Sea Bright Hall Project Delayed By High Costs

Plans Being Revised For New Bids; Road Contract Is Let

Sea Bright's mayor and council Friday night took recognition of the fact prices are going up all the time. Whereas they had earmarked $4,600 to alter an old building as a new borough hall, the only contractor interested enough to enter a bid for the work said his bill would be $8,500.

Thus, for the second time within a month, it was necessary to take time out for consideration of building operations and figure how to go about saving a few thousands of dollars. The first deal involved the new bathing pavilion council wants to build.

What the council had hoped to do with $4,600 was to fix up the beachfront first aid hall as its new chamber, with a council room, clerk's office, first aid headquarters, and rooms for the operation of police and fire department business. To do it, new doors, windows and partitions would be installed and a leaning floor elevated to plumb.

With these facilities in mind, council and Hugo E. Magnuson, Highlands architect, prepared plans and specifications, and the job was advertised. The bid received Friday night was from Frank Patock of Fair Haven, his contract offer of $8,500 being just $3,900 more than funds earmarked for the job.

Councilman Daniel Pearson, who has had many years' experience as a carpenter, said he had looked over the first aid hall and felt much money could be saved if the openings be walled up to receive stock-size doors and windows instead of new fixtures that would have to be especially made at a mill. He also felt under-wall electric wiring was an unnecessary expense.

Perhaps, too, beaver board could be substituted for walls in the erection of necessary partitions, the floor could be raised, the wiring covered with molding, and other savings effected, Councilman Pearson suggested.

When Mayor Thomas Farrell said perhaps more money might be spent for the job than $4,600, Councilman Carl Nelson held that contractors should be given time to study the specifications and should know what council would consider a ceiling price. Councilman George Krauss recalled that when the work first was considered it was estimated $2,500 would cover the cost, then $4,600. Councilman Neils Jacobsen said no contractor wanted to work without a profit.

Architect Magnuson declared: "All the time you fellows are fighting prices are going up". If specifications are limited too much, he added; "You won't get what you want".

Mayor Farrell insisted the present police station meeting room was inadequate as a council chamber. He recommended the work be undertaken on a basis which first would provide a useable council room, with other features added as they could be afforded. He instructed Councilman Pearson to confer with Mr. Magnuson after the meeting and prepare a plan on which bids could be asked without further delay.

Council has advertised for bids for the construction of the first section of the new bathing pavilion—an entrance and locker rooms for men and women, a beachfront fence, and a parking area. These bids are returnable June 18.

The Mutual Contracting company of Atlantic Highlands was awarded the contract for surfacing Sea Bright streets this year, upon its bid of $2,888.83.

Borough Auditor Joseph Seaman reported arrangements for $47,600 bond issue, funds from which will be used to start construction of the pavilion and also prepare the borough hall, are being completed. He also reported Sea Bright's financial affairs in good condition, with about 88.3 per cent of taxes having been collected during the past year.

Council approved the auditor's report, showing a cash balance of $89,466. He also agreed to follow Mr. Seaman's recommendation that all borough officials whose business it is to handle money be bonded.

Mayor Farrell ruled that henceforth men shall not use the municipal baseball diamond for practice on any day before 6 p. m., the field to be used by children until that hour. Councilman Jacobsen reported clay and earth fill had been installed on the field and its adjoining park area by the Lauxino company of Long Branch at the cost of $563.40, but recommended 200 more yards of fill be used to harden the ground over the sand. Council approved a motion this work be done.

J. E. Connelly, owner of the Peninsula house, who had donated $200 to the borough for ball field improvements, also offered to take over the maintenance of 50 feet of this property and beautify it. However council would not act upon this immediately, feeling the area requested too big.

Council agreed to ask freeholders to improve the county-maintained section of Ocean avenue after hearing from Howard Long that vibration set up by passing trucks was threatening to damage his home. The condition was accepted under which Edward Howland of Ocean avenue will permit the municipal beach fence to be erected over his section of the rockpile—that Mr. Howland can remove this fence if necessary.

Frank Mason was approved as special officer at the Sandlass bathing pavilion.

Railroad Seeks Higher Rates

Commuters May Pay 12 Cents More A Ride

The Central Railroad company of New Jersey announced today its intention to increase commutation fares to provide the additional revenues necessary to cover increases of about $1,000,000 annually in the out-of-pocket cost of operating its commutation service.

If the proposed rate is approved the standard monthly rate between Red Bank and New York would be $23.50 as compared with $19.60 at present. The unlimited monthly rate would be $25.55 as compared with $21.75 at present.

The standard rate from Keansburg to New York would be raised from $18.45 to $22.55, and the unlimited rate from $20.50 to $24.50. The standard rate from Highlands would be $24.15 as compared with $21, while the unlimited rate would be increased from $23.35 to $24.15. Atlantic Highlands commuters would pay a $23.60 standard rate instead of the present $19.85, and the unlimited rate raised from $23.35 to $26.25.

The increases in commutation fares will vary from little or no increase to a maximum of less than 12 cents per ride, depending on the type of ticket and the length of trip involved. Under tariffs filed today with the Interstate Commerce commission and the New Jersey State Board of Public Utility commissioners, the railroad proposes to put the increases into effect July 5.

In making the announcement E. T. Moore, chief executive officer of the railroad, said:

"All of the railroads in this area have asked for increases in their basic passenger fares for other than commutation service. However, because the majority of its passengers travel on commutation tickets, increases in through passenger fares will not benefit the Jersey Central as much as most other railroads, and the Jersey Central is forced to obtain an immediate increase in commutation fares as well.

"In 1947 commutation fare increases were granted on the basis of cost studies submitted at that time. Since these studies were made, the Jersey Central's out-of-pocket loss from commuter service alone has increased about $1,000,000 per annum. This has been caused by higher operating costs, including a 43% increase in the cost of fuel, the wage increases awarded railroad employees nationally last fall, and changes in working rules, each of which has substantially increased the cost of providing passenger service. As a result of these increases the Jersey Central's commutation service is now operated at an out-of-pocket loss of well over $2,500,000 annually. The increased commutation fares now asked for amount to considerably less than one-half of this loss. This increase is designed only to offset last year's second round of increased wages and other costs. Organization demands for a third round of wage increases were filed recently, and if allowed, will undoubtedly force us to make further upward revision of passenger fares.

"While there is presently little hope that these staggering deficits can ever be eliminated, we are, nevertheless, continuing our program for improving our passenger service through dieselization, modernization of passenger coach interiors and improving coach lighting. Delivery of three more 2,000-horsepower passenger Diesels similar to those now in service, is expected within the next few months. Tests of smaller Diesels for use in passenger service are progressing favorably. Coaches with 'new look' interior will be ready for public inspection June 22. Air-conditioned cars are being provided for commuter clubs at little extra cost. However, quite obviously, if we are to continue to furnish the fast, frequent commutation service we now provide, increases in costs produced by circumstances beyond our control must of necessity be passed on to our passengers."

Neimark Council Post Challenged By Mayor Farrell

Rejects Demand For Appointment On Committee

Mayor Thomas Farrell of Sea Bright gave his opinion Friday night that Solomon J. Neimark, councilman "de facto", was serving without legal authority on the governing body of his borough. His statement followed Neimark's demand he be placed on an active committee.

A brief but heated exchange between the two men came during the meeting of mayor and council. Mr. Neimark also was the central figure in two other issues of the session, and victor in only one.

As the evening wore itself out, Mr. Neimark failed to get any committee assignments, remaining "de facto"; lost an argument with Borough Auditor Joseph Seaman over the handling of Borough financial contracts, and won the right to retain a lease for a section of beachfront property he uses as a parking lot for cars.

Sharpest debate came when Mr. Neimark insisted he be recognized for what he now considered himself to be—a full-fledged councilman, one who should serve on committees and join in the handling of borough bills. Supporting him was Councilman Lester E. Perrine. Four other councilmen had nothing to say.

Mayor Farrell shot back: "I say you are here illegally". He added: "Now it will come out into the open you do not even live here in Sea Bright". The mayor flatly refused to appoint Mr. Neimark to any committee and suggested he'd be "perfectly willing to have his stand on the matter tested in court.

Involved in the discussion was the position of Daniel J. O'Laughlin who has been elected, but who had moved from Sea Bright and has not attended a council session for a year or more. It was because of Mr. O'Laughlin's departure that Republicans last December were able, over the objections of Mayor Farrell, Councilman Neils Jacobsen and Robert Robinson, then a councilman, to have Neimark appointed.

Former Council President Jack White, during a recess called by Mayor Farrell, had appointed Neimark during the stormy mid-December session.

At that time the mayor ruled that henceforth the Neimark votes would be recorded as "De Facto." Such has been the case since.

Mr. Neimark's clash with Auditor Seaman came earlier in the meeting. Seaman was discussing prolonged technical procedure involved in the issuance of a $47,000 bond issue. The bonds are being floated to pay for construction of a new bathing pavilion on the municipal beach, and a renovation project which would convert the old beachfront first aid hall into a borough hall.

Mr. Seaman said informal approval had been given by banking officials to the bonds, and all that remained was technical formal approval. He added that borough financial affairs were in good condition, despite the debt limit having been somewhat exceeded and, therefore, the council could use up to $39,000 of current funds to contract for projects and get the work started. In fact, he said, a delay in the sale of the bonds would save the borough interest.

Neimark challenged: "Is it the usual thing to spend money before you get it?" Seaman answered: "Sol ought to know; it's been done lots of times before."

His interest, Neimark said, was to be sure such spending is legal. Borough Attorney A. Henry Giordano nodded it was, and Seaman explained such transactions are handled in much the same way as are those involving emergency expenditures. Neimark wanted to know "if you call this an emergency?" and asserted a wise finance officer "is careful to pay no bills unless he has the money." Seaman said Sea Bright has the money, and the argument ended.

Concerning Neimark's parking lot, Councilman Carl Nelson on May 21 had questioned the legality of a councilman to enter into a contract with his borough's government from which the official stood to earn a profit. Acceptance of his check for $87.50, to pay for this year's lease, had been delayed until Friday night.

Attorney Giordano interpreted state law, in this case, to favor Neimark, since the contract had been arranged for two years prior to Neimark's having been appointed to the council, Neimark did not have reason to believe at the time the contract was signed he would be appointed, said Giordano.

Before accepting the check, however, Mayor Farrell instructed Neimark would have to show the borough he had the lot protected by insurance. The transaction then encountered no additional objections.

Michael J. Noone Flys To Eire For Visit After Fifty Years

Michael J. Noone, 69, of Oak Hill road, Middletown township, has arrived in the "old country"—courtesy of Trans World Airline.

It was a little different when he came to this country from Eire on the S.S. Lucania 50 years ago. Recalling that the water splashed across the deck and that the pitching of the ship had made him sick, he said when he boarded the TWA plane last Thursday afternoon, "I do not expect that to happen this time', and sure enough it didn't.

For at 6 o'clock Friday morning he was met at Shannon, TWA's station in Eire, by his brother, John Noone, and his sister, Mrs. Mary Kavney. They went to Kilblough in County Galway, their home town, where a family reunion is taking place. Later, Mr. Noone will go to Dublin, where he will visit an old friend, Edward Lohan, whom he calls, "The best violin player in all Ireland".

Seeing him off at LaGuardia field were Mr. and Mrs. James Noone, Jackson Heights, N. Y., a son and daughter-in-law; Mrs. Harvey Oxley of Long Branch; two nieces, Miss Marguerite Ward and Mrs. Robert Beyland, both of Little Silver, and his three sons, William, Harold and Walter Noone, with whom he lives.

As for returning, Mr. Noone, a retired landscape gardener, said, "Well, they tell me that they have a good crop of potatoes over there this year, and if that is true, I might stick around until November'.

A super deluxe Buick will be the grand prize and will be disposed of on the co-operative plan the last night of the fair. Ground prizes will be given nightly. There will be various types of booths, and rides for children.

The club appointed fair committees Monday night. Past Exalted Rulers Edward McDonough and Harry Klatsky are co-chairmen of the fair. Other committees are Frank T. Wise, grounds; Edward J. Macklin and Abram C. Dixon, program; Howard Leon, publicity; Emil Stalder and Wilbur Symington, refreshments, and Addie Kind and Philip Waldman, car.

Unconditional sanction for this year's Red Bank Regatta was ordered granted Friday night at a meeting of the National council of the American Power Boat association at Philadelphia. The National Sweepstakes regatta will be held on the North Shrewsbury river August 21 and 22. Last January A.P.B.A. representatives made claims against Red Bank's racing. These claims held up the sanction until last week when they were aired and settled.

At the January meeting, Jed Hanley, chairman of the New England region of the A.P.B.A., claimed that three drivers from his region had not received trophies from the 1947 sweepstakes. At last week's meeting, Sweepstakes officials were given their first chance to present their side of the issue. In the meanwhile, plans for this year's racing were delayed pending outcome of the claims and the official sanction.

Of the three claims made, two were ruled out. A claim of Chester Olcott for fourth prize was disallowed because fourth-place prizes were not issued. The other disallowed claim was that of J. Paul Lilly, who said he was deserving of a second-place prize. He did not receive a prize because of insufficient entries in his division.

A third-place award for Don Eldridge had not been given at the time because of a tie, and A.P.B.A. officials had decided that the other driver was entitled to the prize because of a better elapsed time. A special third prize is to be forwarded to Eldridge.

Sweepstakes officials have been disgruntled for some time over the action of the A.P.B.A. in delaying the sanction, a spokesman said. The officials also were disturbed over the weak arguments at the meeting in Philadelphia.

Jed Hanley presented most of the arguments. In addition to the claims he made for his drivers, he claimed that one of Red Bank's special officers on duty at the inboard pits challenged his admission when he was not wearing his contestant's badge. The Red Bank delegation was of the opinion that Hanley used his official position to prejudice the National A.P.B.A. officials against the Sweepstakes regatta. However, the majority of the 50 officials at the meeting were high in their praise of the Regatta, and gave assurance they would be at Red Bank this year.

The sanction of the President Cup regatta at Washington, D. C., and two other regattas also had been delayed because of alleged shortcomings.

The Red Bank delegation at Philadelphia included Commodore Joseph C. Irwin, Rear Commodore Alfred Lippman, Secretary Fred Brown and Thomas S. Field, Jr., co-chairman of the racing committee.

Port Monmouth Property Sold

Building Houses At New Monmouth

The Dutch colonial house situated on Main street, Port Monmouth, has been sold by Walker & Tindall, realtors, to Paul Burkhardt of 404 Lake Shore drive, Allenhurst.

This property, formerly owned by Cornelius M. Britton, manager of the Keyport office of the Prudential Insurance company, contains six rooms.

Mr. Britton is the owner of Hidden Brook, a development situated in the heart of New Monmouth. He plans to erect the first home there for his own occupancy. This house will be built upon an acre of land on the New Monmouth-Middletown village road on the lines of a western ranch house, a rambling one-story type. Walker & Tindall have been appointed exclusive sales brokers for Hidden Brook.

Walker & Tindall also report the sales of two more Grange avenue, Fair Haven, lots owned by Carl Shippee, to Ellis A. Ross of Keyport. Mr. Ross is constructing two houses on the Grange walk lots he purchased some months ago. As soon as these homes are completed, he plans to build on his Grange avenue lots.

These same realtors were the brokers in the sale of a lot on the south side of Grange walk to Paul J. Hurault of 19 Rector place, Red Bank. Mr. Hurault plans to erect a modern home on this property before fall.

Mr. Tindall told a Register reporter that the demand for building lots has increased considerably within the last few months. He feels that this is due to the easing of material shortages and the feeling that the days of low cost construction are a long way off. He also stated that Walker & Tindall are now handling the precision-built homes.

Oceanport Fights For Train Stops

Boro Council Makes Second Protest

The Oceanport mayor and council registered another protest last Thursday night against the Pennsylvania railroad's discontinuance of four station stops at Little Silver.

In answer to an earlier protest by the council, D. Lane Powers of the state board of public utility commissioners recently wrote that the volume of passengers boarding and alighting at Little Silver had decreased to such an extent since the end of the war that "continuation of the stops is not required by civilian use of this service".

Upon the receipt of this letter which stated that in one week in February an average of about three passengers boarded and alighted from the trains daily, Councilman Harry Koch questioned the information given in the letter, saying: "They have picked a week when travel was at its lowest ebb".

Fred Zito, president of the Oceanport Businessmen's association, said that his organization would also continue its opposition to the curtailment of the station steps.

Mayor C. Kenneth Riddle made a personal appeal to boat renting establishments in the Blackberry point area to reduce the disturbance made by the people renting boats during the summer.

Council will ask the Board of Freeholders to complete repairs on Gooseneck bridge by December 1.

Councilman Paul Semmers said that ground was being cleared near the Oceanport school for new picnic grounds, and Councilman Felix Foggin said that five new street lights were being installed in the Oceanport business section by the Jersey Central Power and Light company.

Women Raise $250 For Cancer Drive

Mrs. Anna E. Rudden, chairman of the National Cancer Society drive in Port Monmouth, announced this week that she had received a $50 contribution for the fund from Richard Olsen, a trustee of the former Port Monmouth Protective association. Contributions were also received from the auxiliary of the Port Monmouth Fire company; Scout Mothers' auxiliary; Port Monmouth Civic association; post and auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Port Monmouth Republican club.

Altogether Mrs. Rudden and her co-workers raised $250 for the fund. Assisting were Mrs. Maude Johnson, Mrs. Mildred H. Maxson, Mrs. Nan Schoellender and Mrs. Nell Rudden.

SPEEDING AT MIDDLETOWN

Joseph E. Frappier and Stephen Lederman of New York city were fined $10 each Monday night in Middletown township police court by Irving S. Teeple, acting recorder, on charges of speeding. William Huber of Irvington was fined $2 for speeding.

Attend 45th Class Reunion Dinner

Beverly W. Brown of The Red Bank Register and Fred Malick of Asbury Park, retired high school instructor, were among the 16 members of the class of 1903 of Dickinson college who attended the 45th class reunion dinner Saturday night at Carlisle, Pa., inn.

Lloyd W. Johnson of Caldwell, N. J., head of Adelphia academy, Brooklyn, was toastmaster, and Mr. Brown was reunion chairman. Mr. Johnson reviewed the reunions held since graduation, and expressed the hope that all would be back for the 50th. Mr. Brown also attended Sunday the commencement exercises of the college, which recently celebrated its 175th anniversary.

Salvation Army Band To Be Heard Here June 13

The territorial staff band of the Salvation Army from the eastern territorial headquarters in New York will again present a musical festival here Sunday, June 13. They will give three concerts, one at the morning worship period at the Presbyterian church, beginning at 11; an afternoon concert at the Presbyterian church, beginning at 3 o'clock, and an evening concert at the First Methodist church, starting at 7:30, which will precede the evening worship service.

Last year the band made its first appearance in Red Bank, and although inclement weather interfered to a great degree with the attendance at the concerts those who were fortunate enough to brave the elements heard a most unusual rendition from this well known group of musicians.

The program for the concerts referred to above will be found in a full-page advertisement appearing elsewhere in this issue.

The band, comprised of 35 men, is under the direction of Colonel Holland French, executive officer, who is also chief secretary for the Eastern territory and Brigadier William Bearchell, bandmaster.

All members of the band are officers or soldiers of The Salvation Army who are employed in various capacities at the territorial headquarter's offices or at other Army centers in New York city. The bandsmen receive no remuneration for their musical services, but give their time freely to bring happiness to others through the ministry of music. They are representatives of 50,000 Salvation Army bandsmen throughout the world.

Since its organization in 1891, the Staff band has played in many cities and towns of the United States and has, also, visited England twice and Canada on several occasions. It has given musical festivals before several Presidents of the United States, and for three years was featured in a weekly program over a nation-wide network. During the two years of the New York World's Fair, it appeared on numerous occasions at the Temple of Religion.

The band is a finely-balanced combination which has no counterpart in American musical circles, and its ensemble playing can handle with equal facility reverent chorals, majestic oratorios, or dashing and brilliant fantasias and marches. It has been highly praised as "a symphony in brass." Bernard Shaw is reported as having once said that "no other medium can produce the effect of a church organ as can a Salvation Army Band."

The bandsmen show their versatility during the musical festival in laying aside their musical instruments and forming themselves into the Staff Band male chorus, under the direction of Adjutant Richard Holz, deputy bandmaster and chorus director.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Evelyn Blake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blake of Jersey City, to Frank McManus, Jr., of Brooklyn. Miss Blake is a sister of Mrs. Eugene Hession of Leonardo. A July wedding is planned.

Civil Air Patrol To Hold Radio Classes

Earl C. Williams of Neptune will conduct classes in radio for interested members of the Asbury Park squadron of the Civil Air patrol, Edward C. Fraentzel announced recently. In 1913 Mr. Williams received the first Federal Communications commission license issued to an amateur radio operator, and during World War II he taught radio at Rutgers university for the Signal corps reserve.

In a statment made by General Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, it was learned that a large portion of future air force pilots are to be drawn from the cadet corps of the patrol.

Nine Complete Peddie Courses

County Students Receive Diplomas

Ninety-six boys from 13 states and five foreign nations received diplomas Monday morning at the 83d commencement exercises of Peddie school, Hightstown.

Monmouth county graduates were Albert Reinfield of R. D. 1, Eatontown, who graduated "with honor"; F. Neal Ward of 910 River road, Fair Haven; William T. Hostetter of Fountain avenue, Matawan, graduating president of the school; Charles A. Green of Woolleytown road, Matawan; O. Thomas Eskew of Stillwell place, Freehold; Richard N. French of Holmdel and Norman G. Becker, Jr. of Grassmere avenue, Interlaken. In addition to those completing the college course, Aldon R. Fisher, 3d, of Manalapan road, Freehold, completed the school's general course.

One of the interesting features of the commencement was the presentation by Peddie Alumni of diplomas to their graduating sons. Charles A. Geran received his diplema from his father, Elmer H. Geran of Matawan, a member of the class of 1895.

Richard French is the son of LeRoy A. French of Holmdel. He has participated in varsity baseball, and was a member of the winter prom committee and Gold Key, honorary and service group at the school.

Albert Reinfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Reinfield of Eatontown, was a member of the senior gift committee and Cum Laude, national secondary school honorary society. He participated in varsity basketball.

Neal Ward, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Ward of Fair Haven, has been a member during the current school year of the Peddie news staff. He participated in varsity football and was a member of the swimming squad.

Pastor Accepts Call To New York Church

Rev. Leonard A. Sibley, Jr., minister of the Colt's Neck Reformed church, has announced to the consistory and the church that he has accepted a call to become associate minister of First Reformed church of Schenectady, N. Y. His first sermon there will be delivered Sunday, June 20.

The church in Schenectady is one of the oldest churches in the United States, having been founded in 1680. It is noted for its unusual church school program, of which Rev. Mr. Sibley will serve as director. Rev. Clark V. Poling, one of the four chaplains who went down with the troopship Dorchester, was a former minister of the church.

Rev. Mr. Sibley is a graduate of Hope college and New Brunswick seminary. He came to Colt's Neck in April, 1946, and was ordained to the Christian ministry there June 2, 1947.

William Clifford has been appointed chairman of the pulpit supply committee with Charles Francis and Irving Gemmell.

Marmalade rolls are simple to make for Sunday tea. Remove the crusts from thin slices of fresh bread; spread each slice with soft butter, then with marmalade. Roll up diagonally and fasten with toothpicks before toasting under the broiler.

Three Hurt In Oceanport Accidents

Two members of the Women's Army corps of Fort Dix were injured Saturday night in an automobile accident at Oceanport, it was reported by police. The crash occurred on Oceanport avenue when cars operated by Sidney Komar of 166 Pinckney road and W.A.C. Arlene Levens of Fort Dix collided on Oceanport avenue. Helena Yamsko, a W.A.C. riding with Miss Levens, was also injured. They were taken to the Fort Monmouth hospital by the Eatontown First Aid squad.

Miss Phoebe Reynolds Norton of Buttonwood Lane, Rumson, received face cuts Saturday morning in an automobile accident on Myrtle avenue and Monmouth Boulevard, Oceanport. Miss Norton's car and a vehicle operated by Joseph F. Palaia of Long Branch collided. Miss Norton was treated by Dr. Stanley O. Wilkins of 47 East Front street.

K OF C OFFICERS

An election of officers was held by Bayshore council, Knights of Columbus, last week at Keansburg. John Boehler, former deputy grand knight, was elected grand knight and will succeed Harold Martin, who has completed two terms. Frank Gofield was elected deputy grand knight.

Martin Griffin Found Dead

Police Say Red Banker Took Own Life

Martin Griffin, 82, of 26 Drummond place, committed suicide early Friday morning by inhaling gas, police said. Griffin, a former blacksmith, was found in the kitchen by his son, Norman Griffin with whom he lived. Police said Mr. Griffin had apparently placed his head over the gas jets of the kitchen stove and covered his head with a cloak.

He was born at Marlboro, son of the late Thomas and Jane Kaney Griffin. His wife, Mrs. Margaret Armstrong Griffin, died several years ago. Besides his son, Mr. Griffin is survived by another son, William Griffin of Long Branch; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Haley of Matawan and Miss Catherine and Miss Jean Griffin, both of Asbury Park, and two brothers, James of Asbury Park and John of Elizabeth.

A former blacksmith in the horse and buggy days, Mr. Griffin also had operated a gas station at Maple avenue and Bergen place. About ten years ago the station was converted into an antique shop. Recently this was made into a restaurant. Mr. Griffin, who had many property holdings in this area, had recently conducted a furniture business on Newman Springs road.

His body was examined by Dr. Macy M. Rudnick, who pronounced him dead.

An ordinance passed by a New Brunswick city council in 1733, provided for the "furnishing of a good leather bucket by each house-holder, who shall have a fireplace. If two fireplaces, then two buckets for public use at times of fires".

Fair Haven's Fine Investment

The Fair Haven mayor and council, in the interest of safety for the youth of the borough in particular and the public in general, rightfully turned down a recent request by a group of boys for permission to play baseball on the firemen's property on River road. The lot, located on the borough's busiest thoroughfare and surrounded by business places, is certainly no spot for a baseball field.

But the council's action doesn't mean that Fair Haven is not paying proper attention to recreation facilities for its youngsters. The situation is just the opposite. The borough officials have selected three places where ball parks will be located. One will be back of Knollwood school, on the property recently acquired by the board of education for future expansion of school facilities. Work on this field is now in progress. Another will be located on the future municipal memorial park, on property on Kemp avenue given to the borough by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. McCarter, and the third will be on borough-owned property on Third street, back of the former Fisk street schoolhouse.

The three ball fields should be ample to take care of the needs of Fair Haven's citizens, both youths and adults. Some may think it an expensive undertaking for the borough. The cost to establish the three fields will be less than $1,000, which in these days of high costs is very reasonable for the vast amount of wholesafe, healthful pleasure the people of Fair Haven will receive in return.

Send Bingo To The Voters.

The state assembly has appointed a committee to study a bingo bill during the current three months' recess. Two Republicans, Reuben H. Reiffin of Passaic and Walter H. Jones of Bergen, and one Democrat, Bernard W. Vogel of Middlesex, comprise the committee. Vogel, the minority leader, who failed in his effort to force his bingo bill from committee, has accused Reiffen of taking his bill and introducing it as his own. Vogel chided the 17 G.O.P. members who "took a walk" when the bingo question came up for a test vote just before the legislature adjourned.

Governor Driscoll has told newsmen he would reserve judgment on bingo legislation until he sees what kind of a bill is passed. He indicated he was particularly interested in local option features.

The bingo question should not become a political football. As things look now, legalization of the game would require approval at a state-wide referendum, and it is most likely—and a good idea—that further control will be provided by requiring local referendums. That is narrowing down the voice of the majority to the smallest individual unit of government in the state. It will protect communities which do not want bingo.

We believe that the people who want bingo don't give a hoot whether it's a Republican or Democratic bill; all they want is an opportunity to vote on it. We also think the same feeling applies to those who are opposed to bingo. Putting it up to the voters at a referendum is the proper way, the democratic way of settling a state-wide issue.

Nature: Hither And Yon.

Standing on the street corner the other day we heard a man remark: "Gee, what a year this has been! Winter was so cold. There was too much snow. We haven't had any spring at all, and here it is almost summer, and it's still cold, wet and dreary. Some place this is in weather like this. Why it rains almost every day."

The man held in his hand a newspaper. The top headline read: "Flood Wipes Out Vanport."

Talking to his companion, the man added: "Sure wish I was down in Florida."

Yet, almost periodically, there are news headlines that proclaim: "Many Dead, Thousands Homeless As Tornado Rips Keys."

We do have lots of weather in Red Bank—some cold, some hot, some wet, some dry. There are bright days and dark days. There is ice, and hot pavements. Sometimes the wind blows down a shutter or a sign, perhaps even a tree. Once in ever so many years we will have a strong gale. Some seasons are discomforting. Nature sometimes stumbles here, and we can and do gripe a little.

We remember other headlines: "Dust-storms Sweep Prairies," "Cholera Brings Horror to Egypt," "Montana Shivers at 38 Below," "Tokyo Crushed by Earthquake," "Red Cross Aids Cyclone Victims," "Deaths Mount as Monsoon Continues," "Sun Fries Texas Panhandle," "Landslide Crushes Mountain Village," and many more.

Nature, with slight exception manages to leave us and our people out of the picture when such headlines are written.

The banks of Red Bank and Middletown township contain the North Shrewsbury river; none here have gone down Broad street or Navesink River road on a flood-raft. Storms don't beat sand through our windows. Our rooftops are not carried away by tornado. Earthquake does not crack the sides of our buildings. Lava, we think of as soap. Our graves contain few whom death claimed in disaster—nature or man-made. Neither our cold nor our heat are killers. Disease here is not plague.

Nature can and does take every advantage of change man says is the right of woman. She can appear as a kind and beautiful mother, or as a snaggle-toothed witch of a murderess. It depends on where she is, or what she does. Sorrow from natural catastrophe comes here only when we lose someone who is somewhere else where disaster strikes. Sometimes it comes from general sympathy. We're all sorry, for example, for the people of Vanport, those alive and homeless and those dead and still hidden by raging Columbia waters.

We can be truly glad about our local fate, glad that such things as flood and pestilence escape our land. Yes, we'll gripe a little about chill, warmth and dampness when they come and linger. We'll continue to want our seasons custom built, and maybe cuss a little when they don't come that way. But when we think it all over, and add up the score, we'll know nature is pretty good to us here; indeed, we'll find her to be a pretty mother.

Health Is Wealth

The Monmouth County Organization for Social Service has launched a month's intensive campaign for funds to maintain its health program for both children and adults. This is the first time in the 35-year history of the organization that it has conducted such a campaign.

The campaign was necessitated by the fact the organization is faced with a $14,000 deficit in its maintenance fund. Its total operating budget for the year is $150,000, of which 65 per cent is from private donations.

The organization has 36 nurses and four supervisors on its staff, and is faced with the necessity of raising nurses' salaries due to constantly rising costs of living.

The M.C.O.S.S. is Monmouth county's pioneer in the field of public health nursing. It has built in the past 35 years a program of generalized public health nursing that is outstanding throughout the United States. It has organized well-baby clinics, pre-natal clinics, encouraged health programs in schools, conducts a bedside nursing program, does tuberculosis prevention work, conducts mental hygiene clinics and supervises a health program for migrant farm workers.

If you are interested in maintaining a high standard of performance among workers whose primary concern is the vital health program for adults and children then this is the campaign to which you should give your wholehearted support.

Rubber Fenders

The U. S. Rubber Co. is experimenting with a plastic auto fender which can be repaired and shaped with heat. The company is aiming at putting out a fender which will cost less to buy than the expense of repairing a steel one. If the experiment is a success, mass production may bring the price down to the point where fenders could be awarded as table prizes at card parties.

Think what a blessing that would be to mankind, and what a contribution it would be toward maintaining peace at home. We can picture the good lady coming home with a spare fender and saying to her husband, "I have a surprise for you, dear. Here is a new fender to replace the one I crensed this morning trying to squeeze into a parking space. We predict that if such a scene ever comes to pass, there will be sharp drop in the number of divorce cases.

A Massachusetts couple on their way to the state of Washington to live lost their cat at Buffalo. After a futile search they continued on their way. The cat eventually turned up at their former home, a distance of more than 400 miles. Man can smash the atom, but the little cat's performance baffles our greatest scientists. A lesson in humility, indeed. By such examples Divine Providence reminds us of our limitations.

EVENTS OF YEARS AGO FROM REGISTER FILES

Fifty Years Ago.

Benjamin B. Hance, son of the late Asher Hance and at one time proprietor of the famous Rumson nurseries, died at Little Silver after a sickness of two months. Mr. Hance was well known as a nurseryman and landscape architect and was one of the first men in the country in this line of work. He and his father established the Rumson nurseries which for 20 years were the most famous in this country. The panic of 1873 put the nurseries in bad financial condition. There were embarrassments of various kinds due principally to the failure of persons indebted to them and to the loss of business caused by hard times. These embarrassments and complications culminated in Mr. Hance's failure in 1878. Subsequently he engaged in the nursery business at Little Silver with Albert R. Borden under the firm name of Hance and Borden. This venture proved unsuccessful. The stock of the Rumson nurseries was eventually bought by the J. T. Lovett company.

Miss Huldah Holmes Taylor of Middletown died, aged 82 years; Charles Tindall, son of Thomas Tindall of Rumson, died of consumption; Mrs. Emily J. Sproul, widow of Edgar Sproul of Keyport, died, aged 67 years, and Mrs. Mary J. Taylor of Keyport died at the home of her niece, Mrs. Abram D. Barnes of Keyport, aged 74 years.

Two time prizes were given. The first was won by George Hawkins, although he was the eighth man to finish. He rode the 18 miles in 52 minutes, 35 seconds. His prize was a gold watch. Frank Boskey, who was also a scratch man, won the second time prize—a pair of Wolff-American racing tires. He finished three-fifths of a second later than Hawkins.

William Chandler and Raymond Doughty of Fair Haven were racing on the main street at that place. When they reached the corner at George Hendrickson's store they turned the corner together and collided. Chandler was thrown from his wheel and was dashed against the store building. He was cut and bruised and his wheel was damaged. Doughty escaped uninjured.

The riders rode over this course six times. Cash prizes amounting to 50 cents had been contributed by Morris Sigel of Washington street. The riders were Harold Sickles, Charlie Clay, Harold Jacques, Monroe Voorhees, Leslie Reckless and Harry Smith. The first money, 25 cents, was won by Harold Jacques. Second money, 15 cents, was won by Harold Sickles. Charlie Clay won third money, ten cents.

His team got stuck on the railroad track with an unusually heavy load and was struck by a train. William Havens was on the wagon and he was thrown a considerable distance but was not much hurt. The horses escaped with a few bruises and the wagon was smashed.

ZONING FOR PARKING

The movement to amend zoning ordinances to require parking facilities for all new buildings is growing in New Jersey. A year ago Plainfield was the only municipality which had used its zoning power to help solve parking problems. Then Millburn amended its ordinance to include parking provisions. Now Union and Newark are considering similar proposals.

Municipalities have turned to parking zoning with some apprehension. Those with much vacant land feared it would retard development. Built-up cities, forgetting how rapidly buildings become obsolescent and are replaced, have been slow to see the value of a code that could not begin to be effective for many decades.

Planning experts, however, have made the alternatives clear. If property owners are not required to provide parking facilities when they erect new stores, office buildings, hotels, theaters and restaurants, public pressure will compel municipalities to provide them, or risk loss of ratables by decentralization.

Attempts to meet the problem by rationing curb space have been only partially successful. The parking meter, when strictly enforced, benefits only the shopper. It displaces the all-day parker, the clerk, mechanic or executive who mans or manages mid-town establishments. He needs a parking place, too. Nor can residential districts longer be permitted to develop without parking facilities, as have wide areas in Newark and even in some Essex suburbs.

It will take a long time for older cities like Newark to benefit from the requirements that new structures provide parking facilities for their customers and occupants, but eventually such an ordinance would begin to relieve congestion. Meanwhile, towns like Millburn and Union, by meeting the problem at its source, are moving to escape the traffic strangulation of their grown-up neighbors.

PEONIES

The peonies are a little late this year. Too much cloud and rain, too little sun and warmth in May held them back. But now they come, in familiar generosity, half as big as cabbages.

There is no subtlety about a peony—or a piney, as the old folk used to call them. Their foliage is big, their stems are long, their flowers are full of strong color and sweet scent. Leave a plant to itself and it will soon spread bigger than a bushel basket, and offer you more than a bushel of bloom all at once. They have their ailments and diseases, but they are in no sense delicate plants. Give them hospitable soil and a minimum of care, and they are yours, lusty and thriving, for years.

Some varieties are newcomers, but the basic peony has been growing in gardens, under man's cultivation, for well over a thousand years. The Chinese and the Japanese grew them long, long ago, and from the Far East they were taken to the Middle East well before the Crusades. Western Europeans found them there when they went crusading, and brought peony roots back to their own homelands. And they were brought across the Atlantic by the early colonists. Here in America they found conditions much like those in which their forebears throve so long in the Orient, and here too they throve.

They still thrive, carefully cultivated in formal gardens or neglected beside old New England cellar holes. They are a bit late this year, but late May and early June is their season, red with peonies, and white and pink with them, and sweet with their warm, old-fashioned fragrance.

Union Beach Sale Doesn't Materialize

Doubt as to whether the $12,000 offer for the entire borough-owned Natco tract is bona fide was expressed at a meeting of the Union Beach council Thursday night.

John M. Friel, local real estate agent, had previously stated that he was not at liberty to divulge the name of his clients, but indicated that they were interested in buying the entire tract and that it was planned to use the property for manufacturing purposes. Mr. Friel announced at the Thursday night meeting that he had informed his clients that the sale was to have been conducted at the meeting and that they had failed to appear.

The council immediately acted to defer plans for advertising the sale, which they said would be costly, and passed a resolution that no further action will be taken until a deposit of 10% of the offer is received.

A resolution was adopted by the council authorizing the Marathon Bus Lines, inc., of South Amboy, to operate between Union Beach and Perth Amboy. The council also approved plans for the appointment of a committee to act as a local juvenile jury in conjunction with the county probation office.

Mayor Edward Conroy announced the appointment of Henry Khun and Alex Provino as members of the adjustment board, and the appointments were confirmed.

Plan Meetings For Farm Groups

For Poultrymen, Potato Growers

A meeting of Monmouth county's poultrymen, sponsored jointly by the Monmouth county extension service and the Farmingdale Cooperative Egg producers association, Inc., (Farmco), is scheduled for next Monday night at 8:15 o'clock in the Howell township school.

The Farmco group, headed by Samuel Lipetz of Farmingdale, has contracts with its members whereby high quality, nearby eggs are delivered and sold under one brand name. Maintenance of quality standards is one of the chief objectives of this co-operative organization.

The Monmouth county extension service is furnishing the program for the meeting which will feature a demonstration of the new egg washing technique and numerous other quality factors to be discussed by Prof. L. M. Black of Rutgers university. The meeting is open to any interested poultryman.

Potato Growers' Conclave at Cranbury

The annual summer meeting of the New Jersey State Potato association has been scheduled for next Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock on the Spencer Perrine farm just north of Cranbury, according to word recently received by County Agent M. A. Clark. This affair usually draws a large group of commercial potato growers from the central part of New Jersey, as well as some from the southern counties.

Features of the program will be an equipment display by farm machinery dealers in the Central Jersey territory, a review of some of the experimental work of Rutgers university on Mr. Perrine's farm, and several well-known speakers. These include Dr. W. H. Martin, Dean of the New Jersey Agricultural college at Rutgers, E. L. Newdick, supervisor of potato seed certification in the state of Maine, and Nathan Koenig, former Monmouth county boy, who is now administrative assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture in Washington.

DDT Spray Kills Pesky Hornflies

Hornfly season has arrived and it's time to turn killing sprays on this troublesome livestock pest, according to Dr. Elton J. Hansens of the Entomology department at the College of Agriculture, Rutgers university.

Cattle are the chief victims of the hornfly. Hornflies are not nearly as bad in New Jersey as they are in some other states, but they can make cattle so unhappy that they may give less milk and perhaps lose weight.

Dr. Hansens passes along the control recommendations of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This is a spray made by dissolving eight pounds of 50 per cent DDT wettable powder in 100 gallons of water. It should be applied at the average rate of two quarts for each fully grown animal. Usually this will protect cattle against hornflies for about three weeks or a month.

The Monmouth county extension service has the latest recommendations for control not only of hornflies, but other farm pests as well.

Asparagus Beetles Plentiful

Asparagus beetles are causing damage to asparagus fields in some areas, reports Mr. Clark. The control of this insect must not be relaxed and a number of dustings will be necessary for its control. This insect emerges from the ground over a period of time.

On cutting beds a ¾ per cent rotenone dust is recommended. On new plantings or non-cutting asparagus beds an arsenical is recommended, using either lead or calcium arsenate mixed at the rate of 25 pounds to 80 pounds of high calcium hydrated fresh lime. For a liquid spray on asparagus which will not be cut, use four pounds of the arsenical to eight pounds of a high calcium hydrated fresh lime added to 100 gallons of water. The thoroughness of application as a dust or a spray will determine the degree of control.

Don't Plow For Second Crop

Market gardeners growing three or more crops of vegetables on the same land area have found that it does not pay to plow the ground for the second crop after the first crop has been harvested, says Mr. Clark. When plowing is done in the early spring or late fall to fit the ground for the first crop, manure, limestone and fertilizing materials are plowed under to the full depth of the plow.

These materials should be kept under because good crops can be grown if the ground is only loosened and aerated rather than plowed. Second and third crops will be troubled much less with weeds, if the ground is not plowed for the second and third crops.

The common practice is to give the ground either a rather deep discing or better yet to use a deep tillage harrow, this will open up and aerate the ground to ten to 12 inches deep. By using a harrow of this kind, no manure, limestone or fertilizer or weed seeds will be brought to the surface and the ground will be in a good mellow condition.

Clip Dairy Pastures in June is Advice

June is the month when a real effort should be made to clip dairy pastures.

Many of the grasses, such as bluegrass, orchards grass, redtop and others have produced seedheads and thus have become unpalatable to the dairy cow. Timely clipping will eliminate this unpalatable growth and stimulate the plant to send up new leafy growth at its base. This new broth is succulent and nutritious.

Clipping will also remove lots of weeds before they go to seed.

Clipping will increase the quality and amount of grazing from pasture during the midsummer months.

This is the time of year when many dairymen find themselves short of good pastures for their cows. Plenty of good roughage in July and August will help to give most fall milk production.

Occasional clipping of clover-orchard grass pastures will prevent this grass from becoming bunch. Orchard grass often is criticized because it becomes bunch, but in most cases this condition is brought about by poor pasture management. Frequent clippings will not give orchard grass a chance to develop its bunchy growth habits.

What's the Hottest News in Cars since the Self-Starter?

For the answer to that, just ask any man who drives a Dynaflow Buick.

He'll tell you, you haven't seen anything yet – until you slip behind a Dynaflow wheel and see for yourself what this new drive does.

It isn't merely that it's easy – though all you do in normal driving is set a lever, press the gas treadle, and steer.

It isn't merely the "stunts" you can pull, such as coming to a dead stop on a steep hill, then moving smoothly away, just by the way you manage the gas treadle.

The important thing is that Dynaflow Drive* marks a basic change in the way power is delivered from the engine to the rear wheels.

The idea of passing through a series of gears in fixed stages, either manually or by mechanical means, is gone entirely.

Instead, spinning oil is so cunningly directed and controlled in the Dynaflow unit that it instantly shapes engine power to fit any normal driving need.

When you start, it steps up engine "torque" like a low gear to give you swift, surging getaway.

When you accelerate or climb, it fits the pull of the engine to that particular job.

When you cruise on the level open road, it delivers power with a flowing smoothness that is far silkier than the normal high.

You have manual control of direction simply by moving a lever. You have reserve braking power instantly at your command – and extra power for emergency pulls.

But there is never any clutch-work – there is no clutch-pedal. And never any gear-shifting in the old sense – your power plant does what the forward gears used to do.

Right now, of course, Dynaflow Drive is available only on Buick ROADMASTER models.

Go find out about it, at the nearest Buick dealer – and be ready to put your order in, whether or not you have a car to trade.

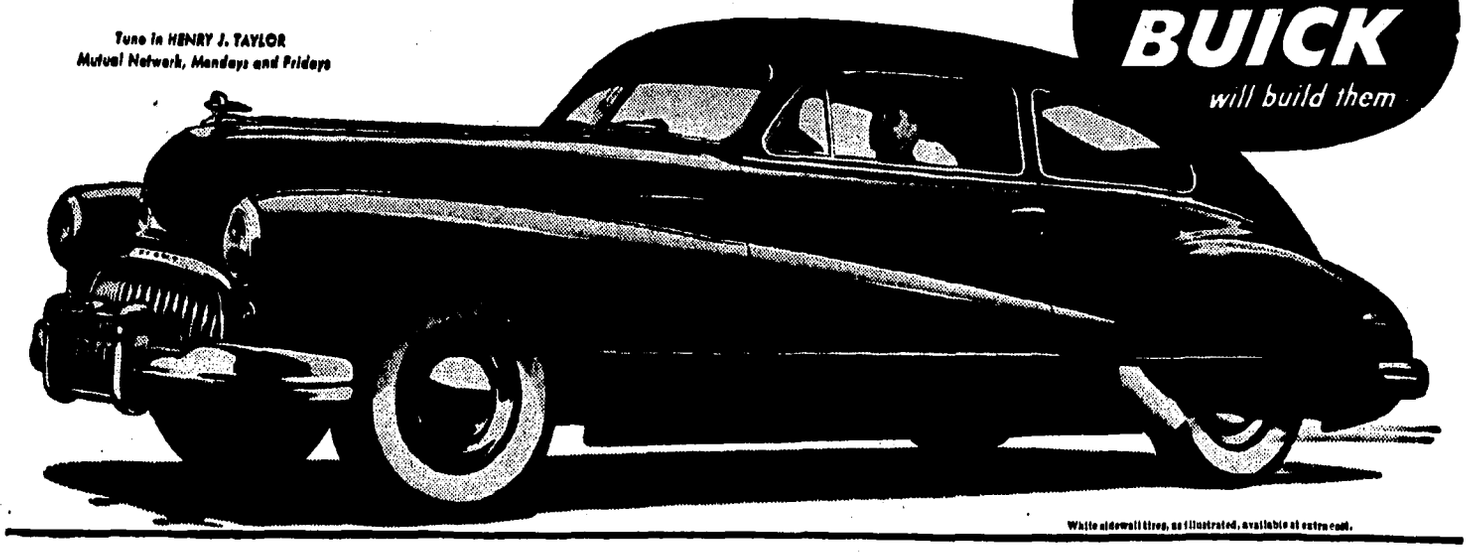

*Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster models only.

Annual Meeting Held Monday In Boston

Directors Address The First Church Of Christ, Scientist

Declaring that democratic government is the instrument through which an irresistible, spiritual force is being channeled into the affairs of men, the Christian Science Board of Directors Monday urged Christian Scientists to work strongly and actively for the defense of free governments throughout the world.

Rightly conceived, the directors told the annual meeting of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., democratic government is something more than an aggregation of legislative acts and legalized rules of conduct.

"It is the orderly unfoldment of the moral character and spiritual integrity of its citizens," the spokesmen for the world-wide Christian Science movement affirmed. As such, they said, free government right merits active defense of its sacred purpose, in addition to the pious declarations of allegiance to its outer form.

In free governments, now seriously endangered by the modern Goliaths, the directors commented, there is a force that gathers its strength from "the same eternal truth given by Christ Jesus in His peerless Sermon on the Mount." Ultimately it shall be seen, they said, that "no individual or nation on earth can withstand the power and presence of God and His Christ."

With the warnings of serious dangers to democratic government, the directors also gave assurance that the antagonists of free government, like the Goliaths of old, were merely "inviting their own doom."

The Israelites of old were faced with similar problems, the directors continued. Confronted with seeming extermination by the overwhelming armies of the Philistines, who sent forth Goliath to intimidate them, they did not quail, the statement said. Did Goliath succeed in defying the armies of the living God? No!

"He fell a victim of his own false trust. The Christ, Truth, guided the hand of the shepherd boy, and the enemy was slain through David's absolute trust in the power of God."

Defense of the democratic form of government, the directors reasoned, requires a practical preparedness, one inspired by prayer and guided by divine wisdom. And they added that a union of nations, to endure, must have a spiritual foundation.

"Nations must possess kindred qualities of thought, culture and purpose. These, when based on spiritual elements which survive the destructive effects of friction, serve as the only lasting bond and impregnable bulwark of men and nations."

The incoming president, Harry C. Browne, whose only official duty is to preside at the annual meeting, declared that the success of any organization, institution or government depends upon the spiritual efficacy of the governing or controlling instrument.

"With the problem of world peace confronting us," he said, "these same divine qualities applied in individual thought and action will be found as potent and as powerful as they were in Jesus' time."

Other reports from the treasurer and clerk of The Mother Church, The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, trustees of The Christian Science Publishing Society, Committee on Publication, and trustees under the will of Mary Baker Eddy, stressed the world-wide progress of the Christian Science movement during the last year.

Journalism Trip

Seven students of the Journalism class, along with 60 students from Shore Conference schools, participated in a trip sponsored by the Asbury Park Press to the young reporters in recognition of their work on the school page.

The students were Lois Cook, Audrey Wellner, Betty Costes, Barbara Kuhl, Helen Reynolds, Cecelia Marmulstein and Barbara Estelle.

The journey covered several points of interest in New York city and took place Thursday, May 27. The students started from Asbury Park in a fog, but when the buses arrived in New York the sun was shining brightly.

The first stop was at the Cloisters, where the group saw relics of historical churches dating back to the 14th century. The reporters continued to Bear mountain. There the students could elect what they wanted to do throughout the afternoon. Such events as hiking, boating, swimming, basketball and visiting the zoo were offered. After four hours the entourage continued to West Point. Here the group was privileged to see the cadets in review. They also saw many sports events.

Nearing the end of the trip they stopped at the Milestone diner and had supper. Continuing on the "homeward trail" they arrived at 10:30 p. m. The students were from William Pazicky's journalism class.

Senior Dance

The seniors will hold their annual spring prom June 11 at 8:30 p. m. The music will be supplied by Joseph Mucha and his orchestra.

The decorative motif has not been decided upon. The dance is under the direction of Mrs. Frances Moore, adviser, and Jackie Isgate, student chairman.—Robert Wilson.

Radio Program

Thirty-five students participated in a radio program on WNJR, Newark May 24. Those had a special part on the program were Miriam Tatom, playing a composition of her own; Rita Talerico, who sang with a chorus accompaniment; Jeanette Lucia, who also sang; Barbara Kuhl, who played a euphonium solo; Yolanda Jones, a bell solo, and Richard Brounley, a cornet solo.

Miss Evelyn Wyckoff, a graduate of Red Bank high school, now appearing in "Rosalie" at the Paper Mill playhouse, also participated in the program.

The chorus and soloists were taken to Newark by bus at the conclusion of school and went on the air at 5:30 p. m. for a one-half hour program.—Helen Reynolds.

Insurance Talk

Kenneth C. Aul, claims manager at the Prudential Insurance company of Newark, spoke to the senior girls in assembly Friday, May 21, on opportunities at the insurance company. Some of the points stressed were description of the types of jobs available, what working conditions are and chances of advancement.

Students who were interested in the jobs at the insurance company visited the guidance room with Mr. Aul after his talk.

—Cecelia Marmulstein.

Camera Club

The Camera club took pictures of 76 of the couples attending the annual junior-senior reception Friday at the high school gym. The photographs were taken by the members of the Camera club, with the assistance of their adviser, Anthony Trufalo.

Two pictures were received by the students for the price of $10. The club members also developed the pictures themselves and mounts for the pictures could be purchased for an extra 30 cents apiece.

The Camera club plans to purchase new equipment with the profits from this work.

Sea Bright Council Gets Mild Rebuke

Edwin B. Hock, commissioner of the New Jersey Alcoholic Beverage Control department, has given a mild rebuke to the mayor and council of Sea Bright, for giving a lower than recommended penalty to a liquor law violator.

Council, at its session May 21, heard the guilty plea of Valentine Ciambrone, on ABC charges of Sunday drink-and-bottle sales which took place in April. Originally the ABC recommended that Val & Sam's tavern, 1030 Ocean avenue, be closed 30 days for the violation. Council made the penalty 15 days—from May 31 to June 15, some members believing Commissioner Hock might not be pleased, but that the ABC penalty was too severe.

At the meeting of mayor and council Friday night, a letter from Commissioner Hock to Borough Attorney A. Henry Giordano was read. In part, it read:

"Please express to members of the council our appreciation for their conduct at these proceedings. However the penalty imposed is somewhat less than that recommended, i.e., a 30-day suspension with no more than five days being remitted for a plea of guilty.

"Inadequate penalties frequently appear to condone rather than condemn violations of the law. It is believed council will find that stern penalties promote observance of the law."

Realtors To Dine At Buttonwood Manor

The second annual joint dinner meeting of the Middlesex and Monmouth County Board of Realtors will take place next Thursday night, June 17, at Buttonwood Manor, state highway, Matawan, at 6:30.

A directors' meeting for the Monmouth county board will be held at 6 o'clock sharp, and an urgent request has been made that all directors attend promptly.

At the joint meeting as little business as possible will be conducted. As a special attraction, Dorothy Uzdilla, chairman of the program committee of the Monmouth county board, has arranged for an outstanding humorous speaker, which she says is something extraordinary.

Since this meeting will be one of entertainment for the pleasure of realtors, they are urged to bring their wives, girl friends, sales people, secretaries or any prospects they may have to recommend who might be interested in becoming realtors. Members of the board are asked to wear their realtor buttons for the affair.

State Issuing Book Of Events

Do your interests run to dog shows, art exhibits, baseball games or fairs? All these and many more are listed in the current State Date Book which gives more than 400 events taking place in New Jersey during the remainder of this year. The book was prepared by the New Jersey Council in the State Department of Economic Development. Newspaper editors, mayors, public relations directors and others helped in the compilation of its contents.

Arranged by months, the calendar includes a wide range of events: religious, patriotic, recreational, musical, athletic, agricultural and those of general interest. Among the events listed are reunions, parades, pageants, concerts, conventions; baseball and football games, track events, crew races, boxing bouts and golf and tennis tournaments; auto, boat and horse racing; horse and dog shows, fairs, fishing seasons, and anniversaries. Even approximate dates for the appearance of some of New Jersey's famous crops are given.

The book is offered free upon request by the New Jersey Council, State House, Trenton.

Eighty-five pounds of candy, cake, foodstuffs, and clothing contributed by military and civilian personnel of the finance office at Fort Monmouth arrived recently in Germany and has been distributed to blind pupils of the six finance department - sponsored German blind schools in the U. S. zone.

"I am sure you would welcome the sight of happiness you have brought these unfortunate children. It is more likely that today the children are eating foods that pre-war Germany couldn't even afford.

"The Mother Prefect of the school told me to extend the thanks of the children as well as her own. She promised that the children would write a personal letter to your office in German braille together with a translation in English".

White Sidewall Tires available at additional cost.

Year after year, the preference for Cadillac grows and grows. But the preference shown for the new models now appearing on the streets and highways is beyond all previous experience. It is definitely the greatest upsurge in popularity in Cadillac's history. This great swing to Cadillac is largely a tribute to the car's extraordinary beauty and originality—for relatively few have yet had a chance to test its wonderful performance. More perfectly than ever, the car's inner goodness is mirrored in its outward beauty—and people can actually see the measure of Cadillac leadership as the car sweeps past on the highway.

Fire Damages Dress Factory

Fight Blaze 3 Hours At Keansburg

Fire swept through the M. C. Ross Manufacturing Company of Creek Road, Keansburg, early Monday morning, destroying some plant machinery and most of the stock, which consists of children's dresses. Damage was estimated at $125,000 by Mr. Ross. This figure applies to the contents of the building.

The blaze was discovered by Patrolmen Fred Loder and Joseph Fucci, who were on a routine patrol. Firemen, headed by Keansburg Chief Layton Webster, fought the blaze for three hours and were forced to call for aid from the East Keansburg Fire company. John Mayer, Middletown township fire chief, led the East Keansburg company to the scene.

The two-story stucco-tile building appeared to be entirely lost at one time, said Chief Webster, but later it was discovered the second story was not damaged. The fire had to be fought by sending water through windows on the north side as too much draft would have been caused if the main doors had been opened. When enough hose had been laid, the doors were opened. The origin of the fire is undertermined.

M. C. Ross, who leases a portion of the building from Horace G. Fowler of Keansburg, told Chief Webster that he believes the insurance might cover most of the loss. He was in New York when the fire started, but arrived at the scene before the blaze was extinguished.

According to police, several sewing machines were damaged. The Ross company occupies the north end of a building which also houses a branch of the Eisner factory of Red Bank. Both Mr. Ross and Mr. Eisner lease their building space from Mr. Fowler. The burned building is located across the street from Mr. Fowler's home and his public ice house and cold-storage building. The Fowler theater and bowling center, located in the rear of the building, were not damaged. Mr. Fowler commended the fire department for saving the bowling alley, the theater and his home.

Towners, Rangers Share Shore Loop Lead

Red Bank Teams Still Unbeaten— Leonardo, Gulistans Suffer Defeats

That the championship race in the Jersey Shore Baseball league might be an all-Red Bank affair became a possibility Sunday when the Rangers and Towners posted victories to become the only undefeated teams in the loop.

The Towners took a 4 to 2 verdict over Adelphia at the Newman Springs field and the Rangers visited Keansburg A. C. to administer a 9 to 0 walloping. With the power at the plate shown by the Rangers in their three contests, the combination quite likely will give the favored Towners a rough session when they meet. Belmar V.F.W. come to Red Bank this week to engage the Rangers and the Towners travel to Leonardo Field club.

The Towners made all their counters in the third inning. Ralph Mazzucca started things off by singling. Fred Hurley was safe on an error and Jim Taylor singled both in. Successive doubles by Jim Genovese and Ray Sanborn accounted for another pair of tallies.

Hurley was winning pitcher. He had things pretty much in check and was aided to his victory through two double plays. First was engineered from Taylor to Ellis to Sanborn, and the other was from Sanborn to Ellis.

Jim Hendrickson was Adelphia's mound choice. Except for the splurge in the third he pitched effective ball, engaging Hurley in a genuine pitcher's battle.

The Rangers had little trouble teeing off on the pitching of Keansburgers Charlie Reilly and "Smoky" Stover. In the meantime, Don Roussell and "Red" Lobdel managed to throw brilliantly for the Red Bankers. Roussell gave up hut three hits in the six innings he worked. Lobdel gave up one in the remaining three.

One of the features was Jim Vaccarelli's home hun in the eight inning with none aboard.

The Rangers began to dent home plate early in the game. They grabbed four in the second inning and two each in the third and fourth.

Leonardo Field club visited Belmar V.F.W. and were administered their first defeat, a 7 to 3 thumping. Gordon Sayre and Jake Supienski hurled for the Field clubbers, and although their combined efforts held the victors to four safeties, loose play proven costly. The Field club committed six errors while the pitchers were issuing seven passes.

In a wild game at Long Branch, Freehold A. C. pushed across three runs in the ninth inning to win, 17 to 16, and they did it after two outs. There were 28 walks, evidence of the type of game performed.

At the county seat, West Belmar unleashed the day's big upset by disposing of last year's champs—Freehold Gulistans—3 to 1. Jim Taylor did the trick, limiting the ordinarily heavy-hitting Gulistans to three blows. He fanned 11 while walking two. Besides his pitching, Taylor sent the first West Belmar run in via a triple.

Harold Phillips of Shrewsbury Saturday afternoon at Old Orchard Country club sank a hole in one, a feat sports odds-makers compute at 10,331 to one.

In a foursome of Al Meyers, Bill Rogers and "Mink" Heller, Mr. Phillips uncorked his rare accomplishment on the difficult 17th hole at the Eatontown course. He used a number four wood for the 190-yard shot.

597 Horses Named For 14 Stakes At Monmouth

Stymie An Eligible For Monmouth 'Cap To Be Run July 24

A final tabulation of nominees to Monmouth Park's 1948 schedule of 14 stakes finds a record-breaking 597 eligible for the $185,000 in added money features. Local officials expressed pleasure at the response as a further reflection of growing interest in the local track where the third summer meeting starts June 21 and continues through August 7.

The leading fixture of the meeting is the time-flavored $25,000 Monmouth Handicap for three-year-olds and upward, at a distance of a mile and a quarter. The marathon hike closed with a bumper crop of 49 nominees, and the July 24 date was selected to dovetail with other important stakes along the Eastern seaboard, avoiding serious conflict and a division of handicap colony strength.

The Monmouth Handicap's potential lineup is led by Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' money-winning king, Stymie, second to Lucky Draw in the 1946 modern-day inaugural running. Also eligible are the Sanford Stud Farm's Round View, last year's winner in track record time, R. N. Ryan's Talon, hero of the recent $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, W. L. Brann's Gallorette, queen of the thoroughbreds, William G. Helis' Elpis, Maine Chance Farm's Knockdown, King Ranch's Contest, Lazy F Ranch's Calvados, Joseph M. Roebling's Macbeth, James V. Higgani's Double Jay, Bayard Sharp's Tide Rips, C. V. Whitney's Quarter Pole and many other formidable contenders.

Complete nominations as announced by Racing Secretary John P. Turner, Jr., are:

Arctos, Artist Life, Beauchef, Bug Juice, Bir Achim, British Isles, Bucephalus, Caifero, Calvados, Conniver, Contest, Cornish Knight, Double Jay, Dutoit, Equibit, Column, Elpis, Faraway, Gallorette, Gold Bull, Hyblaze, Incline, Khyber Pass, Knockdown, Liberty Road, Lord Roswell, Loyal Legion, Macbeth, Miss Grillo, Page Boots, Pilaster, Pennant Day, Peixoto, Quarter Pole, Rapier, Ready Jack, Romancer, Round View, Royal Lover, Service Pilot, Stimulist, Stymie, Talon, Telapago, Tide Rips, Turbine, Vertigo 2nd and Windfields.

Allaire, Cox In Tight Rivalry

Lightnings Post Victories By Seconds

Charlie Allaire and Herb Cox shared honors in Lightning class events on the North Shrewsbury over the week-end. Allaire brought his Avenger in first in Saturday's Monmouth Boat club race, nosing out Cox by a second.

Cox avenged the squeeze by bringing his Coxswain in Sunday afternoon by a 46-second margin. Thus the young boating season has developed one of the closest rivalries of recent years.

Sailing Regatta Planned By MBC

An Open Event For Lightnings, Comets

Monmouth Boat club adopted a resolution at a meeting Monday night at the clubhouse to join the National Sweepstakes association in conducting an open sailing regatta on the North Shrewsbury river the week-end of August 14 and 15 for Lightning and Comet classes boats from New Jersey.

Twelve new members were received at the business meeting which was followed by an interesting address on the development and operation of the Naval Ammunition depot at Earle and its connecting links by rail and sea delivered by Capt. Andrew Shepard, U. S. N., commanding officer at Earle.

Junior High Cops Meet

Fred Brown (left) presents the Red Bank Board of Education trophy to Coach Lou Jacoubs and members of his Junior high school track team at Saturday's grammar school field day at the West Bergen place athletic field. Looking on, second from left, is Frank J. Pingitore, Red Bank high's athletic director. The Junior high track men pictured are, left to right, Tom Cook, Steven Morris and Dave Root.

The field day was tagged successful even though showers hampered the beginning of the running events. By the time for the colorful May pole dances, however, the rains had stopped and more than 200 spectators were treated to a pleasant sight. Youngsters of the third grade at River street, fourth grade at Mechanic street and fifth grade at Oakland street, competed in the dances. The judges, headed by Mrs. Alfred Podell, ended in a deadlock in their scoring. Miniature trophies were presented each school.

The track meet was a close event, with Little Silver threatening to take the honors right up until the final event. River street's aggregation also was in the running to that point, with only Shrewsbury outdistanced. In making up the events, Mr. Pingitore, who was in charge, sent the sixth grade from Mechanic street running under Junior high's colors and the sixth graders from Oakland street under River street's colors. There were special ninth grade races which received medals, but were excluded from the scoring total.

Assisting Mr. Pingitore in the conduct of the meet were Theodore D. Parsons, head judge; Mr. Brown, custodian of prizes; Bill Sherwood, starter; J. William Heim, announcer, and Coaches Jacoubs, Thomas Phipps, Vincent Paladino and Arnold Lewis.

Major Doherty Leaves Monmouth

Athletic Officer Did "Most For Sports"

The "man who had done most for sports", Maj. Robert M. Doherty, athletic director of Fort Monmouth, is leaving this week for assignment in Puerto Rico, where he will be athletic director of the Antilles Command at San Juan.

Thus, Maj. Doherty, who brought Fort Monmouth five First Army titles and never finished lower than third in any sports event during his year's tenure on the post, is departing to organize and conduct an extensive athletic program in the Caribbean theatre.

In the past year Maj. Doherty has increased post sports attendance to the maximum and one of the reasons for the tremendous boost in drawing crowds was the scheduling of top-flight name colleges for the next two to five years for post dates, assuring Fort Monmouth of continued top-flight competition.

His first official job as post Athletic director was coaching the '47 swimming team, which easily won the First Army title. Then came the baseball season and he upset the one-two favorites by annexing the baseball championship.

When it came time for football, Maj. Doherty, through the co-operation of Special Services, had the post parade grounds made into a football field fully equipped, including a huge scoreboard. The program attracted 5,000 fans per game. His team finished second in the First Army conference.

Between the football and basketball seasons, he added Fort Monmouth First Army titles in badminton and ping-pong. Playing a heavy basketball schedule, which included the best college teams in the country playing at Fort Monmouth, Doherty added the basketball title to his string of championships.

Much credit can be given the major for the success of his '48 teams. He feels certain they will repeat in swimming and baseball and that the golf title is a sure thing this year.

The climax of a brilliant record as athletic director was the erection of a night baseball park on the parade grounds of the post. Termed "impossible" by many, the major had lights and other necessary equipment installed in the record time of seven weeks. To date he has brought in good college teams for opposition, with an average attendance record of four to five thousand a game. In addition, the major has continued his policy of bringing "big names" and dignitaries to the games.

Before receiving his orders, the major had plans in the making for a field house with a connecting swimming pool and an electric scoreboard for the baseball park.

Maj. Doherty, a native of Long Island, will fly to his new destination this week, taking his wife and two children, Patricia, 6, and Maureen, 3 years, with him. His parents now reside in Lakehurst. His father is a retired New York city fire chief.

Race Track To Air, Televise Stake Runs

Station WATV of Newark will televise daily from Monmouth Park race track, which opens its season a week from Monday. Also scheduled are special coast-to-coast radio broadcasts of the American and National Broadcasting companies.

With Jack McCarthy at the Mike, ABC's network will carry the Oceanport, Long Branch, Lamplighter and the $25,000 Monmouth and Molly Pitcher. Clem McCarthy, NBC's famed caller, will broadcast the Omnibus and the Choice stakes.

The Red Bank Register is supported by local as well as out-of-town businessmen. Advertisements appearing regularly tell the story.—Advertisement.

Sullivan Trophy Tourney Begins

First Round Matches End Sunday Night

Play for the George Sullivan trophy begins this week-end at Old Orchard Country club. First round matches must be completed by June 13. In last week's play, 32 qualified for the tourney.

In other activities at Old Orchard, Mr. Hickey posted the best net score to capture sweepstakes honors. His 77-15-62 did the trick as he toured the course, fancily sinking putts from all distances and hitting his approach shots with deadly accuracy.

Mr. Rogers was second in the sweeps. He had 80-10-70. Tony Savage had 77-6-71 and Luther Jordan tied him with 83-12-71.

Mrs. Halper Wins In Deal Golf

At Ladies' day play at Deal Golf club yesterday, Mrs. Samuel Halper of Navesink River road carted off first prize for net score when she posted a 95-18-77 over a soggy course.

Miss Patricia Maloney of Deal was second with 119-40-78; Mrs. J. Joseph Connor of Red Bank third with 99-16-83, and Mrs. Virginia Iverson of Deal fourth with 114-29-85.

TENNIS LETTER

Bruce Berckmans, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Berckmans, Navesink River road, was awarded his varsity letter in tennis at the annual spring sports banquet of the Choate school, Wallingford, Conn., last week. Berckmans, a Choate senior, has also been active as a member of St. Andrews' cabinet, the brief board and the debate council.

Bucs-Caseys Split Borough Ball Series

RBCH Won Friday's Game, 5–2— Red Bank Cops Saturday's, 7–6

Bucs, Caseys, Lions Named State Champs

The New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic association Sunday night announced that Red Bank and Leonardo high schools were Central Jersey Group II co-champions and that Red Bank Catholic was Central and South Jersey class B champions.

Leonardo, Shore Conference champs by virtue of having nosed out Red Bank via the Conference's point system, ran up a record of ten victories against four defeats. Red Bank's record was nine victories against eight defeats. The Catholic high ended with a 12 win, two-loss count, the best in the two sections of the state.

Baer To Referee Asbury Wrestling

Ex Champ To Work Saturday's Card

Max Baer, former heavyweight champ, will be guest referee at Asbury Park's armory Saturday night. Featured wrestling attraction will be Frank Sexton, reputed world's wrestling champion, against Sandor "The Great" Kovacs.

Baer returns to the scenes of his former training camps by coming back to Asbury. He is on a refereeing tour of the East and was obtained by Matchmaker Roland J. Hines to work on the same card with similarly popular Sexton.

The Sexton-Kovacs performance should be a crowd pleaser. Kovacs sports an undefeated string of 28 straight, which should prove to be a game challenge to the clever Sexton.

Supporting bouts include Faro Rinaldi against George Flynn, Francois Miquet against Milo Steinborn and Tony Cosenza against Jessie James.

Monmouth Park Notes

Dan Corkery, custodian of the jockey room at Monmouth Park, will open the riding quarters this week. He reported that the majority of riders who were in action at the recent Garden State Park meeting will be at the local course during the June 21-August 7 season, bolstered by newcomers from New York, Maryland and New England.

Monmouth Park's training track is awakening to the beat of thoroughbred hoofs after a long winter's somnolence. More and more horses are testing their speed over course, prepping for the 42-day meeting. The track is in excellent condition, according to as capable an authority as trainer Andy Schuttinger, who recently told officials it is better this season than at either of the previous meets. Although no lightning tests of speed have been demanded Lyman A. Brusie's Berwyn clocked a creditable mile in 1:43 1/5, with half miles in :48 and five-eighths in 1:02 routine training moves.

Horses continue to straggle into the track, with the main influx due late this week. Recent arrivals include Lloyd Murray with 12 head topped by the consistent Balanced, A. J. East with nine, of which High Trena is the star, and Glen N. W. McNaughton with a trio of New Jersey breds.

William Sacco, Long Branch trainer, is training a public stable, including a promising two-year-old prospect for Mrs. M. M. Jurgens. The youngster is named Accipator, and is nominated to several local juvenile stakes. He bucked his shins at Garden State Park but has been returned to serious training.

Glen N. W. McNaughton, secretary of the New Jersey Breeders' association, was a recent Monmouth Park visitor, conferring with General Manager Edward J. Brennan on plans for this season's annual showing of New Jersey yearlings, to be held in conjunction with the July 14 renewal of the New Jersey Futurity. McNaughton expressed keen delight in the growing appeal of the Futurity. A final tabulation of eligibles for the rich sprint classis, restricted to New Jersey foals, finds 42 of the 93 early nominees surviving the final payment, and from their ranks will be drawn the starting field. Monmouth Park's summer meeting gets underway June 21.

Trainer Andy Schuttinger was one of the most recent arrivals at Monmouth Park, bedding down 16 head. The Schuttinger contingent, owned by the New Jersey sportsman-businessman, Joseph M. Roebling, was led by the high class two-year-old Blue Peter and the three-year-olds Macbeth and Cacique. All three are heavily engaged in Monmouth's 14-stakes schedule.

Others to register included James Cox Brady, Lyman A. Brusie and Otto C. Rasch, Sr. Their arrival brought the back-stretch strength to approximately 150 thoroughbreds, a number being increased almost hourly as vans continue to roll in from Garden State Park, Maryland and New York city.

Improved service from New York city over the Central Railroad is scheduled for the coming meeting. Club car service will be furnished on the special race track train leaving Liberty street daily, and sandwiches and beverages will be served in a special tavern car.

Red Bank's brilliant baseball teams—the Bucs and Caseys—battled to a dead heat in this year's meetings. Red Bank high copped Saturday's game, 7 to 6, while Red Bank Catholic brought home a 5 to 2 victory in the Friday afternoon contest.

One of the largest crowds ever to witness a high school baseball game in this borough were on hand for Saturday's game. Efforts of the players on both squads were generously applauded as the weatherman combined to offer the best he had.

Saturday's closely contested game ended in quick fashion when Tom Romard backed up to the right field fence to snare a poke by Joe Madure. Les Carbone was on second at the time. Romard's throw-in was relayed to second and Base Umpire Jerry Palaia called the runner out for leaving the bag before the catch.

The game was a tight one throughout. The Caseys tallied three runs in the second inning and the Bucs tied it up in the fourth. Red Bank Catholic bounced right back in the fifth with three more runs, but Red Bank again nullified their work and went into the lead with a four-run production.

Bill Sanborn was responsible for sending home the victory margin. He sent a healthy poke to right, which got past Charlie Drury, and it went for a three-run triple. It marked the end for Danny Welch. Tom Fransconi, sophomore fastballer, came on and got through his stint without difficulty.

The victory was No. 9 for Red Bank against eight defeats. Red Bank Catholic had 12 wins against two losses, both of which were by one run.

Jack Witkoski was Saturday's winning pitcher. He turned in an impressive job, the best, probably, since his one-run victory over Leonardo high school early in the season. His control was markedly improved over other games, mainly noticeable by the fact that he issued but one walk.

Welch also pitched Friday's game, winning via a seven-hit performance. Alvin Griggs was the loser. The Caseys moved into a quick lead, scoring twice in the first inning. Lead-off man, Charlie Drury, continued a year-old habit of beginning proceedings with a hit, banging out a double. Madure hit safely to tally one, and Jack Maloney singled in the second run.

The Bucs stayed in the game by registering two runs in the second inning. Dom Soldo and Walt Stearns singled and Bill Sanborn pushed them home on a double to right field. The Caseys went into a one-run lead in the third. Nap Lucia doubled and Maloney sent him home on his second single of the day. The Casey backstop had a perfect day at the platter, connecting for three hits in three attempts.

After Red Bank Catholic scored an additional two runs in the fifth, Red Bank high made a bid to cop the contest. Drury erased their chances, however, on a spectacular catch in short center field of a line drive by Griggs. The bases were loaded at the time, with two away.

Mrs. Crane Posts Second Straight Win

For the second week in a row, Mrs. Edward M. Crane Tuesday afternoon topped the efforts of Rumson Country club's women golfers. This week's first prize was won via a 90-7-83. Last week, Mrs. Crane was tied on medal score by Mrs. A. F. King, Jr. She won on the basis of match play.

Second place prize went to Mrs. A. C. Swenson, who toured the lengthy layout in 101-15-86. Mrs. A. L. McKim was third, 105-14-91, and Mrs. George V. Coe, Jr., and Mrs. J. D. Tuller were tied for third with respective scores of 114-17-97 and 121-24-97.

JERSEY'S STATE RACING commission is busily checking the license of Red Bank's Elmon E. Smith, trainer-owner of Rejoicing.

Charlie Sheehan, secretary to the commission, this week offered an explanation of the commission's system of issuing licenses. Apparently anyone may apply for one. Procedure is to have the applicant name references. Those references aren't necessarily cognizant of the fact their names have been used.

Moreover, the references are not considered recommendations. According to Sheehan, Fred Hannon of Lincroft, Wilbur "Sub" Hammond of Holmdel and Joseph Carroll of Middletown, the men named by Smith on his application, most likely will be called before the stewards to give their opinions of Smith's ability and experience as a trainer.

The commission should have its own system of investigating prospective trainers. By freely issuing licenses, the commission isn't giving a fair shake to old-line, qualified horsemen nor to the public at large.

PLOWING UP THE FAIRWAYS:—Another hole-in-one scored at the shore. Looks as though this golf game is getting easier. Seriously, congratulations to Harold Phillips of Shrewsbury who plunked in his ace on the tough 190-yard 17th at Old Orchard . . . Lou Jacoubs now a devotee.

Jack McGalliard, who regularly burned up Old Orchard last year, now a married man and living in Brielle. George Sullivan, pro at the Long Branch layout, will have to find himself another partner for the Long Branch trophy tournament . . . Stan Savage elected chairman of Old Orchard's greens committee.

Mrs. Samuel Halper of Navesink River road and Mrs. J. Joseph Connor of Branch avenue journeyed to Shawnee-On-The-Delaware last week. They competed in the Women's New Jersey Golf association's two-day tournament. It was held on the beautiful Shawnee Golf club course. Mrs. Halper captured one of the net prizes by shooting a 94-17-77.

Unaided by wind or roll, Craig Wood has belted the pill 430 yards. Babe Didrickson Zaharias hit the longest ball among women golfers—a 327-yard sock . . . Charlie Paris sends word to be on the lookout for Pat Berry, Fort Dix golfer. He expects Berry to give Fort Monmouth's ace, Jack Maloney, a tough go in First Army championships.

Ron Allen and Donald E. Lawes tied for the Sweepstakes prize at Rumson over the week-end. Mr. Allen had 87-15-72 and Mr. Lawes had 93-21-72 . . . At that well-groomed course, George V. Coe, Jr., came up with the week's best round. He eased around in 79, playing from the back tees . . . Ted Parsons due to hit the fairways anytime now.

HORSE SHOW NOTES:—At Billy Foales' farm in Shrewsbury Sunday, the "Squire of Silverbrook farm" will be host to the Monmouth County hunt when it stages its horse show. Monmouth Memorial's cancer clinic fund gets net proceeds . . . The Hunt has priced admission tickets exceptionally low. Miss Nancy Gaddis Heller, Hunt secretary, reports heavy interest in the event, the first the county has seen since '41 . . . Of the 85 entries already filed, most come from local youngsters. The show practically has been restricted to county residents in an attempt to keep it on an amateur basis . . . Most interesting should be the egg and spoon race and the jumping and road hack classes . . . There is something about a horse show attractive to all age groups and to all types of spectators. Without being able to distinguish a stirrup from a hoof, a fellow can enjoy watching well trained horses and riders go through their act . . . Starting time is 1 p. m.

GEMS AND DIAMONDS:—Congratulations to Red Bank and Red Bank Catholic high schools' ball teams. Both received deserved recognition in the matter of state championships . . . Saturday's game at West Bergen place between the Bucs and Caseys was well attended. Nice item was the friendly spirit of rivalry between players, plus the non-partisan applause greeting spectacular plays.

Our idea of the best baseball prospect at the shore is Lester Carbone, RBCH's outstanding third baseman. Besides making sensational stops at the hot corner, the boy is a sparkplug. Too bad he will be ineligible because of over-age. He has two more years of schooling. Scouts claim he isn't tall enough, but maybe he can stretch out in the next couple years . . . Freddie Mazzucca played brilliantly at short for Red Bank high in Friday's game. He picked a good time because Frank Burke of New Brunswick, old-time Giant scout, was on hand looking for talent. Burke's other choices were Caseys Maloney and Charlie Drury.

Monmouth Park Maintenance crew's softball team walloped Rumson firemen. Now they're looking for a game with Rumson's hot Oceanic . . . If Red Bank's Hook and Ladder team doesn't show up for their game at Belford Sunday, they will be dropped from the Shore Firemen's softball league . . . The Caseys' diamond championship is the second they have received from the NJSIAA. Their football team last fall copped the grid crown.

THE NATIONAL SWWEPSTAKES regatta will be held on the North Shrewsbury. That became a fact Friday night in Philly when the American Power Boat association over-rode criticisms of the local group, giving unconditional sanction to Red Bank's river classic.

Commodore Joe Irwin, Tom Field, Jr., Fred Brown and Al Lippmann went to the Quaker city to argue for the local show. They did a convincing job. One of the things promised by the local men was that the official barge would not be cluttered up as in years past. That will give official scorers and working newspapermen room to work.

DR. ANTHONY PISANI of Little Silver has signed as team physician for the Brooklyn Dodger football team. Branch Rickey's terms included a raise in salary. That makes the good doctor something of a unique figure in the sports world.

Talked with the Doc this week and came away with what we think is an interesting yarn. It concerns George Seabury, six-foot, seven-inches of man who carts 306 pounds around. He was an All-America tackle selection at Yale in '39 and played 60 minutes in the All Star-Giant game that year.

Seabury, now a special sales representative in England for a U. S. firm, injured his heel last February while playing ice hockey with English air raiders. He recently entered Killearn hospital in Prestwick, Scotland, for an operation. Expecting to be released a week from Friday, the man-giant ran up against a tough problem. He learned there wasn't a crutch in all of Scotland able to support his huge person.

Having been a pal of Dr. Pisani's before and during the war, Seabury naturally sent an appeal to the bone specialist. Pisani, himself a six-foot, five-inch Tiny Tim type, didn't have much trouble locating one. And he was able to give it a stern weight test. It evoked an item in London's Evening Mail with a headline of "Only U. S. Can Take the Strain." The story told of the fruitless search in Scotland and the letter to Dr. Pisani. It also included a line that the broth of a boy weighed "20 stone." Pisani says the news story erred, because 20 stone adds up to but 280 on conversion to pounds.

Seabury and Pisani are members of the Tall Men's club. The late Cy Taylor also was a member. He was six feet, five and another tackle on the '39 all-star eleven. He was killed in action on the Marshall Islands. Camp Taylor in the Pacific is named after him. Another member is Bob Rhodenberg, six-six, who recently sold the Baltimore Colts after attempting to buy the St. Louis Browns.

INCIDENTS AND INCIDENTALS:—Ringside films of the Tony Zale-Rocky Graziano fight will be shown at Tony Hunting's Carlton theater at three performances . . . Msgr. Joseph T. Casey, sports minded pastor of St. James, in Worcester Monday to address Holy Cross graduates. The occasion marked the prelate's 40th graduation anniversary from that university . . . Red Bank high awarded letters Friday. Three-letter men were Jack Witkowski, Dick Chadwick and Jack Triolo.

Red Bank Catholic's awards were made yesterday. Their three-letter men are Jack Maloney, Joe Madure, Danny Welch and Joe Carroll . . . Maloney will receive a gold key for highest exemplification of sportsmanship at Sunday night's graduation exercises . . . Shrewsbury Hose company, which owns the toughest team to beat in the Shore Firemen's league, has its Monte Carlo night June 18 and 19.

Bill Hoag, whose Rumson Vets will hold their fair from July 10 to 17, a "dashing" model in last night's fashion show at Long Branch . . . Bud Warren, one-legged youngster at Red Bank high, received two varsity letters for managing teams . . . J.F.M.P. Murphy, Boston's sports authority working out of John Gualtieri's Wheel club, was a best man last week. Quite a picture. When the bridesmaid turned out to be a hay fever victim, Murph had to carry the flowers.

Bill "Kossene" Chamberlain, the boy who nicknamed the Oceanport oval "Monmouth Cleaners," may leave the refrigerator business to build garages . . . Dick Moran, likeable horse trainer, says that looking through Billy Foales' binoculars is like peering through a couple Coca Cola bottles . . . Molly Pitcher hotel's Rigaud Paine getting busier by the minute. Race track people signing in there on the half hour.

School Board President Alston Beekman and Member Fred Brown paid for the ice cream given contestants in Saturday's grammar school track meet . . . Mushky Jackson says that wrestling fans at his shows in Keansburg really go for those tag teams. He will have another at Balbach's Tuesday night . . . Harry Wells at Monmouth assisting Trainer Ed Feakes . . . Edwin Brown of California succeeded Tom Healy as state racing steward.

SURF, FIELD AND STREAM

Timely Notes On The Great Outdoors

BY STEW VAN VLIET

Maybe the Darning Needle Prediction was Right

"Stew" VanVliet

There is something big stirring in the offing. It is like the lull before the storm. Have you noticed how the fishing folk of Sea Bright are moving into action? Motors being tuned up, nets being overhauled and loaded on the boats. Have you noticed the tremendous concentration of sand eels along the surf? Could it be the invasion of the "blues" are on the way? Our guess is yes, and they are not only on the way but they are here to stay in increasing numbers throughout the summer.

Hook and line catches running up to 50 are reported from Brielle. Dr. and Mrs. Grey of Asbury Park and Harry Breslin of Bradley Beach located a school four miles off Shark River inlet, and within a short time boated six, trolling with feathers. A catch of 600 pounds, weighing between 2½ to 6 pounds, was landed at Sea Bright by commercial fishermen. The first catch of bonito has been reported.

The striper fever is increasing daily, and we can vouch for the fact that schools of big fellows have arrived but they are not yet in the striking mood. Give them about a week or ten days more—say the full moon June 21—and watch out.

The next best thing to hanging a fish is to see them swirling around you. It is darn exasperating to be in a big body of fish covering several acres and have their broad tails throw water in your face and not able to get one to give you a tumble.

We were trolling the Hook area when we ran into them and there were some busters among them. We had the ocean to ourselves. O, brother, this is it, we thought. We threw everything in the book at them but they wouldn't co-operate. Thinking they might decide to strike after dark, we fished until 3 a. m., but nary a strike.

The largest bass of the season to be caught from the surf at Sandy Hook public fishing grounds weighed 39 pounds, 14 ounces, and was taken by George Hrehowseki.

Striper action took on a new lease of life over the week-end at the Sea Bright and Highlands bridges, with fish reported weighing up to 21 pounds.

As the tide slackens the narrow stretch of river running between Rumson and Sea Bright comes to life. Boats going every which way. A river traffic cop would be in order. We made a troll or two, but had to give it up. There was one fellow in particular who seemed to take great delight in cutting across every line in the river. At one time he was hooked to lines from four boats. There were others who would cut in ahead of you, with their motors wide open. Why don't some fellows ever learn what it is all about?

Stripers Are Suckers For Plugs

In the past few years striped bass lures have changed so rapidly that it is hard for a fisherman, let alone the bass, to keep up with them. How the fish have been able to keep abreast of the times is a mystery. In the old days heavy lead squids, with a piece of pork rind, did the trick, but not any more. What they want is a "popper" 14 inches long; a "Cap White" with a bunch of buck tails hanging on the tail hook; a "flop-tail," or an "Atom" plug.

Our idea of a modern atom plug is one that will explode when a bass gets within 20 feet of it. However, until that time comes we will have to be satisfied with the very latest development in atomic lures. It is called the "Striper Atom 40," and is made by the Atom Manufacturing company of Attleboro, Mass., and constructed out of ethyl cellulose plastic.

The "Atom 40" is an improved model of the prize-winning original striper atom wood bait. In 1947 this original atom plug took more striper prizes than all other plugs combined. And it also landed the world's largest striper for nine-thread line.

Pre-season tests indicate that the new "Atom 40" retains all of the desirable features of the original striper atom, with the added advantages of plastic construction and durability. The body is composed of a series of water-tight compartments, thus giving controlled buoyancy. Because of its plastic construction it has been possible to use a radically improved type of deceptive coloring. These features, plus a flexible metal lip for surface control, pin-point balance and absence of cracking, chipping or crazing, should make a new champion out of the striper "Atom 40."

It is guaranteed by the makers that "even the embryonic Izaak Walton will soon join the ranks of the 40 pounds and over club. We are going to give one a workout, and if we should tag a 40 pounder you will hear more about it.

I have always considered it a more sporting proposition to catch a fish on an artificial lure than any other method, and for that reason, some 20 years ago, I introduced fresh water tackle and fresh water plugs for salt water game fishing on the Jersey coast.

Returning from a successful fishing trip in Florida, where I was initiated into the science of fresh water tackle for salt water game fish, I decided to try the same tactics with our fish. Shark River inlet presented the most likely spot for success. At that time I used a 5½-foot True Temper bait casting rod, a Shakespeare level wind reel and a 4½-inch Pflueger Pal-o-Mine plug. The results were so encouraging that I decided to discard all my heavy surf-casting equipment and devote my time to light tackle. It was one of the finest summers I ever enjoyed. Big weaks ferred to open waters. The season will extend to November 30.

Black, Oswego or large-mouth bass, must be at least nine inches long. The minimum legal size of Calico bass and crappie is six inches. Daily catches permitted are ten in all of large or small-mouth black bass; 20 rock bass; 20 Calico bass and crappie.

It is unlawful to take, catch or kill in any one day more than 25 in the aggregate of fresh water game and food fish.

Licensed fishermen in New Jersey are looking forward to the opening of the bass season June 15 to travel to the numerous lakes and streams. The State Fish and Game council of the State Department of Conservation predicted a most successful season because of the wide distribution of hundreds of thousands of bass fingerlings from the Hackettstown fish hatchery during the past several years. In addition thousands of adult bass have been netted in closed reservoirs and gate-holes and trans-

Monmouth Park Busy Receiving Many Stables

300 Already Bedded At Oceanport Plant; Expect 700 More

Thoroughbreds are converging on Monmouth Park Jockey club from all sections, eager for the June 21 inaugural. At capacity the seaside track will accommodate 1,000 horses, of which number 300 are already bedded down.

The shipping of horses from one track to another is the major gamble of owners and trainers who follow the trail of the thoroughbred through channels of chance. The danger of "shipping fever" is ever a lurking nemesis, a form of virulent pneumonia which exacts a high toll among the equine colony. This oftentimes results when a horse is permitted to stand in a draft, sometimes from locked bowels, sometimes from weakness or not being properly prepared for the jorney. Susceptible to all ailments of mankind, the horse despite his size does not have nearly the stamina of human beings in throwing off colds, and if they center in his lungs the odds are about even whether they will pull through. Even if the horse makes the grade his wind is frequently touched, marring his racing future.

The majority of horses on the Monmouth move today are being vanned from nearby Garden State Park, a minor ship, although others are en route from Chicago, Kentucky, New England and even lengthier hauls. Most of these latter will arrive in specially built horse cars that are the last word in comfort and convenience. At the end of the car is sufficient room for traps and luggage, while the animals stand three abreast on short trips and a pair side by side on transcontinental junkets.

Before shipping they are usually given a series of long gallops and a final sharp workout, for horses with distance trials under their belt ship better than fresh, rested animals. They are also fed mashes, and deprived of body-warming oats their main sustenance on long trips being a limited quantity of hay.

It is also the practice of some owners and trainers to ship right along with their horses. When "Uncle John" Harper shipped his beloved Longfellow to old Monmouth Park back in the "gay nineties" he always insisted on sleeping in the same stall. In all of the modern day Mate's wanderings his millionaire owner, A. C. Bostwick, traveled right along with the horse. These scenes are being duplicated 100-fold today as horses converge on Monmouth Park.

HOW STEADY ON THE TARGET?

If you've ever done any shooting, you know that lining up the target in your sights isn't too hard.

What is tough is keeping your aim steady until the trigger is squeezed, and the bullet starts for the bull's-eye.

Saving money is a lot like that for most of us. It isn't too hard to save a little every once in a while. But to keep our aim steadily on the target of financial security — to save, regularly, some part of everything we earn — has always been a really tough job!

Yet today it needn't be! There's a new, easy, automatic way to save and to keep on saving until you hit the mark you're shooting for. It's buying U. S. Security Bonds on the Bond-A-Month Plan at your bank!

What's more, every dollar you put into Savings Bonds does two extra jobs. It helps keep your country strong and financially sound. And it makes more money for you — for the $75 you save today will grow to $100 in just 10 years!

So keep on buying every bond you can afford. And remember, the best way to buy is the steady way — the automatic way — on the Bond-A-Month Plan!

County Conducts Four Raids And Arrests Eight

Red Banker Charged With Bookmaking— Carton Issues Warning

Members of the county prosecutor's office, assisted by municipal police officials, raided reputed gambling establishments in Red Bank, Long Branch and Asbury Park Saturday and arrested eight men on gambling charges.

At the same time, J. Victor Carton, county prosecutor, issued a warning to proprietors of bars, restaurants and similar establishments, that if bookmaking activities were observed, the owners and their employees will be arrested on charges of operating disorderly houses.

Arrested in Red Bank were Roy Snyder of Spring street and Arthur Davis of Fair Haven. They were found in third-floor rooms in the Kridel building, Broad and Front street. Mr. Snyder was charged with bookmaking, and Mr. Davis was held for aiding and abetting bookmaking. Both men were placed under $2,500 bail when they pleaded not guilty before Justice of the Peace Fred Quinn of Freehold. The Red Bank raid was made by Police Chief Harry T. VanNote, Sr., Detective Captain George Clayton and County Detective Merritt Kent.

A buzzer was found which police say could have been used as a warning device.

Mr. Snyder was found in a room with a desk and radio. The radio was not playing at the time of the raid. There was no telephone in the room, and according to Mr. Snyder no evidence of bookmaking was obtained.

Mr. Davis was found in a room, rented by the International Alliance of Stage and Motion Picture Operators. The only telephone in this room is that of the union. According to Mr. Davis no evidence of bookmaking was found on his person. Both Mr. Snyder and Mr. Davis claim that the charges against them are not substantiated by evidence.

Five men were taken into custody after raids were made at two places in Asbury Park. Arrested was Ferdinand "Fred" Caliendo, 41, who was picked up in Harry's grill. He pleaded not guilty before Acting City Magistrate Harry L. Giberson, Jr., on a charge of bookmaking and was placed under $1,500 bail to await grand jury action.

A raiding party, headed by Mr. Carton and Leroy E. Holloway, Asbury Park police chief, entered a candy store on Asbury avenue and arrested Anthony Sylvester and charged him with bookmaking. His brother, Patsy, was charged with the sale and possession of numbers' slips. Also taken into custody in this raid were Samuel Petilli and Anthony J. Carrido, both of Asbury Park.

All pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Mr. Giberson. Anthony Sylvester was placed under $2,500 bail, and $1,000 bail was fixed for each of the others.

Mr. Carton stated that Anthony Sylvester was found in a house adjacent to the store. In the house, he added, were a table, racing newspapers, scratch sheets, betting slips and a radio and telephone. Cash amounting to $300 was seized Mr. Carton stated.

At Harry's grill Caliendo was arrested after he allegedly accepted a bet with marked bills. Mr. Carton reported that the cashier of the grill identified Caliendo as the man who had given him the marked bills.

In Long Branch, William Cittadino was arrested at the Cittadino Brothers tavern, Summer street. He was arraigned on a charge of bookmaking before Julius Golden, Long Branch recorder, and was held under $1,500 bail.

You Name it... the 'Jeep' does it

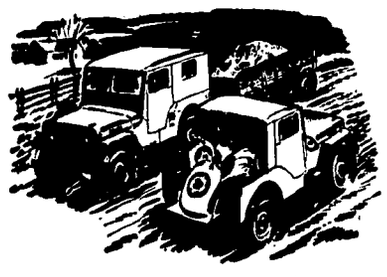

THE UNIVERSAL 'Jeep' DOES MORE FOR THE FARMER THAN ANY OTHER VEHICLE

● With 4-wheel drive for traction and steady pulling power in the field, the "Jeep" has a drawbar pull of 1200 lbs., operates almost any standard tilling or harvesting implement. Rear power-take-off runs power-driven implements from standard spline shaft drive.

● The "Jeep" can be used with the latest development in modern farming—a new hydraulic lift that raises, lowers or adjusts depth of implement while the operator remains comfortably seated. And of course it handles conventional pull-type implements, too.

● The Universal "Jeep" is for hauling and towing on or off the road in all kinds of weather. It carries up to 1200 pounds, pulls a braked load of 2½ tons at highway speeds.

● It provides mobile power anywhere on the farm, for operating many types of power-driven equipment such as separators, feed grinders, buzz saws, hammer mills, ensilage cutters and numerous others.

This message gives but a glimpse of the all-around, year-'round usefulness of the Universal "Jeep". We invite you to see this versatile vehicle in action and let us prove that it does more different jobs than any other single farm vehicle. Call for a demonstration now—on your farm, with your equipment.

Here's what it takes to add a circuit...

• How do we go about adding circuits to handle your increased out-of-town calls?

• Sometimes it's a matter of placing new cables deep in a river or harbor bed, where they can't be disturbed by passing boats. Again, it may mean tunneling under busy streets or crossing swamps, farm lands or forests.

• But one thing is always the same—and that's the task of connecting the cables once they're in place. Then literally thousands of connections must be made—and every one of them by hand!

★ ★ ★

Additional circuits represent just one part of our $250,000,000 expansion program. Buildings, switchboards, telephone equipment of all kinds are being added to make service better and beter.

Who pays for these new facilities? Investors do . . . through their purchase of telephone securities. The money you pay for telephone service is used for wages, taxes, depreciation and other operating costs and to pay investors for the use of their money.

Tag Team Match Set For Tuesday

Jackson Continues Keansburg Wrestling

Mushky Jackson is bringing back the Australian tag team wrestling match which proved popular at Balbach's auditorium in Keansburg two weeks ago. Abe Stein and "Tarzan" Hewitt will tangle with "Dutch" Schweigert and Angelo Savoldi Tuesday night.

The team affair will be a one-hour limit. There also will be two other bouts.

Last week at Keansburg, Jackson greeted 400 who came to see a return match between Hewitt and Schweigert. It was a tight battle with Hewitt getting the nod in 39 minutes of the final fall. Hewitt downed Schweigert in nine minutes for the first fall, with "Dutch" coming back to score a fall in 15 minutes.

Stein met a newcomer to Keansburg, Angelo Savoldi, and the best he could gain was a draw. Rocco Columbo and Phil Gruber went to another draw. Columbo saw more action when he substituted for John Melas, who was reported to have met with an accident en route to Keansburg. In this match, Columbo put a scissors on Steve Gob to win in 11 minutes.

$22,000 Received In Cancer Drive

Drazin Urges $45,000 Goal Be Met

The Monmouth county Cancer society has collected $22,000 of its $45,000 goal, it was announced this week by Louis M. Drazin of Red Bank, campaign chairman. "The drive will continue until the goal is reached. The success of this venture means too much to every person in Monmouth county to stop short of the modest quota that has been set", said Mr. Drazin.

He pointed out that 25 per cent of the funds collected supports research by hundreds of the nation's leading scientists. The balance is used for professional and public education, the maintenance of diagnostic and treatment facilities in hospitals and service to cancer patients.

Dr. Otto R. Holters of Asbury Park, chairman of the Medical society cancer committee, voiced the opinion that "contributions to the American Cancer society are good economy". He pointed out that physicians and surgeons are dependent upon research scientists for further progress against cancer. "The American Cancer society already has shown that lives can be saved by educating the people to recognize cancer's early symptoms and seek treatment before the disease has spread", stated the physician.

FOR CHILDREN'S DAY

Not just new shoes ... but the right shoes!

Even the youngest young lady is delighted with a pair of shiny new shoes . . . and, peculiarly enough, she'd be the last one to tell you whether they were properly fitted or not. Therein lies the danger!

Though the makers of Stride-Rite are justly proud of their outstanding children's shoes, they know that expert construction and fine leathers are useless unless the fit is right. That's why they insist upon specially qualified and conscientious Stride-Rite dealers.

Check your child's shoe size frequently during the period of rapid growth. And, when you do, you can have complete confidence in Stride-Rite! Their tested lasts, their complete range of sizes and widths, together with our expert fitting methods add up to not just "new shoes", but real foot protection!

Gilland Submits High School Needs To Board

Principal Suggests Second Gymnasium—More Class Rooms

The school board here Tuesday night received a list of physical needs for the high school from Edwin C. Gilland, supervising principal. The list was prepared in compliance with a request made last week.

Alston Beekman, Jr., board president, said after the meeting that the board has three possibilities for an expanded system. There is the regional school possibility, the adoption of Mr. Gilland's list and the proposal to enlarge the school for just Red Bank pupils.

The Gilland report was based on the assumption that the high school plant would be enlarged, and the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades would be housed in one building. The report listed 11 needs. These were a 400-pupil cafeteria, a second gymnasium with medical inspection rooms, instructor rooms and added locker and shower facilities for boys and girls, an industrial arts shop including auto mechanics shop, radio shop, wood and metal working shops with storage facilities, a home economics suite to accommodate classes in cooking and homemaking, a larger mechanical drawing room, increased library facilities including a workroom, added administration facilities, a band and music room with storage space for instruments and uniforms, a properly equipped visual aid room, business education rooms and the addition of at least ten more classrooms. Mr. Gilland stated in the report that the anticipated high school enrollment for 1960 would be 850 in the high school.

At the same time it was reported by John F. Giblon, Jr., that three architects would be contacted for interviews with the board. It is the desire of the board to have an architect available immediately when it is determined what course of building action is to be followed.

It was reported by Mr. Beekman that the state department of education had inspected the elementary schools here and had found them to be in excellent condition. The board president also said that the Red Bank salary schedule plan has been published in a state education journal, and is considered first rate.

By a 4-to-2 vote, board members accepted a motion by George W. Bray that present school enrollment boundaries remain in effect for another year. The plan will only affect children entering the school. Those who may be attending the wrong schools at present will not be transferred.

Edmund J. Canzona, in voicing opposition to the motion, contended that the overcrowded condition at the Oakland street school and the under-puplied condition at River street school would not be alleviated. Under the arrangement, all incoming pupils from outside districts will be sent to the school which has the fewer amount of pupils. Mr. Canzona also opposed this portion of the plan since he felt the board would run into trouble when certain groups of children are split up.

The board authorized John Luckenbill, music teacher, to conduct an eight-week music course during the summer. His salary will be $350 for the course. Miss Claire Nary was engaged as teacher in the second grade at Oakland street, and Miss Gladys Gallagher was engaged as kindorgarten teacher at an annual salary of $2,600. The resignation of Miss Gertrude Norman, second grade Oakland street teacher, was accepted with regret.

Mr. Gilland announced that high school graduation exercises will be held Thursday evening, June 17, at the athletic field. In event of rain, the program will be held at River street school auditorium. The Senior prom will be held tomorrow night at the high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Herno, parents of a ten-year-old River street school pupil, told the board that the child's teacher had pinched her on several occasions and that their daughter is the victim of abuse from a gang of girls. J. William Heim, River street school principal, defended the action of the girls and the teacher, and placed the blame on the mother for being too maternal. It was reported that Mrs. Herno had on several occasions entered the school and taken her child home without consulting school officials.

Fire Damages Local Restaurant

Early Morning Blaze In White St. Place

The Red Bank fire department answered a general alarm at 2:46 this morning to the Talk of the Town restaurant, 12-14 White street, where a fire had started in the flooring under the kitchen stove.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Kathyrn Coggins, who resides with her sister, Mrs. Anna de la Reussille, on the second floor of the Reussille building on Broad street. The rear of the building looks out over the row of stores on White street. Mrs. Coggins called police headquarters. A radio message was sent to Deputy Chief Frank Reuther, who was cruising in the police car. Chief Reuther investigated and immediately radioed to headquarters, from where the alarm was sent out. Less than three minutes had elapsed from the time of Mrs. Coggins' call until the alarm was sent in.

The fire was started, according to Peter Mazza and Peter Dimadica, co-owners, from an overheated stove located in the rear of the restaurant. The oven had been turned off early last night. The floor under the stove was damaged, a lavatory in the restaurant was burned. The walls in the main part of the restaurant were damaged by smoke. The damage was confined to the restaurant. None of the adjoining stores were affected. Damage is estimated at $2,000. The restaurant remains open for business today.

To Install Drain In Sunnycrest

Little Silver Council Hears Complaints

Little Silver council Tuesday night took action to permit construction of a drain and catch basin on North Sunnycrest drive.

After hearing complaints from Al Parker, Robert Snowden, Harry Schnabel, Raymond Garside and August Seridlow, the council voted to spend $200 for a grate covering a cement gutter to be installed by Maimone brothers.

Councilman Joseph Davison, his road committee and Borough Engineer George K. Allen were authorized to seek bids for additional drainage work in that area.

Other business of the session included authorization for two lights on Little Silver parkway; giving permission to the Little Silver Y.M.C.A. to conduct an eight-week summer playground program; receiving information that the New York and Long Branch Railroad company had cleaned a drain pipe near the Gordon Coal company, and acceptance, with thanks, of a letter from Rumson Borough Clerk A. A. Kerr stating that only 927 tons of gravel had been used in repairing Oakes road. It had been estimated that the work would require 1,200 ton.

Charles Hesse Gets Contract In Middletown

Places Winning Road-Material Bid Of $14,991.50

Charles J. Hesse, Inc., of Belford, was the successful bidder yesterday for a road-material contract in Middletown. The Hesse company bid of $14,991.50 was the lowest of three by more than $600.

Lawrence A. Carton, Jr., chairman of the road committee, announced work would start this week on the hard surfacing of Tramp Hollow road from route 35 to the continuation of Hubbard avenue, River Plaza, and of West Front street from Leonard's corner to Haley's corner.

The committee authorized the transfer of the liquor license of Snug Harbor inn, Belford, to Mrs. Elizabeth Fisler, widow of Jacob Fisler.

The committee went on record as opposing a request of the Central Railroad of New Jersey for an increase in commutation rates. Middletown along with other bayshore municipalities opposed an increase granted last year. The committee's contention is that the railroad is basing its request on the same unfulfilled promises of better service made last year.

An ordinance was authorized making Chapel Hill road a stop street at the intersection of Mountainhill road.

Committee members and other township officials decided to contribute toward the purchase of a trophy for the fire department softball league.

Forty permits for new construction amounting to $121,638 were issued during May according to a report of David Simpson, building inspector.

Committeeman Frank F. Blaisdell requested the Monmouth Consolidated Water company to make a cost survey on a new fire hydrant 1,000 feet north of Middletown village school and on the east side of King's highway.

Firemen's exemption certificates were granted to Roy Cook, Clifford E. Bryan and Edwin Oltman of Community Fire company, Leonardo.

Committeeman Walter J. Bills announced that posts had been erected at Middletown village center to designate the sidewalk in front of the village stores.

Rev. J. L. Ware Is Found Dead In Church Garage

He Was Pastor At Shrewsbury The Past Eight Months

Rev. James Lawrence Ware, 53, pastor of Christ Episcopal church, Sycamore avenue, Shrewsbury, was found dead in the two-car garage behind the rectory Tuesday afternoon by his daughter, Miss Priscilla Anne Ware. Dr. Harvey W. Hartman, county physician, officially listed the death as "probable suicide by carbon monoxide gas".

Rev. Mr. Ware had not been seen since breakfast Tuesday and it was reported he had been dead six hours before he was found. It was also reported that the gas tank of a car in the garage was empty.

Rev. Mr. Ware, who had been pastor of the Shrewsbury church eight months, was born at Plymouth, Pa., son of Mrs. Helen E. Story Ware and the late Rev. James Porter Ware. He was ordained in 1918 at St. Steven's church, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., where he had served as curate.

The clergyman had spent his boyhood days at Honesdale, Pa. The family moved to Drifton, Pa., where he attended prep school and graduated from Mechanical institute. Rev. Mr. Ware graduated from Lehigh university and the Philadelphia theological seminary. Upon completion of his education he became field secretary for religious education of the third province, which comprised the states of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and West Virginia. In this capacity Rev. Mr. Ware traveled through the states giving lectures on religious subjects and religious education.

He was later assigned the pastorate of Trinity Memorial church, Walling, Pa. After he served as pastor of the church of the Good Shepherd in Scranton, Pa., for 13 years, he was transferred to Trinity church, Athens, Pa., from where he came to Shrewsbury.

Rev. Mr. Ware had been secretary of the board of the state hospital at Scranton, had been a life member of the Scranton Family Welfare association and had served on the Albright Memorial Library board. He had been active in Kiwanis work, having been president of the Scranton and Warren, Pa., Kiwanis clubs.

Surviving besides his daughter and mother, are his wife, Mrs. Ann Woodroffe Ware; a son, James L. Ware of Encinitas, Cal., and a sister, Mrs. Ralph Weatherly of Kingston, Pa., who resides with his mother.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at Christ church with Right Rev. Wallace D. Gardner, Episcopal Bishop of Trenton, officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery under the direction of the Worden funeral home.

Mayor English Favors Meters For Convenience, Not Revenue

Mayor Charles R. English announced at a meeting of the Red Bank borough council Monday night that the council was split down the middle on the installation of parking meters. He added that he favored meters on a modified scale, that is in the Broad street business section, and at the station.

He said he did not favor meters in public parking lots, and on side streets. He explained that in his opinion the meters should be approached from the standpoint of public convenience, and not of revenue.

The directors meeting of the Community Chamber of Commerce, scheduled for yesterday, was cancelled. A membership meeting of the chamber will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the borough hall to discuss parking meters.

At the request of Thomas M. Gopsill, chairman of the police committee, the council voted for the inclusion on November's ballot of a public question. The question will be whether or not the police department members will receive a $500 raise.

Arthur Slattery registered a complaint on the way the one-way streets were set-up. Mr. Slattery, a postoffice employee, said that in his opinion Canal street could be changed to run the opposite way. He also agreed with Mr. Gopsill that left-hand turns should be eliminated on some of the streets feeding into Broad.

Councilman Philip J. Bowers announced that the contract had been let, and work was to start soon on oiling the four miles of streets which were borough owned and maintained.

Mr. Gopsill announced that in his opinion there was only one way to control traffic at the Broad and Monmouth intersection, and that was manually.

Firemen's exemption papers were granted to Harry Hopkins and Jack Loveridge.

Sea Bright Council Voids Application By O'Connor To Enter Neimark Store

Smith Convicted On Three Charges By County Jury

Red Banker Guilty On Lottery Count And For Assault

A county jury at Freehold Tuesday convicted Walter Smith, 32, of 56 Wallace street, on charges of lottery, assault and battery and resisting arrest. After the verdict was handed down following two-hour jury deliberation, Judge John C. Giordano set June 24 as sentence day for Smith. Smith had been fined $500 in November on a lottery charge.

Edward F. Juska, Keansburg attorney representing Smith, denied the lottery charges. The attorney also denied the assault and battery charge. Smith was found guilty of resisting arrest by County Detective John M. Gawler on March 20. Mr. Juska claimed that Smith drove away when Gawler approached him because he "did not recognize him as an officer."

In his summation, Mr. Juska asked for Smith's acquittal, and stressed the need for a change in present gambling laws which permit "persons with money to bet from a $4.40 seat in the clubhouse of Monmouth Park but make it illegal for the poor working people to gamble."

Assistant County Prosecutor Charles Frankel answered Mr. Juska by stating that the principles of gambling did not enter the case. "These laws are passed to protect people against themselves and racketeers who want to live off the sweat of others."

Red Bank Detective Captain George Clayton augmented testimony by Detective Gawler that Smith was apprehended on West Bergen place, March 20. They testified that he threw lottery slips and $64 from his car when he saw them approach. As he pulled away from the curb where his car was parked, they said, Detective Gawler was clinging to the vehicle.

Detective Gawler stated that he approached Smith, told him who he was and that he had a warrant for his arrest. Smith admitted hearing Gawler summon him, but stated that "he ran at me like a wild man." Smith added, "I thought maybe he was a robber or anything." Although admitting that he had played basketball with Detective Gawler in high school, Smith said he had never seen the detective in a hat and did not recognize him.

Detective Gawler testified that as Smith began to move his car he (Gawler) yelled, "What's the matter with you, Smitty, are you crazy?" The detective also said that Smith replied, "Listen, Johnny, what would you do if you were in my place?" On the witness stand, Smith would give no comment of the conversation. Detective Gawler and Captain Clayton also testified that Detective Gawler was dragged about 100 feet by the car, but Smith said he traveled only 60 feet, and that he stopped the car immediately when he recognized Gawler.

Samuel Eggleston of 18 Leighton avenue was the only defense witness. He testified that he saw the arrest but did not see any numbers slips thrown from the car. He said the Smith car moved only a short distance. On cross examination he said that his only knowledge of the date of occurrence came from court room testimony.

Chief County Detective A. W. Sacco stated that numbers is a popular form of gambling among poor people. The odds are 1,000 to 1 against a winner, he said.

Mr. Juska's attempt to challenge the entire jury on grounds that it might be prejudiced against Smith was checked by Judge Giordano. The defense counsel contended that statements made in the court-room Monday of last week by Mr. Frankel before the jury and Judge Giordano concerning attempts to stall the case at the last moment by asking for particulars, might be injurious to his client. He also contended that his 30-day delay request to have Smith examined to determine his client's "mental condition" might have an effect on the jury.

He also charged that newspaper stories last week were "colored" in the direction of the prosecutor's office. Smith was charged with four counts in the lottery violation. He was charged with possession of lottery slips, possession of other lottery papers, selling numbers' slips and offering numbers' slips for sale.

The defense attorney contended that Smith was distributing circulars advertising a coming pool match at Perth Amboy at the time of his arrest, and did not have lottery slips in his possession. Mr. Juska said his client did not recognize Detective Gawler because the officer was dressed in army clothes.

Ernie Mayer's Tavern, Rumson. Choice dinners from $1.65.—Advertisement.

After hearing nearly four hours of lawyer-fired debate, in which charges landed on several shoulders, Sea Bright's mayor and council Tuesday night denied Steven J. O'Connor of Rumson the right to transfer the plenary consumption liquor license of the Ocean Drive Operating company, of which he is president.

Mr. O'Connor, represented by Robert H. Maida of Red Bank, had applied for transfer from John S. Osterstock's Sea Bright Yacht club, 958 Ocean avenue, to the partly-burned Neimark store building, 1145 East Ocean avenue.

Last night, Mr. Maida told the Register there were two possible courses under which the O'Connor license, due to expire June 30, might be saved. Of these, he said, the most likely would be for Mr. O'Connor to quickly secure a new location for business to which application could be made for transfer of the license at the same time the license is entered for renewal.

Mr. Maida expressed the opinion that such double-phased permission could be granted under the state laws during a period up to and including 30 days after the June 30 expiration date. It was held less likely that the Sea Bright council decision would be appealed to the New Jersey Alcoholic Beverage Control (ABC) department. Such appeal he said would have to be made within 30 days after the denial had been made, and he considered there to be "insufficient time to prepare an appeal now".

At the special hearing Tuesday, charges were entered that Mr. Osterstock "had rented" the O'Connor license during the summer months last year, and Mr. O'Connor was making application for this transfer through "subterfuge" and that a young woman was duped by promises and $1,000 to part with her share of the Ocean Drive Operating company.

Opponents, including a bloc of Ocean avenue tavern owners, and Mrs. Freddie Ferragatti, the young woman, demonstrated throughout the long session how "completely burned-up" they were over the application.

Decision in the case came by split two-to-two councilmanic vote, with Mayor Thomas Farrell voting for defeat of the transfer. Councilmen Lester E. Perrine and Daniel Pearson supported the transfer, and Councilmen Carl Nelson and Neils Jacobsen came out against it.

This was a dramatic session with lawyer battling lawyer for the choice of words to gain admission from five witnesses—Henry Renshaw, the borough clerk who was appointed this year; Arthur O. Axelsen, the Sea Bright borough assessor who also is owner of a tavern and a real estate business; Solomon J. Neimark, councilman "de facto"; Mrs. Ferragatti and Mr. O'Connor. Discussion was needled with accusations, questions, objections sustained and overruled, presentation, double-talk, accusation, pleading—but no summation.

Figuring high in the generally stormy scene was Mr. Neimark, who insisted upon his rights to sit with the council, and to speak.

Rumson Rejects Adult School

Action Taken By Board Last Night

The Rumson board of education last night, by a 5 to 3 vote rejected the application of the Monmouth Adult school for permission to use the high school there during the next term. One of the reasons of the majority of members was that not enough Rumson residents were attending the adult school to warrant use of the building. Another was the high maintenance costs which must be borne by Rumson taxpayers in keeping the building in repair as the result of use for other than normal school activities. The majority also felt that facilities of the school should be preserved for the school children.

In another action last night, the board awarded a contract to Dominic Lubrano of Long Branch to paint the interior and exterior of the high school building.

A contract for basketball equipment was awarded to Sherwood's sporting goods store, Red Bank. A metal lathe will be purchased for use in the manual training shop.

New Diner Will Open Saturday

Diana's To Handle Own Baking

Diana Diner, located on Bridge avenue, near Cooper's bridge, will have its grand opening Saturday. At that time the 15 employees will greet guests and probably offer them homemade pie for dessert.

The property on which the diner is located is owned by William T. Jones of Maple avenue.

Owner of the diner is John Reeve. He formerly resided on Bergen Place and had come to Red Bank from Freehold. He lives in a house to the rear of the diner. Mr. Reeve is an experienced chef, having worked in many large hotels throughout the East.

Besides having its own baking unit, where everything but bread is made, the management has installed a home freezing unit, a special ice cream freezing unit and lockers in which to keep meat frozen.

The kitchen equipment includes six baking ovens, two steam tables, a disposal plant which will eliminate the need for garbage pails, and electric potato peeler.

The diner is cooled by a $10,000 air conditioning system. The seating capacity is 60, and the chairs are of blue leather.

The management, which will stress cleanliness, hopes to make the diner a spot that will be patronized by the entire family. The owner arrived in Red Bank three weeks ago.

School Bus Drivers Meet At Wayside

Members of the School Bus Drivers' association met Wednesday evening of last week at the Wayside fire house. Elmer Applegate, the president, presided.

Plans were made to hold a supper this fall in celebration of the tenth anniversary of the association. Curtis Walling was named chairman of the committee.

A controversy arose over the price of new buses, which were stated by two dealers attending the meeting. The argument was that the present pay for bus contractors was too low in comparison to high prices of new equipment.

Sixty members of an original 80 were present. A membership drive is starting, to include all school bus drivers in Monmouth county. The next meeting will be a dinner in July.

License Transfer Request Denied

even though being an "interested party" kept him from voting on the issue at hand.

The position taken by Mr. Maida for Mr. O'Connor was that the Ocean Drive Operating company's oral lease with Osterstock—to conduct business in the Sea Bright Yacht club—expired this year. Now, he said, Mr. O'Connor was trying to relocate his business. To do this, Mr. Maida declared, Mr. O'Connor had secured a verbal lease with Mr. Neimark, under which he was to move into the Neimark store, repair fire damages and set up for business.

Violent contest was offered by Thomas F. Shebell of Long Branch, attorney to Mrs. Ferragatti who claimed she maintained an interest in the license, and that Mr. O'Connor had not lived up to his verbal agreements with her. She said he had promised her steady employment and a share in all profits, in return for her sale to him for $1,000 of the controlling stock in the Ocean Drive Operating company, as had been left to her by her late husband, Guido Ferragatti, former company president who died last year.

Several Ocean avenue tavern owners, represented by Milton A. Stein, Long Branch attorney, with Mr. Axelsen as chief witness, entered their opposition. This was based in part on statements that within a three-block area there now are six liquor places and addition of any more would place an undue hardship on existing business.

Mr. Stein submitted pictures, front and rear view, showing fire damage to the Neimark store, and Mr. Axelsen gave his opinion the store was not now ready for occupancy. Mr. Stein said ABC rulings held any building must be in a position for immediate occupancy before a liquor license could be transferred to it.

Mr. Maida, however, argued, with Mr. O'Connor adding testimony, that it was planned by Mr. O'Connor, a builder, to get men on the job repairing the building "within 24 hours after the license transfer was granted." He also told of other places where licenses had been transferred first and alterations made later, including the Shrimp House.

Mr Neimark at first said he did not know who owned the building, and met the challenge by Mr. Shebell that he was "speaking under oath," Mr. Renshaw had referred to Mr. Neimark as "the owner of record." Mr. Neimark changed this later to say it was either himself or Mrs. Neimark "in whose name the insurance is listed" who is the owner.

Calling herself "a poor, little, dumb, trusting thing," Mrs. Ferragatti said, in response to questions, she had sold out her interest in the operating company—whose main stock in trade was the liquor license—to Mr. O'Connor for $1,000 and his promises. The promises, she said, had been made in private—but she couldn't remember when or where. She added the statement later about Mr. O'Connor having "rented" the license to Mr. Osterstock.

She also said had it not been for the promises she wouldn't have "sold the license so cheaply—it was worth at least $15,000."

A. Henry Giordano, Sea Bright borough attorney, declared it permissible to have Mrs. Ferragatti's assertion that Mr. Osterstock had "rented" the license to stand on record. "The commission is interested if other than legal use is made of a license," he said.

Mr. O'Connor later admitted under questioning he had not been an officer of the operating company from "June until October 1," although he bought Mrs. Ferragatti's shares in March. He said he sold the stock and later repurchased it. Neither sale nor repurchase price nor the name of the purchaser was revealed.

Appeals for an immediate hearing on the matter of the O'Connor license were denied last Friday night by Mayor Farrell, who insisted on the special Tuesday session.

At the Friday meeting of mayor and council, the Red Bank lawyer insisted an adequate number of interested persons on both sides were present for the hearing, but Mayor Farrell said discussions involved would be likely to create "a long drawn out affair and we have a lot of other business to do here."

Council recently approved the transfer of license from William J. Noonan to E. Gerald Zuman and premise-to-premise transfer from the Ocean Spray at 97 Ocean avenue to the Sea Bright Yacht club. Thus, Mr. Osterstock this year will have Zuman instead of O'Connor as his club's liquor concessionaire.

Early last year when O'Connor wanted to establish a club on the South beach, neighborhood objections caused the borough council to deny O'Connor permission to do so.

However, Mr. O'Connor last year was able to effect a lease with Osterstock, because the Sea Bright Yacht club had no liquor license. This agreement expired, leaving Mr. O'Connor an operator with a license but no bar, since Mr. Osterstock made new liquor sales arrangements with Mr. Zuman. Although he reportedly has told friends it was not just what he had wanted and still hopes to find another location, Mr. O'Connor made temporary arrangements to locate his license in the 1145 Ocean avenue building.

At the Friday night session, Mr. Stein and Mr. Shebell also were present.

Grounded Pilot Lands In Jail

Plane Forced Down At Bell Laboratory

Pilots, attention. If you ever have to make a forced landing on Bell experimental grounds at Holmdel, be sure you have proper papers and a pilot's license. If not, you may find yourself in the county jail.

At 8 p. m. Tuesday evening, a piper cub coupe, owned by the Flying Five club of Bettis airport, Pittsburgh, landed on the Lab premises. Employees of the lab notified the Keyport state police.

The pilot, 22-year-old Clifford Zook, told police he had been forced down because the plane ran out of gas. He said he lives at Munhall, Pa. Zook was unable to show police a pilot's license or any other credentials. He was dressed in an army staff sergeant's uniform. He said he was out of the army but was planning to join up again. Zook had no money, he said, to purchase gas to carry him on to New York. He was lodged in Laurence Harbor jail Tuesday night and taken to the county jail yesterday.

Meanwhile, police are checking with Pennsylvania officials to determine the authenticity of Zook's story. They received a reply from the airport at Bettis. Officials there said he apparently had permission to take the plane.

State police said this morning that Zook would be arraigned today before Justice of the Peace Fred Quinn at Freehold on a charge of vagrancy. Police say he has no visible means of support. They also report that Zook's brother is en route here from Munhall.

Potato Insect Control

A new bulletin, published by Rutgers and distributed by the Monmouth County Extension service, has been mailed to potato growers in this county. It describes the recommended spray and dust treatment for control of potato pests. Recent conversations with experts on these problems reveal that some of the new insecticides are not the complete answer to the grower's prayers for pest control, according to County Agent Clark.

The bulletin explains that while DDT is an almost perfect insecticide for most of the potato insects, it can have harmful results if used in excess. The Monmouth county agents recommend, therefore, that DDT be used only when it is necessary for the control of insects in the potato fields. They further recommend that it be used strictly according to directions and that growers leave it out of their spray and dust mixtures when the bug population is so few that an insect spray is unnecessary. Mr. Clark stresses the importance of early controls, because getting rid of all the first brood of bugs is one sure way of having very few of them during the remainder of the season.

Heavy Rains Show Need For Soil Protection

Heavy rainfall locally during May included showers that were exceptionally hard for so early in the season. The fact that the hard showers arrived early, before crops were very far along, is one reason for the widespread erosion on sloping fields. Fields on which good conservation measures were practiced lost very little soil.

The benefits of deep cultivation in preventing runoff have been strikingly demonstrated during these hard storms. Potato growers who used a special deep tillage implement in the early cultivation of potatoes experienced very little runoff. The lumpy condition of the soil where the chisel operated kept the surface of the soil open to permit easy entrance of the rainfall. Such deep tillage not only reduces runoff from sloping land but helps keep low or pond areas from flooding over. Deep tillage is not a cure-all, but it is one good method of conserving soil and moisture under many conditions.

Gerow Brill, in charge of the Marlboro experiment station, observed that plots deeply cultivated before the storms lost only about one-quarter as much water and soil as the shallow, cultivated plots.

Striped Beetles on "Cukes" and Melons

All of the vine crops, including cucumbers, squash and melons, are attacked by the striped cucumber beetle, which makes holes in the leaves, chews on the stems and eats the blossoms of the plants. Maggot, which hatch from the eggs laid by the beetle, often work on the roots and cause considerable damage. This insect also spreads the dreaded bacterial wilt disease of melons, carrying it from a diseased plant to a healthy plant, warns County Agent Clark.

As the young seedlings begin to come out of the ground and at the first appearance of the insect, two kinds of dust are recommended—a three-quarter per cent rotenone dust and a three per cent Methoxy DDT dust. If a spray is to be used in the place of a dust, then three pounds of derris, or cube powder containing five per cent rotenone, together with one-half to one pound of a wetting agent added to 100 gallons of water, or two pounds of a 50% wettable Methoxy DDT powder mixed to 100 gallons of water will kill the insects. After blossoming begins, the poison may be added to a copper fungicide, applied as a dust or a spray. The material should be applied every week.

Potato Bugs on Rampage

As the weather becomes warm and tomatoes, eggplants and peppers start to grow nicely, Colorado potato beetles may do considerable damage to these plants, unless they are protected with an arsenical. Keep this insect under control by dusting with 20 pounds of calcium arsenate, or lead arsenate, mixed with 80 pounds of a high calcium hydrated fresh lime, or as a spray use four pounds of either calcium arsenate, or lead arsenate, to eight pounds of a high calcium hydrated fresh lime added to 100 gallons of water, advises C. H. Nissley, Rutgers vegetable expert.

Applications should begin when the beetles are first noted and repeated at ten-day intervals. The poison may also be added to bordeaux mixture later in the season when copper is being applied for the control of blights and leaf spot diseases.

Much Cultivation Cuts Corn Yields

One good way to find out if a corn field is being cultivated improperly is to stop at the end of the row, raise the cultivator and take a look at it. If there are lots of corn roots collected behind the cultivator teeth, that is a sign that the corn is being hurt by kindness.

County Agent Clark explains that these roots snagged by the cultivator are the small feeders, which the corn plants have sent out to gather moisture and plant food from the soil. Corn, like other grasses, has a shallow root system, and as it grows it sends out roots for considerable distances. If these roots are pruned by cultivation, naturally the plant won't make its best growth, and the ears will be smaller than they should be.

The first, and maybe the second cultivation, can be rather deep and close to the corn plant, says Mr. Garrison, but later cultivations should be shallow and farther away in the row.

He adds that the main reasons for cultivating in Monmouth county are to control weeds and to break up the soil crust. Deep cultivation is not needed for either of these purposes.

Transplanting Trees

This recent question to the Monmouth county extension office may interest many readers.

Our neighbors gave us a young maple tree, 15 feet high. The men folks in our family dug it up and moved it. Some say we should trim out some of the top branches, but they look so nice. What shall we do?

No matter how carefully the tree was dug, some of the roots are gone, and you'll have to balance the top to make up for this loss, answers County Agent Clark. You can thin out the top so the tree will be left rather shapely. Be sure to get rid of at least a third and, preferably, one-half of the branches. You'll really be further ahead in the end, as the tree will establish itself quicker.

Monmouth Park Notes

Monmouth Park's jockey colony is gathering at the Oceanport oval. Among early birds to register their saddles are Jimmy Lynch, Tommy Malley and Jack Turner. Turner was leading apprentice of the recent Garden State Park season with 18 scores. At top strength this year Monmouth's colorful "sparrow brigade" is expected to approximate 80.

Jerry DiMaggio, a cousin of the famous Joe DiMaggio, will act as jockey agent for Jockey J. Covalli during the meeting. Covalli will come from New England to join the local riding family.

Latest arrivals at Monmouth Park include Townsend B. Martin with seven head, E. B. Stewart, eight; Gene Knapp, a single horse and Dave Schoch with eight. It brought the combined back stretch count to 320.

Apprentice Salvator Chiapetta, young rider under contract to J. B. Theall, is a newcomer at Monmouth Park where he is prepping for a riding career. The youngster has accepted only six mounts, but is well regarded by his contract employer who expects him to enter the winners' ranks at the coming meeting.

An eight-team baseball league is planned during the forthcoming Park meeting, opening June 21. The league, inaugurated last year, will number players from among the trainers, jockeys, jockey-agents, press, admission department, police, maintenance crew and exercise boys. President Amory L. Haskell of the Monmouth Park Jockey Club will again post a $200 prize for the winning team. The league attracted wide attention last year and drew bumper crowds of spectators from nearby towns.

Know Your Government

Taxpayers vs. Machine Politics

The undercover game to keep the activities of the municipal machine of Atlantic City a secret is over.

Senator Farley of Atlantic county used all his resources and almost every trick of machine politics to stop a summary investigation of the city government in the world's playground. But 34 taxpayers, who have charged that "the moneys of Atlantic City have been and are being unlawfully expended," in a petition to State Supreme Court Justice Eastwood, know the ways of machine politics, too. They placed 17 specific charges of unlawful and corrupt expenditures of the city's money in detail before Justice Eastwood, naming names, places and how much.

The justice found that the taxpayers were pitching right down the middle—and he ordered an investigation. The taxpayers were efficient in exercising their right under a specific state statute which permits 25 or more taxpayers to request an investigation when they doubt the honesty in expenditures of their municipal or county governments.

It was this law that Mr. Farley wanted wiped off the books. A repealer popped up in the senate two days before the irate taxpayers filed their petition, and although it was not a Farley bill, he and the machine were behind it in force. But the Atlantic City taxpayers received support from thousands of taxpayers throughout the state, and the bill was withdrawn five days after it was introduced. The pitch was too swift for Mr. Farley and the Atlantic City politicians, and that's when they went down swinging.

The New Jersey Taxpayers association says: "Energetic efforts by the Atlantic City machine to avoid investigation is in itself conclusive that an inquiry into the municipal affairs of the city is needed."

It's the taxpayers' inning now!

Charitable New Jersey

Thanks to the good taxpayers of New Jersey, the folks down in the Tennessee Valley are getting part of their electrical bills paid. Fact is, New Jersey taxpayers, and taxpayers of states not serviced by the Tennessee Valley Authority, are paying millions of dollars every year in Federal government taxes which allow citizens of the TVA area to pay electric rates below cost. And rates in the area are from three to five times lower than in the rest of the nation.

But Jersey taxpayers will continue to dip into their pocketbooks to subsidize low-rate electrical power for exclusive benefit of the TVA area while promoting competition for Jersey business and industry, if TVA is permitted by Congress to further function as a special-privileged stepchild of the Federal Government.

The Jersey and non-TVA taxpayers' burden is heavy: TVA is escaping interest payments of $10 million a year. TVA enjoys tax exemption variously estimated at amounts from $10 million to $25 million a year. The wide variance in the estimate results from non-availability of accurate, basic figures on TVA valuations and operations.

Noting that the burden on Jersey taxpayers will continue to grow heavier if TVA expansion in electric power is not halted and TVA is not soon put on a taxpaying and business-like basis in its operations, the New Jersey Taxpayers Association says: "Although TVA was created as a navigation and flood control agency, and generation of electricity was authorized as an incidental function where water power was available, TVA is now asking for a $4 million appropriation to start construction on an $85 million steam plant to generate more electricity."

It's time the people of the Tennessee Valley paid their own electrical bills. Relieved of contributing to the payment of bills for the benefit of other states, the New Jersey taxpayer's dollar will stretch further.

Junior Legion Team Wins First

Stern Pitches Locals To 7-1 Victory

Red Bank's Junior Legion team made an auspicious start by trouncing Asbury Park, 7 to 1, with Allen Stern, Rumson high mound mainstay, uncorking a brilliant one-hit victory. Score was 7 to 1.

Bus Coach Tom Phipps, who with Johnnie Calandriello is handling the team, started his season off in flashy style. His charges started off with two runs in the first and added four more in the third. One more came in the fifth.

Stern could have had a shut-out but for sloppy playing in the sixth. Madure and Bruno helped things along by poling out doubles.

SATURDAY CAKE SALE

The auxiliary of Independent fire company will hold a cake sale Saturday morning in the lobby of the Strand theater between 9 and 11 o'clock. Mrs. Frank Madure is chairman, aided by Mrs. Calvin Carhart, Mrs. Charles Julian and Mrs. John Genovese.

The first vehicles in New Jersey were carts and heavy wagons for use on the farm. Generally of home make, they were crude and awkward, and were constructed entirely of wood, the wheels being whole sections of a tree trunk.

The story of "Hans Brinker, or the Silver Skates," which has delighted children in foreign lands as well as in the United States, was written by Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge for her two small boys in a tiny farmhouse on the outskirts of Newark.

Though in his varied career he wandered through Europe and America, Stephen Crane, author of "The Red Badge of Courage," called Newark his home.

With sincere appreciation and heartfelt gratitude we wish to thank our many friends and neighbors who comforted us during our bereavement in the death of our dear wife and mother. Kiwanis Air Show Is Big Success

Koepnick Demonstrates Crop Dusting

How low can you get and still be flying? This seemed to be the question at the Kiwanis air show Sunday afternoon at the Colt's Neck airport as Fred Koepnick demonstrated crop dusting methods flying only a few feet above the ground and a Navy blimp from Lakehurst made two unassisted "Wheel-landings".

The show, sponsored by the Lincroft-Holmdel Kiwanis club for its welfare fund, started at 2 p. m., and was attended by many people throughout the afternoon.

More than thirty plans of various types were exhibited at the show. Most of the planes were private passenger types being demonstrated by their dealers. A mobile Army radar truck was open to the public, and exhibitions of tracking methods were given throughout the afternoon. The Army and Civil Air patrol had exhibits on the grounds of aircraft engines and parts. During the afternoon two U. S. army P-47s and a flight of army AT 6 planes "buzzed" the field.

James Howard, club secretary, was in charge. He was assisted by Fred and Kit Koepnick, members of the club and aviation enthusiasts, and other members of the club serving on various committees.

Mr. Howard is maintenance manager of C-wings, Inc., based on the field. The company's facilities and the use of the airport, privately owned by George J. DeGarmo, enabled the club, now only four months old, to sponsor the show which will enable them to carry out several community projects under consideration.

First aid squads from Keyport and Freehold and the Colt's Neck fire department stood by in case of an emergency.

A number of free rides were given as prizes and many others went on passenger hops throughout the afternoon.

The first constitution of New Jersey in 1776 had only 2,500 words and were contained in six pages.

Reject Bids At Bayshore

Atlantic Highlands Plans Disapproved

The Atlantic Highlands mayor and council Tuesday night was forced to reject two bids for the resurfacing of Grand avenue because the state road department did not approve the specifications. The bids were received from the Mutual Contracting company of Atlantic Highlands and the Fred McDowell company of Neptune.

The specifications called for the resurfacing of Grand avenue from Memorial Parkway to East Washington. The work which will be financed by state funds, was divided into two sections as the state allotment was not large enough to handle the entire resurfacing project at one time. The borough is required to pay ten per cent of the cost, however. The bids received were for the first section of the work.

Council authorized advertisement of bids for street repair work for avenues damaged by storms. The borough passed a resolution in May appropriating $8,000 for this work. A $250 water pump repair job at the water plant was authorized.

Taxi licenses were granted to the Chapman Taxi company, Frank M. Chapman and John B. Logan.

Banker Addresses Kiwanis Club

Ernest Hall of the Al... National bank spoke to the Lincroft-Holmdel Kiwanis club Thursday night of last week. He pointed out the great differences between the banking methods and the condition of banks in 1930 and at present.

In 1930, Mr. Hall pointed out, much of the average bank's funds were invested in capital loans. Very little actual cash was kept on hand.

The banks of today, he said, are much safer. The hard-earned lessons of the depression have resulted in better banking methods. Deposit insurance has been a great asset, but the banks handling large deposits bear the burden as they pay a percentage on their total deposits, while the insurance only covers $5,000 of any one deposit.

A directors' meeting was held after the dinner meeting. Richard Hammond is chairman of a Kiwanis committee seeking to organize a Boy Scout troop in the Lincroft-Holmdel area.

Clamming Group Link-Up Is Seen

A working agreement between the new state-wide organization of clammers set up recently in Ocean county and the Bayshore Shell Fisheries association is in the making, it was announced this week by Irving B. Zeichner, attorney for the association.

Mr. Zeichner said that preliminary talks to this end have been made by representatives of both groups. He said that shell fish industries of both groups had common interests but different problems. The Ocean county clammers have made strong protests against leasing of natural grounds for clamming in Barnegat bay, while the Bayshore association has been engaged in a fight to open up additional waters in Sandy Hook and Raritan bays for clamming.

Oil Burner Trouble?
Did Your Burner Require Constant Attention Last Winter? If So . . .
Replace It NOW . . . and Get MORE HEAT from Less Fuel

We said to our engineers: "Give us proof that this new kind of oil burner will excel ordinary burners by a large margin." So they purchased five other oil burners—the most widely sold and most highly advertised burners—and made tests. All burners were carefully installed, according to their makers' instructions in identical brand new boilers.

These tests were conducted on a scientific basis, each burner forced to do its best—a fair test in all respects. Here are the figures:*

You Can Save Over	Savings in Gals. of Oil per year	Savings in Dollars per year*	Savings in Dollars over 5 yr. period
Burner No. 2: 15.8%	316	$37.92	$189.60
No. 3: 14.6%	292	35.04	175.20
No. 4: 13.0%	260	31.20	156.00
No. 5: 9.8%	196	23.52	117.60
No. 6: 29.7%	414	49.68	248.40

*Based on 2,000 gallons of oil per year at 12c per gallon.
