Howard's Highway Bill on House Floor Today

SUPER ROAD — A section of Garden State Parkway pictured yesterday is typical of limited access thoroughfares to become possible in Trenton-to-the-Shore freeway to be permitted under legislation by Rep. James J. Howard, D-NJ, which comes up for floor vote in House today. Passage of the bill also will lead to widening of parkway in Middlesex and Union Counties, construction of parallel parkway service roads, there, and a Garden State Thruway which will cross the freeway and create Central Jersey Expressway System. (Register Staff Photo)

By CHARLES A. JOHNSTON

WASHINGTON — When Rep. James J. Howard, D-NJ, presents his federal interstate highway bill on the House floor today, he will sit like a silent architect watching political brick and mortar come together.

Hopefully, the sophomore legislator from Monmouth County will utter not a word as he sits at the side of Rep. John C. Kluczynski, D-Ill, chairman of a House public works subcommittee on roads, who will move the bill.

How the proposed law, primarily intended to permit construction of a cross-New Jersey freeway, got into its present posture is a typical lesson in legislative craftsmanship.

Ordinarily the idea of Congress acting to authorize 90 per cent federal aid for a 37-mile stretch between a state capital, Trenton, and the Atlantic Ocean, near Belmar, wouldn't get a second thought in Rep. George H. Fallon's (D-Md.) Public Works Committee.

Granted public works traditionally is the treasury of favors and construction goodies sometimes called the "pork barrel." But it would take something more than a liking for a rising star in the Democratic majority to endorse this kind of plan as a single project.

SEVEN STATES

So, Mr. Howard went to work. What he has drafted is a bill that will sanction the Jersey freeway, open the door to over $300 million worth of new roads in the Garden State and will eliminate interstate highway bottlenecks in six other urban states.

This is a bill with 19 co-sponsors from across the country. More of them are Republicans than Democrats.

The measure meets the tests of wide interest, critical need, logic, and economy. It authorizes the U.S. Bureau of Roads to add 200 miles to the interstate system without spending a dime more than has already been authorized for the network.

Switching the routes and money is the key. As in the New Jersey case, more miles will be built for less money. The savings will be available elsewhere.

Mr. Howard's file notes the stumbling blocks and how they were overcome. It also plots the future path after anticipated success at today's first hurdle on the main course.

First was the fact that the interstate system is limited by law to 41,000 miles intended to connect as directly as practicable principal metropolitan areas, cities and industrial centers. Meeting local highway needs is to be given equal consideration consistent with interstate commerce.

Half complete, the system initially was projected to be in full use by 1972. Now the target is 1975. Already preliminary studies are under way toward a wholesale extension which Congress may consider in 1969 and 1970.

Taking his problem to Lowell K. Bridwell, federal highway administrator, Mr. Howard learned that only 25 miles of the 41,000 had not been authorized but that no new money could be allocated.

90TH CONGRESS 1ST SESSION

H. R. 13933

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

NOVEMBER 9, 1967

Mr. HOWARD (for himself, Mr. DON H. CLAUSEN, Mr. CRAMER, Mr. DENNEY, Mr. DORN, Mr. DUNCAN, Mr. EDWARDS of Louisiana, Mr. GRAY, Mr. GROVER, Mr. HANMERSCHMIDT, Mr. JOHNSON of California, Mr. MCDONALD of Michigan, Mr. MCEWEN, Mr. SCHADEBERG, Mr. SCHWENGEL, Mr. SNYDER, Mr. WRIGHT, Mr. MCCARTHY, Mr. OLSEN, and Mr. ZION) introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on Public Works

A BILL

To amend section 103 of title 23, United States Code, to authorize modifications or revisions in the Interstate System.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That subsection (d) of section 103 of title 23, United States Code, is amended by inserting "(1)" immediately after "(d)" and by adding at the end thereof the following new paragraph:

Raritan Board Action Honors a Fallen GI

RARITAN TOWNSHIP — The Board of Education this weekend established a Glen B. Bates Memorial Award for social studies. The memorial will honor persons giving their lives in the cause of freedom.

The award, which will be given annually to students who have the highest academic standing in social studies, was established following the death of Lance Cpl. Bates of 20 Irwin Place, Hazlet. The 19-year-old Marine was killed at Wuang Nam, Vietnam, Nov. 2 by hostile enemy fire.

A medallion will be presented to one outstanding student from Raritan Township High School, where Cpl. Bates was graduated in June, 1966.

Cpl. Bates was a former Newspaper Carrier Boy, who with his brother, David, delivered the Newark Star Ledger and The Daily Register.

David was the first newspaper carrier in the Hazlet district and when Glen was old enough to assist, he accompanied David, now a student at Monmouth College, on the route. Later he delivered a newspaper route of his own.

In establishing the award, the Board of Education noted that Cpl. Bates turned down college studies to "defend his country and preserve freedom."

In one letter to his parents, the young marine said, "Freedom costs an awful lot. Guard it with all of your might."

To Protect Dollar in Pound Devaluation

U.S. Discount Rate Boosted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board's discount rate moved up a notch today in what officials described as an effort to protect the dollar in the wake of the British pound devaluation.

The rise from 4 to 4½ per cent is identical to one put into effect on Dec. 5, 1965, but that was for a different reason—to stem inflation. It triggered a year of tight money.

This time, however, the move is designed to prevent a heavy flow of dollars overseas in search of higher interest rates. It's expected to have little immediate effect on consumer interest rates in this country.

When it devalued the pound on Saturday from $2.80 to $2.40, Britain also raised its discount rate from 6½ to 8 per cent.

The U.S. discount rate is the interest commercial banks must pay the Federal Reserve for money they borrow from the system. Other rates are pegged upward from it.

More in Line

In this case, however, the board is bringing its rate more in line with interest rates elsewhere in the world economy rather than tracking new ground.

Interest rates generally are at their highest level in almost half a century.

But some officials said the higher discount could tend in the long run toward an increase in rates consumers pay for loans. In this connection it could have an anti-inflationary effect but officials emphasized that would be only a side effect.

The Federal Reserve acted at an emergency Saturday night meeting and its decision was announced yesterday.

There was no immediate reaction from the White House.

A statement by Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler said nothing about the discount rate and mentioned world-wide cooperation to help the British. He expressed confidence the United Kingdom would achieve its objective of improved competition in world markets.

But Chairman Wright Patman, D-Texas, of the House Banking Committee, a frequent critic of Federal Reserve Board policy, said of the discount rate rise: "I don't like it . . . the people are fed up with crushing interest rates."

Patman said the board used the devaluation of the pound as an excuse to raise the rate.

The board's action is effective today at 10 of the 12 Federal Reserve banks. Banks at Philadelphia and St. Louis are expected to follow suit soon.

Officials said the action is "intended as a demonstration that the United States is going to do what it can to maintain the dollar in International markets."

Repercussions Roll

Repercussions to Britain's pound devaluation rolled around the world today, and bitter discontent brewed in London among Laborites, Conservatives and angry men-in-the-street.

The government's announcement Saturday that the pound would be devalued provoked matching devaluations in Spain, Ireland, Denmark, Israel and the British colony of Hong Kong. Fifteen other nations said they were undecided, while other nations kept their currency's ratio to the U.S. dollar steady.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson went on television last night to explain that the devaluation is meant to spur British exports and that the limping economy will have a chance to "break out of the straitjacket" of boom and bust.

Most countries that devalued with Britain are suppliers of food and raw materials, meaning British buyers can import from them at the same old prices.

British salesmen stand to gain in countries that held fast. The government is in effect giving them a 14.3 per cent subsidy to undercut their competition, increase their profits or a combination of both.

However, many prices on the British market will go up, resulting in a curtailment of buying. The government hopes this will turn manufacturers to the export market so that Britain's balance of payments will move toward the black again.

Some top British industrialists were divided over the likely effects of devaluation but most of them agreed the move should be advantageous to them.

Sir John Hunter, chairman of the Swan Hunter Shipbuilding firm, said devaluation "should go a long way to obliterate the price advantage which Japan has held." Lord Plowden, chairman of Tube Investments, commented: "On the balance, we should gain more than we should lose, but it depends what happens to wages and the cost of supplies."

Howard Is Guest at White House Dinner

Westmoreland Will Retain Command

WASHINGTON — Gen. William C. Westmoreland looks like anything but a man about to lose his command in Vietnam.

This was the positive view yesterday of Rep. James J. Howard, D-NJ, after having attended, with 39 other select members of Congress, a White House dinner at which the general and President Johnson candidly discussed the war's progress.

Why the second-term Monmouth County representative was included among guests on the rare occasion of a dinner with the commander-in-chief and the allied field commander of a war at its height, Mr. Howard says he doesn't know.

It was a bipartisan gathering with no pattern apparent among the invitees. He explained:

"Sometimes, when you are asked to the White House, you either know from the timing or from the group attending what may be the business at hand. But not this time."

The President, said Mr. Howard, took cognizance of newspaper column forecasts that Gen. Westmoreland was coming home to be retired from the war.

"Immediately," he said, "the President said that the first question he always gets when a high ranking military man comes home is 'Who will replace him.' It was then made clear Gen. Westmoreland is not being replaced."

General Westmoreland, said Mr. Howard, discussed the war in detail, asserting that the enemy has not had a significant victory in battle in almost two years and expressing his hopes for relieving pressure on American troops.

During the evening, the congressman says he asked himself a couple of times:

"How is it that a former elementary school principal (Wall Township) can be here at this kind of meeting?" He answered himself, however.

"Then I looked across the room where the President was sitting, like a moderator asking the general questions for our benefit, and I realized that there was another former school teacher. Only in the United States could it happen."

General Faculty Pay Hikes Opposed by State Board

By ELINOR MULTER

TRENTON — The State Board of Higher Education does not believe across-the-board increases are a good approach to the establishment of equity between the salaries of the state college faculties and those of the Rutgers University faculty.

In backing away from such an approach, the board has backed into the unprecedented problem of sanctions declared against it and the six state colleges, by the 1,500-member Association of State College Faculties.

The association is seeking higher salaries, including an increase in the minimum at all levels. A new salary policy announced by the board last week has failed to satisfy the association which insists that its members are short-changed in salaries and over-burdened in class room hours, as compared with Rutgers University faculty members.

'Parity' Is the Word

Mrs. John H. Ford, Cresskill, vice chairman of the state board, told The Daily Register: "We don't use the word 'equal.' We speak of parity, equal pay for an equal kind of performance."

Individual Factors

Mrs. Ford explained that similar titles at different institutions may have different implications. The background and experience of the individual faculty members must be examined before determining whether they should have equal pay, she indicated. The fact that two men hold the same professorial rank does not necessarily indicate that they should receive the same salary, she said, adding:

"We don't think it's going to produce the kind of quality we want to do a lot of things on an across-the-board basis."

She expressed optimism that the association and the Department of Higher Education would be able to work out their difficulties, indicating that there had been a good deal of "misunderstanding" generated during Friday's meeting of the board.

At that time, Dr. Gabe Sanders, chairman of the association's salary committee termed the new salary program "totally unacceptable."

Mrs. Ford agrees that minimum salaries at the state colleges are too low, and may not

Bishop Ahr Dedicates Holy Family School

UNION BEACH — The new Holy Family School at Rt. 36 and Lynn Blvd., was dedicated yesterday afternoon by Bishop George W. Ahr.

The building, which has been occupied since September, is located on a 17-acre tract. It consists of a school wing comprising 16 classrooms on two floors, with a sisters' lounge, faculty quarters, health room, principal's office, waiting room and laboratory facilities.

Offering the dedication was the Rev. Donald Endenbrock, assistant at St. Raphael's Catholic Church, White Horse. He is also a member of the Diocesan Council of Priests.

Chanters for the blessing ceremony were the Rev. Eugene M. Reheck, assistant at St. Ann's Catholic Church, Keansburg, and the Rev. Charles F. Kelly, assistant at St. Mary's Catholic Church, New Monmouth.

A large multi-purpose room of the new school consists of a stage and combination auditorium-gymnasium, with folding bleachers and a balcony seating 365 persons; a library, cafeteria, kitchen and incinerator room.

The multi-purpose room and the cafeteria are fully air-conditioned, said the Rev. Joseph G. Fox, pastor of the school. He referred with pride to the illuminated parking area for 500 cars.

Designed by Robert Moran, West Orange architect-engineer, the school is attached to an adjacent residential building which has been completely renovated. It is occupied by a convent for the School Sisters of Notre Dame, who staff the school.

Sister Nicholas Marie is principal.

Reds Slash Yanks; North Viet Pounded

SAIGON (AP) — Entrenched North Vietnamese troops struck a hard blow at a battalion of U.S. paratroopers yesterday in the 18-day-old Dak To battle as American planes hit the Hanoi-Haiphong area for the fifth straight day.

The air raids included blows against the fifth and sixth targets to come off the Pentagon's restricted list in four days, a concrete plant and a barge yard near Hanoi. Ground fire brought down at least two Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs, bringing announced plane losses to nine since Thursday, with 11 fliers missing.

The belief grew among American commanders that the Communists at Dak To are trying to do what they achieved earlier this year just below the demilitarized zone—draw large American forces away from thickly populated areas and pin them down in the sparsely settled mountains.

Some 6,000 Americans and 4,000 South Vietnamese now are at Dak To, 270 miles north of Saigon, opposing an estimated 6,000 to 8,000 North Vietnamese.

All-Day Battle

North Vietnamese soldiers dug in on a hill 14 miles southwest of Dak To killed 40 paratroopers of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade and wounded 42 in an all-day battle Sunday. The paratroopers swept the battlefield today, but there was no immediate report of how many enemy bodies they found. Field reports told of three clashes within 800 yards of each other.

The North Vietnamese broke contact after seven hours under a heavy bombardment by U.S. fighter-bombers and artillery.

Elsewhere in the area, two U.S. 4th Infantry Division companies fought four miles south of Dak To and the South Vietnamese reported a victory Saturday on Hill 1416, five miles northeast of the Dak To airstrip.

The 4th Division reported three U.S. infantrymen and seven

Legislature Opens Lame Duck Session

TRENTON (AP) — Democrats reflected a mood of caution today as the lame-duck legislature returned to consider a handful of proposals by Gov. Richard J. Hughes' administration.

Hughes, back from a post-election vacation in Puerto Rico and Antigua, was planning to confer with legislative leaders as they prepared to hold the first of three sessions before relinquishing control to the Republicans.

Legislative leaders predicted that a key proposal to develop the vast and valuable North Jersey meadowlands would be shelved. Some said the Republicans, who won 3-1 margins in both houses, might take action on the plan early next year.

The meadowlands bill, modeled on a proposal by state Community Affairs Commissioner Paul N. Ylvisaker, envisions a "co-op of communities." It calls for large-scale commercial, industrial and residential development of the area.

Haven't Time

But Democratic leaders said there didn't appear to be sufficient time to work out details of the program during the lame-duck sessions.

However, the lawmakers planned to act on a congressional redistricting bill which was

60 Attend Middletown Parley Of Community Affairs Council

MIDDLETOWN — Township taxpayers and "average citizens" had an unusual opportunity last weekend to guide the future of the township. Only about 60 citizens turned out.

An equal number of township committeemen, resource personnel and Community Affairs Council members were on hand to listen to advice, complaints and evaluations by people interested in helping to shape the future of the municipality.

The affair was a community development conference held at Middletown Township High School from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

It was a two-part conference with a general session, registration and introduction of council members in the morning. The afternoon session was devoted to six workshop meetings, covering the areas of interest within the community.

Delegates from service clubs and other organizations, as well as municipal leaders, met with townspeople with the theme "Communication and Personal involvement, designed to bring the community together."

Before introducing Mayor Ernest E. Kavalek, members of the Community Affairs Council and keynote speaker Arthur J. Holland, former mayor of Trenton, Albert A. Terranova, chairman of the CAC, explained the purpose of the conference.

The first purpose, he said, was to acquaint the public with the council and stimulate interest by residents to become involved with the machinery of the township. The second was to help find solutions to the community's problems.

He said there would be a lot of work ahead, after the talking phase was concluded.

Mayor Kavalek, who was responsible for forming the council and who began the project long before the state developed a program of its own, stressed the conference would provide a cross-section of civic, recreation and municipal leaders and afford an opportunity for the citizen to help develop his community.

"People should rely less on the municipal government," Mayor Kavalek said, "and move ahead as members of the community to strengthen the town in which we live.

"All of our service clubs are significant. They are made up of dedicated people interested in a greater community. Middletown has many people who come forward, walk right up front, and say 'What do you want me to do?' "

In his keynote address, Mr. Holland, who is now associated with the Rutgers Bureau of Community Services and formerly on the staff of the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs, said citizens and leaders should take advantage of all the mistakes of those who went before us.

"You can't fault your forebears for many things they did," he said, "but we can all use forethought and look to the future."

Mr. Holland, who was mayor of Trenton when it was selected as the "All-American City," said there are both physical and human sides of a community.

On the physical side, he said, "you have sewer problems here. But you still have a chance to lay out a plan for the future. The older cities have sewer problems. Theirs is to take out an antiquated system before they can start new.

"You have a chance still to lay out a circulation system on your highways," Mr. Holland continued, "The big cities now find they need complete planning staffs, running into thousands and thousands of dollars, but you have a opportunity to study and plan now for the future needs of the overall plan."

Speaking of the human side of the community, Mr. Holland said, "If a minority member comes to your area, that person should be judged on his own merits."

Mr. Holland stressed that the private citizen can become an effective force in the community to improve it as a whole.

After a noon luncheon there were six separate workshops designed to evaluate various areas of development in the township—Youth Activities; Recreation; Education; Health, Welfare and Safety; Community Development, and Civic Affairs.

The workshops provided "resource people," an outside expert in each field and a local moderator.

The "resource people" and moderators were:

— Youth activities: William Hart, director, Youth Division, New Jersey Department of Community Affairs, moderator, William Gannon, youth services director.

— Recreation: Al Guido, special assistant to Commissioner Robert A. Roe, New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development; moderator, Benjamin Shaffer, superintendent of recreation.

— Education: John McLaughlin, assistant to State Education Commissioner Carl L. Marburger; moderator, Paul Lefever, superintendent of schools.

— Health, welfare and safety: Richard Sullivan, director of the New Jersey Task Force on Air and Water Pollution, and Benjamin Palumbo, assistant to state Transportation Commissioner David Goldberg; moderator, John Kelly, president of Middletown Helps its Own, Inc.

— Community development: Joseph Taylor, executive director, Monmouth Community Action Program (MCAP); moderator, Mr. Terranova, CAC chairman.

— Civic affairs: Curt Hubert, chief of Bureau of Local Planning, state Department of Community Affairs; moderator, Richard Seuffert, township business administrator.

Visitors were asked to fill out a general evaluation sheet on the conference; possible changes that would improve future meetings; topics to be discussed; and general comments.

Comments and discussions were recorded at the six sessions, and a meeting will be held this week before a report is submitted to municipal leaders.

Although the turnout was small, council members believe it is the beginning of public awareness that "everybody can become an active part of the community."

The function of the council is to institute, coordinate, recommend, support, and direct community betterment programs. It functions to receive recommendations from the total community concerning action projects.

Crash, Fire and Rain Mar Parade

LONG BRANCH — An auto crash, fire and rain made things difficult for Monmouth College students Saturday during their Homecoming Parade, but the marchers nevertheless won through.

"The Wonderful World of Walt Disney," theme of the parade, was first shaken up when a car driven by an unidentified woman slammed into the leading parade float at Broadway and Myrtle Avenue, delaying the start of the procession 20 minutes.

A short time later, a float sponsored by the Sportsmen's Club of the college caught fire at Broadway and Norwood Avenue. The blaze was quickly put out, but the float was ruined.

When the marchers were halfway to the oceanfront, where trophies were to be awarded, a heavy downpour of rain further dampened the proceedings, but the units doggedly continued to the bitter end.

Cooper Gets Recount Request on Tie Vote

FREEHOLD — A recount of council votes for New Shrewsbury was ordered Friday by Superior Court Judge Elvin R. Simmill.

The petition was filed by New Shrewsbury Councilman Francis L. Cooper, an Independent, who had tied with A. John Erlacher, a Republican. Each received 732 votes.

The recount was scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 30, at 11 a.m. in the voting machine warehouse on Manalapan Ave.

The other council seat in the Nov. 7 election was won by Dale H. Shick, a Republican, with 755 votes.

Mr. Cooper, through his attorney, Richard T. O'Connor of Freehold, contends an error was made in counting the votes.

According to law in case of a tie vote, the seat becomes vacant and is filled by appointment by council. The Republican-controlled council has indicated that the post would go to Mr. Erlacher.

Vietnam

North Vietnamese soldiers killed and 12 Americans wounded. The South Vietnamese said their paratroopers and U.S. planes killed 250 North Vietnamese regulars on Hill 1416.

This brought the claimed total of Communist dead to more than 1,100 in the Dak To campaign. American casualties of 197 killed and 750 wounded have been reported.

Communist gunners yesterday shot down five U.S. helicopters, but all were recovered intact.

Eight-engine B52 bombers went after suspected enemy positions 14 to 17 miles southwest of Dak To, near the area of the American paratroopers' battle, in four raids last night and today.

Pay

compare favorably with those of other institutions in the nation. However, she termed this "not really critical," because of the greater freedom to hire at salaries above the minimum under the newly announced program.

Long Term Problem.

Angered by the association's move to sanctions, chancellor of higher education, Ralph A. Dungan declared that the higher education board is coping with problems of the past quarter century which cannot be corrected in "one fell swoop."

He said that under the new salary program, the salaries at the state colleges "are equal to or higher than those of comparable institutions in the state."

The initial sanctions will be limited to informing potential faculty members of the failure of the association to achieve improved pay and working conditions, indicates Dr. Donald R. Cicero, its president. No moves to stay away from classes are planned at this time.

Legislature

bottled up in the Assembly for months. The measure would redraw districts in Essex, Middlesex, Union and Camden Counties.

Democrats lacked the votes to enact the bill in the lower house when the legislature recessed last May. There were reports that he outgoing majority party could secure enough support now to pass the plan in the Assembly. The bill has already cleared the Senate.

The changes in the redistricting plan were ordered by the courts to create districts of more equal population. Democrats hold nine congressional seats and Republicans six. The next congressional campaign will take place in 1968 with all 15 seats at stake in the presidential election.

Highways

But the system did call for an eight-mile extension of Interstate 278, west of Rt. 1-9 at Elizabeth, at a cost of $100 million, with little expectation that it would be built.

At Trenton, Mr. Howard found that Gov. Richard J. Hughes' administration had bowed to local opposition and would not sanction the necessary $10 million in state funds to get the U.S. $90 million share. Here was the basis for a switch.

Within the Public Works Committee, of which Mr. Howard happens to be a member, he found that Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., the ranking minority member, usually takes a dim view of expanded construction unless, of course, it is in Florida.

Deviation Foe

He also found that the chairman, Mr. Fallon, zealously protects the interstate system from deviation from its stated goals. Both of these men counseled that whenever a construction authorization is suggested, all congressmen rightfully ask, "What does it do for my district? How can I get in on it?"

Mr. Cramer was mollified on two fronts. Now he's a co-sponsor.

He had been fearful that by allowing the secretary of transportation, Alan Boyd, to withdraw I-278 from the system, the state of New Jersey might move to build a toll road there.

He also was looking for a three-mile interstate connection to carry an existing road from St. Petersburg to Tampa Bay bridge.

Mr. Cramer's needs were easily met. The bill specifies that the traffic corridor left vacant by withdrawal of an authorized interstate road shall not be used for a toll road. And the three-mile Florida extension can be undertaken by insertion of appropriate wording.

New York Project

In New York City, a cross-Manhattan expressway has been on the drawing boards for years but probably never will be built as first plotted.

City congressmen, however, want to use the money for improvements to patches of other interstate roads.

Likewise, there were similar situations in San Francisco, New Orleans, Detroit and Cleveland. The bill was deftly written to meet these needs.

("As a Democrat," Mr. Howard told the Shore Area Development Committee on Friday at Deal Golf and Country Club, in a humorous aside, "I have some misgivings about sponsoring a bill that will help Republican Govs. Reagan, Romney and Rockefeller.")

The California situation was unique. San Francisco had been authorized to build a road under circumstances similar to those at Elizabeth and, after local objections prevailed, had already surrendered its allocation.

Under the Howard bill, worded to woo Californians, Secretary Boyd can reassign money to a route in California that will not exceed in cost what the withdrawn route would have cost.

Devise Title

By the time the many amendments had been written, it was discovered that the title was misleading. It talked of "additions." Realistically, the changes were "modifications." So the title was revised.

Fearful that congressmen confronted with a much-amended bill, on which they could easily read the substitutions and wonder whether the changes had adversely affected them, the sponsors killed the original and prepared a brand new or "clean" bill. That is the one that will be brought up today. Its number is 13933.

If objections are not raised on the floor, the bill can be adopted by a voice vote. If a roll call is required, approval must come from two-thirds of the members present. But no changes can be made. A maximum of 40 minutes debate, 20 each pro and con, is permitted.

Mr. Howard, with advice from senior committee members, has elected to proceed under a suspension of rules, and chance getting the two-thirds vote. The alternative would be to risk the more time-consuming route through the rules committee, where additional amendments could be tacked on.

Any Change Fatal

"We have one certainty," he says. "If this is changed in any way to require new money or extra mileage, the chairman of the Public Works Committee and the Department of Transportation will drop their support and, even if adopted, it would be vetoed by the President."

Looking ahead, Mr. Howard's other hurdles are speedy action in the Senate, the President's signature, and — for New Jersey, at least — Mr. Boyd's authorization for the freeway.

To pave the way, the congressman has already conferred with the President's foremost liaison man in Congress, Postmaster Lawrence A. O'Brien, to lay the groundwork.

"As soon as the House acts," says Mr. Howard, "I am assured Mr. O'Brien will ask the president to make a few phone calls to Jennings Randolph (D-Okla.), chairman of the Senate Public Works Committee, and some others, to urge prompt action without amendments.

"If we can get through the House on a voice vote, it will be helpful to Senate supporters to assure their colleagues that this is non-controversial and that it has no loopholes through which they might attach their own states.

"We have already made this point with the ultra-conservative of the House, (Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa), and if he doesn't force a roll call vote or stymie us with amendments, it will be reassuring to others."

But more than solving a half-dozen localized urban problems, the Howard bill will allow New Jersey to unravel serious congestion on its Garden State Parkway and to construct a third major north-south super road, the Garden State Thruway.

When the Thruway and the freeway cross each other at the southern end of Monmouth, with connections to the New Jersey Turnpike near Allentown and the parkway at Wall Township, a three-year-old dream called the Central Jersey Expressway System will be a reality.

How will the freeway, being built in the 90-10 cost sharing interstate system, turn the key?

It will release the parkway-operating and thruway-building agency, the New Jersey Highway Authority, and the state highway department, from $42 million in commitments for the cross-state road.

Instead of the state using $15 million of its money for a 50 per cent share of half the freeway, as planned, and the authority using $30 million of its funds for the full cost of the other half, only a total of $3 million state money will be required.

The savings will be available for needed widening of the parkway in Middlesex and Union Counties and for construction of parallel service roads in those counties.

By providing the service roads, the two agencies will eliminate objections Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) has raised to the authority charging tolls on now free parkway sections.

He has given assurance that when the service roads are committed, he will support legislation to permit parkway tolls. Then, the authority can proceed with financing of the thruway between the Woodbridge and Toms River areas.

Unless the Senate concurs in the Howard bill as written, it must be returned to a Senate-House conference committee to compromise differences and then be passed again by each house.

Possible rough spots in the upper chamber are Sens. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash, and Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga, both of whom are anxious to get major interstate additions in their states. That's where Sen. Randolph's advance briefing from the President will be helpful.

"We look to him to mollify the others with the knowledge that this bill can't help them but that there will be a major interstate program in the works in the next Congress and they will be included then," he explains.

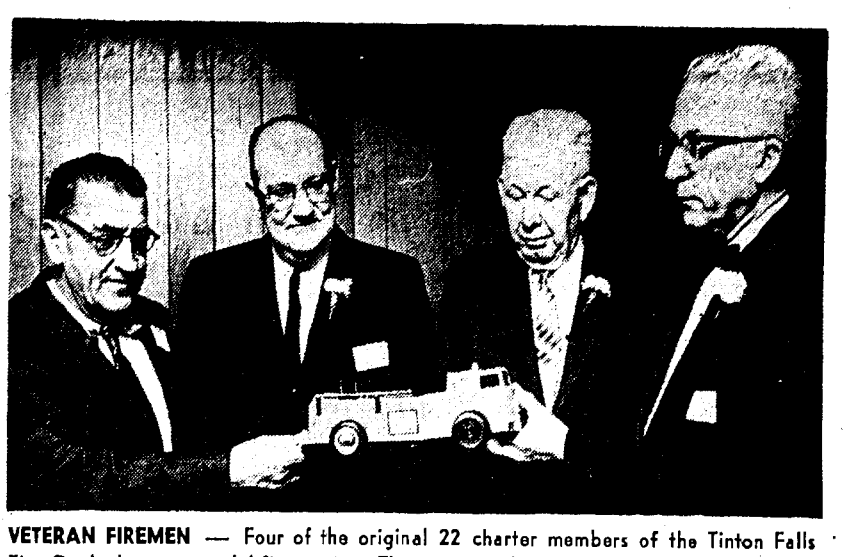

Somewhat dismaying late last week was word, relayed through Postmaster O'Brien, that Secretary Boyd would be more comfortable with a couple more technical amendments giving his department a little more leeway.

But Mr. Howard says it's too late.

"Every precaution is already in the bill," he says. "The secretary really is given an open hand. We can pass this bill and he doesn't have to do a thing. It says 'may,' that he 'can consider,' that he shall 'give due regard.' But it doesn't compel anything."

Again with a twinkle, he concludes:

"There is only one thing Lowell Bridwell and Alan Boyd have to do. They have to authorize the New Jersey road after the President signs the law. If they don't, they know they will be shot."

From Buckets of Sand, Water, Tinton Falls Fire Co. Grew

By LONIA EFTHYVOULOU

NEW SHREWSBURY — "Our community service started with a bucket of sand and a bucket of water."

These were the words of the late George N. Withey, first president of the Tinton Falls Fire Co. used 35 years ago to describe this organization's very humble beginnings.

Mr. Withey, and 11 other of the 22 charter members, since then have died. The company observed its 35th anniversary at a dinner in Crystal Brook Inn, Eatontown, Saturday.

The organization they helped found, however, and their rich legacy live on. From those humble beginnings, the company grew to possess three modern, fully-equipped trucks. Members hope to add a fourth one soon. "And we will pay for it entirely on our own," proudly said Chief Louis Poitrinal.

The organizational meeting of the company was called on Oct. 13, 1932, and the first meeting following that was Oct. 20. The company received its charter from the state in 1936.

The first motorized equipment was a Model T Ford — which had to be pushed down the hill before it could start. "It was easy to push, however," said Clarence N. Withey, the speaker at Saturday's dinner, and one of the charter members present.

This first truck was presented by Edward Emmons of the Eatontown Fire Co. The first alarm was a large hoop which had to be hit with a hammer. "It could be heard quite well," recalled some of the old timers.

The first alarm to be answered by the newly formed and eager volunteer firemen proved to be false. Sam Jouliano drove his truck down to Water St., to call for aid. Indications were that the house of Benjamin Van Kirk on Water St., was ablaze and help was needed urgently.

Someone had run off to inform the chief; someone else to "hit the hoop." Volunteers pushed the truck down the hill to start it, and the men were off on their first call.

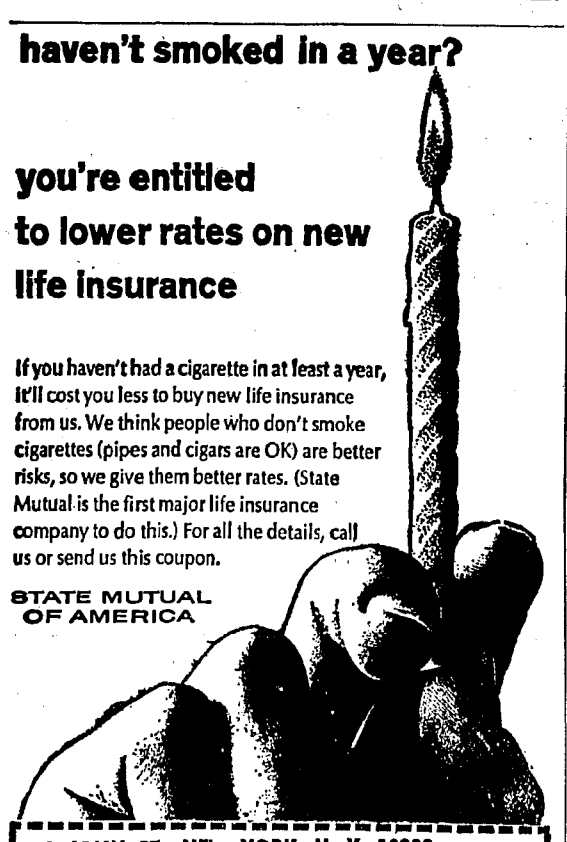

Disappointment awaited them. It developed that some bird had built its nest in the chimney, and the Van Kirk's had lit a fire. There was no draft and billows of smoke resulted, lots of smoke, but no fire.

Debt Is Met

Through the years the company and its Ladies' Auxiliary worked hard to pay off mortgages. Purchased was the old carriage house which since has become the new firehouse. A kitchen was added, later a new truck bay. All this was paid for by the department. Borough contributions rose to $1,500 per a year but still, some 80 per cent of the funds needed are raised by the company and its auxiliary.

In 1934, the company had 40 members. Now it has 26. It now seems more difficult to get volunteers. Modern fire fighting equipment, of course, is easier to handle and fewer men might be needed. But volunteers are always welcome. There always is a need for trained hands.

Company members of the fire company get no pay or reward other than the self-satisfaction that arises from devotion to their work and their determination and will to help the community.

CYSTOCELE CAN CAUSE PYELONEPHRITIS

Cystocele (pronounced SIS-toe-seal) means that the bladder has sagged somewhat and instead of emptying completely while urinating, some of the urine is retained. This provides an environment in which germs can flourish and the infection moves up into the kidneys. Pyelonephritis, the most common of all kidney troubles, can develop.

Sometimes surgical correction, which is not difficult, is necessary to cure a Cystocele. If you have any constantly recurring problem in that area, you should consult a physician. We stock the antibiotics and anti-infectives usually prescribed for treatment.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound and dispense yours?

Land of the Still Rising Sun

Resurgent Japan is now the fourth largest industrial power in the world. Her phenomenal rate of growth and key strategic position in the Pacific make Japan an ally of inestimable value to the United States.

The continued social and economic development of Japan will determine in great part whether the emergent nations of Asia will follow her example of orderly evolution or the leadership of Communist China.

In this context the visit of Premier Eisaku Sato to Washington was of crucial importance to the future of Japanese-U. S. relations. At a time when anti-American sentiment is rife in Japan, Prime Minister Sato carries on the enlightened tradition of Premier Shigeru Yoshida, whose wise post-war guidance led a crushed nation to spiritual and economic recovery. Like Yoshida, Premier Sato believes that Japan's continued prosperity lies in amicable relations with Western powers.

Despite anxiety over the highly explosive Vietnamese situation, the Japanese government supports the American effort in Vietnam. There is, nonetheless, a deep-seated desire for an accommodation which would permit Japan to resume trade relations with mainland China — a country with which Japan has intimate cultural and historical ties.

Japan is the only Asian nation with the technological and economic knowledge to lead in the development of a regional economic cooperative organization. The success of such an alliance is inconceivable without the participation of a stable and peaceful mainland China.

The chief purpose of Premier Sato's mission was to seek the return of Okinawa and the Bonin Islands to Japanese control. Washington has pledged to return—within a year—the Bonin Island group. It is said that those islands can be relinquished without weakening the U. S. defensive position in the Pacific.

Okinawa, however, is America's key military base in the Western Pacific. And President Johnson — at least for the immediate future — kept firm control of Okinawa and the other Ryukyu Islands. There was little likelihood at the start of the talks that Okinawa could be safely returned before the conclusion of the Vietnam War.

Premier Sato is under intense pressure from dissident anti-American groups in Japan to press for the immediate removal of the 950,000 Okinawans from U. S. administrative control. And there is some question whether the Pacific Islands compromise achieved will satisfy the premier's opposition in Japan.

Nonetheless, steps must continue to be taken — when the time is right — to assure the gradual transference of Okinawa to Japanese control. The importance of maintaining good relations with Japan during a period of Asian turbulence can hardly be over-rated.

The Day of Decision

Congressman Howard has done a masterful job in paving the way for favorable House action today on a bill authorizing construction of a Trenton-to-the-shore-area expressway.

His measure — adding 200 "paper miles" to the federal interstate system at no additional cost — is scheduled to be considered by the House this afternoon.

If all goes well, the prospects for passage of the bill look good, the congressman said Friday in a talk before the Shore Area Development Committee.

The bill will go to the House floor under rules of suspension to keep it from being "amended to death" by congressmen anxious to get more federal highway mileage for their areas, Mr. Howard said.

He lined up Republican as well as Democratic co-sponsors for the measure—including some highly influential members of Congress.

"We've covered all the angles and I can't think of one other thing we could possibly do to assure passage," he said. And that speaks well for the Third District representative, who kept fighting for the highway even when, it seemed, all hope was lost.

D. Louis Tonti, the executive director of the New Jersey Highway Authority which operates the Garden State Parkway, has praised Mr. Howard for meeting the highway problem "vigorously and with imagination." Mr. Tonti is a master at that himself — and he well knows the efforts that have gone into advancing the legislation by Mr. Howard.

The highway is badly needed — and there is no question that its construction will bring great benefits to Monmouth County. We hope the bill will be adopted by the required two thirds vote and then pass over the other big hurdles. But regardless of what happens, county residents can take a great deal of pride in the excellent work done by Mr. Howard.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Food for India 'Studied'

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

The Johnson administration is conducting a "study" to determine whether to provide India with still another 3 million to 5 million tons of foodgrains.

ALLEN

An added cost to U.S. taxpayers for this latest contemplated huge food "giveaway" would be an estimated several or more million dollars for extra shipping charges due to the unyielding closure of the Suez Canal by President Gamal Nasser — who has been strongly backed by Prime Minister Indira Gandhi since the outbreak of the Middle East conflict early last June.

Already the shutdown of this waterway has cost American taxpayers more than $941,000 in additional transportation charges on 1,896,000 tons of grain provided India in the past six months. For India the extra freight cost has been $2,476,000.

"We spend billions to keep the Indians from starving, and Russia arms them," caustically remarked Senator Vance Hartke, D-Ind., influential member of the Finance Committee. "If that isn't the way to breed war, I don't know what is. If the Kremlin can arm India and the Arabs, then it can feed them. It's time our country took a realistic look at such matters and acted accordingly."

* * *

HARTKE CITED the following "ironic realities":

Since 1946 U.S. economic aid to India has totaled more than $6.25 billion. Of this increase sum, upwards of $1.5 billion has been in outright grants, and $3.512 billion in so-called "sales" of grain and other food for Indian currency — which remains in that country. Of these counterpart funds, some $500 million has been for U.S. use in India. The rest has been spent on Indian developments, and more than $1 billion in such rupees is on deposit.

Since 1961 the U.S. has given and "sold" Egypt (for its currency which remains in that country) more than $860 million in grain and other food. There is around $500 million in such counterpart funds in the UAR. Also during this period the U.S. has provided Jordan, Algeria, Iraq, Syria, Yemen and other Arab countries with around $1 billion in food.

With the exception of Jordan, these Arab states and India have been supplied with vast quantities of arms by Russia.

* * *

WHAT'S BEHIND IT — The State Department is making the administration's carefully unannounced "study" of whether to provide India with another 3 million to 5 million tons of foodgrains.

If it is decided to do that — and the inside belief is it will be — the negotiating of the deal will be handled by the Agriculture Department. This is in accordance with the Food for Freedom Act passed by Congress last year. The transaction would be under this law.

Bases for this backstage plan are the following details:

With India's long drought broken and the use of greatly increased fertilizer and improved growing methods, a bumper grain crop of an estimated 95 million tons is expected this year. The last big crop was 88 million tons in 1964. Due to lack of rains that dropped to 72 million in 1965, and 76 million in 1966.

Three years ago, the 88 million-ton crop provided Indians with an average 2,000 calorie diet. The aim of the Indian government is to raise that average to around 2,500 calories.

Since the 88 million-ton crop, India's population has increased by 40 million — for a total of well over 500 million.

The anticipated record high crop of 95 million tons this year will provide a 7 million-ton increase to offset the 40 million additional mouths to feed.

As a consequence, on an average diet basis Indians will be no better off this year with a record-size crop than they were three years ago. In fact, probably a little less well off, because the country's cereal reserves are exhausted.

U.S. authorities are proceeding on the assumption that India will continue to increase its foodgrain output. But the big question mark is whether these gains will be sufficient to meet the demands of the steadily zooming population. The outlook is that it won't, and India will continue to need large infusions of foreign grain.

State Department experts are pondering what these requirements are likely to be.

Their conclusion will determine what the U.S. is prepared to do — on an equal matching basis with other countries, according to the State Department.

"That Guy Nader Makes Me Sick"

THE REPORTER

An Old American Custom

By JIM BISHOP

HONOLULU, Hawaii — When you are flying 600 miles per hour eastbound, and the sun is westbound at 1,000 miles per hour, the days and nights become short. We left Tokyo in cold rain at 10 a.m. for Hawaii, but it was 4 p.m. in Honolulu, so, by the time my watch read 2:40 p.m. (Tokyo time) night fell with a crash and the big Pan-American 707 looked like a small winking red star among a million blue ones.

BISHOP

Our group, the intellectuals, were busy eating, playing gin rummy, and filling out customs declarations. We had flown 17,000 miles out of 23,000, and, in a few hours, would be back in the United States. None of us could think of Hawaii as a state. It's an emerald encrusted wristwatch on the arm of the U. S.

So Kelly made out customs declarations of what we had bought for the children and ourselves; the Krolls not only added up what they bought, but Gene kept saying: "I'm the kind of a guy who gets caught with a pair of two dollar cufflinks," so he was nervously adding items he had intended to buy but wasn't sure Sophie purchased.

Wally Lehmann had an 8 mm. Japanese movie camera, which sells for $138 in Hong Kong, higher in Tokyo, and twice as much in the U.S. He took out the receipt and it read "$100," so he declared $100. Richard Winer, the photographer, was adding and subtracting camera lenses and zooms and ingenues, and nothing came out right.

* * *

A STEWARD PASSED down the aisle and whispered: "Tough customs agents in Hawaii. They'll hang you for a silk tie." "With it," somebody said. At 10:30 p.m. we were in the customs shed, and a voice whispered: "Don't get in the line where the lady customs agents are. They'll sift your dirty sox for jewelry."

By this time, Kroll was so nervous he was calling me Joey, and my wife murmured: "Is it hot in here or is that perspiration running down my back?" Sophie Kroll reached a spot in front of a customs agent, and put on a smile that immediately froze in a death mask. The customs man had no time for casual friendships. He asked Gene to zip the bags open, one by one, and the man began to look at shirt labels, suit labels, false bottoms (in suitcases, I mean).

Then he studied the declaration form and, although each person is permitted to bring in $100 worth of merchandise free, the Kroll list added up to $650. Six fifty honest and scared. Sophie's teeth, exposed to the glare of lights, began to dry. Then the agent muttered: "Next case," and the couple mopped their brows and left.

The Bishops got through okay. My wife volunteered the information that she and her husband were using identical crocodile brief cases. This aroused the suspicion of the customs man, who began to wonder whether he had looked at one bag twice. So he started all over again with the Nikon camera and the Hong Kong shirts. Kelly also told him about a dress she had ordered, which would be mailed to our house.

He and I had the same thought: she's a mental case. Then I remembered I was standing in a pair of shoes that were a gift from Benny, and that may have cost him $15 Hong Kong. The tiny beads on my forehead looked like diamond chips, and the sweat leaked into the new shoes.

* * *

WALLY CAME ALONG and showed the camera and the bill. The man studied the zoom lens. "Most people," he said brusquely, "seem to think we're stupid. This thing, at the very least, cost $140 in Hong Kong; $160 in Tokyo and $230 in the United States. You show me a receipt for an even $100. It's a marked down bill."

He gave Mr. Lehmann his high noon glare. "Now you either put down the right amount on this bill or I'm going to start tearing all your effects apart." Wally swallowed hard. He is the most innocent of the group and wouldn't lift a stray dime out of a grating, unless he had a piece of string and some bubble gum.

Wally said: "Ta-tuh, doo-n-n-g, but tah, oooh (whistle) it's it's it's whatever it say on that there paper." The hammerhead shark smiled: "Okay," he said. "We start tearing things open." I leaned over Mr. L. "You paid $139 for that thing," I said. "I was standing beside you. The clerk in Hong Kong gave you a wrong receipt."

"Yeah," Wally said. "Yeah," pointing at me. "Whatever he says." So he changed the figure and the customs agent stared at all the camera equipment Winer and Haylock had (a hand truck full) and said: "I'm not going through all that stuff. I assume you had this when you left New York?" Winer nodded.

Outside, I studied a sign that said: "Welcome to Hawaii, U.S.A." I said to myself: "This is my own, my native land, and the parole board meets once a week."

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

How to Invest in Wine

By SYLVIA PORTER

You are typical of increasing millions of American families if you are planning to serve wine at your Thanksgiving dinner this Thursday. You are also typical of millions if you are becoming increasingly interested in the subtle details of how to buy, store and serve fine wines.

PORTER

Last year, we in the U.S. bought $910 million of wine — vs. $570 million in 1950. The number of wine-drinking Americans is growing at a yearly rate of 10 per cent and the number consuming fine wines is growing on a similar scale, according to Michael Aaron, general manager of New York's famed Sherry-Lehman Inc.

Yet the supply of fine wines is severely limited. The world's highest quality wines come from less than 5 per cent of the world's entire vineyard area. As a result, by the time a great wine is ready to drink, it is so scarce that the price tag is acceptable only to the affluent among us.

* * *

FOR INSTANCE, if you had bought a bottle of 1961 Chateau Haut Brion, one of the finest red Bordeaux wines available in 1963, you would have paid $6.50-$7 for the bottle. Today, only four years later, the same bottle costs $12.50.

Today, a case of 1964 Chateau Lafite-Rothchild will cost you $120. A case of 1961 Lafite-Rothchild will cost you $195 — if you can manage to find any for sale. And if you can track down any 1955 Chateau Lafite-Rothschild, which you probably can't, it will cost you $235 a case.

Or, let's say that in 1949 you gave a case of 1947 La Tache (an historic red Burgundy from the great Romanee-Conti domain in France) as a new baby present. The case would have cost you about $60. But this year the retail value of the gift comes to about $250.

These examples dramatize the high and still climbing values of great wines today due to sharply limited supplies and zooming demand. Of course, federal and state laws prohibit the ordinary consumer from selling or reselling wine he may have bought at bargain prices. Nevertheless, the examples suggest other ways to reap the maximum return from your wine investment.

* * *

YOUR BEST MOVE, as a wine buyer, is to stock up on wine as soon as possible after it has been bottled. However, Aaron warns: "If you are going to give wine as a baby present, make sure the baby is born in a good year and in a year that will be long lived."

In the 1960's, the great wine years for Bordeaux and Burgundies were 1961, 1962 and 1964. The 1966 wines, both red and white and from all over Europe, which will be reaching the U.S. marketplace between now and 1970 also are slated to rank among the all-time greats.

Any top, respected wine merchant can advise you which of the newer wines are the best buys today, in terms of quality, prices and your personal preferences. He can tell you, too, which wines, such as the popular Beaujolais, should be consumed within just a few years and which, such as many of the finer Bordeaux and Burgundies, should be laid away for long periods. (In some cases, wine merchants have arrangements with public warehouses in which customers may store wine.)

A CONSERVATIVE VIEW

Drifting Situation

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

Rhodesia observed the second anniversaty of her independence a week ago, but it is perhaps not too late to send greeting and to express, once again, an urgent hope that our own government will soon abandon a policy that is predicated upon poor diplomacy and bad law.

KILPATRICK

The Rhodesian situation is simply drifting. The longer it drifts, the more embarrassing the problem becomes to everyone.

Surely this impasse is humiliating to the United Nations, which solemnly resolved that Rhodesia's independent existence is a "threat to the peace." By this time, it is apparent that no such threat exists or ever did exist. No international body can command respect when it votes falsehood and imperiously labels it truth.

Neither can the UN continue to command respect when its most drastic decrees prove both ineffectual and unenforceable. The resolutions hurled at Rhodesia were not mere expressions of opinion; these unprecedented resolutions embodied mandatory sanctions upon trade in a dozen commodities. They were action resolutions. Their purpose was to bring the regime of Prime Minister Ian Smith to its knees. But nearly a full year after the fact, the commodities still are moving, and the knees of Mr. Smith show not the slightest tremor.

* * *

THE THEORY that supports the United Nations is that the UN is dedicated to "world peace through world law." If this lofty phrase means anything, it must mean that the UN stands first of all for obedience to law. But in order to adopt these resolutions against Rhodesia, the Security Council had to flout the UN's own basic law. Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, among other distinguished authorities, has termed the sanctions "patently illegal."

If these past two years have served to expose the hypocrisy and impotence of the United Nations, they have served equally to compound the embarrassment of Harold Wilson's Labor government in England. Mr. Wilson is singularly the author of his own discomfiture. Eleven months ago he had a reasonable settlement almost within his grasp; but Mr. Wilson is a stubborn and impatient man. He wanted his own way, and he wanted it now. He could not wait. When the Rhodesian government refused to be hurried, Mr. Wilson flew into petulant fits. Now he is stuck with pronouncements that command no support anywhere, least of all among the African Commonwealth nations he had hoped so much to please.

* * *

THE FIASCO has not gone unobserved. On October 27, the UN's Trusteeship Committee adopted a stinging resolution, denouncing England for failing to use force to bring Rhodesia into line. The vote was 90-2. A few days later, the General Assembly approved the committee's resolution by an almost identical vote. In London, the Sunday Express exploded in wrath:

"The only nations which voted against this monstrous resolution were South Africa and Portugal. Asked to condemn his own country, the British delegate merely abstained. Such is the depth of cowardice and irresolution to which our leaders have sunk that—for fear of giving offense—they are not even prepared to vote for themselves. Just for once is it not possible for the government to stop worrying about mythical world opinion and, instead, to start doing what is good for its own people and what is right?"

Fair questions. The United States Senate, for its part, gave an indication of its own distaste on October 10, by writing into the State Department's appropriation bill a pointed suggestion: If the administration thought sanctions were proper against peaceful Rhodesia, why not seek sanctions against the aggressors of North Vietnam?

So the situation limps along. Within the UN, the belligerent Afro-Asian bloc demands forceful measures—as long as someone else pays for them and does the fighting also. Around the world, the sanctions become steadily less effective. In Rhodesia, sad to say, right-wing pressures intensify; the Smith government is pushed toward new patterns of apartheid. Under the circumstances, it sounds hollow to say "happy birthday." For the time being, there's little to be happy about.

FROM OUR READERS

Library Appreciated

Little Silver, N. J.

To the Editor:

At a time when our major effort is being directed toward the building of a library wing, the following letter gave us a tremendous lift. We would like to congratulate our librarians and volunteers who were able to go beyond the limits of our present small library to help materially a student who is accustomed to using the fine Smith College library.

Dear everyone,

Now that I'm firmly established in my government course about Africa, south of the Sahara, I can really appreciate all the advance work I did over the summer. The general knowledge gives me some idea of what the professor's talking about and my bibliography is going to be a great help in writing my papers.

Certainly none of this would have been possible without all the help you all gave me during my vacation. I really feel as if I've been through the entire New Jersey State Library collection on Africana. You were all so nice, even though I'm sure that I created tons of extra paper work for you. And special thanks to Mrs. Balkan, Mrs. Ayers and Mrs. Kennedy. I'm sure that you've boosted me up at least one grade!

Thanks again. I hope that sometime in the future I'll be able to work with you and really repay my debt.

Most sincerely,
Laura Zeisel

Man Admits Sale of Gun

FREEHOLD — William C. Pavel Jr., 22 Coral Drive, Hazlet, has pleaded guilty to charges of selling an automatic pistol for $40 without a permit.

County Court Judge M. Raymond McGowan, who accepted the plea, set Jan. 5 for sentencing.

Pavel was accused of selling a 6.35 caliber automatic Armi-Galesi Berveho revolver March 24,1965, to Raymond Folscher. No address was available for Mr. Folscher from the county prosecutor's office.

Assistant county Prosecutor John A. Petillo presented the state's case. Pavel was represented by Samuel Bozza of Newark.

Parade Winners Are Announced

EATONTOWN — The Recreation Commission has announced the winners of the Halloween parade, which took place at the Monmouth Shopping Center. They are:

Debbie Hegge of Ft. Monmouth, first place in the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth grade competition; Derick Reevey of Cliffwood, first place in the fourth and fifth grade competition; Steve West, here, who placed first among the third graders; Randy Brister, first place in the second grade contingent; Lisa Poole of Ft. Monmouth, first place among the first graders, and Billy Soden, here, the first-place winner in the pre-school class. In all, 11 prizes were awarded in each group.

Miss Terry Lynn Weaver, here, placed first in the poster competition, announcing the parade in the borough's schools. Carol Slotkin was second.

Judges were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cook, Mrs. Robert Nicholson, Mrs. Vincent Urgo and Mrs. Gladys Francis.

Of the 141 youngsters registered for participation in the parade, 102 were from the borough and another 10 from Ft. Monmouth. A total of 76 prizes was awarded.

The Halloween Parade was led by the Royales, formerly the Eatontown Drum and Bugle Corps, under the leadership of Michael Petrone and Fred Wolf.

The commission expressed its gratitude to many service clubs and organizations which helped in the parade. It cited the Merchants' Association at the shopping center, the Borough Council, the Leisure Time Club, the American Legion, the Fire Department, the Police Reserve and the Civil Defense Department.

Spear

Successful Investing

By Roger E. Spear

Q—Is Loral Corp. worth investing in? We are in our 40s, with a son in college and a daughter in high school. We naturally want to realize a profit, but we cannot afford to lose.—M. K.

A—I thoroughly understand and appreciate your situation. What you must understand, though, is that all stocks involve the possibility of loss, even if it is only the risk of market fluctuation. People in your circumstances should not buy Loral. Earnings have been erratic and no dividends are paid. A new management has recently taken over and may succeed in stabilizing the earnings base. At present, the shares must be rated a speculation, unsuitable for people like yourselves. I believe firmly in quality and strong growth. With these two characteristics a stock is likely to show a generally upward trend over a period of time. Such an issue is American Home Products, well diversified in drugs and household items. It has shown a steady growth rate for years and the shares do not look too richly priced at 27 times this year's expected earnings of around $2 a share. I believe this issue will work out better for you than Loral which still has problems to solve.

Q—Please publish the names of a few conglomerates which seem best suited for capital gains. Are conglomerates better managed than mutual funds?—F. U.

A—My two favored conglomerates are Litton Industries and Textron. Both, in my opinion, are ably managed and have long records of consistent growth. As more speculative selections, I like Ling-Temco-Vought and Gulf & Western. All have had big advances and are vulnerable if market weakness continues. Your second question is unanswerable. Some conglomerates, like Litton, have exceptionally good management and some funds appear to have lacked this element. Each situation must be judged on its own merit.

Children's Eye Tests Scheduled

MIDDLETOWN — A vision screening program for pre-school children, ages 3½ to six, will be held throughout the township Monday, Nov. 27, through Friday, Dec. 1.

Sponsored by the Lions Club in cooperation with the township Board of Education and Parent Teacher Associations of township public and parochial schools, the project is part of a statewide program of the Eye Health Division of the N. J. State Commission for the Blind.

Free eye tests will be given from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 to 3:30 p.m. at the following locations:

Monday — Bayview School, Leonardville Road, Belford.

Tuesday — Harmony School, Murphy Road, Port Monmouth.

Wednesday — Fairview School, Cooper Road, Fairview.

Thursday — Lincroft School, Holmdel Road, Lincroft.

Friday—Navesink School, Monmouth Ave., Navesink.

Screening will be done by Lions Club and PTA volunteers, under the supervision of Misses Anne O'Hara and Audrey Benda, RNs, program representatives for the N. J. State Commission for the Blind.

16 Bids Are Studied For Jail Construction

FREEHOLD — The Monmouth County Board of Freeholders has returned 22 certified checks and retained 16 for eight categories of contracts for a proposed new county correctional institution.

The board agreed to keep the checks for the two lowest bidders in each category for review by the architect, Bernard Kellenyi of Red Bank. The other checks were returned so as not to restrict the funds of the other bidders.

Board members could not say when the contracts will be awarded. The board will have its regular meeting tomorrow at 2 p.m. in the Hall of Records.

When the bids were accepted last Tuesday, the total cost came to $2,910,658, without including the alternates. If a 10 per cent figure of $291,066 is included for legal and architect's fees, the total jail cost would be $241,724 higher than the $2,960,000 appropriated for it.

Estimates Given

Ground breaking is planned two weeks after the contracts are awarded, with completion estimated at 14 months later.

Still in the running for the jail complex to be located on Waterworks Road, Freehold Township, are the following contractors:

General construction: Peter J. Saker Corp., Freehold, with $1,369,400, and Simpson Construction, Toms River, with $1,559,000. There were 10 bids for this job.

Structural steel and miscellaneous metal: Park Steel and Iron Co., Bradley Beach, with $29,938, and Vernon Fabricating Co., Robbinsville, with $51,460. There were three bids received.

Plumbing: Charles Simpkin and Sons, Hopelawn, for $373,969, and Frank C. Gibson Inc., Freehold, for $386,330. Three bids had been received.

Heating and ventilating: Air Con Inc., Mountainside, for $288,197 and Sarbo Inc., Middletown, for $309,554. Five contractors had bid for this.

Electrical: Topas Electric, Lakewood, for $414,180 and Fluoro Electric Corp., Newark, for $448,500. There were nine bids for this.

Jail equipment: Herrick-Pacific Corp., Hayward, Calif., for $332,000 and Southern Steel Co., San Antonio, Tex., for $367,000. These were the only bidders.

Food service equipment: Forpat Stainless, Elizabeth, for $92,035, and Devin Products Co., Trenton, for $101,600—the only bidders.

Laundry: American Laundry Machinery, Norwood, for $10,939, and Troy Laundry Machinery Rutherford, for $14,063. There were three bids.

Two Penny Banks Are Reported Stolen

FREEHOLD — Two penny banks containing about $30 were reported stolen by Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bedeaux of 14 Ford Ave.

Entry was gained, police said, by removing a kitchen storm window and breaking the inner one.

Croydon Hall Headmaster Is Honored

William E. Coleman

LEONARDO—William E. Coleman has been honored at a reception marking his 15th year as headmaster of Croydon Hall Academy.

A member of the staff since 1947, when the school was in its first year, Mr. Coleman taught English, Latin and history five years before his appointment as chief administrator by Dr. John M. Carr, president.

He still teaches history and Latin, and is master of one of Croydon's five dormitories.

Mr. Coleman is a native of Buffalo and graduated from Canisius College in 1941. He served in Africa and Italy during World War II, and earned his master's degree at Columbia University in 1946.

Croydon Hall, the county's only non-sectarian boys' preparatory school, now has an enrollment of more than 200 boarding and day students.

Club Views Film On Cerebral Palsy

LONG BRANCH — Joseph Putterman, president of the United Cerebral Palsy Foundation's local chapter, presented a film about cerebral palsy at the Brothers of Israel Men's Club breakfast meeting in Lagowitz Auditorium, 85 Second Ave.

Dr. Otto Lehmann, Monmouth and Ocean Counties Cerebral Palsy medical staff director, described the disease. Jules Levy and Dave Silverman gave a preview of "Main Street," a musical comedy which they will present next week at Lagowitz Auditorium.

Pythias Lodge Gives $250 to Hospital

LONG BRANCH — Jersey Shore Chapter, Knights of Pythias, has contributed $250 to Monmouth Medical Center for purchase of a nurse's chart rack for their psychiatric department in Betty Block Roberts Pavilion.

The presentation was made by lodge treasurer Joseph Shapiro of Bradley Beach to George J. Bartel, hospital administrator.

This is the fifth year the lodge, which has its headquarters in the Hillel School, Wanamassa, has made a gift to the center.

Plans for the group's annual Christmas party will be made at a meeting tomorrow.

Ann Landers

She Can't Forget

Dear Ann Landers: I wish you would stop giving stupid, unrealistic advice to wives whose husbands have been unfaithful. How can you expect a woman who has been through the tortures of hell to "forgive and forget"? It looks good on paper, Ann, but human beings just don't operate that way and you should know it.

We were married 17 years. I thought our marriage was as solid as the rock of Gibraltar. My husband was doing well in his profession. Our children were a credit to us. His home was his castle — or so I thought. And then those ugly little clues began to pop up — every wife whose husband has cheated knows them well. Makeup smudges on his shirt which he tries to explain away as "yours, dear." Those last minute phone calls saying he won't be home for dinner. Then he announces he must go away for the weekend — business, of course. When he returns he's too tired for conversation, let alone love.

Finally you tell him of your suspicions. He confesses, swears he loves only you — says he doesn't want a divorce. She means nothing to him. He'll never see her again. He looks you straight in the eye and says, "You owe it to our children to put this out of your mind and go on as if nothing happened."

The next thing I know he hands me your column and you're on HIS side! "Forgive and forget," you counsel. "Never mention the incident again." How in God's name can I forget? Do you have an answer for me, Ann Landers? — BETRAYED

Dear Betrayed: Yes, I have an answer for you — and for the hundreds of other wives who wrote as you did.

You don't want to forgive and forget? All right, then don't. Keep the painful memories alive by rehashing the past at every opportunity. Let him know his deceitfulness has destroyed your faith and broken your heart. Cry a lot. Drop a few cutting remarks in the presence of the children. Why should the skunk enjoy their respect after what he has done to you? And don't forget the ultimate punishment. When he wants your love, oblige him, but keep the love-making wooden and mechanical so he'll know your heart isn't in it. Force a little smile now and then to make sure he knows you are trying to be brave.

After a while he'll get fed up with the sub-zero temperature at home and he'll tell himself he has a right to seek warmth and comfort elsewhere. By that time you'll have decided that maybe you should forgive and forget. But it will be too late.

Ann Landers will be glad to help with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

FOUR YEAR OLDS
. . . alert, and intelligent, and as mature as such little children can be, are invited to join our new classes. Our success in teaching reading and arithmetic to qualified five-year-olds encourages us to believe that something more in the way of readiness training can be done for certain four-year-old children than is presently being accomplished. The children will attend class in our primary school center at Rumson, which is devoted to the training of four, five and six-year-old children. They will attend school from 9 A.M. to 1 P.M. during the conventional school year. If you are interested, please call us and arrange for preliminary testing. Transportation is available.

MATAWAN — The art department of the Woman's Club will present Mrs. Edward Price at a meeting today at 1:30 p.m. in the clubhouse. Mrs. Price will discuss "Art Galleries of Europe and Royal Palaces of Spain."

KEANSBURG — The Federated Women's Club will again entertain Senior Citizens of the area at Thanksgiving Dinner tomorrow at 1 p.m. in the Knights of Columbus Hall, Route 36. Music will be provided during the dinner and entertainment will follow the meal.

Acceptances have been received from the 75 senior citizens who have been invited and transportation has been arranged by the club.

KEYPORT—A square dance will be jointly sponsored by the Knights of Columbus and the Columbian Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Council Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the council home, Route 35, Keyport. The caller will be Joseph Randall.

Auxiliary co-chairmen are Mrs. Garrett Walsh, 324 Maple Place, Keyport, and Mrs. Stanley Walczak, 11 Linda Place, Hazlet. The Knight's chairman is Lawrence Yates, 12 Barrier Drive, Hazlet.

MATAWAN — The National Council of Jewish Women, Bayshore Section, will hold a study group in the home of Mrs. Jerome Cohen, Old Bridge, on Thursday, Nov. 30, at 8:30 p.m.

Speaking will be Mrs. Ricki Weiner, wife of Rabbi Weiner, spiritual leader of Temple Shalom. Mrs. Weiner will discuss "Masada."

Anyone wishing to attend please contact Mrs. Cohen, 9 Troilus Drive.

NEWARK — Members of the New Jersey Chapter Eastern Air Line Silverliners (ex-stewardesses) will sponsor their second annual Christmas bazar on Friday, Dec. 1, at the Public Service Building, (promenade area, Raymond Boulevard entrance) 80 Park Place, Newark, beginning at 10 a.m.

MATAWAN — Women of the Trinity Episcopal Church will hold their annual Holly Bazar Friday from 1 to 10 p.m. The event is a benefit for the church building fund. The church's new home on Ryers Lane and West Court is expected to be completed in time for Easter Sunday services.

Luncheon and dinner will be served at the bazar. Special features this year will include a coin collector's booth, green thumb corner, boutique and "second time around" assortment.

MATAWAN TOWNSHIP—Two book fairs are planned by the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Ahm in observance of Jewish Book Month.

A children's fair will take place Sunday, Nov. 26, from 9 a.m. to noon in Strathmore School. Books for adults will be available at the sisterhood's regular monthly meeting Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 8:30 p.m. in the Oak Shades Fire House.

Mrs. Stuart Abraham, Aberdeen East, is sisterhood librarian.

WANAMASSA — The Insurance Women of Monmouth County will meet on Tuesday, Nov. 28, in Busch's Hofbrau Restaurant here. Guest speaker will be Richard Due of the Aetna Casualty and Surety Co. who will discuss homeowner's policies. Reservations chairman is Mrs. Patricia Sbarbaro.

SOUTH AMBOY — Twins' Mothers Club of the Raritan Bay Area will meet Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 8:15 p.m. in Christ Church parish hall here. Mrs. Alice Gardner of Public Service Gas and Electric Co. will present a program entitled "Parties on Parade." The meeting is open to all mothers of twins, triplets and quadruplets. Mrs. Nicholas Davella is in charge of reservations.

LONG BRANCH—The Public Health Nursing Auxiliary will hold its annual luncheon for members only in the Channel Club, Monmouth Beach, at noon Thursday, Nov. 30. Annual dues will be collected and members will make contributions to the Health Center's Nurses Fund.

MATAWAN — Bayshore Section, National Council of Jewish Women, will sponsor a performance of "Alladin and His Golden Lamp" by the Wagon Wheel Junior Players on Sunday, Dec. 3, at 2 p.m. in Matawan Regional High School, Atlantic Ave. In charge of tickets are Mrs. Herbert Goldstein, Roncon Lane, and Mrs. Allen Turkel, Canfield Lane, both of Matawan.

Chain Reaction Collision Injures 4 in Middletown

MIDDLETOWN — Both drivers and two passengers were injured in a freak two car accident yesterday that concluded with an unmanned automobile almost crashing into a house 200 feet from the scene.

Stephen M. Gammon, 21, of North Rohallion Drive, Rumson, applied his brakes behind a car operated by 42-year-old John J. Mulholland, of Rahway. Mr. Mulholland had stopped at a red light, west of Thompson Ave. and Rt. 36.

Mr. Gammon's brakes failed and he plowed into the rear of the stopped car. The Mulholland automobile jumped into reverse just as the gas tank caught fire.

Witnesses say the car, streaming flames, then began to travel backward as Mr. Mulholland's passenger jumped out of the right side of the car. The driver then also leaped onto the pavement.

The vehicle continued 136 feet to the Thompson Ave.-Rt. 36 intersection and careened off the guard rail. It went another 246 feet across Thompson Ave., and collided against a tree in a yard at 32 Vanderbilt St., and stopped only two feet in front of the building.

The building caught fire and electrical wires on the house were burned.

Mr. Gammon was issued a summons for careless driving by Patrolman Kenneth L. Perkins, who investigated the accident.

Taken to Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, were, Mr. Gammon who was treated for shock and bruises of the face and chest; Peter G. Gammon, 16, for severe lacerations of the face; Mr. Mulholland for body bruises and a swollen leg; and Lizabeth Cullen, 40, of Orange, for lacerations of the head and possible concussion.

Blaze Destroys Keansburg House

KEANSBURG — An empty house at West Shore and South Street was burned to the ground Friday evening. The fire, of undetermined origin, was spotted by an unidentified caller who told police she saw flames shooting from the structure.

The building was owned by Mrs. John Ficarro of Jersey City. Mrs. Ficarro could not be reached for comment.

An investigation is underway. The building, once before, had been reported afire, but no serious damage occurred.

Raritan Zoners Deny Store Complex Permit

RARITAN TOWNSHIP — A quarter-acre Angelo Webster tract, just north of Bethany Road, multiple-building, commercial complex variance was denied by the Zoning Board Friday here. Four other variances were granted.

Anthony Jackapino of Holmdel Township requested the variance for a proposed $100,000 four-store complex at Keyport-Holmdel Road. The property is in a residential zone.

The proposed complex would have been situated on the three-

Controversy over the variance request stemmed from six residents' complaints that they wanted the area to remain a quiet, safe residential area. They said that traffic there would create a hazardous condition, and drainage problems would occur.

The board decided no hardship was shown by the applicant, who operates a pharmacy on Bethany Road, near Hazlet Ave., and concluded that the area should remain residential.

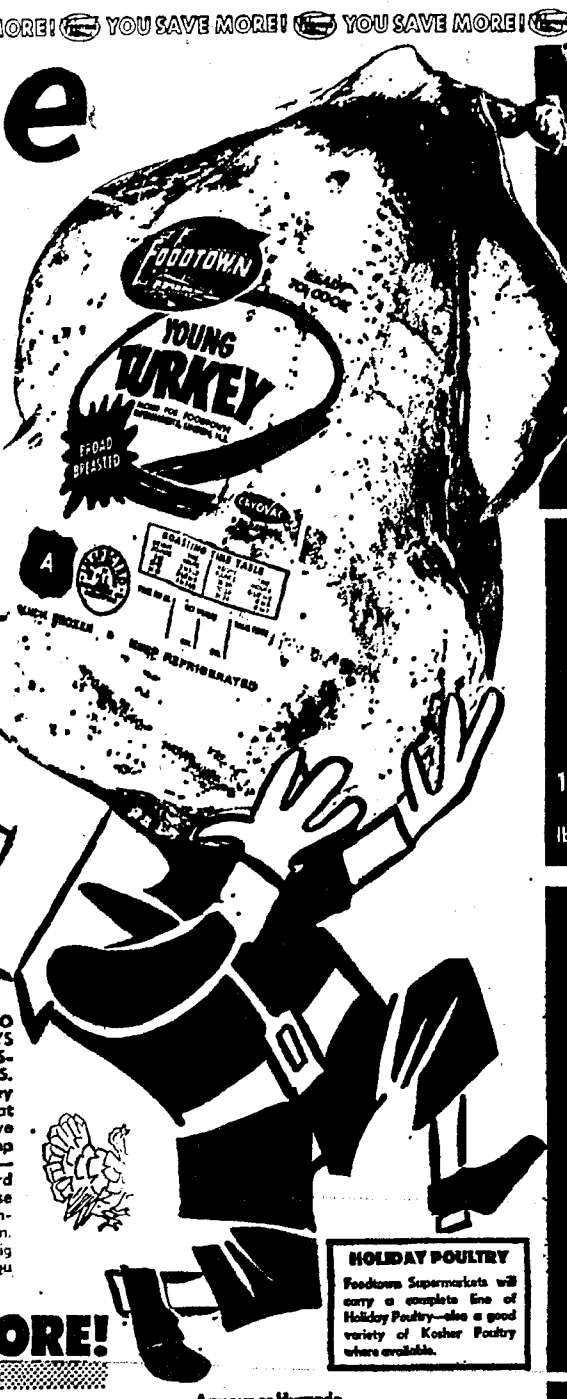

Mr. Jackapino had intended to move his pharmacy to the new location, and rent the remaining three units.

The board approved these variances:

For Lawrence Nolan to rebuild, on its existing site, his Lakeview Inn, Rt. 36. Mr. Nolan said the half-century-old building was in need of serious repairs and possibly violated many of the township ordinances; to Roland Petrocco, West Keansburg, for a U-Haul at Rt. 36, West Keansburg; to John Miele Jr., here, to operate a law office in a residential zone at 618 Palmer Ave.

Plan June Wedding

Miss Anna D. Ritacco

NUTLEY — Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ritacco, of this place, of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Anna D. Ritacco, to Neil J. Fitzpatrick, son of Mrs. William G. Fitzpatrick, 311 Main St., Matawan, and the late Mr. Fitzpatrick.

A June wedding is planned.

Miss Ritacco, an alumna of Nutley High School, is employed as a secretary at the People's National Bank and Trust Company, Belleville. She is a member and past president of the Catholic Young Adult Club of Holy Family Parish, here.

Mr. Fitzpatrick is an alumnus of Red Bank Catholic High School and St. Michael's College, Winooski Park, Vt., where he received a bachelor's degree in business administration. He also has done graduate work in accounting and business at Seton Hall University, South Orange. He is associated with the Samuel J. Angelo Agency in Newark as a life underwriter for Equitable of Iowa. He is a member and past president of the Northern Monmouth County Catholic Young Adult Club and served as diocesan council president, state regional representative, and was a member of the executive council and board of directors of the national CYO Federation Young Adult Section, Washington, D. C.

Juniors Hear Author's Talk

MATAWAN — Reinold Shubert, well-known author of children's books, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Junior Woman's Club, in the clubhouse.

Mr. Shubert, who also serves as a trustee of the Ringwood Public Library, described how he writes his stories, emphasizing a moral background for the child written in good taste.

Mrs. Ronald Braun, literature and education chairman, announced a used book sale will be conducted at the Nov. 28 meeting, when 100 paperbacks will be offered for sale. The literature department is publishing a booklet of stories written by the children of the club members entitled "Cub Meanderings," which is expected to be ready in January.

Christmas gifts will be sent by the club to girls in the State Home and in The House of the Good Shepherd. Tray favors will be sent to the Veterans Administration Hospital in East Orange. Mrs. John Schnappauf, Braille chairman, announced glasses for two needy children will be purchased by the club.

Plans were discussed for the annual Christmas bazar to be jointly sponsored by the Woman's Club of Matawan, the Evening Membership Department and the Juniors. The bazar will be held in the clubhouse Dec. 1 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturday, Dec. 2 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Luncheon will be served both days.

New Head Teacher Appointed

RUMSON — Mrs. Barbara Surmonte of Asbury Park has been named head teacher of the Congregation Bnai Israel Nursery School here. She is assisted by Mrs. Edith Gale of Little Silver.

The nursery school, which is conducted daily from 9 to 11:45 a.m., offers a variety of activities for children 3 to 5 including dramatic play, block building, show and tell, library periods, and work in easel painting, cutting and pasting, finger painting, crayons and clay.

The activities are planned to promote growth in independence, self-expression and emotional control. Field trips also are conducted to give the children insight into the community around them.

Newsmen Find VC Camp in Cambodia

EDITOR'S NOTE: The U. S. Command in Saigon for years has charged that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces find sanctuary in neighboring Cambodia, charges which Cambodia's ruler, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, has repeatedly denied. Western newsmen were admitted to Cambodia to cover the visit of Mrs. John F. Kennedy. Two Associated Press men went to the border across from War Zone C, which they have covered from the Vietnamese side.

By GEORGE McARTHUR and
HORST FAAS

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The discovery of a Viet Cong camp site four miles inside Cambodia has angered Prince Norodom Sihanouk and raised doubts about his past denials that Vietnamese Communist forces were given sanctuary in his country.

Cambodia's ruling prince reportedly regards the discovery by American newsmen as a fabrication and part of a campaign against him by the U.S. press.

We found the Viet Cong camp, very recently used, on the border opposite War Zone C, about 70 miles northwest of Saigon. It had been used for several months and was most probably a staging area for the Loc Ninh battle, only nine miles away, earlier this month.

The outspoken prince, who contends the United States is the aggressor in Vietnam, reportedly told intimates our reports were part of a campaign inspired by the U.S. Command in Saigon to justify military operations against Cambodia.

Told Prime Minister

We informed Prime Minister Son Sann of the camp site before the stories were published. His initial reaction was cautious and he said he would make an official investigation. However, Prince Sihanouk reportedly accused us of hypocrisy, said our evidence was doubtful and questioned whether the camp site existed.

Evidence of Viet Cong occupancy found in the camp included military records written in Vietnamese, North Vietnamese medical supplies and similar items. Dated scraps of paper indicated the camp had been used for several months dating back to last February.

There were unmistakable signs that several hundred men, probably from a major headquarters command group, had used the camp. Occupants had left only a few days before. From the camp a heavily traveled road went through the dense jungle to the frontier, crossing it nine miles from Loc Ninh. Logs had been put down to counteract the monsoon mud. Tracks indicated many heavy trucks had used it.

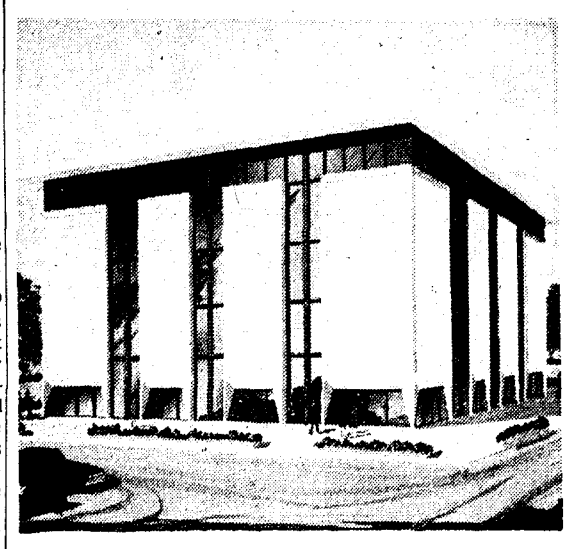

'Timber' Road

One embarrassed young lieutenant escorting us said perhaps the road was used by timber thieves. Another suggested it was built by the forestry department.

American officers have charged for years that the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese use Cambodia as a sanctuary when the going gets too rough for them.

American authorities in Vietnam have pinpointed at least 20 permanent camp sites; many of them are in a five-mile area adjoining the border where the Cambodian army does not patrol and has no significant posts. Frontier security is left almost entirely to village militiamen, a questionable force open to Viet Cong pressure and infiltration.

Competent authorities say the Viet Cong operate just as clandestinely in Cambodia as they do in Vietnam. They select areas where they are unlikely to meet Cambodian soldiers, particularly the virtually uninhabited northeast where Cambodia, Laos and Vietnam come together. Here the Ho Chi Minh trail from Laos joins the Sihanouk trail in Cambodia. In this desolate jungle area the border is not marked, and Cambodian troops stay away.

SHOPPING CENTER BUILDING — This is architect's conception of six-story office and professional building proposed for Monmouth Shopping Center in Eatontown. Plans were announced by John A. Feist, vice president of Feist and Feist, managing and leasing agents for the center.

Riverview Completes Second Refresher Course for Nurses

A ceremony was held in the hospital's conference room at which certificates of completion were presented by Miss Ruth Wallace, director of nurses; John H. Daniels Jr., administrator, and William T. Gill, associate administrator.

The 14 nurses include Mrs. Howe Allnutt and Mrs. Edward L. Badwick, New Shrewsbury; Mrs. Donald Bradley, Hazlet; Mrs. Seymour Corwin, Little Silver; Mrs. Samuel D'Angelo, Mrs. Donald A. Rivers and Mrs. Erle Walter, Middletown; Mrs. Philip Hartley, Mrs. Ernest R. Kretzmer and Mrs. Robert Roggy, Holmdel; Mrs. Michael O'Connor, Keansburg; Mrs. William V. Riemer, Colts Neck; Mrs. Neil Sullivan, Englishtown, and Mrs. Philip J. Torsney, Rumson.

Instructor for the course was Mrs. Beverly Denef, assisted by Mrs. Alleen Jo Williams. Another course is planned because of the many applicants for the previous session, Miss Wallace explained.

The eight - week refresher course is designed to bring the inactive nurse up-to-date in nursing theory and skills and inspire confidence and enthusiasm.

The statewide refresher program is being conducted by the Hospital Research and Educational Trust of New Jersey under a federal grant from the Manpower Development and Training Act. Also cooperating in the program are the Vocational Division of the New Jersey Department of Education and the New Jersey Division of Employment Security.

The course covered all aspects of nursing in a modern community hospital. New electronic equipment was demonstrated, physicians and technologists lectured, and medical films were presented.

Clinical experience was gained in the nursing units of Riverview Hospital in medical - surgical areas, obstetrics, pediatrics and intensive care unit, with care of the cardiac patient stressed.

A field trip to St. Barnabas Medical Center for a tour and orientation to hyperbaric medicine climaxed the course.

State's Resort Business History's Second Best

TRENTON — The state's second best year in history has been established in 1967 by the travel and resort business.

Monmouth County resorts generated an estimated dollar volume of $573,488,000, in spite of the rainy weather which prevailed during most of the summer resort season, said Robert A. Roe, commissioner of the Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

County resort centers gave these reports:

Resort Reports

Asbury Park — A five per cent decrease in over-all business. Bathing receipts were off 10 per cent. Motels, hotels, boardwalk shops and other small businesses held the level of the peak 1966 year. Estimated generated dollar volume was $330,375,000.

Long Branch—An increase of 13-15 per cent in 1967 over 1966. In spite of lower beach receipts, ocean front, and retail and wholesale business showed gains to bring about an over-all increase. Estimated dollar volume was at $192,848,000.

Manasquan—Beach badge sales of $212,000 in 1967 were 10 per cent less than in 1966. Estimated dollar volume was $2,578,000.

Ocean Grove—The 1967 season showed a 10 to 12 per cent decrease over 1966, although hotel business was good for the season. Estimated dollar volume was $4,550,000.

Belmar—Although beach badge sales were off, other business activity in this resort resulted in sales being on par with 1966. Estimated dollar volume was $8,420,000.

Bradley Beach—Borough officials reported 1967 business as being off as compared to 1966. Beach badge sales decreased by 25.6 per cent from the record of 1966. Estimated dollar volume was $3,353,000.

Sea Bright — Over-all business declined by about 20 per cent. Estimated dollar volume was $1,010,000.

Keyport to Highlands—A slight increase of 7 per cent brought in an estimated dollar volume of $30,354,000.

The estimated general statewide business volume was $2,305,014,000 this year, compared with $2,424,184,000 in 1966, showing an estimated loss of $119,170,000 or four per cent for the season.

Nearly all resorts reported bad weather as the primary factor affecting business but, even so, a few areas registered a net gain of estimated business about equal to 1966.

6-Story, $1 Million Building for Center

EATONTOWN — John A. Feist, vice president of Feist and Feist, managing and leasing agents for Monmouth Shopping Center, has announced plans for a six-story office and professional building at the center.

The million dollar, 60,000 square foot structure which will be leased and managed by Feist and Feist, is planned for construction in the spring.

Mr. Feist said: "Parking, the accessibility of location to major highways and the proximity to Ft. Monmouth, the world's electronics center, combine to make this project extremely desirable. Surveys indicate a definite need for this type of facility in the Eatontown-Ft. Monmouth area."

The building will be of steel frame and concrete slab structure with exterior aggregate panels. All windows will be insulating glass and there will be central air conditioning with individual controls.

Offices will be subdivided according to the requirements of tenants and the building will be serviced by high speed elevators.

The architect is H. Robley Saunders of Newark. The building design, according to the architect, will lend itself to use for professional suites and commercial offices from small one-unit spaces to an entire wing or floor.

The building will be located on the periphery of Monmouth Shopping Center.

Federal Aides Probe Cause of Fatal Crash

LAKEWOOD — Federal officials are continuing their investigation into the cause of a fatal air crash which took the lives of two Toms River men here Friday.

The two men were identified as Leo Ritter Jr., of 31 Edgemere Drive, and William Warren of 13 Rico Road, flight instructor for Ocean County Aviation Inc., owners of the Lakewood Airport.

The Cherokee 140, four - seat training aircraft crashed into a wooded area some 1,500 feet from the airport's entrance not far from Cedar Bridge Ave.. Wreckage was scattered over a wide area. The two men were believed killed instantly, before flames engulfed the craft.

First Such Crash

The crash was reported as the first accident in the company's 4½ years of operation at the airport and the first fatal crash in the vicinity of the field. More than 500,000 successful takeoffs and landings have been logged in the company's operation. Many students were trained here.

Miss Rita Burdynski, 23, the airport's secretary-radio operator and her brother Frank of 107 Meridan Drive, Brick Township, were the first to reach the scene of the crash.

Miss Burdynski said she was expecting the aircraft and was watching for it when she saw smoke near the end of the runway. She had no radio contact with the aircraft and could get no response from it. She said another aircraft was sent up to investigate but the pilot could see nothing through the trees. That is when she and her brother drove out and found the wreckage.

A Lakewood man, reportedly the sole witness to the crash, Ernest M. Regeder of 220 Kent Rd., said he saw the aircraft suddenly lift off the runway and make a sharp left turn toward what proved to be its fiery end, as it disappeared into the trees.

Harold Walsh, the company's president, informed local police when Miss Burdynski rushed into his office after seeing the crashed aircraft. State troopers from Laurelton and Brick Township barracks were soon on the scene, starting the investigation.

Denied a Meeting Room, Youth Unit Goes Outside

ASBURY PARK — Lincoln Park Housing Authority has denied the CPC further use of a community room in the low income housing project for the workshop.

"The workshop will continue," Mr. Stander asserted. He said that the workshop, regularly attended by 60 children, will hold its first "open air session" this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Stander said that a Housing Authority official on Friday told Hank Mandel, the workshop director and a graduate student at the Rutgers University School of Social Work, that the community room no longer could be used for the program.

The Housing Authority had granted the CPC permission for use of the room more than two months ago, Mr. Stander said. The workshop, financed by a federal antipoverty grant, meets three afternoons and one evening a week.

Mr. Stander said the reasons given by the Housing Authority include acts of vandalism, noise and lack of supervision.

Vandalism Cited

The acts of vandalism cited include a broken window, broken light bulbs in some of the buildings a distance from the workshop, and the fact that change boxes of dryers in a laundry room in the basement of one of the buildings had been broken into, Mr. Stander said. He said that all of the incidents also had occurred before inception of the CPC program "and we can't associate them with the workshop."

In the two months since its opening, the workshop has spent less than $30 and has begun to establish itself as an important part of the low income housing project, Mr. Stander said.

He said the young people rehabilitated the "garbage-strewn, former community room" at Lincoln Village for the project, clean the room when they arrive for the workshop, set up the equipment and "often will spontaneously go to the store with voluntary dues to buy needed extras, or to the lumber yard for wood scraps."

Activities Supervised

The older participants supervise activities such as football, basketball, woodcraft, painting, singing and dancing, Mr. Stander said.

He acknowledged that the work "often is characterized by disorganization, confusion and hyperactivity."

But the children and young people participating in the various programs, designed for toddlers of two to 22-year-olds, have begun to show "a growing sense of ownership, pride and responsibility" for the workshop, he said.

The Housing Authority has made previous complaints "and has never appeared too comfortable with the program's philosophy of providing a maximum of self direction to young people," Mr. Stander said. For example, he said, authority officials had threatened to change the workshop locks because three teenage "staff" have been given keys.

Recount to Include All Votes for Mayor

FREEHOLD — All votes for mayor cast in Marlboro will be recounted instead of just one district as a result of a petition filed by incumbent Mayor Walter C. Grubb Jr.

Superior Court Judge Elvin R. Simmill Friday ordered all the township's mayoral votes cast in the Nov. 7 General Election recounted Thursday, Nov. 30, at 10 a.m.

Initially, only the votes in District Two were to be recounted. Incumbent Councilman Charles McCue, who was declared the unofficial winner after the election, filed for recount when the official returns disclosed that there was a tie of 834 votes each for Mayor Grubb and himself.

Mr. McCue contends that District Two's votes were transcribed incorrectly. He maintains that he received 142 votes, which gave him a 10-vote margin, but that only 132 were recorded.

Mayor Grubb, through his attorney, James R. Minogue of Middletown, maintains that all the votes should be looked at because of the possible change in District Two.

Truck Hits Trestle, City Traffic Jams

LONG BRANCH—Long Branch Avenue was blocked for nearly six hours Friday night when a propane gas truck became wedged under the railroad trestle just south of the New Jersey Natural Gas Co. plant.

Fearing an explosion from gas leaking from the tank truck after impact with the bridge, police and four city fire companies stood by until the truck was freed about 2:30 a.m. Local officers were joined by state police trained to handle explosives shortly after the initial accident call at 8:21 p.m.

The area was sprayed with foam and spectators were cleared away in case of explosion.

Police from Middlesex and Monmouth Counties escorted an empty propane tanker from the Matlack Co., Woodbridge, so the disabled tanker could be emptied before attempts were made to free it. The disabled truck was freed by letting air out of the tires and dismantling part of the trestle. Police speculated that the 11-foot clearance posted on the trestle has been diminished by re-paving of Long Branch Avenue.

The driver of the truck, Roland E. Smith of Kinderhook, N. Y., was admitted to Monmouth Medical Center with several broken ribs. He was delivering gas to storage tanks of the New Jersey Natural Gas Co. when the accident occurred.

Passenger Injured In Shrewsbury Crash

SHREWSBURY — Police Chief Raymond Mass reported one person was taken to Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, after a collision between two cars on Newman Springs Road at 7:36 p.m. Friday.

The drivers, he said, were Leveta B. Kinhafer, Rt. 34, Matawan, and Doris H. Van Schoick, Swimming River Road, Eatontown. Mrs. Carol Weeks, a passenger in the Van Schoick car, was taken to the hospital by the Red Bank First Aid squad.

Rap Howard On Poverty Bill Action

WASHINGTON — Congressmen who voted down a Republican proposal last week to prohibit antipoverty employes from organizing civil disturbances did their constituents and the poor a disservice, the GOP Congressional Committee charged today.

Among those singled out for criticism was Rep. James J. Howard, D-N.J.

In a news release, the Republicans said the proposal, in the form of an amendment to the administration antipoverty bill that passed the House Thursday, would have limited workers paid with federal funds from taking roles in illegal demonstrations. It also would have barred use of federal funds for their legal defense.

"By his vote," the release declared, "Mr. Howard, in effect, gave his blessing to the use of taxpayers' dollars by so-called antipoverty workers to organize and participate in civil disobedience and other unlawful demonstrations and to be defended by lawyers paid from federal funds."

The committee contended that there had been "a flood of evidence" that antipoverty employees had taken part "and in some cases fomented" much of last summer's race riots in urban centers.

Highlands Hotel Fire Drives 3 Into Street

HIGHLANDS — A fire of unknown origin swept a 75-year-old hotel, the Tempus Fugit, Saturday, and drove its three elderly occupants into the street.

The blaze at the garish, rococco-style hotel on Navesink Ave., threatened to spread to other structures but firemen from Belford, Sea Bright and the Highlands Fire Departments prevented the blaze from raging out of control.

Fire Chief Jack P. Card said an elderly woman and two aged men were inside the hotel at the time of the fire. He said he could not identify the trio. They were, however, uninjured.

A passerby told The Daily Register the woman occupant was concerned only for her purse. It contained a picture of her son, the witness said. The unidentified passerby described the woman as "quite old."

It is believed the three residents of the hotel were taken to the home of Mrs. Helen Good, owner of the hotel.

One of the men was reported to be blind and was being cared for by the other boarder.

A witness, who refused to be identified, said the woman told her she feared the fire started because of faulty wiring in a lamp.

She had left her room for a few minutes, she told the witness, and returned to find the room engulfed in flames.

The three-story hotel stands to the left of the Highland-Sea Bright Bridge, and at one time, visitors used to assemble on the roof to get a clear view of Manhattan and the shore line. In later years, the hotel was used infrequently and only by a handful of elderly persons.

Police received first reports of the fire shortly after 9:15 p.m. An investigation is continuing.

Fireman John Franklin, also a borough employe, was admitted to Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, with a shoulder injury suffered while fighting the blaze. His condition today is listed as good.

Boy, 17, Held After Fight

RARITAN TOWNSHIP .... A 17-year-old boy was arrested by police Friday night after officers broke up a fight at the Red Oak Diner, Rt. 35.

The fight involved more than 50 teenagers shortly before midnight. By the time five officers arrived, most of the youths had scattered.

The juvenile was arrested when he would not leave the premises. He was charged with loitering, use of profane language at headquarters and for being under the influence of alcohol. He was remanded to the custody of his parents pending a hearing in the Juvenile Court.

Development Unit Hits Snub to Crusade 35

OCEAN TOWNSHIP—The Shore Area Development Committee has protested to Gov. Richard J. Hughes because a state Transportation Department spokesman failed to appear at a scheduled meeting last week with the Crusade 35 Committee.

At a meeting Friday at the Deal Golf and Country Club, the Shore group contended that the absence of the state representative was inexcusable.

Meanwhile, Assistant Commissioner Russell H. Mullen advised the Crusade 35 Committee that his aide, A. R. Cunningham, who had been scheduled to appear, had been kept away by illness.

Mr. Mullen said that he personally would send the committee a progress report on the plan for a center barrier on Rt. 35 between the Eatontown and Ashury Park circles.

For two other public officials, however, the Shore group had high praise. They were Rep. James J. Howard, D-N.J., and D. Louis Tonti, chief executive for the Garden State Parkway. The two were guest speakers at the meeting.

Chairman Kendall H. Lee appointed a nominating committee headed by Mayor Joseph E. Robertson, of Spring Lake Helghts, to report in January, and a membership study committee, headed by E. Donald Sterner, chairman of the Monmouth County Planning Board, and Joseph E. Bennett, Neptune Township Clerk.

Former Mayor Milton F. Untermeyer, of Long Branch, reported that a committee is studying possible remedies to railroad commuter complaints about service under the Aldene Plan. A report will be made in January.

City Going Nowhere, Dinkelspiel Mourns

LONG BRANCH — The "city with such a bright future" — Long Branch — "is going nowhere," former Councilman Edgar N. Dinkelspiel complained in a weekend news release.

The city, Mr. Dinkelspiel said, is one of few communities in the country "that can boast of a beautiful expanse of ocean, overlooked by a bluff, which if properly developed could lend itself to tremendous resort business."

He adds that the city needs ratables that do not drain taxpayers' pocketbooks; resort properties on the beachfront would fill the bill, he said, adding:

"I worked for more than four years . . . as a councilman-at-large in developing a comprehensive plan for the beachfront.

"This included a 60-foot boardwalk, parking areas, recreational areas, residential areas and many other adjuncts toward a well-developed shore area and residential community. Final plans were arrived at after many conferences with the planners and final agreement with (City) Council as a whole . . . The question of resort versus residential was completely thrashed out. . . To see the new council attempting to start this whole matter from scratch and getting into the question of whether the city should have any resort area at all is most disheartening."

The Urban Renewal shorefront development program, Mr. Dinkelspiel says, was scheduled to begin at the Monmouth Beach line and spread south along the waterfront.

"It was the hope of the council-manager form of government that by now the project would have been well under way," he concluded.

STOLEN CAR CRASHES

RED BANK — A stolen car was involved in an accident on West Front St. Saturday at 8:40 p.m. Police said the vehicle, owned by Adolf Haupt Jr. of Rt. 36, Hazlet, struck a parked car and fled the scene.

Cyclist Hurt In Accident

SHREWSBURY — Motorcyclist Rolf Reinalda of 17 Brighton Ave., New Shrewsbury, was admitted to Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, with a possible spine fracture after a collision at 7:36 p.m. Saturday, according to Police Chief Raymond Mass.

The motorcycle was in collision with a car operated by George R. White, 69 William St., New Shrewsbury, at Shrewsbury and Sycamore Aves., Chief Mass said.

Both vehicles were towed away and no summons was issued pending investigation by Patrolman James Hagan.

Hospital authorities said Mr. Reinalda's condition was good this morning.

Hall Grads Outlast Hawks, 88-80

WEST LONG BRANCH — Posting a 57-36 second half advantage, Seton Hall outlasted Monmouth College, 88-80, here yesterday afternoon in a battle of alumni basketball teams.

The game was played at the Monmouth College gym as part of the annual Homecoming Weekend festivities. Proceeds benefited the scholarship funds at both colleges.

The Monmouth College "old timers" got off to a fast start on the shooting of Paul Cobb. The Hawk grads led by as much as 13 points in the first half, and led, 44-31, at the intermission.

In the second half the Pirate alumni picked up the steam which ran out of their Monmouth counterparts. Seton Hall, with player-coach Richie Dec leading the way, battled back to tie the contest at 66-all seven minutes into the second half and coasted the rest of the way.

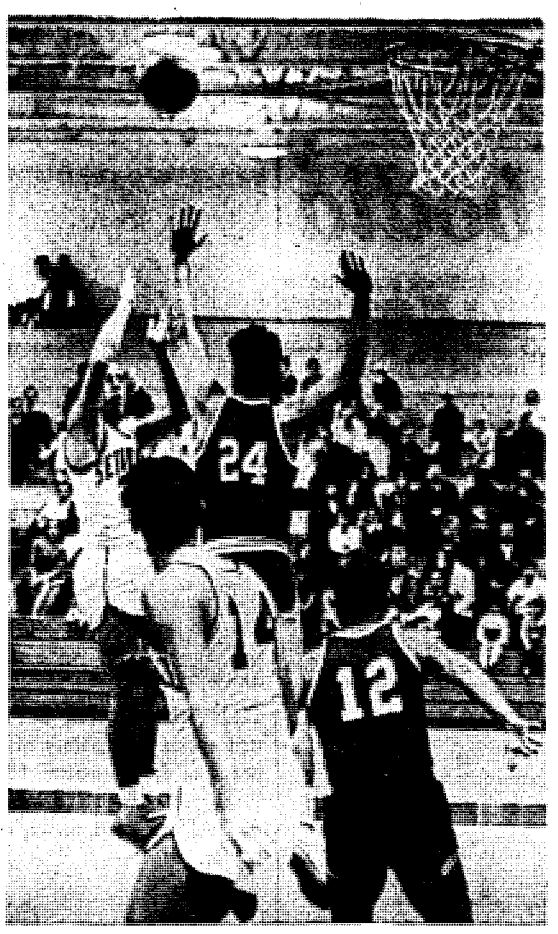

Dec led all scorers with 30 points, but he had plenty of help. Jack Dunleavy and Vin Wright chipped in with 13 and 12 respectively. Bill Brooks added 10.

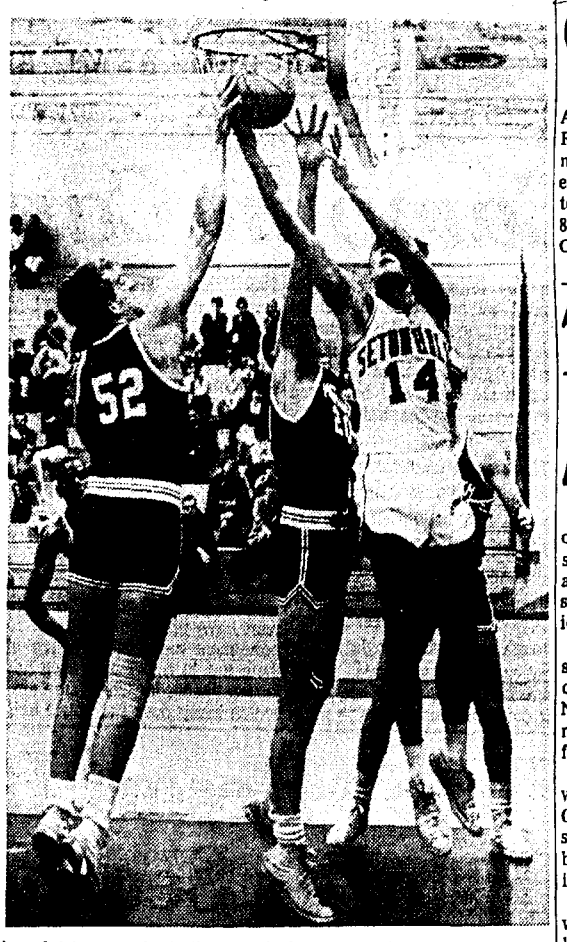

Cobb paced the Monmouth attack with 22 points. Bruce Fischbein contributed 15. Pete Andrews and Marty Metzger combined to score 21.

No Five Sides to Pentagon's Argument

By CHUCK TRIBLEHORN
Register Sports Editor

There are two sides to every argument, but strangely enough, when a story comes out of that big five-sided building in Washington, the issue becomes one-sided.

They used to say there are three ways of doing things—the right way, the wrong way and the Army way—so all of you red-blooded non-commissioned vets who have had the experience of whitewashing rocks, only to have a heavy rainstorm bring a demand for a new coat the following day, can understand the Pentagon's decision to keep West Point out of a bowl game. You accept the decision, just as the boys at West Point do, but you aren't quite sure how the decision was reached.

TRIBLEHORN

The Pentagon decision, attributed to Secretary of the Army Stanley Resor, was announced late last week: "It was concluded that accepting an invitation to play in a post-season bowl game would tend to emphasize football to an extent not consistent with the basic mission of the Academy which is to produce career Army officers."

EMPHASIS EXISTS NOW

Now that we know where the emphasis on football at West Point ends, we wonder where the over-emphasis begins. Its interesting that a prime reason for fine football teams along the Hudson is the solid experience of the Black Knight seniors, most of whom enjoy their fifth year of post-high school gridiron play.

It's no secret that many of the incoming football-playing Plebes have had an extra year of priming under their belts before entering West Point. Like all major universities, Army recruits football players. If a good high school prospect's grades need a boost, he's shuffled off to a prep school for added knowledge, including the fundamentals of football, West Point-style, with the promise that the appointment to the academy is forthcoming.

The claim that football would be over-emphasized if Coach Tom Cahill's charges were permitted to play in a post-season bowl game is questionable. If the Army brass is so concerned about deviating from the basic mission of the academy—to produce Army officers—then why not just drop intercollegiate football altogether? Let the boys knock heads on an intramural basis.

The Pentagon admits the Vietnamese conflict was considered, but insisted that it is not a major reason for the thumbs down decision. The crisis, no doubt, entered into the discussions. How would it look, the Army brass may have thought, if West Point was making merry in the Sugar Bowl, while the troops are fighting over there?

How does it look every Saturday of the fall? Not bad, I assure you. The troops, home and abroad, have no resentment. In fact, they're interested in what's going on here and long to return. Despite the war, our lives go on, thank goodness. When our daily activities stop, then we're really in trouble.

While reviewing the Army grid picture, the Pentagon should have considered a uniform policy for all service academies. They're all grooming future officers, as is the ROTC program at numerous colleges in this country. Teams from the Naval and Air Force Academies have participated in bowl games since 1955, even as active fighting was threatened in Berlin.

As an active Reservist during the Berlin Crisis, I can attest to the activities of the troops on this side of the ocean while the arguments raged over The Wall. Whitewashing rocks contributed nothing to the war effort, other than our presence in numbers, but a three-month stint playing baseball on the same field with several major and minor leaguers did.

The diamond play kept up morale for the players and khaki-clad fans. The Pentagon has gone the opposite direction on the West Point decision. The Corps removed 324 sugar bowls from the dining hall to express its dissatisfaction with the decision. The men of West Point would like to prove to the country that their football team, boasting an 8-1 record against teams which have losing records this fall, warrants national recognition.

The Pentagon, for whatever reasons, valid or not, has deprived the Black Knights of the opportunity. That's the Army way.

SHORE ENOUGH — Robert Walter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Walter, 131 Crestview Drive, Middletown, has been awarded a varsity letter in cross-country at Quinnipiac College, Hamden, Conn. The former Christian Brothers Academy athlete helped the Braves to a 5-1 season in dual meets and to a sixth place finish among 16 schools in the Area 8 NAIA Championship post-season meet . . . The Shore Cross-Country Coaches Association will run freshman and junior varsity runs as part of its proposed first annual Shore Invitation Meet at Ocean County Park the first week in October. The coaches also have agreed to sponsor a development meet next fall . . . . Benny Friedman, former All-American quarterback at the University of Michigan, will speak at the March session of the New Jersey Interscholastic Coaches Association at Rutgers . . . . Heading for another Turkey Day, The Chuck Wagon rolls out hearty thanks for your acceptance and a wish for a happy holiday.

Citrus Fragrance Hits Colleges

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A citrus fragrance pervades the college football picture, as the jockeying for post season bowl berths reaches the showdown stage.

In California, land of the Rose Bowl, the fragrance is Orange—specifically Orange Juice. It was the spectacular running of O.J. "Orange Juice" Simpson that sparked Southern California to a 21-20 victory over UCLA Saturday and a berth in the Rose Bowl.

Simpson rambled 64 yards for a fourth quarter touchdown that gave the Trojans their victory against the previously unbeaten Bruins. The powerful running back also scored USC's first TD on a 13-yard run and gained 177 yards for the day.

His performance overshadowed a gallant show by UCLA's Gary Beban, who completed 16 of 24 passes for 301 yards and just one minute before Simpson's TD run, had passed the Bruins into the lead.

While USC clinched its bowl date, the Trojans can't be sure who they will be facing. Minnesota scrambled the Big Ten picture by whacking previously unbeaten Indiana 33-7.

The victory tied Minnesota with Indiana at 5-1 in Big Ten play with the Hoosiers going up against third-ranked Purdue while Minnesota faces winless Wisconsin next week. Purdue, 6-0 in the conference, played in the Rose Bowl last Jan. 1 and is ineligible to return.

Curt Wilson led Minnesota's romp, racing for four touchdowns and passing for another. All of his TDs came from close in, as Minnesota turned two Indiana fumbles into scores.

Tennessee virtually wrapped up the Southeastern crown and an Orange Bowl bid by whipping Mississippi 20-7. The Volunteers have only lowly Vanderbilt and Kentucky standing in the way of their first conference title since 1956.

Tailback Walt Chadwick passed for one touchdown and ran for another as Tennessee pushed its record to 7-1. Fumble recoveries by Dick Williams set up two of the Volunteer scores.

Tennessee's likely opponent in the Orange Bowl is Oklahoma, 7-1, which clinched a Big Eight title tie with a 14-10 victory over Kansas. The Sooners fell behind 10-0 before rallying in the second half. When Steve Zabel caught a 30-yard pass from Bob Warmack giving the Sooners the lead in the fourth period, oranges, sold by the crate load outside the stadium in anticipation of a bowl bid, rained down on the field.

Alabama, 7-1-1, may have nailed down a Cotton Bowl bid by blanking South Carolina 17-0. Kenny Stabler and Dennis Homan combined for a 38-yard scoring play—the first touchdown pass completed against South Carolina this season.

Any one of four teams still alive in the Southwest Conference could be the Cotton Bowl hosts. Texas A&M leads the conference with a 5-1 record after knocking off Rice 18-3 while Texas, 4-2, was losing to TCU 24-17 on a last-minute touchdown by Ken Post.

The Aggies can win the crown outright by beating Texas on Thanksgiving Day but there's a chance of a four-way tie with Texas Tech, 4-2 and TCU, 3-2, still alive. Tech beat Baylor 31-29 on Kenny Vineyard's 37-yard field goal in the final half-minute play.

Colorado, 7-2, remained a Sugar Bowl possibility by walloping Kansas State 40-6 as Bob Anderson ran for two touchdowns and passed for a third.

Louisiana State, still hoping to attract a Sugar Bowl bid despite a 5-3-1 record, smashed Mississippi State 55-0 as Tommy Morel caught three touchdown passes.

Penn State, 7-2, and 35-14 winner over Ohio, is also a Sugar possibility.

Florida's 28-12 victory over Kentucky kept the Gators alive in their quest for a bowl date.

Delbarton's Regan Boys Crumble Cardinals, 81-6

MORRISTOWN — Croydon Hall Academy saw too much of the Regan cousins Saturday afternoon, as Jack and Steve accounted for 61 points to lead Delbarton School to an overwhelming 81-6 football victory over the Cardinals from Leonardo.

With Jack running for four touchdowns and seven points and Steve passing for five six-pointers, Delbarton easily closed out its season undefeated (8-0).

Jack's longest TD jaunt of the day was a 15-yard dash over tackle in the first quarter. His other scoring runs came twice from the four-yard line and once from the three. The 31-point total gives Jack, the state schoolboy scoring leader, 195 points (26 TDs and 39 PATs) for the season, and a 44-point lead over runner-up Randy Davis of Matawan Regional, the last fall's leader. Davis closes out his season and career Thursday against Keyport.

Steve divided his scoring aerials between halfback Matt Bolger and end "Tiny" Lansdell. Three of Steve's bombs went to Bolger, covering 25, 15 and 27 yards, while the other two went to Lansdell, covering 13 and 11 yards.

Also contributing to Delbarton's TD parade were Ed Farrell, 55 yards with an interception; Bob Burt, 41 yards around end, and Jim McDonald, on a two-yard buck. Al Southard and Tom Reedman added one extra point apiece. Croyden Hall's only scoring came with four minutes to play in the first quarter when linebacker Dwight Brunoehler went 35 yards after an interception.

Saturday's 81 points lifted Delbarton's team total to 395. The Green Wave's defense allowed only 20 points, including the six by Croyden Hall, which concluded its campaign with a 1-6 record.

Taintor Tops; Beach Second

PENNSAUKEN — Gary Beach of Red Bank Catholic finished second Saturday in the Parochial "B" division of the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association champions.

Beach ran a fine race as he stayed on the heels of defending champion Bill Lyons, St. Peter's, New Brunswick, for two miles, never trailing by more than a few strides.

Lyons' stored-up finish strength was enough to pull away from the Casey runner down the homestretch and gain the triumph by 35 yards. Lyons was clocked in 12:02.5.

Beach, a couple of seconds back with a 12:10 time, was bettered by only three of the day's 700 other runners and would have been good enough for a gold medal in three other divisions.

Brick Township, a Shore Conference school, rolled to its fourth consecutive state Group III championship behind the winning performance of Russ Taintor. Taintor was an easy winner of his division as he won the individual, also for the third straight year. In gaining his win, Taintor set a record of 11:59.8 for Pennsauken High School's 2.4 mile campus course.

Brick's four-year winning streak in the meet equaled the all-time state public school winning streak Dover High School had recorded in the 1930s.

Taintor continued his torrid pace and the record was his 12th in his last dozen races. In fact, he has hit the tape first in his last 65 dual meets.

In Goup IV, Long Branch topped three of the teams that outran the Branchers in the South Jersey sectionals, to finish in the 11th spot.

Trenton's Jim Lee outsprinted Long Branch's Bob Bazley for fourth. The Green Wave runner had enough left to hold off Phil Reminsky of Parsippany, and Harry Graves of Westfield.

Christian Brothers Academy Lincroft, an easy victor last week in the Monmouth County meet at Monmouth College, finished sixth in the Parochial "A" class. Tom Kearsley, individual winner of the county run, had the best showing for the Colts with an 11th place finish.

St. Rose of Belmar came home with a title when the Purple Roses scored a five-point win over De Paul, Wayne, in Parochial "B."

Helping St. Rose to its very first state championship cross country team were Jim Van Nostrand, who scored a third, and brother Bill, who crossed the line in fifth position. Another brother combination, Kevin and David Pindar, placed 12th and 18th, and Ray Maxwell was 17th in the Belmar club's triumph.

Asbury Park won 12th in Group III with Pete Navarro finishing in 19th position. The Bishops edged Lakewood by two points. Red Bank High School tied down a 16th spot.

In winning a fourth in its division, Red Bank Catholic scored 104 points. St. Rose won with 55 points. Red Bank had 348, Lakewood 324, Asbury Park 322 and Brick scored 67 in its victory.

Long Branch posted 350 points in Group IV.

Freehold Finale

Longest Season A Big Success

More than 7,000 fans spent a chilling and damp afternoon wagering $601,251, on the finale of the 90-day session.

A new set of attendance and betting records went into the record books at a track which had the previous longest season of 60 days. Attendance was 587,725, a daily average of 6,530, and the parimutuel handle was $46,153,223, an average of $512,813.

The new figures exceeded the estimates of the track management and the betting average was especially gratifying when compared with last year's 60-day average of $510,045. The track had hoped to reach a betting total of just better than $40 million.

Increase in figures could be attributed to the installation this year of "Exacta" wagering for the first time. This form of betting, which proved popular, is a sort of a daily double in the fourth, sixth, eighth and tenth races in which the better must select the first and second horse in one race to win. The effect at the betting windows is similar to adding four more "instant" daily doubles.

Bill Popfinger captured the driver's title scoring his 38th win in the third race when he drove Miss Tra Dea, a three-year-old trotter to her first victory.

Joseph Saker stable's Bonne Fille with driver Charlie Smith, outgamed Steves Phil to win the featured Molly Pitcher pace. The three-year-old filly closed fast on the outside to nip Steves Phil by a head in a photo decision.

The triumph for Bonne Fille was her second straight since being acquired for $26,000 at the recent Harrisburg sales. She was second choice in the wagering and paid $8.60, $4.60 and $2.80. Steves Phil returned $10.80, $4.60 and Victory Adios, $3.40.

St. Joseph's Loses, 35-6

TOMS RIVER — Scoring four touchdowns, two extra points and a safety, Andy Crisman sparked Pope John High School of Sparta to a 35-6 football victory over St. Joseph's, Toms River, Saturday afternoon.

Crisman's TDs came on plunges of 1, 6, 4 and 1 yards. He tackled St. Joseph's Mike Santasiero in the end zone for a safety to give Pope John a 9-0 lead with only two minutes gone in the game. John Siemer scored the other Pope John touchdown when he blocked a St. Joseph's punt and fell on the ball in the end zone.

St. Joseph's, which was finishing its season with a 1-7 log, scored in the first quarter when Randy Nanna raced 70 yards over right guard for the TD.

Gary Colins, an all-National Football League choice at end, also does the punting for the Cleveland Browns.

Falcon Jayvees Defeat Shore

NEW SHREWSBURY — Scoring twice in the first quarter, Monmouth Regional blanked Shore Regional, 13-0, Saturday in a jayvee football game.

A 14-yard pass from Buddy Albert to Gerry Spencer got the initial touchdown, while Bob Ashton's 13-yard run got the other. Richard Rogers passed to Spencer for the PAT after the second TD.

Monmouth finished its season 3-6.

Shore Cage Conference Is Formed

A three-division Shore Grammar School Basketball Conference has been formed on the shore.

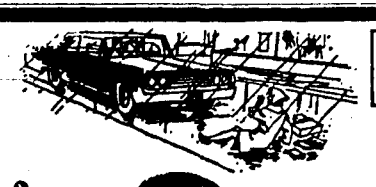

Enrollment of seventh and eighth grade boys in the schools determine the position in which each team will compete.

Larger schools will comprise the "A" Division, which will include Neptune, Long Branch, Ocean Township, River Street (Red Bank), and Bangs Avenue (Asbury Park).

"B" Division schools have a medium enrollment. This bracket is made up of Henry Hudson, Highlands, Little Silver, St. Catherine's of Spring Lake, Holy Spirit of Asbury Park, and Star of the Sea, Long Branch.

Having the lowest number of students will be the "C" Division. Included in this group are Mt. Carmel of Asbury Park, Deal, Bradley, and Bond Street, Asbury Park.

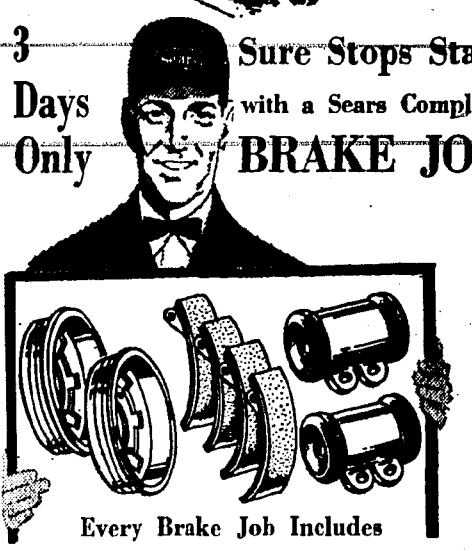

Conference president Edward Adams will announce schedules in the near future.

The Giants also lost yesterday with a 28-20 victorythe Atlantic Coast Footballdefensive tackle Jim Moran with over the Pittsburgh Steelers in aLeague took the place of injureda broken left leg in the first National Football League game. Tucker Frederickson. quarter.

Tarkenton, ineffective last week against Chicago, threw touchdown passes to Aaron Thomas and Minniear. Ernie Koy and Minniear each rammed over from the one for the other TDs.

Bill Nelsen tossed two scoring passes for the Steelers, a 58-yarder to Roy Jefferson and a 10-yarder to John Hilton. Mike Clark's two field goals in the first period accounted for the other points.

The Steelers jumped into early lead on Clark's field goals from the 44 and the 10. A tackle by Bob Lurtsema of Don Shy had forced the Steelers to go for their second field goal instead of a touchdown on fourth down.

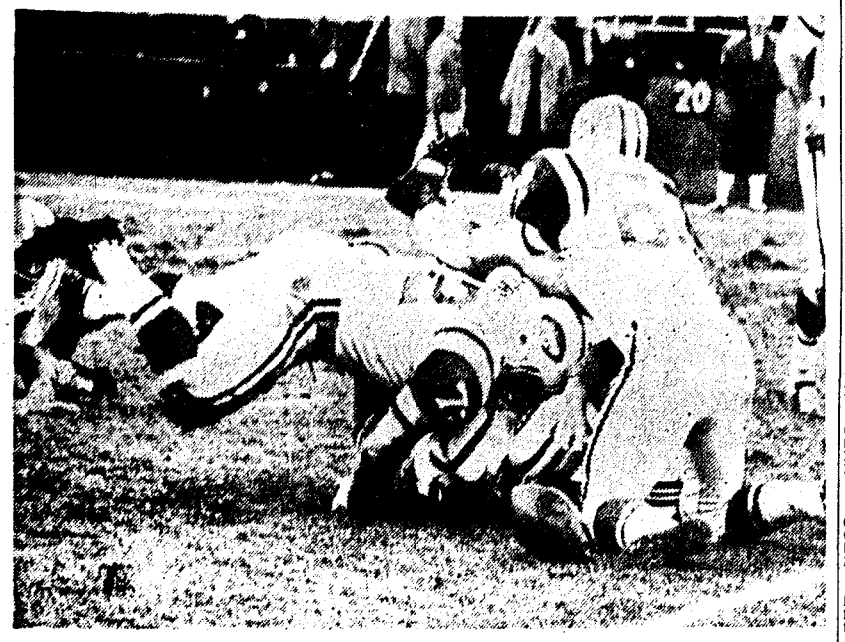

Tarkenton's pass to Thomas completed an 78-yard drive helped by a roughing of the kicker penalty against the Steelers in the second period. An interference call against Pittsburgh's Bob Hohn set the stage for the Tarkenton to Minniear TD.

Nelsen's long bomb to Jefferson late in the second period narrowed the Giants' lead to 14-13, but they pulled away and dominated the second half.

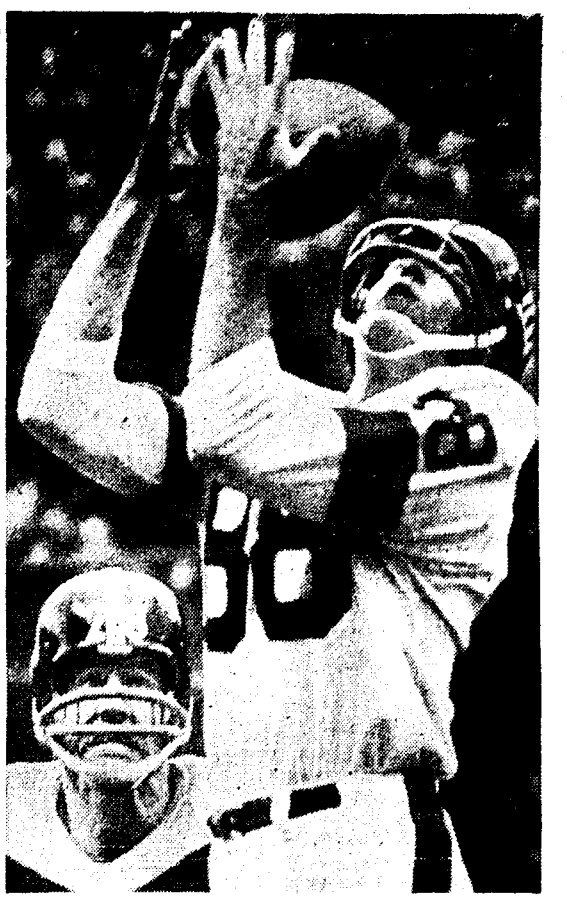

Koy's touchdown followed a fumble by Steeler punter Jim Elliott with the Giants taking over on Pittsburgh's 27. Tarkenton hit Thomas, moving the ball to the one, and Koy went in for the score.

Minniear's second touchdown came after Wendell Harris had intercepted a Nelsen pass on the Pittsburgh 40. An Ernie Koy option pass and a toss by Tarkenton, both to Homer Jones, set it up.

Pittsburgh broke through early in the final quarter with the assistance of a pass interference call against the Giants' Clarence Childs that gave the Steelers the ball on the 10. Nelsen then found Hilton in the end zone for the score.

LOOSE PIGSKIN — New York Jets' players swarm over the ball fumbled by the Boston Patriots' quarterback Don Trull, who is smothered with only his hand showing above the ball. Trull lost the ball in the second period when he was tackled by Jim Harris, on the bottom of the pile, with help from Paul Rochester (72) and Al Atkinson (62). The Jets won, 29-24. (AP Wirephoto)

LEADS TO TD — Aaron Thomas, New York Giants' right end, hauls in 25-yard pass from Fran Tarkenton to set up a third period touchdown. Clendon Thomas of the Pittsburgh Steelers is the helpless defender. Thomas' catch put the ball on the one yard line. Two plays later the Giants' scored en route to their 28-20 victory. NFL Establishes Attendance Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League established an all-time attendance record for a single date yesterday when 482,999 fans turned out for eight NFL games.

The per-game average of 60,375 marked the first time in NFL history that crowds have averaged over 60,000 on any one date.

The previous one-day high total for the NFL was 464,102, set on the eight-game program Sept. 17—opening day of the current season.

The unofficial season total for 80 NFL games rose to 4,466,359 with yesterday's record turnouts —an average of 55,829 per contest.

Jets, 29-24, Like Break in Schedule

BOSTON (AP) — The New York Jets are assured of their first winning season under Coach Weeb Ewbank, but they are not thinking about the American Football League championship game just yet.

Instead, they're just looking forward to a break in the rugged schedule to nurse wounds and get much needed rest.

"We're not even thinking about the championship," Ewbank said after the Jets hiked their record to 7-2-1 by defeating the Boston Patriots, 29-24, yesterday. "We still have some rough games left.

"We've got a bye next Sunday and we need the week off to recuperate. One fellow who can use the rest is Matt Snell. He suffered a slight concussion when he was hit after catching a pass in the first period."

At least one of the Jets appears in no need of a rest. He's quarterback Joe Namath, the $400,000 beauty.

NAMATH SPOTLESS

About the only things Namath got dirty on the field at windswept Fenway Park were his white shoes and his hands. The Patriots hardly laid a hand on him as he completed 15 of 23 passes for 297 yards and two touchdowns.

With defensive veterans Larry Eisenhauer and Houston Antwine sidelined with injuries, Boston did little blitzing, enabling Namath to take plenty of time before throwing.

"You can't lose two of the front four and not feel it," Boston Coach Mike Holovak said after the Patriots were mathematically eliminated from the Eastern Division race with a 3-7-1 record. "You've just gotta miss guys like Eisenhauer and Antwine."

Namath uncorked scoring bombs covering 45 and 75 yards to George Sauer and Don Maynard as the Jets built a commanding 29-3 lead.

Then Don Trull, former Baylor star acquired last month from the Houston Oilers, caught fire for the Patriots. Trull, a scrambling quarterback, upset New York defenses, scoring twice and firing a 40-yard touchdown pass to Jim Whalen before time ran out on the rally.

"Trull certainly added a new concept," Holovak said. "He did a real fine job. He can scramble when he has to and it means a lot."

Trull got his first starting chance as Babe Parilli, a 37-year-old veteran, was benched. Trull completed 11 of 25 passes for 189 yards.

Browns Gain First in Century

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cleveland Browns took over first place in the National Football League's Century Division yesterday, while Baltimore stayed unbeaten and just ahead of Los Angeles in the Coastal Division.

Cleveland, 6-4, nipped Minnesota, 2-5-2, 14-10, when Leroy Kelly leaped into the end zone from less than a foot out.

Baltimore breezed to a 41-7 victory over Detroit as Tom Matte ran for two touchdowns, keeping the Colts a game ahead of Los Angeles, 8-1-2, which beat Atlanta 31-3 with a 24-point fourth quarter.

Roman Gabriel threw two TD passes for Los Angeles and Bruce Gossett kicked three field goals.

In a big American Football League game, the defending champion Kansas City Chiefs suffered a severe blow to their hopes of repeating by losing 17-16 to San Diego. The victory kept San Diego, 7-1-1, second to Oakland, 8-1-1 and a 31-17 victor over Miami, in the Western Division. The third-place Chiefs are 6-4.

A two-yard TD pass from John Hadl to Lance Alworth and Dick Van Raaphorst's conversion won it for San Diego. The Chiefs missed a chance for victory when Jan Stenerud, who kicked three field goals, failed from 24 yards with 19 seconds left.

St. Louis, 5-4-1, fell behind Cleveland by losing 31-3 to the Chicago Bears, 5-5 and runner-up to Green Bay in Central Division, the other Western Conference division in the NFL.

Jack Concannon led the Bears with TD passes of 93 and 67 yards to Dick Gordon and 51 yards to Bob Jones.

Green Bay, riddled by injuries to their offensive backfield, still managed to gain its seventh victory against two losses and a tie by sending San Francisco, 5-0, to its fourth straight defeat, 13-0.

Donnie Anderson scored on a one-yard plunge and Don Chandler kicked two field goals for the Packers, who played most of the game with Zeke Bratkowski at quarterback after Bart Starr was injured.

Dallas, 7-3, stayed on top of the Eastern Conference's other division, the Capitol, despite losing to Washington 27-20.

Sonny Jurgensen brought his TD passes for the season to 21 by firing four as the Redskins built up a 27-6 lead en route to their fourth victory against four losses and two ties.

Philadelphia, 5-5, stayed in second place behind Dallas by drubbing New Orleans, 48-21 as Norm Snead completed 19 of 27 passes for 309 yards and four touchdowns.

In other AFL action:

Denver gained only its second victory against nine losses by upsetting Buffalo, 3-7, 21-20. Steve Tensi passed to Al Denson for two touchdowns. The second one combined with Buddy Humphreys' third placement clinched the victory.

Daryle Lamonica threw three TD passes to Billy Cannon in Oakland's victory.

Marshall's 200th Leads Rangers

NEW YORK (AP) — Donnie Marshall fired a pair of goals, one of them the 200th of his National Hockey League career, leading the New York Rangers to a 5-2 victory over the Minnesota North Stars last night.

Marshall, who had ended a 12-game scoring drought Saturday, whipped his second goal of the night early in the third period. Then Rod Gilbert completed the Ranger scoring with a power-play goal in the final five minutes.

Vic Hadfield and Marshall had given New York a 2-0 first period edge and Jean Ratalle upped it to 3-0 before Minnesota's Mike McMahon scored.

Maniago stopped Marshall's shot midway through the period, but the puck popped into the air and dropped over the North Star goal line for a 2-0 edge.

Ratelle's goal came off a scramble at 13:19 of the second period but McMahon got that one back when he drove a low liner past Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin 4½ minutes later.

Then Marshall and Gilbert wrapped it up for New York with their third period goals. Andre Boudrias scored the other North Star goal with 1:25 remaining to play.

HAWKS, WINGS TIE

CHICAGO (AP)—Doug Mohns' goal with five seconds to play pulled the Chicago Black Hawks into a 2-2 tie with the Detroit Red Wings in a wild National Hockey League game last night.

The Red Wings had moved to a 2-1 lead on third-period goals by Bruce Henderson and Bart Crashley.

Chicago goalie Denis DeJordy was off the ice in favor of a sixth skater when Mohns, stationed near the left corner of the Detroit cage, took a pass from Ken Wharram and slashed the puck behind Wings' goalie, Roy Edwards.

SHACK TRIMS LEAFS

BOSTON (AP) — Eddie Shack, acquired from Toronto in a trade last spring, turned on his former teammates and collected two goals and an assist last night in leading the Boston Bruins to a 6-2 National Hockey League victory over the Maple Leafs.

The surprising Bruins averaged nearly a shot a minute as they outskated the injury riddled Leafs and peppered goalies Johnny Bower and Bruce Gamble at a steady pace.

KINGS CROWN CANADIENS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lowell MacDonald scored three goals in the second period and assisted on another to help the Los Angeles Kings to a 4-2 National Hockey League victory over the Montreal Canadiens last night.

The game was marked by a melee in the final minutes when a fan attacked Canadiens' Coach Toe Blake and was beaten off by the Montreal bench, his head bloodied.

The victory enabled the Kings to retain a one-point grip on first place in the West Division with 19 points.

FLYERS BELT BLUES

PHILADELPHIA (AP) The Philadelphia Flyers scored three goals in the first period and staved off a St. Louis rally to beat the Blues 3-2 in a National Hockey League game last night.

The game ended with a melee on the ice after St. Louis defenseman Gordon Kannegiesser pounced on the Flyers' Ed Van Impe at the final buzzer. Philadelphia's Pat Hannigan attacked Kannegiesser and soon players of both sides were wrestling and punching.

Southern Eleven Drops Its Finale

STAFFORD TOWNSHIP — Joe Polt scored two first half touchdowns Saturday to spark St. James of Carney's Point to a 20-0 victory over Southern Regional Saturday afternoon.

Polt scored from three yards out in the opening chapter and then tallied on an eight-yard run in the second. Greg Walter added the final St. James touchdown, on a one-yard dive through left guard in the fourth quarter.

Southern, which ended its season with a 2-7 record, made one serious threat. The Rams took the opening kickoff of the second half and marched 52 yards to the St. James 19 before being stopped on downs.

Warriors Wallop Rockets, 142-124

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors took command of the backboards to build up a 29-point first half lead last night and coasted to a 142-124 victory over the San Diego Rockets in a National Basketball Association game.

In the first half the Warriors, led by Rudy LaRusso's 17 points and nine rebounds, shot 52 per cent to the Rockets' 29 per cent. The Rockets pulled to within 17 points, 94-77, with 3:49 left in the third period. But San Francisco pulled away again to a comfortable lead and led 100-90 by the end of the third period.

LaRusso, who sat out the fourth period, led all scorers with 29 points. Dave Gambee and Don Kojis paced the Rockets with 17 points apiece.

The game was scheduled for Saturday night but was postponed when a wet playing surface made play impossible.

SONICS NIP PISTONS

SEATTLE (AP) — Bud Olsen tipped in a rebound as the final gun sounded last night to give the Seattle Supersonics an overtime, 132-130 National Basketball Association victory over the Detroit Pistons.

Seattle battled from as much as five points down to draw abreast of the Pistons early in the fourth period. From there the teams traded baskets until Olsen tipped in the winning basket off a long shot by Bobby Weiss.

Bob Rule led Seattle with 31 points and 21 rebounds. Dave Bing, aling Saturday night in Chicago and not expected to play, scored 31 for the Pistons, all but four of them in the second half and overtime.

A free throw by John Tresvant with 15 seconds remaining in regulation play sent the game into overtime. With 23 seconds left in the overtime period, Bing hit a long jumper to tie the score at 130, setting the stage for Olsen's winning goal.

Walker Pee-Wee Crown to Keansburg

KEANSBURG — The Keansburg Bluejeans' Pee-Wees won the championship of the Elwood Walker Midget Football League yesterday by defeating Our Lady of Mercy, Bronx, N. Y., 19-0.

Scoring for Keansburg were Bob Gearty, on a one-yard plunge; Rick Davis, on a 55-yard pass from Pete Peltz, and Bob Holly, on a 47-yard pass from Phil Villason, who also scored the PAT.

With one game left, Keansburg is 5-0.

Our Lady of Mercy won the varsity game, 27-7, as Tom Connelly scored touchdowns on runs of 19 and seven yards, and threw a 36-yard TD pass to Martin Banks.

TED PICKED BOSOX

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Guests at last winter's hot stove league banquet here must have thought Ted Williams was kidding. He picked the Boston Red Sox to win the 1967 American League pennant.

A Gloomy Day Even Gloomier for Princeton, Rutgers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Time — a year, a week and two minutes' worth — ran out for the Princeton football team Saturday as Yale romped to a 29-7 triumph and its first Ivy League championship in seven years.

One year ago, a Princeton defender grabbed a blocked punt and ran 50 yards for a touchdown in the closing minutes to defeat Yale, 13-7. Saturday, Yale blocked a Princeton punt and scored a touchdown 14 seconds before halftime to break open a tight game.

One week ago, the Tigers played a near-perfect game in crushing Harvard, 45-6, and projecting themselves into the Ivy picture. Saturday, besides the costly blocked punt they fumbled the ball away four times, were trapped in their own end zone for a safety and had a pass intercepted.

But the worst period of all was the last two minutes of the first half. "That was really terrible," moaned Coach Dick Colman after the Tigers, down by only 14-7, yielded a safety with 1:47 left and had the punt blocked little more than a minute later.

"They blocked that punt with only three men on the line of scrimmage," Colman groaned. "They were set up in a punt return formation. They weren't even trying to block it. But Dick Williams, their middle guard, came right up the middle to block it. You should never have a punt blocked, but in a run-back situation . . ."

Bateman Sad, Too

If Colman didn't enjoy the gloomy, rainy afternoon, it was hardly a day to remember for John Bateman of Rutgers. Not only did his Scarlet Knights lose to Holy Cross, 21-10, but his son Scott's Amherst team bowed to Springfield and his alma mater, Columbia, lost to Penn.

Elsewhere, Upsala (4-4) and Montclair State (4-5) closed out their seasons. Upsala fell to undefeated Wagner, 13-0, on the strength of two field goals and a second-period touchdown. Montclair downed Delaware State, 16-3, on one-yard touchdown plunges by Jack Landfried and Jerry Waller.

Brian Dowling, Yale's oft-injured junior quarterback who missed most of last season and the first three games this year, engineered the defeat of Princeton.

He caught a 60-yard touchdown pass from halfback Cal Hill to open the scoring, threw a 47-yarder to Bruce Weinstein to snap a 7-all tie and gave the Elis a 22-7 lead at the half with a three-yard keeper around left end. He also passed 10 yards to Hill for the only score of the second half.

Princeton marched 64 yards in 14 plays after Yale's first touchdown for its only score. Tailback Dick Bracken cracked over from the two.

The drive was a costly one. Steve Pierce, Princeton's top pass-catcher, injured a knee after snagging a pass at the Yale 19 and was carried off on a stretcher.

Also costly, oddly enough, was a successful gamble by the usually conservative Colman. With less than three minutes remaining in the half, Princeton disdained a fourth-down punt on its own 12 and fullback Ellis Moore picked up a first down at the 15.

But Bracken was promptly dropped for a five-yard loss and on the next play Paul Tully and Rod Watson nailed him in the end zone for the safety. Tully also recovered the blocked punt.

Tigers Err

"Pierce's loss didn't beat us," Colman said. "We just made too many mistakes. I still don't think Yale's unbeatable, but they're a very strong team physically. Their power is the thing I'd stress. Don Burrows and Hill are very fine runners. And they've got the big receivers who let Dowling throw those high passes. Quite often they catch the ball when they're covered, as Hill did on the last touchdown.

"I was very impressed with Dowling's running. That hurt us as much as anything else, although there was very little that didn't hurt us. We had him trapped several times but he got away. I think our defensive ends underestimated his speed.

"We felt we had a good chance to win this game but Yale played a topflight football game with no mistakes."

Princeton's mistakes, which began with the safety and blocked punt, continued in the second half. Scott MacBean returned the kickoff 76 yards to the Yale 22 but Moore bobbled the ball away at the 11.

Moore fumbled again to kill a Princeton drive at the Yale 36 and a Bob Weber fumble at the Princeton 12 was turned into Yale's final score.

Princeton, besides being eliminated from the Ivy race, saw its six-game winning streak over Yale come to an end. It was the 90th meeting between the Ivy League's oldest rivals and Yale holds a 43-37-10 lead.

Rutgers also ran afoul of a fine quarterback. Phil O'Neil of Holy Cross threw touchdown passes of 28 and 35 yards to Jim Vrionis and put the game on ice in the closing minutes with a two-yard dash around end.

Rutgers' only touchdown came on Bryant Mitchell's 62-yard scamper just 19 seconds after the first Holy Cross score. Mitchell gained 142 yards in 20 carries. Jim Dulin added a 33-yard field goal, giving him a Rutgers career record of 11.

Bateman sounded much the same as Colman.

"We made too many mistakes," he said. "But over-all we played good ball. We just blew too many opportunities.

"We gambled and lost at our own 29 late in the game to set up Holy Cross' last touchdown. We thought Bruce Van Ness had made the necessary yardage but the officials ruled he didn't. We also thought we got a bad call when they ruled that Holy Cross stopped us at their 12 after a 72-yard march."

Bateman was satisfied with the play of quarterback Van Ness, who completed seven of 14 passes for 92 yards and ran for 38 more. The rangy sophomore was installed at quarterback only three games ago after starting the season at tailback.

"He learns something every week," Bateman said. "He's going to be the greatest quarterback ever around here and we wouldn't have been in the game as much as we were but for him."

Like Princeton, Rutgers also had a serious injury to its receiving corps. Pete Savino, the quarterback turned split end, suffered a shoulder separation and will miss the finale. Next Saturday's schedule has Dartmouth at Princeton and Colgate at Rutgers.

Ocean County College Posts .500 Record

TOMS RIVER — Ocean County College's first soccer season ended with a 5-5 record, a respectable achievement, since practice did not begin until Sept. 13.

The team defeated almost all of the other first-year New Jersey county colleges while losing to the veteran teams.

Viking Coach Dale Graham will have 10 veterans returning next year to provide nucleus for next year's team.

The outstanding scorers for the first year were Kalle Sooaar with 12 goals and Charles Mould with 11 assists. Second high scorers for the team were Edward Colona and Frank LaGrace with four goals each. Edward Colona was also second highest in assists with eight.

The team's leading goalie was Michael Decillis with only 17 goals allowed in nine games.

Graham's entire defense will be back intact for next year. These boys are Frank Provost, Robert Swannah, and John Durray, fullbacks, and Harry Pomeroy, Michael Hayzar and Danny Olivar, halfbacks.

Buy the unchanged Mercedes-Benz 230S and keep ahead of all those "advanced" new '68 cars.

True, most of those "advanced" new '68 cars offer you tomorrow's styling. But strangely enough, it's often a case of yesterday's engineering when you check beneath the gleaming chrome.

The beauty of the Mercedes-Benz 230S is that it gives you advanced basic engineering—and ignores the whims of fashion.

Buy the 230S and you get no fastback roof line. No disappearing headlights. No dummy air scoops. But you will get one of the most efficient machines on wheels. A sane way to spend your $5035.

Sponge-free suspension

You feel this efficiency in the way your 230S rides and handles. Gone is the queasy sponginess of most $5000 cars; you can actually hurtle this 2,976-pound sedan through curves like a sports car.

That's because the 230S rests on a fully independent suspension system with a design borrowed from a world-championship Mercedes-Benz racing car. Like a racing machine, it sticks to the road—even when the road is rough or slick with rain.

(It's illuminating to note that other $5000 sedans still use a solid rear-axle suspension. That's the design Mercedes-Benz threw away more than a decade ago.)

Your 230S is also fitted with heavy-duty springs and shocks, anti-sway bar, an automatic load-leveler, and tires proved safe in continuous running at 100-mph-plus speeds with full passenger and trunk loads.

You needn't be a racing driver to appreciate that.

Stops without panic

Mercedes-Benz engineers insist that superb stopping power should not be optional on a car.

So your 230S comes fitted with 9.9-inch front disc brakes as standard equipment. Power assistance is standard, too.

Even repeated panic stops cause no panic. You're snubbed down to smooth, straight-line stops, free of shudder and sudden "fade."

One of driving's most reassuring feelings is to know you have more braking power than you need.

No squeaks, clanks or groans

Unlike most of its rivals, the 230S was designed and built to give faithful service, year after year.

For example, you're cradled in a "unit" body shell that has been welded in 10,000 places. This body is stronger, more twist-resistant than separate body-and-frame types that must be bolted together. Your 230S will not age to the tune of squeaks, groans and rattles. At 50,000 miles you may begin to wonder if it will ever rattle.

In this age of automation and tawdry workmanship, it's good to know that your 230S was built with loving care and attention to detail.

For example, vital body seams are hand-ground, packed with pewter, ground down again and then polished.

Every 230S engine is built from hand-matched components, machined to tolerances far finer than a human hair. And after assembly comes a 60-minute bench test—with oil replenished 62 times to flush away the smallest speck of dirt or dust.

When it's painted, your 230S is painted three times. The two top coats are enamel—and they're both sprayed by hand.

From $25,582* to 4,179*

You may be able to afford a Mercedes-Benz without knowing it. Below are suggested retail prices* for 7 of the 13 Mercedes-Benz models:

600 Grand Mercedes	$25,582
250SE Coupe	9,099
250SL Roadster	6,485
250S Sedan	5,897
230 Sedan	4,405
200 Diesel Sedan	4,380
200 Sedan	4,179

East and Gulf Coast ports of entry, exclusive of transportation charges, options, state and local taxes if any.*

Not an inch wasted

With the 230S, you don't have to manhandle a lot of needless bulk through city traffic or into tight parking spots. It's so shrewdly designed that there are two feet less in overall length—yet the 230S matches its $5000 rivals for interior space.

And those seats were designed with the assistance of orthopedic physicians—to foil muscle fatigue. Drive all day; you'll emerge from your 230S feeling fresh and relaxed.

Bank Votes 10% Dividend, 2-for-1 Split

EATONTOWN — The Eatontown National Bank board of directors has voted a two-for-one stock split and a 10 per cent stock dividend.

Douglas Schotte, executive vice president of the bank, said, "The stock split and the dividend will be payable Feb. 15 to holders of record as of Feb. 1. Approvals have been granted on these by the comptroller of currency. They are subject only to stockholder approval in January.

"Total deposits of the bank have increased better than 50 per cent in the past 12 months and earnings are at a record high."

Eatontown National Bank open in November, 1964. It was the first new bank to open in Monmouth County in 40 years. It has become one of the fastest growing in the state.

It was the first bank to open all facilities at its main office on Saturdays, the first to institute a voluntary truth in lending policy, and the first to pay 4 per cent interest on Christmas Clubs.

Last week, in the first two days of the 1968 Christmas Club program, the bank opened 591 clubs.

Youth Held For Jury On Two Charges

MIDDLETOWN — James W. Eichele, 20, of 76 Chestnut St., just returned from California, is being held in $7,500 bail for the Grand Jury on charges of forgery and receiving stolen property.

He was arraigned Friday before Magistrate Seymour R. Kleinburg in Municipal Court. He faces arraignment in Keansburg on the same charges. In Raritan Township, he faces larceny charges.

On Oct. 26, Eichele allegedly stole $1,000 worth of travelers checks from a home in Hazlet. He reportedly cashed them in the various branches of the Keansburg-Middletown National Bank.

With the money, police say, he and two unidentified friends went to Los Angeles. They returned last Wednesday. Thursday morning he was arrested with $18 remaining of the money.

A joint investigation was conducted by local detectives. Raritan Detective Sgt. Holmes Gormerly, and Keansburg Detective Sgt. George J. Preston Jr., acted on a tip that the youth had returned from California. Detective Walter Monahan, of the Middletown Township Police Department, made the arrest.

Lane Grants 2 Divorces

FREEHOLD — Superior Court Judge Merritt Lane Jr. has granted a divorce to Jane Chansky, 53-C Monmouth Ave., here, from John A. Chansky, Bergenville Rd., Freehold Township, for adultery.

Superior Court Judge Francis X. Crahay granted a divorce to Clifford R. Woolley, 245 Chelton Ave., Long Branch, from Gloria A. Woolley, Molly Pitcher Village, Red Bank, for desertion.

'Jail on Wheels' Visiting Shopping Center for Week

EATONTOWN — The Crime Discouragement Display Jail on Wheels will be shown here for six days — today through Saturday — at Monmouth Shopping Center.

The exhibit features scientific crime detection and practical police equipment such as the electronic lie detector, the Harger drunk-o-meter and Breathalyzer instruments used in sobriety tests, soundscriber, electric speedometer, electric gun lock, ultra violet light display, magnetic retriever, tear gas gun and grenades and also includes a jail cell and an actual electric chair, duplicate of the one in use in Connecticut state prison.

This display, which has toured throughout the country in a $25,000 bus which was custom built for it, is the result of the efforts of J. Edward Slavin, high sheriff of New Haven County in Connecticut.

Attendants explain the items. In the past 14 years, it has toured 47 states.

Boy, 12, Shot Accidentally By Friend

RARITAN TOWNSHIP — Police have ruled the Saturday shooting of a young boy as a hunting accident.

Edward Yurack Jr., 12, of Clark was accidentally shot with a 20-guage shotgun lired by L. Warner Jr., 16, also of Clark.

The youth was treated by Dr. I. Dell'Aira, 815 Poole Ave., for 18 pellet wounds in the right side and left arm, and released following the 11 a.m. accident.

Police said the mishap occurred as the two youths, accompanied by their fathers, were driving for rabbits on the Allocco farm on Union Ave., Hazlet. The Warner youth aimed at a rabbit, but struck Edward.

FOR SCHOOL WORK — Col. James L. Croekman Jr., director of Electronics Intelligence in the Army Electronics Command, receives the Legion of Merit from Maj. Gen. William B. Latta, ECOM commander, for "exceptionally meritorious conduct" in his duty as deputy director of the Defense Language Institute in Washington prior to his assignment to Ft. Monmouth. Mrs. Creekman is with them. Col. and Mrs. Creekman live on post at Ft. Monmouth, and have two sons, James, a junior at the University of Virginia, and John, a student at Monmouth Regional High School.

'64 Election Injury Nets A $50 Award

FREEHOLD — After a three-day trial, a jury before Superior Court Judge Francis X. Crahay Friday awarded $50 to a Freehold Township man for injuries he suffered in a 1964 dispute over elections in a local Cossack club.

The award was in favor of George Morozoff, Jackson Mills Road, Freehold Township, and was against Ivan Tkatschenko, East Fifth St., Freewood Acres, Howell Township.

The two men had been opponents in an election for the post of Ottoman of the local Cossack organization. The dispute occurred during a party July 25, 1964, several days before the Russian holiday of St. Vladimir's Day, at Rova Farms, Cassville, Jackson Township.

Testimony during the trial disclosed that Mr. Morozoff had accused Mr. Tkatschenko of not being a Cossack and urged the club members not to vote for him. Witnesses for Mr. Morozoff stated that Mr. Tkatschenko had knocked Mr. Morozoff down and kicked him repeatedly. Mr. Tkatschenko, however, stated that he struck Mr. Morozoff only once after Mr. Morozoff had struck him.

Supreme Court Ruling Expected On Inheritance of Adopted Son

FREEHOLD — Roger L. Boone, adopted son of the late Geraldine Boone, was declared not eligible for half interest in a $3.2 million share of the estate of his grandfather, the late Lewis S. Thompson.

Superior Court Judge Clarkson S. Fisher, in a seven-page ruling Friday, said a 1957 Supreme Court decision determined that "a provision for a 'child,' 'children' or 'issue' of another is presumed not to include an adopted child or children."

The judge, however, indicated that state laws governing wills and adopted children may need a new interpretation.

Mr. Boone's attorney, Donald J. Pappa of Asbury Park, said the ruling will be appealed.

Mr. Boone, a Daily Register reporter, was adopted in 1943 by Mrs. Boone, five years after Mr. Thompson's death.

Heir to the $3.2 million share of the trust which was willed to his mother's "issue," is Peter Van Gerbig of Boston, the only surviving natural child of Mrs. Boone's marriage.

Trustees of the estate had asked the court for instructions concerning the distribution of the share. Judge Fisher noted that there were no disputed facts of the will, which was probated in 1936.

The question before the courts was whether Mr. Boone, as the grandchild of the Col. Thompson through adoption, could share in the trust allocated to the surviving issues of Mrs. Boone.

Judge Fisher said there was nothing before the court to indicate that the colonel ever considered the possibility that one of his children might adopt a child.

The court noted that the 1957 ruling was used in a 1964 Supreme Court decision that holds that when a person who is not a party to an adoption makes a class gift to children of the adopting parent, the donor intends only to benefit natural children to the exclusion of adopted children.

The 1964 ruling held that two adopted daughters would be considered lawful children under the language of the will even though they were adopted after the death of the person who left the will, said Judge Fisher.

"The narrow holding," said Judge Fisher concerning the 1964 decision, "dealt with the words 'lawful children,' but much attention was directed to the word 'issue' because of an equation in the former decision of the terms child and children' to 'issue' to connote blood relationship.

"Had the case exclusively dealt with the term 'issue' rather than 'lawful children' there is little doubt that the (1957) case would have been overruled.

"However, the case was restricted to the question before the court. . . (the 1957 ruling) though considerably tarnished, is still binding precedent which must be followed until our Supreme Court either affirms or overrules its 1957 judgment."

Judge Fisher said that strictly following the ruling, Mr. Boone does not qualify to take a one-half interest in the one-quarter share of the principal of the residuary trust.

Raritan School Board President Quits Post

RARITAN TOWNSHIP — The Board of Education has accepted with regrets the resignation of its president, Theodore J. Stieve, effective Nov. 30.

Mr. Stieve, who has served on the board for six years — three of them as president — resigned because he is moving out of the township.

John Gilmore, vice president of the board will assume the duties of the presidency pending the naming of a new president.

Mr. Stieve's resignation leaves a one year unexpired term, which will be filled by the voters in February. The board has 60 days in which to name a new member, to serve until the election.

The board voted at Friday's meeting to establish a social studies award for senior students, a medallion in honor of Marine Lance Corporal Glen D. Bates, killed earlier this month in Vietnam.

The board agreed to assume approximately $980 in costs to enable four talented seniors to take a physics course at Monmouth College three nights a week, beginning in February. The students reportedly have all completed science offerings in the local system.

Teaching contracts were approved for Miss Mary Kammers, Atlantic Highlands, who will teach a new third grade class, beginning about Dec. I, with an annual salary of $5,700 and for Joseph Ercolino, who will receive the same salary and will teach science at the high school, also beginning Dec. 1. Mr. Ercolino will replace Mrs. Judith Harris, whose resignation was accepted at the same meeting.

Okay $25,000 Settlement In Injury Suit

FREEHOLD — County Court Judge Thomas J. Smith approved a $25,000 settlement Friday in favor of an Eatontown couple for injuries the wife suffered when she fell on the lawn in front of their Eatontown apartment.

The settlement was in favor of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Ahlf of 27 Country Club Rd., Eatontown, and was against Samuel Richlin, Country Club Estates president.

In the suit, Mrs. Ahlf charged that the Country Club Estates was negligent which resulted in her falling over something similar to a croquet wicket on the lawn in front of her apartment Jan. 7, 1966.

She said that she was forced to walk on the lawn because the sidewalk entrance was flooded with water.

The Ahlfs was represented by George M. Chamlin, West Long Branch. Mr. Richlin was represented by Richard A. Amdur, Asbury Park.

Police Sgt. Kelly To Address PTA

EAST KEANSBURG—Sgt. John B. Kelly, Middletown Township police safety officer, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the grammar school Parent-Teacher Association tomorrow night in the school all-purpose room.

Sgt. Kelly will discuss and show a film on bicycle safety.

A film, "The Child Molester," will be presented by Ellis Viester, chairman of the township Safety Council.

Shore Air Services Grounded by Lease

By BOB BRAMLEY

COLTS NECK — Shore Air Services Inc. and the Colts Neck Airport it occupied, are dead.

It was a matter of the lease, Gordon Duff Donald of Little Silver, Shore Air president and the gentle instructor who taught me to fly, said when I asked him why the grass-strip country airport had closed down Oct. 31. The landowner, Duff explained, would not extend the company's lease for more than six months.

"We couldn't continue to operate on that basis," he said.

I recalled the 150 happy hours I've spent buzzing around in various aircraft rented from Shore Air and based at Colts Neck Airport. There was the $14,000 Beechcraft Musketeer Duff trusted me with alone shortly after I'd soloed in 1964. I'd been out on a solo cross-country in preparation for my private license exam; when I arrived back at the airport, there was a wind peaking nearly 30 knots straight across the turf runway.

Every time I got the Muskie lined up to land, the crosswind would catch me and I'd drift off over the cornstalks—not a very good place to land.

I made four passes at the strip, with Duff's voice encouraging me over the radio; "Just dip that wing into the wind and give her a little opposite rudder; she'll slip right in," he said.

"Don't worry," I radioed back, "I'll get her down." I made it the fifth time around—not my best landing, but on the strip and undamaged.

Duff came up to the Muskie as I taxied in. "I knew you had it made when you told us not to worry," he said. "That was a pretty nasty crosswind, sport."

Me? I really wasn't worried. I was too busy flying the airplane.

"What are you going to do for flying now?" I asked Duff, an ex-Air Force jet jockey who finds it hard to be earthbound for very long at a time.

"Well, right now I'm full up to here with flying," he answered, drawing a forefinger across his neck. "So I guess I won't do anything until after Christmas, anyway. I'll enjoy a little family life instead.

"But after Christmas. . . This has happened to me before," Duff went on. "One day I'll see an airplane overhead, and the old itch to be up there will hit me again. You never get it out of your blood—you know what I mean, sport."

Yeah. That's right. I know what he means.

'Crusade 35' Officials Disturbed by Brushoff

FAIR HAVEN — Crusade 35 officials will await word from Russell H. Mullen, assistant state highway commissioner, on a further meeting to discuss improvements to Rt. 35 between Eatontown and Asbury Park.

Nearly 30 Crusade officials and Freeholder Harry Larrison Jr. were left waiting Thursday night in the Monmouth Shopping Center Civic Auditorium when J.R. Cunningham of the state highway department failed to show up for a scheduled briefing on the status of the project.

In a letter sent Friday morning to Mr. Mullen, Elmer J. Noll, general chairman of Crusade 35 said, "Needless to say we were very disapnointed when Mr. Cunningham of your department failed to attend. We had expected some definite word on when we might expect work to begin on the project and what the exact plans for the improvement entail."

Mr. Noll quoted figures released Thursday night by Henry Ney, traffic coordinator for Monmouth County indicating that traffic facilities on the 4.2 mile stretch of highway between Eatontown and Asbury Park are 300 per cent greater than the state average per 100 million vehicle miles and injuries nearly double.

Duncan C. Thecker of Colts Neck, organizer of Crusade 35, commenting on Mr. Cunningham's absence said: "I'm not the least bit surprised. They haven't done anything else to date, why wouldn't we have to expect this affront?

"It seems the only time the Highway Department pays any attention to the project is before an election. I'm sorry we didn't schedule the meeting prior to Election Day."

Mr. Thecker, who is recuperating at home from a broken leg, added: "It's probably no great loss. What would he have said if he attended? I am sorry, however, that the first aid squads and the other interested persons that attended Thursday night had to waste their valuable time. So, I would like personally to apologize to them for initiating this fruitless meeting. This is typical of the broken promises on the part of the Highway Department over the years concerning this project."

Youth Held For Jury On Two Charges

MIDDLETOWN — James W. Eichele, 20, of 76 Chestnut St., just returned from California, is being held in $7,500 bail for the Grand Jury on charges of forgery and receiving stolen property.

He was arraigned Friday before Magistrate Seymour R. Kleinburg in Municipal Court. He faces arraignment in Keansburg on the same charges. In Raritan Township, he faces larceny charges.

On Oct. 26, Eichele allegedly stole $1,000 worth of travelers checks from a home in Hazlet. He reportedly cashed them in the various branches of the Keansburg-Middletown National Bank.

With the money, police say, he and two unidentified friends went to Los Angeles. They returned last Wednesday. Thursday morning he was arrested with $18 remaining of the money.

A joint investigation was conducted by local detectives. Raritan Detective Sgt. Holmes Gormerly, and Keansburg Detective Sgt. George J. Preston Jr., acted on a tip that the youth had returned from California. Detective Walter Monahan, of the Middletown Township Police Department, made the arrest.

Lane Grants 2 Divorces

FREEHOLD — Superior Court Judge Merritt Lane Jr. has granted a divorce to Jane Chansky, 53-C Monmouth Ave., here, from John A. Chansky, Bergenville Rd., Freehold Township, for adultery.

Superior Court Judge Francis X. Crahay granted a divorce to Clifford R. Woolley, 245 Chelton Ave., Long Branch, from Gloria A. Woolley, Molly Pitcher Village, Red Bank, for desertion.

'Jail on Wheels' Visiting Shopping Center for Week

EATONTOWN — The Crime Discouragement Display Jail on Wheels will be shown here for six days — today through Saturday — at Monmouth Shopping Center.

The exhibit features scientific crime detection and practical police equipment such as the electronic lie detector, the Harger drunk-o-meter and Breathalyzer instruments used in sobriety tests, soundscriber, electric speedometer, electric gun lock, ultra violet light display, magnetic retriever, tear gas gun and grenades and also includes a jail cell and an actual electric chair, duplicate of the one in use in Connecticut state prison.

This display, which has toured throughout the country in a $25,000 bus which was custom built for it, is the result of the efforts of J. Edward Slavin, high sheriff of New Haven County in Connecticut.

Attendants explain the items. In the past 14 years, it has toured 47 states.

Boy, 12, Shot Accidentally By Friend

RARITAN TOWNSHIP — Police have ruled the Saturday shooting of a young boy as a hunting accident.

Edward Yurack Jr., 12, of Clark was accidentally shot with a 20-guage shotgun fired by L. Warner Jr., 16, also of Clark.

The youth was treated by Dr. I. Dell'Aira, 815 Poole Ave., for 18 pellet wounds in the right side and left arm, and released following the 11 a.m. accident.

Police said the mishap occurred as the two youths, accompanied by their fathers, were driving for rabbits on the Allocco farm on Union Ave., Hazlet. The Warner youth aimed at a rabbit, but struck Edward.

FOR SCHOOL WORK — Col. James L. Crookman Jr., director of Electronics Intelligence in the Army Electronics Command, receives the Legion of Merit from Maj. Gen. William B. Latta, ECOM commandor, for "exceptionally meritorious conduct" in his duty as deputy director of the Defense Language Institute in Washington prior to his assignment to Ft. Monmouth. Mrs. Crookman is with them. Col. and Mrs. Crookman live on post at Ft. Monmouth, and have two sons, James, a junior at the University of Virginia, and John, a student at Monmouth Regional High School.

'Back to School' Event Tonight

HIGHLANDS — The Parent-Teacher Association of Henry Hudson Regional School will hold "Back to School Night" tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

Faculty members will be introduced by Harold Schaible, school superintendent. Parents will then follow abbreviated class schedules.

PTA officers include Herbert Butler, president; Vincent Gorman and Richard Neugebauer, vice presidents; Mrs. M. Pace, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Horan, corresponding secretary, and Richard Bagley, treasurer.

Committe chairmen are Mrs. Dalton Carhart and Mrs. Howard Phillips, hospitality; Mrs. Robert Luddy and Mrs. Raymond Kriessler, membership; Jeremy Sweeton, publications; Mrs. Robert Johnson, procedures; Mrs. William McCullough, program, and Mrs. Herbert Butler, ways and means.

Driver Is Charged

RED BANK — Herbert Novotny, 5 Sylvia Ter., New Monmouth, was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol Saturday.

Police gave him a breath test after his car sideswiped one driven by M. L. Genova, 265 Nutswamp Road, Middletown, as it was pulling away from the curb on West Front St. at 1:23 a.m.

Supreme Court Ruling Expected On Inheritance of Adopted Son

FREEHOLD — Roger L. Boone, adopted son of the late Geraldine Boone, was declared not eligible for half interest in a $3.2 million share of the estate of his grandfather, the late Lewis S. Thompson.

Superior Court Judge Clarkson S. Fisher, in a seven-page ruling Friday, said a 1957 Supreme Court decision determined that "a provision for a 'child,' 'children' or 'issue' of another is presumed not to include an adopted child or children."

The judge, however, indicated that state laws governing wills and adopted children may need a new interpretation.

Mr. Boone's attorney, Donald J. Pappa of Asbury Park, said the ruling will be appealed.

Mr. Boone, a Daily Register reporter, was adopted in 1943 by Mrs. Boone, five years after Mr. Thompson's death.

Heir to the $3.2 million share of the trust which was willed to his mother's "issue," is Peter Van Gerbig of Boston, the only surviving natural child of Mrs. Boone's marriage.

Trustees of the estate had asked the court for instructions concerning the distribution of the share. Judge Fisher noted that there were no disputed facts of the will, which was probated in 1936.

The question before the courts was whether Mr. Boone, as the grandchild of the Col. Thompson through adoption, could share in the trust allocated to the surviving issues of Mrs. Boone.

Judge Fisher said there was nothing before the court to indicate that the colonel ever considered the possibility that one of his children might adopt a child.

The court noted that the 1957 ruling was used in a 1964 Supreme Court decision that holds that when a person who is not a party to an adoption makes a class gift to children of the adopting parent, the donor intends only to benefit natural children to the exclusion of adopted children.

The 1964 ruling held that two adopted daughters would be considered lawful children under the language of the will even though they were adopted after the death of the person who left the will, said Judge Fisher.

"The narrow holding," said Judge Fisher concerning the 1964 decision, "dealt with the words 'lawful children,' but much attention was directed to the word 'issue' because of an equation in the former decision of the terms child and children' to 'issue' to connote blood relationship.

"Had the case exclusively dealt with the term 'issue' rather than 'lawful children' there is little doubt that the (1957) case would have been overruled.

"However, the case was restricted to the question before the court. . . (the 1957 ruling) though considerably tarnished, is still binding precedent which must be followed until our Supreme Court either affirms or overrules its 1957 judgment."

Judge Fisher said that strictly following the ruling, Mr. Boone does not qualify to take a one-half interest in the one-quarter share of the principal of the residuary trust.

Shore Air Services Grounded by Lease

By BOB BRAMLEY

COLTS NECK — Shore Air Services Inc. and the Colts Neck Airport it occupied are dead.

It was a matter of the lease, Gordon Duff Donald of Little Silver, Shore Air president and the gentle instructor who taught me to fly, said when I asked him why the grass-strip country airport had closed down Oct. 31. The landowner, Duff explained, would not extend the company's lease for more than six months.

"We couldn't continue to operate on that basis," he said.

I recalled the 150 happy hours I've spent buzzing around in various aircraft rented from Shore Air and based at Colts Neck Airport. There was the $14,000 Beechcraft Musketeer Duff trusted me with alone shortly after I'd soloed in 1964. I'd been out on a solo cross-country in preparation for my private license exam; when I arrived back at the airport, there was a wind peaking nearly 30 knots straight across the turf runway.

Every time I got the Muskie lined up to land, the crosswind would catch me and I'd drift off over the cornstalks—not a very good place to land.

I made four passes at the strip, with Duff's voice encouraging me over the radio; "Just dip that wing into the wind and give her a little opposite rudder; she'll slip right in," he said.

"Don't worry," I radioed back, "I'll get her down." I made it the fifth time around—not my best landing, but on the strip and undamaged.

Duff came up to the Muskie as I taxied in. "I knew you had it made when you told us not to worry," he said. "That was a pretty nasty crosswind, sport."

Me? I really wasn't worried. I was too busy flying the airplane.

"What are you going to do for flying now?" I asked Duff, an ex-Air Force jet jockey who finds it hard to be earthbound for very long at a time.

"Well, right now I'm full up to here with flying," he answered, drawing a forefinger across his neck. "So I guess I won't do anything until after Christmas, anyway. I'll enjoy a little family life instead.

"But after Christmas. . . This has happened to me before," Duff went on. "One day I'll see an airplane overhead, and the old itch to be up there will hit me again. You never get it out of your blood—you know what I mean, sport."

Yeah. That's right. I know what he means.

Raritan School Board President Quits Post

RARITAN TOWNSHIP — The Board of Education has accepted with regrets the resignation of its president, Theodore J. Stieve, effective Nov. 30.

Mr. Stieve, who has served on the board for six years — three of them as president — resigned because he is moving out of the township.

John Gilmore, vice president of the board will assume the duties of the presidency pending the naming of a new president.

Mr. Stieve's resignation leaves a one year unexpired term, which will be filled by the voters in February. The board has 60 days in which to name a new member, to serve until the election.

The board voted at Friday's meeting to establish a social studies award for senior students, a medallion in honor of Marine Lance Corporal Glen D. Bates, killed earlier this month in Vietnam.

The board agreed to assume approximately $980 in costs to enable four talented seniors to take a physics course at Monmouth College three nights a week, beginning in February. The students reportedly have all completed science offerings in the local system.

Teaching contracts were approved for Miss Mary Kammers, Atlantic Highlands, who will teach a new third grade class, beginning about Dec. 1, with an annual salary of $5,700 and for Joseph Ercolino, who will receive the same salary and will teach science at the high school, also beginning Dec. 1. Mr. Ercolino will replace Mrs. Judith Harris, whose resignation was accepted at the same meeting.

Probe Death Of Highlands Resident

HIGHLANDS — Acute alcoholism and exposure were causes of the death of a 22-year-old local man, according to Dr. C. Malcolm B. Gilman, Monmouth County physician.

Gene R. Banks, 56 Fourth St., was found beside a house at 18 Miller St. Saturday shortly after 7 a.m. He was pronounced dead at Monmouth Medical Center, Long Branch. Police said an investigation into the death is continuing.

Mr. Banks, a plumber's apprentice, had moved here from Norwalk, Conn., eight years ago.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Jane Banks; a son, Gene Banks; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Banks, and six brothers, Paul, George, Michael, Gary, Patrick and Daniel Banks of Highlands.

Services will be tomorrow, 2 p.m. in the Posten Funeral Home, Atlantic Highlands. The Rev. William McCullough of Highlands Methodist Church will officiate. Burial will be in Bay View Cemetery, Leonardo.

Police Sgt. Kelly To Address PTA

EAST KEANSBURG—Sgt. John B. Kelly, Middletown Township police safety officer, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the grammar school Parent-Teacher Association tomorrow night in the school all-purpose room.

Sgt. Kelly will discuss and show a film on bicycle safety.

A film, "The Child Molester," will be presented by Ellis Viester, chairman of the township Safety Council.

'Crusade 35' Officials Disturbed by Brushoff

FAIR HAVEN — Crusade 35 officials will await word from Russell H. Mullen, assistant state highway commissioner, on a further meeting to discuss improvements to Rt. 35 between Eatontown and Asbury Park.

Nearly 30 Crusade officials and Freeholder Harry Larrison Jr. were left waiting Thursday night in the Monmouth Shopping Center Civic Auditorium when J.R. Cunningham of the state highway department failed to show up for a scheduled briefing on the status of the project.

In a letter sent Friday morning to Mr. Mullen, Elmer J. Noll, general chairman of Crusade 35 said, "Needless to say we were very disappointed when Mr. Cunningham of your department failed to attend. We had expected some definite word on when we might expect work to begin on the project and what the exact plans for the improvement entail."

Mr. Noll quoted figures released Thursday night by Henry Ney, traffic coordinator for Monmouth County indicating that traffic facilities on the 4.2 mile stretch of highway between Eatontown and Asbury Park are 300 per cent greater than the state average per 100 million vehicle miles and injuries nearly double.

Duncan C. Thecker of Colts Neck, organizer of Crusade 35, commenting on Mr. Cunningham's absence said: "I'm not the least bit surprised. They haven't done anything else to date, why wouldn't we have to expect this affront?

"It seems the only time the Highway Department pays any attention to the project is before an election. I'm sorry we didn't schedule the meeting prior to Election Day."

Mr. Thecker, who is recuperating at home from a broken leg, added: "It's probably no great loss. What would he have said if he attended? I am sorry, however, that the first aid squads and the other interested persons that attended Thursday night had to waste their valuable time. So, I would like personally to apologize to them for initiating this fruitless meeting. This is typical of the broken promises on the part of the Highway Department over the years concerning this project."

Realtors Will Ask Legislature To Repeal Strike Benefit Law

SHREWSBURY — At the November meeting of the Monmouth County Board of Realtors in Shadowbrook, members adopted, by overwhelming vote, a resolution asking that S-400, known as the "strike benefits law," be repealed by the state legislature.

Kenneth L. Walker Jr., who read the resolution, called the law discriminatory, and said it was railroaded, with no prior hearings, through the legislature last April.

The law, which goes into effect Jan. 1, provides 26 weeks of unemployment benefit payments to strikers.

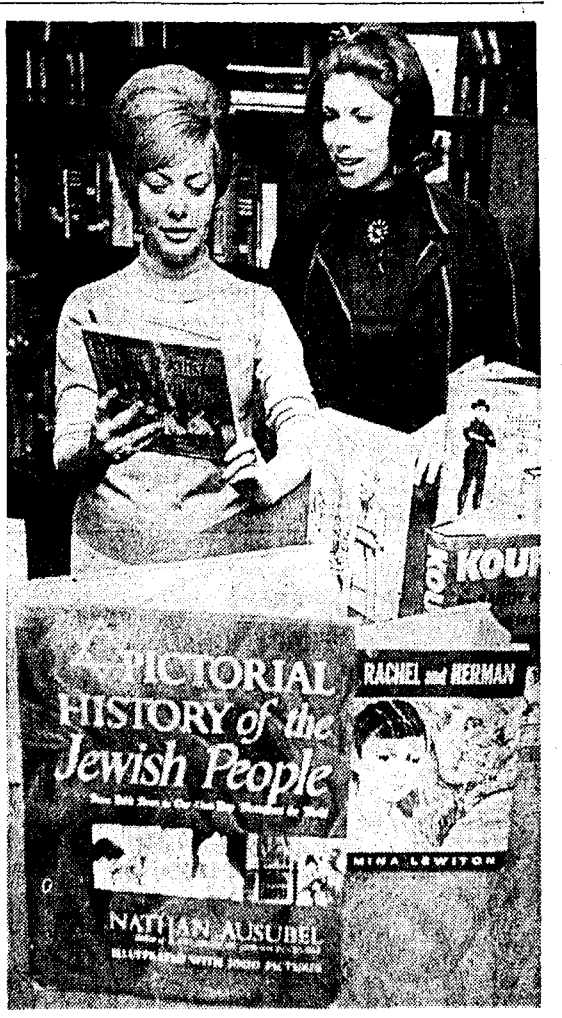

Prior to introducing the resolution, Mr. Walker, a past president of the board, congratulated Monmouth president Paul Bova and other realtors on behalf of the New Jersey Association of Real Estate Boards for achieving the second highest county board membership in the state. He said that only the Camden County Board of Realtors has more members than Monmouth.

Inducted by past president and present governor John H. Folk 2nd as new active members of the board were Cecelia Bailey, Crowell Agency, Red Bank; Leo C. Bizzarro, Leo C. Bizzarro Agency, West Long Branch; Paul Bragar, Paul Bragar Agency, Shrewsbury; Edward A. Hanlon, New Shrewsbury; Barclay Hills, Paul R. Stryker Agency, Holmdel; Jean K. Irwin, Jean K. Irwin Agency, Red Bank; Joseph Clifford Lamb, Lamb Realty, Brielle; Edwin F. Placilla, Lincroft Association, Middletown; Audrey J. Schecher, Ocean Realty Co., Eatontown; Mayor Henry J. Shaheen, West Long Branch; Morton T. Silver, Massar Silver Agency, Asbury Park, and Frances Giblin Weiser, Frances Giblin Weiser Agency, Avon.

Mr. Folk also wore in new salesmen members; Ruth H. Bailey, Jane M. Drake, Dorothy A. Farmer and Helen Hickey, Sterling Thompson Associates, Inc., Middletown; Elizabeth Bargman, J. N. Garrabrandt Agency, Belmar; Helen F. Barry, James P. Martin Agency, Spring Lake; Jack D. Bolton and James N. Chakolas, associates of Harry S. Rowland Sr., Eatontown; Joseph J. Capone, McGowan Agency, Red Bank; Roberta M. Chase and Alice Duttkin, Curtin Agency, Inc., New Shrewsbury; John R. Disbrow, Disbrow and Neaves, Inc., West Long Branch; Beatrice Kinslow and Harry Drazin, Bander Agency, Asbury Park; James Hoag, Hawes and McAfee Agency, Manasquan; Virginia Hogarty, Ken Twyman Agency, Sea Girt; Gloria Jensen, Marie Cox Agency, Oceanport; Constance Maher and Walter Knittel, C. Frank Appleby Agency, Inc., Asbury Park, and Esther W. Zucker, George Vowteras Agency, Allenhurst.

The board's transportation committee, under the chairmanship of Howard W. Van Ness, reported active efforts to bring about the construction of the proposed Central Jersey East-West Expressway.

Anthony J. Camassa, publicity committee chairman, said encouraging increases in the amount of news released and publicized by the board and thanked media for their cooperation. He stressed the need for cooperation between brokers, salesmen and all indivdual members of the board to continue and increase publicity for the board. F. Bourne Ruthrauff, public relations consultant for the board, backed up Mr. Camassa in his plea for more stories, information, and sources of news material.

The Clothes Closet To Open New Store

MADISON — Bernard and Arthur Seeman, founders of New Jersey's "The Clothes Closet," have set Friday, Nov. 24, as the date to prove "The more things change the more they remain the same."

On the day following Thanksgiving, the Seeman brothers will put out the "open for business" sign in front of a modern building constructed expressly for "The Clothes Closet."

The new "Closet," on Rt. 34 a few miles north of Matawan, will be a change from the old "Clothes Closet" a half-mile north.

"Our new store," Bernard Seeman said, "will have 3,100 square feet of floor space, almost four times the area of the old. It will have seven finished dressing rooms, compared with only two in the old store, ample storage facilities for the larger selection of stock that we'll carry and parking for 30 cars."

The new "Clothes Closet" will feature more complete lines of men's and women's furnishings in addition to a selection of children's apparel.

Grand Jury Given Case

FREEHOLD — Charges of possession of stolen liquors valued at $167.70 against Ernest Horton, 25 Parker St., have been referred to the Monmouth County Grand Jury.

Municipal Court Judge Alexander Levchuk released Horton under $1,000 bail.

Horton is accused of possessing the liquor Oct. 10. It was allegedly stolen from Shamrock Bar, Tennent. He is represented by Robert I. Ansell of Asbury Park.

Thomas M. Banks, 13 Victory Dr., Englishtown, was fined $10 for careless driving.

ST. CLEMENT'S GROUP

MATAWAN — Plans for coming activities were outlined at a meeting of the Altar and Rosary Society of St. Clement's Catholic Church.

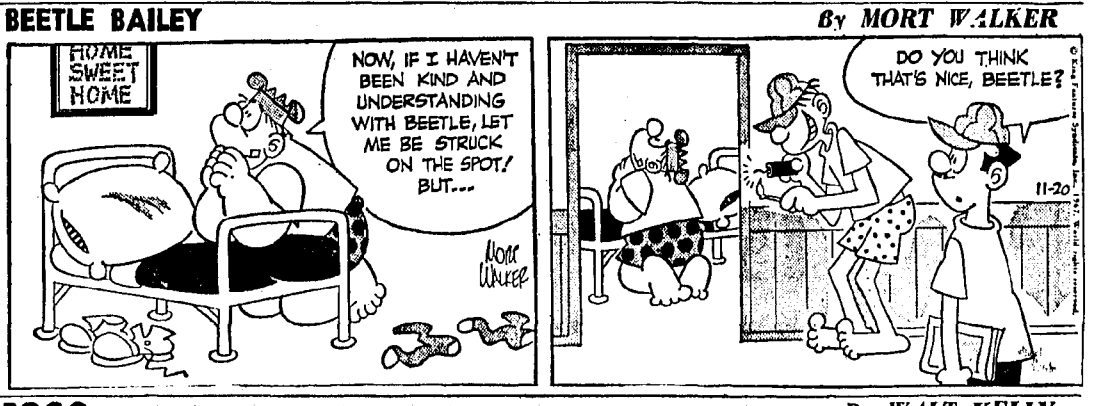

Mrs. Thomas Conroy, chairman of the Christmas party, said the party will be Thursday, Dec. 7 at 8 p.m. in the Holmdel Motor Inn, Route 35, Holmdel.

Tickets are now available for "Babes in Toyland" to be presented Dec. 14, 15 and 16 by the "Saints and Sinners" of the local parish in the Matawan High School auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Mrs. Matthew Healy is secretary of the dramatic group.

Mrs. Louis Vernarelli and Mrs. Gregor Asbjorn accepted co-chairmanships of the annual parish spaghetti supper to be scheduled for February. Sister Mary Blaise, a Trinitarian sister, is guest speaker. Her topic will be "Unmarried Mothers".

Members were reminded they will receive Holy Communion in a body Sunday, Dec. 3 at the 8:30 a.m. Mass.

Tonti Talks On Neglect Of Libraries

SPRING LAKE — In the field of education, libraries have been neglected, D. Louis Tonti, executive director, New Jersey Highway Authority, owner-operator of the Garden State Parkway, said last night.

Mr. Tonti spoke at the annual fall dinner meeting of the Monmouth College Library Association of the Murray and Leona Guggenheim Memorial Library of Monmouth College, at the Spring Lake Golf and Country Club.

He compared library clubs to garden clubs and said that garden clubs are the stronger of the two. Libraries, he stressed, must bind themselves together to persuade the state legislature to help them in their efforts.

Referring to the Garden State Art Center, Mr. Tonti said its development represents a great stride forward, one which will help people use their leisure time more effectively. Mr. Tonti said he would see that reasonable admission prices prevailed. He advocated ticket prices to range from $2 to $6.90 so that people who might not afford a trip to New York for the theater could afford to go there.

Farewell Dinner Given For Obadiah Hallenbake

MIDDLETOWN — Fifty-nine men recently attended a surprise farewell dinner in honor of Obadiah "Obie" Hallenbake, given by township Fire Company 1.

Mr. Hallenbake, who is moving to Florida, was presented an engraved gold watch in recognition of his 40 years of service to the company.

He resides at 100 Willow St. Fair Haven.

2 Collisions Probed In Fair Haven

FAIR HAVEN—Borough police have issued a careless driving summons to Bruce M. Longfield of 60 Second St., as the result of a car-truck collision Saturday at 5:07 p.m.

Police said a car driven by Mr. Longfield was eastbound on River Road., when it collided with a parked truck, operated by George M. Selah of 162 Bridge Ave., Red Bank, and owned by Chris Bartell Electric Co., of Fair Haven. Mr. Longfield, police said, claimed he did not see the truck.

No injuries were reported in a two-car collision at 5:21 p.m. Saturday at the Acme Shopping Center on River Road, police said.

They said that an eastbound car driven by Philip A. Lucia Jr., of 132 E. River Road, Rumson, skidded on the wet pavement and crashed into the rear of a car driven by Mary V. Shea of 9 North St., Rumson.

Oceanport Plans 3 Regulatory Codes

OCEANPORT — A trio of ordinances designed to establish local building, housing and fire codes were introduced by Borough Council at an adjourned session Friday.

The move was to upgrade an existing building code and initiate the other two measures to comply with regulations governing receipt of federal funds for urban renewal programs.

The borough seeks $1.3 million to renovate the community's business section.

"ASTRO-GUIDE" By Ceean

Tuesday, November 21

Present—For You and Yours . . . If things seem rather dull in your bailiwick, liven them up with some suggestions for a change of pace. Try a different place for lunch; make people laugh with a humorous anecdote; refuse to see the dark side of any picture. New interests stimulate the imagination and provide excitement to the day.

The Day Under Your Sign

Aries. Born Mar. 21 to Apr. 19 Don't let unscrupulous person impose on your good nature or your pocketbook!

Taurus. April 20 to May 20 Competence is emphasized with worthwhile rewards forthcoming.

Gemini. May 21 to June 21 Writing is under especially fine aspects—even everyday correspondence.

Cancer. June 22 to July 21 You seem especially loquacious today. Be sure you don't bore your friends.

Leo. July 22 to Aug. 21 Think of the needs of others instead of your own. You'll feel better for it.

Virgo. Aug. 22 to Sept. 22 An unexpected message via a third person brightens your day considerably.

Libra. Sept. 23 to Oct. 22 Spend some time in meditation and prayer. You need a respite from "gabby" friends!

Scorpio. Oct. 23 to Nov. 21 Be careful about whose advice or example you follow. Think for yourself.

Sagittarius. Nov. 22 to Dec. 21 Check to see if your insurance requirements are adequate for changed circumstances.

Capricorn. Dec. 22 to Jan. 20 Avoid mathematical jobs today as numbers seem to confuse you completely now.

Aquarius. Jan. 21 to Feb. 19 You seem to be bewildered about what happened as it makes no rhyme or reason to you.

Pisces. Feb. 20 to March 20 Don't waste time fuming over a trivial remark made by a thoughtless person at work.

Bridge Advice

By ALFRED SHTINWOLD

Roger Lord, 26-year-old St. Louis bridge enthusiast, bid seven notrump on today's hand because only a grand slam could pull the match out of the fire. The hand was dealt during the recent International Rubber Bridge Tournament at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas.

West led the jack of hearts, and East signaled with the eight. Lord won with the queen and saw that he needed four clubs to make his grand slam.

Declarer took dummy's spades, got to his hand with the king of diamonds and cashed two more spades, discarding hearts from dummy. West shrewdly threw two diamonds, carefully saving his "useless" clubs.

Declarer next took the other top diamonds and the ace of hearts. West followed suit with the ten of hearts, "concealing" the presence of the nine in his hand. South continued with a club to the ace, a club to the king, and then a club toward dummy's queen-ten.

Moment of Truth

The moment of truth had arrived: Lord had to decide whether to play the queen of clubs or try a finesse with the ten.

South felt sure that East had the king of hearts since West would not have led away from a king against a grand slam. East's other card was either the jack of clubs or the nine of hearts. Which?

Lord reasoned that East would have signaled with the nine rather than with the eight of hearts at the first trick if he had started with K-9-8-7. Since East had actually played the eight, he probably did not hold the nine. Therefore his last card was the jack of clubs. Lord played dummy's queen and made his slam.

It's worth noting that South would have had no problem at all if West had discarded any of his useless clubs early in the play.

DAILY QUESTION

As a dealer, you hold: S—A Q 7 3 H—A Q 3 D—K Q 6 C—K 8 4. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one club. You intend to jump to 3-NT if partner makes any weak response. Your hand is too strong for an opening bid of 1-NT but not quite strong enough for an opening bid of 2-NT.

Parents Visit Nursing School

LONG BRANCH — Nurse uniforms dating to the Revolutionary War were modeled in a fashion show at the Monmouth Medical Center's School of Nursing's annual parents' night.

About 150 persons attended the affair which included a social hour in Auxiliary Hall and buffet supper in the center's cafeteria where the fashion show was staged. The yearly event provides parents and faculty members of both the School of Nursing and Monmouth College, where the students take their academic courses, the opportunity to become acquainted.

Parents were welcomed by Mrs. Arlene Sherman, school director; Mrs. Edgar Blake, vice president of the school's nursing board of managers, and George J. Bartel, center administrator.

TAMPA SOPHOMORE

Robert B. Hartman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold R. Hartman of 128 North Sunnycrest Drive, Little Silver, is enrolled as a sophomore at the University of Tampa.

A graduate of Red Bank High School, he is a member of Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity.

Monmouth Museum's Programs Applauded

HOLMDEL — Outstanding public response to the Monmouth Museum's fall programs was reported to the museum's board of trustees by the president, Charles B. Harding of Rumson.

He said 3,500 people, including many school children from Monmouth County and northern New Jersey, have visited the "Imprints of the Past" exhibition in the first five weeks.

Due to large attendance, the exhibition has been extended until Dec. 3. Mrs. Ralph Brainard of Holmdel, chairman of the museum's nature committee and a co - chairman of the exhibition, said the show has been fully booked by school groups until the closing date, with an average of three groups visiting daily.

Mrs. Brainard also announced that 4,200 people have visited the nature center this fall and taken guided nature walks on the two miles of trails the museum operates in Telegraph Hill Park, Holmdel. She thanked the 20 volunteers who serve as guides for school groups who visit the trails.

D. Louis Tonti of Holmdel praised the museum's nature trail program as "one of the great contributions in the public welfare made by the museum." 10,300 people have used the trails since they opened in October, 1966. They were designed by the museum and built and maintained by the Garden State Parkway.

Mr. Harding welcomed the Forrestdale School, Rumson, as the first school member of the museum. Class groups from Forrestdale accompanied by a teacher are entitled to free admission to all gallery exhibitions and other activities.

Mr. Harding also thanked the more than 60 volunteers who designed, installed and are serving as docents for "Imprints of the Past." He said "without their efforts, this exhibition would not have been possible."

Appreciation was expressed to the local business who have contributed money, materials and services to the museum gallery since it opened July 8. These include Monmouth Sign Company, Lawes Coal Company, Del Stone of Monmouth, Feldman Electric Supply Company, Turner Brothers Nursery, Frame Art Studio, Coopers' Art Supplies, New Jersey Natural Gas Company and First Merchants National Bank.

CBA Accepts Ten Members

KEANSBURG — Court St. Ann, Catholic Daughters of America, held a meeting in the Knights of Columbus Hall, where Mrs. Elbert Dorsey welcomed 10 new members and three reinstated members, including Mrs. John Carroll, Mrs. Anthony Costa, Mrs. Peter Fernadadez, Mrs. Arthur Hansen, Mrs. William C. Lloyd, Mrs. Harvey Marion, Mrs. Bernard McKiernan, Mrs. Charles Mayer, Mrs. Edward Mayer, Mrs. Richard Ryan, Mrs. Bruce Perry, Mrs. Francis Durnien and Mrs. Caroline Reamer, Mrs. John Thaler, district deputy, presided.

The Christmas party will be held Tuesday, Dec. 12, at Buck Smith's Restaurant. Mrs. Raymond Reaney is chairman, with Mrs. Michael Tamburro, co-chairman. The next meeting will be Dec. 5.

PROMOTED

Harry C. Betz Jr., 19, whose mother, Mrs. Virginia Agnime, lives at 2031 Shafto Road, New Shrewsbury, was promoted to Army private pay grade E-2 upon completion of basic combat training at Ft. Dix.

we care

What do you have to be thankful for?

A great deal we hope.

Because we at A&P have much.

We're thankful for God's blessings on our great country.

We're thankful for the free enterprise system that has allowed us to serve you for more than a century.

We're thankful, that again this year we'll be privileged to play a part in making Thanksgiving feasting a memorable occasion for so many.

But most of all we're thankful for you... for your patronage and loyalty.

When you come in we hope that the warmth of our service, the completeness of our selection and the dependability of our values will tell you better than words how thankful we are.
