Birthday

Party at His Home at Headden's Corner Monday Evening—Native of Alsace-Lorraine and Father of 24 Children.

Emile Girardin of Headden's Corner celebrated his 80th birthday Monday night with a party and family gathering at his home. Among those present were Catherine Girardin, wife of the celebrant, and the latter's children, Frank Girardin, Louis Girardin, Mrs. Margaret Burlew, Joseph Girardin and Mrs. Joseph Koegler, together with their families.

Also present were the grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Girardin, including Joseph and Henry Girardin, Miss Bertha Manuel, Armand Grillon, Paul Grillon, Fermande Grillon, Maurice Grillon, Louise Grillon, Adrian Grillon, Mary Grillon, Robert Girardin, Jean Girardin, Susan Girardin, Emilv Girardin, Henry Koegler and Joseph Koegler of Red Bank and Leo Girardin and Gilbert Girardin of Red Bank. BUILDING FIVE BUNGALOWS.

Michael S. Jacobs Invests in More Fair Haven Real Estate.

Michael S. Jacobs of Fair Haven has enlarged his building program at that place to include five bungalows on the tract which he recently bought from the O'Brien estate. The house which was on the O'Brien property has been moved to Poplar avenue and is being converted into apartments. The contractor for this work and also for the bungalows is Harry Southall. The bungalows will vary in size from 28x30 feet to 26x32 feet and will be enclosed with shingles. Each will have five rooms, a bathroom and steam heat.

PIANO GIVEN TO CHURCH.

Gift of Instrument for Use at Chapel at Holmdel.

A gift of a piano for use in the chapel of the Reformed church at Holmdel was made last week by Bernon Prentice, who has a large country estate at Holmdel. The piano was moved from Mr. Prentice's residence at Rumson to Holmdel by Asher Schanck, Forman Sutphin, Harold and Milton Bennett, Carlton Kinhafer and Joseph Phillips. After the piano movers finished their job they were treated to a duck dinner by Charles Bennett at his home. Mr. Bennett is superintendent of Mr. Prentice's estate.

Mrs. Patterson, Octogenarian, Died On Tuesday

Widow of Former Police Chief Succumbed to Cerebral Hemorrhage at Home of Nephew, Ferdinand L. White.

Mrs. Margaretta Robbins Patterson, widow of the late J. Frank Patterson, chief of police, died Tuesday noon of a cerebral hemorrhage at the home of her nephew, Ferdinand L. White of Broad street. She had been ill for a long time and was stricken a week ago at her home on Washington street. She was moved to her nephew's home at that time.

Mrs. Patterson was 81 years old, and was one of the oldest members of the Red Bank Baptist church. She was born at Navesink in 1856, a daughter of the late Captain and Mrs. William Henry Robbins, Sr., and resided at Navesink for about five years. Her father ran a market schooner, and later shipped lumber for J. A. Throckmorton.

The Robbins family after moving from Navesink made their home at Robbins' point, where they lived for 25 years. From there Mrs. Patterson moved to Washington street, Red Bank, where she had resided for the past 50 years. Her husband died 15 years ago.

Mrs. Patterson received her elementary education at Headden's Corner, and later attended a Red Bank private school. At the age of ten she was one of the first to cross the North Shrewsbury river in a batteau, a flat-bottomed boat. The steamboat Albertina was captained by her late brother, Capt. William Henry Robbins, Jr.

Surviving Mrs. Robbins are a brother, Charles M. Robbins of Memphis, Tennessee; a sister, Mrs. Catherine Johnson of Marion street, Red Bank, and several nephews and nieces.

The funeral will be held at the White residence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. Edward W. Miller, pastor of the Baptist church, officiating. Burial, in charge of R. R. Mount & Son of West Front street, will be in Fair View cemetery.

Will Of Mrs. Bertha Eisner Probated

Bequests Made to Grandchildren, Daughters-in-Law and Employees—Residue of Estate Left to Her Three Sons.

The will of Mrs. Bertha Eisner, widow of Sigmund Eisner, and for many years a prominent resident of Red Bank, was probated at Freehold yesterday. Mrs. Eisner left $5,000 to the Monmouth Memorial hospital at Long Branch. Bequests of $500 each were left to each servant in her household who had been employed continuously for at least 15 years; $250 to each servant that had been employed for at least two years prior to her death and $100 to each servant that had been employed for at least three months.

Bequests of $5,000 each were left to her grandchildren, Sarann Eisner of New York, J. Lester Eisner, Jr., Jacques Eisner, Gerald Eisner and Robert Eisner of Red Bank and Sigmund Eisner, 2d, and Victor Eisner, Jr., of California.

Bequests of $5,000 each were also made to her daughters-in-law, Elsie S. Eisner of New York, Virginia S. Eisner and Winone Eisner of Red Bank and Helene M. Eisner of California.

All the rest of her estate was left in equal shares to her three sons, H. Raymond, J. Lester and Monroe Eisner, and they were appointed executors. The will was executed in 1933 and was witnessed by Amelia A. Carton and William Armstrong.

Xmas Party Held By Woman's Guild

More than 400 persons attended the Christmas party held by the Woman's guild of Trinity Episcopal church of Red Bank Tuesday afternoon at the parish house. Each guild member had a child as a guest and in addition the children of the Oakland street school were present, accompanied by Miss Mary A. McCue, their principal, and Miss Emma J. Lafetra, music instructor.

The festivities took place in a gay Yuletide setting, provided by a lighted Christmas tree and colorful decorations. The school children sang carols and several recitations were rendered. Each child received a bag of candy. The role of Santa Claus was enacted by Mrs. Fred Munden. Jessie Jean Parkes announced the numbers. Refreshments of tea and fancy cakes were served.

Prior to the party a short business session was held, with Mrs. Harrison Bance, the president, presiding. The party was in charge of a committee of which Mrs. Francis Wodehouse was chairman. Her assistants were Mrs. Edward S. Bradford, Mrs. William Wolcott, Jr., Mrs. Harry Sutton, Mrs. Jay Williams, Mrs. Raymond Johnson, Mrs. William Longstreet and Mrs. Ralph Sickles.

Announce Engagement.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Margaret Dubesky, daughter of Mrs. Raymond Dubesky of Keansburg, to Walter Miller of Keyport. The engagement was announced at a party Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Arose of Everett. More than 25 guests attended the party.

Baptist Guild Has December Meeting

The December meeting of Mary Mount chapter of the World Wide guild of the Baptist church was held Friday night in the Baptist church. The session was attended by 37 persons.

The devotional service was led by Miss Grace Beith. It consisted of readings by Miss Beith, a prayer by Miss Mary Mount and singing of Christmas songs by those present.

Mrs. Fred Conover gave a review of the book, "The White Queen of Okoyong" by M. P. Livingston.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. Arthur Ryerson. Mrs. Homer Methot reported that the "white elephant" auction held recently at her home cleared $20.

Plans were made for a supper to be given in the church Friday, January 22. Mrs. Warren Fowler is chairman of the committee in charge. The chapter voted to give $40 as its white Christmas gift at the annual Christmas pageant Sunday in the church.

After the business session an address was given by Miss J. J. DeLand, field representative of the Baptist City society.

Gifts were distributed to those present. In addition a gift was presented to each member whose birthday anniversary falls in December. Mrs. Jacob Yost made the presentation.

The hostess, Mrs. Harry Chamberlain, assisted by Mrs. Yost, Mrs. Dewoy Williams, Mrs. Edward M. Miller and Mrs. Russell Minton, served refreshments. The guests included Miss Mary Rouse and Miss Rebecca North.

HER SONG THE BEST.

Miss Ruth Palmer Honored By The University of North Carolina.

Miss Ruth Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Palmer of Arlington and summer residents of Leonardo for a number of years was honored over the week-end at the University of North Carolina by having her entry accepted as the official alma mater song for the class of 1940. The song was chosen in a college wide contest. Miss Palmer, a freshman at the university, was notified of the selection of her composition by Miss Charlotte Elliott, dean. The occasion marks the second time Miss Palmer has had her work adjudged best in a contest. She composed the winning song used by the June 1936 graduating class of the Kearney high school of which she was a member. Miss Palmer is secretary of the students' council of the Wesley Foundation of the Methodist Episcopal church, South. She will return to Arlington for the Christmas holiday vacation and while in the North is planning to visit Mrs. Elizabeth Noble of Leonardo.

Atlantic Highlands PTA.

The Atlantic Highlands Parent-Teacher association will meet at the high school tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock, at which time a Christmas program will be given by the high school and grade school pupils. There will be a play, recitations and music by the high school orchestra and glee club.

Woman's Club Christmas Party

Mrs. Thomas Voorhis and Mrs. Jesse Minot Remembered at Candlelight Service—Donate $20 to Searle Memorial Home

Amidst an attractive setting of holiday greens, poinsettias, red and white candles and brass candelabra, members of the Red Bank Woman's club enjoyed their annual Christmas meeting Friday afternoon. Mrs. E. H. Boynton, president, was in charge and the meeting room was filled to capacity.

The women sang "Come, All Ye Faithful," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "The First Noel" and "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing." Mrs. Harrison Bance accompanied on the piano. Mrs. Frank Curtis read the story of the nativity from the Scriptures and Mrs. J. R. Smith read a human version of the story from Henry VanDyke's "Even Unto Bethlehem." "A Christmas Message" was read by Mrs. Robert Brown with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Robert Knight.

An inspiring feature of the meeting was a candlelight service. Mrs. Boynton opened the service by referring to two faithful members, Mrs. Thomas Voorhis, a past president, and Mrs. Jesse Minot, a past treasurer, who because of ill health were not able to attend. She requested Mrs. Curtis and Mrs. Hermann Asendorf to light red candles for Mrs. Voorhis and Mrs. Minot. White candles were distributed and the women lighted their candles from the red candles and all joined in singing "Silent Night." At the foot of a white cross was a large silver bowl and as each member approached the table, she dropped a contribution into it for the Searle Memorial home. This offering, amounting to $20, was called a "White Gift to the King."

Christmas wreaths made by members of the garden department were on display, and by applause as each wreath was exhibited the audience decided on the two best wreaths. First prize went to Mrs. John Boyland and second prize to Miss Gertrude Norman.

Mrs. Walter Bruyere announced that the reorganized handicraft class would meet the second Thursday of each month to sew for various welfare projects of the club and to help other departments.

Mrs. Harry Morford announced that an historical pageant and ball would be held at the Elks' club Thursday night, February 4. Mrs. Robert Brown invited all who were interested to join the international relations department which she is organizing. In behalf of Mrs. Howard Manning, chairman of the Better Entertainment committee for children, Mrs. Boynton expressed her appreciation for the interest shown by the club women. The first entertainment will be given December 14 at the Mechanic street school. A request for members to fill six more Christmas stockings was made by Mrs. Asendorf. Miss Gertrude Norman, councilor for the Young Women's club, reported the club had a successful bazar last week. In the absence of Mrs. Albert Lindenstruth, literature chairman, Mrs. Robert Clark reported there would be no December meeting, but that "Original Day" would be observed January 20, at which time all members are urged to present original verses, poems and stories.

Mrs. Boynton closed the meeting by advising the women to make New Year resolutions to do a kind deed every day, and when lighting their Christmas trees this year to name each light for a friend remembered.

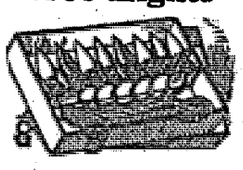

Tea was served in the library with Mrs. Asendorf and Mrs. Philip S. Walton pouring. Mrs. Frank Gantor was in charge of decorations.

GARDEN CLUB TO MEET.

Mrs. Lester Leonard Offers Prizes to Best Wreath Makers.

The Neighborhood Garden club of Red Bank will meet at the home of Mrs. Walter W. Gosling on Conover lane Monday afternoon, December 21, at half-past two o'clock.

Each member is expected to make a Christmas wreath, and Mrs. Lester C. Leonard has donated prizes which will be awarded to the makers of the best two wreaths exhibited.

Play Presented At PTA Session

A one-act play was staged last night as entertainment by the Masquers dramatic club of Red Bank high school at a meeting of the Junior-Senior Parent-Teachor association in the Junior high school auditorium. The program was a dress rehearsal for a play which will be given tomorrow at the Senior high school chapel.

Mrs. Irving K. Lovett, vice president, presided over the business session at which time Thomas B. Harper, county superintendent of schools discussed problems which confront the association. Following Mr. Harper's talk a musical program was conducted.

John Ebner entertained with solos after which Austin Pohl, Frank Huhn and Alfred Henderson sang a Christmas carol. Carol singing was led by Miss Edna M. Hallock, music chairman. Mrs. Roger Smith was chairman of the refreshment committee.

Those who took part in the play were Theodore Lake, Benny Nicosia, George Baine, Doris Hirsch, George Zebold, Ernest Wadley, Evelyn Wodehouse, Richard Hobbs, Garrett Ewing, Betty Ely, Otto Gillig and Madeline Brill. The choir consisted of Virginia Wyckoff, Lillian Savage, Viola Bottagaro, Dorothy VanSauter, Martha Ruddy, Mary Bennett, John Jeffrey, George Wilde and Patricia Seely. Dorothy Kelly was announcer. The play was coached by Miss Madeline Gates and Vollin B. Wells.

TINTON FALLS PARTY.

Tinton Falls is all set to give Santa Claus a big helping hand as the result of a largely attended and very successful card party Friday night at the village schoolhouse. The profits will be used for the annual Christmas party for the children of the village. The exact amount cleared is not yet known, but it is estimated at $50. Several cash donations were made. Fifty prizes were awarded. Dancing followed the card playing, with music by a WPA orchestra. The party was under the direction of a committee headed by Mrs. Edwin C. Reed.

Coming Christmas Party.

The annual Christmas party for the children of Shrewsbury township will be held Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at the schoolhouse at Tinton Falls. A largely attended bunco party was held at the Tinton Falls schoolhouse Friday night to raise money to finance the party.

Golden Hour Xmas Party

The Golden Hour circle of the Presbyterian church met in the church social hall yesterday afternoon and after a business meeting a Christmas program was given. Several musical selections were rendered by the Ottman sisters—Josephine, Betty and Martha. Mrs. Edmund VomSteeg read "The Christmas Gift," by Maud D. Mickelsen, punctuated by periods when carols were sung. Mrs. Walter Fredericks read "A Christmas Greeting" and "Joy to the World" was sung. About 70 members and friends were present including a number of children.

The party took place amid attractive decorations, and Santa Claus made a gift to each person present. In addition there was a bag of candy for each child. The hostesses were Mrs. Minor Tilton, Mrs. Leon VanBrunt, Mrs. Emil Bauman, Mrs. Louis Errickson, Miss Ethel White and Mrs. Frank Sherwood.

Elks Hold Annual Charity Dance

The annual charity ball of the Red Bank Elks' club was held Saturday night at the club. More than 350 persons attended. The auditorium was decorated with Christmas trees, colored lights and green and red trimmings. Tom' Hackett and his orchestra played for dancing.

Harold A. Giblin, secretary of the Elks' club, led the 11 o'clock toast. Exalted Ruler Herbert E. Edwards and Mrs. John Montgomery led the grand march. Mrs. Montgomery was presented with a bouquet of chrysanthemums for leading the procession. The occasion also marked the birthday of Herbert E. Scott.

Electric Cables Severed By Dredge

Two cables supplying Fort Hancock and Sea Bright with electricity were broken last week by a dredge digging the new channel at Highlands. Emergency crews of the Jersey Central Power and Light company rushed to the scene and made temporary repairs which restored service in about two hours. It was several hours later before complete repairs were made.

ADULT EVENING SCHOOL.

A special effort is being made by those in charge of Works Progress Administration adult evening school of Red Bank to obtain a larger enrollment of girls in the dance class. The class now has fifty members, and boys outnumber the girls considerably. Anyone may join the class. There is no age limit and no charge for instruction. Fifteen to twenty minutes each evening is given over to beginners. Instruction is given in tap dancing for one hour and in ballroom dancing for the same length of time.

A movement is under way to organize a basketball team for WPA girls. It is planned to form this team in connection with the class for physical education and sports. The instructor for this class and also for the dance class is Mrs. Marian Arendes.

Pupils Give Recital.

The Mabel Coleman school of dancing presented a song and dance recital at a children's party in the Elsner building Tuesday night for the benefit of the Order of the Eastern Star. Those who took part were Patsy Johnson, Honey Powers, Nona Wagner, Betty Madillo, Mary M. West, Alice Mazzaroppi, Amy Wyatt, Mary Hennessey, Babs Dietrich, Joyce Allaire, Gladys Cottrell, Helen Taylor, Vilma Nemish, Albert Cook, Emmy Lou Fields, Millicent Brown, Theresa Cook, Marian Phalen, Betty Bowen, Constance Bowen, Jacqueline Nelson, Marian Moss, Joan Powers, Marie Antenori, Bunny Dillon, Wilbur Ford, Joan Swanson, Joan Wozeh, Wally Huhn and Robert Boskey.

Naphtha Fumes Caught Fire.

Mrs. Charles Jelm of Belford was badly burned on her arms, neck and chin last Thursday when the fumes of a fluid for cleaning clothing caught fire as a result of being ignited by the pilot light of a gas stove. Mrs. Jelm has since been confined to her bed under the care of a doctor. She is improving.

Christmas Party at Rumson.

The Rumson fire company Ladies' auxiliary last night completed plans for the Christmas party Tuesday night, December 29, at the fire house. Mrs. John Pfeiffenberger is in general charge. The party is for the children of members of the fire company and auxiliary. About 75 children will be entertained.

Improving From Sickness.

Miss Barbara Haring of Lincroft is rapidly improving at Monmouth Memorial hospital at Long Branch, where she is a nurse. Her condition was very serious for a time, but it is expected that she will be able to resume her duties in a short time.

Janet Mytinger Engaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Mytinger of Bergan place announce the engagement of their daughter, Janet Ellcen Mytinger, to William Eastwood Boyce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Boyce of Rumson. They will be married in the fall of 1937.

Fourteen Club Meets.

The Fourteen club met Sunday night at the home of Miss Mary Marascio of Front street. Plans were made for a Christmas party to be held next Sunday night in the Odd Fellows hall on Monmouth street.

APPEAL FOR CHARITY.

The Fitkin Memorial hospital, through its president, Howard Corlies, and Ruth M. Roebling, honorary chairman of the board of governors, is making its third Christmas appeal for donations to the Fitkin Memorial Hospital Christmas fund, which was started by the late Dr. James Ackerman of Asbury Park. The appeal is for amounts from $1 to $5, but no more than $5 from any one contributor is sought.

Both the president and honorary chairman state that there are many in the wards of the hospitals who are sick and without friends and funds and that it is their intention to give these folks a rousing Christmas party through the contributions received from their appeal.

Through the columns of The Register the hospital expresses great appreciation to those who will respond to this appeal by sending in their contributions early.

ENJOYED A BANQUET.

The Ladies' auxiliary of the Red Bank branch of the National Association of Letter Carriers held their first annual banquet at the Chateau tavern, Asbury Park, Sunday evening. Mrs. Morrell Moore and Mrs. Mortimer VanSauter were the committee in charge of arrangements. A box of flowers was presented to Mrs. Arthur Slattery, the outgoing president, by Mrs. Melvin Stout on behalf of the auxiliary.

Last Wills Of Recent Deceased

Timothy M. White's Estate Goes to Wife and Daughter—Red Bank Woman's Estate Goes to Her Children.

Timothy M. White, a well known resident of Little Silver who died recently, executed his will in 1915. He left $8,000 to his wife to be paid to her within 60 days after his death. He left to his daughter, Grace E. Allaire, $4,571.06, being the amount which he received from the estate of his brother, Theodore F. White. All the rest of his estate was left to his wife, Martha E. White, and she and his daughter, Grace Allaire, were appointed executrices of the will.

Mrs. Catherine VanZee, who died at her home at Red Bank recently, executed her will in 1923. She left $1,100 each to her sons, Alexander and William VanZee. All of her personal effects together with $4,500 were bequeathed to her daughter, Ethel V. Walling. All the rest of her estate was divided among her three children. She appointed her daughter executrix of the will.

Peter DeMidowitz of Middletown township left all of his estate to his wife, Paula DeMidowitz, in a will which he executed in 1924. He appointed his wife as executrix of the will.

Mrs. Rose Cappeletti of Freehold left all of her estate to her daughter, Corinne Cappeletti. She appointed Sydney Carter executor of the will during the minority of her daughter. Her will was executed a year ago last January.

Mrs. Blanche E. Durand of Shrewsbury executed her will in 1932. She left her house furnishings and automobiles to her husband, Harry Durand. Her jewelry was divided between her granddaughter, Blanche B. Belcher, and her son, E. Robert Durand. This son was also bequeathed $5,000. All the rest of her estate was left to her husband as long as he lives. After his death, the residue of the estate is to go to her son. Mrs. Durand named her husband, her brother, E. A. Wilkinson, and the Merchants and Newark Trust company of Newark as executors of the will.

Laurence Fox of Bradley Beach made his will last January. He left his house and lot at Bradley Beach to his daughter, Jessie Green. All the rest of his estate was left to his son, Walter Fox, to be held in trust for his granddaughter, Anna Virginia Daley, until she becomes 21 years of age. He appointed his son executor of the will.

Richard Wightman, Jr., of Allenhurst, executed his will in 1924. He left $10,000 and all his jewelry to his brother, Fred C. Wightman. Bequests of $5,000 each were made to Mrs. Fred C. Wightman, Fred C. Wightman, Jr., and Mrs. William F. Wightman. He left his brother, William F. Wightman, $10,000 and $2,500 each was left to Herman DeMallgnon and Margaret DeMallgnon and Clara B. Smock. The Salvation Army of New York, the Red Cross of New York and the Harlem branch of the Young Men's Christian association were each left $1,000. All the rest of his estate was left to his sister, Elizabeth Wightman.

Frank A. Bell executed his will in 1915. He directed that each of his children be paid $2,000 when they become 21 years of age. All the rest of his estate was left to his wife, Marianna L. Bell, and she was named as executrix.

Mrs. Martha J. Robins of Long Branch left all of her estate to her daughter, Beatrice R. Taylor, in a will which she executed in 1918. She named her daughter as executrix of the will.

West Long Branch Sing.

The seventh annual Community Christmas Sing, sponsored by the borough officials of West Long Branch will be held around the municipal Christmas tree on Sunday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock. Workmen have been busy the last few days erecting a fifty foot tree in the square in front of the Borough Hall for the occasion.

NAIL POLISH A SLAYING CLUE

Coroner Benjamin Ingersoll said that bright red polish on the toes and fingernails of a woman whose burned body was found stuffed into two potato sacks near the community of Dias Creek, New Jersey, was the principal clue to her identity. A state trooper and a county detective are shown near the spot of the discovery, with the sacks still containing the body in foreground. (Associated Press Photo.)

Hotel Man Heads New Grand Jury

Bloomfield Hulick, Loch Arbour hotel man, was appointed foreman of the December grand jury by Justice Joseph Perskie Tuesday. No particular matter was given special mention by Justice Perskie in his charge. WPA Districts To Be Realigned

New Jersey Works Progress Administration districts will be realinged and their number reduced from nine to seven on January 2, WPA Administrator William H. J. Ely said today. The realingement will affect six districts, while three of the present ones will remain unchanged.

District four, now composed of Middlesex and Union counties, will take in Morris, Hunterdon, Somerset and Warren under the new setup.

A new district seven will include Monmouth and Ocean counties, comprising the present district five, and Mercer and Burlington, which make up the present district seven.

Obituary.

Mrs. Angeline Johnson.

Mrs. Angeline Johnson, widow of Robert A. Johnson, died Saturday at her home at Navesink, where she had lived for more than half a century. She was in her 87th year and was very active for one of her age until a short time before her death. On Tuesday she was stricken with a heart attack and sank rapidly.

Mrs. Johnson was a Hammell before her marriage and was born at Windsor in Mercer county. She had lived at Navesink nearly all of her married life. Until the infirmities of age prevented she was active in the Methodist church of that place.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Glendora Hart of Atlantic Highlands and Mrs. William A. Sweeney of Red Bank; a nephew, Raymond L. Taylor, who had lived with her since childhood; two grandchildren, Mrs. Raymond A. Geary and Hollis A. Hart of Atlantic Highlands, and a great-granddaughter, Margery Geary. She also leaves a brother, Frank Hammell of Princeton.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at the house in charge of Rev. David Wilson of Greenville, a former pastor of the Navesink Methodist church. Many beautiful floral offerings were received. The bearers were four nephews, Nea, Otto and Donald Johnson, sons of Joseph Johnson of Navesink, treasurer of Middletown township, and Leon Liming, also of Navesink. Interment in charge of A. M. Posten & Sons, of Atlantic Highlands was in Fair View cemetery.

Mrs. George C. Conover.

Mrs. Sarah A. Conover, wife of George C. Conover, died last Thursday at her home on First avenue, Hillside, near Atlantic Highlands, after a long illness. She had been a resident of Atlantic Highlands 14 years.

Mrs. Conover was born 65 years ago at Smithburg, and was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Errickson. She took a prominent part in the activities of the Atlantic Highlands Presbyterian church.

Surviving besides her husband are two daughters, Mrs. Alaine Holznagle of Asbury Park and Mrs. Margaret Laird of Bound Brook, and three sons, Alfred and Clerihew Conover of Atlantic Highlands and Joseph S. Conover of Deal. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Catherine Applegate of Brooklyn, and three brothers, Asher Errickson of Seattle, Washington; Thomas Errickson of Deal and George Errickson of Freehold. Eleven grandchildren also survive.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at the house. Rev. Martin Brynildsen of Washington, New Jersey, formerly of Atlantic Highlands, officiated. Burial by A. M. Posten & Sons was in Maplewood cemetery, Freehold.

Mrs. Sarah Larkin.

Mrs. Sarah Larkin, who lived with her daughter, Mrs. Matthew Power, of William street, died Monday morning of heart trouble at the age of 71. She had been confined to the house five years and had been seriously ill for a year. She was a Gold Star mother, having lost a son, James Larkin, in the World war, and was an honorary member of the Ladies' auxiliary of Shrewsbury post of American legion.

She was born at Bradevelt, a daughter of Bernard and Elizabeth Kelly. Her husband, John Larkin, died 24 years ago. She had lived at Red Bank ten years, previously having resided at Freehold for five years. Most of her life she lived in and near Bradevelt.

Surviving, besides her daughter, are a sister, Mrs. Ella Walling, of Bradevelt, and two grandchildren, Helen and Sarah Power.

Members of the St. Vincent dePaul society of St. James' church conducted a service at the late residence last night. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated this morning at St. James' church and burial was in St. Gabriel's cemetery at Bradevelt.

Mrs. L. H. Geran.

Mrs. Lydia Hendrickson Geran, widow of Charles A. Geran and mother of former Representative Elmer H. Geran, died at her home at Matawan Sunday of a heart attack. Mrs. Geran was the daughter of the late Cornelius and Mary Taylor Hendrickson and was born at Holmdel in 1849. Had she lived until February she would have been 89 and so far as is known she was the oldest resident of Matawan.

Six weeks ago her son Henry was killed in an automobile accident on Victory bridge at Perth Amboy.

Mrs. Geran throughout her lifetime was greatly interested in civic affairs. She was a member of the Matawan Baptist church, the Woman's club and the W. C. T. U.

Besides her son she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Arris B. Henderson of Matawan; a sister, Mrs. Richard Roberts of Red Bank and a brother, William T. Hendrickson of Middletown. The funeral was held at her late home yesterday afternoon with burial in Fair View cemetery.

Mrs. Annie E. Stone.

Mrs. Annie E. Stone, a former resident of Red Bank, died Monday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edna R. Whitney of East road, Belford, of a general breakdown after a long illness. She was 65 years old.

Mrs. Stone resided at Red Bank until a year ago when she moved to Belford. She was born on Long Island and was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Conklin.

Besides the daughter with whom she lived, Mrs. Stone is survived by three other daughters, Mrs. Susan Greeley of Belford, Mrs. Annie E. Curtis of Red Bank and Mrs. Hattie C. Manson of Riverhead, New York; four sons, Walter J. Stone of Belford, Edward and Kenneth Stone of Red Bank and Floyd H. Stone of Riverhead, and a sister, Mrs. Susan Hilliker of New York.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Whitney residence with Rev. G. Nelson Moore, pastor of the Belford Methodist church, of which Mrs. Stone was a member, officiating. Burial, in charge of the Worden Funeral home, will be in Fair View cemetery.

Frederick Hiltbrunner.

Frederick Hiltbrunner, a resident of Rumson for 36 years, died early Friday morning at his home on East River road after a long illness. He was a retired gardener.

Mr. Hiltbrunner was born in Switzerland and came to this country at an early age. Surviving, besides his wife, Mrs. Emily Stevens Hiltbrunner, are a daughter, Miss Louise Hiltbrunner; two sons, Frank and Walter Hiltbrunner, all of Rumson, and two brothers, Frank and Jacob Hiltbrunner of Eatontown.

Mr. Hiltbrunner was an exempt member of the Oceanic hook and ladder company of Rumson, the Monmouth County Horticultural society, Narumsunk tribe of Red Men of Rumson and Court Monmouth, Independent Order of Foresters, of Red Bank.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock at his late home and at 3 o'clock in Rumson Presbyterian church with the pastor, Rev. W. Calvin Colby, officiating.

The church choir sang "Nearer, My God, to Thee," "We'll Say Good Night Here But Good Morning Up There" and "Abide With Me." Charles Gotschalk was at the organ. The Oceanic company's truck conveyed the floral pieces to the cemetery.

The bearers were Percy Hicks, William MacIntosh, George Kuhn, Benjamin F. Johnson, Peter J. Mulvihill and Alfred King. Burial, in charge of the Worden funeral home, was in Fair View cemetery.

Charles Henry Walker.

Charles Henry Walker of Rumson died early Thursday night at his home on Osprey lane after an illness of about four months. He was taken ill last July but was confined to bed since September.

Mr. Walker was 52 years old. For the past 15 years he was employed as chauffeur for Mrs. Harden L. Crawford of Rumson road. He was born at New York and was the son of the late Charles and Catherine Mitchell Walker.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary Kennedy Walker; three daughters, Misses Catherine, Irene and Doris Walker; a son, William Walker, all of Rumson, and a sister, Mrs. Louise Rogoski of Long Island.

The funeral was held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at his late home and at 10 o'clock at the Holy Cross church, Rumson, where Rev. John P. McKeon, assistant rector, celebrated a mass of requiem.

The hook and ladder truck of the Oceanic fire company, which Mr. Walker formerly served as chief, conveyed the casket to the cemetery. The company's auto hose truck carried the flowers. Members of the company, in uniform, headed by Chief Harold J. Peters, were honorary bearers. The active bearers, also members of the company, were Seth Johnson, James Duryea, Joseph Desmond, Thomas Oakes, Charles Ely and Arthur Pauls.

Burial in charge of the Worden funeral home was in Fair View cemetery.

Mrs. Nellie Leonard.

Mrs. Nellie Leonard, widow of George Leonard, died at her home at Keansburg early Friday morning at the age of 86 years after a short sickness. She had formerly been a teacher at Northampton, Massachusetts, and had lived at Keansburg and vicinity 43 years. She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Edgar F. Dey, with whom she had made her home a number of years, and Mrs. Arthur Moore of Windsor, Vermont. She is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Arden Taylor of Windsor. Mrs. Leonard was a native of Bellows Falls, Vermont, and her maiden name was Nellie Wiley.

The funeral was held at the late home of Mrs. Leonard Sunday afternoon and the sermon was preached by Rev. W. E. Webster, pastor of the Methodist church of Keansburg. Interment was made in Fair View cemetery under the direction of the Scott funeral home.

Charles West.

Charles West, 88, a resident of Broadway, Union Beach, died at the Monmouth Memorial hospital at Long Branch, early Saturday morning as a result of a stroke. He was taken to the hospital a day before he died. Mr. West was born at Keyport and for many years was engaged in the oyster industry. Mr. West had a pleasing personality and had a large circle of friends. Several years ago he moved to Union Beach and led a retired life. Surviving are a daughter and four sons, Miss Sadie West, with whom he lived, Edward and Richard West of Union Beach, Ira West of Keansburg and Percy West, a resident of California. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon, Rev. William Rosell, pastor of the Keyport Baptist church, officiating. Interment was in Green Grove cemetery, Keyport, conducted by the Bedle funeral home.

Alvin M. Simpson.

The funeral of Alvin M. Simpson of Fair Haven, who died last Thursday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Simpson of Fort Hancock, was held Sunday afternoon at his late home. The service was conducted by the army chaplain at Fort Hancock, assisted by Rev. Edward Mathis, pastor of the Highlands Methodist church. Burial by A. M. Posten & Sons was in Fair View cemetery.

Mr. Simpson, who was employed in the quartermaster department at Fort Hancock, was in his 35th year. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Grace Cross Simpson, and six brothers and three sisters.

Mrs. Grace T. Schenck.

The funeral of Mrs. Grace T. Schenck, who died Tuesday of last week, was held Friday afternoon at her late home on Irving place with Rev. Edward W. Miller, pastor of the Baptist church, officiating. The bearers were Harry, Lester and Kenneth McQueen, cousins of the deceased, Benjamin Ford, George W. Manson and Stanley Brown. Burial, in charge of R. R. Mount & Son, was in Fair View cemetery.

Miss Annie Dowd.

Miss Annie Dowd died of pneumonia Monday at the home of her brother, Thomas Dowd, of South avenue, Atlantic Highlands. She was born 73 years ago at Belford and had been a resident of Atlantic Highlands eight years. Besides her brothers she leaves a sister, Miss Mary Dowd of Belford.

The funeral was held this morning at St. Agnes' church. Rev. Michael H. Callahan chanted a requiem mass and burial by A. M. Posten & Sons was in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Hiram A. Lane.

Hiram A. Lane, 73, a farmer living near Farmingdale, died Thursday night at the Fitkin hospital from the effects of burns sustained three weeks ago at his home. He was a widower and is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Mary Chamberlain of Asbury Park and a sister, Mrs. Ella Dey of Red Bank. The funeral was held at the Bodine funeral parlors at Asbury Park Sunday afternoon. Burial was made in Mt. Prospect cemetery.

Luke F. Miley.

Luke F. Miley of Avenue D, Atlantic Highlands, a retired member of the New York police department, died Friday at Monmouth Memorial hospital at Long Branch at the age of 73 years. He had been a resident of Atlantic Highlands five years.

The remains were prepared for burial by A. M. Posten & Sons and taken to Flushing, Long Island. The funeral was held there Monday morning and burial was in Calvary cemetery.

John J. Finnerty.

The funeral of John J. Finnerty, father of Frederick Finnerty of Rumson, who died Wednesday of last week, was held Saturday at his home at Jersey City. Burial, in charge of John E. Day of Red Bank, was in Holy Name cemetery, Jersey City. Members of the Holy Name society of Jersey City and the Jersey City Elks conducted services at the house Friday night.

Little Silver.

The Christmas meeting of the Wenonah missionary society was held Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Parker on the Rumson road. Gifts were distributed by Santa Claus and carols were sung by the entire gathering. Forty persons were present in spite of the rainy weather. The next meeting will be held Friday night, January 8, at the home of Mrs. William Engholm at Sea Bright.

Two valuable bird dogs were stolen Sunday night from William Satter and Otto Schneider.

Councilman Frederick E. Hasler and daughters, who are spending the winter in New York, were at their home here over the week-end. They attended the hunt tea Saturday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wright Brown in Middletown township.

Peter Maffei, the local barber, gave a treat to the members of the fire company Tuesday night. There was hamburger galore and other good things that fire fighters enjoy.

Mrs. William J. Getty spent part of last week with friends at New York.

Harry P. Lippincott won the quilt at the fair and tea held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. John H. Lippincott for the benefit of St. John's chapel. The proceeds amounted to $137.

Miss Janet MacKay returned home Friday from a week's stay in Washington, D. C. On Saturday she visited her sister, Mrs. John H. Mount, Jr., of Bloomfield.

Mrs. James Bennett's house on Church street, occupied by George Hohl, has been repaired and redecorated.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron L. Campbell spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Halstead of Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Herbert entertained the I Tappa Kag society Friday night at their home on Maple street.

City Manager Is Guilty of Contempt

Milford G. Farley, city manager of Asbury Park, was found guilty of contempt of court by Judge J. Edward Knight, Tuesday and given three days in which to reinstate James Sullivan to the Asbury Park police force. The ruling followed arguments on a rule to show cause why Farley, Mayor Hetrick and four city councilmen should not be held in contempt of court for refusing to obey the court's order to reinstate the dismissed officer.

Farley found Sullivan guilty of accepting a $5 bribe in 1935. Sullivan appealed to the county court and Judge Knight ordered his reinstatement. The city carried the case to the supreme court, which upheld Judge Knight. Sullivan has been reporting for duty each day only to be told by the chief there was no assignment for him. The city's only resource now is to carry the case to the court of errors and appeals.

Highlands Personals.

A store in the J. S. Hoffman building on Bay avenue has been rented by the board of shell fisheries as a laboratory for testing samples of water and shellfish.

Mrs. Edmund Duffy of Atlantic street is attending the annual Christmas meeting and dinner of the Gold Star Mothers of the World war today at the Pennsylvania hotel at New York.

Members of the Holy Name society of the Church of Our Lady of Perpetual Help received Holy Communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass Sunday morning. The society will meet tomorrow night in the church basement. Rev. John C. Farrell is spiritual director and Joseph A. Dempsey is secretary.

A Paul Jones dance will be held Saturday night of this week at John R. Ahern's pavilion by the Highlands Dramatic club.

Mr. and Mrs. George Schneider will entertain at a spaghetti dinner Saturday night at the Marine bar.

Concert at Asbury Park.

The Thursday Morning choral will take part in the second annual Christmas charity concert at the Asbury Park convention hall next Tuesday night. Willard Sektberg will conduct. Chorals and choirs from various parts of the county will take part. Mrs. Thomas McClintock, president of the Thursday Morning choral, and Miss Gladys L. Shropshire, founder, are members of the general arrangements committee.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Miss Marjorie Vincent Surprised By Friends on 21st Birthday.

Miss Marjorie Vincent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vincent of Eatontown, was given a surprise party Saturday night at her home by friends in celebration of her 21st birthday. Games were played and dancing was enjoyed. Refreshments were served.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth VanBrunt, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Colgreave, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mann, Misses Betty Stout, Betty and Marjorie Vincent, and Andrew Becker, Harry Fary and Reginal Vincent.

First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Services in First Church of Christ, Scientist, at 209 Broad street, Red Bank, are held on Sundays at 11 a. m. and on Wednesdays at 8 p. m.

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved By Atomic Force" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 20.

The Golden Text is: "Thou, Lord, in the beginning hast laid the foundation of the earth; and the heavens are the works of thine hands" (Hebrews 1:10.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven or in earth, (as there be gods many, and lords many,) But to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him" (I Corinthians 8:5, 6.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God creates and governs the universe, including man. The universe is filled with spiritual ideas, which He evolves, and they are obedient to the Mind that makes them" (p. 295.)

PLACED UNDER BAIL

Edward Neff Charged With Misappropriation of Bakery's Money.

Edward Neff of Monmouth street was arraigned before Recorder Elmer C. Wainwright of Shrewsbury Tuesday afternoon and was placed under $500 bail on a charge of misappropriation of $147.

The Peter Pan bakeries of Red Bank, by whom Neff was employed, told the court that Neff collected that amount and charged that he failed to turn it over to the company. Mrs. Mary Neff of Belford posted a bond for her son.

Shepherds Christmas Party.

The Shepherds of Bethlehem lodge of Red Bank will hold its annual Christmas-party tonight at Clayton & Magee's hall. It will also be a reception for Mrs. Margaret Dies of Bradley Beach, district deputy. A covered dish supper will be served and gifts will be exchanged. Mrs. Betty Warren is chairman of the committee in charge.

School Notes

Discuss Baseball For 1937.

The question of having a varsity baseball team was brought before the student council at a meeting Monday in the library. After a long discussion Jack Henry was appointed chairman of a committee to bring the question before the athletic association. Dancing after all home basketball games was discussed and a committee of three was appointed to have a report ready for the next meeting.—Alfred Pound.

Lunch Hour Dancing.

Dancing classes are being held during the lunch hour each day by Miss Hermith Lurk, girls' gymnasium instructor. Members of the senior high school classes are assisting Miss Lurk in giving instructions. A radio has been donated by the student council.—Concetta Sharabba.

Science Club Meets.

Weather forecasting, barometers and meteorology were the subjects of several reports given at the science club meeting Monday. Meteorology at Fort Monmouth was discussed by Sarah Spencer while meteorology in general was discussed by Shirley Morrow. Other topics on the construction of the aneroid and mercurial barometers were given by Alfred Pound, Francis Borden, Anne Johnston, John Sinica and Charles Cottrell. A trip to Fort Monmouth next week to view the meteorologic instruments is contemplated.—Thomas Gamon.

Plans For Bridge Machinery Approved

Trenton, Dec. 17.—To make Belmar's municipal waterfront park and boat basin accessible from the sea, State Highway Commissioner E. Donald Sterner yesterday approved plans for the installation of the operating machinery in the Shark river bridge, Route 35, west of the railroad between Belmar and Neptune. Bids will be received January 11.

This action follows the War Department order requiring the reconstruction of the adjacent New York and Long Branch railroad bridge with a draw span to permit the passage of boats. The grade of the railroad tracks is to be elevated and for this reason Commissioner Sterner also directed the use of F street and 8th avenue in Belmar as the new alignment for Route 4N. Route 4N formerly followed River road from Fifth and F streets to 7th avenue and railroad to Route 35. The state highway directional signs will be continued south on F street to 8th avenue. Both F street and 8th avenue are paved 30 feet wide and Commissioner Sterner explained that this will provide a safer crossing at the railroad tracks.

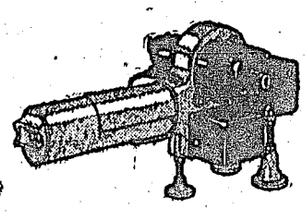

When the Route 35 bridge was designed a lift span was included by the Highway Department in anticipation of these changes but to lessen the state's investment until necessary, the purchase of the operating machinery was postponed.

Shark river is being improved and with the alterations at the bridges will permit the complete use of the one-quarter mile $250,000 municipal water front park and basin which Belmar is now completing. The basin will provide accomodations for several hundred boats and automobile parking space will be reserved along Route 35.

Active Ice Yacht Season Planned By Local Clubs

Pennants Galore Up For Competition—Few Historical Facts Concerning Yacht Classifications.

The ice yacht enthusiasts are eagerly awaiting cold weather of sufficent low temperature to put a heavy coating of ice on the river and the start of their ice boating season.

From all indications it looks as if the local clubs will have one of the busiest programs in years and there should be much entertainment for both those who sail the boats and those who watch them glide over the smooth, frozen surface.

The North Shrewsbury Ice Boat and Yacht club will again defend the "Challenge Pennant of America" for Class A boats, which they have held for many years, the challenging club being the Long Branch Ice Boat and Yacht club. The series will be held on the river here.

Over at Long Branch the club there will defend the Patten intercity sterling silver trophy which has been challenged for by the North Shrewsbury aggregation from Red Bank.

The Rumson Country club's Ice Boat club, as is told elsewhere in this issue, has offered an entirely new pennant for Eastern championship without limitation as to sail areas or size of boat, and this should bring out something new in ice yacht contests.

The Monmouth Ice Boat club of Red Bank will also have an interesting program for boats of the B and C classes with sail areas varying from 150 to 200 square feet, the James T. Clayton Memorial trophy being their foremost point event.

The first challenge pennant of America ever offered by an organized ice yacht club was made possible by the North Shrewsbury Ice Boat and Yacht club at their meeting February 28, 1902. Up to that time the real activity of ice yachting in the United States was for boats of the larger type, carrying sail areas exceeding 250 square feet. These boats were considered most too large for the limited courses on many inland streams and lakes and the Red Bank club decided to devote it principal efforts to the class of boats carrying from 250 to 350 square feet of canvas. Boats of larger size were classified as first and second-class craft.

The pennant was officially offered as the "Third Class Ice Yacht Challenge Pennant of America" and was offered as a perpetual challenge for friendly competition between ice yacht clubs in this country. The Red Bank club issued a deed of gift and adopted sailing regulations pertaining to such races that would be sailed for the pennant.

As the years went by it was seen that the boats being used for racing throughout the United States were principally of the "third class" size, and by common agreement among recognized clubs the "third class" boats were designated as Class A craft. The North Shrewsbury club changed its deed of gift so that the pennant is now known as "The Class A Ice Yacht Challenge Pennant of America," open to ice yachts whose sail arear shall not exceed 350 square feet or fall below 250 square feet.

The original pennant was purchased in the name of the club by a committee consisting of Captain George Coley, Captain Charles P. Irwin and James B. Weaver, upon motion carried at the club meeting February 28, 1902.

Challenges were received from the South Shrewsbury Ice Yacht club and the Shrewsbury Ice Yacht club and at the meeting on January 8, 1903, they were officially accepted.

Previous to this time there was up for open competition a pennant given by the North Shrewsbury Ice Boat club known as the "Third Class Challenge Pennant of New Jersey." In later years this pennant was retired as it was agreed that a boat that was fast enough to win the championship pennant of America would necessarily include in its territory the state of New Jersey. Should the present "Class A" championship pennant be taken from the state then the state pennant will be brought out again by the Red Bank club for open competition.

MELVIN CROOK NAMED

Speedboat Driver Heads New York Region of A. B. A.

At a meeting of the New York region of the American Power Boat association at New York city last week Melvin Crook of Upper Montclair was elected manager of the region for 1937, succeeding his father, Wilbur F. Crook, who was not a candidate for re-election.

The new manager of the region is best known to regatta followers as owner of the powerful Betty V, which last year won the National Sweepstakes at Red Bank for the third consecutive year. William F. Crosby was elected assistant manager and Cyril Wilson re-elected secretary-treasurer. Seventeen of the 45 clubs in the district were represented by delegates or proxies.

Eight directors were elected by delegates and two appointed by the American Power Boat association The eight elected were William F. Crosby, New York; Melvin Crook, Upper Montclair; Edward Tucker, New York; John Scopes, Albany; Wilbur F. Crook, New York; Elliott Stevens, Port Washington; E. H. Patterson, Jr., Troy, and Arthur E. Barton, Brooklyn.

Subject to ratification by the A. P. B. A. council, George W. Sutton, Jr., president of the A. P. B. A., appointed Thomas Dewart and Douglas Fonda, both of New York, as directors.

Westside Cagers Win.

The Westside Y cagers turned back the Royal Buddies of Asbury Park Friday night at the River street school gymnasium, 23 to 12. Daniels, Raider's forward, led his teammates in scoring nine points. In a preliminary game the Westside Y girls defeated the Blue Flashes of Asbury Park, 22 to 8.

Three Teams Tie For Fifth Place In Quad League

Eagles Hold Peacocks Scoreless While Jaybirds Win Three Games From Condors—Hawks Defeat Buzzards.

The Eagles and Jaybirds came into a fifth-place tie with the Peacocks Friday night in the Quadrangle bowling league. The Peacocks were held scoreless by the Eagles, who defeated the former team in three games. The Jaybirds in their match with the Condors scored nine points by winning three games from their opponents. The Hawks defeated the Buzzards in two out of three games as did the Cuckoos to the Cardinals.

The Cuckoos are holding first place with a lead of 13 points over the second-place Cardinals. The Buzzards are trailing the Cards by four points while the Condors, in fourth place, are trailing the Buzzards by three points.

At 8 o'clock tomorrow night on alleys one and two the Hawks will meet the Jaybirds while on alleys three and four the Peacocks will meet the Cuckoos. At 9:30 o'clock on alleys one and two the Condors will meet the Buzzards while on alleys three and four the Cardinals will meet the Eagles.

The Eagles were given 40 more pins than the Peacocks and found it easy to win three games. Jim Hanley rolled the highest game of the season with a 264 score in his third game. The victors won the first game by 95 pins, the second by 16 and the third by 33. Alex Curchin, Jr., held 224 and 221 scores in his second and third games for the Peacocks.

The Jaybirds upset the fourth place Condors in three games with the assistance of Parker and vonKattengell, who rolled 193 and 186 scores in the second and third games, respectively. The Jaybirds were given 26 more pins than the Condors. George Carey held a 199 score in his third game for the Condors while Pingatore held a 183 score in his first game. The victors won the first game by 33 pins, the second by 22 and the third by 34.

A high score by Chet Ebie in his first game saved the Cards from dropping three games to the Cuckoos. Bob Schroeder held high scores of 187 and 225 in his second and third games while Pettigrew held a 181 score in his second game and VanDorn a 185 score in his third game. The Cuckoos were given 13 more pins than the Cards. The Cards won the first game by ten pins, dropped the second by 67 and the third by 68.

A two-game win was plied up by the Hawks over the third-place Buzzards. Charlie Tabor's 181 score assisted the Buzzards in winning the opening game. Worden Grooms held scores of 192 and 202 in his second and third games for the Hawks while Decker held scores of 183 and 175 in his second and third games. The Buzzards won the first game by 24 pins, dropped the second by 57 and the third by 28. The Hawks were given 16 more pins than the Buzzards.

Indoor Poloists Open Season At Red Bank Armory

Red Bank 112th Field Artillery Team Inaugurates Season by Defeating Fort Hamilton Poloists, 12½ to 10½.

The indoor polo season at the Red Bank armory was inaugurated Sunday afternoon before a large gathering of spectators when the 112th field artillery poloists of Red Bank turned back the first division poloists of Fort Hamilton, 12½ to 10½. In the preliminary matches the Red Bank Polo club defeated Winmont Farms, 16½ to 2½, and the 112th field artillery seconds scored a 10½-to-3½ victory over the Ponolo poloists.

The visiting poloists were given a four-goal handicap and took the lead in the opening chukker 5½ to 1. A hard-riding Red Bank offensive team added three goals to their one goal in the opening chukker but the opponent's defense kept the Red Bank team from taking the lead. Fort Hamilton led at half time 6½ to 4.

It was a different story in the next two chukkers. The artillery riders came out in the third chukker and scored five and a half goals. Billy Sullivan added his share of the goals in that period while in the closing chukker Wilson and Milton Untermeyer assisted in scoring three goals. The visitors were held to two goals in each of the last two chukkers.

Billy Sullivan led the Red Bank teams with six goals while Wilson scored four, and Untermeyer, three. Nichols of the Fort Hamilton team scored five goals.

It was a victory day for the Red Bank poloists when in the two preliminary games both local teams scored victories. The Red Bank Polo club found their Winmont farms opponents easy, and led throughout the game. Ruthrauff scored six goals while Foales and Dan Untermeyer each scored five. In the scrubs' game Sergeant Frank Wise led the 112th Jayvees with six goals. They led the Ponolo team throughout the game and held their opponents to three and a half goals.

As the main feature of next Sunday afternoon's match the local riders will be hosts to the 112th Field Artillery team from East Orange. The first game will be staged at 8:30 o'clock.

ROD AND GUN

The deer hunting season in New Jersey opened today, two days after the close of the upland game season. There is every reason to believe that there will be plenty of venison dinners for some weeks to come, despite the fact that it will be only a four-day season. The closing day is December 21. With a Sunday intervening, the deer hunters will be deprived of a day's hunting this year.

There will be more deer hunters in Burlington and Ocean counties than any of the others, for the reason that there are more deer in those two counties.

One of the most important things to remember when a deer hunting trip is contemplated is to wear plenty of red material on the hunting costume. There is less chance of being mistaken for a deer. The gunner who goes out in a khaki costume with no red showing is taking a chance. The hunter's entire hunting cap should be of red material. If he can cover the entire back and front of his hunting coat in red, so much the better.

Rifles are not permitted in the woods and fields of New Jersey. Shotguns of no smaller caliber than a .12 gauge may be used legally, and no bullets or missles larger than buckshot are to be used in shells. Possession of anything else while in the woods or fields in the deer season will subject the hunter to a $100 fine. There is a $100 fine involved if a deer hunter hunts deer at any time except by daylight. Dogs are prohibited in hunting deer. Does may not be killed legally, nor bucks with horns less than three inches in length. Under penalty of a $100 fine for failure to do so, the hunter must report to the Fish and Game Commission at Trenton or to the game warden in the county the killing of a deer. Each hunter is allowed one deer a season.

Veteran deer hunters know all about the foregoing, but each year there is a new crop of deer hunters and the warnings listed here cannot be impressed upon them too emphatically.

Each year, it seems, there are casualties among deer hunters because of carelessness. One of the principal causes of fatalities and injuries is that some deer hunters fire at any moving object without waiting to determine whether it is actually a deer. It's much better to be safe than sorry.

Middletown Looks Good To Delaware

Wilmington High School Football Team Invites Leonardo Gridders to Play There Next Year.

The Middletown township high school football team has received an invitation to play the Wilmington, Delaware, high school team next season. The Delaware team guarantees to pay traveling expenses up to $125. Although no mention was made of the matter in the invitation, it is generally regarded that the team was asked to play at Wilmington because of the excellent record it made during the season just ended.

Ernest Augustine's first year as coach was the most successful the Middletown high school has had on the gridiron in a number of years. Only two games were lost. One was a conference game and the winner was Atlantic Highlands. One game was lost to Princeton. A remarkable feature of the record is that the Middletowners made at least one touchdown in every game. No action has been taken on the Wilmington invitation.

The Red Bank Register travels over every street in town and every road in the county Let it carry your message to those who live on these thoroughfares.—Advertisement.

Unlimited Boat Size Or Sail Area In These Matches

Rumson Country Club Offers Silk Pennant for Eastern Ice Boat Championship of America.

The Rumson Country club's Ice Boat club has offered a silk pennant to be known as "The Eastern Championship Ice Boat Pennant of America," open for competition to any organized Ice Boat or Yacht club in America.

The deed of gift has been recorded by the Rumson club and articles which govern the sailing for this pennant have been made public in a neatly printed folder, carrying the club's burgee in colors at the top of the printed matter. The tentative committee which drafted the rules and regulations consists of Edward C. Fiedler, Richard H. Moeller, William B. Potts, Frederic P. Tompkins, Fraser Price, E. von Langeree, Drake Sparkman and George Ruppert.

The pennant is to be a perpetual challenge trophy and can be challenged for by any organized Ice Boat club in good standing, provided such challenge shall be made and such match be sailed in accordance with the terms of the sailing conditions adopted by the Rumson Country club's Ice Boat club.

Matches for the pennant shall be limited to yachts propelled by sail and wind only and which have been judged sufficiently fast and able to compete for the trophy with no limitation as to size or sail area.

All matches shall be sailed between not more than two yachts on behalf of the challenging club nor more than two yachts on behalf of the challenged club. Neither club will be compelled to name its representative yachts in advance of the races but the match must be sailed to a conclusion between the yachts selected for the sailing of the first race of the match.

A match shall be constituted of not less than three races and shall be awarded to the club whose yacht or yachts win a majority of such races. The distance shall not be less than ten miles or more than 15 miles, and the races must be over the course of the club holding the pennant or any other course within 100 miles of New York city agreed upon by the committee. All matches are to be sailed without time allowance and no club may challenge the holder for the pennant more than once during each year.

The crew in each defending and challenging yacht is to consist of not more than two, and the same number of men in each respective craft must be in the boat at the finish as at the start.

Richard H. Moeller of New York city, owner of a speedy foreward runner type ice yacht, which was exhibited on the river here last year, has given out the information that several challenges have been received for the "Eastern Championship Pennant," and they will be accepted and sailed in the order in which they have been received by the Rumson Country club.

Cash Prizes Given At Lincroft Shoot

A two-bird event shoot was held Sunday afternoon on Langendorf's shooting range, Lincroft. Oscar Mundy of South Amboy won the 50-bird event and Dr. George Hunt of Red Bank won the 25-bird event. Cash prizes were awarded. Turkeys will be given as prizes at next Sunday afternoon's shoot.

The results of Sunday's shoot were as follows: 50-bird event, Oscar Mundy, South Amboy, 47; Charles Hower, Red Bank, 46; Stanley Fleider, Jr., Fair Haven, 45; Clarence Willett, Phalanx, 41, and Ernest Lass, Avon, 38. The 25-bird event, Dr. George Hunt, Red Bank, 24; Francis Bennett, Red Bank, and C. F. White, Little Silver, 20; Ralph Parker, Lakewood, 19, and Abram S. Lott, Freehold, 17.

Red Bank Cagers To Open Tuesday With The Alumni

Coach Bill Sherwood's Red and Gray Netters Scrimmage Today in Preparation for Opening Game.

Coach Bill Sherwood, basketball mentor at Red Bank high school, has out his cage squad to 25 aspirants who last week settled down to strenuous scrimmages in preparation for the alumni game at the high school gymnasium next Tuesday night.

There will be a preliminary game at 7:45 o'clock between the high school scrubs and the alumni seconds. Student tickets are on sale at the school for all home games.

Coach Sherwood will be handicapped by the lack of a tall center and has been forced to build a Red and Gray quintet around his veteran forwards, Ken Richardson, flashy Negro ace, and Don Osborn. It is probable that Bill Legg will start at the center position, although he lacks experience.

Others who will probably see action on the varsity team will be Jack Morrow, star of the second-string quintet last year, and previous to that an outstanding player on Coach Frank Pingitore's Junior varsity squad; Tommy Gamon, a stocky guard, who has been showing much improvement in practice scrimmages, and Arnold Seigfried, who also has been showing up well in practice. Larry Figaro, Johnny Barberio and Harry Greenwood will also be seen in action with the varsity team.

The Red Bank second squad will be made up of Ted Lake, Joe Verange, Ed McQueen, Robert Mead, Nick Soviero, Jimmy Zager, "Bud" Buchanan, Bob Ayres, Jack Arnold, Harry Estelle, Kebo Gettis, Hallenback, Jim Squillante, Paul Fabry, Kislin and Oglensky.

A practice scrimmage was held last Friday afternoon with the Rumson cagers and a two-hour scrimmage will be held today with the Freehold varsity team at the county seat gymnasium.

Leo LaBlonda, one-armed star of the Red Bank high school varsity squad two years ago, is in charge of the alumni team and has secured a number of alumni players for the past two years to make up the squad. They will consist of Danny DeLuca, Louis Figaro, Homer Hendrickson, Stanley Savage, George Worthley, William Aumack, Newton Terzian, Bob Matthews, Bernard Kellum, Greene and LaBlonda.

Red Bank's first scholastic game is scheduled for Tuesday night, January 5, with Asbury Park, at the local school gymnasium.

Lady Bowlers Plan Christmas Party

Plans were made Monday night by the Lady Elks' bowling club to hold a Christmas party in the club dining room next Monday night. A dinner will be served at 9:30 o'clock. Mrs. Thomas King is chairman and is being assisted by Mrs. Robert Graham, president. Gifts will be exchanged and a turkey will be disposed of on the co-operative plan.

Mrs. William Kiernan was accepted into the league as a new member and a team was chosen. Those on the team are Mrs. Joseph Ryan, chairman, Mrs. Harold A. Giblin, Mrs. Maurice Schwartz, Mrs. Fred Jones, Mrs. Emily Johnson and Mrs. Eugene Lieneck.

The next bowling session will be held Monday, January 4. Plans for the 1937 activities will be discussed at the next business meeting Monday, January 11.

Local Hi-Y Cagers Lose To Matawan

The Red Bank Boys Hi-Y club basketeers suffered their first setback of the season Saturday night to the White Raiders of Matawan on the latter's court, 31 to 11. Gregoawich, center for the Matawan cagers, scored 14 points.

Two Ping Pong Teams Unbeaten In County Loop

Mercury Team Eliminated from Unbeaten List by Elberon Ping Pongers—Lose 7 to 2—Holy Name Beaten.

The Elberon ping pong team continued as leaders of league A in the Monmouth County Table Tennis association when they defeated the strong and previously unbeaten Mercury team, 7 to 2. Elberon and Atlantic Highlands are the only two unbeaten teams.

Elberon leads the league with 33 wins and three losses while Atlantic Highlands is in second place with 20 wins and seven losses. During the past week Asbury Park defeated the Motor Boys, 6 to 3, as did the Red Bankers to Leddy's Coal company by the same score.

The leading Holy Name team dropped a 6-to-3 decision in league B this week to the Neptune team while the Bell laboratories maintained their perfect record by defeating Rumson, 7 to 2. In other matches this week Red Bank high school ping pongers defeated the Phantoms, 8 to 1, while the Wolverines turned the tables on the local high school squad and won, 5 to 4. The Phantoms defeated the Y. M. C. A. team, 6 to 3.

Junior Varsity Squad Prepares For Cage Season

Two Veterans Return Under Coaching of Frank Pingitore—Plan 14-Game Schedule—45 Candidates Report.

Coach Frank Pingitore and his Red Bank Junior varsity basketball squad got down to heavy work this week in preparation for their 1936-37 basketball season. More than 45 candidates responded to the first call.

Only two veterans from last year's Junior varsity team, Angelo DeGeorge, forward, and Joe Eggleston, center, returned. Pingitore's teams will be formed around the veterans. Lou Tomaine and William Geroni, who were slated for varsity positions, this season at River street, have been forced from play because of recently sustained injuries. It is thought that they will be out for the season. Joe Zucco is the team's manager.

Fourteen games are scheduled for the River street cagers. Two games each are expected to be booked with Red Bank Catholic high school, Rumson, Keyport, Long Branch, Asbury Park, Neptune and Freehold.

Among those who are expected to see much action this season on the squad besides the two veterans are John Summonte, Joe Fiore, Jimmy Wilson, Howard Stringfellow, Joe Natale and Nick Sobolevsky. The Junior varsity team will be hard hit in February by graduation.

Those out for the squad are Fred Burgess, Ellis Holmes, Rosario Sharabba, Joe Fiore, Nick Sobolevsky, Nick Romano, Joe Juliano, Tommy and Al Tomaine, Joe Tomaino, Angelo Ferraro, Ray Vaccarelli, Mike Boden, Matt Ferrigino, Jim Wilson, Lester Stevens, Frank Daniels, Norman Richardson, Dominic Scala, Sonny Pillati, Geno Clay, Alfred Handley, Frank DeFillippo, Philip Sakowitz, William Geroni, Dominick Donofrio, Pete DePonti, Everett Jordan, Ray Seidin, Louis Mandello, Philip Lucia, Howard Stringfellow, Robert Geroni, Joe LoCicero, Oliver Marella, Tony DeLorenzo, Joe Eggleston, Angelo DeGeorge, John Natale, John Summonte, Sandy Hammell, Tony Lucisano, John Vaccarolli, Lloyd Robinson and Robert Clambrone.

School Gridders Are Given Awards

Football awards at Red Bank high school were made Friday by Coach Richard P. Guest and Athletic Director William Sherwood.

Those who received letters were Theodore Rowe, Robert Mead, Arnold Seigfried, Valentino Erb, Sam Yorg, Cornelius Collins, James VanHise, Dominick Pingatoro, James Squillanto and Harry Davey, manager.

Those who received football certificates were John Barberio, Jack Henry, Lawrence Figaro, George Wilde, Harry VanNoto, Carmino Gettis and Arthur Cotgreave.

MOTOR BOAT SHOW HOURS.

The exhibition hours for the National Motor Boat show to be held at Grand Central palace, New York, beginning Friday, January 8, and continuing until Saturday, January 16, have been made public by the National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers' Show committee.

Following the custom of previous years, the show will open at seven o'clock the evening of Friday, January 8. During the remaining seven days the doors will be open 12 hours daily, from 10:30 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. The exhibition will be closed on Sunday, January 10. The exhibits now total 147, exceeding last year's representation.

THE BASKETBALL SEASON.

Middletown School Will Play First Game Tomorrow Afternoon.

The Middletown township high school basketball team will begin its season tomorrow with an afternoon game at 3 o'clock against the alumni team on the home court at Leonardo Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock the second game will be played at home against Rumson.

Gilbert Augustine is the Middletown coach. Seven of the players were on the high school football team which recently concluded a successful season. They are Harry Mahnkn, Allen Halsey, John Adubaco, Dayton Wilson, James O'Neil, Chester Suplenski and Donald Bauer. Three other players, Frank VanNortwick, John Williams and Herbert Haulbosky, were on the second high school football team. Coach Augustino states that the team is handicapped because the school gymnasium is available for practice to only a limited extent.

Junior and midget basketball teams are being formed.

Tie Broken By Station Bowlers At Eatontown

Hill's Service Station Bowlers Defeat Broad Street Garage Team in Two Games—Bank Team Wins.

Hill's Service Station bowlers Tuesday night moved into third place in the Eatontown bowling league when they defeated the Broad Street Garage team in two out of three games. The Service Station men were formerly in a third-place tie with Pine Tree Inn.

The Second National Bank team Thursday night defeated the Signal Corps No. 2 bowlers in three games, and Monday night turned back the Signal Corps No. 1 team in two out of three matches. The Pine Tree Inn bowlers are scheduled to play the Signal Corps No. 2 team tonight at Taylor's arcade.

Tells Of Travel Through Yosemite

Joaquin W. Buckley of Asbury Park, Travel Head, Speaks at Meeting of Presyterian Brotherhood and Baptist Men's Club

Joaquin W. Buckley of Asbury Park, Eastern representative of the Yosemite transportation system and of the Curry company of Yosemite Park, addressed members of the Presbyterian Brotherhood and the Men's league of the Baptist church Tuesday night at a meeting in the social hall of the Presbyterian church.

Mr. Buckley told of his travels through the national park and illustrated his talk with motion pictures. The machine was operated by Edmund vomSteeg, Jr.

J. J. Ballin, chairman of the program committee, was responsible for the appearance of Mr. Buckley, who for 35 years was a conductor of travel on the North American continent, and during this time covered more than a million miles, mostly in this country. For 15 years he was with the firm of Thomas Cook & Son, serving as chief American tour manager.

About 70 persons attended the meeting, which was presided over by A. Trumbull Smith. David Jones introduced the speaker. C. H. Walker was introduced as a new member. After the meeting refreshments were served and dart baseball games were played.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, January 11, in the Presbyterian church. It is expected that Judge Spiers of Jersey City, well known after-dinner speaker, will be present. The women of the church have been invited to attend.

Robert Buck of Westfield, 19-year-old aviator, will be the speaker at a meeting Monday, February 8.

Gardeners' Election.

The Monmouth and Elberon branch of the National Association of Gardeners met at the office of Sodeman & Lindthard, Long Branch, Monday night and held its annual election. The officers and the estates which they superintend are as follows:

Chairman—Adam Moss, Levy estate, Long Branch.
Vice chairman—William Port, Athea estate, Rumson.
Secretary—William Wagstaff, Tim estate, Long Branch.
Treasurer—Frank T. Edington, Lichtenstein estate, Riverside drive.
Director—William MacIntosh, Halsey estate, Rumson.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to thank our many friends and neighbors who in any way offered assistance or extended sympathy during the illness and death of our dear mother, Margaret Hyers. We especially desire to thank Rev. Elijah Reed, Harvey Bedle, funeral director, and those who loaned cars and sent flowers.

The Hyers Family.

THEY LABORED FOR THE SICK.

Six Local Women Stick Christmas Seals on Every Copy of Register.

Every copy of today's issue of the Register carries with it holiday greetings in the form of a tuberculosis stamp on the outside page. This arduous task of sticking these little seals on one by one was performed yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Richard T. Smith of Harris place, Mrs. Richard Kirby of Linden place, Miss Helen Wyckoff of Hubbard Park, Mrs. Julia Sturms of Lincoln avenue, Fair Haven, Miss Lois Wilkinson of Little Silver and Mrs. Mildred Roberts of Eatontown.

The handling of nearly 8,000 individual copies and the same number of individual seals was accomplished by these ladies working in unison in a very few hours and they not only got pleasure out of doing this work in the interest of the unfortunate, but they also made somewhat of a social time amongst themselves while at The Register plant.

The Register is very glad to have co-operated in this small way of offering front page space for this silent messenger of good cheer and we hope that those who have not already done so and who are financially able to do so will purchase seals to assist in the further elimination of the white plague.

Gave Birth to Son.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Winn of Atlantic Highlands are the parents of a son born yesterday at Monmouth Memorial hospital at Long Branch.

Religious Unit Elects Officers

Albert Doremus Chosen as Head of Young People's Council of Religious Education at Annual Meeting.

Albert Doremus of Washington street was elected president of the Young People's Council of Religious Education of Red Bank at the annual meeting of that organization in the Red Bank Baptist church Thursday night. Mr. Doremus took office immediately.

Eugene Magee of Irving place was elected first vice president, Malcolm Minton of Hudson avenue was named second vice president; Harry Worden of East Front street was chosen secretary, and Douglas Manson of Peters place was selected as treasurer.

The meeting was called to order by the retiring president, Miss Claire Lingo of Belford. A short service, during which Christmas carols were sung, was held. Miss Margaret Magee was at the piano.

Rev. Edward W. Miller, pastor of the Baptist church, welcomed the members in a short address, after which Rev. George W. Young, pastor of Middletown Baptist church, gave the opening prayer.

The ushers, James Edward Runyon and Kenneth Luker of Belford, took the collection and Rev. John A. Hayes, pastor of the Red Bank Presbyterian church, made the dedication.

A one-act playlet, "A Christmas Party," was presented by young people of the Baptist church. Those who took part were Betty Magee, Harriett Marcellus, Marjorie Holmes, Warren Minton, Neil Marcellus, Janet Ryerson, Audrey Atwater and Florence Miller. Members of the chorus were Muriel Brower, Audrey Doughty, Lois and Eleanor Quackenbush and Margaret Magee.

The attendance Biblical picture was awarded to the Red Bank Presbyterian church for having the greatest percentage of its membership present.

After the meeting the members adjourned to the social hall of the church where refreshments were served.

Entertains Bible Class.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Rogers of Wallace street Tuesday night entertained the Woman's Adult Bible class at their home at the annual Christmas party. Thirty guests were present. The evening was taken up by solos, duets and the singing of Christmas carols.
