Train Kills 3 Local Youths

HOLMDEL TOWNSHIP — Three teenage youths were killed here yesterday when the pickup truck in which they were riding was struck by a Jersey Central train at the Hoff's La. crossing of the New York and Long Branch Railroad.

They were identified by state police as Joseph A. Zuzchik, Jr., 18, of 25 Oregon Ave., Hazlet; Donald A. Walker, 18, and his brother, Robert Walker, 16, both of 10 Washington St., Keyport.

The Walker boys were the only children of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Walker. Mr. Walker is fire chief of Keyport.

State Trooper David Crafts said the driver may have been Donald Walker, since the truck belonged to his father, but he noted that no one will ever be certain of the driver's identity, since all three youths were thrown from the truck.

Never Know

The trooper also said it probably will never be known for sure what caused the accident.

The truck was hit by a train traveling from Bay Head toward Jersey City. There were no passengers on the train.

Police identified the train engineer as George Hague, 52, of Dunellen, and the fireman as Philip Stocker, 25, of New Market.

Mr. Stocker told police he saw the truck and leaned on the train whistle, as he warned the engineer, but there was not enough time to stop. Police said the train's brake was not applied until after the collision. The engineer told police the train was traveling at 50 to 55 miles per hour.

Trooper Crafts said one of the bodies was found near the truck, one 65 feet from the crossing, and the other, 310 feet from the crossing, apparently caught on some part of the train and carried to that point.

There is a slight curve in the tracks at Hoff's La., and there are trees and shrubs which could obstruct vision, police said. The little-used crossing has no automatic signal lights or gates. It is on the south side of Rt. 35, near Hubb's Junkyard.

Police said it is mandatory to charge the engineer with the technical charge of causing death by train.

150 Area Marchers On Trip to Capital

RED BANK — Three buses and more than 150 people left this area at 5 o'clock this morning to participate in today's historic Civil Rights march on Washington.

Carrying their own food and water, the local civil rights demonstrators will join an anticipated crowd of 100,000 to 250,000 persons who will mass in the nation's capital for the March for Jobs and Freedom.

It will be a long day full of hymns, speeches and solemnity. The weather promises to be good for Washington in August—sunny, with a high of about 84.

Even before dawn, a small vanguard of marchers strode onto the green acres of the Washington Monument grounds singing "We Shall Overcome." The marchers will assemble there for the march to the Lincoln Monument, a mile away.

Police with walkie talkies were in position. Vans of television equipment and cameras were in place. No-parking signs were practically everywhere.

The march will dramatize the demonstrators' plea that Negro "jobs and freedom are needed now."

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New Jerseyans were among the thousands of demonstrators from around the country who converged on Washington today to back President Kennedy's proposed civil rights legislation.

The Garden Staters marched with praise from their governor.

"I commend this peaceful mobilization of conscience in which so many New Jerseyans are participating," Gov. Richard J. Hughes said in a statement preliminary to the departures from the state.

He called on state police to aid the travelers on whatever state roads they set forth for the capital.

Question Persists:

Is Valachi at Fort?

FORT MONMOUTH — Is Joseph Valachi, the songbird of the underworld, still under protective custody in this military reservation?

When asked about the status of the former mobster, J. Peter Hoffman, information officer at the fort, said Army policy continues at the "no comment" level. He noted that any statements concerning the former henchman of Mafia bosses will come from the U.S. Department of Justice.

Observations made by The Register, however, tend to lead to the belief that security measures which were slapped on when the report that Valachi was incarcerated at the post have slackened off.

'CHECKS' LESSENED

Strict checks of all vehicles at the east and west gates have lessened. Air patrols of the post by a swift Army Mohawk aircraft have all but ceased, and an HUIB Army helicopter has not returned to Monmouth County Airport since it left with the entourage led by U.S. Senator John L. McClellan, D-Ark., Aug. 18.

When the confinement of the tattle-tale of the century was confirmed by Army officials, security termed "equal to that of wartime" was put into effect by Col. Emmett W. Cox, provost marshal at the fort.

The twin-engine Mohawk was wheeled out to the runway of the Army airfield in Wall Township each morning and warmed up for quick use. It made as many as six patrol flights over the fort daily. In one instance, the patrol plane

Held in Bomb Plants In Area Doctor's Car

WOODBRIDGE (AP) — Police have arrested a 47-year-old man and accused him of twice trying to bomb a New Shrewsbury doctor's car.

Held in the township jail is Attilio Tiseo of Rahway, married and the father of three small children.

Township Police Director Joseph Galassi said Tiseo was charged Tuesday with illegal use of explosive and would be arraigned today.

The charges resulted, Galassi said, from the discoveries of a molotov cocktail and a black powder bomb in the auto of Dr. Charles Schutt of Parmly Rd., New Shrewsbury.

The molotov cocktail was discovered attached to the motor of the doctor's car in February 1962 when he took the auto into a service station for a tune-up. Galassi said a detergent bottle filled with gasoline had been attached so that it would be ignited by a spark plug but the fuse had jarred loose.

Then on Aug. 7, a black powder, metal cylinder bomb was placed under the hood of the car with a friction detonator attached to the fan. That bomb was placed in the car while it was parked in a lot at the Avenel plant of the Radio Corporation of America, where Schutt is the plant doctor.

Galassi said an investigation showed that Tiseo had worked at the RCA plant as a sweeper but was discharged two years ago as the result of a medical examination given by Dr. Schutt.

Blast Traps 25 Miners

MOAB, Utah (AP) — Rescuers began digging through tons of rock today toward 25 men entombed deep underground by an explosion in a potash mine near this southeastern Utah town.

Hope they would be found alive was dim.

There was a possibility that more than 25 miners were trapped in the shaft, at 2,712 feet one of the largest and deepest ever sunk in North America.

"The count as we have it now is 25," said Frank Tippie, head of the Potash Division of Texas Gulf Sulphur Co., owner of the mine. "We feel we are correct."

The explosion, of undetermined origin, ripped through the mine yesterday evening, catching the men in a drift, or tunnel, off the main shaft.

"The explosion blew everything—the communication lines, air lines and electrical lines, and blew windows out of the head frame and injured one man above ground," said a sheriff's dispatcher.

The head frame is a 179-foot building over the mouth of the vertical shaft. Among other things, it houses the hoist used to raise and lower men in the mine.

Tippie said none of three rescue teams lowered into the shaft had established contact with the trapped men. They encountered gases and intense heat, generated by the blast.

The blast came just minutes after the evening shift crew had descended to the 3,200-foot level in one of two tunnels running downward at an angle from the main shaft.

Two 10-man rescue teams equipped with respiratory aids were dispatched to the scene from the coal fields of Price, Utah, about 100 miles away.

Moab, a town of about 6,000, was stunned by the disaster.

Planning Board Still Not Ready To Adopt Master Plan Outline

RED BANK — Councilman Daniel J. O'Hern last night urged immediate adoption of the general outlinge portion of the borough master plan.

He spoke at a Planning Board meeting to which he had been invited as a consultant. Mr. O'Hern is a former Planning Board member, and worked on the master plan in its earlier stages.

The general plan to which the councilman referred has been printed in digest form and has met with the approval of most of the planners.

Matter of Disagreement

Still a subject of disagreement is a larger volume of proposed zoning regulations which would enforce the plan.

Mr. O'Hern agreed with board member James Wolcott that zoning changes would have to be tackled piecemeal. Each would require legislation and a public hearing before Borough Council, he pointed out.

Board member Richard Johnson, on the other hand, suggested that the wrinkles should be ironed out of the proposed zoning code, and it should be presented to council as a package.

Good Picture, But. . .

Francis X. Kennelly agreed to the extent that, he said, the outline plan is not enough of a master plan to present to the people after many months of labor and the expenditure of $25,000 for a consultant. (Half the consultant's fee is paid by the state.)

Mr. Kennelly called the master plan digest a good picture of what the planners want to do, but said it does not show how it could be accomplished.

Chairman Bernard Kellenyi said he would call a conference meeting in about two weeks to continue the discussion with a full Planning Board membership.

The chairman said he felt obligated to hold one more public hearing before a vote for adoption, but the Planning Board did not come close enough to agreement last night to set a date for a vote.

Council Hears Report by Bowen

LONG BRANCH — A 67-page report drafted by former City Manager Richard J. Bowen, during the period he served as a special consultant to a committee of the City Council, was read at last night's meeting by Councilman Thomas L. McClintock, a member of the committee.

Mr. Bowen's report was divided into four segments dealing with rules of procedure, salary, regulations governing city employees, and a municipal budget forecast.

The Bowen study is a detailed work covering a wide range of city problems. The report, entitled "Proposed City Council Rules and Procedures," is in the style of a guide book for parliamentary procedure, explaining the various city offices, their responsibilities and privileges, and the procedure recommended for conducting a meeting of the council.

Pay Raises Urged

The second report is a complete pay study, setting a salary scale for every city employee and comparing present wages with the proposed changes. These appear with very few exceptions to establish higher maximums for city employees.

Mr. Bowen's report states that in some cases maximum salaries are maintained on different levels for jobs requiring the same qualifications and responsibilities. The report scores the City Council for adopting immediate pay increases without "establishing an effective and long range pay plan."

The third report concerns itself with rules and regulations governing city employees and points out that regulations not established by civil service are in many cases "left to chance and what is called past practice."

The report continues by saying, "There appears to have been a miraculous beginning to many employee practices, but with no legal basis to substantiate them."

Unsure Magistrate

Questions Sentence For Water Littering

POINT PLEASANT BEACH — Though questioning his jurisdiction in the matter, Magistrate Stanley J. Blair yesterday fined Louis A. Biesada, Normandy Beach, $15 and court costs for throwing bait containers from his party boat.

This offense occurred July 27 at 3:25 p.m., 1,000 feet off Haven's bathing beach here. Capt. Biesada pleaded guilty to the charge, brought by state marine patrolman Robert Denman.

Lowest Fine to Date

This is also the lowest fine imposed by any magistrate to date, according to A.M. Walsh, deputy chief of the N.J. Marine Police.

Magistrate Blair imposed the fine after wondering aloud whether the disorderly persons charge under state law 2A:170-69.1 was properly brought as a navigation matter. He also questioned how far off the beach a municipality's jurisdiction extended.

Minus the usual support of a deputy attorney general in these cases, Chief Walsh said state charts showed municipal jurisdiction was beyond 1,000 yards, but exactly how far he wasn't sure.

But since state jurisdiction extended to three miles, Chief Walsh said the matter could easily be brought into county court or any state court.

Magistrate Blair said he'd proceed in the matter, but "didn't want to have us both embarrassed if a higher court threw a conviction back at us."

After Magistrate Blair imposed the fine, Chief Walsh expressed concern that the fine had not been in the $100 to $150 range as in the previous four convictions.

Sees Improvements

Magistrate Blair said the fine's amount was due to extenuating circumstances, because the litter was basically bait.

There is no minimum fine or jail term under state law 2A:170-69.1, but a maximum of $1,000 fine and for a year in jail is indicated.

Chief Walsh said generally he was satisfied with party boat operation since strict enforcement began early in July. "Most party boats now have new trash cans," added Chief Walsh, "and pollution by party boats seems to be greatly diminished compared to June conditions."

Cop Slaying Suspect Is Shot Down

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Falco, identified as one of two men who shot two policemen to death in Lodi, N.J., Monday, was shot and killed by policemen in the Manhattan Hotel early today.

Falco, 25, of Astoria, Queens, was named by Guy W. Calissi, Bergen County, N.J., prosecutor, as the killer along with Thomas (Rabbi Tom) Trantino, 27, of Brooklyn.

Sgt. Peter Voto, a father of three, and Gary Tedesco, 21, a police appointee, were killed Monday in the Angel Lounge, a tavern on Route 46. They went there to investigate a report of shots fired.

Lt. Thomas Quinn killed Falco at 4 a.m. in his room at the hotel in midtown Manhattan.

Quinn and Sgt. Joseph McClellan and three other officers went to the hotel on a tip that Falco was there.

The suspected cop-killer started fighting, police said, and McClellan tossed Falco over his shoulder. Falco then grappled with Quinn and grabbed the lieutenant's gun, but Quinn wrested it back and opened fire.

North Jersey and New York police, making an intensive hunt for the slayers, arrested Carlo Benedetto Tuesday and charged him with selling one or more pistols without a permit to Falco and Trantino. Benedetto, 27, alias Rocco Bennett, was held in lieu of $15,000 bail.

Blight Hearing

See Public Support For Urban Renewal

KEANSBURG — More than 100 persons turned out last night to voice opinions—mostly favorable about plans to label the 17.2 acre Grandview area blighted so that it can be eligible for urban renewal funds.

The hearing was conducted by the Planning Board.

The Grandview area involves property generally between Belleview and Raritan Aves., and Beachway and Oak St.

State law requires that the area be designated as blighted in order for the borough to proceed to buy the property, clear it, and sell it to private investors for redevelopment.

The borough hopes to see a motel-hotel and restaurant complex on the land.

Various municipal officials, including the sanitarian, building inspector, police chief, borough engineer and mayor, testifed that in their opinion the area is blighted and the source of municipal problems.

Alfred P. Van Huyck, a member of Herbert H. Smith Associates, Trenton, borough planning consultants, testifed at length about the area.

He said any one of five conditions had to exist in the Grandview area before it could be considered "blighted."

These conditions involve substandard or obsolete structures, poor general layout of streets and lots, extensive vacant property, abandoned commercial structures or environmental conditions that detrimental to the health, morals or welfare of the community.

INTERSECTION FACELIFTING — A workman for A. Campo, Inc., Middletown, uses a bulldozer to clear trees from property abutting the Five Corners intersection in Middletown. The firm has a $162,973 contract with state highway department to modernize the complicated intersection, scene of numerous auto accidents every year. Plans call for complete realignment of the intersection, including a jughandle, to facilitate a smoother flow of traffic through the area.

Middletown Given Green Acres Funds

MIDDLETOWN — The Township has received a $41,250 check from the state Division of Conservation and Economic Development for the purchase of a 60-acre tract of land in Lincroft.

The check is for half the cost of the land which the township purchased from the federal government in 1961.

The state funds were given to the community under the Green Acres program. Total cost of the tract was $82,500. The property was formerly a training area for Fort Monmouth.

The township purchased the property from the General Services Administration.

The township's Recreation Commission is drafting long range plans for development of the tract into a park and recreational area. It is located off of Normandy Rd.

The township applied for the funds under the Green Acres program the day after the program was approved by voters in 1961.

The township also is seeking funds under the program for purchase of a 14-acre tract in River Plaza and several parcels totaling approximately 20 acres in Port Monmouth on the beach front.

Cars Collide At Corner

EAST KEANSBURG—Two men suffered minor injuries early this morning in a two-car crash at Rt. 36 and Palmer Ave.

Both men were treated at Riverview Hospital for cuts and bruises and released.

Police said the Kohler car struck the rear of an auto operated by Mrs. Minnie L. Sharpe, 41, of 21 Truex Pl., Middletown.

Police said Mrs. Sharpe's car was stopped for a traffic light on Palmer Ave., at the intersection.

2 Lose Appeals; Fines Increased

FREEHOLD — County Judge Elvin R. Simmill yesterday upheld two drunk driving convictions and increased by $50 the fines set by local magistrates in both cases.

James E. Tillman, Mitchell Dr., Eatontown, had been found guilty June 12 by Magistrate M. Raymond McGowan, fined $200 and had his license revoked for two years for a drunk driving offense May 25 on Lewis St., Eatontown.

Judge Simmill also upheld the conviction of Francis P. Saurborn, Wood Ave., Englishtown. Saurborn was convicted June 10 by Acting Magistrate Barclay P. Malsbury of drunk driving March 30 on Rt. 33, Freehold Township. He also had been fined $200 and had his driving privileges revoked for two years.

BACKS FIREMEN'S FAIR

MONMOUTH BEACH — Mayor Sidney B. Johnson last night announced that the annual firemen's fair will be held tomorrow night through Saturday night. "These men do a fine job," Mayor Johnson said. "Let's try to see they have a good turnout." The fair will be at the borough hall and fire house.

Hits Palmer On Highway Plans 'Maze'

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — A union leader has charged that the state Highway Department is "nothing more than a maze of plans and blueprints which is leading Jersey motorists down a dead end street."

In a statement yesterday, Peter W. Weber, president of the Northeast Conference of Operating Engineers, asked Gov. Richard J. Hughes to establish a steering committee to "straighten out the present hodge podge that exists in the Highway Department under Commissioner Dwight R. G. Palmer."

Weber's strong attack came at the opening of the Operating Engineers' convention. He is also business manager of Operating Engineers Local 825 in Newark.

He said the committee should be made up of representatives of industry, labor and finance.

"In all fairness to the entire community of New Jersey we must eliminate one-man rule in planning and construction of what few highway programs that have been started under Palmer," Weber said.

He said "Palmer's inept leadership and lack of consideration for those whose homes are supposed to be in the path of planned roadways is disgraceful."

Weber charged that Palmer has permitted plans for Rts. 80 and 78 to become "political footballs" and has "openly ignored for almost a year the requests of 12 Monmouth County municipal officials for information concerning highway plans for their area."

Press Effort To Save 3d Man in Mine

HAZELTON, Pa. (AP) — Rescuers, spurred by their success in raising Henry Throne, 28, and David Fellin, 58, to safety from a coal mine cave in, drove a 12-inch shaft about 305 feet through earth, rock and coal into a void today searching for Louis Bova, 54, missing since Aug. 13 in the same mishap.

Meanwhile, drilling of two other probes was under way.

Mine officials said the drill on the 65-ton rig broke through into some kind of chamber about 6:15 a.m.

The officials said they would be unable to say if it was successful in reaching Bova until the drill pipe was removed and microphones and possibly a camera could be lowered, a matter of hours. The drill started at 5:45 a.m. yesterday, but drilling was halted by a six-hour breakdown.

Officials said they hit the void at the spot the crafty Fellin told them to drill. Fellin had also directed the miners where to sink a successful 18-inch escape shaft to him and Throne.

A three-inch probe reached 132 feet at 7 a.m., said officials. A six-inch shaft, started early today, hit 88 feet by 7 a.m.

Meanwhile mine officials said they plan to close the mine for safety reasons.

Flammable

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y. (AP)—Firemen went to the home of Charles Wolfe last night to put out a minor fire in his heating apparatus.

March

The New Jersey Turnpike, a favored route to Washington for those going by bus or car, made special arrangements to accommodate the demonstrators.

850 Buses

In anticipation of some 850 busloads from New England and New York besides New Jersey participants, turnpike officials provided for increased food, rest rooms, police patrol, and emergency breakdown services.

The turnpike's charter bus stop at Cranbury was geared to provide food for more than 2,600 persons an hour.

The Pennsylvania Railroad reserved 13 trains out of New York for the travelers. One of them was called the Newark Freedom Train. This train and three others scheduled stops at Newark.

Persons of every creed, both white and Negro, had announced they would be in the march from New Jersey.

Gov. Hughes sent his executive secretary, Lawrence Bilder, to the capital to represent him.

Welcomers at the capital also included New Jersey Sens. Harrison A. Williams Jr., Democrat, and Clifford P. Case, Republican, and members of the state's congressional delegation.

Weather

New Jersey — Mostly sunny and slightly warmer today, highest in the low 80s. Clear tonight with lowest in the low 60s ranging to the upper 50s northwest. Thursday partly cloudy and warm with highest in the low and mid 80s.

Cape May to Block Island — Variable winds 5 to 10 knots today and tonight except local onshore winds about 10 knots this afternoon. Southerly winds about 10 knots Thursday. Visibility 5 miles or more. Fair today and tonight, becoming partly cloudy Thursday.

Extended Forecast

Temperatures during the five-day period Thursday through Monday are expected to average near normal. Warm at the beginning of the period, becoming cooler toward the end of the period. Precipitation may total about one-fourth to one-half inch over southern portions and greater than one-half inch over central and northern portions with scattered showers Friday and Saturday.

Unlimited Hydro Driver Injured

DETROIT (AP) — Hydroplane driver Marv Henrich was injured yesterday when Mariner Too exploded on the Detroit River's Gold Cup course not far from the spot Bob Hayward was killed during a race two years ago.

Henrich, 33, of Detroit, was rushed to Detroit's Receiving Hospital where he was reported in fair condition.

He was taking Mariner Too through a trial run for this weekend's Governor's Trophy race at Madison, Ind., when his craft suddenly blew up and immediately sank.

Doctors said Henrich was suffering from neck, back and abdominal injuries and was cut on the face and head.

"We were having a scrub race and going about 130 to 140 miles down the backstretch," said Kade. "Marv's boat hit a swell, nose dived and when she came down disintegrated completely."

Kade stopped Blue Chip and jumped into the water. But by the time he reached the unconscious Henrich, the stricken driver already was in the grasp of Henry Sims of Detroit, who had been sailing his pleasure boat in the area.

Sims said he kept Henrich afloat until a Coast Guard boat arrived to take him ashore for transfer to an ambulance. Coast Guardsmen said Henrich had regained consciousness and was able to talk by the time he reached shore.

The accident occurred about three-quarters of a mile beyond the Belle Isle Bridge turn, where Hayward's Miss Supertest II was wrecked in the 1961 Silver Cup. Hayward, who'd won the prized Harmsworth Trophy for Canada three times in Miss Supertest III, wa injured fatally in the mishap.

Heaney Gets Appointment As Assessor

LONG BRANCH — Michael J. Heaney, 728 Green Ave., was named tax assessor by the City Council last night.

In assuming the $6,300-a-year post, Mr. Heaney replaces Frank Blaisdell, who has been seeking retirement. The new assessor will take over Sept. 16. His recommendation was submitted by City Manager James F. Roosevelt.

The council received a letter from Victor J. Lo Pinto, of Lo Pinto Engineering Consultants, here, pointing out what the letter termed "major engineering faults" in a proposal made by Councilman Thomas L. McClintock at council's last meeting for a bituminous surface for an area behind the new sea wall, to serve as a "boardwalk" area.

Mr. Lo Pinto claims the blacktop would settle unevenly and crack, because the backfill used may have "an overabundance of clay soil" which can shrink as it dries.

Will Not Bind

He also maintains that it will be impossible to provide a tight bond between the blacktop and the bulkhead and prevent water from entering and lifting the pavement.

The governing body also received a letter from S. Thomas Gagliano, an attorney representing Long Branch Golf Land, a miniature golf course on the boardwalk in a section that must be removed for the proposed sea wall.

Mr. Gagliano said his client has spent more than $25,000 on the premises and holds a lease with the city until 1970.

The attorney suggested negotiations with the city before the sea wall is constructed in that area.

In other business, the governing body reappointed Armour S. Hulsart as city auditor for the coming year.

Samuel Conte and Mrs. Joan Holland were appointed to the Advisory Shade Tree Board for three-year terms.

The meeting was conducted by acting Mayor Walter George in the absence of Mayor Milton Untermeyer.

Youths Held In Local Theft

RED BANK — Police arrested two local youths yesterday in connection with the theft of five cartons of cigarettes from a parked truck on Mechanic St., Sunday night.

Police identified them as James McGuire, 19, of 184 Riverside Ave., and Kevin M. Fitzgerald, 20, of 157 Maple Ave.

Police Chief George H. Clayton said both have been charged with petty larceny and will receive hearings in Municipal Court this morning.

He said both admitted being involved in the incident.

The chief said McGuire took five cartons of cigarettes and escaped in a car operated by Fitzgerald.

Mr. Higgins observed McGuire enter and leave the truck but was unable to stop him, the chief said.

Bomb

When police failed to get any leads through the molotov cocktail they asked Schutt to park his car in the RCA lot where it could be observed. Galassi said that on the morning of Aug. 7, plant workers saw a man tampering with the doctor's 1959 Cadillac.

The bomb police found "had enough powder in it to blow the doctor and a few other people to kingdom come," Galassi said, "it definitely was a working bomb."

The director said witnesses identified Tiseo as the man seen at the car. Tiseo was arrested early Tuesday at the Tingley Rubber plant in South Plainfield where he was working.

Reports Shot Fired at Car

LITTLE SILVER — Police here are searching for the driver of a blue Volkswagen who allegedly fired at a Little Silver motorist with a BB gun at 5:30 yesterday afternoon.

The motorist, Edward Strohmenger of 174 Winding Way, told police that he was driving south on Seven Bridge Rd., when the driver of the other car, traveling north, fired at him.

One shot put a hole through the windshield of the Strohmenger car, Police Chief James W. Fix said.

Blight

He said three conditions, substandard dwellings, general layout of the land and poor environmental conditions, existed in the Grandview area.

Statistically he pointed out that there are 132 structures—commercial and residential—in the area.

He said that 75 of the 108 residential dwellings are in such a condition as to warrant clearance. He said that actually 104 of the buildings had some deficiency—faulty plumbing or electricity, structural weakness or in need of extensive repairs.

Of the 24 commercial structures, Mr. Van Huyck said all were in a condition to warrant clearance.

He noted that most buildings covered 65 per cent of the lots on which they were located.

While noting this was an acceptable practice years ago, present standards of lot coverage are much smaller.

The borough's new zoning code restricts lot coverage to 25 per cent.

While many area residents seemed to agree that the area is blighted, others said it was not so.

Some blamed the blighted conditions on municipal officials and the periodic flooding which hits the area.

Those opposing the blight designation argued that other areas of the borough are in the same general condition, if not worse, and that officials should start the urban renewal program elsewhere.

The Planning Board announced it would make a decision on the blight question within a month. Another public hearing—this one on the proposed redevelopment of the Grandview area—is slated for Sept. 18.

Successful Investing

Roger E. Spear

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q)—"I'm a doctor, and though speculative greed I show a considerable loss on my investments. Which of the following should I sell or hold? I have Automatic Canteen; General Instruments; Permian; Parke, Davis; Suburban Gas." H.O.

A)—It's always a pleasure to encounter an honest man, and I am happy to tell you that your list isn't as bad as you think.

I would sell Automatic Canteen, which has seen earnings decline sharply in 1962 but still sells for 20 times estimated profits for 1963. General Instruments may be slow to recover, and I would also dispose of this issue.

The balance of your list I would retain. Permian is a common carrier of petroleum and looks to me like a possible buy-out candidate. Parke, Davis, hurt by its dependence of Chloromycetin, is staging a comeback on hopes for a new oral contraceptive. Suburban Gas was damaged market-wise by 1962 antitrust action but in fiscal 1963 continued its steady earnings gains.

Q)—"I would like to invest $10,000. Could you tell me anything about Dreyfus Fund or Wellington Fund? Can thse shares be bought for a granddaughter aged ten? What would be the procedure?" E.S.

A)—Please let me commend you warmly for thinking of your granddaughter's future.

Both funds you mention are reputable and well regarded. Wellington is a balanced fund, including a high percentage of preferred stocks and bonds.

Dryfus leans heavily toward common stock investment, is likely to be more volatile—and with favorable market conditions—more profitable than Wellington. Each has the same "sales load" or 8 per cent of purchases up to $25,000.

Shares for a minor can be bought in most states under the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act. They will be registered in the name of a close relative, as custodian for your granddaughter. There may be some tax problems involved, about which you should consult your tax adviser.

(Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.)

Rail Strike Talk Hurts Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed sharply lower yesterday as worry about a possible railroad strike tomorrow became more acute. Trading was fairly active.

The decline in volume to 4.02 million shares from Monday's 4.71 million shares served to bolster the bullish argument, as a drop off in trading as prices fall is regarded as favorable to those who hope for a higher trend.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 4.29 to 719.88, a fairly substantial loss which was accounted for at least in part by the fact that a number of the component stocks were selling ex dividend.

Nine of the 16 most active stocks declined, five advanced and two were unchanged.

Chrysler was the most active stock for the fourth straight session, this time dropping 2 to 68 as profits were taken on its latest upsurge. Its turnover was 172,200 shares. Second was American Tobacco, off ¼ at 27⅛ on 98,000 shares. Third was Parke Davis, up 1⅞ at 32½ on 85,300 shares.

Parke Davis was helped by further talk of its oral contraceptive which has not yet been unveiled and it paced selective strength among drugs. Merck gained 1 and Pfizer ⅞.

Eversharp, down 1⅝, encountered further selling because of Gillette's entrance into the stainless steel razor blade market.

Motor Wheel, up 1¼ at 24⅞, ninth most active, was spurred by news that Goodyear plans to acquire the company on the basis of a swap of two shares of Goodyear for three of Motor Wheel.

Pennsylvania Railroad, unchanged at 20⅝, was the most active in its group. Most leading rails lost fractions. Great Northern fell 1⅞ and Norfolk and Western 1½.

Mr. Stocker said the truck was moving at the time of impact.

The youths were pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Harry L. Harwood, assistant county physician, and the bodies were removed to Mehlenbeck's Funeral Home, Hazlet.

The accident occurred at 2:55 p.m., about 50 feet in front of Joseph Murphy's Auto Body Shop. Mr. Murphy told The Register last night that he was at his house, in back of the body shop, when the three youths drove by, on Hoff's La., just before reaching the tracks.

He said Hoff's La., which is a public, but little-used, dirt road, ends in back of his house, at the Harris Auto Repair Shop, on the Nero tract. The youths were probably returning from the auto repair shop, since there is no other building beyond his house, he said.

The owner of the repair shop was not available for comment last night.

Police said they had no way of knowing whether the truck might have been slowed down because of engine trouble at the time of the crash.

Raritan High Grad

The Zuzchik youth, born in New York City, had lived with his family in Hazlet 3½ years. He was graduated in June from Raritan Township High School, and had worked as a sales clerk at the Raritan Pharmacy.

He is survived by his parents, Joseph A. and Olga Birok Zuzchik, Sr., a sister, Mrs. Patricia Ann Pucci of Union Beach; his paternal grandfather, Michael Zuzchik of Roosevelt, L.I., and maternal grandmother, Mrs. Tessie Daniluk of Brooklyn.

The funeral will be held Friday at 8 a.m. from Mehlenbeck's Funeral Home, to Holy Family Catholic Church, Union Beach, where High Requiem Mass will be offered at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Keyport.

Mehlenbeck Funeral Home reported that funeral arrangements for the Walker youths have not been completed.

Announce Little Silver School Opening Date

LITTLE SILVER — Schools here will open Wednesday, Sept. 4, C. David Vanderhoof, superintendent, has announced.

Classes will be in session from 9 to 11:45 a.m. and from 12:45 to 3 p.m.

Registration may be completed in the office of the Markham Place School from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily.

Youngsters registering for kindergarten must present a birth certificate, and immunization records. Transfer students must have a school transfer, health records, and any available scholastic records, Mr. Vanderhoof said.

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 28, the 240th day of 1963. There are 125 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1864, the first railway post office began regular service on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad between Chicago and Clinton, Iowa.

On this date:

In 1941, Russia announced that its gigantic Dnieper River dam and its hydroelectric power plant had been destroyed to prevent its capture and operation by German troops during World War II.

Ten years ago . . . The UN General Assembly adopted all U. S.-sponsored plans for the impending political conference on Korea.

Five years ago . . . Archbishop Makarios called for substantial intervention by the United Nations to halt bloodshed in Cyprus.

Chicago Cubs executive Charles Grimm is 65. Musicologist Paul Henry Lang is 62.

Thought for today:

Valachi

kept a newspaper's plane away from the fort with instructions for it to land and provide identity papers.

Closed Down Airfield

Sen. McClellan flew into the airport unobtrusively, it was reported, earlier this month. When he and his party left, however, military police and security agents escorted the group from the post to the airfield; closed down all flying activities pending the departure of the Mohawk and several helicopters; kept all airport personnel away from the aircraft, and flew away under a curtain of secrecy which left onlookers in a state of wonderment.

Edward I. Brown, in a statement concerning the armed Army takeover of the field, said the Mohawk and several helicopters took off. He noted that the Mohawk returned shortly, but that he did not know whether all the helicopters returned.

The Register learned recently that the HUIB helicopter, which had been at the airfield about the length of time Valachi was reported to have been there, did not return.

Mine Blast

mistic," said Sam Taylor, publisher of the weekly Moab Times. "No one is sure of anything, except that it looks bad."

Taylor said two men were hospitalized with burns three weeks ago after a small gas pocket blew out as they were drilling dynamite holes in the shaft.

O. A. Wiesley, state industrial commissioner, said petroleum leaks in the area would explain the possible presence of methane gas in the mine, but Tippie said cause of the blast was not known.

The miners were working in solid rock, advancing in an 8-by-8 foot tunpel only an arm's length at a time, blasting with dynamite to make their progress.

AN EDITORIAL

Important Vote Tonight

Eatontown Borough Council tonight will make a decision of far-reaching importance to the municipality.

On Aug. 14 the council voted, 4-2, for a zoning ordinance amendment that would create a commercial highway strip along Rt. 35 in the borough's southern industrial area. That action was taken despite a negative vote from the Planning Board, lack of approval by the borough's professional planning consultants, and determined opposition by the members of the public who packed the council chamber at two hearings.

Those who oppose the zoning change say Eatontown needs to preserve its industrial area intact for future balance and tax benefits. They say no determined efforts have been made to sell Eatontown to industry and they advocate redressing that omission.

The councilmen who have spoken in favor of the change say Eatontown's future lies in commercial development with some small industry in the land behind the highway. They claim the rezoning will convey immediate tax benefits, if the highway strip builds up in stores, restaurants, motels and other uses permitted in the new amendment.

Mayor Herbert E. Werner has asked council to submit this controversial question to the public at the November general election. He gave council an opportunity to do this, by refusing to sign the measure its members passed and returning it to them with a veto message. His request to council, couched in moderate and conciliatory terms, is a reasonable one.

The Register does not recommend submitting every controversial issue to referendum. Councils are elected to legislate in the public interest, and they shouldn't duck their responsibility. The merits of this piece of legislation, however, are highly questionable. In requesting the referendum, Mayor Werner used his only parliamentary alternative and we support his view that Eatontown's taxpayers should be given a greater role in deciding their future.

POOR MAN'S PHILOSOPHER

A Look Down Memory Lane

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Let's take a look back along the way.

When the world is too much with us, the best escape is to recall a time when things were different.

Your memory is still hitting on all eight cylinders if you can remember when—

Movie actresses were expected to have class and stature—like Clara Kimball Young.

People said Enrico Caruso had a voice so powerful that when he sang in a small room it would break the windows.

It was part of the act in a Chinese restaurant for the waiters to pretend they couldn't understand English well. That kind of lent the place a shuddery sense of mystery.

The only people who ate pizza pies were those just over from the old country.

The greatest test of a middle-aged man's athletic ability was having to climb into the upper berth of a Pullman car.

You could always achieve a sound social position in the community by playing a good game of checkers.

No husband had to bother about keeping his wife's cigarettes lit—as good women didn't smoke in public.

No woman needed more than $5 to go to the grocery store, because who could carry home that much worth of groceries?

The common man was in favor of high income taxes because he felt only the rich would ever have to pay them.

Only cowboys wore high heels.

The people in comic strips were always slipping on banana peels, or being hit by flying bricks—but they never seemed to have any emotional problems.

It cost less to spend a full year in college than it now takes to send a small, squirmy child to camp for a month in the summer.

If a girl had a tan you knew she was from the country. City girls prided themselves on their milk-white complexions.

People in most small towns never locked the front door unless they were going on a long trip.

You could impress the average gathering by whipping out a snapshot of yourself taken on top of Pike's Peak. That let them know you were someone who'd really been around.

You didn't have to land on the moon to become a hero. All you had to do was stop a runaway horse single-handed.

JCP&L SUMMER CADET — James Feldmann, right, 36 Bernard Ter., Little Silver, is instructed in a lighting layout by Martin Zimmerman, Jersey Central Power & Light Company's Belford District line foreman. Mr. Feldmann, a junior at Pennsylvania State University, is working in the district office. He is among selected college students employed for the summer by JCP&L to give them an opportunity to gain experience in the electric utility's operations. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merrick R. Dr. Beispiel Joins Ranney School Staff

RUMSON — Russell G. Ranney, headmaster of the Ranney School, has announced the appointment of Dr. Myron Beispiel of Linden, N. J., to chairman of the Science Department and teacher of biology and chemistry. He plans to locate in this area.

Dr. Myron Beispiel

A biochemist, Dr. Beispiel is a graduate of Brooklyn College and earned his Ph.D. in chemistry at New York University. His thesis, a study in the reactions of carbides, was later presented to the American Chemical Society.

Dr. Beispiel stayed at New York University for several years as an instructor in chemistry, then spent two years with Nuodex Products Company working on academic research as applied to industrial problems. He is currently employed by Scientific Design Company as a project leader doing exploratory research in chemical and chemical engineering problems.

He is a member of Phi Lambda Epsilon, Sigma Xi, and the American Chemical Society. Reports of his work have appeared in technical publications and he is currently working on several patents. He is married and has one child. His plans for his work at Ranney School emphasize laboratory work, with attention to qualitative and quantitative analysis.

Luncheon Given By Lincroft PTA

LINCROFT — A luncheon will be given by the Lincroft-Everett PTA to welcome new and former teachers this afternoon at Colts Neck Inn.

The PTA is taking part in a Middletown Township project requesting persons in certain areas to sign petitions to get their permission to have sidewalks placed in front of their properties.

In the Lincroft area, this will cover parts of Newman Springs Rd. and Swimming River Rd. Mrs. Nathan Beekley and Milton Klein are on the committee.

On Aug. 21, members of a special PTA committee met at Lincroft School to distribute funds raised throughout the year for different projects. The budget for the coming school year was also discussed. Attending the meeting were Mr. Klein, new PTA president; Andrew Van Dyke, principal, nnd Mrs. Irene Nall and Mrs. Norman Weber.

Report

The fourth report is a municipal budget forecast for 1964. It predicts "little more than an extension of the 1963 municipal budget with such modifications as can be predicted with reasonable certainty."

Sees Difficulty Ahead

Mr. Bowen maintains the job next year will by doubly difficult because the predicted surplus by December will be the lowest accrued by the city in some years.

The reports contends that use of the city's savings in 1961 and 1963 "to effect tax reductions can hardly be described as being fiscally sound (though politically expedient) practice." This, the report continues, should create 1964's major budget headache.

The total forecast for 1964 would be $2,913,182, representing a $223,978.80 increase over the budget for 1963. Costs would increase in every area except salaries, where a $4,000 cut would be made, and capital improvements, which would stay the same.

Concerning the salary scale, the report states, "The estimate for salaries and wages is based upon existing pay policies for the present complement of city personnel."

The study predicts that municipal expenses will not drop for the most part in 1964. "This would fly in the face of all governmental logic and experience," it concludes.

Suggestion List

The budget report concludes with a list of questions suggesting possible ways of cutting the budget, and presented issues that might increase expenditures.

A note of Mr. Bowen's recent dismissal may be apparent in a concluding section of the report stating, "Budget consideration in Long Branch must cease being a process of second-guessing the city's chief administrative officer on matters in which he is an expert or knowledgeable."

The special committee under which Mr. Bowen worked consisted of Councilmen Mc Clintock, Vincent G. Mazza and Robert L. Penn.

The now controversial bill submitted by Mr. Bowen for $300 (10 days at $30) was paid last night by the governing body with Councilman Edgar N. Dinkelspiel voting against the allocation.

The Art Of Learning

Dr. Nason

By LESLIE J. NASON

Professor of Education

For years the cry has been "there's always room at the top" so study hard. Now it has been changed to "there's no room at the bottom." This is supposed to scare students and teachers into working harder.

But this approach may not work either. Its aim is to motivate the student. But too often motivation turns into pressure on students who lack knowhow, the very ones who need help the most.

Increasing pressure on students who don't know how to do better only results in poorer grades, not better ones.

It is of utmost importance that you show the student what to do to learn more correctly, before you start putting on pressure. I've watched students over the years raise their goals and increase their efforts to learn, but only after they discovered the techniques of learning properly.

Now we need to up grade students at every level. Even the student making excellent grades in elementary school may be setting up learning habits that will result in failure later. And if capable students are getting average grades, it's a sure sign they are using the wrong procedures.

All along the line, the key to upgrading is in breaking poor learning habits.

As teachers and parents, we must spot the learning procedures that will cause trouble, and help replace them with better methods.

All children start out eager to learn. They crawl, walk and talk because of inner drives. But somewhere in the educational system, too many lose this native enthusiasm. It's lost when we neglect to put them on the right track.

Our nation now needs average and superior students who have learned how to learn properly to reach the top professional levels.

Patient help can make it possible even for those with less ability to get as much as they can from their school experience.

So let's put our drive for improving education in the proper order.

Remember that improving learning followed by increasing motivation is the successful principle.

Allen-Scott Report:

Foreign Aid Hassle

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Wait until President Kennedy sees what the House Appropriations Committee does to his already severely slashed foreign aid budget.

If that mauling angered him, then Rep. Otto Passman, D-La, chairman of the Appropriations subcommittee in charge of the money bill for foreign aid will really throw him for a loss.

Passman, long-time militant foe of large-scale foreign aid spending, intends to cut these funds to a record low of $2.4 billion.

That would be approximately half of the $4.9 billion originally proposed by the President; $2 billion less than the $4.5 billion he subsequently recommended; and more than $1 billion under the $3.502 billion authorized by the House in its smashing rebuff to the President last week.

Apparently Passman has the votes to put over his record low huget. Of his 11-member subcommittee, only four (all Democrats) lined up against the $585 million reduction approved by the House.

In a series of closed-door hearings of his subcommittee, Democratic and Republic members, vigorously spearheaded by Passman, have been battering foreign aid officials on the handling of the billions of dollars voted by Congress.

This bipartisan attack has charged waste, bungling, gross extravagance, corruption and numerous other misdeeds and shortcomings.

The attitude of the overwhelming majority of this key group is graphically summed up in the caustic jab Rep. John Flynt, Jr., D-Ga, aimed at Foreign Aid Administrator David Bell, "The record of the administration of this program is horrendous. Instead of cementing alliances, it is building a false foundation for our relations with nearly every country on earth."

WHY THEY'RE AGAINST FOREIGN AID—Throughout Administrator Bell's lengthy grilling, he was continually on the defensive.

Also, the steady bombardment of complaints and denunciations was strictly bipartisan. In fact, some of the harshest criticism came from Democratic committeemen, notably Chairman Passman and Rep. Tom Steed, Okla.

They flatly contradict the President's irate charge that the House's deep axing of the authorization bill was a "partisan" (Republican) attack. The record of the Passman subcommittee does not support that; it's exactly the opposite.

Pointedly illustrative is Steed's interrogation of Bell about Afghanistan's refusal to permit the transit through its territory of building material the U.S. was giving Pakistan. Both these countries are big foreign aid beneficiaries. Yet Afghanistan closed its borders to such help for Pakistan.

As a consequence, much of this equipment and supplies had to be sent through Iran—at greatly increased cost to U.S. taxpayers.

Steed wanted to know the reason for this obstructionism. After an involved explanation, Bell said Afghanistan finally did permit some of the building material to go through its territory.

"Did the people who got it know how to use it?" asked Steed.

"You're asking the wrong question," remarked Passman sardonically. "We have equipment and supplies all over the world just sitting out in the open. Millions and millions of dollars worth of construction equipment, trucks, tractors and other expensive machines. In some instances, a wheel is taken off of a car and sold. Then another is taken off, and eventually nothing is left but the body."

Bell protested this harsh criticism, contending his agency now has a "good system of following up the equipment we furnish."

"There were cases of that kind in the past," he admitted, "and I'm not saying there are none now. But we don't put in equipment any more until we know who will run it and that it is going to be properly operated and maintained."

MORE SORRY DETAILS — Rep. J. Vaughan Gary, D-Va, raised the question of the wife of a health ministery in Laos who had the only license in that country to import drugs. She used this monopoly to sell cheaply-bought aspirin at 20 cents a tablet.

"That situation has been corrected," said Roger Hilsman, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern Affairs.

"Isn't it true," demanded Passman, "that we are paying Scandinavians to operate a yacht for Emperor Haile Selassie? As I understand it, we took this ship out of mothballs and reconditioned it for him. We wanted him to have a flagship."

"We are not paying Scandinavians to train Ethiopians," denied Bell firmly. "The Ethiopian government pays for personnel, and it is not coming from aid money."

Passman also emphatically refuted President Kennedy's contention that 80 per cent of foreign aid funds are spent in the U.S.

"Aren't we misleading the American people," the Louisianan asked Bell, "when we tell them 80 per cent of this money is spent here at home? The money is spent, the wealth goes abroad, nothing comes back and the taxpayer picks up the tab. I don't see how that's enriching us any."

"The purpose of the foreign aid program is to transfer wealth to other countries," contended Bell.

"Yes," snapped Passman wryly, "Uncle Sam with his whiskers shaved off."

FOREIGN AID SPARKS—The foreign aid agency has been publishing a house organ for its personnel since last November at a cost of more than $13,000. Two men work on it . . . U.S. Steel has been paid $686,000 to make a survey of the hotly controversial giant steel plant for India. Under this plan, the U.S. would contribute $500 million of the $1.5 billion cost of the huge project . . . The aid agency is still investigating as conflict-of-interest case involving one of its high officials. Administrator Bell denied this probe has been dropped, asserted it is still underway.

Motorist Is Jailed

NEW SHREWSBURY — Magistrate Marvin E. Schaefer Monday morning sentenced Ernest Barnwell, Jr., of 501 Prospect Ave., Asbury Park, to 40 days in the county jail in lieu of a $235 fine for drunk driving, delinquent motor vehicle inspection and driving a vehicle without a stop light.

Barnwell was sentenced to 30 days in jail in lieu of a $200 fine on the drunk driving charge, and to five days on each of the other two charges when he could not pay the $15 fine on each. He also was assessed $5 costs of court.

Barnwell paid fines totaling $30 for disregard of a stop sign and driving on a non-resident privilege. He had been held in the county jail in default of $350 bail following his arraignment here Sunday. He was arrested Saturday at Rts. 33 and 66.

J. L. Chesner, Hillside, was fined $20 for a stop street violation which resulted in an accident. Fined $15 each for careless driving resulting in accidents were Joseph F. Urich, 33D Spring Ter., Red Bank, and E. George Mele, 33 Matilda Ter., Long Branch.

Omer Carpentier, Montreal, Canada, was fined $25 and Rose Polito, Carteret, was fined $15 for speeding on the parkway. William Peace, Birsdall Rd., Farmingdale, was fined $15 for speeding.

Fined $10 each for driving with expired licenses were Harold J. Phillips, 27 Washington Village, and Bruce M. Fischbein, 210 Fourth Ave., both Asbury Park.

Fined $10 each for stop street violations were Walter S. Douglas, New York City, and Juanito Drullat, Hot Springs, Ark.

Other fines levied by Magistrate Schaefer were: Rosemary L. Seiler, Jackson, failure to have a driver's license, $10; Jeanne Smith, 12 Gary Dr., Middletown, driving an unregistered vehicle, $15, and Hazel Giordano, 296 Highland Ave., Long Branch, delinquent auto inspection, $6.

TODAY'S BUSINESS MIRROR:

Steel Industry Begins to Recover

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry is starting to recover from the strike that never was. Orders are a bit higher than in previous weeks when customers were living off stocks built up while unions and management were negotiating a new labor pact. So production has turned up, too, for the first real gain since May.

And confidence is growing that this summer's slump will prove to have been exceptionally mild.

But part also goes to the manner in which the labor parleys were conducted this year. The threat of a strike was less pressing this time than in previous years. Therefore, customers built up stocks at a less urgent pace.

Labor contract years traditionally put the steel industry through a fever and chills cycle. First, the customers over-order as a hedge against a possible strike and the mills work feverishly.

Then, if there's a strike, much of the economy is thrown out of joint. If there's a settlement, steel users live off their out-size inventories, and the mills are chilled by few orders and little output.

The pattern was different in 1963.

The pattern—now being tried or considered in other industries—was to keep a negotiating committee working more or less around the calendar on points of differences as they arose.

The aim was not only to make a strike less likely, but also to bring the final critical negotiations to a head without working under the gun of a strike deadline threat.

But while reports of progress were frequent, many steel users weren't taking any chances. They put in hedge orders anyway. The build-up in stocks wasn't as large as the year before.

Still, there was a considerable let down in steel ordering and production this summer. That may be ending now. A number of mills report a pickup in new orders and inquiries, looking toward a better fall business.

The American Iron and Steel Institute reports that last week the mills poured 1,742,000 tons of steel, up 1.1 per cent from the previous week, and nicely ahead of the 1,611,000-ton output of the like week of 1962. With the exception of one week in July, a fluke, this was the first rise since May.

The metal working trade weekly, Iron Age, says earlier predictions that fourth quarter shipments would be about 16.5 million tons are now being jumped in some industry circles to as high as 18.5 million tons.

48 Students Took Part In Seminar

LONG BRANCH — Forty-eight students, representing seven high schools and Monmouth College participated in the Brotherhood Seminar recently concluded at the Long Branch Summer High School.

The student participants in the program, which was offered for the first time in New Jersey, represented Asbury Park, Manasquan, Red Bank, Shore Regional, Summit, Wall Township, and Long Branch high schools.

The seminar was offered in co-operation with the National Conference of Christians and Jews two evenings a week during the six-week summer session. Thomas P. Maggio, senior social studies instructor at Long Branch High School, was co-ordinator.

Red Bank's Business Future

The cynics who say the business potential of towns such as Red Bank is on the wane have started to eat their words. The fears of years ago when shopping centers began to ring downtown business districts are slowly, but surely, beginning to disappear.

We do not like to think of ourselves as a prophet — but many times on this page, in the past we have told Red Bank's business community it would not only survive, but prosper, in spite of increased competition. This is certainly holding true.

The recent news report that the Molly Pitcher Inn has started a land reclamation project to make room for what is expected to become the most outstanding marina and efficiency apartment complex on the Eastern seaboard is added evidence of the faith businessmen have in Red Bank.

When anyone sees fit to invest millions of dollars in a municipality —you can be certain it is the result of hard surveys in the current and future potential of an area. Obviously, the Molly Pitcher people regard Red Bank as a sound business investment.

On the new parcel, at the foot of the bank behind the Molly Pitcher, the inn plans to build a two-story structure to house 22 additional hotel units, a swimming and wading pool, a refreshment cabana, and a dock that will serve more than 120 boats.

The plan is part of the Molly Pitcher's continuing list of improvements which includes interior renovations recently completed and a 12-story apartment building still in the planning stages.

When the entire project is completed, the Molly Pitcher will stand as the major hotel in the county and certainly one of the biggest on the Eastern seaboard.

The current program of improvements, the most extensive since the hotel opened in 1929, started last year when the management of the establishment was taken over by the Harry A. Taylor organization, operator of the Hotel Suburban chain. The inn is owned by Abner Friedman and Sydney Claman of New York.

Our point?

Red Bank is in a solid business position—and it will stay that way. The Molly Pitcher Inn expansion is just one more example of the faith that people have in our town's future.

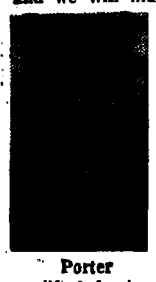

Your Money's Worth:

U. S. Won't Devalue Dollar in the Near Future

By SYLVIA PORTER

The United States will not devalue the dollar in the foreseeable future.

We are making major moves and we will make more to reduce the overflow of dollars and gold from this country—but we will not try to solve the problem of our diminishing gold reserve by raising the price at which we officially sell gold to qualified foreign owners of dollars, thus reducing the gold equivalent of the U.S. dollar and "devaluing" it in terms of gold and other currencies. This "solution" is rejected as unthinkable at this stage by every responsible policymaker in the U.S. and the Western world.

Porter

Nevertheless, because worry about devaluation is mounting throughout the U.S., this series is designed to explain what the bafflegab means. As already reported, if we raised the price of gold from $35 to $70 an ounce, this would cut the gold equivalent of the dollar from 1/35th to 1/70th of an ounce. This would slash the cost of our exports to foreigners, boost the cost of imports to U.S. consumers—theoretically stimulate our exports, reduce our imports. It also would raise the value of the gold reserve we have left from $15.6 billion to $31.2 billion, give us that much more precious metal with which to meet our obligations.

Why In Other Countries?

Q. Why do other countries devalue their currencies?

A. They devalue because they are importing much more than they are exporting and therefore running deficits in their trade accounts. By devaluing in terms of other currencies, they make the goods they export less expensive in price and the goods they import more expensive in price and this helps them get their import-export accounts back into balance. The "fundamental disequilibrium" in trade was behind the Western world's devaluations in 1949 and the French devaluations of the 1950s.

But we in the United States are running a huge surplus in our trade account. We exported a whopping $4.3 billion more in goods and services last year than we imported. Our trouble stems from the fact that we are spending so much in other areas—on military defense overseas, economic aid, private investment and tourism abroad—that we not only have been wiping out our trade surplus but also persistently going into the red year after year. This year we have another big export surplus, but our over-all deficit is at an annual rate of more than $3 billion.

There is no precedent for a nation's devaluing its currency when it is in the black in its trade account—as we are.

Affect On Prices

Q. How would devaluation change the dollar's appearance?

A. Not one bit. In appearance, it would be the same dollar after devaluation as before devaluation.

Q. How would devaluation affect prices here?

A. The answer to this is the question "the price of what?" The only change, remember, would be in terms of gold and other currencies. (This assumes other countries would not immediately devalue to the same extent. Even though this is an utterly unrealistic assumption, let's make it and go on.) Since this would be the only change, the prices of goods and services produced and sold within our borders would not be directly affected at all. The price of a haircut would be the same. The price of eggs laid by a domestically-raised chicken would be the same. The price of corn raised by a U.S. farmer would be the same. Etc.

'Have Not' Nation, Too

But, of course, we do not buy only domestically-produced goods. We are a "have not" as well as a "have" nation, and in 1962 alone we imported over $16 billion of goods and services. Few U.S.-manufactured goods today do not include some imported materials —and the price of these imported materials would be up. Many common goods on your table every day are imported—coffee, tea, sugar, pepper, olive oil—and the prices of these would be up. In most cases, the imports are vital to our way of life and standard of living and we would not reduce our purchases of them despite the higher prices.

The impact over a period, therefore, would be to raise the prices of producing and living—a pull toward inflation.

What would devaluation mean specifically to you as a consumer, investor, importer, exporter, tourist, etc? This tomorrow.

...By George!

Dear George:

I am from New England and don't know much about Southern cooking but my boy friend keeps talking about Southern cooking, so I am planning to fix him a big meal. I have found out what collard greens and sidemeat are, and a few other things, but he is always talking about grits.

Where do you buy these, and how many should I buy? Also, do you buy grits by the dozen, bunch, or what? Should I ask for more than one grit? I want to surprise him.

New Englander

Dear New Englander:

You can get them at any grocery store—just for the novelty of it serve him one grit. That will really surprise him.

These Days:

What Does Freedom Mean?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The handwriting is on the wall for any nation opposing the aims of the African states that formed a common front recently at Addis Abada in Ethiopia. Franco's Spain—bowing, even as De Gaulle's France did on Algeria—has signified that it is willing to relinquish its hold on the few square miles of African territory that it still retains. And, inexorably, the African representatives at the UN press their case for getting Portugal out of Angola and Mozambique and for boycotting South Africa as long as it persists in its policies of apartheid.

Chamberlain

The Addis Ababa Africans will get their way because of something that started in 1776, when American Britishers, resenting King George III's denial of their rights, declared themselves to be free. But few Americans today will stand up and cheer when the Africans try to link their new tradition of "freedom" with our old one. For the fact is that the twentieth century "revolution" in Africa is a corruption of the eighteenth century revolution. It does not stand for individual rights, it stands for national power.

The continuity of our revolutionary tradition has been cut, and the terrible thing about it is that the school children who traipse through the UN Building in New York City are hardly aware of it as they watch Mr. Quaison-Sackey of Ghana, for example, denounce the white "master race" of South Africa without mentioning the habits of his boss at home, Dictator Nkrumah, who considers any political opposition to the governing clique of Ghana to be a prison offense.

Old Colonial Sermons

Recently this columnist was browsing through a collection of sermons by American colonial clergymen that had been assembled by his friend, the Reverend Stewart Robinson, who used to preach in Elizabeth, N. J., before he retired to pursue a hobby of historical research. What was striking about the old colonial sermons was the way they had of recurring to the "party line" of the liberal revolution of the eighteenth century as it was formulated by the half-forgotten English philosopher, John Locke. Over and over again, the clergymen of 1776 drummed it into their eighteenth century parishioners that the free man had a right, not merely to national freedom, but to "life, liberty and property." It was a triad, a trinity, of rights, but it was also a unity; for liberty and property, so the clergymen were certain, were the means by which a free man might aspire to control the course of his life without begging for permission to exist.

Listening to Ghana's Quaison-Sackey and others at the UN, as I do from time to time, I get no sense that they care for the Lockean rights as either a trinity or a unity. They want a "right to life" for Africans as members of a sovereign collective, a nation-tribe, which is legitimate enough in terms of their own traditions. But when it comes to individual liberty, and individual property, these things are not thought of as "unalienable," in Thomas Jefferson's phrase. They are considered as gifts to be disposed of arbitrarily by government. And the white man who is faced with the prospect of having his own liberty or property violated if he chooses to stay on in Africa under local rule is usually afraid to risk it.

English Ranchers in Kenya

So we have the spectacle of English ranchers in Kenya getting ready to pull up stakes and depart despite the fact that Africa is the only home they have ever known. They have no trust that old John Locke, with his triad of rights, will mean a thing to the new Kenya rulers of tomorrow. In the Portuguese African territories European ranchers have, in good John Lockean fashion, "mixed their labor" with natural resources to create properties—and liberty—for themselves. They have done this, moreover, without practicing apartheid, or segregation. Now they are threatened with extinction by the terrorist, Holden Roberto.

If the Revolution of 1776 had gone ahead in straight-line fashion, with liberators paying full deference to "life, liberty and property" as an indissoluble three-in-one, Americans might show more enthusiasm for the demands of the Africans. But freedom is not

LETTERS

ANSWERS ATHEIST
Shrewsbury, N. J.

To the Editor:

You may be interested to know that I have been deluged with messages from those who agree with my views as stated in a recent letter to you regarding the ban on prayer in our public schools.

I also received one letter that was without signature or address. I believe that your readers will be interested to know the contents of that letter and a copy of it follows:

Dear Miss Hamm:

I read your long letter about school prayers in The Register.

Like so many other "tolerant" people, you have evidently failed to grasp the meaning of religious freedom as designed by our founding fathers. Religious freedom means not freedom to worship God by your own chosen religion; it means freedom to worship or not to worship at all.

School children are required by law to attend classes. My children, like myself, are atheists. Do you think that it is fair to require my children to listen to prayers and Bible reading, both of which are repugnant to their religious beliefs? Would you like children of your faith to be required to listen to atheistic talks every school day?

As far as the morality of religion goes, believe me, the world would be far better off without it. More misery and suffering has been caused to the human race by the religious wars of the past (even the present—Viet Nam) than any other single cause. Did you ever see the statistics of our penitentiaries? Notice the high percentage of religious criminals.

You are quite right in one thing—this deletion is not the final aim of those of us who favored this action. This is not "one nation under God," and I believe the words "under God" will be brought before the courts in a test case.

Remember, Miss Hamm, your job as a school teacher is to teach the truth, facts, not fables or myths about some supposed God.

Very truly yours,

In answer to the above letter I should like to state that wars have been the scourge of the world because men have neglected to follow the teachings of God and of their respective religions. Individuals may claim adherance to any creed or religion but their mode of behavior often belies their claims. While down through the ages, wars have been fought in the name of religion, these wars have been fought because of man's false interpretation of the teachings of religion and even with a complete disregard of the doctrines involved. Because men ignore the tenets of their religion does not make the doctrines of the religion wrong any more than the disregard of safety laws makes the rules of safety in error.

This letter should serve to point up the fact that the movement to foist atheism upon all of us is a concerted one. You and I may greet with disdain those who write anonymous letters but let us remember that the author of this one is a member of the small group which has successfully brought about the ban on prayer and Bible reading in the public schools. These people can not be dismissed as having no moral fortitude because they send unsigned letters; they are now and will continue to be a menace to the rest of us who desire only to worship God according to our own convictions. We must stand up to be counted if we desire continued freedom!

Yours very truly,
Marie M. Hamm

JIM BISHOP: Reporter

The 20th Century Killer

Tuberculosis was the disease of the 19th century. Heart disease is the killer in the 20th. Three out of every 10 middle-aged men who read this will die while enjoying apparent good health. Heart disease is the shadow cast by prosperity. The better you eat, the quicker you go.

BISHOP

It isn't pleasant news. You can turn your back on truth, but it will not go away. It will continue to stare, like a dark stuffed bird. Jeremiah Stamler, like other statistical scientists, stares back at it. He is a small fist of energy, a doctor and Director of the Heart Disease Control Program in Chicago.

Stamler's notions on heart disease were sound enough to rate attention in a book called "The Scientific Life," by Theodore Berland. I haven't seen the book, but a magazine named Encore has acquainted me with Dr. Stamler's credos. He's no handpatter.

If you have more than one of the following items, he says, you are a high coronary risk: (1) High blood cholesterol; (2) High blood pressure; (3) Obesity; (4) Diabetes; (5) Heavy cigarette smoking; (6) Kidney disease; (7) Tension. Happily, practically all of these conditions can be controlled, and the risk of heart disease can be minimized if anyone wants to face the dark bird of truth.

My problems are numbers 3 and 5. I am 5 feet 7½ inches tall and, until recently, weighed 184. By giving up potatoes, candy, fatty meats, and exchanging butter for margarine, I'm now at 166. I'd like to drop to 160, but can't seem to make it. A man needs at least two lovely vices, so I keep cheating—eating and smoking as pleasures.

Stamler doesn't like the word diet. ". . . getting on a diet," he says, "has in it the seeds of getting off . . ." The doctor prefers to change habits. Habits which seduce the senses are the most difficult to alter. Anyone who enjoys the fat on well-charred chops and steaks, or Hollandaise on asparagus, lots of butter on bread, a stain of gravy on mashed potatoes, French fries, potato chips, doughnuts—oh, what's the use? I like them all.

The enemy is atherosclerosis. It is but one kind of hardening of the arteries, but it's the killer. It appears to thrive on cholesterol, and it builds fatty little islands inside the arteries. These islands grow, until they block the flow of blood. Or they break off, and float on the bloodstreams until they reach a small artery. They dam it.

Until age 50, male heart attacks outnumber female by a ratio of 21-to-1. But, after menopause, women do not secrete estrogen, and the lack of estrogen brings the ratio closer. Sadly, 15 per cent of all heart attacks pass unnoticed. If the victim complains at all, it is usually of indigestion.

Dr. Stamler's large-scale file on men shows that about 60 per cent of caucasians have too much cholesterol in their blood. Ironically, Negro men are prone to high blood pressure, but do not have high cholesterol proportionate to white men. Probable cause? The white man eats better and ingests more fatty foods than his dark and tense neighbor.

The most important, and hopeful thing about atherosclerosis is that it is reversible. If you have it, and you are overweight and your blood cholesterol is high, a permanent change of eating habits can reduce and, in time, eliminate the fatty lumps inside the arteries.

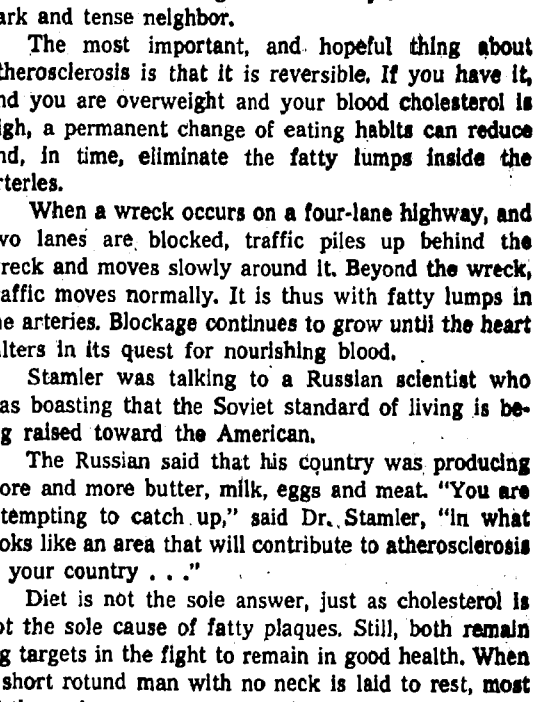

When a wreck occurs on a four-lane highway, and two lanes are blocked, traffic piles up behind the wreck and moves slowly around it. Beyond the wreck, traffic moves normally. It is thus with fatty lumps in the arteries. Blockage continues to grow until the heart falters in its quest for nourishing blood.

Stamler was talking to a Russian scientist who was boasting that the Soviet standard of living is being raised toward the American.

The Russian said that his country was producing more and more butter, milk, eggs and meat. "You are attempting to catch up," said Dr. Stamler, "in what looks like an area that will contribute to atherosclerosis in your country . . ."

Diet is not the sole answer, just as cholesterol is not the sole cause of fatty plaques. Still, both remain big targets in the fight to remain in good health. When a short rotund man with no neck is laid to rest, most of the male mourners around the grave are tall skinny men who look emaciated.

For myself, I believe in the semi-annual examination. First, x-rays, then a general examination, then ears, eyes, nose and throat. After that, I return to my vices. Too much truth can kill a man . . .

"You see a demonstration like this and you realize the abstract thing we call the electorate is made up of real live human beings."

freedom when men, irrespective of the color of their skins, can't look forward to keeping and extracting nourishment and enjoyment from what they have labored to create.

I am perfectly sure the Africans are going to get their way, all the way from Cairo to the Cape. That is the way the winds of ideology are blowing. But what has it got to do with our own revolution, which was fought for the individual, not the tribal State?

Bridge Column

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If you make it a practice to trust your opponents you will be adored by everybody except your partner. Would you rather be known as a suspicious expert or as a lovable boob?

West dealer
East-West vulnerable

When this hand was played in the recent national tournament, one declarer set out to win popularity contests. He won the opening lead, knocked out the ace of spades, won the diamond continuation and drew trumps. Then South decided to rely on West to hold the king of clubs for his vulnerable opening bid. Hence he led his singleton club and tried a finesse with dummy's queen.

Ungrateful for this act of generosity, East took the king of clubs and returned a heart to let West defeat the contract with two heart tricks.

Don't snort that nobody could possibly play a hand so badly. This happened in a championship which only Life Masters could enter.

Other Way

It was perfectly all right to take a finesse in clubs, but South should finesse the other way. That is, he should play East rather than West for the king.

Declarer should win the second round of diamonds in his hand, draw a second round of trumps, then lead a club to the ace. Next he returns the queen of clubs from dummy, ready to discard a heart if East plays low.

Even if West is able to win the trick, South will be able to get to dummy to discard another heart on the jack of clubs. He may even be able to set up a long club and thus get rid of both hearts (unless West Cashes the ace of hearts).

Actually, East plays the king of clubs and South can set up the clubs to make eleven tricks without the slightest risk of losing ten.

"ASTRO-GUIDE" By Ceean

For Thursday, August 29

Present—For You and Yours... This is a good day for selling. Ideas are well accepted under current configurations and your aims and popularity will be furthered. Sail through your tasks with enthusiasm as the evening offers much in the way of entertainment and pleasure. Collaboration and friendliness are accented.

Past... The American slang phrase "passing the buck" probably comes from the bucksaw, a heavy cross-cut frame saw. Passing the buck, therefore, originally meant shifting the responsibility for sawing logs on to somebody else.

Future... Archery is expected to become the biggest indoor participation sport since bowling. Its new lease on life is due to automation. After shooting, you push a button to bring the target to you so you can pluck out arrows.

The Day Under Your Sign

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19) It's better strategy to give in rather than to make an issue over a petty matter.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Don't let the smallness of others "rub off" on you. Be your own sweet self.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You arouse enmity by bringing up the past indiscretions of friends or relatives.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) Failure is often a necessary part of learning, so neither fear nor try to hide it.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Persuasion is preferable to force and leaves you feeling better physically and mentally.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Aspects are good for working out career problems that need immediate attention.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Try to side-step financial dealings with relatives or you could get hurt.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be sure your intentions are made clear so there's no room for misunderstanding.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Resourcefulness pays off in cash and compliments—and you'll enjoy both.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Not much on the agenda so just drift along with the tide. Have fun in p.m.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Don't pout if your invitation is refused. Others will be glad to accept.

Obey School Zone Speed Limit, Little Silver Police Chief Says

LITTLE SILVER — In anticipation of the opening of schools here Wednesday, Sept. 4, Police Chief James W. Fix today issued a reminder to motorists that the speed limit in a school zone is 25 miles per hour at time when children are en route to and from school and during recess periods.

Chief Fix called upon parents and school officials to teach youngsters to walk on sidewalks wherever they can, where there are no sidewalks to walk as far off the roadway as possible, facing traffic, and to cross streets only at crosswalks or where school crossing guards are stationed.

Children riding bikes to school are to ride in single file with the traffic, and to obey all traffic rules, the chief warned.

"National Child Safety Week, Sept. 4-11, is a good time for all of us to check our safe driving habits and to co-operate in every way in making our streets and highways safe for our children," Chief Fix said.

'DUCK' SIGNS AND OTHER SIGNS
3 Rutgers Dr.,
Fair Haven, N. J.

To the Editor:

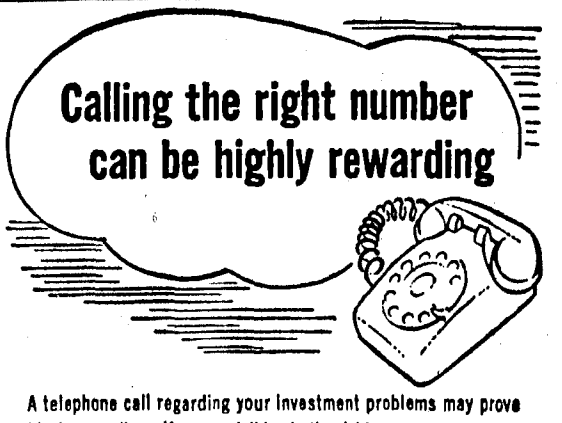

The state Highway Department is very fast in noticing and issuing orders to remove illegal signs from our roads: the "Danger Stay Alive" signs in Middletown Township and the latest, our "Duck Crossing" sign in Fair Haven.

By what authority are public funds used to erect and maintain "illegal" signs on all our roads directing patrons to private enterprises: "Freehold Raceway" signs and "Monmouth Park" etc.

Perhaps our highway commissioner can answer that.

Gross Says Rutgers Must Expand

By CHARLES K. SERGIS

NEW BRUNSWICK (AP)—Rutgers University increased its enrollment 40 per cent in the last five years but the school has to get bigger and bigger.

"We can't survive in our present form," said Dr. Mason W. Gross, Rumson, president of the state university. "Something's got to be done in the future."

Dr. Mason W. Gross

Gross has presided over plenty that's been done in the immediate past to expand capacity, notably the $50 million construction program that began with the 1959 college bond issue and is still in progress.

But the future he speaks about is one with an ever-growing student population, beginning with the post-World War II bumper crop of babies that will begin pounding on college gates during the next few years.

Building Program

Gross is dismayed because Rutgers is forced to use the kind of selectivity that he feels is wrong for a state university.

The extra space created by the ambitious building program was quickly gobbled up, and limits on the freshman class at Rutgers have been frozen the past few years.

"We are trying to live up to the concept of a state university," Gross explained. "The theory is not to deny an education to any New Jersey youngsters who are capable of benefiting from a college education."

The theory is taking a back seat to the reality of space limitations, to the regret of thousands of high school graduates who wanted to replace the June 5 graduating class.

A record of 11,325 applied for the 3,325 freshman places this fall at Rutgers and Douglass College for Women in New Brunswick and the Rutgers Camden and Newark colleges.

"We turned away at least 1,000 fully qualified students this year at the colleges in New Brunswick alone," Gross reported.

He said the great bulk of the rest also were qualified to do college level work.

As far as the numbers problem is concerned, Gross' attitude can be described as "you ain't seen nothing yet" although the scholarly ex-philosophy and English professor would never say it in that ungrammatical way.

Vocabulary Expert

Many television viewers would recognize Gross' face because he was the vocabulary expert on a quiz program for about five years during the 1950s.

The tall, mustached scholar with the gracious manner became president of Rutgers four years ago.

An associate said Gross is "enormously stimulated by people. He likes to meet them and find out what they are thinking. You'll find him speaking at any crossroads where three people get together. There is rarely an evening when he does not have an engagement."

Speaking with a reporter in his office in Old Queens, the Rutgers administration building, Gross said:

"New Jersey has been woefully short in higher education. Until a few years ago, 59 per cent of its college students went out of state for their educations. The figure is now 44 per cent, thanks largely to our building program."

This program of 35 separate construction projects was made possible by the 1960 state bond issue. The university got $30 million from the bonds, $4 million more in grants and gifts, for a $50 million package.

The construction, still in process has made the bulldozer as much a part of the campus scene as red bricks and ivy.

No Complaints

Gross has no complaints about financial treatment by the state, which appropriates the bulk of the university's operating expenses.

"We usually get whatever appropriation the governor, the state treasurer and the budget director recommend," he explained. "The legislature does not reduce the recommendations. They're treating us well in relation to other portions of the government."

The university is not backward about taking progressive steps independent of state financial aid.

A perfect example is the two year medical school it will open in a few years without any state money. Two thirds of the 12 million goal will come from federal loans and grants, the balance from grants and donations from industries and individuals.

But the big financial push needed to keep the university in front of growing demands is a state matter, Gross said.

One source of help could be the $750 million bond issue proposed by Gov. Richard J. Hughes, part of it devoted to college construction.

The university is trying to get hold of a piece of Camp Kilmer which touches on Rutgers' burgeoning science center in Piscataway Township across the Raritan River from New Brunswick. The hope is that the land, which the Army is giving up, would make a good site for a new undergraduate center.

"As the state university, we should be expanding opportunities for a college education," Gross said, "but the fact is, that because of the press of numbers, we have had to turn away students who would have been assured a place in college only a few years ago."

Limit Class Size

The president pointed out that Douglass College had to limit its incoming freshman class to girls in the top 20 per cent of their high school classes, and Rutgers college and the Newark and Camden colleges are almost at the same point. This, Gross said, "is contrary to what we believe to be the basic philosophy of a state university."

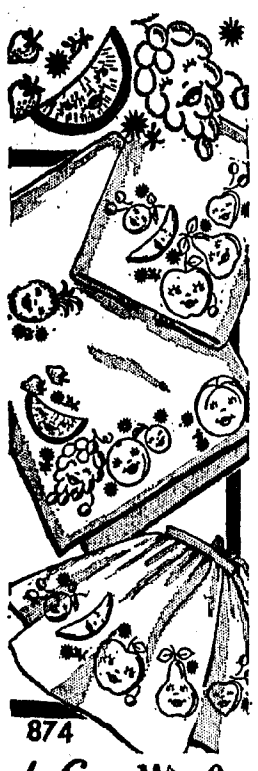

How big Rutgers eventually will get is anybody's guess. The university expects the past year's undergraduate enrollment of 10,224 to double by 1970.

Big increases are in store also for graduate student and evening college enrollments which totaled 11,000 the past year. And all this, Gross says, is according to very conservative estimates.

Graduate education actually is growing faster than undergraduate education these days, at Rutgers and elsewhere.

This agrees with Gross' view that a state university should also be a center for research in all fields and for training practitioners in various segments of public life—science, government, the arts and the professions.

"With a big research program, we can get good professors and scientists. With the increases in size, we can improve the curriculum," the president says.

Bigness in itself is not bugaboo to Gross; instead it means the opportunity to provide better programs for more people.

New Departments

"I wouldn't want to preside over a lousy institution," he said smiling, "but presiding over a large one does not bother me.

"Rutgers has not reached its maximum size. The Universities of Michigan and California, which are much bigger, are very lively and vital institutions."

New departments of Hebraic studies and comparative literature are recent additions to the curriculum. Gross hopes a school of architecture will follow the medical school.

Another project favored by Gross, a devoted music lover, is upgrading facilities for the arts at Rutgers, which already has a flourishing scientific research center.

"It's ridiculous to bring the Boston and Philadelphia Orchestras here and have them play in the gym," Gross said. "We certainly need an auditorium."

Incentive To Grow

Rutgers has plenty of incentive to grow, namely an estimated 13,000 increases in high school graduates in New Jersey next year, and 21,500 in two years.

"The story that appears in the magazines every fall about all the college vacancies going begging is for the birds," Gross remarked.

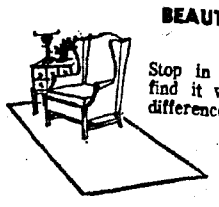

"Sure, there may be a few spaces in blank college in Winging, South Dakota, but what good is that to the New Jersey kid who wants to major in something that this tiny college does not offer?

"Besides, out-of-state schools also have space problems, and their vacancies are beginning to disappear. The state school has to take up the slack."

Gross has a sense of urgency about the space problem, but he is a picture of good-natured calm and confidence as he goes about his daily tasks.

"I get upset only when nothing is going on," he said.

From the look of Rutgers, its president has not been upset for many a day.

Reminds SS Beneficiaries On Earnings

ASBURY PARK — Social Security beneficiaries who are still working should report any increase in their earnings that would change their estimated incomes for 1963, cautioned Benjamin Sandberg, district manager of the Asbury Park social security office.

Beneficiaries who work and expect to earn over $1,200 this year should have made a report of their estimated earnings for the coming year, Mr. Sandberg explained. The amount of benefits withheld by the Social Security Administration is based on this estimate.

To avoid overpayment in social security benefits, any increase in earnings above the estimate should be reported to social security promptly, he said. If a beneficiary receives more in benefits than he should have, his checks may be suspended to make up for the overpayment, Mr. Sandberg pointed out.

BUT THEY'RE CAREFUL WITH THE MONEY

MIDDLEFIELD, Conn. (AP) — After the day's business, employees of the Middletown Savings Bank locked up and went on a picnic.

But they forgot one thing.

They had locked 20 bank examiners in the building.

BUYS AVON

STRATFORD, Ont. (AP)—The Stratford Shakesperean Festival has purchased the Avon theater, a former movie house, for expansion of its summer-long schedule of activities.

Extensive alterations won't start however, until after conclusion of the '63 season. Leonard C. Webster, president of the festival, said that the added facilities would enable an increased diversification of artistic attractions supplementing the basic schedule of Shakespearean plays at the festival's main theater.

British Satirists Due For Ed Sullivan Shows

By HARVEY PACK

"I think they are hilarious and the show was just tremendous." Ed Sullivan was on the phone confirming an exclusive TV Key newsbeat that Jonathan Miller and Peter Cook, the two inspired young British satirists who have been convulsing New Yorkers all this past season in the Broadway hit "Beyond The Fringe," will appear every few weeks in satirical, topical sketch material that should brighten the Sullivan Show and tickle our national funnybone.

When Sullivan talked about "the show" he was talking about a one shot offering seen on a New York local station called "What's Going On Here?" The spirited young producers of "What's Going On Here?" Clay Felker and Jean Vandenheuvel turned out a program that was funnier and more inventive than virtually anything seen on network TV all year and their half hour stanza deserves a continuing network slot of its own. In the meantime, a monthly sketch supervised by Messrs. Cook and Miller, and sometimes including them, is a delightful added bonus for the new TV season.

Millions of dollars will go down the drain in September ballyhooing the new shows, as each producer desperately reaches for the brass ring. But one thing is absolutely certain, a show that will be panned by virtually every critic in America will head all the rating charts for September and will probably be the highest rated show of the entire season. Because on Saturday night, Sept. 7, over 80 per cent of the TV sets in the nation will be tuned to CBS waiting to see which homegrown American beauty will be serenaded by Bert Park's annual rendition of "There She Goes . . . Miss America."

The Miss America Pageant is not staged for TV but the bargain basement TV fee of $200,000 (very cheap considering the audience it delivers) helps the promoters distribute the world's largest scholarship fund for women.

Beautiful girls putting their best charms forward have become standard TV fare during the bathing suit season, but none of the competing pulchritude carnivals can ever hope to rival the typical American corn and appeal of that glamorous title "Miss America." The winner may not be a 38-21-38 vision, but she invariably cries when she wins and all of us think she lives next door. Although it is not essentially a TV show, it somehow manages to combine all the necessary ingredients for popular entertainment and then some.

Because Atlantic City has a race track in operation during the month of August, I happened to be in the neighborhood one day and, unable after eight losers to afford a meal, I welcomed the opportunity to chat with the head of the Pageant, Al Marks, over dinner. Mr. Marks has the dubious honor of running this $300,000 budgeted operation, devoting about 2,000 hours a year to it and, for his troubles, he's permitted to purchase a box seat in Convention Hall.

"Only six people who work on the Pageant all across the country are paid," explained Mr. Marks. "I do it because I love Atlantic City and, quite frankly, I get a tremendous thrill out of seeing last year's winner reappear on the show not as a frightened little girl, but as a charming example of what our judges thought she would be when they picked her the year before."

Mr. Marks, a prominent Atlantic City businessman, is aware of the charges by the critics that the Pageant is a big hunk of corn. "Of course it is," he said, "but the American public obviously loves this kind of corn. I know I do."

I asked him whether the judges are briefed and told to pick a girl they think will make a good representative for the Pageant rather than look for beauty first. "I brief the judges so I am more than ready for that question," he answered. "Naturally, they are told that this girl will travel all over the world as Miss America and they must take this into consideration. But they do not vote as a unit and therefore they cannot go into conference for a decision. When they vote for the finalists their ballots and ratings are secretly computed and when Bert announces the winner it is the first time that even the judges know her name."

Bandleader Paul Whiteman is credited by Mr. Marks with suggesting that the Pageant go on TV but, he emphasized, it is still primarily a show put on for the people who pay the loot to get into Convention Hall. Al said that his own box costs him over $200.

"We're always asked why the Pageant isn't done in color," he continued, "and the answer is quite simple. We will not rob our live audience and, if we're in color, the girls must be loaded with make-up for the cameras. When color no longer requires special make-up we will switch."

All the judges this year are dignified leaders from the world of art and fashion. "We have decided to eliminate show business personalities from our roster because last season we used a very beautiful film star who showed up the following month in a four page spread in a national magazine which prefers their models not to wear clothing," said Al. I explained to him that this same doll was used as a judge by one of the flesh parades seen on TV this summer and he was not surprised.

Handling the commentary on the show this season will be three ex-winners. Regular Marilyn Van Derbur (1958), BeBe Schopp (1948) and Jacque Mercer (1949).

The corn will be served Saturday, Sept. 7, on CBS and, let's face it, we'll all be watching.

DENNIS THE MENACE By Hank Ketcham

"WELL, IF YOU DIDN'T TICKLE MY FOOT, WHO DID?"

Live Within Your Income

You Must Deduct SS Taxes

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant In Money Management

Apparently, it hasn't dawned on some 70 per cent of the employers of domestic help that Social Security officials and the Internal Revenue Service aren't kidding when they say that social security taxes must be paid on wages. According to spot checks around the country, this high percentage of employers are simply ignoring the whole thing. Some intentionally, some unintentionally.

All of you who're blushing right now as you read this had better take it seriously. If the situation continues, you can expect Social Security and the Internal Revenue Service to get their feathers all fussed up about it. This letter speaks for a lot of women:

Dear Miss Feeley:

I have had a part-time cleaning woman for about two years now, and we also hire a man regularly in the summer to mow the lawn. It dawned on me the other day that I have never paid Social Security taxes on their wages!

Just how much would their wages have to be for me to owe this tax, and if I do pay this year, will I also have to make up for last year?

Mrs. C.B., Bronx, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. B.:

If you pay as much as $50 in wages to any one employe in any one-quarter period, you must deduct 3⅛ per cent (.0362) of these wages and add an equal amount yourself. These payments should be made to your Internal Revenue district office.

You should discuss this with your cleaning woman and the yard man. If they object to having their portion of the tax deducted, you have a choice of paying the full 7¼ per cent yourself—or letting them go! Actually, the individual who is earning wages should want to assume this responsibility since the benefits are all for that individual's future welfare.

The penalty for not paying Social Security tax can be expensive in the long run, as the government can collect unpaid back taxes. For more details on this subject, write for Circular H, Household Employer's Social Security Tax Guide, from your local Internal Revenue Service district office.

Dear Miss Feeley:

It's so hard to know, when you live on a limited budget, just when the time comes to stop paying repair bills on something and replace it with a new model. For instance, I am facing a $20 expense to have my vacuum cleaner repaired. I had trouble with it about a year and a half ago, too. So I'm wondering if I'm being economical or wasteful to put any more money into it. If I buy a new one, it will cost a substantial sum. Will you please advise me?

Mrs. W.W., Cincinnati

Dear Mrs. W.:

One way to decide the issue is to figure up the age of the vacuum. The Department of Agriculture—which seems to have figured up just about everything in our lives—estimates that a vacuum cleaner, upright model, should "live" for 18 years. A tank model has a life-expectancy of 15 years. This is assuming the cleaner was bought new, and has remained under the same ownership.

If yours is approaching senility, then I'd say you'd be wise to get a new one now before the repairs get stiffer. Adding one repair bill on top of another gets you into such a financial trap you can't afford to buy a new cleaner even when old faithful conks out completely.

Dear Miss Feeley:

I enjoy reading your column and I need some advice now. My automobile was repossessed. I am wondering if I still have to pay.

Dear J.L.R.:

Very likely you'll have to pay something. When the company which repossessed the car sells it to a new buyer, the amount of the sale—minus costs of repossession—is applied to your unpaid balance. Whatever is left still unpaid will be your responsibility. In your state, a deficiency judgment can be made against you for this amount. There just isn't any easy way of getting out of a contract.

(You can write Mary Feeley in care of this newspaper. She'll answer in her column questions of widest interest.)

RELATIVE HUMIDITY

An electric dehumidifier will wring the air dry and protect your property against dampness damage. If you have excess moisture in your basement, recreation room, laundry, workshop, library or storage room, then you need a dehumidifier for a full use of these areas without musty odors, danger to health or loss due to rust, mildew and warping. An electric dehumidifier will cut home maintenance cost by stopping the warping of floors and woodwork, the peeling of painted walls and the rotting of stairs and beam supports.

See the latest models today at your Reddy Kilowatt Dealer's. He has them in all capacities up to the removal of four gallons of water from the air per day (in a 24-hour period at 90° F. and 90% relative humidity).

Freeholder Campaign

Guiney May Receive Smith Reply Today

FREEHOLD — Freeholder Charles I. Smith, Allentown, criticized by Democratic opponents as "the silent candidate" for re-election, said yesterday he has acted on the problem involving the Atlantic Ave. ditch in Keansburg.

Mr. Smith avoided political overtones in announcing that he, as Monmouth County's director of highways, made arrangements with the Monmouth County Mosquito Commission "for portions of the ditch to be cleared."

"I have no immediate comment," he said when questioned about a charge made by his opponent. Democratic Mayor Cornelius J. Guiney, Jr., of Highlands, that he is a "silent candidate," with Freeholder Marcus Daly, Middletown, carrying on a "one-man campaign" for the Republicans. But, he made it clear he is about to break any silence attributed to him, and may have something to say today.

In brief remarks, Mr. Smith gave no support to a recommendation by Mr. Daly that the Keansburg Fire Department flush out the stagnant ditch with fresh clean water, a suggestion that Mayor Guiney has said would be wasteful. Instead, he said he had discussed the Atlantic Ave. matter fully with the Mosquito Commission and with H. Leroy Martin, Middletown, the county engineer, "who made a personal evaluation of it."

"Arrangements have been made with the Mosquito Commission to clear portions of the ditch, which will be necessary to clean by hand because soil conditions on both sides of adjoining lands is such that machines cannot be used for cleaning."

Mr. Smith said he wanted people not only "to know that this problem has been recognized, but is being met."

Mayor Guiney, in a statement, charged the Republicans with waging "a one-man campaign for election through a freshman freeholder who seems to be an expert on everything — including the prevention of epidemics by wasting water." That man, said Mr. Guiney, who seeks to become a freeholder, is Mr. Daly.

"I would like," he said, "to hear from Charlie Smith and find out what he thinks about all these 'great' issues Marcus Daly has been raising so loudly and repeatedly. Does he, the silent candidate, agree, for instance, that to prevent epidemics local fire departments flush out the stagnant Atlantic Ave. ditch in Keansburg with fresh, clean water? Freeholder Smith, who is Monmouth County's director of highways, may not be an expert on epidemics, but he should have some ideas on the subject."

Highlands' Democratic mayor referred to the vocal clash between Mr. Daly and Mayor Louis Collichio of Keansburg at the freeholders' Aug. 21 meeting and said this is a sign Mr. Daly "is running so scared he must keep on talking."

"Freeholder Daly," Mayor Guiney said, "is so vocal about so many things and the others are so silent that I wonder if Mr. Daly, as freshman freeholder seeking a full term, is the entire board. Too bad that Charlie Smith does not get in the act and give the Republican freeholder campaign some semblance of togetherness."

Mayor Guiney also suggested that Mr. Smith "give us an idea on what the board is planning to do to make county roads come up to standard. After spending nearly $10 million on the maintenance of our roads and bridges since 1949, we have nothing to be proud of."

Library Hours Are Announced

EATONTOWN — The Public Library has announced the winter schedule of hours which will become effective on Tuesday, Sept. 3.

The library will be open Monday through Friday from 3 to 5 p.m.; Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock; and Saturdays from 10 a.m. to noon.

Shore Cleaners Here Sold To Philip I. Zager

RED BANK — Shore Cleaners of 24 West Front St., has a new owner this week. He is Philip I. Zager of Philadelphia, a former long-time resident of Red Bank. He will move back to the Red Bank area.

The business was founded 17 years ago by Sam Gerver.

Mr. Zager attended Red Bank High School. The son of Mrs. Rose Rauth, Ambassador Hotel, Asbury Park, he is one of five brothers who served in the Armed Forces during World War II. The others are Harry Zager, Oceanport Ave., Oceanport; Shrewsbury Councilman Abraham Zager, and H. James Zager, Hialeah, Fla., and the late Walter Zager, Las Vegas, Nev. Another brother is Jack Zager, Long Beach, L. I. His three sisters are Mrs. Ella Cross, Tucson, Ariz., Mrs. Jules Snedcof, 52 Manor Dr., Red Bank, and Mrs. Henry S. Inselberg, 13 Silverton Ave., Little Silver.

Mr. Zager is married to the former Lee Getter of Philadelphia. They have three children, William, Francene S., and Stephen.

He is one of the Red Bank Register's long list of ex-newspaper boys who have progressed in the business world.

REFRIGERATOR FIRE

RED BANK—A general alarm was sounded at 5:42 p.m. yesterday when neighbors spotted smoke coming from an apartment at 190A Broad St. Firemen broke through a front door and quickly extinguished flames which had broken out in a refrigerator. The tenant, William L. Hageman, was not at home. Damage was confined to the kitchen of the second-story apartment, except for minor smoke damage. Back taps were sounded at 5:59 p.m.

Rambler Classic Cross Country Station Wagon—choose the famous 6 or new 198-hp V-8

Rambler outsells all other six-cylinder wagons in the world

There are plenty of reasons why this rakish, roomy Classic outsells them all—"Car of the Year" styling, the new Advanced Unit Construction that produces its solid, sedan-like ride . . . curved glass side windows like those found in a few of the most expensive luxury automobiles.

That handy Roof-Top Travel Rack and a hidden compartment for valuables are both standard equipment. So are the Double-Safety Brakes—the Deep-Dip rustproofing—the Ceramic-Armored muffler and exhaust pipe. The new Twin-Stick Floor Shift—exciting new kind of overdrive—is only one of the 6 popular transmission options.

You can also have all this with a brand-new 198-hp V-8 that costs less than many Sixes. See your Rambler dealer during the "Savingest Days."

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Van Doren and daughter Lisa Hilltop Cir., are on a cruise on their boat.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Preistley of Leedsville Dr., were Mrs. Jurt Schoenknecht, West Berlin; Miss Hanna Schoenknecht, Long Branch, and Mrs. Alex Holt and children Michell and Thomas, New York City.

Mrs. Gabriel Molnar, Newman Springs Rd., president of the Soroptimist Club of Red Bank, was the speaker at the meeting of the Lincroft-Holmdel Kiwanis Club at Lincroft Inn last week. She spoke of the club's work and aims which, she said, are similar to the Kiwanis Club. On Sept. 4, a board of directors meeting will be held at Lincroft Inn. Plans will be discussed for a Ladies Night Sept. 11. Mr. Molnar will be chairman. Several club members will attend a meeting of the Kiwanis District Committeess to be held at Atlantic City Sept. 20-22. The annual Lincroft-Holmdel Kiwanis Kids Day will be held at Thompson playground Saturday, Sept. 28. Leon Rosen is in charge of the arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fields and sons, Richard and Barry, Swimming River Rd., have returned from a two-week vacation to Avon, N.C. They visited Mr. and Mrs. H. Dean Fields, Mr. Fields' brother and sister-in-law.

Miss Dorothy McQuire, Hasbrouck Heights, is visiting this week with Edward Fields and Mrs. Harry Hardt.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Toop, Phalanx Rd., and Mr. and Mrs. Foreman Weeden, Englishtown, spent three days touring parts of Pennsylvania, including the Pennsylvania Dutch areas.

Summer Playground Activity Completed

LITTLE SILVER — The summer playground sponsored by the borough Recreation Committee closed with a pizza pie party for the softball team at the fire house.

The committee has reported that a total of 4,759 youngsters used the playground this year. Average daily attendance was 128.

Princeton University Won't Change Its Quality Policy

By BOB DUBILL

PRINCETON (AP) —Like most other universities, Princeton expects an upsurge in the number of students seeking admission in the next 25 years. Unlike the others, it plans to meet the surge by stepping up its rejection rate.

This Ivy League institution, which prides itself on the quality of its education, believes quantity could tarnish the product.

"We get about 4,500 applicants a year now, most of them capable of doing good college work," said one admissions official. "But we reject about 4,000 of these."

J. Douglas Brown, rounding out his 17th year as dean of the university's faculty, is about as knowledgeable as anyone concerning Princeton's educational evolution.

During an interview, he alternately puffed on a pipe, gauged the university's future, and sketched a rough outline of the Princeton he envisions a quarter century from now.

"You may be familiar," he said, "with a rule of thumb in business that goes something like this: 'The more detailed and discretionary the work, the smaller the firm should be.' Companies making very fine instruments tend by necessity almost to be small. You'll find that your big industries—like the steel and automobile industries — are for mass producers."

Brown portrays wholesale expansion programs at many universities to meet expanding enrollments as necessary and inevitable.

"I don't say what other schools are doing is wrong," he says, "quite the contrary. What I do say is that here at Princeton our forward movement will be deliberately gradual."

"Ours, if I may use the term, is a 'liberal university,'" he said, "one that emphasizes a fundamental and integrated approach to education."

The dean's concept of integrated is a fusion of all knowledge toward the center—where science, economics and the liberal arts meet and mold not a specialized subject but a whole body of ideas."

One thing seems certain from the Woodrow Wilson expansion. Much of the university's image in the next 25 years will depend on it.

Adding substance to the image will be Woodrow Wilson Hall — a magnificent marble structure framed in 60 slender, tapered white-quartz columns to be fronted by a pool. The building is scheduled for completion next summer.

Even with the Woodrow Wilson expansion, the university's graduate enrollment isn't expected to exceed 1,200 by 1970, just 300 students more than now.

Physically, few look for the university to extend beyond its present well-kept 2,200 acres.

Princeton boasts about 100 buildings (exclusive of dormitories). It contemplates a moderate capital construction program in the next few years to fill in a few gaps whittled out by the march of time.

One official ticks off the short range needs as "extensive and expensive laboratories," library facilities, a new art museum, and new psychology, physics and mathematics buildings.

All undergraduates, a majority of graduate students and many faculty members live on campus.

Examinations at Princeton have not been supervised since 1893.

Many faculty members predict pronounced and expanded curriculum changes to keep pace with "the new vistas of knowledge."

"There will be greater emphasis on critical languages," said one professor.

"The science department will undergo expansion to keep pace with man's inroads in space," adds another.

"And through it all," says Brown, "the competition to get and retain great teachers will be a constant headache for school administrators."

"The policy here," says one official, "is to give Negro students a priority. But there have been few applicants. About 20 Negroes applied last year and more than half were accepted. I think that in the next few years there will be a more conscious and obvious effort to get Negro students to apply."

There is also a smattering of sentiment to allow coeds to qualify for degrees in this all-male sanctuary.

"Personally," says one admission official, "I'm in favor of the idea. A lot of faculty members, particularly the older ones frown on this. But time and female persistence have been known to overcome greater obstacles."

PRINCETON—Education gal 2: Ideas."

University admission officials estimate an enrollment increase of less than 50 students a year in the next two decades.

The current undergraduate enrollment is 3,025 and the forecast for 1970 is 3,387, to be followed by modest annual increases through the 1980s.

By contrast, Seton Hall, which has roughly the same enrollment now as Princeton, expects to double its student load by 1970.

And New Jersey's two other private universities — Fairleigh Dickinson and Drew—are planning increases of 500 and 1,000, respectively.

"The idea at Princeton," says one official, "is to keep the place small enough for the honor system, big enough to do academic justice to the new vistas of knowledge opening up and close enough so that students and professors don't look on each other as strangers."

Brown, who joined the Princeton faculty in 1921, contends that the university's coveted pupil- professor ratio could be knocked way out of kilter if Princeton opened its doors to every qualified student.

The current ratio is about seven undergraduates to every faculty member. (At Rutgers, New Jersey's state university, the ratio is 12 to 1.)

The ratio in graduate school tuates between 3 and 4 to 1.

On a proportionate basis, Princeton's graduate enrollment will outdistance the undergraduate increase in the next few years, stemming partly from a stepped-up program in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International affairs.

"The goal," says Princeton President Robert F. Goheen, "is to establish professional education in public service at a level of excellence comparable to the country's best schools of medicine and law. Its major objective will be two-fold: To augment the flow of well-prepared people into positions of public responsibility and to set, by example, new patterns of excellence throughout the nation in the public service."

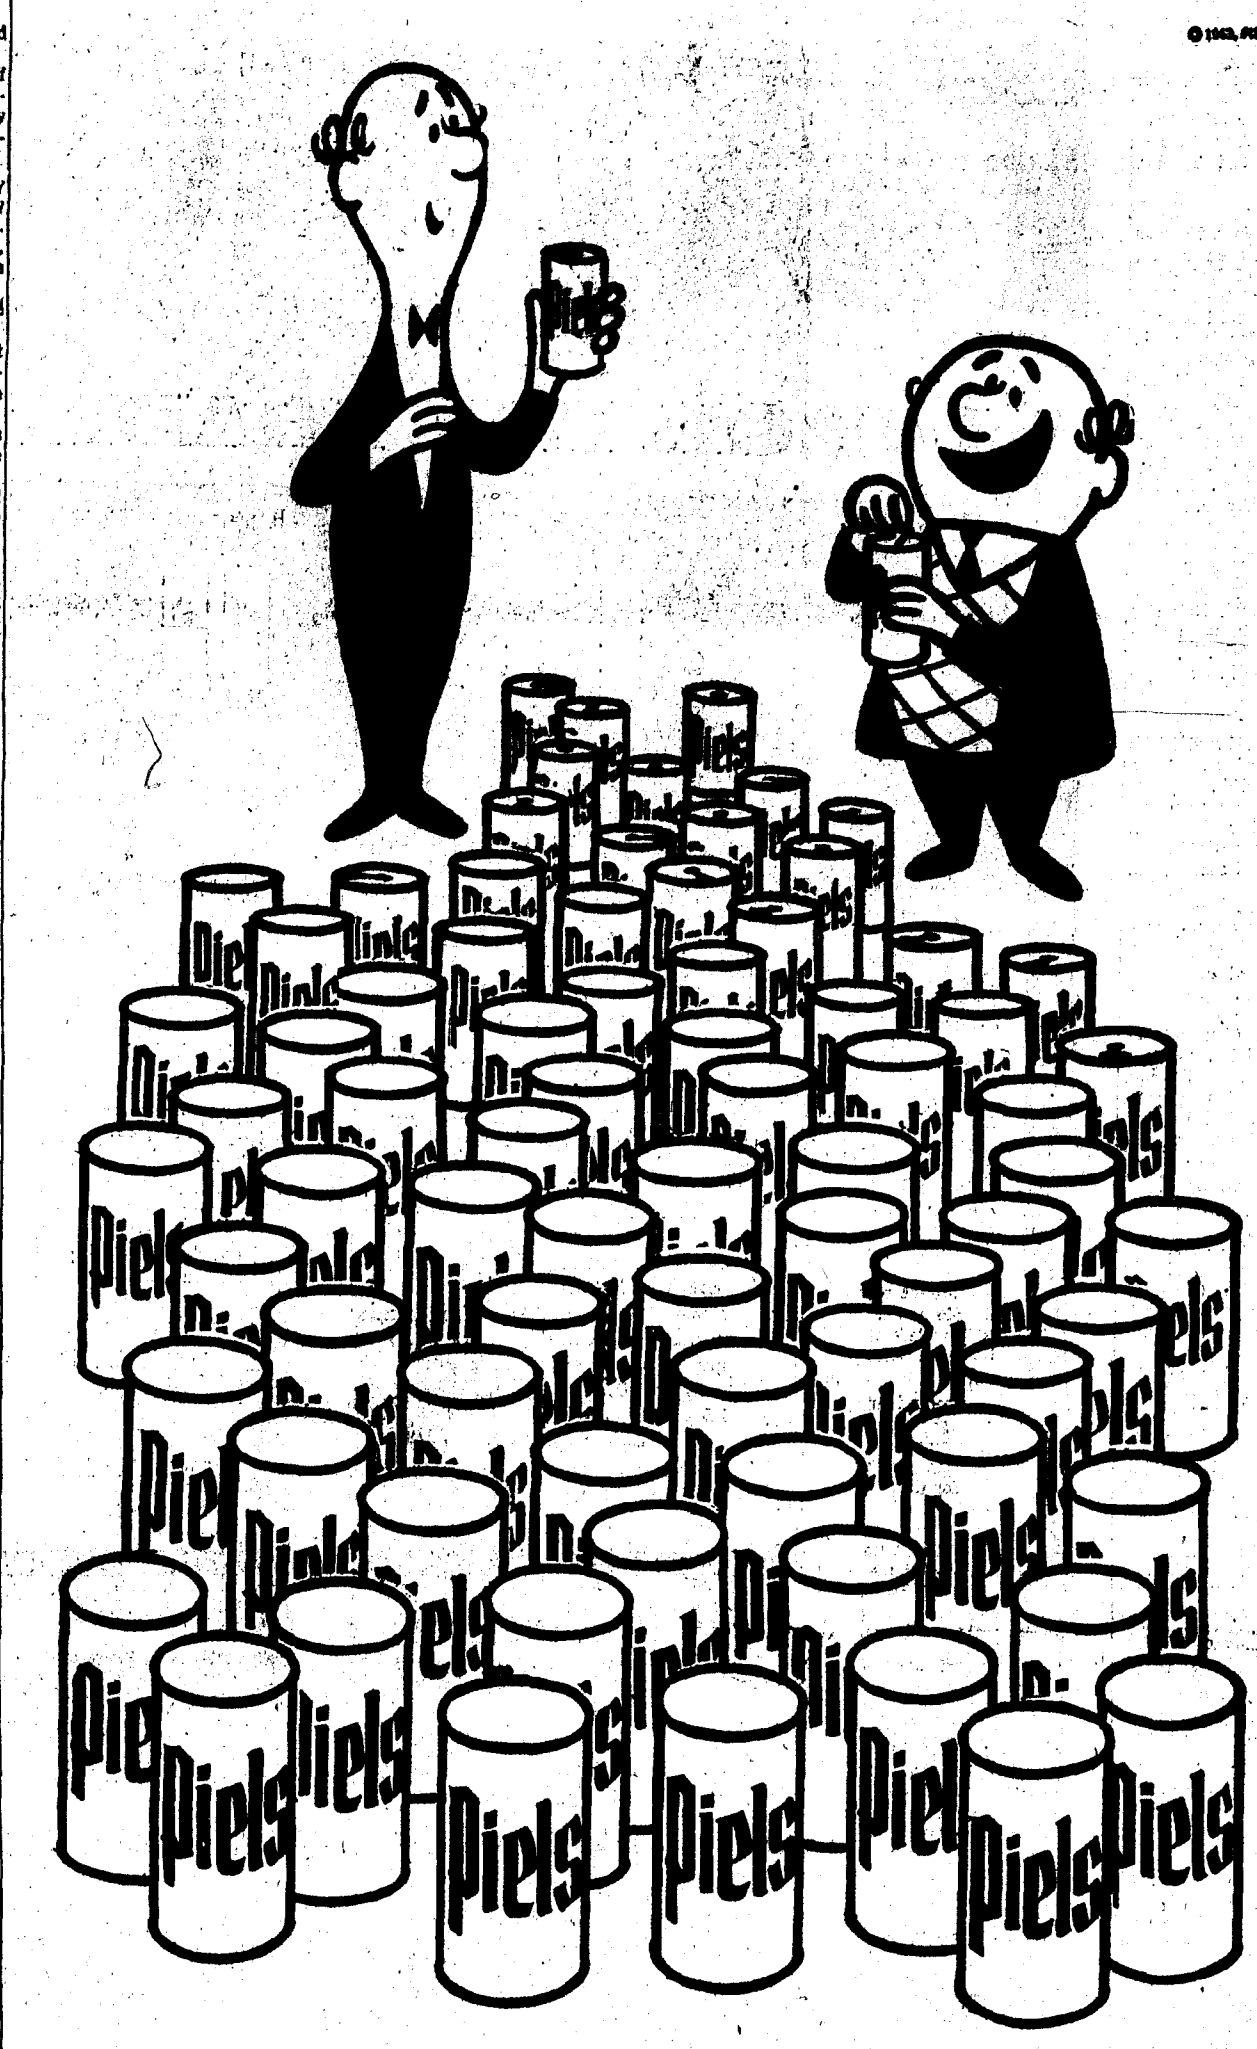

BACK IN THE SHOW

NEW YORK (AP) —A famous George and Ira Gershwin song is going to be sung in a revival of the show for which it was written 40 years ago.

The number was dropped from the score during out-of-town tryout, and subsequently fared no better in two other Gershwin shows, finally was released as a single—and jumped into the list of all-time favorites.

Painting of Bridge Called Dangerous

RUMSON — Local juvenile authorities have asked parents to consider the dangers involved when youngsters create mischief such as the continual painting of slogans on McCarter's bridge over Ridge Rd.

More than a dozen juveniles appeared before the Juvenile Conference Committee last night, according to Juvenile Officer John Shea. Most were local children, it was said, and some were from Fair Haven. Defacing the bridge was the major complaint.

Three Red Bank juveniles also were apprehended by police last night, and charges will be filed against them for defacing the bridge only hours after road department men repainted the span.

Police Chief William Zerr said there is no serious juvenile problem in the community. The mischief, however, could prove dangerous, the chief added.

He noted that youngsters could fall off the bridge while leaning over the railing. Paint spattered cars attest to the inconvenience to motorists, whose cars have been sprayed and the possibility always exists, police said, that an accident could be caused by a paint can dropped from the span into the roadway.

Circuit Rider Service On CBA Loans Slated

TRENTON (AP) — Small businesses won't have to go so far to negotiate a federal loan beginning next month.

Representatives of the Small Business Administration (SBA) will visit nine New Jersey cities to explain procedures and opportunities under the small business loan program.

The idea is similar to the circuit riding judges of the old West who traveled from community to community clearing up backlogs of court cases.

There is no permanent SBA consultation service in New Jersey now. Loans are processed through regional offices in Philadelphia and New York.

Under the plan announced yesterday by Gov. Richard J. Hughes, loan specialists from Philadelphia will be in Trenton, Toms River, Atlantic City and Bridgeton one day a week for a four-week period beginning Sept. 16. Representatives of the New York regional office will visit Phillipsburg, Morristown, New Brunswick and Asbury Park.

Asbury Park visits are set for Sept. 20, 27; Oct. 4, 11, at the Chamber of Commerce office, 643 Mattison Ave.

"These men will give out and accept SBA loan applications," a spokesman said, "and will be available to advise small businessmen in all phases of their operations, with emphasis on financial counseling."

Hughes said the need for such counseling became apparent in the aftermath of a severe storm which swept the state in March 1962, damaging many businesses.

"Many persons were not familiar with the procedure for obtaining a loan or even knew that loans were available," said Edward N. Rosa, an SBA spokesman.

Among other things, SBA provides direct and indirect financing, procurement, technical assistance and managerial and research advice.

Under the business loan program, loans at 4 per cent or 5½ per cent interest are issued to qualified small business for construction, conversion or expansion, purchase of machinery and to provide working capital.

The interest rate for Passaic and Monmouth Counties and most southern counties is 4 per cent because these counties are listed as depressed areas by the federal government. Northern counties come under the 5½ per cent provision.

Matawan Borough, Township

Library Vote Set

MATAWAN—Making the Matawan Borough-Matawan Township joint library system legal came one step nearer to reality last night.

Officials of the Matawan Township Committee and Matawan Borough Council met for 2½ hours with the Library Board, and signed an agreement to support the joint library system.

Then Borough Council introduced an ordinance okaying the agreement and setting Nov. 5 as the date for public referendum. Public hearing on the ordinance will be Sept. 10.

Township Mayor John Marz, Jr., said he will call a special meeting in the near future to introduce the same type ordinance.

Recently, Library Board attorney Vincent C. DeMaio ruled that the existing joint library setup, established in 1937, is illegal, because state law requires it to be approved at referendum, which had never been done.

Calls Land Erosion A Frightening Thing

Mr. Goode spoke of the erosion caused by "uncontrolled" water running from catchbasins on Ocean Blvd. down the bluff toward Bayshore Dr. It has scooped out "a cavern 30 feet deep," he told council.

The area concerned is the bluff over the east end of Bayshore Dr.—"the only dirt road in the United States connecting two towns," Mr. Goode said. "You know," he went on, "where people come to dump their old autos and washing machines."

Large oak trees have been uprooted by water swirling down among the autos and washing machines, Mr. Good continued. The trees are carried down the hill, roots first, he explained. Recently one of them smashed into his garage.

Luckily it was a tile garage and withstood the blow unscathed. "Otherwise," Mr. Goode surmised, "it might have gone right through the garage and the frame house across the street."

Two years ago, Mr. Goode took his problem to the county road department because Ocean Blvd. is county-maintained, County officials, he said, told him they would furnish pipe to control the run-off water if the borough would furnish the labor.

"In two years," Mr. Goode stated, "nothing has been done."

Pointing out that the borough stands to lose much ratable land, as "the whole hill is pouring down into the bay," Mr. Goode suggested that council apply for federal funds to build old-age housing along Bayshore Dr., including a drainage system in the project.

Mayor Russell W. Morgan promised that council "will pursue it as far as we can, but we cannot promise anything."

Speaking of more pleasant water matters, Councilman Richard C. Stryker recommended that since the borough has waited nine months in vain for matching funds under the federal public accelerated works program to be used in water supply improvements, council consider proceeding with part of the project on its own.

The total project, which is designed to relieve long-standing low water pressure troubles, would cost $135,000, Mr. Stryker estimated.

He advocated that the borough spend about $90,000 of this total without waiting for federal aid, in order to relieve the worst part of the problem.

Mayor Morgan pointed out that though the borough would thus lose out on matching funds for this portion of the project, it could still apply for them on the remaining $45,000.

Further details of the project and a bond ordinance to finance it will be introduced at the next council meeting, the mayor said.

Borough Engineer Charles C. Widdis was authorized to make a survey for the restoration of the Bayview Ave. railroad station and its walkway as a public access route to the harbor area.

The resignation of James L. Fitzgerald from the Zoning Board of Adjustment was accepted with regret. Mr. Fitzgerald resigned because of a change in employment.

Hold Off Decision On Subdivision

RED BANK — The Planning Board last night classified as a major subdivision the application of James and Andrea Acerra to split a strip of land between West Front St. and Union St. just east of Boat Club Ct.

The strip has 18 feet of frontage on West Front St., where it is occupied by a three-story building. Its frontage on Union St. is 38.22 feet. The northern portion of the lot is occupied only by a barn.

The planners called the application a major subdivision because it involves frontage on a major street, and sent the matter back to the applicants for further information.

Among the items of information requested, the board asked the intended use of the plot to be subdivided.

Another subdivision request was referred to the board's minor subdivision committee.

The application was received from Abraham J. Zager, attorney for Samuel and Gertrude Weinstein of 36 Buena Pl., who asked permission to split their lot at Buena Pl. and Vista Pl.

Maid Is Held As Witness In Slaying

SPRING LAKE (AP) — The maid of the murdered wife of a Chilean consul general was being housed in the Monmouth County jail in Freehold while the search for the slayers of her mistress continued today.

The maid was not under suspicion, Police Chief Russell H. Hurden, Sr., emphasized. The Spanish-speaking woman, Hilda Cervantes of Ecuador, was held on a 24-hour detainer.

Chief Hurden said Miss Cervantes "speaks no English, she's only been in this country six or seven months and there is nobody in that home (of the slain woman). She would be frightened if we left her around among strangers."

Miss Cervantes was "the only one we have to help us in this case," said Hurden.

The maid was the only person who saw three jewel thieves — two men and a woman — who entered the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfonso Grez Sunday night and bludgeoned Mrs. Grez to death as she watched television.

The killers, masked and dressed in black, clubbed and bound Miss Cervantes after they slew the 60-year-old Mrs. Grez. They made off with the contents of a jewelry case.

Questioned by interpreters, Miss Cervantes gave police descriptions of the suspects from her bed in Fitkin Hospital, where she was kept for two days of treatment for shock and bruises.

She also conferred with the consul general of Ecuador, Bolivar Aviles Allfarro, who came from New York City to interview her.

Mrs. Grez' husband, Alfonso, about 70, has been Chilean consul general in New York for 27 years. The slaying occurred after Grez left his spacious seashore summer home here Sunday evening and drove 60 miles to New York City.

Disaster Coverage Keeps Pilots Busy

COLTS NECK — Flying newsmen and flying out freshly prepared reels of television film has been keeping pilots of the Shore Air Service, Inc., here in constant touch with rescue operations at the scene of the Hazelton, Pa., mine cave-in.

"We all were so happy, so relieved, yesterday when they brought up Henry Throne and David Fellin that hard work didn't seem to matter," said Roger Bryan of Lakewood, one of the pilots.

He emphasized, however, that the sudden burden Hazelton has placed upon Shore Air's small family of fliers—now under contract to the three major television networks, NBC, CBS and ABC—is not keeping the company from carrying out its other services, making traffic surveys for radio broadcast, ferrying maintenance materials for the Flying Tiger Air Line and responding to charter calls.

Busy Pilots

When a newsman called yesterday afternoon, two pilots, Anthony "Bud" Caruso of Lanoka Harbor, near Toms River, and Donald Snyder, Middletown, had just arrived with new TV film from Hazleton. At that moment, about to land their Beechcraft Musketeers near the mine site in Pennsylvania were Gordon "Duff" Donald, Jr., Eatontown, president of the corporation and a former fighter pilot, and James S. Harris, Red Bank, the chief pilot. Standing by, ready to take off from here was Mr. Bryan. He was on his way to Newark Airport to airlift a cargo of Flying Tiger materials to Philadelphia, but expected a later call to Hazleton.

"We're making an average of eight round trips to the mine area every day and are working in shifts with our five Musketeers and one twin-engine Bonanza," Mr. Bryan said. "There have been no delays and the news phase of the operation has been coming off smoothly. Two planes are kept on their way out as two are flown back, by way of New York."

Traffic Study by Air

To get an idea of how these fliers are doing their routine job, a Register newsman last Saturday took a 2½-hour traffic survey study flight with Mr. Harris. Tools Mr. Harris used were his plane, kept at 3,500 feet, his memory and his voice.

Every 20 minutes, Mr. Harris, remembering just what he saw along the way by street name and highway number, made a 2½-minute broadcast, telling what conditions were like below —where there were pockets of congestion and recommending that motorists take alternate routes to avoid them.

Perhaps the chill of the air chased away vacationing motorists from the beaches. Traffic in the shore area appeared light, with plenty of parking spaces available. Things thickened up in East Brunswick, New Brunswick and on Rt. 22 approaching Somerville. About 325 miles were flown over before Mr. Harris came in for a landing here to complete his Saturday fly-and-talk mission.

While broadcasts from the plane are cut in tape at the radio station, they are put on the air about 90 seconds after they end, so the information given is of an almost immediate nature. Flights of this type are made late Friday afternoons and Saturday mornings. Two-way communications are maintained to see that all is going through properly as planned. Broadcast repeats sometimes are necessary. Many flights will be made over the Labor Day weekend.

Shore Air now is seeking membership affiliation in the Air Taxi Conference. One member is James Loeb, who operates out of Red Bank Airport. Mr. Harris says "The story is that we can fly almost anywhere at any time, offering services that cannot be met by scheduled airlines which fly on prescribed routes."

A piece of business Shore Air has gained is in the transport of jockeys from one race track to another. When Mr. Harris set down after his traffic study tour, it was only minutes before he took off again, in another plane, to carry a jockey from Laurel, Del., to Boston for another race.

"We are doing more and more of that sort of work," he said. "In addition, there is all sorts of charter activity and student training. We also carry materials for industry on order."

Making such flying easier is the program of improvements that has been carried out at Colts Neck Airport—installation of a conference room, a complete maintenance shop, a snack bar and other features. Automation has stepped in, too. Now, it's possible for a pilot, flying over the darkened field late at night to push a button on his microphone and turn on all the airport's landing lights.

Party Boat Skipper Loses 'First Round'

POINT PLEASANT BEACH—Capt. John DeRose, local party boat captain, yesterday lost the first phase of his "one-man" challenge of local and state enforcement of anti-water littering laws.

Magistrate Stanley J. Blair fined him $25 and court costs, after hearing additional tidal and weather testimony regarding the July 7 dockside "bilge-emptying" charge brought by Brielle-Point Pleasant Beach's marine patrol. The hearing was continued from Aug 13.

This is the first conviction in an anti-water littering case brought by local marine patrolmen under state law 2A:170-69.1A.

John D. Wooley, Capt. DeRose's Manasquan attorney, said an appeal will be filed today in Ocean County Court. He believes the hearing will be "scheduled within two weeks."

Phase two of Capt. DeRose's "one-man" assault on water littering laws will come Tuesday at 4 p.m. before Manasquan Magistrate Leroy Wyckoff. In that case, state marine Patrolman William Scott has charged Capt. DeRose with permitting passengers to litter the ocean 500 yards off Manasquan Beach at 2:30 p.m. July 27.

Capt. DeRose, operator of the 80-passenger "Wanderer," has indicated he'll appeal if there's a conviction in that case, too.

Yesterday, Mr. Wooley gave as additional evidence Coast Guard tidal records showing a Manasquan River low tide July 7 at 2:30 p.m. And a Long Branch Weather Recording Service report said July 7 winds were southerly with a 4 p.m. maximum of 27 mph.

When the alleged pollution occurred at 3:50 p.m., Mr. Wooley maintained these records showed clearly the tidal flow was inward in Will's Hole Thoroughfare where Capt. DeRose docks at Johnny's landing.

Both prosecution witnesses — Patrolman Harry E. Meseroll and Councilman Elmer F. Stikeleather — had said they saw an oil-like liquid come from a portside bilge and form a slick on the outgoing tide.

Patrolman Meseroll yesterday explained that all summer he has noticed the current continues to run out near the railroad bridge, even though the tide is rising in Manasquan River. Mr. Wooley challenged the patrolman's testimony on the grounds he isn't a recognized oceanographer.

Before ruling, Magistrate Blair — himself a boatman — said he knows south winds cause Barnegat Bay waters to flow into Manasquan River, making it remain higher, so that even with a low ocean tide, current in Will's Hole Thoroughfare would still be outgoing.

On Aug. 13, there had also been conflicting testimony regarding existence of a portside bilge pump on DeRose's converted 75-foot PT boat. Prosecution witnesses said it existed; three defense witnesses, including Capt. DeRose, denied that it did.

But prosecution photographs taken by local police Lt. Harold Leard Aug. 14 and allegedly showing a portside pipe were not presented yesterday by Robert H. Doherty, borough solicitor, after a conference with Mr. Wooley.

Conviction Of Youth Is Reversed

FREEHOLD — Charles B. Kunes, 19, of Mallard Rd., Middletown, yesterday won his appeal of a conviction on charges of possession of alcoholic beverages by a minor.

County Judge Elvin R. Simmill reversed the conviction and fine of $35 which had been imposed by Magistrate Richard E. Burke in Middletown Municipal Court June 13. Judge Simmill ruled there was no evidence that Mr. Kunes was aware there was a half full pint bottle of gin in his car.

Mr. Kunes, who was represented by Daniel J. O'Hern of Red Bank, had been charged with the possession of the alcohol at Middletown Township High School April 26.

Raritan Officials Join Move To Block Asphalt Plant

RARITAN TOWNSHIP — The Township Committee will support the West Keansburg Property Owners Association and the Mobile Home Owners Association in their battle to block construction of an asphalt plant in Union Beach.

A special meeting will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock to appoint special counsel to seek a court injunction to stop the plant construction.

The action was taken by the committee last night at an informal meeting with the two groups to determine what action Raritan could take to stop the plant construction in neighboring Union Beach.

Mayor Philip J. Blanda, Jr., at first said it might be "premature" for the township to take legal action, but felt it should be investigated further by the township attorney to determine if the rights of township residents had been infringed upon and the township was an interested party.

'Let Courts Decide'

Committeeman Marvin Olinsky suggested going to court anyway, "and let the courts decide if we are an interested party."

On the urging of Mr. Olinsky and Leonard Adler of Englewood, attorney for the two groups, the committee agreed to meet and appoint special counsel tonight.

The mayor stressed that the Township Committee is "squarely against" an asphalt plant in Raritan, and has gone on record as being opposed to such plants in Keyport and Union Beach.

Mr. Blanda reported that preliminary surveys indicate structures of this type tend to devaluate property in the surrounding area and could eventually affect the tax revenue in Raritan.

Swift action was urged by members of the group who reported ground preparations are being made for the plant, and being a pre-fabricated building it could be erected in as little as two weeks.

The Union Beach Borough Council has accepted a 10-year lease agreement between the borough and Michael J. Stavola of New Shrewsbury to permit construction of the plant.

A question of whether or not a variance is necessary before the building permit will be issued has arisen. If it is necessary, Mayor Blanda said Raritan Township will be present at the hearing to protest.

Mr. Blanda also reported organized opposition to the plant is being prepared in Union Beach.

Keyport Board Struggles Over Policy

KEYPORT — Uncertainty and confusion, marked by arguments and maneuvering, continue to plague the Board of Education.

After nearly three hours of debate Monday night, the board found itself repeating what it did some six months ago when the guide book was adopted as board policy.

It reaffirmed its obligations to enforce the rules and regulations as set forth in the guide book. In so doing, it also loosely gave George D. Search, superintendent of schools, the vote of confidence he sought.

'Where I Stand'

The action was taken at the request of Mr. Search for board reassurance on "where I stand" with reference to adopted policy on employment procedures for the superintendent.

He asked for reassurance that he was acting properly and according to the guide, or else for the board to "set ground rules" to "prevent another unfortunate incident" as recently occurred, a major reason for Monday's special meeting.

The incident involved the opening for an attendance clerk, the selection of an applicant by Mr. Search and high school principal Frank Zampello, and the ensuing events leading up to the necessary final approval by the board.

After the selection had been made in no way "different than procedures used in the past," Mr. Search said he was informed that a board committee would go over the applications. This action, he said, prompted the withdrawal of the candidate selected by the two administrators.

Need Is Stressed

The superintendent stressed he had announced at the last regular board meeting that an attendance clerk was needed and he would make his recommendations at the September meeting for board approval.

He said "to the best of my knowledge, no committee was appointed to act on this," and added "if there was I would not have made a final selection."

Board member Mrs. Helen Pote asked why it was necessary for a committee to go over the applications if Mr. Search had a candidate to recommend for the position — a candidate he had selected "as done in the past."

Mr. Search reported, and his statement was confirmed by several board members, that during the last 16 years no employment recommendation made by the adminstration was rejected by board.

Frederick J. Walling injected "We should have enough confidence in the people we employ to consider their recommendations." He questions: "Where does Mr. Search stand if we interpret the guide differently at different times?"

"I'm sorry we have to give Mr. Search this reassurance" said Frank L. Laughlin. "I have confidence in him."

When the vote was taken on the guide book, Mr. Laughlin and Mr. Walling both replied "approve for the second time."

Services 'Lost'

Mr. Search said the applicant originally considered "the best to fit our needs" was no longer interested. He added, "We have lost the services of an excellent applicant."

On the subject of committees, Mr. Search remarked "they could ham-string the running of the school if everything had to go to committee . . . I feel committees can be helpful but they can stall things when you have to act fast."

The board approved Mrs. Jean R. Smith of Raritan Township to fill the attendance clerk position for the 1963-64 school year at a salary of $2,450, after a check of all the applications received.

A contract was approved for Kevin P. Norton, Jersey City, to teach French and English in the coming school year at a salary of $4,500. His appointment completes the high school teaching staff.

Approval was granted for Raritan Township High School to play its Sept. 28 football game at the Keyport athletic field.

Some of the remarks by board members that drew mixed emotions were:

Mrs. Pote — "If everyone stopped picking on each other this would be a better board. We have a bunch of know-it-alls."

Stanley Schultz — "Why do people elect us to the board if we let the secretary and superintendent run everything. Are we useful?"

Board Refuses Marina Variance

MONMOUTH BEACH — Borough Commission last night received a letter from the Board of Adjustment that it has approved one variance and rejected another.

Rejected was an application by Elliott Butler of 177 Oakwood Ave., Long Branch, to construct a marina on the Shrewsbury river front off Club Circle Rd., east of Mihm boat works.

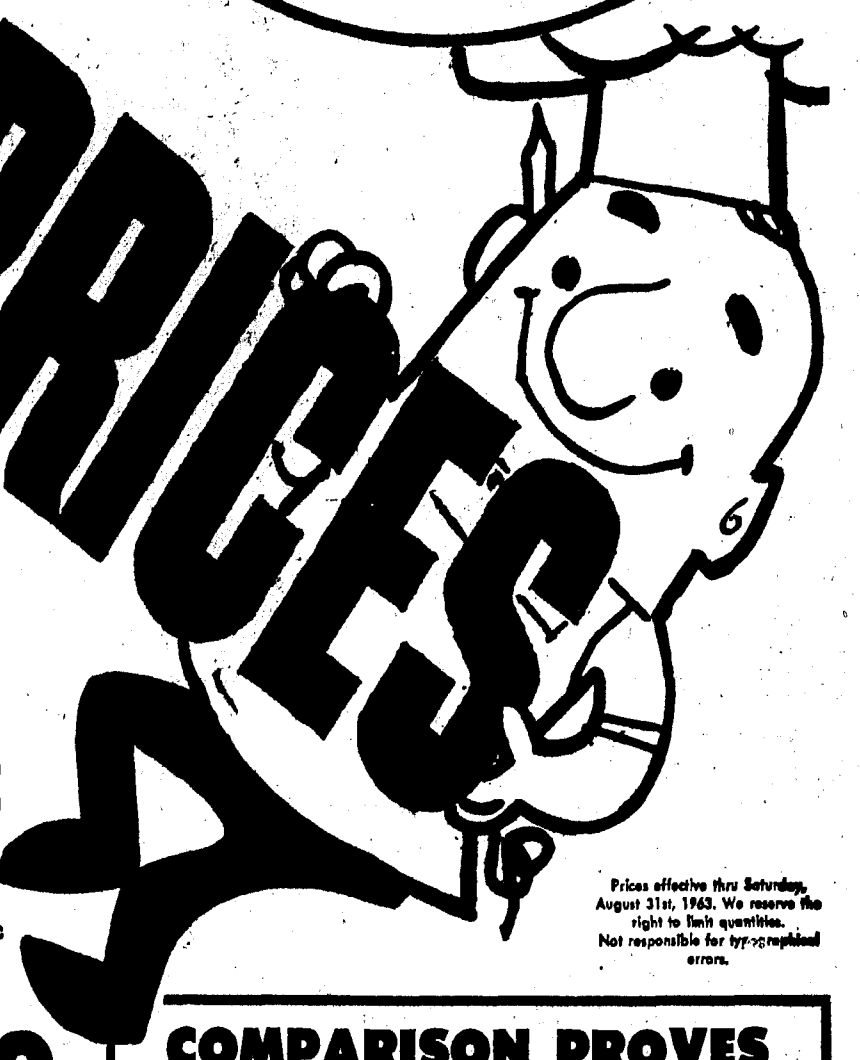

An application by Edward Brower of 21 Navesink Dr., to rebuild a garage on an undersized lot was approved by the board.

Keith Urges Dredging In Deal Lake

BRADLEY BEACH — Assemblyman Irving E. Keith (R-Monmouth) has called upon Commissioner Robert A. Roe of the state Department of Conservation and Economic Development to arrange for dredging of the upper areas of Deal Lake in the Ocean Township area.

He said he had not yet been notified by the Ocean Township governing body of their reported concern that the lake section known as Martin's Branch was filled with sludge. But, he said, the condition "is a definite potential health hazard, which could vitally affect the health and welfare of all residents in the area and surrounding communities."

The assemblyman said he urged Commissioner Roe to start dredging "as hurriedly as possible and as soon as your facilities will permit . . . Delays in resolving any such pollution hazard can only magnify the situation."

GUILTY ON 2 COUNTS

RED BANK — Helen Freeman Coxson of 13 Central Ave. was found guilty yesterday of assault and battery and using loud, offensive and abusive language. Both charges were signed by Miss Viano Fulford of 116 West Bergen Pl. after a disagreement in a West Bergen Pl. tavern July 29. Magistrate William I. Klatsky imposed a suspended 60-day jail sentence and a $25 fine, respectively.

Strathmore School Is Registering

MATAWAN TOWNSHIP — Strathmore Elementary School is open this week, through Friday, from 9 to 11 a.m. for the registration of new pupils and transfers from other school districts.

Martin Dempsey, principal, has requested new students to enroll as soon as possible so that the school may handle the influx of pupils.

Notices designating room numbers will be posted tomorrow on all school doors.

Lunch hours for the first, second, and third grades will be held from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Grades fourth, fifth, and sixth will lunch from noon to 1 p.m.

New lunch tables and benches for use in the all-purpose room are on order, but have not been delivered. Students living within walking distance of the school are being asked to go home for lunch.

Mr. Dempsey also announced that the school library needs books in good condition. Donations may be delivered to the front office, he said.

DRIVER FINED $10

RUMSON — James McGrath, Patterson Ave., Shrewsbury, was fined $10 in Municipal Court Monday night for driving a motor vehicle without a rear light. Thomas Gerrity, Fair Haven Rd., Fair Haven, was fined $10 for a stop street violation, and $6 for failing to have a driver's license in his possession. Edward Mosinak, Rt. 35, Morgan, was fined $3 for permitting a dog to run at large.

Prayer Ban Is Ordered Reluctantly

RUMSON — The Board of Education of Rumson-Fair Haven Regional High School last night voted unanimously, but not happily, to go along with the mandate of the state commissioner of education, Frederick Raubinger, concerning termination of the practice of reading Old Testament verses and reciting the Lord's Prayer at the commencement of each school day.

The board said it would form a committee to decide whether some other "ceremony" would be observed in lieu of the one permitted by legislation in this state, but termed unconstitutional by Attorney General Arthur J. Sills in view of his interpretation of recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions.

Board president Arthur L. Adamson took issue with Mr. Raubinger's edict on grounds it is based upon an "advisory opinion" that has been neither upheld nor denounced in a court test. He charged the commissioner had misinterpreted the duties and prerogatives of the three branches of the government.

The opinions of Mr. Sills and Mr. Raubinger are not binding, Mr. Adamson said, adding his doubts as to whether Mr. Raubinger has the right to withhold state aid from non-conforming school districts, as threatened.

Less controversial decisions made by the board last night called for:

The awarding of a bus contract to Van Nortwick Bros., East Keansburg, at $738 for the transportation of football teams;

Acceptance of the resignation of Mrs. Dorothy Senechia, English teacher who was hired last spring to begin in September;

Offering a teaching contract to Mrs. Caroline Hills, 19 Church St., to fill the vacancy;

Acceptance of the resignation of Mrs. Sheila W. Gaylor, secretary, and replacing her with Miss Betty Bond, top business education graduate from the school last June, and

Driver Pays $65 in Fines

LITTLE SILVER — A Long Branch man was fined a total of $65 in Municipal Court Monday night for motor vehicle violations.

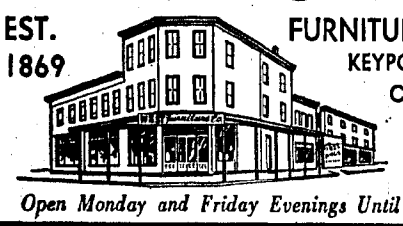

John Randolph, 89 Laurel St., Long Branch, was fined $35 for failing to have a motor vehicle inspected, $15 for driving an unregistered vehicle, and $15 for driving a vehicle with fictitious license plates.

Mrs. Daniel Way, 78 Bellevue Ave., Rumson, was fined $15 for speeding and $12 for failing to have a driver's license or automobile registration in her possession.

Magistrate Richard D. Porter imposed $15 fines for speeding on Gloria Becht, 8 North Point Rd., Lincroft, and Philip Rieman, 2525 Tortuga La., Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Those School Lunches

How much organization can your family take?

Do kitchen affairs run smoothest when there are well-ordered plans? Or does a set schedule create tension? It may be that what might seem hit-or-miss arrangements work best for your family because with them everyone is relaxed.

This question is pertinent when it comes to packing school lunches for youngsters, whether they tote their noontime meal regularly or occasionally, and whether they do the preparation or you do it yourself. No kitchen organization is worthwhile if it creates a strained atmosphere. Better to have things casual and the family happy!

But whatever the temperamental tendencies of the members involved, highly organized or carefree, some families like to use what might be called The Pantry and Freezer Plan.

This involves giving a small amount of storage space to canned and packaged foods to be used only for lunch boxes, refilling at regular shopping times. Available here may be favorite soups; canned fish and meat for sandwich use; buffet-size cans (about 8 ounces each) of fruits and vegetables—the latter to be added to soups, sandwich fillings or salads. Surprise items also often appear: small boxes of raisins; individual packages of crackers, cookies or potato chips. These pantry foods are, of course, supplemented by such fresh vegetables as tomato, carrot, lettuce, celery and cucumber; and such fresh fruits as oranges, apples, pears and grapes.

Then into the freezer go small packages of food specially ticketed for lunch box use. Piedough trimmings are sometimes made into a few meat or fish turnovers or individual fruit tarts or pies. Some sliced leftover meat or poultry parts add to sandwich variety, and are usually easily saved from Sunday's main meal.

Teenage youngsters with hearty appetites often enjoy two sandwiches—one regular main-course type, the other sweet. The former might be chopped corned beef with chili sauce and lettuce, or tuna mixed with celery drained canned peas, grated carrot and mayonnaise. The latter might be cream cheese and dates on raisin-cinnamon bread.

Along with regular packaging materials for lunch boxes, empty cottage-cheese containers can be put to practical use. They'll hold potato or other salad to eat along with sliced meat or turkey or a chicken wing or drumstick; one of them will also hold a baked pear or apple with a special sauce, or a portion of leftover pudding.

Wide-mouth vaccum jars are best for carrying soup. If your youngsters like to experiment, they might enjoy creating some soup combinations of their own. Here's a new one, tried at our house and particularly liked. The simple basic version is suggested for lunch boxes; our variation is interesting to serve at home.

Lunch Box Soup

1 can (1¾ ounces) chicken noodle soup mix
3 cups boiling water
1 can (about 8 ounces) cream-style corn

In a 1½-or 2-quart saucepan, stir the soup mix into the boiling water. Cover partly and, stirring occasionally, simmer 7 minutes. Add the corn and reheat. Makes 4 about 1-cup servings.

Home Variation: Dice fine a small onion and half a green pepper. In a small skillet melt 1 tablespoon butter or margarine over low hear; add the onion and green pepper; cook gently, stirring occasionally until softened; add to soup with corn and reheat.

Note: Choose yellow rather than white cream-style corn for this soup because the former adds attractive color. If you use part of a large can of corn, instead of the buffet size suggested, add 1 cup.

Miss Hornberger Gets Scholarship

RED BANK — Miss Patricia Hornberger of this place has been awarded a scholarship by the Smith College Club of Monmouth County and Smith College for the third consecutive year.

Miss Patricia Hornberger

Miss Hornberger, who will be taking honors in music her senior year at Smith, is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Harold Hornberger, 145 Wallace St.

An accomplished flutist, Miss Hornberger was elected to Alphi Phi honor society her sophomore year, and is first flutist with the Smith-Amherst orchestra.

Miss Hornberger was awarded the Monmouth Arts Foundation music scholarship in 1960 after graduating with honors from Red Bank High School.

MRS. DEAN P. MULLER
(The former Miss Susan Mae Phifer)

Susan Mae Phifer Is Wed To Dean P. Muller

SHREWSBURY — Miss Susan Mae Phifer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Powell Phifer, 143 East End Ave., became the bride of Dean P. Muller, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy A. Muller, Water St., New Shrewsbury, Saturday.

Rev. John R. Collins officiated at the double ring ceremony in Shrewsbury Presbyterian Church here. Organist was Mrs. Erick Hanson.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie embroidered with Alencon lace and seed pearls on the bodice. The full skirt ended in a chapel train.

Miss Elizabeth Bett of Shrewsbury was maid of honor. The other attendants were Miss Nancy Fluhr of Holmdel and Mrs. Stephen Popper of Middletown.

The bridegroom is an alumnus of Red Bank High School and Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pa., where he was a member of the senior class cabinet and Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Lady Lawyer Fights for Rights

MONTREAL (AP) — In Quebec a married woman may not buy or sell stocks, bonds, shares or property without her husband's authorization.

The same holds if she wishes to set up a business, have an operation or commit her child to hospital.

"All persons are capable of contracting except those whose incapacity is expressly declared by law . . . minors, interdicted persons, insane or temporarily deranged persons — and married women," says Montreal lawyer Wilhelmina Holmes.

Only three years ago these words were striken from Articles 935 and 936 of the Quebec Civil Code but the principle still exists in other parts of the law.

Live Under Old Law

Until 1932, when a special amendment to the code was passed, a woman was not entitled to keep her own pay check if her husband demanded it.

Mrs. Holmes has devoted most of her career to championing the "incapables" — the married women of Quebec still living under the same civil law used by the first settlers of New France 350 years ago.

The vivacious lawyer was a member of the first all-woman law firm in Quebec and later joined with her daughter, Diane, to form a mother-and-daughter law firm.

Want Their Rights

"Without having any rights, the wives of Quebec have more protection than any wives in Canada," Mrs. Holmes says.

"But today most women are not satisfied with just protection. This doesn't go along with the modern concept of marriage."

Women from other provinces and countries are "befuddled," she says, when they come to Quebec and find themselves having to adhere to an antiquated set of laws.

She's Optimistic

The energetic, blue-eyed grandmother says that about 60 per cent of her clients have been women and most of her cases deal with separation and divorce. She works closely with marriage counselors in most cases.

"I believe in marriage counselling first before starting any proceedings," she says.

In the past, a number of Quebec women have tried to pressure the government into revising the civil law. "But we haven't yelled loudly enough," says Mrs. Holmes.

However, she is optimistic. Premier Jean LeSage, she says, had already appointed a committee to study the problems and make recommendations.

Sorority Adds Three Members

RED BANK — Three new members were introduced at a luncheon meeting of the Clipt Wings Sorority last week in the Union House.

They are Mrs. Richard L Travas, River Plaza; Mrs. Edward F. Kertz, Red Bank, and Mrs. Edward A. Boyer, Brick Township.

Mrs. Ray G. Wolf, New Shrewsbury, was named chairman of a card party and fashion show to be held Oct. 29 at 8:30 p.m. in The CobbleStones. Proceeds will benefit the Monmouth County unit, New Jersey Association for Retarded Children.

Mrs. William Rauch, 3d, Middletown, and Mrs. James Hendry, Portapeck, are in charge of the fashion show which will feature many fashions from the Far East.

Miss Weidemann Wed To Robert E. Wilson

COLTS NECK—Miss Margaret Weidemann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Weidemann, Muhlenbrink Rd., became the bride Saturday of Robert Edward Wilson, 41 Chingarora Ave., Keyport.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a floor-length satin gown with a matching jacket with long tapered sleeves. Her fingertip-length veil was secured by a pearl tiara, and she carried a cascade of carnations and roses.

The bride attended Keyport High School and was graduated from the East Side High School, Newark.

Engagement Announced

Miss Barbara Antinozzi

RED BANK — Mrs. Angelina Antinozzi, 42 Oakland St., has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Barbara Antinozzi, to Peter L. Mc Auliffe, 3 Throckmorton Ave., Eatontown, son of Mrs. Mary McAuliffe and the late Lee McAuliffe.

The bride-elect is the daughter of the late John Antinozzi. She is a graduate of Red Bank High School and is employed by Motor Club of America, Newark.

Mr. McAuliffe is a graduate of Union High School and served in the Air Force. He is employed by the Eatontown Post Office.

Committee Chairmen Are Listed

LONG BRANCH — Mrs. Herman Carter and Mrs. Henry Kempler, co-chairmen of the Second Annual Presidents' Ball of the Long Branch Jewish Community Center, named their committee chairmen at a meeting last week in the center.

They are Mrs. Kempler, Mrs. Alex Kaufman, Mrs. Myron Levin, Mrs. Morris Chernow, Mrs. Nathan Feldman, Irwin Vogel, Mrs. Harold Garten and David Resnikoff, tickets; Miss Barbara Feldman, Miss Marilyn Chernow and Mrs. Vogel, posters; Mrs. Norton Kern and Mrs. David Epstein, entertainment, and Mrs. Charles Tepper and Abram Davis, publicity.

UN Work Without Glory

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Margaret Parsons should be the envy of anyone who ever tried to manage the wavering enthusiasms of volunteer workers.

A mere 20 salaried workers serve in this unit of the UN's office of personnel. And turnover is almost nil. Average service is six to seven years. Four women have been working there without pay for 15 years.

Seated at reception desks in the halls, or settled in a handsomely furnished office, they counsel on travel and vacation possibilities; advise on school and camp opportunities for workers' children; plan tours; arrange to obtain tickets (sometimes at discounts) to educational, cultural and recreational facilities in the New York area.

"We help them get acquainted with each other and the town," explains Miss Parsons, the unit's only paid worker. UN Secretariat personnel consists of political scientists, secretaries, lawyers, clerks, interpreters, editors, translators, and technical experts. Half of these are from overseas.

However, the polyglot of tongues is no problem to the volunteers. Most are wealthy, well traveled, educated women who are at least adequate in French, or Spanish, or Russian.

Although these slim chic office workers never need to worry about the wrath of a boss, or loss of a paycheck, they nevertheless conscientiously appear on their appointed days, despite maid troubles or youngsters at home with measles. They are without hope of promotion, and without hope of glory. The ladies never get their names in the papers.

Then why are their tasks appealing? Is it the excitement of world history in the making around them?

"Whenever I can get hold of any tickets to hear somebody like Khrushchev or Nehru at the General Assembly, I offer them to my volunteers," says Miss Parsons. "But they throw up their hands and protest, "Today? I couldn't possibly with all the work I've got to get done here."

She Sewed Up Job

EDMONTON, Alberta (AP) — Twenty-five years ago a 36-cent-an-hour seamstress decided she wanted to make the world "just a little better place."

The decision by Mrs. Ethel Sylvia Wilson led to a career of public service capped by her recent appointment as Alberta's first woman cabinet minister in 37 years.

"I was shocked when I learned of my appointment," she says. "I had not felt this honor would come my way."

After the first surprise, however, she "decided it was just another job to do" and expressed hope that she could do it will.

Wages Poor

She was forced to take a job as a seamstress in 1937 when the death of her husband left her with three children to support.

"Working conditions and wages were very, very poor at the time. I decided to do my share in improving things and joined the union movement."

As secretary-treasurer of the Edmonton Labor Council, Mrs. Wilson urged members to take more interest in politics and legislation at all levels.

Elected To legislature

The members took her at her word and nominated her as a candidate for city council in 1951. She was defeated but tried again the next year and won. She has served on council ever since.

She was elected to the legislature for Edmonton Northeast in 1959 and late in 1962 became the second woman cabinet minister in Alberta history, the first having been Mrs. Irene Parlby, minister without portfolio in the United Farmers of Alberta government.

GRADUATES

Fun at Sea

By MILLI HRUSKA

The beautiful Lorelei departed from her legend Saturday night and allowed herself and her court of sea maidens to be carried off the rocks at Beacon No. 1 in Raritan Bay by the handsome admiral and his three sailors.

The party was a "first" in Monmouth County. It was exciting, gay, glamorous, beautiful ... and fun. And if the mounting pleasure of the guests as the evening hours flew by are an indication of its success, this party will become an important social event this year and it will hold a high place when it is repeated in the years to come.

Among the more than 100 who sailed to the Rendezvous were John M. Will, the Bruno Augentis, Patrick Burke, Capt. and Mrs. Robert Hart, David Robinson, the B. Lytton Johnsons, Martha Vogel, Vivian Taylor and Adeline Rikus of New York.

Also, Walter and Evelyn Isgrandtsen, Lynne Isbrandtsen, Evan and Mary Baker, Al and Lois Geiling, Vinnie and Audrey Robinson, Niki and Grace Vuyosevich, Jean Reed and the H. R. Youngs of Fair Haven, Jack and June McRoberts, the William L. Russells, Jr., Mike and Sally Guarino of Rumson, Bill and Marily Barnes of West Long Branch, Peg and Bob Goodman of Navesink, Helen and Amory Haskell, Kay and Monte Jones, the Richard Metcalfs and the Paul Switzes of Middletown.

Also, Steve and Virgie Nester of Keyport, Gracia and Bill Henderson of Monmouth Beach, the Robert Cassatts of Little Silver, Dr. and Mrs. Earl G. Nicks and the B. G. Coatses of Oakhurst.

Also, the S. Robert Weltzes of Elberon, George and Dorothy Blair and the John Feists of Shrewsbury, Rick and Bebe Chalfonte of Lakewood, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Brindle, the Nils Johnsons and the Owen Pearces of Brielle, Mrs. Alex Curley of Lincroft, the William Shoppells of Neptune, the Robert Spencers and the Ronald Clarks of Red Bank, Lucille Greiner of Rutherford, the August Bings of Avon, the Thomas Finnegans of Belford, Myrna Gray of Asbury Park, Dr. and Mrs. Francis Pflum and the Oliver Conovers of Spring Lake, the William F. Kellys of Allenhurst and Richard Lowey and Barbara Spector of Newark.

The party sailed from the Atlantic Highlands pier at 7. Festivities began with cocktails, hors d'oeuvres and dancing. The evening was cool and the winds high. No one seemed to mind it. In fact, it made a wild game of the normally simple chore of eating clams on the half shell.

Howard "Sonny" Thornton of Red Bank and a staff of 10 or more served deviled quail eggs, canapes, Polynesian barbecued spareribs, and other delectables.

By 9 p.m., Lorelei was visible in the distance. Many small boats from the Raritan Yacht Club circled the rocks and played their spotlights on the dazzling, red-haired, mermaid, Grace Lang, and the three beautiful sea maidens in glittering gold bathing suits.

The romantic admiral, Jean Reed, was in full regalia of white and gold. The ardent sailors, were dressed in white, bell-bottomed trousers and red and white striped jersey deck shirts and matching tasseled caps. They sailed to the rocks, captured the not-too-reluctant maidens, and carried them aboard to the cheers of the guests on board and the other boatmen.

After changing into dinner clothes, they joined the group in the salon on the first deck for dinner. After dinner, Mr. Coats auctioned the art works and curios. Dancing continued until the group docked at home port at midnight.

Grace Lang, Jean Reed, William Shoppell, Ronald Clark, Marilyn Barnes, Peg Goodman, Lucille Greiner, Robert Spencer and Rick Chalfonte are to be congratulated for the beauty and facility with which they performed their difficult and challenging roles.

More than 500 attended the Surf Ball at the Peninsula House, Sea Bright. Among those attending were Pat Reardon of Red Bank, Keith and Yvonne Bell of Shrewsbury, the Dan Trainors, the James Dooleys, Helen and Desmond Shanley, the Vincent Paces, the Frank Cermaks of Rumson, Harold Gannon and Bob Christie of Sea Bright with a party of 15, Muriel and Frank Horan, Bea McNulty, Lillian de Gore, Ed Murphy and the Rigaud Paines of Sea Bright.

The impressive French house on Avenue of Two Rivers, Rumson, the residence of Judge and Mrs. James P. Haney was the scene of a cocktail party, buffet supper and dance last weekend.

Among those present were Marge and Harry Gere of Little Silver, the John Toolans of Fair Haven, Jacque and Joe McMahon, Van and Roma Bottrill, Joe and Nelly McCue, Claire and O'Neill Duffy, Isobel and John Hurst, Charles and Mary Lou Henderson, Pat and Ronnie McCarthy, the Wilbur Killeens and Peggy and Hank Wolfe of Rumson, the Harry Lanes, Jim and Peg Dormants and Ray and Alice Tierney of Monmouth Beach.

At the Robert Badenhop's costume party at their home, Ridge Rd., Rumson, were Claire and Bill Sullivan, Dr. and Mrs. Ruth Tessler and John and Dorothy McDonnell of Allenhurst, Clement and Kay Larkin and Mayor and Mrs. Milton Untermeyer of Elberon, Lorraine and Walter Reid of Deal, Van and Roma Bottrill, Jack and June McRoberts, Janet and Vic Shaheen, Isobel and John Hurst, Jim and Joan Shea, Sam and Jean Metzger, the O'Neill Duffys, Pat and Ronnie McCarthy, Charles and Mary Lou Henderson, Fred and Marie Giersch, Jack and Florence Ekdahl, Mary and Ed Carey of Rumson, Bill and Irene Lynch, Dave and Delphine Russell, Kay and Jack Giordano of Middletown, Jack and Shelbey Kelsey and Bill and Merle Burton of Fair Haven, the Ed Bantas of Red Bank, Jan and Vic Carton of Neptune, Ruth and Jack Van Kirk of Little Silver.

Helen and Gerry De Stefano of Rumson were hosts at cocktails and buffet supper and dancing Saturday night. Their guests included Ruth Gill of Lincroft, Ed Murphy of Sea Bright and Elizabeth, Grace Burke, George and Carolyn Reidy, the Vincent Paces, Bill and Jan Alter, Bob Ready, Frank and Anne Cermak, Ethel and Otto Perl, and Bill and Audrey Devereaux of Rumson, and Helen and Apollo Adamiak of Berkeley Heights.

Monroe Edelstein of New Shrewsbury, portrait photographer, Al Stone of Beauty In, Fair Haven, and I will judge the New Shrewsbury Country Fair Queen contest the second night of the fair. It is the 11th annual fair and will be held on the fair grounds Sept. 5-7.

The Atlantic Highlands Yacht Club Shipwreck Dance at the club house is set for Saturday at 9. The directions for dress suggest that you "dress as you wished you had been dressed" ... "as you really were dressed" ... or as "you told your friends you were dressed" ... when you were shipwrecked.

Mary Rolfson Smith of Atlantic Highlands, the commercial photographer, was a guest on "Yvonne's" radio program Friday evening. The program is broadcast live and originates from the Rhapsody in Blue, West End.

Listening to the music of Conrad Mauge and his serenaders last weekend were Marine Corp. Bob Barry and ex-Marine Willie Fiordiand of River Plaza. Willie is a Merchant Mariner attached to the Esso Pelmen, Red Farley of Rumson, Paul Savonenof Middletown, Trudy Ross of New York and Monmouth Beach, Ellie Qualey and her sister, Mrs. Samuel S. Smith of Monmouth Beach and Irene Turco of Atlantic Highlands, with a party of 10, Irene engaged Conrad and his band to play at her brunch through dinner poolside party Sunday.

SISTERS ARE SISTERS—A refresher course for teachers at Monmouth College has brought together Sister Therese Masiello, right and Sister Frances Masiello. They are staying at St. Joseph's-by-the-Sea Convent, Monmouth Beach. Members of the American Province of the Religious Teachers Filippini, whose mother house is at Villa Walsh, Morristown, the sisters will part again this fall as Sister Therese returns to St. Joseph's Convent, Hammonton, and Sister Frances goes on to Bristol, Conn. At Monmouth, they reviewed Greek and Roman culture and the Spanish language. Both hold bachelor's and master's degrees.

Although we're all for serving a good food (frankfurters) in their natural habitat (rolls), there are times when variety is an advantage.

Frankfurters plus a vegetable or two cooked in a skillet to make a main course will save preparation and clean-up time — a boon in sumer and all-year-round.

FRANKFURTERS WITH GREEN LIMAS

6 frankfurters
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup and 1 tablespoon cold water
2 packages (12 ounces each) frozen green lima beans with tomatoes
2 teaspoons cornstarch

Slice the frankfurters diagonally into 1-inch lenghth. Melt the butter in a 10- inch skillet. Add frankfurters and brown lightly; remove frankfurters from skillet and reserve. Add the ½ cup water and the lima beans with tomatoes to the skillet; cover tightly and bring to a full boil over medium heat. Over low heat simmer, covered, for 10 to 12 minutes or until beans are just tender. Mix until smooth the remaining 1 tablespoon water and the cornstarch; stir into skillet; add frankfurters. Cook and stir constantly until sauce thickens and frankfurters reheat. Makes 4 servings.

FOR COOKBOOK COLLECTORS

If speedy recipes are what you want, look into the newest "quick" cook book, "The Instant Epicure" by Lillian Langseth - Christensen (Coward - McCann).

These recipes call for such foods as precooked rice; canned vegetables, fruits, fish and meat; and bottled salad dressing. But there are also a good many calling for fresh foods that may be prepared quickly. The recipe categories include the customary range, from appetizers to desserts, and there's advice on "outdoor or plug-in-anywhere cooking."

Along the way, Mrs. Langseth-Christensen adds a good deal of comment out of the Austrian background of her growing-up years and her later long years of experience in this country. The best part of "The Instant Epicure Cookbook" is its variety; devotees of the author's other jigtime contribution, "The No Cooking Cookbook" (Coward-McCann) and those who hail her "Old Vienna Cookbook" (Gourmet) can pick and choose among the directions and suggestions to suit their own taste.

Oak Hill Unit Meets Sept. 10

MIDDLETOWN — Mrs. C.R. Noble, chairman of the women's group of the Oak Hill Civic Association, has announced the unit will meet Sept. 10 at 8 p.m. in The CobbleStones, Rt. 35.

An oil painting demonstration by Mrs. Carrie Evans, Middletown, will highlight the program. Mrs. Edward Izzo is program chairman.

Marriage Announced

NEW MONMOUTH — Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Linda Lee Bova, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul P. Bova, 6 Marvin Rd., Middletown, to Seaman Francis A. Woodward, Jr., U.S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Woodward, Sr., Hopping Rd., Belford.

Rev. Robert T. Bulman, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony July 26 in St. Mary's Catholic Church here.

A reception was held in the Molly Pitcher Inn, Red Bank, for the immediate families. The couple took a wedding trip to Wildwood.

Auditions Scheduled By Chorale

EATONTOWN — LeRoy Tatem of Middletown, president of the Shrewsbury Chorale, has announced that auditions for the chorale will be held Sept. 3-7 in the Presbyterian Church, here.

Requirements for membership in the chorale are he said, ability to read music and previous choral experience. Mrs. Gustave Huseniza, 40 Fourth Ave., Atlantic Highlands may be contacted for audition appointments.

Since its inception in 1957, the Shrewsbury Choral "has dedicated itself to the pursuit of excellence in the performance of choral music," Mr. Tatem said.

It is an interracial, interfaith, nonprofessional mixed chorus, he said, drawing its members from throughout the County.

The musical repertoire includes representative works from the pre-classical period to contemporary composers, and span a wide range of materisl between early madrigals and Broadway musical show selections.

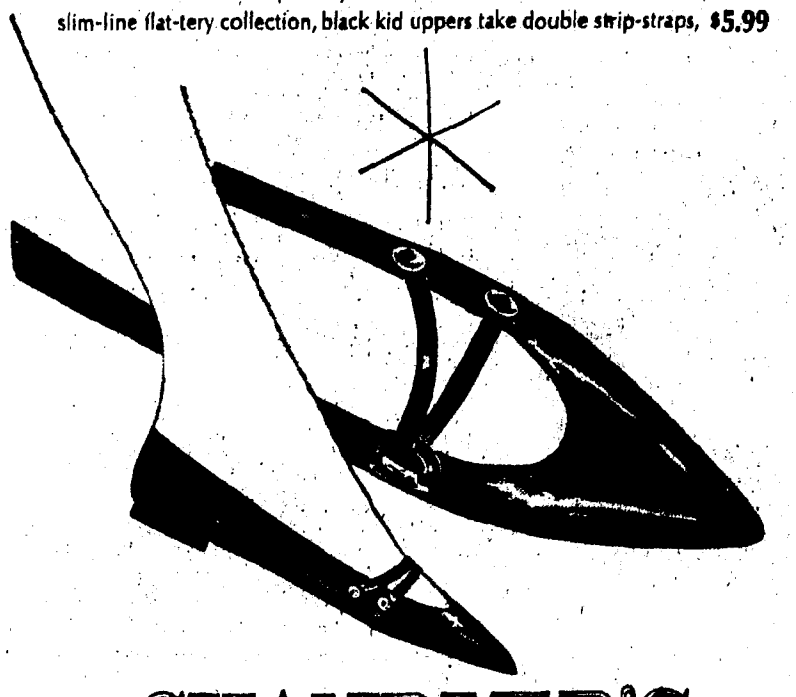

Alden Hammond, who founded the chorale, will conduct its rehearsals and concerts. Two concerts will be given this season.

Power and Sail

By BILL ROBINSON

In moving around to different parts of the country, it is always interesting to note that certain practices and usages, which are extremely common and routine in one boating area, are not followed at all in others.

One thing that is immediately apparent when you cruise in the Pacific Northwest is the almost universal use of stern platforms on powerboats. The platform extends from the lower half of the transom, and it has a variety of uses that make boating much more pleasant. Almost every boat in Puget Sound has one, and the idea is spreading to other West Coast areas, but for some reason it has not taken hold in the East, South and Midwest as yet.

WIDELY FOLLOWED practice in Puget Sound and other West Coast areas, which has not yet spread to the rest of the country to any extent, is the use of a stern platform for boarding and for dinghy stowage.

It was not originated on the West Coast. The first people to use the idea extensively were the Australians. The large fleet of cruisers-for-hire operated on the Hawkesbury River system near Sydney have all had this feature for years. These boats are built and operated by the Halvorsen firm, builders of "Gretel," the America's Cup challenger of 1962.

From Australia the idea crossed the Pacific and has now become fully accepted on the other shore. The stern platform is an extremely handy thing to have, and it has no disadvantages that we can discover. We asked whether it might be a handicap in running inlets before a steep following sea, which must be done in many Atlantic Coast ports, but were assured that it is no handicap. In such West Coast ports as Gray's Harbor, Wash., the same conditions exist and most of the boats have stern platforms.

As a boarding platform from the water it does away with the need of a swimming ladder, and it is also handy for coming aboard from a low float or pier. Many of the larger West Coast boats have doors cut in their transoms to make access even easier from platform to boat. We went out on one powerboat with a very high freeboard on which several elderly ladies were passengers, and they were able to step aboard with ease and comfort, instead of having to be helped awkwardly over the rail.

Perhaps the biggest advantage is using it for carrying the dinghy—which is always a knotty problem. It is out of the way, yet easy to launch and recover, and this is virtually a universal practice. Many boats have the boat name and port of hail painted on the bottom of the dinghy as well as on the transom.

The dinghy can be stowed by one person by hand on the average-sized cruiser. Chocks on the platform keep it from sliding around and small tie-downs hold it in place very simply. It is not in the way, except for the most serious kind of deep-sea trolling, when it could be left ashore for the day.

For fishing in protected waters, having the dinghy this easy to use is an advantage, and it is also nice to be able to keep the big boat from getting messed up. When you come back with a good catch of fish, they can be cleaned right on the platform, which can quickly be sluiced off afterwards.

With the dinghy removed, the platform is great for water-skiers and skin-divers and is being used more and more for this purpose.

With all these advantages, why, we ask, is the feature only popular in one area?

Baseball Roundup

Yanks Win 2, Up Lead to 12½

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

They belong to New York pitchers Al Downing, 22, a lefty, and Jim Bouton, 24, a right-hander. Between them they contain the promise of Yankee domination of the American League for years to come.

Sunday, Downing had a no-hitter going for seven innings and finished with a two-hit shutout, running his record to 10-4. It was Bouton's turn Tuesday. He had a no-hitter for eight innings, and finished with a two-hit, 5-0 shutout, running his record to 18-6, best on the Yankee staff.

Ralph Terry, at 27, old only by comparison, finished off the twi-night doubleheader against Boston with a five-hit, 3-0 job. It was his 15th victory and stretched the Yankees' bulging league lead to 12½ games.

In other AL games, Chicago pulled into a share of second place with idle Minnesota by beating Cleveland 6-1, Kansas City edged Baltimore 2-1 in 10 innings and Detroit topped Los Angeles 4-1 in the only games scheduled.

The twin shutouts by Bouton and Terry were the third and fourth in the Yanks' last five games. The Yankee staff has allowed only two runs in the last 51 innings, both in a 2-1, 12-inning loss to Chicago in the second game of a Sunday doubleheader.

Bouton is one of the big surprises. He had only a 7-7 record last season, started this year in the bullpen and has blossomed into the Yanks' No. 1 right-hander.

The hard-throwing youngster had allowed only two base runners and had retired 22 men in order before Boston pinch hitter Russ Nixon singled past his ear leading off the ninth.

Bouton let down a bit after that and Gary Geiger followed with another single, but he got out of it without trouble.

The Yanks gave him all the backing he needed with two first-inning runs on singles by Bobby Richardson and Elston Howard and doubles by Tom Tresh and Hector Lopez.

The White Sox' Dave Nicholson struck out four times, setting a major league season record of 144, but Tom McCraw and Pete Ward each drove in two runs with a homer and single in Chicago's victory over the Indians.

Semi-Pro Tourney Scheduled Sept. 7-8

WEST ORANGE—The 10th annual New Jersey State Tournament of Champions will get under way the weekend of Sept. 7-8 and will continue through each succeeding weekend until completed.

Red Bank Tire Company, champions of the Jersey Shore Baseball League, are entered in the event, which matches the top semi-pro baseball teams in New Jersey.

The tourney will be sponsored by Baseball, Inc., which will award $250 and a trophy to the winning club.

Only champions of their respective leagues (senior class) can qualify. A team finishing the season in first place shall be considered the champion of its league; the winner of any post-season playoff in any senior league shall not qualify as a league champion.

The tournament is planned to be conducted on a one-game, sudden-death basis, or double elimination, depending on the number of entries.

All arrangements and scheduling will be completed at a meeting to be held Tuesday at the Montclair YMCA at 8 p.m.

South Amboy Briggs (Mid-County League) won the first state tournament in 1954, followed by the South Orange Giants (Essex) in 1955; the Nutley Colonels (North Jersey Twilight) in 1956; the East Orange stroyer (Hudson) in 1960; Trenton Waysides (Trenton City) in 1958 and 1959; Jersey City Destroyers (Hudson in 1960; Trenton Ewings (Trenton City) in 1961; and Emerson-Westwood Merchants (Bergen) in 1962. The Emerson-Westwood team is representing New Jersey in the National Baseball Congress Semi-Pro Tournament in Wichita, Kans.

Arthur F. Peaty, Smoke Rise, has been selected by Baseball, Inc., to conduct the tournament. William L. Manning, West Orange, has been retained as business manager.

Little Silver Playground Activities End

LITTLE SILVER — The Little Silver Recreation Committee has concluded its summer playground activities for the year.

A total of 4,759 boys and girls used the playground with a daily average of 128. Last year 3,523 children utilized the facilities with a daily average of 93.

In other activities, the grammar school age basketball team split two games. The first one was a 17-13 setback at the hands of the Shrewsbury playground team. Ray Shaeffer was the high scorer with nine points, while Little Silver's Spencer Scheffling netted eight.

In a return tennis match between playgrounds, Shrewsbury beat Little Silver, 3-2. Mark Fitzgerald defeated Greg Langley, 6-4, Mary Nigro stopped Linda Caravetta, 6-1, and Carol Mass whipped Ellen Wichmann, 6-2, for the Shrewsbury points. Little Silver gained wins when Dominic Mascola defeated Bobby Morse, 6-3, and Jamie Deans tripped Raymound Mass, 6-1.

Bombers Split Twinbill With Conner's Hotel

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS — The Atlantic Highlands Bombers split a double-header with Conner's Hotel recently, winning the opener, 4-0, dropping the nightcop by a 6-4 score. The second game was called after seven innings due to darkness.

John Kochan stopped Conner's with a three-hit effort. He fanned 10 batters in running his scoreless streak to 30, one short of the league record.

Conner's struck back in the second game, ruining Kochan's iron man effort, but not before the Bomber pitcher had broken the 31-inning scoreless mark. Kochan pitched a strong game for seven innings, giving up six runs with only two of them earned. He fanned 16 batters.

Roy Townsend was the winner, allowing four runs on 10 hits. Andy Gatez and George Forester led Conner's to victory with five of the team eight hits. Harry Cassidy had three hits for the Bombers.

Over 100 Swimmers in Meet

KEANSBURG — The Greater Keansburg Area Jaycees-sponsored swim meet in Belvedere Pool Saturday drew more than 100 competitors in events open to all age groups.

Star of the meet was Joanne Coughlin, a Keansburg girl, who captured first place honors in the 50-yard free style for girls, 16 years old and under. Joanne then splashed her way home first in the 80-yard free style for women. It was the second year in a row that Miss Coughlin has captured double medals.

Bob Kitson, another Keansburg contestant, won the Richard O'Brien Memorial 80-yard free style event for men. Mrs. Anne O'Brien presented the plaque to commemorate the death of her son, a Jaycee member, early this summer.

The swim meet is an annual affair sponsored by the Jaycees. Medals were awarded in events for five-year-old boys and girls up to men and women.

Dr. Sheehan, Sons George And Tim in Five-Mile Run

CLOVE LAKE, Staten Island—The running Sheehan family of Rumson, N. J., wrapped up three places in the annual five-mile run sponsored by the Metropolitan AAU here yesterday.

Dr. George A. Sheehan, Jr., 45, father of 12 children, placed 10th among senior division runners in 30 minutes, 37 seconds.

George Sheehan, 3d, Dr. Sheehan's 18-year-old son who'll enter his dad's school, Manhattan College, next month, placed 11th in the junior division among the field of 28 runners with a clocking of 29:49.

The senior division was won by John Loeschorne of New York University in 26:04. The NYU soph, holder of the NJSIAA mile run record at 4:17.4, is rated the top distance runner in New Jersey.

Junior division winner was Tim Mizzone in 26:24. Mizzone was running for the Central Jersey Track Club, as were the Sheehans and Homlisch.

It was the second distance running event in three days for Dr. Sheehan, one of 96 competitors in the annual 15½-mile milk run Sunday in New York City.

His description of Sunday's event was enlightening. Many of the competitors run with only one thought: "I won't drop out on Harlem River Dr." (the 12-mile mark, and an uphill grind near the Polo Grounds—home of the Mets). Dr. Sheehan wasn't one to drop out at that point. He overcame 36 opponents to nail down his 60th place finish. He had been dead last after three miles.

Mrs. Vietor, Mrs. Finley Golf Victors

Mrs. Oliver Vietor won in Class A, while Mrs. Jane Finley took Class B honors.

Mrs. Vietor tied with Mrs. Robert Walker, each with 38 points, but the Rumson woman received the first place prize on a match of cards.

Mrs. Walker won the putting contest with 28.

Catan Coasts to Semis in Shuffleboard

RED BANK — Omero Catan, Teaneck, holder of numerous New Jersey state singles championships, led the way into the semi-finals of the three-day Red Bank Invitational Shuffleboard Tournament with twin victories on the Marine Park courts yesterday.

Catan ousted Andy Watts, Point Pleasant, in the third round, then disposed of Red Bank's Herman Woolley in the quarter-finals.

Also advancing in men's singles were highly-rated Craig Leers, also of Teaneck, and Tom Broughton, Ocean Grove. Both players won two matches to reach the semi-finals.

The women's singles also opened yesterday. Edie Hager, Ocean Grove, moved into the third round with twin victories.

All four state districts were invited to compete in the tourney sponsored by the Red Bank Shuffleboard Club. The tourney follows the recent doubles event held here last month. All events are sanctioned by the New Jersey Shuffleboard Association.

The tourney will wind up today with semi-final play in the morning and the finals in mid-afternoon.

Hunting Season For Geese And Brant Extended

TRENTON (AP) — The geese and brant hunting season has been extended to 70 days and duck hunters will have a 45-day split season this year, it was announced Tuesday.

The state Conservation Department released a series of changes in fowl hunting rules which have been adopted by the state's fish and game council. All waterfowl hunting seasons are to open at noon, eastern standard time, on Oct. 26.

Duck hunting will continue through Nov. 16 and reopen at noon on Dec. 13, running through Jan. 4, 1964. Geese and brant may be hunted from Oct. 26 to Jan. 3.

No hunting for any waterfowl will be permited before noon on either opening day, Oct. 26 or Dec. 13. Otherwise hunting hours are sunrise to sunset.

Bag and possession limit for brant is six birds. Bag limit for geese is two with a possession limit of four.

Detailed hunting regulations, including those governing the bag limit on mallards, coots, scoters, eiders, old squad and American and red breasted merganser are now available, a department spokesman said.

HOUSTON CUTS FOUR

Two Freehold Reinsmen Win 2 Straight Races

FREEHOLD—Bob Farrington and Tony Abbatiello each turned in back-to-back victories to highlight yesterday's Freehold Raceway card, 21st of the 60-day meeting.

Abbatiello won behind Victory Lind, $9, in the second and was back in the winner's circle in the next with Bar Rail, 6:80. Farrington won the seventh with Bud I Direct, $3.40 and followed with Scontia, $14.60.

The victories were Farrington's 21st and 22d of the campaign. He holds the track record for most wins, 46, turned in in 1961 when he also gained the track driving championship.

Freehold Opens Twin Double Betting Tuesday

FREEHOLD — Freehold Raceway will introduce the twin double to New Jersey horse racing fans starting Tuesday afternoon, it was announced yesterday by executive vice-president John D. Cronin.

The New Jersey Racing Commission last Friday approved Freehold's application for this new form of betting. The Racing Commission turned down a similar request by Freehold before the 1962 campaign.

All Twin-Double windows will be located in the East annex betting area.

The object will be to pick the most winners in the sixth, seventh, ninth and 10th races. Before a bettor is eligible for the big prize he must select winners in the sixth and seventh races.

If successful, a bettor must exchange winning ticket at the twin double exchange windows, also located in the East Annex, for selections in the ninth and 10th races.

Twin double purchases may be made as soon as the second race on the card is official and anytime before the start of the sixth race. Each ticket will cost $2. There will be no charge for those who become eligible for selections in the last two races.

The management stresses that exchanges must be made as quickly as possible, and before the ninth race. Otherwise the winning tickets on the sixth and seventh races are redeemable at face value only. This means the bettor will get back only his original $2.

The new betting method will not effect the regular daily double betting. The program states that the regular daily double has no connection with the Twin Double.

Gardner Tops Links Qualifiers

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Metropolitan amateur champion Bob Gardner of the Montclair Golf Club led sectional qualifiers for the United States Golf Association's amateur championship at Baltusrol Golf Club yesterday.

Gardner, 42, who makes his home in Essex Fells, finished with a 75-70—145. Two strokes behind him with 147s were Long Island amateur champion Gene Francis of Wheatley Hills, N.Y., and James A. Grant, 3d, of Weathersfield, Conn., last year's winner of the Rhode Island open.

Gardner played Baltusrol's lower course in three over par with a 37-38—75, and the upper course in two under par with 34-36—70 to make his total.

MATAWAN GUN CLUB

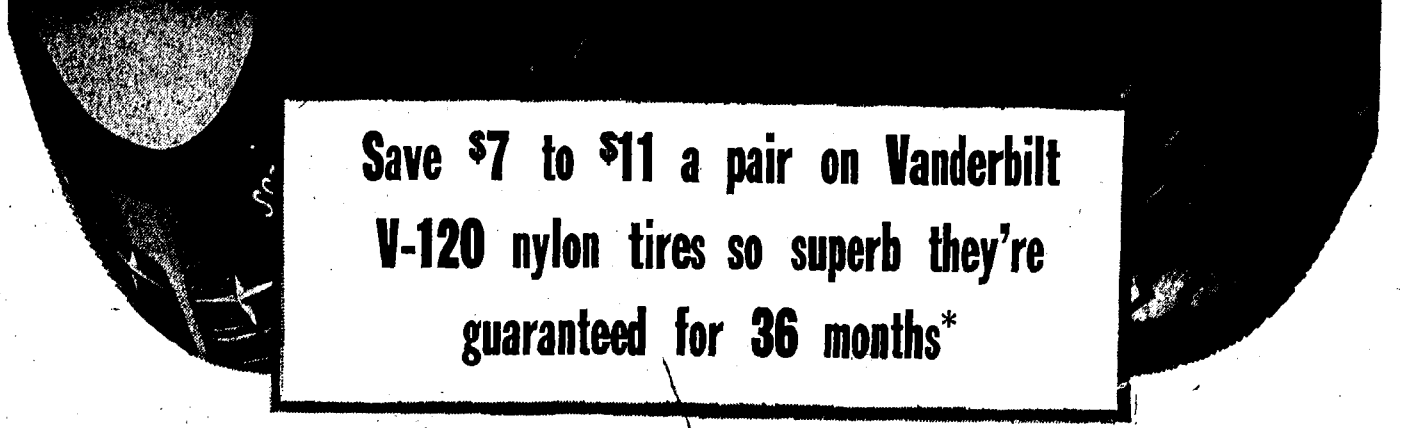

MATAWAN — The Matawan Gun Club has joined the National Rifle Association, it was announced recently. Officers of the newly-chartered club are William H. Saltzman, president, and Walter J. Zinsmeister, secretary.

Speedy Scot Heavy Hambletonian Pick

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — A field of 10 colts and four fillies—some of them just recovering from weakening virus infections—appeared set today for the Hambletonian stake.

The blue ribbon fixture for 3-year-old trotters will carry a purse of $115,588, sixth richest since its 1926 beginning. The winner will get $56,619, and for the first time prize money will go through five places.

Speedy Scot, winner of five out of six starts this season and $182,091 in two years, was given a chance by harness racing experts to break the Hambletonian mile record of 1:58 2-5 by Harlan Dean in 1961.

The big, powerfully gaited son of Speedster coughed three times during a workout Tuesday. He had no fever and apparently the spell was just one of those things.

However, there was some concern, since some in the Hambletonian group have had virus infections.

Cheer Honey, top trotting filly as a 2-year-old, has been wearing an improvised oxygen mask twice daily since getting a virus infection last weekend. Although the ailment is about cleared up, trainer-driver Frank Ervin said the Donner Statle star "feels like a human being just getting over a bad cold-bum."

B. F. Coaltown, second choice with Cheer Honey at 4-1, also has been breathing medicated oxygen for a throat infection. Carl Larsen, trainer-driver for the Hill Stable colt, says he is okay.

Other Hambletonian starters who had virus trouble earlier in the season include Diggs Dell, Bluff Hanover, Carless Hanover and Filter.

Another trotter who may be under par is Star Act, suffering from a bone chip in her left knee. Her trainer-driver, Joe O'Brien, said he will try to pilot her although he has been on crutches with a bashed knee and has a fractured bone in his right wrist as the result of a spill at Sportsman's Park in Chicago last week.

The Hambletonian is raced in mile heats one hour apart. The first will go off at 3:30 p.m. EDT. The first horse to win two heats is the champion.

Playground Ends Season

NEW SHREWSBURY — The fourth summer playground program of the Recreation Commission was brought to a close last week with an arts and crafts fair and the presentation of awards.

Wiiners of the Arts and Crafts Fair, judged by Miss Sandy Dunker, Mrs. Gladys Field and Ginny Berglund were:

Age 6—Richard Field, Jackie McDermott, Sandy David

Age 8, 9—Linda Reilley, Steve Connors, Raymond Wright

Age 10—Betsy Zeldin, Ken Field, Nancy Overman

Age 11—Jon Cohen, Christine Henry, Marcy Henry

Age 14—Joan Field, Janet Clooney, Jeanne Rapp

Award winners at the Swimming River Playground were: Jeff Arnold, all around boy; Dianne Clooney, all around girl; Larry Froelich, checkers champ; Lynn Thomson, checkers champ; Gregg Arnold, horseshoes champ; John Gordon, table tennis champ; Linda Reilley, table tennis champ; David Clooney, perfect attendance.

Award winners at the Sycamore Playground were: Terry Dalton, all around boy; Bonnie MacPherson, all around girl; Robert Fair, most improved; Glenn Gattis, horseshoes champ; Christine Henry horseshoes champ; Ray Flanigan, archery champ; Christine Henry, archery champ; Ronald Temko, table tennis champ, and Marcy Henry, table tennis champ.

The four day a week program stressed as achery, softball, horseshoes, basketball, tetherball, arts and crafts such as basketry, copper, kapsticks, mosaics, and leather. Special activities this year included a workshop on flag twirling, hobo contest, bike parade, baby contest, talent shows, crazy hat contest, and interborough days.

The program also included trips to Freedomland, Yankee Stadium, a roller skating rink, picnic areas for family fun days, and the ever-popular bike hike.

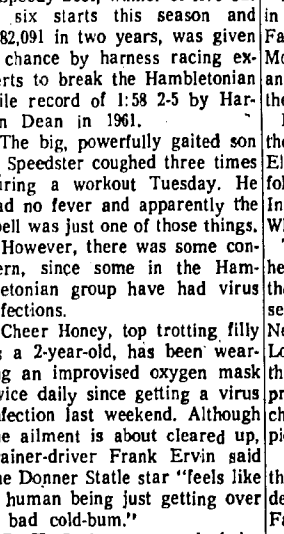

During the 29-day season there were over 6,500 attendances, making a 10 per cent increase over last year.

Playground director Nicholas Costa was assisted at the Sycamore Playground by Mrs. Gladys Field, Bob Thorne and Glenn Stackhahn, and at the Swimming River playground by Gene Camarigg and Ginny Berglund.

TROT CLASSIC CHOICE — Speedy Scot, the Hambletonian favorite, and his reinsman, Ralph Baldwin, will be shooting for first place money in the $115,000 event today at the Du Quoin (Ill.) State Fairgrounds. Pari-mutuel betting is prohibited in the state. Speedy Scot is an unofficial 2-5 choice.

Name Wes Ellis State PGA Player of Year

NEWARK — Wes Ellis has done it again!

The smooth-swinging Mountain Ridge professional, for the third straight year, has won the New Jersey PGA "Player of the Year" award. The award carries a $250 bonus which will be paid to New Jersey's No. 1 shotmaker by P. Ballantine and Sons.

Ellis won the Player of the Year in a walkaway. Under a point system used for ascertaining the standout professional golfers in the Garden State, Wes finished 27½ points ahead of Babe Lichardus of Spring Brook, the runner-up. Wes, with two tournaments left to play in which performance will count toward points, had 93 points to his credit while Lichardus had 65½.

Trailing Ellis and Lichardus in the point chase were Billy Farrell of Baltusrol and Stan Mosel of Essex Fells with 61 and 52 points, respectively, to their credit.

Presentation of the Player of the Year award and the bonus to Ellis will be made at a dinner following the Three Ring PGA Intersectional Matches at the Wheatley Hills Golf Club, Sept. 6.

The matches, which are being held for the fourth time under the sponsorship of Ballantine, pit selected eight-man teams from New Jersey, Westchester and Long Island in four-ball and three-ball matches with $10,000 in prize money in the offing. Westchester is the defending champion this year.

Although the teams from the three PGA sections are not set definitely, yet, Ellis, Lichardus Farrell and Mosel are certain starters for New Jersey.

Edgewater Club In Swim Win

LONG BRANCH — Edgewater Beach Club's swim team posted a 102-73 victory over White Sands Bathing Club in a recent swimming meet held in the White Sands pool.

The White Sands' boys 15 and under relay team suffered its first setback of the season. Ralph Fusco and Paul Riley, White Sands swimmers, turned in sparkling times in winning their events.

The White Sands team closed its competitive season last Saturday against the Colony Surf Club team.

Cassady, Stephens Among Pro Footballers Dropped

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Howard "Hopalong" Cassady and Sandy Stephens, All-Americas in their college days, have received their walking papers as pros.

Cassady, who won the Heisman Trophy in 1955 as the top college player while at Ohio State, was placed on waivers by the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League as the American pros reached a mandatory cutdown date.

Stephens, All-America quarterback at Minnesota in 1961, was dropped by the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League with the ALs paying him for the remainder of his three-year no-cut contract.

"Bluntly, we're paying him off," said Dan Pickett, director of the Alouettes' player development. Stephens signed a $70,000 contract in 1962 and has two years to go.

He was unimpressive as a rookie last season and was benched as overweight in the Alouettes third game of the season last week.

Cassady, 29, a six-year-NFL veteran with Detroit, Cleveland and the Eagles, played 10 games with Philadelphia as a split end last season before he was sidelined with a broken right leg. He has played only a few minutes in Philadelphia exhibitions this season and his release apparently means that Baylor rookie Ronnie Goodwin has won the job.

He was the best known player to get the ax as the NFL and American Football League made cuts, the NFL teams cutting their rosters to 43, the AFL to 38.

Actually, the rosters will remain in a state of flux at least until the weekend, since teams have 48 hours to claim any player put on waivers. Should a player be claimed, his parent team has another 48 hours to recall him.

Players placed on waivers with an injured notation, if claimed, can be recalled to their original team but can't be activated for a minimum of four weeks.

Among the other well known players placed on waivers Tuesday were Minnesota tackle Frank Youso, Baltimore fullback Mark Smolinski and Eagle defensive tackle Joe Lewis.

Mays Stars As Giants Whip Cards

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays has the world on a string, but that hasn't kept the San Francisco Giants from riding a yo-yo in that National League pennant race.

Mays became the 10th major leaguer to reach the 400-homer level when he connected in the third inning Tuesday night, triggering a homer salvo that powered the Giants to a 7-2 victory over St. Louis and into a second-place tie with the Cardinals.

Both the Giants and Cardinals are 6½ games back of pacesetting Los Angeles. The Dodgers, who have held the top spot without interruption since July 2, edged Cincinnati 3-2 as Frank Howard slugged a key two-run homer.

Mays has been trying to keep the Giants within striking distance, but the defending champions have been going up-and-down with such regularity that they actually have lost ground while Willie has hit safely in 27 of 28 games.

On July 28, Willie was hitting .274 with 22 homers and 55 runs batted in. Since then he has hit 10 homers, driven in 31 runs and brought his average up to .308—and the Giants have fallen from 4½ back to 6½ behind.

While Willie was collecting his 32d homer, Hank Aaron took over the league lead from the Giants' Willie McCovey. Aaron hit his 35th and Warren Spahn posted his 17th victory in Milwaukee's 3-2 decision over Houston.

Elsewhere, the Chicago Cubs edged Philadelphia 4-3 and Pittsburgh defeated the New York Mets 2-1.

An error by Ken Boyer helped the Giants to a 3-0 lead in the second inning against Curt Simmons, 11-7, before Mays connected leading off the third. Orlando Cepeda followed with his 21st homer and Felipe Alou made it three in a row with his 16th. That was more than enough for Jack Sanford, who scattered eight hits for a 13-12 record. Julian Javier's two-run homer accounted for the Cardinal runs.

NEW YORK (AP) — A National Football League umpire worked the San Francisco-Cleveland exhibition game with a camera strapped around his neck, taking pictures for a national magazine.

Pete Rozelle, the NFL commissioner, said it was a one-shot experiment, approved by the league and both teams, and will not become a regular thing.

But what if this sort of thing should spread? You might have situations like this one:

Scene: Los Angeles Dodger Stadium. Sandy Koufax is on the mound, pitching to Willie Mays. It's the ninth inning, two out, and the Dodgers lead the San Francisco Giants, 1-0. Harvey Kuenn is on third base. Koufax is fidgeting.

Roseboro: What's the matter, Sandy. Want to walk this guy?

Koufax: Nah, I'll pitch to him as soon as I can get this camera into focus. I've had trouble with it since the fifth inning. I'm shooting the game for Boy's Life.

Roseboro: Well, work on Willie a little bit. I'm doing a tape recording of this for the networks, and it'll be more dramatic if it goes to three and two.

Koufax: I won't have any trouble throwing the three balls. That movie camera Maury Wills has out there at shortstop is ruining my control. He starts it up every time I wind up.

Roseboro: Here comes Alston.

Alston: What have you got it set on?

Koufax: F8 at 100.

Alston: You'll never get anything that way. I've been using F3.5 since the fifth inning.

Koufax: Who you shooting for?

Alston: The black and white is for Dog's Life. The color is for the Wednesday afternoon Post. They are going in heavy for baseball these days. I hear they've given up college football entirely.

Koufax: No wonder you're not worried about focus. For those guys if the picture's fuzzy it's art. When I work for them I just drop the camera on the mound and ship them the result. I sold them a double page picture of the rosin bag once.

Roseboro: I wish you guys would talk into the microphone. I'm trying to get all this stuff down on tape.

Alston: Where's the mike?

Alston: What do you want us to talk about?

Roseboro: How about baseball? Should we walk Mays?

Alston: What was he, safe or out?

Hornung Turns Down $25,000 Football Offer

LYNN, Mass. (AP) — Paul Hornung, suspended Green Bay Packer halfback, yesterday declined a $25,000 per season offer to play out his suspension with a team in the Atlantic Coast League.

The offer was made on behalf of Ted Barron, owner of the Boston Nu-Way Sweepers, by Charles "Red" Hoffman, sports writer for the Lynn Item.

Hornung, who was placed on indefinite suspension from the National Football League for betting on games, reportedly termed the offer "very tempting," but declined.

Hoffman said Hornung told him he prefers to sit it out and try to get back into the NFL as soon as possible. He added that he might be risking too much to accept the offer.

Barron once tried to buy the New York Jets of the American Football League from Harry Wismer, when the Jets were the Titans.

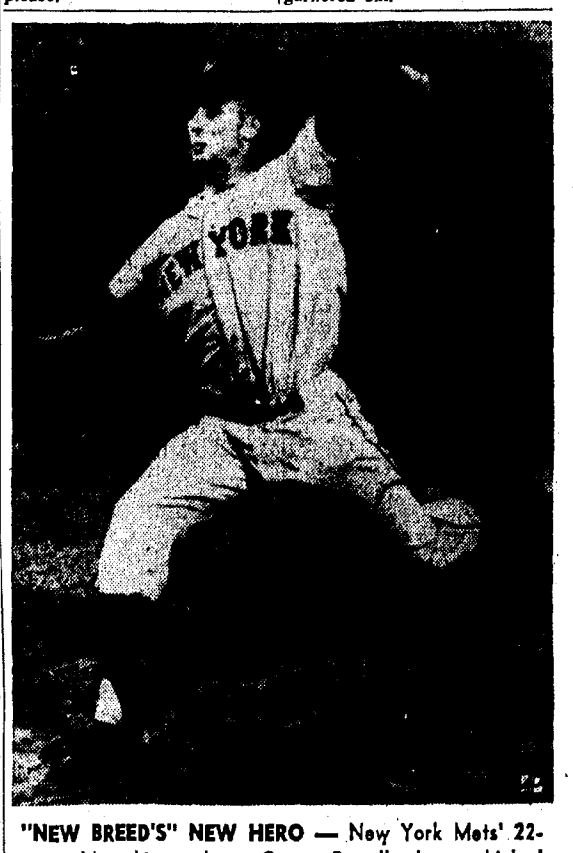

Gouveia Hopes To Hold Point Lead at Ft. Dix

NEW EGYPT — Johnny Gouveia of White Plains, N. Y., who captured last week's 100-lap championship race at the Fort Dix Speedway, will try to hang on to his slim point lead in this week's action tomorrow as the Fort Dix oval moves into the final two weeks of competition.

Two speedsters, including the defending track champion, Augie Moschera of New Egypt, are in a position to overtake Gouveia in the battle for top point honors. Should Gouveia and Moschera fail to finish in one of the front running positions Thursday night, gentleman Joe Kelly of Conshohocken, Pa., could emerge the over-all leader with a victory in the 35-lap main event.

Rene Charland, Agawan, Mass., the 1962 NASCAR national sportsman champion and Ed Flemke of New Britain, Conn., although not in contention for point leadership, are considered outstanding favorites. Charland has annexed two feature wins at the quartermile, and Flemke, who last week was voted the most popular driver to appear at Dix this season has garnered six.

"NEW BREED'S" NEW HERO — New York Mets' 22-year-old rookie southpaw Grover Powell, who was kicked off the University of Pennsylvania baseball team because he missed a bus, didn't miss a trick during his starting debut in the majors. He shut out the Phillies, 4-0, in the first game of a twi-nighter Tuesday, allowing only four hits to halt the streaking Phils, who since June 23 had been the hottest team in both leagues.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? — Well, plenty, for this fellow is Elliot Fishman of the Virgin Islands and he boated that 500-pound blue marlin. The fish is 11 feet, 8 inches long and was hooked north of Caneel Bay on Atlantic side of island of Saint Johns.

Hollywood:

Sea Spoof

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

Shades of "Anchors Aweigh" and "Hit the Deck!"

This was not a revival of the light-hearted, simple-minded musicals of Hollywood's past but a spoof thereof. It was a sequence for "What a Way to Go," which appears to be satirizing all Hollywood once held dear.

The stars are Shirley Maclaine and Gene Kelly. They have a dream sequence in which they interpret an Astaire-Rogers dance a MacDonald-Eddy operatta and finally, the battleship number which harks back to Kelly's past.

"This is rough work," she said. "I haven't danced in 12 years, and you've got to keep it up. Oh, I danced in 'Can Can,' but I was faking it. It gets tougher to fake all the time."

Mind you, she's not complaining. Why should she, with the most impressive list of co-stars within memory: Kelly, Paul Newman, Robert Mitchum, Dean Martin and Dick Van Dyke?

The gimmick is this: Shirley yearns for the simple things of life. Trouble is, she's always marrying poor slobs who turn into millionaires. Bizarre accidents carry each one off to another life and she starts anew, only to end up with millions again.

The bill for the 70 gowns comes to $375,000, says the studio, Twentieth Century-Fox, which is proceeding on "What a Way to Go" just as if there had been no "Cleopatra." Budget: $5 million. Maybe those good old times are coming back.

PHYLLIS DILLER began a three-week engagement at the Royal Box, supper club of the Americana Hotel in New York City, Aug. 19. Miss Diller, whose way-out brand of comedy has been seen on network TV, in top night clubs across the country and on concert tours, has also appeared on the legitimate stage and in films. Her "one-woman show" will be backed up by the Royal Box Orchestra under the direction of Charles Fisk, which also plays for dancing between shows.

TV Key Previews

Tonight top television shows as previewed and selected by TV Key's staff of experts who attend rehearsals, watch screenings and analyze scripts in New York and Hollywood.

MARCH ON WASHINGTON: The three networks will interrupt its regular program schedule throughout the day to cover the civil rights demonstrations. In addition, the scheduled programs are as follows:

ABC 12-12:30 p.m.
4:30-5 p.m.

CBS 7:30-8:30 p.m. Walter Cronkite seryes as anchor man in a recap of the day's "March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom."

NBC 4:30-5 p.m.
11:15-12 (midnight) A review of the day's events in Washington's "massive, peaceful and democratic demonstrations."

BEVERLY HILLBILLIES. (Repeat) An amusing show as baseball coach Leo "The Lip" Durocher joins the hillbillies and carries himself off with a flourish. Jed and Jethro caddy for Leo in a round of golf, and somehow, Jethro gets to throw a baseball convincing Durocher he's found another "Dizzy Dean." 9:30 p.m. CBS.

DICK VAN DYKE. (Repeat) The high-toned literary world takes a lampooning as the Petries mix with poets and writers of the ultrasophisticated set. This theme is usually done so broadly it isn't funny, but enough verbal shafts spark the script this time. The show's writer, Carl Reiner, plays a loquacious intellectual, and he expounds and expounds and expounds. 9:30 p.m. CBS.

CIRCLE THEATRE. "Escape to Nowhere." (Repeat) There's an undercurrent of sadness that moves you in this dramatized documentary on the futile escape of three prisoners from Alcatraz. It's told without fanfare, permitting simple facts as corroding plaster, books on puppetry, soap, glue, jars of paint, human hair, tablespoons and imagination to create their own suspense, while the formidable sea outside maintains its inexorable sweep 10 p.m. CBS.

ELEVENTH HOUR. "Like a Diamond in the Sky." (Repeat) The show has its moments and guest star Julie London's scenes are artfully treated, even though you've heard the old song about a glamorous singer who's found dead in her room, many times before. Dr. Graham (Jack Ging), part psychologist, part detective here, looks into the singer's past and discovers an unhappy lost girl who wants to be loved for herself. 10 p.m. NBC.

NAKED CITY. "One, Two, Three, Rita Rakahowski." (Repeat) Fans of the "TV of the Absurd" school of the drama will be delighted with this avant garde exercise, which is an acute analogy between jungle beasts and city men. The setting is a paper carton factory dominated by the presence of a primitive stock clerk, appropriately named "Gorilla." The dialogue is of the way-out "Beat poetry" variety and often pretentious. The performances by Nehemiah Persoff as the factory boss, Carol Rossen in the title role, and particularly, Anthony Franciosa as "Gorilla" are properly showy and interesting. 10 p.m. ABC.

TV Key Mailbag

By STEVEN H. SCHEUER

Question — Was Tommy Kirk ever a Mousketeer before he grew up? I am a Tommy Kirk fan and look forward to his appearances on the Walt Disney Show and in all the Disney movies.—M.F., Jacksonville, Fla.

Answer — Kirk served his time as a "Mouseketeer" before he graduated to the stable of players under contract to Walt Disney Productions. He has had a great deal of TV exposure on the Disney TV hours for many years now and has appeared in many, but not in all as you stated in your letter, of Disney's feature films.

Question—I thoroughly enjoyed Milton Berle for the first time on his recent repeat with guest stars Lena Horne, Janis Paige, Jack Benny and handsome Laurence Harvey. My family thinks Berle is one of the funniest comedians on TV but I could never warm up to his silly brand of humor until this show. He seems to have mellowed with age. Is there a chance he will have his own TV series again soon?—K.D., Bridgeport, Conn.

Answer—Every now and then a rumor crops up that Berle is set to return to weekly TV with a new show of his own but nothing ever comes of it. Berle is currently working in summer stock and has a role in the forthcoming film "It's A Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World."

Question — I recently saw "Jeanne Eagles" on TV and couldn't get over Kim Novak's beauty. She photographs magnificently and I know since I am a photographer by trade; I was wondering if you could tell me whether they used a great deal of trick camera work to get that translucent look Miss Novak projected.—H.D., Memphis, Tenn.

Answer — Aside from special lighting and regular move photographic know-how, there were no camera tricks involved. Miss Novak is reputed to have one of Hollywood's most perfect complexions and she is perfect-featured from almost any conceivable camera angle.

(For an answer to your question about any TV program or actor, write to Steven H. Scheuer, TV Key Mailbag, c/o this paper.)

'FAIR LADY' IN VEGAS

LAS VEGAS (AP—"My Fair Lady" will interrupt cross-country travels for an 18-week visit to this desert resort next fall.

The show that hit Broadway's jackpot for the biggest box office take of all, has been guaranteed $900,000 for the engagement which opens Oct. 22.

Since beginning its travels in 1959, the national company has been seen by more than four million spectators.

It pays to advertise in the Red Bank Register.—Advertisement.
