Auditor Praises Borough Officials At Fair Haven

Tax Collections In 1948 Averaged 89.54 Per Cent

Fair Haven Borough's financial condition, in excellent condition at the end of 1947, had shown further improvement in 1948, Joseph Seaman, the borough auditor, reported at Monday night's meeting of the governing body. In complimenting the borough officials in general and Collector George Curchin in particular, Mr. Seaman announced that the percentage of tax collections in 1948 was 89.54, the highest in the history of the borough. Collections in 1947 were 89.09, the highest up to that time.

The auditor's report stated that "current account cash balance together with investments in U. S. bonds on Dec. 31, 1948, was $116,572.54, of which $109,794.40 was liquid surplus revenue."

The report also stated that operations of the municipality in 1948 produced a surplus of $43,943.55. Delinquent taxes in 1948 amounted to only $4,653.15. The council last year increased its total U. S. bond holdings to $40,000 with the purchase of $10,000 additional bonds.

Mayor Edgar V. Denise praised the collector for the manner in which he kept his books and added that such a record was brought about by the whole-hearted support of the taxpayers.

Map of a new development on Forman st., between Smith st. and Cedar ave., was approved. Eight houses, one of which is under construction, will be erected on the tract for Parkway Associates, owners of the property, by Edward Emmons, Perth Amboy contractor.

A plan for a new lighting system on River rd., presented by the Jersey Central Power & Light company, was referred to the utility committee for study and report at the next meeting. At an increased cost of $275 over the present contract, the company will replace the present lights with a new-type street light of greater wattage, suspended over the center of the road, and will add six more lights.

Council renewed the liquor licenses of the Atlantic hotel, Fred Maffeo, Willowbrook restaurant and Shrewsbury River Yacht club.

The borough will put the float overboard at the public dock at the foot of Fair Haven rd. this week. Headed by Charles S. Waddell, a delegation of Fair Haven rd. residents inquired about the absence of the float. Mayor Denise explained that the officials had been waiting for an expression from the public before putting the float into the water. He said that last year the officials had received complaints of rowdyism at the dock, and were reluctant about putting the float back again unless there was proper police supervision. Mr. Waddell offered his services and he was appointed a special officer by Mayor Denise.

William H. Anderson made a complaint about the erection of a three-car garage on Second st., adjoining his property. He had previously registered his complaint in writing and was informed by the mayor that the matter had been discussed prior to the council meeting by the governing body, the building inspector and zoning board. As the result of this meeting it was agreed that the inspector, H. Lynnwood Minton, had acted properly in the matter. The mayor told Mr. Anderson that if the garage is used for other than pleasure cars, the applicant was violating the law. Mr. Anderson thanked the officials and said he hoped they would watch the place for any zoning violation.

Councilman Jesse J. McIlray called attention to the oldtime exhibit to be staged by the library during the week of the firemen's fair. He asked the co-operation of residents in making the event a success by donating the use of photographs and other memos of bygone days.

Two residents thanked Mayor Denise for the warning he inserted in last week's issue of The Register relative to dogs running at large. They said they believed it has done some good.

Books, Magazines Needed for Hospital

There is a need for books, magazines, used playing cards, small games and jig-saw puzzles for the recreation centers and library at the state hospital at Marlboro. The Woman's auxiliary of the hospital has undertaken a project to collect these items, and contributions may be left at the Red Bank Woman's club on Broad st.

Mrs. Leslie D. Seely, auxiliary president, is in charge.

Dr. Zev Cohen, Israeli Author, To Speak Here

In Behalf of United Jewish Appeal Drive In This Community

Dr. Zev Cohen, Israeli author and political expert, will speak Monday night in behalf of the Red Bank United Jewish Appeal drive at the home of Max Leon, 411 River rd.

A native born Israeli or Sabra as they are called, Dr. Cohen is a graduate of the Hebrew Gymnasium of Herzliah in Tel Aviv and the School of Law and Economics in Tel Aviv. He received his Doctor of Laws degree at the University de Droit, Lyons, France. To further his education in preparation for entry into the diplomatic corps of Israel, he proceeded to the United States, where he received his L.L.M. degree from Yale university and is in this country concentrating his studies at Columbia university.

In Israel despite his extreme active educational and political studies, Dr. Cohen was active in Haganah. He was also one of the leaders of the Maccabi sport organization of Tel Aviv in which he participated actively. He was also secretary of the National Council for the Hebrew language.

As a speaker for the cause of world Jewry, Dr. Cohen has traveled throughout the country and earned himself the reputation of an able diplomat and outstanding orator.

The United Jewish Appeal will require a minimum of $250,000,000 in 1949 to carry out a many-sided program of emptying the Jewish D. P. camps in Europe bringing at least 250,000 homeless Jews into Israel and receiving large numbers of refugees in the United States.

United Jewish Appeal also must provide funds for relief and reconstruction in the Jewish communities of Eastern and Western Europe, for aid to large sections of the 1,000,000 Jews in North Africa, and for housing projects, agricultural settlements and irrigation schemes in Israel to make possible the absorption and integration of hundreds of thousands of immigrants.

Asbury Park Show To Aid Bond Drive

Performance to Be Given at Paramount

Monmouth county will take the spotlight in New Jersey Savings Bonds program with a bond premiere show next Wednesday at the Walter Reade Paramount theater at Asbury Park. It will be a show comparable with the big war bond promotions, with admission to the film and stage show restricted to savings bonds buyers.

The theater will be turned over to the Treasury that night and the 2,250 seats, priced at a bond apiece, will go far toward realizing the Monmouth county bond quota of $1,370,000.

Chester P. Rogers, Red Bank, local savings bonds chairman, made announcement of the plans today. Albert Floersheim, Jr., advertising manager for the Reade theaters; Mr. Reade and Louis H. Burfeind, Monmouth county chairman, have worked out arrangements. "A stage show will accompany a first-run motion picture," Mr. Rogers said. Bonds purchased in any Monmouth county bank are eligible for admission tickets. There will be no charges at the theater. A savings bonds office will handle bond sales that night for admission purposes in the theater lobby.

There will be additional features, including the awarding of a television set, donated by the Steinbach stores. The Fort Monmouth band will also participate.

New Playground Opening June 27

Eatontown Volunteers Speeding Up Work

Work by volunteers is being speeded up on a portion of the 14-acre tract of land acquired by Eatontown borough for a playground-park for the opening set for Monday, June 27. In case the four-acre part located in the rear of the South st. property of Albert Wolcott, borough collector, is not ready by that time the school grounds will be used temporarily.

The new playgrounds will be dedicated on the opening day and highlighting the event will be a softball game planned between the members of the borough council and the board of education.

Rev. Dunham V. Reinig, who was a leading figure in successful efforts in securing the land, will direct the new playgrounds as he has done in previous summers on the school site. Assisting him as supervisors will be Miss Nancy Tupper and Miss Lois Holmgren, Eatontown, and Miss Hope Wolfkamp, Red Bank.

Presentation of Eagle Scout award was made to Leighton, a member of Boy Scout troop 50, Shrewsbury, by Major General Francis H. Lanahan, Fort Monmouth commandant. Shown also is Harold Willgerodt of Lincroft, uncle of the Eagle Scout.

N.A.A.C.P. Starts Local Campaign

Branches Want Funds, More Members

The local branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will solicit membership and contributions during June from individuals and merchants throughout Monmouth county. Rev. C. P. Williams of Long Branch is president of the Long Branch unit, and Rev. Calvin S. Marshall of Belmar is president of the Atlantic Highlands-Keyport branch.

The association is an organization of half a million Americans of every race, creed and color, working for the attainment of a society of equality, security and freedom for all. Born on Lincoln's birthday, 1909, when a handful of whites and Negro citizens became alarmed at the injustice and inequality to which Negro citizens were still subjected after the Emancipation Proclamation, the NAACP this year celebrates its 40th anniversary as a national mass organization—with 1,600 branches in 45 states, the District of Columbia and the territory of Hawaii.

For forty years the NAACP has fought, within the American constitutional system, through the courts, through legislation and education, to establish for all Americans the right to security of person, the right to citizenship and its privileges, the right to equality of opportunity, and the abolition of racial discrimination and segregation.

The NAACP obtains all its funds from contributions and from membership dues. Eighty per cent of the funds come from individual membership. This year the association is hoping to raise a million-dollar 40th anniversary fund to help in the continuation of its work for the complete elimination of segregation and discrimination in America.

Eleven Graduates At Shrewsbury

Exercises to Be Held Tomorrow Night

Graduation exercises of the Shrewsbury public school will be held tomorrow night in the school auditorium, where 11 eighth grade pupils will receive their diplomas from Clarence E. Berger, president of the board of education.

Jeanne Walker, president of the graduating class, will deliver the address of welcome and Rev. Theodore E. A. LeVan, rector of Christ Episcopal church, Shrewsbury, will give the invocation. A dramatization, "Salute to the Flag," will be presented by a cast of school pupils and piano selections will be rendered by Mrs. Lora Miller.

Presentation of the Robert Campbell memorial award will be made by Rev. Mr. LeVan. The benediction will be pronounced by the Episcopal rector.

The graduates are Jeanne Walker, class president; Edwin Cowen, vice president; Nancy Nevius, secretary; Carol Berg, treasurer; Ivan Kuhns, Virginia Mason, Jonathan Niles, Roger LeValley, Audrey Barkalow, Virginia deVegh, Margaret Feist, Robert Jenkins and Kirk Phillips.

Flower Show Judges Named

Garden Club R.F.D. Event Saturday

A record number of entries has been received from the annual flower show of Garden club R.F.D. The event will be staged in the William Cross barn, Holmdel.

The schedule will feature many classes for arrangements, for members and non-members and inter-club competition. There will also be classes for men and children. An innovation this year will be a tea garden to be opened in the courtyard in the rear of the barn. A special musical program has been arranged.

The judges will be Mrs. Vincent Mulligan and Miss Matilda Flynn, both of Elizabeth, and accredited flower show judges, and Mrs. J. W. Artler of Westfield, a practiced judge. These women will judge the arrangement classes.

Register Helps Police Identify Man's Body

The Register aided police in identifying the body of a man found dead Wednesday morning of last week on Bridge ave., Red Bank. The body was identified as that of Edward Travers, 4505 North 19th st., Philadelphia.

Mrs. Mary Steen, R.F.D. 1, Freehold, who made the identification, told police that she had read the man's description in last week's issue of The Register and remembered that it fit Travers who had worked for her brother, Raymond Mack, on his Freehold farm three years ago. Identification was made at the Worden funeral home.

Mr. Travers is survived by a sister, Mrs. Mary Tomaine, and a brother, Joseph Travers, both of Philadelphia, and a nephew, Samuel Connor, 266 River rd., Rod Bank.

The funeral was held yesterday morning at St. Anthony's Catholic church, with Msgr. Salvatore DiLorenzo officiating at a requiem mass. Burial by the Worden funeral home was in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Mr. Travers was born at Long Branch. He had never married.

Tall Cedars' Donkey Baseball Wednesday Night

Henschel Is Manager; Tickets Now on Sale; Game Time Is 8:30

Wednesday is donkey day in Red Bank. At 8:30 p. m. on that day, members of Bay View Forest, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, will attempt to play softball on Red Bank high school's athletic field.

Tickets for the game are on sale with many Red Bank merchants. They also can be obtained from Forest members, team members or Elmer Hesse, chairman of the ticket committee.

The game is played with all players, excepting pitchers and catchers, mounted on specially trained donkeys of the Lazy K ranch. Players must run bases, field balls and make all other plays while riding the burros. The animals are specially trained for donkey baseball.

Those in attendance at Wednesday's spectacle are urged to take particular notice of Dynamite, leader of the donkeys. Dynamite has been called more names than the Japs at a Chinese picnic, but he is the leader of the herd and unless he is on the field kicking up his usual rumpus, the other donkeys don't seem to take the same interest in the game. Dynamite kicks and bucks, and, like a true showman, looks to the crowd and laughs heartily whenever he dislodges a rider.

Like all trained animals, the burros respond to cues. The only way they know if their stunt has met with approval is by audience reaction. Applause, merriment, or any type of "mob hysteria" has added more tricks to the burro repertoire than anything they learn in training.

Earle B. Henschel, manager of the teams, claims to have assembled the greatest group of ball-playing, burro-riding players in this section. His captains will be James T. Brodgen for the Red Forest team and Hollis J. Lowe for the Blue Forest team.

Players will be Philip E. Bailey, William D. Bradley, F. W. Baigent, Ralph S. Bennett, Frank F. Blaisdell, Edwin R. Creswick, Calvin T. Carhart, William M. Cousins, George E. Delatush, Henry F. Dreke Jr., John DeFalco, John C. Fowler, Joseph Girardin, Arthur John Groves, Mr. Hesse, John W. Lockwood, Eugene Magee, Bert Morgovsky, Jerry McConvey, Albert T. MacDonald, Ray McLaughlin, Arthur B. Pauels, Harold B. Perry, Albert F. Sauer, James A. Stout, Thomas G. Sinnott, Ralph M. Smith, John T. Seilick, Russel L. Tetley, William T. Vaughan, Ernest A. Vaughan and Dewey Williams.

Five in Teaching Profession Here Begin Their Retirement Today

Five members of the teaching profession, all of whom have given many years' service in Red Bank's public schools, will retire today. They are, Edwin C. Gilland, superintendent of schools; Mrs. Bessie Turkington Rue, supervisor of elementary schools; Miss Leola M. Robinson, Red Bank senior high school commercial teacher; George Lovett, Branch ave. junior high high school teacher, and Miss Marguerite Enright, elementary teacher at Mechanic Street school. Also retiring is John Bainton, custodian of Branch ave. junior high school.

As they retire and leave their posts, these men and women are leaving behind a large amount of happy memories shared by the present-day and former pupils, who will always remember their acts of thoughtfulness, their ever ready help with school work, their encouragement given to tough problems and their years of service to this community. In many cases, these men and women have also taught the children of their former pupils, and have had the pleasure, as one teacher put it "in seeing my boys and girls go out into the world to make their mark and serve their schools and community as grown men and women."

Edwin C. Gilland came to Red Bank high school as principal in 1913, and taught mathematics in the old Branch ave. building, until the present senior high school was built in 1917. He was made superintendent of schools in 1920.

Mr. Gilland has seen the enrollment grow in Red Bank, and this June, his last year, he will see 117 pupils receive high school diplomas. There were 29 pupils in his first graduating class in 1914. Too, Mr. Gilland, has seen two generations of young men go off to war in two of the world's most terrible wars. The majority of the boys who left for France during World War 1 were volunteers, this time

Beach Officials Hit False Report

State Health Board Admits Error Made in Calling Sea Bright Unsafe

Wilson Censures Pollution Report

Victory Park Beach Is Declared Safe

Mayor J. Edward Wilson at last Thursday night's meeting of the Rumson mayor and council criticized the report of the state department of health relative to river pollution. He said the department made public its test at the foot of Grant ave., in the South Shrewsbury, where there is no beach, but left out of its report the results of the test taken off Victory park in the North Shrewsbury. Calling Trenton to find out about this, the mayor was informed that the water at Victory park is safe for bathing.

The state department was criticized by the mayor for not telling the whole story. He said the department should be more careful in the future and not get the people upset without just cause.

The test in the South Shrewsbury was made where the sewage outlet is located. The borough recently awarded a contract to build a plant in West park for the treatment of this sewage.

Councilman Charles B. Harding, police committee chairman, reported 14 persons have enrolled in the first aid course which started June 7. At the completion of the course those who qualify will become members of the borough's first aid squad.

A letter was received from Harland E. Cecil of Rumson rd., objecting to renewal of the liquor license for the Rumson hotel on Waterman ave. A hearing will be held at the June 16 meeting of the council, at which time action will be taken on other liquor license applications.

The borough clerk's office reported receipts totaling $441.09 for the past month.

A report that last week falsely termed the ocean water at Sea Bright and Manasquan as "unsatisfactory" for bathing, was discussed in angry tones Friday night by a group of Sea Bright municipal officials, board of health members and beach operators.

This report was not printed by The Red Bank Register because its text appeared inconclusive and obscure. However, it was the source of news stories circulated in and out of this state.

That a mistake had been made was admitted by the State Department of Health Friday. Corrections were published, but beach operators claimed the original error had cost them business and demanded future protection against false claims.

On last analysis, water off all Jersey coast ocean beaches from Sea Bright south to Beach Haven was termed by the state to be "satisfactory" for bathing, from the standpoint of purity.

Remaining "unsatisfactory" was the Raritan bay water off Morgan's beach, Madison township; Pine st., Union Beach, and State st., Perth Amboy. Mayor J. Edward Wilson of Rumson said no bathing is done off Grant ave., Rumson, on the South Shrewsbury river, where water also had been classified unfit for swimming.

As far as Sea Bright was concerned, corrective explanations revealed it was the mechanical operation of the local sewage disposal plant, not ocean purity, that fell short of state approval upon examination May 17. That operation, reportedly, was corrected a day later.

John Watkins, chief engineer of the sewer plant, illustrated Friday afternoon just how much he thought of the effectiveness of the plant chlorinators. He scooped up a large glass of effluent (treated sewage) and, while Mayor Farrell and Councilman George Krauss looked on, drank it down in big gulps.

Later, Michael Devereux, secre-

Mrs. Lena Clark Talks to Kiwanis

Lincroft Principal Is Special Guest

"A rural school plays an important part in molding a child's character and in teaching him to become a better citizen in the community in which he lives," Mrs. Lena Anderson Clark told members of the Lincroft-Holmdel Kiwanis club last Thursday evening. Mrs. Clark, who has been principal and teacher at Lincroft school for many years, spoke at a meeting of the club at Lincroft Inn.

Mrs. Clark spoke of her experiences as a teacher in a small community in which over a period of years she could watch her children grow into womanhood and manhood. She mentioned coming into the community as a stranger and how the people accepted her and placed in her the confidence of teaching their children.

In naming some of her pupils from the first class she included Paul Reid, Wilfred, Joseph and Matthew Mullin and T. E. Fenton, who is today Dr. Fenton, associated with Fitkin Memorial hospital. Mrs. Clark said that in later classes Harold Kelly, assistant editor of The Register; Charles Toop, Robert Daverio and Stanley Stilwell were pupils, the latter three are members of the Lincroft-Holmdel Kiwanis club. She also mentioned Philip Roy, Bucknell university graduate; Evelyn Wyckoff, Broadway musical comedy star; Mrs. Ella Kelly Stryker and Mrs. Elizabeth Haley Mendres, who have devoted their lives to the nursing profession.

In closing, Mrs. Clark expressed the desire that the religious groups such as those heading the Lincroft Chapel organization; the protective group, the Lincroft fire company; the educational group, the parent-teacher association; and the service organization of the community, the Kiwanis club, would band together in a united effort to make Lincroft a model community.

Children's Day Exercises Held

Recitations, Songs Feature Program

Many of the children were heard in songs and recitations at the Children's day exercises held Sunday morning at the Red Bank Baptist church.

The program was opened with an organ prelude, "Barcarolle." A. C. Beck, church school superintendent, gave the invocation and greetings. The youth choir sang the anthem, "I Will Walk with Him," and words of welcome were recited by Edward Berry, Kenny Brower, Bonnie Jean and Paul Kacen and J. C. Williams. Albert VanNostrand, Jr., was program announcer.

The beginners' primary and junior departments rendered songs. Alice Dix sang the solo, "My Task," and solo parts in songs were taken by Audry Silver, Freddie Burdge and Edward Shea. Recitations were given by Michael Adams, Harold Johnson, Barbara Colmorgen, Billie Ewald, Sandra Haziett, Harvey Lambertson, Mary Jane Robertson, Henry C. Williams, Barbara Banta, Bonnie Young, Donna Johnson, Gart Driscoll, Warren deBrown, Joey Clayton, Marilyn Ryder, Cynthia Powers, Judy Hudson, Philip Jiannine, Richard Trenery, Freddie Massey, Margaret Magee, Dickie Stryker, Susan Graves, Betty Rae Beck, Carol Hubbs, Gar Smith, Carol Cushman, Sandra Dull, Larry Davis, Tommy Wilson, Jay Stryker, Thomas Stryker, Carol Ann Yorg and Charles Conover.

The South Pole is on a plateau nearly 10,000 feet high.

Red Bank Pupils Observe Shop Work

The Red Bank senior high school shop and radio classes have been making final job studies of the term by spending a day with the U. S. Army Signal Corps, an afternoon at the Lavoie radio laboratory and several class periods in Merritt's machine shop on Mechanic st.

During the visit to the Signal Corps, the boys saw an opportunity to prepare for a vocation in radio and electronics engineering, maintenance, repair, servicing or instructing. Points of interest were the "ham" station, K2USA, the television receiver in the Enlisted Officers' club and the extensive magazine section of the library.

At the Lavoie laboratory, occupations of electroplating, sheet metal work, machine shop work, radio assembly were observed. New developments in micro-groove record players and electronic target games aroused much interest.

The trip to the Merritt shop was the final industrial visit of the year. The pupils saw skilled machine shop work of a varied nature.

Matawan Junior Club Holds Flower Show

A flower show featured the Matawan Junior Woman's club meeting last week. Winners were Mrs. Stuart Sigmund, Mrs. Harold Quackenbush, Miss Marjorie Bronkhurst, Mrs. Eugene Rehrig, Miss Helen Prestage and Mrs. Leo Sadkowski. Mrs. Ernest Lynch was chairman of the show.

Miss Virginia Brophy, president, appointed Mrs. Jac A. Cushman temporary corresponding secretary and Mrs. William G. Schanck music and drama chairman. Members of the club will attend a performance of "The Red Mill" next Tuesday at the Papermill playhouse at Millburn.

The executive board will meet June 28 at the home of Mrs. Lawrence J. Nolan, Keyport.

Mine Detectors To Be Sold by Army

The Army Signal corps has announced that approximately 3,000 mine detectors, declared obsolete this year and therefore surplus to army needs, will be sold to local law enforcement agencies for use in searching for criminal evidence.

The electronic devices will detect not only metal, but any other substance buried or otherwise hidden from sight. According to the Signal Corps announcement, even buried clothing can be discovered with the equipment.

The detectors are available at the Signal section at Belle Mead General depot, Belle Mead, N. J., and all queries concerning availability, price and other details should be addressed to this installations for the attention of the salvage officer.

Exercises Held At Croydon Hall

Rep. Auchincloss Makes Address

Congressman James C. Auchincloss of Rumson was the principal speaker at the outdoor commencement exercises attended by about 300 at Croydon Hall academy at Leonardo Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Auchincloss said that the "crisis in the world today is a moral one" and there is "need for renewal of a spiritual world." He advised the graduates to cultivate the traits of truth, honesty and humility, and applied the same traits to the condition of the world at present.

Introduced by Lawrence A. Carton, Jr., chairman of the Middletown township committee, Mr. Auchincloss said that "America must take the lead in reviving the spiritual faith of the world." He declared that one of the main faults in the current unrest of the world is that "materialism is the main goal" and spiritual living is being overlooked.

Diplomas and awards were presented to three graduates of the academy's high school and six in the grammar school. The high school group included Bernardo Bermudes, Venezuela; James Pitsis, New York, and Robert Gertane, Baldwin, L. I. The grammar school graduates were Ernest Schneevogl, Leonardo; Charles Rose, Toms River; Alan Carr, Montclair; Jack Redman, Houston, Texas; Richard Hanley, Douglaston, L. I., and Ruben Madris, Caracas, Venezuela.

The invocation was delivered by Rev. Roy E. Williams of Atlantic Highlands, and the benediction by Chaplain Terrence P. Finnegan of Fort Monmouth. Diplomas were awarded by Dr. John M. Carr, headmaster of the school. The salutatory address was made by Ernest Schneevegi.

A Look to the Future

Action by Eatontown officials that led to their borough's acquisition of a 14-acre tract of land, for development as a public playground-park, is the result of forward thinking. Regardless of how much that borough grows in the future, it always will have a rest and recreation area of which it can be proud.

Actually, the land goes to Eatontown for a token payment. That fact is tribute to two civic-minded brothers—Sheriff Ira E. Wolcott, who is donating 2½ acres without charge, and Collector Albert Wolcott, who is selling the borough 11½ adjoining acres for $2,500. Plans already are made to place four acres of this tract in use as a temporary playground this summer.

On this transaction, we share the views of Mayor F. Bliss Price and Councilman Fred Morris. The mayor said Eatontown "couldn't undertake a better project" than to establish this playground park. Surely, in years ahead, it will become a place of joy for children and relaxation for their elders. Mr. Morris said: "A lot of communities did not look to the future in this regard and now find themselves without room."

How true that is! Just look at Red Bank, as an example. Almost completely shielded from public view, unless one wants to go down narrow Wharf ave. to Marine park which is tiny for this size town, is our greatest asset—the North Shrewsbury river. Had officials in times past been more progressive Broad st. might have led into the entrance of a really impressive Marine park worthy of notice.

Many today insist the river belongs to the people, not solely to the lucky residents whose properties border its shores. It's not too late for our municipal officials to consider the purchase of the few small business buildings that block a Broad st. approach to the riverfront. That probably would require a bond issue of proportionate size, but the result would be a heritage for our children.

Pollution: Worse When Untrue

It does not matter so much how the mistake was made. The fact is that state and out-of-state newspapers Wednesday of last week headlined a story that Sea Bright and Manasquan ocean waters and those of Raritan bay off Keansburg were unfit to swim in. The story was wrong. This error was corrected by Commissioner Daniel Bergsma of the State Health department Friday.

Several daily newspapers came through Wednesday of last week with bold headlines. They told about polluted water, sewage disposal plant failures. When the smoke cleared, it was obvious somebody, somewhere had jumped the gun, had gone down the wrong road.

The Red Bank Register was aware of the story long before it went to press last week. We did not print it because, frankly, the facts seemed obscure. We never want to deal in uncertain information. We wanted to wait this time until we could size up this matter and we're mighty glad we did. Now we're ready "to go to press," with these proposals:

First, to the New Jersey Department of Health: It is appreciated that your chief duty is to protect the people against the dangers of hazards of disease. Polluted water is in that column.

If the state tests are based on absolute scientific accuracy, we feel reports from the State Health department need be more elaborately prepared. They should present complete, simply-worded reasons why any water is judged good or bad. Such information may allow for correction of causes of pollution if pollution is present, or may encourage public assurance if purity is the factor.

Second, to concerned municipalities, including Sea Bright: State information is that law permits the dumping of raw sewage into ocean and other bathing waters in the non-swimming months, Oct. 15-May 15 each year. That in itself seems a risk, but cold water does kill germs. However, knowing that May 15 is the deadline, there is no good excuse for any operator of any sewage disposal plant to fail to have all equipment in good operating order by the May 15 "deadline."

In the Sea Bright case, we find that the reversal of facts still left the sewage plant wanting, if only a short time. State Inspector Bernard Kaplan told us that in April he had cautioned all plant operators to be ready for inspection May 15. He visited Sea Bright May 17. The chlorinator that treats sewage before sending it seaward was not operating. It should have been. It was in operation the next day.

Last, to the Jersey Shore Protective Committee: Your organization includes mayors and other leading officials of most important towns in this county. You have done an important job for the people in transportation and utility rate matters, and are continuing on that job. Further, you stand as a strong voice in our area. You frequently have asked for more strength.

The shore depends upon its resort business. The shore committee could perform a lasting public service if it would organize a special committee of all bathing beach municipalities to guard against pollution. It could bring together local engineers who could swap suggestions for the upholding of water purity. It could act to force departments of health, including the state's own, to present regular, accurate and complete reports. These should tell of pollution where it exists and state why. They also should boast of safe water in equally detailed fashion.

Fun, in Many Fashions

This is the time of commencement. Schools are ending their year and youngsters are to have an abundance of time on their hands. Some are graduating. For them, the future may mean jobs or higher education. Some are mere kids. They've got a long way to go, and summer means hours of would-be endless recreation and fun.

Fun comes in many ways. As long as it's wholesome and worthwhile, we think the young people should have their abundance of it. Empty hours, however, can lead to boredom, then to mischief, and then, unfortunately, to delinquency. This county still has to make up for its shame of 1948 when it had the third highest ratio of juvenile delinquency among counties of New Jersey. Summer is the fertile season either for more delinquency or for wholesome good times. What becomes of it is up to the adults as well as the youngsters themselves.

We note with considerable interest that the Community Y.M.C.A. is sponsoring a series of playground activities—at the Branch ave. schoolyard and West Bergen pl. athletic field in Red Bank, and at play areas at Little Silver, Rumson, River Plaza, Atlantic Highlands and Eatontown. The programs in all communities except River Plaza are for seven weeks—June 27-Aug. 12, at River Plaza from July 11-Aug. 5.

In other years, there have been complaints by those who conducted playground programs that not enough children took part in them. Parents must remember that the programs are there, rich in variety of interests. This year there will be individual group games, hand crafts, nature lore, music, dramatics and for children whose parents approve and are willing to pay a small fee, swimming instruction.

All these activities stimulate interest and—more important—keep the kids out of trouble.

A Word to the Wise

We often tell our readers: Patronize your local merchant. We do that because we feel there is no place they can get a better deal for their money. The local merchant is in business in the home community and depends upon the good will of his customers to gain success. He cannot make the grade without good products and cheerful service.

Now comes a report that says: "The wholesale cheating of thousands of housewives in the New York area through a million-dollar-a-year, door-to-door selling racket has been revealed by the Better Business Bureau of New York."

It is wise to remember, we are in the New York area. Perhaps some of these operatives are working Red Bank and its environs, or plan to. They sell many things.

Says the New York Bureau: "Through a combination of lies, pressure and gross misrepresentation, gullible housewives have been tricked into signing costly contracts, listing prices far above the actual value of the goods they are inveigled into buying." The bureau adds that while "not all door-to-door salesmen are gyps," enough are in that category to warrant the housewife's demand that each produce credentials, read all contracts and confer with her husband before signing anything.

We don't want to stop the fine art of salesmanship. We just don't want our people to fall victim to rackets. To the advice of the Better Business Bureau of New York we add this suggestion to the housewife: Before you buy from a strange salesman who represents an out-of-town concern, look around town and see the price for which your own merchant is selling the same or similar products.

Every dollar the citizen spends at home adds to local prosperity.

Farmers Bear Brunt of Drop In Food Costs

Higher Freight Rates and Wages Chief Factors

Farmers had to take the biggest part of the July-to-February drop in retail food prices, says M. A. Clark, agricultural agent, in referring to an article in the May Agricultural Situation just released by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A family "market basket" of farm food products, for which consumers paid an annual rate of $706 at retail last July, cost consumers $70 less in February. Most of this saving to consumers was due to the lower prices farmers received for their food products. Farmers took more than four-fifths of the drop, or $57. Reduction in marketing costs accounted for only $13 of the $70 saved to consumers. This sort of thing is not unusual, Clark said, explaining that marketing charges are characteristically more rigid and change more slowly than prices of farm products.

According to the article written by Richard O. Been, the marketing cost of the annual market basket of the average family of three in February was $317—about the same as the entire retail cost of the market basket had been in either '39 or '40. "In other words," says the article, "even if farmers had given their products away in February, marketing charges being the same, the market basket would have cost consumers as much as just before the war."

Touching on the relatively small decline in marketing costs, it was pointed out that freight rates have risen about a third in the last two years, and that wages, the chief item in marketing costs, are more than double pre-war. There is little prospect for large reductions in these items soon, it was pointed out.

State Issues Folders On Historic Sites, Parks

A new illustrated folder entitled "Visit New Jersey's State Forests, Parks and Historic Sites" is available for free distribution from the Department of Conservation and Economic Development, according to an announcement today by Commissioner Charles R. Erdman, Jr.

This general folder covers for the first time a complete listing of all 46 state-owned areas administered by the forestry, parks and historic sites section of the department. Also included is information on other national inter-state and county parks within New Jersey. Of a convenient size (4x9 inches when folded), it will serve as a handy reference in planning an afternoon's visit, a day's outing or a week's camping trip with minimum travel. The historic sites, parks and forests are fairly well distributed through the state from High Point park, in Sussex county, to the Belleplain forest, in Cape May county. One or more of these areas are within an hour's driving time from nearly any section of the state.

Briefly, describing each of the 17 historic sites, 20 state parks and nine state forests, it summarizes the recreational opportunities available. An outline map of the state is included, together with a map key which gives the location, mailing address and facilities at each area. Scenic views, historic spots and museums, information on where to camp, picnic, hunt, fish, boat or bathe on these areas are all contained in the folder.

Free copies of the folder are available at any park or forest office or at any of the historic site museums. They may also be obtained by writing the Department of Conservation and Economic Development, 411 State House Annex, Trenton 7, N. J.

River St. Pupils Hold First Debate

The 81 pupils of River St. junior high school held a short debate Friday in Mrs. Sarah Levy's civics class. The subject was, "Resolved: That the Government Should Own and Operate Public Utilities."

Those participating were: affirmative, Eugene Booth, Anthony Falvo, Mary Cavallo, Barbara Scalzo and Mary Amorello; negative, Joe Scotti, Larry Wellner, Billy Wormley, Emily Scaricamazza and Doris Scott. The class acting as judges voted in favor of the negative side headed by Joe Scotti.

Our High Court, Is It Liberal, Conservative?

Washington (AP)—There's not much use in a layman's attempting to make up his mind whether the present Supreme Court is predominantly "liberal" or "conservative." The Terminiello decision on May 16 proved the futility of it—if any proof had been necessary.

Experts on constitutional law often attempt to figure it out by making a statistical analysis of the justices' votes in civil rights cases. But their conclusions don't prove much.

In the first place, what is liberal to one man seems conservative to another. The words don't have any clear meaning.

And often in a so-called civil rights case the court's decisions are based on legal points quite apart from the main issue.

"I don't believe I know what they mean when they talk about a liberal or conservative judge," one eminent legal authority recently told this reporter. "It is not a field in which the term is applicable.

"I know what a liberal politician is. But a judge can't be either liberal or conservative. He is capable or incapable. If he is a good judge all he seeks to do is base his opinion on the law and the Constitution."

The Terminiello case involved the right of free speech, whether the City of Chicago could convict a man of disorderly conduct for giving an inflammatory talk when the audience and crowd outside were in a condition of near riot.

The Supreme Court has repeatedly recognized that the right of free speech is not absolute, that there are times and places where a man cannot be permitted to say everything he wishes.

But you'll never know whether the majority of the court believes Terminiello over-stepped the bounds. That wasn't decided.

The court reversed Terminiello's conviction. But the case was not decided on the content of his speech or the circumstances of its delivery. In reading through the record the court stopped short when it came upon the trial judge's charge to the jury, and it never went any further.

The trial judge, interpreting the Chicago ordinance under which Terminiello had been convicted, said that "misbehavior may constitute a breach of the peace if it stirs the public to anger, invites dispute, brings about a condition of unrest or creates a disturbance."

Justice Douglas, writing the opinion of the court majority, said: "A function of free speech under our system of government is to invite dispute. It may indeed best serve its high purpose when it induces a condition of unrest, creates dissatisfaction with conditions as they are or even stirs people to anger."

The parts of the ordinance concerned in the case, as construed by the trial judge, were declared unconstitutional. Whether they would have been if the trial judge had said something different, or nothing at all, one can only guess.

Voting with Douglas on the majority side were Justices Reed, Murphy, Black and Rutledge.

The rest of the court, dissenting, thought the majority was entirely wrong in hinging its decision on the trial judge's remarks. They pointed out that the defendant had taken no exception to them and that none of the lower courts had taken any notice of the judge's charge. It hadn't become an issue, as Chief Justice Vinson pointed out in a dissent, until the U. S. Supreme Court "ferreted it out of a lengthy and somewhat confused record."

On this general contention, the other justices, Frankfurter, Burton and Jackson, agreed with Vinson. But they didn't agree with "the Chief" on another point.

Vinson in his dissent indicated that he, too, was shocked at the trial judge's statement. He said that if the defendant had made an issue of it, he would have agreed with the decision of the majority.

Jackson, however, in a 25-page dissent not only deplored the manner in which the court had reached its decision but also defended Chicago's right to punish Terminiello for his utterances. He even spoke sympathetically of the trial judge's remarks.

But is Jackson, the dissenters' chief spokesman in this case, a "conservative?" A friend of his says that Jackson, a former New Deal politician, once told him "I believe in liberal laws, strictly construed."

Ten mummies, recently discovered near Memphis, Egypt, are believed to have belonged to the country's Twenty-sixth Dynasty, about 600 years before Christ.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

NEED MAGAZINES, BOOKS

Station A
Marlboro, N. J.
May 25, 1949

Editor of Red Bank Register
40 Broad Street
Red Bank, New Jersey
Dear Editor:

No doubt many of your readers have magazines and books which are no longer of any use to them. These would be greatly enjoyed by the patients at Marlboro State hospital.

The members of the Red Bank Woman's club have graciously offered their headquarters at 164 Broad st. as a collection station. Reading matter may be left under the stairs, preferably bound or boxed, where it will be picked up weekly.

Very truly yours,
Laura E. Bohlayer,
Hospital Librarian

POPPY DAY APPRECIATION.

American Legion Auxiliary,
Shrewsbury Unit No. 168,
Red Bank, New Jersey.
June 9, 1949.

Mr. Thomas Irving Brown,
Red Bank Register,
Dear Sir:

The Shrewsbury unit, 168, American Legion Auxiliary of Red Bank, wish me to thank you for all the fine co-operation and publicity you have always given them, especially at Poppy Time. The poppy chairmen, Mrs. Thomas Mead and Mrs. Thomas Hackett, the president, Mrs. M. VanSauter, and the members want me to write and tell you they appreciate your allowing them to use your office for their headquarters on Poppy Day helping the unit to conduct a successful sale.

Again thanking you for all past favors,

I remain, sincerely,
Dorothye A. Bremer, secretary.

State to Have 17 Farm Fairs

Season's First At Burlington

The scheduling of four more New Jersey fairs has brought the total for the 1949 season to 17 events, reports William C. Lynn, of the State Department of Agriculture, who is secretary of the New Jersey Association of Agricultural Fairs. Included are six 4-H club events in the list of county and community fairs scheduled.

Of the participating fair associations this season, 14 are incorporated and plan to stage fairs annually, Lynn reports.

First of the season will be that of the Burlington County Farmers' fair, which will be held Aug. 5 and 6 at the Albertson farm, Burlington. The Sussex County Farm and Horse show, a "regular" on the New Jersey fair calendar, takes place at Branchville from Aug. 10 to 13. Warren County Farmers' fair follows Aug. 17 at Harmony. From Aug. 23 to 27, Morris County fair is open at Troy Hills.

The Middlesex County fair, at East Brunswick township, will stage a postwar revival from Aug. 25 to 27. The Flemington Agricultural fair opens at Flemington Aug. 30, ending Sept. 5. Paulsboro will be the scene of the Gloucester County fair, Sept. 5 through 10.

Ocean county farm groups are staging a fair at Lakewood Sept. 9 and 10. In South Jersey, the Woodstown Co-operative fair at Sharptown Sept. 16 and the Cumberland County Co-operative fair at Bridgeton from Sept. 20 to 24, are major events.

The New Jersey fair season closes with the Trenton fair held from Sept. 25 through Oct. 2.

4-H club members in Cape May county have scheduled Aug. 1, 2 and 3 for their fair at Convention hall, Ocean City. Monmouth club members will display their achievements at Freehold Aug. 9 and 10.

The Mercer County 4-H show is scheduled for Aug. 13 at Washington's Crossing state park. Aug. 19 and 20, 4-H'ers in Atlantic county will hold a fair at Mays Landing, and Passaic County club members will gather at Preakness. The Somerset County 4-H fair is set for Far Hills also Aug. 19 and 20.

Plant Record Acreage For Certified Seed Corn

New Jersey farmers who produce hybrid varieties of seed corn to meet state certification requirements are planning the largest acreage on record in the Garden state for seed production in 1949.

William M. Cranstoun, supervisor of seed certification in the State Department of Agriculture, reports that state certified varieties have proven so popular with New Jersey farmers this spring that growers are allotting at least 600 acres for the production of seed this year. For planting the current field corn crop, about 17,000 bushels of seed were certified in 1948 from 436 acres, and distributed by dealers serving farmers throughout the state.

Already most of the acreage set aside for certified seed production has been planted and the locations of the remainder of the corn fields are being checked by inspectors of the State Department of Agriculture to make certain that they are sufficiently isolated to avoid cross-pollination with inferior varieties.

One of the most popular hybrids offered this year is the recently developed New Jersey No. 7, available to farmers for the first time this spring. Plans for this year are to increase the seed acreage of this variety from 60 to 250 acres to provide approximately 6,500 bushels of N. J. No. 6 seed corn.

The New Jersey certified seed grain program, marking its 19th year as a joint project of the State Department of Agriculture and the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment station, is sponsored by the New Jersey Field Crop Improvement co-operative association to provide farmers with a source of seed especially developed for New Jersey climate and soil, certified for germination, quality and uniformity.

EVENTS OF YEARS AGO FROM REGISTER FILES

Fifty Years Ago.

The annual May walk of the pupils of the Tinton Falls public school was held on the banks of the stream on the Augustus Morris farm. Stephen H. LeQuier, their teacher, was in charge. Julia Murphy was queen and Allie Heiles was king. Others in the party were Regina and Frank Heiles, Susan Dangler, Viola and Carrie Covert, Katie VanBrunt, Maggie Vanderveer, Mamie and Jacob Sperling, Shrewsbury Coleman, Eugene and Fred Magee, Walter and Paul Walsh and Daniel Holmes.

A surprise visit was made to Mr. and Mrs. George F. Spinning of Branch ave. on the occasion of the fifth anniversary of their marriage. The visitors took with them a large porch rocker and an oak table as gifts. Those present were Mrs. R. W. Spinning and her daughters, Blanche and Edith; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Watte, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Mount, Mrs. Rebecca Anderson, Rev. and Mrs. Holmes F. Gravatt, Sadie Child, Allie Mount, Elisabeth Valentine, Cora and Elisabeth Walling, George Worthley and Warren Smock.

A fashionable wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Hazard of Shrewsbury, when their daughter, Florence Ellsworth, became the bride of Prince Francis Marie Joseph Ausreperg of Austria. Rev. James A. Reynolds, pastor of St. James church, performed the ceremony.

Miss Margaret M. Kruse of Long Branch and Mart Philip Haviland of Red Bank were married at the home of the bride by Rev. W. P. Cantwell. The bridal party formed a semi-circle under a bell of daisies where the nuptial knot was tied. The couple was attended by Miss Catherine Deickman of New York and Albert Haviland, a brother of the groom.

The finest strawberries grown in the Tinton Falls district were those of Edward Obre. Mr. Obre dammed the brook and overflowed his patch occasionally for irrigation.

A bicycle club was formed among the members of the Odd Fellows lodge of Sea Bright with C. M. Slayton, captain; John W. Eyles, lieutenant; Robert Millican, secretary; Peter J. Poppings, treasurer; A. Embley, color bearer; and A. J. Slocum, bugler.

W. W. Wyman, who lived in the Swan homestead at Navesink, was building a large platform in front of his residence. Mr. Wyman was a violinist and intended to give his friends a good time during the summer.

"Kid" Lavigne, the prize fighter, was training at the Oceanic inn for his fight with Frank Erne which was to be held in Buffalo on July 3.

Peter F. Collier was constructing a deer park in Matthew Burn's woods near Eatontown. Mr. Collier was a leading member of the Monmouth county hunt club.

Councilman and Mrs. William C. Mooney of Atlantic Highlands celebrated their 15th wedding anniversary by entertaining approximately 40 friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Morford of Middletown gave a birthday party in honor of their daughter, Marguerite Louise. Attending the party were Alice Root, Lillian and Adele Conover, Jean Frost, Hilda French, Louise Conover, Mollie Ayers, Roland Parker, Edward and Howard Osborn, Willie Lufburrow, Garret Conover, Harry Conklin, Remson French, Frederick Conover and J. Abbott Morford of Middletown, Lulu Schanck of Atlantic Highlands, Caroline Wyckoff of Freehold and Mildred and Elliott Reid of New York.

The ladies' aid society of Grace church held a sociable at which Alice Blaisdell gave recitations. Mrs. Theodore Colyer sang a solo and George and Abbott Worthley, Alvin Whiting and Percy Parker sang as a quartette.

William Devesty of Navesink died in a New York hospital following an operation for appendicitis. He was 52 years old.

Mrs. Margaret A. Bowman, widow of William Bowman, died suddenly at the home of her nephew, Cyrenius Stilwagon of Morrisville, with whom she lived. She was 79 years of age and had lived in Holmdel all her life.

Miss Mary Bloodgood, who had taught at the Scobeyville school for several years, was engaged to teach school at Vanderburg in the fall.

While learning to ride a bicycle, Ralph Roberts, son of William M. Roberts of Atlantic Highlands, got his foot caught in the front wheel. He sustained body injuries when he was thrown from the machine.

Rev. Charles E. Hill of Beech st. was re-elected department chaplain of the Grand Army at the 42d annual meeting held at Trenton. He was the only Monmouth county veteran to get an office at the convention.

The real estate of the late Esek White was offered for sale at auction, but only one piece was sold. This was a lot on Wallace st. adjoining the property of Sigmund Elsner and it brought the top price of $325.

Franklin P. Stryker, Red Bank's chief of police, was so annoyed by the number of bicyclists using the sidewalks and riding at night without lights, that he published a notice in The Register that anyone riding a bicycle faster than six miles per hour within the corporate limits of the town or riding without lights at night would be arrested.

James Conover of Colt's Neck fell while entering his home and he suffered facial bruises.

Frank A. Schultz bought J. B. Rue's livery business on White st., paying $7,500 for the real estate, stock and good-will. Mr. Schultz's tea business was sold to James N. Bunnell.

Graduates at the Fair Haven public school were Cora Flynn, Nettie Chandler, Blanche M. Little, Susan M. Martin and Percy H. Smith.

Daniel H. Applegate of Red Bank and Harry V. Campbell of Freehold passed the examination for free scholarships at Rutgers college.

Rufus Ogden was elected president and Warren Conklin secretary of the Middletown and Keyport turnpike Co.

Rev. M. M. Finch, pastor of the New Monmouth Baptist church, was unable to occupy the pulpit due to a severe case of ivy poisoning.

Charles Grossinger of Leonardville was training a horse for Edward Bennett of Belford. Mr. Grossinger took the animal to Daniel Bennett's blacksmith shop at Belford and while applying a hot iron, the horse kicked Mr. Grossinger in the forehead, knocking him unconscious.

Twenty-Five Years Ago.

Barrett Beach on the shore road between Port Monmouth and Keansburg was sold to a New York company owned by West Indians.

Alfred Spenney and Kenneth M. Wyckoff planned to co-operate in developing farm land at Lincroft for home seekers.

Farmers of Holmdel organized to fight for lower taxes. They engaged lawyers to begin action in an effort to knock out the county board in over-riding township assessor claiming "Confiscation Without Compensation is Unconstitutional."

A baseball team was organized at Scobeyville with David Tumidisky as pitcher and Walter Rinkowski as catcher. Other members of the team were Frank Cylbusky, Tony Dobry, Joseph Tumidisky, Walter Smith, Stephen Rinkowski, Charles Thornton and Edward Riordan.

Leslie Blair opened a sea food restaurant and fish market at the Highlands near the drawbridge in the building formerly occupied by Grandin V. Johnson.

Charles Leonard of Lincroft had a five-acre field of potatoes which were outstanding. Mr. Leonard was classed as the best potato grower in that section.

Millard Fillmore Tetley acted as mayor of Red Bank in the absence of Mayor Archibald L. Miller who was at Atlantic City. A New York concern made a low bid of $15,800 for a new artesian well and water plant equipment.

A very unusual celebration was planned for Rev. Dennis J. Duggan, pastor of St. James church, Red Bank, when he celebrated his golden jubilee, marking 50 years service as a priest.

Theodore Labrecque, son of Herman Labrecque of Campbell's Junction, graduated from Fordham and became associated with the law firm of Reilly, Quinn and Parsons of Red Bank.

The Red Bank lodge of Elks celebrated Flag Day with appropriate services on the lawn of the Elks' home. Miss Carol Schroeder read the history of the flag, and John H. Cook, editor of The Register, gave some reminiscenses of Dr. Edwin Field.

James P. Hopping, a well known business man, residing at Hopping's crossing in Middletown township, was taken ill while talking to his wife, who had been ill for the past three weeks and within three hours Mr. Hopping passed away. He was in his 74th year.

A. Salz and Company of Red Bank and Keyport had been in business in Keyport 60 years. Both stores were celebrating the event with special sales.

Fair Haven wanted a public park and an ordinance to buy the Quinlan property passed its first reading.

Mrs. Matthew W. Greig of Broad st. sailed on the S. S. Orca for a visit to friends and relatives in France and Italy.

Miss Katherine T. Tobin, daughter of Richard Tobin of Fair Haven, and Reginald VanBrunt, son of Robert VanBrunt of East Front st., were married at St. James church by Rev. John C. Farrell in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. Mrs. H. Raymond Phillips played the wedding march. The couple were attended by Miss Margaret Tobin, the bride's sister and Leon VanBrunt, the groom's brother. Following their return from a wedding trip, the couple began housekeeping in a new house which Mr. VanBrunt recently purchased on William st.

Miss Dorothy White Denise of Red Bank and Frederick Grace Adams of New Monmouth were married at the bride's home on Washington st. by Rev. John Muyskens, Jr. Mrs. Eleanor Schlegal, a sister of the groom, was matron of honor and Arthur O'Neill of Brooklyn was groomsman.

Mrs. Harry Marvin of Waverly pl. made and donated to the Red Bank fishing club a flag for their clubhouse at Barnegat Bay.

Mrs. Irving Patterson of Broad st. sailed for Europe on the Acquitania with her sister, Mrs. J. M. Brown of New York. Mrs. Patterson was a primary teacher at the Shrewsbury academy on Leroy pl.

Harry Campbell, president of the Broad st. National bank, and Robert F. Wilbur, prominent jeweler, were expected home from their annual fishing and outing trip to Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Higginson of Eatontown returned from their wedding trip and were living on Crystal Brook farm. The bride was the former Miss Barnetta Benoist of Long Branch.

Nelson Hendrickson, son of John L. Hendrickson of Middletown, was run down by an automobile while riding a bicycle. He was painfully but not seriously hurt and his wheel was wrecked.

Miss Edna VanKeuren and Miss Adelaide Johnson of Eatontown entertained friends at parties last week in celebration of their birthdays.

The Highlands Foresters' lodge held a card party at the borough hall. Prize winners of the evening were Mrs. Susan Freund, Mrs. August C. Quast and Mrs. Ernest Worth.

Rumson Woman's Club Plans June 25 Dance

The Rumson Woman's club, at a meeting Monday at Oceanic fire house, completed plans for a semi-formal dance to be held Saturday, June 25, at Willowbrook, Fair Haven.

There will be several awards and novelty gifts as prizes. Mrs. Dolores Ryan is chairman, assisted by Mrs. June Healy, Mrs. Grace Ellis, Mrs. Edna Bradley, Mrs. Juliet Carton and Misses Marcelia MacIntosh and Betty Ryan. Mrs. Ellis is in charge of the program, aided by Mrs. Ethel Perl, Mrs. Marie Johnson and Miss Jean Solomon.

Union Beach to Hold Clean-Up Week

Frank Fuller, secretary of the Union Beach board of health, has announced that Clean-Up week will be conducted there from June 20-24.

The collection schedule for rubbish, not garbage, is as follows: Monday and Tuesday, June 20-21, Stone rd., to beachfront west of Conaskunk creek to Keyport line, which includes Union Park, Bayshore, Union, Cottage Park, Union Gardens and West Union Beach section; Wednesday and Thursday, June 22-23, Stone rd., to Conaskunk creek on west side of Union ave., which includes the Lorillard section, and Friday, June 24, Stone rd., to bay, North of Union ave., including Union Beach (East), Harris Gardens and Natco sections.

One Way to Find Out

John Watkins, chief engineer at Sea Bright sewer plant, takes a drink of effluent (chlorine treated sewage) at the plant. Looking on are Mayor Thomas Farrell (holding jar), and Michael Devereaux, secretary of the Sea Bright board of health. Later Mr. Devereaux drank some of the water.

Mr. Watkins was demonstrating that the water flowing from the plant was not dangerous to health. State health department had reported earlier last week that bathing conditions were "unsatisfactory" at Sea Bright. Two days later this statement was corrected and the borough was put on the approved list.

Helen Jewett's Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. Grandjean G. Jewett of Lincoln ave., Fair Haven, anounce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen Elizabeth Jewett, to Howard Wentworth Lancaster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel W. Lancaster of West Front st., Red Bank.

Miss Jewett is a graduate of Rumson high school and was recently graduated from New Jersey College for Women. Mr. Lancaster was graduated from Rumson high school and is now attending Stevens Institute of Technology, where he is a member of the Theta Xi fraternity.

June Bride at Middletown

Mrs. John F. Weigand, Jr.

At the Middletown Baptist church Saturday, Miss Mary-Bertha Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lansdell Anderson of Harmony farm, Middletown township, and West Palm Beach, Fla., became the bride of John F. Weigand, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Weigand of Hazlet. Rev. George A. Cosper, pastor of the Keyport Baptist church, performed the ceremony. Harold F. Weber was organist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was dressed in a white satin gown, made with a high neckline and long sleeves and a fitted bodice, attached to a gathered skirt, forming a train. The neckline and cuffs of the gown were lace trimmed. The bride had a coronet of white lilacs and orange blossoms and carried a loose-style Colonial shape bouquet of all white flowers.

Miss Willow Anderson of West Palm Beach, Fla., was maid of honor for her sister. Her dress was lavender, with matching mitts, and she carried a colonial bouquet of deep lavender flowers. She wore a matching floral wreath in her hair.

The bridesmaids were Misses Marie Dobbs of Middletown and Margaret Turner of Peapack. Their dresses were identical in style and color matching the one worn by the maid of honor, and they carried bouquets of pale lavender flowers.

Alexandra Avati, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Avati of Spring st., was flower girl.

Robert G. Weigand of Hazlet, the bridesgroom's brother, was best man. Ushers were George Dunn and Edward Weigand of Hazlet; Kenneth Willey, Keyport, and Lansdell Anderson, Jr., Middletown.

A reception followed at Harmony farm, where the couple will live when they return from their wedding trip. The bride's mother chose a blue and yellow silk print frock, with matching straw hat, blue accessories and a corsage of yellow orchids. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in aqua, with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

The bride was graduated from Middletown township high school and attended Drew university at Madison. She is a granddaughter of Mrs. William Plum of Rumson.

The bridegroom served with the army for a year and a half, spending a year in the European theater. He was graduated from Keyport high school and Monmouth Junior college and is attending Wagner college on Staten Island.

COLGATE GRADUATE

Franklin E. Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin S. Warren, 49 South Woodland drive, Fair Haven, was graduated from Colgate university Monday at the university's 139th commencement at Hamilton, N. Y.

A member of the largest class ever to leave Colgate, he was awarded the Bachelor of Arts degree with emphasis on sociology. A graduate of Kearny high school, he was captain of the Colgate tennis team three years and was a member of the basketball squad.

Highlands P.T.A. Holds Pet Show

Awards 40 Prizes To School Children

Forty prizes were awarded at the pet show sponsored by the Highlands Parent-Teachers association. The show, which took place Tuesday of last week, was held on the school grounds.

Awards were made in the following classes for having the most originally dressed dog, Shirley Bahrs, first prize; James Hartsgrove, second, and Leah Burns, third; for having the most originally dressed cat, Helen Shamka, first; Alice Jackson, second; Patsy Sanborn and Barbara Raike, third; and Joanne Gross, fourth.

For having the dog with the longest coat: Katherine Weiss, first; Henry Norris, second; John Giavani, third, and Billy O'Brien, fourth. Bill Ortutay won first prize for having the cat with the longest coat.

Katherine Weiss won first prize for having the dog with the longest tail; Lillian Heineck, second; Mona Sodulsky, third; and Alice Steir, fourth.

Mildred Kugelman won first prize for the pet with the best trick. Second prize went to Linda Behrens and third to Sue Voegely.

First prize for having the most unusual pet went to Joyce Rast, with a guinea pig; second to Charlotte Dennis, with a pair of hamsters; third to Jack Demsky, with a bird, and fourth to Madaly Feldman, with an eel.

May Larsen won first prize for having the smallest pet; Mike Fix, second; Robert Matthews, third, and Philip Bliedry and Richard Hartagrove, fourth.

For having the best cared for pet in the small pet class, Marion Beggs won first prize, Virginia Lee Smith, second; Pauline Quinn, third; and Joanne Hartsgrove, fourth. In the large pet class, Andy Daino won first prize, Andy Homiak, second; Mary Lou Cimmins, third, and Peter Bluett, fourth.

Katherine Weiss won first prize for having the largest pet. Lillian Heineck was second, and Andy Daino, third.

Just how high is
"HIGH COMPRESSION"?

WHEN the talk turns to cars and car engines these days, that's a topic you hear much about.

So it's fairly interesting to note that, even back before the war, Buick engines like this one were touring the testing grounds with compressions as high as 10 to 1.

Even later than that this same big Buick power plant has been filling our engineers' notebooks with data on 8 to 1 compression ratios.

What has come out of this? Two or three interesting points.

First of all, that this big Buick Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight already has a compression ratio that gets as much out of present fuels as any engine on the market.

Next, that these ratios can readily be stepped up to fit higher octane gasolines as they become available.

And probably most important of all, that high compression is only one measurement of a good engine.

There's the fundamental matter of engine efficiency — power output per cubic inch of displacement, engineers call it. On that score, Buick stands where it always has — just about tops in its field!

Which means, in very simple words — better go see for yourself.

The fun you get from your car — the pleasure and satisfaction it gives you—are best measured in just one place—behind the wheel.

So we invite you to see your Buick dealer for a firsthand test of Buick. Take it in your own two hands and find out how good it feels, how full of get-up-and-go.

It won't take long to make it pretty clear that the place to get your order in is the place where you get Buick power.

Beach Officals Hit False Report

tary of the borough health board, tried a glass of the stuff himself. Neither man seemed the worse off for the experience hours later. Admitting he liked beer better, Mr. Watkins said he had tasted effluent many times in the years he has been a sewer plant operator.

At the meeting a bottle of effluent was placed on the council table for all to see. Examination showed it to be a cloudy, whitish liquid, free from all heavy matter. This, said Mr. Watkins, had been checked at 89% pure, which, he said, "is as pure as most drinking water." It is this effluent that is pumped out into the sea.

Mr. Watkins criticised Bernard Kaplan, State Health Board inspector, for having turned in an "unsatisfatcory" report on the operation of his sewer plant May 17. He said he told Mr. Kaplan, who had arrived to find one chlorinator not operating, he was getting parts that day to fix the equipment and would have it working well "by tomorrow." However, he said, although he asked the inspector to do so, Mr. Kaplan did not return before he reported this incident.

Mayor Farrell also wondered why Mr. Kaplan, "who lives in Little Silver, just a couple of miles way, could not come down and take another look before making a bad report on Sea Bright."

Mr. Kaplan told The Register Saturday night pressure of his duties kept him from making a re-examination before turning in his report. He said he is charged with inspecting all plants along this section of the shore and had to make many inspections at that time, which took him many miles from Sea Bright. Then he said he had to make an immediate report of his findings to Trenton.

A different attitude might be taken toward the Sea Bright sewage disposal plant operation, said Mr. Kaplan, had he not personally cautioned all plant operators in the area weeks ahead of time that the inspection would be made about May 15. "All operators had plenty of time to get their plants in service," he asserted.

Mr. Kaplan said that when he visited the Sea Bright plant he found the post-chlorinator—the one that sends effluent into the ocean—out of service. He said Mr. Watkins told him he was expecting the arrival of parts from the Wallace Keirnan Manufacturing company at Newark, and would get the chlorinator going as soon as they arrived and were installed. "From the standpoint of an immediate report, such as I am required to make, that was too late," Mr. Kaplan said.

Mr. Kaplan said he had been informed by his superiors in the State Health Board it was considered important to make early sewage plant examinations and water purity tests this year. The purpose, he asserted, was to attempt to correct all faults possible at the start of the season to maintain safe health conditions at the resorts. Also, he declared, the state wanted to avoid unfavorable and incorrect publicity, like some distributed last year.

The inspector said he planned to make a re-examination of all sewage disposal plants in his area within the next several days. This, he suggested, would be the basis of another report.

At Friday's meeting John McElwain, chairman of the borough health board, charged that in its inspection report the state had made "another move to wreck local health boards and take control of them." He said: "Joe Emmons (district health officer) has told us time and again we must watch our step; that the state will step in and control us if they get the chance." Mr. Devereaux said he also was suspicious of state tactics.

Louis Boos of Perth Amboy, who had been the engineer on the job when the Sea Bright sewage disposal plant was built, said he came down to "assure you people you have a good plant here."

Henry Sandiase, private pavilion operator, said he had had a report by Commissioner of Health Daniel Bergsma that of all the waters tested "none rated higher than that of Sea Bright and Manasquan," which was disfavored in the first report.

He blamed the Associated Press for misinterpreting the original Bergsma report. He said the A.P. "attempted to interpret the report to its own satisfaction," and even though it sent out a correction, "damage was done."

Mayor Farrell then said he would wire the A.P. and demand a full correction be sent out on the news wires to reach all points that had been serviced with the faulty report. Later he was informed a correction had moved on the wires after Commissioner Bergsma acknowledged "a mistake has been made."

In a statement from Mr. Emmons, read at the meeting, the health officer said it had been his experience through the years that "you can't condemn an ocean area as bad just because one sample turns out unsatisfactorily." He said the purity ration of sea water "can change completely within a few hours, because of tide and drift."

Also, said Mr. Emmons, before you can be sure water is unfit for bathing it is necessary to take repeated samples of water from all bathing beaches in a resort, and find them consistently poor in coliform quality." He told The Register he considered some state tests in past years to have been inadequate for true analysis.

Some discussion was devoted to a proposal that Sea Bright purchase another chlorinator for its sewage plant. Mr. Watkins said he felt such equipment was not needed, but Mr. Devereau believed this purchase would result in "complete assurance" that the plant always would be in good operating order.

Mayor Farrell said he would consider the addition of another, or spare, chlorinator for the plant when the 1950 budget is prepared late this year.

Five Local Teachers Begin Retirement

for World War II, the draft took many seniors and some juniors.

"School enrollment has enlarged, and then shrunk according to the times," said Mr. Gilland. "Today our enrollment in schools is increasing, while during the depression years we had fewer students. With new residents in our community, more housing projects, and new business, we will have a record enrollment in the fall. We will have a special kindergarten, first and second grade classes at Fort Monmouth, and perhaps a third grade will be added at the post."

When Mr. Gilland first took up the role of superintendent, there were but 60 teachers. During his 36 years of service, he has seen the staff grok to 92. Too he has seen a great change in the courses offered to high school pupils, and has seen courses changed to meet the needs of the community.

In the early days, Red Bank high school offered two courses, either academic or commercial, because at that time occupations opened to graduates were limited. Also in early high school years, many pupils left school at the eighth grade, not bothering to finish, and some left school during the fifth grade, before state education laws and standards were changed and broadened.

Mr. Gilland is a native of Shamokin, Pa., the sons of a Presbyterian minister. He was graduated from Lafayette college in 1907, and his first teaching position was at Reedsville, Pa. He left the Reedsville school to become head of the Shamokin high school mathematic department, and left that post for the Red Bank principalship. He received his doctorate in Education at Columbia university, and has done additional graduate study work at Columbia, Rutgers and New York universities.

Mr. Gilland is a member of the council of education of the New Jersey Department Superintendents, the New Jersey State Teachers association, the National Education association, the School Master's club, and has served on the board of directors of these groups as well as doing committee service. He is also a member of the American Administrators association, The Monmouth County Supervisors Round Table and of the advisory board of Monmouth Junior college.

Locally Mr. Gilland is a member of the Red Bank Rotary club, and served as president in 1924-25, when that club was three years old. He is a member of the Community "Y" board of directors, and of the board of directors of the Eisner Memorial library, the local public library.

Fraternal organizations to which the retiring schoolman belongs are the Junior American Mechanics, the Red Bank Elks club, and Hiram chapter, Royal Arch Masons, and Mystic chapter. He is a member of Red Bank Presbyterian church, serving as an elder, and is a member of the church Brotherhood.

As to future plans, Mr. Gilland says he has none, and like other busy people today, he is looking forward to a summer vacation. As to his vacation he has no definite one in view "but two or three in mind."

"Do your best, your very best,
And do it every day.
Little girl or little boy,
That is the easiest way."

Those four simple lines of advice will be read and remembered by many Red Bank men and women today when they look back on their second and third grade years at Mechanic Street school, for with this advice, every morning Bessie Rue started off her classroom work. For 32 years she has served Red Bank schools, coming to this borough after teaching at Livingston township at the Northfield school there and also at Rutherford and in Rumson. She was made elementary school supervisor 22 years ago.

Under Mrs. Rue's guidance, a progressive education program of science in elementary grades, social studies and general work was started. This program was planned to start in kindergarten, and to broaden out into higher grades and finally into high school years. The program was conducted with all studies playing a definite part, such as special art work one year, music another, and science a third.

Children in lower elementary grades studied their home and the homes of their neighbors, their school and the manner in which it is connected with the life of their community. This program, then in its second phase, studied community living, and the children studied the work of farmers, and of men and women in their own community.

Later the program developed into the study of local government, county government and the customs of the peoples of the world. The project is considered as a very progressive one and is highly thought of by state education people.

Mrs. Rue was graduated from Trenton State Teachers college, and received her master's degree in education at New York university. She has done graduate work at Columbia, where she studied with Dr. Gerald Craig in the graduate school of education, and she developed the above mentioned program under his guidance. She has also studied at the State Teachers Training Center at Trenton State teachers college, and also at Newark State teachers college.

Mrs. Rue is a member of the Supervisors Round Table of Monmouth county, the National and State Education associations, Monmouth County Teachers association and Red Bank Teachers association.

She has no future plans she says, and intends to take a well deserved rest.

When high school seniors collect the usual teachers' autographs, all those of the commercial department will show with pride a neat Gregg shorthand inscription, which to them is the signature of a patient and thorough instructor. When this is transcribed it will read Leola M. Robinson. Miss Robinson today completes 26 years of service as commercial teacher in the Red Bank high school.

When she first came to Red Bank, Miss Robinson taught shorthand, typing and bookkeeping, but of recent years, her program has called for typing and shorthand. On a seven-period a day schedule. This teacher is a New Englander from Bath, Me., who studied at Bliss Business school and Bay Path Institute, both in Springfield, Mass. She also did extension work at Boston, Columbia and New York universities. Miss Robinson taught in schools in North Jersey in Sussex and Newton and in South Jersey in Burlington. She left the faculty of Katharine Gibbs school in Boston to come to Red Bank in Feb., 1921.

Miss Robinson has watched her classes "grow with the times" as she puts it, as some years classes are larger than others. She is the teacher who inaugurated the pre-secretarial training program in Red Bank senior high school, which has been working successfully for the past ten years. Miss Robinson, wanting her students to have actual business experience before they left school, talked with the local businessmen and arranged to have her students work in business and professional offices for two weeks to gain actual experience. Today she says, local businessmen call and ask for pupils and the project works out well all around, giving new hopeful secretaries experience and businessmen extra help at a busy time.

Outside of her school work, Miss Robinson has a successful hobby—painting—and her oils have been exhibited at leading exhibitions in the county, in Newark and in New York. Miss Robinson is a member and a former secretary of the Asbury Park Fine Arts society, and shows her work at that group's annual exhibit in the fall at the Berkeley-Carteret hotel.

She also exhibits each year at the Spring Lake show, sponsored by the American Artists Professional league, of which she is a member. Her paintings hang in the Montclair Art museum, and her watercolors and oils have been shown at the annual all-state shows at L. Bamberger and Kresge stores in Newark.

The artist has studied at the Grand Central school of art in New York city, with the Arthur Schwieder group in New York city, and at the Thurn school of Art at Gloucester, Mass. She has painted scenes along the shore, at Booth-Bay Harbor in Maine, and along the Shrewsbury river. Many of her oils and water colors hang in the homes of her friends in Red Bank.

Leola Robinson has given Red Bank high school one of her latest paintings, "Holmdel Woods." The painting, an oil, was done at Holmdel, and shows the big trees with the sunlight streaming through their branches into a clearing in the center of the picture. The picture has the deep brown of old tree trunks, and the bright color of the sunlight on green grass. This is framed in blonde wood and is hanging in the superintendent's office.

Miss Robinson will move to St. Petersburg, Fla., where her mother is living. Here she plans to rest and to paint, and to plan a studio to be added onto her mother's home there. Miss Robinson's sister too, is also interested in art, and does textile designing. The studio will be more-or-less a family affair. She is looking forward to going to St. Petersburg, she said, and she is also looking forward to visits from her Red Bank friends and former pupils when they visit the Southern city.

George Lovett came to Red Bank in 1912 to serve as principal of Mechanic Street school. His prior teaching experience included the principalship of Navesink grammar school for five years, and teaching in a one-room school at Chapel Hill, Atlantic Highlands. Mr. Lovett received his degree in mechanical engineering at the University of Delaware.

Mr. Lovett was the first physical education teacher for boys in the Red Bank schools, and at that time the big sport was baseball. The baseball diamond at that time was located on the site now occupied by the present senior high school building. "There was no gym, no showers and little or no equipment," said Mr. Lovett, "so all of our activities were outdoor the year-'round. I always remember, we were all called 'The Fresh Air Boys' because nine times out of ten, we had our regular program outdoors, fall, winter and spring. At times it was tough, but we had fun."

In 1921, under the guidance of Harry C. Sieber, now supervising principal of the Red Bank senior high school, football was started in Red Bank. Basketball too was part of the athletic program, and several men teachers had a hand in coaching. Games were played at the old Red Bank "Y" building on Monmouth st., next to the borough hall. The building was destroyed by fire a number of years ago. As the school athletic program was developed, Mr. Lovett devoted more of his time to teaching business training and mathematics. For several years, when the junior high school auditorium was used as a study hall, Mr. Lovett was the supervisor in charge.

George Lovett, too, is interested in art, and his hobby is finger painting. He studied this at the New York School of Fine and Applied arts. However, he has used his art in his school work as a means of visual education in teaching mathematics.

Pupils will remember his "stick men" which were often used as object lessons. These "stick men" which were made with a few straight strokes, always left a "punch" whether they demonstrated a mathematical problem of a disciplinary measure, and they are similar to the ones used today by Muro Leaf, the illustrator, who has used this type of drawing in some of his books such as "Manners Are Fun," which present object lessons with simple drawings.

Like the other teachers, Mr. Lovett has no future plans. He too is looking forward to a summer vacation.

Over at Mechanic Street school on the second floor of the building is a teacher who has been teaching Red Bank's children for the past 35 years. She is Miss Marguerite Enright. When she first came here, she taught at Oakland Street school, but within a short time took up her duties at Mechanic Street school.

Miss Enright has taught both third and fourth grades, and many former pupils who look back to those early days remember her patience with difficult spelling lessons and arithmetic. Miss Enright most always has had the same room at the school, except when the building was done over and modernized in 1934-35.

Besides taking an active part in school work, Miss Enright has found time for Parent-Teacher activities. She has served Mechanic Street school Parent-Teacher association since the first president, Mrs. Blanchford Sherman, took office in 1932. She has been P.T.A. chairman of legislation and goals. Recently the P.T.A. gave this faithful teacher-member a life membership.

Miss Enright was a graduate of Freehold high school, and was trained for teaching at Rutgers university, School of Education. She is a member of the State Teachers association, Red Bank Teachers association and the Monmouth County Elementary Class Room teachers association. Her future plans call for living with her family here on Spring st.

John S. Bainton, custodian at Red Bank high school for 32 years, is also on the list of those retiring. He has a fine service record, missing only eight weeks time from his job. His other record, which he speaks of with pride, is that he never missed a Sunday, with the exception of his eight weeks, in making a complete inspection of the building.

Mr. Bainton has watched almost three generations graduate from Red Bank high school, and like other members of the staff, has seen two generations of boys go off to war. His own son is a veteran of World War II. Mr. Bainton is a Spanish-American War Veteran.

When Mr. Bainton took over his job of custodian, the school housed but four grades, the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth, and time has brought many changes.

Mr. Bainton, for the past 22 years, has been a member of Independent Engine company, and was treasurer for 20 years. His hobby is keeping everything shipshape in his home, like the school around the corner, where for so many years he helped boys and girls find lost coats and hats, and school books, and where he helped many a teacher get supplies on time, and where he "polished up the handles on the big front doors."

Weds Charles M. Preston

Mrs. Charles Milton Preston

Miss Marjorie Louise Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Jones of Prospect ave., and Charles Milton Preston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Preston of Prospect ave., were married Saturday at St. James Catholic rectory. Msgr. Joseph Casey performed the ceremony, which was followed by a reception for the immediate families at the Rumson hotel.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white organdy gown and a calot of white French lilacs trimmed with illusion veiling, and carried a bouquet of white lilacs and delphinium.

Mrs. Edward Johnson of Red Bank, the bride's only attendant, was gowned in pale pink organdy. Her calot was pink French lilacs and her bouquet was of blue delphinium. William Preston of Philadelphia, the bridegroom's brother, was best man.

After a weding trip to Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Preston will make their home in New York city.

Mrs. Preston was graduated from Red Bank Catholic high school, and attended Immaculata college in Philadelphia. She is now with the Kudner agency in New York city. Mr. Preston studied at New York university's School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance. Last year he was graduated from the Law school of New York university, and is employed by the Metropolitan Life insurance company in New York city.

During the war he was a Naval officer, serving on an aircraft carrier in the Pacific.

Pecora Outlines Basic Provisions For Rent Rise

Improvements, Extra Services Are Listed Among Requirements

Area rent director Michael Pecora has pointed out that fair net operating income is only one of the several adjustment provisions open to landlords for obtaining rent increases when justified.

"Four principal adjustment provisions continue in effect," Mr. Pecora said. "They are major capital improvements, comparability, substantial increase in occupancy and increase in services, furniture or furnishings.

"This means that landlords can still get more rent for improving their rental units or for better service to tenants. It also means that no landlord is required to maintain rents below the level generally prevailing for comparable controlled accommodatea," the rent director said.

In order to qualify for a rent increase for making major improvements to his rental unit a landlord must do more than ordinary repairs or replacement, the rent director explained. Examples of the kind of project that will earn higher rental are the addition of an extra room or bath, modernizing an old kitchen with new, up-to-date fixtures, or completely rehabilitating the rental unit. When granted, the adjustment will reflect the difference in rental value of the property as well as increased costs of construction.

Substantial increases in services, furniture or furnishings will also bring the landlord higher rental, depending upon the value of the added feature. These include such items as the replacement of an ice box with a new, mechanical refrigerator or furnishing heat to a tenant who previously heated the unit at his own expense. In such cases the landlord should get the approval of the tenant before making the change.

Mr. Pecora pointed out that the rent office will give "a prior opinion" as to the value of any prospective improvement or increased service before the project is actually begun. The increase will not be granted, however, until the work is completed and a petition filed in the area rent office, he explained.

Landlords also may get rent increases if the number of occupants in a rental unit is substantially greater than the number on the date determining the legal rent and above the normal occupancy for that type of accommodation. In certain other cases the landlord may qualify for higher rent on the ground of increased occupancy.

Rent increases are also granted whenever a landlord can show that his maximum rent is substantially less than that for comparable controlled units in the city. This provision is intended to correct any inequities that exist because some units were renting below comparability on the rent freeze date.

The tenant is advised whenever a landlord petitions for a rent adjustment. As another protection for tenants, the landlord must certify that he is maintaining and will continue to maintain all services required by the rent regulations.

Laud Auchincloss For Part in Resolution

James C. Auchincloss, one of 84 Republicans and Democrats who sponsored a recent resolution urging the development of the United Nations into a World Federation as a fundamental objective of U. S. foreign policy, has been lauded by Monmouth county advocates of the measure.

Mr. Auchincloss received a letter from Mrs. Charles Campbell of Monmouth Hills, Highlands, who called the resolution one of "tremendous and far-reaching importance." In her letter she went on to say, "We are proud that you, and other representatives of our state, have had a part in it."

The resolution was as follows: "It is the sense of the Congress that it should be a fundamental objective of the foreign policy of the United States to support and strengthen the United Nations and to seek its development into a world federation open to all nations with defined and limited powers adequate to preserve peace and prevent aggression through the enactment, interpretation and enforcement of world law."

Valley Forge Site Of Scout Jamboree

The Boy Scouts of America has selected Valley Forge, Pa., for its second National Scout jamboree in 1950, according to word received by Monmouth council. Over 30,000 Boy Scouts from every state and all U. S. territories will camp together from June 30 to July 6, 1950, on the site made famous by the winter encampment of General George Washington and his Continental army from Dec. 19, 1777, to June 19, 1778.

The national jamboree will be the climax of the Boy Scouts' two-year crusade to "Strengthen the Army of Liberty."

Parking Meter Surveys Differ At Keyport

Borough Council To Hold Public Hearing Tuesday

Seven bids for relaying water mains in the borough were received by the Keyport mayor and council Monday night. The contract was awarded to the low bidder, Guy Valle & Sons, Westfield, for $24,-555.

Councilman Everett S. Poling, chairman of the police committee, again brought up the matter of parking meters for discussion. He stated he had made an investigation and reported that the meters range in price from $50 to $84 each, and approximately 144 meters would be needed. According to Councilman Poling the meters could be installed at no cost to the borough with the fees collected used in all or in part to pay for the meters.

In an informal survey of the business places made by Chief LeRoy Sproul at the request of Councilman Poling May 6 it was reported that 66 merchants favored the meters, 11 were against them, seven would like a trial and one limited the plan to one-hour meters.

Councilman Poling also revealed that after the survey was completed he heard that objection was registered by the Keyport Businessmen's association, who oppose the plan at this time because the survey was made by a member of the police department. Ernest Hubbard, who is employed locally, was selected as mutually agreeable to make an unbiased survey and his findings were 28 for the meters, 41 against, six no comment and three willing for a trial.

Merrill H. Wallace, secretary of the Businessmen's association, told the officials that an original survey made by the association had revealed a result similar to the latter survey.

Councilman Poling commented that he had had the survey made by the police in good faith and to determine the feeling of the merchants, but stated that he felt at this time the council should decide whether they wanted to proceed or abandon the plan as he did not want to request representatives of the parking meters to appear and explain the workings of the meters unless the borough planned to install them.

At the suggestion of Councilman Robert E. Hartman it was decided to have a meeting of the council and the Businessmen's association to confer on the plan and later it was decided to hold a public hearing on the parking meters next Tuesday in the borough hall at 8:30 p. m.

Mayor Charles E. Applegate reported that the hearing on the charge that Edward E. Cohen, local liquor licensee, charged with selling to a minor had been postponed until June 30 at 8 p. m. The mayor stated that Mr. Cohen had entered a not guilty plea and that John M. Pillsbury, who will try the case for the borough, was unable to be present at the time previously set for the hearing.

Highlands Field Is Accepted

Dedication Planned For July

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Highlands Living War Memorial, Inc., held last week at the offices of Benjamin Gruber, Highlands, the athletic field constructed by the corporation was accepted. The final acceptance occured after a year of construction work under William Kohl of Lincroft on property located on Navesink ave. and donated to the Highlands Living War Memorial by Haik Kavookjian.

The field will be dedicated at a ceremony to be conducted in July, and plans are being formulated by the corporation for a celebration at which the general public will be invited. The athletic field became a reality after a drive for funds among the residents of Highlands. The new field will be named Kavookjian field in honor of the donor.

Announcement is also made that the use of the field will be restricted to residents of Highlands and their athletic opponents and may be used only upon application to the corporation through Ernest A. Vaughan. All applications should be addressed to Mr. Vaughan of Bay ave., Highlands, and dates will be alloted by him for the use of the field.

3-Car Accident Caused By Unknown Driver

An unknown driver caused a three-car accident Sunday night on Route 34, two miles north of Colt's Neck.

Miss Mary Jane Cavanaugh, 121 South 11th st., Newark, was traveling north on Route 34 when an unidentified driver forced her into the south-bound lane. Her car struck the rear of a car owned and operated by Frank Drout of Lewisburg, Pa. Drout's car ran into another car owned and driven by Richard Johnson of Asbury Park.

Mrs. Loretta Johnson, who was in the car with her husband, was taken to Fitkin hospital, where she was treated for injuries to her left shoulder and neck. She was released after treatment.

Red Bank Man Arrested On Wife's Complaint

Gilbert Dahigren, 31 Madison ave., Red Bank, was arrested at 7:30 Sunday night at the Pleasant inn on a complaint by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Dahigren, who claimed that her husband while intoxicated had used loud profane language.

Dahigren, who appeared before Magistrate John V. Crowell Monday morning, pleaded not guilty and asked for a postponement of one week so he would have time to acquire counsel. He was released on $500 bail and ordered to reappear next Monday morning.

Fred Morf Invents Drying Device

The United States patent office has granted a patent number on a "Dessicator Cartridge" to Frederick P. Morf of Little Silver. Special drying devices or "dessicators" are frequently inserted within the chambers of various types of equipment for the purpose of eliminating or reducing the moisture content.

However, according to Mr. Morf, the prior forms of these contrivances have not been entirely satisfactory. For example, one arrangement has comprised a small, hollow, goose-necked and piped container that is filled substantially with silica-gel or other suitable water-absorbing material to the upper surface of which the air has continuous access. In use, the moisture-absorbing stock, when fully impregnated, is discarded and replaced. The disadvantages of this appliance may be described as follows: (1) it takes up space outside of the equipment being dried; (2) the absorbing action is restricted by the small area of the goose-neck connector and is, therefore, relatively slow and inefficient, and (3) access to all of the absorbent material is difficult and the reactivating thereof for further use is inconvenient.

In another instance the silica-gel is confined within a canister within an oven. However, these ovens are usually cumbersome and require fuel and special operational care.

It is the object of Mr. Morf's invention to overcome these limitation and, basically, his apparatus consists of a cylindrical outer body within which are two spaced-apart cylindrical screens as the principal feature of his construction, an electric heating element, as well as the moisture-absorbing stock, is placed between the screens.

It is claimed that the apparatus of this invention may be attached inside the equipment being dried, that it has a relatively large moisture-absorbing surface, and that it may be hermetically sealed for storage when not in use. Furthermore, the moisture-absorbing substance may be reactivated without being removed from the cartridge by means of the aforementioned electrical unit, which may be connected to a battery or an ordinary 110-volt circuit.

Mr. Morf states that his invention may be manufactured and used by or for the government of the United States for governmental purposes without the payment of any royalty thereon to him.

Serafini—Unger Nuptials

Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Unger

Miss Emily Serafini and Roy J. Unger were married Saturday at Chapel Two at Fort Monmouth, by Father Finnegan, Army Chaplains corps. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Serafini of Ave. of Two Rivers, Rumson, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis J. Unger of Long Branch.

The chapel was decorated with calla lilies and ferns. John Ebner, soloist, sang Schubert's "Ave Maria" and "Because". A wedding supper for the bridal party was held at The Colony at Rumson.

Mr. Serafini gave his daughter in marriage. She was dressed in a white satin gown, styled with a tight fitting torso length bodice, trimmed with a Peter Pan collar and small buttons, long sleeves coming to points at the cuffs and a train. Her fingertip length veil was French imported lace, scalloped at the edges, and held in place by a coronet of lilies of the valley. Her crescent shape bouquet was made of white baby orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Paula Periale of Belmar was maid of honor. Her blue organdy gown was made with an Empire waistline on princess lines. She had a matching Dutch styled cap, and carried a crescent shape bouquet of pink roses.

Russell Voorhees of Long Branch was best man, and Walter Pomphrey of Rumson, ushered.

The bride's mother was dressed in light blue crepe, with matching shirred jacket, navy blue accessories and a corsage of gardenias. The bridegroom's mother wore pink crepe, with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Upon their return from a Canadian wedding trip the couple will be at home at 48 Slocum pl., Long Branch. The bride wore a gray gabardine suit for traveling, with black accessories, a pink hat and a scarf of mink furs.

The bride was graduated from Rumson high school, where she won the Victory Memorial Park scholarship. She was graduated cum laude from Rider college at Trenton with a bachelor of science degree. She teaches shorthand and typewriting at Monmouth Junior college at Long Branch.

The bridegroom enlisted in the Navy upon his graduation from Long Branch high school in 1940. On returning he attended Monmouth Junior college, and is now enrolled in the College of Fine Arts at Syracuse university.

ROBBERY ATTEMPT.

An unsuccessful attempt was made last Friday night to rob the safe of the Rolston Waterbury real estate agency, 60 West Front st., Red Bank. Whoever made the attempt, gained entry through the rear window. The safe was found Saturday morning considerably damaged but unopened. Nothing was taken from the office.

Marlpit Hall Was Built By Taylors In 1684

(By Avery Giles)

This spring, the Rome to which all week-end roads lead, seems to be the countryside. And the countryside of Monmouth county offers priceless opportunities to the rugged individualist for whom the glamor of storied shrines shines brighter than the bright lights of local roadhouses. For this stalwart Old Guardsman, the hospitable door of historic Middletown's Marlpit hall is opened wide.

Tramping south along King's highway, just before the road curves east into Middletown village, the visitor will spy, immediately on his left, an old two-story farmhouse with white-shingled walls supporting a weathered brown roof, standing on the terraced site of an ancient marlpit. Making his way to the open Dutch door, he will be cordially greeted by Mrs. Anna R. Aronson, custodian of the edifice erected by the Taylor family in 1684 and presented to the Monmouth County Historical society by the late Mrs. J. Amory Haskell of Middletown and New York city in the fall of 1935. This magnificent old colonial structure, restored in all its ancient splendor together with a loaned collection of furniture, was first opened to the public on June 6, 1935.

Mrs. Aronson will explain to her guest that the twin glass "bulls' eyes" in the upper section of the hand-carved door cast the beams of the moon in rainbow colors on the massive floorboards of the corridor. This old white door with its antique brass knocker and keyless iron lock has been inspected and praised by representatives of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The entrance hall, with its old portraits, wooden hat pegs and the antique chest loaned by the Luyster family of Middletown road, extends the length of the house; and a closet, in its northeastern corner, reveals samples of the sturdy plaster, composed of weeds and mud, which girded the original walls of Marlpit hall.

An interesting feature of the first room to the left of the corridor on the ground floor is a built-in blue corner cabinet. In the cabinet's naturalwood interior, displayed on shelves against a handsomely inlaid background of a rising sun, are dishes, cups and saucers, glass bottles and other priceless heirlooms of days gone by. In the opposite corner, to the left of the open fireplace, stands an antique grandfather's clock, which, in addition to the time of day, records the days of the month and phases of the moon.

The room next door has the cosier atmosphere of a study. Here again is the inevitable open fireplace, this time with a number of doored deep shelves built over its top for storage purposes. The double catch at either side of the small-paned windows serves as a mute reminder of the old belief that "a man's house is his castle." The door to this room is furnished with a time-worn lock, opened by a massive key.

The largest room on the ground floor, with a portrait of Edward Taylor over the fireplace, flanked by the mace and staff of his office of New York city alderman, opens from the right of the main corridor. Mr. Taylor, who lived from 1779 to 1845, was also a seafaring merchant and trader who brought many treasures from the Far East back home to Middletown. He was grandfather to the late Miss Mary Holmes Taylor, the last of her line to live in Marlpit hall. A recently acquired relic on display in this room is an eighteenth century doctor's traveling trunk, covered with deerhide and lined with pages from a Trenton, New Jersey, newspaper, printed in 1833. The trunk, which is 170 years old, has been loaned to Marlpit hall by Douglas Cavanaugh of Red Bank.

Beyond, in the east wing, is the original kitchen, with its tremendous cooking fireplace, extending nine feet, eight inches, across the entire width of the room. Here, near the fireplace, are old waffle irons, a coffee roaster, butter presser, bacon cooker, iron stand and a bread mixer hollowed from the stump of a tree. On the wall opposite the fireplace hangs a small arsenal of flintlocks and rifles, powder horns and hunting knives. This collection includes President Zachary Taylor's pocket knife and a rifle used by one of General Custer's unfortunate cavalrymen at the Battle of the Little Big Horn. Beneath the arsenal stands a huge seaman's chest, its top hollowed from a single tree.

Ascending the wide board stairway to the second floor, Mrs. Aronson will lead the way into the workshop under the eaves, containing a low-set writing desk, a foot loom, a boot jack and an old cobbler's bench reminiscent of the one used by Dr. Manette in Dickens's "Tale of Two Cities."

The first bedroom on the right, furnished with a 300-year-old canopied bed with wooden steps leading up to it and an open fireplace, has floorboards nearly two feet wide. A lone bed-warmer bolsters Middletown's reputation so far as the famous colonial indoor sport of bundling is concerned.

The other bedroom, fronting on the southern side of the hall, contains another "four poster" canopied with a gaily colored India print dating to 1720. Under this bed stands the old-fashioned children's trundle-bed, which, each evening, was taken out from its hideaway, to serve as the sleeping place of an early American tot.

So, convinced that greater hospitality could not have been extended even to General George Washington himself when he stopped there during the Monmouth campaign of 1778, the Old Guardsman will wend his contented way down the gravel footpath to the road, rejoicing that he can return any Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday or Sunday afternoon to Marlpit hall, Middletown.

Illiteracy data last collected by the Census Bureau in 1920 showed illiteracy in the United States had been cut to 4.3 per cent.

Red Bank Man Held in Death Of Samuel Brown

Arthur Williams Is In County Jail on Manslaughter Charge

Arthur Williams, 11½ Central ave., was arrested Saturday night on a charge of manslaughter in the death of Samuel Brown, 228 Bridge ave.

Brown suffered a fractured skull Saturday night either as the result of being hit or falling, and was dead on arrival at Riverview hospital, where he was taken by the Red Bank first aid squad.

According to the story Williams told police, he was standing in front of Morrine's restaurant on West Bergen pl., when Brown came out of Chris Williams' bar and walked across the street toward him. Brown, who according to Williams was drunk, came up on the sidewalk and tried to start a conservation with Williams. The latter said that he told Brown he didn't want to talk and gave Brown a push. Williams said that Brown stumbled and fell backward, striking his head on the ground.

Williams started to walk home, but returned to the scene when he heard the ambulance. He is being held in the county jail pending further investigation by police.

Brown is survived by his wife, Florence, of Baltimore, Md. four sisters, Mrs. Mary Laws and Mrs. Amanda Andrews of Westfield, Mrs. Sadie Harper of Newark and Mrs. Lillian Ford of Red Bank; two brothers, William Brown of Trenton and Brents Brown of Lynchburg, Va.

The funeral was held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the F. Leon Harris funeral home, 240 Shrewsbury ave., with Rev. Richard Councill officiating. The body was taken to Farmville, Va., for interment in the Monroe Baptist church cemetery.

Wall Township Girl Dies From Sleeping Pills

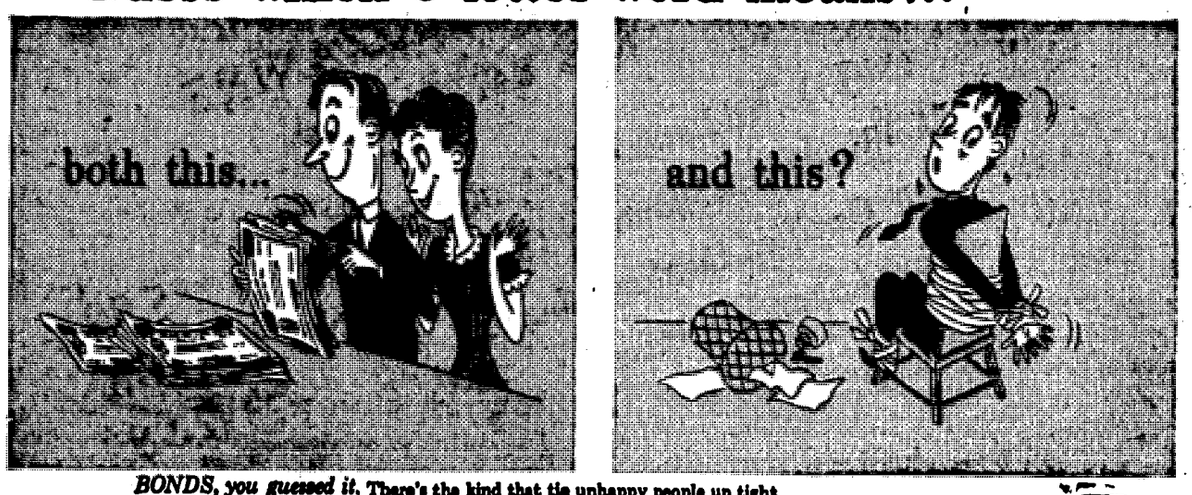

Miss Jane Fischer, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fischer of Harold ave., Wall township, died last Thursday night at Fitkin hospital from an overdose of sleeping pills.

The girl was taken to the hospital Wednesday morning. Drugs were rushed in from Philadelphia and the Ciba Pharmaceutical Co. of Summit in an effort to save her life.

Dr. Frederick Hummel said that he was sure that Miss Fischer did not take her life intentionally, but that she probably made an incorrect estimate of the strength of the pills she took.

VOLUME LXXI, NO. 51. RED BANK, N. J., THURSDAY, JUNE 16, 1949 SECTION TWO—PAGES 1 TO 16

MONMOUTH PARK opens tomorrow and the fever is on . . . "Sure things" have been a dime-a-dozen the past week, even before entries have been posted. It's wonderful . . . Based on the number of requests put to a "pore old weekly sports reporter" for Annie Oakleys, a fair estimate of the opening day crowd should be two million.

Track officials outdid themselves in arranging their annual open house for the press. About 1,400 were served, including brass from all walks as well as the fourth estate . . . Governor Alfred Driscoll's appearance spikes the well-worn rumor that he wouldn't visit a race track. Attorney General Ted Parsons was with him.

Ted Husing, jockey of another trade, added to the big time of the afternoon. He chewed his chicken a la king in the company of Toots Shor, a gentleman who wines and dines celebrities to make a living . . . Jim Milton won't be steward at Monmouth Park this year. Well up in the 70's, Mr. Milton is in rough physical shape. Having put in 60 years in the horse racing game, it must be tough for him to quit. But, moreover, Monmouth Park and thoroughbred horse racing loses a man who knows his business.

Twould be satisfying if officials at Monmouth Park insist that off time be somewhere near scheduled post time. Those "extra long" walks by the outrider are annoying. New York and Camden tracks hit post time pretty nearly on the button . . . Pete Egan tells us that Jack Pryce, patrol judge for the coming meeting, used to spell his name 'Plyce' when he rode for Tom Healy.

Ted Smits of Allenhurst, general sports editor of the Associated Press, took in Sunday's party at the track with "Spike" Classen, ace sports man for the A.P. Our standby, Frank Eck, A.P. newsfeatures sports ed, was also in the party . . . Alfred Robertson, patrol judge at Monmouth, rode for C. V. Whitney when that gentleman owned Brookdale . . . Monmouth's stable area gets better looking every year. Trainers are unanimous in claiming backstretch conditions at Oceanport are among the best in the East.

A union meeting is slated for tonight, at which time the subject of out-of-state mutuel department employees is supposed to be discussed. If it comes off, it should be a warm session . . . We'll continue to maintain that it's the job of politicians and legislators to force the issue of hiring Jersey residents. Requiring a man to be a registered voter in the Garden state would be one answer . . . Red Bank high's Coach Frank Pingitore will be back again as special assistant to General Manager Ed Brennan . . . Tony Sharabba again will be on deck. He's in the admissions department.

Wilfred Mullin again assigned as patrol judge. He used to be track superintendent . . . Arthur Godfrey helped get things started at the track . . . Horace Wade, one of the nation's better chroniclers on horse racing, knee deep in press releases and telephone calls. It's his job to keep the big time and small fry newspapermen happy about Monmouth Park . . . Every year at this time, we're forced to repeat the ancient tale about the fellow who said, upon entering the race track, "Hope I break even today. I need the money."

MAUREEN O'BRIEN visited Clementon Friday, romping to victories in her specialty, the backstroke, and the free style. Her work swelled the trophy case at the O'Brien homestead, the young lady taking her bows along with such national headliners as Joe Verdeur.

The victories remind us that the proposed testimonial for her still hasn't materialized. In talking to Ray E. Taylor, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, we learned that it continues to be in the offing.

Considering the praise which was heaped on Red Bank for the wonderful reception staged for Maureen's Apr. 23 national championship, it seems that two months is quite a long period to arrange such a testimonial.

Since the first mention was made of the testimonial, several localities have asked us how they could join in paying tribute to the lovely aquabelle. In each case, we've referred them to Mr. Taylor, stating it most likely would be a joint service club affair.

With summer vacations coming up, we're certain many Red Bankers would like to see arrangements for the affair completed. The champ takes off for Texas in August and if the next two months fly by as quickly as did the past two, it doesn't seem unlikely that the testimonial won't be held until the li'l gal gets off the train from the '52 Olympics.

MRS. PHILIP BOWERS, the lady who is proposing a Knee Pants Baseball league for Red Bank youngsters in the 9-14 year-old group, tells us she has received good response to her idea.

Several local men have volunteered to help operate the league. More are needed, but at least there is a start. At this writing, a site must be obtained since activities at Red Bank high's athletic field preclude adding another league.

Finding a field big enough for junior baseball is quite a problem. It's not the only one, to be sure, but it's probably the biggest one. If you've got a lot you'd like cleaned off, give the lady a phone call. This thing might click yet. It should.

EATONTOWN'S MAYOR and council rate hearty applause for the action they took last week in buying a playground-park. Located just behind the main business section, the 14-acre tract is ideal for the purpose.

In discussing the purchase, Councilman Fred Morris mentioned something which fits Red Bank, Shrewsbury and other county towns. He praised the move as being one of "looking to the future." Other towns, he pointed out, didn't make provisions when they could and now find themselves without room.

Fair Haven, Little Silver and Highlands are among the boroughs which have taken steps to provide playground and park facilities for its youngsters. So worthy are such projects that service clubs, firemen and civic leaders gladly co-operate in offering their time, services and labors.

With building in the county at such a high level, it should be obvious that new houses mean new children. Certainly this is evident in the cries for additions to schools. Red Bank is tightly pinched for adequate playground space and the situation will not become less serious.

A ride up New York's Westside highway, with its numerous tennis courts, softball and baseball diamonds, handball courts and the like, should be all that one needs to realize how many communities here in "the country" have missed the boat and continue to keep missing it in regards to caring for the welfare of its youth of today and tomorrow. Somebody should do something about it.

INCIDENTS AND INCIDENTALS:—Amos T. Dwight's death removes from the sports scene a truly fine gentleman and a golfer who years ago traveled the links in the top bracket of national amateurs. A quiet, philanthropic man, Mr. Dwight will be missed by the many who knew and greatly admired him.

Frank Maloney, the boy who helped Eatontown Junior Legion defeat Red Bank a week ago, is a sixth grader in St. James. We mention it because he's one of "Tats" Ratti's charges. Ratti, who a few seasons back was one of this section's really good ball players, typifies the best that Junior Legion ball represents. "Tats" doesn't wait until a boy has proved himself in high school ball. He gets 'em young and tries to develop them. That's the way it should be.

Fred Merriman is reported to be using a hand lotion to keep his mitts soft and attractive. Though we worried about him softening up his golf grip, word is he toured Old Orchard in 75 Sunday . . . Angelo Petraglia scored an ace on Fort Monmouth's 150-yard 17th. Playing with Proc Hague, Angelo needed a 72 to win a bet. On the 17th tee, he had 66. That meant he had to birdie the last two holes. Instead, he aced and parred. The feat left Hague a little ajar, but the brother managed a neat 74 anyway.

Golfer Ed Johnson of Rumson receiving the good wishes of his fairway friends. He and wife Marie have opened the C Brite Launderette in Sea Bright . . . Ed Danowitz, Marine Corps captain, is in California studying the Russian language. He had been coaching the Parris Island team, members of which were guests of the Yanks in spring training . . . Arnie Melloy, star basketball and track man for Fort Monmouth, signed for another three-year hitch . . . Henry Cross, who helped Frank Mazza and Frank Pingitore in officiating the county rifle championships Saturday, coached Georgetown's freshman rifle team which won the freshman intercollegiate championship.

Randy Cook, another former great ballplayer in this section, is coaching the Fair Haven Merchants, a new outfit . . . The Roller Derby hits the boards in Newark's Ruppert stadium Monday . . . Don't forget the donkey baseball game Wednesday night at Red Bank's athletic field. It'll be worth the price of admission to see Elmer Hesse talk to one of the burros.

The Red Bank Orioles have won their second straight game. They're looking for bookings with clubs in the 15-year-old group. Ralph Mazzucca, 39 Shrewsbury ave., is manager . . . Sorry to hear that death has claimed our pal, Georgie Roop. He was a great roller skater in his younger days. Members of the Theatrical Stage Employees international paid him high tribute Monday night when they met to honor Red Bank's local on its 30th anniversary. Roy "Big Sam" Snyder is president of the local local.

Caseys Cop County Title

Jim Baruch, captain of the Monmouth county high school rifle championship team, holds two trophies awarded Red Bank Catholic high school Saturday in Red Bank armory. Standing, left, is Patrolman Frank Mazza, Casey and Buc coach and tourney director, and, right, Alfred Ceppaluni, proprietor of the Fifth Avenue Cleaners and Dyers. Mr. Ceppaluni offered the beautiful trophy Baruch holds in his left hand. For permanent possession, it must be won three times.

The other trophy, gift of the Red Bank-Middletown-Little Silver P. B. A., is an annual tournament award. Shown kneeling are, left to right, Richard Rathmacher, Fred Hall, Bob Hoffman and Carl Zehring, other members of the squad. Baruch also received a medal for being individual high scorer. He led the victors with 98-92-76—266. Summaries of the championship are elsewhere in this issue. The Red Bank Benevolent association trophy went to Leonardo high school for second place and John Guglieri's Central bar trophy went to Red Bank high school for third place.

Gulistans Defeat Towners, Share Lead

Rangers Win in Tenth Inning— Take Third Place in Shore League

Dropping an 8 to 7 game to the Gulistans at Freehold Sunday, Red Bank Towners found themselves deadlocked for first place with the county seat team.

Though Red Bank outhit the Gulistans, 9 to 7, the Towners never could quite overcome the four runs handed Freehold by Pitcher "Hank" O'Hern in the first inning. O'Hern hit two batters and another was on via Harry Estelle's bobble, loading the sacks. O'Hern promptly walked Bob Scott to force in the first run and Dan Federici poked a single to drive in two more runs. A ground-out produced the fourth tally.

Freehold added two more in the third on two singles and a walk after Red Bank had dented home plate once on an unearned run. In the fifth Red Bank appeared to have a real rally going. Stoecker led off with a single, going to third on Ray Sanborn's double. After John Mulvihill flied out, Ralph Mazzucca tripled, scoring two runs. Jim Genovese grounded out, however, and Les Carbone fanned to end the threat. In the next inning, though, Sanborn drove in two more runs after two were out. Gray singled and Stoecker was walked. Then came Sanborn's second straight two-bagger, with Stoecker streaking all the way home from first.

Ray Sanborn Clouts Ball

Sanborn figured in the next rally, too. This came in the eighth. The two-run production put the Towners in temporary command, the Gulistans bouncing back in their half to again go into a one-run lead. Gray opened the inning with a walk and came home on Sanborn's triple. The latter crossed the platter when Ralph Mazzucca's grounder was flubbed.

Gil Toon, who fanned nine Red Bankers in going the victory route, helped his own game by singling to open up Freehold's half of the eighth. Jerry Wasko promptly sent him scurrying home on a mighty double. Wasko took third on Doug Louis' ground out and came in with the winning counter on Sam McGackin's single.

Sanborn, who drove in three runs, had a banner day, getting four in five appearances. O'Hern lasted until the seventh, when Fred Mazzucca batted for him. Joe Megill relieved O'Hern and was charged with the defeat.

Legion Juniors End Loss Streak

Oakhurst, Asbury Bow to Locals

Unleashing the power Coach Vallee DeFazio realized was latent, Red Bank's Junior American Legion baseball team the past week-end scored two important victories.

Banging out 15 hits Friday night, the locals took Oakhurst, 20-3, in a county league game. Sunday afternoon, again on Red Bank's field, the boys scored their first win in the national Legion tournament, taking Asbury Park, 6-5. Victory over Asbury was sweet revenge, Red Bank having been smothered by them in the first meeting.

Alvin Griggs was Red Bank's handiest with the hickory. In eight appearances at the platter, he tagged six hits, including two home runs. In Friday's game he went three for three. Sunday he tallied the winning run in the ninth inning when he singled to open the inning, coming home on a three-base error by Asbury's third baseman. In the fifth, he had tied up the game at 6-5 when he opened up the inning with a home run.

Allan Stern, Rumson high's fireballer, pitched both victories. He set Oakhurst back on a three-hit job Friday and came back Sunday with a five-hit stint against Asbury.

Gene's Milk Bar Scores 19-9 Win

Gene's Milk Bar of Red Bank has organized a softball team, which last night defeated Ruth & Phil's Soda Shop at Spring Lake Heights, 19 to 9. The team, players on which average between 17 and 22, are looking for games. Those interested should contact Joe Sestito, 98 Catherine st.

Pete DiPonte led the attack against the Soda team with a three-run homer. Collecting three safeties each for the Red Bankers were Bob Chadwick, Bill Barton, John Salantino and Lou Ingrassia.

Kretowicz Opens Day Camp June 29

Miss Ann Belknap To Be Assistant

Adam A. Kretowicz, athletic director of Red Bank Catholic high school, will open his third annual summer day camp for boys and girls in the kindergarten-to-eighth-grade age group June 29. It will run until Aug. 12.

Sessions will be held Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. A bus will pick up the children in the rear of St. James church each morning. Special transportation cases can be arranged for home pick-ups.

Miss Ann Belknap, who has seven years' experience in girls' camping, will assist Kretowicz in the camp's operation. She is a certified American Red Cross life saver and first aid instructor.

The camp will be held at Rockefeller estate in Lakewood three times a week and at McGuire's grove, Middletown, twice a week. The program will include first aid, sports, games, general and corrective exercises, hikes and nature study, fishing, swimming, swimming instruction, weekly hot dog roasts and watermelon contests, and a special morning course on safety precautions with fire, water, traffic and in the home.

Applications still are being accepted. Those interested can contact Kretowicz at his home, 16 East Bergen pl.

WIN STREAK STOPPED

A three-run rally in the eighth inning of their game Monday night gave Point Pleasant Pelicans a 6-4 victory over Fort Monmouth's Signaleers. The defeat for the soldiers marked the end of Pitcher Charlie Asbury's string of victories, which he had stretched to seven.

Monmouth Park Opens Tomorrow

Kingston Purse is Featured Race— Salvator Mile to Be Run Saturday

Monmouth Park race track tomorrow afternoon opens for a 47-day meeting, five more days than it ran in 1948. Feature race will be the Kingston Purse. Saturday, the nearby oval will present the Salvator Mile, a race which posthumously honors the great horse of that name who set a world's speed mark for the mile on the old Monmouth Park straightaway when the thoroughbred sport flourished back in 1890.

Among outstanding horses named for Saturday's $10,000 gallop are Bug Juice, a recent Belmont Park winner; Rippey, one of the best sprinters along the Seaboard; Up Beat, who equalled the track record for six furlongs at Belmont; Flashco, winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita Maturity; Loser Weeper, stakes winner from A. G. Vanderbilt's barn, and Round View, winner of the $25,000 Monmouth Handicap two years ago.

Track officials, led by Amory L. Haskell, president of Monmouth Park Jockey club, expect a good year. Last season, the track handled $48,356,635 in 42 days and attendance topped 660,000, both new records. They anticipate a drop of from five to ten per cent from 1948's high money mark, but expect that attendance will stay about even or increase.

This will be the fourth modern-day meeting and the picture the track presents is a vastly different one from that of 1946, which opening was twice delayed due to construction difficulties.

Changes have been made to the clubhouse and grandstand and painting has given the entire plant a new look. The infield has improved over any previous year and the running oval itself is reported to be in first-class shape. A new lounge has been installed in the grandstand's main floor and the clubhouse mezzanine is covered. Something new will be the picnic grounds in the large grove of trees adjacent to the parking lot. Tables and benches have been placed there so that lunches can be eaten in cool comfort while awaiting the first race.

Transportation to the track spreads to each adjoining state. Special trains direct to the grandstand apron will come from Philadelphia, New York and Newark. Two excursion boats will make daily trips to Atlantic Highlands. One comes from 40th st., Manhattan, and the other from 69th st., Brooklyn.

Post time is 2:30 p. m., with daily double wagering in vogue for the first and second races. The doubles' windows close at 2:15 p. m.

County Dog Show Set for Sunday At Rumson Club

Opens at 10 A. M.; Frelinghuysen Reports Huge Entry List

Monmouth County Kennel club's 19th annual dog show, which will be held Sunday at Rumson Country club, has drawn a huge number of entries.

Thomas T. K. Frelinghuysen, club president, said this week that for the second time since the war, boxers have proved the most popular. There are 36 entered. Dachshunds last year had the largest number of entries, but the previous year the boxers led the field.

The Schipperke club of America has designated the Rumson show its specialty show of the year, resulting in this breed being in second place with 35 entries. Officers of the club are Miss Claudia Lyon and Miss F. Isabel Ormiston, both of Bernardsville. A highlight of the show will be a parade of American Kennel club Schipperke champions and Schipperkes which have been awarded obedience titles during the year.

Other popular breeds and the number of entries are Irish Setters, 29; Collies, 25; Great Danes, 23; Cocker Spaniels, 23; Dachshunds, 23; German Shepherds, 19; Doberman Pinschers, 19; English Setters, 19; English Cocker Spaniels, 14; Poodles, 14; Beagles, 13; Scottish Terriers, 13; Pugs, 12; Chihuahuas, 12, and wire-haired fox terriers, Boston Terriers and Bulldogs, 11 each. There are 72 breeds. Judging begins promptly at 10 a. m.

Of great local interest will be the four children's handling classes. Many county children between the ages of ten and 16 already have entered. Children still wishing to compete may do so by communicating with Mrs. Alfred King, Rumson, secretary of the country club.

Sunday afternoon, Pete, a Border Collie owned by John Lockwood of Cooksville, Md., will give an exhibition of founding up sheep and Pekin ducks.

The show will be held on the shore of the South Shrewsbury river. Entrance to the grounds will be gained at the south end of Buena Vista ave. Net proceeds will be distributed among Riverview, Monmouth Memorial and Fitkin hospitals.

'Knee Pants' Loop Plans Progress

Volunteers to assist in organizing a Knee Pants Baseball league in Red Bank meet tonight at the home of Councilman and Mrs. Philip J. Bowers, 257 River rd.

Others interested in helping the loop's formation are invited to attend. To date, Edgar Fennessey, Ben Ashin, Lou Wilson, Rodney Leighton, John Kling, Bethune Jones, Police Sgt. Leroy McKnight and Patrolmen Ed Brooks and Phil Jiannine have indicated their willingness to serve either as coaches or umpires.

Mrs. Bowers yesterday said she has received several small donations to help defray cost of the league, an indication that the league may be able to escape searching for financial sponsorship.

Still to be obtained is a baseball field. Mrs. Bowers has been busy looking over available sites and after tonight's session feels certain that a suitable tract will come to light.

Since school's closing has moved in so rapidly, youngsters interested in playing "organized baseball" will be advised in periodic bulletins posted in the windows of The Register and Katsin's pharmacy as to the status of the league. A meeting of candidates for the four proposed teams will be called as soon as arrangements solidify. Candidates will come from the 9 to 14 year old age group.

Belford Blue Sox Club Earle Nine

Johnnie Murphy's Belford Blue Sox go through a busy week-end, visiting Fort Hancock Saturday at 2 p. m. to meet the Coast Artillery nine and playing host to the Union Beach American Legion team at 2:30 p. m.

Last week the Sox pounded out a 15-hit production to wallop the sailors and Marines of Earle naval ammunition depot 16 to 3. Lambertson, meanwhile, had things well under control, giving up only four hits. Ted Lauer, Leonardo high's star athlete, led the Sox batters with three taps in five appearances. Craig had a perfect day with two for two, and Hillyer, Fix and Stover came up with two safeties each.

BILL HOLLAND AT TRENTON

Bill Holaind, this year's Indianapolis Speedway winners, will head the line-up in the 100-mile national championship speed classic Sunday at the state fair grounds, Trenton. The big race begins at 3 p. m., with qualifying trials lated for 12:45 p. m.

Swenson Wins Seniors' Tourney

Continues Pace In Rumson Golf

Alvin C. Swenson last weeks' pace setter in Rumson Country club's seniors' golf tournament, Saturday finished the 36-hole route with a 101 to win the event with a net 147, nosing out Edgar W. Heller, who ended with a net 148.

Mr. Heller improver his position over the previous week, touring the fashionable course in 93. He operates with a 20 handicap, Mr. Swenson with a 24.

In other play at Rumson, Dr. and Mrs. Martin A. Quirk took Sunday's tombstone tournament, ending play on the 20th. Mrs. Louis M. Hague teamed with Geoffrey Mellor for second place. They ended on the 19th. Dr. and Mrs. Quirk posted an 86. Using selected drives, they used half handicaps, plus par.

Johnny Bryan, one of the shores' leading amateur prospects, rapped out a 77 Saturday to capture the match play against par event. He ended even up. He was on his way to a sensational round at the end of the first nine, in which he posted four birdies for one-under-par 36. He slipped to a 41 on the incoming nine, however, to ruin his chances for one of the season's better scores over the long links. Tied for second, one down to par, were George V. Coe, Jr., C. C. DeGersdorff, Mr. Mellor, Carlos D. Kelly and Gordon D. Donald.

Fair Haven Boys Are Unbeaten

Take Monmouth Beach As Francis Stars

The Fair Haven Merchants Sunday at its Knollwood field, made their second start of the season a winning one by dumping Monmouth Beach Boys' club, 8 to 4.

A tight ball game for six innings, when the court was 2 to 1 in the Merchants' favor, things opened up in the seventh. The losers tallied three in their half and Fair Haven pounced on Wickum in their half when the hurler lost his control.

George Francis played an outstanding game at shortstop for Fair Haven, with Murphy doing the heavy bat work. He collected two for three.

This week the Merchants leave Fair Haven to play at Long Branch. The team is coached by Randy Cook, Fair Haven resident, who was one of this section's better semi-pro ball players in the days of the Rumson A. C.

'They're Off' Tomorrow at Monmouth Park

All is in readiness for tomorrow afternoon's opening of Monmouth Park race track for the fourth season in its current history. The Oceanport oval will be a beehive of equine activity through Aug. 10, disbursing more than a million dollars in purse and stakes money. Pictured are the huge grandstand, capable of comfortably accommodating racing patrons, with a field of horses in action in the foreground. Amory L. Haskell, left, is Monmouth Park's president. Edward J. Brennan, right, is general manager.

SURF, FIELD AND STREAM

Timely Notes On The Great Outdoors

BY STEW VAN VLIET

"Stew" VanVliet

Since the very first issue of "Surf, Field & Stream May 9, 1940, my one thought has been to furnish reliable information regarding the movements of fish and game. Anyone who is at all familiar with fish and game, especially salt water fish, knows that their movements are subject to change without notice. Therefore, when I have stated that a certain kind of fish were being caught at a certain place and a certain time on a certain kind of bait, you can bet your bottom dollar that this is so. However, this does not necessarily mean they will be there the next day.

So it is with the striped bass run which, while it lasted, was one of the best runs of big fish, many of which weighed over 40 pounds. By this I don't mean the striped bass run is over by any means, but it is certain that it has slackened up in the past week.

For a while it was impossible to keep up with the names of the lucky anglers and the numbers and weights of their hauls. This condition does not exist at the present writing, and many anglers are returning home empty handed, among them your reporter, who put in approximately 30 hours fishing during the past week, covering around 150 miles of ocean without receiving a single strike.

Among the more fortunate were Drs. Ted Doremus and Manahan, both of Red Bank, fishing aboard the Tookit, Capt. Ad Howland of Rumson, Dr. Doremus boated a 40 and 26 pounder and Dr. Manahan came up with a 29 pounder, while the skipper landed two, 32½ and 25 pounds.

The largest bass caught during the week weighed 52 pounds and was taken by Bill Brown of Monmouth, father of Bobby Brown, Yankee third baseman, while trolling aboard the skiff, Frosty Waters, Capt. Jack Ireland, out of Sea Bright.

Art Hanson, Shrewsbury, landed his first striper, an 18 pounder, aboard the Cracker, Capt. Charley Chinnock, Fair Haven.

Bluefish

The bluefish "blitz," which hit the coast a week ago, came on us so fast that perhaps some of us were a little too optomistic about them. At any rate this reporter has now had time to check the overall picture, both from personal participation and reliable contacts, and has come to the conclusion there is plenty of room for improvement, especially in this section of the coast, which includes Sandy Hook, south to Asbury Park, taking in the Shrewsbury rocks off Monmouth Beach.

Last Saturday we drilled the coast line for ten hours. We met one boat from Staten Island, which claimed a catch of four snapper blues, and another boat, which had one bluefish aboard. However, it is reliably confirmed that a number of commercial fishermen who were chumming, were bringing in several hundred pounds daily. The largest catch reported was 600 pounds. Various other reports indicate large schools of bait fish along the shore. We failed to see any signs of them.

Fluke Fishing on the Upgrade

For the first time in a number of years fluke are showing evidence of a heavy return engagement. Head boats and rowboat tows out of Roxy's, Johnny's and Bahr's landings are turning in excellent scores, with fish weighing up to four pounds. If it continues the way it has started, fluke fishing should be hitting on all six by this coming week-end.

The best spot to "drift" for doormats is off the Point of the Hook. Spearing, live kellies and strips of squid are the preferred baits. However, our favorite bait is a white strip off the underside of a fluke. For a rigging we favor two snell hooks, about a No. 3 or 4, mounted on a three-foot gut leader attached to a two or three-way swivel, a two or three-ounce sinker being mounted on the swivel. This allows the baits to swing free in the current. After you have hooked a fluke, don't bring him right in; let him stay on for a while, the chances are you will get a double.

Off shore you can expect to catch blackfish, sea bass, large, silver eels, a few pollock and, of course, ling. Casters on the Long Branch fishing pier are catching a few fluke, kingfish and blackfish. The same holds for the 16th ave. pier at Belmar.

Fishing Contests

When one speaks of fishing contests it usually means that prizes are awarded for the largest fish—the one weighing the most number of pounds. In the current R. J. Schaefer fishing contest, which now has an entry list of 153 fishing clubs, prizes are awarded to the club scoring the most points (pounds). Also to the individual with the highest score.

We are heartily in favor of fishing contests, as they tend to promote a spirit of friendly competition among sportsmen and put each individual on an honor system. However, in order to win a prize in this type of contest all that is required is to catch a big fish, which can be more or less a matter of luck. A fisherman who knows nothing about the fine points of the game and never before had a fishing rod in his hands stands an equal chance of walking off with top honors as the fellow who has devoted many years of his life in pursuit of the gamey finners.

All that is required for him to win is to be lucky enough to hook the prize fish, be aboard a boat whose skipper knows all the angles, be equipped with a heavy rod and reel with enough gadgets to enable it to do everything but talk.

As a contrast we are glad to see that "The Salt Water Sportsman" is conducting a fishing contest based upon the skill of the angler. Prizes are awarded upon the way the fish was played and the conditions under which it was caught.

In connection with fishing contests, don't forget to stop at Sherwood's sporting goods store, Red Bank, and pick up an entry blank for their contest.

The Dive Bombers

One of the smallest dive bombers in the world is wrapped up in a ball of feathers. She is a little package of TNT no larger than a 25-cent piece. She is as sweet as the morning dew, yet she can be as mean as a wild cat. She is man's friend and her cheerful song ripples in the early morning air like the sound of a bubbling brook. She is our little feathered friend, Miss Jenny Wren.

Jenny can make more sweet sounds than birds four times her size. She has chosen the little house in the dogwood tree for their home. A stray cat approached the tree and Jenny and her mate swooped down on it with a lightning stroke and drove the feline off.

Sixth Grade Wins St. James Meet

300 Youngsters Enter Annual Field Day

The annual grammar school field day at St. James school was held Monday, with the sixth grade boys and girls winning the track meet. Eighth grade girls and sixth grade boys won the respective softball championships and eighth grade boys won the baseball championship.

The sixth graders also were judged best in a 15-minute mass calesthenics and military drill. In all events Ann Schilling was outstanding for the sixth grade girls, while Ed Ostrander of the eighth grade and Lou Mustillo of the sixth grade were point gainers of note.

Soft drinks were served the competitors, gift of Crate's beverages. Officials were Msgr. Joseph T. Casey, Rev. John J. Reilly, Rev. Edward W. Hughes, Joe Madure, Al Thorn, Ralph Marchetti, Walter Pigagé, Bill Benning, Thomas Fitzmaurice and Coach Adam A. Kretowicz, meet director. Special guests were the classroom nuns. There were 300 participants.

Point totals were sixth grade, 86; eighth grade, 75; seventh grade 35; fifth grade, 16 and fourth grade, 11.

place by defeating Keansburg A. C. 5 to 4 in the tenth inning.

An error aided Red Bank in the victory. Charlie Brister singled in the tenth and rounded the bases when Keansburg's third baseman threw wildly in attempting to field Harry Adcock's bunt.

Eddie Bahr suffered the loss. He gave up one less hit than the winning hurler, Bob "Red" Roussell, and had greater control in the pass department. While Roussell gave up 11 walks, Bahr issued but two. Roussell, however, fanned a dozen batters while Bahr got only five via the strikeout route.

Keansburg started out with a two-run lead in the third, but Red Bank came back in the fourth with four runs to take the lead. Keansburg tied it up in the eighth inning, however, necessitating the extra session.

Stage Triple Play

Leonardo Field club suffered more bumps when Freehold A. C. visited them to administer an 11 to 5 shellacking. The game was featured by the ejection of Field Clubbers Cliff and Pete Simpson by Umpire Gregg McGowan, and the execution of a triple play by the losers.

The Simpsons took a walk after Freehold had scored its first run in the second inning, via Brereton's steal of home. The ump called the runner safe, and the Simpsons fruitlessly though vociferously tried to argue the arbiter down.

Leonardo's triple play came too late—the score being 11 to 5 in the nigth—but was expertly accomplished. It came after Malko and Higgins rapped out successive singles. Layton sent a scorching line drive, which Jim Kerrigan nabbed, quickly tossing to Ronnie Carhart at second, doubling Malko and Carhart pegged to First Baseman Donnelly for the third out.

In other games Adelphia put over singletons in the eighth and ninth to beat West Belmar 7 to 6, and at Long Branch Johnny Penta's Democrats were nosed out 2 to 1 by Belmar V.F.W. The Branchers made a determined bid in the final inning, when they scored their only run on a walk and two singles.

Lawrence Wins Lightning Event

Lightning races on the North Shrewsbury river headlined events over the week-end at Monmouth Boat club. Saturday's races were the second eliminations for the Metropolitan District Lightning championship.

Lloyd Lawrence in Bam took full advantage of the brisk westerly winds to come home first, followed in 30 seconds by Johnny Bull in El Toro. Charlie Burd and his Frog II took third honors. The Bon Gre, usually up among the winners, broke a side stay and could not finish, much to the consternation of Skipper June Methot. A protest was filed in this race, but action depends on a decision by the rules committee. If allowed, each boat in the listing, excepting Bam and El Toro, will move up a notch.

There were 14 boats out for Sunday's sailing honors. Temperamental winds changing from light westerly to fair southerly, made for little tacking on the eight-mile course set for a west breeze. Charlie Allaire hit his winning pace again, after loosing two in his Avenger, Bull and Burd were close behind.

Stanlee Wrestles Saturday at Keansburg

Gene Stanlee, 200 pounds of wrestler, who has attracted thousands of women fans to grunt and groan arenas throughout the country, headlines Muskky Jackson's wrestling show Saturday night in Balbach's auditorium, Keansburg.

Known as "The Heartbeat," "The Body' and "Mr. America" Stanlee is a 24-year-old bachelor. Converted from an amateur wrestler and weight lifter, he has scores of medals and trophies for winning performances. He will meet the Boston Irishman, George Lenihan. Lenihan has never been defeated in Keansburg. Television fans will be familiar with contestants in an Australian tag team match also booked. In it will be Rocco Columbo-Tony Cosenza against Red Kirkpatrick-Harry Finkelstein. In the special opening attraction Ace Freeman will meet Steve Karris.

Paris Took Active Part In Jr. College Sports

Charles S. Paris, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Paris of 181 East Bergen pl., who completed a two-year course in journalism last week at Monmouth Junior college, Long Branch, took an active part in athletics and extra-curricular work.

In his first year he was publicity director in the intra-mural basketball league, played second base with the Dodger Dandies softball team, was sports editor of the Outlook, college publication, and was awarded the journalism pin for meritorious service on the news staff.

In his second year he continued as sports editor, was appointed co-manager of the college baseball team, elected president of the Men's Athletic association, vice president of the Press club, member of the all-star baseball team, was awarded a miniature gold softball and was sports editor of the college's first year-book.

He is sports columnist for the Eatontown Sentinel. He was graduated from Red Bank Catholic high school in 1945.

Yacht Club Opens At Sea Bright Tomorrow Nigh.

Band Leader Val Ernie To Offer Yacht Rides To His Dinner Guests

When the Sea Bright Yacht club opens its doors to summer customers tomorrow night the North Jersey coast will have a new "dining-out" place that promises to become popular for its food, music, service and atmosphere.

Val Ernie

Too, it will have this spotlight attraction: When guests want to take time out from dancing they can arrange to make a short river cruise aboard the club's yacht.

Val Ernie, conductor of a name band for many years, is the new operator of the Sea Bright club. He is a familiar personality to prominent tourists who frequent his Patio club at Palm Beach and to cafe society in the famous restaurants, where his orchestra has been featured.

Mr. Ernie has brought to Sea Bright most of his key aides from his Florida club. These include his chef, Mario La Nutti, a specialist in French and Italian cooking over 20 years, and John Ricca, maitre d'hotel, formerly of Bradley's, Palm Beach. At the height of the season there will be a staff of 50 to serve the guests.

A preview of the club, which has been lavishly redecorated, will be given this afternoon at a cocktail party in honor of Grace Jones of Rumson, the interior decorator. This affair will not be open to the public, and admission will be by invitation only. The main festivities being in tomorrow night's opening.

The interior of the club is a blend of color harmony. Sea and shell murals, done in color by Miss Jones, establish a gay and bold atmosphere around the horseshoe bar, which is approached from the entrance porch. Deep green walls and a deep carpeted floor are in the cocktail lounge that leads into the main dining and dancing room.

Miss Jones used a contrast of beige paint and mirrors for the walls, green and white patterned drapes and soft lighting effects to give the main room the "feel" of depth. Separating this room from the bright-awninged marine deck, where other tables are located, is a hip-high row of flower boxes planted with big, leafy plants. Spotlights under the outside windowsills shine on the Shrewsbury river directly beneath them.

There also is an out-of-doors dining area, where those who want seclusion can find it under the stars. There is an arbor-sheltered lane and tables are located here as well as surrounding the dock, where the club yacht will be moored.

Assisting Mr. Ernie in welcoming his guests will be Mr. Ricca, Al and Mrs. Valente and Danny Zack, all fellow associates in the Palm Beach Patio club. In addition to being a full partner in the Patio club management Mr. Ernie also owns a part interest in another popular club at Palm Beach, the Lake Shore.

The Val Ernie orchestra has played at El Morocco and La Rue, New York city; Drake hotel, Chicago; Barclay, Philadelphia; Detroit Athletic club and the Mounds club, Cleveland. Principal artists have remained with the band through the years and have been brought to Sea Bright.

School Holds Parents' Day

Seashore Nursery School Has Program

More than 150 fathers, mothers and their guests from the shore area attended the recent Parents' day exercises at the Seashore Nursery school, West End.

The boys and girls from two to six years entertained the grown-ups with a short program, which included singing, dramatics and social and rhythmic dancing. The performance was given at 10 a. m. by morning session pupils and repeated at 2:30 p. m. by the afternoon group. All-day enrollees participated in both entertainments.

After the program, most parents remained to visit with the teachers and view the youngsters' exhibition of art and general work displayed in one of the classrooms.

The hit of the performance was a dramatic sketch acted out by the children, stressing the vital need of safety when crossing streets. Mrs. Lee Cannon, head teacher, explained to the guests that the program incorporated highlights of the activities planned by her to keep the youngsters occupied on rainy days.

John Cittadino, director, greeted the parents, assisted by his wife Rosemary, who has an active part in the school's management. Mrs. Cannon's staff for the spring session included Mrs. Ann Juska and Mrs. Mary Werle of Long Branch; Mrs. Edith Brokaw, registered nurse, Fair Haven; Mrs. Edna Glazebrook, Rumson, and Mrs. Gladys Wooley of Wayside.

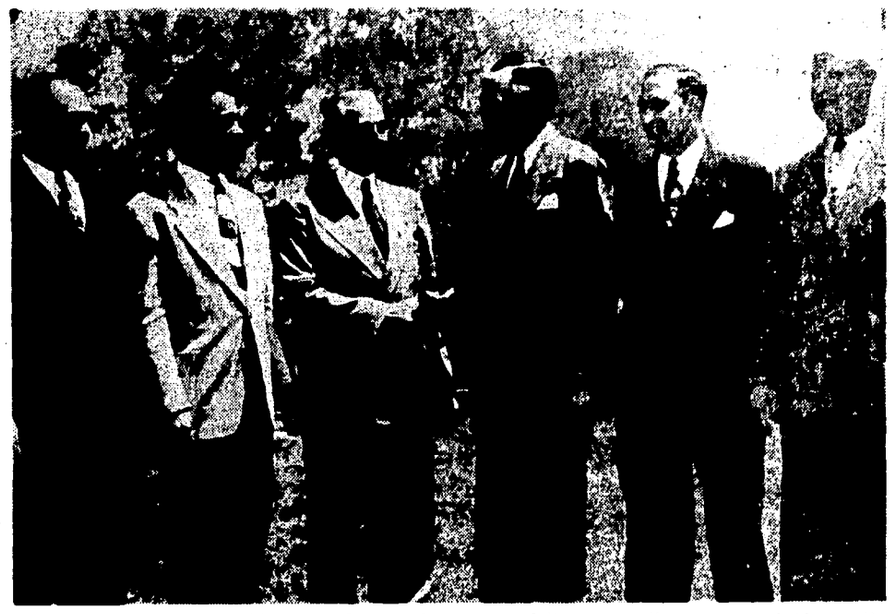

The Seashore Nursery school is approved and certified by the New Jersey State Department of Education. Its summer day camp session for children of nursery school age will begin June 26.

Hazard Hospital Seeks $510,000

A campaign to raise through public subscriptions a fund of $510,000 for construction of a new building to accommodate up to 100 beds for Hazard hospital, Long Branch, was announced yesterday by James R. Barbour, president of the board of governors of the hospital and president of the New Jersey Trust company, Long Branch.

"Two factors are mainly responsible for the acute shortage of hospital beds in Monmouth county," Mr. Barbour said. "First an estimated growth in permanent population of around 30 per cent in the last decade; second, a ruling by the New Jersey state department of institutions and agencies which restricts the number of hospital beds allowed in a given floor space. These two factors, combined with the high percentage of bed-occupancy at Hazard, have forced the board of governors to present the need for building funds to the people whom the hospital has served for more than a quarter-century."

Police Discuss Race Track Traffic Problems

A meeting of police chiefs from Monmouth county and the surrounding area was held recently at the Old Orchard Country club to discuss methods of facilitating traffic during the forthcoming racing season at Monmouth park, June 17 through August 10. Among those conferring with General Manager Edward J. Brennan and other officials of the Monmouth Jockey club were, left to right, F. J. Foggia and Patrolman John Welch of Oceanport; Sheriff Ira Wolcott of Eatontown; Mr. Brennan, Chief Thomas Marks of Long Branch and Chief Harry T. Van Note, Sr., of Red Bank.

A.A.U.W. Holds First Meeting

Mrs. Thomas H. Lafon Names Chairmen

The first business meeting of the Northern Monmouth county branch of the American Association of University Women was held Monday at the home of Mrs. James R. Clarke, Jr., Locust. The event, a picnic, was attended by 35 members.

Last month the Monmouth county branch of A.A.U.W., voted to split into two sections, one in this area and the second in the shore area. Mrs. Thomas H. Lafon of Rumson is president of the Northern group, and other officers are Mrs. John VanderVoort and Mrs. Warren Tyrrell, vice presidents; Mrs. Matthew Lyon, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. E. W. Burnside, treasurer, and Mrs. Millspaugh VanBrackle, recording secretary.

Meetings will be held the first Monday of the month. A special program for recent graduates, women who have been graduated from approved colleges within the past five years, will be started by Mrs. Kenneth Almy of Red Bank. Prospective members are requested to contact her.

Mrs. W. Deming Lewis of Little Silver will be in charge of a new creative writing group. The branch will establish study groups to be supervised by branch members, but they will be open to non-A.A.U.W. women. Membership in each study group is limited to 25 persons.

Chairmen named by Mrs. Lafon are Miss Florence Kridel, auditor; Mrs. Henry Germond, 3d., calendars; Mrs. C. Donald English, education; Mrs. Tyrrell, fellowships; Mrs. Walter Ingram and Mrs. W. G. Pagdin, hospitality; Mrs. Herbert R. West, international relations; Mrs. J. Harry Rosback, social studies; Mrs. Frank Arlinghaus, legislation; Mrs. VanderVoort, membership; Mrs. Lewis, creative writing; Mrs. John Sprudle, program; Mrs. A. Gardner Fox, publicity; Mrs. Albert Gagnebin, branch representative to the Monmouth County Mental Hygiene society; Mrs. Albert Talbot, branch representative to the Health and Tuberculosis council of Monmouth County Organization for Social Service; Mrs. Clarke, chairman of community projects; Mrs. Almy, recent graduates, and Mrs. Emilio Fanjul, Mrs. Arthur J. White and Mrs. Joseph F. Hunter, members at large.

Chairmen of special study groups will be Mrs. Leland Krafts, Red Bank book club; Mrs. George Davis, Keyport literature study group; Mrs. George Dawson and Mrs. Lawrence Burdge, child study; Miss Kridel, story hour at Eisner Memorial library, Red Bank; Mrs. William L. Russell, Jr., story hour at the Oceanic Free library, Rumson, and Mrs. Spurdle, story hour at Navesink library.

The first fall activity will be a tea for high school juniors who are planning to enter college. Mrs. A. Jackson Lindsley of Shrewsbury township is chairman.

Sea Bright

A vacation issue of the "Sea Bright Scholastic" was distributed yesterday throughout the school by the seventh and eighth grades. Betty Lovgren was the editor, James Boyer drew the cover design, Frank Farber and Leon Folks wrote the jokes, Donald Lacey and Cynthia Rock were reporters and Richard VanDoern contributed an article on "The United Nations."

Children's day and Father's day will be observed at the 10:45 a. m. service Sunday morning in the Methodist church. Rev. Joseph S. Eldridge, pastor, will preach a sermon appropriate to the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. John Weir and Mrs. John Ramsay of this place attended the wedding Sunday of Miss Ellamay Sturgeon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sturgeon, Brooklyn, formerly of Sea Bright, to Walter Dresch, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Dresch, Brooklyn, which took place at Holy Trinity Lutheran church, Brooklyn. A reception was held at Hayes' hotel, that city, following the ceremony. The bride is a cousin of the Weirs. Others at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Wood and Christopher, Jr., Teaneck, and Mr. and Mrs. John Walsh, New York.

Among local young people who were graduated from Long Branch senior high school Monday night were Edna Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rogers; Thomas Lovgren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lovgren; William L. Fowler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fowler; Charles Dilione, 3d, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dilione, Jr., and Marvin B. Fowler, and Shirley Dilione, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dilione, Jr., were among the junior high graduates.

The third and fourth grades are enjoying a party on the beach today with Mrs. Marie Heliker in charge. The cash awarded as prizes to the room for the largest representation of parents of the children at the home and school meetings during the year was used to buy refreshments for today's party.

Mrs. Emily Stevens was elected president of the Women's Society of Christian Service at a meeting Thursday night at the Methodist parsonage. Mrs. Oscar Anderson was elected first vice president, Mrs. Violet Johnson second vice president, Mrs. Eleanor Lindsay secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson collector, and Mrs. Henry Renshaw treasurer. Hostesses were Mrs. Everett Johnson and Mrs. Violet Johnson. Strawberry shortcake was served after the business session.

Eatontown

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevens and two children of Wrightstown, Pa., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William G. Davis.

A parcel post sale was held after Monday night's meeting of Pride of Crescent council, Sons and Daughters of Liberty. There was a good attendance.

The Vacation Bible school to be conducted two weeks for the children of the community opened Monday at 9 a. m. in the Presbyterian church with a registration of 71. There are now 14 teachers and about 80 children attending the classes. The primary and beginners classes are meeting in the Presbyterian church and the juniors and intermediates in the Methodist church. The daily hours are from 9 to 11:30 a. m. Promotion exercises will be held next Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Presbyterian church. Rev. Dunham V. Reinig, Methodist minster, is the school dean.

A Children's day service was held Sunday morning in the Methodist church. There was a baptismal service and reception of members. Children of the beginners and primary departments recited. Exercises were given and choruses were sung by the junior and intermediate boys and girls. Mrs. W. L. Reinig read the Scripture lesson and gave a brief message. Charles Fary played the prelude, "Prayer".

An official board meeting will be held tonight at the Methodist parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Wagner and daughters Margaret and Barbara, and Mrs. Edith Lewis motored Friday to Hartford, Conn., where they attended the reception and wedding Saturday at 10 a. m. of Mr. Wagner's niece, Miss Doris Tracey. From Hartford they drove to Springfield, Mass., for the wedding of Mr. Lewis' nephew, Arthur Howland, which took place the same day at 4 p. m. They arrived home Sunday night.

Barbara Hathaway returned home yesterday from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where she spent six weeks with her mother, Mrs. Earl Hathaway, who plans to return next month with her daughter Virginia.

About twenty members of the Shepherds of Bethlehem lodge visited the home for aged lodge members from Monmouth and Ocean counties at Haddonfield. A birthday party will be held Tuesday night for lodge members whose birthdays are in April, May and June.

The Daughters of America will meet Wednesday night when an official visit will be made to the lodge.

A meeting of the Monmouth and Ocean County Deputies' association will be held tonight in the borough hall.

Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. George Whitfield, Broad st.

FINDS POCKETBOOK

Harry Morgan, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Morgan of Holmdel, found a pocketbook last week on Front st., Red Bank. A pupil at St. James, he brought the pocketbook home after school. His mother opened it and found it was owned by Mrs. William Faatz of Fair Haven. Mrs. Morgan and her son delivered the pocketbook to Mrs. Faatz that evening.

TO MEET AT ROOSEVELT

Mayor Irving Flicker of Roosevelt will address the Monmouth County Association of First Aid Squads next Wednesday night at the Roosevelt first aid headquarters. The squad at Roosevelt has been organized a year. Plans will be made for a field day in first aid work, in which all squads will participate.

LUTHERAN
Red Bank

In place of the regular Sunday service, an all-congregational worship and picnic at Ocean county park, Lakewood, has been planned. There will be an outdoor service at 11 o'clock and the rest of the day will be given over to recreation. The Sunday-school staff will provide organized recreation for all. Cars will leave the church at 10 a. m. A worship service will be held at 9 a. m. at the church for those who cannot make the trip to Lakewood.

Rev. Harold Hornberger, pastor, will attend an all-day conference next Thursday at Bethlehem Lutheran church, Elizabeth, as part of a nation-wide campaign of the entire Lutheran church in the United States.

The annual Children's day exercises will be held Sunday, June 26, at the church at 11 o'clock. Attendance pins will be awarded and infants will be baptized.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
Red Bank

Services in First Church of Christ, Scientist, 209 Broad st., are held Sundays at 11 a. m., and Wednesdays at 8:15 p. m. Sunday-school meets at 11 a. m.

Christian Science lesson sermon, "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject for Sunday, June 19.

Golden Text: "The earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein." (Ps. 24:1).

Sermon: Passages from the King James version of the Bible include:

"Thus saith the Lord, The heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footstool: where is the house that ye build unto me? and where is the place of my rest? For all those things hath mine hand made, and all those things have been, saith the Lord:" ((Isa. 66:1, 2). Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include:

"The sun is not affected by the revolution of the earth. So Science reveals Soul as God, untouched by sin and death,—as the central Life and intelligence around which circle harmoniously all things in the systems of Mind." ((p. 310).

Vacation Church School to Open Tuesday, June 28

Sponsored by Red Bank Council of Churches For Another Year

Red Bank Council of Churches, representing the Protestant churches of the borough and vicinity, is again sponsoring a Vacation Church school for the children of the area.

Classes will begin Tuesday, June 28, at 8 a. m., and will be held daily, Monday through Friday, until July 15. All children between the ages of three and 15 are invited to attend the school, and those interested should come in person to the church, where their classes will be held, registration day, which is Monday, June 27, beginning at 9 a. m.

An innovation this year will be the holding of classes at two churches which are near each other, the Red Bank Methodist and the Presbyterian. Children whose last names begin with letters from A to K should register at the Methodist church and those whose last names begin with letters L to Z should register at the Presbyterian church. Two buildings are being used to avoid the overcrowding which resulted last year from the increased enrollment.

The curriculum will be based on Co-operative Series texts approved by the International Council of Religious Education for use in interdenominational schools, as follows: Our Happy World, by Esther Freivogel, for the kindergarten children: Part II of Bible and Homes of Today, by Elizabeth Reed, for the primary children; Understanding God's World, by Mary S. Warren, for the junior children, and Our Living Book, by Faye Flynt, for the junior high school boys and girls. The curriculum for each age group provides for a varied program of activities, including singing, stories, interviews and trips, spatter-printing, papier-mache modeling, finger-painting, worship and the viewing of motion picture films.

A number of the teachers who will assist with the school have been helped in their preparation by attending a five-weeks' Vacation Church School institute in Red Bank this spring. Mrs. Harold Coddington, Red Bank, served as the dean of the institute, and the faculty included specialists in children's work from N. J. state denominational boards of education.

An "alumni party" was held Tuesday afternoon at the Red Bank Methodist church for boys and girls who attended the school last year. After games and refreshments, red "V.C.S. Alumnus tags were presented to those present. Each one also received several green "V.C.S." tags to present to friends.

The vacation church school will again be directed by Rev. John B. Kirby, Jr., who is pastor of the Fair Haven Methodist church.

Deaths In Red Bank and Vicinity

2. That the tax overpayments be refunded or cancelled.
3. That interfund accounts be liquidated.
4. That no expenditures be made without appropriations.

Lewis E. Waring Leaves Estate In Trust Funds

Mrs. Frank Merritt Wills Property to Husband for Life

Lewis E. Waring of Whippoorwill rd., Middletown township, who died May 20, left his personal effects and club stock to his wife, Mrs. Margaret Haskell Waring. The will was one of many filed for probate early this month at the office of Surrogate Dorman McFaddin, Freehold.

Mr. Waring left $2,500 in cash to C. J. Fisk Waring, and $2,000 to his wife, Patia Gerth Waring. Bequests of $1,000 each were made to Howland B. Jones, Jr., Joseph R. Busk, Jr., and Mrs. Caroline Waring McLeod.

Trust funds of $10,000 each were established for Roger Gilbert, Jr., Louisa Waring Gilbert and Patia May Waring, grandchildren.

The rest of the estate was left in trust for his son, C. J. Fisk Waring. The Plainfield Trust company was named executor and trustee. The will was made June 17, 1948.

Mrs. Dora H. Merritt of Pinckney rd., wife of Frank P. Merritt, left to her son, Frank P. Merritt, Jr., a gold link neck chain, her mother's wedding ring, a gold brooch set with pearls, and her mother's gold ring set with opals and diamonds.

Mrs. Merritt died Apr. 27. The rest of her estate was left to her husband for use as long as he lives. Upon his death, the remainder of the estate goes to her son. Mr. Merritt Sr., was named executor of her will, made Oct. 16, 1946.

Mrs. Louisa Hagenlocher of Keansburg, who died June 6, established a trust for the use of her husband, Gustav Hagenlocher, who was directed to pay $5 a week toward the support of her son, Charles Hagenlocher.

Upon the death of Gustav Hagenlocher, the estate is to be divided between Charles Hagenlocher and a daughter, Mrs. Emma Siegwarth, who was named executrix of a will, made Dec. 28, 1932.

David Wood of Long Branch, who died May 21, left his homestead and furnishings at 385 West Columbus pl. to his children, David R., Arthur Barry Wood, Fredrick Wardell Wood, Mrs. Walter Dalton and Mrs. Gladys Wood Pender. It was provided that his widow would have the use of the homestead as long as she lived.

All bank accounts were left to Mrs. Wood. A 1936 Plymouth car was left to Mrs. Gladys Wood Pender, and a gold ring was bequeathed to David Wood, Jr. The rest of his estate was left in equal shares to his widow and children. Mrs. Pender was named executrix of the will, made June 5, 1947.

William E. Norton of West Long Branch, who died Feb. 24, left his estate in equal shares to his children, Harry E. Norton, Mrs. Eva Lawyer and Langdon P. Norton and to a grandson, Charles Oliver Norton. J. Russell Woolley of West Long Branch was named executor of the will, made Aug. 16, 1943.

EATING CONDENSED FOOD TABLETS

START LOSING FAT FIRST DAY

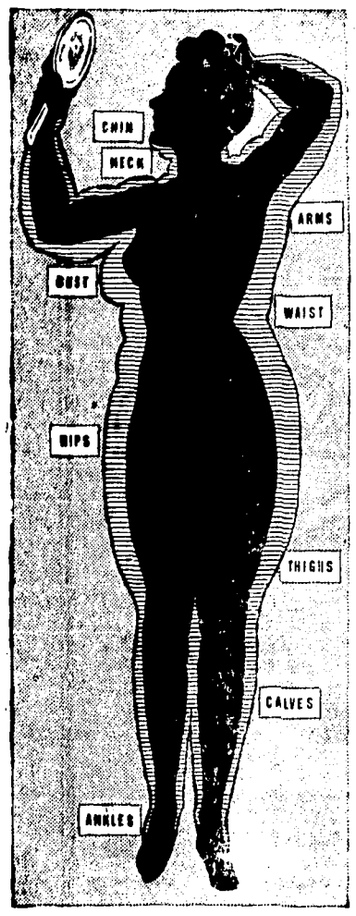

without starvation, harmful drugs, laxatives, exercise or massage

Yes, the Kyron Plan, the new food tablet way to reduce, will help you lose up to 7 lbs. first 7 days—or you pay nothing. If your excess weight is caused by over-eating (and not glandular), the Kyron Plan is designed to act 3 ways: (1) To help appease your hunger, to cut down your appetite automatically, yet you never feel hungry; (2) Includes nutritious elements to help maintain your energy while reducing; (3) Recommends in package many foods often falsely labeled in ordinary diets as "fattening." Endorsement by your physician recommended.

"I LOST 35 POUNDS IN 7 WEEKS"
—says Mrs. Kathryn Walker
3332 West Potomac Avenue, Chicago

"Kyron results have been absolutely astonishing. I am 27 years old, and have a 7-year-old daughter. When I started using Kyron, I weighed 153 pounds, and felt awfully old and let-down. In 7 weeks, I lost 35 pounds. I used to feel sluggish and always tired. Now I feel so much younger and gayer. My friends and my husband can't get over the change that has taken place in 7 short weeks."

REDUCE UP TO 7 POUNDS FIRST 7 DAYS... OR NO COST! MAKE THIS 7-DAY TEST without risking a penny!

Get a package of Kyron Tablets from your druggist. Eat these condensed food tablets for 7 days—and follow directions as explained in package. Check your weight before and after using Kyron. If you are not 100% delighted with results . . . return the empty package to your druggist, and he will return your money. Make this test today. # Sunday-School Members Present Children's Day

Children Take Active Part in Holmdel Church Program

Members of the Holmdel Federated church Sunday-school celebrated children's day Sunday morning at the Holmdel Reformed church.

A processional march, "The Voice of June," opened the program. After a prayer by Chandler White, Sharon Stewart gave a short welcoming recitation. A group exercise, entitled "Children's day," was presented by members of the primary department including John Morgan, Charlene Morgan, Linda Schunck, Buddy Ackerman, Jo-Ann Voorhees, Sandy Lenhart, Patricia Kissel, David Phillips, John Umberger, Robert Stewart, Jane Harrison and Richard Weldon.

Rev. Richard Hunter baptized Joan and Coral Long, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Long; Harry and Janet Wilson, children of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Wilson; Sharon and Robert Stewart, children of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stewart, and Susan and William Jones, children of Mr. and Mrs. William Jones.

More recitations were given during the second part of the program, Casey Jones gave "Welcome," Patricia Hammond "Every Minute," Dale Arcularius "Happy Children's Day," Lois Phillips "What to Do" and Douglas Fromm, Jr. "Seen and Not Heard."

After the singing of several songs by the junior and primary department, an exercise entitled "Gardener" was presented by Charles Harrison, Taylor Schanck, Preston Daniels, Wyne Harrison, Ralph Stewart and George Arcularius.

After the collection and a prayer by Tobert Jeffery, more recitations were presented. Wayne Stewart gave "Why We're Here," John Phillips "Smiles," Polly Engel "I Wonder Why," Jimmy Jeffery "Smiling Faces," and Billy Hexter "We Thank You."

After a song by the classes of Mrs. Pitcher and Mrs. Robert Stewart, the program was concluded with benediction by William Stanton.

To 'Waterproof Monmouth County'

"So far this season, Monmouth county has had ten drownings—four adults and six children, ranging from three and one-half to 15 years of age. Of these, four youngsters were fishing, two in Asbury Park and two in Keansburg; one swung on a rope at the edge of Shadow lake and one tot, three and one-half, fell in at the water's edge.

"Probably all of these accidents could have been prevented had the children known how to swim." Edward F. Sylvester, director, safety service, Monmouth county chapter, A.R.C., made the above statements at the annual luncheon of Red Bank branch, Red Cross. "This year," he continued, "Red Cross is joining with Community Y.M.C.A. in an effort to lessen the number of such catastrophes."

When contacted at the "Y" Joseph Cotten, executive secretary, replied "Yes, the 'Learn to Swim' program is being sponsored jointly by Monmouth county Red Cross and Community Y.M.C.A. The latter is doing the promotion and arranging transportation; Red Cross selects the pools and all teaching will be done by Red Cross certified water safety instructors. Upon completion of the course each graduate will receive the American Red Cross certificate. The public should be greatly interested in this joint program, where so much recreation centers about the water."

Mr. Sylvester stated that the pool at Port Monmouth will be instruction center for Middletown township, Atlantic Highlands, Highlands, Keansburg, Union Beach, Rumson, Fair Haven, Red Bank, Little Silver, Shrewsbury and Eatontown. Instructors are being assigned as classes are formed. Class will open July 5 and extend until Aug. 26, each week, Monday through Friday, mornings only. A course is ten lessons.

Anyone interested may call Red Bank 6-3443 for registration card. Nominal fee for pool entrance must be paid by individual. Instruction free.

Colored Church in Need of a Piano

The Reeveytown church, supported by a very small group of colored residents in that vicinity, needs a piano very badly.

Mrs. Norman Reevey of R. D. No. 2, Neptune, one of the earnest workers of the church of this small congregation, writes The Register as follows: "Do you know of anyone that has a piano to sell very reasonably or to give away? We need one very badly at the Reeveytown church. There are a number of keys on our piano which won't work, and I want to have the Glee club at our church again, but can't on account of the piano, and we have to keep something going all the time in order to meet our expenses. If you hear of anyone that can help us out, please let me know."

If there is any Register reader who can come to Mrs. Reevey's assistance, we will appreciate it very much if they will contact Mrs. Reevey direct.

Married at Freehold

Mr. and Mrs. Frank William Seibert

Miss Rachel Mount Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bradford Clark, Sr. of Freehold, and Frank William Seibert, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lawrence Seibert of Markham pl., Litle Silver, were married Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents at Freehold. Rev. Robert Graham, pastor of the Long Branch Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Oscar Oschwald was the pianist, and played the Bridal chorus from Wagner's "Lohengrin." A reception for 135 guests followed at the Clark home.

Mr. Clark gave his daughter in marriage. She was attired in a gown of white marquisette, designed with set-in panels of lace. She wore a matching lace Juliet cap and a fingertip length veil. Her bouquet of white roses had a center of white orchids.

Miss Noreen Patricia Mead of Rahway was maid of honor. Her pearl gray chiffon gown had a Nile green underskirt, and she carried a mixed bouquet of garden flowers. Mell Lindsay Guerry, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Guerry of Warwick Gardens, Red Bank, the bride's niece, was flower girl. Her pink silk frock was trimmed with small blue bows, and had a ruffled skirt over a net hoop. She carried a basket filled with summer flowers. Jack Ronald McKenzie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McKenzie of Interlaken, the bride's nephew, was a page.

The bridesmaids were Misses Barbara Lee Oschwald of Red Bank, and Helen Claire Lawler, Maplewood. Both wore pearl gray chiffon gowns, over peach underskirts, and carried summer flowers.

Lawrence Harrison Seibert of Little Silver, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. The ushers were Richard Bradford Clark, Jr., of New York city, the bride's brother, and Kenneth R. Smith, Jr., of Maple ave., Red Bank.

The bride's mother chose peach linen trimmed with lace for her costume, and a gray straw hat. She had matching accessories and a corsage of orchids. The bridegroom's mother had a cocoa brown lace and linen gown, with white accessories, and a corsage of baby orchids.

The couple are on a wedding trip to New England and Canada, and upon their return will live at Shrewsbury manor apartments on Riverside ave. For traveling, the bride was dressed in a dark green sharkskin suit, with beige accessories.

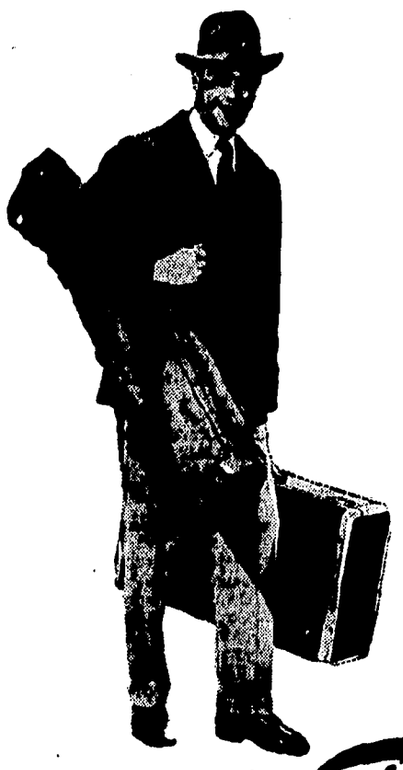

The bride was graduated from the Cathedral School of St. Mary in 1945, and this year from Maryland College for Women. The bridegroom is a graduate of Red Bank high school and is a senior at the University of Maryland. During the war he was with the Army in Europe for 2½ years.

500 Attend Riverview Ball

More than 500 persons attended the event. The ballroom was filled to capacity, and tables were set up in the hotel lobby to accommodate guests.

Mr. Scott and Mrs. Nicosia were general chairmen. Highlight of the program was the champagne dance, and prize winners were Kenneth Mytinger, U. S. Navy, and Mrs. Throckmorton. The second special prize, a certificate for dancing lessons at the Arthur Murray studio, was won by Mrs. Nicosia and Mr. Levinson.

Lincroft

Mr. and Mrs. E. Douglas Brandt and children spent last Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brandt at East Jewett, Catskill mountains, N. Y.

The Ladies' Aid society held a successful cake sale on the lawn of the Lincroft chapel Saturday. Decorations of flowers for children's day Sunday were arranged by members and friends of the Sunday-school.

The children's day program at the chapel Sunday was well attended. Five children were baptised by Rev. Norman A. Reilly of Keyport. They were Wynne Harold Lamken and Diane Edna Lamken, children of Mr. and Mrs. John Lamken; Peggy Lee Brandt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Summer school will be offered at Rumson high school again this year.

It will run for five weeks, beginning June 27 and ending July 29. The following subjects will be included: English, mathematics, history, geography, Latin, German and French.

A reunion of the class of '48 was held June 14 at Willowbrook. Dinner was served in the rathskeller room to 50 of the 60 who graduated last June, and their advisers, Misses Esther B. Barnes and Marion Scott. A program of take-offs having to do with the present occupations of the class members was enjoyed. Amy Myatt acted as chairman to carry out the arrangements and program for the reunion dinner.

Last week-end, Esther B. Barnes, mathematics teacher, went to New London, Conn., to attend her class reunion at Connecticut College for Women.

Doris Hullen and Mary Stanley have successfully passed the Gregg expert test at 140 words per minute. This test was witnessed by Dr. Charles A. Wolbach, supervising principal, who served as timer and checker. Mevelyn Pomphrey of the same class passed the Gregg shorthand speed test at 120 words per minute.

Vaudeville Returns To Asbury Park

Entertainers from television and vaudeville shows at New York's Palace theater are among the acts being lined up for the return of vaudeville on a family economy package style at St. James theater, Asbury Park, Friday, July 1, according to Guy Hevia, city manager for Walter Reade theaters, and Herbert Gordon, manager of St. James.

There will be seven acts of vaudeville a week and high quality first run screen attractions, playing a week's stand during the summer months. Already booked for the first show are The Appletons, an outstanding acrobatic adagio dancing trio currently at the New York Palace and starred within the past month with Milton Berles' television show.

Program Honors Nation's War Dead

A Memorial day program honoring those men who died in the war between the States and in World Wars I and II was presented in the auditorium of River St. school recently.

Those who participated were Johnny Figaro, Betty Wilson, Mary Amorello, Emily Scaricamazza, Barbara Mason, Eugene Booth and John Lewis. Rudolph Hawkins sang a solo, "The House I Live In"; Stephanie Glover played "The Army Air Corps"; the poem "In Flanders Field" was given by Ada Toscano.

Taps were played by Salvatore Trocchio. The soldier and sailor were Steven Ruzicka and George Lewis. A double quartet composing William Dotts, Barbara Mason, Fannie Slocum, Santo Chimento, Jimmie Richardson, Gene Booth, Mary Amorello, Amelia Ruzicka and John Lewis rendered "Sleep, Noble Heart".

Two of America's Most Popular Motor Cars

Pictured above are typical examples of the two smart and separate lines of cars which bear the current imprint of Pontiac goodness—the Streamliner and the Chieftain De Luxe Sedan Coupes.

Each is in such demand that, on its own, it ranks among America's most popular cars today. That two cars of such decidedly different appearance should each enjoy such wide acceptance is easy to explain.

THEY'RE BOTH PONTIACS!

While each has its own individualized smartness, both offer all the great basic Pontiac virtues. Both are conspicuously beautiful. Both carry the well-known promise of Pontiac quality—long life, dependability, and fine performance. Both afford the smooth, enjoyable performance of Pontiac's two great engines—the power-packed straight eight or its equally famous six-cylinder companion.

Finally, both represent unusual values—a very fine product at a very low price. Either one you choose will make you mighty happy.

Vote Down Funds For Materials

Resolution Fails At Union Beach

A second resolution for an emergency appropriation of $2,000 for calcium and street materials failed of approval at the meeting of the Union Beach mayor and council last Thursday night.

The resolution was presented for a second time after Acting Borough Attorney John M. Pillsbury pointed out that a two-thirds majority was necessary for approval and at the previous meeting it had been improperly approved after a tie vote of the council by the mayor's affirmative vote.

Councilman Maurice Oakley commented that no one was objecting to providing calcium for the streets but the objection was to an emergency appropriation which might endanger the tax rate. Councilman Joseph Scholer also stated that he opposed the emergency resolution on this ground and insisted that it should have been included when the budget was drawn.

When the resolution was presented Councilmen Oakley, Scholer and Edwin Haug voted "No" and Councilmen George Pickering, Joseph Vigne and Michael Rusignuolo "Yes."

Councilman Scholer asked for an investigation by the local board of health of the report of pollution at Union Beach which has been released by the state health department. Frank Fuller, secretary of the local health board, who was present at the meeting, stated that he expects to receive an official report on the situation in a day or two.

Commenting that since Union Beach has no sewage plant he could not see how they could be polluting the area, Councilman Scholer urged a follow up on the situation as soon as possible to see if a clean bill of health could be secured for the local beach.

A communication was read from the municipal finance commission stating that they are not in a position to approve or disapprove a contemplated water extension to the Natco section or to the Harris Gardens section. The commission ruled that it is necessary to ascertain whether such an extension would be self sustaining and requested further data. Councilman Pickering indicated that he would appear at a meeting of the commission and present the problem.

Mrs. George Heintz, Union ave., complained of a fire hazard created by oil tanks of the Leonard Service, located adjacent to her home. The fire and safety committee will investigate the situation and make a report at the next council meeting.

A second communication was read from the C.R.R. stating that the company felt that traffic conditions at the Poole and Florence ave. crossings failed to warrant the installation of flashing signals. The council requested the borough clerk, Albert S. Cowling, to write to the Public Utility commission, describing the situation and enlisting their aid.

Judy C. Ryerson's Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Ryerson, 66 Peters pl., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Judy C. Ryerson, to Charles C. Earle, Jr., Rumson rd., Little Silver, son of Charles C. Earle, Newark.

Miss Judy C. Ryerson

Miss Ryerson was graduated last June from Red Bank high school and is employed by the Prudential Life Insurance company at Newark. Mr. Earle is a graduate of Belvedere, N. J. high school and served three years in the U. S. Navy, part of which was in the Pacific area. He is a member of the Little Silver police department.

Middletown Firemen Hear Hospital Appeal

Objectives of the Riverview hospital drive were outlined by Freeholder James S. Parkes, president of the hospital, Monday night before 50 members of the Middletown township fire department executive committee at the Port Monmouth fire house. He was introduced by John Mayer of East Keansburg, president of the committee.

Explaining crowded conditions, Mr. Parkes said the new hospital would accommodate 80 beds, and that endeavors are being made to start construction this year. He appealed to the firemen to make the hospital drive its major project for the year.

Vacation Bible School Opening at Highlands

A Daily Vacation Bible school will be held at the Highlands Methodist church, opening next Monday and continuing until July 1. Classes will be conducted Monday through Friday daily from 9 a. m. to noon. The school is open to everyone between the ages of 4 and 17.

A course of study has been planned for each age group. Along with these lessons there will also be periods of handwork, recreation, workbooks, music and other features especially prepared for the individual age groups.

Rev. J. Hillman Coffee, church pastor, will be the director of the church and a fine staff of workers will be in charge of the activities.

Salvation Army To Seek $15,000

Made $12,000 Last Year —To Name Chairman

Edward J. Macklin, chairman of the Salvation Army's fund campaign last year, announced this week that appointment of this year's chairman would be announced in the near future.

Edward J. Macklin

Mr. Macklin said that the campaign goal would be $15,000 again this year. "While we did not reach our goal in 1948," he stated, "we did raise $12,000, which represented the largest amount of money contributed by the people of Northern Monmouth county, for the quarter of a century the Salvation Army has been in existence here."

"Last year our budget called for $12,000 for the annual finance of the Salvation Army and the balance of $3,000 was to go into a building improvement fund. Consequently, because the 1948 campaign fell $3,000 short of its goal, no funds could be used for building improvement. Therefore, in the coming 1949 campaign, we must again seek a goal of $15,000 in order to place the Salvation Army property in condition to better serve the citizens and armed forces of our community.

"The Salvation Army, which operates from 28 Linden pl. in Red Bank, has been working under adverse and crowded conditions for many years. Since the end of World war II the peak load of service has jumped from 200 cases to over 600 cases a year. In spite of this increase of 200% in social welfare cases, the Salvation Army has had to use their same inadequate plant facilities.

"With the expansion of the armed forces in our area our load is expected to be even greater in the coming year. Aid to servicemen and their families includes grants, clothing, housing and money for transportation. Money to servicemen for their emergency needs is given as outright grants.

"With the slack in employment, aid to Veterans of World War I and II is greatly on the increase, and is expected to be even greater as members of the armed forces complete their current tours of duty.

"Our greatest problem is with the 500 families of Northern Monmouth county who look to us for help. Aid to these unfortunate people is expected to reach an all-time high during the next 12 months.

"To the man without a job, the G.I. who needs his fare to go home to his sick father, the unwed mother who has no one to turn to, the widow fighting a lost battle against poverty, the veteran who needs a helping hand until his subsistence comes through, the underprivileged boy who needs a few weeks at summer camp, are the people of Northern Monmouth county who turn to the Salvation Army for help every day in the year. The Salvation Army gives aid to all, regardless of race, color or creed.

"The modest budget of $15,000 asked of us who are better off than the other fellow seems very small. Without the financial support of Northern Monmouth county the Salvation Army cannot continue its fine work," Mr. Macklin concluded.

NEW CY WILLIAMS MODELS WINNING BUYERS' ACCLAIM

Sun Ranch Home Offers Many New Features

Pilot models of the new 1949 Cy Williams SUN RANCH HOME are winning enthusiastic acclaim from thousands of prospective home buyers in all sections of the greater New York metropolitan area. The new house, semi-prefabricated, is being sold at about $10,985, depending on the location and size of each plot. The house has been approved by the FHA and preference is given to veterans.

Available in seven basic variations, each house contains a picture-windowed living room with an attractive wood burning fireplace, cabinet-type guest closet, a cheerful dining area with built in china closet, a scientific, L-shaped kitchen with deluxe Youngstown sink and cabinets, deluxe Bendix automatic clothes washer, Kelvinator electric range and refrigerator, exhaust fan and large storage room. The two bedrooms each contain a pair of sliding door closets separated by a modern built in dresser and mirror. The bathroom is finished in ceramic tile, with a plate-glass medicine cabinet and built in hamper.

A full stairway leads to the expansion attic where two extra bedrooms and bath may be finished. The fireproof garage is architecturally connected with the house. The exclusive radiant warm air heating system combines all of the virtues of ordinary hot water radiant heating systems and winter air conditioning systems.

The Southport development on Port Washington Boulevard south of New Salem in Port Washington is a 123 unit project of the Williams Colby Corporation, with the James W. O'Neil Company of Hempstead in charge of sales. Another New York State project known as Williamstown is sponsored by Stephen Mapes Ruden, Inc. The development is in Mt. Kisco south of the Elks Club property on Bedford Road.

Ansell Ranch Homes, Inc. is creating a development on River Road, Teaneck. Arthur R. Storm is exclusive sales agent; in Red Bank, N. J. construction is in charge of FBC Ranch Homes, Mr. Eugene Miltonberger, President. Model site is at Wilson Place, on Riverside Drive.

Section of Sun Ranch Home on Display at Dime Savings Bank of Brooklyn

The front corner, picture window, section of a new 1949 CY WILLIAMS SUN RANCH HOME is now on display on the main banking floor of the Dime Savings Bank of Brooklyn at DeKalb Avenue and Fulton Street. In addition to the house section, erected in the bank, the display includes a full color rendering of the complete house, animated plan and details of construction and special features.

The display was set up in conjunction with "The Dime's" new Home Buyers Exhibition, which features a presentation of the Long Island Home Builders Institute, called the "Library of Homes". The exhibition is open Mondays through Fridays from 9 AM to 3 PM and on Thursdays until 7 PM. Admission is free.

Receiving engineering degrees were Borden Lovett Hance, Jr., 75 West Front st., Red Bank; Bernard Gorcey, 36 Second ave., Long Branch; and John Carlin Mills, 54 Washington st., Keyport. Martin J. Vaccaro, 310 Allen ave., Allenhurst, received a master of science degree in metallurgy. He is employed by the Signal Corps engineering laboratories, Fort Monmouth.

Makes High Average Among 20 Graduates

Among honor men in the Navy trade schools is listed F. George Campbell, who will leave Electronics Technician school with an average of 88.9 per cent for the 42-week course. His was the highest average of the 20 graduating men.

George Campbell is the 20-year-old son of Mrs. Carolyn Campbell, Oceanport. He attended three high schools before joining the Navy in March, 1948. His education was spread from Williamsburg, Ohio high school, to Red Bank and Long Branch. He was graduated from high school in May, 1947.

Eisner's $12,000 To Build Chapel

Monmouth Memorial Building Fund Aided

Monroe Eisner has donated $12,000 to Monmouth Memorial hospital's $750,000 building fund. As a result "Eisner Memorial chapel" will be built in the new wing.

Monroe Eisner

Albert A. Teeter, chairman of the memorial gifts committee of the fund, reported Mr. Eisner's gift, noting that it covers the entire cost of building and furnishing the designated unit. The chapel will be located on the first floor, where the new wing joins the present building.

Mr. Eisner, president of Sigmund-Eisner company, and long interested in Monmouth Memorial, has been a member of its board of governors 11 years, currently serving as vice president. He is taking an active part in the building fund movement as a member of the memorial gifts committee.

"In creating the meditation chapel of the greater hospital to stand in the name of his family," Mr. Teeter observed today in making public the news of the gift, "Mr. Eisner has offered a convincing and challenging demonstration of his understanding of the importance of Monmouth Memorial hospital to the people who make their homes in this area.

"As vice president of the board of governors, Mr. Eisner is completely familiar with the detailed plans for the enlargement program," the committee chairman continued. "For this reason, his personal subscription to the building fund, in addition to being a generous and thoughtful act, represents most realistically his awareness of the urgent need for the accomplishment of the program's objectives.

"I am sure that as patients and relatives visit this chapel to seek comfort in meditation during hours of trial they will draw added courage and strength from the spirit which prompted Mr. Eisner's gift," Mr. Teeter concluded.

The $750,000 hospital building fund, for which subscriptions are now being sought throughout this area, will make possible the construction of a six-story addition which will substantially expand the accommodations for patients at Monmouth Memorial, and greatly increase the scope of service of its many departments.

Funeral Directors To Elect Officers

Harry C. F. Worden of Red Bank, president of the Funeral Directors association of Monmouth and Ocean counties, appointed C. Ensley Clayton of Adelphia, Floyd T. Brown of Manasquan and Marvin S. Cambell of Toms River on the nominating committee at a recent dinner meeting of the group.

Election of officers will be held Wednesday, Aug. 10, at the annual dinner meeting at the Beacon Hill Golf club, Leonardo. H. Lawrence Scott of Belford will be the host.

Shrewsbury Twp. Group Named to Locate Business

Plan to 'Sell' Local Area to New Enterprise Outlined

Kenneth M. Fields, chairman of the Shrewsbury township committee, Tuesday night appointed a special six-man advisory group to survey the possibilities of attracting new business to the community.

The group is charged with a dual responsibility—first, to determine locations suitable for commercial development and, second, to draw up a program to "sell Shrewsbury township" to business enterprises.

Appointed on this committee were Reginald Brown chairman, James Doyle and Frank Arlinghouse, all of Sycamore ave.; Samuel M. Fisher, Jr., of Hance ave., R. McMean of Wayside and Augustus Thomas of Reevytown.

Their appointment came as a result of a request by the township planning board. Gerald F. Nagle, planning board member and township committeeman, has called this the beginning of "Stage Two" in township planning. "Stage One" was the recent design and passage of a new zoning ordinance.

Another highlight Tuesday night came at the board of health session with the introduction and passage on first reading of a new sanitary code to establish a series of regulations aimed at the promotion of public health.

This code, which will be given a final and public hearing July 12, if adopted, would require private garbage collectors to maintain standard sanitation safeguards in the transport and disposal of refuse. It also would impose restrictions upon cleaners of cesspools and catch-basins for public protection.

It was the expressed opinion of Committeeman Nagle that the township must locate within its boundaries a suitable place for disposal of waste collected from cesspools. Further, he said, contractors for collection and disposal must be charged with a responsibility, enforced by the board of health, to render this waste harmless through chemical treatment.

Mr. Fields and Committeeman George Stevens were not immediately agreed upon Mr. Nagle's recommendation that the disposal area must, of necessity, be located within the township. However, it was decided to ask Dr. Fred Crocker, health board inspector, to make a search for a suitable place and make a report at the next meeting.

Violations of the health code would be punishable by fines of from $50 to $100 for first and second offenses, and possibly jail sentences.

The committee also discussed the advisability of special, voluntary police being armed for patrol duty. This matter, it was believed, requires further consideration as the township police are volunteers, many of whom would need instruction before it would be deemed safe for them to handle weapons.

That there was a need for police to protect themselves was accented by reports that there have been prowlers in township neighborhoods in recent weeks.

Mr. Nagle, a former army officer, who with Mr. Fields has had charge of police activities, said he considered it important that men who will be permitted to carry sidearms become duly qualified on pistol ranges under expert instruction.

Sgt. Harrison F. Hill, who had been delegated by the committee to interview citizens in the Clinton ave. section to determine their reaction to recommendations that this street be curbed and paved, brought in petitions showing more than 85% of the people wanted this work done. The petitioners, it was said, were agreeable to paying a special assessment for the project which, it is understood, will be accompanied by curb-to-curb paving. Mr. Fisher worked with Sgt. Hill in the circulation of the petitions.

As a result the committee instructed Township Attorney Elston F. Combs to draw up an ordinance on the curbing project to be presented at the July meeting. A unit price contract, in an unspecified amount, was awarded to C. H. Sutphin to make other necessary road improvements and repairs this year.

Announcement was made that there will be an executive meeting for the township committee and the board of education Wednesday night, June 29. While the purpose of the joint session was not specified, it is believed one topic to be discussed will be the proposed transfer of the Alfred E. Vail housing project to army control. Both boards are keenly interested in plans under which this transfer may be accomplished.

From 7 to 8 o'clock that same Wednesday night there will be a public discussion regarding applications for renewal and transfer of liquor licenses within the township.

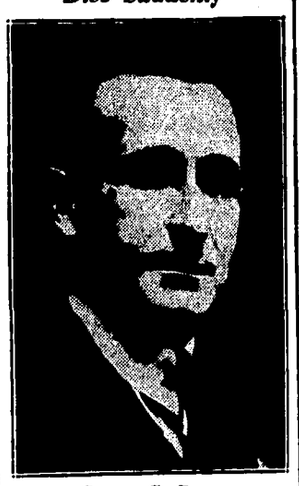

The health board decided to fill up two open wells, and assess the property owners for the charge, and to authorize the issuance of warrants if owners of hogs maintain them in conditions judged unsanitary.

George G. Roop

George Roop, Union Delegate, Dies at Home

Theater Employee Was Skating Champ; Funeral Tomorrow

Services will be held tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. in John E. Day funeral home for George G. Roop, 55, who died Tuesday afternoon at his home, 61 Gillespie ave., Fair Haven. Rev. Robert H. Anderson, Jr., of Trinity Episcopal church, will officiate. Burial will be in Fair View cemetery.

Mr. Roop, whose lifetime was spent as a theatrical and motion picture employee, for 20 years was business agent and delegate of Red Bank-Freehold local, International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees. At the time of his death, he was a machine operator at Reade's Strand theater here.

His association with the theater dates back to the old Empire theater on Monmouth st., a position which was interrupted by World War I. He enlisted with Red Bank's National Guard cavalrymen, which unit became the 112th Field Artillery of the 29th "Blue and Gray" division. He served overseas with them, returning with the rank of corporal.

At the time the Empire's roof caved in, Mr. Roop was assistant manager. Then followed positions with the Palace theater, Front st., and other theaters throughout the county until he became permanently assigned to the Strand.

An active leader in the American Federation of Labor, his interest in the Stage Employees International continued almost to the minute of his death. Under doctor's care the past two months suffering a liver condition, he was pronounced seriously ill a week before his death. He refused to permit his condition to interfere with his management of the 30th anniversary celebration of Red Bank's local 536 of Stage Employees, held Monday night. He made all arrangements for the event and, though in weakened condition, was at Stardust inn Monday afternoon to direct placing of cards and arranging of tables. The dinner-dance was scheduled for 11:30 p. m. He had hoped to attend, but his condition by that time was so critical he could not leave his home. He was in a coma Tuesday noon and died four hours later.

The anniversary celebration was termed a fitting valedictory to Mr. Roop's long association with the union. The International's president, Richard F. Walsh of Brooklyn, headed a group of high union officials who visited Red Bank to do honor to the local organization and Mr. Roop. Mr. Walsh said the presence of 125 members from various points in the state and New York was proof of the high regard in which the popular little business agent was held.

A charter member of Red Bank's Democratic club, Mr. Roop twice was unsuccessful candidate for borough council. He was an exempt member of Independent Engine company and a member of Red Bank lodge of Elks and Shrewsbury post, American Legion.

A native of Red Bank, he was the son of the late Daniel Jacob and Alice E. Ackley Roop. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nona Roop, and two sisters, Mrs. Charles H. Bennett, Sr., and Mrs. Carrie Webber, both of Red Bank.

In his youth, Mr. Roop was regarded as quite an athlete. He was state roller skating champion and victor in numerous skating challenge matches throughout the county and state. He also starred in baseball and track, sports in which he maintained a deep interest throughout his life.

Haneman Rules Title Marketable In Land Suit

Morgans Win Case Against Miss Annett On Leroy Place Land

Title to well-known Red Bank property last Thursday was held to be marketable in a suit instituted by Mr. and Mrs. William F. Morgan of Baltimore, Md., against Jean Annett of Little Silver. Judge Vincent S. Haneman of the Chancery division of New Jersey Superior Court, sitting in Freehold, gave the decision. The property, formerly known as the Swift home, is located at 34 Leroy pl.

Miss Annett signed a contract last October to purchase property from the Morgans. When she did not perform the contract, suit for "specific performance" to compel payment of a balance of $19,000 was instituted by the Morgans through their attorneys, Beekman & Beekman of Red Bank.

Miss Annett's attorneys, Parsons, Labrecque, Cannona & Combs, filed answer to the action claiming title to the property was not marketable for six reasons. Reasons included were that deeds in 1891 and 1896 incorrectly describe the property; an 1896 deed by Mary Howard does not state her marital status; application for probate of the last will of Lucy C. Swift, a former owner, does not state she was a widow; that Lucy C. Swift might have had children, born or adopted, after her will and before her death; that the deed to the Morgans state it is subject to a lease to Caroline Shellhorn, and that she might have rights to the property, and that there are judgments and liens of record against parties with names resembling the Morgans which may in fact be against them.

The Morgans' attorneys filed a motion for summary judgment, claiming the objections had no merit. They supported this contention by affidavits. It was demonstrated that the deed was timely rendered to Miss Annett's attorneys, as were affidavits concerning possible judgments and liens against the Morgans. The contract calls for closing Dec. 27, 1948. The only objection raised prior to that date was the question concerning possible judgement and liens.

After the motion for summary judgment came to be heard, Miss Annett's attorneys withdrew two of the reasons they claimed the property was unmarketable. First was that the deeds incorrectly described the property and the second was the matter of possible judgments and liens.

Testimony then was introduced to show that Mary Howard died in Brooklyn Jan. 20, 1901, and that the application for probate of her will in Kings county surrogate court states she was and always had been unmarried. Included in the testimony was that of Lester E. McQueen, assistant county clerk, a position he has held 20 years, in which he daily compares signatures. He testified that the signature of Mary Howard on the original deed signed by her for the property and the signature on a photostatic copy of her will were identical. Object was made to Mr. McQueen's credability as a "handwriting expert," but the court allowed the testimony based on the witness's experience.

Arthur C. Swift, son of Lucy Swift, testified that his mother did not remarry after the death of his father and that he was her only child. Mr. Morgan testified that Caroline Shellhorn had surrendered the lease referred to in his deed to him in July, 1946, and he had taken possession shortly thereafter, and had continued to make the property his home until he moved in December, 1948, in order that Miss Annett might have possession.

Miss Annett's attorneys sought to claim that title was, nevertheless, unmarketable because the evidence was not presented their client before Dec. 27. Judge Haneman ruled that the title was marketable Dec. 27 and that the court had a right to hear evidence produced subsequent to that date in making its determination.

Alston Beekman, Jr., represented the Morgans and John Warren, Jr., and Abraham J. Zager represented Miss Annett.

Hydrant Costs Carried to PUC

After hearing arguments from attorneys representing four Monmouth county municipalities that the Monmouth Consolidated Water company be made to establish definite standards for installation of fire hydrants, members of the Public Utilities commission yesterday at Newark referred the matter to conference.

Lawrence A. Carton, Jr., representing Middletown township, Eatontown and Ocean township, and William R. Blair, Jr., appearing for Shrewsbury township, told Commissioner John E. Boswell they felt it unfair to permit the company's request to charge an amount for installation for fire hydrants which would "justify the company's investment.

Both attorneys said there was no assurance of what the charge might be since no percentage of the company's investment is requested as profit. Mr. Carton pointed out that in some cases the present rental fee would rise from $40 a hydrant a year to as high as $506.

Contracts for Exposition Space

New Bus Line To Start Runs This Saturday

Wallace Bacher Says Obstacles Have Been Cleared

The Red Bank to Freehold bus line, owned by Wallace Bacher of Atlantic Highlands, will start operation Saturday morning, according to Mr. Bacher. He told The Register yesterday insurance difficulties had been ironed out, and his bus had been painted, licensed and was ready to go.

The bus will pick up passengers at Red Bank at Broad and Front sts. and at Broad and Monmouth sts. The route will include River Plaza, Lincroft, Everett, Holmdel, state hospital, Marlboro, East Freehold and Freehold. The stop at Freehold will be at the Freehold bus terminal.

The bus is scheduled to leave Freehold at 6.50, 9.10, 11.30, 1.50, 4.10, 6.30, 8.50 and 11.10 o'clock. It is scheduled to leave Red Bank at 8 a. m., 10.20 a. m., 12.40 p. m., 3 p. m., 5.20 p. m., 7.40 p. m., 10 p. m. and 12.20 a. m.

The bus makes connections at Red Bank for shore points, and at Freehold for Lakewood, Atlantic City, Trenton and Matawan.

Residents Want Speeding Curbed

Residents of Silverside and Riverview aves., Little Silver, Tuesday night petitioned their mayor and council, asking that speeding be curbed on those streets.

Acknowledging that the police are busy patroling other streets, the petitioners asked that warning signs be placed in that vicinity and that a blinker light be installed. The request was referred to Councilman Chester Apy and his police committee for study and appropriate action.

Mayor Frank M. Gregory welcomed back Councilman Frank Dean, who had been a patient at Monmouth Memorial hospital several weeks, seriously ill.

Announcement was made that Little Silver's Y.M.C.A. will conduct its summer playground program on Little Silver school and borough property from June 27 to Aug. 12. The hours are from 9 a. m. until noon and 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.

A request from Jersey Central Power and Light company to open Little Silver parkway in Sunnycrest was referred to Councilman Joseph C. Davison. The borough just completed surfacing the street and is not anxious to have it ripped up without adequate assurance it will be properly repaired.

Subject of making an athletic field on ground adjacent to the school was laid over for further discussion. Councilman Chester Apy said he though the project would be too costly to attempt, since piping a brook would be one of the requiremenis. He suggested trying to obtain gifts of land from some of Little Silver's large property owners. He and Councilman Howard Ungerer will continue study of the playground question.

Manson Fines Nine In Middletown Court

Nine persons were fined in Middletown court before Recorder W. Gilbert Manson last night for traffic offenses.

Edward Eccles, Devon st., Kearny; Barnet Weissler, Smith st., Perth Amboy, and Gordon Law, Brookside apartments, Delphi, N. Y., were each fined $10 for passing stopped school buses. Miss Betty Cullens, 35 Maple pl., Keyport, was fined $7 for careless driving in a school zone. Richard Sullivan of Leonardo and William H. Strohm, 317 Bass ave., Long Branch, each paid $10 fines for speeding.

Jerry Natale, East Runyon st., Newark, was fined $5 for passing another car on the right and John Ross, Port Monmouth rd., Port Monmouth, $5 for not having his driver's license. Eddie Kavanaugh, Sampson pl., Long Branch, was fined $2 for parking in a restricted zone.

Swim Classes To Be Feature of Summer Program

School Board Told Classes Will Be Held At Fort Hancock

Roy E. Cotten announced at the Red Bank school board meeting Tuesday night that swimming classes would be part of the playground program this summer. The classes will be held at Fort Hancock. Children, accompanied by adults, will be transported to and from the beach by bus.

He also said activities at the athletic field will be under the supervision of R. N. Hawkins, secretary of the West Side "Y," assisted by Joseph Eggleston and Miss Ruth Parmly. The Branch ave. playground will be under direction of Vincent Finn and Miss Jane Merrill. The board appropriated $1,000 toward paying the salaries of the directors.

The board accepted the recommendation of Edwin C. Gilland, retiring supervisor, that two new teachers be employed. Mrs. Margaret Mann will replace Miss Marguerite Enright in the third grade at the Mechanic st. school, and Miss Grace Woodhead will replace Miss Minerva Schmidt, kindergarten teacher at Fort Monmouth. John Ferretti was employed as janitor at the high school.

Mrs. Mann and Miss Woodhead are both graduates of Red Bank schools. The former graduated from Newark State Teachers college, and the latter from Wheelock kindergarten school in Boston.

Miss L. Lorraine Anderson, who has been offered an opportunity to teach in Japan, was granted one year's leave of absence.

A letter was received from the State Board of Education approving the Red Bank schools until September, 1951.

Sgt. McCormick Gets New Honor

Sgt. J. W. McCormick of Howell station, state police, was honored with a special recommendation by the Shrewsbury township committee Tuesday night upon his "expert service" in training the township's corps of special volunteer police.

The resolution, proposed by Township Committeeman Gerald F. Nagle and passed unanimously, commended the police officer upon his "general high character and qualified instruction ability" in preparing the local police for service.

The committee ordered that the resolution be sent to the superintendent of state police at Trenton with a request that it be made an official part of the sergeant's service record.

Sgt. McCormick conducted special classes for the township volunteers for several weeks in order to prepare them for their local duty. His instruction included patrol, traffic control and various other forms of police activity.

Award Contract for Painting Schools

A contract for painting Leonardo high school, Middletown village and Fair View schools, inside and out, has been awarded by the Middletown township board of education to Edmund Gay, Highlands, for $5,445.

Dr. Wylie G. Pate, supervising principal, has announced nine new teachers will be required next school year. Hereafter applications for teaching positions must be reviewed by the personnel committee of the board.

Smith Arrested In Perth Amboy For Bookmaking

Local Cab Operator Found With Slips By Detectives

Elmon E. Smith, 26 Wallace st., operator of the Safety Cab company, Shrewsbury, is held in $1,000 bail awaiting action of Middlesex county's grand jury on a charge of bookmaking.

Investigator Joseph Cereghino of Middlesex county prosecutor's office and Police Capt. Walter Simpson of Perth Amboy made the arrest Tuesday shortly after noon in front of the General Cable corporation's plant, Perth Amboy.

According to Middlesex Prosecutor Matthew Melko, racing forms, a sealed envelope later found to contain six horse race bets, and lottery slips were found on Smith. Melko said the sealed envelope was passed out a window of the cable plant to Smith, who was seized immediately.

Middlesex county prosecutor's men said that Smith had been under observation for some time. The tip, Melko said, came through Perth Amboy police headquarters. Identity of the person passing the envelope to Smith has not yet been made.

Smith was arraigned Tuesday afternoon before Perth Amboy's Police Magistrate Louis F. Sellyei and posted the $1,000 bail after being ordered held for grand jury action on the bookmaking charge.

Smith is a son of Ernest Smith and brother of Walter and Lester Smith, who were arrested by Monmouth County Prosecutor J. Victor Carton July 29, 1947, in a raid at the Wallace st. address. Ernest and Walter were charged with bookmaking and operating a numbers bank and Lester for accepting bets on race horses. The day of the raid, Elmon Smith visited 26 Wallace st. He was taken to police headquarters, but was released after questioning.

At that time, Smith listed himself as a prize fight manager. Later he applied for and received a trainer-owner license from the New Jersey Racing commission. The commission last summer revoked his license. That action followed reports in The Register and in Dan Parker's sports column in the New York Daily Mirror relative to his family's bookmaking operations.

Following the revocation of his license, Smith, through his attorney, Alexander Levchuk of Freehold, asked Parker to retract his Daily Mirror statement. Parker did not, but nothing has since been heard about the case.

Adjusters Favor Beach Apartments

After listening to three hours of testimony, the Sea Bright board of adjustment Tuesday night voted unanimously to recommend that Stephen J. O'Connor be granted a zone variation to permit him to operate two apartment houses on the South Beach.

That recommendation will go before the mayor and council for action at tonight's meeting.

The variation would permit Mr. O'Connor to rent 16 apartments in the Zone A, or oceanside, section of South Beach, which, under previous zoning restrictions and a new amendment, was set aside for single-family houses.

Prior to the board's vote on the O'Connor issue, it also voted to recommend variances in the Zone B, or riverside, section of the South Beach to three applicants who want to engage in the boat renting business. They were Louis Scheifer, Blanche Olive James and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Mount.

In granting approval for these boat businesses, the board refused all three permission to set up lunch or refreshment stands. Nelson E. Finch, board president, said the Sea Bright board of health had informed him the lunch stand license granted Chris' Landing will not be allowed to be renewed this year. The reason, he said, is that too much refuse has been thrown into the river in years past.

No objections were raised on any of the applications excepting that of Mr. O'Connor.

Eatontown Route Draws Opposition

Highway Plan Criticized As Officials Hold Hearing

The state highway's proposed one-way relief route in Eatontown for Highway 35 appears headed for the ash can, following last night's meeting to discuss the subject. Though no definite action was taken by borough council, it is evident the borough fathers will abide by "the will of the people," which last night was strongly in opposition.

With but seven people favoring the plan out of a crowd which filled Eatontown's fire house to overflowing, it is generally believed that the present plan will be scrapped, and council will press for its original request, a two-way highway well west of the business section.

Fred L. Gerard, district engineer from the State Highway department, and his assistant, T. E. Olsen, were present to describe their proposal. After Mayor F. Bliss Price opened the meeting by explaining that the hearing was called to discuss "the pros and cons" of the issue, Mr. Gerard began his explanation. He then answered questions from the floor.

After 40 minutes of this, Mr. Gerard, annoyed by a question from Ira Boyce, a non-resident, declared "we'll close this meeting right here, I'm through!" But Eatontown's residents were not finished, the meeting lasting another 40 minutes.

Mr. Boyce, member of Eatontown's Masonic lodge, was disturbed at the prospect of the state moving the 127-year-old lodge building. Trying to place responsibility for removing the building, Mr. Boyce told Gerard: "You're going to move the Masonic lodge to benefit race track traffic, I suppose." Gerard heatedly countered: "I won't answer such talk."

Mr. Gerard's opening remarks explained the plan offered by the state. Present Route 35 would be

Red Bank Man Ordained Priest

First Mass Sunday At St. Anthony's

Rev. Marion Camillus Palandrano, S.S.P., son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Palandrano of 62 Branch ave., will say his first mass Sunday at 10:30 o'clock at St. Anthony's church.

Rev. Marion C. Palandrano

Father Palandrano is a member of the Pious Society of St. Paul, an order devoted to the Apostolate of the Catholic press, radio and screen. He was ordained to priesthood Saturday at St. Columba's cathedral, Youngstown, Ohio, by Bishop James A. McFadden.

At his first mass, Msgr. Salvatore DiLorenzo, St. Anthony's pastor, will officiate as archpriest. Rev. Francis P. Borrano, S.S.P., superior of St. Paul's monastery, Canfield, O., will be deacon and Rev. Alphonse Cappo, S.S.P., subdeacon. Rev. Francis P. Borrano will preach the sermon.

A reception for the new priest will be held in the afternoon at his parents' home.

Father Palandrano attended the Augustinian academy on Staten Island, N. Y. He then attended Manhattan college, after which he completed four years of theology at St. Pauls' monastery. He will be stationed at the last named for further study in the exercise of his ministry.

Suggest Law Suit Against Buchanan

William I. Buchanan, Maple ave., this week is being notified that the borough of Little Silver will institute court action if he fails to repair property he owns in Sliverwhite gardens, Little Silver.

Meeting Tuesday night, Little Silver council directed Borough Attorney Leon Reussille to advise Mr. Buchanan that it considers he has created a public nuisance and hazard by failing to fill an excavation. The subject has been under discussion for several months, the hole having been dug some time ago when Mr. Buchanan proposed construction of a house on the site.

Councilman Howard Ungerer said that residents of the area demanded action. He said that Mr. Buchanan had refused his previous requests by arguing that the land is personal property and that the public is prohibited from trespassing. When asked for a legal opinion, however, Mr. Reussille said that a threat of injury to the public could be prosecuted as a nuisance.

Mayor Frank Gregory said the excavation contains water, making a child's drowning a possibility. He also said it was a health matter since the hole was a mosquito-breeding area.

Five Show Up at Meeting; Postponed Until July 19

Five persons showed up for the meeting of the Vocational Training school committee held last night in the Red Bank borough hall.

Due to the small attendance it was decided by those present to postpone the meeting until Tuesday night, July 19. It will also be held in the borough hall.

School Board OK's Summer Band School

The Red Bank board of education Tuesday night approved a proposal to hold a band school this summer. John Luckenbill, music teacher, will be in charge.

Red Bank Local Is 30 Years Old

Stardust inn Monday night was visited by 150 members of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Motion Picture Machine Operators as Red Bank-Freehold local 536 celebrated its 30th anniversary at a dinner-dance.

Though Red Bank's local was congratulated on its birthday, heads of the International practically turned the affair into a testimonial to the late George G. Roop. Richard F. Walsh of Brooklyn, International president, said that the large attendance at the dinner was "a great tribute to George." Due to illness, Mr. Roop was unable to attend. He died the following afternoon. He was general chairman of the celebration and had been at the inn Monday afternoon making final arrangements.

William P. Raoul of New York, general secretary-treasurer of the International, said Mr. Roop was one of the best business agents in the alliance. Thomas Shea of New York, assistant International president, also praised Mr. Roop.

J. Leroy Snyder, president of the Red Bank-Freehold local, received a large key labeled "Perth Amboy, Gateway to Red Bank." Ed Woods, business agent of the Perth Amboy local, made the presentation. It was to have been an expression of regard from the Amboy group to Mr. Roop.

Besides Mr. Roop, the committee arranging the anniversary party included Anthony J. Talerico, Alexander Sastokas and Kenneth Cowdrick. Officers of the Red Bank local, besides Mr. Snyder, are Mr. Cowdrick, vice president; Eugene Handy, secretary-treasurer, and Alexander Sastokas and Chauncey Dumas, executive board.

Special guests of the local were Tony E. Hunting, manager of Reade's Carlton theater, and John Marzulia, manager of Reade's Strand theater, both of Red Bank. Tribute was paid to deceased members of the Red Bank local. Included were Dants Prate, Lester Davis, Herman Shutts and Theodore Evans.

Local 536 was organized by William Snyder and Daniel Dorn Mar. 17, 1919. Meeting on the stage of the old Empire theater, which was Red Bank's only theater at the time, the organizers had difficulty obtaining the seven members required for a charter. The Empire employed but three men. Only five men, Mr. Snyder, Mr. Dorn, Mr. Prate, George Hendrickson and John White, attended the organization session. Needing two more, Mr. Snyder hurriedly toured the town on a bicycle in search of two additional members. He signed George Adams and Charles Bennett and the International granted Red Bank its charter.

Besides those mentioned, other members of Red Bank local are Edward Beams, Jack Mason, Fred Tupper, William Brasnahan, George B. Moxley, Benjamin LaParre, Charles Porter, Fred Whitney, Douglas McLean and Irving Groves. Charter members Snyder and White still are active members.

Adjusters Favor Beach Apartments

He represented a group of South Beach property owners including Bennett and Gabriel Galef, Edmund and Assunta Palmeiri, Dr. David S., Lucy L. and May L. Flynn, Ulfrato L. Edwards and the Leonard Mortgage Co.

Supporting Mr. O'Connor was Mrs. Edna M. Perlmutter, who operates an agency for the Ray H. Stillman agency at Sea Bright, Mrs. James and Mrs. Mount. When Mr. Finch asked the audience, late in the meeting, if there was anyone present who opposed the O'Connor variance no one answered.

Mr. Green said he was at a loss to understand how the board of adjustment, after spending four months to draw up a zoning ordinance restricting the oceanside of Ocean ave. to single-family dwellings could, at this time, consider changing that ordinance to permit the O'Connor apartments to operate.

"You solemnly agreed to allow only one-family houses in this section of town and to allow two-family houses in other sections."

Mr. Maida attached much importance to statements by Mrs. Mount and Mrs. James. Mrs. Mount said both houses had been operated from 1943-45 as multiple family houses. Mrs. James said it would do "anyone's heart good to see what this man (O'Connor) has done to improve this property, which once was the disgrace of Sea Bright."

Mr. O'Connor said he had spent a large sum of money on repairs, having had to install a new roof on one of the houses which had been gutted by fire and to paint and decorate both. Work on the Packer house, he said cost him between $4,000 and $5,000 and on the Schaller house more than $9,000.

Mr. Finch, on advice from Mr. Giordano and objection from Mr. Maida, denied Mr. Green permission to introduce as evidence, or read from, letters from the State Bureau of Tenement House Supervision, one of which stated the buildings had been inspected in April and were found to be "illegally arranged tenement houses." This letter added that "if plans were made to comply with the act, this department would have no authority to withhold approval."

However, Mr. Green stated it was his opinion that Mr. O'Connor sought to establish his apartment houses both in violation of local zoning laws and the state tenement law. He brought out that the operator had gone ahead a year ago to alter his houses and rent apartments without permission from the building inspector. This was not denied.

On the other hand, Mr. O'Connor maintained he had purchased the houses in such a condition that they were not suitable for use as single-family dwellings and that it would be a hardship for him to keep them unless their multiple-family use was allowed.

When it came to a vote, all board members approved the application.

Auxiliary Elects New Staff of Officers

Officers were elected at a meeting of the auxiliary of the Atlantic Township Fire company last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Kathryn Crine, Colt's Neck. They are Mrs. Anne Bobzin, president; Mrs. Edna Buck, secretary; Mrs. Louise Richens, secretary; Mrs. Bertha Conover, treasurer, and Mrs. Mildred Daniels, financial secretary.

Mrs. Marion Conover, retiring president, received a gift. Mrs. Richens will be chairman of the auxiliary food booth at the fire company fair in July.

The next meeting will be Sept. 7 at the home of Mrs. Richens.

Junior Tennis Tourney Ends Second Round

Harold Potter, superintendent of Red Bank public tennis courts, currently is conducting a junior tennis championship.

Results to date are: first round, John Toolan defeated William Branin, 6-0; 6-0; Tom Osborn defeated Henry Clark, 6-1, 10-8; Terry Doremus defeated Donald Clancy by default; Dick Wolf defeated Jim Carroll, 6-1, 6-0, and Phil Smith defeated Clark Nelson, 8-6, 9-7.

Second round—Toolan defeated Pete VanKeuren, 7-5, 4-6, 8-6; Osborn defeated Doremus, 6-3, 6-1, and George Norcom defeated Stanley Mayerson, 6-0, 6-0.

Frances Sherwood Honored at Shower

Mrs. Herbert Parkell of Reckless pl. entertained at a shower Friday night for Miss Frances Sherwood of Red Bank. Miss Sherwood's marriage to Leonard Covert will take place June 30.

Guests were Mrs. William Schanck, Mrs. J. Spann Jeffers, Mrs. Robert C. Edwards, Mrs. Howard Pieper, Mrs. Clarence E. Fanning, Mrs. Norman Stoffiett, Mrs. Fred Moller and Misses Ione VanBuskirk, Elizabeth-Ann Cooper, Virginia Doolittle and Kathryn H. Cooper.

Legion Sends 2 to Boys' State

To Be Held This Week At Rutgers College

American Legion boys' state begins Sunday at Rutgers university. Shrewsbury post's candidate will be Walter Dingman, Hance rd., Fair Haven, and the local Legion post is also permitting Robert Hogan of Oceanport to attend. Hogan is being sponsored by St. James post, Catholic War Veterans.

Mortimer VanSauter, state vice commander of the Legion, explained the program for the boys at Shrewsbury post's meeting Monday night. He said that governments from municipal to state levels will be explained and that the week's climax will be June 24 when a governor will be elected. Installation ceremonies will be held that day at 8 p. m. in Rutgers chapel. The week ends at noon June 26.

Shrewsbury post delegates to the county Legion convention, which will be held at Highlands a week from Saturday, are Walter Boskey, Jr., William Weinrich, Frank Innacelli, Dr. Lawrence Collins, Henry Inselberg, Ernest Boskey, Walter Boskey, Sr., Mr. VanSauter, William Dennis, James Fitzgerald, William I. Klatsky, Cecil R. MacCloud, Archibald MacKellar, Charles Holmwood, Sol Shipkin, Louis Brancadora, Frank Bailey, Murray Halpin, Myron Whelan and Ottmar Phillips.

$35,000 Fire Damages Hotel

9 Companies Battle Bradley Beach Blaze

An estimated $35,000 in damage was caused by the fire which broke out on the fifth floor of the La Reine hotel in Bradley Beach last night. Most of the loss resulted from water poured by 20 hoselines into the blaze.

Eight fire companies from surrounding communities aided the Bradley Beach firemen in battling the blaze. They were from Ocean Grove, Asbury Park, Neptune, Belmar, Wanamassa, Deal, Avon and Neptune City.

Only a handful of guests were at the hotel, which had just been prepared for the summer season. None was on the fifth floor where the fire originated.

Two persons were taken to Fitkin hospital. Miss Margaret Pompei, 42, of Paterson, a spectator, fell over a hose and possibly fractured a wrist. Christopher Deboy, 27, of Ocean Grove, a fireman, was overcome by smoke.

Keyport Republicans Plan Outdoor Picnic

The Good Government Republican club was entertained Monday at the home of Mrs. Grace Strickland, Broad st., Keyport. The president, Mrs. Jeannette Everdell, presided.

Plans were made to hold a picnic Monday afternoon, July 11, at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Huyiar. The club realized $19.20 at a plastic demonstration held last month at the home of Mrs. Suella Stults. A donation of $10.00 was made to the First Aid drive.

The group voted to join the Monmouth County Republican club as a unit. The "dark horse" prize was awarded to Mrs. Phoebe Neidinger. The hostess served strawberry short cake, sandwiches and soft drinks. Attending were Mrs. Jettie Dolson, Mrs. Jeannette Everdell, Mrs. Ethel Finger, Mrs. Elizabeth Huyiar, Mrs. Phoebe Neidinger, Mrs. Caroline Parks, Mrs. Emma T. Rudiger, Mrs. Alvenia Strickman, Mrs. Suella Stults, Mrs. Edith Wuestefeld, Mrs. Lillie Winterton, Mrs. Florence Sanborn, Mrs. Melva Hoff, Mrs. Richard Chinery and Mrs. M. J. Dilks.

Election Set Monday By Township Police

Because Shrewsbury township police are volunteers who serve without pay, it has been decided that they should elect their own officers. As a result, an election will be held by the men at a closed meeting at Tinton Falls school Monday night.

Township Committeeman Gerald F. Nagle, who has been in immediate charge of police activities, announced plans for the election at Tuesday night's committee meeting.

The election will be supervised by Lewis Belanger of Riverdale avenue, and officers to be chosen will be one lieutenant and four sergeants. One sergeant will serve in each of these community areas, Northside, Tinton Falls, Wayside and Pine Brook. The lieutenant, it is understood, either will be elected by acclamation or ballot.

To Inspect Trailer Camp At Atlantic Highlands

Following a protest made by a delegation from the Bay ave. area of Atlantic Highlands at the borough meeting Tuesday night, the mayor and council will inspect the trailer camp of County Gas company employees tonight.

At the meeting, the council accepted the bid of $375 made by James Phillips for painting the interior of the sewage disposal plant. John Kosak, Jr., an employee of the Atlantic Highlands National bank, was appointed a member of the board of adjustment.

PRE-SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS

Pre-school registration and physical examination for all children expecting to transfer from other grades or high schools to Atlantic Highlands public schools and for all children who will enter the first grade this year will be held next Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in the school building. Parents of children entering the first grade should bring the children's birth certificates and any certificates of vaccination or vaccine.

Eatontown Route Draws Opposition

made one way south. A new road, about 400 feet west of 35, would be one way north. The new road would start in the vicinity of Brookside inn, slicing through town in semi-circle fashion until it again reached Route 35 in the vicinity of Pasicky's greenhouse. Gerard said a series of three "virtual" traffic circles connecting the roads would keep traffic flowing at a steady pace. He said the Broad st. stretch between the two roads could either be one way or two way.

Leslie D. Seely spoke in favor of the relief route. He said that while businessmen were opposed to it, he felt Eatontown's other residents should be considered. "The road will not interfere with business as much as we have suffered from traffic," he asserted.

J. Reading Johnson, Anthony J. Ratti, Louis Kisin, Louis Hill, Carlos Garafalo, Clifford H. Brower and Donald Livingston were among those to speak in strong objection to the plan. Mr. Johnson was on his feet repeatedly to take issue with the highway men, Mr. Seely and, finally, Mayor Price and members of the council.

Mr. Seely said he did not think last night's meeting was "a representative" one and that a canvass of the town—made a few months ago when the proposal first was brought to light—was not proper. "I have been told," he said, "the petitions were circulated by those against the proposal." Regarding the petitions, Anthony Piccola charged that Mr. Seely was in error. "It was an unbiased petition," Piccola declared. "Those circulating them were told not to discuss the proposal but to offer 'for or against' papers for signatures." Mr. Brower chimed in with the accusation that "certain politicians visited many residents asking them to sign in favor of the new highway."

In his remarks, Mr. Ratti said it is "a crime to sacrifice the community and the business section for the convenience of traffic." He termed Eatontown "a sacrificial lamb for the rest of the drivers in the state." Mr. Ratti also said that Eatontown's main traffic problem exists but three hours a day. He said race track traffic had reduced in the past two years and that it would be reduced further if the borough had its share of state troopers to police the road. "I strongly oppose," he concluded, "dissecting the borough into two speedways." Later, in answer to a remark by Mr. Seely, Mr. Ratti said one-way routes would hurt Eatontown business. He said one-third of the borough's business came from outlying communities. "They find Eatontown more convenient than Red Bank or Long Branch," he explained, "but we will lose potential customers if we make it more inconvenient for them to come through our town."

Borough council earlier had gone on record opposing the route, Mayor Price explained, after it had received petitions signed by 400 residents, 300 of whom objected. Reason for last night's meeting, he said, was that council wanted to be certain that everyone understood the proposal so there could be no doubt about the authenticity of the original petitions. "After tonight's meeting, I think the petitions correctly showed the sentiment of the people," he agreed.

Mr. Johnson addressed a general question to the council, asking "why are some councilmen so strongly in favor of this highway when they're already on record opposing it?"

The charge drew Councilman Ralph Lewis to his feet. "I presume he means me," Mr. Lewis began, then adding what he had said at the council meeting when the subject first was discussed. The councilman at that time cautioned the residents not to turn down the project without considerable thought. He said his vote on the question would be influenced by the opinions expressed by those at last night's meeting. "And I feel that this meeting is a representative one," he declared. His remarks were greeted by applause. Mr. Lewis later said the borough needs the state's help in the future and that to flatly reject its proposal without sufficient public airing would be like turning Eatontown's back on the highway department.

Councilman James N. Wolcott, Jr., also took issue with Mr. Johnson's remarks. "You claim to know the private thoughts of the council," he said, "a statement on which I cannot agree. I'm guided by the will of the people and I know most of the council feel the same way."

Donald Livingston, an engineer and a traffic expert, opened up an avenue for further negotiations with the state. Mr. Gerard had said one-way streets were the best means to effect traffic relief. Mr. Livingston, disagreeing, said it was his experience that only circumferential highways ease the problem. After Gerard said that the proposed route would cost $330,000 compared to $2,000,000 for the borough's west-of-the-business section two-way highway, Mr. Livingston asked Mayor Price to contact the highway department with a plan to construct the $2,000,000 plan in easy stages. "The job doesn't have to be done in one year or in five years," he said.

Council meets Wednesday night, but whether or not the highway matter will be brought up for vote was not disclosed. Mr. Ratti had asked that the residents be notified in advance of any council vote on the question.

The meeting ended with Mr. Johnson trying to draw a vote from the council. Mr. Brower made a motion for adjournment which Mr. Ratti seconded, stating, "I know the council is aware of the public's overwhelming objection to the new road." Mr. Johnson still was trying to be heard as the audience began leaving the building.

GLOBE BAR BREAK-IN FAILS

An unsuccessful attempt was made early yesterday morning to break into the Globe hotel on East Front st. The would-be thief tried to pry open the windows of the men's room and bar, but failed.

Accident Fatal To Rumson Boy

John Strothman Dies At Monmouth Memorial

John Strothman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell A. Strothman, 35 Bingham ave., Rumson, was killed in an automobile accident at Oceanport Tuesday afternoon shortly after arriving home from Lehigh university for the summer.

Strothman was riding in a car driven by Robert Vantilburg of North Plainfield, which was traveling west on Portaupeck ave. According to police, the car failed to stop at a stop st. and was hit in the left side by a car driven by Arthur Weinkofsky, 26 Slocum st., Long Branch.

Strothman suffered a skull fracture and died shortly after arriving at Monmouth Memorial hospital. Vantilburg suffered body injuries and was admitted to Monmouth Memorial hospital. His condition is reported as fair. Weinkofsky and four people riding with him were uninjured.

Born in Orange, Mr. Strothman had lived in Rumson for about eight years. He attended Rumson high school and was a graduate of St. Andrews preparatory school at Middletown, Del. Besides his parents he is survived by one sister, Janet M. Strothman.

The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at St. George's Episcopal church, Rumson, with Rev. George A. Robertshaw officiating. Interment in charge of Mount Memorial home, will be in Fair View cemetery.

The boys' parents request that instead of flowers, money be sent to the scholarship fund at Lehigh university in memory of their son.

Keansburg Child Killed by Truck

Mary Ann Miele, 3, Dies Under Wheels

Mary Ann Miele, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Miele of state highway 36, Keansburg, died instantly Tuesday afternoon under the wheels of a tractor and trailer driven by Julius W. Embley, also of Keansburg.

Embley was traveling north on Main st., Keansburg, carrying about 17 tons of washed gravel. According to police, he was about one block from highway 36, when Mary Ann ran in front of the truck.

Embley was released under $2,500 bond pending a hearing before Recorder Henry Schweizer on a charge of manslaughter with a truck. Embley was released because Dr. Frank A. Miele ordered him to bed. He was suffering from severe shock.

Last rites were given to the child by Rev. John J. Callahan of St. Ann's church. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at the John J. Ryan funeral home. Rev. Edward Corrigan of St. Ann's church officiated. Burial was in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Legion Juniors Face 2 Big Tilts

Important Games Follow 21-1 Victory

Tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. Belmar will visit Red Bank high athletic field in a regular county game. Sunday at 2 p. m. Belmar will be here for a state tournament meeting. Since the visitors currently rule the roost in the quest for a national title, a Red Bank victory Sunday would knot things up.

Tuesday night the juniors traveled to West Long Branch, where they pounded out a surprising 21 to 1 victory. Allan Stern hurled for six innings, Coach Vallee DeFazio yanking him in order to rest for future use. Phil Minton took over and escaped damage.

Alvin Griggs, who had a perfect day at bat with three for three, poled a homer. Red Bank's big inning was the second when 16 runs were registered on ten hits. In that near never-ending inning 20 batters thoroughly worked over three enemy chuckers.

Has Had Rich, Full Life; Loves Highlands Best

By Wyn Esselborn

Petrino Mattia—his friends call him Peter—is best known in Highlands as the man who talked so emphatically against the borough's defective piping and water supply. That his words carry weight is evidenced in the improvement in the water system.

Best described as Highland's "Grand Old Man," he is now living near Branch Brook park, Newark, but hopes to return to his adopted home of Highlands soon.

"My doctor informs me I may be able to get out next week," the 80-year-old gentleman said.

Busy now writing a book on the history of Italian people in Newark, Peter spends a great deal of his time at a spacious work table littered with research notes. As the son of Angelo Mattia, credited with being the founder of the city's Italian colony, Peter was the first Italian student in Newark.

He lives in a large, mellow room with the usual family pictures. Sixty years of marriage and 12 children, grandchildren, too, of course, have given him a more varied group than most of us. His favorite is a Sherman gold-tone of his late wife and himself; it catches his quickness and her soft charm.

A personal written blessing from the now deceased Pope Pius XI is opposite the photographs, and an exquisitely hand-painted parchment of commendation from Italy in appreciation of his efforts for children's relief. Peter's White Cross, emblem of Knighthood in this charity, reaches him soon.

"People are the same, whether they're here, in Italy, Germany, or Africa," he said. "I believe we should help all of them—all we can. It just happens there have been more Italian opportunities than others thrown my way, and I guess everyone has that experience, with his native country."

Mr. Mattia came to the Highlands as the result of an absent-minded detour he made almost 40 years ago while traveling to Red Bank.

"I was plodding the auto along, intending to travel the old Stone Church rd., when by chance I noted the Scenic dr. turn and decided it looked inviting," he said. "I absorbed the marine view and beautiful homes and mountains—and wanted to live in it. I had never met up with anything quite so picturesquely colorful. Luckily my wife agreed with me—so . . . ."

He sighed.

"Our marriage was arranged by our parents. Jessie wasn't 16—I wasn't 20. When I think of how grand it turned out, I'm almost sorry the recipe is out of date these days."

"No, not that I'm a fisherman or boat fiend, or even a swimmer. It was the color that got me—still does, I dabbled in art."

The "Grand Old Man of Highlands" once had a Newark portrait studio.

"Mostly for theatrical people, though. I had bumped into quite a bunch of them managing the old Schubert theater, and doing photography for the New York Journal. I wrote a couple of plays, "Cuba Libre" and "Beyond Spanish Power"—young and starry-eyed, you know. Then I had a fling at acting, played the idot role in "Shores Acres." Newcomers got more of a chance in those days. I'll never forget watching my plays in production—it amounted to a bigger thrill than even my retirement, with a pension fund."

He also painted lobby pictures of Lillian Russell and when you asked him if she was the most gorgeous creature he ever saw he replies:

"She was beautiful all right. When she came into the studio the boys would watch her like their sons do Santa Claus. I always thought that Frances Folsom, who married President Cleveland, was lovelier. It was harder to capture her beauty on canvas, too. She was exquisite without being made up, while Lillian had a theatrical appearance."

Mr. Mattia also spoke highly of Edwin Booth and his performance in "Hamlet."

"A greater actor never lived. You could sense by the melancholey that dripped from him that he was re-living his brother John's crime against Lincoln in the murder of the theater king. He dominated a house. So did Mary Anderson. People sat on the edge of their chairs. We have no one to match them today."

"How do they make a movie? They retake and retake a scene before it is shown to you, but you can't stop in the middle of a stage and ask for another reel. That's art, at least to me."

One regret he has is that he never visited San Francisco. "We were booked in Chicago, on our way there, when the famed Iriquois theater tragedy happened. That explosion was enough to deafen you. I was standing outside, after having gone in to wish Eddie Foy 'good luck,' and I thought the ground was hitting me in the face. Some papers called it fire, but I didn't see any flames. Always figured it was calcium gas because the most casualties were in the balcony and front rows of the house. People jumped out of windows—got carried out. Well, the city of Chicago closed all theaters for a month; we had to wait for our opening. San Francisco was blotted off our tour. I never did get back that way. Strange, for the place's always drawn me, much as the Orient does some of us, I guess. I made up for that disappointed urge partly, however, often unconsciously. The novelties I put together in my Highlands hill house often turned out to be dolls or lamps of the tinged-Chinese kind they tell me nearly all curio stores in 'Frisco sell. More frequently, though, they were on the marine type. After all," he grinned, "what else could you expect? There I was living with the world's greatest water view below me.

"I like to remember the town as it was about 30 years ago," he went on, then, thoughtfully, fingering a sea shell ashtray. "It was the place to go, crowded with rich and poor on week-ends, business booming, amusements going strong. It's home to me. That's why I hate to see it falling into the forgotten summer resort class."

"What changed it?"

"The wrong politicians, mostly, I think—people who wanted to exploit themselves and to heck with the town."

"Can you suggest any ways the Highlands could get back its old prestige, Mr. Peter?"

"Well, it seems to me you'd have to begin with a real cleaning up and not just with shacks and scenery eyesores. Get rid of any politician who doesn't place the town first; sure, every city has good and bad big shots, but Highlands, being so small, and in the position she is in, can't afford even one of them. Then have town meetings where everyone can discuss ideas for improvement. Fix up the railroad station so people who just pass through will receive a pleasant impression, instead of a dirty brown one—grass plots, maybe a monument with a universal appeal.

"Repairs cost money, sure, but what's the matter with qualified people throwing in a little free work?—they do plenty of it on their boats and houses, don't they? How about whipping together some chance stands, cigarettes, stuff like that? Look at the business Seaside Heights drags in through them and what other resort but ours can boast an ocean, river, bay and mountains for vacationers?

"We might even be able to supply a free dance hall—perhaps we could extend asking chip-ins to a few nearby shore places—have a good band Saturday night. That would travel like magic. Pretty soon you'd have groups from innumerable towns coming for the dancing. You've got to see the town to have the dancing—right? So other points call attention to themselves. People admire the view or the beaches or the concessions and return for overnight stays. The hotels and rooming houses boom, more people mean more local store buying—you can imagine the growth of one thing from another.

"What's wrong with dashing out circulars about the charms of the place and sending them to names picked out of city telephone books and directories?—even ads in big newspapers, say New York's, Newark's, Trenton's! That's how to put Highlands back on the map."

Enemies of Corn Borer Are Growing Stronger

Three species of parasites, which destroy the European corn borer have established themselves so well in New Jersey that they are believed to have attacked twice as many borers in 1948 as in the previous year.

This sizeable increase in the number of parasites of the insect pest, which attacks corn, potatoes, beans, cabbage and some flowering plants, is revealed in a state-wide survey conducted by the insect parasite laboratory of the State Department of Agriculture. Since 1935 several species of parasites have been liberated each summer in cooperation with the U.S.D.A.

The high degree of parasitism among the borers bears out an earlier report by the department that the corn borer population was on a downward trend, based on inspections made in the same fields year after year.

The active species of parasites are identified by collecting corn borers from corn fields throughout the state. One of the parasites, a fly called Lydella grisescens, was found to be attacking borers in 88 of the 94 areas of the Garden State. Of the total borers collected in the fall of 1948, one fourth was parasitized by this fly, compared to the 14.8 per cent attacked the previous year in only 82 survey plots.

Another vigorous ally of growers is the tiny wasp Macrocentrus gifuensis. This parasite was recovered from borers taken from 48 study plots, compared to only 23 locations in the 1947-48 survey. The wasp had infected six per cent of all the borers collected last fall. In the previous year Macrocentrus attacked only 2.3 per cent.

Horogenes punctorius, another wasp, is also plaguing the corn borer population. This parasite was found in borers collected from 21 of the 94 study areas. Approximately 1.5 per cent of the borers succumbed to this species in the 1948-49 survey. The wasp was credited with attacking borers in 12 plots in the 1947-48 study and was found in only 0.5 per cent of the insects that year.

The parasites recovered from the corn borers throughout the state are reliberated in corn-producing areas to continue the war against the European corn borer.

Shrewsbury

The name of Lou Disbrow, who played the part of Gay Wellington in the comedy, "You Can't Take It With You," was inadvertently omitted from the cast of characters published in last week's issue.

Gerard Gelling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Gelling, West End ave., a student at Villanova college, has returned home for the summer. Mr. Gelling is proprietor of Wilbur's Jewelry store, Red Bank.

Farm News

Building Trick Keeps Rats Out.

Rats can dig under foundation walls even though the walls go down considerably beyond frost depth into the ground. They have been known to burrow down eight feet to get into storage cellars.

The usual recommendation for a two-foot rat barrier has not proved effective, according to M. A. Clark, agricultural agent. A construction practice that has proved effective, says W. C. Krueger, Rutgers farm engineers, is to allow a footing projection of six inches toward the outside of the foundation wall.

If this is more than 18 inches deep, it seems to baffle any rat that tries to burrow under. They follow the wall down, and in spite of their cleverness, do not dig around the footing projection to get under.

Enough of a footing offset can be provided simply by setting the block wall flush with the inside edge of the footing. This gives six to ten inches of footing sticking out as a barrier.

Time for Tomato Hornworms.

Tomato hornworms usually make their appearance in Monmouth county tomato fields in early June. Frequent examinations of the tomato fields should be made to determine if they are present. The eggs are found by examining both surfaces of the leaf and looking for a small pearly white egg about one sixteenth of an inch in diameter.

Hornworms are easily controlled before they are half grown, advises M. A. Clark, agricultural agent. However, when they get bigger they are rather difficult to poison with an arsenical. The recommended dust for control is a calcium or lead arsenate lime dust or a spray uring four pounds of lead arsenate, eight pounds of hydrated fresh lime, mixed in 100 gallons of water.

When a fungicide is being used to control disease, arsenicals may safely be added to the fungicide to keep the chewing insects from causing damage to the tomato plants. About 30 pounds of dust or 150 gallons of spray is enough to treat an acre.

Breeding Helps Control Egg Size.

Increasing numbers of jumbo and extra large eggs present a problem to many commercial poultrymen. Standard egg cases are not large enough to handle these big eggs without considerable breakage, and markets won't pay enough premium to make production of large eggs profitable.

Egg size can be controlled by selecting breeders on the basis of egg size, points out Richard Q. Rice, associate agricultural agent. Pullets lay their biggest eggs during their first laying year when they are from ten to 11 months old.

During this time, according to Rice, pullets producing eggs weighing 24 to 26 ounces to the dozen can be identified as future pullet breeders. Yearling hens whose eggs average 25½ to 27 ounces per dozen also should be identified. Male birds heading the breeding pens are selected on the basis of the weight of eggs laid by their sisters.

Pen Stable Ideal for Young Stock

W. C. Krueger, extension engineer at the College of Agriculture, Rutgers university, notes that young stock and dry cows can be handled in the pen enclosure with much less work than is needed with the stall and stanchion system.

The engineer suggests a southern exposure for such pens with a doorless opening on that side and a paved yard next to the pen. Clearance height inside the shelter must be at least eight feet, and more if possible to permit tractor fork operation and to give the animals headroom when the litter deepens.

Pens like this need to be cleaned out only once or twice a year, the state university engineer points out. They provide a clean warm bed. Animals are free to go in or out as they please. With such a system animals have a tendency to be healthier and more rugged.

Fertilizer May Injure Bean Seed

Fertilizer in or under the row when lima or snap bean seed is planted may be so close to the roots of young plants as to cause injury warns M. A. Clark, agricultural agent.

A good way to fertilize both snap and lima beans is to apply the fertilizing material with a band-way machine, using not more than 600 to 700 pounds of a 5-10-10 fertilizer to the acre. For lima beans an additional application of 400 to 500 pounds of the same fertilizer should be made as a side dressing along the row about five weeks after planting.

If a band-way machine is not available for fertilizer may be placed along the row the same as when planting field corn. Here the fertilizer is placed along the row about two inches away from the seed and then covered with soil.

A side dressing of fertilizer when the beans are two to four inches tall along the row should be made, applying it with the fertilizer distributor attached to the tractor. Immediatelya fter the fertilizer is applied, it is cultivated and mixed with the soil along the row.

Acre Can Lose Much Topsoil In Season

Heart Attack Fatal to 44-Year-Old Doctor

Dr. Jules R. London, 44, died at 1:30 this morning at his summer home, 824 Ocean ave., Sea Bright, of a heart attack. A Passaic physician specializing in skin diseases, Dr. London yesterday worked to open his Sea Bright home.

Sea Bright First Aid squad members were called, but their work to aid him was fruitless. Dr. London conducted his practice in the People's bank building, Passaic, where he had lived the past 20 years. He was a native of Brooklyn. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Warshaw London; a daughter, Gita London; a brother, Dr. Kople London, and a sister, Miss Kate London, both of New York city. The funeral will be held this afternoon in Passaic Junction cemetery under the direction of Worden funeral home.

Questions and Answers To Vets' Problems

Q. If I renounce my disability compensation from V.A. to enter inactive reserve of the U. S. Navy will I be eligible to enter training under Public Law 16 because of my World war II service?

A. The determination of eligibility and need for vocational rehabilitation is not affected by renunciation of your compensation.

Q. I suffer from a disability that was aggravated by my service in the army during peacetime. Am I eligible for compensation?

A. If your injury was aggravated by service or you were disabled by injury or disease incurred in service, you may qualify for disability compensation at peacetime rates, provided your discharge was under other than dishonorable conditions.

Q. As a peace time veteran am I entitled to hospitalization?

A. You may be entitled to hospitalization, provided you were discharged under other than dishonorable conditions for a disability incurred in line of duty or if you are receiving compensation for a service-connected disability.

Q. Is the widow of a peacetime veteran entitled to compensation if her husband's death was due to service?

A. The widow, children and dependent parents of a deceased peacetime veteran may qualify for compensation where the veteran's death was due to service.

Q.—I wish to convert $5,000 of my $10,000 National Service Life Insurance and continue the balance as term insurance. Will I be permitted to do this?

Q.—My widow's pension was discontinued when I rented my home to increase my income. I now reside in my home and wish to reapply for a widow's pension. Will a reasonable rental value be counted as income?

Q.—Will you please tell me in what order of preference the flag will be disposed of following burial of a veteran.

A.—Priority is as follows: Widow or widower; children according to age, with sons having preference over daughters; father; mother; brothers or sisters; uncles or aunts; nephews or nieces; cousins; and grandparents. In-laws and friends are not entitled, except where circumstances existing at time of death prevented the issuance of a flag to drape the casket, no flag will be issued subsequent to the burial.

Land Conservation Pays Off in Dividends

Too often the cost and not the returns on the investment are considered in connection with the agricultural conservation program, says Stanley M. Orr of Millhurst, chairman of the Monmouth County A.C.P. committee.

The allocation to Monmouth county for conservation under the 1949 A.C.P. is $78,900, the chairman explains. The county committee has the responsibility to get the most conservation from the use of these funds. Records indicate that more than $2 worth of conservation is obtained for each dollar spent.

As a general policy, the chairman states, each farmer is required to put up about half the "out-of-pocket" cost of conservation practices carried out under the program. That means the farmers of Monmouth county will put up another $78,000 to protect their soil and water resources.

In addition, the assistance provided under the program has acted as a leaven for additional conservation. Encouraged by the assistance provided under the program, farmers usually carry out additional conservation work. Many practices started under the program become established in farming systems and are continued indefinitely.

It should not be overlooked either, Mr. Orr points out, that much of this money will be used locally to purchase materials. Other practice costs which the farmer supply also enter local trade channels. It all means business on Main street. Even more important is the stability which stems from improved land and the resulting continued production.

MASS FOR GRADUATES

Fifty-five members of the graduating class of St. Ann's parochial school, Keansburg, received Holy Communion at a special mass yesterday at St. Ann's Catholic church, Keansburg. Following mass members were served breakfast by St. Ann's Parent-Teacher association in the school auditorium. Also attending the breakfast were Rev. Edward A. Corrigan and Rev. John L. Callahan.

WOMAN HIT BY CAR

Mrs. Judith Trafford of DeNormandie ave., Fair Haven, suffered cuts on the head, leg and elbows Monday when she was hit by a car. According to Red Bank police, Mrs. Trafford walked between two parked cars on East Front st. into the path of a car driven by Leland Raphum of River rd., Fair Haven. Mrs. Trafford was treated at Riverview hospital by Dr. Lawrence A. Sangmeister.

SUMMER BUS SCHEDULE

Jersey Shore Bus Lines, Inc., announced today that its summer schedule will be in effect Saturday. This provides for two trips in each direction daily, and for three trips Saturdays and holidays, between Red Bank, Eatontown, and Old Bridge, South River, New Brunswick, Bound Brook, Somerville and intermediate points.

The bus company also stated that its new diesel powered coaches which are being operated between Allentown, Pa., and Ashury Park will be used on all trips.

C.D.A. Gives $75 To Two Charities

Court St. James, Catholic Daughters of America, has given $50 to the Effingham fund to re-build the hospital at Effingham, Ill., and $25 to Boys' Town, Neb.

These contributions were made at a meeting last Thursday at Red Bank Catholic high school auditorium. Arrangements were made for members to make bandages for a leper colony through the Blue Cross circle. Summer activities will include a moonlight sail in July on the Sandy Hook boat.

Water Trees Well For Early Drought

You might think it a very rare day in June that brings on drought conditions. Yet this month can be a critical drought period, especially for newly transplanted trees and shrubs.

Valuable new plants and even old ones need abundant moisture, warns Urban L. Throm, area manager of the Davey Tree Expert Co. If they dry out now, it may be difficult to bring them back to vigor. But there are warning signs for the home owner to heed.

Look at your lawn. If the grass becomes yellow in areas where the sun beats down, you can be reasonably sure lack of moisture in the soil is the cause. Newly planted trees of course may show wilting or yellowing foliage. Whatever the signs, the thing to do is to get out that hose.

Ideal way to water is to copy nature. Put your sprinkler on and let it run until the moisture penetrates to the depth of the roots. Too many home owners believe surface sprinkling is enough. It definitely is not. It tends to cause surface roots. Shallow rooted trees are particularly susceptible to drought conditions.

When watering, it is a good idea to avoid playing water on leaves during the heat of day. Each droplet may act as a lens and burning may result.

Marcellus Graduates From Boston University

Atlantic Highlands Graduates 35

Grammar School Has Musical Program

Thirty-four students were graduated Thursday evening from Atlantic Highlands grammar school. Following the theme, "Our Singing Nation," the graduates sang songs representing each period in our country's history from the colonial period until today.

Rev. Elmer T. Schick gave the invocation, Mary Jane Martin read the class history and Patricia Denzer the class prophecy. The presentation of the class was made by Charles Lanza, principal, and William Junkelman, a member of the board of education, awarded diplomas and prizes.

The board of education prize of $5 was awarded to Alice Augustine for making the highest average in all subjects in the eighth grade during the year. She was also given a table model radio by the Bay Radio company. Nancy Marek received the Teachers' association prize for making the second highest average in all subjects in the eighth grade during the year.

The graduates were Walter Allbrook, Thelma Kay Anderson, Nancy Lou Atlee, Alice V. Augustine, Dorothy E. Boyce, Christine C. Cincey, George C. Conover, Peter C. Dender, Patricia J. Denzer, Peter E. Hartcorn, David M. Hull, Robert Junkelman, Lyman C. Latta, Robert Ledergerber, Marion Lentini, Robert W. Letts, Thomas A. Maffia, John A. Manigrasso, Nancy L. Marek, Mary Jane Martin, Sandra Maskrey, Beverly Morris, Earl F. Norcross, Albert Panariello, Anthony Papa, Yvonne F. Pinero, Maynard C. Reed, Joan Richards, Nancy V. Ryan, Amy F. Schloeder, Richard S. Smith, Barbara A. Stryker, Shirley P. Sykes and Richard A. Wahlers.

Pastor Honored

Rev. W. Clinton Powers

Rev. W. Clinton Powers, pastor of Red Bank Baptist church, was elected a member of the board of managers of the American Baptist Historical society of the Northern Baptist convention at the annual meeting held May 30-June 3 in San Francisco. His term of office runs until May, 1952.

Local Clubwomen Hold Luncheon

District Official Is One of the Guests

Mrs. T. Mount Applegate of Hightstown, vice-president of the third district of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's clubs, was one of the guests at the closing luncheon meeting of the Red Bank Woman's club last week at the clubhouse. Other guests were Mrs. Burton Moore, president of the evening department of the club, and Rev. Charles Webster, pastor of Red Bank Presbyterian church.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Carman gave an interesting program opening with a short skit, "The Browers at Home." Mrs. Carman sang a group of her original songs, and Mr. Carman did an original pantomime, "Lady Stewart's Return."

New members given corsages were Mrs. J. R. Cherry, Mrs. H. A. Hendrickson, Mrs. Sophia Berk, Mrs. Sherman I. Strong, Mrs. Philip J. Bowers, Mrs. Lester C. Stork, Mrs. L. C. Richardson, Mrs. Patrick Bailey, Mrs. Charles Reckless and Mrs. A. O. Osborn.

Mrs. Carman read a report of the recent state convention at Atlantic City. The next club activity will be a luncheon, Sept. 30.

The annual summer card party will be Thursday, June 30, at the clubhouse. Miss Flora Willguss, a former club president, is chairman.

Mrs. Lyman C. Vaninwegen, club president, was luncheon hostess. Chairmen were Mrs. Otmar Philleps, Mrs. Irving Rink, Sr., and Mrs. Kenneth R. Smith, Sr.

State Hospital Gives Operetta

County Groups Aid in Production

A capacity audience of patients, relatives, friends and members of the staff witnessed a performance of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "Pirates of Penzance," at Marlboro state hospital Tuesday night. Except for four hospital employees, the entire cast of 53 persons were patients at the hospital.

The music therapy department was assisted in the production of this entertainment by the occupational therapy and recreation departments, hospital employees, the Marlboro Women's auxiliary, the American Red Cross and by many interested persons who volunteered their services.

The scenery was produced by patients in the occupation therapy department under the direction of Samuel G. Slaymaker. The recreation department, directed by Elmer Unger, assisted by Mrs. Elna Annable, arranged for the stage equipment and lighting effects. Waverly Woolridge, a hospital employee, assisted with costuming the men of the cast.

The Marlboro Women's auxiliary under the direction of the chairman, Mrs. Leslie D. Seely, Eatontown, arranged for the chorus costumes. These were made by the Asbury Park branch, Monmouth county chapter, American Red Cross, under the direction of the production chairman, Miss Josephine Winane, Interlaken. Two auxiliary members, Mrs. William Wye, Eatontown, and Mrs. Chester Woolley, West Long Branch, assisted in training the members of the chorus.

The musical background for the program was provided by a 15-piece orchestra from the Federation of Musicians, Local 151, American Federation of Labor, Elizabeth. William Watson, Elizabeth, conducted the orchestra. The Elizabeth Town chapter of the Red Cross provided transportation for the group both to and from the hospital.

The operetta is the fourth of a series of entertainments given by the music therapy department since it began to function officially last Dec. 1. The department is directed by Mrs. Hermina Browne, Elizabeth, who is assisted by two music therapists, Miss Eileen Martin and Lewis Marcuson. Both Miss Martin and Mr. Marcuson are students at Antioch college, Yellow Springs, O., and are completing a training course at Marlboro as part of their college work.

Honor Student at Skidmore College

Miss Edith Deborah Neimark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Neimark, 15 East Ocean ave., Sea Bright, was the honor student in the department of psychology at Skidmore college, Saratoga Springs, N. Y. She also received the Caren Lane Sass psychology prize, established by Doris Hochstader Haas, in memory of her classmate, Caren Lane Sass, to be awarded to the senior major in the department of psychology who shows the greatest promise for future achievement.

Miss Neimark was a member of the legislative council and president of Skidmore Progressive organizations this year. Her short stories have appeared in Profile, college literary magazine. She has written reviews and articles for newspapers, as well as contributing to the college paper, Skidmore News. She and another student debated on the Skidmore-WGY open forum.

Miss Neimark has served as fire captain for her dormitory and also as house president. As a member of Omnibus, college dramatic society, she has worked on building crews for various plays. Collecting for Red Cross drives and participation in current events discussion group have also been her interests. She was a member of the French club and the Young Democrats.

CHILDREN'S PROGRAM

Children's day exercises will be held in the Shrewsbury Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. There will be songs and recitations by the Sunday-school boys and girls and a message by the student-pastor, Theodore E. Franklin.

Israeli Speaker

Dr. Zev Cohen

Dr. Zev Cohen, Israeli author and political expert, who will speak Monday night at the home of Max Leon, 411 River rd., in behalf of the Red Bank United Jewish Appeal campaign.

'Old Shrewsbury Day' Gathering

The Shrewsbury Meeting of Friends will hold the first of a series of extension meetings Sunday afternoon in the Old Friends' meeting house on Sycamore ave., in Shrewsbury. This will be "Old Shrewsbury Day," formerly known as the annual meeting.

Members of Shrewsbury and Plainfield half-yearly Meeting of Friends will gather on this occasion and there will be a box luncheon at 1:30 o'clock, with coffee and dessert served by the members of the Shrewsbury Meeting. Many Friends from other meetings are expected to attend and visitors from other churches will be welcomed.

Dr. Frederick B. Tolles, librarian of Friends' historical library, Swarthmore college, will speak at 3 o'clock on "Quaker Belief and Quaker Testimonies." Dr. Tolles, who is a graduate of Harvard university, is also assistant professor of history at Swarthmore, a member of the board of directors of the American Friends Service committee, and a Fellow of the National Council on Religion in Higher Education. He is a writer on historical subjects relating to the Society of Friends, and a lecturer and instructor at "Pendle Hill," Quaker study center near Swarthmore. In his address at Shrewsbury he will show how the traditional Quaker standards, in group activities and in personal conduct are related to certain fundamental doctrines of the society.

Shrewsbury Meeting House will be open for meetings for worship every Sunday afternoon until Oct. 2, inclusive.

Arnone Finishes At Georgetown

Completes College Course in 3 Years

John P. Arnone, son of Joseph Arnone, 166 Shrewsbury ave., received a degree of bachelor of arts in history at Georgetown university, Washington, D. C., commencement exercises Monday. Arnone completed the four-year college course in three years.

John P. Arnone

At Georgetown, he was president of the New Jersey club, composed of Georgetown students from New Jersey. He was a member of the Pathfinders, the international relations club, the Philistorian society and the business staff of the university year book.

A member of the Georgetown unit, Reserve Officers Training corps, Arnone was designated a distinguished military student. He will attend summer ROTC camp at Lowry field, Denver, Col., for six weeks. On competion of his training there, he will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the air force.

Arnone intends to enter Georgetown Law school in Sept. He was graduated from Red Bank Catholic high school in 1946 in the top ten per cent of his class.

Puerto Rico Yacht In Local Waters

Ted Moore and Joseph Irwin Greet Owner

The ocean-going yacht Vesta, from San Juan, Puerto Rico, arrived at Red Bank's Marine park Sunday morning with the owner, Luis Santaello, his son-in-law, Ralph Christiansen of Club Nautico, grandson Ralphie Christiansen, and nephew, Richard Santaello of Washington, D. C., aboard. The yacht was met by Ted Moore and family and also greeted by Joseph Irwin.

Mr. Santaello is a familiar figure among local yachtsmen, having attended several of our National Sweepstake regattas as judge. Also Comet Nationals in this area. He is also a member of Monmouth Boat club.

The Vesta is a 65-foot twin-screw diesel powered ocean-going cruiser, especially designed for extended cruises and on this trip carried a crew of captain and four.

Two fully-equipped staterooms and deck house can accommodate a party of eight. It has a 75-watt radio telephone with which the owner and guests can have telephone communication with any phone subscriber as well as the usual ship-to-ship and Coast Guard channels. An automatic pilot may be used to steer the ship on any indicated course. A large deep freezer and auxiliary power plant are also part of the yacht's equipment.

Mr. Santaello plans to spend all summer in local waters and will be joined by Mrs. Santaella and his son, Luis Antonio, and family. His grandson Luis is enrolled in a summer camp in the Poconos. They plan to attend the Red Bank National Sweepstakes races in August after which they will start their return trip to Puerto Rico.

American Legion Sets Convention

Two Red Bank Men To Head Committees

Harry Welsford and Felix Santangelo of Red Bank will head the guests and reception committees of the first annual convention of the Monmouth county organization of the American Legion and auxiliaries to be held at Highlands Saturday, June 25. The announcement was made this week by Irving B. Zeichner of Atlantic Highlands, convention chairman.

Mr. Zeichner said that all past county commanders of Monmouth county would serve on the above committees. In addition, each will be accorded floor privileges. The organization's constitution bars non-delegates from the right to vote. The speakers for the banquet which is scheduled to conclude the conclave will be announced soon.

Former County Commander Morris Miller of Shrewsbury, chairman of the speakers' committee, has been designated master of ceremonies. A major portion of the proceedings will be broadcast, Mr. Zeichner said.

The recent announcement by Adjutant William Weinrich, Jr., of Red Bank, that Shrewsbury post of Red Bank had reached the 500 mark in membership means that it will carry the second largest block of votes at the convention. The Molly Pitcher post of Freehold with approximately 800 members is the largest post in the county.

Mozar Recital

Colorful Spectacle

The annual recital of the Ethel Mount Mozar dancing school, which was held last Saturday night in St. James auditorium, had an appreciative audience which filled every seat. The costumes of the children were particularly colorful and beautiful this year, being designed and made by Miss Mozar and her assistant, Miss Helen L. Fales.

The children showed the result of long hours of training, in a performance executed with perfection worthy of professional entertainers. Charles Gotschalk and Mrs. Georgia Mason were the accompanists for the show.

Miss Mozar and Miss Fales are enjoying a month's vacation after a strenuous winter season. They will resume classes for children and adults in all types of dancing in their studio on Prospect avenue July 5th. Most of the classes will be held in the mornings until the fall term starts.

Driscoll Visits Monmouth Park

1,400 Guests Attend Track's 'Open House'

Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll made his first official appearance at Monmouth park Sunday to share in open house festivities at the track. He toured the grounds with Amory L. Haskell, president of the Monmouth Park Jockey club, and then released the following statement:

"New Jersey is proud of its racing industry. I wish to re-assure every patron of the sport, and every lover of the thoroughbred, that as long as I am Chief Executive of this state I will lend my best efforts to see that racing is continued with the same high standards that have governed its conduct to date.

"Racing makes a substantial contribution to the state treasury, and I have complete confidence that Mr. Haskell and his associates will continue to give New Jersey the same fine racing as heretofore."

The governor's appearance was in conjunction with the annual open house activities for newspapermen of the Eastern seaboard, and he greeted his many friends of the fourth estate from every section of New Jersey, New York, Maryland, Pennsylvania and New England.

There were 1,400 at the "open house" party which was featured by luncheon and dancing. The S. S. Sandy Hook was chartered for New York newsmen and their guests and a train brought writers from the Philadelphia area.

Miss Gloria Miller

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Miller of Port Monmouth have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Gloria J. Miller, to H. Lawrence Scott, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lawrence Scott of Belford. The announcement was made at a graduation party given for Miss Miller and Mr. Scott at Beacon Hill Country club, Leonardo, Tuesday.

Miss Miller has taken a position with the Fire Insurance Rating organization at Newark. Mr. Scott plans to assist his father, who is a funeral director.

Present at the party were Mr. and Mrs. H. Lawrence Scott, Mr. and Mrs. William R. # Hillcrest School Graduates Nine

Diplomas Presented By J. Frank Weigand

Nine graduates of Hillcrest school, Holmdel township, received diplomas and constitution books from J. Frank Weigand, president of the board of education, at the closing exercises last friday.

Featuring the first part of the program were two playlets, "Building the Constitution," by the grammar grades, and "Harry Learns His Lesson," by the primary grades. Piano solos were played by June Bennett, Sally Foley, Marie Reisinger and Wanda Peseux.

In the second part Rev. Norman R. Riley, pastor of St. John's Methodist church, gave the invocation and delivered a message to the graduates. After a class song Joseph Jackson, past commander of Keyport post, American Legion, presented the Legion awards to June Patricia Bennett and Ronald Kent Mittrick. The class poem was recited and the song, "Land of Hope and Glory," was sung by the school. Rev. Mr. Riley gave benediction.

The graduates were June Patricia Bennett, Sarah Honorah Foley, Catherine Ida Gahler, Katharine Theresa Infanti, Ronald Kent Mittrick, Arthur Manly Terry, Raymond Terry, Helen Jeanne Tremble and William Jay Weigand.

Highlands Council Demands Decision

The Highlands borough council agreed unanimously Tuesday night to send a letter to Councilman William E. Kohlenbush with the request that he either attend future meetings or resign. Mr. Kohlenbush, who was head of the parks and public property committee, has not been to a meeting in several months.

In his absence, Councilman John McGowan has ben carrying out his duties but only when specifically authorized to do so by the council. Mr. McGowan reported last night that he had prepared the playgrounds for the summer and had installed swings, but that he could do no more because they were not under his jurisdiction.

The council accepted the offer of John Flemm to purchase $7,500 in equipment bonds at two and a half per cent interest. Four banks had offered to purchase the bonds at from three and a half per cent to five per cent.

Republicans to Hold Forum at Long Branch

The United Women's Republican clubs of Monmouth county and the county Republican executive committee will hold a joint forum meeting next Tuesday night at Procter's hall, Long Branch, on the subject, "The importance of re-electing Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll."

Speakers will be Theodore D. Parsons, state attorney general; John Dickerson, state Republican committee chairman, Herbert Holran, executive director of the state Republican committee.

Written questions are being received by Mrs. Joseph C. Irwin, president of the United Women's Republican clubs. The meeting is open to the public.

RESERVISTS' MEETING

The Marine corps reservists of Monmouth and Ocean counties will meet next Wednesday in the auditorium at NAD Earle for the purpose of activating a reserve corps unit. Further information may be obtained from John O'Neil, Long Branch; Warren Fue, Asbury Park, or Harry K. Estelle, Eatontown.

All former Marines are invited to attend Wednesday's meeting.

Rainbow Vets Hold Reunion

Elect Red Banker Chapter President

Arthur G. Slattery of Red Bank was elected president of the New Jersey chapter, Rainbow Division Veterans, at the 30th annual reunion at the Berkeley-Carteret hotel, Asbury Park, Sunday.

Miss Elizabeth Dennis To Wed Robert Brainard

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Dennis of Elberon have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Helen Dennis, to Robert Northup Brainard, son of Mrs. Dorothy Doran Brainard of Long Branch, and the late Elliott R. Brainard of Long Branch and Syracuse, N. Y.

Miss Elizabeth H. Dennis

Miss Dennis was graduated from Asbury Park high school and attended Asbury Park Business college. She is employed in the office of Sidney J. Meistrich, attorney, Asbury Park.

Mr. Brainard was graduated from Long Branch high school and attended Monmouth Junior college. He was graduated from the University of South Dakota with a master's degree in education, and is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. During the war, he served with the U. S. Signal corps three years, two of which were spent in the European theater. He is an instructor in the Officer's department, Signal school, Fort Monmouth.

Fred Koepnick Speaks At 4-H Club Meeting

The history of aerial dusting of crops was the subject of a talk by Fred Koepnick before the Lincroft 4-H club at its meeting Monday of last week at the Lincroft fire house. Mr. Koepnick, a pilot who performs aerial dusting, said that in the West farmers use aerial dusting for insect and fungas control. At the conclusion of his talk, Mr. Koepick held a question period during which he answered questions by club members.

The Lincroft-Holmdel Kiwanis will sponsor a fair for the 4-H club Aug. 12. The Kiwanis fair is one week before the county fair and will aid in giving members an idea of how to compete. They may enter anything they have made or learned to make under their project leaders. Entries will include examples of gardening, sewing, forestry, poultry and cooking. Judging will be based on the Danish system under which competition is against a given standard and not against one another. Prizes will be awarded.

The club will hold a picnic Sunday, June 26, at Conover's Wood Hollow grove, Everett. Members will meet at the fire house.

Patricia Price Heads R.B.C.H. Graduates

Miss Patricia Price, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. F. Bliss Price of Eatontown, will be valedictorian Sunday night as 122 graduates at Red Bank Catholic high school hold commencement exercises.

John E. Toolan, former state senator from Middlesex county, will deliver the address to the graduates and Msgr. Joseph T. Casey will award diplomas. Miss Price receives the award for highest scholastic standing for four years. Scholastic winners for senior year work are Marie Heffernan, classical; Maureen O'Brien, general, and Peggy O'Brien, general, and Peggy Shea, commercial. This year's class is the largest in the history of R.B.C.H.

Welcome Home Party For College Student

In celebration of his return from college, Barto Gallagher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Gallagher of Reckless pl., Red Bank, was welcomed by a number of friends at a lawn party Saturday night by Richard F. Doughty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Edwards, 142 Lincoln ave., Fair Haven.

The guest of honor gave an original monologue. He has completed his freshman year at Hobart college, Geneva, N. Y.

Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Conover, Mr. and Mrs. John V. Crowell, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Rolston Park Lamborn, Jr., Misses Barbara Bell, Gloria Scully and Joanne Serpico, Oliver Bennett, Robert M. Ruddy, Edward R. Schwartz, Ralph Sickles, Dirk Van Nest and William White.

Dairy Farmer Dies at Age of 71

A. T. Dwight Formerly Ran Hillfield Farm

Amos Trowbridge Dwight, who owned and operated Hillfield dairy farm, Everett, for many years, died at his Shrewsbury home Monday after a long illness. He was 71 years old.

He was born on Brooklyn Heights, New York city, a son of the late Frederick A. and Antoinette Raymond Dwight. He attended Hotchkiss school and Yale university. Shortly after graduation from Yale, he went to Western Canada, where he and a friend operated a large truck farm.

Returning to the East, he first settled in Holmdel, and in 1917 bought the old VanCleaf farm of 200 acres between Everett and Middletown. Under the name of Hillfield farm, he developed the place into a profitable dairy farm.

Mr. Dwight took a keen interest in his herd of purebred Guernsey cattle, none of which he allowed to be sold or slaughtered. By scientific and often original methods of care and feeding, he achieved remarkable results in quantity and quality of milk production.

About 1933, he turned over active management of his farm to his employees, but continued to live on the farm until 1946 when the place was sold to Chester S. Edwards.

Besides farming, Mr. Dwight's chief interest was golf. When only 18, he defeated Findlay Douglas, the leading golfer in the United States at the time, in a sensational match at the old Dyker Meadow club, near Brooklyn. Mr. Dwight subsequently played on all the principal Eastern courses as well as in England and Scotland. He won many medals and trophies.

A bachelor, he is survived by a brother, Frederick Dwight; two sisters, Miss Antoinette Dwight and Mrs. H. E. Gibb, and a nephew, Arthur Gibb, all of Rumson. An older brother, Henry R. Dwight, died in Oct., 1948.

The funeral was held yesterday noon at St. George's By-the-River Episcopal church, Rumson, with Rev. George A. Robertshaw, rector, in charge. Interment, under the direction of the Worden funeral home, was in Fair View cemetery.

Legion Women Seat Officers

County Chairmen Attend Session

Officers were installed at the annual meeting of the auxiliary of Shrewsbury post, American Legion, last Thursday at a meeting at the post home on Riverside ave. Officers were installed by Mrs. Thomas White of Keyport, president of the county auxiliaries, and Irving Zeichner of Atlantic Highland, judge advocate of the county legion group.

Officers are Mrs. Morell J. Moore, president; Mrs. Tony E. Hunting and Mrs. Thomas Hackett, vice-presidents; Mrs. John Hammond, treasurer; Mrs. Harold Ely, historian; Mrs. John E. Kastle, chaplain; and Mrs. Murray Halpern, sergeant at arms.

Plans were announced for the first county Legion convention to be held June 25 at Highlands. The auxiliaries will meet in Highlands grammar school, and the Legionnaires at the Marine theater. Following the meetings there will os a parade, and prizes will be given for the best color guards participating. This will be followed by a dinner-dance at the Villa Roma.

William Weinrich, Jr., Shrewsbury post member, asked members to help the group with a special project, disposing of a 1949 car. Proceeds from the project will aid Riverview hospital building fund.

Mrs. Halpern read thank-you letters from veterans at Fort Monmouth hospital and at Allenwood, thanking the group for gift packages. These packages are sent monthly, and auxiliary members also collected more than 1,300 books and magazines for the project.

Delegates to the state auxiliary convention at Wildwood Sept. 8, 9 and 10 will be Mrs. Mortimer E. Van Sauter, Mrs. Carl Bremer, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Hunting and Mrs. Hackett. Alternates will be Mrs. Wesley V. Craig, Mrs. Joseph Brancy, Mrs. Dorothy Dangler, Mrs. Michael Hyman and Mrs. Hammond.

Other county guests attending the ceremonies were Mrs. John Hoy of Long Branch and Mrs. E. A. Rodriguez of Highlands, county auxiliary vice-presidents; Mrs. George Rinear, Keyport, county secretary, and Mrs. Walter Church, Bradley Beach, county treasurer.

Unit presidents attending were Mrs. Lillian Mione of Keyport; Mrs. H. W. Woodward, Asbury Park; Mrs. Lyda Golden, Long Branch; Mrs. Sue Green, Freehold; Mrs. Anna Haileran, Atlantic Highlands; Mrs. Nita Powers, Highlands; Mrs. Henry Winston, Braxton Merritt, Red Bank; Mrs. Lyda Van-Pelt, Eatont

Reichelderfer Takes Command Of Signal Labs.

Formerly Commanded Training Center at Camp Gordon, Ga.

Maj. Gen. Francis H. Lanahan, commanding offier of Fort Monmouth, has anounced that Brig. General Harry Reichelderfer, fromerly the first commander of the Signal corps training center at Camp Gordon, Ga., has assumed command of the Signal corps engineering laboratories at Fort Monmouth.

General Reichelderfer is the first officer of general rank to head the Signal corps research and development center that maintains Evans, Coles, and Squier Signal laboratories.

The general was responsible for the growth of the Signal corps training center at Camp Gordon, which he started with less than ten officers and men. At the time of General Reichelderfer's departure, there were 200 officers, 5,000 soldiers and 300 civilians at the center.

During the war he went overseas and served as Signal officer for the sixth army, the United States' principal combat element in the South Pacific. He was awarded the distinguished service medal, the Legion of Merit medal, the Bronze star medal and the distinguished service star of the Philippine commonwealth for his part in the new Guinea, Admiralties, Southern Philippines and Luzon campaigns and the occupation of Japan.

General Reichelderfer was educated at University of Illinois and at Yale university from which he received a master of science degree in communication engineering in 1928. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the regular army August 15, 1917.

He was a student at Fort Monmouth Signal school from 1924 until 1925 when he was graduated. After graduation he was appointed an instructor in the officers' department, a position he held until 1928.

He is also a graduate of the command and general staff school at Fort Leavenworth and of the Army industrial college, Washington, D. C.

Retiring School Members Honored

Three Organizations Join in Giving Dinner

Members of the Red Bank school system who are retiring this year were honored at a dinner last Thursday night given by the Red Bank Teachers' association, the Red Bank Board of Education and the maintenance department of the Red Bank schools at Deauville inn.

Those retiring include Edwin C. Gilland, supervisor of schools; Mrs. Bessie Rue, primary supervisor; Miss Leola Robinson, senior high school; Miss Marguerite Enright, Mechanic street school; George Lovett, Branch avenue junior high school, and John Bainton, custodian of Branch avenue junior high school.

Fred King, president of the Teachers' association, acted as toastmaster, and Stanley Haviland, Dr. Eugene Newman, Miss Beulah Breckinridge, Paul Young and Harry C. Sieber gave tributes to the retring teachers!

Music was furnished by Major Leroy Baker, former member of the Red Bank teaching staff, and the Nucci trio.

Keyport Has 58 Grammar School Grads

Fifty-eight eighth grade pupils received diplomas at exercises Wednesday of last week at Keyport High school auditorium. Diplomas were presented by Mrs. Henry E. Ackerson, vice president of the board of education.

The program opened with invocation by Rev. Alfred Clark Arnold, Jr., rector of St. Mary's Episcopal church, followed by the prayer "Supplication," the text of which was written by Miss Theresa Schenone, music teacher, with Susan Beach as narrator. The hymn, "The Lord's Prayer," with music composition by Miss Schenone, was sung by the Girls' Glee club, followed by the prophecy given by Elizabeth Britanak, Mary Jane Caroli, Laura Cuoco, Muriel Dugal, Barbara Holman, Jacqueline Murphy and William Rapp.

The salutation was given by Annette Koban and songs, "The Bells," "The Bell Doth Toll," "List to the Bells", and "Lovely Evening," were sung by the Boys' Glee club with Richard Wharton as soloist.

William Rapp and Jacqueline Murphy were toastmasters; the Girls' Glee club sang "The Dawn" and the mayor and council of "School Town" were presented by Robert Lo Presto.

The presentation of torches to the incoming grade pupils was made with the torch of leadership from Susan Beach to Charles Koenig; loyalty, Annette Koban to Joseph Becker; ideals, Barbara Holman to Dorothy Davis; literature, Muriel Dugal to Nancy Preston; culture, William Rapp to Mariby Burrowes, and enthusiasm, Elizabeth Britanak to Alice Hushour. The acceptance of the torches was made by Joseph Becker. Susan Beach presented the key and the response was by Charles Koenig.

Kiwanis prizes, awards by Keyport Post 4247, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the American Legion medal were presented followed by the awarding of the diplomas by Mrs. Ackerson and acceptance speeches were made by Edward Waldron and Annette Koban. Dolores Major and Alfred Post were flag bearers and the program closed with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner", led by Joan Letwenski, Aimeada Schultze and Evelyn Simmons, Accompanists for the evening were Irene Applegate and Robert Todt. The class is composed of 29 girls and 29 boys.

Raritan Schools Hold Graduation

'Santa Fe Fiesta' Is Program Feature

Graduation exercises of the Raritan township schools were held Wednesday night of last week at the Keyport high school. Diplomas were presented to the class of 58 by Walter Beyer, vice president of the board of education.

"The Santa Fe Fiesta" featured the program of the Hazlet public school No. 1, in which the parts were taken by Joan McKittrick, Joan Piney, George Walling, John Hay, Benny Arnella, Roy Jensen, Eleanor Boos, Paul Brennen, Janice May, Gerome Fernandez, Floyd Walker, Don Lucas, Dick Warren and Walter Beyer, Jr.

Gerome Fernandez sang the solo, "Cielito Lindo" in Spanish. Janice May sang "La Paloma"; Janet Stegeman and Claire Brennen rendered a duet, "Lupita"; the Villistas sang "La Cucaracha"; Louis Bennett played a guitar selection and Jean Serpico an accordion solo as the concluding number of part 1.

The second part of the program opened with a processional, "Pomp and Circumstance." The audience then sang "The Star Spangled Banner" and gave the flag salute. Rev. Thomas Coffey offered the invocation and Joan McKittrick made the welcome address. The graduates recited "This Is My Country," after which American Legion awards were presented to Jean Serpico and George Walling. F. Howard Loyd, Matawan, delivered the address to the graduates. The exercises closed with benediction by Rev. A. G. Shiphorst.

Little Silver

George Findlay, 66 Woodbine ave., a painter at the Watson laboratories of the Air Materiel Command, Eatontown, received a check for $40 last week from Lt. Colonel R. B. H. Rockwell for his suggestion to use tower scaffold hooks when painting high structures at the local air force installation.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Asman, Monroe ave., gave a party Saturday in celebration of the eighth birthday of their daughter, Virginia. Guests were Gail Ruh, Virginia Gere, Lois Decker, Carol Bair, Jane Nugent, Joan Olsen, Carol Ackerman, Noel Simpson, Joyce Wells, Constance Campbell, Elizabeth Longman, Kathleen Martin, Dianne Bennett and William Asman, Jr.

League Observes Tenth Anniversary

More than 100 members and guests attended the luncheon, marking the tenth anniversary of the founding of the league.

Three former presidents, given miniature golden gavels in recognition of their services, were Mrs. Clarke, Jr., who served several terms; Mrs. Lynch and Mrs. Lafon, the third president. The first president, Mrs. Anne Hasler Egan, was unable to attend. Mrs. Blaisdell presided.

Early activities of the service league were centered at Monmouth Memorial hospital, where members gave volunteer service in the hospital dental clinic and did other service in the nurses' library. In 1940 they established their milk fund, which provides free milk to needy Monmouth county families. The milk fund has been in continuous operation for nine years, and has given more than $5,000 worth of free milk. This project is supported by the league Thrift shop on Wharf ave., and from dances held several times a year.

When Monmouth Memorial hospital set up its blood bank in 1946 the Junior Service league was chosen to supply the volunteers to work in it, and they have carried on ever since doing clerical work, securing donors and doing some blood typing.

Last winter they gave $2,500 to Riverview hospital for their building fund, and they have given that institution several pieces of equipment, such as oxygen tents. They also help with the Cerebral Palsy clinic for children in Long Branch, and have entertained the small patients there at parties at Easter and Christmas.

League members also serve at the State hospital at Marlboro, and have been working there since the spring of 1947. This service has grown and this year in the hospital exhibit at the State Fair in Trenton, a miniature circus made by the patients will be exhibited under the direction of the league.

The skit, "June Yerleeg," was written by a provisional member, Miss Elizabeth Ann Cooper. Other provisionals participating were Mrs. Charles Edelmann, Mrs. Douglas Hoyt, Mrs. Harry Lane, Jr., Mrs. James McCosker, Mrs. C. Leslie Rice, Mrs. James Robottom, Mrs. Robert Turnbull, Mrs. Joseph Weeks, Mrs. George R. Weppler and Mrs. Bernard White.

Guests included Mrs. Ralph O. Willgus, league founder; Miss Lucy E. Tompkins, executive secretary of the Monmouth County Red Cross chapter; Mrs. Abbie Rathbone, assistant at the league thrift shop, and Miss Margaret Francis, supervisor of the tuberculosis program of Monmouth County Organization for Social Service.

Hazlet

Mr. and Mrs. M. Van Brackle, Hazlet ave., left yesterday for Seattle, Wash., where Mrs. Van Brackle will attend the national convention as a delegate from the American Association of University Women. Following the convention which begins Sunday, the couple will visit Mrs. Van Brackle's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Roland S. Hall of Seattle.

Miss Vivian M. Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dean, Bethany rd., was graduated June 6 from Cedar Crest college, Allentown, Pa., with B.S. and M.T. degrees. Miss Dean was the only one of a class of 64 graduates to receive the M.T. degree. The graduate's parents and Fred Dean, Jr., Ralph Dean, Miss Anna Dean and Miss Helen McClung attended the commencement exercises.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Laughlin and daughter June, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Menzel and daughter Barbara, William Barnes, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Laughlin, Jr., and son Glenn, and Charles Hyer spent the week-end with Charles Joseph and family, Laurel, Del.

Mrs. William M. Ackerson, Holmdel rd., is home from a visit with her son, Allen S. Ackerson, and family of Minneapolis, Minn.

Allen M. Webster, Gloucester, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo M. Webster.

Vernon Rathbone, a Syracuse university student, who has returned home for the summer, is spending a week at the Boy Scout camp at Mendham.

Mrs. Theodore G. Bailey, Mrs. James Neidinger, Mrs. Augusta Bogart and Miss Mildred Laughlin were appointed a committee at last week's meeting of the W.S.C.S. of St. John's church to plan summer activities. Donations were reported made to the summer camp at Pennington institute and to foreign missions. A nominating committee comprising Miss Eleanor Walling, Mrs. Josephine Bedle and Mrs. Joseph I. Lehan was appointed to select a slate of new officers. Hostesses were Miss Anna Cowles, Mrs. William Bell, Mrs. John Caroli and Mrs. Albert Heath.

Planes, Blimp Invade Airport

Air Show Presented At Colt's Neck

A dive-bombing exhibition by 24 U. S. Navy Corsair fighter planes was one of the most impressive events of the air show held Sunday at Colt's Neck airport under the sponsorship of the Lincroft-Holmdel Kiwanis club.

A blimp from the Lakehurst Naval air station added more thrills to the afternoon as it landed, cruised across the field on one wheel and rose into the air.

Two helicopters put on a maneuverability display as their pilots flew them forward, backward and up and down. Near the end of the show, four navy men climbed up rope ladders suspended from the hovering helicopters.

Rumson Women Stage Annual Flower Show

Mrs. Edgar A. Knapp Wins Sweepstakes Prize For Arrangement

Floral arrangements done in different and unusual designs, highlighted the annual flower show of Rumson Garden club. The event was staged yesterday in the carriage house on the estate of Bertram H. Borden, The Riverlands, on River rd., Rumson.

There were 25 classes listed on the schedule centering around a theme of earth, sea and sky. Arrangement class judges were Mrs. Walter R. Hine and Mrs. H. A. Prince of Short Hills, and Mrs. David L. George of Princeton.

Mrs. Edgar A. Knapp of Rumson won the Martha Blankarn sweepstakes trophy as the exhibitor receiving the most points in the arrangement classes. Miss Emily Goetze's exhibit, entitled Winward, was judged the most outstanding exhibit in the show. She used sprays of perennial sweetpeas in fuchsia shades in a small carved wooden container.

Mrs. Oliver Allen Vietor won the Mary Owen Memorial trophy for her design for a formal dinner. She used flame colored gladioli in a shallow crystal bowl. This class called for an arrangement for a bon voyage party. Mrs. Victor won the trophy last year with an arrangement for a formal dinner.

Other first prize winners in the arrangement classes besides Mrs. Knapp, Mrs. Victor and Miss Goetze were Mrs. Robert C. Lawrence, Jr., Mrs. Richard B. Scudder and Mrs. Ralph Draper.

The Mary Owen Borden prize, given by Mr. Borden for the club member who does her own gardening, was won by Mrs. Robert G. Ilsley. Most of Mrs. Ilsley's exhibits were in the specimen classes.

Mrs. Andrew V. Stout won the sweepstakes prize for her exhibits in the specimen classes, winning four first prizes, second runner-up was Miss Goetze, and Mrs. J. Kearny Rice, 3d., was third.

Other blue ribbon winners in the specimen classes besides Mrs. Stout were Mrs. Knapp, Miss Goetze, Mrs. Rice, Mrs. Alfred F. Lichtenstein, Mrs. Edward M. Crane and Mrs. Dexter Blagden.

Mrs. William Palle of South Orange won the first prize in the inter-club competition classes. Her arrangement was entitled Back to Nature, and her container, flowers and foliage, were all in dull bronze shades, with some green leaves and white coral pieces as accents.

A circular pool for a formal garden was displayed by Turner Brothers of West Long Branch, forming the center decoration in the main room, where arrangement classes were staged. Club members served refreshments in the court-yard of the carriage house.

Victor Gydnett, Bergen st., Newark, was fined $10 for speeding on Branch ave., and Miss Doris Fox of Long Branch was fined $1 for overtime parking. Joseph Zisk, Sunset ave., Asbury Park, was fined $10 for passing a red light on Broad st.

Salvatore Migliazza, 240 West Front st., Red Bank, was fined $25 for driving a taxicab in Red Bank without a cab license. Leo T. Hourihan, Tennent rd., Morganville, was fined $10 after pleading guilty to a charge of careless driving.

Weddings

AROSE—CLARK.

Miss Lorraine Arose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Arose, Chingaiora ave., Keyport, became the bride of Eugene Joseph Clark, son of Mrs. Walter Clark, Washington st., Keyport, and the late Mr. Clark, Sunday afternoon at St. Joseph's Catholic church. Rev. William Haughney officiated. Nuptial music was played by Miss Loretta Durante, with Mrs. Michael Cox as soloist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a wedding gown of white satin, styled with an illusion neckline, embroidered with seed pearls and a bertha collar of chantilly lace. The bouffant skirt was made with a long pointed lace insertion in the front and a train. Her fingertip veil was fastened to a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of roses.

Miss Dorothy Clark, Keyport, sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor. She wore an aqua taffeta dress made with an illusion neckline, puff sleeves, tight bodice and bouffant skirt, matching sweetheart hat and mitts.

The other attendants, Mrs. Irene Arose, Old Bridge, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Margaret Hanlon, Eatontown, sister of the bridegroom, wore similar dresses with accessories in pink.

Walter Clark, Keyport, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man, and ushers were Edward Arose, Old Bridge, and Elmer Arose, Jr., Port Monmouth, brothers of the bride.

After a reception at the American hotel, Freehold, the couple left on a wedding trip and upon their return will live at Keyport.

The bride was graduated from Keyport high school and is employed by Merck & Co., Rahway. The bridegroom was graduated from St. Mary's high school, South Amboy. He served three years in the army and is now employed by the Hanson-VanWinkle-Munning Co., Matawan.

KRUSER—DISBROW

Miss Thelma Catherine Kruser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O. Kruser, Sr., of Keyport, was married Sunday to Edgar Lawrence Disbrow, son of Mrs. George G. Disbrow of Keyport, and the late Mr. Disbrow. The ceremony was performed in Calvary Methodist church, Keyport, by Rev. Dr. Charles R. Smyth, pastor.

Mrs. William Matthews was soloist, and Miss Helen Vanderbilt organist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white French lace, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long pointed sleeves and a bouffant skirt. Her fingertip veil was edged with chantilly lace and fastened to a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of bridal roses with a white orchid in the center.

Miss Shirley Clark, Keyport, was the bride's attendant. She wore a dress of French lace and net similar in design to the bride's, and a short veil which fell from a crown of flowers in her hair. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of field flowers.

George G. Disbrow, Jr., of Milford, Del., was best man for his brother. The ushers were Robert Loosch, Keyport, and Frank Marakowitch, Fairlawn.

After a reception, the couple left for Indiana, where they will live while Mr. Disbrow attends Tri-state college at Angola.

The bride was graduated from Keyport high school and attended Western Maryland college, Westminster, Md. She was employed by the New Jersey Bell Telephone company at Newark. Mr. Disbrow also attended Keyport high school. He served in the Navy during World War II.

HELLER—HOWELL

Miss Nancy Gaddis Heller, daughter of Edgar William Heller of Rumson, and the late Mrs. Heller, was married Tuesday to George Stephen Howell, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. Bayse Howell of Louisville, Ky. Rev. W. Clinton Powers, pastor of Red Bank Baptist church, performed the ceremony, which took place at the Heller home in Rumson, and was attended by members of the immediate family only.

Mrs. Howell wore a navy blue silk suit with red accesories and carried a corsage of white orchids. Her three nieces—Sara Gaddis Lord, Nancy Livingston Lord and Laura Runyon Heller—were flower girls and wore flowered dimity dresses and carried small, old-fashioned bouquets.

Mrs. Howell is a sister of E. W. Heller, Jr. of Shrewsbury and Mrs. Joseph F. Lord of Little Silver. She attended Miss Porter's school at Farmington, Conn., and was one of the first WAC officers. She is secretary of the Monmouth County Hunt.

Mr. Howell is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Stephen Howell and the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Thomas, all of Louisville. He served with the army at Fort Monmouth during the war. Mr. Howell is a trainer and plans to race in New Jersey all summer.

In November Mr. and Mrs. Howell will move to Kentucky, where they will live on Mr. Howell's Tourelay farm, Eastwood, Ky.

Miss Rose Binaco, daughter of Dominick Binaco of Oakland st., and the late Mrs. Delta Binaco, and Louis Albano, son of Nicholas A. Albano of Long Branch, and the late Mrs. Agnes Albano, were married Sunday by Msgr. Salvatore DiLorenzo at St. Anthony's Catholic church. A reception followed at the home of the bride's father.

The bride chose a white gabardine suit with white accessories for her costume. Her bouquet was white roses with a center spray of white orchids. Mr. Binaco gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. Peter Natale of Red Bank was matron of honor for her sister. She had matching accessories with her yellow gabardine suit, and carried a spray bouquet of spring flowers. Anthony Albano, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. George Binaco, the bride's brother, was best man.

The bride was graduated from Red Bank high school, and for six months attended a government school for dental technicians. She has been employed by the Telephone company at Eatontown.

Mr. Albano was graduated from Long Branch high school, and for four years was with the Army tank corps overseas.

CAMPO—DE CHICCHIO

Miss Rose Campo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Campo, Campbell's Junction, and Albert De Chicchio of Red Bank were married Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's Catholic church by Rev. Robert Bulman.

The bride wore a white gown with a lace bodice, square neckline and a nylon marquisette skirt over a satin underskirt. Her finger-tip length veil was held in place by a bonnet-shaped crown of white flowers. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lillies of the valley.

Mrs. Fred Rapolo of Matawan, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. Her gown was powder blue of a design similar to the bride's. She wore a matching bonnet and carried pink roses. Louis DeLorenza of Red Bank was best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Pleasant inn, Red Bank. After a wedding trip the couple will live in Red Bank. The bride is a graduate of Middletown township high school and is employed by the Bendix radio corporation, Red Bank. The groom is a graduate of Red Bank high school and is employed in Red Bank.

LEVI—HERZ

The wedding of Miss Isabel Levi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Levi of Rumson, and Julian S. Herz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Herz of New Rochelle, N. Y., took place Sunday at the home of the bride's parents on River rd., Rumson. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Arthur H. Hershon of the Congregation B'Nai Israel, Red Bank.

Mr. Levi gave his daughter in marriage. The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. J. L. Leland, was matron of honor, and Walter P. Herz, his brother, was best man.

The bride was graduated from New York university. After teaching school two years she served with the American Red Cross in the Far East. Mr. Herz was graduated from New York university and is studying at the university's graduate school of business administration. He is a grandson of Dr. Maurice J. Lewi, president of the Long Island university college of podiatry.

Guild Earns $450

The Women's guild of St. John's Episcopal chapel, Little Silver, in their ways and means projects this past year has earned $450 for the guild treasury. Mrs. Clifford Dorling, ways and means chairman, gave her annual report at the closing meeting of the guild yesterday at the home of Mrs. Henry Germond, 3d., Little Silver.

Guild members through their individual talent fund earned $150; by selling clam chowder they cleared, $28; from a special prize offering, a ham, $76; from their spring card party, $133, and from a parish supper, $74.

The annual winter sale will be Dec. 2 at the parish house. Members will make a patchwork quilt of the Dresden plate design, and this will be a special prize at the benefit.

Following the business meeting a stork shower was given for Mrs. Theodore E. A. LeVan, wife of the church rector. Tea was served by the hostess, aided by Mrs. B. A. Shoemaker, Sr.

STUDENTS' LUNCHEON

Borden Family Gives $6,600 To Hospital

Money Will Pay for Room in Memory of Mrs. Edith C. Borden

Members of the family of Mrs. Edith Curtis Borden have subscribed $6,600 to the Monmouth Memorial hospital building fund for the purpose of establishing a two-bed room for patients in Mrs. Borden's memory. Announcement of the subscription was made by Albert A. Teeter, chairman of the building fund's memorial gifts committee.

The contribution was made by General Howard S. Borden, husband of the late Mrs. Borden; the Bordens' sons, John C. Borden, William H. Borden and Arthur B. Borden, and a daughter, Mrs. Doris B. Leonardo.

Mr. Teeter in accepting the subscription pointed out that the hospital owed a great deal to the Borden family.

"General Borden's brother, Bertram H. Borden," he said, "gave the hospital its Borden memorial pavilion nine years ago through the Mary Owen Borden memorial foundation and more recently the foundation pledged $185,000 to the current building program. Now the community is to benefit still further by a tribute to a wife and mother held in fond memory.

The room selected for dedication to Mrs. Borden will be on the fifth floor at the point where the new wing will join the existing hospital structure.

Fair View P.T.A. Board Gives Tea

Members Review Cafeteria Plans

Mrs. Beverly Dickerson of Navesink River rd., Middletown, was hostess Tuesday at a tea for members of Fair View Parent-Teacher association. Assisting hostesses were board members. This marked the final P.T.A. activity until fall.

P.T.A. members attended a recent meeting of Middletown township board of education, at which plans for a school cafeteria were discussed. Harold Copeland, board chairman of the project, will meet within the near future with a committee of parents to review plans for the cafeteria at Fair View school and make arrangements to have it ready to operate when school opens in September.

Under P.T.A. sponsorship, pupils of Miss Jeanne Torrey's fourth and fifth grade classes visited Brookdale farm and Highlands zoo last week. Picnics were given for Mrs. Evelyn Burns' first grade and for Miss Eileen Forsman's second and third grades. Sixth and seventh graders, with their teacher, Mrs. Mildred Stanton, visited Freehold and Walker-Gordon dairies. The eighth grade, with their teacher, Walter W. Nelson, visited Valley Forge and Philadelphia.

The Story of Blue Willow

A beautiful and poetic pattern is that of the Chinese willow-ware. Above in it soar two birds and it is filled with mysterious Chinese drawings of trees and intricate pagodas. It is such a famous pattern and most of us are so familiar with it that, looking at it, we do not notice the beauty of its forms and their significance. For every object in this romantic picture has its own meaning. Here, in the pattern, is an old Chinese love story imaginatively told.

It is the legendary tale of Koong-Shee, a beautiful girl of the China of centuries ago, and of her love for Chang, a poor man. It is the tale of Koong-Shee's cruel father, who wanted her to marry a wealthy and jealous suitor. All of the story can be perfectly seen in the pattern of the china. The large, dignified pagoda on the right of the design is the palace of Koong-Shee's father. There in the pretty summer house on its left, Koong-Shee was kept prisoner so that she could not reach her lover, a strong, zig-zag fence barring the way. Koong-Shee would sit in her little house and pine and watch the lovely willow tree outside her window that leans over the water beyond. One day, however, her lover reached her. They eloped, and fled across the graceful little bridge and into a waiting boat. On the bridge, in the pattern, are three men with whips who were sent out by Koong-Shee's father to capture the lovers. Crossing the bay, however, the tiny crescent-shaped boat may be seen, carrying the lovers to safety and joy in the island paradise beyond. There Koong-Shee and Chang were happy—but for a short time only. One day their retreat was discovered by the jealous suitor and he burned down their new home killing both of them. But the story does not have a sad ending, for the spirits of the lovers are not separated or dead. Koong-Shee and Chang are transformed into white doves, symbolizing devotion; and we see them, in the center of the picture, flying forever together in an attitude of love.
