Merchants Can't Agree On Summer Closing Of Stores

Some Will Close All Day—Others Waiting To Make Decision

The retail trade committee of the Red Bank Community Chamber of Commerce is having its hands full endeavoring to get a definite decision from the merchants as to the summer Wednesday closing between July 14 and August 28, inclusive.

The results of the post card summer closing ballots which have been returned to the chamber headquarters show the following stores specify they will close all day Wednesdays: Abbey's Men's shop, Admira Beauty shop, John B. Allen Shoe company, Peter Amarello, Butler-Brown, Baynton's Floor Covering, Clayton and Magee, Cottage Pet shop, D. and H. Paint company, Dorn's Photo shop, Huber's Men's shop, Kridel's, Milady's Purse and Vanity shop, Albert S. Miller Shoe company, Raciti, Jewelers; Reed's Jewelers, Reussille's, Red Bank Pet shop, Sterling Furniture company, Snyder's Mercantile, Inc., Su-Fashions, Straus company, Tafsun's, Shoes; Tetleys', Town and Country shop, Tusting Piano company, Winter's Fur shop and Lorstan studio.

The following stores specify they will close half a day Wednesdays: J. B. Anderson, Acme Furniture company, Camera shop, China and Glass shop, Colorite company, Dean's, Fabric Fair, Louis Furst, Footcraft shoes, Fishman furs, Fox's Gift shop, Goldin Men's shop, Grand's Shoe shop, J. J. J. Shoe Repair, Jade's Homecraft, Jean's Frocks, Katherine Beauty shop, Klarin's Paint store, Thom McAn shoes, Nat's Jewelers, National Shoe store, Rosenfeld Furniture company, Red Bank Book store, Red Bank Shoe Repair, Your Record Center, Samuel Shoe Repair, Sherman shop, Simons Nice Things, Steinbach company, Triangle Shoe company, Wilbur's, White Furniture company, Wolcott's and Sample Dress shop. Some in this group will close all day if the majority will do likewise.

The chamber has received 18 other ballots from stores undecided at the present time but will go along with the majority, and there are some stores that have not turned in their ballots.

The returns as shown above indicate no overwhelming preference so the retail trade committee at the time of going to press believes each store head should use his own good judgment regarding time of closing.

Contract Let At Middletown

High School Window Work To Start Soon

The Middletown township school board Friday night awarded its second contract in the $160,000 repair project to the Leonardo high school. Harold A. Hendrickson of Newman Springs road, Red Bank, was awarded a $15,500 contract to replace and repair school windows.

The first contract was awarded last month to the Rockwell-Newman company of East Orange for waterproofing the high school and other school buildings for $17,500. Only the amount to waterproof the high school was taken out of the $160,000 bond issue, the rest being derived from current expenses.

The only other bid on the window work was submitted by the Louis Bowers company of Princeton for $33,000. District School Clerk James A. Davidheiser was instructed to advertise for bids for 400 lockers for the high school. These bids will be received June 10, at which time specifications for the remainder of the high school project are expected to be submitted by Aylin Pierson, Woodbridge architect. A new heating plant, new stairways and flooring are the major items to be discussed.

A contract to resurface Buena Vista avenue, from Rumson road to the South Shrewsbury river, and Ward avenue, from Hartshorne lane to the North Shrewsbury river, was awarded to the Barrett Road corporation of Red Bank on a bid of $3,952.88.

Mayor Wilson welcomed a group of Boy Scouts who attended the meeting to make them eligible for Scout merit awards for citizenship. At another part of the meeting the mayor denounced the hoodlums who damaged the nets on the Victory Park tennis courts.

Finance Chairman Peter H. B. Cumming stated that the 1947 and 1948 tax rates are approximately the same. He emphasized that only 35 cents of the tax dollar collected in Rumson is spent for municipal operations. The rest is divided between school and county taxes.

She Was Sorry To Leave Riverview

Mrs. Julia Throckmorton, superintendent of Riverview hospital, says that compliments in the form of personal calls, telephone calls and letters regarding the wonderful treatment given patients at Riverview hospital are numerous and exceptionally gratifying to her and her staff.

However, it is unusual for patients to say they are sorry in leaving the hospital, Mrs. Throckmorton stating that most of them are very glad to go home, even though they have expressed their thanks for the sympathetic and painstaking treatment received.

Barbara Armstrong of Keyport, a recent patient in room 214, wrote the following note to Mrs. Throckmorton:

May 21, 1948.

Dear Mrs. Throckmorton:

Just a note to show my appreciation of the wonderful care that I received at Riverview while having my appendix out. It no doubt sounds odd for any patient to say that they were actually sorry to leave the hospital—but I really was sorry to leave. The constant activity made each day in itself interesting—and the cheerfulness and thoughtfulness of the nurses and the help—the excellent food—and the kind consideration of everyone there certainly helped to make my stay at Riverview most pleasant.

Sincerely,
Barbara Armstrong.

War Memorial At Shrewsbury

To Replace Honor Roll With Miniature Park

Shrewsbury's Mayor Alfred N. Beadleston Tuesday night directed Borough Attorney Leon Reussille to prepare an ordinance which will provide for the appropriation of $300 for a war memorial.

Stating that any addition to the school plant will be dedicated as the borough's main war memorial to all its servicemen, the mayor explained that the proposed work will replace the present honor roll at Sycamore avenue and Broad street. Replacing the roll will be a miniature park bordered by small holly bushes and centered by a granite stone with bronze plaque honoring Shrewsbury's two veterans who were killed in service, as well as all who served in World war II.

The mayor explained the low cost by stating that Daniel A. Ardolino, president of the Long Branch Monument company, had donated the granito stone and the labor involved. The plaque itself will be sold to the borough at manufacturer's cost—$91. Lovett's nursery will carry out the landscaping and provide bushes at a cost of $209.

Particularly honored will be the late George E. Atkinson and Robert R. Campbell, who died in service during World war II.

Street Repairs At Shrewsbury To Cost $3,655

Sutphen Low Bidder; To Appoint Board; Riordan Gets Variance

The C. H. Sutphen company was declared low bidder at Shrewsbury Tuesday night. They will build and repair streets in that borough at a cost of $3,655.

As Borough Engineer George Allen and Borough Attorney Leon Reussille checked specifications of the Sutphen contract, the Mayor and council passed an ordinance appropriating $2,500 for the work.

Other business of the session included:

Approval of an ordinance on dog regulations. Main change to the previous law is the extension of the appointive powers of the mayor. Also specified were fines of $50, 30 days in jail, or both.

Introduction of an ordinance permitting appointment of a planning board, to consist of the mayor, a councilman and three civilians.

Granting to James Riordan of a variance to the zoning ordinance permitting him to build greenhouses on his property, south to the railroad tracks. No objections were filed. The zoning board of adjustment had cited its approval.

Approved a request of George Curley for a fire hydrant at Borden street and Robinson place in Curley Heights. Mayor Alfred N. Beadleston included a provision, however, that approval hinged on the contract with Monmouth Consolidated Water company. The borough will not agree to guarantee the company any income.

Accepted a bid from Henry D. Robinson for borough owned land in the vicinity of Vail Homes, Shrewsbury township. Mr. Robinson offered to buy the tax liens and agreed to pay incidental costs.

The class colors are red and white and the motto "Forever Upward".

According to plans Red Bank is scheduled for "the new look" along its waterfront as well as on Broad street. The borough council recently awarded a bulkhead contract to Thomas Procter company of Long Branch for $44,100.

Ensley M. White, superintendent of public works, announced this week that work on the bulkhead would start as soon as the Procter company could obtain the necessary materials. The bulkhead project in front of the municipal park is expected to be finished by August 1, according to Mr. White, and the rest of the bulkheading is to be completed by December 1, said the superintendent.

The new bulkhead will extend from Irwin's Boat works to the Monmouth Boat club property, a distance of 670 feet. It will be built of 45-foot piling as compared to the old bulkhead piling of 30 feet. The piling will be spaced five feet apart instead of six, and 24-foot sheathing will be used as compared to 16-foot sheathing in the present bulkhead. The amount of anchor piling will be double that presently used. All piling and lumber will be treated with creosote. The bulkhead will extend seven feet above mean low water.

The present boardwalk will be eliminated, and a 20-foot bituminous walk will be constructed the full length of the bulkhead. Concrete curbing will be installed along the park side of the bulkhead.

Dickman's slip will be filled in with 4,000 cubic yards of fill, most of which will be obtained, Mr. White pointed out, from the high bank on the former Abram Davison and Bacigalupi properties. The dock line in front of the municipal tennis courts will be straightened.

The former Dickman boathouse will be razed within the next two weeks, Mr. White said, to clear the way for the bulkhead job.

Mr. White pointed out to The Register that the entire job of filling in the former Dickman slip might not necessarily be done as soon as the bulkhead was completed. Some fill would be necessary immediately, he said, to protect the bulkhead.

Future plans call for the elimination of the present public parking lot on the former Davison and Bacigalupi properties, it was explained. Mr. White pointed out that the system of park roadways contemplated would permit the parking of many more cars than does the existing lot, which at best will accommodate 50 cars.

The borough-owned buildings, occupied by Philip Matthews and by the Irwin firm, are also scheduled to be razed before the Marine park expansion plan has been completed.

Two More New Stores

In line with the business growth extending south on Broad street, construction of a one-story building comprising two stores on the west side of Broad street, two doors from Peters place, will be started about July 1. R. E. Delatush is the architect.

The former home property at 130 Broad street was purchased in 1944 by Maxwell H. Klarin, proprietor of the paint store at 25 Monmouth street, from the Hutchins estate. The house has been bought by William D. Layton, Shrewsbury contractor, who is moving it off the site to another location.

The plot has a frontage of 49 feet on Broad street and a depth of 150 feet. The building will be of cinder block and steel construction with a gourite front. There will be large display windows on either side of a center glass door, and individual entrances to each store. The floor space of each store will be 23 feet 9 inches wide by 100 feet deep.

The two modern stores will be offered for rent by the owner of the property when completed.

Eatontown Boro Protests Hydrant Rate Increase

Joins With Other Municipalities In Appeal To P.U.C.

Eatontown mayor and council at a meeting Friday night O.K'd a petition to be sent to the State Public Utilities commission through the borough attorney, Howard W. Roberts, protesting the increased rates for the installation and rental of water hydrants and asking the commission to reverse its decision in favoring the Monmouth Consolidated Water company.

Similar action has been taken by the Middletown Township committee and is expected to be followed by Shrewsbury and Ocean township committees at their meetings. The borough seeks to revert to the charge of $40 per hydrant and to have the new schedule rescinded.

Exception is taken in the protest to the water company regulation, filed with the Public Utility commission and put in effect November 27 last, requiring municipalities to guarantee a minimum 15 per cent of revenue on the cost of new installations. The petition asked suspension of the rates pending a formal hearing, and claims that no notice was given of the filing of the proposed revision of rates. It argues that numerous hydrants were on order prior to the new rates effective date and that these would not be subject to rules adopted subsequent to placement of the order.

The protesting municipalities contend that the revision "attempts to require the municipality to underwrite all new extensions and the use of public funds and public credit for the benefit of a private company."

Council adopted an emergency mensure providing for $6,600 for road repairs. Two sections of South street, Lewis street from Maple avenue to the bridge and Clinton street will be repaired first, said Councilman James N. Wolcott, Jr. A road committee was named by Mayor Harry S. Rowland to inspect a used road-grader offered for sale for $2,500 by George C. Gilbert of Kingston, N. Y.

Lake drive was taken over by the borough as a public street.

A citizen's juvenile study committee to deal with delinquent youth problems was authorized by resolution and Mayor Rowland said he would appoint the members later.

Councilman Wolcott announced that garbage collections Mondays and Thursdays starting June 1 will require that trash and garbage be placed on the curb the night before.

Property owners of Weston place thanked the council by letter for the road improvements made. A request for a street sign was referred to the committee.

The council's recent action in turning down the request of tavern operators for a change in the closing hour from 2 to 3 a. m. was called "gratifying" in a letter received from the alcoholic beverage control commissioner.

Permission was granted St. Dorothea's church to use borough property for the display and disposing of a television set.

A Touch Of Early History In An Old Policy

Company Has Had But Two Agents Here In 70 Years

A fire insurance policy of much interest was unearthed a short time ago by Alexander D. Cooper, local real estate agent, when going through some early papers in his files. The policy was issued March 1, 1883, to R. and A. W. Borden of Shrewsbury in the amount of $4,000, which covered a builder's risk as follows:

"$3,600 on two-story frame, shingle roof building and on lumber and materials for same contained in said building and on the premises. Situate on the south side of the Shrewsbury river, near Red Bank, N. J. $400 on frame stable situate east of the above described building."

The policy, No. 358, was issued by the late Thomas Davis, Jr., for the Springfield Insurance company of Springfield, Mass., and an attractive woodcut illustration thereon showed the principal buildings in the Courthouse square in the city at that time.

Mr. Cooper, who has represented this company many years, forwarded the policy on to the home office and they acknowledged same by the following letter:

Springfield, Mass.

Mr. Alexander D. Cooper, Agent,
Red Bank,
New Jersey.

My Dear Mr. Cooper:

We were all very much interested in the policy which you so kindly loaned me and we are having it photostated and returning the original to you. We will also secure a calendar of the First Congregational Church which is the building with the tall apire shown at the left of the picture; the building next right is the Odd Fellows Hall which has been removed for many years, and the large building on right of the picture is the City Hall and Police Station which was burned many years ago under peculiar circumstances. I understand they were holding a fair in the main auditorium of the building and it was elaborately trimmed with paper festoons, and one of the exhibits contained a monkey which escaped from its cage, and the monkey in crawling around the festoons swung one of them into a lamp which set fire to the entire interior of the building and it was entirely destroyed. The only thing that was saved was the City Bell which is now mounted on a pedestal along side of the present City Hall.

We find an interesting condition in connection with our agency representation at Red Bank. Thomas Davis, Jr., was appointed April 17, 1878 and continued as our agent until November 10, 1902 when it passed into your hands. It does not often happen that an agency continues in any given place for a period of over 70 years with only two representatives, and we are very glad to believe the representation at Red Bank has been so satisfactory there was no occasion for a change.

All the Officers join me in the hope you many continue to represent us for many years to come, and we will be more than pleased to welcome you at this office at any time you are passing through New England, and it is our hope this visit may be soon.

I shall recall with pleasure the pleasant visit which I had with you and I hope to come again often as I know I will thoroughly enjoy your beautiful hotel "Molly Pitcher."

Yours very truly,
Alfred L. Mooney,
Assistant Secretary.

Smith Pleads Innocent To Oliver Murder

Nolan Smith, 68, of Wingo Terrace, Pine Brook, Shrewsbury township, last Thursday entered a plea of not guilty at Freehold to the murder of Charles Oliver, a neighbor, and will stand trial June 14. His wife, Rosie Smith, also pleaded innocent to a charge of assault with intent to kill. Her trial date was not set.

According to the prosecutor's office, Mr. Oliver was killed May 2 when he was shot in the back following a neighborhood quarrel with the Smiths. After being accused of breaking into the Smith home, Oliver is illeged to have resented the accusations. During the argument Mrs. Smith is charged with firing two shots at him. Her husband is alleged to have taken the gun and shot Oliver. He died on his way to Monmouth Memorial hospital.

Haddonfield has two yew trees said to be the oldest of their species in America. They were brought to America by Elizabeth Haddon, founder of the town, whose romantic life is celebrated in Longfellow's "Tales of a Wayside Inn" and in Lydia Marie Child's story, "The Youthful Immigrant."

The Grim Reaper Busy

Death took no holiday over the week-end. More than 400 Americans lost their lives in accidents, most of the fatalities occurring on the highways. The country seems to have become hardened to these highway tragedies. There will be the usual warnings for the July Fourth and Labor day week-ends, but the Grim Reaper will be on hand doing business as usual. If we haven't learned anything from the past, then it seems futile to expect any improvement in the future. We can well ask ourselves, "Just how dearly do we value life?" Or "How cheaply?"

War Memorial Trees

Two dogwood trees were planted recently on the Red Bank high school property in memory of the late William Crispell, who was custodian of the school property many years. The Oceanport mayor and council last week voted to replace its temporary honor roll with three dogwood trees in memory of the three young men from that community who made the supreme sacrifice.

It is hoped that the planting of trees as war memorials will be adopted by more communities and veterans' and civic organizations. Some big cities carry out extensive programs. Savannah, for example, has its Victory drive, a street several miles long lined with palms in memory of war victims. Every community, large or small, should have its memorial trees. They are living monuments which grow more beautiful and become more inspiring and precious as the years pass by.

Is There Progress?

Within the past several weeks, The Register has called editorial attention to some of Red Bank's flaws which remain the source of "no comment" from our public officials. We know our citizens want to have at least a general exchange of views on these matters, and do not want to have these ideas inserted into "File 13" to be forgotten.

Perhaps Red Bank's No. 1 problem is the handling of shopping traffic with its parking difficulties. That one our borough council is trying to solve through preparation of a parking meter ordinance which would require payment for the parking privilege. Metered parking is bound to be a controversial issue, for with its virtues, experience has never found it to be the sweetest flower in the municipal garden.

As long as a parking meter ordinance is being considered, it might be well to consider at this time the method of collecting the coins from the meters if and when they are installed. Several New England towns have solved this particular parking-meter problem by turning the collection job over to a bank, which charges a slight fee for the service.

However, from the standpoint of public safety, one problem that is crying for attention is that of adequate street lighting. Red Bank's poor lighting is a trap, and death or injury, assault or theft are its game. What will the borough do to really correct this menace before the trap snaps shut? Perhaps some one on the council might be kind enough to say if something on an overall, not just a piecemeal basis, can be done.

Another of our booby-traps is the intersection of Broad and Monmouth streets, with Monmouth forming the leg of a "T" to our very busy main business street. When no policeman is on duty at this intersection there is neither a "slow" nor "stop" sign to regulate the procession of traffic, both motor and pedestrian, from Monmouth into Broad, or vice versa. Accidents that have occurred at this corner make it obvious an electric traffic signal is the best solution to danger in this case. Still there is official quiet.

Then there is the matter of rough, uneven surfacing on our principal streets, a condition made worse by the severe winter damage caused some months ago. Resurfacing is important to make these streets ready to receive the heavier traffic that will roll over them in the months ahead.

Police Chief Harry T. VanNote, Sr., for some time has been asking for more policemen. Despite the fact that Red Bank's population has risen from 11,000 to more than 15,000 in a few years, the police force has been cut from 23 to 20 men. Presently one man is out of service indefinitely due to illness, reducing the force to 19, including one detective, Captain George Clayton, and Fred Olson, department clerk. At one time in the past year only 12 men were on duty due to illness and leaves.

Maybe all these things can't be cared for at once, as much as they should be. If they can't, it would seem that someone in authority should say why not. If they can, well, let's get to it, and not let the issue drag.

Getting Kids and Cops Together

We read with interest a recent Associated Press dispatch from Mattoon, Ill., a town with a population of about 16,000, comparable to Red Bank. We were interested because attention has been directed toward what is feared to be a slowly rising rate of juvenile delinquency in Monmouth county, including Red Bank.

At Mattoon, the AP quotes a report from the American Municipal association, the police chief has organized an active "junior police force." These juniors were said to have helped reduce juvenile arrests 97 per cent in a single year.

The story said:

"Mattoon's police chief started the junior police force program late in 1946. Youths who apply, between 10 and 16 years of age, are deputized.

"They pledge to follow these rules: (1) Be clean, friendly and courteous. (2) Respect the rights and property of others. (3) Co-operate with parents and teachers. (4) Go to church regularly. (5) Be home by 10 p. m., unless accompanied by parents.

"The junior policemen are given badges patterned after regular police force stars, and are asked to 'get the cop out of the bogey man class and make him a pal.'"

This activity, the AP said, had the result of 400 children volunteering for service in the first week. Further, the dispatch declared: "Almost without exception they have lived up to their vows. And they are converting their chums to the five-point program."

Several cities, including New York, and some of our local municipalities have had wonderful results by organizing such clubs as Police Athletic leagues (PALS) and trying other methods of associating community children with the police. It seems that Red Bank police might take an inspiration from what has been done successfully elsewhere. They could get the kids to make their job easier by staying out of trouble, and by coaxing their friends to do the same. Most cops find work with the juniors fun, and such fun develops good character.

One-Man Rule

Graham Patterson, in his column "Talking It Over" in the Pathfinder news magazine, asks if John L. Lewis will "dare do it again when the miners' contract expires the end of this month? With coal stockpiles greatly reduced because of the recent shutdown, a stoppage of coal production now could bring a swift and complete paralysis of industry, transportation, gas and power production.

"But the important question to be answered is not whether Lewis will or will not wreck our economy by another coal strike. The real issue is: Should John L. Lewis—or any other individual—be permitted to possess the power of life or death over our national economy? Should any man for any reason have the power to strangle this country until he gets what he wants?

" . . . Lewis has shown by his actions that he insists upon dictation instead of negotiation. And there is no room in a democracy for a dictator. With the European Recovery Program and our own rearmament under way, industry has a vitally important job to perform—too important to permit one man or interest to bring it to a halt. The security of the American people takes precedence over the ego of John L. Lewis."

The lust for power rears its ugly head every now and then in this country among labor leaders, industrial tycoons and public officials. Their power, like the tide in the river, increases in force as the water gets nearer and nearer to the waterfall, only they can not hear the warning noise of the falls until it is too late, and over they go into oblivion. There are always some who will not learn this lesson from the mistakes of others. They must learn the hard way, and invariably they do.

Quotation by Maj. Gen. Nikolai Talensky, U.S.S.R.: "The Soviet army is ready for a hard, prolonged war. Our modern, first class army has worked out strategy and tactics far superior to the bourgeois theories of tank and air war, total war, blitzkrieg, etc." But when we talk only of preparedness over here Pal Joey's henchmen cry out that we are warmongering.

A G.I. WRITES FROM GERMANY

15th Medical General Disp.
20 May 48, Hanau, Germany

The Red Bank Register,

Dear Sir:

I am writing you this letter in hope that it may be of some use to you. I have lived in Red Bank most of my life and think it is one of the best places in the country. This is my second tour of duty here in Germany. During the war I was with the 101st Airborne Division of Bastogne fame, and now with this medical unit in Germany.

Most of the stories we read of the soldiers on occupation duty tell of what low people we are. They tell of our low morals, "black-marketing," drinking and general hell-raising. But how many people know of the good the G.I.s are doing over here? In this unit we have only 13 men, and I know of at least six who every month help some people out of their own pockets, with CARE, or food they can buy in the PX. None of us are below trading a few things to get our laundry done, or to have pictures developed; the little things that help a guy get along.

As any G.I. can tell you, the "blackmarketing" is being done by our betters. But aside from this, our aim is to teach these Germans our way of life. Can it be done? Well, I surely don't know. I have made friends with two doctors and their families in a nearby village. Last month I gave each a CARE package and a few things that I could spare from my weekly ration. One man thanked me in a typical German attitude of the day, which is a feeling that they deserve it, and we should give to them until it hurts. But the other wrote me a letter that many of the American people should read and then understand that it is all not useless over here. This man was in the States in the 1920's, so maybe that has something to do with it. I am enclosing a true copy of the letter, hoping it may be of some use to you.

I thank you for taking the time to read this letter. I still get copies of your paper and it sure gives me the news of the old home town.

Sincerely yours,
Arthur Newman.

PS—May I add that this doctor thought that the package was sent to him through my sister in Red Bank, and that is why he speaks of her and requests her address.

Dr. Otto Landgraf,
Gelenhauser Strasse, 12
Langeneselbold, Germany,
15 May 1948.

My Dear Cpl. Newman:

I have been greatly embarrassed by the announcement of the CARE parcel, and I wanted to thank you personally. I came to know by Dr. and Mrs. Lemke (the other doctor), whom I met at the movies last night, that a very bad luck prevented you to come into sight this week-end. I am very sorry of it. Will you be on duty next week-end, too?

If you could spare the time to let me know the address of your sister I should be happy to let her know how much I appreciate the generous help, and friendliness the more, since it reaches me from unknown friends without a word, in the same way I came to be acquainted with the traditionnl American hospitality I lived to see in your country.

I feel deeply impressed by so many signs of active love to me and my country from the other side, and after so long a time of hatred, misunderstanding and denial of charity. The beginning of mutual recognition of both our nations may give us the confidence and faith that the sake of freedom of spirit and humanity will never be lost, as long as men on both sides will share these ideals and work for them.

You know, Cpl. Newman, I love my country as you love yours, and none of us is doubting the mission of his country. Germany is torn and deadly ill. Your people have no reason to help, but never the less they help. That is the mission for which I am ardently thanking you!

My wife and boy are spending some time with her people in Bavaria. So I am housewife, cook, gardener and doctor in one person. Will you do me the pleasure to see me if you can come? I should be glad to have some good talk. The parcel will not be opened until the family is complete. So let me thank you cordially for the many things we had to abstain from previously.

Otto Landgraf.

VERSE OR WORSE

Excuse us, please, if now and then as happens to the best of men, we blow our top and from our perch, topple with a sudden lurch. What put us in this awful mood is news that rats eat all our food, each consuming, so we hear, one hundred-fifty pounds a year. So, even, though we write it jest, we add our voices to the rest.

The lowly rat must meet its doom. For them and men there ain't no room, and so across the U. S. A., a wholesale plan is under way. Down with the Rat! Uncloak its mystery! Read Zinsser on "Rats, Lice and History". Even on the radio, people say the rat must go. They tell us how, in ancient times, the Irish reeled off certain rhymes, thinking their Celtic verse would place on rats the Reaper's curse.

We don't know if that worked or not; the idea doesn't seem so hot. On second thought, we'll change our mind—they didn't use the proper kind. The quickest way to kill a rat (and on this one we'll bet our hat) is from that source which we all know—the verbose, mighty radio. Commercials, whether sung or read, will kill each rat completely dead! (Oh, let us pray all are amused, so that our fun may be excused!)

If that won't work, although it should, another way to fix 'em good, is to plug up every nest today with copies of this roundelay.

And now to re-assume our glower, high up in our ivory tower.

WHY NOT TAX ALIENS?

The average citizen who has to divvy up his income tax every March 15th always has been puzzled as to why non-resident aliens are not required to pay taxes on incomes enjoyed while in this country.

And the perplexity becomes all the greater in the light of the seeming inability or unwillingness of congress to do anything about this manifest inequity as between aliens and citizens.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Massachusetts Republican, recently introduced an amendment to the Knutson income tax bill which would have assessed income taxes against aliens residing in the United States for 90 days or more.

But the senate finance committee declined to approve the amendment on the ground the Knutson bill was not the appropriate place for such legislation. The committee said it should be a separate measure or included in a bill making general changes in the tax laws.

Representative Knutson, chairman of the house ways and means committee, has expressed himself as sympathetic to the alien tax plan. His only objection to the Lodge amendment was that the period of grace was too long.

He would make the income tax applicable after the alien had been in the country 24 hours.

The nation has heard of frequent reports of aliens making fabulous killings in the stock market and in other ways. That they should not have to pay income taxes on these earnings the same as any citizen passes understanding.

RED BANK SENIOR HIGH

Junior-Senior Reception

Red Bank high school's annual Junior-Senior reception was held Friday at the high gymnasium. The motif for the dance was an oriental scene. The decorations included black Chinese silhouettes, which stood away from the wall and cast their reflections. They were composed of Chinese dragons, and boats, a Chinese boy and girl going to market and many others. There was a pink and blue sky for background. Besides these decorations, there was an archway through which the dance was entered. The orchestra played from a Chinese pagoda. Chairs were covered with hand painted Chinese seat covers. All of the decorations were done by the junior class, including the art work. Frank Havilland, superintendant of grounds, did the carpentry work.

Punch and cakes were served by Edward Murphy and Ralph Brown, the senior high school custodians. Mr. Murphy and Mr. Brown served from the cafeteria counter. Frank Mazzorpi's orchestra supplied the music from 8 until 11:45. The junior class had a program dance for the first time in Red Bank high. It was held from 9 until 11:30. The programs were given to the students on entering the dance.

The chaperones were composed of teachers of the high school faculty. They were Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso Gallo, Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, Jr., and Miss Helen Reece. Mr. and Mrs. Clement Jablonsky were invited, but they were unable to attend. Miss Ruth Williams, the junior class adviser, and Mrs. Frances Moore, the senior class adviser, both attended. Miss Williams teaches sophomore English and Mrs. Moore teaches art. Several members of the board of education attended.

The receiving line was composed of the advisers and the junior and senior class presidents. The senior class president is Michael Toscano and the junior class president is Walter Stearns.

Every year the junior class gives a semi-formal dance to the graduating senior class. This year the invitations were sent out three weeks before the dance. Any two people could enter the dance on one invitation. The invitations were printed on white, with a Chinese man printed in red ink in one corner. The programs were done with the same design. Pictures of the dance and any individual couples were taken by Anthony Trufolo, adviser of the high school camera club and teacher of mathematics and physics.

The seniors will hold their senior ball June 11. It will also be held in the high school gymnasium. It is a formal dance.—Beverly Bacon.

Clothes Plea

Do you have troubles? That's what you think. If you stop and reflect for a minute, and read the following letter which was sent to Harry C. Sieber, principal of Red Bank high school, you'll consider yourself very fortunate.

Honored Sir:

Please, please, do not be angry if a German school girl writes you a letter. When you read it, you will understand why.

We have in our school 40 children, and most of them have relatives in America, who send them nice packages with good gifts. I have no relatives there, but I have the name of your city from a letter written by a friend of mine.

We are very, very poor, and have almost nothing to eat and wear. I am 13 years old, and about middle size. For three years we had Russians in our house and home, and they took everything away. What I then had has become too small for me and worn out.

I have a brother ten years old, and our mother cannot provide clothes for us, as there is nothing. So we are hungry and cold and have no blame for the war since we were never Nazis.

Will you dear schoolmaster, please be so good as to ask your school children if they will send a dress, or shoes, or a shirt, or if they can't do that, something to eat? I would be so thankful.

I will, when I can, go to work and when our money becomes of any worth in America, will gladly pay you. Believe me, it is hard when one always wants to eat, and mother can give us nothing.

Help us, please, please, and the dear God will bless you.

Respectfully yours,
Renate Steffen Worth (Schelhaus)

After reading this letter, students of Red Bank high school have contributed whatever they could to help. Mrs. Irene Smith, girls' physical education instructor, supervised the collection. Clothes and some cans of food have been donated by the students.

Peggy Cosentino.

A bequest of $900 was made the Fairmount Cemetery association in Newark for care of a plot and space at the mausoleum, and bequests of $2,000 were given to each of the following, Mrs. Florence Fryling, Short Hills; Mrs. Marie Green, South Orange; Mrs. Edith Bender Trenton; Mrs. Mildred Krause, Plainfield; Mrs. Mildred Bohrer, Plainfield; Harry Wiegand, Cedar Grove, and Frederick Buehler, Plainfield. All were nephews and nieces.

Other bequests of $2,000 each went to Herbert Ohl, South Orange, a grand-nephew; Mary Mehl, Hoboken, a sister; Mrs. Sophie Buehler, a sister-in-law; Lillian Aldinger, Newark, a friend, and Harvey G. Stevenson, East Orange, a friend. Mrs. Marie Green, a niece, was given a house and land at 909 Raymere avenue, Interlaken, and other personal belongings.

The remainder of the estate was ordered divided equally among Mrs. Green, Mrs. Bender, Mrs. Krause, Mrs. Borher and Mrs. Beuhler. Named executors of the estate were Marie Green and Harvey G. Stevenson in a will filed May 24.

A son, Peter John Carroll, was given all his jewelry and wearing apparel and many shares of stocks and bonds were ordered set up as a trust fund with the income to go to Mrs. Carroll. The fund stipulates that both principal and income be paid the son and a daughter, Vivian Mary Carroll, in equal amounts when the son reaches the age of 35 years. Sea Bright Girl Scouts Are Active

Sea Bright Girl Scouts were among the groups attending the Memorial day service in the Sea Bright Methodist church.

May was a busy month for the troop. A cake sale netted $31. The younger group recently hiked over the bayshore scenic drive. The iron fence around the church was painted by troop members, the material being donated by William R. Fowler.

The girls recently entertained the cub scouts of Sea Bright with a program and refreshments. Marcy Goldberg, Phyllis Lacey, Barbara Thomas and Joan Davies comprised the entertainment committee, while Geraldine Welch and Peggy Lovgren looked after the refreshments.

Buoyant answer to Back Road and Boulevard

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, available at extra cost.

REMEMBER that tough patch of road up yonder where the ruts and ridges make a washboard seem smooth?

Recall the tiring tenseness brought on by the drum and hum of road noise and tremor even over smooth concrete highways?

Well, clock away the miles in this stunningly styled Buick — and meet up with the sweetest answer to such matters this side of cloud cruising.

"It's a ride that's soft and smooth as velvet," folks tell us. And we tell them it comes from a host of things.

It comes from the ample roadweight of a two-ton car built low and wide — and so beautifully balanced it handles light as a baton.

It comes from the leveling buoyancy of Buick's all-coil springing which puts a pillow of deeply coiled steel at each wheel to soak up the bumps and ripples.

It comes from the softness of bigger, lower-pressure tires that cushion away road tremors and roughness — from the sure-footed, swerve-free steadiness of Buick's extra wide Safety-Ride rims, widest in the industry.

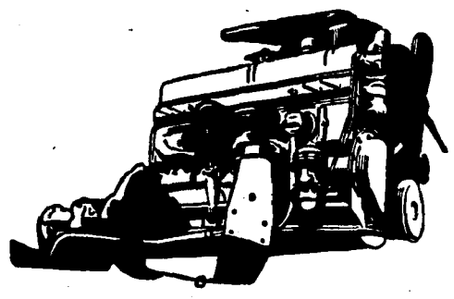

And it comes in special measure from a brand-new engineering gem we call Vibra-Shielding which banishes vibration build-up.

Here for the first time you're freed from the motoring fatigue brought on by tiny tremors piling up into bigger ones. Here your miles are made moss-smooth and quiet—long journeys become mere jaunts.

So why delay knowing the most buoyant answer to any road you ever traveled?

Come visit us now. Know at first hand the distinctive styling, the flashing action, the velvety ride over highway and byway that are Buick's and Buick's alone.

Then follow your heart's desire and get your order in promptly. We'll take it in proper sequence whether or not you have a car to trade.

REASON FOR THE VIBRA-SHIELDED RIDE

Placed with scientific exactness, 3 fat cushions of special composition cradle the engine so as to control its vibration frequency. Engine vibration is thus kept "out of tune" with those that might come from other parts of the car. The result is to shield car occupants against tiring pulsations, cut road noise, make engine sensation almost imperceptible and motoring practically fatigue-free.

Frank Sherwood Dies In Hospital

Associated With Local Bank 33 Years

Frank L. Sherwood, 68, of 11 Caro court, an employee of the Second National bank here 33 years, died last Thursday evening at the Neurological institute, New York city, following an emergency operation.

Frank L. Sherwood

He was born in Pleasantville, N. Y., son of the late Anson L. and Jenny H. Sherwood. Mr. Sherwood was recently transferred from a bank teller's position to custodian of the safe deposit department.

He was a charter member of the Little Silver Fire department and its first treasurer. He was also an exempt member of the department. Mr. Sherwood was also a member of the Wenonah Missionary society of Little Silver, the Presbyterian church of Red Bank and the Presbyterian Brotherhood.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Bessie Parker Sherwood; a daughter, Miss Frances Sherwood, and a sister, Mrs. Benjamin W. Covert, all of Red Bank, and two brothers, William T. Sherwood of Baltimore, Md., and Anson W. Sherwood of Detroit, Mich.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at the late residence, with Rev. John A. Hayes, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial was in Evergreen cemetery, under the direction of the Mount memorial home.

Enjoys Reading Our "Fifty Years Ago"

A pleasing incident in the weekly activities of The Register's editor was being stopped on the street last week by J. Lester Eisner, whom he had not seen in many moons.

Mr. Eisner complimented the editor upon The Register's large circulation and also mentioned how entertaining the "50 Years Ago" column was to him. He said he reads with much interest every issue of The Register. On his business trips abroad. The Registers accumulate and immediately upon his return, he goes through each one very carefully to make sure he does not miss any of the "50 years ago" items. A recent item of direct personal interest to him was that 50 years ago he had a bad fall and was rendered unconscious for nearly two days.

Mr. Eisner in his boyhood, resided on Wallace street, near Washington, and played with what was then known as the Wallace and Borden street gang. Nearby was the Spring street gang, and east of Throckmorton's field was the Goosetowners. The feuds among these gangs were not quite so severe as those down in Kentucky, but nevertheless there was a dividing line between these districts over which it was dangerous to cross.

The editor of The Register well knows whereof he writes because he belonged to the Spring street gang. The Register's editor also recalls very clearly the day when the first sewing machines of the Eisner plant were put in the front room of the Eisner home while he was playing with the Eisner boys and others in the vacant lot next to their home, evidently on this particular day there being harmony between the Wallace and Spring street gangs.

Red Banker Gets Prison Sentence

Edward J. Daly of 52 Spring street was sentenced to Annandale reformatory last Thursday at Freehold by Judge John C. Giordano for an indeterminate term on three charges of breaking and entering with intent to steal, and a charge of petty larceny.

Daly had been charged with entries at the Leonardo school April 18, Crawford Compton's real estate office of Belford April 19, and Osip's fish market of New Monmouth and at the home of Miss Jane Pulsch of New Monmouth April 20.

Joseph E. Burke of Asbury Park received a suspended one-to-three-year prison sentence, three year's probation and a $1,000 fine on a charge of keeping a gambling resort. He was arrested May 2 as county and Asbury Park police raided Burke's garage in Neptune, where a dice game was in progress. Seventeen others were arrested in the raid.

Immediate analysis and decisions are required in an emergency, and these men are trained to perform these acts in their regular line of duty. "Line gangs" are highly trained to insure you Reddy service at the lowest possible cost.

Large Crowd Sees Parade At Atlantic Highlands

Four Tanks, Jeeps And Other Equipment Feature March

One of the largest crowds in Atlantic Highlands history braved the weather Monday to witness the Memorial day parade in that borough. The parade featured a varied display of modernized fighting equipment, including four General Sheridan tanks, a half-tract, three jeeps, two personnel carriers, and an amphibious D.U.K.W.

Soldiers from Fort Hancock and Fort Monmouth joined members of the 644th Tank battalion, Red Bank's National Guard unit, in the march. Representatives of the Sandy Hook Coast Guard unit were also in the parade.

The march, which was led by the three local veterans' organizations, included a Spanish-American war veteran, the Sea, Girl, Boy and Cub Scout troops of the borough and members of civic organizations. March music was furnished by the Atlantic Highlands municipal band. Fire and First Aid men and their equipment were followed in the parade by a sound truck operated by Carmine Mandia, Jr., and Mayor Waldron P. Smith and Irving B. Zeichner, parade chairman, rode in the lead jeep. Mr. Zeichner was assisted in the arrangements by Joseph H. Spicer and James G. Parker.

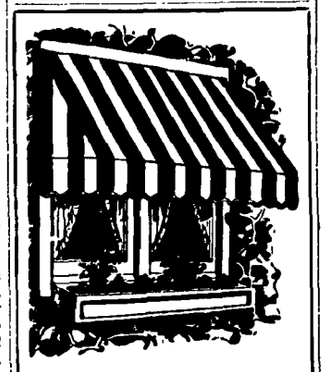

Ceremonies in front of the honor roll at the high school featured addresses by Mayor Smith and Major Charles R. McKelvey. Wreaths were placed at the honor roll by James Stump, commander of the Catholic War Veterans post of St. Agnes parish, Harry Gaffey, commander of the Sandy Hook post, American Legion, and Mr. Parker, commander of the local V.F.W. Mrs. Joseph Ryan, Girl Scout leader, also placed a wreath at the honor roll.

Invocation was delivered by Rev. Roy E. Williams, Jr., pastor of the Methodist church, and benediction was offered by Rev. Joseph A. O'Connor of St. Agnes parish. Mary Jane Martin recited the "Gettysburg Address," and roll call was read by Daniel C. Oakes and Harry Murtha.

The Red Bank Register is supported by local as well as out-of-town businessmen. Advertisements appearing regularly tell the story.—Advertisement.

TWO COMPLETELY NEW 1949
Lincolns
IN A CHOICE OF MAGNIFICENT BODY STYLES AND TWO SEPARATE PRICE RANGES

A NEW fine car isn't made overnight. Not a really new and really fine car.

The 1949 Lincolns you can see now at your Lincoln dealer's have been years perfecting. Here was a job that couldn't be rushed. For these 1949 Lincolns were designed to meet the 1950s more than half way; to be the automotive pattern for years to come.

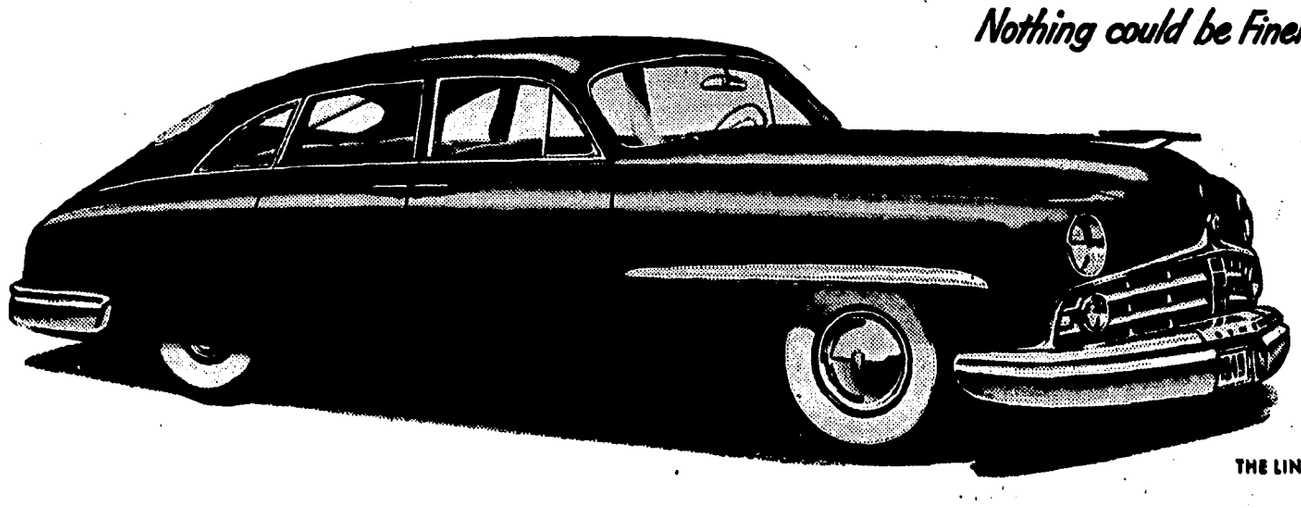

Are they beautiful? Of course, with a new, massive breadth of line that's fresh to the eye...and sheer joy when you see how much extra room it means. They've got a low, hug-the-road look. And feel how their new super-balloon tires, with their wider, safer rims, really cushion your ride.

Are they powerful? In both the Lincoln and Lincoln Cosmopolitan, there's the same powerful engine. Newly designed right from the blueprints up, 8-cylinder, V-type, 152-horsepower...it's as fine an engine as human skill can make. A fortress of strength...built with the precision that goes into aviation engines.

Are they luxurious, these new Lincolns? Naturally. From the smart upholstery fabrics and distinctive color combinations to their new carefree, effortless ride, these Lincolns are a revelation and a new experience in motoring.

Lions Club Honors Fair Haven Troop

Flags Presented To Boy Scout Unit

Dr. Edwin F. Stewart, oldest living Eagle Scout in the United States in point of service, holder of the Silver Beaver award, the highest achievement award in Scouting, and scout surgeon for Boy Scout troop 24, assisted the Fair Haven Lions club in honoring the members of troop 24 for their various successful accomplishments during the past year, last Thursday night at Willowbrook restaurant.

Wilfred H. McCracken, a member of the Scout Troop Committee, was toastmaster. He spoke of the activities of the Boy Scouts since its organization in 1911 in Fair Haven. Dr. Stewart, outfitted in his full regalia of scouting, gave a resume of his work during the past 37 years, stating that he was scoutmaster of the Fair Haven troop, 25 years ago. At the conclusion of his talk, Dr. Stewart contributed the use of two slings for the troop flags.

Councilman Russell H. Minton, president of the troop committee, praised the work of the Scouts and also of the Lions club for all activities. Mr. Minton was a member of the original Fair Haven troop when it was known as troop 1 in 1912. Other committee members present were Robert V. VanBrunt, Joseph E. Hunter and Lawrence A. Schilling. A. Clayton Hollender, of Perth Amboy, governor of Lion district 16-B, presented an American flag and a troop flag, gifts of the Fair Haven Lions club, to Mayor Edgar V. Denise, who in turn made the official presentation of the flags to troop 24. Robert Shannaman accepted the flags on behalf of the troop. Mayor Denise, a former boy scout, spoke briefly of the achievements of the scouts and also of the service club, stating that the official governing body of the community was very proud of both organizations.

He said the poles, topped with an eagle for the American flag and with the scout insignia for the troop flag, were the gifts of Wilfred H. and Albert G. McCracken of Grange avenue, in memory of the late John L. Willard, a former member of the Fair Haven Lions club and a worker for all boy scout activities, who died May 10, 1945. Emil L. Jakubecy, present scoutmaster, spoke of the scouts' appreciation for the honors.

Guests, in addition to Dr. Stewart, Mayor Denise, Councilman Minton and Scoutmaster Jakubecy were Councilmen Peter J. Eichele, Arthur H. Rieman, Tony Hunting, James A. Enright and Jesse J. McIlray, Assistant Scoutmasters Vincent Maslyn, Robert W. Lauber and Fred Russell, also Grandjean G. Jewett, Richard Ford and Arthur C. Erb.

Community singing was led by William L. Bailey, Jr., and Councilman Eichele. Mayor Denise sang "Brighten the Corner Where You Are", and Councilman Hunting entertained with tap dancing. Alfred P. Boyce and Mr. Eichele sang a duet. Mr. Hunting invited the scouts and scoutmasters to the Carlton theater for the showing of "Unconquered". The party will be complete with refreshments donated by the Lions club.

President John G. Anderson announced that the Lions will honor the members of the local Sea Scout ship, "Sea Lions", at the next meeting of the club Thursday night, June 10. The program will be in charge of Russell M. Borus.

Harry C. F. Worden, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the nominations for the official slate of the service club for the fiscal year of 1948-1949. The annual election will be held Thursday, June 10, and installations July 8. The nominations were as follows: Lieut. G. J. Freret, U. S. N., to succeed John G. Anderson as president, William L. Baily, Jr., to succeed Lieut. Freret as first vice president, Albert G. McCracken to succeed Mr. Baily as second vice president, Harold B. Perry to succeed Mr. McCracken as third vice president, Donald D. Mills to succeed Everett F. Allen as secretary, Russell M. Borus to succeed Kenneth W. Hartzell as treasurer, Lester H. England to succeed himself as lion tamer, Joseph Sacco to succeed Mr. Perry as tail twister, Robert V. Van Brunt and Alfred P. Boyce to succeed John F. Wagner and Milton H. Siegfred as directors for a term of two years. Other members of the nominating committee were Peter J. Eichele, Fred E. Gregg, Wilfred H. McCracken and Robert V. VanBrunt.

"PROMPT, COURTEOUS SERVICE AT ALL TIMES"

Mrs. Minton Dies In 104th Year At Highlands

Born In Red Bank, She Moved To Bayshore In 1884

Mrs. Lavinia Mount Minton of Fourth street, Highlands, one of the oldest residents of Monmouth county, died Friday morning in her 104th year. She had been seriously ill three weeks.

A native of Red Bank, Mrs. Minton was born on White street, November 22, 1844, and was the daughter of Horatio Mount and Marie Matilda McCarr. She was the youngest of a family of six sons and six daughters. She saw her brothers and sweetheart march off to the Civil war. Mrs. Minton volunteered to nurse the wounded soldiers of that war, and after attending the Mechanic street school in Red Bank, she became engaged in nursing for several years in many of the old Red Bank homes.

As a young woman she had met Charles Johnson of Cream Ridge in the early 60's, and upon his return from the Civil war they were married in Red Bank by Rev. Robert T. Middleditch, who was the Baptist minister. Three children were born to this union.

Some time after Mr. Johnson's death, the widow married James Kingsbury, by whom there were three more children.

In 1884 the family moved to Highlands, where Mrs. Minton had lived ever since. Her third husband was John Wesley Minton, captain of a vessel that hauled coal between New York and Highlands. One child was born to the third union. Mr. Minton died 46 years ago.

Mrs. Minton saw seven great-grandsons serve in World war II. They are A. Meade Robertson, Jr., and Robert Robertson, sons of Mayor and Mrs. A. Meade Robertson, Robert Anthony and Ivins Voorhees, all of Highlands; John Patterson of Hilton Park, Robert Liming of West Long Branch and Nelson Emmons of Asbury Park. Mrs. Minton had predicted that the end of World war II would come before she was 100 years old. Always hateful of war, she was, however, proud of her relatives who saw service. A grandson, Charles H. Johnson, son of Mrs. Annie Johnson of Headden's Corner, Middletown townsip, also saw service in World war II.

For the past several years the birthday parties of Mrs. Minton have been one of the highlights of Highlands society. These parties were arranged by one of her daughters, Mrs. Deborah Bogue, with whom she lived. During these open house parties, all the local officials plus relatives and friends would greet and pay tribute to the "Grand Old Lady of Highlands."

Until her recent illness, Mrs. Minton had been remarkably active. Her favorite hobby was automomobile riding, and she rarely missed a Sunday's drive around the county.

Last year a New York radio station invited her, among others, to participate in a Saturday morning program. Mrs. A. Meade Robertson, a granddaughter, often relates the pleasure Mrs. Minton received from that trip. The studio sent a large sedan to Highlands and took Mrs. Minton and some of her relatives to New York. After the radio show the company took them to a New York hotel for dinner.

Of Mrs. Minton's seven children, four are living. They are Mrs. Bogue, Miss Hattie Kingsbury, Mrs. George E. Liming and Mrs. Kate Ellenberger, all of Highlands.

When Mrs. Minton celebrated her 100th birthday, a special celebration was held at the Methodist church. She was the oldest member of the church, where she had been a Sunday-school teacher and active member.

At Mrs. Minton's 103d birthday reception last November, five new great-great-grandchildren were present, representing the fifth generation. These were Catherine Walstrom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sievert Walstrom, Jr.; Linda Jane McCue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McCue of Long Branch; Jean Cherky Voorhees, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivins Voorhees, Jr.; Sylvia Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robertson, and Barbara Emmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Emmons of Asbury Park.

Besides her daughters, Mrs. Minton is survived by 11 grandchildren, 29 great-grandchildren, 24 great-great-grandchildren and one great-great-great-grandchild.

The sixth generation child is Nancy Sweat, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sweat of Florida. A grandson, Ambrose Liming of Highlands, is a veteran of World war I.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at the late residence, 70 Fourth street, with Rev. J. Hillman Coffee, pastor of Highlands Methodist church, officiating. Burial was in Fair View cemetery under direction of the Posten funeral home. Rev. Mr. Coffee gave benediction at the grave. The bearers were Charles Johnson, grandson of the deceased; John Paterson, Seivert Walstrom, George King, Jr., Reginald Robertson and Ivins P. Voorhees, great-grandsons of Mrs. Minton.

School Health Program Discussion

"The Essentials of a School Health Program" will be the subject of a talk to be given by Miss Lula P. Dilworth, assistant in health education, of the state department of education, at a meeting of the Monmouth County Better School Health council in the auditorium of the Gregory school, Long Branch, Tuesday. Dr. Albert F. Schmidt of Sea Girt, chairman of the Council, who is also chairman of the school physician committee of the Monmouth County Medical society, will conduct the meeting to which have been invited all school physicians, school dentists, school nurses, and representatives of county and local groups interested in school health, including school superintendents, principals and teachers, boards of education, parent-teacher associations, and health and welfare agencies.

A ten-point listing of objectives for a better school health program in Monmouth county, formulated by the planning committee of the council under the chairmanship of Myron B. Diggin of Matawan, will be presented to the meeting for consideration. Mr. Diggin is president of the Matawan township board of education and president of the County Association of School Boards.

Dr. Stanley Nichols, Long Branch and Asbury Park physician, will summarize existing school health programs in Monmouth county and conduct a question and answer period. The Monmouth County Better School Health Council is sponsored by the Women's auxiliary of the County Medical society and follows the pattern for improved school health services as approved by the New Jersey state department of education, and the Medical Society of New Jersey and it's auxiliary.

Champs Of 1908

Among the prized possessions of Red Bank's well-known George "Spud" Chandler is the above pictured photograph of the Red Bank Orioles, a baseball aggregation which played bang-up ball in this section about 40 years ago. In the four years the team played together, such outfits as Oceanport, Shrewsbury, Rumson, Keyport and the Amboys were given examples of the Red Bankers' diamond prowess.

Shown, left to right, are (top row) William VanPelt, pitcher; Mr. Chandler, right fielder; Edward Quinn, center fielder; James Angelo, left fielder; (second row) Thomas Glassey, first baseman and manager; George Glassey, catcher and outfielder; Edward Hounihan, catcher; Thomas Pettit, second baseman; (bottom row) Edward Drennan, third baseman; Howard Tilton, bat boy, and Andrew Hill, shortstop.

Leonardo Wins Title By Beating Rumson, 5-1

Run Up Tenth Victory Of Year —Home Baseball Crown

Leonardo high school brought home a Shore Conference championship yesterday afternoon by whipping Rumson, 5 to 1. With the pressure on, Coach Arnie Truex's lads came through in sparkling fashion, taking advantage of Bulldog miscues to give themselves plenty victory margin.

Ted Lauer had the important assignment of pitching his mates into the title and he did an impressive job. He allowed four hits and five walks to do the trick while fanning five. Rumson's only tally came in the second when the classy hurler got himself in momentary trouble through wildness. He forced the run in by issuing a walk with the bases loaded.

His mates came right back in their half of the second, however, and from that point on everything was rosy. Allen Merken led in the hitting department, getting two for two and scoring twice.

Allen Stern was losing pitcher. He gave up six hits and five walks while striking out three. Loose play by his cohorts didn't help.

In the mad race for top berth in the Conference, Leonardo high school had busy sessions last week. Thursday afternoon they moved into the shore loop's lead by taking Atlantic Highlands, 2 to 1, in an extra inning game.

The next day they had cold water thrown on their hopes when Freehold high dished them a 4 to 3 defeat. The loss didn't rule them out entirely, but put pressure on to the limit, making it a 50-50 deal between what they did to Rumson and what Matawan did to Hoffman.

Leonardo won Thursday, even though the Tigers' Ronnie Carhart gave up but two hits, the Lions made each safety count. Ted Lauer was credited with the victory. He gave up five hits. The winning run came in the eighth inning via three Atlantic errors, and the second hit of the game, which advanced a runner to third.

George Freibott tallied the important counter. He got on via a poor peg to first, moving to second on the miscue. Buck Jones singled Freibott to third and the runner scored when the relay on Jones' hit was wild.

Leonardo's loss to Freehold the following day came when a sixth-inning rally ended with Allen Merken being nipped trying to steal second. The tying run, in the person of Tom Ryan, was resting on third at the time, three runs having previously come in.

Ralph Steinberg, the season's sensational high school strike-out king, was winning pitcher. He gave up but three hits while fanning 11, moving his strikeout record to 130 for the year. His wildness in the sixth gave the Lions a chance to win, or at least tie, the game. Hayes' peg to second on what many teams would let go as an "automatic steal" did the trick, stopping proceedings in quick and authoritative fashion.

SPORTS REGISTER

By Tom Bray

Golf has gained considerable popularity since the war. Actually, the shore doesn't have enough courses to accommodate all the divot diggers anxious to hit the fairways. With the vast amount of players have come a goodly number of clowns who travel the manicured pastures totally ignorant of what old timers knew as golf etiquette.

Etiquette on the course amounts to about the same things which Emily Post has kept herself busily writing. If your parents couldn't teach you manners, however, no amount of "book larning" will put you in that "socially acceptable" category. Golf course courtesy is inborn.

If you are thinking of taking up golf, the first thing to do is see a golf professional. When he goes a round with you, he will point out how important it is to permit faster players to "go through." He will also tell you that when looking for a ball, you should invite players behind you to pass through. And that means, even if you quickly find your ball, to wait until the "waved on" players have "gone through."

The game of golf is a wonderful sport. It gives a fellow a chance for that exercise he has missed all winter. It also permits a bit of sun-soaking (normally), as well as the great feeling of freedom which open space offers. When played without serious competitive strain, it is relaxing sport.

Some foolish stunts pulled on fairways in late years ruin the game. An ordinarily healthy person could easily wind up victim of high blood pressure because of the ignorance of fellow fairway-travelers. There are ways of curing the growing blight on the game. If you're a golfer, alleged or otherwise, check yourself carefully. Even though inconsiderateness seems to be the order of the day, don't you yourself be guilty. When offenses are committed, report them to the greens committee at the club. In that way, perhaps the sport of golf will be kept for sports.

THAT GRAMMAR SCHOOL field day scheduled by Red Bank's board of education Monday was rained out. It will be held Saturday morning at West Bergen place athletic field. If you want an enjoyable morning, get out there this week. Take our word for it, you'll like it.

When Monday's meet was called off, Lawyer Ted Parsons and Frank Pingitore, Rue athletic director, got their heads together to set up an informal program of races. Mr. Parsons donated prizes and Mr. Pingitore and Coach Lou Jacoubs selected relay teams.

The result was a cheerful one, the youngster responding with great interest. That these meets must be held often is evident. The more we have, the less necessary will be lectures on juvenile delinquency. To those who have given their time, talents or money toward arranging these programs go the Sports Register's bouquets of roses, without thorns.

MONMOUTH PARK opens its gates in another 17 days . . . . Folks who haven't looked at a scratch sheet in months are talking about the nags, so you know the sound of "They're off!" will be greeted with the usual enthusiasm . . . . Horace Wade, the track's capable publicity head, had another of his short stories printed in Sunday's American Weekly.

Ernie Ratti had his missus at Garden State recently. While "looking 'em over" in the paddock, Mrs. R. made her choice. It turned out to be the out-rider's mount . . . . Unless you're a boxholder, our idea of the best place in Monmouth Park is in the reserved section of the grandstand. The best you get for general admission to the clubhouse is annoyance . . . . Lot of locals making a dollar or two since the Oceanport oval put its workers on an overtime basis.

Garden State gave every reason for lack of business except that they failed to keep all their mutuel windows open for business. Reason for closing them was to allow the management to gauge the take. The bigger the income, the bigger the slice for the state of the 12 per cent cut. The same answer probably goes for the question, "Why doesn't Garden State have daily doubles?

Monmouth Park will have daily doubles, same as last year . . . . With everything else he's had to do attendant to the track's opening, General Manager Ed Brennan has made a determined effort to place locals in jobs he directly controls . . . Good treatment is one of the factors which lure big stables to a track. That Monmouth has made its back stretch area more comfortable for stable workers is for sure.

Dan Parker and Daily Mirror reporters make no bones about bookmakers having prosperous seasons in track clubhouses . . . Monmouth Park will again have its Jockeys' softball team. Also formed is a M. P. Maintenance crew team. They are slated to play Rumson's firemen . . . . Red Bank's Elmo Smith received his trainer-owner license from New Jersey's racing commission. He's a member of the Smith Enterprises family which last summer were in local headlines, through the courtesy of County Prosecutor J. Victor Carton and his gambling raids.

PLOWING UP THE FAIRWAYS:—Amos T. Dwight, leading national amateur golfer in the days of Jerome D. Travers and others, still plays a first rate game. At Fort Monmouth's tough course last week, Mr. Dwight toured the stretch in 82. Had 36 on the first nine via birdies on the second and ninth holes. His putting and short game is something we'd like to own.

Red Bank Catholic high's golf team slated to meet Lakewood high this afternoon at Eatontown . . . Jim Humphreys is a golfer, make no doubt. Even Sunday's winds and rain could not keep him from making his appointed round. That should be a tip-off as to what his future competitors may expect.

A match for which we'd gladly offer our services as scorekeeper is the proposed Ed Conway-Tom Phipps links battle. Phipps claims he will throw the ball around the course in competition with Conway's regulation playing. Such a challenge is quite an indictment on the brand of Mr. Conway's golf, even though we think Ed has the better half of the argument.

Bill Sherwood reports the golf season has his sporting goods shop busier than ever. It not only is the balls and sticks he sells, but the number of trick questions he is asked to wager on. Most recent query concerns whether a man can hit a golf ball further with a baseball bat or a driver. We'll take baseball bats for baseballs and golf sticks for golf balls. Figure it out.

Vernie Bennett has himself a new set of irons and doing all sorts of things to par . . . Joe Ghezzi, brother of pro Vic and one of the shore's better amateur golfers, chinning with Rumson Pro Jim Martyn at Thursday's fogged-out Seton Hall-Fort Monmouth baseball game. A fellow could learn a lot if he listened to that pair discuss golf swings and such.

Jack Welsh, George Sullivan's assistant and Old Orchard's number one eligible bachelor, intends to do plenty practicing this summer. He belts a long drive . . . John Gualtieri was going to take up golf again, but he strained his back. He got the pinch reaching for a Haig and Haig bottle.

Dr. Morgan Colio absent from local fairways recently, but he intends to get in stride shortly. Had to clean up his bowling engagements before reaching for the spiked shoes. It was with the good doctor and Frank Graziano on Hollywood Golf course that Bly posted his best round, a 78. You can check with the molar man on that. Don't think he'll ever believe we gave him a true estimate of our game when he arranged handicaps that day on the first tee.

The Huber brothers of the clothing store clan regularly tour Old Orchard. They have a deep and sincere interest in all sports activities along the shore . . . "Bus" Learn's game is suffering since he took up duties at Monmouth Park. His Sundays have him torn deciding between the brooks of Eatontown and Long Branch or the Shrewsbury at Rumson.

THE SWEEPSTAKES REGATTA, the North Shrewsbury's annual classic, will get a going-over tomorrow night in Philly. Clarence Lovejoy, county resident and New York Times boating editor, mentioned that fact in his column Sunday.

According to Mr. Lovejoy, the American Power Boat association, which sanctions the local river show, will overhaul an unexpected rhubarb which developed last January. That concerned New Englanders' attempts to put the nix on Red Bank's possession of the regatta.

Mr. Lovejoy wrote: "A number of pilots in past Red Bank regatta events launched their squawk in January over allegations that Red Bank committeemen spent more time posing for photographs with top brass and not enough time with the visiting daredevil contestants. Most serious of the charges was that some drivers who had placed for prize awards had not received their trophies at or subsequent to the regatta."

INCIDENTS AND INCIDENTALS:—Congratulations to Red Bank high's track team, which Saturday came close to staging the biggest sports upset of the year. It was in the running right up until the final event. It should be ample reward for the conscientious work put in the past two years by Coach Vince Paladino, as well as that by Coach Jacoubs the past season . . . Al Firth is our pal for keeps. He's a Giant rooter . . . Red Bank high and Red Bank Catholic meet tomorrow and again Saturday. The latter will be the season's finale . . . Glad the Shore Conference is dropping the point system. Next year's winner will be strictly by win-loss percentage . . . Jack Madden's has television. Dodger fans please report to Jacey Delaney's . . . Freehold's sensational Ralph Steinberg is headed for Rutgers . . . Rumson's Coach Ken Petrie will leave the home of the Purple Bulldogs . . . Don't forget the Quadrangle club's dance Saturday night at Molly Pitcher.

Freehold Wins Conference Meet By Half Point

Squeezes Out Leonardo, Red Bank, Toms River; One New Record Set

Red Bank high school athletic field Saturday afternoon was the scene of the most exciting Shore Conference track meet in its 13-year history. Freehold high school annexed the diadem, their 27 points squeezing out Toms River's 26½ and Leonardo's 26.

The meet was settled in the last event, the broad jump. Red Bank high school, which had not been expected to offer too much competition, was in the running up to that point, but was unable to score points in the finale. They took fourth place. Nine schools competed.

Before the broad jump, Toms River, which was favored to capture the crown, had its 26½ points, Freehold 25, Neptune 23 and Red Bank 20½. Leonardo was fifth with 17.

The Gooch brothers of Leonardo were one-two in the broad jump, with another Lion, Roslyn, taking fourth. Bobby Duckenfield, who just previously had set a new Conference pole vault mark, took third place to give Freehold its margin of victory.

Duckenfield's setting a new Conference pole vault record of 11 feet, 7⅝ inches, was the day's most interesting event, drawing the attention of the several hundred. His one try for a 12-foot record failed.

Bob Ferguson was Red Bank's lone winner. Surprisingly, he took five points an event in which he was not expected to figure—the high jump. Had the Bucs' expected power in the hurdles materialized, the Maroon and White might this week be sporting the tilte.

Best hurdle points they could gather, however, were a second in the 120 and a fourth in the 220 by Ray Schmidt, together with a third in the 220 by Harry Dutchyshyn.

Leonardo managed third place without scoring a first place in any running event. Their field events power was there, however, and had they taken the broad jump 1, 2, 3, as they nearly did, it would have been their victory.

Ray "Red" Schmidt, varsity member of the Buc basketball team, scored most points for Red Bank. He gathered six via his work in the hurdles and by tying for second in the high jump. Ferguson's taking the high jump gave him five points and second-place scoring honors.

Dick Chadwick captured 3½ points by being second in the javelin and a tie for fourth in the pole vault. "Squirrely" Scott added three points for second in the half-mile run, which he lost by slightly more than a foot. Hary Dutchyshyn took third in the 220-low hurdles for another two points and Lou Hughes added a singleton for fourth place in the 100-yard dash.

Point Standings—Freehold 27, Toms River 26½, Leonardo 26, Neptune 23, Red Bank 20½, Matawan 13, Manasquan 7, Lakewood 0, Rumson 0.

100-Yard Dash—Won by Bill DeMidowitz (Neptune); second, Morgan (Manasquan; third, Snelling (Toms River); fourth, Hughes (Red Bank). Time—10.6.

Mile Run—Won by Hal Smith (Freehold); second, Wilbert (Toms River); third, Merola (Freehold); fourth, Larkin (Toms River). Time—4:43.2.

Red Bank Towners May Lose Home Field

The Red Bank Towners and Rangers baseball clubs, as well as Red Bank Catholic high school, may lose their home field if complaints expressed at Tuesday's meeting of Shrewsbury's mayor and council result in enforcement of existing ordinances.

Chief of Police Otto Herden reported that Mrs. Lucy Poole, whose home is adjacent to the field, had objected to use of the field as a baseball diamond. Among the reasons listed were disturbance of the peace and commercialization in a residential zone. The chief said the Towners and Rangers had been selling admission tickets. Mayor Alfred N. Beadleston ordered the complaints investigated.

REGATTA GROUP TO MEET

The National Sweepstakes Regatta association will meet June 15 at Monmouth Boat club at 8:30 p. m.

Grammar School Meet Saturday Morning

Postponed Field Day Rescheduled— 200 Boys, Girls To Try For Medals

The Red Bank board of education grammar school field day, which Monday was called off because of wet grounds, will be held Saturday morning at West Bergen place athletic field.

The program begins at 10:15 a. m. with the high school band in action at flag-raising ceremonies. Events for the four schools entered—River street, Junior high, Shrewsbury and Little Silver—will begin at 10:30 o'clock.

From the interest shown in last week's postponed meet, the day is expected to be one of celebration for more than 200 local youngsters. Civic leaders, members of the board of education and the mayor and council will be on hand to assist Frank J. Pingitore, high school athletic director and field day director, in running the events.

No admission fee is charged. Parents of the contestants as well as the general public have been issued an invitation to attend the events.

A public address system in charge of Theodore D. Parsons and William Bradley will keep spectators advised of the progress of the meet.

Medals will be presented first, second and third place winners, and a trophy will be awarded the school winning the meet. The Lions and Rotary clubs have donated the awards.

Expected to be the most colorful and interesting feature of the day will be the May pole dance competition. The third grade at River street, fourth at Oakland street and fifth at Mechanic street will compete.

Another "extra added" will be the specialty race being arranged by Pingitore and his assistants, Coaches Lou Jacoubs, Vince Paladino and Tom Phipps. It is certain to be a crowd pleaser.

Ninth graders from River street and Junior high will also perform, but their totals in points will not be included in the trophy award. The events range in distances from 50-yard dashes to 440-yard relays.

To complete the holiday aspect, the Red Bank-Red Bank Catholic high school baseball game will be played at 2:30 p. m. The contest will mark the final game of the year for both teams, each of which has enjoyed an exceptionally fine year.

Red Bank High Eased Out Of Title By Lions

Leonardo Beats Rumson, 5 to 1— Matawan Helps By Beating Hoffman

A Shore Conference championship came close to coming to Red Bank high yesterday, but fortune smiled the other way. Although the Bucs had a better win-loss percentage average than Leonardo high, the Lions are the champs by virtue of the Conference's point system.

Yesterday's games told the story. Leonardo proved up to their titular role by dumping Rumson high, 5 to 1. Matawan high school rendered a valuable assist by nosing out Hoffman high, 6-5. The Matawan victory boosted them to first division in the Conference. Leonardo previously had beaten Matawan twice and victories over first division teams count more than those over second division clubs.

How close Red Bank came to donning the throne is best shown by the one-run margin which pushed Matawan into the picture. The Huskies scored two runs in the sixth to win, the winning counter coming when Hoffman high's catcher threw wildly attempting to pick a runner off first.

Matawan's importance in deciding the Conference champion has its touch of irony. Defending champs, they couldn't quite make the grade this year but they definitely were responsible for deciding who should take their place. Had they lost, Red Bank would have been in.

Red Bank's Conference record was eight wins against three losses. It gave them a Conference rating of .761. Leonardo has a record of ten wins against four losses and a Conference rating of .774. Thus the Bucs were in the race right down to the wire.

Determined to do their best to stay in the running for the title, the Bucs Thursday afternoon walloped Neptune high, 20 to 5, and then came back the next afternoon at Atlantic Highlands to post a 4 to 0 victory. The wins marked the seventh and eighth of the season in an 11-game Conference schedule.

The three losses were to Neptune, Rumson and Leonardo. The Neptune defeat was by an 11 to 8 count via a three-run splurge in the last inning. Next came a 1 to 0 setback by Rumson high. Even though Aivin Griggs hurled a two-hitter at the Bulldogs, the Rumsonians were setting up brilliant defensive plays to ease in the win. The third defeat was administered by the club which turned out to be the Bucs' biggest rival—Leonardo. The Lions squeezed through a 4 3 win in an abbreviated contest. Rain halted proceedings in the seventh.

The thumping Red Bank gave Neptune Thursday was on the amazing side. Collecting 14 hits, they rode roughshod over the Scarlet Fliers from the start. The first inning produced three runs for the Bucs. Succeeding innings became successively worse for the Fliers. After settling for but one run in the second, boosting the count to 4 to 2, Red Bank came up with six in the third and five each in the fourth and fifth.

Griggs was credited with the win, although Coach Tom Phipps sent him to an outfield post once the outcome was assured. The slow-moving hurler had a big day for himself, leading in the batting department with three hits in four appearances.

The Atlantic Highlands victory was just as impressive. Again Griggs received credit for the victory, but this time he was forced to go the route. His mates supplied him a four-run cushion after the first three innings, and he responded by throwing in effectively.

Only really tough inning for Griggs was the sixth. His control went slightly haywire in that session and he walked two after two were out. The runners boldly executed a double steal, but their luck ran out when Charlie Mills attempted to steal home. Catcher Dom Soldo nipped him at the plate in a close play.

For the afternoon, Griggs gave up but three safeties. He walked three while fanning five. His mound opponent, Abe Carlstrom was touched for five quick hits, including a triple by Leo Massa and a double by Bill Sanborn. After giving up the four runs, however, Carlstrom settled down to some mighty fine pitching, belated though it was.

SURF, FIELD AND STREAM

Timely Notes On The Great Outdoors

BY STEW VAN VLIET

"Stew" VanVliet

Friday evening the huge dining room of the Essex house, Newark, was filled to overflowing when sportsmen from all over the state gathered to celebrate the striped bass victory. The dinner was sponsored by the Essex County Federation of Sportsmen's clubs under the able guidance of President Ed Janata, who with his co-workers brought to a fitting climax the years of hard work, which were required to make striped bass a game fish.

Now that we have this law, let us do everything in our power to keep it. Let us live up to the letter of the law. Out of all the species of fish, we have been given the custody of this splendid "King of the Surf." So let us be worthy of this gallant fighter; let us be sportsmen.

It may take several years before we reap the benefit of this law, but in the mean time other states will pass the same law. At present there is a strong movement under way by the sportsmen of New York to make striped bass a game fish.

It is hard to guess what the results of the striped bass fishermen would have been over the past long week-end had the weather been favorable. However, those who were able to fish in between the periods of rain, fog and wind turned in an encouraging score.

The first real good news to arrive from Fort Hancock's public fishing grounds is the catch of three bass weighing 12, 22 and 29 pounds, respectively. It is a well-established fact among the striped bass clan that the rock pile and jetties of this area are the finest fishing grounds along the coast and that more big fish are taken there by surf anglers than any other spot in this area. A close second is Monmouth Beach, Takanassee, Deal, Belmar and late in the fall, North Point. If you have not secured your fishing permit, don't delay another day. Drive to the main gate and the officer in charge will issue you a permit promptly.

Striper trollers who were able to get out to the Hook report seeing large schools of bass. Not many were accounted for, however. The largest to date weighed 27¼ pounds and was caught aboard the "Miss Take," Capt. Morenz.

Although the river fishermen are still tagging bass, it appears that the main body of fish have moved down around the point of the Hook. A few sea porgies and fluke have made their appearances in Sandy Hook bay.

The Rollo Trucking Corporation Takes a Holiday

What does a transportation driver think of as he sits behind the wheel of a truck over the long, weary miles? The answer is fishing. Last Saturday the drivers of the Rollo Trucking company of Keyport put their thoughts into action when they boarded the "Scout," Capt. Buchholtz, out of Brielle, for a go at the Bostons. We called up Louis Naffie, an officer of the company, who gave us the following interesting account of the trip:

"We were lucky. We reached port with 400 mackerel and a ten-pound pollock before the deluge hit us. If ever there was a "busman's holiday—in this case a truck driyers' holiday—we had it. No sooner had the chum streak hit the water than mackerel began coming over the rail. We put up a dollar each for the one catching the first fish, and Wallace Peters of Keyport walked off with the pool. From then on it was fast and furious—mackerel all over the cockpit. Then the fun began. We had noticed a dark, somber object swimming in the slick. He was a big fellow—some 250 pounds of Mako shark. Peters was fishing with a light rod and had hooked a mackerel, and before he could land him he felt a heavy tug and away went mackerel, hook, line and sinker. Before Peters lost his line he yelled 'what will I do with him?' Some guy answered, 'do the best you can; he's your baby.' A little later Ken Brown tied into what he thought was a return engagement with the shark, only to come up with a ten-pound pollock. Other members of the party included Vernon Sullivan of Keyport, Charles Harrison of Cliffwood and Robert Mausser of Morganville."

Last week we mentioned that the advanced scouts of the mackerel schools had reached Ambrose lightship. This week, head boats and charters out of Highlands docked with catches up to 600.

Bluefish are on the march, with early arrivals reported off Brielle. They are big fish and numerous, but it will take several weeks before they will hit the Shrewsbury Rocks. Could it be this is the cycle year? Our guess is it will be and there will be plenty of bonito and school tuna with them.

Bill S-27

Bill S-27 has been laid over after its second reading in the senate until the legislature reconvenes in August. S-27 is a vicious piece of proposed legislation, and if enacted into law would destroy all that the sportsmen in New Jersey have accomplished over 20 years. In part it says, "There is hereby established in the division of the state police a Bureau of Fish and Game law enforcement.

"The authority hertofore exercised by the State Commissioner of Conservation, the Division of Fish and Game and the Fish and Game council therein, or any other department, agency or officer of the state, to appoint, direct, supervise, control, prescribe the powers and duties of, or issue any authorization to, fish and game wardens and deputy fish and game wardens, is hereby transferred to and vested in the superintendent of the state police designated as the head of the division of state police established hereunder, and shall be exercised and performed by him through the Bureau of Fish and Game Law enforcement in such division.

"The functions, powers and duties of fish and game wardens and deputy fish and game wardens are continued, but such functions, powers and duties shall be exercised and performed by the fish and game wardens and deputy fish and game wardens in the Bureau of Fish and Game Law enforcement established hereunder, under the supervision and direction of the superintendent of state police.

"Such fish and game wardens and deputy fish and game wardens presently employed in the service of the state as the superintendent of state police shall determine are needed for the proper enforcement of the Fish and Game laws are hereby transferred to the Bureau of Fish and Game law enforcement established hereunder in the division of state police.

"All appropriations available and to become available to any department or agency of the state as and for compensation for fish and game wardens and deputy fish and game wardens, and for the enforcement of the fish and game laws, are hereby transferred to the Bureau of Fish and Game law enforcement established hereunder in the division of state police, and shall be available for the objects and purpose for which appropriated."

To save frosting a cake sprinkle the batter with finely chopped nuts before it goes into the oven.

Eatontown Boy Killed In Crash

Clarence Green's Bicycle Hit Truck

Clarence Green, 11, of Tinton avenue, Eatontown, was killed instantly last Thursday afternoon when his bicycle ran into the side of a trailer-truck on Main street, Eatontown, it was reported by Chief Harry N. Kirkegard. The truck driver, Harry Biles of Springfield, was arraigned before Eatontown Recorder Kenneth Smith that night and was released in $2,500 bail to await grand jury action on a technical manslaughter charge.

The youngster, police said, made his home with an aunt and uncle, Sgt. and Mrs. Richard Bennett of the Lother area, near Camp Woods, an area reserved for the homes of non-commissioned officers.

Chief Kirkegard said that Biles was driving the truck south on Main street when the accident occurred. The driver told police that the boy swerved his bicycle, apparently trying to cross the street. Biles said he halted his truck and added that at first he thought he had missed the boy. The left handlebar of the bicycle hit a front fender of the truck. The boy was thrown to the pavement and was pronounced dead in the office of Dr. H. H. Weiner of Eatontown. Death resulted from a fractured skull, the physician reported.

Chief Kirkegard said after the accident that he had spoken to two witnesses who held the driver blameless in the accident.

Besides his uncle and aunt, the youth is survived by two brothers, L. G. and Worth Green, Jr., and a half-sister, Bonnie Green, all of Webster, Fla. The body was sent to Leesburg, Fla., Friday under the supervision of the Flock funeral home.

Beautiful to Recall

We realize that a funeral service is something that is never forgotten by the family, and it should, therefore, be a service of beauty. Every service of which we have charge is given our personal attention, to assure us and those we serve that not even the smallest detail is overlooked.

Pretty to look at . . .

but HOW SAFE IS IT?

WE ALL love to wax sentimental about the old oaken bucket, but it's seldom you see one around these days.

And it's reasonable enough . . . because people learned long ago that the safest and most dependable water comes from their city water supply.

So naturally they rely on its purity and convenience to help keep their families healthy and their homes clean.

The low cost of this necessity is a real budget-stretcher, too, with other prices so high.

Asbury Park Physician Sues Utility Co.

Dr. William G. Herrman, Asbury Park X-ray specialist, has filed a $120,000 common pleas court suit charging the Jersey Central Power and Light company and its president, Edwin H. Werner, with evicting him and other tenants from its grand avenue building in a conspiracy to obtain public utility commission approval of increased gas and electric rates.

The suit seeks compensatory and punitive damages from the company, and charges that professional men who had offices in the building were evicted after the P.U.C. refused to let the company "set a capitalization which would permit it to increase its rates" as long as the utility company rented offices in the structure for "revenue and profit".

Patent Granted To Local Men On Paint Pigment

An Advanced Procedure Over Former Chemical Process

The United States Patent Office on May 18, granted patent No. 2,441,856 on a "Cyclical Process For the Manufacture of Titanium Dioxide" to Joseph L. Turner of Fair Haven and Walter W. Plechner of Metuchen.

Titanium dioxide, a compound of titanium and oxygen, is, in its commercial form, a powder with a soft texture, and is used extensively as a pigment for paints. It is produced from various ores that contain iron as an additional ingredient, such as ilmenite, of which large deposits occur in certain sections of this country and India.

It is the object of this invention of Messrs Turner and Plechner to provide a commercially feasible process for the extraction of titanium dioxide and iron from these ores and as a prime feature, their method is cyclical in its operation. In other words, it is one in which some of the chemicals used therein are continuously returned to the equipment for reuse.

In general, their arrangement consists in first treating the ilmenite with hydrochloric acid, thereby resulting in a solid titanium concentrate having some iron therein, and an iron-containing solution. Thereupon, these two compounds are passed through separate cycles. The former composition is subjected to the action of chlorine, passed through a dissolution process and interacted with water, to yield a watery titanium dioxide and spent hydrochloric acid. The former substance is washed and calcinated by conventional methods to give the desired titanium dioxide and the latter acid is recirculated again.

The iron containing solution is subjected to an electrical treatment to which is added scrap iron and the chlorine-iron compound from the above-mentioned cycle, as a result of which metallic iron and chlorine gas are produced. Here again this gas is reused.

According to Messrs. Turner and Plechner, the titanium dioxide pigments obtained from their invention have a tinting strength and hiding power in the order of 30% higher than those from some other ores. In addition, about 95% of all iron originally present in the titanium-bearing material and the scrap iron employed in the process is obtained in the form of highly valuable pure iron, and about 92% of the titanium is recovered as high-grade pigmentary titanium dioxide.

This patent has been assigned to the National Lead company, New York city.

Freehold Rug Mill Workers Get Pay Hike

A strike of 1,800 employees of the A. and M. Karagheusian rug mills in Freehold and Roselle Park was averted after an 11th-hour settlement Monday night.

The threatened walkout, which was scheduled to have begun Tuesday, would have affected 20,000 workers in four major carpet and rug manufacturing companies in New York, Connecticut and New Jersey.

The Big Four of the rug industry agreed to an interim contract providing for a "package" wage increase of 13½ cents an hour, 11½ cents in wages and 2 cents to hospitalization and sickness funds for workers and their families.

It has been reported that the increased wages and material costs may boost rug prices, but no prediction as to the amount has been made.

Postal Service Extended Here

Carrier, Parcel Post Deliveries On New, Enlarged Routes Starts Monday

The facilities and service of the Red Bank postoffice have been extended. All carrier routes from the postoffice have been revised according to a plan which goes into effect next Monday.

The change is the result of an order issued early this year by Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson. He directed that postal service throughout the nation be extended and improved wherever possible.

The extension of service from the local postoffice, officials say, answers numerous petitions for carrier service. The new plan is the culmination of approximately three months' work on the part of Red Bank postoffice employees.

Postmaster Frederick Crine in making the announcement yesterday estimated the business done at the local postoffice at a quarter of a million dollars yearly.

Twice-a-day carrier service will be extended, starting Monday along Shrewsbury avenue, Shrewsbury township, to Airport inn. Clinton place and part of Cherry street, Shrewsbury township, will be serviced.

Service will be extended along Broad street, Shrewsbury borough, to Patterson avenue. All of Hance and Dartmouth roads, Fair Haven, will be serviced, as well as part of Ridge road in that borough. All of Tabor street, Little Silver, will be taken in, and carrier service will be extended on Prospect avenue, Little Silver, from Fox hill to Rumson road.

Carriers will service both sides of Newman Springs road from Shrewsbury avenue to Newman Springs bridge.

Under the new plan there will be 19 regular foot routes, one auxiliary foot route, three parcel post routes and one auxiliary parcel post route operating out of the postoffice.

The outside complement of the postoffice is now 25 regular carriers and five substitute carriers. As the result of a survey early this year eight regular clerks were added here, and four were added at the Fort Monmouth branch. The inside complement is now 34 regular clerks and five substitutes.

Due to the fact the examination list has been exhausted with the exception of four regular substitutes, Mr. Crine pointed out seven carriers and three clerks just hired would be carried as temporary substitutes until a new examination is announced.

The parcel post system has also been revised. Instead of being routed on the delivery trucks, parcel post packages will be sacked by clerks, and delivered by sections.

New street letter boxes will be provided when available, Mr. Crine announced. He also asked all those effected by the service extension to erect mail boxes and make sure their houses are plainly numbered by next Monday.

Mr. Crine requested a survey of the local postoffice last November. The survey was conducted early this year, and the plan which goes into effect Monday is the direct result.

The Little Silver mayor and council recently submitted another request to the postoffice department for the Little Silver postoffice to be made a branch of Red Bank as Fair Haven has been for the past ten years. In this way Little Silver would obtain the same benefits available to Red Bank and Fair Haven, at the same time retaining its Little Silver identity.

The residents of Little Silver who are served by carriers from the Red Bank postoffice have a Red Bank and not a Little Silver mailing address.

Others assisting are Mrs. William Florence, Mrs. Harold Dowstra, Mrs. Wenner Spoerl, Mrs. Mahlon W. Parsons, Jr., Mrs. Ralph Norton, Mrs. Joseph C. Davison, Mrs. Mahlon Grimes and Mrs. Raymond Swift. Tickets may be secured from members of the above mentioned groups.

Smith's Trial Set For Monday

Dr. Gordon Finds Local Man Mentally Fit

After being found mentally fit Tuesday to stand trial by Dr. J. Berkeley Gordon, director of Marlboro state hospital, Walter F. Smith, 32, of Red Bank, will stand trial in Freehold next Monday on charges of conducting a lottery, assault and resisting arrest.

Smith was examined Tuesday after the court in Freehold had postponed the case when Smith's attorney, Edward F. Juska of Keansburg, contended his client was mentally unable to defend himself.

As a result of the motion before the court in the morning, Judge John C. Giordano had committed Smith to the Vroom building at Trenton for the criminally insane for a psychiatric examination. After Dr. Gordon's decision, the court rescinded the Vroom building order and directed Smith to stand trial.

Examination of Smith was conducted in the county jail after it was learned that Dr. Gordon was in the courthouse on other business.

The accused was arrested March 20 by John M. Gawler, county detective. Also arrested at the same time were Arthur and Algia Dillard of 248 Shrewsbury avenue. Assistant County Prosecutor Charles Frankel had contended that Juska acted in "bad faith" and was trying tactics of "stalling or delaying the case."

This statement was made after Mr. Juska asked for particulars of four charges in the lottery indictment. The assistant prosecutor added that the defense counsel had already gone through lengthy proceedings to have a car released which was confiscated when Smith was arrested.

As to the demand for the particulars, Mr. Frankel was of the opinion that they could have been entered any time after Mr. Juska entered the case and were not served until Saturday morning as an intentional stall.

Mr Juska had also asked a one month's postponement in the case on the ground that Smith's mental condition is such that he could not co-operate in the defense. "It's true that he's scared to death," stated the atorney. This led to the examination.

The assistant prosecutor contended that the request to postpone the case was not made in good faith since court closes at the end of June and the case then would not be heard until the fall session.

The charges against Smith were made after he allegedly threw a bag of lottery slips from his auto and then is reputed to have dragged Detective Gawler for some distance on the side of the car when the officer had sought to arrest him. The Dillards will also be tried Monday.

Postpone Festival At Lincroft School

The strawberry festival to have been held tomorrow night at the Lincroft school by the Parent-Teacher association has been postponed. A membership meeting of the P.T.A. will be held Monday night at the school at 8 o'clock, and a new date for the festival will be set.

New officers will be installed Monday night. A 16 mm. Keystone motion picture projector and a check for the purchase of a 35 m.m. slide and film strip projector will be presented to Mrs. Lena Clark, principal, by Mrs. Leslie Cornell, retiring president. The historian's report will be given by Mrs. Charles Tocp.

Attention, Citizens of Fair Haven

We have designated this week, starting Monday, May 31st as Clean-Up Week.

Your co-operation in this will serve a three-fold purpose.

1. Remove fire hazards.
2. Eliminate mosquito breeding dangers by getting rid of tin cans or any receptacles which will hold water.
3. Help the Fair Haven Boy Scouts attend summer camp by giving them your old newspapers, magazines and scrap metal.

The Boy Scouts will make a house to house collection on Saturday, June 5th, starting at 9 a. m. This was postponed from last Saturday, due to the holiday week-end.

They would appreciate it very much if you would tie up your newspapers and magazines and place them on the curb. On the same trip they will pick up any old scrap metal you would care to dispose of.

The steel industry is in urgent need of scrap metal and all funds raised will be used to send our Boy Scouts to camp.

Let's show them that we too can "Do a good turn."

Next month he will enter the loop training course of Bethlehem Steel company and upon conclusion of the training program expects to be assigned to the firm's ship building division.

Mr. Ford is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis O. Ford of Sycamore avenue, Tinton Falls. He was graduated from Red Bank high school in 1941 and from Monmouth Junior college in 1943. He was a Navy V-12 student at Swarthmore from March, 1944, until October of the same year, and in May, 1945, he was assigned to duty on a LST boat in the Pacific area, where he served until July, 1946.

Women Resent Official Absence

No Representative At Monument Services

As has been the custom since the monument at borough hall was erected shortly after World War I, Samuel T. Sleeper Camp of Red Bank, Sons of Union Veterans auxiliary, presented a flag to the borough Memorial Day.

Since the unveiling of the monument, this organization was accorded the honor of presenting a flag each Memorial Day in memory of the Grand Army of the Republic. Despite the rain Sunday, members of the organization, clad in white dresses, held services at 12 noon. After the flag was raised, wreaths were placed at the monument by Mrs. Louise Gormley, president of the Camp. Wreaths were also presented by the American Legion, V.F.W. and Rainbow division auxiliaries. Three special wreaths were placed in memory of three borough soldiers killed in World War II.

The service was not entirely to the liking of some of the Camp members, The Register learned, as no borough official was present to receive the flag. A member of the Camp said this was not the first time a borough official has not been present. This member felt a borough representative should have been there out of courtesy alone, and added that two years ago the Camp received an apology from a member of the borough council. "If ladies in white dresses can stand in the rain and donate a flag to the borough, a borough official can also be present," stated the spokesman.

Monsen Re-Elected Rumson P.B.A. Head

Erling M. Monsen was re-elected president of the Rumson P.B.A., which comprises the police departments of Rumson, Fair Haven, Sea Bright, Highlands and Atlantic Highlands, Monday at the Rumson borough hall.

Other officers elected were Algie Drinkwater of Atlantic Highlands, vice president; Walter Monahan of Highlands, sergeant-at-arms; Edmond A. Desmond of Rumson, alternate delegate; Charles Carlson of Sea Bright, alternate delegate; John J. Keany of Rumson, state delegate and treasurer, and Perry Eli of Runison, recording secretary.

$582,000 Bonds Sold By County

Interest Rate Is 1.8 Per Cent

At a special meeting at Freehold yesterday, the Board of Freeholders sold $582,000 in general improvement bonds to pay for projects authorized in 1947.

The bonds were purchased by the National State bank of Newark, lowest of 14 bidders with an offer to accept interest on the issue at the rate of 1.8 per cent. With $479,000 in bonds to be retired by the county this year, the new issue will increase bonded indebtedness from $4,132,000 to $4,236,000.

The new issue will be bonds in the amount of $1,000 each and will mature June 15 of each year with $30,000 being retired annually from 1949 until 1957; $43,000 in 1958 and $45,000 from 1959 to 1964.

The low bidder yesterday offered to pay the county $583,224 for $582,000 in bonds with the 1.8 interest rate. Second lowest bidder was the Philadelphia national bank which offered the same interest rate but bid only $583,170 for $583,000 in bonds.

The county is still paying off bond issues dating back to 1923 before stricter legislation governed the issuing of improvement bonds.

Solemn Benediction Follows Ceremonies; Many Priests Attend

Bishop Thomas A. Boland of the Paterson diocese Thursday evening in St. Anthony's church administered the sacrament of Confirmation. There were 108 children and 22 adults confirmed in the Catholic faith.

Prior to the services, a retreat was conducted in the church. Morning and afternoon conferences were conducted by Rev. Andrew Adamek, S.V.D., professor at St. Joseph's Mission House in Bordentown. The day began with attendance at 7 o'clock mass, at which those being confirmed and their sponsors received Holy Communion in a body.

Shrewsbury borough will join with Shrewsbury township civic groups in protesting expansion of Red Bank airport. Council there Tuesday night voted to go along in opposing continued operation of the airport, particularly night flying.

Shrewsbury Has Traffic Troubles

Race Track Speeders To Be Closely Checked

Traffic hazards caused by motorists heading to and from Monmouth Park race track were discussed at length at Tuesday night's meeting of the Shrewsbury mayor and council.

James Johnson and John Hawkins appeared before council, requesting that restrictive measures be taken to control speeding on Sycamore avenue. Mr. Johnson said that patroling might help keep traffic in check. Mr. Hawkins, pointing to the danger to children, acknowledged it was " a ticklish problem" but asked that some action be taken. When asked for an opinion, Police Chief Otto Herden said that a motorcycle cop would be the only officer able to track down speeders and reckless drivers during the rush hours.

Mayor Alfred N. Beadleston, himself a resident of Sycamore avenue, said he realized the great hazards created by careless and reckless driving race track patrons but that the condition was difficult to control. He promised to post special police officers throughout the borough where "they will do the most good." Having first-hand knowledge of the traffic on Sycamore avenue, the mayor said the council "would do the best we can."

Although not directly related to the race track traffic discussion, council also refused applications from two North Jersey bus companies which had requested franchises to operate buses through the borough.

Baroness Tells Of Hitler Rule

Lions Club Hears Inside Story Of War

Helena, Baroness DePolenzska, spoke before the Red Bank Lions club Tuesday night, giving her hearers an insight into the story of Hitler's Germany.

"I Knew Hitler", was the title of the baroness' speech which told of how she, an American-born girl of a Russian mother and a Scandinavian father, married Baron George Frederich August dePolenzska of Schloss Hohnstein, Saxony, to become the lady of one of the oldest and largest baronial castles in Central Europe, built about 953.

Before her family broke with Hitler she became acquainted with him, Hess, Goering, Goebbels, Himmler and others. She described their peculiarities, especially their interest in palmistry and astrology and Hitler's violent tantrums. The baron died of a heart attack, and she was placed in a concentration camp while the castle was converted into a prisoner-of-war camp.

She believes that Hitler is still alive, and there was truth to the story that he had been seen in Brazil two years ago.

The speaker next Tuesday night will be Sgt. J. J. Orzechowski of the New Jersey State police, an instructor at the State police school in West Trenton. He will speak on modern police methods. Sgt. Orzechowski will speak through the courtesy of Col. Charles Schoeffel, superintendent of state police.

Red Bank Has Building Boom

178 Garden-Type Apartments To Be Built At Harding And Spring

The spotlight was focused on Red Bank's rapid growth this week with the issuance of a building permit to Red Bank Manor corporation for the construction of 178 garden-type apartments on Harding road and Spring street. The estimated cost of the new apartments is more than a million dollars.

This makes a total of 336 new apartments in various stages of construction in Red Bank. Allen Brothers' Terrace apartments on Spring street, which are well under way, will contain 86 units when complete. Molly Pitcher village on the former Rose property at Branch and Madison avenues will contain 72 units.

Molly Pitcher village is being built by a Brooklyn syndicate, for which B. I. Silverstone is the representative. Work on this project is expected to start soon.

Figuring the average apartment-dwelling family at three persons, living quarters will be available here within a reasonably short time for more than 1,000 persons. The cost of all three new apartment projects will be approximately $2,500,000. It is estimated that on these three projects alone Red Bank will receive a healthy boost in tax revenue. The taxes on the projects will probably be in the neighborhood of $40,000 annually.

All three apartment houses are F.H.A. projects. Red Bank manor as planned will contain 90 four-and-a-half-room units, 72 three-and-a-half-room units and 16 five-room duplexes. Plans call for 81 garages, and parking space in addition for 97 cars, making a total of 178 parking spaces on the apartment property.

Red Bank Manor will be built on a 12-acre plot, which has been much publicized as a proposed site for a new local high school. As such it was turned down twice by Red Bank voters at special referendums.

The construction work will be handled by Philip J. Bowers & Co., general contractors. A formal ground-breaking ceremony will be held tomorrow noon. Local officials, prominent businessmen and civic leaders have been invited.

Local building restrictions limit garden-type apartments to two-story or 35 feet in height. The apartment buildings proper cannot take up more than 20 per cent of the lot area designated for any one project.

Red Bank Manor will take up 14 per cent of its lot area. It will be of colonial architecture and of red brick veneer construction with white trim. There will be a 177-foot-long entrance drive on Spring street, and the building will be set back 70 feet from the Harding road curb.

The duplex units in addition to having two floors will have individual cellars. Each apartment throughout the project will have a private entrance, community entrance halls being eliminated.

Every two apartments are separated by an eight-inch fire wall, which will have a sound-proofing effect.

The estimated rental prices will be $79 for the three-and-a-half-room units, $96 for the four-and-a-half-room units and $118.50 for the duplexes. The rentals include heat, hot water, janitor service, repairs and decorating.

Disposal Plant Bids Authorized At Keansburg

$250,000 Project Will Be Financed By Bond Issue

The Keansburg commissioners Tuesday night authorized advertisement of bids for a new sewage disposal plant to cost approximately $250,000. The money is to be raised by a bond issue. Bids will be received Tuesday night, July 10.

The new plant, the plans and specifications for which were drawn by the Belford engineering firm of Finnegan and Klein, will serve 5,000 to 50,000 persons.

The proposed disposal plant will replace the present one which is 15 years old and is considered inadequate by the state board of health. One of the reasons for the construction of the new plant is to prevent further pollution of Raritan bay, thereby protecting the fish industry. The plant will require a year to build, it is estimated.

Location for the plant will be at the corner of Seawood avenue and Forrest place and will occupy about one-fourth of an acre of ground. The system will be of modern construction, and will contain sedementation basins, and a sludge digester.

An extension of the sewer for one block to service houses on Lakewood avenue was also authorized by the commissioners.

Sewage Problems At Highlands

Engineer To Check Needed Repairs

The Highlands mayor and council Tuesday night found themselves engulfed in a dual sewage system problem.

First, it was reported by Councilman Louis Loder, Jr., that a lateral sewer pipe on Snug Harbor avenue had been broken by the Pittsburgh Pipe Cleaning company during the work in that section of the borough. Councilman Loder advised immediate repair lest the sewage matter overflow on the street.

Secondly, the council received a letter from the Army Corps of Engineers of New York advising that a borough owned sewage line through Fort Hancock was broken and that leaks "emit the discolored sewage effluent into the Shrewsbury river." The army requested knowledge as to when the leak would be fixed. Craig Finnegan, civil engineer, was instructed to prepare a plan, with estimated cost, to repair the outflow sewage system, which runs from the plant on North street, down Cornwall street, under the river, through Fort Hancock and out in the ocean.

The council tabled a request of the Planning board to amend the building ordinance, thereby permitting homes on 25-foot lots to be constructed three feet from the property line instead of five as the present ordinance reads. The request would concern properties acquired before the original building ordinance in 1944 was passed. It was the contention of Councilman Loder that the request be granted so that more persons would pay the Highlands tax bill. It was decided, however, to review the legality of the amendment and to determine its effect on fire insurance rates.

The coin machine ordinance was adopted on final reading. All machines will cost the operators $10 a year while establishments having more than ten will pay a blanket fee of $100.

During a discussion on the poor condition of Bayside drive, Councilman Thomas Lyons, chairman of the street committee, said many streets were in poor condition because borough street workers "are used for everything but streets." Councilman John Rast said he would assemble prices for a new garbage truck. Councilman Herbert Hartsgrove suggested the construction of a 200-foot long fence in the bulkhead at Jones' creek to prevent children playing there from falling in the water.

Attention, Citizens of Fair Haven

We have designated this week, starting Monday, May 31st as Clean-Up Week.

Your co-operation in this will serve a three-fold purpose.

1. Remove fire hazards.
2. Eliminate mosquito breeding dangers by getting rid of tin cans or any receptacles which will hold water.
3. Help the Fair Haven Boy Scouts attend summer camp by giving them your old newspapers, magazines and scrap metal.

The Boy Scouts will make a house to house collection on Saturday, June 5th, starting at 9 a. m. This was postponed from last Saturday, due to the holiday week-end.

They would appreciate it very much if you would tie up your newspapers and magazines and place them on the curb. On the same trip they will pick up any old scrap metal you would care to dispose of.

The steel industry is in urgent need of scrap metal and all funds raised will be used to send our Boy Scouts to camp.

Let's show them that we too can "Do a good turn."

Boy Is Burned Fighting Fire

Robert Hayes, 14-year-old son of Mr and Mrs. Thomas A. Hayes of West Long Branch, Tuesday morning suffered burns when a leaky gas valve in the street caught fire, shooting flames ten feet in the air.

The young boy, who had been standing with a group of pupils awaiting a school bus, attempted to put the fire out with a fire extinguisher obtained from a nearby garage, later covering the fire with sand. While doing this, he was burned on the face and arms. Dr. Harry D. Feinberg treated him for minor flash burns.

Hines Tells Value Of Curare In Polio

Gives Talk Before Kiwanis Members

Curare, once used by the savages of South America as a poison on their spears, has produced remarkable results in the treatment of infantile paralysis, stated Roland J. Hines, Monmouth county executive director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, before the Lincroft-Holmdel Kiwanis club at its dinner meeting last Thursday night at Lincroft inn.

Mr. Hines emphasized the importance of the March of Dimes in keeping the National Foundation in a position to meet the great needs for the best and most modern methods of treatment. The foundation, founded by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, has had a great part in meeting these needs. Monmouth Memorial hospital, the center for infantile paralysis treatment in the county, has received over $60,000 last year from the foundation covering the cost of treatment, braces, and other aids.

Medical history is being made in Monmouth county, Mr. Hines pointed out as he told of the remarkable cures effected here through the use of curare and other treatments.

Henry Cross, first vice president, conducted the meeting in the absence of Henry Handleman. Joseph Mendres introduced Mr. Hines.

Several members of the Keyport Kiwanis club were present at the meeting. They were A. D. Schultz, H. W. Wharton, Harry Thomas, Norman Scott, J. H. Ward, Mayor P. C. Weigand, Anthony Granata, Albert Cowling, C. E. Bahrenburg, George Downes, Carlton R. Wharton and Howard Jeandron.

Independent Liberals To Campaign For Thomas

The newly-formed Independent Liberals for Norman Thomas for President, made plans for the 1948 campaign after a directors' meeting recently at Farmingdale. Al Seiler of Neptune, president of local 267 of the United Automobile Workers union, was chairman. Representatives from Ocean and Monmouth counties were present.

It was decided to start immediately a vigorous campaign against the candidacy of Henry Wallace. A resolution passed unanimously denounced Mr. Wallace as "a willing tool of the Communists, and a menace to the American democratic tradition." "Mr. Wallace," the resolution declared, "is rendering a disservice to his country and to the cause of peace which he claims to support."

HOME ECONOMICS BRIEFS

If your kitchen is small, color can help you make it look larger. Paint the walls either white or a light shade of a cool, receding color such as blue or green. This light color scheme will give a much more spacious effect.

Scissors and shears need oiling at least every six months, and oftener won't hurt them. Put a drop of sewing machine oil on both sides of the screw that holds the blades together. Work the blades back and forth. Then wipe off any excess oil.

A large serving of greens, such as kale, collards and mustard greens, provides more iron than an egg.

Stretch a creamed ham dish with cooked noodles and cooked green snapbeans. Accompany it with pickled, white onions, or a home-made relish.

Your Garden

By CHARLES H. CONNORS,
Rutgers University

Mulching garden crops has become an accepted practice, one that it will pay you to follow. This takes the place of clean cultivation that many of us have been practicing for years.

Soil authorities tell us that the value of clean culture is chiefly to kill weeds. Of course it does keep the soil open to admit air and water. Disadvantage of clean culture is the danger of injury to the roots of the plants if the cultivation is too deep and close to the plants. Not to mention, of course, the strain that comes to the back, arms and legs in the operation, and on the morale if there should be a wet period and the weeds get ahead of us.

Mulching, if done properly, will keep down weeds, by shutting out sunlight so they cannot grow. It will hold moisture and maintain a more uniform moisture condition throughout the soil. It will keep the roots cool, which factor has been found to increase yields.

The material to use depends upon what is available. The cleanest, of course, is rye, wheat or oat straw in a layer about four inches deep. Peat moss of the garden grade can be used about an inch deep. Pine needles about two inches deep also do well. Spoiled hay, dried lawn clippings, partly decayed compost—any such sort of material will serve. The layer must be thick enough to keep out light and so prevent the growth of weeds.

Apply the mulch after the soil warms up, which usually will be about June 1.

The first prunning of evergreens to restrain growth and to make the plants more compact is usually done in late May or early June.

With pines, the operation is to cut back the "candles," or new growths as soon as they reach a length of 2 to 4 inches, before the individual leaves start to expand. Cut the candles back about halfway. This will induce the growth of dormant buds at the base of the candles.

Other evergreens, such as yews, hemlocks, arborvitae, false cypress (Retinospora or Chamaecyparis), junipers (such as Redcedar), are cut back when the new growths are 2 or 3 inches long. This can be done with prunning shears. We often use a heavy prunning knife, handled as you would a sickle, or even a sharp sickle. The object of this is to try to retain the natural contours of the plants. If hedge shears are used, the tendency is to develop a stiff, formal plant that is out of place on most properties.

Scale insects on lilacs, bittersweet, Euonymus, juniper and pine may soon be hatching. If they are sprayed before they settle down and form a hard coat, they can be kept under control. Use nicotine and soap or rotenone or pyrethrum, and be sure to spray thoroughly.

If the spraying is done before the young scales get on the young twigs and leaves, the beauty of the plants will be preserved.

Peanut butter hardens in a cold place. If you want to keep it always soft and ready to use, store it in a cupboard instead of the refrigerator. But don't keep it too long, it may become rancid. If oil rises to the top, mix it in with a knife or turn the jar upside down for a day or so to give the oil a chance to work up through the butter.

Married 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Worthley

Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Worthley of Oceanport observed their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday, and the occasion was marked with an informal reception for their family, neighbors and friends. More than 200 friends visited their home to wish the couple well.

Mr. and Mrs. Worthley were married at old St. James Episcopal church in Long Branch, which at that time was situated on the site now occupied by the Paramount theater. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Herbert H. R. Roche, who was rector of the church at that time. Mrs. Elizabeth Howland King of Long Branch, who was maid of honor, attended the celebration Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Worthley have been residents of Oceanport more than 40 years. They started their married life in Long Branch, where Mr. Worthley was at one time employed by the McCue dairy. On moving to Oceanport, Mr. and Mrs. Worthley established their own dairy business in Oceanport. Both worked in the business. Mrs. Worthley tells of driving milk trucks in from Freehold, where they got their supply, on many occasions.

Mrs. Worthley also has the distinction of being the first woman taxi driver in Oceanport, working at this venture during the first World War. She has also driven school buses, and for ten years drove a school bus to Little Silver point every morning to pick up children living in that area to bring them to Oceanport for school.

Mr. Worthley sold his milk business in 1921 to Leslie D. Seely of Eatontown. From 1921 to 1934, he operated the mail carrier service in Oceanport, getting mail from Little Silver. In this service too, Mrs. Worthley was his "right hand man," serving when necessary. In 1934 Mr. Worthley opened the Oceanport Service Station. He continued in this business until 1946 when he sold the station to Morris Freibaum.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Worthley are natives of Long Branch. Mrs. Worthley is the former Emily Gilhooly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gilhooly, and Mr. Worthley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Worthley. Both attended Garfield school in Long Branch and old Chattle high school.

Both are active in Masonic circles. Mr. Worthley is a member of Washington lodge, Free and Accepted Masons of Eatontown, and his wife is a charter member of Eatontown Eastern Star chapter and a charter member of the Mothers circle of Long Branch, which is an organization made up of mothers of boys who are members of the DeMolay order.

Mr. and Mrs. Worthley are members of St. John's Episcopal chapel at Little Silver, where Mr. Worthley serves as a vestryman, and Mrs. Worthley as a member of St. John's guild. Mrs. Worthley is an honorary member of the Little Silver Woman's club and its social secretary. She has been a member of the organization 30 years. Mr. Worthley has also been an exempt fireman 27 years.

The couple have one son, Edward J. Worthley, an employee of the Telephone company the past 22 years, and a granddaughter, Miss Jean Worthley, who is employed by the Telephone company at Nutley.

Among the guests at the reception were Rev. Morton H. Barnes, rector of St. James Episcopal church, Long Branch; Rev. Robert H. Anderson, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, Red Bank; Rev. J. Lawrence Ware, rector of Christ Episcopal church, Shrewsbury, and rector in charge at St. John's Episcopal chapel, Little Silver; Rev. Carroll M. Burck, retired rector of the Shrewsbury church, and Rev. John Sheldon of Oceanport.

There were also four generations of Mr. Worthley's family represented at the reception. They were his brother, George H. Worthley, his son, Earl Worthley; Earl Worthley's daughter, Mrs. Doris Worthley Holmes, and Mrs. Holmes' baby daughter, Marjorie.

The house was decorated for the occasion by Mrs. Clarence Ranck of Neptune. Besides many bouquets of flowers, the dining room was decorated with gold metallic chains, from which hung clusters of golden hearts and wedding bells. The refreshment table had a five-tier wedding cake as the centerpiece, topped by miniature figures of a bride and bridegroom, standing beneath wedding bells marked with golden numbers, "50."

Mrs. Worthley was assisted in her hostess duties by her granddaughter, and by Mrs. Melvin Atkins of Oceanport; Mrs. Florence Embly, Bloomfield, and Mrs. Lillian Harris, Newark. Besides their many bouquets of flowers, the couple received many gifts, decorated in gold in keeping with the anniversary symbol.

Mrs. Margaret Flannigan, a charter member of Lady Jean MacCorquodale lodge, Daughters of Scotia, was honored at the last meeting of the lodge on the occasion of her 50th wedding anniversary. All of the charter members present sat with Mrs. Flannigan at the supper. Caseys Win, 5-2, OverRumsonHigh For Eleventh

Drury Drives In 3 Runs To Keep Up Victory March

Red Bank Catholic high school chalked up its 11th victory of the season Friday afternoon at Rumson, the Bulldogs being the victim, 5 to 2.

The win made the second time the Caseys have taken the Bulldogs, their first meeting having ended 1 to 0 in the Red Bankers' favor.

Danny Welch was the winning hurler. He was effective all the way, giving up but three hits and three walks. Jack Brister was charged with the defeat. He, too, gave up but three hits. He walked four.

The game started off as though the Rumsonians would enjoy a field day. The Bulldogs quickly gathered in their two runs in the first inning, but from that point on Welch was the master. The Rumson tallies came via a walk, two errors and singles by Brister and Alan Canfield.

Casey bats exploded at the proper time in the third inning. With two on bases Capt. Charlie Drury pounded out a triple. He was quickly converted into a run when Nappy Lucia cracked out a two-run single.

Drury drove in his third run in the fifth. He did it by flying out to deep left field with the bases loaded.

The Saints scored first, making two runs in the fourth on singles by Sheppard, Hillyer, Gilbert, Craig and on outfield fly. Keansburg countered with single tallies in the fifth and sixth and a three-run outburst in the seventh.

St Mary's came back with three more runs in the bottom of the seventh. Fix and Hemberger banged out singles and McLennon lined to right. Chevalier made a sensational running catch, doubling Fix at second. Collins singled, Sheppard walked and Hillyer doubled to tie the score. The winning run came when Fix led off the eighth with a triple to center, scoring on McLennon's ground-out.

Frances Place School Wins Meet

Keansburg Track Program Run Off

The Francis place school team won the James A. Smith Memorial trophy Saturday at Keansburg when the youth meet at that place was held.

St. Ann's school was second with 75 points, trailing the 126-point Francis placers. West Keansburg was third with 39. Although the score does not indicate a close contest, St. Ann's team was in the running until the relay events when the victors moved out in front by solid margins.

Trophies will be presented John Dean and Janet Biernbauer for individual point honors. The track committee plans to meet after Labor day to arrange taking the participants to a college football game. A hard-working refreshments committee dispensed free ice cream and soda to the contestants.

Long Branch Cancels Casey Baseball Tilt

The Red Bank Catholic-Long Branch high school baseball game, scheduled for Tuesday afternoon on the Green Wave field, was cancelled by Ted Bresett, Long Branch athletic director, because of wet grounds. Mr. Bresett said the game will not be played this year because he intends ending the season tomorrow. Arrangement to have the game transferred to Red Bank could not be made.

Thus the Caseys prepare for a two-day stand against Red Bank high tomorrow and Saturday. The Green and Gold nine have piled up the enviable record of 11 victories against a single defeat. The loss was to Lakewood, 4 to 3, in the tenth inning of a game played at Lakewood.

BIG NOSE TO RETURN

The old credo that "great oaks from little acorns grow" is exemplified by the success of the Shamrock Stable's Big Nose in the recent New Jersey Stallion stakes at Garden State. A year ago, Big Nose, a shining chestnut son of Valdina Orphan — Highdine, was named "best of the show" at Monmouth Park's annual showing of New Jersey yearlings. He made good in convincing fashion in the Stallion Stakes, proof that all that glitters is sometimes gold. Big Nose will return to Monmouth Park, the scene of his initial triumph, when he faces starter Bill Schaefhorn in the July 14 running of the New Jersey Futurity, his main objective of the June 21-August 7 season.

MATAWAN A DICTATOR

Matawan high school, the big factor in determining whether Red Bank or Leonardo would be the Shore Conference championship team kept local baseball fans in a state of wonderment right down to the wire. A 7 to 3 victory over Freehold Thursday, at the county seat, kept last year's champions in the position of dictator. It also diminished any hopes the Colonials might have been entertaining.

Bucs Lose, 3-2, In Extra Innings At Long Branch

Winning Run Forced In By 3 Free Passes; Wave Sweeps Series

Red Bank high school visited Long Branch yesterday afternoon, losing 3 to 2, after two extra innings of play. The winning counter was forced home when Jack Witkoski issued his third walk of the inning.

After two were out, Richie Mastria made a nice stop of a grounder by Dick Mansfield, but threw wide to first. The next three men were issued free passes, giving the Green Wave its victory.

Red Bank had golden opportunities, but, except for their two runs in the fifth, were unable to open the door. They clipped the pair of counters via singles by Dom Soldo, Bill Sanborn and Mastria, plus a sacrifice by Alvin Griggs. Soldo had a banner day with the hickory, getting three for four.

In the second, Red Bank made a serious threat to score. Walt Stearns opened with a walk and got to third on Soldo's first hit. Soldo promptly stole second. Mansfield, Brancher hurler, eased his way out, however, when Stearns was picked off third. After that, Mansfield fanned Griggs and Sanborn in quick order.

Witkoski issued ten walks while striking out seven. He allowed but three hits. Mansfield issued three walks, struck out five and allowed six hits.

It marked the second time Long Branch has beaten the Bucs this year, with Witkoski being charged for the loss in each instance.

Belair Stud To Race Here

17 Horses Named For Monmouth Stakes

The white, red dots and scarlet cap of Belair Stud will go into swift action at Monmouth Park during the coming 42-day summer season, June 21 to August 7, according to neminations received today from the famous racing stable. Trainer James Fitzsimmons has named 17 horses for nine stakes, to become the largest single early nominator.

A quartet of hopefuls are to carry the Belair silks in both the $15,000 Lamplighter Handicap and the $10,000 Sapling Stakes. The Lamplighter, for three-year-olds, drew Hypnos Golden Light, Whirling Fox and The Dervish, with Hypaes and Whirling Fox drawing the additional assignment of representing the stable in the closing day renewal of the important $25,000 Choice Stakes.

The Sapling Stakes attracted four well-regarded youngsters—Bosmet, Shackleton, High Binder and Jai Alai. Among remaining handicap eligibles, main interest is centered upon Hyblaze in the $25,000 Monmouth Handicap, richest race of the season for three-year-olds and upward.

Another interesting nomination to arrive at Monmouth Park is that of W-L Ranch's Honeymoon, one of the ranking mares in training. The five-year-old daughter of Beau Pere, winner of upward of $220,000, has been named for the Molly Pitcher Handicap July 31. This mile and a sixteenth race is one of Honeymoon's major mileposts along the comeback trail.

The closing of nomination Tuesday finds Monmouth Park officials swinging through Eastern tracks, contacting horsemen with handicap eligibles so that no one will be left out in the cold by the deadline period. Racing Secretary John Turner, Jr., will be at Delaware Park, General Manager Edward J. Brennan is at Belmont Park and Treasurer Philip H. Iselin will tour stables at Garden State Park.

Stanley Gillespie and William Trundle, assistants to Racing Secretary John Turner, Jr., this week opened the racing offices at Monmouth Park, synchronizing with the first arrival of thoroughbreds at the Oceanport oval. They will accept badge applications, prepare the stakes nomination book and fill other duties pending the arrival of Turner prior to the June 21 inaugural.

Ralph "Babe" Rubenstein, popular announcer at New England tracks, has been engaged to handle loud speaker work at Monmouth Park during the first three weeks of the Summer meeting. When Rubenstein departs for similar duties at Suffolk Downs July 10 his place will be filled by Tommy Daly, presently at Delaware Park. Local patrons will hear two of the best announcers in the field in Rubenstein and Daly throughout the 42-day season.

Monmouth Park officials are wading through an avalanche of stakes nominations received for the 14 added features at the coming meeting. Nominations closed at midnight Tuesday, with practically every good horse in the East among the eligibles. An early count of the New Jersey Futurity, restricted to New Jersey foals, showed 62 youngsters had survived the final payment, although this number is expected to be swelled when all entries have been tabulated. Most popular race on the program is the $10,000 Sapling Stakes for two-year-olds, with all handicaps well patronized.

Monmouth Park's daily races are to honor famous thoroughbreds of local racing history, according to the first condition book released by Racing Secretary John Turner, Jr. Feature events are dedicated to such illustrious horses as Kingston, Proctor Knott, Tenny, Tournament, Domino, The Bard and others whose careers are closely entwined with old Monmouth's brilliant past.

Carlos D. Kelly Named Gifts Chairman

Carlos D. Kelly of Rumson, vice president of the Fidelity Union Trust company, Newark and treasurer of the New Jersey Bankers' association, has been appointed special gifts chairman of the State Finance committee of the American Brotherhood movement, National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The appointment was announced today by George H. Blake, state finance chairman of the movement and president of Public Service companies. New Jersey's goal is $125,000 in the national Brotherhood campaign to raise $2,500,000 this year. Funds are needed to carry on the organization's program to promote better inter-group relations and to fight racial and religious prejudice with education, research and public information.

In urging public support of the brotherhood campaign Mr. Kelly said:

"This is a campaign to defend basic American principles. It must be adequately and voluntarily supported by the American public. We cannot hope for real national unity unless it is based on respect for the rights and dignity of each individual. This is an important phase in our fight to protect America from Communism, Fascism and totalitarian ideologies, which are a negation of individual and human rights."

Time To Dust Early Sweet Corn

Farmers Wage War To Control Borers

Monmouth's sweet corn growers are ready for war against European corn borers on early sweet corn. Many growers have been adapting new dusting equipment and making their own equipment which will do the work of applying dust to sweet corn.

Materials to control the borer on the first planting of sweet corn must be applied the latter part of May to the first of June, or when early planted corn is 12 to 14 inches high. Four applications at five-day intervals are recommended. The dusting material is applied so it will settle in the crotches of the leaves and in the growing point or "whirl" of the stem where the newly hatched larvae or worms may enter the stalk.

Several materials are recommended as dusts, but a new one which is popular among growers is Ryania dust, says County Agent M. A. Clark. It is recommended especially for corn borer control. Corn smut, a common disease of early sweet corn, is controlled better with Ryania than with any other material.

Under average conditions, about 35 pounds of the dust to the acre are needed for each application. If there are many borers, more dust should be applied so as to cover thoroughly the parts of the plant which are most likely to be attacked. Four application at five-day intervals are recommended. Further details on the control of this insect may be found in circular No. 486, available from the county agricultural agents or by writing to Bulletin Clerk, N. J. Agricultural Experiment Station, New Brunswick.

Firm Soil Over Newly Planted Seed.

If the soil is fairly dry at the time of sowing the seed of beets, carrots, cabbage, spinach, radish, lettuce, and such, it should be mechanically firmed directly over the row, advises County Agent Clark.

This mechanical firming of the soil will start the soil moisture in the subsoil to move toward the surface through capillary action, and will help in the germination of the seed and the development of young and tender roots. This firming of the soil is especially important when the crops are planted out of irrigation and where there is a possibility of the soil remaining dry for a week or two after seed sowing. Even under irrigation, firming of the soil is important.

Gray Mold on Lettuce.

Gray mold rot on lettuce can affect the plants at any stage of development—in the plant bed, field, or during shipment to market.

When young plants or seedlings are attacked, gray mold looks like common "damping off." The first sign of this disease is a slight wilting of the plant. When the plant finally wilts entirely and it is pulled up for examination, the top easily separates from the root and a soft decayed dark area at the base of the stem can be seen. County Agent Clark reports several cases of this disease in Monmouth county.

Decay spreads rapidly so that it soon includes the lower leaf stems, thus causing the plant to wither. Plants are likely to get this disease when there is much cloudy weather, when humidity is fairly high and temperatures are low. The fungus causing the disease will grow at temperatures between 35 and 80 degrees, but it grows best between 68 and 75 degrees. The grower cannot do anything to reduce infection in the field. Good plant bed management and practices should be followed

Time Hay Cutting to Get Top Grade.

Although the weather has a lot to do with making the high quality hay that Monmouth county dairymen need, there are other factors which need attention if good hay is to be made.

One of these is to cut it at just the right stage of growth, explains M. A. Clark, agricultural agent. If hay is not cut on time, it will not be top quality, no matter how good the other hay making practices may be.

For instance, the first cutting of alfalfa should be made at one-tenth to one-quarter bloom. Red clover or mixed red clover and timothy should be cut when the clover is about three-quarters bloom. Hay cut according to these schedules will be best quality and will be near top yield.

Later cutting pushes quality down, although the total yield may increase slightly. On the other hand, earlier cutting will yield excellent quality hay, but yields will be low.

Clark says it is hardly possible to cut an entire hay acreage when the stage of growth is just right, and so he recommends starting to cut on the early side, so when the job is finished, most of the hay will have been cut at just about the right time.

Can Cut Fox Loss on Poultry Range.

Losses caused by foxes to poultry on ranges can be cut down, according to John C. Taylor, extension poultry specialist at Rutgers university. He recalls some of the methods successfully used.

One of these is to keep dogs near the edges of the range. Dogs are chained to a wire so that they can run practically the whole length of the range.

Another way, suggests Taylor, is to enclose the range with a five-foot fence, with a foot or two of the fence underground. Some poultrymen have found a repellent strip works. This is a mixture of crude oil, turpentine or kerosene spread around the range in a two-foot strip.

Another effective way to keep out foxes is to string a two-wire electric fence with the wires six and 12 inches from the ground.

Silo Inspection May Save Trouble.

This spring, as silos are being emptied, is a good time to make a careful inspection of each silo to see if it is in condition for next year's service.

Wood silo staves dry and shrink, and unless the silo is well guyed, the loosened staves may shift, allowing the structure to lean or twist, explains W. C. Krueger, extension farm engineer at Rutgers university. Tightening hoops is a safeguard, but also is quite a chore. Sometimes hoops have to be loosened slightly to permit staves to swell when the silo is filled again. Otherwise, the staves will buckle in.

Concrete stave silos in which high acid silage is kept may show surface pitting and joint erosion. Many treatments have been tested to find out which is best to protect concrete staves. Raw linseed oil has given rather good results over an exposure of two or three years. Acid-resistant varnishes also have been proved effective, but asphalt types of coatings have been rather disappointing. Some of the newer products are still being tested and cannot be evaluated.

Favors Clean Litter as Disease Control.

Poultrymen who depend upon sulfa drugs to cure outbreaks of intestinal coccidiosis are likely to be disappointed in results, according to Leslie M. Black, extension poultryman at the College of Agriculture, Rutgers university.

Black explains that although sulfa preparations have been used effectively in treating cecal coccidiosis, they are not too satisfactory for controlling intestinal coccidiosis. Cleaning the brooder house litter is by far the best way of handling an outbreak of intestinal coccidiosis, according to Black.

After a poultryman is sure his birds have the disease, he should take out the floor litter at once, and replace with a light coating of litter, he suggests. In some cases a small amount of dry sand is used, as this in combination with litter helps to prevent droppings from sticking to the floor.

This light coating of litter should be removed and replaced every day for five to seven days, depending on how serious the outbreak is. A sprinkling of hydrated lime also helps to absorbe moisture.

When the birds seem to be getting better, a heavier coating of litter can be put down or they can be taken to range shelters. Usually though it's easier to deal with the disease in the brooder house, where conditions can be controlled.

LEGISLATION—BAD AND GOOD

New Jersey's municipal taxpayers are breathing a shade easier of late.

State Senator Hannold, of Gloucester County, has introduced a bill that can save taxpayers of one group of towns millions of dollars for years to come. In addition, the Senator has put the brakes on another bill of his which would have increased the amount a local governing body could spend without advertising and open bidding from less than $1000 to less than $2000.

Taxpayers of the State opposed this measure on the grounds that the bill would open the way for increased wasteful spending in Jersey's municipalities. The bill went to second reading March 31, but has not been moved for a vote since that time, evidence enough that Senator Hannold has removed his support of this bad legislation.

Now Senator Hannold has introduced a really good bill. One strictly in the interest of the taxpayer which would, in effect, require resort municipalities bordering on the Atlantic Ocean to publicly advertise municipal-owned places to be rented and those places be rented to the highest bidder. This is a good bill. It would give, for instance, tremendous relief to taxpayers of Asbury Park, where those taxpayers feel that secret bidding has resulted in a drain on their pocketbooks of hundreds of thousands of dollars every year.

The New Jersey Taxpayers Association says: "Local taxpayers must be alert continually to legislation introduced in Trenton, inasmuch as one bill can unmercifully send taxes, sky-rocketing, and another can save the taxpayers millions of dollars".

Jersey's local taxpayers can be grateful for Senator Hannold's present legislative approach.

Broiler Meal

1 pound ground flank steak
½ cup oatmeal
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
½ cup grated onion
¾ cup milk
6 cooked carrots
1 pound cooked peas

Combine flank steak, oatmeal, salt, pepper, onion and milk. Shape into patties and place on broiler rack. Place cooked carrots in one end of broiler pan. Arrange drained, cooked peas in other end. Season with salt and pepper. Place broiler rack over vegetables and set pan in broiler three inches from flame. Broil patties on one side 10-15 minutes, turn and brown on second side. The vegetables will heat while the patties are cooking.

WALNUT REFRIGERATOR COOKIES

½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg, slightly beaten
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ teaspoon soda
½ cup walnut meats, broken into pieces

Let each one pour the cheese sauce over the potato and sprinkle the chopped onions over the top.

1 teaspoon water

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together. Add milk, egg yolk slightly beaten and shortening. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Heat waffle iron and sprinkle with water and when iron stops steaming put in half the mixture. Cook until waffle stops steaming and is crisp and brown. Remove and cook remaining mixture.

1 pound slice smoked ham
4 potatoes (white or sweet)
Salt
Freshly ground pepper
Milk
Butter or margarine

Cut ham into two or three inch pieces. Pare potatoes and slice thin. Arrange in a greased baking dish, first a layer of the potatoes, seasoned with salt and pepper (if sweet potatoes are used, add a sprinkling of sugar or molasses) then a layer of ham. Dot each layer with butter or margarine until all ingredients are used. Add milk, sufficient to rise almost, but not quite to top. Cover and bake in a quick oven (375 degrees) for one hour. Uncover and brown top.

Tie Up Tomatoes for Big Yield in Small Garden

Tomatoes on the Fence Vie With Marigolds in Beauty.

Favorite vegetable with Freedom gardeners is the tomato. A survey made by the U. S. Department of agriculture proved that nine out of ten amateurs grow it.

When plants are allowed to sprawl on the ground they occupy too much space for many small gardens; but when grown to a single stem, tied to a stake or similar support, the maximum crop can be harvested for the space occuppied.

Single stem plants can be spaced a foot apart, and double stem plants 21 inches apart, while plants that lie on the ground require four feet each way.

This applies to varieties of normal vine growth, which are the only kind that should be staked and pruned. So-called determinate varieties, of which the stems stop growing after they reach a certain length, while the plant devotes all its energies to ripening the fruit which has set, should never be pruned, and get no benefit from staking, but they may be planted as closely as 18 inches apart, and allowed to spread on the ground. They bear a good early crop, but over a shorter season than the older, later varieties.

Keeping tomato plants pruned and tied to stakes or a fence needs constant attention. At the joint where each leaf grows on the main stem, a branch will develop, and this must be cut or pinched off before it is four inches long, otherwise its removal may weaken the plant. If allowed to grow, secondary branches will develop from it, and soon all effort to keep the plant within bounds will have to be abandoned. A few days' neglect of pruning may spoil the plants.

To grow a two-stem plant, select one branch coming from the main stem 10 inches above the surface, and allow that to grow. Both main stem and branch will have to be pruned regularly. Single stem plants can be supported by a heavy cord stretched from a suitable tall support, and anchored to the ground near the plant. The stem as it grows can be twisted about the cord.

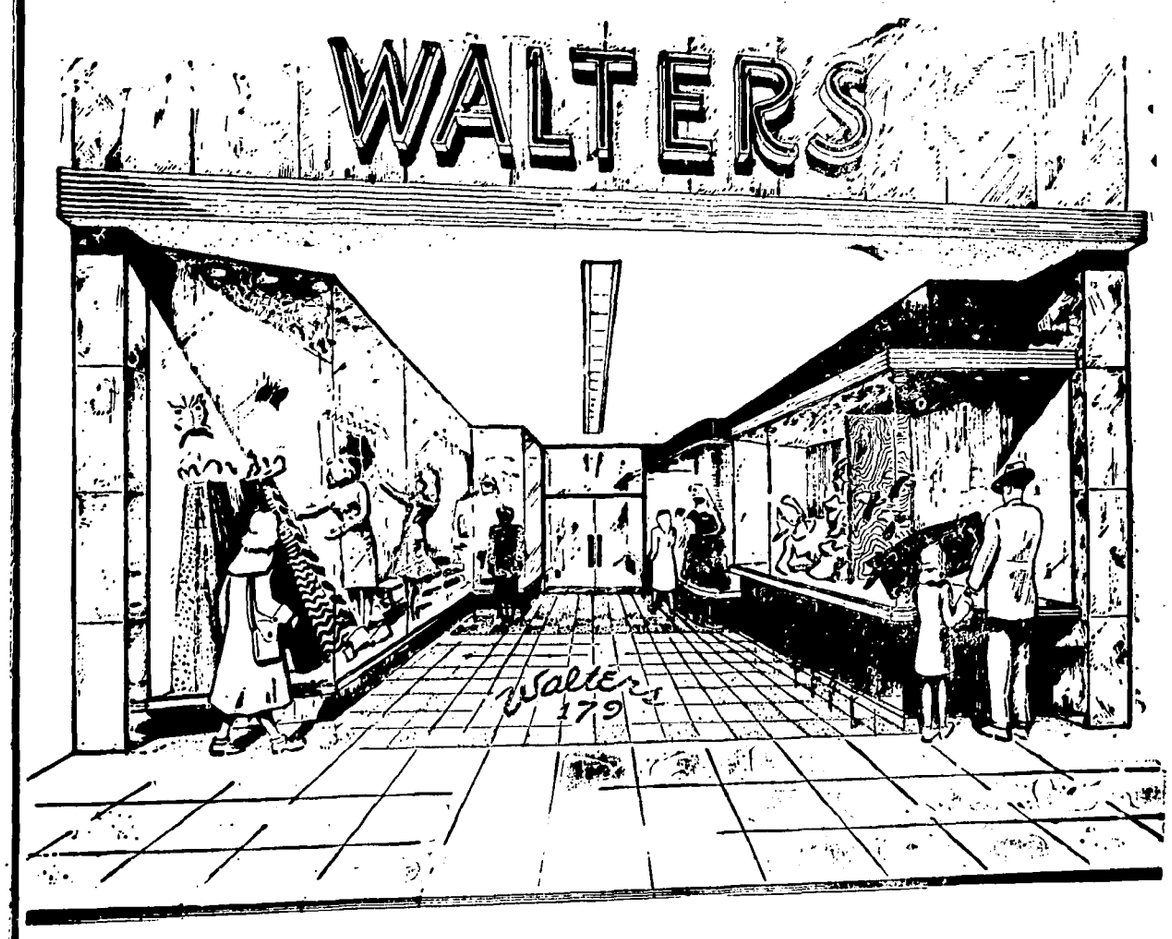

Two-stem plants may be tied with soft twine, strips of cloth, raffia or special ties made of wire imbedded in paper strips. Use a loose loop around the stem, to avoid constriction, or cutting.

Tomatoes require full sun and regular watering. When the soil is allowed to dry out, with fruit set, a black decay spot known as "blossom-end-rot" may develop on the fruit. Watering during dry spells will prevent this. When fruit begins to mature, plant food worked into the soil around the plant using a tablespoonful at a time, will help produce more and larger fruit.

Tomato roots spread out near the surface and should never be disturbed. Never cultivate deep enough to touch them; a heavy mulch of straw or lawn clippings about each plant is better than cultivation, and helps keep the soil moist.

Talent Workers Complete Plans For Auction

Event Saturday To Benefit Eatontown Presbyterian Church

Final details for the auction to be held Saturday at 2 p. m. on the vacant lot between the fire house and White street, Eatontown, have been worked out by the Eatontown Presbyterian talent workers.

The people of that borough and surrounding area have contributed an amazing assortment of articles for the auction. John De Vries and Ely Miller, co-chairmen, collected many more useful items in Saturday's general pickup, including such articles as cots, dressers, watches, fruit juicer, waste baskets, floor lamps, pictures, bird cages, doll carriage, road signs, mahjong set, mounted deer head, fire place accessories, flower stand, old fashioned clocks, bric-a-brac, trunk, studio couch, screen door, ice box, end table, mirror, gas heater, phonograph, play pen, bassinet, clothing racks, chairs and tables.

In addition to the auction there will also be a toy sale under supervision of John A. Westin, at which will be found many fine toys available for purchase as gifts.

Mrs. Andrew G. Becker and Mrs. John DeVries, together with the Sunday Nighters, will be in charge of a refreshment stand where hot dogs and other items will be sold.

Mrs. Kathleen VanBrunt and Mrs. Ely Miller are gathering fancy articles for their table. The food table committee headed by Mrs. Eustace White has been soliciting members and friends and will have an ample supply of cakes, salads and other items for sale.

Individual talent workers will bring their talent work to the auction and such items will be sold at a table in charge of Mrs. Clifford Brower, Miss Lillian Dangler and Mrs. Thomas Stothard.

Proceeds of the auction and sale will go toward painting the church building and liquidating the existing mortgage on the manse.

The talent committee and workers are looking for blue skies for Saturday, but in case of rain the auction will be postponed to the following Saturday.
