Fair Haven Acts To Stop Gunning In The Borough

Ordinance Prohibiting Shooting of Firearms Passed on First Reading Monday Night—Borough Finances Excellent.

An ordinance prohibiting the firing of firearms, except by an owner on his own property, was passed on its first reading at the regular meeting of the Fair Haven mayor and council Monday night. The ordinance was recommended by Councilman Edgar V. Denise who, at the last meeting, stated that its primary purpose is to prohibit gunning in the borough as a protection to residents, especially the children who walk through the fields of the Knollwood section on the way to and from school. Public hearing on the ordinance will be held at the next meeting, October 25. Penalty for violation of the ordinance is a maximum fine of $50 or 90 days in jail.

Councilman Seely B. Tuthill, chairman of the finance committee, stated it was gratifying to report that all the committees are keeping well within their appropriations and indications point to a surplus at the end of the year.

On the recommendation of Councilman Tony Hunting, chairman of the police committee, Doughty lane was made a one-way street north from Willow street to River road. The reason for the change, Mr. Hunting stated, was due to the fact that Doughty lane is narrow and to make a right-hand turn into the lane from River road it is necessary to swing over to the left-hand side of River road, thereby jeopardizing the lives of motorists.

Mr. Hunting's recommendation for four new traffic warning signs for installation near the schools was approved. He reported that seven stop-street signs have been repainted and placed at intersections. Mr. Hunting gave notice of a special meeting of the special officers of the borough for Tuesday night, October 19, at 7:30 o'clock at the fire house. The special officers are Dr. Edwin F. Stewart, Matt Baden, George Curchin, Oscar Becker, Howard Morris, Everett Smith, William Geiger, Harry Veroneau, Louis Becker, Robert Amendt and John McCue.

Council approved a motion permitting Rev. W. H. Washington, pastor of Fisk chapel, to tear down a dilapidated house on Fisk street. As compensation for his labor the minister will receive the wood. The borough has a tax lien on the property which is in the name of Ulala Wall. The house has not been occupied in a long time, and taxes on the property have not been paid in several years. It was stated that boys in the neighborhood have been tearing off strips of wood from the house for firewood.

The clerk, M. Floyd Smith, was instructed to write the Crew-Levick corporation for an explanation why no checks for the rent of the borough dock have been received this year. When the dock was built several years ago the company leased it for ten years from the borough and established a gasoline service station on the end of the dock. The station was closed after the first summer and never reopened. The company continued to send checks for the rent until this year. The rent for this year is $1,250.

Certificate of completion of the road resurfacing work, submitted by Lionel W. Lancaster, borough engineer, was filed.

The report of John P. Mulvihill, borough auditor, was filed.

Councilman Ray VanHorn, reporting for the library committee, stated there has been an increase in the library circulation very month for the past ten months.

Bills amounting to $1,165.51 were paid.

Prominent Speakers For Public Forum

Four prominent lecturers will participate in the third annual public forum, beginning next Monday at 8 p. m., at the Long Branch high school auditorium under the joint auspices of the Monmouth County Round table and the New York University Division of General Education.

The fortnightly series will be opened by Rabbi Edward L. Israel of the Har Sinai congregation, Baltimore, whose topic will be "The Social Scene." Later speakers and their subjects will include Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr., Democracy in Action," November 1; Vilhjalmur Stefansson, famous explorer, "Facts That Are Untrue," November 15, and Norman Thomas, Socialist leader and author, "Can America Avoid War?" November 30.

Tickets are available at public schools throughout the county. Officers of the Round Table are John S. McCurdy, president; Mrs. Mae S. Gibson, vice president; Mrs. Estelle T. Rothwell, secretary; and W. Lawrence Kalp, treasurer.

Armistice Ends Vegetable Stand War On Broad Street

An armistice between employees of the fruit and vegetable departments of two adjacent markets on Broad street, ending an undeclared war which broke out Saturday, was reached Monday morning in Justice Charles R. D. Foxwell's court. Cessation of hostilities came just as both warring factions had recruited attorneys to go to the front for them.

The skirmish on Broad street Saturday morning was witnessed by a number of shoppers. None of the non-combatants was injured, however. The only one to have his name placed on the "injured' list was Peter DeSantis of Long Branch, who received a black eye.

The local war was unusual in that the generals had a more prominent part than the privates. The generals, managers of the respectivie stands, were each fined $10 and costs by Recorder John V. Crowell, after Policeman Frank Reuther had intervened. Charged with disorderly conduct the two managers, John Callahan of Oakhurst and Joseph Bizzarro of Long Branch, were arraigned in police court. After being fined they were warned that another outbreak would result in their being sentenced to the county jail.

DeSantis, the third member of the trio taken to police court, was not convicted. There was no evidence, Recorder Crowell ruled, to show that he had struck a blow. The evidence, to the contrary, showed that he had been on the receiving end of one.

DeSantis immediately swore out a complaint, charging Bizzarro with assault and battery, and a warrant was served on the latter by Constable Thomas Hackett. Bizzarro retained Thomas P. Doremus as attorney but the case was adjourned after Albert K. Berkowitz of Bradley Beach and Callahan had appeared as witnesses for DeSantis and had testified that he had been struck by Bizzarro. The latter failed to refute the charge but stated that DeSantis had called him a vile name which was promptly denied by DeSantis. Edmund Canzona appeared in Justice Foxwell's court Monday morning to represent Bizzarro but a treaty was reached and the war came to an end.

While the causus bellum is not quite clear, the fighting was said to have started when one fruit market used a paper bag bearing the trade name of the other.

Bizzarro stated in court that a woman who had purchased grapes in one market came into his store to show him that the rival vegetable man was using his bags. He said he took the bag and immediately demanded an explanation from the other. Instead of an explanation, he said, he was called a vile name and thereupon took retaliatory measures. A blow was struck and then one of the marketmen went into the store and came out with a broom. Before this weapon could be used, however, Policeman Reuther had intervened.

Callanan declared that it was possible his firm had used one of the other firm's bags but that it was all a mistake. Several of his bags had blown away, he explained, and in picking them up he must have inadvertently taken one of the other bags which, he said, must have also blown away. He declared that his rival had grabbed the bag from the woman to whom he had sold the grapes and had come charging into his territory with a warlike purpose. He and his men, he stated, simply repelled the invasion.

Series of Bingos For New Ambulance

The first of a series of ten bingo parties for the benefit of the First Aid squad of Eatontown was held last night at the Eatontown borough hall. The parties will be held each Wednesday night starting at 8 o'clock. Proceeds of the series will go toward a fund for purchasing a new ambulance.

Edward Emmons is chairman of the parties and is being assisted by other members of the squad. There will be a door prize each night as well as other prizes.

Ritzau To Run As Democratic Party Nominee

He Will Lock Horns With Wellington Wilkins, Sr., at the Election November 2—Two Republicans in Reverse Roles.

Herman Ritzau of Riverdale avenue has filed his acceptance of the Democratic nomination for township committeeman of Shrewsbury township. At the general election Tuesday, November 2, he will run against Wellington Wilkins, Sr., who is the Republican candidate for re-election.

At the primary election Mr. Ritzau ran for the Republican nomination for township committeeman and was defeated by Mr. Wilkins. The Democrats had no candidate for the office and Mr. Ritzau won the Democratic nomination by virtue of his name being written in. He was formerly a member of the township committee.

Three years ago Mr. Ritzau defeated Mr. Wilkins for the Republican nomination for committeeman but Mr. Wilkins by virtue of a write in and paster vote got the Democratic nomination. At the general election Mr. Wilkins was the victor.

Shrewsbury township is normally Republican but it has registered some surprising upsets in recent years. Occasionally the Democrats have scored triumphs. However, there is only one Democratic officeholder in the township, he being Kenneth Fields of Wayside, who is chairman of the township committee.

Last year Mr. Ritzau was defeated for the Republican nomination for township committeeman, but he won the Democratic designation. At the general election he was defeated by John Rohrey, his Republican opponent.

Holmdel Church's Brown Supper Next Wednesday Night

Everything Points to a Record-Breaking Assemblage at Annual Event to be Held at the Reformed Chapel.

The 29th annual brown supper of the Ladies Aid society of the Holmdel Reformed church will be held next Wednesday night in the chapel. Is is one of the best-known events of the sort in this neighborhood and it is always largely attended not only by residents of Holmdel but by people of neighboring communities. The large advance sale of tickets and the elaborate preparations made indicate that the feast will measure up to the highest standards of the past, both as a culinary and a financial triumph.

The following is a brief history of the brown supper prepared by Mrs. Harold H. Bennett, president of the Ladies' Aid society:

The brown supper was originated by the Ladies' Aid society of the Reformed church of Holmdel 29 years ago. Rev. Frederick Bader was the pastor of the church and Mrs. Louis DuBois was president of the Ladies' Aid society. Mrs. Bronson Butler was chairman of the supper committee and the affair was so successful that it has since been held annually without intermission.

The idea of calling it a brown supper was novel. The ladies had their first feast with one large table on the chapel platform. That part of the building was then known as the infants' room. The tablecloth was brown and the waitresses wore brown aprons. The menu consisted of brown bread and graham bread, chicken salad, roast beef, roast pork and dressing, potato chips, baked beans, macaroni, cranberry and apple sauce, spiced fruits, pickles, celery and cheese, with apple and pumpkin pie and tea or coffee as dessert dishes.

Next Wednesday the annual brown supper will be held in the newly decorated chapel under the direction of a committee of which Mrs. Harold H. Bennett is president and Mrs. Joseph Phillips is assistant chairman. The menu will comprise chicken salad, boiled ham, potato chips, macaroni and cheese, scalloped oysters, pot cheese, cabbage salad, cranberry sauce, celery hearts, pickles, pumpkin pie and coffee.

No fancy table will be operated as in the past but two hand-made quilts said to be of extraordinary quality will be offered for sale. They will be displayed in the church vestibule under the direction of Miss Sarah Schanck.

As at the original supper the brown idea will be carried out. Brown decorations will be used and the waitresses will wear fancy brown aprons. Generous donations have been made and the society has made preparations for a record-breaking assemblage.

Tinton Falls May Get Public-Owned Water Supply Soon

The Matter Discussed at Considerable Length at the Meeting of the Township Committee Saturday Afternoon.

The possibility of establishing a publicly-owned water plant at Tinton Falls was discussed at considerable length Saturday afternoon at the meeting of the township committee of Shrewsbury township. No action was taken, but remarks made by the members of the committee indicated that the matter will be thoroughly investigated. Committeeman John Rohrey urged such action. Kenneth Fields, chairman of the committee, remarked that a bond issue would be required to finance the proposed project and that the approval of the voters of the township would be required.

The proposal was discussed after a letter was read from the Monmouth Consolidated Water company to the effect that the cost of extending its service at Tinton Falls would be greater than the income would justify. The committee has been trying for several months to induce the company to extend its service to include all of Sycamore avenue and the county road from the Shrewsbury township-Eatontown borough line to the Shrewsbury township-Atlantic township line.

The committee awarded a contract for improving the Reeveytown road for a distance of about three miles to Frank C. Sindlinger of Holmdel for $2,310.50.

Acknowledgment was received from the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the request of the committee for $5,000 of state dirt road funds.

An amendment was passed to the amusement ordinance whereby a license fee of $50 is required to be paid annually to operate a polo field and $25 for a football field.

Tentative approval was given to the application of Thomas Calandriello of Pine Brook for a license to sell alcoholic beverages in packages. The final decision will be made by D. Frederick Burnett, state alcoholic beverage control commissioner. Mr. Calandriello formerly operated a bar.

Committeeman Rohrey recommended that provision be made in next year's budget to place a street light at Pine Brook. Recently the residents of that section presented a petition for four lights.

Leonardo Almost Solid For Harbor And Beach Project

Only Eight of a Gathering of More Than 600 Persons Opposed Ordinance When It Was Finally Adopted.

At a largely attended adjourned meeting at the Leonardo grade school Friday night the township committee of Middletown township unanimously passed the second and final readings of the ordinance providing for a bond issue of $25,000 for converting the lagoon at Leonardo into a harbor and for improving the beach. More than 600 persons were present and before official action was taken a standing vote was asked for. Only eight persons opposed the project.

Howard W. Roberts, township clerk, explained the purpose of the meeting and the benefits which it was expected would be derived from the harbor and improved beach. The money is to be raised by special assessments in the Leonardo voting district with the exception of the Hillside section. Mr. Roberts stated that the levy would not be more than $25 for an assessment of $1,000 and might be considerably less. The assessments may be paid over a period of ten years.

Speakers in favor of the bond issue were James MacPhee, president of the Leonardo Civic Interest association, Matthew Stevenson, Albert W. Cross, Walter W. Bills, George P. Williams and Rev. Frances Stevenson. Miss Catherine R. Fisher and Mrs. Philip Peters were the only persons who spoke against the proposition. They said the harbor and the improved beach would be a "luxury" inasmuch as Leonardo lacks garbage collections and many other things which they declared were more important.

New High School Athletic Grounds To Open Saturday

Preparations Made for Special Ceremonies at Leonardo When M. T. Football Team Will Play Metuchen.

The new high school athletic field at Leonardo will be formally opened Saturday afternoon when the high school football team will play its second game of the season, with the Metuchen high school as the contender. Preparations are being made by a committee consisting of H. Lawrence Scott of Belford, a member of the board of education, and Dr. Paul H. Axtell, supervising principal of the public schools of Middletown township.

The matter was discussed at considerable length at the meeting of the board of education Tuesday night. Plans were made to have music by a band, a loud speaker for announcements and other special features. The board members expressed hope that there would be a large attendance of township residents to view the field. Work has been under way on the grounds for several years and the cost to the township was about $10,000, in addition to which a large sum was spent by the federal government for labor by the Works Progress Administration and other agencies. The field is well drained and presents an attractivo appearance. A new fence has just been put up. The board members expressed the opinion that Middletown township really has something to be proud of in the new grounds.

Quite a lengthy discussion took place with regard to the fee to be charged the Leonardo Field club for the use of the grounds. It was proposed to make this $40, but a representative of the club and some of the board members thought this was too much. Curtis J. Walling, a former member of the board, stated that inasmuch as the grass on the land had not become thoroughly rooted it would be best not to allow any teams except the high school aggregation to play on the field until next spring. It was unanimously agreed to follow this course. The Field club will continue to use the old athletic field for its games.

Signal Honor For Local Woman's Club

The Woman's club of Red Bank under the leadership of its president, Mrs. E. H. Boynton, has achieved first place in the enrollment of new members in the third district for the year 1936 and 1937 with an increased membership of 42. The third district is composed of 36 clubs.

The Red Bank club has gained considerable prestige by the publication of "Highlights," club magazine, which is a year old. The magazine is edited by Mrs. Harry Morford and Mrs. Hosea Clark and contains timely editorials, messages of greeting from club and federation officers, a club calendar, personal and social activities, poetry and household suggestions.

Riverside Heights Home Site Sold

Programs To Be Presented For Entertainment

Better Entertainent For Children Committee Reorganizes—First Program to be Given November 10.

The Better Entertainment for Children committee has reorganized for the year and will again bring to the children of the community this season a program of high class entertainment.

The committee is made up of representatives of church, civic and educational groups and schools in the nearby communities. It is a non-profit making organization whose only purpose is to bring worth while programs to children.

At the first regular meeting of the year, Mrs. Howard E. Manning was re-elected chairman of the committee. All performances will be presented in the Mechanic street school auditorium at 2:30 o'clock. Season tickets for children may be secured through the schools or members of the committee.

The members of the committee present at the regular meeting were Mrs. Howard E. Manning, chairman; Edwin C. Gilland, superintendent of schools; Miss Elisazeth A. Kelley, Mrs. Beulah B. Ely, principal of Mechanic street school; Miss Mae McCue, principal of Oakland street school; Mrs. John L. Montgomery, Mrs. Irving Lovett, Mrs. Frank P. Kuhl, Mechanic street school P. T. A.; Miss Virginia Chasey and Miss Loretta Regan, evening department of the Woman's club; Burchell Hilton, Middletown township schools; Mrs. Leslie D. Seeley, Eatontown; Mrs. Charles D. Ely, Holmdel; Mrs. Arthur White, American Association of University Women; Mrs. George Baine, Mrs. Daniel Olsen, junior and senior P. T. A.; Miss Mae Jackson, Junior Woman's club; Mrs. Ernest H. Moffat, Middletown; Mrs. Alfred Mathiasen, Little Silver; Mrs. George Merrill, Mrs. Marion Long, principal of Tinton Falls school; Rev. Carman Trembath, Rabbi Arthur H. Hershon and Mrs. Ernest Glendenning.

The first program of the year will be presented Wednesday afternoon, November 10, and is entitled, "The Indian Lady." Inez Barrington will present "Our Indians of Today" in colored pictures, showing sign languages, legends, dances and songs.

The second program will be Sue Hasting's Marionettes on Tuesday, December 14. The snow will be "Alice in Wonderland." On January 12, Robert Sharpe will present a magician's program. On February 9, George Brinton Beal will show, "Through the Back Door of the Circus." He has made a movie in color of circus life. The final program will be given March 9, when Captain Plummer will show moving pictures, "Living With the Eskimos."

Pupils May Be Barred Out If Not Vaccinated

Board of Education of Middletown Township Passes Rule to This Effect to be Enforced After November 28.

A resolution which makes it possible to exclude children from school who are not vaccinated against smallpox was passed by the board of education of Middletown township Monday night after a long argumentative discussion. Capt. William E. Dennis and George Miller voted against the resolution and the other six members present voted for it. Mrs. Margaret Huber was the only absentee.

The wording of the resolution is such that no exclusions are to be made until after November 28. The resolution states that the smallpox immunization program is to be continued until that time. It was generally understood that children were not to be excluded in cases wherein doctors' certificates were presented showing that vaccination was not desirable because of special reasons.

Capt. Dennis opposed the resolution on various grounds, stating among other things that he did not believe it was legal to enforce such a rule and that not a single case of smallpox has occurred in New Jersey the past five years. He also made the point that it is compulsory to make children attend school and that he did see how this could be enforced if unvaccinated children were to be excluded.

Award Contracts For School Work At Eatontown

Long Branch Man Submits Lowest Bid for Construction for Two-Room Addition on Eatontown School.

Contracts for an addition to the Eatontown grade school were awarded by the Eatontown board of education Monday night at a special session held in the borough hall. Daniel S. Morris, president, presided over the session which was one of the most lively board meetings this year. All members of the board were in attendance.

The contract called for an addition of two classrooms, additional fireproof stairway, alterations to the plumbing system and the installation of a new heating system to the entire building. The work will be started the first of next week and is not to exceed $32,000 for which bonds will be issued. The work is expected to be completed about February 1.

The construction work, for which ten bids were submitted, was awarded to Dominic Grandetti of Long Branch for $18,050. Michael Reisz of Fords was second low bidder with $18,483. The structural steel work was awarded to the Keystone Steel company for $1,267. The second low bidder was the Harco Steel company for $1,830. Five bids were submitted for the steel work.

The heating and ventilating work was given E. J. Whorle, Inc., for $8,490. Peter MacInnes, Inc., presented the second low bid of $8,673. Ten bids were submitted for this work. Peter MacInnes, Inc., was awarded the bid for the plumbing at a price of $767. Philip Eager, Inc., was second low bidder with a price of $890. Six submitted bids for the plumbing.

The electrical contract was awarded Proctor Electrical company for $754 while Stanley Edwards presented the second low bid of $820. The total amount of the work is $29,589.

A resolution was approved stating that the attorney and district clerk be authorized to place advertisements in The Bond Buyer and the Red Bank Register requesting bids on bonds. The bids will be opened at a special meeting of the board Monday night, October 25.

Mr. Grandetti, who was awarded the construction contract, assured the board that he would employ local help.

Many Changes Wrought By Country Estates

The well known fact that most farm crops are selling at ruinously low prices and the recent action of the Red Bank Chamber of Commerce in urging residents of this section to insist upon Monmouth county products when buying vegetables as a means of aiding the farmers has aroused so much interest as to the status of agriculture that The Register requested information on the subject at the office of the county agricultural agent at Freehold. M. A. Clark, assistant agent, very graciously complied with the request in a letter which covers the subject comprehensively.

Some of the facts and figures will perhaps seem amazing even to persons who are familiar with farming conditions. The total land area of Monmouth county is 304,000 acres, of which 163,170 acres are used for farming purposes, according to the latest census report. Any tract of land of three acres or more that is used to raise crops is considered a farm. However, only 110,000 acres are tilled, as 52,000 acres are in meadows, permanent pasture, woodland, waste land, lanes, farm yards, etc.

Fifteen thousand acres are devoted to white potatoes, Monmouth county's largest vegetable crop, Fifteen to 20 years ago this county used about 30,000 acres for potatoes, but during the past ten years the acreage has held fairly stable at 14,000 to 15,000 acres. This season is the worst the potato farmers have experienced in many years. Bumper crops were harvested but the price has been so low as to be beneath the cost of production. Apples are also selling at low prices due in part to the fact that there is little or no export market overseas for this crop. Monmouth county produces many, many more potatoes and apples than its citizens consume and this is also true of most other crops.

From the standpoint of acreage involved and the size of production, truck crops, exclusive of white potatoes, is the county's largest farm industry. The acreage devoted to these crops is 18,715, of which 5,000 is used for sweet corn, more than 4,000 for tomatoes, 1,000 for beans and 1,000 for spinach. The remaining 7,000 acres is used for such crops as asparagus, eggplants, peppers, beets, carrots, sweet potatoes, watermelons, musk melons, etc. The acreage used for truck crops has increased greatly during the past 25 years despite the fact that the total area of farm land has shrunk.

The farm land occupied by fruit production is approximately 9,000 acres. This is another agricultural enterprise that has increased the past quarter century. Apple production is about three times greater than it was 25 years ago. The figure of 9,000 acres includes not only apples and peaches but also a considerable acreage of grapes, strawberries and bush fruits, although apple orchards by far occupy the greater proportion of the land.

A fact which may seem unusual to many Monmouth county residents is that corn occupies nearly as many acres as potatoes. Probably the figure now is around 13,000 to 14,000 acres. We grow about 5,000 acres of rye for harvest and probably 3,500 to 4,000 acres of wheat, according to Mr. Clark, who concludes his letter with the following:

"Poultry keeping is not estimated in acreage. I doubt if anyone knows how many acres of Monmouth county land are devoted to this enterprise. We do know that it has increased in Monmouth county over 300 per cent in the past 25 years. Monmouth now ranks third among the counties of New Jersey in poultry egg production and first in turkey production. The census lists 2,782 farms in the county and nearly half of them are used for raising chickens to a greater or less degree. By being in the chicken business we mean that they have more than enough hens to take care of the eggs and poultry needed for home use and are raising some poultry products for sale."

In talking with a Register reporter Mr. Clark stated that contrary to general belief there are more farms in Monmouth county today than was true a few years ago despite the fact that the total acreage is less than was formerly the case. This is partly explained by the fact that many large farms have been divided into smaller ones and also by the fact that a large number of small farms have been carved out of woodland. There has been a great influx of city residents to small farms in this county during the past year. They include a considerable number of people who have been retired on pensions, and there is an astonishingly large percentage of ex-policemen and ex-firemen among them.

Bulletin Issued For October By Chamber Board

Red Bank Civic Group Very Active on Local Matters—Co-Operating With the Farmer —New Campaign.

The October bulletin of the Red Bank Chamber of Commerce is now in the hands of the Chamber members. It covers much of the activities of the Chamber during the past month as well as giving other valuable information. Those who are not members of the Chamber do not fully appreciate the vast amount of good work being done by the organization for the benefit of Red Bank.

At a recent meeting, as previously mentioned in The Register, the Chamber changed its fiscal year from June 30 to January 31. The Bulletin contains the following paragraph concerning this change:

At a recent meeting of the Chamber of Commerce board it was decided to adopt a different fiscal year for the organization. A few words on the subject may not be amiss at this time, as no doubt some of our members may be curious enough to wonder why such a change was made.

Here are the reasons: As you know our year has heretofore closed on June 30, right at the beginning of the summer season, which is always a busy season for communities such as Red Bank. The summer visitors, water events, National Sweepstakes Regatta, summer sales and many other events makes our town a pretty busy place at that time of the year. All of the summer activities naturally take time and effort and your board was of the opinion that a change to a less busy time of year would be a distinct advantage to committee members, and all the merchants who give so much time to keep the wheel turning.

January 31 is now the official date for closing the books, taking inventory of progress made and starting with a clean slate. We believe this is as it should be. It is in line with the national and state organizations and should be a more opportune time for such things as annual meetings, reports and new beginnings. We hope our membership will approve.

Regarding the parking problem the Bulletin states that:

With a few exceptions, reports reaching this office seem to indicate that the one-hour parking system is working to the advantage of the majority of shops and shoppers. More time is necessary to definitely determine its advantages and disadvantages. The plan has worked in many other cities but will have to be thoroughly tested here before accurate facts are known. Complaints are received occasionally, as are also favorable comments. Theoretically the plan should double Red Bank's daily parking capacity. For those who must park more than 60 minutes the free parking areas are handy and convenient. Hundreds of maps directing the public to these areas have been distributed by our police officers.

The Chamber recently launched a campaign in the interest of the Monmouth county farmer, orchardist and poultryman which immediately took root and has begun to grow with such amazing results. Red Bank and Monmouth county has been given a lot of favorable publicity in county and state publications in this co-operative movement. The Bulletin county.
has the following paragraph concerning this endeavor:

A new experiment in Monmouth county distribution has been launched and we are happy to state that the idea was conceived by a member of the Chamber of Commerce and is an attempt to make Red Bankers and Monmouth county citizens conscious of the fact that some of the best things that grow, grow in Monmouth count..

If the campaign is a success a Monmouth county consciousness will be increased, the farmers will be aided and transportation costs reduced, which should result in reduced prices. With Monmouth county products plenteous and right at our door, it seems strange that potatoes, certain fruits and other commodities grown or produced locally have to be imported to us.

A campaign of advertising is now being drawn up to help us remind ourselves that often the best things are found right at home. This type of co-operation will help everyone.

A cordial welcome was extended in the Bulletin to Kenneth Wyckoff, the Miles Shoe store and to The Sherman Shop, Inc., who have been admitted into membership in the Chamber.

The Columbia Broadcasting system saluted Red Bank this morning at 8 o'clock on the Morning Almanac program with the Phil Cook broadcast. Mrs. Rae McCandlish, the executive secretary, supplied the script for this part of the program. It gave some of the early history of our town and Red Bank, received much valuable publicity. A paragraph pertaining to this feature was in the Bulletin.

The Bulletin lists the names of 42 new residents in this immediate locality. This list is of great value to the members, particularly to those who operate retail stores. This is a monthly feature of the Chamber which alone is worth the price of membership.

The officers and directors who have been either elected or appointed to serve until the new fiscal year in January are:

President—Harold S. Allen.
1st Vice-President—Morris Jacks.
2nd Vice-President—Thomas Irving Brown.
Treasurer—Abram M. Kridel.
Executive-Secretary—Mrs. Rae McCandlish.
General Counsel—Miss Florence F. Forgotson.
Directors—Harold S. Allen, John B. Allen, Thomas Irving Brown, Harry H. Clayton, John Colt, Hubert M. Farrow, Florence F. Forgotson, Morris Jacks, Abram M. Kridel, Donald Lawes, Max Leon, William A. Miller, T. D. Moore, William L. Russell and Julius Straus.
Membership Committee—William A. Miller, William L. Russell, Dr. J. B. McCloskey, Julius Straus, Abram Kridel and Percy Scherman.
Program Committee—Thomas Irving Brown, Frank P. Merritt, J. D. Tuller, Albert W. Worden, T. D. Moore and Samuel Yanko.
Parking Committee—T. D. Moore, John B. Allen, William A. Miller, Hubert M. Farrow, Harry Degenring, Abram M. Kridel, Edwin C. Conover, Tony Tunting, G. Howard Lippincott, Clyde Swannell and Kenneth Wyckoff.
Budget Committee—Hubert M. Farrow, William A. Miller, Abram M. Kridel and Morris Jacks.

In addition to the above officers there operates in conjunction with the chamber a group within the organization known as the Internal Trade Committee which supervises the general co-operative sales conducted under the sanction of the chamber. This group is headed by Percy Scherman, proprietor of the Sherman Shop on Broad street. Other members are John B. Allen, Abram M. Kridel, William A. Miller, Julius Straus, Samuel Yanko, Joseph Dillon, Jacob Goldfarb, Robert DeGolyer, Harry Rose and Louis Simon.

Women Democrats To Attend Conference

The Women's Democratic club of Red Bank met Monday night at the Elks' club and made plans to attend a state conference Saturday, October 23, at the Berkeley-Carteret hotel, Asbury Park. The conference will begin at 10:30 a. m., and will be followed by a luncheon. Speakers will include Senator A. Harry Moore and Mrs. Thomas F. McAllister, new director of the women's division of the national Democratic committee.

It was announced that a dinner-dance will be held Thursday night, October 28, at the Smoke Shop tavern by the Women's Democratic club of Monmouth county for Democratic candidates. Miss Martina Healy is chairman.

The Women's Democratic club of Red Bank, the Reporters' club and the Red Bank Italian Democratic Women's club will entertain the county club on Saturday, October 30, at the Red Bank Catholic high school auditorium.

Herden To Halt Training of Dogs

The "breaking in" of hunting dogs in the borough of Shrewsbury is being stopped by Policeman Otto Herden, who this week issued a warning to hunters that they are not permitted to train their dogs or hunt within borough limits.

The borough council last year passed an ordinance prohibiting gunning in the borough.

Civil Service Exams.

The United States Civil Service commision has announced open competitive examinations for associate geophysicist, $3,200 a year, and assistant geophysicist, $2,600 a year; special agricultural economic writer, $3,800 a year, Bureau of Agricultural Economics, and cottonseed technologist, $3,800 a year, Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Full information may be obtained from P. J. Gisleson, secretary of the U. S. Civil Service Board of Examiners, at Red Bank postoffice.

Council Hears Tax Proposals At Sea Bright

Offer of $1,400 for Delinquent Tax Bill of $3,000 Turned Down—Action Deferred on Three Other Propositions.

Several propositions for payment of taxes were submitted to the mayor and council of Sea Bright at the regular meeting last Thursday night. A communication was received from Clarence Stevens of Sea Bright, who stated he had a client who makes an offer of $1,400 as full payment on taxes on a lot on Ocean avenue, adjoining the Sea Bright coast guard station on the south. Tax arreages on the land, which is owned by the Bess Holding Co., amount to about $3,000. The proposition was turned down.

The council deferred action until the next meeting on three other proposals. One was from James O'Neill offering $700 as full payment on taxes on his property on Ocean avenue, the taxes amounting to $1,400. A large house on the place was gutted by fire a few weeks ago. Arthur O. Axelson stated the property was worth at least $2,000. Members of the council said they would inspect the property before making a decision.

Herman Henry asked that interest be waived on taxes of $1,800 owing on property at 420 Ocean avenue owned by his daughter, Mrs. Lillian E. Lynn. He agreeded to pay the principal sum in full. Addison Howland, who said he was interested in buying the former Nesbitt property, which runs from Front street to the river, asked that interest of $51.26 be waived. The taxes amount to $280.86, exclusive of interest. An unoccupied house on the lot is going to ruin, and the council has notified the owner, the Second National Bank & Trust Co. of Red Bank, to remove the building. Mr. Howland said he would either repair the house to restore it to a presentable state or tear it down. Councilman Sol Nelmark, oposing waiving the interest, stated it would be more advantageous to the borough to take over the property and provide a place for the fishermen to dry their nets.

E. Wolcott Fary, clerk, reported receipts amounting to $145.03. Recorder Walter J. Sweeney reported 19 hearings in Septembr and fines of $33.

William Douglas, street superintendent, was granted a week's vacation with pay. He will spend his vacation in Virginia.

NEW PRIEST IN CHARGE.

Rev. Weston E. Grimshaw Now at Little Silver and Eatontown.

The Rev. Weston E. Grimshaw, formerly rector of St. George's Episcopal church at Helmetta, New Jersey, has been designated as priest in charge at St. John's chapel at Little Silver and St. James' church at Eatontown, succeeding Rev. Joseph T. Urban.

Rev. Mr. Grimshaw will observe the 25th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood Sunday, October 17. The service on that day will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 10 a. m. at Eatontown and at 11:15 a. m. at Little Silver.

Rev. and Mrs. Grimshaw will occupy the St. John's vicarage on the Little Silver Point road.

Church Bunco Party.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Reformed church will hold a bunco party Friday night, October 22, at 8:30 o'clock in the social hall of the church. Refreshments will be served. The committee in charge consists of Miss Esther Crelin, Mrs. Wallace B. Rankin, Mrs. Elizabeth Estelle and Mrs. Jackson Murphy.

Religious Group To Meet at Middletown

The monthly meeting of the Young People's Council of Religious Education of the Red Bank district will be held tonight at 8:15 o'clock in the Middletown Baptist church. W. Albert Doremus of Red Bank will preside.

Rev. George W. Young, pastor of the Middletown church, will address the council. Plans for awarding an attendance prize to the church group having the greatest percentage of its members present at subsequent meetings will be discussed. Refreshments will be served by the young women of the Middletown church.

Voters of All Parties Have Common Cause In the One Big Issue

"How Shall the Gas - Auto Taxes Be Used?"

It is the belief of the County Democracy that a big majority of the Citizens of Monmouth, Burlington and other rural Counties want the Gas and Auto Tax Monies used exclusively for improving and maintaining roads and streets, including Township roads. Therefore we have pledged the Democratic candidates for the General Assembly to stand against the diversion of the Gas and Auto Tax monies.

Every voter who wants the roads, streets and township roads to get the benefit of all the taxes paid on Gas and Autos should vote for John V. D. Forman and William F. Hanlon, Democratic candidates for the Assembly. If elected these two reliable business men may be relied upon to serve the people of Monmouth County in the next Legislature in a manner which will win for them the approval of all citizens.

JOHN V. D. FORMAN

THE ONE BIG ISSUE

in the next Legislature will not be between Republicans and Democrats but between the members from Essex, Hudson and the city counties and the members from Monmouth, Burlington and the rural counties. Upon the contest between the rural and city members will depend on how the gas and auto taxes shall be used in the future. Surely every business man in Monmouth, every farmer and everyone who drives an auto will vote to have the roads, including township roads, so improved that they will be fit to drive over with an auto the year 'round. Hence the Democratic Assembly candidates are pledged to work and vote to this end.

WILLIAM F HANLON
Candidate for Assembly

Our candidates for county offices and for the General Assembly are also pledged to the policies and principles set forth in the following platform adopted by the Democracy of Monmouth County.

Publicity for Business

We pledge our candidate for Freeholder (a) to stand for publicity for the public business passing through the County Court House and every branch of our county government; (b) to stand for economical and efficient management of the public business coming within the purview of the Board of Freeholders; (c) to devote practically all of his time to his supervisory duties as a Freeholder.

THERON McCAMPBELL
Candidate for Freeholder

For Vocational Schools

The Democratic Party of Monmouth County believes that the time has come when the county, with the aid of State and Federal funds, must provide a county wide system of vocational schools, and we pledge our candidates, if elected, to work to this end unceasingly.

JOSEPH L. DONAHAY
Candidate for Surrogate

For Tax Reform

We pledge our candidates for the Assembly and our candidate for Freeholder to use their influence and votes in every possible way to bring about a revision of our system of taxation to the end that homes, farms and real estate generally be relieved of their unjust share of the tax burden, and in every possible way to work and vote for the removal of the causes for the depression in the building industry in Monmouth County.

A. HARRY MOORE
Candidate for Governor

For Help to Farmers

We pledge our candidates for the Assembly and Freeholder to take every opportunity to support plans and legislation which will help farmers to overcome the losses and disadvantages imposed upon agriculture generally by taxation, by excessive costs and low prices for the crops adapted to the soils and climate of Monmouth County.

For Voting Machines

We favor the purchase of voting machines by Monmouth County in time for use in the elections to be held in 1938 because of their economy and honesty in the conducting of elections, and because of their popularity with voters, as proven in both primary and general elections in Essex and Union Counties.

Large Party At The Colt's Neck School Tomorrow

Benefit Dance and Bunco Games for Mrs. Harold Gunther, Who is a Hospital Patient as Result of Accident.

Provided that the weather man behaves, the Atlantic township school house at Colt's Neck will be crowded tomorrow night with the largest assemblage it has ever held. The attraction is a dance and bunco party for the benefit of Mrs. Harold Gunther of Colt's Neck, who is a patient at Fitkin Memorial hospital, with several broken bones and with the lower part of her body paralyzed as the result of an automobile accident about three weeks ago in which she was not at fault.

Approximately 500 tickets have been sold and Joaquin A. Lawrence, who is in charge of the party, and his assistants are beginning to worry about what they are going to do with all the people if they arrive at the same time. The school house is scarcely big enough to hold all of them. However, Colt's Neck is famed for hospitality and Mr. Lawrence has managed with great success other events for philanthropic purposes. Those who are acquainted with the community and Mr. Lawrence have no doubt that the party will be put over successfully.

A prize will be awarded at each table and three fog automobile lamps donated by Samuel King of Freehold will be disposed of on the co-operative plan. Mrs. Gunther was employed by Mr. King and she was going to her duties at his automobile agency when her car was hit. The orchestra of Nicholas Harvey of Holmdel has donated its services to provide music for dancing. A number of cash donations have been made and those who have undertaken the sale of tickets have been extremely zealous. Mr. Lawrence is being assisted by Joseph and Charles Crine.

Atlantic grange and the Atlantic township fire company are sponsoring the party. It is hoped to raise $500, but even the most optimistic promoters of the party hardly expect that this amount will be cleared. Mr. and Mrs. Gunther are among the most popular and best known young folks of Atlantic township and their trouble has aroused widespread sympathy. They recently invested in a new home at Colt's Neck.

Everything seems to indicate that there will be a big night tomorrow at the Colt's Neck school house.

Leonardo School Play.

Rehearsals are being held for the play of "Paying the Fiddler" to be given by the Leonardo senior class. The date has not been set, but the play will be presented in about a month.

The Sewing club of the Reformed church met at the home of Mrs. Charles Ewart last Thursday and arranged to serve election day luncheons Tuesday, November 2. Plans were also made for the annual fall supper. The date for this event has not been fixed. The next meeting of the club will be held Thursday, October 21, at the home of Mrs. George S. P. Hunt.

Miss Margery Conover and Charles Sutphin attended the football game at South River Sunday between the high schools of Red Bank and South River.

Many residents of this place attended the meeting of Pomona county grange at Wayside Saturday.

Mrs. Garrett Buck has sold her residence property, comprising about two acres on the north side of the county road east of the village center, to a resident of the northern part of the state. The new owner will occupy the house and Mrs. Buck will move to Lakewood.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Baker, formerly of Marlboro, are on their way home from China, where they have been engaged in missionary work. With them is Mrs. Baker's sister, Miss Clara Smith of Freehold, who has been stopping with them. Mr. and Mrs. Baker and Miss Smith have a number of relatives and friends here who are joyous over the fact that they are soon to be home from from war-torn China. Much fear as to their safety has been felt here.

Carroll Barclay, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll W. Barclay, is home from Fitkin Memorial hospital, where he was a patient for pneumonia. He is well on the road to recovery.

Auctioneer Walter D. Fields set a mark to shoot at recently when he conducted the sale at the Freeman estate house of 12 rooms at Atlantic Highlands a few days ago. He struck off 370 articles in less than five hours. Mr. Fields is now conducting community auction sales every Tuesday in Neptune township.

Laird's distillery and cider plant continues to be the busiest place in Atlantic township. The cider mill is operated all day and sometimes all night and truckloads of apples are arriving daily not only from various parts of New Jersey but also from other states. The bottling of cider is under way at the former wireless communication plant which is leased by the Laird company.

George DeGarmo is having an airplane landing field made on his country estate which was formerly the Higgins farm and which he bought last winter. Mr. DeGarmo is one of the chief owners of a company which manufacturers airplanes. Farming is one of his principal enjoyments and he did a large part of the work of harvesting his wheat crop.

Hazlet.

(The Red Bank Register can be bought in Hazlet from Mrs. Edna M. W. Peseux).

Mrs. Charles D. Johnson of Beers street was hostess to the Ladies' Aid society of St. John's Methodist church Wednesday afternoon at the church. The afternoon was spent in making arrangements for the supper and bazar to be held by the church tonight and tomorrow night.

Henry Warnock of the State highway has purchased 30 acres of land from M. VanBrackle, which includes the farm on the north side of the railroad and adjoining the farm of his father, John J. Warnock.

Mr. and Mrs. Roelif H. LeRoy of South Keyport and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bogart of Cliffwood have left for a trip to Florida by automobile.

The beneficiary department of the Monmouth County Firemen's association will hold the regular monthly meeting in the Hazlet fire house tonight.

Cards have been received from Mr. and Mrs. P. Otto Weigand, Jr., from Virginia Beach, where they are spending part of their vacation.

Mrs. Leon Hardy, who has been confined to her home on the Holmdel turnpike with sickness, is somewhat improved.

The Hazlet fire company will sponsor a Hallowe'en dance in the fire house Saturday evening, October 30. On that evening they will dispose of a $25 Philco midget radio. Music will be furnished by the Morris sisters, formerly with Major Bowes. Refreshments will be served and prizes awarded.

The honor roll of Hazlet public school for September is as follows:

Eighth grade, M. S. Bozarth, teacher—Anna Mae Warnock, Audrey Shown, Ursula Sollanek, Jeanette Murphy, Edna Hubbs, Walter Dean, Ralph Dean, Ralph Mocci.

NOTICE.

The township Ordinance published herewith has been finally passed and the twenty day period of limitation within which a suit, action or proceeding questioning the validity of said Ordinance can be commenced, as provided in the Local Bond Act, has begun to run from the first publication of this Notice.

HOWARD W. ROBERTS,
Township Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF THE HARBOR AT LEONARDO, INCLUDING THE WORK OF DREDGING, BULKHEADS, JETTIES AND OTHER SIMILAR STRUCTURES, THE ACQUISITION OF ADJOINING SHORE FRONT AND APPROPRIATING THE COST THEREOF AND PROVIDING FOR THE WORK TO BE DONE AS A LOCAL IMPROVEMENT AND THE COST ASSESSED AGAINST PROPERTIES BENEFITED THEREBY.

WHEREAS, the Township of Middletown has acquired the Lagoon property at Leonardo, on the shore front at Leonardo, in the Township of Middletown, in the County of Monmouth and State of New Jersey and desires to improve the same by dredging and protecting the mouth thereof by proper jetties, bulkheads and other similar structures;

AND WHEREAS, in the course of the said work, it is necessary to secure land on the shore front adjoining the said harbor for the purpose of building jetties to protect the entire project;

AND WHEREAS, the Works Progress Administration of the United States of America have made an appropriation to assist the said work;

AND WHEREAS, Five Thousand ($5000.00) Dollars is to be secured from the County of Monmouth towards the cost of the said work;

BE IT ORDAINED by the Township Committee of the Township of Middletown:

SECTION 1. That the said Leonardo Harbor be improved by rebuilding old bulkheads and building additional new bulkheads on both sides of the said entrance to said harbor, at the mouth thereof, according to plans and specifications made by Craig Finnegan, Township Engineer, on file with the Township Clerk; and dredging out the said harbor, according to said plans;

SECTION 2. That the Township of Middletown be authorized to acquire by purchase, condemnation, lease or otherwise, land along the shore front at Leonardo on both sides of the mouth of the said Lagoon, and that one or more jetties be constructed along the said shore front, according to plans made by the said Craig Finnegan, Township Engineer, on file with the Township Clerk.

SECTION 3. That the sum of Thirty Thousand ($30,000.00) Dollars or so much thereof as may be sufficient to carry out the provisions of this Ordinance, is hereby appropriated for said purpose, which is in addition to the amount that may be contributed by the Works Progress Administration of the United States of America.

SECTION 4. The County of Monmouth is contributing the sum of Five Thousand ($5000.00) Dollars, which shall be credited to the said appropriation of Thirty Thousand ($30,000.00) Dollars, leaving a balance of Twenty-Five Thousand ($25,000.00) Dollars.

SECTION 5. This work being undertaken in conjunction with an agency of the United States of America, no down payment is required.

SECTION 6. Bonds in the sum of TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND ($25,000.00) Dollars are hereby authorized to be issued for the purpose of financing the cost of said improvement. The maximum amount of money to be raised from all sources for said purpose is the sum of Thirty Thousand ($30,000.00) Dollars.

Said bonds shall be in such form and in such sums, and principal and interest payable in such medium and in such place, as may be specified hereafter by a resolution of this Committee and shall be signed by the Chairman of the Township Committee and the Township Clerk and countersigned by the Township Treasurer and the corporate seal of the Township of Middletown shall be affixed, and if coupons for the payment of the interest shall be attached, they shall be executed by the facsimile signature of the Township Treasurer.

SECTION 7. Pending the issuance of said bonds, the cost of said project may be temporarily financed by the issuance of temporary bond anticipation notes. All of said notes shall be issued for a period not exceeding one year and may be renewed from time to time for periods not exceeding the time limited by law and said notes shall be in such sums and payable at such times as may be provided hereafter by resolution of this Council.

SECTION 8. The rate of interest on said bonds or temporary bond anticipation notes shall not exceed the sum of six per centum.

SECTION 9. It is hereby determined by this Committee that the period of usefulness of the improvement herein provided for, as determined according to Article III, Section 301, of the Local Bond Act of the State of New Jersey, is hereby fixed and determined as forty (40) years.

SECTION 10. The said work is to be undertaken as a local improvement and the cost thereof assessed upon the properties benefitted thereby, as provided by law.

SECTION 11. It is hereby certified that the Supplemental Debt Statement required by this Act, has been duly made and filed in the office of the Clerk, and such statement shows that the gross debt as defined in Section 702 of such Act, is increased by this Ordinance by the sum of Twenty-Five Thousand $25,000.00) Dollars.

SECTION 12. This Ordinance shall take effect after its passage and publication pursuant to law.

Passed and approved October 9, 1937.

NOTICE

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE IMPROVEMENT OF PINE BROOK-REEVYTOWN ROAD FOR 2 9/10 MILES FROM THE RAILROAD CROSSING AT PINE BROOK TO THE SHAFTO CORNER ROAD BY GRADING AND RESURFACING OF SAID ROAD WITH ROAD GRAVEL IN ACCORDANCE WITH PLANS PREPARED BY GEORGE F. RANDOLPH, TOWNSHIP ENGINEER, AND PROVIDING FOR THE FINANCING THEREOF.

BE IT ORDAINED by the Township Committee of the Township of Shrewsbury, in the County of Monmouth:

1. That Pine Brook-Reevytown Road for 2 9/10 miles from the railroad crossing at Pine Brook to the Shafto Corner Road be improved by grading and resurfacing thereof with road gravel in accordance with plans prepared by George F. Randolph, Township Engineer, and duly approved by this Governing Body, at an estimated cost of not exceeding $3,300.00, which said sum is hereby appropriated to said purpose.

2. The appropriation made for the purpose aforesaid shall be made by a grant from the State of New Jersey through the Commissioner of Highways of $2,500.00, an allotment made to the Township of Shrewsbury by the State of New Jersey, the balance of said appropriation of $800.00 being hereby chargeable against and out of the Budget of Appropriations specifically set up for said purpose.

3. The improvement herein authorized shall be undertaken by public contract awarded to the lowest responsible bidder upon the receipt of bids to be duly solicited in manner and form as may be required by law, said improvement being a general improvement.

4. For the purpose of temporarily financing the purchase of materials, supplies and equipment as the contribution of the Township to said project and in anticipation of the issuance of bonds, bond antiicipation notes in such amount as may be necessary, but not exceeding the sum of $3,300.00 and bearing interest at a rate not exceeding six per centum per annum, are hereby authorized to be issued in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 77 of the Laws of 1935. All other matters in respect to said notes shall be determined by subsequent resolution of the Township Committee of the Township of Shrewsbury.

5. The following matters, as provided for by Chapter 77, P. L. 1935, are hereby determined and declared:

(a) The probable period of usefulness of said improvement is five years.

(b) The average assessed valuation of the taxable real property, including improvements of said Township, computed upon the three next preceding valuations thereof, is $1,121,088.

(c) The net debt of the municipality, including the indebetedness authorized to be incurred under the provisions of this Ordinance, is $24,000.

(d) The Supplemental Debt Statement required by said Act has been made and filed in the office of the Township Clerk, as required by Law. Such statement shows that the obligation authorized by this Ordinance will be within all debt limitations prescribed by said Act and that the gross debt, as defined in Section 702 of said Act, is increased by this Ordinance by $300.00.

6. This Ordinance shall take effect in the manner provided by law.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Raymond W. Baeseman is complainant and Fannie R. Smith, Henry C. McLean, Minnie F. McLean, Grace E. McClane Conover, Daniel D. Conover, Jonathan Albert McClane, Elizabeth G. St. Claire McClane, Eleanor McClane Alley, William Edgar Leonard, Frances H. Leonard, Mary Virginia Leonard and Mr. Leonard, the husband of Mary Virginia Leonard, if any, and all other unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of Charles J. M. Smith, deceased, are defendants, you are required to appear and answer the bill of said complainant, on or before the sixth day of December, next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a certain tax certificate, dated October 24, 1928, held by the complainant, for unpaid taxes on premises in the Borough of Red Bank, County of Monmouth and State of New Jersey, for the year 1927 and also to foreclose a certain tax certificate, dated October 25, 1929, held by the complainant, for unpaid taxes on premises in the Borough of Red Bank, County of Monmouth and State of New Jersey, for the year 1928, and you, Grace E. McClane Conover, Daniel D. Conover, Jonathan Albert McClane, Elizabeth G. St. Claire McClane, Eleanor McClane Alley, William Edgar Leonard, Frances H. Leonard, Mary Virginia Leonard and Mr. Leonard, the husband of Mary Virginia Leonard, if any, are made defendants because you have an interest in the title to the said premises covered by the said tax certificates.

Baptist Guild Plans Affairs

Mary Mount Chapter to Hold Cake Sale, Rummage Sale, Hallowe'en Dinner and Annual Luncheon.

The October meeting of the Mary Mount chapter of the World Wide guild of the Baptist church was held Friday night at the home of Mrs. Albert M. VanNostrand of Pinckney road. Members of the senior chapter of the guild were guests.

A devotional service was led by Mrs. Alden Mason, which included a prayer by Mrs. Alfred Beck and assembly singing. The business session was presided over by Mrs. Chris Berge.

Reports of various committees, including one by Mrs. Beck and Mrs. Edward Miller, delegates to the recent fall house party of the Women's Missionary societies of New Jersey at Hightstown, were submitted. Mrs. W. W. Kennedy and Mrs. Warren Fowler were appointed to the visiting committee for November.

Mrs. Jacob Yost reported that over $26 had been raised by the ways and means committee during the summer.

Plans for several coming affairs were made. These will include a cake sale to be held Saturday morning at Berge's market on Broad street, the annual fall rummage sale to be held Tuesday morning, October 19, at the Union fire house on Shrewsbury avenue, a progressive Hallowe'en dinner to be given for the members Friday night, October 29, and a luncheon at the church Tuesday, November 9.

Mrs. Stewart Cook is chairman of the committee in charge of the cake sale which includes Mrs. Jacob Yost, Miss Ruth Scattergood, Miss Alma Thompson, Mrs. Dewey Williams, Mrs. Eleanor Kenyon, Mrs. Charles Hammell, Mrs. Warren Minton, Mrs. Henry Conover, Mrs. Elmor Smith and Mrs. Sidney McLean.

Mrs. Homer Methot heads the cake sale committee, the membership of which includes Mrs. Alfred Beck, Mrs. Chris Berge, Mrs. Stewart Cook, Mrs. Henry Conover, Mrs. Worth Cunningham, Mrs. Morgan B. Ellert, Mrs. Pierro Holmes, Mrs. Eleanor Kenyon, Mrs. John Lawley, Mrs. Sidney McLean, Mrs. Warren Minton, Miss Mary Mount and Mrs. William Noglow.

Mrs. George Voorhis is chairman of the committee to have charge of the Hallowe'en dinner and Mrs. Charles Hammell will head the luncheon committee.

Mrs. Alfred Beck and Mrs. Henry Conover were selected as delegates to the state rally of guilds to be held at Collingswood November 5, 6 and 7. Many members have also signified their intention of attending. Miss Annabel House is in charge of reservations.

After the business session Mrs. Henry Conover gave a review of the book "Moslem Women Enter a New World," by Ruth Woodsmall. Refreshments were served by Mrs. VanNostrand, Mrs. Frank Morritt, Mrs. Elmer Smith, Mrs. Allan MacLeod and Mrs. Edward Miller.

The November meeting will be held Friday night, November 12, at the home of Miss Grace Beith of Shrewsbury.

Assignment of ministers for the coming year to 56 Methodist-Protestant churches of New Jersey, Eastern Pennsylvania and Southern New York were announced Monday at the close of the church's Eastern Conference.

The list included:

Allenwood—To be supplied.
Avon—F. Whitehead.
Fair Haven—H. P. Bowen.
Glendola—H. C. Stiles.
Lake Como—Donald T. Phillips.
Manasquan—George H. Jackson.
Osborneville—H. C. Stiles.
Robertsville—Fred R. Leonard.
South Amboy—John S. Hulser.

One Killed And Five Injured

Joseph Kayler of 53 French street, New Brunswick, was killed and five others injured when Kayler's car left the highway, struck an embankment and overturned, between South Bound Brook and New Brunswick, early Monday. This made New Jersey's week-end auto casualty toll 13 and 20 injured.

Two injured in the latest accident, Theodore Majka and John Mundy, soldiers at Fort Monmouth, were taken to St. Peter's hospital, New Brunswick; the others to Bound Brook hospital.

BABY CHICK ASSOCIATION.

Hatcherymen Will Get Together at New Brunswick October 20.

With a program that includes a discussion of improved methods and new problems confronting the hatcheryman, the annual meeting of the New Jersey Baby Chick association is scheduled for Wednesday, October 20, at the state experiment station at New Brunswick, according to an announcement released by Willard H. Allen, secretary of the association.

Each year the owners of hatcheries in New Jersey get together to become mutually acquainted and to discuss phases of the poultry industry in which they have a common interest. The attendance has been growing at each meeting, according to Mr. Allen, and with the larger attendance and increased interest it has been possible to prepare a program of more value than ever.

The schedule of speakers October 20 includes Dr. T. C. Byerly of the University of Maryland, L. H. Hiscock, International Baby Chick association; F. R. Countant, Bureau of Industrial Research, along with hatcherymen from neighboring states and experts from our own experiment station.

The program begins at 9:30 in the morning and is brought to a grand finale at 6 p. m. with a steak supper. The evening program is informal and no speakers are scheduled. The place of the meeting, according to Mr. Allen's announcement is at the Log Cabin on the College farm at New Brunswick. This is located east of U. S. Highway 1 and just back of the experimental orchards of the horticultural department. Mr. Allen urges every hatcheryman in New Jersey, whether his business be large or small, to attend.

MEAT CUTTING.

Demonstration to Be Given at Freehold October 25.

Pleasing to both purse and palate are the new trends in meat selection which will be demonstrated at the county-wide meeting for homemakers to be held by the Home Economics Extension Service of Monmouth county Monday, October 25, in the Wemrock Grange hall at 2 o'clock. Wemrock Grange hall is located one mile west of Freehold on Highway 33.

Economy is the by-word of all modern methods in cookery processes, says Marie Gifford who, as home economist with Armour & Co., is seeking continually for new ways to help the homemaker with her main dish problems. In co-operating with the Home Economics Extension Service of Rutgers university, Miss Gifford will present the results of the latest findings on meat cuts and their preparation as developed in her laboratory kitchen.

Because the average homemaker does not have the time nor the equipment to test out new recipes and improved method ofs cooking meats, Miss Gifford, with extensive experience in both the teaching and the research field, will bring to the homemakers of Monmouth county many new ideas for practical home use. Among these is the recent trend toward roasting meat at a moderate temperature. By the simple method of using a moderate amount of heat of 300 to 325 degrees Fahrenheit, it is possible, says Miss Gifford, not only to retain the juices within the roast itself but also to prevent undue shrinkage in the piece of meat. The homemaker is thus enabled to obtain more slices to the cut than is possible by the old method of cooking. Other economies with many delightful variations for serving the main dish will be discussed at the meeting. A representative of Armour & Co. will assist Miss Gifford with the demonstration. He will cut from the side of beef, lamb or veal those pieces most frequently demanded by the average purchaser of meat and will show the favorite cuts for a pot roast, a stuffed or rolled roast, a broiled grill or a good old-fashioned stew. "Every cut from a whole side of beef has a definite place in the family menus," says Miss Gifford, "and we will be glad to show them to the folks of Monmouth county and tell how they may be used in the daily fare."

Every homemaker interested in keeping food costs within the bounds of her budget and at the same time serving attractive and appetizing meals is invited to come and bring friends to this meat-cutting demonstration. It is held as part of the educational program of the extension service which is supported by the Monmouth county board of freeholders, the U. S. Department of Agriculture and Rutgers university.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN'S MEETING

Literature Department at Home of Mrs. Arthur Gibb.

Mrs. Arthur Gibb, chairman of the literature department of the Monmouth county branch of the American Association of University Women, held the first meeting of this department at her home in Buttonwood lane, Rumson, last week. Plans for the year were discussed. It was decided to use "Recent Continental Literature" by Amenda M. Ellis as a source book. French fiction will be the subject of discussion at the next meeting to be held November 1. Those present at the meeting were Mrs. John Ballentine of Rumson, Mrs. Milton Vreeland and Mrs. Carl Feldman of Little Silver and Mrs. Arthur J. White, Mrs. John L. Montgomery and Miss Katharine Foster of Red Bank.

HAZLET CLUB REORGANIZED

Forestry Club Elects Officers at Meeting Held Last Week.

The reorganization meeting of the Hazlet Forestry club was held Wednesday of last week when the club met in the Hazlet school. Walter Dean, past president of the club, acted as chairman of the elections. He appointed Audrey Shown and Ralph Dean as tellers and Anna Mae Warnock to act as secretary of the elections. The election resulted as follows:

President—Walter Dean.
Vice president—Anna Mae Warnock.
Secretary—Ursula Sollanek.
Treasurer—Ralph Dean.
Reporter—Audrey Shown.

Officers were installed by the county club agent after which they assumed their responsibilities. The club agent suggested to the members that they work individually or in groups on the construction of miniature gardens in window greenhouses. Many types were described and the material that can be obtained for them was discussed. By the next meeting of the club, which will be November 3, all members are to have selected their forestry activity for the year.

Rowdyism in the Public Schools.

What price education? The disgraceful conduct of student mobs in several places in the northern part of the state following football games has made a mockery of the name of education. News reports tell how several hundred students in a victory parade in Caldwell snake-danced through the streets, stopped traffic and smashed street lights. A group knocked over shelves in a market and threw vegetables about promiscuously. When one of the mob was arrested and taken to police headquarters the unruly gang stormed the building. The same day following a football game between Rahway and Linden high schools, pupils of both schools met in the heart of Rahway's business section and staged a battle with rotten eggs and vegetables. In Bloomfield a few days ago windows in the high school building were broken during a post-game celebration.

School and municipal authorities should see to it that those guilty of these acts are punished. Not to do so is to condone the students' outrageous conduct. There is no denfense for such destruction of property and utter disregard for the rights of others. It's quite natural for young folks to give vent to their enthusiasm and joy following a football victory. No one wants to deny them their fun, but the demonstration should be confined to an open field, where the pupils can shout and "whoop it up" to their heart's content. Then they will not interfere with others. A crowded thoroughfare is not the place for a celebration of this sort. It impedes traffic and hurts business. Fortunately Red Bank has had no such disgraceful scenes as cited above, but noisy groups have invaded the business section after the games. They should be told beforehand to keep away, especially on Saturdays.

A lot is heard today in schools about character building. If the subject is covered thoroughly surely the pupils must hear of obedience to authority and respect for property rights. The actions of student football fans, not of a few but several hundred, makes one wonder what progress, if any, has been made in character training. If such demonstrations are allowed to continue unheeded it would be just as well to abolish this phase of education.

John Q. Citizen pays dearly for education today. It takes a large slice of the tax dollar and even educators are becoming alarmed at the steady increase in the cost. While the average taxpayer may be critical of other governmental expenditures, it is characteristic of him to lean backwards a little before criticizing the cost of education. However, he expects pupils to act like gentlemen as well as learn the three R's. Having deprived himself of many things to pay taxes to support the schools he has just cause to complain when students act like hoodlums. There is much ado today in the public press about foreign "isms" in the schools. Some educators appear greatly alarmed over these "isms" from without. But there are "isms" from within which should be feared more than those from without. One of these is "rowdyism," a home-grown product. It has no place in our schools and the sooner it is stamped out the better it will be for all concerned.

A Worthy Cause and an Enjoyable Evening.

The people of Atlantic township have often given proof of being good neighbors but perhaps never more so than by the community party which they have arranged to hold at the Colt's Neck school house tomorrow night for the benefit of Mrs. Harold Gunther, who is at Fitkin Memorial hospital with numerous injuries and with the lower part of her body paralysed. The cause is such a worthy one that it well might receive the patronage of people with philanthropic characteristics who live in other communities.

Mrs. Gunther was hurt as the result of an automobile accident about three weeks ago in which she was not at fault. Is is feared that she will be a cripple the rest of her life, and in any event her injuries are such that she will require long and expensive treatment. Mr. and Mrs. Gunther are a young hard-working couple who recently bought a residence at Colt's Neck. They have been very active in community and church affairs and there is much sympathy for them because of their troubles.

There are other besides altruistic reasons why the party should be largely attended. Prizes will be awarded to the winners of games, refreshments will be served and three automobile fog lamps will be disposed of on the co-operative plan. Atlantic township is noted for showing everybody a good time at community parties and here is a chance for enjoyment as well as to do a bit of philanthropy. Those directing the event have made elaborate preparations and they are hopeful that the profits of the party, together with donations, will amount to $500 or more.

Specific and Forthright Declaration of Principles.

The Democratic candidates for Monmouth county offices failed to get their six-plank platform adopted at the party state convention at Trenton last week, but they are probably none the worse off on this account. They are asking for votes on this platform and, after all, what difference does it make whether it coincides with the state platform or not?

This campaign marks the first time in the politics of Monmouth that the candidates of either party have united in adopting a county platform. In the past the nominees of both parties have not gone beyond the purview of the state platforms, which invariably have been mealy-mouthed glittering generalities promising much but delivering nothing. The state platforms of both parties, taken at face value, might make one think that this state would become a paradise. Both promise lower taxes, better government and many other things, but they do not go into details as to how this is to be done. That these promises have not been kept is too well known to relate.

Whatever elsé may be said about the platform of the Democratic candidates of Monmouth, it is definite and forthright. It is not of the same wishy-washy, colorless, drab stuff that both parties have issued. Among other things it demands that voting machines be made compulsory; that gasoline tax money be used entirely for the improvement of roads and that a county-wide system of vocational schools be maintained by federal funds.

The horse racing amendment, as well as many other questions of large public interest are avoided, but the Monmouth county Democratic party pledges are so far in advance of both the Democratic and Republican state platforms as to bear no comparison. Although the platform falls short of covering all the issues in which citizens are interested, it does a better job than either of the parties in their state platforms and also a better job than either Senator A. Harry Moore or Rev. Lester H. Clee, rival candidates for governor, have done so far. Both nominees have let loose floods of silver-tongued oratory, but it sounds like the same old stuff without any real promise of lower taxes or better government. Thus far the campaign has not shown any difference between the gubernatorial candidates except that they wear different labels.

Maybe, something will happen to change this before Tuesday, November 2, but if it does the gubernatorial candidates will have to pursue different tactics. They are dodging, ducking and evading all real issues and relying on honey-coated gab to win votes. Perhaps that is good politics, but nevertheless there are still a lot of old-fashioned voters who prefer unconditional promises which leave no room for doubt as to what they are voting for.

The Good, Old Monmouth County Fair May Come Back.

Harry S. Gould, president of the Freehold Racing association, predicts a Monmouth county fair at Freehold next year. He has not gone into details to explain why he thinks this is going to happen, but it is logical to suppose that he is impressed by the fact that by popular demand, in connection with the annual trotting races to be held Friday and Saturday, October 15 and 16, there will be an exhibition of farm products, sponsored by Pomona grange of Monmouth county, and an automobile show.

The two-day event will approach the dimensions of a county fair. Trotting races are the chief attractions of fairs and with exhibitions of crops and automobiles added there is not so much more to be acquired to constitute a first-class, old-fashioned county fair. A nostalgia for such attractions seems to be sweeping over the country, judging by the increased attendances at county fairs this fall.

In the old horse and buggy days the annual fair at Freehold was a magnet of popularity. It was discontinued about fifty years ago to be followed by the fairs of the Monmouth County Fair association on Shrewsbury avenue, near Red Bank, and later at Minnesink Park, in Middletown township. The horse was glorified beyond everything else at the county fair and probably the principal reason why such events lost appeal was because of the growing popularity of motor travel. Moving pictures, radio entertainments and various other machine age accomplishments undoubtedly had a large effect in drawing patronage away from county fairs.

But indications are growing that the order is being reversed. Automobiling is daily becoming more dangerous and those who seek pleasure and recreation are more and more looking to safer means. The horse and the county fair entice them. Aside from this, the county fair with its spirit of neighborliness is a grand old institution. It is gratifying to note that it has apparently survived the machine age and shows signs of "coming back."

The Great Race Meet on the Haskell Estate.

No calendar of events in this section would be complete without mention of the race meet to be held Saturday, October 16, on the Woodland estate of Amory L. Haskell in Middletown township by the Monmouth County Hunt club association. In this sporty Monmouth county where the horse is being increasingly glorified, the meet has won a distinctive place as a red letter attraction.

One of its chief purposes is to show appreciation to the farmers over whose lands the members of the association hold drag hunts. The farmers and their families are admitted to the races free of charge and the wealthy feminine members of the association vie with each other in serving them and in other ways looking after their comfort and convenience at a sumptuous dinner under a tent.

The weather man has been gracious on most of these occasions and here's hoping that the same will be true at the coming meet. The members of the association are a fine group of sportsmen with a record of hospitality that has earned for them the good will of the entire countryside. Whatever damage occurs on the properties where they hold hunts is always amply paid for and so well has their reputation in this respect been established that there is probably not a farmer in the whole county who would say no to any request they might make for a hunting privilege. The meet is resplendent with riding habits, smart, fashionable attire, dashing steeds and gay music, but exceeding everything else in beauty is the oval natural ampitheater fringed with trees crowned with autumnal glory. Of all the attractions that come here none is more worthy of appreciation than this great race meet.

Horse Racing as an Election Issue.

The announcement of Benjamin L. Atwater, a lifelong Republican and former tax collector of Red Bank, that he will support A. Harry Moore for governor is indicative that Rev. Lester H. Clee is going to be cut by a great many members of his party who favor horse racing under a pari-mutuel system of betting.

Mr. Atwater is secretary of the Monmouth county horse racing amendment association. Most of its members are Republicans and not so outspoken as he is, but when a Republican of such long standing goes off the party reservation, who can doubt that many of the same political faith who want racing restored will follow suit?

Senator Moore seems to have all the best of the situation. He has not come out in favor of racing, but when he was governor he did not oppose it and this is apparently satisfactory to the horse racing interests. They are hot for him and up to the present time he has lost little of the church vote which has been aligned with him in the past. Imperiling his chances more than anything else is the resentment felt by New Deal Democrats because he voted against some of the major measures advocated by President Roosevelt and his opposition to various bills advocated by labor unions.

So far as horse racing goes, indications are lacking that it will be a red hot issue except perhaps in Monmouth and Atlantic counties, in both of which places it is most likely that tracks would be established in the event that the sport is legalized. Last week Bennett E. Tousley of Atlantic City, president of the Horse Racing Amendment association, issued a statement declaring that "the Republican state convention has made Democrats out of a lot of good Republican voters by rejecting a plank favoring pari-mutuel horse racing."

Thus far the candidates of both parties in Monmouth county have not stated their stand on this question. This is not as it should be. The nominees should be put on record for or against so that the voters will be fully informed.

SAVING LIVES

Simple, everyday accidents in the home and on the farm took 35,000 lives last year, according to Labert St. Clair, who says two precautions would reduce this death toll very much.

First, better lighting on dark stairways and places where people may stumble or hit things and, secondly, the floors should be "tidied up" by removing toys, straightening rugs and placing objects against the wall, out of the way of people.

These are simple suggestions but they might save lives everywhere if they are taken seriously.

Editorial Views

War Is Not Parades.

It is of no use to ask the significance of bright colors in flags and uniforms; of those spinal sensations that arise when the drums begin to roll and the drum major shakes his tasseled baton and the merry rhythmic tooting and booming of the brasses set the pulse to throbbing; of the mad desire to get into the parade that seizes almost every one of us, of whatever age, of whatever political belief or station in life. These reactions are deep. They may go back to the days when the tribal drums boomed in the jungles and the young men of the tribes danced singing around the fire. They are synchronized to the beating of our hearts. They are primitive. Even the confirmed pacifist, ready to go to prison or before the firing squad for his faith cannot root them out. Half of him, at any rate—the irrational half, out of which come mobs and poetry and music, and the glory and splendor and fathomless tragedy of human life, responds to them.

Yet let the pacifist be comforted. These emotions, ranging from the purely visceral to something that can be called spiritual, are not war. They have merely been, over and over again, exploited by war-makers. John Wesley refused to let the devil have all the good tunes—example followed later by Moody and Sankey, the Salvation Army and other militant religionists. In the same way we can refuse to let the devil have all the thrills of a grand parade.

As every front line fighter knows, war is not parades. War is weary men, plodding in the rain toward a rendezvous with wounds and death. War is the artillery grumbling in the distance, coming nearer, dropping shells into the marching column; war is the machine gun singing its wild music, making widows and orphans with mechanical faolility. . . . And in these latter days war is more than this: it is the slaying of women and children; it is the bombing airplane hovering over unarmed cities; it is the airplane swooping low to spray huddled refugees with bullets. War was hell in Sherman's time. It is the deepest level of the inferno now.

Yes, let us have parades. Let the drums beat and the bugles blow, let the bands strike up. But let them be dedicated, as somehow one feels that yesterday's (American Legion parade) was, deep down, not announced on the program, but felt in a multitude of hearts, to peace, to democracy, to the dream to which this nation, under God, is committed, of the brotherhood of man. Abraham Lincoln gave words to that dream in 1863, Woodrow Wilson in 1917. It is not dead. We can still march to the throb of its music, the lilt of its hope for humanity.—New York Times.

The Windsors.

It was inevitable that she should want to show off her newest acquisition to her American friends. So we are to entertain the Duke and Duchess of Windsor. We shall try to make them welcome and be kind to them, for they are rather pathetic persons.

The duke can well afford to travel and to array his bride in the best to be had from the Paris dressmakers. His income between $275,000 and $285,000 a year, is enough surely even for their lofty living standards.

But none will envy him for his bride or his wealth. He is the modern Man Without a Country. Not only does his homeland keep him in exile, but for reasons satisfactory to itself decides where else he may not go.

One wonders whether he is happy and whether private life has compensations for the majestic title and arduous responsibilities which he surrendered ton months ago.

Men who are heavy laden yearn for the day when cares may be cast aside. Bitter disillusionment is too often the only fruit of retirement. Home from the wars, they realize there is happiness for most only in activity and achievement. With all its new leisure the modern generations are less serene than their fathers, who worked from dawn to dusk.

Windsor, pottering about with housing and other sociological problems, is thought by some to be an astute politician building himself up for a return to public life. It is improbable. The truth more likely is that an exceedingly bored middle-aged man is trying desperately to stifle his yawns.—Newark Sunday Call.

Mahoney's Red Scare.

To listen to Mr. Mahoney, one would think that the city was in the grip of a Red revolution, with the police tied hand and foot while Communistic strikers ran riot, destroying property and driving industry away, and with the relief organization insisting on a test of Marxian orthodoxy before accepting a beneficiary. Such libelous nonsense is, of course, simply a measure of his desperation, not to mention his jealousy. Mr. LaGuardia has attracted the support of labor, radical and conservative, employed and unemployed. . . .

New Yorkers need no reminder that their city, during the whole epidemic of industrial strife, has been singularly free from disorder—that the policy pursued by the Police Department (as just enunciated again by Commissioner Valentine) has brought it a degree of immunity from lawlessness and violence which is the envy of other great communities. They know that Mr. Mahoney's picture of a "city of strife, a haven for Red agitators, destroying property and violating the laws of our great city and state" is sheer buncombe on its face. They know now, too, that his statement concerning the city's loss of industries is as false as his general indictment. . . .

As for the conduct of relief, we can hardly add to the assurance of Miss Charlotte Carr, former executive director of the E. R. B. and now head of Hull House in Chicago, that the Mahoney charges are not only ridiculous but harmful. It is easy, as she said, to prove that "in the administration of Fiorello LaGuardia relief and politics are wholly separate," that the mayor, far from stimulating in relief beneficiaries the radical sentiments prouting from insecurity and hunger, had done much to allay them by improving relief standards. She feared, however, that "if the 450,000 persons on relief are to be tagged as Communists those who go out in quest of private jobs, who seek to restore themselves to self-support, will find no places open for them." Imagine a man who would be mayor risking the creation of this tragic prejudice in a cheap bid for the office!—New York Herald Tribune.

After Seventy Years.

When the surviving members of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Confederate Veterans meet on the battlefield of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, next summer, the last trace of sectional hatred will be wiped out.

It will be a reunion that has been hoped for, and prayed for, over half a century.

And it is more than fitting that these enemies of years' standing will be united at Gettysburg, where the Confederacy made its last stand. Here the tide of the Civil war was turned. Here again the tide will be turned next summer. Love will supplant hatred . . . These men will have realized something that thousands of their former comrades dreamed of—the cementing of the ties that were sundered on the battlefields more than seventy years ago.—Santa Ana (Calif.) A LETTER ABOUT CLEE.

Newark Sunday Call Writer Claims Precedence Over "As I See It."

In his column, "As I See It," on September 30th, William A. Sweeney claimed to be one of the original Clee men of the state because of the fact that he had discussed the possibility of his candidacy last December. In response to his article Mr. Sweeney has received the following communication:

The Newark Sunday Call,
Newark, N. J.
Editorial Rooms
October 2, 1937.

Mr. William A. Sweeney,
Red Bank Register,
Red Bank, N. J.

Dear Mr. Sweeney:

Anent your column in The Register of September 30:

Carteret discussed Clee as gubernatorial timber in the Sunday Call on several occasions during the spring of 1936. I would get out the clippings, if I were not so lazy. However, I have run across a clipping of July 5, 1936, which I believe is worth recalling, for in an article in the Sunday Call that day I not only discussed Clee's candidacy, but predicted that Senator Powell would be his opponent in the primary contest.

The article I refer to described a "secret" conference held in this city. I reported that the affair "was conducted very quietly, but it's said that the party really marked the start of Clee's boom for the Gubernatorial nomination."

Another line from the same story: "There have been enough kudos from Lloyd B. Marsh, Passaic county Republican leader, and other influential Republicans in that county to indicate Clee may obtain some important support there."

Discussing the field work for Clee planned in several counties, I got around to Burlington, which, I remarked, "happens to be the home county of Senator Powell, Clee's probable opponent for the nomination."

Actually, the Clee-for-governor talk was started soon after his election to the assembly in 1934. It grew louder the next year when he climbed to the senate. From the start of his political career, Senator Clee has been regarded by a sizable segment of his following as a man of destiny. They have had him charted, from assembly to White House, and when former Governor Stokes "nominated" him for the presidency in 1940 at the Republican State Committee Convention last week, he was repeating what he heard in Newark long ago. It all sounds fantastic, but thus far the parlay has held up. If he can clear the Moore hurdle next month, it will be time to talk seriously about "another Woodrow Wilson."

However, I am digressing. Whether Clee or Moore wins on November 2 is not for us to worry about. The point is, that the Sunday Call discussed Clee as a gubernatorial candidate long before December, 1936.

Any prize?

Always sincerely,
Carteret.

I am glad to "yield the palm" as a Clee booster to Carteret. It is barely possible that I absorbed the Clee idea from "Carteret," having read the Newark Sunday Call religiously for many years. I recall the story of a bully who said he could lick any man in his state. Someone took him up and knocked him cold. When he was able to arise to his feet the bully shook his head a bit and said, "I guess I took in too much territory." Perhaps when I made claim to being one of the original Clee men of the state I took in too much territory. I ought to have said Monmouth county, or Red Bank, to be on the safe side. Anyway, I'm for Clee. But as I write this I am about to depart for a new field of labor, Ocean county, where I understand politics is taboo.

William A. Sweeney.

WE'RE DOING OUR PART.

Letter of Appreciation From County Health Committee.

Monmouth County Organization for Social Service
John L. Montgomery, Executive Sec.
181 Pearl Street,
Red Bank, New Jersey.
October 6, 1937.

Mr. Thomas Irving Brown,
The Red Bank Register,
Broad Street, Red Bank, N. J.
My dear Mr. Brown:

At a regular meeting of the Health Committee of the above organization held in Red Bank this week, the subject of publicity in reference to Venereal Disease Control was discussed at some length and I was asked to write the appreciation of the above Committee to you for the splendid publicity which you have given from time to time in The Register to this subject.

The Health Committee is representative of health and welfare organizations all over Monmouth county and its members are well qualified to judge the impression made by your articles, which seemed to be universally good.

May we thank you for your part in the campaign for the prevention and cure of the Venereal diseases.

Very sincerely yours,
Monmouth County Social Service,
Evelyn T. Walker,
Secretary Health and Welfare Committee.

GOOD WORK OF THE F. H. A.

A Letter on This Subject by Daniel H. Applegate.

Red Bank, N. J.,

The Editor of The Register.

Dear Sir:—

In one of your recent issues I read an editorial entitled "A Hard-Hearted Collector, But a Lavish Spender," and while I have no desire to take issue with your opinions, yet I feel that unless some additional facts are brought out a real harm may be done to our community in general and to some of its citizens in particular. You have severely criticised the Federal government for its various real estate activities and have laid all your complaints on the doorstep of the Federal Housing Administration where manifestly most of them do not belong. The F. H. A. has already done so much and will unquestionably continue to do so much toward promoting and maintaining our national and individual prosperity, that to cause prejudice against it in the minds of those it stands ready to help is to do them an injustice.

It has long been held that the building business is the backbone of industry and we know that industry can no more be strong and healthy without its backbone than could a man. The building business can only be active when there are ready and ample means of financing it, or in other words, plenty of mortgage money at reasonable rates. In the past that could happen only in times of credit inflation. When credit tightened up mortgage money ceased to flow freely and building slowed up. Frequently a depression ensued. There seemed to be no way out of it until the F. H. A. was created.

Mortgages, although usually made for comparatively short terms, were considered as frozen assets. Many investors were wary of them, banks were prevented from investing in them except in very limited amounts and borrowers were afraid of having their loans called at inopportune moments. Foreclosures were frequent and many foreclosed properties were offered for sale at distress prices, which further retarded new construction and upset values. Thus our greatest industry was repeatedly being choked at one end and hamstrung at the other.

To correct this basic fault in our business structure, the Federal Housing Administration was created and many of the best and most practical real estate men in the country were called upon to contribute from their broad experience to its planning. That it has proved its worth beyond question cannot be truthfully denied. Through it the government loans no money but it makes mortgage lending by others safe and attractive through insuring their loans against loss and by making their mortgage securities negotiable and hence liquid.

It operates in much the same way that a fire insurance company does in insuring against loss by fire and it has been the means of releasing huge sums of idle capital for use in building new homes and in many other lines of activity. It has made real estate as acceptable a security for loans as are stocks or bonds or other personal property and it has contributed in a very large degree to the return of prosperity. It has made it possible for banks to loan funds at profitable interest rates with perfect safety and the knowledge that their F. H. A. insured mortgages can be quickly converted into cash if necessary. It has enabled Building and Loan associations, by insuring their mortgages to offer their investors the benefit of high earning rates coupled with security akin to that of government bonds. These associations need no longer become property owners but can keep their funds fully invested in profit earning mortgages. To the borrower it offers for the first time real security coupled with low rates of repayment. No longer need he fear the calling of his mortgage at an inopportune time, nor need he seek second or third mortgages at exhorbitant rates. A single mortgage up to 80% of the value of his home, payable in monthly installments for as long as 20 years, gives him ease and security never before obtainable in this country. Is it any wonder then that the F. H. A. has helped to restore prosperity and confidence? Now you may ask "What is it costing the taxpayers to insure all these mortgages and how much has the government lost through bad loans?" The insurance costs the taxpayers little if anything. The premiums paid by the borrowers about cover the cost. As to losses, I know that in the state of New Jersey the F. H. A. has insured over ten thousand mortgages, having a total value of more than fifty million dollars, and to date it has taken over just three properties on which it will experience a total loss of less than $2,000. That is at the rate of less than $1 for each $25,000 insured.

It is the purpose of the F. H. A. to insure only those loans which it believes to be safe and so far its success has been remarkable.

You say that the F. H. A. is cracking down with a vengeance on home owners who have defaulted on the payment of notes and that it is taking action to seize the homes of hapless people who have been unable to meet their obligations. Taking three homes out of ten thousand, and at least one of them by the voluntary deed of the owner, doesn't seem like cracking down very hard. As for bringing suit on the defaulted notes, if you have never defaulted on a note, go and try it and see how quickly you will hear from the bank's attorney. In this case the government is obliged to do the collecting instead of the banks and it is merely employing its own legal organization for the same purpose that the banks employ theirs.

When the Federal Housing Administration was created it had two chief objectives. The first, which was authorized by Title 1 of the Act which created it, was intended to supply a quick stimulant to private business in the depth of the depression by inducing home owners to improve their properties and thus furnish immediate employment to thousands of idle workmen and to furnish business for building material dealers and manufacturers throughout the country. It also enabled home owners to borrow the money with which to make the improvements. These loans were made by local banks which in turn were insured by the F. H. A. against loss on them. At the time this was done, building trades mechanics were nearly 100% idle, material men and their great army of employees were either on a long holiday without pay or were earning barely enough to sustain life. The building business was dead. This first activity of the F. H. A. had a large part in reviving it. On April 1st, 1937, the insuring of improvement loans under Title 1 was discontinued. The insurance of mortgage loans under the provisions of Title 2 of the Act, as explained above, is now the sole business of the F. H. A., and it no longer insures notes.

In your editorial you mention these notes in connection with the home saving plan of the government but they had nothing to do with that. That activity was centered in the Home Owners Loan Corporation which was organized not only to save people from losing their homes but to stop the flood of distress sales of properties. Unless that were checked it was known that the recovery of real estate values would be long deferred and that the start of new construction would be much delayed. That some persons deliberately sold out to the government under this plan could not be helped. The important thing was to keep their properties out of an already overloaded market. That many of them are still held out of the market by keeping up the prices is much to the credit of the government. Everyone's property is worth more today because of it and much new building has resulted from it. The sight of a vacant house and a weed grown yard here and there can be better endured if the reason for it is understood. These properties will be sold gradually as the market can absorb them without lowering prices.

As for the Resettlement Administration project at Hightstown, I understand it is purely an experiment in slum clearance for the large cities. Experimental production is usually much more costly than subsequent regular production and it is not surprising that this project is reported so. However, it should not be confused with the F. H. A., for the latter has nothing whatever to do with it.

If some of the people of our community should be discouraged from seeking the benefits of F. H. A. insured mortgages through getting a false impression of its purposes and methods it would be unfortunate for them and for our mechanics and merchants as well. It is in the hope of preventing this that I have written at this length.

Yours very truly,
D. H. Applegate.

Hospital Auxiliary Meets at Fair Haven

The last seasonal meeting of the Avenue of Two Rivers auxiliary of Monmouth Memorial hospital was held Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. Andrew V. Stout of Navesink River road.

Mrs. Stout, chairman of the auxiliary, presided. It was announced that the group turned in $1,000 made during the past summer. The money will be used to purchase supplies and equipment for the hospital. Among the activities to raise the money was an Old Country Fair on Bertram H. Borden's estate, Rumson.

Those attending were Mrs. Elliott Coleman, treasurer; Mrs. Stanton Whitney, secretary; Mrs. J. Lewis Hay, Mrs. J. Prentice Kellogg, Mrs. J. Marshall Booker, Mrs. Frank B. Hurd, Mrs. Otto Goetze, Mrs. George Dwight, Mrs. Edward Heller, Mrs. Harris B. Fisher, Jr., Mrs. E. D. Lentilhon and Mrs. W. W. Gamwell.

PUBLIC WORKS.

A Letter on This Subject by George White of Wayside.

Wayside, N. J.,

Editor, Register:

Somebody asked Norman Thomas recently what he thought of the Tennessee Valley power project, as planned by the Federal government, and Mr. Thomas appears to have said the project was worthy of Socialist support but would be counteracted by the fact that the benefits of low-cost utility supplies would accrue finally to those interested in private ownership of adjoining territory.

There is sound foundation for that idea and yet it may be noted the so-called private ownership of land areas is not necessarily so complete as to exclude the possibility of public appropriation, by some means or other, of much of the annual value which by natural law arise where important public improvements are made. Land titles are titles to exclusive possession but there are certain legal reservations that may at any time be acted upon by State and Federal authorities.

Our President and congress have apparently proceeded with TVA plans on the assumption that it has been enough to plan for effective utility service at the lowest cost, leaving for the future to decide how methods of taxation or assessment may prevent private appropriation of much of the values brought into existence as sequent to public enterprise.

The same suggestion can be made regarding the investments which are proposed as the means of furnishing employment in public work planning and construction. We may yet come to the place where we can apply a "simple, sovereign remedy for recurring business depressions and widespread want amid abundance of opportunities—one that will raise wages, increase the earnings of capital, extirpate pauperism, abolish poverty, give remunerative employment to whoever wishes it, afford full scope to human powers, lessen crime, elevate morals and taste and intelligence, purify government and carry civilization to yet nobler heights."

THE THIRD GENERATION.

Father, Son and Now Grandson Have Sold The Register.

Among the small army of Register newsboys there is one that has the distinction of being the third generation of his family who has been a Register newsie. He is Frank Kuhl, Jr., of Wallace street.

Frankie started a few weeks ago taking out five copies each issue. He has increased his weekly take to 15 and if he is a chip off the old block he will eventually increase his sales so that he will be at the top of the list.

It was at the top of the list that his father, now an employee with the Boro Bus company, stood in The Register newsboy family for a long time and no matter what the weather, Frankie of a generation ago was on the job same as his son is today, delivering Red Bank's favorite home newspaper to eagerly awaiting families.

The third generation baok in this trio is little Frankie's grandfather, George P. Kuhl, who was a Register newsboy years ago when the paper was published by the late John H. Cook.

In talking with the present publisher of The Register a few days ago the elder Mr. Kuhl said that he was very proud of the fact that his grandson was carrying on the tradition of the family by getting his commercial start, as many great men have done, by selling newspapers and that he was also glad to know that little Frankie was advancing himself so rapidly among the group of Register newsboys.

Ruinously Cheap Prices Bring Woe to Farmer

section has been greatly changed by the sale of a large number of farms to wealthy city residents for country estates. Most of these newcomers do not engage in farming along the same lines as the average tiller of the soil. Many of them engage in raising beef cattle and horses and devote large areas to pasturage and grain crops. Almost without exception they have spent large sums for new buildings or improvements and in most instances they have more employees than the average farmer.

Also as a rule they pay better wages but this is regarded in some quarters with disfavor because it increases the difficulties of farmers in hiring hands. However, for the most part the countryside is pleased with the newcomers and regard their presence as an agency making for prosperity. They have in many instances paid back taxes on the properties they bought and the financial status of a considerable number of inland municipalities has improved on this account. Also some of them have been very generous in making public-spirited gifts for the welfare of villages in proximity to their estates.

Rural conditions have been affected in diversified ways by the influx of these wealthy buyers of farms. For example, several rural communities roundabout Red Bank have a smaller enrollment of pupils. This is explained by the fact that the country estate owners on the average have fewer children than the farmers whose places they bought and also by the fact that most of their children attend private schools. For another thing, political conditions have apparently been altered. The newcomers seem to be preponderantly Republican, as is shown by the fact that a number of inland municipalities which had been rock-ribbed Democratic strongholds in bygone times went Republican last year despite the fact that the greatest Democratic landslide in national history took place.

Atlantic township has gained more country estate owners than any other community hereabouts. The Freehold-Eatontown county road has come to be regarded as a "second Rumson road" because of the large number of wealthy persons whose homes are located on it. Incidentially, Atlantic township's school enrollment has shown sharp decreases the past three years, and last year the township went Republican for the first time in many years.

At the request of The Register, Walter D. Fields, the township tax collector, made a compilation of the farms which had been sold for country estates the past twelve years. He found that there had been 36 sales and that 3,769 acres had changed hands in those transactions. The largest owner is William H. LaBoyteaux with 700 acres. The second largest is Frederick J. Burghard, with his Big Brook pheasant farm at Vanderburg, of which C. S. Conover is superintendent.

Holmdel township ranks next to Atlantic township in having numerous country estates. Alex L. McClees, assessor of Holmdel township, estimates that approximately 2,000 acres have been sold for such purposes during the past few years, which is almost one-fifth of the total area of the municipality. Holmdel township comprises 11,316 85-100 acres, according to Mr. McClees. No one who knows the assessor will dispute this figure, for there isn't anyone who knows more about Holmdel township than he does.

Middletown and Shrewsbury townships have gained a number of country estates as a result of farms having been bought by wealthy city people but not to the same extent as Atlantic and Holmdel townships. Marlboro township also numbers several property owners of this sort in its population, especially near the Holmdel border line. Shrewsbury, Little Silver, Eatontown and Oceanport boroughs also have sizable percentages of such property owners.

TO ADDRESS ROTARIANS.

Dr. Charles Graves of Freehold to Speak Here Today.

Dr. Charles G. Graves of Freehold, a popular member of the Freehold Rotary club, will be the guest speaker at today's meeting of the Red Bank Rotary club.

His talk will be on "Down the Shenandoah Valley by Motor." It is an interesting account of an adventure with two boys and which shows how very easily what may appear to be commonplace occurrences turn into adventures and interesting experiences, depending upon the optimism of one's viewpoint.

The talk on postage stamps given before the local club last Thursday by Thomas Irving Brown, past president of the club, and one of the foremost collectors in this vicinity, was well received. Mr. Brown exhibited a number of framed specimens as well as several pre-stamp covers bearing early Monmouth county cancellations, such as Turkey, Riceville, Middletown Point, Squan Village, etc., on which the postmaster wrote the name of his village as well as his own signature to show that the postage had been prepaid. These were mailed before the United States issued regular postage stamps.

First Fall Meeting of D. A. R. October 22

The first fall meeting of Monmouth chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be held Friday, October 22, at Halford, the home of Mrs. J. Halsey S. Reed of Cranbury.

Reports of meetings of the executive board, at which plans for fall activities were discussed, will be presented. Reports on the Herald-Tribune forum, attended by Mrs. Theodore Parmly, senior president of the Mary Stillwell chapter, Children of the American Revolution, Mrs. Albert Leahdler and Mrs. William A. Baker, president general of the Monmouth chapter, will also be given.

Has Held Office Quarter Of Century

Joseph L. Donahay Seeking His Sixth Term as Surrogate—Is New Jersey's Senior Surrogate.

The years have brought many changes since Joseph L. Donahay stepped into his office as Surrogate of Monmouth county. A World war has been won and lost, depressions have come and gone, the political situation has changed and changed again and old faces about the courthouse at Frrhold are, with only one or two notable exceptions, missing.

JOSEPH L. DONAHAY

Surrogate Donahay last April observed 25 years in the same office. These 25 years cover five terms during which his majorities have mounted steadily from 2,014 votes in November of 1912 when he first stood for election, to 9,637 when he was returned to office in the autumn campaign of 1932.

Monmouth, like most counties has been kind to the occupants of this office for she has had but five surrogates in the long history of the office as an elective position in the county government. Donahay was first elected surrogate in 1912 and has held office continuously ever since. His certificates of election have been signed by President Woodrow Wilson, when he was governor, Governors Walter E. Edge, George S. Silzer and A. Harry Moore, now Senior United States Senator from New Jersey.

Standing again as a candidate for re-election he has adopted the slogan, "thoroughly effective administration at the lowest possible expense." This has been the same slogan he has used in past campaigns. Seven years ago he abolished the office of deputy surrogate and has conducted his office during that period of time without a deputy, which enables a saving of several thousands of dollars annually to the county.

Today Joseph L. Donahay stands as the senior surrogate of the state. Lawyers and others who have occassion to transact business with him have endorsed the highly efficient manner in which this important county office has been conducted. Lawyers of both major political parties have affixed their names to a blanket form of endorsement for the efficient and courteous manner in which this important office is conducted.

By keeping down the expense of his office Surrogate Donahay has been able to turn over to the board of freeholders between eighteen and twenty thousand dollars annually and these amounts have run up to tandard during the depression years.

Holmdel.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Reformed church met at the home of Mrs. Paul Reid Tuesday, with Mrs. Reid as hostess and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Conover, as assistant hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel S. Ely returned home Sunday from a stay of a week in Vermont. While there Mr. Ely bought potatoes for planting next spring on the farm of the William C. Ely estate. He had such successful results from Chippewa potatoes, a new variety, on an acre field that he expects to use them extensively next season. They are larger than Green Mountains and Cobblers and not quite as big as the old-fashioned Giants. Mr. Ely has passed out quite a few samples to his friends here and elsewhere, and all who have tried the Chippewas agree that they are palatable.

Services of the Holmdel church will be held at the Baptist sanctuary. The Sunday-school will meet at 9:45 a. m. under the leadership of Mrs. Jonathan I. Holmes, the superintendent. At the church service at 11 o'clock Rev. Marshall Hatrington will preach on "Your Best Possible Self."

Joseph Kinhafer, Wilson Conover and Forman Stuphin attended the fair at York, Pa., last Thursday.

Rev. and Mrs. Marshall Harrington, Mrs. Charlotte Thorne nd Mrs. William S. Pitcher attended the Monmouth Baptist association meeting at the Lakewood Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Voorhees, Mr. and Mrs. Forman Sutphin, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. John S. Holmes spent Sunday at Bordentown.

The Baptist Ladies' Aid society has plans well under way for the cafeteria election day luncheon which will be served Tuesday, November 2.

Mrs. George Boyce, Jr., of Matawan spent Monday as the guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Carleton Kinhafer.

It is expected that Holmdel will be largely represented at the meeting of the Classis of Monmouth to be held Tuesday at the Reformed church at Marlboro.

Charles Bennett, Jr., and Asher Schanck spent two days last week at Boston.

A meeting of the congregational committee of the Holmdel church will be held Thursday evening, October 21.

New books are expected at the public library soon. Mrs. Marshall Longstreet, the librarian, is receiving application for books which users of the library wish to read.

Payments to Bank Ordered Reduced

Max Phillips is under Federal Court order to pay $150 a month—a reduction of $100 monthly—on his assessment in connection with the failure of the Bank of the United States, New York.

Federal Judge Guy L. Fake directed the reduction yesterday after Milton M. Unger, Phillips' counsel, said his client was being sued for $25,000 in back alimony in New York Federal court by heirs of his first wife.

Phillips' salary as executive of a shirt manufacturing company was reduced from $22,000 to $18,000, Unger said, adding that from this sum he must meet the cost of entertaining prospective customers. In addition Phillips only "breaks even" in operation of polo grounds and a farm near Eatontown, the lawyer said.

Carl S. Kuebler, counsel to the bank receiver, said it had been brought out at a previous hearing that Phillips, prior to 1929, sold 10,000 shares of certain stock for $600,000. When efforts were made to ascertain what became of the proceeds, Kuebler reported, Phillips said he used part in repaying loans and the balance in legal costs in connection with proceedings against stockholders of the bank.

Poor, poor Willie!

● He's taking it, and not on the chin, either. It seems there was a difference of opinion about Willie's taking a bath. Pa won .... Willie will take the darn ol' bath .... but there's hatred in his heart.

Will you give Willie credit for being at least partly in the right? He knew the water would be lukewarm and uncomfortable. If Willie's pa would try automatic gas water heating for 60 days, he'd find Willie easier to handle, and his own temper a shade better.

Happenings of 50 and 25 Years Ago Culled From The News and Editorial Columns for Entertainment of Today's Readers.

Fifty Years Ago.

There was a possibility that Red Bank would have electric lights before the holidays. William A. Giles, a representative of the American Electric Light company, was endeavoring to organize a local company with $15,200 capital. Daniel H. Applegate, local attorney, and John H. Cook, local publisher, were foremost in the proposition.

William Farren of New York, a guest at the home of Mrs. William Hance of Scobeyville, sustained a badly injured arm when a rail broke upon which he was sitting, throwing him heavily to the ground.

The business men of Keyport held a public meeting for the purpose of organizing a board of trade and to induce manufacturers to locate in the town.

The Port Monmouth Gun club was reorganized. Elwood Seeley was elected president, William C. Meyers secretary and T. S. Walling treasurer.

The body of John Clancey, son of James Clancey of Tinton Falls, was brought home from Baltimore, where he was killed without provocation while sitting in a chair.

Oscar Hesse, William Cullington, William A. French, William A. Cole and John J. Antonides were elected members of the board of directors of the Consumers Ice company. A dividend of 20 per cent on the capital stock of the company was declared.

The old but popular play, "East Lynne," was scheduled to be given at the Red Bank Opera house. Miss Ada Gray was to appear in the leading role.

Charles VanBrunt, Jr., was elected president and R. J. VanBrunt secretary of the Democratic club of Long Branch.

Edwin Beekman was appointed superintendent of the ornamental department of the Rumsen Nurseries.

Joseph Gardner was honorably discharged from the United States Navy and returned to Red Bank to make his permanent home.

Rev. and Mrs. J. F. Hellenman entertained over 100 guests at a sociable at Grace church parsonage. A literary and vocal entertainment was rendered. Those who took part were Carrie King, Annie Chadwick and Lida King.

Miss Annie Kuhl entertained a group of members of the Young Women's Christian Temperance union at her home.

The only bill presented for payment to the board of commissioners of Red Bank for the past month was that of S. H. Bedell for $25 for one months salary as town lamp lighter.

A gypsy encampment was in the woods owned by Mrs. William M. Smith of Middletown township. In the group were fortune tellers and trick performers. Women patrons were charged only half as much as men patrons for a look into the future.

Miss Eva Force of Keyport and John H. Kollock, Jr., of Brooklyn were married at the home of the bride's father, Captain William L. Force.

Miss Irene Conover, daughter of Schanck Conover of Little Silver, and Nelson M. Brown, train dispatcher at Long Branch, were on their wedding trip to Washington.

A new time-table went into effect whereby three trains were to be operated daily between Red Bank and Atlantic Highlands and operated so that there would be little time elapse between the arrival of the trains at Atlantic Highlands and the New York boat.

Shrewsbury river oysters were having a ready sale in New York markets. John McClees, besides supplying a large New York trade, was making large shipments to Philadelphia by way of the Pennsylvania railroad.

William T. Franklin was awarded the contract for lighting and keeping in order the street lamps in Atlantic Highlands for a period of six months.

John T. Newman, well known harness maker of Atlantic Highlands, moved to Manasquan.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Mount of Chapel Hill were arranging to celebrate the 15th anniversary of their marriage.

B. L. Conover of Middletown township was making large shipments of poles to the Western Union Telegraph company at Harlem, New York.

The Sea Bright Sentinel published an item which was republished in The Register to the effect that water rents were too high in Sea Bright and that beer was cheaper and more plentiful in Sea Bright than the Long Branch water which was being supplied in that district.

Richard Applegate Carhart, a life long resident of Raritan township, died in his 64th year. His principal occupation was that of a commission merchant.

Mrs. Katie Kloppman was found dead in bed in her home on Spring street. She was a widow and her young daughter roomed with her. When the child got up in the morning she found her mother had passed away in her sleep.

Jessie Foster entertained a group of young friends at her home on Broad street in celebration of her ninth birthday.

A log that was being sawed at Daniel H. Cook's mill at Tinton Falls left the platform machine and went whirling through the air. A piece of flying steel from the saw struck Mr. Cook in the eye and he lost the sight of it.

Charles B. B. Forman, secretary of the Monmouth County Agriculture society, sent out a notice to the stockholders for a meeting to take into consideration the future existence of the society.

The Republican convention of the third assembly district was scheduled to be held at French's hotel at Red Bank. James H. Leonard, chairman of the last convention, issued the general order. The Republican primary meeting of Middletown township was to be held in Lufburrow's hall at Middletown and the primary meeting of Shrewsbury township was to be held in the Central hotel.

George H. Wilde, executor of the estate of H. M. Wilde, advertised the valuable brick building at the corner of Broad and Monmouth streets for sale at public sale to be held on the premises and if stormy to be held in the Globe hotel.

Miss Minnie Harris, formerly of Atlantic Highlands, and Andrew Ritter of Chapel Hill, made the announcement of their marriage, which had taken place on Long Island in September.

Miss Lizzie Roswell and John Ragan, both of Oceanport, were married at that place by Rev. J. Nelson.

Miss Mamie Sutphin of Red Bank and David Murdock of New York were married at the former place by Rev. J. Leupple.

Fred W. Baden contracted with Ezekiel M. Rogers to build him a new house at Red Bank at a cost of $1,350.

Twenty-Five Years Ago.

Dogs valued at $6,000 and owned by Miss Gertrude A. Davies of Branch avenue died from some mysterious cause. An autopsy on a St. Bernard valued at $1,000 showed he had been poisoned.

The Keansburg fire company reorganized with 22 active members. William L. McDonald was captain. John B. Paynter and J. B. Covert, Jr., were lieutenants. The company awarded W. L. Hart the contract to build their new firehouse at a cost of $1,750.

Elwood Minton, who had been a bookkeeper for Hendrickson & Applegate for 22 years, was enjoying his first vacation.

Mrs. Amelia Coley, widow of Captain George Coley, who had been living in the South, was visiting Mrs. Mary Dugan of Monmouth street.

Walter Wolf of Leighton avenue had ridden his bicycle 1,350 miles since the first day of June. Included in this mileage were four round trips to New York.

Ruth Ely, daughters of Henry Ely of Holmdel, was taken to Philadelphia in the hopes of having the sight of one of her eyes restored.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Dimond of Riverside avenue sailed on the Carmania for a trip to Europe.

Mrs. W. W. Ramsay began enlarging the Keansburg postoffice. Benjamin Covert was doing the work.

Alfonse M. Gaskill was elected district president of the Patriotic Sons of America at a convention held in Belford.

A large barn and all of its contents owned by Harry L. Powers of Shrewsbury was destroyed by fire, presumably of incendiary origin.

The Red Bank Presbyterian church at Broad street and Reckless place was formally dedicated. Francis L. Patten, president of Princeton Theological seminary, preached the dedicatory sermon.

Miss Mary J. Whaley, daughter of Horatio Whaley of Marlboro, became the bride of George W. Strickland. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. J. Vyverburg.

By the will of Miss Janet Anderson of Keyport, the Keyport Presbyterian church received $2,000. The money was to be invested and the income applied to the pastor's salary.

John M. Hulsehart, a well known resident of Matawan, died from a complication of diseases.

Thomas O'Hanlon, one of the pioneers of Methodism in Monmouth county, died at his home in Ocean Grove. He was president of Pennington seminary for 30 years.

E. A. G. Intemann was completely remodeling his house on Bay avenue at the Highlands, William Hulitt had the carpenter work and Jack Woodward of Atlantic Highlands the mason work.

Grover Corse of Highlands entertained some friends at a chop suey party at his home. His guests were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Corse, Mary Corse, Jessie Rowe, Grover Corse, James Rowe and Mark Teeney.

Thomas Thompson of Yonkers made a gift of an old gun to John R. Conover of Lincroft. The gun was found in a house at Fair Haven, where Mr. Thompson made his summer home.

Collector William M. Thompson made a report to the town commissioners of the amount spent to run the various departments of the town. The councilmen were keeping well within the budget and a cut of more than $30,000 was anticipated in the budget for the ensuing year.

Dr. Morris Loeb, a prominent New York chemist, died at his summer home at Rumson. He was a brother of Mrs. Jacob Schiff.

Fred Conover, Thomas Clusey, William Pintard and George Moody were in Conover's motorboat on the river at Red Bank when the boat sprang a leak. The boys managed to beach the boat before it sank, but they all received a good wetting.

Mrs. O. W. Budlong of Belford was hostess at a quilting party at her home. Four quilts were made, and a luncheon was enjoyed.

The organization of the St. James Boy Scouts was completed and the new uniforms arrived. The boys planned to attend communion at St. James church wearing the new uniforms, which were gifts of Rev. James A. Reynolds, pastor of the church.

Mrs. M. Isabelle Ralph, daughter of Julian Ralph, died at the home of her cousin, Cornelius S. Mount, on Maple avenue.

Rev. James A. Reynolds, pastor of St. James church, risked his life to save others in a disasterous railroad wreck at Westport, Connecticut. He administered the sacrament to three dying men and remained on the burning car until all other passengers, except two companions, left.

The Monmouth County Poultry club decided to hold its annual show in the Red Bank lyceum. George T. Linton of Red Bank was named superintendent and he was to be assisted by Captain S. B. Howell of Highlands and Frank Hodges of Red Bank.

George W. Sewing received the contract to build a theater on Front street, adjoining Fred H. VanDorn's garage, which would have a seating capacity of 1,000 and cost $10,000.

Miss Ethel MacKenzie and John C. Hopkins of Lincroft were married at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Winter of Shrewsbury. Rev. F. P. Sweezy, rector of Christ church, performed the ceremony.

Miss Minnie Thorne of Keansburg and Philip Jannine of Red Bank were married at the Keansburg Methodist church by Rev. J. W. Tower. They were attended by Miss Estella Thorne, the bride's sister, and Theodore Johntry of Belford.

Albert VanBrunt of Belford fell from the spar of a boat and received a gash in his hand which required 12 stitches to close.

William and Louis Boeckel of Locust Point struck a bed of natural oysters in the river which had never been raked before. They gathered over 16 bushels of marketable size.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bentze of Keyport died at the age of 94 years. She made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Miller.

Samuel Winterton of Keyport had not missed attending Sunday-school in 50 years and he was given a gold badge at a celebration in his honor at the Keyport Baptist church.

The Monmouth Social club of Red Bank enjoyed a clam chowder supper on its house boat. William Conover, Ely Kirby, Easton Hendrickson, R. Leslie Austin, William MacKenzie and Archibald Dalby were taken in as members.

Miss Grace VanNess, daughter of Levi B. VanNess of Rumson, was laid up several days from the effects of a severe shock. She was crossing the street and did not see an automobile approaching and the car just missed her by a fraction of an inch.

Stanley Brown of Marion street, while riding his bicycle, collided with a trolley car. His hip was dislocated and several ribs were cracked.

Rev. Charles McKee Cantrall gave up his pastorate of the Farmingdale Presbyterian church. He planned to leave with his family for Glasgow, Scotland.

Charles H. Snedeker of Atlantic Highlands, aged 71 years, died from a complication. Mr. Snedeker was a charter member of the Freehold and Atlantic Highlands Masonic lodges.

Abram I. Elkus was thrown out of his automobile when the car skidded on Monmouth street and crashed into a car belonging to George A. H. Churchill of Rumson.

Stillwagon & Mauser of Holmdel were building a concrete and stone bridge 25 feet in length over a brook on C. A. Tatum's farm between Everett and Holmdel.

Joseph Tumen, who conducted a dry goods store in the Charles T. Leonard building at Atlantic Highlands, bought the property adjoining Haricorn's garage on which he intended to build a two-story brick building for his own occupancy.

Hebrew Dance And Floor Show At Smoke Shop

Preparations About Completed for Event to be Held Sunday Night by Association—Prizes Will be Awarded.

The Young Men's and Young Woman's Hebrew association of Red Bank has plans well under way for the dance and entertainment to be held Sunday night at the Smoke Shop tavern. A dance, "the big apple contest," will be one of the chief features. Prizes will be awarded to the best performers. Murray Houtkin is chairman of the committee in charge of the affair and Miss Selma Simon is co-chairman. Other members of the committee are Miss Sylvia Levinsky, John Miller, Miss Ella Zager, Miss Gertrude Yonks, Miss Rasohell Madansky and William Klatsky. Most of the arrangements were made at a meeting last Thursday night.

Morris Westerman, Miss Sylvia Levinsky and Miss Selma Simon were selected to act as delegates at the annual convention of the New Jersey Federation of Young Men's and Young Women's Hebrew associations at Union City next month. The alternate delegates are Miss Ella Zager, Miss Pearl Greenberg and Murray Houtkin.

Irving Krakowitch and Miss Vivian Goldfarb, chairmen of athletic events, reported that they were arranging to have the association entered in the Red Bank basketball league. About 35 persons were present. At the conclusion of the meeting an entertainment was given and dancing and refreshments were enjoyed.

William Klatsky is president of the association. The other officers are Miss Ella Zager vice president, Miss Sylvia Levinsky secretary and Murray Houtkin treasurer.

Republican Women's Meeting.

A get-together meeting and luncheon of the women members of the Republican executive committee of Monmouth county was held October 7 at the Santander restaurant, Asbury Park. Mrs. Emma VanSchoick of Red Bank, vice chairman of the county committee, presided. The guest speakers were Mrs. Lewis S. Thompson, state committeewoman, and County Clerk Joseph McDermott, chairman of the county executive committee. It is planned to have another similar event soon.

Supported by Merchants.

The Red Bank Register is supported by local as well as out-of-town business men. Advertisements appearing regularly tell the story—Advertisement.

Keansburg.

(The Red Bank Register can be bought in Keansburg at the stores of E. L. Miller, N. Santa Lucia, Philip Keller, Charles Vogel, I. Zuckerman).

Mrs. Susan Tiedemann, a Beacon Beach resident, made a protest over the passage of an ordinance at the regular meeting of the borough council last week. The ordinance provides for changing the location of Beacon Light way and authorizes an exchange of lands for the purpose of effecting the same and changing the name of Beacon Light way to Beacon Light avenue. Mrs. Tiedemann was of the opinion that the proposed change would make her property inaccessible. Borough Manager Lohsen pointed out that the ordinance had only been passed on first reading and that all releases of property owners had not been obtained, and until such releases were obtained the ordinance would be held up. In a communication, the Public Utilities commission gave notice that a hearing would be held at Newark November 9 on the application of the Rollo bus line to suspend the operation of the Keansburg-Campbell's Junction line during the period from September 15 to May 15. Councilman Martin said he was opposed to the proposed discontinuance of the service and expressed the opinion the council should attend the hearing. Borough Attorney Howard W. Roberts pointed out steps should be taken to co-operate with the Middletown township committee who will oppose the withdrawal of the service. John R. Wilson, in a letter, made application as a reserve officer. The letter was ordered filed. Raymond Stryker, Edward Clark and Alvin Adams were granted exempt certificates, having served the required seven years as firemen. Tax Collector Ralph O. Williams reported the collection of $22,162.46 during September.

Fire company No. 1 has elected these officers for the ensuing year:

President—Edwin Herrmann.
Vice president—Louis Ruhmann.
Treasurer—Clinton B. Lohsen.
Recording secretary—Howard Aalbue.
Financial secretary—Alvin Adams.
Trustees—Frank Jackson, Alvin Adams, Maxe Ackerman, Howard C. Opdyke, Fred Foerster.
Member of local relief association—James Ritter.
Delegate to Atlantic City—Louis Ruhmann.

Chief—Raymond Truax.
Captain—Edward Clark.
Lieutenants—Edwin Herrmann, Fred Foerster and George Sullivan.
Commissioner—Louis F. Ruhmann.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin have returned from a motor trip to Canada.

Jay Marcus has gone to Florida, where he will spend several weeks.

Samuel Bokerman and family have moved to Lakewood.

Mrs. Louise Schanck of Center avenue has accepted a position in the office of Attorney Edward F. Juska.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Broander are home from a motor trip to Canada.

Police Chief Charles McGuire and Captain Theodore Klotz attended the police chiefs' convention at Baltimore last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ogden left last week for Coronado, Florida, where they will spend the winter. During the summer months Mr. Ogden conducts a real estate office on Carr avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hunter of Highland boulevard are the parents of a son.

Several members of the Jolly Eight Card club spent Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Stroudsburg, Pa. On the trip were Mrs. Frank Johnson, Mrs. Walter Conroy, Mrs. Laurence Scott, Mrs. William Hastetadt, Mrs. John Beatty, Margaret Trenery, Miss Julia Day and Mrs. M. Broderick.

Mrs. Floyd Walth entertained the members of the C. I. A. group 4 Tuesday night.

Fire company No. 1, will celebrate its 25th anniversary October 27, with a dinner at the Raritan Bay hotel. It is expected about 100 will attend the dinner. The committee arranging the details of the affair are Clinton B. Lohsen, Richard A. Jessen, Howard Opdyke, R. L. Vogel and Richard Trenery.

The body of a Negro found in Raritan bay early last week and towed to Waackaack creek by Ted Willett, and William and Harvey Matthews, all of Keansburg, who were in a motor boat returning from a clamming trip, was identified by Mrs. Oral Washington of 2813 Eighth avenue, New York, as that of her husband. She said her husband went on a fishing trip September 26. He was 32 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Broander and son Gerald, and Miss Mary Broander have returned from a trip through Pennsylvania, New York state and Canada. Places of interest visited were Delaware Water Gap, Watkins Glen, Niagara Falls, Ontario, Kingston and Thousand Islands. A pleasant time was had by all.

Union Beach.

(The Red Bank Register can be bought in Union Beach at the store of Gus Senga).

After serving six years as a member of the borough council, Richard E. Wible resigned as a member of that body at the meeting Thursday night. Mayor James McKittrick, speaking for the members of the council, said that he regretted that the councilman, who had taken much interest in borough affairs, was forced to give up his membership at the council table. Mr. Wible is a former member of the school board, having served one term. His removal to Elizabeth, where he is employed, brought about his resignation. Mayor McKittrick appointed Edwin C. Masson to fill the vacancy and he was sworn in after he had been confirmed. Mr. Masson has served several years as district clerk of the local school board. A number of complaints were received over the condition of the station of the Central railroad. It was stated that the station was not open for the first train at 6 a. m. Another complaint was that the outside toilets were in an unsanitary condition. The clerk was instructed to take the matters up with the railroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Diner have returned from a visit at Newark.

The Ironside athletic club held a card party Saturday night with Mrs. Elizabeth Spielman as chairman.

Mrs. Fred Schober was hostess to several members of the Daughters of America Monday afternoon.

The following pupils had a perfect attendance during the month of September at the Cottage Park school:

School Lunches Are Not To Be Slighted

Variety of Sandwiches Tempt Appetites of Children

There probably hasn't been a box or picnic lunch packed without a sandwich of some kind in it since the time the Earl of Sandwich first started this grand way of combining bread with other foods. With the opening of schools, the Earl's idea is in for another long season because the school lunch follows on the heels of the summer picnics.

The packing of school lunches often becomes routine because of its frequency. If the packing of the lunch is allowed to slip into a rut, the appetites at the consuming end are very apt to do the same, with the result that soon the growing children are going without many essential foods they need to carry on their school work and build strong healthy bodies.

There will always be favorites in sandwiches that seem to be the backbone of the lunch box, but faithful as they are, there is also need for variety and newness to keep the appetites from lagging. This ever present need for change may be accomplished in many different ways. Besides many tasty sandwich fillings, there are several different types of bread that lend themselves well to sandwiches. Another attractive and novel sandwich may be prepared by spreading two or three slices of bread and stacking one upon the next, then slice down through the stack and a ribbon style sandwich will be produced.

Save your smaller mayonnaise or jam jars to pack cottage cheese, stewed fruit, baked beans, and an infinite variety of salads. Jars equipped with the new type knife-opening caps are best because of the east with which they may be opened.

Milk is such an important item in the daily diet it must not be overlooked in the school lunch. If not supplied at the school, it may be carried in vacuum bottles and can take several different forms for the sake of variety. Cream soups of all kinds incorporate milk to an advantage and may be carried well in a vacuum bottle. Chocolate milk and cocoa both make appropriate milk beverages for a lunch box.

The lunch box should be carefully selected to meet the needs of the individual. The best are inexpensive and the care after purchase is indeed an important item. A child may well be taught to prepare and pack his or her own lunch, and at the same time it would be well to teach them to cleanse the lunch box carefully after each time it is used. The lunch box should be kept immaculately clean by a daily washing with warm suds, scalding of all its parts, and an occasional exposure to the sun and air.

Following are some suggestions that may serve as a guide for lunch box menu planning. If the lunch box menus are planned in advance, the chances for better balanced menus are greater, and at the same time less effort at the last minute is required.

SANDWICH BREAD SUGGESTIONS

Nut bread, date nut bread, orange bread, apricot bread, fig nut bread, prune bread, Boston Brown bread, gingerbread, bran bread, whole wheat bread, raisin bread, corn bread, rye bread and white bread.

SANDWICH FILLING SUGGESTIONS

Peanut butter and mayonnaise, peanut butter and marshmallow cream, peanut butter with minced onion, peanut butter with crisp bacon, peanut butter with fruit preserves or jelly, cottage cheese with fruit preserves or jelly, cottage cheese with onions and nuts, cottage cheese with chopped olives, cottage cheese with crushed pineapple.

DESSERT SUGGESTIONS

Graham crackers spread with melted milk chocolate, graham crackers with peanut butter and marshmallow cream, cup cakes, fudge bars, date bars, cookies, sponge cake, cup custards, tapioca, corn starch and chocolate puddings, fruit tarts, fresh fruits, hard candy and milk chocolate.

Artichokes Now Within Reach of Every Purse

Modern Transportation Brings Fancy Foods at Now Popular Prices

In recent years it has become possible for Eastern markets to show many more nice things to eat at popular prices. This of course, is due to the fine transportation now available for fruits and vegetables that heretofore were rarely seen in Eastern markets and if so, were so high in price that the family who was even comfortably well off dared not spend quite so much money. One can judge this for herself by merely taking an artichoke as as example. They are now reasonably priced and every family who so desires can serve them.

Many people eat them hot with a hollandaise sauce. Others, and especially out West, eat them cold with mayonnaise as a salad. They are simple to prepare and ever so tasty. Especially when one's patience is rewarded and the heart is reached. Here is how they are prepared:

BOILED ARTICHOKES

In selecting artichokes, the small or medium-sized ones are the best, since they are more tender. They should be crisp and gresh in appearance and have tightly formed heads, with close clinging scales. Wash carefully in running cold water and examine thoroughly. Cut off the stem one inch from the base. Place in a kettle and cover with boiling salted water, add one tablespoon lemon juice if desired; cover and cook for 30 minutes, or until tender, when the bottom can be pierced easily with a fork. Serve with any desired dressing, or let cook and serve with mayonnaise.

ARTICHOKE SOUFFLE

10 artichoke hearts, cooked and chopped
1 cup white sauce
3 eggs, separated

Make a white sauce, seasoned well. Beat the egg yolks and add to the sauce. Cook for one minute. Remove from fire and set aside to cool. When cold, add the chopped artichokes and the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a buttered baking dish and set dish in a pan containing hot water. Bake in a moderate oven 350 F. for 35 minutes. This must be served immediately or it will fall.

An Old Favorite Makes Winter Debut

Chocolate Walnut Brownies Have Become National Favorite

Ever since you or I or most people can remember, brownies have been served in the best and poorest of families with the same result. They are a national favorite and seldom out of place. Here is a good recipe for these tasty bits of brown deliciousness; along with walnuts of course:

WALNUT BROWNIES

1 ounce chocolate, bitter
¼ cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup cake flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup walnuts, chopped fine

Melt the chocolate and pour over the butter and mix until soft. Beat eggs until thick and lemon colored. Add sugar a little at a time to the eggs and beat well after each addition. Combine egg and sugar mixture with the chocolate and butter mixture and add the vanilla, milk, and then the flour, which has been sifted with the cinnamon and salt. Add the chopped walnuts. Pour into a square pan, about eight by eight inches, which has been buttered and lined on the bottom with waxed paper. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) When done, the Brownies will be firm and pulled away slightly from the sides of the pan. Cool slightly, cut in squares and remove to a cooling rack.

SALMON SOUP - SALAD - CRACKERS FOR FINE FRIDAY LUNCHEON

A complete luncheon can nicely be composed of soup, salad and dessert which is the stand-by of many people.

This is especially nice on a Friday when meat usually isn't served and the housewife doesn't want to take the time to prepare a full luncheon menu. Here is a soup that will be ideal for a Friday:

CREAM OF SALMON SOUP

1 cup canned salmon
1 quart milk
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Drain oil from the salmon, remove skin and bones and rub through a seive. Heat the butter, add flour and seasoning, add two-thirds cup and then gradually the rest of the milk, scalded, and the strained salmon. Cook until smooth and slightly thickened. Serve with hot biscuits or toasted crackers and a canned asparagus salad with hard cooked eggs.

EGGS IN MEXICAN STYLE MAKE GRAND MIDNIGHT SUPPER

Eggs are becoming more and more the popular dish for a midnight supper. Served with hot buttered toast and a cup of good coffee the meal is ideal. There is no reason why the eggs for this occasion shouldn't be scrambled or fried or fixed any way desired and the hostess who goes a little farther and makes a sauce for her eggs will indeed be giving a great treat.

EGGS CALIENTE

1 medium sized onion, sliced
1 small green pepper, chopped
2 slices bacon, diced
¼ pound mushrooms, sauteed
2 cups canned tomatoes
½ teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon salt
6 eggs
6 tablespoons milk
4 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon chili powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershide sauce

To make the sauce, saute the onion and green pepper with the bacon until the bacon is brown and the vegetables soft. Add the mushrooms, tomatoes, ½ teaspoon sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and cook slowly for ten minutes. In the meantime, beat the eggs and add the milk. Melt the butter in a frying uan and add the lemon juice, mustard, chili powder, salt and Worcestershire sauce. Mix well. Pour in the eggs and cook until eggs are creamy, stirring constantly. Arrange on slices of buttered toast and pour over tomato sauce. Garnish with sprigs of parsley and serve hot.

Famous French Pancakes Fine For American Families

One of the most famous French dishes is Les Crepes or more commonly known as pancakes. The French, unlike we Americans have a great variety of ways for their preparation and really take them seriously, not merely as something to eat for a breakfast. Here is one of the more popular recipes:

CREPES A LA PARISIENNE

2 cups flour
2 tablespoons sugar
5 eggs
8 tablespoons cream
1 tablespoon brandy
Pinch of salt
3 tablespoons butter
1 cup milk
2½ cups finely crushed macaroons

Put the flour, sugar and salt in a bowl, make a well in the center, and put in the eggs, one at a time, mixing in the flour gradually with a wooden spoon. Then add the milk to which the melted butter has been added gradually, and start beating well. Finally, add the cream and the crushed macaroons. Let the mixture stand for at least one hour, then add the brandy just before making the pancakes. Put a very small piece of butter in a small frying pan, and, when hot, put a little of the mixture into it, tipping the pan from side to side so that there is a thin and even layer all over the pan. Cook one side until done, then turn and do other side. Fold, sprinkle with sugar, and serve very hot.

A STEAMED PUDDING FOR A FALL DESSERT

The man who is seen on his way home from work with his head in the clouds and an anticipating look on his face can only be thinking of one thing. That, of course, is the dinner on the table. Most men look forward to their dinner and especially the dessert, which at this time of the year can well appear in the form of a steamed pudding. Here is one that will be worth hurrying home to:

STEAMED PINEAPPLE DATE PUDDING

1 egg, well beaten
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons melted buter
1 cup pineapple juice
¼ cup chopped raisins
½ cup chopped nuts
1 cup chopped dates
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon

To the well beaten egg, add the sugar, salt, butter and pineapple juice. Heat. Then stir in the raisins, nuts, dates and vanilla. Mix well. Sift together the dry ingredients and add to the mixture. Pour into a well greased mold, cover tightly and steam for two hours. Unmold and serve with a fruit salad.

CANNING VEGETABLE SOUP

1 quart carrots, diced
1 quart green beans, sliced
1 quart wax beans, sliced
1 quart onions, diced
1 quart celery, diced
1 quart corn, cut from cob
1 quart cauliflower, in pieces
1 quart potatoes, diced

CREAM CHEESE FUDGE CAKE

1⅞ cups pastry flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
1 package cream cheese
1 cup granulated sugar
1 egg, well beaten
2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Measure sifted flour; combine with the baking powder and salt and sift again. Cream the butter, add the cream cheese and mix until well blended; then add sugar and beat vigorously. Add the egg and chocolate; then stir in the sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk. Add vanilla. Bake in a well buttered loaf pan in a moderate oven (350 F.) for one hour. Frost with the following icing. Cream 1 package cream cheese, gradually adding one cup of confectioners' sugar. Stir in 1 square unsweetened melted chocolate. Add enough cream to make the icing of the right consistency to spread.

Now We Make The Most Of The Grape Crop

By SIDNEY SNOW

GRAPES are plentiful and cheap—and now is the time to plan a liberal supply of grape jelly. It is one of the easiest and most economical jellies to make. A row of gleaming glasses filled with rich purple fruit confection is worth admiring—and looks better in only one other place—right on the table. And with fresh-made buttered toast it forms the center of many a delightful breakfast and tea. So get a few baskets of grapes, a few dozen glasses and the sugar plus a little pectin to help it along—and you are on the way. Here is the best recipe we have:

RIPE GRAPE JELLY

5 cups (2½ lbs) juice
6½ cups sugar (2¾ lbs.)
1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare juice, stem about 3½ pounds fully ripe grapes and crush thoroughly. Add 1½ cups water, bring to a boil, and simmer, covered, 10 minutes. Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice.

Measure sugar into dry dish and set aside until needed. Measure juice into a 5 to 6 quart pan, filling up last cup with water if necessary; place over hottest fire. Add powdered fruit pectin, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once pour in sugar, stirring constantly. Continue stirring, bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard ½ minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about 11 glasses, 6 fluid ounces each.

A TONGUE IN A SURPRISING MANNER

Tongue lovers will really appreciate this recipe for its tastiness and unusualness. It will be grand for a buffet supper or for that matter it won't be a bit out of place for a family dinner.

TONGUE BAKED IN BLACKBERRY JELLY

1 fresh tongue
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 onions, sliced
½ cup celery, diced
1 glass blackberry jelly
½ cup water

Wash the tongue and cover with boiling water. Add the salt, pepper, sliced onions and celery and cook about 2 hours. Remove tongue from water, skin and cut off the roots. Place tongue in a roasting pan. Mix the jelly with half cup of water and pour over the tongue. Cover the roasting pan and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 F.) for about 1 hour.

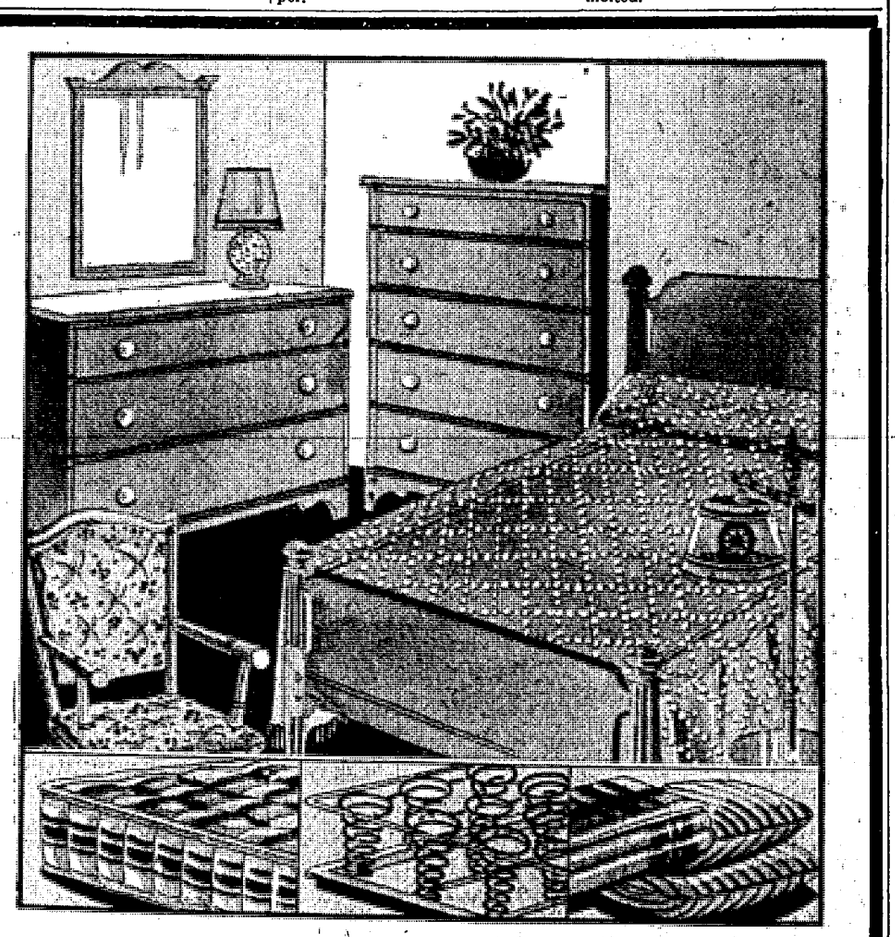

CHICKEN, SWEETBREADS AND MUSHROOMS COMBINED INTO TASTY SUPPER SALAD

Dinner and buffet supper salads are quite the same in winter as in summer. One naturally wouldn't serve a potato salad or a fruit salad in the winter but such a salad as this is apt to make its appearance at any time during any season:

CHICKEN, SWEETBREADS AND MUSHROOM SALAD

1 pint cooked chicken, cut in small pieces
1 cup sweetbreads cut in small pieces
1 cup canned mushrooms
1 cup celery, diced
1 cup mayonnaise
Lettuce leaves

Have everything very cold. Mix the first four ingredients with the mayonnaise, and place on lettuce leaves on small plates for individual servings or on a large platter on a bed of lettuce leaves for a buffet supper.

Hot Off the Griddle

By ESTHER DONLAN

Save good china by using suitable dishes for the refrigerator. They should be compact and economical in shape. Have several with covers for strong smelling foods.

Leaky faucets cost money through water waste.

To clean bath tubs well, scrub with a soft brush moistened with a little water and whiting or other fine cleanser.

To clean copper and brass furnishings, polish with a fine abrasive combined with whiting or polish powder.

When ironing cloths, be sure to iron each section dry before proceeding to the next.

Folding clothes straight when taking them from the clothesline and sprinkling evenly makes the ironing much easier.

To remove old tea and coffee stains, wet the spot with cold water; cover with glycerine, let stand for two or three hours. Then wash with cold water and hard soap. Repeat if necessary.

When dish washing is finished, wash every part of the sink with hot, soapy water. Wash above and around the sink. Use a skewer to clean behind the sink pipes.

Warm food served in silver dishes over hot water, never put it directly on the stove.

CRANBERRY SEASON MEANS NEW ACCOMPANIMENT FOR MEAT

It's surprising with summer gone such a short time ago to see little red cranberries on the markets. But there they are and it's time for us to do something about them. Something like this:

SPICED CRANBERRIES

2 quarts cranberries
1 1/3 cups vinegar
2/3 cup water
6 cups sugar
2 tablespoons ground cinnamon
1 tablespoon ground cloves
1 tablespoon ground allspice.

Wash and pick over the cranberries. Place in a large kettle and add the remaining ingredients. Cook slowly over low fire for 45 minutes. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

CRANBERRY RELISH

4 cups cranberries
1 large orange
2 cups sugar

Cut orange in eighths and remove seeds. Put cleaned cranberries and orange (rind and pulp) through a food chopper. Mix well. Add sugar and stir until thoroughly mixed. These should be made several hours before using. Serve with meats.

SWEET POTATOES ON HALF SHELL

Sweet potatoes are now making their funny-faced appearance in markets and on tables. However, when a sweet potato is properly dressed and made up, it's quite an attractive thing and very- very appetizing. Especially when fixed like this and served with a roast.

SWEET POTATOES ON HALF SHELL

6 baked sweet potatoes
¼ cup hot milk
2 tablespoons butter
Grated rind and juice of 1 orange
Marshmallow

Take even sized potatoes and bake until soft. Cut in half lengthwise, scoop out the inside. Mash, mix with butter, a little salt, milk and orange juice. Return to the shells, reheat and cover with marshmallows. Place in a moderate oven and bake until marshmallows are melted.

McCarter Flays Court 'Packing'

Newark Jurist-Banker Addresses Presbyterian Brotherhood on the Subject, "Our Constitution."

Assailing President Roosevelt for "packing" the Supreme Court, Robert H. McCarter, vice president of the Fidelity Union Trust company and former state attorney-general, in an address given Monday night at a dinner-meeting of Presbyterian Brotherhood, declared that America is becoming more "Constitution-minded" and would not permit such ideas to prevail.

Mr. McCarter gave the history of the Constitution and explained various phases of constitutional law. He maintained that the Supreme Court was a bulwark against dictatorship and should not be interfered with in the exercise of its duty.

Mr. McCarter was introduced by Frank F. Groff, who was associated with Mr. McCarter for 16 years, and who served as toastmaster. Mr. Groff also introduced Lieutenant-Commander Anton Heinen, who is stationed at the naval air base at Lakehurst.

Commander Heinen defended lighter-than-air craft, declaring dirigibles to be more ideal, safer and cheaper to operate, regardless of public opinion to the contrary. He said that airships have not been found wanting in a single instance and that when mishaps occur the fault lay with man and not the ships.

The speaker declared that airships will prove to be the most powerful means available of defending the Constitution, should it ever be threatened. Questioned as to the cause of the "crack-up" of the airship Shenandoah, the navy man said that pressure of the helium gas and the atmosphere was the main cause of the disaster. The lieutenant-commander began his line of work in the year 1910 as a member of the German merchant marine, later becoming a reserve officer in the German army and navy during the World war. He was also a test pilot at the airship base in Germany during the conflict, after which he came to the United States under contract to build the Shenandoah and also to train the crew for the airship. He has been training men for the navy at Lakehurst since 1921. He was a prominent figure during the investigation following the Hindenburg disaster at Lakehurst earlier this year. In all, Lieutenant Commander Anton Heinen has been in the airship service for the past 25 years.

Mr. Groff was responsible for the appearance of Mr. McCarter and Allan Vanderhoef for the appearance of Commander Heinen. Martin V. B. Smock gave the invocation before the serving of the dinner, in the absence of Rev. John A. Hayes. Approximately 250 people were present at the dinner, which was served by a number of young women from the Red Bank high school and several members of Boy Scout Troop 67. The flower decorations for the tables were donated by W. W. Kennedy & Sons.

Walter L. Fredericks, president of the organization, presided at the short business meeting which followed the dinner. William S. Mustoe and his committee were praised for the wonderful menu of turkey with all the fixings. The ladies were guests of the members of the Brotherhood. Other dinner meetings will be held in January, March and May.

The next business meeting of the organization will be held on Monday, November 8, in the social hall. The members will be privileged to see and hear, through the courtesy of The Red Bank Register, a film on the making and producing of Kraft paper. This is a specialized brown paper which is manufactured by the International Paper Sales company. Its representative, W. A. VonHagen, will be at the meeting to describe it. He will bring with him films showing the making of Southern Kraft and he will also give a talk on the various phases of paper making. The special film covers the more recent rapid industrial growth of Kraft paper in the South from the actual beginning in the woods through the final use on the consumer end. It is a sound film and one of the company's leading educational features. Mr. VonHagen will bring with him all the necessary equipment to assure the Brotherhood that the film will be presented in the best possible manner. The organization is indebted to E. J. Doonan of the Eastern Sales Division of the well-known paper company and also to Thomas Irving Brown, a member of the Brotherhood, and publisher of The Register, for their co-operation in this matter.

OATMEAL COOKIES LIKE GRANDMOTHER USED TO MAKE

There aren't many of us who can say we don't remember those grand oatmeal cookies grandmother used to make and keep in the cookie jar that was just high enough to make us feel that we were stealing them. And how much better they always tasted when stolen. But aside from that, the cookies themselves were wonderfully delicious and to this day we still like to eat them. Here is a recipe that is very like the one grandmother used:

GRANDMOTHER'S OATMEAL COOKIES
1 cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten
2 cups flour
2 cups oatmeal
¼ cup sweet milk
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup chopped raisins or dates
1 cup chopped walnuts

Cream butter and sugar, add eggs, mix the rest of the dry ingredients, sprinkle over the raisins and nuts and combine the mixtures, adding only enough milk to make a stiff dough. Drop on a buttered tin one inch apart. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 350 F. until done.

LIVER AND DUMPLINGS A TREAT FOR THE MEN

When a man is hungry he says he will eat anything, but when it comes right down to it, that isn't true. A person can be as hungry as hungry can be but the sight of a poorly prepared and unappetizing dish will often times completely kill the appetite that a few minutes earlier would eat a horse or a cow.

Now when a wife knows that her husband will be coming home in the above stated state, she is a wise wife if she has prepared one of those dishes that men so relish. One such dish is:

LIVER AND DUMPLINGS
1¼ pounds calf liver
Salt and pepper
1 small onion, chopped
2 tablespoons fat
2 tablespoons flour
Dumplings

Cut liver in pieces one inch thick, salt and pepper and roll in flour. Heat fat in frying pan, add onions, when light brown add liver and let fry a few minutes only until brown on both sides. Remove to hot platter, surround with dumplings. Stir flour into gravy in frying pan, add two cups hot water, salt and paprika. Let cook until thick and smooth and pour over all.

MONMOUTH COUNTY ORPHANS COURT

In the matter of the estate of Margaretta R. Patterson, deceased.

On Petition for Sale of Lands to Pay Debts. Order to Show Cause.

Catherine C. Johnson, administratrix with will annexed of the estate of Margaretta R. Patterson, deceased, having exhibited under oath a true account of the personal estate and debts of said Margaretta R. Patterson, deceased, whereby it appears that the personal estate of the said Margaretta R. Patterson, deceased, is insufficient to pay her debts and requesting the aid of the court in premises.

It is thereupon on this 30th day of September, 1937, ordered that all persons interested in the lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate of the said Margaretta R. Patterson, deceased, appear before this Court at the Court House in the Borough of Freehold on the 2nd day of December, 1937, at 10 A. M., to show cause why so much of the said lands, tenements, hereditaments and real estate of the said Margaretta R. Patterson, deceased, should not be sold as will be sufficient to pay the residue of her debts.

It is further ordered that this order be published in the Red Bank Register, one of the newspapers of this state, for six weeks successively at least once in each week.

Bids Asked On New Road Projects

One Will Provide a Relocation of Route 4 Around Freehold —Other is at Lakehurst— Grade Crossings Eliminated.

Construction bids will be received Monday, October 25, on two projects which will later permit the elimination of two railroad grade crossings under the safety program of State Highway Commissioner E. Donald Sterner.

One will provide for the paving of one mile of Route 4 on a relocation around the business center of Freehold, and the other for two miles of roadway to carry both Routes 37 and 40 over the Central railroad on a bridge near the Lakehurst Naval Air station at Lakehurst.

Route 4 is the thoroughfare used by New York and Northern New Jersey traffic from South Amboy for South Jersey seashore resorts as far as Cape May. The paving to be done first will include a traffic circle where the new Route 4 will meet Route 33, the Trenton-Asbury Park highway at Manalapan avenue, Freehold, a short distance from the Freehold race track. From the traffic circle the construction will be carried north as far as the P. R. R. tracks and the adjacent Englishtown road. Under a later contract a viaduct will be carried over both the railroad and Englishtown road.

As now planned Route 4 is ultimately to follow a new alignment from the present Route 4 near Cheesequake, Middlesex county, to a point north of Adelphia, near Freehold. This realignment will separate the summer peak traffic on both Routes 4 and 33 at Freehold where traffic lights have stalled automobiles for several miles especially over the week-ends and holidays.

Route 40, the new John D. Rockefeller memorial highway, from Camden to Monmouth county seashore resorts, is now entirely paved with the exception of the short stretch over the Central railroad by-passing Lakehurst. The final link of 10 miles between Lakehurst and the Laurelton circle, west of Point Pleasant, is scheduled for completion by the contractors by November 1. Its new realignment around Lakehurst as well as that for Route 37 will be slightly to the north of the C. R. R. grade crossing at Union avenue. A traffic circle is to be placed on Route 40 in Lakehurst at Union and Myrtle avenues for a junction with Route 37 which is legislated to be built between Trenton and Lakehurst.

TIOGA MEDALS AWARDED.

Best Pullet and Best Cockerel in the County Selected.

The best pullet and best cockerel in Monmouth county were selected from those birds exhibited at the New Jersey State Fair from Monmouth county. J. C. Taylor decided the awards and gave the best pullet medal to Bernard Shrubb of Ardena on his Buff Orpington entry. Ralph Voorhees of Wayside won the best cockerel medal on his Rhode Island Red cockerel, which was exhibited at Trenton and won second prize in one of the best club classes ever exhibited at the state 4-H show.

The World Of Stamps

Erin's Saint.

Calpurnius, a Roman officer, had a son named Patrick who converted Ireland to Christianity in the fifth century and became patron saint of Erin.

His figure appears on the Irish Free State's three new high value stamps: 2 shillings 6 pence green, 5-sh brown violet, 10-sh dark blue. These printed-in-Ireland stamps replace the British overprints which the Free State has been using since its creation in 1922.

The design—by R. J. King—symbolizes the Christian renaissance in Ireland, attended by accolytes, St. Patrick is shown with outstretched hands invoking God's blessing on the supernatural light denoted by the flame of the Paschal fire ascending from his feet. The frame incorporates an outline of the Bell shrine of St. Patrick, an eleventh century structure.

As a youth of 16, Patrick was seized by raiders, taken to Ireland and sold as a slave. He herded swine in Antrim for six years before escaping to Gaul. He studied, became a bishop and returned to Ireland in 432 to preach the Gospel of Christ.

Many miraculous stories are told of Patrick's fight against the Druids' faith and their age-old Pagan customs. At Tara, the ancient capital, he narrowly escaped execution and composed his famous Lorica, or hymn of protection. Taking a shamrock from the green sod, he used it to explain the Trinity. Idols fell at his approach, and his miracles impressed the pagans.

For 61 years St. Patrick preached, converted and baptized. He died March 17, 493.

Latvia's Dictator

In 1900 the University of Nebraska conferred a bachelor of science degree on a young Lettish graduate named Karlis Ulmanis. Today he is president, premier and dicator of Latvia. His nation celebrated his 60th birthday on September 4 by issuing a set of nine stamps bearing his portrait.

Because of his activities in Latvia's independence movement—the Letts were trying to break away from Russia—Ulmanis found it wise to come to America. He was already a trained agriculturist, so he studied further in this field. He worked in a Lincoln, Neb., dairy, then made cheese in Texas, returning to Riga in 1913.

Ulmanis became Latvia's first prime minister in 1918. Since then he has been premier in eight cabinets, sometimes carrying the foreign minister's portfolio too. He is a large man, with tremendous energy. Lettish newspapers call him "Leader."

Colors and values of the Ulmanis set are: 3-santimu orange, 5-c yellow green, 10-s dark green, 20-s red violet, 25-s black violet, 30-s blue, 35-s indigo, 40-s brown, 50-s olive gray. It is a comparatively small issue, only 100,000 complete sets being released.

Roosevelt on Collecting

"The stamp hobby pays rich dividends both as a diversion and as a broadener of one's horizon, and the best of it is that one's interest, far from flagging, increases with the years, said President Roosevelt in wishing success to the National stamp exhibition at Rockefeller Center, New York (October 2-10). The President sent a selection of covers from his collection for exhibition.

More Land Needed For Tinton Falls School Play Yard

Proposal Being Considered of Buying Methodist Church Property and of Moving the Church Across the Street.

Consideration is being given to a proposal to enlarge the grounds of the Tinton Falls school by acquiring adjoining property owned by the Methodist church and to move the church building to a site opposite that which it now occupies on the west side of the Tinton Falls-Eatontown road. The matter has not gone beyond the discussion stage, as all the factors involved have not been examined. Both the school and the church officials seem to be favorably disposed towards the proposal.

The enrollment of pupils at the school is about 200; whereas last year it was 150 and it is regarded as likely that there will be similar annual increases. A room in the basement of the building which was constructed as a meeting place for the township committee and the board of education of Shrewsbury township has been put into service for the kindergarden pupils.

It is claimed that the school grounds are scarcely large enough to permit full play activities when all the pupils are out at one time and lack of space would become still more pronounced if it became necessary to build an addition. It is proposed to buy land formerly owned by the Shrewsbury Nurseries, Inc., and now owned by the First National bank of Eatontown and to trade this for the church land. The board of education is also discussing the feasibility of buying other land adjoining the school.

Lincroft.

(The Red Bank Register can be bought at Lincroft from Hubert Molzan, who has a delivery route).

The third annual attendance report of the Lincroft Sunday-school was announced Sunday by Superintendent Stanley Stilwell. The attendance for the third quarter was 462 in comparison with 370 for the third quarter of last year. He stated that it was also an increase over the second quarter. Mr. Stilwell urged perfect attendance for the last quarter which ends in December.

The Lincroft fire company was called out Monday morning to extinguish a chimney fire in a house on Brookdale farm, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy. The damage was slight.

Harry Neuberger and family of New York spent the week-end at their home here. They plan to spend the winter at their New York home.

The Ladies' aid society met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Harold Potter of Hudson avenue, Red Bank, and received reports of solicitations for the annual harvest home supper to be held at Lincroft chapel, Thursday evening, October 28. Seventeen members attended the meeting. A special meeting will be held Thursday afternoon, October 21, at Lincroft chapel when final plans will be completed for the supper. Mrs. Richdale, president, presided over Thursday's meeting.

Mrs. Martin J. Kelly's house on the main road is being repainted.

Walter Waibel of this place is on the committee of the Democratic executive board, which will hold a bunco party tonight at the Leonardo grill.

Eugene Ford has purchased a new DeSoto sedan from the McKnight motors at Red Bank.

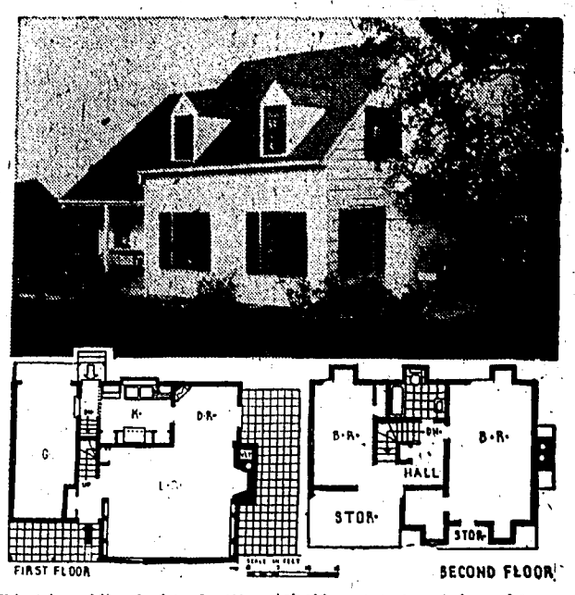

Mr. and Mrs. William Domidion, Sr., and son William, Jr., spent Saturday at New York. William Domidion, Sr., who has been seriously ill at his home, is again able to be out.

Harold Burns of Red Bank recently accepted a position as chauffeur for Mr. and Mrs. Harris B. Fisher of Brookdale farm.

Lillian Sprung, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sprung, has returned to her studies at Leonardo high school after having been confined to her home with ear trouble.

The Lincroft Gun club lost in a special match Sunday after a shoot-off with the South Amboy Gun club at the South Amboy shooting range. Both teams finished in a first-place tie. Next Sunday the Lincroft club will be host to Englishtown and South Amboy Gun clubs and a three-way match will be staged. There will be cash prizes for other events.

Living And Dining Rooms Treated As Single Area

This trim white clapboard cottage is located on the fringe of the residential section of Plainfield, N. J.

The living portion of the house is screened from the road by the garage, and opens on a small terraco at the rear. Dining room and living room are treated as one area—a desirable arrangement in a house of this size.

Marlboro.

Kenneth Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Collins, was appointed acting postmaster of this place last week, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss M. A. Tiernan, who has been postmaster here the past 16 years. Mr. Collins began his duties Monday morning and has the well wishes of the people of the community.

Holmes Sickles, who has been ill for several days, is confined to the Marlboro hospital, where he is employed. Mr. Sickles is suffering from a kidney ailment.

Mrs. Glen Wood and daughter, Miss Gwynned Wood, were recent guests of Mrs. Cossaboom.

Thirty new members were installed in a very impressive service at Grange hall Monday evening.

Mrs. Minor Brown, who has been ill for some time, was taken to a Philadelphia hospital Tuesday for treatment.

Miss Ethel Dorrer of Brielle was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Dorrer of Schanck street.

The Misses Ely of Main street entertained recently Miss Florence Heyer and Arthur Heyer of Montclair.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Quackenbush had as guests on Sunday, Mrs. Alexander Barkalow of Wildwood, Mrs. Barkalow of Red Bank and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Irwin of Middletown.

Miss Mildred Clayton was confined to her home the past week by a severe cold.

A Great Topcoat for the Business Man

Knit-tex

No topcoat could possibly be more ideal for the business man's requirements than a Knit-tex Coat. On the way to the office you are dressed with dignity. Should you be called out of the office in the rain, the coat can take it. For an unexpected business trip out of town, the coat can be worn on the back, carried over the arm, or packed in a suit-case and it will never wrinkle. Should you be lured to the country club on a week day, nothing is better suited to country wear.

And to top it off, this coat gives with every move of your body but falls back instantly into shape. Please accept this as an invitation to try one on.

To the man who is thinking of going out of town

Dear Sir:

The big city newspapers sound good and we know that far fields are green . . . but why not do this . . . why not shop the town before you leave town . . . why not see what your friends can show you in a Fall suit before you stand in front of a stranger's mirror?

All the clothiers in Red Bank will welcome this comparison and when you are through, we think you'll welcome our suggestion.

Speaking of our own styles and values . . . they speak louder than linotypes . . . and all it takes is one look before you leave to make you glad you stayed home.

Methodist Church Property May Not Be Sold After All

Boston Company Fails to Make $54,000 Payment Which Was Scheduled For Tuesday, October 5.

Another Chance For The Proposed Buyers

Is the sale of the Methodist church property and parsonage at the corner of Broad and Monmouth streets not to go through after all?

That is a question which is arousing much speculation at Red Bank and vicinity.

Last summer Frederick E. Ordway, representing a Boston development concern specializing in building, selling and renting business structures, agreed to buy the property in question for $120,000. An initial payment of $6,000 was made and another payment of $5,000 was to be made Tuesday, October 5. Subsequent payments were to be made from time to time.

Instead of paying the stipulated amount Tuesday, October 5, the Boston company asked for a month's grace in which to fulfill the terms. The inference is that the company wants more time in which to find tenants for the building which it has planned to erect on the church property.

The church officials have refused to grant the request, but at a meeting Tuesday night they passed a motion to give an option, provided that the company makes a sizeable payment. It was intimated that the option would be continued more than a month if the payment was substantial enough to guarantee evidence of good faith. Just how large the payment was to be was not stipulated but was left to the discretion of the officials of the church.

Plans have been under consideration for constructing a new church on the east side of Broad street, near Harding road. In the interim services were to be held in the auditorium of the Mechanic street school, permission for this having been granted by the board of education. About seven years ago an agreement was signed for the sale of the church property to a bank and a deposit of $50,000 was paid but the deal did not go through because no other payments were made.

Tennis Court For The Public

Carl Schwenker, Sr., Constructing One on His Property to Rent by the Hour—Expects to Build More Next Year.

Believing there is need for more public tennis courts in this locality, Carl Schwenker, Sr., of River road, Fair Haven, has begun the construction of a clay doubles court on his property in the rear of his home. Lee Becker of Red Bank, who recently completed a community tennis court at Holmdel, is the contractor.

The court will be completed this fall and will be rented out by the hour. "Tennis is growing in popularity," said Mr. Schwenker, "and there are not enough courts in this vicinity to accommodate those who want to play. I am building one court this year and expect to build several more next year in accordance with the demand." Mr. Schwenker's property extends as far as Knollwood. The soil, according to Mr. Becker, provides quick drainage and is ideally suitable for tennis courts. The court under construction is on Forrest avenue.

Annual Supper At Middletown

The annual supper for the benefit of the Baptist church of Middletown village will be held Thursday evening, October 28, from 5:30 to 8 o'clock. An erroneous announcement as to the date was made last week. The feast is renowned for its bountifulness and palatability and there is every indication that its reputation will be enhanced next week.

The supper will be given by the ladies of the church, with Mrs. Ehrick Parmly as chairlady. The sale of tickets is under the direction of Mrs. Thomas F. Morford and Mrs. John L. Hendrickson. The menu will include chicken salad, scalloped oysters, baked beans, pot cheese, potato chips, relishes, rolls, coffee and pie.

The 250th anniversary of the church will occur next summer and the ladies state that they will be glad to explain interesting facts about the church's history to those who desire this to be done.

Church Needs $131 To End Campaign

At an enthusiastic meeting of the official board of Sea Bright Methodist church Tuesday night, Rev. Howard N. Amer, pastor, stressed the need for the completion of the drive to raise $5,000. Approximately $4,869 has been raised to date, leaving a balance of $131 necessary to go over the top. Mr. Amer stated that an offer of $50 toward this amount has been raised on the condition that the balance of $81 be forthcoming before Sunday night, October 17. He said it is important that the full amount be raised in order to complete the repairs necessary to the church.

The Ladies' aid society will hold a rummage sale Wednesday, October 20, at 10 a. m., in the lecture room of the church. Donations may be left at the parsonage or will be collected by members.

Railroad Must Install Lights On White Road

Utility Commission Orders Installation of Flasher Signal on Crossing—Silverside Avenue Crossing Pending.

The State Public Utility commission has ordered the railroad company to install flasher warning lights at the White road crossing, Borough Attorney William A. Stevens reported to the Little Silver mayor and council at the regular meeting last night. The matter of safeguarding the Silverside avenue crossing is still pending, Mr. Stevens stated. Inspection of both crossings has been made by James Maybury, Jr., the utility commission's chief engineer of the Bureau of Railroads, who found the White road crossing the more serious of the two.

The road committee, of which Councilman Oliver G. Frake is chairman, was authorized to co-operate with the first company in laying sidewalks and curbing on the south side of Church street at the western end. This improvement will be made at present for a length of 150 feet in order to fill up a ditch at the side of the road. No action was taken on the proposed extension of the curbing eastward for a distance of 300 feet.

On the recommendation of Mr. Frake, Lester C. Lovett was appointed a member of the special school playground committee appointed to work out a plan to beautify the school grounds. George K. Allen, borough engineer, stated it may be possible for the borough to obtain WPA aid on the project. He said he had explained the project to an official of the WPA at Newark.

Permission was granted to the Ladies' auxiliary of the fire company to use the borough hall without charge for a bunco party Friday night, November 19.

Chief of Police Fred Ziegler requested the special officers of the borough be notified to assist him in patroling the borough on Hallowe'en. The borough has about 20 special officers.

A letter was received from the board of freeholders acknowledging the borough's application for part of the state dirt road improvement fund for 1938. The borough is asking for $4,110.

Bills amounting to $1,641.89 were paid.

Favor Change In Government

Petitions favoring a commission form of government at Atlantic Highlands in place of the present councilmanic government were filed yesterday with Miss Ruby E. Hartcorn, clerk of that borough. The petitions had 325 signatures. It is the duty of the clerk to examine and count the names to determine whether they comprise 20 per cent of the qualified voters at the last general election. If a sufficient number of qualified voters have signed then the proposition will be voted on by the people at the general election in November.

Local Odd Fellows To Attend Meeting

A delegation of members of the Neptune encampment of Odd Fellows will attend a meeting of the Atlantic encampment of Asbury Park on Thursday, October 21, to witness conferring of the patriarchial degree on several candidates by a team from Philadelphia. On Thursday, November 4, the same lodge will confer the golden rule degree and on Thursday, November 18, the Monmouth encampment of Keyport will have initiated the royal purple degree by Canton Monmouth.

Town's Oldest Dry Goods Firm Is Celebrating

Anniversary Sale of the Straus Company of Red Bank in Observance of Its 41st Birthday —Long Honorable Record.

The Straus company, Red Bank's oldest drygoods concern, is preparing to celebrate its 41st anniversary. Beginning tomorrow and continuing until the close of business Saturday, October 30, the firm will observe its birthday with a sale at which its ciation of their patronage and good will. Wholesale firms with which the Straus company deals are co-operating for the success of the sale. In its long and honorable business career the Straus company has made many friends among such concerns, and their interest in the success of the celebration is a source of large gratification to the owners of the Red Bank business.

As the firm turns its 41st anniversary it has the distinction of being the only business of its kind which has not changed its name. In fact, very few businesses of any kind in this town have been carried on by members of the same family since 1896. The company began its record by buying the drygoods business of the late George W. Hance. At first the store was managed by the late Charles K. Straus, who had the assistance of his father, the late Morris Straus.

The business grew with the town. In 1908 an addition was built to accommodate growing patronage, and in 1912 a much larger structure was added. This latter building was due to the foresight of Charles K. Straus who, in the face of much advice to the contrary, held to the belief that such expansion would be justified by the growth and development of Red Bank. That his judgment proved correct is well known. The business very soon acquired additional customers that made necessary the additional space for larger and more varied stock.

The business is managed by Julius and Fred Straus, brothers of Charles K. Straus, with whom they were associated a number of years before his death last fall. The two Straus brothers, besides being merchants, have been very active in the life of the community, especially as members of the Chamber of Commerce, and their many friends wish continued business success and happiness for them and their families.

Battery B To Sponsor Dance Armistice Night

The first dance of Battery B, 112th Field Artillery, New Jersey National Guard, will be held Armistice night, November 11, at the Red Bank Elks' club. The purpose of the dance is to raise money for the battery's "mess fund," a fund maintained to supplement the food served by the state and federal governments during the annual summer encampment. The dance will be made an annual event.

The battery's commanding officer, Captain Joseph E. Fix, issued the following appeal to dance program advertisers: "The federal and state governments allow only enough money for basic foods while our organization is on duty during the period of our annual field instruction, and it is always necessary for us to expend additional money for food. An earnest appeal is herewith made to your generosity to assist us in this necessary endeavor by taking an advertisement in our program."

Lieutenant Leonard M. Marthens is chairman of the dance committee. Sergeant Frederick Moog, Jr., is vice chairman; Corporal Martin J. Lohsen is financial secretary and Private William Bloom is recording secretary. Committee chairmen are Lieutenant William Sullivan, reception; Lieutenant Hans Kessler, decorations; Sergeant Theodore Clark and Private Frank L. Innacelli, advertising; Sergeant Andrew Bowman, music, and Private Frank L. Innacelli, publicity.

Honorary chairmen are Captain Fix and Major Lewis M. Smith of East Orange, commanding officer of the battalion of which the battery is a unit. Committee meetings will be held every Thursday night at the armory until the night of the dance.

Red Bank Union Makes Protest To School Board

Red Bank Board Decides It Has No Control Over Teachers During Their Summer Vacations.

The Red Bank board of education controls the Red Bank school teachers only ten months of the year and the other two months the teachers may do as they please. This deduction was made Tuesday night at a meeting of the board when the members were considering a complaint from the Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers union.

The union local complained that Stephen O. Skakandy of the teaching staff was painting in his spare time and had underbid local contractors on several contracts. Edwin C. Gilland, supervising principal, and Japhia Clayton, district clerk, asked Mr. Skakandy for an explanation prior to the meeting. In a written explanation, the painting school teacher said, "I spent the summer painting, crabbing, fishing and loafing." Since the start of school, I have given full time to my duties and have been doing a little tutoring after hours."

It was voted to spend $900 on repairs to a house on Catherine street, owned by the board of education. The football teams of Fort Monmouth and Fort Hancock were granted permission to use the high school athletic field for a game Armistice day, November 11.

Conference At Rumson School

Principals of Six-Year High Schools in the State Will Hold Round Table Conference Tomorrow in High School.

Principals of six-year high schools will gather in the Rumson high school tomorrow for their second round-table conference. There are only 15 six-year high schools in the state and Rumson has the distinction of being the only one in Monmouth county. In the other high schools the six grades are divided into two separate groups—junior high and senior high.

Invitations to attend tomorrow's conference have been extended by Charles A. Wolbach, supervising principal of the Rumson schools, to all principals of six-year high schools and to a number of principals and superintendents who have shown a definite interest in reorganizing their schools on a six-year basis.

10—11:15—Visiting classes.
11:15—11:55—High school assembly program.
1—2—Lunch in cafeteria.
2—3—Discussion and experience meeting. Send in questions.

Thomas B. Harper, county superintendent of schools, will attend. School superintendents and principals of schools in this vicinity who have been invited are Edwin C. Gilland and Harry C. Sieber of Red Bank, Roland Fennimore of Fair Haven, Herbert S. Meinert of Atlantic Highlands, Paul I. Redcay of Leonardo, J. O. Hartzler of Keyport and John E. Bennett of Matawan.

Surprise Store Has Anniversary Sale

William Gerstenfeld, proprietor of the Surprise store at 50 Broad street, is celebrating the third anniversary of the opening of his Red Bank store with a bargain sale. The sale starts tomorrow. Mr. Gerstenfeld has announced bargains in every department. A complete line of men's working clothes has been added as a new department at the store.

Card Party at Highlands.

The Highlands auxiliary of Monmouth Memorial hospital will hold a card party Wednesday night, October 20, at Johnson's hotel, Highlands. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served. Mrs. C. Mel Johnson is chairman of the committee in charge.

Hospital Auxiliary Meeting.

The opening fall meeting of the Red Bank auxiliary of Monmouth Memorial hospital will be held Monday, October 18, at 2 p. m., at Mrs. Ernest H. Boynton's at Alston court.

Trucks Banned On Oceanic Bridge; Speed Is Reduced

Commercial Vehicles of All Types Not Permitted to Cross Span at Rumson—Speed of Cars Cut to Ten Miles.

As a safety measure the Oceanic bridge over the Shrewsbury river at Rumson has been closed to commercial trucks of all types and the speed limit of passenger cars reduced from 15 to ten miles an hour. Special officers are at both ends of the bridge to enforce the new regulations.

Inspection by engineers last week revealed one of the trusses and a section of the guard rail slightly out of line, and while this was considered of no great danger at the present moment it was decided to keep trucks off the bridge and cut down the speed of cars to minimize vibration and lessen the possibility of further damage.

The freeholders will take immediate steps to strengthen the bridge, but are reluctant to spend a large sum as they believe it is only a question of time when a new span will be necessary. In recent years the bridge has been very expensive to maintain, frequent repairs being necessary.

Prominent officials who have been active in the movement for a new bridge are Assemblyman Joseph C. Irwin and Freeholder James S. Parkes of Red Bank and Mayor Nelson Edwards of Rumson. The freeholders have applied to the federal government for a PWA grant and loan for a new structure. The project has been tentatively approved by federal authorities, but at present there are no funds available for PWA projects.

Christmas Seal Sale Is Planned

Part of Proceeds Used to Finance Chest Clinics Held at Red Bank in Fight on Tuberculosis.

Plans are being made by the Monmouth County Organization for Social Service for the sale of Christmas seals next month. This year's design will be in blue, red, gold and black. The picture will be that of a town crier of early days with lantern and bell.

The proceeds from the sale of the seals are used to finance a fight on tuberculosis. In Red Bank last year there were three deaths from this disease, a decrease of five over the previous year. Deaths last year in Monmouth county totaled 88.

Some of the money derived from the sale of seals is used to support the chest clinic which is held monthly at the Red Bank borough hall. At the last clinic, held October 8, there was an attendance of 24, which included 15 children. Fifteen tuberculin tests were made.

The tuberculin test is a simple skin test which if positive denotes that the child has been in contact with the germ of tuberculosis. All cases which have a strongly positive reaction are turned over to the county sanatorium at Allenwood for X-ray, if parents are unable to pay for treatment by their private physician. It is important for these children to be X-rayed if they have a positive reaction in order to effect a cure Dr. Dorn, the state clinician, is in charge of the chest clinic. The local Red Bank nurses and the county tuberculosis nurses are also in attendance.

Adults and children who have been exposed to tuberculosis or who may have early symptoms of the disease come into these clinics, many times upon the advice of their private physician for a chest examination. This clinic work is only a small part of the preventive public health work which is carried on.

Relatives In Lawsuit Over Keyport Will

William E. Foster, sitting as a special master in chancery, heard testimony yesterday in a lawsuit brought by William H. Post, Mrs. Jane Gregory and Mrs. Annie Harris of Keyport to set aside the will of their brother, Cornelius J. Post, who died last November. The case was referred to Mr. Foster by Judge Edward Knight because of pressure of court business.

The will was made November 18, 1936, and Mr. Post died five days later. He left his entire estate to his wife, who is considerably younger than he, and made her the sole executrix. It is claimed by the contestants that he was subjected to undue influence by his wife and that he was incompetent to make the will because he was confined to his bed with sickness at the time. The contestants say that his wife refused to allow his relatives to talk with him during the period of his illness.

Testimony has been heard on two occasions at the town hall at Red Bank and more will be given at the same place next Wednesday. On the first occasion the entire time was taken up with testimony given by Cecil S. Ackerson, who was one of the witnesses of the will and who stated that he was a frequent visitor at the Post home. Melvin A. Philo, another witness of the will, testified yesterday as did also Abraham and Alexander Post, cousins of the testator, William Post, a brother of the testator, and Mrs. Elizabeth Ross, a niece.

William Post said that on one occasion when he called at the home of his brother he saw Cornelius Post, armed with a butcher knife, chasing his wife around a room. He said the couple had a reconciliation a short time later. It was stated that Cornelius Post was much wealthier at one time than he was when he made the will and that he had told friends that he had been "ruined by Roosevelt." His estate has an estimated value of $40,000. Ward Kremer of Asbury Park represents the widow and Theodore D. Parsons is the lawyer for the contestants.

Bus Service Is Red Hot Issue For The Bay Shore District

Rollo Company Wants to Halt Trips During Winter on Campbell's Junction-Keansburg Line.

Joseph Miele Asks To Provide Transportation

The Rollo Bus company has applied to the Public Utility Commission of New Jersey to suspend transportation service between Campbell's Junction and Keansburg until May 15 and in the future to discontinue running busses between the two-mentioned points from September 15 to May 15. Joseph Miele of Keansburg, in a letter to the township committee of Middletown township, states that he has made an offer to the Rollo company to take over the route, provided that he is permitted to operate it on a permanent basis throughout the year.

It is expected that the letter will be read and considered at the regular meeting of the township committee this afternoon. The Rollo company on several occasions has threatened to discontinue service but has never done so, although last year the time table was curtailed by permission of the public utilities commission.

The route between Campbell's Junction and Keansburg is said to be profitable during the late spring and summer but not largely used during the cold weather period. However, its discontinuance is strongly objected to by persons living in the territory. What attitude the township committee will take on the matter has not been divulged, but because of the pressure of public opinion it is generally assumed that Mr. Miele's application will be viewed with favor by the officials.

A hearing on the request of the Rollo concern to discontinue service is scheduled to be held before the state public utilities commission Tuesday, November 9, at Newark, and although there is no official announcement to this effect it seems probable that at that time representatives of the township will urge that the right be given to Mr. Miele to supplant the company in providing service. In his letter the Keansburg bus operator asks for no curtailment of the time table during the cold weather period.

The case is said to be unique in that it has never occurred before that when a transportation company asked to discontinue service another party requested to step in and take its place. Mr. Miele's letter to the township committee is as follows:

I understand that you have heretofore given a permit to the Rollo Transit corporation to operate a bus line between Keansburg, through Ideal Beach, East Keansburg, Port Monmouth and Belford to Campbell's Junction.

Later I understand that you gave the same company a permit to operate from Keansburg to Ideal Beach under another permit.

I understand that these permits have been approved by the State Board of Public Utility Commissioners and constitute a franchise to the Rollo Transit corporation to operate a bus line from Keansburg through the above named territory to Campbell's Junction.

I understand that the Rollo Transit corporation has made application to the State Board of Public Utility Commissioners for permission to suspend operation entirely on this line from September 15 to May 15 of each year.

I also understand that this matter has been placed upon the calendar of the Utility Commission at Newark on November 9th, 1937.

I want to say to you that I am willing and anxious to put on a bus to operate between Keansburg and Campbell's Junction through the above named territory.

By this communication, I am herewith presenting to you a formal application to effect this.

I would operate in the following manner, viz.:

During the winter months, I will operate daily service from September 15 to May 15, starting at 7 o'clock in the morning or whatever hour is agreeable to you and also continuing an hourly operation late enough to meet the regular bus from Red Bank and Highlands of the Boro Buses that comes into Campbell's Junction.

In other words, I will guarantee during the winter months above mentioned to furnish the hourly bus service to connect with the other bus line operating all the year round at Campbell's Junction.

In the summer time, I will increase the hourly service to half hour service.

I would also make a fare as follows:

From Keansburg to Thompson avenue at East Keansburg, a fare of five cents in either direction.

A fare from Campbell's Junction to Church street, Belford, of five cents in either direction.

A regular fare, however, from Campbell's Junction to Keansburg or any intermediate point other than the above, which would be ten cents.

I would call the line the Bay Shore bus line.

Of course, this operation by me is upon the condition, however, that all rights of the Rollo Transit corporation to operate on their route from or any portion thereof be rescinded for any portion of the year.

Of course, my condition is this: If my bus line operates in the winter time, then naturally I would

Saturday's Game To Be Broadcast

The football game between Red Bank and Morristown high schools Saturday afternoon will be broadcast over Station WBRB. This is the first of several games to be aired by the local station. On Friday night from Memorial field, Belmar, where Monmouth county schools are participating in night games, the contest between Neptune and Manasquan will be described. Due to these broadcasts several changes have been made in the regular programs. Arch Brown, the "home philosopher," will be heard Friday night at 7:15. "Banjo" Leonard will be on at 7:45 that night.

Fireman On Way Home From Parade Is Killed By Car

Edward A. Sickles of Fair Haven, 65, Hit by Three Cars Tuesday Night as He Crossed Highway at Avenel.

Edward A. Sickles of Church street, Fair Haven, 65 years old, was instantly killed Tuesday night when hit by a speeding automobile on the state highway at Avenel, near Woodbridge, as he was crossing the street to get something to eat. Witnesses claim Mr. Sickles was hit by one automobile, the driver of which kept on going and has not yet been apprehended, and then was run over by two other automobiles.

He was one of a number of members of the Fair Haven fire company who had taken part in the anniversary parade of the Elizabeth fire department and was on his way home when the accident happened.

At Avenel the first truck stopped across the highway from a diner. Mr. Sickles and Harry Veronceau were the last to cross the road, Mr. Sickles lagging behind to take off a heavy coat he was wearing to guard himself from the chilly wind. A man rushed into the diner saying a man had been hit by an auto. The firemen hurried out and found Mr. Sickles lying in the roadway.

He was taken to the Perth Amboy hospital but was dead upon arrival there. Later the remains were conveyed to the Worden funeral home, Red Bank.

Mr. Sickles was born at Bradevelt, the son of the late Edward and Catherine Tice Sickles. He engaged in farming a number of years and had lived at Fair Haven 25 years. Of late he was employed as a gardener for Mrs. Richard K. Fox of Branch avenue, Little Silver. He was a member of the Fair Haven fire company many years.

Surviving are five children, Miss Annie Sickles of Red Bank, Mrs. Katherine Fowler of River Plaza, Mrs. Elizabeth Bolt of Butler and William E. Sickles of Matawan and Fred H. Sickles of Brooklyn.

Services for Mr. Sickles will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Worden funeral home, East Front street, Red Bank. Rev. Henry P. Bowen, pastor of the Methodist church of Fair Haven, and chaplain of the fire company, will officiate. Interment, with the Wordens directing, will be in Holmdel cemetery.

Friends may visit the Worden funeral home this evening. A delegation of members of the Avenel and Fair Haven fire companies will pay their respects at the Worden home this evening, and Fire Chief Fox and a delegation of members of the Elizabeth fire company will attend the services tomorrow. The Fair Haven fire company, in uniform, led by Chief Robert Amendt, will attend the services tomorrow in a body, and their fire truck will convey the floral tributes.

Mrs. Agnes V. Singleton of Rumson, widow of Charles Singleton, died of a heart attack while driving west on East Front street, near Lake avenue, Friday afternoon. The car, containing her sister, Miss Margaret O'Connor, who lived with her, ran over the curb and sidewalk and struck an electric light pole. Miss O'Connor was uninjured.

Police, who investigated, state that Mrs. Singleton was driving very slowly at the time she was stricken. She was taken to Riverview hospital in the ambulance of the Fair Haven First Aid squad and was pronounced dead upon arrival. County Physician H. W. Hartman was notified and he ordered the body taken to the funeral home of John E. Day on Riverside avenue.

Mrs. Singleton was 54 years old. She was born in New York but had lived in this section most of her life. Besides the sister with whom she lived, she is survived by another sister, Mrs. Francis O'Connor, and a brother, John O'Connor, both of Rumson.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning at Holy Cross church, Rumson, where the rector, Rev. John E. Murray, celebrated a solemn high mass of requiem. Rev. Francis X. Kenny was deacon and Rev. Thomas Carney was sub-deacon. Father Murray recited "The Rosary" at the home Monday night. Professional bearers were in attendance. In charge of John E. Day of Riverside avenue, the body was conveyed to Long Island, where burial was made in Calvary cemetery. Monsignor Patrick Rogers of Brooklyn offered a prayer at the grave.

Obituary.

Mrs. T. Lewis Callahan.

Mrs. Kittie L. Callahan, wife of T. Lewis Callahan of Brown place, proprietor of Callahan's diner on Monmouth street at the railroad station, died suddenly Thursday night of an acute heart attack. She had been in excellent health and her death came as a shock to her many friends.

Mrs. Callahan was 59 years old. She was born at Poughkeepsie, New York, and had been a resident of Red Bank for the past 25 years. She was an active member of Trinity Episcopal church and many of its societies. Besides her husband, she is survived by three brothers, Guy, Caleb and Edward Knapp, all of Poughkeepsie.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at her late residence and at Trinity Episcopal church. Rev. Edward W. Miller, pastor of the Baptist church, officiated at the service at the house and Rev. Carroll M. Burck, rector of Christ Episcopal church, Shrewsbury, served at the church in the absence of the rector, Rev. Herbert S. Craig. John Sanders was organist.

The floral pieces were conveyed to the cemetery in the automobile truck of the Westside Hose company with Kenneth Woodward and David Dwight in charge. The bearers were Joseph P. Cooper, Joseph F. Johnston, Fred Bainton, John J. Madden, Councilman Harry G. Degenring and Osborn Harrison. Burial, in charge of the Worden funeral home, was in Fair View cemetery.

Mrs. Gertrude Stanhope.

Mrs. Gertrude Stanhope of Rumson, widow of Franklin Stanhope, died Saturday in Monmouth Memorial hospital, Long Branch, where she had been a patient about a week.

Mrs. Stanhope was injured on September 28 when the car in which she was riding crashed into a tree on River road, near Black Point road. She received a cut on her head, which took five stitches to close. She was treated at Riverview hospital and later taken to her home. Last week pneumonia developed and she was taken to Long Branch hospital.

Mrs. Stanhope was 29 years old. She is survived by three sons, Franklin, John and Robert, ranging in age from eight to five years. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brettenback, who survive. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Marie Slade, and two brothers, Atto Breitenbach of Rumson and Albert Breitenbach of Red Bank.

The funeral was held Monday morning at St. James' church, where a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Thomas E. Carney. The rector, Rev. Dr. John B. McCloskey, recited "The Rosary" at the home on Monday night.

The bearers were Otto Strohmenger, Harry Christianson, James VanKoolbergen, Joseph Desmond, Walter Johnson and Leon Westerberg. Burial, in charge of John E. Day of Riverside avenue, was in Mount Olivet cemetery, where Father McCloskey offered a prayer.

Mrs. Adelaide Van Ingre.

The funeral of Mrs. Adelaide Van Ingre, widow of John Van Ingre, who died on Wednesday of last week, was held Saturday morning at St. James church where a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Francis Dwyer, assistant rector. Mrs. Edward McDonough was soloist and organist. The bearers were Victor Wolfkamp, Frederick, Leon and Louis Van Ingre, Charles Harms and William Anderson. Burial, in charge of John E. Day of Riverside avenue, was in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Members of St. Vincent de Paul society recited the Rosary at the Day funeral home Friday night.

William Butler.

William Butler, who for a number of years resided with his son, James J. Butler of Middletown township, died Thursday night at Riverview hospital after a long illness. He was 75 years old.

Mr. Butler was active in Catholic church circles and was a member of the Holy Name society of St. James' church. Surviving, besides the son with whom he lived, are a daughter, Mrs. Katherine Muller of Newark, eight grandchildren and a great-grandchild. His wife, Mrs. Mary Butler, died a number of years ago.

The funeral was held Monday morning at St. James' church, where Rev. Thomas Carney, assistant rector, celebrated a solemn high mass of requiem. Mrs. Edward McDonough was organist and soloist.

On Sunday night members of St. Vincent dePaul society recited "The Rosary" at his late home.

The bearers were James Wallace, James Butler, Frank and William Taylor, Gilbert Burdett and John Dickey. Burial, in charge of John E. Day of Riverside avenue, was in Mt. Olivet cemetery. Rev. Francis Dwyer, assistant rector at St. James' church gave the absolution at the grave.

Mrs. Annie A. Shepard.

Mrs. Annie A. Shepard, wife of Elias H. Shepard of New London, Conn., died early Friday morning, October 8. She was 76 years of age. She was born in Keyport, February 14, 1861, a daughter of William M. and Mary Adeline Allen.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Katherine Smith of Norwich; two daughters, Mrs. Addie Budlong and Mrs. Wilehima McDonald of New London; two sons, Benjamin and John Latham, 11 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren, together with other relatives in New Jersey, New York and Connecticut.

Mrs. Shepard was a member of the Daughters of America and the Neptune club of New London where she had resided for more than 50 years.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon, October 11, at 2 o'clock at her home. There was a very large attendance of relatives and her many friends. The wealth of floral tokens of remembrance showing the love and esteem in which she was held by all were many and beautiful. The services were conducted by the Rev. Richard I. Porter, pastor of the Huntington Street Baptist church. Burial was in Jordan cemetery, New London.

Mrs. Miriam S. Steen.

Mrs. Miriam S. Steen of Eatontown, widow of James Steen, died suddenly yesterday morning at her home. She was 84 years old.

Mrs. Steen was born at Shrewsbury and was the daughter of the late Abram and Grace Holmes. She was a member of several societies of the Eatontown and Shrewsbury Presbyterian churches.

Surviving are a nephew, Charles Thomas of Franklin, Pennsylvania, and two nieces, Mrs. James P. Stofford of Newark and Miss Emma Holmes of Shrewsbury.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock with Rev. George H. Miksch, pastor of Shrewsbury Presbyterian church, Rev. James P. Stoffiet of Newark, and Rev. LeRoy Y. Dillinor of Barnegat, officiating. Burial, in charge of Charles Breese of Eatontown, will be in the Shrewsbury Presbyterian church cemetery.

James M. Connolly.

James M. Connolly of Belford died of heart disease Wednesday, October 6, at the age of 62 years. He is survived by his widow and six children, the latter being Malcolm and John Connolly of Astoria, Long Island, Mrs. Margaret Koball of Corona, Long Island, and Mrs. Anna Tarnow, Miss Elizabeth Connolly and James Connolly of Belford. The funeral was held at the late home of Mr. Connolly Saturday and the sermon was preached by Rev. Winfield Ackert, pastor of a Reformed church at New York. Interment was made by Funeral Director H. Lawrence Scott of Belford in Fair View cemetery.

William H. Pettes.

William H. Pettes, a resident of Fair Haven for the past 12 years, died early Saturday morning at his home on Grange avenue after an illness of several months.

Mr. Pettes was 70 years old and was born at St. Louis, Missouri. For 40 years he was associated with the Public Service corporation at Newark. In late years he was a junior officer in the gas division. He retired about a year and a half ago when his health failed. Mr. Pettes had been a resident of Newark and East Orange before moving to Fair Haven.

Surviving, besides his wife, Mrs. Madeline Strecker Pettes, are a sister, Miss Amy Pettes, and a brother, Stanley Pettes, both of Metuchen.

The funeral, which was private, was held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Worden funeral home with Rev. Henry P. Bowen, pastor of Fair Haven Methodist church, officating. Professional bearers were in attendance and burial was at the convenience of the family.

Charles C. Mauser.

Charles C. Mauser, a life-long resident of Phalanx, died Sunday morning after being stricken with a heart attack while working in the garage in the rear of his home. Physicians were summoned but Mr. Mauser was dead upon their arrival. Previously he had enjoyed good health.

Mr. Mauser was 66 years old. He was born at Phalanx and was the son of the late Adam and Louisa Dietz Mauser. He had always engaged in farming. His wife, Mrs. Fredericka Dietz Mauser, died three years ago.

Surviving are five sons, Clarence and Harry Mauser of Phalanx, Charles J. Mauser of Red Bank and William and Herbert F. Mauser of Long Branch; a sister, Mrs. Clarence Beck of Red Bank and four brothers, George and Joseph Mauser of Lincroft, John Mauser of Phalanx and Fred Mauser of Eatontown.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at his late home with Rev. Marshall Harrington, pastor of Holmdel Reformed and Baptist churches, officiating. Members of the New Era society, of which Mr. Mauser was a member, were honorary bears. The active bearers were John and Charles S. Bucklin, John and Forman A. Sutphin, Harry A. Walling and William VanBrunt. Burial in charge of the Worden funeral home was in Fair View cemetery.

Louis W. Schiefer.

Louis W. Schiefer of Bay avenue, Highlands, died of complications Sunday at Monmouth Memorial hospital at the age of 74 years. He was born in Germany and had lived at Highlands seven years. He was a baker. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Matilda Schiefer, and a son.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at the house. Harry Posten conducted the service. Burial by A. M. Posten and Sons was in Bay View cemetery.

Sea Bright Personals.

The Sons and Daughters of Liberty lodge of Sea Bright is planning a Hallowe'en party for members and guests at the next meeting of the lodge Friday night, October 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Bloomfield Fary and son Joseph are spending several weeks with relatives at Willsboro, New York.

Mrs. Frank Covert, Sr., is spending a week with her daughter, Mrs. George Doyle of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. William Douglas and family are on a trip through the South. They expect to go as far as Tennessee. Mr. Douglas is having a week's vacation from his duties as street superintendent.

Pilot Has New Job.

William K. Parrish, former chief instructor at the Red Bank airport, has left the local flying field and has accepted a position with the New York city board of education as an instructor in the vocational school. Mr. Parrish will be at the airport over the week-ends.

Office Opened In Picturesque Holmdel Setting

Paul R. Stryker Invites the Public to Visit His New Place of Business in Beauty Spot Surrounded by Water, Flowers.

Holmdel has gained a beauty spot at the southeast corner of Route 34 and the Holmdel-Marlboro county road as a result of Paul R. Stryker having built a real estate office and of having converted the land adjoining it into a miniature marine floral arbor. The place was one of the wildest and worst eyesores in the neighborhood but its contour and entire general appearance have been changed due to the landscape work which Mr. Stryker has done without assistance over a period of several months. The property comprises about three-fourths of an acre, with a frontage of 200 feet on the State highway.

Mr. Stryker, who is a Red Bank resident and formerly associated with Ray H. Stillman of Eatontown, is engaged in a general real estate and insurance business but he is specializing in the sale of farms and other country properties and for this reason he selected rural surroundings as the best location for his office. Both the building and the land are unusual, and autoists frequently stop to admire the view. Mr. Stryker opened business Monday with an invitation to the public to visit him. He states that all persons will be welcome, regardless of whether they are clients or not.

The building has a white exterior with green blinds, while the interior has knotty pine walls, green ceilings and red oak floors. There are four offices and a lavatory. The ceilings are supported by huge hand-hewn beams resembling the old-fashioned sort. Entrance is afforded by a double door of the old-time Dutch style. The porch is enclosed with glass and it has a brick floor. The plans were by Architect George A. Delatush and he directed the construction.

Charles Scott of Red Bank was the building contractor, Charles Meeker of River Plaza did the plumbing work and D. A. Caruso of Atlantic Highlands did the mason work. Mr. Stryker says he cannot too-highly praise the manner in which the architect and contractor have performed their work.

The grounds present a picture even more attractive than the new office building. Willow Brook and an unnamed brook converge on the rear end of the property. By means of rocks and stones Mr. Stryker has managed to create a water falls along the course of the small brook. It "murmurs" and "talks" all the time, even in the dryest weather.

Also there is a lake. On the property is a decorative rain barrel which sheds its collection into the lake. There will be a hydraulic ram with a fountain to pour water into the lake. The chief object of this is to prevent the water of the lake from becoming stagnant.

Walks of broken flagstones with grass growing between the spaces have been laid. A well with a bucket is another feature. Honeysuckle and myrtle are on the banks of the brooks and rhododendrons and hemlock will be planted on adjoining property. Pond lilies will be another feature. A rustic bridge with a railing has been placed across Willow brook and rustic railings are on both sides of the broken flagwalks. The land is somewhat lower than the road and several flagwalk steps have been made. A fine stand of grass covers a large part of the grounds and more lawns will be made in the spring, together with shrubbery ornamentation. Charm was the chief object aimed at by Mr. Stryker and all visitors at the place agree that he has achieved it to a remarkable degree.

Warren, Mrs. E. H. VanSicklen, Mrs. Rodman Getty and Miss Edith Wright.

COLLECTING AUTO PLATES.

Mayor A. M. Minton of Fair Haven Lining His Garage With Them.

Voters in the second election district of Fair Haven have the garage on Mayor Augustus M. Minton's residence property on River Road as their polling place. The garage is a large one and can accommodate three cars easily.

For years Mayor Minton has had two pleasure cars and as the license plates, four each year, were removed at the end of each licensed period they were nailed up in series within the garage.

The plates date back to 1916. The various color combinations make an unusual, yet interesting collection and are very entertaining to the voters as they stand in line waiting their turn to cast their ballots.

Mayor Minton is proud of his collection. He says that not only is it most unusual and represents much money paid out in license fees, the plates also represent many years of automobile pleasure.

The mayor is in exceptionally good health and he expects to have the interior of his garage pretty well insulated with automobile license plates before the day comes when he will be called to take up his abode where automobiles are not required.

Church Notes.

Presbyterian.

Two members were enrolled in the Sunday Morning club of the Presbyterian church at a meeting in the tower room of the church. They are Mrs. Philip T. Smith of Elm place and Mrs. Peter Pingitore of Middletown township.

John B. Allen conducted the meeting. Mrs. Lawrence R. Burdge led a discussion on the subject "Christian Sonship" and Mrs. Lewis R. Lowry conducted a forum on the theme, "The Christian in God's Keeping."

Meetings hereafter will be held Sunday morning at 9:50 o'clock instead of at 10 o'clock. The subject for discussion at next Sunday's meeting will be "Christian Speech and Conduct" and will be led by Mrs. Karl G. Jansky and Mrs. Carl B. H. Feldman.

"New Forms of Service" was the subject of the address given by George W. Strauss, senior high school teacher, Sunday morning to members of the Young Men's Bible class. Arthur Cadman presided, Dr. L. F. MacKenzie presented the opening prayer and Ernest Griffiths read the Scripture lesson.

Donald Klopp, also teacher in the senior high school, played the piano for the singing of "Tell Me the Old, Old Story."

Preston Morford will be the speaker next Sunday morning and the subject of his address will be "The Children of God."

A meeting of the Young Women's Bible class was held Sunday night with Mrs. Walter L. Fredericks in charge. The class is completing the study of a book, "Our Presbyterian Church," and will begin a new form of text subjects in the near future.

Miss Ida Goodspeed of Middletown township presided at the regular meeting of the Young People's Christian Endeavor society Sunday night. Miss Goodspeed also conducted the devotional period. Mrs. Lillie H. Reamer played the piano for the group singing and Miss Alberta Youmans read the Scripture lesson. The topic for discussion, also led by Miss Goodspeed, was "Am I Sharing Christ With Others?"

The subject of the sermon to be given Sunday morning by the pastor, Rev. John A. Hayes, will be "On the Road to Jericho." The theme for the evening address will be "East Street." The quartet, accompanied by William H. Crawford at the organ, will sing at both services.

Several members of the Young People's Christian Endeavor society are attending the state Christian Endeavor society being held at Bridgeton.

The musical program will include the prelude "Barcarolle" by Faulkes, a selection by the junior choir, "Fairest Lord Jesus," anthems, "Prepare Ye the Way of the Lord" and "Evening and Morning."

Sessions of the International school of missions will be held on Thursday, October 14, and on Thursday, October 21. The textbook, "Young Moslem Looks at Life," will be used. The first two chapters will be reviewed by Mrs. Henry Conover and the third chapter will be reviewed by Mrs. George Voorhis. The devotional service at the first meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Chris Berge while the religious rites at the second meeting will be conducted by Mrs. A. C. Beeb. Mrs. Alden Mason and Mrs. Fred Conover will sing a duet at the opening session and Miss Grace Beith will present a solo at the other meeting.

The annual banquet of the Workers' conference will be held Monday, October 18, in the Roosevelt tea room at Little Silver. Mrs. J. Parker will be in charge.

Methodist.

"The Prescription of a Prisoner" will be the subject of the sermon to be given at the morning service of the Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. Herbert J. Smith. The senior and young people's vested choirs will sing several anthems. Mrs. Theresa G. Willey, organist and director of music, will have charge of the musical program, which will include the prelude, "Fifth Symphony" by Tschaikowsky, the anthem, "Let My Prayer Come Up Into Thy Presence" by the senior choir and "The Spacious Firmament" by the young people's choir.

The informal worship in the evening will include the singing of hymns selected by the congregation. The subject of the sermon will be "Guaranteed Not to Fail." The musical selections will include "Berceuse in A," the offertory "Salut D' Amour" by Elgar and the anthem, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus, Say," by the senior choir.

The Worker's conference of the church school staff will meet in the church on Tuesday evening, October 19, at 8 o'clock. The officers and teachers of all departments of the school comprise this conference and at this session the program for the monthly conferences to be held throughout the year will be presented.

The devotional service for the church will be held on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the church and the devotional address will be given by the minister.

On Thursday night, October 21, the monthly session of the Men's association will be held in the church with Arthur J. Davis, the president, in charge. The report of the nominating committee for the ensuing year will be presented and an election of officers conducted.

The Woman's Foreign missionary society will meet on Thursday, October 19, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. John Ward of Mechanic street.

Autumnal Sunday will be observed at the morning service on Sunday, October 24, with a program suitable to the occasion. In connection with this service the annual donation of foodstuffs for the Methodist Episcopal Home for the Aged at Ocean Grove will be made. Members are asked to bring or send their donations of canned goods, staple groceries, etc., to the church on Saturday, October 23, if possible. If not, a phone call to the parsonage will bring a collector for them.

Lutheran.

A group of members of the congregation of Trinity Lutheran church attended the fall festival of the Wartburg' Lutheran orphans' home at Mount Vernon, New York, Tuesday. Gifts of food and clothing, received at the harvest home festival last Sunday, were taken to the home.

Members of the Lutheran league of the local church attended a rally of the Luther leagues of the shore district Tuesday night at Asbury Park.

The pastor, Rev. Walter Cowen, members of the church-school, Sunday-school teachers and officers of various auxiliaries of the church attended a central district promotional meeting last night at New Brunswick.

The Ladies' aid society and the Women's Missionary society met yesterday afternoon in the church hall. Mrs. Thomas Mead presided over the missionary meeting and led a discussion of the topic, "The Rural Church in the West." The Ladies' aid session was conducted by Mrs. Harold Hendrickson.

Plans for a loyalty supper to be held Thursday night, October 28, were made.

The Sunday school will meet Sunday morning at 9:45 o'clock with the pastor in charge. Lutheran brotherhood day will be observed at the morning service at 11 o'clock. The common service will be conducted by the pastor and special music will be presented by the choir. The topic of the sermon will be "The Leadership of Men." A special meeting of the congregation will be held after the service.

First Church of Christ, Scientist.

Services in First Church of Christ, Scientist, at 209 Broad street, Red Bank, are held on Sundays at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m., and on Wednesdays at 8 p. m.

"Doctrine of Atonement" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 17.

The Golden Text is: "God is faithful, by whom ye were called unto the fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord." (I Corinthians 1:9).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in Him: For in Him dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead bodily." (Colossians 2:6,9).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Glory be to God and peace to the struggling hearts! Christ hath rolled away the stone from the door of human hope and faith and through the revelation and demonstration of life in God hath elevated them to possible at-one-ment with the spiritual idea of man and His divine principle, love." (p 45).

Council Doings At Atlantic Highlands

The Atlantic Highlands mayor and council at the regular meeting Monday night awarded a contract to Charles J. Hosso of Belford for resurfacing Lawrie road and East avenue. The bid was $1,492.50.

A petition with 35 signers was presented in protest against the operation of a loud speaker at the High Point restaurant on Ocean boulevard. Most of the signers live on Bayside drive in Maxwelton Park. The clerk was instructed to write a letter to the owner ordering him to refrain from using the loud speaker, otherwise the council will take action against his liquor license.

The council paid $3,100 in county taxes, $2,400 in current bills and $100 to the public health association.

Exempt firemen's certificates were granted to Dominic Caruso of Hose Company No. 1 and Algy Drinkwater, Charles Huber, Edmond Blom, James Kerrigan, E. F. Hartcorn and Peter McLaughlin of Mantell Hose company. The resignation of Albert Halleran from the membership of Hose company No. 1 and the acceptance of Harold K. Merritt as a member of the Mantell Hose company were accepted.

THE PRICE OF PEACE

I can remember not many months back when this country was filled with "peaceful" talk of peace . . . and I liked the sound of it then better than I like the fury of it now.

Peace at any price is a phrase that rolls neatly off the tongue, but don't forget, neighbors, that not many years ago the price of peace was "war" . . . and war may again be the cost unless this country's mighty careful.

When you think of the time that elapses between championship bouts . . . you begin to wonder if prize fighters, particularly the heavyweights, haven't the right idea. Fighting may be their business . . . but THEY put it off as long as possible.

WE TAKE YOUR CHILD'S FOOT IN HAND

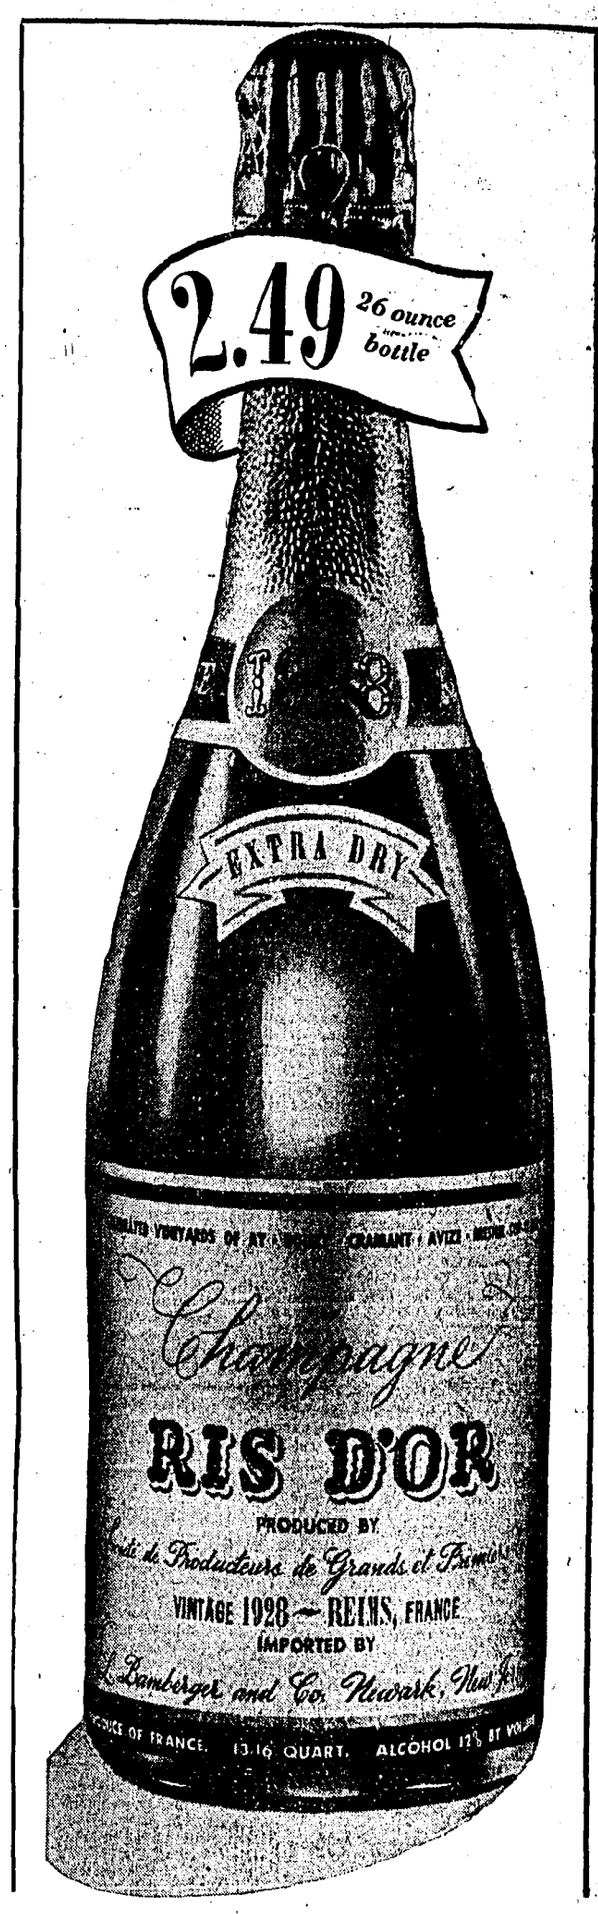

Bamberger's is waging an intense crusade against guesswork in fitting growing young feet. To this end we have an expert Foot Trainer fitting supervisor — who devotes his time to fitting your child's foot with scientific accuracy.

He supervises every fitting five ways — we've illustrated above how he checks width. He gauges the distance from the joint of the large toe to the outer edge of the small toe, allowing for expansion under standing weight. Remember, a narrow shoe can cause distorted joints — that a child sometimes carries with him the rest of his life!

Because of its tremendous acceptance in Jersey and the increasing rarity of this great 1928 vintage, our internationally known taster on his annual trip abroad checked first on the flavor and the quality and then on the supply of this fine vintage champagne. Compton's Creek To Be Protected Against Storms

Middletown Township Committee and County Board of Freeholders Agree on Program to Build Bulkhead.

Last year a notable project was carried through at Compton creek, Port Monmouth, by the War Department for the benefit of fishermen and other boat owners. A new channel was dredged into the creek and the mouth of the creek was enlarged to a width of 75 feet and eight feet deep at mean low tide.

Before that time no dredging or improvement had ever been done in the creek up to its mouth. For a number of years the watermen using the creek have had to wait for tides and were hindered a great deal by shallow water.

This improvement provided a harbor for vessels all the way to the drawbridge at any tide, and resulted in marine traffic in the creek this year being more than trebled. It is a scene of much maritime activity.

However, at the mouth of the creek the heavy seas have been washing over the Point on Fisher's island, with the result that large quantities of sand have been deposited which threaten to make the creek unusuable. Although the work was done but a year ago a large bar of sand has already filled part of the mouth of the creek.

People interested in this project are very anxious to remedy this condition, and a meeting was held at the place Saturday afternoon, representives of the county of Monmouth, the township of Middletown and the fishermen being present.

Among those present were Freeholders Joseph Mayer and Director Raymond L. Wyckoff, representing the county; Capt. Albert Runyon, chairman of the township committee, Committeemen Edward H. Morford, Victor E. Grossinger, Philip Leonard and John T. Lawley, Township Engineer Craig Finnegan and Howard W. Roberts, township clerk. Among the residents interested in the project present were Capt. William Dennis, a member of the New Jersey Shellfish commission; Charles Schnoor, Albert S. Maxson, Elmer G. Maxson, Alfred Richardson, Chester Henry and a number of others.

Freeholder Mayer gave many suggestions which all present agreed were very valuable. While he was mayor of Belmar he was very active in the improvement of Shark river over a period of ten years.

The co-operation of the county was asked in remedying the condition of the creek, and Mr. Mayer said that inasmuch as the county was going to give assistance for the Leonardo harbor project he saw no reason why the same should not be done for Compton creek.

It was agreed that a new bulkhead would be erected along Fisher's Point on the northeasterly side of the mouth of the creek, which would keep the heavy seas from washing over into the mouth. The work will be done by the township of Middletown and will be reimbursed by the county of Monmouth. The fishermen were enthusiastic in their praise of the interest shown by Mr. Mayer and Director Wyckoff.

Mr. Mayer complimented the people upon their far-sightedness in their action a number of years ago in securing government aid in the improvement of the creek. He said the activity on the creek this year justified the work in that connection a few years ago. He said the same thing was true at Shark river, and he thought the Bay Shore had a wonderful asset in Sandy Hook and Raritan bays. He said he was glad to see that the bays were being developed.

Farmer, Thrown From Wagon, Dies

James A. Long of Everett Meets Death as Result of Injuries Suffered—Found Unconscious in His Corn Field.

James A. Long, a life-long resident of Everett, died Saturday morning in Monmouth Memorial hospital, Long Branch, of injuries received on Thursday when he was thrown from a wagon while carting corn from his farm.

Mr. Long was found lying unconscious in the corn field the day after the accident by Joseph Magee, also of Everett. Neighbors had seen the team of horses which Mr. Long had been driving running loose in the field and investigated. Mr. Magee notified Miss Ruth Williams, Holmdel township nurse, who gave first aid treatment before the arrival of a physician. Mr. Long was taken to the hospital, where it was found that his back was broken.

It is believed that the team of horses had bolted. The whiffletree of the wagon was broken. Mr. Long was thrown to the ground, landing on his back, and he never regained consciousness.

Mr. Long was a bachelor and had lived alone on his farm. His parents, also natives of Everett, were David and Ellen Long. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Bernard Bodine of Red Bank.

The funeral was held yesterday morning at St James' church, where the rector, Rev. Dr. John B. McCloskey, celebrated a high mass of requiem. Burial, in charge of R. R. Mount & Son of West Front street, was in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Story—Gustavson.

Mrs. Lida Story of Westside avenue and Anthony Gustavson of Brooklyn were carried Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at a Methodist church in Brooklyn. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hanson of Brooklyn. After a short wedding trip the couple will reside at Brooklyn, where Mr. Gustavson is employed.

Ivory or white satin is very becoming to most dark-haired, dark-eyed young women.

Rumson School Board Favors Night School

Supervising Principal Wolbach Given Authority to Open Night School — Contractor Ordered to Repair Leaks.

The Rumson board of education at the regular meeting last night gave Charles A. Wolbach, supervising principal, authority to start a night school. The board will pay for light, heat and janitor service, but will not pay the cost of instruction. WPA assistance in furnishing teachers is out of the question, according to a letter read to the board last night, which stated that the WPA is not open to any more projects for the present. A registration fee will be charged to cover the cost of instruction. Details will be worked out within the coming week by Mr. Wolbach. The school will be held two nights a week and a minimum of 20 pupils is necessary for each class. The subjects to be taught will depend on the number of registrations.

The board passed a motion serving notice on the Ehret-Day Co., of Asbury Park, contractors on the high school building, to repair leaks in the school tower and walls within ten days or the board will authorize the work to be done by another contractor and assess the cost against the Asbury Park firm.

Miss Elma Repp, home economics teacher in the high school, was appointed supervisor of the new cafeteria in the Lafayette street school. The cafeteria will begin operation as soon as the furniture, which should arrive this week, is installed.

Permission was given to the Young Men's club of Rumson to use the high school gymnasium one night a week, and to the County Parent-Teacher association to use the auditorium for a fashion show November 10.

It was decided to transfer the Rumson-Leonardo football game on Thanksgiving from Rumson to the new athletic field at Leonardo. The board plans to resume the employment of relief labor on the high school grounds in the near futurc.

Short Session Held By Eatontown Council

A short meeting of the Eatontown mayor and council was held last night at which time an application was received from Abe Fisher to open an auto wrecking yard next Alex's garage on Neptune highway.

Councilman James A. Gibbons was against issuing a permit as he stated that an auto wrecking yard was a menace to the borough. The matter was laid over subject to a public hearing at the next meeting, October 27.

Councilman Frank VanDorn reported that "no gunning" signs had been placed about the borough. Councilman Spencer M. Patterson reported that the new fire apparatus is expected to arrive the first part of next week and Councilman Christoph O. Angelbeck, Jr., reported that several of the roads in the borough had been given their first treatment of oil.

Bills amount to $952.95 were ordered paid and a resolution was approved appropriating $3,300 for the improvement of Grant avenue and Wall street. Other minor resolutions were also approved.

Red Bank Couple Married 25 Years

Captain and Mrs. F. G. M. Anderson of Clifford place celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Columbus day, October 12. Captain Anderson is master of the H. H. Rogers, a Standard Oil company tanker, which is due in New York Saturday. Mrs. Rogers entertained 25 relatives and friends Tuesday afternoon and evening in celebration of the anniversary.

The couple was married at Brooklyn and have resided at Red Bank 16 years. Before her marriage Mrs. Anderson was Miss Ingeborg A. Bloomquist. They have three children, Violet and Svea, who live at home, and Everett, whose home is at Shrewsbury.

Captain Anderson was in the Swedish navy before coming to this country. He went to work for the Standard Oil company in 1919 and was made a captain of one of the company's tankers in 1926.

Labor League Starts Membership Drive

Unanimous endorsement of the entire county Democratic slate was voted Monday night at an enthusiastic meeting of the Labor Non-Partisan league at its Monmouth street headquarters. Plans were made for a mass meeting at the headquarters Monday night. James LaBlonda, president of the league, has announced a membership drive.

The organization now has 300 members from three union clothing factories in Red Bank. New members will be taken from non-union shops.

Another Social Hygiene Story For Our Readers

"Choosing a Home Partner" by Newell W. Edson is Food for Thought as Set Forth in Article Which We Reprint.

Choosing a home partner is a most important part of the cycle of life and Newell W. Edson has taken this thought for the title of his most interesting article which has been copyrighted by the General Board of the Y.M. C. A., and which The Register is privileged to present to its readers through the courtesy of The American Social Hygiene association of New York city.

By Newell W. Edson.

There is no choice of more importance to young people than that of choosing a mate.

For the average man it entails a partnership through the years of his greatest achievement, and it usually influences those achievements deeply. It determines the character and happiness of his home, which is usually his daily starting point, his inspiration and his refuge. If he chooses wisely, to this mate he will turn as his fairest critic, his steadiest backer, his most honest guide, his surest source of ideals. This choice will determine the abilities and training of his children as members fit to serve society and to what extent his home is of influence in neighborhood and community.

For, despite the increasing number of divorces, this partnership is in most cases a permanent relationship. It is a 24-hour-a-day affair with a person who is in many respects quite different from yourself—in strength, in courage and purpose, in ideals, in attitudes, in habits. Hence, there is constant need of adjustments, of consideration for each other, of willingness to concede, of consultations for harmony—in short, the give-and-take so necessary to any partnership of equals. It is, or should be, not a 60-40 or a 70-30 relationship but 50-50—on an equality basis. No other arrangement is fair, nor in these days is it likely to bring real success. Each partner shares and helps alike, whether dealing with budget or babies, diet or discipline, picture hanging, change of residence, or any other home problem. Again, this partnership is a going concern, with new events constantly happening. So there is no chance here for the loafer! Service is ever the motto of successful partners. It is a serious and absorbing job, this home partnership, and equally serious is the task of choosing a mate to share it with you. In fact, this task is quite as important as your struggle for success in your chosen vocation. It is a choice of a life job with a life partner.

Surely no choice is more important to a woman than that which involves her selection of the man who is to share her intimate life, and possibly to become the father of her children. She, even more than he, will need a partner in whom she has confidence, who understands and appreciates her daily efforts to bring comfort and happiness to the members of the family, and who will encourage her to develop her capabilities to the full. Above all she will need a partner who is able and willing to share the constant work and planning incident to responsible parenthood and the building of successful permanent family life.

Are you then paying to the task of mate-choosing an attention equal to that paid to your vocation? Breadwinning and mate-winning are two main jobs of life.

Chief among the factors that determine your choice is your object in marriage. What is it? Companionship? A home? Physical fulfillment? A search for adventure? Escape from monotony? Social advancement?

Marriage for the man, to be sure, is an easy way to acquire domination, for the woman often opportunity to ensure economic support. Perhaps you seek a means of satisfying your love for beauty in life? Or are you, as you should be, looking ahead to the high goal of establishing a unit in the family social institution, of rearing children to be worthy members of society and sharing life with a mate with whom you can find your finest self-realization and the greatest opportunity for service.

Many objectives move young people to marriage. You need to search your inner self deeply for the real motives that are pushing you on, weigh them carefully and determine their real worth.

One motive is a prime necessity to any choice of mate. It is that of sex attraction. Without it all other motives are vapid and colorless. Back of it is the biologic urge of reproduction, as old as the race itself and without which there would be no race. You should not be ashamed of this urge, nor should you permit any one to try to make you ashamed of it. Modified as it is today by social and spiritual factors, it is one of the loftiest and most ennobling forces in human life. And this sex attraction must be mutual, for it is fundamental to genuine love, without which no partnership is worth considering. It unites as can no other bond, and it holds when other bonds weaken.

But when you are thus first attracted, you must not allow yourself to be swept off your feet. There are other factors to be considered, factors which deeply concern the success of the partnership, and if you depend on attraction alone, it will soon swamp your judgment and is apt to thrust you into a mating dominated largely by the senses. That type of mating, as any one who has experienced it will admit, is almost invariably temporary, shallow and unsatisfying. So hold your heart in check a bit till your head reasons about some of these other matters.

Romance, so frequently the only guide, is a poor one in mate-choosing—apt to be fleeting and thin, a lure of the emotions, a thrilling response to adventure, and often followed by disenchantment. As an appetizer romance is delicious; as a steady diet, it has little nutritional value.

In order to make a wise choice of mate you need more than romance. You need to know much about people in general and about one person in particular. You would need this knowledge in selecting any other type of partner, and you will have closer relations with your home partner than with any other partner; in fact you will together weave the web of life so closely that in the partnership pattern your threads cannot be separated.

Do not seek perfection in a mate—even if you are able to give adequate return. Though every one naturally wants the ultimate in sympathy, intelligence, capability, attractiveness and poise, there are not enough perfect specimens to go around. So there must be for most people some scaling down of standards to a practical basis.

Moreover, don't forget that to secure the right mate is as necessary to the happiness of one as to that of the other. So don't be suspicious if you discover your prospective partner to be as active in the search as you are. You are both trying to secure standards that will help judgment. Why shouldn't you both be genuine in the matter?

In no other life situation is it so difficult to be honest with one's self as in mate-choosing. Love is a shameless falsifier and we are apt to accept his decree without question. If you can set yourself some simple standards and apply them honestly before love befuddles your reason you will have a better chance to choose wisely than as if you close your eyes, driven on by the beat of pulses, and trust to luck.

What are some of these standards?

First, a partner closest to your ideal. That ideal you should make as definite as possible. For many it is close to that built around their mother or father. It is not static but will change as you grow and as you come to know more about people. Try to keep it a practical ideal.

Second, and this point is quite as obvious as the first, a partner of sterling character. As chief counsellors and guides, of your herself-himself combination, your children, and the coterie of relatives and friends who cluster about your partnership, there will be needed a solid core of fairness, honesty, courage, responsibility, self-control, common sense and spiritual insight. To this there should be added a generous fund of cheerfulness and a good sense of humor.

Third, a partner who perennially interests you in thought, speech and action, to whose mentality you respond. No boredom here! No falling back on radio, movies or friends to fill the gaps or make the partnership endurable. Your interest is always fresh.

Fourth, a partner in whom you have confidence. This involves knowledge, a genuine respect and a solid approval of standards and behaviour. Holdbacks, reservations, the failure to be wholly above board will deal cruel blows to confidence. Especially must your respect for each other be genuine and not merely an emotional glow. Solid approval, pride, not from a sense of duty but because you can't help it, are tremendously necessary to mutual poise and self-respect. Confidence is the basis for frankness and fair play, for trust and relief from anxiety. It is the very essence of love and of a successful home partnership.

Fifth, a partner you can live with and who can live with you. Continuous and intimate relationship necessitates the ability and willingness of both to make constant adjustment. Can you meet the unexpected harmoniously? Can one lead where the other fails? Can you be together for long periods without friction, without getting on each other's nerves? Are you both conscious of a co-operative spirit, a willingness to share alike and to give and take equally, without bitterness and with sympathy?

Sixth, a harmony of tastes, standards and conduct, with no serious clashes. A lack of this harmony is the chief cause of marital shipwrecks. Not only are common interests necessary but they should complement each other. Each needs to respect the other's viewpoint, even though it differs from his own. Differences in finances, morals, child care, personal habits, social status and religion often strain a partnership to the breaking point. The time to sift these differences is before marriage, not afterward. In some instances you must mutually "agree to disagree."

Seventh, a partner in good health. For the young woman there will be unexpected demands of all sorts on her strength and endurance by her husband, children, relatives and friends, despite skill in protecting her, and to meet these demands she will need to be well. For the young man it is, of course, of first necessity that his health be adequate to enable him to earn a living for his family and carry his share of home responsibility. Without prying or seeming to play the detective, study the health history, frequency of illness and speed in recovery. Study family health, for this has a bearing on personal health. It goes without saying that any tendency toward constitutional defect, or indication of infectious disease should be carefully considered. By way of caution there is apt to be a strong appeal in physical weakness and dependency; an appeal to pity frequently mistaken for love; hence if you are inclined toward such a partner you should ponder whether you have the temperament and poise to care for an invalid mate. If you have, perhaps you are needed.

Eighth, a partner of skills—skills of hand, of head, of heart. How are finances managed and people, especially children? What of hobbies and games and the worth-while use of leisure hours? What of the art of cheer?

Ninth, a partner worthy to be the parent of your children, as you are worthy. Remember that these children inherit, too, from both parents and their ancestors. A simple analysis of the two families—it will make an interesting rainy day study for you together—will quickly show the outstanding traits, desirable and undesirable. Those traits appearing in both families are likely to appear in your children. Sound parents usually beget sound offspring.

You want, too, a partner who desires children and is willing to undertake the responsibility for training them. Unwanted children at best are hardly a blessing in a home, and they are apt to be woefully pathetic figures.

Parents need also to be educators of the highest degree. Probably more than at any other time character is shaped in the early years of home training; habits are guided, ideals exemplified, attitudes set and prejudices acquired along with the first words learned. Your choice of a mate will indicate pretty clearly your own educational standards.

Tenth, a partner who brings out your best. After every contact you feel yourself a finer person, with new inspiration, fresh ideals, a more balanced courage, finer sensibilities. This is the most important standard of all.

This decalogue is by no means exhaustive. You have probably a number of things to add to it. If it sets you to thinking, it is worth while. The particular combination of qualities in the partner of your choice will depend on the appeal of each quality to you and upon the mutual effect of these qualities on you both, for in human mating the mutual character of the relationships is immensely important. You need to analyze yourself as well as your possible partner and note to what extent the qualities you lack are supplied. Why not make a simple rating chart of one another and grade each quality on a scale of ten? It will probably be crude at first but it will be much sounder than the hit-or-miss methods of most mate-seekers. It may take some time to complete your rating of any one person and you may want to compare several concurrently. Be honest in it. Don't be over-critical. Be practical. Remember that others, like yourself, are human.

Somewhere in the circle of your friends and acquaintances, either present or prospective, is the right partner for you. This partner is worth seeking diligently. If you are attracted and seem to attract her strongly, and if in the main your standards are met, risk the rest. When your heart and head beckon approval, love need not be laggard in following after.

Fireworks And Parade Mark Columbus Day

One of the most successful Columbus day celebrations was held on Tuesday. The celebration was sponsored by the Giuseppe Garibaldi society of Red Bank, of which Anthony Fazzone is president.

Three parades were staged and the celebration was concluded with a display of fireworks at the Red Bank high school athletic field. Thousands of spectators gathered from Red Bank and nearby communities and applauded the outstanding display of set pieces which concluded with a bombardment.

More than 400 persons attended the Columbus day ball Sunday night at the Elks home. It was the largest crowd to be recorded by the society at one of their dances. The $25 disposed of on the co-operative plan was won by Harry S. Jervis, assistant manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. The winners of the prize waltz contest were Miss Louise Mondello of Shrewsbury avenue and Joseph Moline of Long Branch. They received a silver loving cup. Joseph Tober and his orchestra played for dancing. The proceeds of the dance will help defray the expenses of the celebration.

Members of the Red Bank police department directed traffic both before and after the fireworks. Special fire police, firemen and a Red Bank fire apparatus were on hand. The firemen were under the supervision of Fire Chief Jacob Bloom.

Sterner Speaks Before County Republicans

More than 150 persons turned out last night at a meeting of the Affiliated Young Republican clubs of Monmouth county at the Players Boat Club at Fair Haven. F. Leroy Garrabrant, president, presided.

E. Donald Sterner, state highway commissioner, was guest speakor. He outlined work of the Republican party and told why the party should be upheld in the coming election. He stated that the Republican party in the county should reap more votes this year than last. He urged the election of Joseph Irwin and J. Stanley Herbert, candidates for the assembly, in order to have improved roads throughout this section.

Edward Broege reported on the recent Republican meeting at Trenton and stated that everything looked to be in "tip top shape" for the Republicans in the November election. Senator Frank Durand in a short talk urged all workers to give their best efforts in the election.

Assemblyman Joseph Irwin in his talk suggested that all pictures and biographies of the candidates in the general election be sent to the voters. J. Stanley Herbert also gave a short talk followed by Joseph Megill, candidate for surrogate. Joseph Mayer, candidate for freeholder, also spoke.

William Klatsky, secretary of the club, announced that the next meeting would be held Monday, October 25, at the Red Bank Republican headquarters.

MIDDLETOWN'S BIG SUPPER

The annual supper of the Reformed church of Middletown village last night was attended by about 350 persons, which set a new record for this event. The exact amount cleared is not yet known. Last year the supper netted $300 and it is believed that this year's results will be equally as good, perhaps better. The increased attendance is offset to some extent by higher costs. Nearly everything was sold and only a few pies remained to be auctioned off. A fruit cake which was disposed of on the co-operative plan brought in $20. The winner was a resident of Belmar.

Silver Wedding Of Mr. And Mrs. Morris Becker

Jolly Surprise Party for Them Sunday Night at Their New Home on Catherine Street—Mr. Becker as a Songster.

Sunday evening a surprise party was tendered for Mr. and Mrs. Morris Becker at their new home on Catherine street in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary. It was planned by Mr. Becker's brothers and sister, Joseph Becker of Montclair and Joseph Baker and Mrs. Anna Katz of Red Bank and by Mrs. J. A. Baker and Mrs. Maxwell Kimmelman of Mount Vernon.

All the guests assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baker and drove to the residence of the celebrants in a truck at 6 o'clock. The couple were amazed. "Look! a truck just backed in the back yard," said Mr. Becker.

A moment later the doorbell rang and a group of 45 people, led by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baker, were admitted. Afterward Mr. and Mrs. Morris Becker learned that the reason why the truck backed into the yard was because it was well laden with food and beverages for the party.

Everyone had a joyous time, especially Mr. Becker, who led in the singing of old-time songs, accompanied by his son, Joseph Becker. Mr. Becker also provided plenty of merriment when he told of his experiences in courting Mrs. Becker 25 years ago. So many bouquets were received by the celebrants that the library was well-nigh filled with them. Late that evening, after the departure of the gathering, Mr. and Mrs. Becker agreed that the day had been one of the happiest in their lives.

Among those present, in addition to the persons mentioned, were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Becker and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Elias Becker and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Becker and son, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Simon and family, Joseph and Martin Becker, Miss Helen Canzona and Miss Anna Feinberg.

Mr. Becker is the owner of a flourishing hardware and house furnishing business on Shrewsbury avenue.

NOTICE OF SALE.
School District of the Borough of Eatontown, New Jersey.
$32,000 SCHOOL BONDS.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Education of the Borough of Eatontown, in the County of Monmouth, New Jersey, at a meeting to be held at the Municipal Hall, Eatontown, New Jersey, on the twenty-fifth day of October, 1937, at 8:00 o'clock, P. M., Eastern Standard Time, for the purchase of the following described bonds of the School District of the Borough of Eatontown:

$32,000 School Bonds, dated November 1, 1937, numbered 1 to 32, both inclusive, in the denomination of $1,000 each, bearing interest at the rate of three and one-half per centum per annum, in coupon form with privilege of registration as to principal only or as to both principal and interest, both principal and semi-annual interest (May 1 and November 1) payable at the First National Bank of Eatontown, New Jersey, and maturing in numerical order on November 1 of each year as follows: $2,000.00 in each of the years 1938 to 1950, both inclusive, and $3,000.00 in each of the years 1951 and 1952, both inclusive.

The bonds will be sold to the bidder or bidders complying with the terms of sale and offering to pay an amount equal to the par value of the bonds offered and to take therefor the least amount of bonds, commencing with the first maturities, and if two or more bidders offer to take the same least amount of bonds, then to the bidder or bidders offering to pay therefor the highest additional price not in excess of $1,000.00.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's or treasurer's check for two per centum of the amount of bonds bid for drawn upon a bank or trust company to the order of the District Clerk of said Board of Education, partially to secure said School District from any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. No interest will be allowed on such deposit. In addition to the price bid, the purchaser must pay accrued interest at the rate borne by the bonds from the date of the bonds to the date of the payment of the purchase price.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids and any bid not complying with the provisions hereof or offering to pay a premium in excess of $1,000 will be rejected.

The legality of the bonds will be examined by Caldwell and Raymond, of New York City, whose approving opinion will be furnished to the purchaser without charge.

The bonds will be delivered on November 1st, 1937, or as soon thereafter as they may be prepared. Proposals are desired on forms which will be furnished by the undersigned.

By order of the Board of Education of the Borough of Eatontown, in the County of Monmouth, New Jersey.

RICHARD B. ROBERTS,
District Clerk.

WINTER OIL-PLATING

This is the Winter oil that gives you far greater surety than mere fast flow. It OIL-PLATES your engine.

Before any other oils can even start to go where needed, exclusive OIL-PLATING has already arrived! In fact, it's been there all the time, because Germ Process action on all moving parts leaves them lastingly OIL-PLATED.

OIL-PLATING cannot drain down. It smooths and speeds the first turn of your ice-cold engine. Saves battery juice. And you save quarts of oil this Winter, by changing now to Germ Processed at your Conoco Mileage Merchant's.

College Women Hear Speech By Research Worker

Address Given by Miss Georgia Robison of Barnard College at Meeting at Asbury Park Monday.

Miss Georgia Robison, lecturer in history at Barnard college, Columbia university, was the guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Monmouth County Branch of the American association of University Women at the Blue Door tea room of Kingsley Arms, Asbury Park, Monday. Miss Robison described the joys and trials of a research worker searching the archives of a foreign country for material to write a book. She had an A. A. U. W. fellowship for study in France six years ago. Her book "Revolliers-Lepeaux, Citizen Director" will be published by the Columbia university press next month. This will complete Miss Robinson's work for her doctorate.

Mrs. Arthur J. White, president, presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Henry Ackerson, chairman of social studies, announced the speakers for the next regular meeting which will be at the home of Mrs. Abraham I. Elkus, Elkridge, Red Bank. The speakers will be Judge Joseph Ciegler, juvenile court judge of Essex county and Calvin Derrick, supervisor at the Jamesburg school for boys. Their topics will be the "Pre-Delinquent Child" and "The Delinquent Child."

Mrs. Walter Gosling, fellowship chairman, gave a brief outline of her plans for the year. Mrs. Otto Rhome, international relations chairman announced that the first meeting would be held October 25 at the north solarium, Asbury Park. Mrs. Arthur Gibb, literature chairman, said the next meeting of that department would be held at the home of Mrs. Leland Crafts, Red Bank. French fiction will be the subject discussed. The dinner was in charge of Mrs. Frederick Bullwinkel, acting hospitality chairman. Mrs. John Mason membership chairman, presented Miss Mary Van Wickle of Belmar, a Skidmore graduate, as a new member.

The following conferences were announced by the president: October 14, special conference on cancer, Central high school Paterson; October 20, second annual state conference on recreation, War Memorial building, Trenton; October 22, Good Government council meeting and dinner, Bamberger's store, Newark; subject of discussion "How to Finance the Mort Plan of Education;" October 26 "Cause and Cure of War," meeting 10:30 a. m., Bamberger's, Newark; October 29, state wide conference on dependent and retarded children, North Jersey training school, Totowa.

Old Timers Night For Legionnaires

Special Entertainment to be Held by Red Bank Post Monday, November 8—Eight Boys in Training for a Drill Team.

Monday night, November 8, will be observed as "old timers night" by Shrewsbury post of the American legion of Red Bank. Refreshments will be served and there will be various other attractions. Arrangements were made at a meeting of the post Monday night.

Daniel Bedford reported that eight boys of the Sons of American Legion were being trained at Fort Monmouth to serve as a drill team and firing squad. The Sons of the American Legion will dispose of a turkey on the cooperative plan during the Thanksgiving season.

A committee consisting of William Noglow, Kenneth Smith and Cecil MacCloud was appointed to investigate ways and means of aiding the post and to report to the executive committee and the house committee.

The legionnaires are pleased to hear reports that Alfred Brighton of Rumson and John Alvatore of Elm place are home from Base Hospital No. 81 at New York. Both are well on the road to recovery. Eric Ekstrom is at the hospital for observation.

Private Chauffeur's lodge, No. 1179 of New York, of which John Kelly is commander, invited the Red Bank veterans to attend a military ball to be held at the Plaza hotel, New York, Friday night, November 26.

It was reported that the first meeting of the state executive committee would be held at the War Memorial building, Trenton, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Following the meeting there will be a turkey dinner, floor show and dance.

Morris Miller gave a talk about the Americanization work done by the Legion and stated that during the past year $3,000,000 was spent in the nation for child welfare work. He described the child welfare work which is being done by the Red Bank post and he said that as a consequence of this many children were in school who would be uneducated but for the aid given. Mr. Miller was the winner of an American Legion cap, which he gave to the post to be offered as a prize to the first legionnaire to secure five new members.

Invitations were received to attend the Armistice day celebration to be held at Matawan Sunday, November 7, and to a dinner-dance to be held by Twin Light post of Highlands Wednesday, November 10.

ALDO HAS A DAUGHTER.

Tickets Seized For Veterans' County Lottery

Jersey City Police Raid Printing Plant in That City and Confiscate Tickets for Foreign Wars Vets Drawing.

Jersey City police raided a printing plant Monday in that city, arrested three men and confiscated a ton of printing material, including tickets, receipts and advertising matter for the Veterans of Foreign Wars lottery of Monmouth county. The tickets seized were for the Christmas special and the first prize was $15,000. There were numerous other prizes. The drawing was scheduled for December 11 at Atlantic Highlands. Many tickets for the Christmas special had been printed previous to the raid and were circulated in this locality during the past week.

The men arrested were Albert L. Davis of Central Park, Long Island; and Nicholas Chambers and John Lynch of Jersey City. Police Chief Harry Walsh of Jersey City led the raid. According to the police Davis told them he operated a similar plant in New York. This plant was raided a month ago. Davis said he moved to Jersey City three weeks ago. Plates and forms from a printing press in the Jersey City establishment were taken to police headquarters.

Drawings for the Veterans of Foreign Wars lottery have been held at Atlantic Highlands for several years. A member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars said that each of the five posts in the county have been receiving $200 a month from the lotteries. An office is maintained on Memorial parkway, Atlantic Highlands, where lottery tickets are registered and prepared for the drawings.

Democrats Raise Banner On Street

Ceremony at Atlantic Highlands Tuesday Night Accompanied by Speeches by Local and County Candidates.

Four hundred persons attended the raising of the Democratic banner at the intersection of First and Center avenues at Atlantic Highlands Tuesday night. The ceremony was accompanied by speechmaking by local and county candidates. Herbert Posten, president of the Democratic club of Atlantic Highlands, presided and introduced the speaker.

Dr. Charles Reed, Democratic candidate for mayor and former councilman, criticized the present borough administration and referred to the overwhelming vote registered at the recent primary against the proposition to install a new filtration system in the water plant. He said the present filters could be repaired at a cost of $8,000, which would save the taxpayers thousands of dollars.

Others who spoke were A. J. Porsklevics and Thomas Jennings, candidates for councilmen; Theron McCampbell, candidate for freeholder; Joseph Donahay, candidate for surrogate; William F. Hanlon and John V. D. Forman, candidates for assemblymen; Sheriff George H. Roberts and Assemblyman Morris Cohen of Hudson county. Mr. Cohen spoke in behalf of the candidacy of Senator A. Harry Moore for governor. It was chiefly through Mr. Cohen's efforts that the bill in the last session of the state legislature providing financial aid to the Atlantic Highlands breakwater project was brought up for a vote just before the legislature adjourned. Music was furnished by the Atlantic Highlands high school band.

School Notes

Planning Play Day.

The Glider club is staging a meeting to hold a play day next Monday with the Rumson girls on the Red Bank athletic field. Friday the Red Bank senior girls defeated the local juniors in a soccer game, 3 to 0.—Ada Egner.

Want New Members.

The Glider club is staking a membership drive. Any boy, 16 to 19 years of age, who is interested in aviation, may become a member. For information inquire at the Red Bank "Y" house.—Lill Lowe Ivins.

Seniors Raising Money.

The 12-A and 12-B classes are working on a co-operative basis on raising money. The school pencils, with Red Bank colors which have been sold by the class, are all sold out and more have been ordered. They also have "Booster Club" banners which they are selling in order to raise money for the class. Christmas cards will also be sold later. Plans have been started for the year book.—Edna Niehaus.

Mechanic Street News.

The 4-B class is writing words and music for an original song about the desert in correlation with their social science. The class is also planning a marionette show. Miss Abbie Strickland brought puppets to demonstrate to the children. Writing stories and poems, to be broadcast over the school radio, is another project of the classroom.—Eleanor Cook.

Oakland Street News.

Mrs. Thomas Wylie addressed members of Miss Mary A. McCue's 6-B class last Thursday on the British Isles. Her talk concerned the trip which she took to England last summer. She showed the pupils pictures, a map and pieces of English china. The pupils recently finished their panel on primitive life and they are soon to start on a large illustration of British landscape.

The 1-B class has composed a song, "The Train." The words and music were written by Jackson Carter, Charlotte Purgavie, William Mumford and May Dwight.—John Fedderson.

River Street News.

John Ebner and Miss Abbie Strickland were guest speakers at the Service club meeting held Monday under the supervision of Mrs. Elsie MacLeod. Captains Vincent Romano and Louis Blanco complimented the members for their cooperation. It was decided to have a picnic today. A ping pong tournament will take place in the near future.

Marie Mancini, Rae Cottrell and Lester Stevens will be in charge of activities in Dean Pierson's room for October.

The 7-A homeroom under supervision of Mrs. Ida Pollacek recently met and elected officers. Isabelle Richardson was elected president, Mary Cannavo vice president, Beulah Mahrey secretary and Clara Watkins treasurer.

The school orchestra under direction of Miss Fulvia Dell'Omo will hold its first practice this afternoon.

State Officials Visit Eatontown

More than 200 persons were present at the annual state official visit held Monday night at Crescent hall, Eatontown, by the Eatontown lodge, Sons and Daughters of Liberty. Three lodges, Red Bank, Eatontown and Oakhurst, joined together and presented the state councilor, Mrs. Janet Heathwood, with a reclining chair.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Keane of Red Bank were present and a celebration was held in honor of their sixth wedding anniversary. Following the business session a social hour was enjoyed.

Matawan.

(The Red Bank Register can be bought in Matawan from M. J. O'Connel, 134 Main street, and J. & J. Tassini).

The County Executive committee of the American Legion on Wednesday evening voted to hold the legion's Monmouth county celebration of Armistice day, Thursday, November 11, in Matawan. Commander Harry J. Kahn and Adjutant Mort O'Connor of Matawan post, who attended the committee session, were unanimously voted the privilege of having the celebration staged in Matawan. According to present plans the Matawan post members will attend morning memorial services at the First Presbyterian church. Starting at 3 o'clock in the afternoon a parade comprising drum corps, fire department units, Boy Scouts and ladies' and girls' auxiliaries from Monmouth county municipalities will be invited to participate. The parade will disband at Memorial park, where awards of the Order of the Purple Heart will be made. In former years the county-wide celebration has been held in Asbury Park, Red Bank and Freehold. Members of the Matawan post are anxious to have this year's event staged on a par with those held in other towns, and will seek the co-operation of the public and business men.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hickey are the parents of a daughter born Sunday, September 26. Mrs. Hickey is the former Miss Alice VanPelt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel VanPelt of Matawan.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Saniolli of Matawan entertained at a family dinner party Sunday at which time the engagement of their daughter Nettie to Dominick Adaro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Adaro of Cliffwood, was announced. The bride-to-be attended the Crawford school and her fiancee the Morristown school. The wedding will take place Sunday afternoon, November 14, at 4 o'clock at St. Joseph's Catholic church, Keyport.

Miss Claire Griffiths is entertaining her sister, Miss Ruth Griffiths of Flushing, Long Island, for a few days.

Invitations have ben issued by Mrs. William R. Craig to a luncheon-bridge to be held Saturday, October 16, at the White Gate Inn. Eight tables will be in play.

Mrs. Raphael C. Devlin presided at the monthly meeting of the Matawan Woman's Democratic club Wednesday evening. Twenty-five members were present. A handkerchief shower had been arranged for Miss Helen Jastrab, but because of her wedding taking place the same day she was unable to be present. At the next meeting to be held in the American Legion hall Wednesday, November 10, an election of officers will take place. Refreshments, served by Mrs. Devlin, concluded the social hour.

Mrs. Edward Haltorf, who has frequently substituted at the Wednesday Dessert-Bridge club, entertained the members last week.

Mrs. Patrick J. Devlin and daughter, Miss Margaret J. Devlin, attended the funeral last week of Mrs. Herbert St. Claire Heroy at the home of Mrs. ary B. Newman at Brielle. Mrs. Heroy was killed in an automobile accident in Georgia. She and Miss Devlin were members of a bridge club at one time and have been friends for many years.

Mrs. Rensselaer Cartan entertained in honor of her daughter's third birthday at her home Monday afternoon. Supper was served at 5:30 to the little ones. The table was beautifully decorated, the centerpiece being a gum-drop house. Her guests included Katherine Graham, Carol Craig, Patricia Egan, Jo Anne Lazarus, Peggy Devlin, Jr., Lois and Edna Ponelson, Nancy Tourine, Billy Graham, Billy Craig, Paul Egan, Ronald Hyer, Louis Pazienza, Sonny Ellis, Mickey George, Jr., Gerard Cartan of Neptune, Mrs. S. M. Lazarus, Mrs. Gerard Cartan, Mrs. William R. Craig, Mrs. Paul Egan, Mrs. M. George, Mrs. Oscar Hyer, Mrs. Louis Pazienza, Mrs. Raphael C. Devlin, Mrs. Dalton Graham, Mrs. Mildred Ellis, Miss Daisy Ricardo and Mrs. Rens Cartan.

A surprise birthday party was given in honor of Mrs. August Muelhausen Wednesday afternoon by a few friends. Three tables of bridge were in play and prizes were won by Mrs. William R. Craig, Mrs. Paul H. Royen and Mrs. Charles Lyons. Other guests were Mrs. Donald H. Riley, Jr., Mrs. Frederick Hessey, Mrs. A. R. Thompson, Mrs. Nicholas Munning, Mrs. Milton Stevenson, Mrs. Charles E. Hunt, Mrs. Harold Disbrow, Miss Laura E. Geaswein and Mrs. Jaeckel, mother of the guest of honor.

Mrs. William Duncan left Tuesday to be the guest of her sister, Mrs. George V. U. Burroughs of Manassquan.

Judge and Mrs. Earle M. Harrington entertained in honor of their son's seventh birthday Sunday afternoon. The dinning room was tastefully decorated in pink and green, and on the center of the table was a huge birthday cake. Earl's guests included Peggy Dovlin, Paul Egan, Jr., Billy Craig, George Deitz, Bobby Calot, George Tice, Jimmy Tice, Joan Harrington, Janet Harrington, John Harrington, Mrs. Margaret Harrington of Morganville and Miss Ella Maloney of Everett.

Ever stranded on a desert island?

The "F" family of Westfield were during an experiment* Mrs. "F" and other New Jersey women made to find out the difference the telephone makes in daily living.

Mrs. "F" measured her steps, and recorded her daily accomplishments for ten days without, and ten days with the telephone's help.

Without the telephone, Mrs. "F" wrote, "We might as well have been on a desert island. We were losing touch with everyone we knew, especially my two daughters—16 and 9—and friends mean so much to growing girls."

With the telephone, the "desert island" disappeared. "My girls were in the thick of things again; and I found my old friends calling up, getting back in touch."

"In Touch!" The more you use your telephone to go places, visit, get things done quickly, the more you help yourself to enjoy a happier, easier, more satisfying life.

TALK 18 miles for 15¢, 50 miles for 25¢, any time anywhere in New Jersey (station-to-station rates). On calls of 50 miles or more, rates are reduced nightly after 7, and all of Sunday.

Each wore a pedometer, to measure the distance she walked, with and without the telephone. With the telephone, they
- saved up to 4,000 steps a day (420 miles of walking a year);
- gained an average of one hour every day, for leisure, or added accomplishment—some gained 3 hours or more;
- strengthened and renewed friendships, both in and out of town.

Anniversary To Be Celebrated By Champions

Banquet for 1922 Championship Football Team to be Held Saturday, October 30, at the Home of Mrs. Marion Branin.

The 15th anniversary banquet of Red Bank high school's championship 1922 football team, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Marion Branin of 65 Branch avenue, Saturday night, October 30, at 7 o'clock, will include two veterans of the first football team that Red Bank high school ever put on the field.

Prior to 1920, football was an unknown sport at Red Bank. However, when Edwin C. Gilland was moved up from high school principal to superintendent that year, he picked a principal in Harry C. Sieber, who had both played football in college and coached in high schools for several years. In addition to his duties as principal, Mr. Sieber was invested with the position of head football coach. George L. Lovett, at that time physical training instructor in the local high school and a former gridiron star at the University of Delaware, acted as assistant football coach. With very little playing equipment and no experienced material, Mr. Sieber and Mr. Lovett started building a football squad from the ground up. A call for volunteers brought only 12 recruits and since a full team consists of 11 men, the only possible way to practice plays was to play the substitute and one side of the line against the other.

There were no showers or lockers for the players to wash or change clothes in at school, so everybody interested had to go home first, dress for practice, and then return to school. This shortened the hours of scrimmaging.

Red Bank did not even have a field in town to play its home games on so was forced to use the old Oriole baseball park on Newman Springs road, Shrewsbury, for that purpose from 1920 through 1923. Even after that for many years, Red Bank high had no field nearer than Knollwood in Fair Haven for its home games until the present athletic field was purchased by the board of education about ten years ago.

The two players who were members of both the 1920 and 1922 football teams, and therefore eligible to attend the approaching dinner, are District Court Judge Harry Klatsky and Frank Saccia, now an engineer for the Bell Telephone company. The late Cecil Hartman was also a member of both squads. Other team members in 1920, but who graduated prior to 1922, were Joseph C. Williams, Grandin Schenck, William Bennett, Edward Scott, Alfred Ernest, Richard Smart, William Murdoch, Francis Markstein and Wilmot Robinson.

The first year football was played, Red Bank won only one game, beating Fort Monmouth, or as it was called then, Camp Vail, 12-6.

As soon as the younger school boys observed their older brothers playing football, they immediately started to follow suit, and the so-called "kid" games first sprang up. Watching one of these juvenile contests in which the participants were about seven or eight years old, the ever witty Ed Scott, at present a signal engineer with the Erie railroad in Cleveland, Ohio, laughingly remarked, "well in about ten years Red Bank ought to go to town with a good experienced football team with these youngsters beginning to play so young."

No truer words than these were ever uttered, but Red Bank high did not have to wait that long. A marked improvement began the very next year with a larger turnout of football candidates. In 1921, Red Bank won three games and tied another.

In 1922, playing an eight-game schedule, Red Bank high school won every single game by a margin of one touchdown or better, and with it the championship of Central Jersey. To date, the 1922 team is the only Red Bank football squad to go through an entire season undefeated or untied, although in 1924, with several of the '22 team in their senior year and consequently still playing, Red Bank won all but one game.

The above history of the origin of football at Red Bank high school was submitted to The Register by Charles E. Hendrickson, who was fullback on the 1922 championship football team.

No Hunting This Year At Eatontown

Chief of Police Harry N. Kirkegard of Eatontown has issued a warning to residents of this section that there will be no gunning allowed in the Eatontown borough this year.

Chief Kirkegard stated the reason for the discontinuance of gunning at Eatontown was because so many complaints were received last year of windows in houses being broken by shots of hunters.

The action is being taken in order to safeguard the lives of residents in the Eatontown borough.

BUSINESS WOMEN'S CLUB.

Talk by Miss Ruth LaWall About the West Indies.

The Red Bank Business and Professional Women's club met Monday night at the home of Misses Meta and Irma vonGlahn of Harding road. Reports were given by the research, publicity and public relations committees relating to real estate, relief and industry in Red Bank.

The next meeting of the club will be held Tuesday, October 26. Miss Frances Britton of Toms River, the first vice president of the New Jersey Federation, will be present.

After the business meeting Miss Ruth LaWall described her recent trip to the West Indies and showed pictures of the places she had visited.

Bruyere Starring For Rutgers Team

Rutgers' undefeated and unscored-upon football team will entrain for Springfield, Masaschusetts, tomorrow for Saturday's clash with the Springfield Maroons. With the team will be Walt Bruyere, plucky junior from Red Bank, who is slated to start at left guard when the Scarlet eleven starts after its fourth consecutive victory of the season. Bruyere has started in every game so far.

WALTER BRUYERE

The Scarlet team will be favored in this last contest before the all-important Princeton clash, October 23, for while Springfield was eking victory from East Stroudsburg Teachers and losing heavily to Harvard and Dartmouth, Rutgers conquered Susquehanna, Hampden-Sydney and Delaware. Rutgers has dominated the rivalry between the two colleges, winning six of the seven contests played. Springfield won its lone victory last season, 6 to 0.

Plainfield Man Wins Golf Play At Eatontown

Charles Whitehead Defeats J. Wolcott Brown of Spring Lake in Finals of Jersey Shore Invitation Tournament.

The inaugural of the Jersey Shore three-day invitation amateur golf tourney at Monmouth County Country club finished in a nip-and-tuck match when Charles Whitehead of Plainfield defeated J. Wolcott Brown of Homestead Golf club, Spring Lake, one up.

The two finalists, both former-state amateur champions, fought an even match over the Eatontown course in a steady rain but despite this handicap, both shot outstanding golf. Whitehead trailed one down at the end of the outgoing nine but came back on the second nine at even par with a 37, while Brown came back with a 39. Whitehead shot a 76 for the 18 holes, five over par, while Brown shot a 77, six over par.

Brown pulled an upset in the tournament when he eliminated Richard D. Chapman of Greenwich, Connecticut, in a semi-final round. Chapman, whose medal score of 77 was best in the qualifying round, was conceded more than an even chance to win the tourney. Chapman lost to Brown, two and one, while Whitehead eliminated Dr. Harold V. Garrity, Deal club champion, six and five, in their final round.

The cards:

Par, out	4	3	4	4	4	4	3	4	4	—34
Whitehead	5	4	4	5	5	5	3	4	4	—39
Brown	4	3	5	5	4	5	3	5	4	—38
Brown leads, 1 up.
Par, in	4	5	4	4	3	5	4	3	5	—37—71
Whitehead	4	4	4	5	3	5	4	3	5	—37—76
Brown	5	4	4	4	4	6	4	3	5	—39—77

Bill Rohrey of Swimming River Country club won the first flight of the beaten eight when he defeated Edwin McDermott of the same club, four and three. Homer Methot, unattached, defeated Howard Stockton, three and two, to win the second division and Sherman Manning of the Eatontown club downed his clubmate, Bertram B. Linde, four and three, to win the third division.

Robert Stockton of Beacon Hill Golf club was runner-up to Gilbert Carr of Branch Brook in the second flight and Langdon Coles of Long Branch, unattached, won the third flight when he defeated Frank Baird of Swimming River, two and one. Carr defeated Stockton, four and three, to win the second flight.

Carr reached the semi-final of the second championship flight by defeating William Leddy of the Eatontown club, four and two. Thomas R. Shaffer of Fort Monmouth defaulted to Stockton in the semi-final of the lower bracket to put the latter into the finals against Carr.

Coles and Louis A. Ripley of Atlantic City staged an interesting match in semi-finals of the third flight. Coles won one up on the 19th hole. Baird downed Dr. Frank Goff of Swimming River, two and one, to gain the finals against Coles in this flight. Coles staged a rally and defeated Baird, two and one, in the finals.

Charles T. Pilling, president of Monmouth County Country club, presented the prizes of Longine watches and sterling cigarette cases to the winners after the conclusion of the play in the club lounge.

The summaries:

Championship Division

Semi-final round—J. Wolcott Brown, Homestead, defeated Richard D. Chapman, Greenwich, 2 and 1; Charles Whitehead, Plainfield, defeated Dr. Harold V. Garrity, Deal, 6 and 5.

Final round—Whitehead defeated Brown, 1 up.

Second Division

Semi-final round—Gilbert Carr, Branch Brook, defeated William Leddy, Monmouth County, 4 and 2; Robert Stockton, Beacon Hill, won from Thomas R. Shaffer, Fort Monmouth, by default.

Final round—Carr defeated Stockton, 4 and 3.

Third Division

Semi-final round—Langdon Coles, unattached, defeated Louis A. Ripley, Forsgate, 1 up (19 holes); Frank Baird, Swimming River, defeated Frank Goff, Swimming River, 2 and 1.

School Gridders Drop First Game To South River

Plucky Red Bank Eleven Lost Saturday 7 to 0 in Hard-Fought Battle With North Jerseyites.

Fighting an uphill battle throughout the encounter, Coach Dick Guest's red and gray high school gridders suffered their first defeat Saturday when they dropped a close decision in the final quarter of the game played at South River. The score was 7 to 0.

A plunging defensive team stopped the bricktown drivers several times throughout the encounter and avoided an overwhelming defeat. The outweighed South Riverites failed to score until the last few minutes of the final quarter after they gained possession of the ball when Vernie Bennett booted to his own 41.

From this mark South River marched into their opponent's end zone. Dicker put Coach Bill Denny's team into scoring position when he drove through the left side of the line, reversed his field and scooted down the sidelines to the one-yard line. Larry Holmes, Red Bank safety man, saved the South River score by getting Dicker from the rear. Ardenowski failed to break through the Red Bank stone wall but on the next play Dicker went through left tackle for the score. Mato plunged through center for the extra point.

With only four minutes left to play, Coach Guest's Red Bankers took to the air and attempted to gain by the way of passes. However, the aerial attack was broken up before the game ended. The Red Bank gridders failed to venture beyond South River's 26-yard line and was limited to only two first downs while the South River aggregation compiled nine.

In the opening period it looked as if the South Riverites were to be the scoring heroes. A 40-yard march was staged by South River in the initial period which placed the pigskin on Red Bank's 19. A 15-yard penalty was chalked against South River and this cut South River's threat short. In the third period another drive started in midfield and again they were turned back by a fighting Red Bank line on the one-yard stripe.

Two-Day Meeting At Freehold Track

Seventy trotters and pacers are in the barns of the Freehold Racing association awaiting the last race meeting of the season Friday and Saturday at the Freehold trotting track. It is said to be the greatest flux of racing steeds in the 80-year history of the track.

Edwin R. Barkalow, race recretary, has been forced to card an added race each day, putting a total of eight on the bill in the two-day meet. Added purses have been put up by the association, making an aggregate of $2,000 offered for the eight events.

Late developments have turned the meeting into a miniature county fair with a score of exhibitions scheduled, including farm products of five Monmouth county granges, an automobile show and exhibitions of farm machinery and other products used in farm and urban life. Mule races are scheduled daily and a feature will be an attempt to set a world's record for a mule hitched to a cart.

Broad Street Rooms Rented for Gymnasium

Joseph Cross of Fair Haven, trainer of prizo fighters, and Charles Wagner of Long Branch, who formerly operated DeForest's gymnasium, have rented rooms on the third floor of the Monmouth building on Broad street for a physical culture training school. They expect to have the gymnasium open in about three weeks. Mr. Cross and Mr. Wagner will specialize in reducing and building-up classes. They will teach boxing and wrestling.

Mr. Cross is a former professional fighter and is boxing instructor at Red Bank Catholic high school. Mr. Wagner is a former professional heavyweight wrestler. Among the prize fighters they have in their stable at present is Tony Raviele of Long Branch, a promising welterweight.

Rumson Gridders Stage Upset By Beating Metuchen

Prichard Brothers Score Both Rumson Tallies to Give Purple and White 13 to 0 Victory.

The gallant purple and white gridders of Rumson high school chalked up another victory last Saturday afternoon when they outplayed the Metuchen high school eleven at Metuchen. The score was 13 to 0.

Leading the way to another Rumson victory were the Prichard brothers, Glenn and Howard, who accounted for both scores. The first tally came in the opening quarter when a 23-yard pass from Johnny Sparling to Glenn Prichard was taken on their opponent's 25 from where Glenn dashed for the tally. Leon's kick for the extra point was blocked but he retrieved the bouncing ball and plunged over for the point. This is one of the new rules of which the Rumson eleven took advantage.

Rumson's second counter came in the second period after Leon, plucky guard, recovered George Cobb's fumble on Metuchen's 38. Another aerial attack led Rumson to their second score after Sparling passed to Glenn Prichard for a short gain and Carl Jakubecy on two runs placed the oval on the seven-yard line. Jakubecy hit the line for five more yards and Howard Prichard, quarterback, plunged the remaining two yards for the tally.

The Metuchen eleven threatened the Rumson goal line only once throughout the encounter. In the third period Reick blocked Sparling's punt and forced the Rumson gridders back to their own one-yard line where they held.

Bay Shore Team Triumphs Over Point Pleasant

Atlantic Highlands Eleven Holds Point Pleasant Gridders Scoreless, as They Win 7 to 0—Keyes Plunges for Tally.

Tommy Keyes led the Atlantic Highlands football squad to victory Saturday afternoon over Point Pleasant high school by a 7-to-0 score. The game was played on the summer resort gridiron and was a shore conference encounter.

The Atlantic Highlands score came in the second period after they forced their opponents back to their goal posts. Here Point Pleasant held and a kick placed the ball out of danger but still in their territory. A 15-yard penalty placed the ball back on Point Pleasant's two-yard marker from where Keyes scored. Pleasant made good his placement kick.

Earlier in the game the Point Pleasant aggregation stopped the driving bay shore eleven on the 17-yard line after tossing Keyes for a three-yard loss. It was a nip-and-tuck game throughout, with Atlantic Highlands having the advantage.

Red Bank Quads Drub Leonardo In Muddy Game

Red Bank Eleven Proves Too Strong for Middletowners—Quad Gridders Score First Win of Season, 13 to 0.

Hard running backs and a driving line led the Red Bank Quadrangle gridders to victory Sunday afternoon when they defeated the Leonardo Field club eleven on the township field, 13 to 0.

Playing on muddy grounds and throughout a rainy first half, the Quad eleven galloped away to an early lead when in the second quarter they scored their initial goal. Red Bank's break came when Tackle Bill Holmes blocked a Leonardo punt and downed the ball on Leonardo's 28. Line drives by Ernie Griffiths and Otto Perl, placed the ball on their opponent's one-yard line from where Frankie Loversidge scored. George Decker's attempt for the extra point was blocked.

The Red Bank gridders threatened the Field club's goal by taking the ball to the one-yard line early in the fourth period. Here Leonardo held and were forced to kick from behind their own goal. The kick was taken by Jack Matthews on the midfield stripe. He ran it back out of bounds on Leonardo's 40. A running combination of Bob Matthews and Loversidge allowed them to place the ball on the 18 from where Griffiths hit the left side of the line to the two-yard line. Again Quarterback Jack Matthews called for Griffiths to take the ball and this time he again swung around left tackle and bucked the line for the score. A pass from Loversidge to Art Kerr scored the extra point.

The Quad gridders outplayed their opponents in a game, which officially opened the season for both clubs. The game was not scheduled as an encounter in the Monmouth County Football conference. Their conference game will be played later in the season.

Next Sunday the Quad eleven will play the army eleven at Fort Monmouth in a county conference game.

Junior, Freshmen Teams Victorious

Coach Dick Guest's junior varsity football squad scored a 13-to-0 victory over Rumson high school scrubs yesterday afternoon on the local high school gridiron. In another game at Rumson, the Red Bank freshmen gridders defeated the Rumson freshman, 12 to 0.

Freddie Boncore and Angelo DeGeorge did the scoring for Red Bank's junior varsity team when Boncore tallied his touchdown in the initial period after a series of first downs, starting from Rumson's 40. Henderson's drop kick for the extra point was blocked.

Again in the third period DeGeorge scored after he and his teammates moved the ball to the 12-yard line, from where DeGeorge scored off tackle. DeGeorge scored the extra point through center.

Four Varsity Men Lost to Local Team

The Red Bank high school varsity gridders were given a day of rest yesterday because of the junsity game with Rumson high school.

However, the varsity eleven will buckle down to serious business this afternoon with a heavy drill in preparation for Saturday's game with Morristown at the local high school field.

Four members of the varsity team are out because of injuries suffered in recent games and scrimmages. Jim VanHise, Raymond and Richard O'Connor and Vernon Bennett have been lost to the squad. Bennett suffered a sprained right wrist in last Saturday's game against South River and is not expected to play this Saturday.

36-Hole Golf Match Finishes All Even

Alex Wilde and Bob Hayward found their opponents hard to win from on Sunday in the finals of the two-ball best-ball tournament at Swimming River Country club when the father and son combination of Guy Richdale held them all even on a 36-hole golf match. Another 18 holes will be played this week to decide the match.

On Tuesday Mrs. John Simonds and Mrs. Frank Baird won over six Class A players in a blind team match. Mrs. Simonds turned in a net score of 81 and Mrs. Baird a net score of 84, totaling 165. Miss Carol Schroeder won the nearest to the pin competition for Class A and Mrs. Baird won the Class B division.

The first round of play for the Schneider cup trophy was postponed until this week-end because of inclement weather.

Schneider Team Undefeated, Has Two-Game Lead

Smoke Shop Tavern in Second Place in Red Bank Bowling League—Leddy & Son and Navesink Tied for Third.

The Schneider Market team, undefeated thus far in nine games, has a two-game lead in the Red Bank Bowling league. The Marketmen added three games to their string of victories last night, by humbling the Monmouth Sporting club, which to date has a record of no wins.

The Smoke Shop tavern pinmen, champions of last season, are in second place with seven wins and two losses. Leddy & Son and Navesink are tied for third and the other teams are pretty well bunched.

The Acerra Bakery team, in defeating Max's tavern in two out of three games Monday night, averaged 985. In the first game the Bakers rolled 1,018, the highest team score to be made that night.

Pete's Chatterbox, one of the new league teams, won two out of three from the Recreations. The Boncore Tailor Keglers made a clean sweep of their games with Gentile's Market and Navesink annexed two of their three matches with the Gardeners.

Despite the average low team scores for the evening, many individual scores of 200 or over were made. Top honors went to G. Grob of Max's tavern who crashed the maples for 244 in one match. Gattis of Acerra's Bakery made 235, Murdico of Pete's Chatterbox scored 226, Fisher of the Boncore team rolled 223 and Henry of Navesink turned in a mark of 217. Schroeder of the Boncore aggregation scored 212 and 202 in two games and E. Turner of the Gardeners made 200 in each of two contests.

Fugitive To Race In Feature Event On Haskell Farm

Card of Seven Races for Annual Race Meet Saturday Draws Many Entries—Pimochio Also Entered.

With plans completed for the 12th annual race meet of the Monmouth County Hunt Racing association over the Haskell estate Saturday afternoon, members of the race committee headed by W. Strother Jones are confident that the meet will prove the largest and most successful in years. Each of the seven races drew large entry lists.

Seven farmers entered horses in the opening flat race for horses worked on Monmouth county farms and eight farmers entered horses in the Pleasant Valley cup event. The feature event, the Monmouth County Gold Cup, drew ten entries, including Mrs. George H. "Pete" Bostwick's Fugitive. Another entry is the Northwood stable's Pimochio, which was in the lead last year when he fell. Fugituve was scratched last year and the race was won by Justinian II, owned by Stewart S. Janney, Jr. Sixteen horses have been entered in The Navesink, a mile flat race, which concludes the meet.

The farmers' luncheon is always an attraction and the huge tent, where the Monmouth county farmers and their wives are guests of the hunt members, is visited by many of the spectators. After the races Mr. and Mrs. Amory L. Haskell, owners of Woodland farm, give a tea to many of the visitors and personal friends, Mr. and Mrs. Haskell invariably have week-end guests as do Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Hurd, Mr. and Mrs. Manton B. Metcalf, Jr., W. Strother Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Crane, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur B. Ruthrauff, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus C. Finch and a host of others.

Tomorrow night the annual stag dinner will be given by the male members of the hunt for the visiting owners and their friends at the Rumson club. This annual dinner is not surpassed by the Masters of Fox Hounds dinner at New York in February. Mr. Haskell, master of fox hounds of the Monmouth county hunt, will be the official host. The ladies of the hunt will give private dinners tomorrow night for their guests and friends.

Saturday night there will be a race meet dinner and dance for the benefit of Monmouth Memorial hospital at the Rumson club. Dinner will be served at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Amory L. Haskell is chairman of the committee and her assistants are Mrs. Borden Baldwin, Mrs. J. Marshall Booker, Mrs. Gray MacW. Bryan, Mrs. Eliot W. Coleman, Mrs. Edward M. Crane, Mrs. Clement L. Despard, Mrs. George Dwight, Mrs. Harris B. Fisher, Jr., Mrs. J. Lewis Hay, Mrs. J. Prentice Kellogg, Mrs. J. Hartley Mellick, Jr., Mrs. Manton B. THE 3 KITCHEN CENTERS AND A POSSIBLE FOURTH

By ELIZA M. STEPHENSON
Home Service Director
Jersey Central Power & Light Co.

WHEN McCall's Magazine sent out their interviewers to five widely separated parts of the country to ring door bells to find out about women and their kitchens, one important discovery was this: 72% said they ate breakfast in the kitchen, 53% for the most part ate the midday meal there and 39% often have the evening meal in the kitchen. Only 27% said they never ate in the kitchen. And by kitchen, they meant kitchen, because only 12.2% had separate dining alcoves; 76.1% had a table for serving meals right in the kitchen! So what "McCall's" concluded was "If people eat in the kitchen in the numbers indicated above, it is certainly high time kitchens were made beautiful. Also it is high time that kitchen planners faced this truth and became more ingenious in supplying dining centers."

The first step toward making a kitchen beautiful is, of course, to install modern equipment in the three kitchen centers—refrigeration, cooking, and cleaning up. This done, the kitchen may be made completely modern by the use of overhead and base cabinets and then polished off with color and light. But from the woman's point of view it's far more important to have a full assortment of appliances including range, automatic refrigerator, and perhaps an automatic water heater, before expensive cabinets are installed, when really excellent jobs can be done by the local carpenter.

To add a dining center to such a kitchen will save the housewife many steps and will contribute immeasurably to the comfort and pleasure of those meals eaten in the kitchen. Every kitchen should have one. First because women want them and second, because kitchens can be made more attractive if they have such a corner or alcove. In working out plans it has been found that this usually means developing an L-shaped kitchen, instead of a U plan. Since both forms are comparatively efficient, what does it matter?

Kitchen color schemes are easy to plan because they involve few materials and fewer colors. When choosing colors, exposure, and the size of the room are the determining factors. If a room is glaring and sunny, cool colors, gray, green, blue and darker tones which will swallow up the light are right. In a dark gloomy kitchen gay, light vibrant yellow, red, orange and chartreuse are used. Small apartment kitchens may be much giddier than a large home kitchen.

The most beautiful modernizing job, the most beautiful color scheme, however, is worthless unless plenty of light has been included and built into the kitchen. Light has definitely become decorative as well as utilitarian. The central fixture with 100 or 150 watt bulbs is still adhered to. But in addition to this, it is advisable to have a built-in light, if possible, over the sink, and counter lights over the important counters. In planning these lights be sure that there is no direct or reflected glare.

Above all else remember that today kitchens must be and can be beautiful as well as practical, and modern kitchens are labor-savers.

(Mrs. Stephenson will be glad to give her personal attention to any kitchen planning or modernization problem that you have. Write to her at the Jersey Central Kitchen, Allenhurst, N. J., or 'phone your local Jersey Central office for an appointment.)

Renovated Kitchen Provides Light-Conditioning

By Jean Prentice

I TALKED, not long ago, with a little elderly lady who had just visited . . . for the first time . . . one of the modern new kitchens. She was all a-sparkle.

"This kitchen," she exclaimed, "had a refrigerator big enough to hold a steer, cupboards everywhere . . . and the most marvelous lighting!"

She had visited a light-conditioned kitchen. Light-conditioning is one of the newest conveniences to be added to the room that is so important a part of the homemaker's life.

Non-technically, the term means having the right amount and the right kind of lighting available . . . regardless of whether or not the sky outside is black with night or grey with threatening clouds.

Often a kitchen has the most daylight of any room in the house.

In addition to the ceiling fixture, this renovated kitchen provides ample light at each work-center to ease labor and prevent eyestrain.

Even so, the natural light in the center of many kitchens is only 1/100th of the light at the window sill. This is not enough for quick seeing and nimble fingers at work, and the addition of scientific lighting is the answer.

When a kitchen is light-conditioned, you do not stand at the sink or stove with your shadow falling on your work. There are side-wall fixtures or lamps with 60-watt bulbs over each work area, and a 100 or 150-watt bulb in the center ceiling fixture to give general lighting.

Bus Service Is Red Hot Issue At Bayshore

want to have the benefit of the summer season.

I realize that the operation of a winter bus line might not pay from the operation during that time. However, I feel that the business, if properly worked up, will be somewhat increased.

In any event, I am making the application upon the understanding that I am not trying to make every month of the year carry itself but taking the proposition as an all-year-round proposition, and with an idea that throughout the year, the line would be a paying one.

I dont know what your procedure would be, but I am advised that the proper procedure would be if you accept my proposition is to grant me the permit to operate the bus line between Campbell's Junction and Keansburg and revoke any and all privileges that may be granted to the Rollo Transit corporation on the above line or any portion thereof any time of the year.

I realize of course that the Utility Commission will protect a utility operating in a given field. However, I think that that protection exists only up to certain point, and when it is found that the operating utility wants to suspend operation for any given time, that naturally the rights of the people are paramount, and if that company cannot provide all the year round service, the rights should be extinguished in favor of someone who will.

The Bay Shore section is entitled to all the year round bus service.

I am very much interested in the Bay Shore section and I think that for the territory at East Keansburg, Port Monmouth and Belford, it would be a calamity to be deprived of bus service from September to May.

With this in mind, I have made an offer to the Rollo Transit corporation to take over the line and every portion thereof between Keansburg and Campbell's Junction, as I understand that over a period of years they have sent letters in to the township and also to the borough of Keansburg to the effect that they want to be relieved of the operation and they have had several conferences with the township and borough officials.

Under those conditions, I felt that a substitute service should be provided, and I am therefore making the formal application for your consideration.

I have great faith in the Bay Shore section and my faith is strong enough to offer the above.

Of course it may be argued that any one could make a proposition but that does not guarantee performance.

I would be willing to sign any sort of obligation to guarantee this service.

I would be very glad to submit to your township committee my financial standing and I think I could convince you that when I guarantee a certain thing that I am able to carry that guarantee out.

I might call attention to the fact that I had the contract for carrying the mails from Matawan to Sea Bright for four years, which necessitates daily service throughout the year, and we all know of the slogan that the United States mails must go through, and during that four years, I never fell down.

I also draw to your attention the fact that I have the contract for the removal of garbage for the borough of Keansburg at the present time.

I am substantially interested in the Bay Shore section and at the intersection of State Highway Route No. 36 and Palmer avenue at Keansburg I own three of the four corners at that place.

I stand ready to put on the service at 48 hours' notice and the bus put on the route will be a brand new bus.

I will be very glad to explain any other details to your committee or any of your township officials, and want to assure you that I am interested in seeing that the people in the Bay Shore section can depend upon bus service to which which they are entitled.

Treading The Pathway That Leads To War

Former Senator W. Warren Barbour Alleges That President Roosevelt Has Abandoned Neutrality Policy.

America has already, whether she realizes it or not, taken the first step on the dangerous path which leads to war, former United States Senator W. Warren Barbour told the members of the Bergen county Republican committee at a rally at Hackensack last night, during which he alleged the President had abandoned the nation's neutrality policy. He likened the situation which the President's recent Chicago speech has developed to that of 1916 and which resulted in this country's being drawn into the World war.

"The President has precipitously trod on dangerous ground and, in my opinion, is stepping wholly in the wrong direction," former Senator Barbour said. "What should be made crystal clear at this critical time is that America must not and will not become embroiled in any war. And, by the same token, America will not loan a single penny except perhaps to Finland, which is paying her war debts to us, to any nation for war purposes. This is the intent of the neutrality policy recently enacted by the Congress, and which is the first legislation of its kind in the history of the country. The President should abide by that policy. If we shake our finger under the noses of other nations, we must expect to follow up our threats and this can only lead to one end—our own entry into war.

"Such money as we spend at a time like this should be spent wholly in the defense of our own country. This money should be spent, for above all else at a time like this we must be fully prepared to defend ourselves against any and all nations having the temerity to attack us. Any note or diplomatic gesture along any other line is simply treading the dangerous path that will lead us again into eventual trouble. No matter where our sympathies may lie, we certainly should benefit from the experiences of the past and not even glance in the direction in which the President was obviously looking when he indicated the part he felt we should play in the present dangerous situation.

"Such a role is not the role we should find ourselves in again. Our position, and it should be an adamant one, should be to make it absolutely clear to the whole world and right now that America is neither going to fight nor finance any one else's wars again."

Mr. Barbour spoke of the Republican platform recently adopted, urged a liberal attitude in respect to labor and declared that the party has a "strong and able" standard bearer in Senator Clee.

"We, as Republicans, can point with pride to the fact that under a Republican administration New Jersey has balanced its budget, a surplus has existed at the end of the fiscal year, and the state's bonded indebtedness has been reduced twenty-five million dollars," Mr. Barbour said.

Settling Up Of County Estates

Fair Haven Woman Leaves $1,000 to Sister—Isaac Gilhuly Left Estate to Widow and Son.

Mrs. Sarah Z. Reichard of Fair Haven, who died recently, made her will last July. She left $1,000 to her sister, Alexandra Crozier. All the rest of her estate was left to her step-daughter, Frances E. Reichard, and she was named as executrix.

Isaac H. Gilhuly, Shrewsbury township, who died September 11, left his estate to his wife, Octa, and son, Williiam, to share equally until the death of one, when the survivor is to receive the remaining estate. The will, dated July 18, 1928, appoints wife and son executors.

Mrs. Charlotte Knobloch of Long Branch left all her personal property to her daughter, Jeannette Knobloch, in a will she executed in 1935. This daughter was also left one-fifth of her mother's estate and one-third of the residuary estate. Another one-third of the residuary estate was left to her son Godfrey. She directed that from the remaining third $1,000 be paid to her granddaughter, Ruth C. Weyant, and the rest of this third is to go to Ruth C. Weyant, Elsie Knobloch and Walter Knobloch.

Mrs. Hester A. Cooper of Belmar left all her estate to her daughter, Elizabeth Cooper, in a will she executed in 1928. She appointed her son, Benjamin D. Cooper, executor.

Mrs. Hannah Alexander was named as sole beneficiary in the will of her husband, William H. Alexander of Long Branch. The will was executed in 1919 and named Mrs. Alexander as executrix.

The last will of the late Irene Sussman, who died at her home at West Long Branch on September 18, bequeaths her estate to her brother, Arthur Sussman, and appoints him executor of her estate.

Henry V. Walling, Keyport, who died September 25, bequeathed his wife, Minnie M., his residence property on Broad street and appointed her executrix. His undivided interest in a farm owned by his late father, Alfred D. Walling was left to his sisters, Emma V. and Edith Walling, with a proviso that they may occupy the house or lease it and divide the income between themselves and mother, Martha S. Walling until all three are dead, when the legacy goes to the testator's daughter, Margaret E. Walling, who is bequeathed the residuary estate. The will is dated May 11, 1921.

Mrs. Jennie S. Hogan, Atlantic Highlands, who died August 23 last, bequeathed $1 to her son, Thomas O'Connor, and the rest of her estate to her daughter, Mrs. Teresa Rowan, and appointed her and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Ellis, as executors. The will is dated January 5, 1931.

Mrs. Martha M. Truex, Belford, who died September 23, left one-third of her estate to her daughter, Mrs. Anna Thompson, "for her kind and loving care of her father and mother," and directed that the balance of her estate be divided equally among six other children: Mrs. Corena R. Runyon, Mrs. Jennie Bennett, Harry Truex, Mrs. Martha T. Osborn and Mrs. Olive J. Yarnall.

Lions Regional Meeting At Red Bank November 9

Service Clubs of Red Bank, Asbury Park, Highlands, Atlantic Highlands and Keansburg to Convene at Elks Club.

A regional meeting of Lions clubs of this section, comprising those at Ashury Park, Atlantic Highlands, Keansburg, Highlands and Red Bank, will be held at the Red Bank Elks' club Tuesday night, November 9. The arrangements are in charge of Deputy District Governor G. Howard Lippincott, a member of the local club. Several officers of the state association, headed by District Governor, Robert C. Perina of Camden, will attend.

Mr. Lippincott and Past District Governor George W. Bray, also of the Red Bank club, on Monday night represented the local organization at a meeting of state association officials at New Brunswick.

At Tuesday night's meeting of the Red Bank club, Jack Rohrey, chairman of the program and entertainment committee, announced tentative plans for the annual football banquet to be held by the Lions and Rotary clubs on December 7, the annual Christmas party on December 28, ladies' night celebration on January 11 and father and son's night on February 8.

President Theodore D. Moore appointed Past President Edwin R. Conover to represent the Lions in a conference with the mayor and council, the planning commission, the Chamber of Commerce, and civic organizations to consider the project of constructing a new street and other means for improved parking facilities in the principal business sections of the borough.

Thomas S. Field, Jr., spoke of the annual race meet to be held Saturday afternoon at the Haskell estate in Middletown township.

An attendance prize offered by James H. Mattenlee was awarded to Mayor Charles R. English and prizes in a paint-guessing contest held by Max Klarin were awarded to Leon Reussille, Jr., Jesse Daniel Tuller and Dr. Theodore A. Doremus. Next Tuesday night the attendance prize and question will be presented by Eugene Magee, Jr.

William Longstreet of Red Bank was a guest of President Moore at the meeting. After the business session, musical entertainment was furnished by Bill Bauer and Harry Raab of Rumson inn.

Paul P. Konish.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning in St. Joseph's church at Keyport for Paul Peter Konish, 49, who died last Thursday in the Perth Amboy General hospital, following anoperation. Mr. Konish is survived by his wife, Elizabeth, and four children, Mrs. Lester Thorne, Jr., Herbert, Paul and John; one grandson, William Thorne; three sisters, Hrs. Arnold Rossfield of New York, Mrs. Walter Olfe and Mrs. Francis Rogers of Philadelphia, and two brothers, Steve and Frank.

Mr. Konish was employed by the Keyport Tiling Co. for 18 years.

FOOD FACTS

Did you know that:

—Age is not a measure of the freshness of an egg. Interior condition, disclosed by candling, depends on the care the egg has received and so determines quality.

—American bakers use about 6,000,000 pounds of honey annually.

—To make a pound of butter, 10.5 quarts of milk are required.

—7,000 public school boys located in 42 states are enrolled in cooking classes, according to the U. S. Office of Education.

These "food facts" are compiled by the Division of Consumer Information, New Jersey State Department of Agriculture.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

DO'S AND DON'TS

Give your camera half a chance and you'll get good snapshots.

IT'S really quite surprising the number of amateurs who go merrily along snapping pictures without giving any thought as to why their snapshots appear somewhat smudgy or cloudy.

If your snapshots can be classed with the above the chances are the trouble can be attributed to your own neglect and not to faulty construction of the camera.

A dirty lens, for example, will cause smudgy prints. A lens is the eye of your camera. Can you see clearly if your glasses are smudged by finger prints?

Cleaning a lens is a very simple operation. All you need is a soft, unstarched linen handkerchief and perhaps a match or pencil, if the lens is quite small. The rear surface of the lens can easily be reached by removing the back of the camera. If the camera has a double lens (one behind and one in front of the shutter diaphragm), the front combination may be removed by turning to the left, which will allow you to work through the shutter opening when set for "time," with the handkerchief over the end of the match or lead pencil. If the lens is quite dirty breathe on it and then rub quickly with the handkerchief. Be sure, when replacing the front lens, to screw it back into the shutter as far as it will go.

The suggestion to work through the shutter opening also applies to cleaning the front surface of single lenses fitted to box cameras and certain folding models. Work carefully and don't exert too much pressure. It isn't necessary and might scratch the surface.

Taking it for granted that you have a clean lens and that your camera is in good mechanical condition let's discuss some "do's" and "don'ts."

With the familiar box type camera it is so easy unknowingly to have your finger extend slightly—or more so—over the lens. The result is obvious. You will have an unattractive black smudge over part of your picture. So keep your fingers away from the front of the lens.

Another error is a double exposure caused by failing to turn the film roll to the next number after snapping a picture. If you fail to turn it you may find, when your prints are returned, that quite miraculously grandma is sitting in her favorite chair out in the middle of a lake.

When using a focusing type camera be sure to set the lens at the correct distance mark, for if you don't the chances are that your picture will be out of focus and blurred.

Here's another one. Unless you have an extremely fast lens and shutter don't try to take broadside snaps of fast-moving subjects. Moving objects can, however, be caught, even with an ordinary camera, if taken from an angle of about 45 degrees and not too close up.

Amateur snapshooting is really anything but difficult and it is quite safe to say that the majority of picture failures are the result of carelessness or lack of thought on the part of the snapshooter.

Everyday Cooking Miracles

BY VIRGINIA FRANCIS

Director Hotpoint Electric Cookery Institute

There's a bit of Jiggs in every man. Can't say much about the ability of males to tolerate nagging Maggies because we don't think there are any wives like that now-a-days, but where corned beef and cabbage are concerned—that's where every man's a Jiggs.

Unlike the henpecked cartoon character, however, the modern husband devours his corned beef and cabbage at home, where it has been prepared and cooked to a piquant savor by the one and only "little woman." If she makes it in the thrift cooker of her Hotpoint electric range there will likely be Chocolate Puff Pudding for dinner, too, for in this deep insulated kettle two or three foods may be steamed at one time without exchanging flavors. Imagine cooking cabbage and pudding together!

This particular corned beef and cabbage is uniquely different from the conventional variety, but only in manner of preparation, never taste! Canned corned beef has been used in this recipe, though the economy thrift cooker makes little work and expense of tenderizing fresh corned beef if you prefer to use it. The shape and size of the cooker enables you to place the whole head of cabbage, which is gashed several times and filled with corned beef, in the cooker, steam it for 45 minutes and remove it intact. Here is the way to prepare this dish which we have named:

Jiggs Junior

(Serves 6)

1 medium-sized head cabbage
1 can corned beef
1 cup water

1. Wash cabbage and cut down from the top through the center, making 4 or 6 "petals" radiating from the lower end. 2. In the center place the corned beef, uncut, and place cabbage on thrift cooker rack. 3. Place 1 cup water in cooker, then lower rack in cooker, letting the "legs" serve as handles; cover. High heat until steam flows freely from vent. Low heat to cook.

Time: 45 minutes.

And here is the way to make Chocolate Puff Pudding. Since it requires 1 hour in the thrift cooker and the Jiggs Junior only 45 minutes, you can start the pudding first. After it has steamed for 15 minutes lift it out, lower the cabbage into the cooker, then carefully place the pudding mold on top of the cabbage. In this way both dishes will be finished at the same time, using only 1 cup of water for the entire process and the same low degree of economical heat.

Chocolate Puff Pudding

(Serves 6)

1 tablespoon butter
½ cup granulated sugar
1 egg (beaten)
1¼ cups flour
2 tablespoons cocoa
1 teaspoon baking powder
Pinch of salt
½ cup milk

1. Cream butter, add sugar and blend. 2. Add beaten egg. 3. Sift together the dry ingredients and add alternately with milk; mix thoroughly. 4. Pour in greased pudding mold and steam. 5. Place in cooker in which 1 cup of water has been placed. High heat until steam appears from vent. Low heat to cook.

Time: 1 hour.

Rules Are Back On.

London (AP)—Indiscriminate use of pictures of the royal family on chocolate boxes and such-like will be banned when present stocks have been used up. The order went out from the Home Office recently, supposedly at the king's instigation.

Rules on use of their majesties' pictures were relaxed for the coronation.

Visiting cards come in two types: formal and informal. The latter is a card to which is attached a flap especially useful in writing notes.

Night Club Eyes Convent.

Warsaw, Poland (AP)—Proposed transformation of an old convent here into a modern night club has brought frowns from the city fathers. Authorities protest the convent is too valuable historically to be rebuilt.

FOUR ROO

Weddings.

Stout—Fary.

The wedding of Miss R. Elizabeth Stout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stout of Broad street Eatontown, to Harry E. Fary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Fary of West Park avenue, Oakhurst, will take place tomorrow night at 6:30 o'clock at the Shrewsbury Presbyterian church. Rev. George H. Miksch, pastor, will officiate.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will be attired in peach taffeta with a matching halo and short veil. She will carry a bouquet of Talisman roses. Miss Dorothy Parker of Eatontown boulevard, Oceanport, will be maid of honor and will wear an aqua dress with matching accessories. She will carry a bouquet of mixed chrysanthemums. The bride's mother will be attired in a wine colored dress with black accessories. Bertram Stout, brother of the bride, will be best man. The church will be decorated in autumn flowers and Mrs. Gladys Emmons of Eatontown, sister of the bride, will play Lohengrin's wedding march and selections preceding the ceremony.

Following the ceremony a reception will be held for the immediate family at the bride's home after which they will leave on a wedding trip through New York state to Canada. Upon their return they will reside on Overbrook avenue, Oakhurst.

Miss Stout is a graduate of Red Bank high school and is employed at the Hagerman Lumber company. Mr. Fary is affiliated with his father in the building material business.

Paton—Campbell.

Miss Mary Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Campbell, formerly of Chapel Hill, and Thomas Paton, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Paton of Newark, were married Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Leonardo Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. Ellwood Wolf.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin and Alencon lace with a train and a four-yard veil of bridal illusion, cap shaped, and caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor was Miss Dorothy Ryan of Long Branch, who wore a gown of royal blue taffata trimmed with a shade of deep rose and a braided cap with nose veil. She carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids were Miss Jean Campbell, sister of the bride, whose gown was of pale pink taffeta style and wore a braided taffeta cap with a nose veil. She carried a bouquet of copper colored chrysonthemums; Miss Minerva Brown of Chapel Hill whose gown was an American Beauty shade of taffeta Buffont style with cap and veil. She carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums; Miss Margaret Paton of Newark, sister of the groom, who wore a gown of a very deep shade of American Beauty taffeta Buffont style with cap and nose veil and carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

The best man was Herbert Hosenzahl of Bridgeport, Connecticut. The ushers were the bride's brother, Richard Campbell of Lincroft, and Douglas Paton of Newark, brother of the groom. All the men of the bridal party wore tuxedo suits and had gardenia boutonnieres.

The bride's mother wore a gown of black lace over satin and a corsage of gardenias. The groom's mother was attired in mauve velvet and had a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Anita Peaso of Middletown Village, organist of the church, played the wedding march and Miss Minerva Hulit of Long Branch sang "Oh Promise Me." The church was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves, white ageratum and white Mexican daisies.

A reception was held in the Roosevelt Tea Room, Little Silver, which was attended by about sixty friends and relatives of the bride and groom. Others present besides the members of the bridal party were Mrs. Richard Campbell, Jr., Robert Campbell and Doris Warburton of Lincroft; David Paton of Newark, Mrs. William Campbell, Miss Violet Campbell and Mrs. Charles Conover of Millerton, New York; Miss Edith Bischoff of Ossining, Rev. and Mrs. Ellwood S. Wolf of Leonardo, Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Lane, Miss Theodora Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Webster Lane and Mrs. Ryan of Long Branch; Mrs. Elizabeth Gemmel of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Peirson of Plainfield, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Murtland of Irvington, James Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thompson and daughter, Miss Dorothy Thompson, Horace Betts, Miss Roslyn Breeland, Miss Betty Buchannan, Miss Aileen Davison, Miss Freda Scheiss, Miss Olive Eddy, John Bain, William Mahl, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Keeler and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vallance of Newark; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson and Miss Blanche Leonard of Leonardo and Herbert Brett of Riverside drive.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Paton left on a two weeks trip to Canada and on their return they will reside on Hudson avenue, Red Bank.

The bride is a granddaughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. William Patterson of Chapel Hill and a graduate of the Leonardo high school and Newark Teachers' college. She has taught in the Broadway school, Long Branch, the past three years. The groom is a graduate of the East Orange high school and the Newark Technical school. He is employed by the Newark General Electrical company.

Johnson—Predmore.

Miss Adeline Johnson, daughter of the late Frank H. Johnson, of Tinton Falls, and James B. Predmore, son of Mrs. Rose Predmore of Arthur place, were married last night at 5:30 o'clock at the Shrewsbury Presbyterian church. Rev. George H. Miksch, pastor, officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Joseph Bray, was attired in a pale green lace chiffon and carried a bouquet of Joanna Hill roses. Mrs. Marjorie Casler Mitchell of Neptune was matron of honor and wore a pink lace dress and carried a bouquet of African daisies, and delphinium. Amory Osborn of Spring street was best man.

The church was attractively decorated in autumn leaves and fall flowers. Miss Sara E. Armstrong played Lohengrin's wedding march and selections preceding the ceremony.

Paine—Horton.

Miss Norma Paine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paine of Leonardo and Walter V. Horton, Jr., of Newark, were married in the rectory of a Presbyterian church at Newark Tuesday evening. The bride was attended by her sister Lois as maid of honor. Mr. Horton's best man was his brother, Albert Horton. Miss Paine was given in marriage by her father. About 50 members of the immediate families attended the wedding. The bride wore a cedar-colored velvet gown, with black accessories and she had a shoulder corsage of tea roses. Miss Lois Paine wore a black velvet dress, with white lace collar and cuffs and black accessories. She had tea roses at her shoulder. Mrs. Paine, the bride's mother, wore black failles silk with black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Horton will spend their honeymoon in Virginia, motoring to the various places, including the Caves of Luray. Upon their return they will make their home in a bungalow on Washington avenue in Leonardo. Mrs. Horton is a graduate of the Leonardo high school. Mr. Horton graduated from Central high school in Newark. He is employed at Newark by the Westinghouse Electric company. Mrs. Carrie Horton, grandmother of the groom, was among those who attended the ceremony. The bride's going away dress was a grey tweed suit with hat to match.

Whiting—Everingham.

Miss Alberta Whiting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Whiting of Bassett place, and Harold Everingham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Everingham, also of Red Bank, were married Saturday in the First Reformed church at Preakness. Rev. James Dykema, pastor of the Preakness Reformed church, formerly of Red Bank, officiated.

The bride was attended by her sister Ruth. Mrs. Everingham was attired in a gown of bluo chiffon while her maid of honor wore a yellow gown. Waynard Applegate of Leighton avenue was best man.

Both attended Red Bank schools. Mrs. Everingham is employed by Jlannine's and Mr. Everingham is a plumber employed by Mr. Applegate.

Huber—Pedersen.

Miss Marion Huber of West Long Branch and Thomas Pederson of Long Branch were married Saturday evening at the Methodist parsonage at Sea Bright by Rev. Howard N. Amer, the pastor. The bridesmaid was Miss Lillian Huber of West Long Branch, sister of the bride. Albert Hansen of Long Branch was best man.

Tho couple will live at Sea Bright, where Mr. Pedersen is employed at the Village market.

Jackson—Shomo.

Miss Estelle Jackson of Jackson street, Fair Haven, and Edward Shomo, son of Mrs. Joseph Shomo, also of Jackson street, were married last Thursday night by Recorder Harry B. Kurtis of Fair Haven in his office. The attendants were Mrs. Sarah Busbee and Mrs. Lilly Hayes. The couple are living at Fair Haven. Mr. Shomo is a gardener.

Red Bank Grocer Hurt in Accident

Peter Forbes of Bergen place, proprietor of a grocery store on Monmouth street, was injured Monday night when the car which he was driving, a light suburban truck, and a sedan driven by N. C. Warner of Asbury Park collided at Broad street and Peters place.

Forbes was removed by Warren Fowler of Broad street to Riverview hospital, where he regained consciousness. His injuries consisted of a light concussion of the brain and lacerations of the face.

Mr. Forbes was driving south on Broad street while Mr. Warner was seeking to turn west into Peters place.

Board Awards Contracts For School Work

Charles J. Hesse of Belford and the Red Bank Sanitary Sewer Company Successful Bidders in Middletown Township.

Contracts for sidewalks and curbing for the Belford and Port Monmouth schools, for curbing and a gutter for the Fair View school and for a catch basin and pipe line for the Middletown village school were awarded by the board of education of Middletown township Monday night. Charles J. Hesse of Belford received the contract to supply material. The contract for the labor went to the Red Bank Sanitary Sewer company which made a bid of $75.48 for the work at Belford, $102 for the work at Port Monmouth, $88 for the work at Fair View and $68 for the work at Middletown village.

A letter was read from the law firm of Parsons, Labrecque & Borden of Red Bank, representing William J. Leonard of Leonardo. The latter claims that his property adjoining the high school is being damaged by drain water from the school property and that the board of education is not maintaining its obligation to keep Mr. Leonard's driveway in good condition. It is also claimed that school children frequently trespass on the driveway. The letter was referred to Lawrence A. Carton, Jr., counsel for the board.

It was voted to move back the fence at the Belford school 20 feet. This is to be done because the road at this point is very narrow.

A motion was passed to investigate the cost of buying a score board for the new high school athletic field.

Miss Elizabeth Bates of Westfield was engaged to teach at Middletown village upon the recommendation of William K. Larsen, chairman of the personnel committee. Miss Bates' pupils are Headden's Corner children, who because of overcrowded conditions were recently transferred to Middletown.

Red Bank Spoken of in Glowing Terms by the "Morning Almanac" of Station WABC Today.

Red Bank, whose river furnishes not only summer and winter sports, but an abundant industrial life as well, was praised this morning by the "Morning Almanac" of Station WABC.

During the broadcast, Phil Cook, almanac editor, described the salient points of the Jersey town on the river—trade center of the rich farming region in which it lies.

Each year the fastest speedboats in the country gather there for the National Sweepstakes regatta. Last summer racing conditions were so ideal that 11 speedboat records were broken. When ice forms on the river, iceboat races are held over the same course.

Governed by Mayor Charles R. English, Red Bank has an official population of 13,000. Cook is trying to learn whether its name, which dates back to 1734, derived from the red clay of the river banks.

Disposed of Radio.

Miss Ann Colona of 134 Second avenue, Long Branch, won a Delco radio, dispsed of on the co-operative plan Tuesday night at the Red Bank Catholic school auditorium by the St. James' club. About $150 was realized by the club.
