7 Die, 13 Wounded in Sniper Battle

WOUNDED BY SNIPER A New Orleans policeman checks the pulse of a wounded comrade while another wounded officer leans against a tree in the background. Ten persons died from gunfire from a sniper or from a fire at the downtown Howard Johnson Hotel in New Orleans yesterday.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Two of the heavily armed snipers who authorities said killed seven persons and wounded 13 others held police at bay from two points atop an 18-story hotel today, virtually paralyzing a large section of downtown New Orleans.

Police said one of the gunmen remained in a bunker-like concrete-block house at one end of the roof of the Downtown Howard Johnson Hotel and the other moved to a ledge above the 18th floor.

A third sniper was gunned down last night.

When the gunman appeared in the new position today, police sharpshooters opened fire from several positions but apparently did not hit him. Police Supt. Clarence Giarrusso ordered all firing stopped except by marksmen 600 yards away in the federal building.

His order came when policemen on the 17th floor of the hotel said they were being fired upon, apparently by their own men.

Giarrusso, who lost his No. 2 man and two other officers in the sniping which began yesterday, had said earilier he would take no chances.

"Time is our ally," he said. "They're at our will now. We're going to win.'

Started Before Noon

The snipers had started their shooting before noon yesterday, peppering the area with gunfire throughout the day after setting sections of the hotel afire. The hotel is about six blocks from the city's famed French Quarter.

Police last evening had reported a total of 10 persons killed. Early today, they lowered the count to seven and said the mistake apparently was made in duplicate count of the dead found on the top floor of the hotel. They said three bodies, instead of the six originally reported, were found on the top floor. The other dead included the three policemen and a body found in a stairwell.

It was not immediately known whether all of the victims died of gunshot wounds or in fires set by the snipers.

Mayor Moon Landrieu said that efforts to negotiate with the snipers were fruitless. "They said crazy things," he said.

"Things like, 'come and get us.' "

A police spokesman said there was "some indication" that the incident night be related to the New Year's Eve sniping attacks on two other policemen, one of whom was killed.

Area Remains Closed

Mayor Moon Landrieu, joining the police chief in a news conference, said several square blocks surrounding the hotel would remain closed to the public as long as the snipers remained free in the building.

The streets barricaded by police encompassed approximately 50 square blocks.

There were three snipers in the bunker at one time, but one was killed by police gunfire from a Marine helicopter last night.

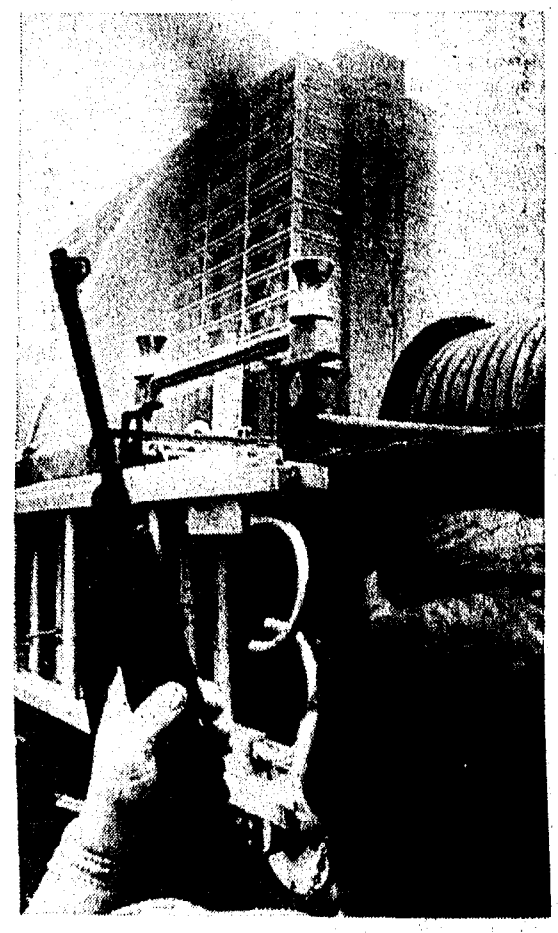

The sniper exposed himself when he leaped from the concrete-block house to shoot at the helicopter.

Marine Lt. Col. C.H. Pitman hovered the big chopper about 30 feet above the hotel roof so police gunners armed with AR15 automatic rifles could pour lead through a hole in the wall, hoping to hit somebody inside with a ricocheting bullet.

"He had been sticking his nose out before; but, this time, he popped right out of there and aimed his rifle," said police Capt. Edward Laporte, who was watching the scene with binoculars from the top of the nearby City Hall.

"Everybody on the chopper opened up on him, and he started running a zig-zag pattern, but they cut him down. He sprawled on his back, and you could still see the bullets hitting around him."

Police said the snipers were armed with pistols and rifles shooting 44-caliber magnum bullets. Their big-caliber guns were a bass boom compared to the sharp crack of the smaller, high-velocity police weapons.

Another Major Try For Peace Is Begun

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho resumed peace negotiations today in an apparently icy atmosphere.

President Nixon's national security adviser and the North Vietnamese Politburo member met for the first time in almost four weeks at a house owned by the French Communist party in Gif sur Yvette, a suburb 15 miles southwest of Paris.

For the first time, no North Vietnamese official was waiting at the doorstep to welcome Kissinger and his aides. Kissinger waited outside for nearly a minute, then pushed open the door and entered.

The lack of a friendly reception presumably was an expression of anger at the U.S. bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong last month.

Tho and Xuan Thuy, the head of the North Vietnamese delegation in Paris, arrived more than 20 minutes before the Americans and smiled and waved at the waiting newsmen.

Most of the Americans had tense, serious expressions when they arrived.

It has been more than 10 weeks since Kissinger told a Washington news conference that "peace is at hand." Arriving from Washington last night in a more subdued mood, he said: "The President has sent me back to Paris to make one more major effort to conclude the negotiations.

"We expect that the talks this time will be serious and worthy of the yearning of people all over the world for an early end of the war," Kissinger continued. "As far as the United States is concerned, we shall dedicate ourselves to this effort with patience, good will and hope."

Hit-Run Vehicle Kills Police Captain's Son

NEW SHREWSBURY — A Red Bank man was fatally injured by a hit-and-run vehicle Saturday night while aiding a motorist on the Garden State Parkway.

According to State Police, the dead man identified as Steven Jones, 21, of 31 Throckmorton Ave., son of Red Bank Police Capt. Charles B. and Mrs. Jones and an employe of Colonial Citgo, 110 E. Front St., Red Bank, was sent to milepost 108.2 in the northbound lanes of the Parkway to help a motorist whose car had become disabled.

At approximately 9:39 p.m. an unidentified car struck Mr. Jones and the motorist identified as Gerald A. Lessells of Edison as they were standing on the shoulder of the roadway.

Police said the hit-and-run vehicle may have struck both Mr. Lessells' car as well as the tow truck which Mr. Jones had been operating.

Is Dead at Hospital

Both Mr. Jones and Mr. Lessells were taken to Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, by members of the New Shrewsbury First Aid Squad where Mr. Jones was pronounced dead upon arrival. Mr. Lessells was treated for minor injuries and later released.

Late last night police said the hit-and-run vehicle may have been a 1968 Mercury sedan or station wagon.

From debris found at the scene the wanted vehicle will have a missing molding from the tip of the right front fender, a missing radio antenna, and a missing right rear fender reflector.

The investigation is being conducted by State Police Detective Howard Gillan and Trooper Raymond Miller.

Mr. Jones was born in Long Branch. He had attended the University of Miami.

Surviving in addition to his parents, are a brother, Charles A. Jones, Long Branch and a sister, Mrs. Richard Shope of Red Bank.

Arrangements are under the direction of the William S. Anderson Funeral Home, Red Bank.

Reward Offered

Meanwhile, Local 39 of the Policeman's Benevolent Association has offered a cash reward for the apprehension of the hit-run driver.

Any information concerning the incident should be forwarded to State Police Troop E in Holmdel. All information will be kept confidential.

Contributions to the reward fund are being accepted at police headquarters or may be mailed to P.B.A. Local 39, Box 39, Red Bank, N.J. 07701.

Phone Bills Go Up Next Month

Next month's telephone bill will be higher by about 42 cents if you make the same number of intrastate phone calls you made this month.

The new rate increase granted by the state Board of Public Utility Commissioners to the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company becomes effective at 12:01 a.m. Thursday and is expected to increase the utility's revenue by $55.2 million.

The hike represents the second major increase granted the telephone company within the year by the PUC and has already been assailed by one legislator.

Additional revenue will be acquired through the increase of base rates for both home and residential service, a shortening of the initial time period of toll calls, an increase in the costs of installations, and other new charges.

Regulations of the PUC precluded the immediate increase of rates. The telephone company was directed to advertise the increase five days before it becomes effective.

The New Jersey Bell Telephone Company's advertisement, along with its schedule of new rates, will be found on Page 10.

Authority Plans Shift Of Spur in Manalapan

MANALAPAN — The N. J. Turnpike Authority tomorrow is expected to announce a realignment of its controversial planned spur through this municipatity.

William J. Flanagan, authority executive director, said last night that he was "impressed" with the flood of objections from residents here, and that the authority will "try to do something to accommodate them."

Neither Mr. Flanagan nor Mayor A. Barry Brandt would divulge the new alignment. The announcement, they said, would be detailed at the authority's meeting in New Brunswick.

Mr. Flanagan said the realignment would be presented to the authority members who will decide if it will be forwarded to Gov. William T. Cahill and the state Department of Environmental Protection for their approval.

Under the legislation enabling construction of the expressway, Gov. Cahill has the final say on the alignment. Mr. Flanagan said the governor will make the determination with the advice of the state Environmental Protection department.

Ends at Toms River

The 35-mile Alfred E. Driscoll Expressway is planned to run from South Brunswick to the Garden State Parkway in Toms River. It is scheduled for completion in mid-1975.

Former Gov. Driscoll is the chairman of the Turnpike Authority.

Environmental impact hearings were held in Monmouth County, Ocean County, and Middlesex County. Gov. Cahill will base his final decision on the transcripts of these hearings.

Residents here were predominately concerned about the road's close proximity to four schools. They claim the children will be harmed by the noise and air pollution, and that the road will be a safety hazard.

The Watergate Affair Finally Reaches Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate affair, one of the spicier issues of last fall's presidential election, has finally reached its day in court. Seven men go on trial today on charges of breaking into the Democratic party's national headquarters.

The trial could take up to three months to complete, with the jury sequestered to insulate it from the anticipated glare of publicity. Because of the controversy and high interest in the case 1,000 prospective jurors have been called.

The defendants, including former White House aides and officials of President Nixon's re-election campaign, are charged with breaking into the Democratic National Committee's headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex.

The defendants are:

— George Gordon Liddy, a former White House and Treasury Department aide who also was counsel for the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President until he was fired after refusing to answer some questions from the FBI.

Writes Spy Novels

— Everett Howard Hunt Jr., author of spy novels, who had been a White House consultant working under top Nixon aide Charles Colson.

— James W. McCord Jr., a former security coordinator for the Committee for the Re-Election of the President.

— Bernard Barker, a Cuban-born American who heads a real estate corporation in Miami. He already has been convicted in Miami of unlawfully notarizing a $25,000 check — representing money contributed to the Nixon campaign — and given a suspended 60-day term.

— Eugenia R. Martinez, an employe of the Barker firm and active in the anti-Castro movement in Miami.

— Frank A. Sturgis, a Barker associate and self-described soldier of fortune.

— Virgilio R. Gonzalez, another Barker associate and a Miami locksmith.

Better Budget Control Is Sought by Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is preparing to begin its organized effort to get better control of the budget-and in the process to regain some of the power which, its members contend, has slipped over the years to the White House.

The 16 House members of a special committee created by the last Congress to devise effective legislative budget machinery have set their first meeting for Wednesday, Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., said.

Ullman is author of the provision creating the committee, enacted when Congress turned down President Nixon's request for sweeping authority to cut back funds the legislators had already authorized.

Ullman said he will propose establishment of permanent budget committees in both House and Senate, composed of senior members of the two taxing and spending committees in each body.

These committees would be charged, he said, with examining the president's spending proposals and developing, within 60 days, a congressional budget that would set limits on all appropriations.

The regular congressional committees then would take over and produce the money bills for the various government activities.

At the end of the appropriating process, the budget committees would make a final review, recommending cutbacks and adjustments or, if the state of the economy required it, modifying the original budget ceiling.

Ullman acknowledged, in an interview, that the last attempt to establish an effective congressional budget, in the 1940s, failed.

But he said:

"This year, I think we can do it. We have a lot of support both in Congress and in the country. Members are finally facing up to the realization that we have to provide a mechanism for responsibility."

Principals in Central Controversy To Be Summoned to Middletown

MIDDLETOWN — The Township Committee will adopt a resolution tomorrow night demanding the presence of all principals involved with the proposed suspension of passenger service by the Central Railroad of New Jersey at a meeting here Jan. 18.

The resolution also offers aid in the form of purchase of railroad ties for use within the township boundaries.

Both Mayor Thomas J. Lynch and Township Committeeman Wilford L. Wisner said last night they "deplore the irresponsible plan to cut passenger service on the Shore line."

Mayor Lynch continued by saying the plan "is a serious threat to the survival of Middletown and other residential communities in Monmouth and Ocean Counties."

In its resolution the committee will "demand" the presence of Robert D. Timpany, bankruptcy trustee of the railroad, Gordon Fuller, the railroad's general manager, John C. Kohl, state Commissioner of Transportation, George F. Kugler, Jr., state attorney general, and William E. Ozzard president of the state Board of Public Utilities, at a local meeting Jan. 18.

The railroad has won a ruling from federal District Judge Anthony T. Augelli that it may end passenger service after Jan. 21 unless the state substantially increases its $5.1 million annual subsidy.

The railroad, said the two committeemen, has been bankrupt since 1967. It is losing $500,000 each month and needs an additional subsidy of $10 million a year to continue service.

The state has declined to increase its grants.

"I'm surprised," said Mr. Wisner, "that Governor (William T.) Cahill, while he's hinting he will run for reelection, will run the risk of going down in the state's history as the man who killed the railroads.

"I am shocked by his lack of concern for the welfare of the 15,000 commuters," Mr. Wisner added.

Besides the presence at a local meeting the committee asks explanations of Mr. Timpany's $60,000 annual salary; a salary increase "of approximately $30,000" to Perry M. Shoemaker, a trustee and former railroad president; a detailed explanation by Mr. Kohl of steps his department will take to supply adequate transportation to local residents in the event passenger service is suspended, and an explanation by Mr. Kugler of his department's alleged failure to prosecute "with the utmost vigor" a suit to prevent the suspension of passenger service.

The committee will also demand a detailed explanation by Mr. Ozzard as to his department's alleged failure to require minimum maintenance that would insure safety of passengers using the line.

The committee will further demand that Governor Cahill guarantee the commuters of the state passenger service on the Jersey Central line as well as the Penn Central Railroad be maintained at its present "or higher level" as long as he remains in office "or until a superior means of transportation is available wherever service is discontinued."

The "Lynch-Wisner" sponsored resolution will also demand that the Township Committee offer to buy as many railroad ties for use on the local line as the state will buy, provided the state forces the railroad lines to install them.

"While the Jersey Central and the state bicker about their poverty," Mayor Lynch said, "the lives of thousands of residents of Middletown and other shore communities are in jeapordy daily because of missing or rotten ties. We can't rebuild the whole railroad, but we ought to do what we can to insure that the disaster doesn't happen in Middletown."

Holmdel Seats 2 Newcomers

HOLMDEL — George J. Boggio and Thomas F. Parker were sworn in for three-year terms on the Township Committee at its organization meeting Friday night.

The new members of the all-Republican committee replace Dominick Luccarelli and Wallace A. Taylor, who did not seek reelection. Mr. Luccarelli served three years and Mr. Taylor, seven.

Mr. Boggio and Mr. Parker were sworn in by John P. Wadington, township clerk, in the presence of their wives. Mr. Boggio was also accompanied by his four young children.

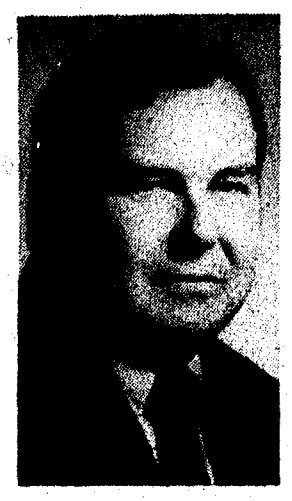

Cohen Again Mayor

David Cohen was again selected mayor by his fellow committeemen. He was sworn in by Judge John Arnone, a childhood friend, in the presence of his wife. Mr. Cohen has been mayor since 1970.

S. Thomas Gagliano was reappointed township attorney and will also serve as prosecutor in Municipal Court; Joseph X. Seaman will be township auditor; and Dr. Michael Cristofaro, township physician. All were appointed for one year.

Reappointed to three-year terms on the Zoning Board of Adjustment were James Hallon and Warren Baumgartner. Leo Yori and John Onder were appointed alternates for one year.

Charles Bailey was appointed to the Planning Board for a six-year term and Mr. Wadington for one year. Albert Masch and John Scanton will be alternates for one year.

Thomas F. Parker

George J. Boggio

Ralph Molzon will serve as fire chief for the coming year.

Appointed to Boards

Frank A. Miele was appointed to the Board of Health and Harold Zahl to the Industrial Development Committee. Both will serve three years.

Mrs. Elaine Frey was named to a five-year term on the Board of Recreation Commissioners, and Mrs. Jessie Dieth and Ralph Brainard given three-year terms on the Environmental Commission.

Additional appointments were: Mr. Wadington, treasurer; Walter A. Smale, building inspector; John J. Coughlin, administrator-zoning officer; Ralph Nappi, civil defense director; and Mrs. Maree Brereton, welfare director.

The swim pool committee will consist of Mr. Boggio, Martin Ford, Mrs. Frey, Richard Hagan, Mr. Halton, Walter Hoffman, Alfred Morley, Nicholas Pavacich and Joseph Trecker.

John Chappell, Cree Dawson, John Dill, Mrs. Rhea Smith and Bert Williams will comprise the tennis committee.

The drug abuse committee will include Mrs. Elizabeth Blicksilver, Patrolman Michael Borsari, Miss Jane Diamond, Douglas Franke, Paul Hencoski, Mrs. Lorraine Hettrick, Edward O'Hara, Mark Olinsky, Mr. Parker, Mrs. Kathleen Smith, Mrs. Elizabeth Sturges, Richard H. White and Miss Karen Whitfield.

Mayor Cohen, Mr. Coughlin, Mr. Jannuzzo, John Landers, Morton B. Lipetz, Mr. Avakian and Mr. Wadington will be members of the capital budget committee.

Nathaniel Cheek, Robert Clausen, William McCormick, Frank Malandrucolo, William Ryder and Harry Pitcher were named fire police.

Sgt. William Truex will be acting police chief while Chief R. Bruce Phillips attends the FBI academy.

Committee Assignments

On the Township Committee, Mayor Cohen will chair the finance and administration committee; Mr. Parker, health and welfare; Mr. Jannuzzo, public safety; Mr. White, public works, and Mr. Boggio, recreation.

The Health Department will continue to act as registrar of dogs.

Official township depositories will be: First Merchants National Bank of Asbury Park, United Counties Trust Co., Colonial First National Bank, Peoples National Bank of Monmouth County, and Shadow Lawn Savings and Loan Association.

The Daily Register will be the official newspaper. Temporary appropriations of $15,750 were authorized by the committee.

Shirley S. Cox, the tax collector, will be official searcher and Mr. Wadington will be assessment searcher.

Union Threatens to Halt Rail Lines If CNJ Drops Its Passenger Service

MONMOUTH BEACH — If the Central Railroad of New Jersey carries out its threat to end its passenger service, a railway union says it may force a complete stoppage of both commuter and freight services on the Central and the New York and Long Branch Railroads, including Penn Central service.

The statement was made by Norman C. Hansen, 16 Jessica Place, here, general chairman of Division 45, Transportation-Communications Division, Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks, whose 250 members in New Jersey and Pennsylvania will oppose the discontinuation of the Jersey Central passenger service.

Mr. Hansen said the group mans drawbridges, signal and switching towers, freight offices and passenger stations and has identical contracts with the CNJ and the NY&LBRR.

The Division is in a position to shut down both railroads, including Penn-Central and even Pennsylvania Station in Newark where the CNJ ticket office is located, he said.

Mr. Hansen also explained that confrontations may occur at points on the Erie-Lackawanna and Penn Central where commuters may be transported by shuttle buses.

Mr. Hansen further said that Gov. Cahill's plan to add cars on Penn Central trains to and from the Jersey Shore and local feeder buses in that area could not possibly handle the load.

"Even if it could," he said, "it is unlikely that bus drivers would ignore the 'informational picket signs' displayed at all strategic points. A work stoppage on the CNJ, a terminal road under its new configuration, will, of course affect many other railroads and will force many more trucks, buses and automobiles onto the already congested roads."

Mr. Hansen said his division will also oppose any scheme to merge or consolidate CNJ facilities and services with any other railroad without advance negotiations on labor protective conditions and agreements.

He added the group is also demanding prompt payment of wage increases approved by the Pay Board at the rate of five per cent due on April 4, 1972; five per cent due on Oct. 1, 1972 and 15 cents per hour due on last Monday, plus six per cent interest, along with timely payment of 10 cents per hour on April 1.

Authority Plans to Modify Spur's Path in Manalapan

The Township Committee, the Manalapan-Englishtown Regional Board of Education, the Freehold Regional High School Board of Education, and approximately 18 civic groups in this municipality are opposing the spur's current alignment.

Air Quality Cited

The authority's environmental impact study indicated that no adverse environmental impacts on air quality were found and that "regional air quality" probably would be improved by relieving traffic along Rt. 9.

However, an environmental impact study conducted by a study team from Rutgers University uncovered inconsistencies in the authority's study, according to Gerald Faulhaber, vice chairman of the Manalapan-Englishtown Regional Board of Education.

The authority several months ago announced its proposed alignment. The spur would enter this municipality north of Union Hill Road, and leave this township and Monmouth County west of Jackson Mills Road at the Ocean County boundary.

In passing through Manalapan, the road would come within 400 feet of the Taylors Mill School, within 600 feet of Manalapan High School, and within 1,000 feet of the Milford Brook and Clark Mill Schools.

The spur would also bisect the Yorktowne development. Twenty-three homes in that development would be demolished.

As a result of the complaints, the authority's engineers mapped out two alternate routes for the expressway, which were presented during the environmental impact hearings.

One would take the spur west of Englishtown Borough, north along the Matchaponix Brook, it would join with the present alignment in Monroe Township, just west of Spotswood-Englishtown Road.

The other alignment would carry the expressway west of Englishtown, through Monroe Township, close to Rt. 522, north of Jamesburg, south of Helmetta, and back to the proposed alignment at Cranbury Road in East Brunswick.

However, Englishtown Mayor Harry Chomko and the Englishtown Council expressed opposition to the two alternate alignments.

Mayor Brandt said Township Committeemen Paul Piccione and James A. Flanagan have been named to a subcommittee to assist the families who will be displaced by the expressway.

"Throughout discussions, we have insisted on assurances from the turnpike that displaced families be re-located in the township and as close as possible where they now live," the mayor said.

Mr. Flanagan he couldn't say anything about the possible realignment "other than I was very impressed with Mayor Brandt and the gentlemanly manner he handled himself through all the issues when they became hot."

Gas Station Theft Probed by Police

FREEHOLD TOWNSHIP — Police are continuing their search for thieves who stole $52 from Raceway Gas Station, Rt. 9, Saturday, while the attendant waited on a customer.

Police said the attendant, Charles Woczik, reported the money was stolen from inside the station while he was busy with a customer.

Avakian Replaces Schulz

HOLMDEL — Leon S. Avakian of Neptune is the new township engineer.

In a surprise move at the annual organization meeting Friday night, the township committee unanimously appointed him to replace Richard M. Schulz who had been engineer for six years.

There was no comment on the change by committeemen during the meeting, but afterwards, Committeeman J. Paul Jannuzzo insisted the committee valued the work Mr. Schulz had done and simply felt "it is time for fresh blood."

Mr. Schulz will be retained as a special consultant.

Mr. Avakian had been serving as Planning Board engineer for about four years. The Daily Register has learned that Richard Ackerman of Oceanport, a principal in Ackerman Ney Associates of Freehold, is the leading contender for the Planning Board consulting post.

The only other unexpected note at the meeting was Committeeman Jonathan P. White's "no" vote on the reappointment of Andrew L. Simonsen and Wallace A. Taylor to serve five years on the Bayshore Regional Sewerage Authority.

Mr. White did not explain his vote at the time, but after the meeting said he felt the township might have been better served by the appointment of one new representative to permit the application of a new combination of talents. He did not say which man he would have replaced.

Mr. White did not object to the appointment of Mr. Simonsen and Mr. Taylor as members of the South Slope Committee which will attempt to bring sewers to that section of town.

The committee changed its time of meeting to 8:30 p.m. from 8 p.m. It will continue to meet the third Monday of each month at Township Hall.

Lakewood Man Faces 2 Charges

FREEHOLD TOWNSHIP — James Samok, 18, of Lakewood, is in the county jail in lieu of $1,000 bail on charges of possessing marijuana and a concealed weapon — a starter gun.

Police said Samok and a 16-year-old juvenile were stopped in their car on Rt. 9 Saturday. Samok was also charged with several motor vehicle violations. The youth, charged with possession of an alcoholic beverage, was released pending Juvenile Court action.

Weather: Continued Cold

Increasing cloudiness this afternoon. High today in the low 20s. Cloudy tonight, low in the teens. Becoming mostly sunny tomorrow, high in the mid 20s. Winds northwest to north 10 to 20 mph, north to northeast 15-20 mph tonight and tomorrow. Wednesday fair and continued cold.

In Long Branch yesterday the high was 24 and the low, 14 degrees. It was 20 at 6 p.m. and 13 both at 6 p.m. and at 7 a.m. today.

Snow, sleet and freezing rain glazed areas from Tennessee and the lower Ohio Valley to the Atlantic early today, causing hazardous driving conditions and downing trees and power lines.

Missouri, Oklahoma and Kansas residents were again looking for snow shovels, wondering where to pile the latest 4 to 10 inches on top of last week's accumulation. Three thousand electric customers in Kansas City were shivering again early today as power lines snapped.

Moist air from the Gulf of Mexico clashed with cold air over North Carolina and Tennessee yesterday, dumping 7 inches of snow at some spots. U.S. 441 across the Smoky mountains into North Carolina was closed.

At least two deaths in Georgia and one in Tennessee were caused in part by icy roads, and 17 persons were injured slightly when an ice-laden tree toppled onto U.S. 61 near Leland, Miss., forcing a Greyhous bus off the road.

Northern Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and western South Carolina were blanketed with snow and sleet. Flashflood warnings were issued for north Georgia as the Gulf system brought more rain. Ice warnings were posted for the area.

Snow whitened most of the central Plains and mid-Mississippi Valley. Travelers advisories were posted for Kansas, Kentucky, Illinois, southern Indiana and Louisiana.

Kansas City reported a total of 15 inches of snow so far this winter, most of it coming the past week.

Elsewhere, a band of freezing drizzle hit central Texas, snow flurries were swirling over the northern Midwest and Great Lakes region, a storm in the Pacific spread cloudiness and rain over north and central California. Snow flurries hit the northern Rockies.

Highlands Man Gets Jail Term

FREEHOLD — Stephen Horniacek of Jenny Parker Manor, Highlands, has been sentenced to a total of six to 10 years in state prison for two break-ins, two thefts and one count of receiving stolen property.

Horniacek had pleaded guilty to all five counts.

He had admitted breaking into the home of Miss L. Bonta, Bath Ave., Long Branch, last June 19 and stealing an oil painting valued at $40; receiving a stolen grandfather's clock valued at $3,500 belonging to Miss Bonta June 24 in West Long Branch; and breaking into the home of James Ward, Lawrence Ave., Ocean Grove, Oct. 14 and stealing a .45 caliber automatic valued at $200.

He was sentenced by Superior Court Judge Patrick J. McGann Jr.

Navesink Crash Fatal to 2 Men

MIDDLETOWN — A single car accident on Monmouth Ave. in the Navesink section of the township Saturday morning resulted in the death of two 20-year-old Atlantic Highlands men and the hospitalization of an 18-year-old Leonardo woman.

According to Police Chief Joseph M. McCarthy, a car driven by Edward J. Alverson, of 52 Ave. C left the roadway near Swan Ave. at 1:03 a.m. and struck a utility pole.

Mr. Alverson and his passengers Paul A. Rich of 121 W. Highland Ave., and Miss Gail M. Greed of 45 Washington Ave., were taken to Riverview Hospital, Red Bank by members of the Leonardo First Aid Squad.

Both men succumbed to their injuries several hours later. Miss Greed is listed in fair condition.

Mr. Alverson was born in Long Branch and was a lifelong resident of Atlantic Highlands where he attended local schools.

He was a communicant of St. Agnes Catholic Church of Atlantic Highlands, and was employed by the Monmouth County Shade Tree Commission.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Alverson, with whom he lived; a brother, Robert Alverson, at home; a sister, Delores Martha Alverson, also at home, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Irene Henfey of Atlantic Highlands.

Arrangements are under the direction of the Condon Funeral Home of Atlantic Highlands.

Mr. Rich was also a lifelong resident of Atlantic Highlands and was a 1970 graduate of Henry Hudson Regional High School.

He was a communicant of St. Agnes Catholic Church, and was employed in the maintenance department of Lanvin-Charles of the Ritz, Holmdel.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Rich, with whom he lived, and a brother, Donald Rich, at home.

Israel Claims 5 Syrian Planes

TEL AVIV — Israeli planes raided Syrian army and guerrilla bases twice today and shot down five Syrian planes, the Israeli military command announced.

The Syrian MIGs challenged the Israelis on their second strike of the day, when they attacked radar bases, a spokesman said.

Earlier, Israeli fliers hit six guerrilla and army bases.

A spokesman said all five Syrian planes were MIG21s.

It was the largest aerial kill claimed by Israel since Nov. 21, when Israel claimed six Syrian MIGs. The Israelis say they have shot down 45 Syrian planes since the 1967 war, 14 of them in the past three months.

A spokesmans said the raids were in retaliation for three border incidents in the last 24 hours, including a half-hour artillery barrage against Israeli positions on the Golan Heights Sunday night.

It was the fifth Israeli air attack on Syria in two months.

The spokesman said the Israeli planes first crossed the cease-fire line east of the Golan Heights at 9 a.m. and attacked a Syrian army base at Nawa, about 25 miles east of the Sea of Galilee; two guerrilla bases near Dail, about 20 miles from the frontier and near El Muzeirib, and two army outposts and an artillery battery southeast of Queneitra.

Wants Study of Bombing Effects

WASHINGTON — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., today proposed a government-financed scientific study of environmental effects of U.S. bombing and defoliation in Vietnam.

The study was endorsed last month by the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

In a statement reintroducing a bill first presented in the 92nd Congress, Nelson estimated that American bombs have created 26 million craters 15 feet deep and 30 feet wide, bulldozers have scraped 750,000 acres clear of brush and trees, and American chemicals have destroyed an area of prime forest the size of Massachusetts.

"We did this without any concern for the consequences and we still don't know what the scientific implications of such vast environmental destruction will have on the future survival of that nation once we leave there," he said.

Hearings Open on Children's TV

WASHINGTON — A demand by a citizens' group for a complete federal ban on commercials during children's television programs comes up for hearings today before the Federal Communications Commission.

The commission has given no sign as to how it will act on the knotty legal and moral questions raised by a petition filed in February 1970 by Action for Children's Television—ACT—a citizens' group based on Newton Center, Mass.

In addition to a ban on commercials, the petition asked the FCC to require a minimum of 14 hours' programming a week for young people, and programming for age groups: 2-5 years old, 6-9, and 10-12.

For 2½ days commission members will hear oral arguments from church, women's, union and civic groups and from representatives of the TV industry, advertisers, including toy and food manufacturers, and others.

Then the commissioners will wrestle with the issue of what they can and should do. "That's one of the questions—how far we can go, or if we can do anything," an FCC spokesman said.

In 65 volumes of comment already filed by the industry in opposition to the ACT petition, the networks and stations argue that the basic communications act does not give the FCC authority to ban commercials from children's programs.

U.S. Base Accidentally Hit

SAIGON — An American flight leader mistakenly guided five U.S. fighter-bombers into an accidental attack on the Da Nang Air Base today.

Ten Americans and one Vietnamese were reported wounded by shrapnel or injured while running for cover. No deaths were reported. The western part of the base where the the bombs hit is thinly populated.

The U.S. Command reported that about half a dozen U.S. AC119 gunships and one helicopter were lightly damaged by flying shrapnel and four fuel tanks were destroyed.

The command first reported the explosions at 8:20 a.m. as an enemy shelling attack. Seven hours later, it announced that an investigation showed five Air Force, Navy and Marine fighter-bombers "flying above a heavy overcast accidentally dropped 34 500-pound bombs at Da Nang Air Base."

Military sources said futher investigation may show less than 34 bombs were dropped.

The command said the cause of the error was not known but an investigation was under way. An authoritative source, however, said it was due to a pilot error that apparently was heightened by the heavy overcast.

The intended target was suspected North Vietnamese and Viet Cong positions near Da Nang. The flight leader reportedly ordered the bombs dropped at the wrong map coordinates.

The planes — an Air Force F4 Phantom, two Marine F4s and two Navy A7 Corsairs — came from two bases in Thailand and from a carrier off the coast, and the pilots may have been unfamiliar with the Da Nang area.

Teachers Strike in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA — The city's 18,000 public-school teachers struck today for the second time in four months after last-ditch talks failed to reach a contract agreement.

The strike, which came after the teachers' union said an offer of binding arbitration came too late, officially began at midnight last night.

A school-board spokesman said it would seek an injunction from Common Pleas Court Judge D. Donald Jamieson today in an effort to end the strike which affects 260,000 students.

Jamieson, who was instrumental in ending a 22-day walkout in September, withdrew from the talks Saturday and said he couldn't issue an injunction until the strike actually began.

As the midnight deadline on the three-month contract extension neared, the school board offered to submit the dispute to bonding arbitration, but Frank Sullivan, president of the Philadelphia Federation of Teachers, said the union refused the offer.

"We cannot accept arbitration now because of the fact-finding process which was so adverse to the union we couldn't accept it," he said.

Talks had been going on for 15 months on the key points of a new contract on which both sides consistently have refused to back down or compromise.

The Board of Education says its $24 million deficit prevents any raises this year to its 18,000 teachers, and it wants the teachers to work a longer work day.

2nd Annual Heart Screening a Big Day

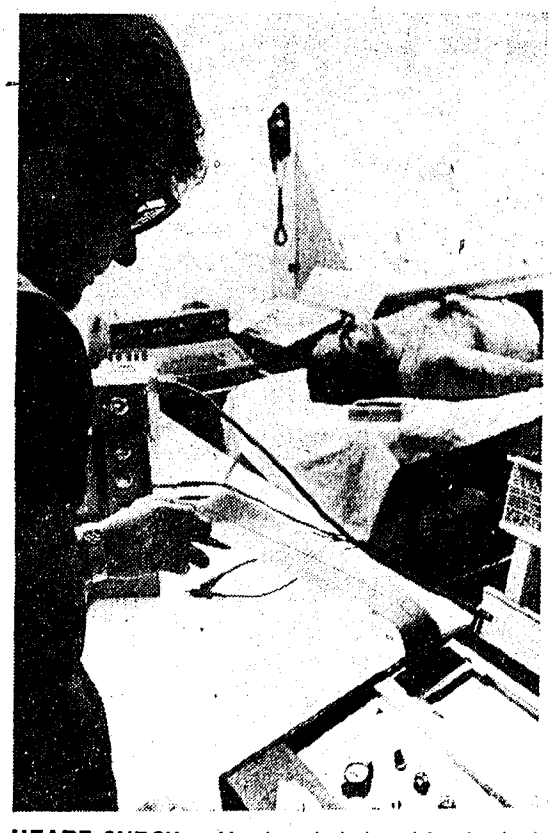

Register Staff Photos

WEIGHT FACTOR — Mrs. Roy Mattson of Eatontown, checks the weight of Jerry Lansky of Colts Neck as he begins a series of heart screening tests administered yesterday at Monmouth Medical Center, Long Branch. The second annual heart screening program, designed to pinpoint individuals as cardiovascular risks, was sponsored by Monmouth County Heart Association.

HEART CHECK — Mr. Lansky's heart is checked by Kenneth DuFour by means of electro-cardio analyzer.

LONG BRANCH — The second annual free heart screening program sponsored by Monmouth County Heart Association was pronounced a success yesterday afternoon as the last of the 1,000 county residents who had registered completed the testing designed to pinpoint individual risk of cardiovascular disease.

Some 107 participants — 69 men and 38 women — tabbed by the test as high risks, were screened additionally by an electrocardio analyzer, a machine that does preliminary scanning of heart muscle action. Twenty-four of them — 14 men and 10 women — were referred to their family physicians for electrocardiograms because the preliminary scanning revealed disturbances outside the normal level.

"It was a great day," Dr. Barry Grabelle, Eatontown, chairman of the heart screening program, declared happily. "We've made people aware of the cardiovascular disease risk they face and possibly convinced some to change their ways."

To Forward Records

The individual test records will be sent to the family physicians each participant designated. It will be about three weeks before individual records are completed, Dr. Grabelle said. He explained it will take that long to complete the blood analyses and X-ray readings.

The blood testing is being donated by Rush Laboratories, a Red Bank medical laboratory, "and it's got to be costing them over $3,000," Dr. Grabelle declared.

Radiologists at Monmouth Medical Center here, where the screening was conducted, Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, and Jersey Shore Medical Center, Neptune, are donating their time to interpret the Xrays.

The hospital donated the space; Humetrics, a California medical engineering firm, donated the use of electrocardio analyzer and its operator, and a host of medical, nursing, technical and lay volunteers contributed their time and talents.

Still, the program is expected to cost the county heart association more than $5,000, last year's testing cost, in stationery, mailings and Xrays because more people participated.

650 Last Year

Mrs. Jerry Lansky, Colts Neck, who coordinated the project for the second year, said about 650 persons were screened last year.

"We've demonstrated what a local heart association can do on a community level," Dr. Grabelle said yesterday.

He said that when the association has its annual fund drive next month "hopefully, the public will remain aware their donations will help pay for next year's screening program." He pointed out that the heart association donations also support research into causes of heart disease and professional and public educational programs.

BLOOD PRESSURE — Student Nurse Miss Nancy Doyle takes Mr. Lansky's blood pressure during the screening program.

DISCUSSES FINDINGS — Mr. Lansky reviews findings with Dr. David J. Scott.

Union Beach Honors Late John Mount

UNION BEACH — When this borough began to present awards for residential Christmas decorating in 1960 John Mount of Union Ave. was the winner.

For the following 11 years until his death early last year Mr. Mount won the overall lighting award.

In recognition of his achievement Recreation Commission chairman Benjamin Young yesterday presented the Mount family a plaque in memory of Mr. Mount which notes his 12 annual awards.

At the request of the Mount family the plaque will be held in the borough clerk's office until a new borough hall is erected and then it will be permanently placed there.

This year's winners include, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Howard of 600 Ocean Ave., window; Robert F. Duckworth of 207 Newark Ave., door; Mr. and Mrs. John Whitehead of 306 Bayview Ave., roof; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gundell of 621 Ocean Ave., grounds, and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Trembley of 1407 Union Ave., overall lighting.

Charge 4 With Having Marijuana After Chase

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS — Four persons were arrested on charges of possessing marijuana after the car they were traveling in allegedly ran a traffic signal on Rt. 36.

According to Police Chief James J. Egidio a car driven by Dennis D. Biggerstaff, 17, of 10 Rosewood Ter., Middletown, was spotted allegedly going through a red light at a high rate of speed by Patrolmen Louis Papa and Frank Roberts.

The patrolmen chased the westbound vehicle and, as they stopped it, they said a quantity of marijuana was thrown through an open window.

The Biggerstaff youth, who will face a juvenile hearing on the marijuana charge, is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Jan. 29 to answer charges he was operating a motor vehicle while impaired by alcohol and disregarded a traffic signal.

His companions identified as Dean Sadecki, 18, of 85 Truex Place, Middletown, John F. Bleibdrey, 25, of 344 Springfield Ave., Belford and Chris J. Duncan, 17, of 6 Forrest Drive, Middletown.

Young Duncan faces action by juvenile authorities on the marijuana charge while the two adults are also scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Jan. 29.

Rev. R. R. Griffin, 48, Pastor in Colts Neck

COLTS NECK — The Rev. Raymond R. Griffin, 48, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, died suddenly yesterday at the church rectory on Heyer's Mill Road.

In March, 1968, Rev. Griffin was named to his first pastorate at St. Catherine's Catholic Church, Farmingdale, and its mission, St. Mary's, here.

Rev. Griffin was named pastor of St. Mary's when it became a separate parish last February. One of his first duties was to supervise construction of a new church at Rt. 34 and Phalanx Road, which will be dedicated Feb. 11.

The pastor was born in New Brunswick, was graduated from St. Peter's High School, New Brunswick, attended Mt. St. Mary's College, in Maryland, and was graduated from the Immaculate Conception Seminary, Darlington.

Rev. Griffin was ordained into the priesthood June 3, 1950. He was stationed in Trenton, Woodbridge, Atlantic Highlands, Phillipsburg, and Asbury Park prior to being transferred to Farmingdale.

Rev. Griffin will lie in state in St. Mary's after 1 p.m. Wednesday. A Mass will be celebrated in the church at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

A Concelebrated Funeral Mass of the Ressurection will be said at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at the church. The Most Rev. George W. Ahr, Bishop of Trenton, will be the principal celebrant.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Florence V. Griffin, here, and two sisters, Miss Adele C. Griffin, and Mrs. Eileen E. Schuyler, both of Edison.

The Freeman Funeral Home, Freehold, is in charge of arrangements.

NEW COUNCILMEN — Mrs. Mary Sabik, Union Beach borough clerk, administers the oath of office to Councilmen George J. Warren, left, and Walter R. Scott as Borough Council organized. Both men are Republican newcomers who scored a major upset in November when they defeated incumbent Democratic Councilmen Thomas Perno and Robert Keating.

Republican Duo Take Seats in Union Beach

UNION BEACH — Not surprisingly, the Democrat-controlled Borough Council reappointed many of its official family members when it organized yesterday afternoon.

And not surprisingly, the two newly elected Republican councilmen who were seated for the first time voted against some of these reappointments.

Newcomers George J. Warren and Walter R. Scott who scored a major political upset in November defeated incumbent Councilmen Thomas Perno and Robert Keating in this traditional Democratic town. They said after the relatively quiet session they opposed some of council's appointments because they were not fully consulted about them.

"We did have a meeting with Mayor Hennessy (Alfred T. Hennessy Jr.) in his office Saturday but that's not a fair way of doing things in my judgment," Councilman Scott said.

"I feel that other persons could have done some of these particular jobs but our opinion doesn't matter because we weren't, in my estimation, consulted properly," Mr. Warren added.

Traditionally Democratic

Not since the late '50's when Robert Holland and Matthew Hanas carried the GOP standard, has anyone other than a Democrat sat at the council table.

The Democrats did, however, return incumbent tax assessor George R. Ross to office for his 15th term.

Mr. Ross, affectionately called "Mr. Democrat" throughout the borough was not present at yesterday's ceremonies.

The first negative vote against the mayor's appointments was cast by Mr. Scott when Mayor Hennessy sought confirmation of Philip J. Blanda Jr. as borough attorney.

While Councilman Warren voted for Mr. Blanda, he did join his Republican colleague in dissenting on council's consent of the mayor's appointments to the Board of Health, Recreation Commission, Local Assistance Board and the Bayshore Regional Sewerage Authority.

Both men also abstained on several items during the 45-minute session held in Union Hose Fire Co. headquarters.

Besides the appointment of Mr. Blanda, council also confirmed Frederick H. Kurtz as borough engineer; George W. Huss of Suplee and Clooney, auditor; and Mrs. Greta Barker as borough treasurer.

Councilman Arthur J. Lembo was unanimously reappointed council president.

Other Appointments

Edward Eastmond Jr. was sworn as new fire chief. Chief Eastmond replaces outgoing Chief Joseph Scalone Sr.

Other fire department officers sworn were Harry Caullett, first deputy chief, Michael Renn, second deputy chief, and Robert Wolf, third deputy chief.

Planning Board members appointed were outgoing Councilman Keating, six years; Fred Sommers Jr., five years, and Eugene Matrejek, five years.

Reappointed to the Board of Health were Vincent Farley, Mrs. Agnes Barber and John J. Keating. All terms will run three years.

Recreation Commission appointments include Mr. Farley, and Mrs. Florence Jansen, five years; Eugene Freiburg, three years, and Mrs. Mary Perno, two years.

Paul J. Smith and Fred Varlese were reappointed to the Bayshore Sewerage Authority and will serve four and five year terms respectively.

Mrs. Jansen will serve a two-year term on the Local Assistance Board and Councilman Peter G. Walker, a one-year term.

Committee chairmen for 1973 are Councilman Victory T. Young, finance; Councilman Edward Smith, utilities; Councilman Walker, public safety; Councilman Scott, health and education; Councilman Warren, public affairs, and Councilman Walker, public works.

The Colonial National Bank, the Peoples Bank of Monmouth County and the United Counties Trust Co. were named as official depositories.

The Daily Register, Keyport Weekly, Asbury Park Press, Long Branch Daily Record and Middletown Courier were named as official newspapers.

Council will continue to meet the second and fourth Thursdays at 8:15 p.m. in the Union Hose Fire Co. headquarters.

Platinum coins circulated in Russia between 1828 and 1845, National Geographic says. The 3-, 6-, and 12-ruble coins proved impractical because the price of the rare metal fluctuated too widely.

Colts Neck Organizes, Simms Elected Mayor

COLTS NECK — Robert L. Simms, former deputy mayor and township committeeman the past two years, will serve as mayor this year.

Mr. Simms, a Republican, was elected to the post by the all GOP Township Committee.

A resident of 1 White Oak Drive, Mr. Simms is employed as a department head at Bell Laboratories, Holmdel. He succeeds former Mayor Carroll Pierce who remains a committeeman.

Replacing Mr. Simms as deputy mayor is Committeeman John Pryor.

The appointments were made at the committee's annual organization meeting Friday night at the Township Hall, Cedar Drive.

Organization ceremonies included the swearing-in of Thomas Mc Clintock to a full, three-year term on the committee. Mr. Mc Clintock, who won election last November, had been appointed to the committee last winter, replacing Kenneth B. George who moved from the township.

New appointees to township posts, announced at the organization, included David Lott, Maple Drive, and John A. Tischendorf, Laurelwood Drive, to the Planning Board.

Mr. Lott, appointed to a full, six-year term, replaces George Handzo, newly appointed township clerk. Mr. Handzo, a former mayor; committeeman and Board of Education member, was named last month to succeed former Clerk Harry Crine, who retired.

Mr. Tischendorf, who has been active on the township's Drug Control and Ecology Committees, will fill the unexpired board term of Mr. George.

Other major appointments remained unchanged.

Mayor Simms, in a short speech, predicted the year would continue to be an active one for the township in the areas of public services and recreation.

The mayor noted a bond issue has been approved for the building of new first aid squad and public works buildings and he indicated there will be further development of those plans in 1973.

Recreation was stressed by Mayor Simms as being "most important." He revealed the committee will hire a recreation consultant to help township officials in planning a formal recreation program. The township Recreation Committee is now reviewing applications for such a consultant, the mayor said.

Turkeys are thrown into a tizzy just by someone opening their cage door. And a really big shock — a paper fluttering in the wind, for example — may cause them to dash hysterically to a corner of their pen and pile up in a fatal crush.

Land for County Parks

Monmouth County is going to acquire four tracts — totaling just over 1,125 acres in all — of primely appropriate lands for public park use.

That was the good news announced this week by Freeholder Director Joseph C. Irwin. And the details make the news even better. Portions of two of the tracts will be donated to the county by their owners, and all other acquisition costs are fully reimbursable through state and federal funding.

The four tracts are among the most desirable lands in the county for park purposes. They are described as follows:

— A 474.76 acre portion of the Hartshorne Woods in Middletown. Cost of this wooded, hilly acreage overlooking the navesink River has been set at $2,183,980, to be reimbursed with state and federal funds.

— A 164-acre tract off Holland and Red Hill Roads in the hills of Middletown, known as the Tatum tract. Mrs. Genevieve Tatum will donate 72 acres, valued at $460,000 and the county will buy the rest, the reimbursable cost set at $462,750.

— The Huber tract, 217 acres, off Browns Dock Road in Middletown. The Huber Corporation of Rumson and Edison will donate 120 acres, worth $612,000. The county's reimbursable cost for the remainder will be $471,970.

— A tract of 270 acres in Wall, Neptune and Howell Townships which will extend the Shark River Park along the river to tidewater. The cost, again fully reimbursable, will be $990,629.

The county's administrative expense for all four tracts totals just over $133,000. Anyone familiar with the sites involved must agree that that's a rare bargain.

One of Monmouth County's great assets is its present outstanding parks system. It is most encouraging that the Board of Freeholders, continuing the forward-looking policy that made that system possible, is taking steps to expand it.

That the county will continue to grow is obvious, making equally obvious the future need for more park and recreation space. The time to acquire that space is now, before all the appropriate acreage has been absorbed for other purposes.

We are fortunate in having foresighted county planners and public officials — and the public spirited and conservation minded citizens willing to donate sizable and valuable land holdings to help keep Monmouth beautiful and a pleasant place in which to live.

Azzolina Backs School Bonds

It was heartening to note that State Sen. Joseph C. Azzolina of Middletown has, "after a thorough study of the pros and cons," endorsed the township school board's proposal for a $10 million school expansion bond issue.

It was courageous of Sen. Azzolina to take a stand on a subject that's one of sometimes heated controversy in his home town, and it should aid the proposal's cause. Mr. Azzolina is in a position to know more of such things than the average citizen.

As a long-time resident active in Middletown affairs, he has a solid firsthand knowledge of the community's needs. And as vice chairman of the state Senate's Education Committee he notes that he has participated in much discussion and research on situations such as that now facing Middletown.

We hope the township's voters will heed his counsel and vote approval of the badly needed expansion in the Jan. 16 referendum.

Rumson's Quiet Efficiency

Rumson's mayor and borough councilmen, with the white carnation that has become a New Year's tradition in their buttonholes, gathered around the council table last Monday and organized the borough's official team for the coming year in just the way it has been done there as long as anyone can remember — quietly, efficiently and harmoniously.

There must be a lesson to be learned from the most consistently smoothly operating governing body in our area.

It has been said that some measure of friction, of clashing opinion and argument may be good for a public body, be it local, county, state or federal. That it is hardly an indispensable element of government has been amply demonstrated, over the years, by Rumson's borough fathers.

Controversy may arise in the pleasant little borough lying between the Shrewsbury and the Navesink, but it is always kept to a minimum and tempers remain reined. If there is friction within the official family, it seldom comes to public view. The seemingly eternal all-Republican situation generates little debate — but it gets things done, quickly and effectively. All visible results indicate that this quiet government is good government.

The lesson Rumson officialdom seems to teach us is that, for all the potential value of controversy, the most valuable element of all in the operation of a municipality may well be pure harmony.

Indian Expose Hit a Nerve

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON SCENE

Interior Secretary Rogers Morton, usually an affable sort, pulled a long face the other day and attacked us for our "great injustice to the Indian people."

He didn't like our reports on the Broken Treaties. Papers, which the Indians filched from his files and turned over to us. The papers prove, of course, that Morton and his predecessors have been the real culprits. More than anyone else, they have been guilty of "great injustice to the Indian people."

Morton's own home on the fashionable eastern shore of old Maryland sits grandly on choice land once owned by the Delawares. Not until 1964, some 350 years after they were driven toward a bleak corner of Oklahoma, did the United States finally get around to awarding the Delawares the money for their land.

Much of the money, however, is still tied up in the bureaucracy. Among the Broken Treaties Papers, we found reference to a pliful letter to President Nixon from the daughter of a Delaware, begging the President to send her needy mother some money from the 1964 settlement.

Nixon forwarded the letter over to Morton, who bucked it down to a factotum. Though eight years have passed since the 1964 settlement, a Morton aide replied:

"We are sorry if the time your mother has waited to receive these funds has caused her any inconvenience . . . . We have no alternative but to wait the determination of appeals before paying out this money."

Morton also gave the brushoff to California's Pit River Indians, who made headlines last week by sending back federal checks given them in payment for a U.S. land theft in 1853. The tribal chairman, Ross Montgomery, said his people didn't want money; they wanted their land back.

"We all want the land," he said, "without the land, we are nothing." Under 18 treaties, various California Indian tribes were supposed to get 8.5 million acres but wound up with only 624,000 acres of scabby land. The Pit River band's share was only a fraction of this.

Appeal to Morton

What the newspaper stories didn't report was that Montgomery had made a personal appeal to Morton only a few weeks earlier. The Interior secretary bucked it down the line again to Carl Cornelius, the acting deputy Indian commissioner, who told the Indians to accept the settlement of a few pennies an acre.

"We know of no authority under which the case may now be reopened, reheard or the award changed," he wrote the tribe.

We found other injustices in the stolen papers as we dug through the thick file on the Great Sioux Reservation case. This dates back to the 1851 Treaty of Fort Laramie, which gave the Sioux nation the title forever to an enormous tract around the famous Black Hills.

The ink was hardly dry before the United States, according to the documents, "permitted miners, settlers and other non-Indians to pass through the Sioux country, particularly after the discovery of gold . . ."

The Indians fought for their rights but were smashed by the cavalry. Again the United States promised that "no person not members of said tribes shall ever be permitted" on the Sioux lands, except U.S. employes, without permission from the Sioux.

But more gold was discovered and the documents declare: "Shortly thereafter, non-Indians in great numbers invaded the Great Sioux Reservation" again. Again the Indians tried to hold their ground, but the Army restricted them "to small areas" and began slowly starving them into submission, the papers say.

ANDERSON

In the end, the United States simply took seven million more acres of Sioux land, treaty or no treaty, and gave the Sioux 900,000 acres as a dry bone. For decades, the Indians have been battling in the courts for justice. But the papers show that as recently as September, they were still getting the runaround.

Rogers Morton is a decent enough man, but he's been too busy to study Indian problems or even bother to answer Indian letters himself. We invite him to study the Broken Treaties Papers, as we have done, and see for himself who is responsible for doing a "great injustice to the Indian people."

Great Pot Hoax

Lawmen would like to get their hands on a dapper "doctor" whose fake pot-smoker detection device fooled an entire community until he was exposed and fled to South America.

The unusual quack, whose "100 per cent accurate" system was enthusiastically backed by a mayor, police chief and school president, went by the name of "Dr. Luis Diaz deSouza."

John Finlator, formerly second-in-command at the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, who helped to expose the fraud, tells about the great pot hoax in a forthcoming book.

As Finlator's manuscript recounts the story, deSouza told New Jersey "officials that he could tell whether a school child had ever smoked marijuana. . . He would take a mouth swath of each child . . . . The price tag was $5 a child."

While the local authorities all endorsed the tests, there was some skepticism among students. An alert reporter checked out deSouza's alleged academic credentials and found them wanting. So Finlator dispatched Dr. Edward Lewis, the BNDD's medical director, along with two agents to talk with deSouza.

Lewis concealed the fact that he was a physician and quickly caught deSouza in a medical contradiction. Lewis then identified himself as a doctor and "deSouza lost his practiced cool. He knew he had been had." The three "narcs" left deSouza to assemble their case. "They were among the last few persons to see deSouza in this country."

Retirement Isn't Easy

By JIM BISHOP

THE REPORTER

Relirement is a bad word. It is strange, but young men look forward to it with longing; old men are shaken by the thought of it. A few men and women handle the shattering change in the life cycle with equanimity. Others make a voyage of discovery out of going to the mailbox for the monthly check. My father retired from the police department at age 50. When he was 51, my mother, a very gentle woman, said: "Either he goes or I go." He got a job as credit manager for a group of newspapers and retired again at age 78.

By that time, my mother was dead. Big John got the gripes. Nothing was any good. The country was doing to the dogs. The suburbs were being ruined by housing developments. The younger generation was going straight to hell. And how was it that every time he required bathroom privileges someone was in it?

Women have a retirement span, too. This comes when the last child is married. She feels unwanted. She is beset by depression. She empties clean ashtrays and runs the vacuum cleaner only when her husband is taking a nap. Her wildest time is two hours in a beauty shop. She thinks fondly of the good old days when she had lots of problems.

I have a dear friend who is "half" retired. At 60, he told me he felt old. At 65, he feels "great." He was lying both times. Twice a month he goes to the shop to intrude on his old business. His heirs think the best thing that could happen would be for him to break a leg. It would give him something on which to concentrate.

Time Hangs Heavy

Retired people walk like Indians. He is always a pace ahead. She looks in shop windows with one finger on her lips. When he accompanies her to a supermarket, they argue. At home, for the first time in his life, he becomes acquainted with the TV soap operas. Worse, he begins to like them.

Man was not intended to be plunged from a working life into the icy water of retirement overnight. Five years before retirement, his firm should put him on a four-day week as a senior. Then a three-day week. Countdown to two; one; zero — blast off!

It's easier that way. At night, she can move him up gradually from GP movies to R to X. He's never too old to learn. If he remains home, he wanders from room to room, nibbling and complaining about his bowels. If he plays golf, he curses bad weather and putts into a silent butler.

When he plays, he curses anyway. Sometimes he takes her out to dine. He wants good food but he doesn't want to be robbed. He complains about tips to the waiter and to the kid who parked the car.

After a lifetime of driving, he becomes nervous at the wheel. He swears that nobody can drive anymore. Nuts, that's what they are. He backs into a concrete stanchion and demands to know by what right it was built behind his automobile.

They're on Medicare, so both go to the doctor more frequently. He also has a chiropractor who snaps his back onto place as his front falls over his trousers. He tells his wife she wears too much makeup. He won't speak to her but he complains that she spends "hours" on the phone with her girl friends.

Both become averse to funeral services. When he was young, he understood women; now he can't understand them. Why would she want a pair of shoes when she has two pairs in the closet? He cultivates retirees and sometimes works up a game of gin rummy. Looking forward to it becomes so exciting he almost has an attack.

She hides all the photos of her youth. Can't stand looking at them. She's an automatic customer for any beauty aid which will lift sags. She is always sure she looks a hell of a ot younger than he does.

Money Chats

Their longest dicussions are about money. He threatens to take her name off the joint account. She would go back to mother if she had one.

He says: "Get me this. Get me that." He is an enemy of the word "please." His most humane moment is when he gives her a pat on the behind. Her most humane moment is when she kisses him goodnight and assures him that she loves him.

Often, he wishes he was back at the office, or the plant. How can days become so long and years so short? Taking a bath wears him out; afterward he stretches on the bed.

Have mercy on the retired man. He's a young fellow with old ideas. . .

State of the Union Poll

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

CONSERVATIVE VIEW

Suppose the doorbell rings, and it is a pollster from the Gallup organization, come to ask a few question. You are shown a drawing of a 10-step ladder intended to represent the "ladder of life." The pollster says:

"Let's suppose the top of the ladder represents the best possible life for you; and the bottom, the worst possible life for you. On which step of the ladder do you feel you personally stand at the present time?"

This was the lead question put to some 1,800 Americans last June. Other questions followed: "On which step would you say you stood five years ago? . . . On which step do you think you will stand in the future, say about five years from now?" The same questions were asked about the country as a whole. Now the answers to these and 80 other inquiries have been published in paperback form, "State of the Nation," edited by William Watts and Lloyd A. Free.

The study provides some revealing insights into the American character. It tells us more about why McGovern lost and Nixon won. It suggests to me, at least, that Americans have not lost their talent for grousing.

If you responded to the first few questions by saying that you yourself stood at step 5.5 on the "ladder of life" five years ago, at step 6.4 today, and that you thought you would be at 7.6 five years from now, you were right with the average of the Gallup sample.

Personal Optimism

The figures tell us something of the personal optimism of the American people. Without exception, all the subgroups indicated a sense of forward motion in their own lives — city dwellers, country people, men, women, poor and rich. Blacks, as a sub-group, rated themselves 4.8 in the past, 5.5 today, and 7.3 for the future; in terms of their own upward climb, blacks see significant gains ahead.

When the questions were put in terms of the state of the nation, the estimates were quite different. Here the sense of forward motion disappears. The people know (or believe) their own lives are steadily improving, but they suppose the nation is standing still: at 5.6 five years ago, 5.5. today, 6.2 in the future. It is a paradox: As individuals, we see ourselves doing better; as a collectivity — as a nation — we see ourselves doing worse.

KILPATRICK

What are the major areas of public concern? Eight years ago, when a similar study was made, the top five concerns all dealt with international affairs. This has changed entirely.

Our principal concerns are domestic now. Only Vietnam ranks among the top ten. The people are chiefly concerned about rising prices, about violence, about drugs, about crime, about pollution. Well down the list, in twelfth spot, is a concern about "keeping our military and defense forces strong."

Missed the Boat

Senator McGovern missed the boat. The image he projected was of a candidate weak on crime, weak on drugs, weak on defense, strong for larger public welfare. But the survey found, in a series of questions directed to domestic problems, that the people overwhelmingly are opposed to increased spending for public welfare. They want more money spent on programs to combat crime and drug addiction. More than 60 per cent of the respondents said they wanted more tax money spent to reduce air and water pollution.

But, again, the study discloses a difference between people-as-people and people-as the-nation. In the area of water pollution, for example, a fourth of the people said they themselves would oppose any increase in taxes for pollution abatement. Another one-third put a limit on $20 a year on the increase they would be willing to pay. It appears that we want pollution abated, but we want someone else to pay for it.

Does the study suggest, then, that we are a bunch of hypocrites? No, indeed. The figures indicate that Americans today are just as generous, and just as tight-fisted, as they have always been. They are down on Congress, the White House, and the Supreme Court; they also are unhappy with business, labor unions, and the press. One-third of the people see the country today as a worse place than it was ten years ago. This is the belly-aching syndrome. But when it comes right down to the individual: "I'm all right, Jack!" The belly ache, in the popular view, is something that afflicts some other fellow, some place else.

The Engineering Jobs

By SYLVIA PORTER

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

The job outlook for engineers, scientists and technicians is brightening. The prolonged overall economic upswing in the United States is now expanding career openings, pulling up salary levels.

Major U.S. corporations report they plan to hire 42 per cent more graduates with bachelor degrees in engineering this coming June than in June '72, and 27 per cent more graduates with master's degrees.

Average staring salaries, according to the annual poll conducted by Dr. Frank Endicott of Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., will be $905 a month for newly graduated engineers with a bachelor's degree and $1,059 a month for those with a master's degree. These are substantially above the levels of 1972.

"The acute depression is over," says Dr. Eli Ginsberg, director of Columbia University's Conservation of Human Resources project and a national respected authority on the nation's manpower trends.

If this is the career of your choice — or if you know a man or woman involved in the engineering, technical or scientific fields — here are the key trends and areas where job opportunities will be brightest:

— A real need has developed for those trained in the application of aerospace advances to earth problems — ranging from ill health to poverty and problems of the deaf and the blind.

— "Cross disciplinary" specialists will be in much greater demand than those trained in a narrow specialty, and this will apply particularly to careers relating to environmental protection. For instance, a combination in ever-rising demand might be for those with training in the social sciences and law as well as the usual basic fields.

— Industrial hygienists will be in demand to develop health programs throughout the U.S. workplace and to find ways to eliminate major occupational hazards and diseases. Also in demand will be specialists to help protect man from the hazards of excessive radiation exposure.

— The ever-stricter health standards being imposed by federal regulatory agencies will require larger staffs to perform research and testing in private industries prior to the sale of new drugs and chemicals to the public.

— Food scientists and technologists will be sought in larger and larger numbers to find new ways to: store foods safely; apply computer techniques to food processing and marketing operations; develop new foods for dieters and others; test food additives such as flavoring and preservatives for safety and effectiveness; develop new food products such as "meats" made from soybeans and fortified cereals for the undernourished.

— There'll be many new and far out specialties. For instance, in need will be industrial meteorologists to probe the links between weather and specific human activities — including biological functioning — and to apply such knowledge to agricultural and industrial operations.

— Finally, a recent "skills conversion" study by the National Society of Professional Engineers in Washington turned up the following 11 fields now eagerly searching for scientists and engineers in the years immediately ahead. This can be an exceedingly valuable, money-making guide.

1 — Heavy construction (bridges, skyscrapers)
2 — Residential construction
3 — Research and development (any field)
4 — Environmental systems
5 — Foresty
6 — Medical technology utilities
8 — Industrial safety
9 — Transportation planning
10 — Law enforcement
11 — Traffic engineering.

Greyhound's Growth Cloudy

By ROGER E. SPEAR

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Q — In 1968 I bought 160 shares of Greyhound Corp. (NYSE) at $22 a share. The market recently went wild and Greyhound never moved. What would you advise me to do? Could you also recommend a stock in the $20 range? — T.M.

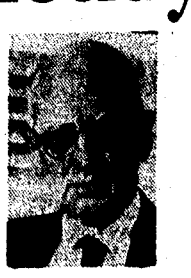

A — If you are interested in income hold these shares since the dividend appears secure. If growth is your goal then sale is advised. Greyhound shares failed to participate in the recent market rally for good reason, flat earnings. The Armour-Dial/Greyhound merger (after acquisition of the remaining 19 per cent minority interest) added 2 million new shares to capitalization, thereby reducing per share earnings 5 per cent. Conversion of senior securities would dilute earnings another 7 per cent.

The Armour Dial division suffered a non-recurring charge of approximately .10 a share in the aftermath of the hexachlorophene ban. Furthermore, the Armour Foods division has been caught in a cost squeeze as livestock supplies have dwindled. For the year just ended earnings probably did not reach the $1.75 reported in 1971.

As a replacement, Shoney's Big Boy Enterprises, traded over-the-counter, appears promising. The company operates and enfranchises a chain of 192 restaurants and coffee shops in the Southeast. Earnings growth has been consistent, with gains reported annually for more than a decade. For the fiscal year ended October 31, earnings increased 28 per cent to 89 per cent share on a 27 per cent rise in revenues. Management projects that profits will reach $1.05 a share this year on a 25-35 per cent rise in revenues.

Q — I hold 100 Titmus Optical (ASE) purchased at 15½. I would appreciate your advice. — S.B.

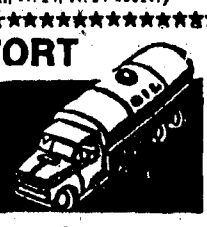

A — An acquisition in 1972 helped boost company sales 84 per cent for the first nine months of that year. And although earnings rose 71 per cent for the nine months, third quarter results were lower year-to-year. Under terms of a $12 million bank loan, Titmus must earn $500,000 quarterly or be subject to full payment on demand. The company is not in compliance. Sell shares.

Bayshore Board Backs Holmdel In Home Rule Fight

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS — The Planning Board here is in full support of Holmdel's legal battle for home rule, and has taken official action to make the Board of Chosen Freeholders aware of its stand.

The planners adopted a resolution endorsing one by the freeholders in support of "all of the efforts of Holmdel in defending the class action."

The county board said in its resolution that it authorizes and directs county counsel and all county departments to cooperate with Holmdel in its defense.

This action is based primarily on the contention that all municipalities should be permitted to decide their own zoning and planning codes.

Holmdel is one of five municipalities named in a suit filed by Suburban Action Institute of White Plains, N.Y.

That group seeks to abolish regulations pertaining to limitations on the number of multi-family dwellings in a municipality, as well as the number of bed rooms and the size of apartments in multi-family buildings.

Also sought in the suit is abolition of regulations on "look-alike designs" in buildings, the ratio of multi-family dwellings to all other residential dwellings, and prohibitions on mobile homes.

Planning Board president Edward G. Walder agreed wholeheartedly with the freeholders' stand.

If the municipalities named in the suit lose their case, Mr. Walder said, "we will lose our rights to plan and develop our community Powers of the Zoning Board of Adjustment and the Planning Board will be taken away."

Site plan problems that have existed at the Bayshore Shopping Plaza for nearly a year have, for the most part been resolved. Mr. Walder reported that concrete parking barriers have been installed as requested by the planners.

Building inspector and board member Leslie Carhart reported a slight problem with the type of mesh wire installed on doors of rear refuse containers. A letter to developer Carl Casriel of Asbury Park is expected to result in proper mesh being instealled.

Conversion Is Approved

FAIR HAVEN — The Board of Adjustment Thursday approved a use variance to allow the former Monmouth Savings & Loan office at Cedar Ave. and River Road to be converted into an auto parts store.

The board granted the variance after specifying a number of conditions all aimed at preventing on premise repair or servicing of automobiles.

The 28-by 48-foot building has been vacant since October when the savings and loan association moved. It was originally built as a gasoline service station and at one time had been occupied by the American Oil Co.

The proposed auto parts store will be operated by Donald Sinclair, a former service station owner, who has leased the building from the savings and loan association for two years with a two-year renewal option.

To Resign Fair Haven Board Post

FAIR HAVEN — Frederick W. Rose, chairman of the Board of Adjustment since 1969, will resign because he is moving to Rumson.

Mr. Rose, who was reappointed last Monday to a six-year term on the board, said he will submit his resignation to the mayor and council shortly.

He was first appointed to the board in 1968 as an alternate member. A year later he was named a regular member and was also elected board chairman, a position he's held ever since.

He is a lawyer with the Newark law firm of Young, Rose, and Millspaugh, and lives at 155 Woodland Drive.

The board will postpone its organization meeting until a new member is named, at which time a new chairman will be elected.

Communist 'Deceitfulness' Seen Repeated in Vietnam

47 Laurel Drive
Little Silver, N.J. 07739

To the Editor:

Reaction to the recent Kissinger report on peace negotiations in Vietnam indicates a great lack of understanding, by many Americans, as to the deceitfulness of Communist negotiators. The statements, too, of some of our recent presidential hopefuls and by leaders of various radical groups, indicate either colossal stupidity or deliberate attempts to sabotage efforts for an honorable, reasonable and enforceable peace. Every inteiligent American should know by now, that communism will never negotiate anything in good faith. Deceit is their doctrine, and the record proves it. Communists are not honorable people, regardless of their nationality, and they cannot be treated as such. I'm sure the President and Mr. Kissinger are aware of this, but have hoped that this time, Communists might negotiate as honorable people.

It is regrettable that so many Americans are reluctant to believe reports of those of us who have had personal experience in trying to negotiate with communism. American chairmen of the truce teams sent into North China and Manchuria in 1946, as part of our country's effort to bring peace and unity to China, learned a lot about negotiating with communism.

Truce teams were composed of an American chairman, a representative of the Republic of China and a Chinese Communist. The mission was to see that opposing armies had withdrawn behind certain prescribed lines, and to prevent further combat. This involved investigating reports of violations of the truce agreement. As part of the usual Communist technique, movement of teams could only be made on the unanimous vote of the team. Communist representatives always voted against investigating reports of Communist violations until they had secretly received word that "the coast was clear." By that time a trip to the area would be futile. Often negotiating sessions lasted all night long, trying to get the Communist representative to agree to promptly investigate reports of Communist violations, but without success.

While initially each side was required to report locations of all troops, the Communists never reported their complete list. Several times American truce vehicles were fired on by Communist troops in an area where none were supposed to be. Each time, even in the face of positive identification, their presence was denied by Communist representatives. On daylight visits to Communist troops, commanders expressed enthusiastic assurance that they would comply with the truce agreements. But by lingering in the area until nightfall, those same troops were often seen moving forward to improve their tactical position. That peace effort failed because of Communist insincerity. Communism then took over China. This same thing will happen in Vietnam if Communists are trusted!

Everyone hopes the war will soon end — but are we expected to abandon those whose freedom we have been trying to insure? Should we pull out, regardless of the fairness of Communist terms, and thus be a party to the mass murder of thousands who have been hoping for freedom? Chinese Communists did that when they took over China.

While praying for peace and the early return of our POWs, let us hope that our President will not cease his efforts, until there is a reasonable agreement and realistic assurance that peace terms can and will be enforced. He must be sure that North Vietnam will not immediately take over South Vietnam by force, impose barbaric Communist rule and murder all those who don't get in line.

Lauds SPCA

13 Collingwood Road
Marlboro

To the Editor:

I cannot believe it's possible that some people would like to see the Monmouth County SPCA disappear from Eatontown. I wonder whether those people have ever visited the facility on Wall Ave. in Eatontown.

FROM OUR READERS

When I began looking for a dog, I was reluctant to go to the SPCA as had been suggested to me because I was sure I would find it a dirty place with attendants who were indifferent at best. Well, I did finally go, and not only did I find a great dog, but also I found a clean home for animals with a staff who were friendly and treated the animals with devotion. If all parents treated their children the way the SPCA staff treats its animals, there would be no child-abuse cases in the courts now.

The Eatontown SPCA is a happy, friendly place, and I recommend it to anyone who is looking for a pet. It's too bad there is a need for such shelters, but since there is a need, I hope that our SPCA will always be a fixture in Eatontown.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Herbert B. Grossman

Capital Punishment

Southbrook Gardens
South St.
Eatontown

To the Editor:

At long last State Sen. Joseph Azzolina's Bill No. 799 for the return of capital punishment is shortly to be presented before the Assembly for action. This bill covers all the necessary requirements in connection with capital crime, and indeed is the only bright spot in our inadequate penal laws that terrorized citizens and our police can look forward to in combating crime in 1973.

A state Gallup poll taken recently revealed that 57 per cent favor the death penalty for certain capital crimes, and the fact the people have made their preference for this law known, should be sufficient warning to all criminal elements what the ultimate consequences will be. The brutal marauder who lurks in the dark with concealed lethal weapons to mug and rob innocent victims resulting in loss of life need have no doubts that society will demand that justice is done.

To insure this bill has a successful passage in the Assembly, it is imperative that each and every citizen should write and prompt their local assemblyman for his support in attaining the objective. This law against vicious crimes in our state is an absolute necessity for the safety of all citizens, and may just be the deterrent to stop irresponsible and senseless killings.

The Hon. Clifford Case
United States Senate
Washington, D.C.

Dear Senator Case,

Last night a hearing was held in Middletown by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers concerning their proposal for the building of an oil tanker superport in this area. The hearing was filled to overflowing by Monmouth County residents who are extremely concerned over the impact of such an installation here, and are overwhelmingly opposed to such a proposal, as are all major county newspapers and a great number of federal, state, county, and local elected officials.

You were conspicuous by your absence and, at this late date, the absence of a firm statement on your part one way or the other on the issue.

That the Corps of Engineers, or any other body, can run so contrary to evident public interest amazes and worries a great many of us, and a study of their proposal, in the light of their own admission of the almost certain tremendous environmental and economic damage to this area, overrides the feeble national security and economic spectres with which they so desperately tried to scare us.

A wait-and-see attitude on such an important matter hardly befits your previous record. This proposal is too vital to us locally, and certainly very important to every citizen of this country if national precedent dictates the interests of favored groups over those of the public at large.

Our history books record a remark once made, "The public be damned." Let us hope it will be the only one on record.

Yours truly,
Frank A. Contey

Collective Guilt

Monmouth Hills
Highlands, N.J.

To the Editor:

Please will you print this text of a "Christmas card" I have just sent to President Nixon in reaction to an editorial in the New York Times that concludes: "In the name of, conscience and country, Americans must now speak out for sanity in Washington and peace in Indochina."

President Nixon: All right, I shall speak out — again. In this Christmas season, making simple cards for my friends, thinking of bombs raining from the sky half way around the world, bombs for which I as an American share the guilt against my will, I will again speak out. But it does no good. Americans have spoken and spoken and spoken, and it does no good. You, for the second time with a mandate to end the war, end the bombing, are leading us Americans into a massive collective guilt from which we will not, in my lifetime, recover.

Vitamin Restriction

216 Belmont Ave.
Ocean

To the Editor:

The Food and Drug Administration has recently announced its intention to restrict the amounts of Vitamins A & D that can be sold over the counter. This proposal is being issued in spite of evidence from the National Cancer Institute which showed Vitamin A to have anti-tumor activity in test animals. It has also been shown in autopsy studies of persons who died in accidents, that although they were presumably well-fed, their livers had absolutely no Vitamin A in storage.

There is a possibility of Vitamin A toxicity; since its discovery in 1912, there have been about 20 cases of severe toxicity reported in the medical literature. Symptoms disappeared when the vitamin was withdrawn. Since 1912, there have been thousands and thousands of victims of lung cancer. Their symptoms did not disappear. Have you ever heard of the FDA moving to restrict the sale of cigarettes?

All readers interested in combating these proposed restrictions, which include all nutrients, not just Vitamins A & D, should be aware of the existence of a recently formed organization, Citizens For Truth In Nutrition. This eventually nationwide coalition of all health organizations will be initiating court action against the FDA to halt these violations of our liberties and our rights. Court action alone will protect our right to supplement our diets as we wish.

Sincerely yours,
Sam Biser

HAPPY MUSICIANS — Four members of Henry Hudson Regional School band, Highlands, were selected for membership in Shore Intermediate Band, organization of young musicians from Monmouth and Ocean Counties in grades five through eight. Local representatives are, left to right, Timothy Clinch of Atlantic Highlands' Dean Davis of Highlands and Bobby Ledergerber and Alexandra Moise, both of Atlantic Highlands. All are eighth graders. They were chosen after competitive auditions last month. Practice sessions take place Saturday mornings in various county schools. One concert is planned.

Approve Marlboro Subdivision

MARLBORO — The Planning Board has granted final subdivision approval to Big Oak Home and Development Co. for a 28-lot subdivision at the northeast corner of Wyncrest and Robertsville Roads.

The subdivision will be on a 39.6-acre tract. Under the zoning concept, the developer would build on a minimum 20,000-square-foot lot.

Construction is planned for half the tract acreage. The remainder of the land—19.8 acres—will be donated to the township for a park site.

Several residents whose homes are on Canadian Woods Road, Whittier Oaks East, complained at a previous board meeting that the new development would increase the flooding of Melvin's Brook.

James P. Kovacs, engineer for the applicant, and township engineer David Birnbaum said the new subdivision would add a little over one per cent in water runoff to the brook.

Deputy Mayor Arthur Goldzweig, a board member, last night read a letter from Herbert Hutt, president of U.S. Homes New Jersey, stating that his firm would clear the brook in an attempt to decrease flooding. The firm built Whittier Oaks East.

Plan Board Leadership Changes at Freehold Twp.

FREEHOLD TOWNSHIP — Changing its leadership for the first time in three years, the Planning Board reorganized by electing Robert Kirwin chairman and Raymond F. Ryan, vice chairman.

Both men have completed their first year as board members.

James A. Brower was re-elected as board secretary.

The change in leadership marks a victory for the Township Committee in a year-old dispute with the board as presented by its former chairman, Morton L. Meiskin.

According to various officials, the basis for the dispute was that Mayor Romeo Cascaes and the governing body wanted to speed up acceptance of commercial and industrial applications that they consider desirable tax ratables.

On the other hand, Mr. Meiskin said that he favors ratables but feels that the board should uphold the standards set in township ordinances.

Mr. Meiskin said that at the township's 1973 organization meeting he declined the nomination for vice chairman because he felt that after having served one year as vice chairman and three as chairman there would be "no gain from the experience point of view."

Assault Charge

LONG BRANCH — James F. Mazza, 28, of 622 McClellan St. was arrested at 10:30 a.m. Thursday and charged with atrocious assault and battery on Patrolman Henry Christensen, police said. Mazza was released in $500 bail pending a court appearance tomorrow.

List Ocean Decoration Winners

OCEAN TOWNSHIP — William L. Carlisle, secretary of the Ocean Township Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the decorating contest committee, announced winners in the chamber's annual holiday home decorating competition.

For the purposes of judging, the township was divided into two areas: Wanamassa and Oakhurst.

Winner in Wanamassa were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lucarelli, 400 Runyon Ave., West Deal, first prize; Lucas J. Corrubia, 410 Crosby Ave., second, and Mr. and Mrs. Victor C. Tempanaro, 801 Darlene Ave., Wanamassa, honorable mention.

Oakhurst winners were Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Rittenhouse, 10 Matilda Drive, Wayside, first; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grasso, 239 Howard Ave., Shadow Lawn Manor, second, and Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Young, 2 Abis Place, Oakhurst, honorable mention.

Judges were from the two township PTA's and the chamber, and police escorts were Sgt. Robert Stack and Patrolman James Vacchiano.

First and second place winners will be presented awards, Mr. Carlisle said.

Car, Not Truck, Ran Into House

UNION BEACH — Ronald Smith, 18, of 223 Church St., Belford was allegedly the driver of a car that was in collision with a pickup truck operated by Harold A. Price of 100 Manning Place, Keansburg, and then went through a highway divider opening and struck a home.

Records had incorrectly indicated it was the truck driven by Mr. Price which struck the home of Vincent Almodovar.

The Smith youth is recuperating from injuries in Patterson Army Hospital, Ft. Monmouth.

It is alleged the car he was driving was reported stolen in Marlboro.

Charge Dismissed

FREEHOLD — Richard Graf of 15 Rector Place, Red Bank, was acquitted by a jury of maintaining a resort for unlawful purposes — distribution of controlled dangerous substance — May 25 in Red Bank. County Court Judge Louis R. Aikins presided over the trial. The Public Defender's office represented Graf. Assistant County Prosecutor Edward A. MacDuffie presented the state's case.

Some Telephone Rates in New Jersey Will Change on January 11, 1973

Pursuant to the order of the New Jersey Board of Public Utility Commissioners issued January 4, 1973, accepting revisions in New Jersey Bell tariffs increasing certain of its rates, the following changes will be effective for service rendered on and after 12:01 A.M. January 11, 1973.

CHANGES IN BASIC MONTHLY SERVICE CHARGES

There will be increases in individual line residence rates ranging from 30¢ to 55¢ monthly. Individual flat rate business service increases will range from 80¢ to $1.10 monthly, and message rate business service from $1.00 to $1.60 monthly.

Two-party flat rate service for business customers will be eliminated. Customers now having this service will shortly receive additional information by mail.

To find your new monthly rate for basic service, first locate your exchange and rate group on Chart A. Then check Chart B for the rate.

CHANGES IN INTRASTATE TOLL RATES

Initial periods will be reduced by one minute on direct distance dialed unassisted toll calls within New Jersey made from non-coin phones between 8 AM and 11 PM. The initial-period rates, however, will remain at their present level.

Per-minute overtime periods for these calls will now be charged by the penny rather than "rounded off" to nickels as previously done. The new charges are shown on Chart C.

There will be a separate rate schedule for intrastate coin phone toll calls. There will be increases in the rates and charges on all calls where the services of an operator are requested. These calls include: credit card, third number billed, special toll billing, special reversed charge, collect, time and charges, request for notification, and person-to-person. Chart D shows the new rates for intrastate coin phone calls, and the calling rates plus applicable charges for all calls (coin and non-coin) involving a request for operator service.

The final change in intrastate toll rates affects the following toll routes for which the initial period charge will be increased from 15¢ to 20¢, with the overtime charge also based on the new rates.

Avalon to Somers Point
Belleville to Carteret
Bloomfield-Glen Ridge-Montclair to Wyckoff
Bordentown to Riverside
Caldwell to Jersey City
Carteret to Belleville
Ewing to Monmouth Junction

New Brunswick to Princeton
Princeton to New Brunswick
Riverside to Bordentown
Somers Point to Avalon
Wyckoff to Bloomfield-Glen Ridge-Montclair

*Present rate of 3 local message units becomes 4 local message units.

NEW RATES FOR ADDITIONAL MESSAGE UNITS AND ECONO-PAK

For customers billed on a message rate basis, the new charge for each additional message unit will be 6.1¢.

The charge for Econo-Pak service, which allows certain of these customers to purchase packages of additional message units at a discount, will be increased proportionately. Residence customers will pay $5.49 for each 100 units purchased in advance; business customers will pay $10.98 for each 200 units.

NEW RATES FOR SELECTIVE CALLING

Selective Calling allows certain flat rate customers to add certain nearby New Jersey Bell exchanges to their unlimited calling area. While the service charge remains the same, monthly increases for each exchange selected will range from 20¢ to 30¢ for residence customers.

For business customers, increases in monthly charges will be 70¢ or $1.00 per month. Each 5-minute message unit or fraction thereof will be 6.1¢.

Those routes mentioned earlier as being changed from 15¢ calls to 20¢ calls which were formerly available as part of our Selective Calling plan will no longer be offered. Customers affected by this change will be notified by mail.

CHANGES IN CERTAIN ONE-TIME CHARGES

Except for the repair of our equipment, the minimum charge for telephone work done at a residence customer's premises will be $15.00. This includes installing and/or moving telephones or telephone lines.

For business customers the charge will be $20.00 to connect new service, and a $15.00 minimum charge will apply for most other requests.

A one-time $5.00 charge has been established for any change made in a telephone number at a customer's request. The same charge will apply to customers establishing a non-published listing.

CLASSIFICATION CHANGE FOR CERTAIN PROFESSIONALS

Residence rates will no longer apply for telephone service furnished for occupational use and located in the homes of chiropractors, dentists, optometrists, osteopaths, physicians, podiatrists, surgeons and veterinarians. Professional customers affected by this change will be notified by mail.

CHARGE FOR CERTAIN RESTORATIONS

When service has been suspended for non-payment, the charge for restoral is increased from $1.00 to $3.00.

OTHER CHANGES IN INTRASTATE RATES

Certain other changes have been made in the rates for Centrex service, PBX, cord intercept, WATS, mileage service, mobile phones, Telpak and hardware for data and teletypewriter service

Further information on these rate changes may be obtained from your local Telephone Business Office or Business Service Center. The new rates will also be on file with the New Jersey Board of Public Utility Commissioners.

Oceanport Assessor Sets New Tax Rate at $2.75

OCEANPORT — Tax Assessor Ernest G. Hoffman has announced current estimates are that the tax rate for 1973, based on the new assessed valuation of all property in the borough, would be $2.75 per $100 provided the budget remains unchanged.

If there is an increase in the borough budget for 1973 over last year's, the rate would have to be higher, he said in reply to questions from taxpayers at the Borough Council meeting. The rate estimate was based on last year's budget figures, he explained.

The present tax rate is $4.27 per $100 assessed valuation.

A revaluation of all property in the borough recently was completed and hearings are now underway for taxpayers seeking adjustment of their assessed valuation. The last revaluation in the borough was in 1969.

Mr. Hoffman said a lot of property values in the borough had doubled since the last revaluation and, in some instances, had tripled. "It's hard to realize, in that short time," he said.

The total value of all property had risen from $48 million to close to $75 million," he added.

In response to a question, he explained the tax rate is determined by dividing the total value of all real property into the money that's needed for borough expenses.

Councilman Peter Dellera asked the reason for some of the questions on an application form requesting a review of an appraisal. He said he didn't know whether questions asking how much of a mortgage a homeowner was carrying, how much insurance he or she had on their house, or what their asking price for the home would be if they put it up for sale, were proper.

"I'm totally confused by this thing," he said, holding up the form. "I've had calls all week long about it."

Mr. Hoffman replied that the appraisers were seeking information that would be helpful in substantiating the appellant's claim.

"This is in order to help them review your points that your property is being overassessed," he said.

The appraisal firm that revalued the property was the Realty Appraisal Co. of West New York.

Questioned further after the meeting, Mr. Hoffman said about 342 taxpayers have petitioned for a review of their assessments. He said this was "normal," that anywhere from 10 to 20 per cent of the taxpayers generally ask for hearings.

Pick Interim Officers Of Littoral Unit

HIGHLANDS — Interim officers for a New Jersey section of the American Littoral Society have been named for 1973.

The society, a nonprofit, national organization of 4100 members is concerned with the study and conservation of the marine environment, with emphasis on the coastal (littoral) areas. More than 900 members reside in New Jersey.

Officers and committee chairmen who will conduct the business of the section until a formal election is held are: Sheldon Abrams, Middletown, and Eugene Geer, Matawan, co-chairmen; William Feinberg, Bayonne, secretary; Lee Ward, Neptune, treasurer. Committee chairmen are: Membership — Richard Rathemacher, Atlantic Highlands; field trips and seminars — Joseph Fishman, Bradley Beach; legislation and beach access — Mr. Abrams; and fish surveys and research — Mr. Geer.

The group plans to publish a newsletter for the N.J. Society members covering committee activities, summarizing information concerning pending conservation legislation, and announcing field trips. Several of the N.J. members have been active during the past year conducting studies on beach access problems, organizing a seminar on the New Jersey marine environment which was held in November at Monmouth College, and setting up a fish survey that was washed out by bad weather over Labor Day weekend. One project now being planned for both diving and non-diving member participation is a study of the present state and survival possibilities of selected New Jersey estuaries.

Information concerning membership in the Society and its programs can be obtained from the American Littoral Society, Sandy Hook, Highlands, 07732.

Merchants, Mayor Continue Feud on City Hall Proposal

LONG BRANCH — Fred W. Carl, coordinator of the newly initiated City Hall Study Committee, has called on Mayor Henry R. Cioffi to come forward with concrete reasons why the proposed Seventh Ave. site for the new city hall is important to city taxpayers.

Mr. Carl last week was named coordinator of the so-called "impartial" city hall study group. City Council named the panel after declaring a 28-day halt to its plans to go ahead with the proposed new city complex.

Mayor Cioffi has steadfastly disagreed to the halt in the city's plans.

The plans were first aired at a citizens study conference. It was then reported that the budget for the new complex would be limited to $2 million and that the proposed plot of land would encompass about four acres.

A group of downtown businessmen has since opposed the project and called for the new complex to be constructed on a two-acre tract between Broadway and Union Ave. and bordered by Third and Rockwell Aves.

While a 28-day study period has been set aside to quell the feud between the city, merchants and local officials, Mr. Carl has taken up a firm stand against the city's plan.

The panel's coordinator last Thursday called on Mayor Cioffi to explain why he has taken "the liberty of including the city library, Slocum Park and the city garage" in the planned Seventh Ave. site.

He added that he would also like to "take the liberty of including the beautiful Kennedy Towers senior citizens building and the new Independent firehouse in the downtown site."

The site decision, Mr. Carl said, is important to every Long Branch taxpayer. They should be provided with "good, solid reasons," he said to select whichever site is decided upon.

Mayor Cioffi has said that the downtown site is "too congested" for a municipal complex. He added that traffic conditions there could impede normal police operations.

In reply to the merchants' call for an upgraded business area, the mayor said that new stores bring in business — not municipal buildings.

Mayor Cioffi also said that architectural and engineering plans for the original proposal continue. He admitted that bids for construction will probably be received in April, a month later than the original target date for a March council meeting.

Drug Charges Sent to Jury

LONG BRANCH — Municipal Court Judge Jacob Rand referred to the grand jury four drug charges against Richard L. Bryan, 538 Bath Ave. and released him in $750 bail. Bryan was charged with possession of less than 25 grams of hashish, growing marijuana on his property and possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

Also referred to the grand jury were charges against Kenneth J. Wingler, Seventh Ave., Asbury Park. He is charged with possession of cocaine and of less than 25 grams of marijuana. He is free in $500 bail.

Joseph R. Helvaty, 391 Exchange Place, was found guilty and fined $50 for assaulting Martha Reichenbechek, 400 Ocean Blvd.

Judge Rand also found Ulandse Gillis, 118 Lippincott Ave. guilty of creating a disturbance while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and penalized him $40.

Driver, 18, Held

HOLMDEL — An 18-year-old youth was arrested here Wednesday night and charged with drunken driving.

Michael E. Tepper, 52 Navesink Ave., Highlands, was apprehended at midnight on Holland Road by Patrolman Wayne Steneck. He is being held in lieu of $200 bail in the county jail.

Baby Care Booklet Offered

NEW BRUNSWICK — Johnson & Johnson's popular four-booklet series on baby care has been newly revised and is available free of charge to the public.

The pediatrician-approved booklets discuss baby's eating and sleeping habits, keeping baby clean, safety for babies and toddlers, and caring for an ill baby. These are the subjects on which mothers most frequently seek advice, according to pediatricians surveyed by the company.

Four million booklets have been distributed by the company since the series was first published in 1968. One-third of the pediatricians in the United States offer the booklets in their offices, and the series is widely used by home economics and prenatal instructors.

Booklets may be obtained by writing to Consumer and Professional Services, Johnson & Johnson, New Brunswick, N.J. 08903.

Hats Off to Hats for Accent

By ANN HENCKEN

NEW YORK (AP) — Hat designers say the hat is bound to be an important accent as fashions reflect a more serene and conservative style for spring.

"The designers wanted a definite statement in hats because the clothes were so understated. You couldn't tell if they were catalogue or couture, without the proper accessories," said Frank Olive, hat designer who worked with designers like Coty-award winning John Anthony to coordinate his hats.

It's the return of the Great Gatsby era for the coming season, said Olive, echoing an already-popular theme for spring.

"Our lifestyle is similar to the Gatsby era — in the classic wide-brimmed hats, the turban, the small-fitting cloches. There are baggier pants, both chunky and sensitive heels, crepe du chines, and the tennis visor," said Olive, who showed his hats at the Millinery Institute of America's presentation on Thursday.

Last year's funky colors, like dark raisin and puce, have turned soft and light-spirited. A pale lime green hat with roll brim was offered by Albrizio. Mr. Martin showed a "strawberries in the snow" version of the floppy gingham sport look.

The felt hat is bigger this year, as it is a good year-round bet. Try a small "peach melba" felt hat with a conservative suit, which is a strong idea for spring. Or wear it with a matching peach dress.

Olive suggested a large-brimmed hat with pallazzo pants or with a pleated skirt and cardigan. Jack McConnell offered a dramatic double-brimmed black and white straw hat in this style.

The turban may be the most versatile of all, as it's good for evening, the slinky sweater look or suits, said Olive, whose hats are priced from $9 to $40.

"It's the most imaginative but the most disciplined look," he said, adding that the turban looks either great or disastrous, depending on how carefully it is placed on the head.

White Turban

He showed a white organza turban, set with a bunch of gardenias in back.

When flowers are used, it is in a sparing way. Roses and lilacs cascade from one side of a yellow and white straw, by Mr. John Jr.

The hats were shown as part of the New York Couture Business Council's national press week.

Parents' Guide To 104 Camps

NEW YORK — The New York Section American Camping Association, together with the National American Camping Association and many local sections, have had some success through federal and private funds in helping increasing numbers of disadvantaged children from both majority and minority groups to a good camping experience. However, affluent blacks and other minorities have not sought private-independent camps in any numbers. Many do not understand the values inherent in a good camping experience, nor do they know where they are welcome. Special communication is needed.

To provide concerete assistance to both parents and camp directors a detailed directory of private-independent American Camping Association camps has now been supplemented. This 1972 supplement and the directory is currently available free to parents. Write the New York Section American Camping Association, 342 Madison Ave., Suite 810, New York, 10017.

National Secretaries Unit Slates Meeting

MADISON TOWNSHIP — The Raritan Bay Chapter of the National Secretaries Association will meet Jan. 10, here in the Madison Restaurant, Rt. 9. Special guest will be Mrs. Agnes Calvert, who is New Jersey Division, NSA vice president.

A Secretary of the Month award was presented Mrs. Ann Bondira, Metuchen. Mrs. Bondira is secretary to Professor M. W. Riley, director of the sociology laboratory at Rutgers University, New Brunswick.

On behalf of the chapter members a hospitality cart was presented to the Bayshore Community Hospital.

The chapter will conduct a Chinese Auction April 8 for the benefit of their Scholarship Fund in conjunction with its sponsorship of the Sayreville War Memorial High School Chapter of the Future Secretaries Association.

Secretaries wishing to attend this meeting or future ones may write Mrs. Irene Cavanaugh at RD 1, Box 106, Morganville.

CONTEST ANNOUNCED

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. William Cowen, founder and president of the Artists' Advisory Council, has announced that $10,000 in prizes will be awarded contestants in the fourth international contest in piano, strings and voice.

An uncommon recipe from the uncommon salt

Be sure to use Diamond Crystal. It is a better salt—uncommon because it's differently made to make food taste uncommonly good. Every grain has diamond-like facets that cling where you shake it for even salting; and in cooking, its crystal purity really tells.

HASHED POTATO CAKES

4 cups diced boiled potatoes
¼ cup minced onion
2 rounded tsp. salt
1 tsp. nutmeg
¼ tsp. pepper
⅓ cup milk
2 tbsp. flour
1 egg
4 tbsp. butter or margarine

Beat egg into milk and add to lightly crushed potatoes in a bowl. Combine with onion, salt and pepper. Form into 6 patties and dust with flour. Fry over low flame in butter or margarine till brown. Both sides.

Happily Married. . . But

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: We are a happily-married, middle-aged couple. Our children are grown now and we have been taking our annual vacations abroad. My husband is an amateur photographer and if I say so myself, he does take very good pictures.

Last night we invited three couples over for supper. My husband asked if they would like to see slides of our recent trip to the Dalmatian coast. When they said yes, he hauled out the projector and the viewing began.

To my complete amazement, every tenth picture was a provocative photograph of a naked girl. Some were obviously postcards, others he had clipped from magazines. The men applauded and shouted, "More! More!" The women were noticeably silent. I was embarrassed almost to death.

After the guests left I asked my husband what was the big idea. He said, "I wanted to keep them awake and it really did the trick, didn't it?"

I had to agree, but I think it was in poor taste. He claims it was fun and made the evening much more interesting. If I'm a prude, Ann, tell me. If he's a dirty old man, tell HIM. We'll both be watching for your answer. — Portland Wife

Dear Port: Your husband ought to save the nudies for his more vulgar male friends. A good photographer shouldn't need to sling in shots of naked ladies to keep his audience awake. Tell your husband Ann votes no in mixed company.

Dear Ann Landers: Unlike that pathetic, sniveling girl who signed herself "Pushed Out Of The Nest," I never weep when I depart from a visit with my parents. Their parents are still living (they are in their 90s) so who needs me?

"Family" means husband and children so far as I am concerned. It does not mean parents, grandparents, sisters, brothers, nieces, nephews, cousins, great-aunts and uncles.

I grew up in the hot, flat San Joaquin Valley of California, surrounded by Okie and hillbilly relatives in Tennessee and Kentucky. Like dozens of other transplanted hicks we spent every holiday driving back and forth over the Mojave Desert, the Arizona Desert and the New Mexico Desert. Where were we going? To visit grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins. My mother and dad had this thing about being with "family." Every cock-eyed holiday we had to drive back and forth. The highlight of our Christmas trip was the gift opening. To this day I gag when I see anything crocheted.

Do you think I'm a cold-blooded daughter? If so, how many other daughters (and sons) manage to survive without an annual pilgrimage to visit their parents. My guess is plenty. — Weaned In D.C.

Dear Daughter: You are more than weaned, dear, you're alienated. I can't help but wonder what your parents did to you when you were very young that made you feel as you do. How sad that you don't care if you ever see them again. I'd give anything in the world if I could see mine.

Dear Ann Landers: If you publish this letter it could save someone from a serious accident, or even death.

A young woman I know was driving her new car. She had her baby with her. The gas pedal stuck, she became panicky and put the car in reverse. The car spun around and crashed into a house. Fortunately, no one was at home. The baby was not hurt but the young woman was painfully injured and she is lucky to be alive.

Here's how to avoid tragedy if your gas pedal sticks! Turn off the ignition and apply the brakes. The engine will stop. — N. Name, Please

Dear N.N.: Thanks for your letter. I will repeat the key line for the benefit of speed readers. If the gas pedal sticks — don't panic. Simply turn off the ignition and apply the brakes.

Dear Ann Landers: I was interested in the letter from the bride who had spent a fortune on a satin and lace wedding gown and was bemoaning the fact that she had invested so much money in a dress she could wear only once. Her question was, "Would it be all right to have the gown shortened, tinted another color and use it as a cocktail dress? You told her no — that it would probably look like a made-over wedding gown. Well, Ann, I have a better idea.

Twenty-two years ago I, too, spent a fortune on a wedding gown, but I got my money's worth out of it. I've worn it 21 times since I was married in it — as an anniversary gown and it still looks beautiful! What a lovely way to renew a marriage. It's like being a bride again! Give them the word, will you? It's a great idea. — Eternal Bride.

Dear Eternal: I agree, it's a great idea — but 95 per cent of the women out there who have been married over 20 years could no more get into their wedding gowns than they could walk across Lake Michigan. To those who can — my heartiest congratulations. To those who can't, save the gown for your daughter.

P.S. A word to you needle-artist husbands: Before you hand this column to the wife and ask her if she could get into her wedding gown, go try to get into your wedding pants.

Don't flunk your chemistry test. Love is more than one set of glands calling to another. If you have trouble making a distinction you need Ann's booklet, "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference." Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request and 35c in coin to this newspaper.

UP, UP AND AWAY!

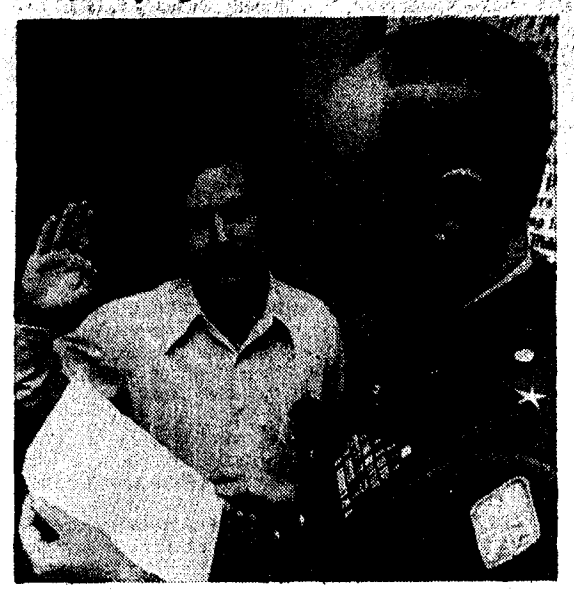

This is our advice regarding where you should store your drugs and medicines if you have young children around the house: Up, up and away! Up, up, out of reach—and away out of their sight! And, preferably, also under lock and key.

Children, as we all know—but may sometimes forget temporarily—have an endless curiosity. They love to get into things. But, if they should get into your drugs and medicines, the results could be disastrous and tragic. So, always keep in mind the necessity for being exceptionally careful and alert with your medications. Don't leave them around where the youngsters can get at them.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

ONE OUT-ONE IN — Two days before his official retirement from active duty on Dec. 31, Brig. Gen. Richard C. Horne 3rd, commandant, Army Signal School, performed a last official act by enlisting his 22-year-old son, James G. Horne, for a three-year tour of Army duty. A 1972 graduate of the University of Texas, Austin, James has been accepted for the Officer Candidate School of Infantry, Fort Benning, Ga. The Army lost one member of the Horne family, but with James' enlistment, it still has two on its rolls. An elder son, Capt. Richard C. Horne 4th, is stationed at Fort Sill, Okla.

Says Bond Defeat Would Jolt Plans

MIDDLETOWN — Failure of township voters to approve the Board of Education's $10 million school construction bond issue Jan. 16 will cause even the best revision of the township master plan to falter, says Dwight E. Richardson, a Planning Board member.

Urging voters to vote for the construction project to "give yourself the promise of a good education for your children," Mr. Richardson recalled that he discussed overcrowding in township schools with thousands of residents during his unsuccessful campaign for Township Committee last November.

"There are many complex reasons for our present educational crisis. I suspect that it all somehow revolves around township planning . . . My belief is that the school system in Middletown is in deep trouble and the students of families already living in the township are receiving an inferior education," the Planning Board member said.

"I am on the Middletown Township Planning Board. We are in the process of making a major revision to the township's master plan. It is our intent to correct the old growth pattern to a new pattern that will provide for community balance while we still have some uncommitted space left," Mr. Richardson explained.

"In my view, even the best new plan will falter if the residents do not show a willingness to at least care for their own educational needs," he concluded.

Soil District Maps Fund, Pike Protests

FREEHOLD — The Freehold Soil Conservation District plans immediate action aimed at requesting restoration of Federal Rural Environmental Assistance Program funds completely eliminated by the administration.

Henry Surgent, district chairman, at the regular monthly meeting here, stated that "the National Association of Conservation Districts will be asked to give state and nationwide support to restore the funds and those congressmen representing the district will be urged to support restoration of the program."

Edward C. Noller, district supervisor, added that "this program has made possible the establishment of a great number of soil and water conservation measures that benefit everyone and it should be continued. Budget cuts in the public interest could best be made elsewhere.

Don Mohr, county agent, spoke of "the threat to open spaces coming from yet another attack on the farmland Assessment Act." Referring to Senate Bill 1159, Mr. Mohr said, "This bill would have a disastrous effect on agriculture and land-use in the entire state."

A prepared statement reviewing what was termed the shortcoming of the Environmental Impact Study for the Toms River Turnpike Extension was endorsed and sent to officials concerned. Problems mentioned in need of further study were: exposure of acid soils, drainage to minimize mosquito problems, siltation, and especially, the long term impacts on farms, wildlife, effects of the highway on population densities, and pollution. The district stressed the need for a broad state land use study to give meaningful direction to development.

Manalapan Has First Under-21 Policeman in North Monmouth

Manalapan Township was the only municipality in northern Monmouth to name a person under 21 years old to its police force on Jan. 1 when such appointments became legal.

Most police officials contacted in 21 municipalities said they received no applications. And many said that waiting lists of persons certified as eligible by civil service tests would prohibit applications by the newly eligible age group for many months.

Besides allowing drinking at 18, the new law signed by Gov. William T. Chaill in July will allow 18-year-olds the right to enter into contracts, to sue and be sued in courts, to serve on juries, to marry without parental consent and to adopt children, to consent to medical and surgical treatment, to execute wills, to inherit property and to purchase and mortgage property.

In Manalapan, Garrett Vanderwheil, 20, of Marlboro, was appointed last Monday to the force by the Township Committee.

Was Cadet

Police Chief Thomas Wallace said Mr. Vanderwheil has served in the municipality's police cadet program since last March. He will receive $8,500.

"Although I think most 18-year-olds are not mature enought to do the job, I think that he has proved himself able to do it," the chief said.

"I know, though, that when I was 18 I couldn't do the job," he added.

Long Waiting Lists

Youths between 18 and 21 interested in joining police forces in the Bayshore area may find their efforts thwarted simply because there are waiting lists in most municipalities dor department membership.

"Right now our rolls are bursting at the seams," said Detective Lt. John McGinty of Matawan Township. "There are nearly 40 men on our waiting list," he added.

The first half of a civil service examination for police department membership took place in September, Lt. McGinty explained. The second half of the examination was given last month.

"We had 201 applicants," the lieutenant continued. Out of that number 41 were finally considered eligible to become policemen, he added. Two were just hired.

Lt. McGinty noted there were no applications from youths in the 18-21 age bracket.

Virtually the same situation exists in Middletown as far as potential police department employment goes.

Middletown Backlog

Mrs. Claire Norton, secretary to Middletown Police Chief Joseph M. McCarthy, said some teen-agers have asked about becoming policemen, but "it will be another year before civil service exams are given again."

She said 160 men took the last exam "over a year ago." The test, she noted, was open to non-residents.

Forty-seven names were added to the list of acceptable applicants, Mrs. Norton said. "We will hire what our budget allows next year," she added.

Twelve additional policemen are being requested by Chief McCarthy, she said. Six were hired this past year Mrs. Norton said.

In Atlantic Highlands, "We don't have any openings," declared Capt. Samuel Guzzi.

No applications have been made in that shore community, nor have any been made by 18-20 year-olds in Matawan Borough, Hazlet or Holmdel.

Keyport Police Chief William J. Geiger reported he has one application from a 20-year-old man for a special officer's position.

Mixed Feelings

Chief R. Bruce Phillips of Holmdel said it is likely that all police departments will receive applications from teenagers eventually.

But, as in other municipalities in the area, Holmdel has no openings at present. "We won't have any for at least two years," Chief Phillips declared." There are 15 men on the Holmdel waiting list.

Chief Phillips had mixed feelings on hiring 18-year-olds. "Kids today are better educated and more alert at this age," he said.

However, he questioned the capability of an 18-year-old handling "one of the roughest cases — a family argument." Otherwise he had no quarrel with the law making 18-year-olds eligible to join police departments.

Capt. Holmes J. Gormerley, Hazlet's acting chief, said some 18-year-olds "show as much maturity as some men of 23 or 25. I have encountered some 18-year-olds I wish I could have in my department," he said.

In order to determine a youth's capability of being a policeman, Capt. Gormerley stressed a probation period of threee years "to see if he is mature enough to be a police officer. If not, he could be dropped if necessary," he captain said.

In Highlands Police Chief John J. Mackel reports he hasn't received any applications from aspiring police officers between the ages of 18 and 20.

"If I do I will treat them as I do every other application. I will make my recommendation and pass the application to Borough Council who has the final determination in hiring," the chief stated.

James T. O'Neill, Keansburg borough manager, said he has not received any applications "from anyone under 21."

"I have requested a Civil Service test for new patrolmen," Mr. O'Neill said last night. "And anyone can apply and take the test. But to answer your question, no, we haven't had anyone applying under the new law to the best of my knowledge."

In Union Beach, Chief Richard F. Trembley said he has no objections to the new law. "Anyone can take the Civil Service test and if they pass, they are eligible to become police officers," he commented.

Red Bank Police Chief George H. Clayton Jr. said three 20-year-olds have applied for jobs on the police force.

Chief Clayton said they are among a large number of applicants for two vacancies. Initial testing for those vacancies were Dec. 23.

"We will follow state law on this," the chief said referring to the new eligibility of 18 to 20 years olds to become policemen and firemen, "There will be no discrimination as far as I'm concerned.

In Red Bank police candidates must first pass written, physical and psychological examinations.

Following the tests, an investigation is made into their background and the combined information is used to select the candidates.

Roy Nelson, Fair Haven administrator, said a 20 year-old man applied for a job on the police force two months ago, but was told his application couldn't be considered until after Jan. I. Mr. Nelson said there are no pending applications for either police or fireman from anyone under 21.

The Rumson Borough Council recently amended its fire ordinance to lower the minimum age for membership to 18 in conformance with the change in state law.

A spokesman there said "we haven't received any applications yet, but I'm sure we will."

Freehold Township Public Safety Director Theodore A. Weathers said that if a man is "legally qualified when he's 18, you can't say he can vote and he can drink but he can't carry a gun."

"If he is qualified for adulthood, he should be qualified for the rest of it," he said.

Mr. Weathers said that he hasn't received any applications from 18-year-olds.

New Shrewsbury Police Chief James A. Herring said "we do anticipate adding a new man next year, but we have taken no action as yet."

"I personally feel that 18 is rather young, especially in a town like ours where he may have to go out alone on patrol and where decision making will be necessary," Chief Herring said.

Freehold Borough Police Chief Henry T. Lefkowich said that he has no waiting list of men wishing to join the force, and that Civil Service tests might be held within the next few months to fill two vacancies.

The chief said that policemen under 21 should have limited duties. One example he used is that the patrolman might not have the maturity needed to handle marital squabbles.

Marlboro Police Chief Thomas Walker said he hasn't received any applications from men under 21. He said that presently there are no openings on the force and that he has a few men on a waiting list.

The chief said he hasn't formulated his view on the change in state law. He did say, however, that he didn't think the State Legislature "looked into the matter thoroughly."

Little Silver Police Chief John Foster said that his department has received no applications from under 21-year-olds, and added "I think the 18-year-age limit is a bit too young."

Sea Bright Chief John F. Carmody said he hasn't received any applications, and added that he is still awaiting instructions from the state on the matter.

Eatontown Police Chief William Zadorozny said he has had a number of inquiries and has issued a number of application forms. He said only one has been returned to date.

"We will hold this application until the question is legally settled. We are not expanding at present, anyway," he said.

The state statute, as far as I know, still sets 21 as the age limit. We have not really looked into it deeply yet," the chief said.

Long Branch Public Safety Director John M. Buffin said his department has had inquiries but no applications. He said he had a waiting list of applicants for the police department, all over 18, and that the next group would have to wait to take the next civil service examination.

Major Buffin, a former state police major, said "Some 18-year-olds are mature enough and some aren't—most are not. Serving on the police force, with its decisions and responsibilities, is different from being in the Army."

Ocean Township Police Chief Neil A. Tantum said that, while he had "all the faith in the world in today's youngsters," he would prefer no 18-year-olds with guns. He said he's had two inquiries and mailed one application.

"The N.J. State Police Chiefs Assocation, of which I'm a member, has gone on record as being against it. You have to be 21 to purchase a gun and I feel a man should be 21 to be a policeman on the streets, making decisions and having use of a gun."

He added that the township fire and first aid departments are actively seeking 18-year-olds to work for them because of their energy and availability.

West Long Branch Police Chief Frank S. Bilotta reported that he had received no applications yet, adding, "Personally, I think they're too young."

State Gets $111,000 Legal Bill

TRENTON — The state is facing payment of $111,000 bill from the court-appointed lawyer who fought construction of the Meadowlands sports complex "in behalf of the public interest."

The bill, described by a state legislator as possibly "a sophiscated type of fraud," was submitted by T. Girard Wharton of Somerville. It includes $83,807.30 for legal fees and another $28,059.29 for expenses and the state has already been directed to pay the total by the New Jersey Supreme Court.

Leading Wharton's expense list was a bill for $4,819.09 submitted to him by a Bethesda, Md., environmental engineer who testified for two days at hearings on the environmental impact of the sports complex. The engineer, Dr. C. J. Touhill of Engineering Sciences, Inc., in Washington, D.C., was one of several witnesses who appeared at the hearings and handed Wharton bills in excess of $1,000.

The site of the complex, which will be operated by the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority, is located in the Hackensack Meadowlands in an area off the New Jersey Turnpike. When completed it will include a stadium to house the New York Giants football team, a racetrack and other recreational facilities. Those who fought against the complex included area landowners who contended it would destroy the surrounding marshlands, and other residents who said the sports authority was unconstitutional.

Among other witnesses who testified for Wharton were Dr. William A. Niering, a Connecticut College botanist, whose one day appearance cost $3,360.45 and Dr. D. Vincent Manson of New York's American Museum of Natural History, whose two days on the stand cost $1,875.

A Superior Court judge upheld the constitutionality of the authority and that ruling was later upheld by the state Supreme Court.

Wharton was appointed by the Supreme Court in May 1971 to represent the State Treasurer and the general public in a technical test of the constitutionality of the statute creating the autonomous sports authority.

Governor's Son to Get Summons

CHESTER TOWNSHIP — Chester Township police said John Cahill, 23, son of Gov. William T. Cahill, was involved in a minor automobile accident on Route 206 yesterday and would be issued a summons for passing in a no-passing zone.

A police spokesman said the younger Cahill hit a car driven by John J. Kowalski, 33, of Flanders head-on but the accident caused only minor damage. There were no injuries.

The police said Cahill's son left the scene of the accident before police investigators arrived. They said he gave his license and registration information to Kowalski before leaving and was later contacted by State Police. He was expected to return to Chester during the week.

Cahill was driving a 1972 sports car. Kowalski's car had to be towed from the scene.

The governor's son was arrested twice early in 1970 on marijuana charges and has been involved in other traffic charges.

Urge Filling of Court Vacancies

TRENTON — A year-end analysis of the New Jersey court system has concluded that the system is "strained" as the result of 22 judicial vacancies.

"The present failure to find judicial posts has burdened our system of justice and is at least partially responsible for our present court problems," said retired Superior Court Judge Alexander P. Waugh, who is executive director of the Bar Institute of New Jersey.

Waugh, who served as assignment judge in Morris, Warren and Sussex Counties until his retirement last September, called on Gov. William T. Cahill and the State Legislature to fill the vacancies at once and to consider the need for the establishment of new judgeships.

Two of the vacancies are on the State Supreme Court, and Gov. Cahill is expected to nominate persons to fill the seats before the end of the month. Robert L. Clifford, Commissioner of the State Department of Institutions and Agencies, reportedly will be one of the nominees, according to sources here.

In addition, there are 10 vacancies in Superior Court, eight in the County Court system, one in District Court and one in the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court.

The Bar Institute was founded last year by the New Jersey State Bar Association "to study the system of delivering justice in the State of New Jersey with a view to the improvement of its quality and to develop and plan programs to improve the system," Waugh explained.

Parole Procedures in Court Test

TRENTON — The State Supreme Court began hearing arguments today on a multi-faceted suit challenging procedures that determine whether prison inmates are paroled.

The suit, filed by the state public defender's office on behalf of 19 inmates, contends that the New Jersey Parole Board has not complied with directives contained in a 1971 State Supreme Court ruling, Monks vs. State Parole Board.

In that decision, the high court ordered the parole board to furnish prisoners with specific reasons why they have been denied parole.

According to the current suit, the board has continued to exercise its discretionary power in an arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable manner.

The suit also contends that the reasons given inmates for the denial of their parole bids "remain immutable because they provide the petitioner lwith no guidance as to how he can eventually conform his behavior so as to be granted parole."

The parole board, in legal briefs filed with the high court, has defended its parole procedures on the grounds that it is often impossible to cite a specific reason for the denial of parole because the decision is based on "a general impression of the inmate gleamed from numerous sources upon which a prediction as to his future behavior is based."

The Cahill Administration, meanwhile, is seeking the revise the parole system through legislative processes. The administration has submitted a ceontroversial bill that would allow the State Parole Board to grant freedom to inmates who have completed the first six months of their jail sentences.

2 Killed, 2 Hurt in Plane Crash

CLINTON — A 30-year-old New York man and his four-year-old daughter were killed and two other family members injured yesterday when their rented single-engine plane crashed at an airport near here.

Theodore H. Wilmer, 30; his wife Arabella, 28; a daughter Lisa, 4; and son, Ted Jr., 7, were en route from Columbia County Airport in Hudson, N.Y. to Sky Manor Airport in Alexandria Township when the accident occured.

According to a state police spokesman, Wilmer came in to land, observed an aircraft on the field and made what is called a "quick go-around." The spokesman said, he came back and touched down on another runway but lifted off again "apparently because he thought he would run out of runway."

The plane's engine then stalled and the aircraft cartwheeled over, tearing the engine and the two front seats away from the plane.

Wilmer was pronounced dead at the scene. Lisa died at the Hunterdon Medical Center in Flemington, where his wife was listed in critical and his son in fair condition.

Brookdale Architecture Subject Of Building Magazine Feature

LINCROFT — The architectural design of Brookdale Community College, here, was the cover story subject in the November issue of Building Design and Construction.

The magazine featured an extensive color layout of the campus plan of Monmouth's county college, along with photos of the exterior and interior of its buildings

The article included an interview with John Shaver of Shaver Associates, the Salina, Kans. firm which worked jointly with Red Bank architect Bernard Kellenyi in planning the renovations of the old barns which were Brookdale's first permanent buildings, and in designing its new buildings.

The article discussed at length Brookdale's flexible open space concept, which uses movable partitions to divide floor areas into classrooms and faculty offices. The partitions permit the carving and recarving of space to fit both changing and specific needs and functions.

Break Tradition

In the article, Mr. Shaver is quoted as saying that Brookdale's design is a break from the traditional, restrictive architecture of the past when "we shaped our buildings so specifically that we defined — and restricted — people's modes of operation."

"We've found that the flexible, changeable space creates a lot of excitement on the part of the faculty and students because they can use their very creative talents to do things we never even thought of," Mr. Shaver is quoted.

The article pointed out that all three of the two-story new buildings are at the first-floor level separate structures, each serving its subject-oriented discipline, but are joined at the second-story level to create "one long, linear learning resource center", or modern library, complete with audio-visual materials.

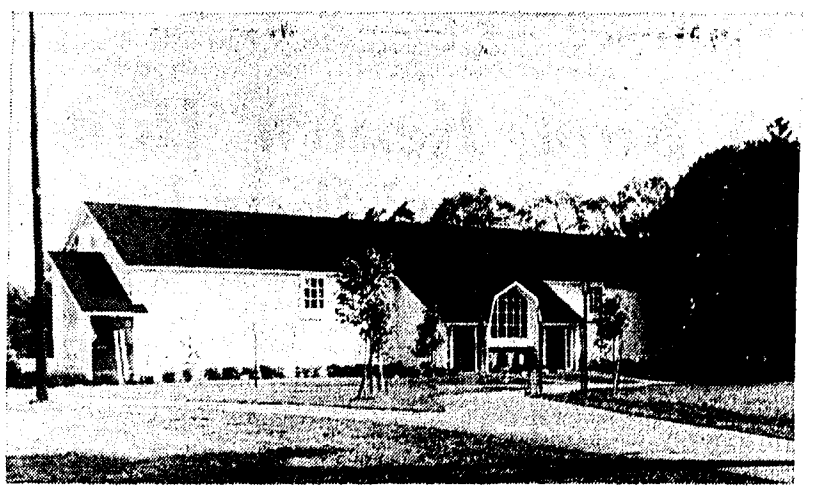

Natural Feeling

Noting that the barns which were the original structures on the college site — Brookdale was the former Thompson estate and originally a horse farm — inspired the architectural design of its new buildings, the article cited "the feeling of naturalness" created by the use of cobblestone-type stone work, stucco, and rough-sawn cedar and carried over into the lighting design, which depends on a mixture of incandescent and fluorescent lighting.

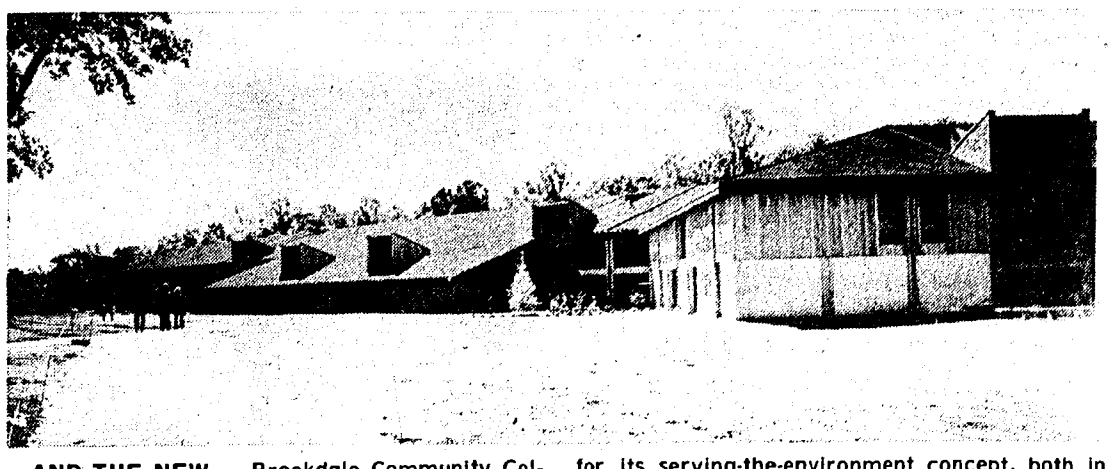

The design of Brookdale's buildings, which blend with their country-like setting on the exterior and provide space which can be reorganized and adapted as educational needs dictate on the interior illustrate the architect's new role as environmentalist, the article declared.

"Architecture designed around flexible open spaces is a living thing, capable of being shaped and reshaped to meet changing needs. And Brookdale Community College . . . is a living thing," the magazine said.

Brookdale has been singled out several times for its architectural beauty.

THE OLD — This renovated barn was one of the first permanent buildings of Brookdale Community College in Lincroft, featured in the November issue of Building Design and Construction.

...AND THE NEW — Brookdale Community College's three new buildings have brought Monmouth's county college's Lincroft campus praise for its serving-the-environment concept, both in exterior and interior design.

Checks to Move by 'Copter

ASBURY PARK — First Merchants National Bank will initiate a helicopter "checklift" service to Wall St. tomorrow to speed up the collection of checks deposited by customers of the bank each day.

The checklift service will be from Colts Neck Airport to the Wall St. Heliport and will be the first service of its kind ever undertaken by a shore area bank. It will involve about 40 per cent of the checks the bank handles each day.

John F. Cook, senior vice president and chief operations officer of First Merchants, said the service will enable the bank to clear checks deposited faster than with truck delivery.

The new service is a three-way venture involving First Merchants, The Chase Manhattan Bank and Decair Helicopters, Inc., of New York, operators of the helicopter that will fly the checks to Wall Street.

The entire checklift operation focuses on the use of helicopters to transport the checks. Through use of the helicopter the earlier arrival of the checks in New York City will allow for processing in time to meet earlier collection schedules.

Banks have long been concerned with cutting down the time it takes to clear a check. Most banks follow a schedule that allows two, three, four days or more to obtain credit for a check presented to them. The schedule varies depending on the distance between the banks involved and the transportation facilities available.

According to Howard J. Kennedy, vice president and manager of the bank's data processing center, the checks involved in the checklift will be those drawn on banks in the 12 northermost counties of New Jersey. Checks drawn on the banks in the 12-county area will be sorted from the rest of the checks each day as they are processed in the bank's data processing center. Once sorted, they will be microfilmed, bundled and dispatched by messenger to the Colts Neck Airport and placed aboard the waiting helicopter.

The pilot will radio his estimated arrival time to his New York office and a call will be made from there to The Chase Manhattan Bank. A Chase messenger will meet the helicopter when it lands and take the checks to the bank.

It is expected that the checks will be in the Chase Manhattan Bank office in less than 35 minutes after they leave Colts Neck.

Fort to Get $1.5 Million In Equipment

FT. MONMOUTH — The U.S. Army Electronic Command here will be the recipient of $1.5 million in electronic equipment designed to convert any unattended air strip into "a high-capacity instant airfield."

The equipment consists of two tactical air traffic control towers manufactured by RCA. According to a company spokesman, in addition to delivering the towers, which are portable, RCA will also provide personnel training and operating and maintenance aids.

The spokesman said the towers will have "all the communications and navigational aids needed for visual control of all types of aircraft" and can be used by the Army's Air Traffic Management System with other equipment to create an all-weather tactical landing system.

The spokesman said similar towers are now being used by the Air Force in the Philippines and Europe as well as the continental United States.

Rangers' Win Ends Longest Home Stand

By The Associated Press

Goalie Ed Giacomin turned in his third shutout in the last five National Hockey League games last night as the New York Rangers blanked the Pittsburgh Penguins, 3-0.

The victory, before the Rangers' 100th consecutive regular season sellout crowd, concluded the longest home stand in New York history. The Rangers won four and lost three on Madison Square Garden ice.

The Rangers drew to within two points of second place Boston, which lost to Chicago, 5-4. In other NFL action last night, Detroit shut out the New York Islanders, 4-0; Toronto beat California by the same score; Buffalo blanked Philadelphia, 2-0, to remain in a third place tie with the Rangers, and Atlanta tripped Vancouver, 5-2.

The Rangers struck for its first goal on a power play in the opening period when Walt Tkaczuk converted passes from Brad Park and Bruce MacGregor. The Penguins were shorthanded because of a double minor penalty and game misconduct assessed to Ken Schinkel for leaving the bench during a fight between New York's Billy Fairbairn and Pittsburgh's Greg Polis.

Schinkel did not appear interested in getting into the fight but merely was skating aimlessly at center ice when referee Ron Wicks assessed the penalties.

The other two Ranger goals came in the middle period when Fairbairn, celebrating his 26th birthday, and MacGregor beat goalie Jim Rutherford.

Fairbairn's goal ended an 11-game scoring drought and was his first since Dec. 13.

Giacomin, who wears a mask, was struck in the side of the face by a third-period shot and required medical attention on the ice but was able to continue and complete his 42nd career shutout.

Delvecchio Milestone

Goalie Roy Edwards picked up his second straight shutout and Alex Delvecchio, playing in his 1,500th NHL game, set up two goals as the Red Wings blanked the Islanders.

The victory was Detroit's third straight, and its second consecutive 4-0 shutout of the Islanders in two days. The Wings have lost just two games in their last 12 outings, while New York has lost seven in a row and 11 straight on the road.

The shutout was Edward's fourth of the year to tie him for the NHL lead with Montreal's Ken Dryden and Minnesota's Ceasar Maniago. His pair of whitewashes over the weekend dropped his goals against average from 2.52 to 2.32.

Al Karlander broke a scoreless deadlock at 13:17 of the second period with his eighth goal after Delvecchio fed him the puck from behind the net.

Mickey Redmond, Tim Ecclestone and Len Fontaine beat goalie Gerry Desjardins for goals in the final period, Delvecchio taking the puck off a New Yorker's stick and feeding it to Karlander, who set up the Redmond tally.

Flames Take Third

Defenseman Pat Quinn ignited a threegoal third period, helping Atlanta to victory over the Vancouver Canucks that sent the expansion Flames into third place in the Western Division.

Quinn's second goal of the year, with 1:33 gone in the final period, snapped a 2-2 tie. Larry Romanchych and Jacques Richard added goals later in the period to cement Atlanta's 17th victory of the year. The Flames have lost 19 and tied seven.

Low Holds Fort

Toronto Goalie Ron Low turned aside 27 shots and recorded his second shutout as the Maple Leafs crupted for three goals in the third period and beat the California Golden Seals.

Low, a rookie, got his other shutout on Dec. 29 at Pittsburgh. He played all but 25 seconds of that game and originally was not given credit for a shutout. However, league statistics later gave him credit.

Rick Koehoe's first-period goal was all the scoring until Denis Dupere and Errol Thompson beat California netminder Marv Edwards 35 seconds apart midway through the final period.

Jim Lorentz and Rick Martin got the goals and Buffalo goaltender Dave Dryden registered his second shutout in the Sabres' victory over the Flyers.

Six-Day Countdown Begins For Foes in Super Bowl VII

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Some things don't change much in 30 years. Now, as in 1942, America is wishing it wasn't at war and the Washington Redskins are trying to beat the unbeatable.

It's been that long since a National Football League team reached the playoff finals without defeat or tie, but here are the Miami Dolphins shooting for 17-0-0 in Sunday's Super Bowl VII.

Both the Redskins and Dolphins arrived here last night to begin final preparations for their showdown at Los Angeles Coliseum.

Two teams — both named the Chicago Bears — rollicked through unblemished regular seasons in the NFL yesteryear, but the Bears of 1934 and 1942 stumbled over their final obstacle.

No team has ever made it to all-the-way perfection.

Chicago's famed Monsters of the Midway were 13-0 in '34 with only the New York Giants to be conquered. The Giants were a bunch of up-and-downers with an 8-5 record.

Chicago had beaten them 27-7 and 10-9 earlier in the season.

Rain poured on the Polo Grounds the day before, then came freezing temperatures and the turf became somewhat of an ice rink with hair.

Ray Flaherty, New York's captain, recalled that his Gonzaga University team had faced similar conditions a few years before. Gonzaga had used basketball shoes on the ice and won.

Steve Owen, the Giants' coach, told a parttime clubhouse boy named Abe Cohen to find an armload of sneakers. Sporting goods stores were closed on Sunday, but industrious Abe got lucky at Manhattan College.

When Abe finally returned, Chicago had a 10-3 lead and perfection seemed near. Then, tying on their sneakers for the final quarter, the Giants erupted.

Halfback Ken Strong scored two touchdowns, kicked a field goal and made an extra point. New York set a playoff record that still stands, 27 points in one period, and the Bears slid 30-13.

That was the famed "Sneaker Game."

Eight years later, in 1942, another bunch of Bears was 11-0 and a stop away from a perfect physical year. The Washington Redskins, 10-1 guarded the final, elusive plateau.

The Bears jumped ahead again, 6-0 on a 50-yard fumble return by Lee Aftoe, but Sam Baugh put Chicago in a hole with an 85-yard quick kick.

Soon thereafter, Slingin' Sam hit Wilbur Moore on a 25-yard scoring pass and Washington led 7-6. An insurance touchdown and the Redskins had foiled the Bears 14-6.

It's taken three decades to get that close again, but Miami is 16-0-0 and dreaming. Washington, 13-3, is amazingly a two-point favorite as the nation wonders if true perfection is really possible.

Ex-Rams Return 'Home' In Redskins' War Paint

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Washington Redskins arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and Coach George Allen said, "It doesn't do any good to be in the Super Bowl if you don't win it."

A chartered DC-8 brought 54 players and the remainder of the Redskin party into Los Angeles International Airport. A sign on the plane's nose said, "Washington Redskins '72 NFC Champs."

After a photo day today, Allen will begin working his National Football Conference winners for next Sunday's Super Bowl VII matchup with the Miami Dolphins.

"It feels good to come back a winner," said Allen, who was fired three years ago as head coach of the Los Angeles Rams.

"We have 15 ex-Rams in our party, I think, and we all feel great about being here."

Allen said he looked for "a hard-fought, fairly low-scoring game" against the Dolphins, coached by old rival Don Shula.

When Allen was with the Rams and Shula was at Baltimore, the Colts, coach had a 4-3 edge in their personal rivalry.

Allen's Redskins were protected from admiring fans at both ends of the coast-to-coast journey. The jetliner was parked on a remote runway at Dulles International Airport outside Washington and, upon arriving in California, only newmen were permitted within 500 yards of the craft.

Dozens of well-wishers were kept behind a chain link fence while their heroes deplaned in the warm sunshine.

One woman waved a placard that proclaimed, "Over-the-Hill, Hell: King of the Hill."

The Redskins later checked into the Saddleback Hotel in Santa Ana, south of Los Angeles, where the crew of Air Force One, President Nixon's private jet, resides when he is visiting the California White House at San Clemente.

The Dolphins arrived four hours later, after temperatures had dipped into the 40s, and the welcome was thunderous compared to that accorded the Redskins.

Miami's charter flight landed at tiny Long Beach airport where the American Conference champions were greeted by about 700-wellwishers, civic leaders presenting the key to the city of Long Beach and a 33-piece municipal band.

Nets See Stars in Setback

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Jimmy Jones scored 28 points and Zelmo Beaty and Ron Boone 22 each yesterday to lead the Utah Stars to a 113-104 American Basketball Association victory over the New York Nets.

The Stars, who have won 16 of their last 18 games, dealt the Nets their ninth loss in 10 games.

The Nets, who trailed by 16 points early in the third quarter, reduced the Stars' lead to 107-104 with 48 seconds remaining. Jones then made two free throws and Boone hit two field goals to clinch the triumph.

John Roche topped the Nets with 25 points. Billy Paultz added 23 points and George Carter 21.

Louisville's Corso Heads for Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Young and dynamic Lee Corso, head coach at the University of Louisville for the past four seasons, yesterday was named head football coach at Indiana University.

The announcement was made by Dr. John W. Ryan, Indiana University president, after a telephone vote by the IU Board of Trustees. Ryan said formal approval of the contract will be placed on the agenda of the board's next regular meeting, Jan. 20.

Corso, 37, succeeds John Pont, who resigned Dec. 23 as head coach at Indiana to accept the head coaching post at Northwestern University.

Corson, who served as an assistant at his alma mater, Florida State, as well as Maryland and the Naval Academy before taking over the top job at Louisville, rebuilt a sagging program and brought the Cardinals to 17th in the national rankings this season.

His four teams at Louisville compiled a 28-11-3 record and lost only four of their last 28 games. His 1972 team ran up a 9-1 record, losing only to Tulsa, 28-26, in an upset.

Smith's Overtime Basket Keeps CBA Undefeated

LINCROFT — Christian Brothers Academy put all of its no-nos together here last night, but still managed to pull out a 56-54 overtime victory over stubborn Roselle Catholic.

The Colts couldn't find the basket. They shot for 37 per cent from the floor in the game, and only 26 per cent in the first period.

Brian Smith, a reservist, became the hereo when he got the winning basket from the left corner of the key early in the overtime period.

Neither team scored another point in the extra session. Both teams missed with regularity in the overtime and the score stood after Smith's shot.

Roselle Catholic lost its last chance to win with 23 seconds remaining on a walking violation.

The undefeated Colts fell behind the visitors by five points in the first period, cut the lead by four at the half and finally tied it in the third. The fourth quarter was played to a standoff.

It was a bad day for the regulars on both teams. Leon Simmons was in and out all day. Bill Paterno, CBA's hottest scorer got into a feud with Roselle Catholic's Rick Gomez. Gomez left the game with his fifth foul after the play, and Paterno was pulled by his coach. He missed the last two minutes of the fourth quarter and the entire overtime.

CBA remained perfect after nine encounters, while Roselle Catholic dropped its third game in 10 outings.

Seraphs Dull Lancers

HOLMDEL — Mater Dei put together a 41-point second half here yesterday to down St. John Vianney, 75-62.

The Seraphs spurted ahead by six points near the end of the third period, and then utilized a man to man press in the fourth period to further baffle the Lancers.

It was the seventh win against three losses for Mater Dei. St. John's record is just the reverse.

The Lancers controlled the boards, picking off 46 rebounds to 35 for the Seraphs. Rich Kerrigan led the Lancers with 15, and Tom Hickey added 13.

Paul Harrington had 16 rebounds for Mater Dei and also led the Seraphs in scoring with 18 markers. He had 10 of those in the third period when Mater Dei took the lead for good.

The Seraphs took a one-point lead into the third period, but the Lancers went up, 37-35, at the beginning of the period. Mater Dei then went back ahead for good.

Joe Lauro led the Lancers with 21 points, and Bill Foster contributed 19.

The Seraphs shot 40 per cent from the field, and the Lancers hit 37 per cent.

The Lancers gained some revenge by winning the junior varsity game, 64-58, behind Bob Ross's 18 points.

Allen Sets Pace As Bucks Nip Lakers

Meet the "new" Oscar Robertson of the Milwaukee Bucks—Lucius Allen.

"It's a difficult role," said Allen, who was cast as play-maker yesterday after the reliable Robertson hurt himself in the first quarter of a National Basketball Association game.

Allen knew what to do, though. He gave the ball to Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and the slick center poured in 37 points to lead a 99-92 victory over the Los Angeles Lakers.

"I made some mistakes—a couple shots I should have made a couple of bad passes, but fortunately we got the breaks at the end to win it," said Allen.

With help from Allen, Abdul-Jabbar scored 13 points in the final period to help the Bucks pull away.

"Jabbar made some really tough shots at the end and that really gave them momentum," said Los Angeles center Wilt Chamberlain, who had to guard the Bucks' big man.

In the other NBA games yesterday, the Boston Celtics smashed the Baltimore Bullets 116-98; the Chicago Bulls routed the Buffalo Braves 119-96; the Cleveland Cavaliers trimmed the Houston Rockets 102-97; the Detroit Pistons defeated the Portland Trail Blazers 101-96 and the Philadelphia 76ers stopped Seattle 85-82.

In the American Basketball Association, the Utah Stars stopped the New York Nets 113-104; the Carolina Cougars turned back the Denver Rockets 113-111 and San Diego beat Memphis 118-113.

Saturday night's scores in the NBA included: New York 116, Houston 106; Cleveland 108, Los Angeles 93; Atlanta 116, Detroit 111; Milwaukee 110, Buffalo 96; Golden State 111, Philadelphia 109 and Phoenix 118, Kansas City-Omaha 112.

Saturday night in the ABA: Virginia 113, Kentucky 109; Carolina 106, Dallas 104 and Utah 125, Indiana 118.

After Robertson was forced to leave the Buck-Laker match with a pulled hamstring muscle, Allen moved in to control the flow of the Milwaukee attack.

Abdul-Jabbar scored 10 straight points while Los Angeles went scoreless for more than five minutes at the end of the third quarter and into the fourth. He even showed some new moves to the great Chamberlain, said Milwaukee Coach Larry Costello.

Bridesmaid Funseth Wins On LA Links

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rod Funseth, who admits to having a problem with negative thinking, surveyed his unaccustomed place atop the year's money winners, smiled and murmered:

"It'd be okay with me if they stopped the tour right now. It'll take Jack Nicklaus at least a week to catch up."

Funseth, who has made a career out of playing supporting roles to the game's great stars, had just pulled off a solid, front-running, three-stroke victory yesterday in the $135,000 Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open golf tournament, the first event on a 12-month tour schedules.

It was only the second victory in a 13-year career for the curly-haired 39-year-old golfer who also had spent some six years laboring n various club jobs as an assistant pro. He's never finished higher than 30th on the money list.

Funseth nailed it down in almost routine fashion, lashing irons close to the cup for birdies on the eighth and ninth holes, then coasting home on the 7,028-yard Riviera Country Club course with a two-under-par 69.

Hoped to Make Cut

"I came here just hoping to make the cut," Funseth said. "I'd hurt my hands, bruised a couple of fingers a couple of weeks ago, and really didn't expect to do very well."

It wasn't a very good prediction. In the final round he missed only one fairway and two greens in a solid, almost methodical performance that left a premier field gasping in his wake.

He collected the biggest check of his career, $27,000, after posting a 72-hole total of 276, eight under par.

He got it with surprising ease. Funseth, who has never finished higher than 30th on the money list, wasn't crowded after taking consecutive birdies on the eighth and ninth holes. He parred the next nine, playing conservatively for the middle of the green on each hole.

It paid off, too, as no one could put together a major challenge on the mild, overcast day.

There was a four-way tie for second is this inaugural event on the 1973 tour between Don Bies, Australian Dave Graham, Tom Weiskopf and Dave Hill, who finished second in this tournament a year ago.

All were at 279. Graham had a 71 and the other three matched 69s—Bies despite hitting one out of bounds and three-putting the final hole.

Jack Nichlaus, the 1972 player-of the year and the main favorite to win here, was alone at 280 after a final-round 70.

Arnold Palmer, at 43 seeking a return to the form that made him the leading performer of his day, was never a contender. He had a final 69—his best round of the tournament—and a 286 total.

Sam Snead, a 60-year-old marvel who started his storied career in the depression days of the 1930s, couldn't keep pace in the pressure-packed final round. Snead, just one stroke back when the day's play started, bogeyed both of the par three holes on the front nine and finished with a 73—281, well back.

Lee Trevino, the British Open champion, failed to make the cut for the final two rounds. George Archer, the defending title-holder, contracted a case of flu and had to withdraw from the final round.

Funseth is a curly-haired, soft-spoken man from Seattle whose only previous career victory was in the 1965 Phoenix Open, also by three strokes.

VICTORY COMES AGAIN — Rod Funseth, a tournament winner only once before in his 13-year pro career, raises his arm in a gesture of victory after making his final putt to win the Los Angeles Open yesterday. Funseth won by three strokes to take the $27,000 first prize. His four-round score was 276.

Knight Quintet Second Only to CBA Troops

It's no surprise that Christian Brothers Academy is still rated as the finest team in Monmouth County, and possibly the state — although the Colts stumbled through a close one against Roselle Catholic yesterday.

CBA is still perfect after nine trips to the court, and it is hoped by some and feared by many that the troops from Lincroft will finish the season completely intact.

Few have noticed a solid contingent from southern Monmouth County. Wall Township has visited the hardwood 10 times and is still unscathed. The Crimson Knights, coached by Wayne Szoke, won the Southern Regional Roundball Tournament and already sport a 2-0 "C" Division record.

The Knights, who climbed from fourth (last week) to second in The Daily Register's Top 10, have chalked up a victory over its toughest "C" challenge — Asbury Park.

Ocean Township looks to be Lakewood's competition for the "B" Division title. The Spartans won the Casey Holiday Festival and have captured their last five games. They won't meet the Piners until Jan. 23.

Long Branch is up from fifth to fourth. The Green Wave has polished off Toms River North and Middletown Township in preparation for bigger "A" confrontations.

The Wave will probably find Neptune its largest obstacle en route to a crown. The Fliers, who aren't even ranked, have won four straight games. They dropped their first five encounters before coming up with the winning chemistry.

Matawan Regional, which was considered one of the "A" favorites earlier, has been blasted from the Top 10. The Huskies are 0-2 in the circuit.

Bishops Fall

Asbury Park slipped from second to fifth. It was only fitting that Wall, the team which beat the Bishops, whould replace them at second.

Red Bank Catholic added its first victory after losing to Ocean Township in the Holiday Festival by drubbing St. Mary's of South Amboy, 98-62. RBC remains sixth on the list, and is one of three parochial teams on the Top 10.

Freehold rebounding after being shocked by Manalapan and Wall, has won four in a row. The Colonials will have to deal with Henry Hudson Regional, always a "D" title threat.

Freehold has one of the finest players in the county in veteran Rich Tyler. Tyler scored his 1,000th career point last week.

Hudson, the eighth team on the Top 10, was ranked 10th last week. The Admirals are winners of fourth straight.

Monmouth Regional figured to be one of the toughest teams in the "B" Division before the season began, but the Golden Falcons haven't put things together yet.

The Falcons, mildly surprised by Manasquan last week, were handled by Lakewood over the weekend and dropped from seventh to ninth on the list.

Mater Dei makes its debut in The Register's poll. The Seraphs appear headed toward one of their best seasons.

THE DAILY REGISTER TOP 10

1. CBA (9-0)
2. Wall Twp. (10-0)
3. Ocean Twp. (9-1)
4. Long Branch (6-3)
5. Asbury Park (7-3)
6. R.B. Catholic (6-2)
7. Freehold (7-2)
8. Henry Hudson Reg. (8-2)

SOUTH ABOUT TO FALL — South running back Joe Wylie is stopped for a four-yard loss by Joe Blahak of the North in the Lions Bowl game at Tampa, Fla. yesterday. Wylie is from Oklahoma and Blahak is from Nebraska.

Ewbank Cures Fumble-itis

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Chuck Foreman, the 201-pound running back from Miami of Florida, may have cured his tendency to fumble and definitely enhanced his professional football future in Saturday's 24th Senior Bowl game.

Foreman scored once on a 10-yard sweep, exploded for 167 yards on 24 carries, pulled in three passes for 59 yards and walked off with the Most Valuable Player award as he led the South to a 33-30 victory over the North in the nationally-televised game.

Foreman, who received the $1,500 winner's share plus a new automobile for being the MVP, credited South Coach Weeb Ewbank of the New York Jets for correcting his fumbling problem.

"I fumbled early in the week and Coach Ewbank called me aside and gave me some invaluable tips," said Foreman. "I was switching the ball from hand to hand and he showed me how to carry it without doing all that. I felt much more secure."

Foreman also won the MVP award in the Christmas night North-South Shrine game at Miami, but a couple of late fumbles probably cost his team victory.

"We did pretty much what we had planned," Ewbank said. "We went into the game with one plan, and that was to let Chuck Foreman handle the ball. He did have a tendency to fumble, but we worked on that all week."

The Rebels dominated the game, but the North was able to close the margin because of a Senior Bowl rule which allows a team nine points down to receive kickoffs, regardless of which team scored. However, another bowl rule — a gentlemen's agreement not to rush on punts — could have cost the Yanks a victory or tie in the final minute when Purdue's Dave Butz blocked one and the North recovered at the South seven.

The South built a 33-16 lead with 12:25 remaining on a 20-yard field goal by Scott Marcus of Louisville. However, Ron Jaworski of Youngstown, Ohio, State fired a pair of 48-yard touchdown passes in the final seven minutes to spark a North rally.

Barry Smith of Florida State hauled in a pair of TD passes, one each from Louisiana State's Bert Jones and FSU's Gary Huff, and Auburn's Danny Sanspree returned an interception 21 yards for the other scores as the South built its series lead to 14-8-2.

The North also boasted a strong runner in Brigham Young's Pete Van Valkenburg, the nation's leading rusher, who had 159 yards on 22 carries, one a 75-yard scoring sprint in the opening period.

Huskers' Rodgers Wants Dry Replay at Honolulu

HONOLULU (AP) — The tropical sun beamed brightly yesterday, one day after the mighties of college football wallowed in the mire at rain-drenched Honolulu Stadium.

Mud was still the topic of discussion after the South All-Stars won 17-3 over the North in the 27th annual classic.

Heisman Rrophy winner Johnny Rodgers hinted he might like a rematch.

"Give us dry land and we will run them off the field," said the University of Nebraska star, who ended the day with minus rushing yards for the North. Rodgers' only flash of brilliance was on a 47-yard pass reception from Washington's Sonny Sixkiller as the game ended.

The mud, however, was hospitable to Oklahoma's Greg Pruitt, named the outstanding offensive player, although his 61 total yards rushing was far shy of his better days.

"I thought it was going to be a good day for runners. I knew it wouldn't be a good day for receivers," Pruitt said after the game, as he perched precariously on a bench to keep his freshly showered feet out of the mud which followed the players into the locker room.

"Pruitt has good balance," said the North's head coach, Jim Owens of Washington. "That's why he was able to run on that field, where others couldn't get going."

Pruitt skated 15 yards to the North three-yard line to set the stage for the only offensive touchdown of the soggy afternoon. But as with every other point scored Saturday, the defense made it possible.

Arizona lineman Bob Crum had recovered an errant pitchout by the North's John Hufnagel, the Penn State All-American, with about three minutes left in the first half. Pruitt followed with his 15-yard jaunt, then Sam Cunningham of Southern California finished the drive with a three-yard dive over the left side.

"Defense saved us," said South Coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas.

North Nips South In American Bowl

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A 16-yard touchdown pass from Louisville quarterback John Madeya to Nebraska's Jerry List nudged the North over the South, 10-6, in the final minutes of the American Bowl All-Star college football game yesterday.

The 75-yard drive in nine plays pulled the favored North out of a 6-3 deficit with 4:55 left in the game before a crowd of 23,416.

The game not only wrapped up the 31-year college coaching career of Nebraska's Bob Devaney, who coached the North team, but also brought down the curtain on the 1972 college football season.

Auburn kicker Gardnet Jett booted second-half field goals of 44 and 32 yards to put the South ahead halfway through the fourth quarter for the South's only tallies.

He scored after missing two attempts in the first period.

The first half was a scoreless defensive battle until John Goerger of Kansas State put the North ahead 3-0 with a 32-yard field goal as the halftime buzzer sounded.

Goerger also added the extra point on the North's final period touchdown.

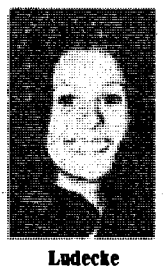

University of Illinois quarterback Mike Wells was named the most valuable player for the North squad while University of Tampa defensive tackle John Matuszak won MVP honors for the South.

Swiss Skiier Leads Cup Competition

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany (AP) — Swiss daredevil Roland Collombin leads the World Cup ski standings after scoring consecutive downhill victories in weekend competition at Kreuzeck Mountain in the Bavarian Alps.

The stocky, 21-year-old Collombin flashed across the course in a record 1 minute 46.30 seconds yesterday more than a second faster than his winning time Saturday. Italy's Marcello Varallo finished less than a half-second behind Sunday in 1:46.53 over the 3,140-meter course that plunged 820 meters through 23 gates.

Briefly Speaking

Ludecke

Prentice

Queen of Show

ASBURY PARK — Nancy Lee Ludecke, 18, of Somers Point, won the beauty contest last night to become queen of the Jersey Coast Trailer and Camping Show.

Miss Ludecke, a cheerleader for the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association, will be the official hostess of the five-day show which begins at Convention Hall on Thursday.

WHA Stars Fail

QUEBEC (AP) — The East Division All-Stars allowed their counterparts from the West to hold a one-goal lead for 12 seconds midway through the first period of Saturday's World Hockey Association inaugural All-Star game.

Then the East went on to fire 47 shots at three West Division goalies and emerged with a 6-2 victory.

The game, televised throughout Canada, drew a disappointing 4,991 fans to the 10,581-seat Coliseum.

King's Loses Rediger

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. — Tony Rediger, 6-4 junior forward with King's College has been lost to the basketball team for academic reasons and is no longer a student at the college, according to Coach Ed Donohue.

The Fair Haven, N.J. resident, who played at Red Bank Catholic, was one of the top players at King's with an average this year of 12.6 per contest and a top rebounder.

The King's athletic director said that he was sorry to lose a player of Rediger's talent and potential and wished his ace forward good luck in the future.

Miss Prentice Wins

MIAMI (AP) — Faltering JoAnn Prentice survived a charge by roommate Beth Stone yesterday and claimed the $4,500 top prize with a one-stroke victory in the Burdine's Invitational Golf Tournament.

Miss Stone missed a two-foot par putt at No. 17 and an eight-foot birdie putt at 18, both of which would have tied Miss Prentice.

Miss Prentice finished at four-under-par 212 over the 6,100-yard Doral Country Club course.

Miss Stone, 32, who has never won a Ladies Professional Golf Association event since turning pro in 1961, earned $3,400 for her runner-up finish.

Clarke Takes First

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Allie Clarke is the first winner of 1973 on the Professional Bowlers Association tour, with a two-pin margin that was worth $3,500 in the opening event.

The Akron, Ohio, right-hander posted a 203 in Saturday's showdown game of the $65,000 San Jose Open and took the $7,500 first prize. Don Johnson of Akron had a 201 and settled for $4,000.

Don Glover of South Bend, Ind. was third, Gus Lampo of Endicott, N.Y. fourth and Johnny Petraglia of Brooklyn fifth.

After Johnson finished with 201, Clarke rolled two strikes and then added seven pins on his last roll in the 10th frame. The clutch performance gave him his third PBA tournament crown.

The PBA bowlers will be in Los Angeles this week.

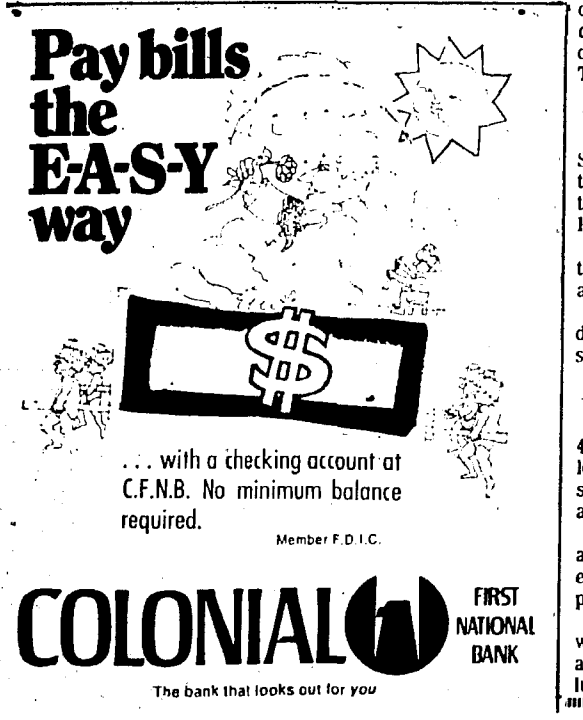

Notre Dame Tops Kansas In Overtime

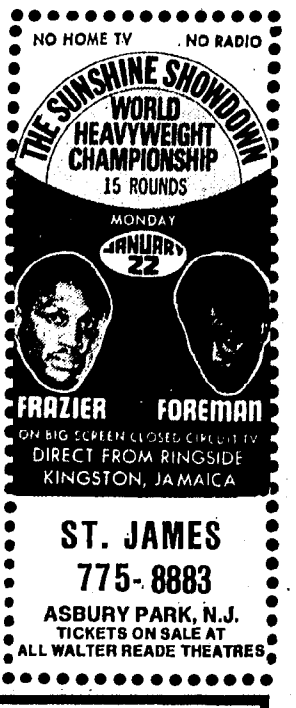

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — John Shunate's late tip-in in regulation and Dwight Clay's three free throws in overtime led Notre Dame past Kansas, 66-64, in non-conference basketball yesterday.

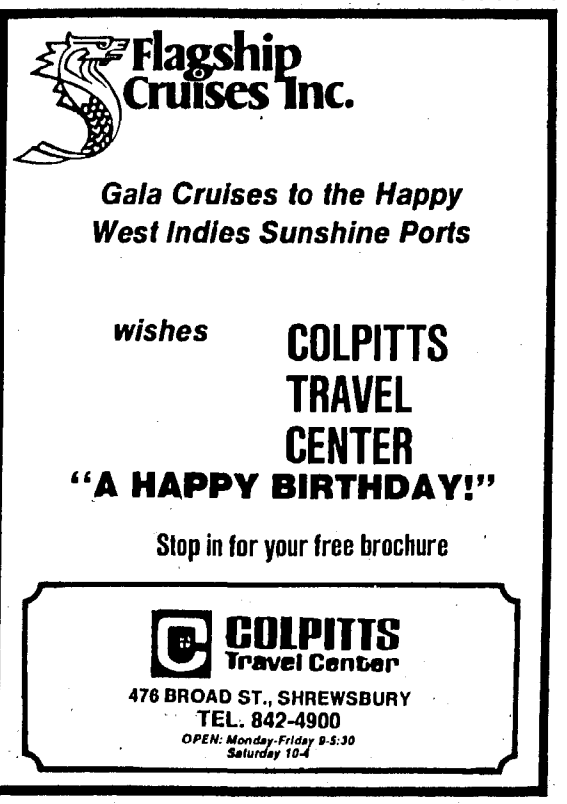

Sophomore Mike Fiddelke put Kansas ahead 61-59 with 12 seconds left in regulation play with a pair of free throws, but Shumate tied it for the Irish with five seconds left when he put Gary Brokaw's missed shot back in.

Brokaw hit a quick field goal to put Notre Dame ahead to stay in the overtime, and Clay aded three of four free throw attempts to put the Irish ahead 66-61 before Wilson Barrow hit a basket and a free throw.

Brokaw led Notre Dame with 20 points, while Shumate added 18 and Clay 15 for the Irish. Junior Gary Novak took game rebounding honors for Notre Dame with 13.

It 'Snow' Joke--Think Positive

By AL HORAY

Nimrod's Notebook

With the small game season rapidly drawing to a close, many nimrods with a bent for stalking the bigger denizens of the woodlands are thinking "positive." Huntsmen often ignore the fact that winter set in last month. Their philosophy takes into account the fact that spring is only 10 weeks away.

Shortly following the advent of spring, it is reasoned, some states in the eastern half of the nation open hunting seasons on black bear and wild boar. Why bemoan the realization that Garden Staters are running out of hunting seasons?

Avid hunters often use an Oriental type of psychology. There will be a brief respite between the end of our small game season, they reason, and the start of a deer, bear or turkey season in another province which can be reached on a Friday night, hunted each Saturday and abandoned on Sundays for the return home.

That is positive thinking — nimrod style. It also ties in with the fact that more and more Garden State hunters are taking off to other provinces to take advantage of their longer hunting calendars, large varieties of legal game to be hunted and the lawful use of heavy handguns and muzzle-loaders for small and large game hunting.

With the more-or-less recent swing back to charcoal-burning sporting guns, some astute conservation departments are allowing their use during the regular or special hunting seasons. A couple of southern states are also considering special muzzle-loading seasons for hunting wild boars.

That little goodie should provide a few tales to be told around the campfire. Combine a singe-shot charcoal burner, a angry tusker, a confrontation in brush country and an anxious moment or two. Voila! A weekend to be remembered.

While Maine — our adopted province — has no mean porkers to confront in heavy cover, it does have one of the longest bruin seasons in the nation. Brer Bear usually emerges from his den in late spring — after ice-out — and proceeds to gorge himself until Jack Frost sends him back to his hole next winter.

Our northernmost eastern province opens its season on ursus Americanus May 31. He may then be hunted with long gun or handgun right through to next New Year's eve. The state officials there are not trying to thin out the bear population. They are trying to keep it stable so that bruin does not again become a marauding nuisance. Until comparatively recent years, the black bear had a $25 price tag on his head. The bounty has been dropped and local hunters have since lost interest in harvesting the unpredictable fight-or-flight woodlands bandit.

Plan Ahead

In line with the nimrod's positive thinking program, the time is also now ripe for planning for the soon-to-open spring seasons. Replica charcoal burners in do-it-yourself kit form or ready-made arms will cost between $50 and $100. Heavy American or foreign-made hunting sidearms will run about a century note and a moderately powered "deer" rifle will cost about the same amount. Ditto for modest-priced scatterguns.

Out-of-state hunting tickets in most eastern provinces now cost between $35 and $45 and lodgings near "hunting country" will cost two nimrods between $8 and $15 per day. Budgeting now for expected costs gives the prospective spring hunter a positive goal and helps take the sting out of the plummeting mercury. After all — spring is only 10 weeks away.

In this corner, we await the annual call of "ice-out" in Maine. It will signal the time to head north and clear a campsite near the shores of Greenwood Pond. The campsite will, hopefully, become a cabin site. Tools for the job will include an ax, saw, machette, tent, cooking gear and a scope-mounted .41 Ruger Blackhawk magnum.

Brer Bear is snoozing now, but he will be around after ice-out. That is positive thinking.

Bruins Close In on Mark

Just six more. That's all UCLA needs to set an all-time record of 61 straight college basketball triumphs.

Standing between the national champions and their ambition to break the 60-barrier are Stanford, California, San Francisco, Providence, Chicago Loyola and Notre Dame.

The Walton Gang, as the UCLA squad, led by All-American Bill Walton, is known, won No. 55 Saturday night by crushing Oregon State 87-61. They go after No. 56 and 57 against Stanford and California on the road Friday and Saturday.

Back home at Pauley Pavilion, the Bruins face San Francisco, owner of the current record, on Jan. 19 and Providence on Jan. 20 before again taking to the road for the two big ones. They could equal the record against Chicago Loyola in Chicago Stadium Jan. 25 and break it at Notre Dame in a nationally televised contest Saturday afternoon Jan. 27.

Paces Team

Walton, playing only 22 minutes, paced UCLA with 17 points, 13 in the first half, and grabbed 17 rebounds, emphasizing Coach Johnny Wooden's stress on defense.

"Championships are won by defense, and this year our defense been consistently strong," Wooden said.

Ralph Miller, coach of the losing Beavers agreed.

"I don't think UCLA is as sharp this year as last, but their defense is better," he said.

With UCLA drawing closer to the record, the ousting of Minnesota and Southwestern Louisiana from the unbeaten ranks was overshadowed.

Iowa upset the No. 6 Gophers 65-62 in overtime on a driving layup by Rich Williams and two free throws by Glenn Angelino in the closing seconds. Jacksonville routed the No. 8 Ragin' Cajuns 120-78.

Kevin Kunnert of the Hawkeyes led all scorers with 26 points.

"He played a whale of a game," said Minnesota Coach Bill Musselman. "He beat us on the inside. He was the difference."

As for Jacksonville's walloping of Southwestern Louisiana, Beryl Shipley, coach of the Ragin's Cajuns, commented:

"They out-shot us, out-rebounded us, out-hustled us, out-defensed us.

"Whatever it was, they outed us."

Maryland, North Carolina State, North Carolina and Houston, the other teams in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action, continued to roll along.

LIGHTWEIGHT LIFT — Red Bank Regional's Randy Wills, right, and Holmdel's Larry Pesce try to give each other a lift in their 98-pound scramble in the Hornets' nest Saturday. Wills won the battle, 7-3, but Red Bank lost the war, 33-28.

Holy Family Wins 7th Cage Contest

Holy Family of Union Beach surged to its seventh-straight Monmouth County CYO basketball victory yesterday by defeating Holy Cross of Rumson, 71-61 and St. Ann's of Keyport downed St. Anthony's of Red Bank, 64-58.

In other games, St. Agnes of Atlantic Highlands beat St. James of Red Bank, 66-57, and St. Mary's of New Monmouth flattened St. Thomas More of Englishtown, 79-42.

Holy Family was led by Francis Owens (21) and Mike Sheehan (18). Kevin Callinan was high man for Holy Cross with 22 points.

Steve Bayers scored 20 points to lead St. Ann's. He was followed by teammate Ray Broderick with 18 markers.

Pete Moore scored 14 points for the losers.

St. Agnes, down 15-14, at the end of the first quarter, rallied to beat St. James. John Finn led with 22 points. He was followed by teammates Bob Adams (12), Ray Turner (11) and Tom Finn (10).

Tony Centrella scored 16 points for St. James.

Ken Radz and John Payne each hit for 12 points for the winning St. Mary's team.

SHIFTING TO HIALEAH

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Secretariat, the winter book favorite for the 1973 Kentucky Derby, earned $456,404 as a two-year old in 1972 and will prepare for '73 stakes dates at Hialeah Park.

The 1973 Super Beetle is a whole different car inside.

For one thing, there's a lot more inside, inside. We're giving you plenty of legroom up front. And fantastic headroom.

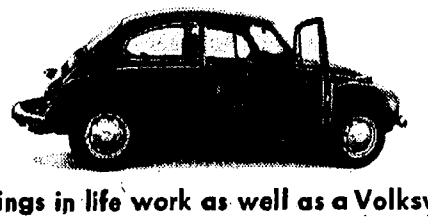

We've also done a nice thing for your nose. Our new windshield is pushed way forward, and curved. It's actually 42% larger.

For comfort, the seats, too, are curved. The same way what you sit on is. And the same way your back is.

Inertia type seatbelts buckle up as standard equipment.

The padded dash is completely redesigned. To be read in a flash.

Getting in and out of the back seat of the Bug is now pretty easy even for non-athletic types.

And we've had some very fresh ideas about air. And how to circulate it. Our remarkable improved ventilation system even de-fogs the side windows.

Altogether, the interior of the 1973 Super Beetle is so radically different, you'd have a hard time knowing it was a Beetle, except for the steering wheel insignia.

There remain, however, certain things that will give you the clue that you're driving a VW.

Economy. Dependability. Our good old never-give-up character.

The beauty of the new inside may be its beauty.

But the fact that it comes in the car it does, is the most beautiful part of all.

Few things in life work as well as a Volkswagen.

ART OF REALTY — Although Mrs. Gloria Becht is now a real estate broker with offices at 447 Broad St., Shrewsbury, she continues to draw upon her background in art and decorating. Behind her desk is one of her own works. And she explains that her artistic studies help her advise people how to make the most of the home they buy or how to improve the home they want to sell. She and her husband, August Becht, who live at 8 North Point Road, Lincroft, have two daughters, Donna, a sophomore at California Western University, Sand Diego, and Cindy, a junior at Middletown Township High School.

Bond Issue Proposed For Oceanport Parks

OCEANPORT — An ordinance authorizing the issuance of $50,000 in bonds to complete development of Blackberry Bay and Evergreen Parks was one of three ordinances introduced by the Borough Council Thursday night.

Another would sanction the leasing of property in Blackberry Bay Park to the Oceanport Lions Swim Club and the third would extend the moratorium on construction of multifamily buildings until June 30.

The bond issue ordinance was introduced on a 5-0 vote with one abstention, by Councilman George Barrett. A public hearing on the measure was set for Feb. 1.

The ordinance became necessary when bids on development work in the parks came in higher than expected. It will finance completion of various recreation projects.

Public hearings on the other two ordinances were set for Jan. 18.

A resolution declaring the gypsy moth a public nuisance was passed unanimously by the council. Approval of such a resolution is required by the State Department of Agriculture and the Shade Tree Committee of the Board of Freeholders for the borough to qualify for spraying during the summer season.

In other matters, the council announced that a piece of borough-owned waterfront property on Wardell Circle, which ranges from 20 feet wide to 40 feet wide, would be put up for sale at auction on Jan. 18 for the second time.

The lot was sold at auction a month ago to Edwin Shecher for $2,900. Councilman F. Edward Waitt announced, however, that Mr. Shecher no longer wants the property and that it would be put up for sale again. He said Mr. Shecher would forfeit his $400 deposit on the lot.

A minimum price of $1,000 was again set by the council for the lot.

In a personal statement, Councilman Peter A. Dellera criticized the Recreation Committee for allegedly defying an executive order by Mayor Elwood E. Baxter which made it mandatory for any purchase involving an expenditure of $50 or more to be accompanied by a formal purchase order. In order to secure such a purchase order from the borough clerk, it is necessary to present a requisition signed by the official in charge of the department or committee in question and countersigned by the appropriate councilman who has responsibility for that department or committee.

Mr. Dellera, who was replaced as the council's liaison with the Recreation Committee at the Jan. 1 organization meeting, said in the statement that because of his insistance that the members of the Recreation Committee "operate within the scope of executive directives and in the best interests of the borough as a whole, this committee has demanded, under threat of mass resignation, that I be replaced as their liaison."

"I will not apologize for doing my job conscientiously in spite of any accusation that on occasion I employ 'bulldozer tactics,'" he said.

Beecher Praises Lamb's Service On Township Sewerage Authority

MIDDLETOWN — Vincent P. Lamb will not be reappointed as a member of the Sewerage Authority — an announced fact.

But Mr. Lamb, a Democrat, has a colleague who thinks the administration is making a mistake.

Evan R. Beecher, vice chairman of the authority, who has served as a member the past seven years, in a statement released last night termed Mr. Lamb "a leading force in providing Middletown the sewerage system required by the state Board of Health."

"Resulting from the election change in the Township Committee last year the authority lost the very able leadership of Edward Schumann," Mr. Beecher said. "This was understandable at that time because of the unpopularity of the many problems caused by the sewer construction work.

"This year the authority will lose Mr. Lamb, not because of the election, but because he is an independent thinking Democrat," Mr. Beecher opined.

Foresees Weakened Authority

"It is cause for public concern that the committee is in control of a group that is determined to weaken the authority by attrition or other means to gain control for reasons which have not yet been clarified," the vice chairman added.

"This group has stated that they want to change the policies of the Sewerage Authority, but they have never clearly stated to the authority which changes should be made to better serve our community.

"In response to a Township Committee resolution before the past election, the authority unanimously agreed to resign if the committee could demonstrate a feasible, lower cost way of operating our sewer system. Presumably their plan is still being explored," Mr. Beecher added.

"Lack of response to the public was mentioned as a reason for replacing Mr. Lamb," he continued. "The results of the November election vindicated the authority and Mr. Lamb in this respect.

"Under Mr. Lamb's guidance during his chairmanship in 1972 the authority responding to the public, initiated the following programs:

"— Completed engineering for sewering two additional areas which badly needed service.

"— Embarked on an extensive study of service reclassification and possible restructuring of rates.

"— Awaiting a government and Internal Revenue ruling on tax free status of the arbitrage aspects of refinancing the authority has taken a major lead toward refinancing.

"These early refinancing efforts, when the bond market was most favorable, were balked by the slowness in the sewer connection response," Mr. Beecher said.

"Refinancing at better rates cannot be done until the system is completely self-supporting. However, a fall-out benefit to the township form the authority's refinancing study, has been an improved bond rating which will enable the committee and the Board of Education to sell bonds at a lower cost than before.

"Without Mr. Lamb's continued effort the mentioned program will suffer a serious setback," the vice chairman concluded.

'Recovery' School Budget Introduced at Colts Neck

COLTS NECK — The Board of Education has introduced a 1972-73 school budget totaling $1,929,474, an increase of about 13.5 per cent over last year's budget of $1,704,704, according to board figures.

The tax levy for school purposes under the budget would be $1,428,575. That's an increase of $419,289, about 40 per cent, over last year's tax figure. It would be reduced, however, by any township contribution from surplus such as the $150,000 thus obtained last year, or any state or federal aid, which is not anticipated in budget accounting.

Board member Virginia Amend, public information liaison, referred to the proposed plan as a "recovery budget" designed to make up for the "tightness" of the last two budgets which, according to board figures, included 5 and 6 per cent increases in their totals.

The board introduced the budget at a special meeting last Thursday.

The $224,770 total increase in the proposed budget is spread throughout several account areas, Mrs. Amend said, with no major, large outlays of money anticipated for any special projects or items.

Mrs. Amend declined to offer any estimated increase in the tax rate for local schools. She said the board feels any rate projection now would be "unreliable" because pertinent information, such as the total amount of ratables here, is not yet available.

When asked if the board expected to make an estimate at the budget public hearing, 8:15 p.m. Jan. 30 in the Cedar Drive School, Mrs. Amend commented, "We would not necessarily have it for the hearing. The best thing we can do is project it then."

The local school tax rate for the current budget is $1.30 per $100 of assessed evaluation.

No funds have been anticipated in the proposed budget for the annual contribution the Township Committee has made recently to the board. Mrs. Amend said the board has not heard from the committee concerning such a contribution.

Give $150,000

Last year, after cutting the budget which had been defeated at the polls, the committee contributed $150,000 from township surplus to defray budget costs.

Residents will vote Feb. 13 on a current expense item of $1,704,335, up $232,066, and capital outlay of $20,150, down $2,085. The latter does not denote a decrease in the capital outlay account, however, but rather reflects state mandated changes in certain budget line items, such as professional services for equipment, which have been transferred to other parts of the budget.

The other major budget section, debt service, totals $204,989, down $5,211.

Budget increases include funds for a new school bus, salaries for two new teachers in the Cedar Drive and Conover Road schools, and a parttime custodian. The teachers' salary account has "not been settled yet," according to Mrs. Amend, because the board and the local teachers association are still in negotiations over next year's contract.

Given Jail Term On Heroin Count

FREEHOLD — Harold Turpin of 246 Central Ave., Long Branch, who had admitted aiding and abetting in the distribution of heroin June 29 in Long Branch, was sentenced to five to seven years in state prison.

The sentence was imposed by County Court Judge Thomas L. Yaccarino.

Joseph J. Zadie of Long Branch, convicted of possession and distribution of heroin June 23 in Long Branch, was sentenced to an indeterminate reformatory term.

Elmer Adkins of 23 Main St., Keyport, who had admitted being under the influence of intoxicating liquor March 13 in Keyport, was given a suspended six-month county jail sentence and placed on one-year probation.

Clifford F. Dekle of Hightstown, convicted of possession and distribution of heroin Aug. 4, 1971, in Freehold, was sentenced to three to five years in state prison.

Edna McGowan of Monmouth Ave., Freehold, who had admitting stealing a pistol from John McGowan, 92 Bay Ave., Highlands, June 21 was given a suspended reformatory term, placed on two years probation and was fined $100.

Charles Virginis of Rt. 79, Marlboro, who had admitted embezzling toys valued at $217.35 from Eagle Trucking Lines, Ridge Road, Monmouth Junction, Nov. 15, 1971, in Marlboro, was given a suspended reformatory term, placed on one-year probation and was fined $200.

Dolores Platts of 3 Grant Court, Long Branch, was given two consecutive reformatory terms: one for possession and distribution of heroin and one for distribution of heroin July 10 in Long Branch.

Middletown Detective In Auto Crash

MIDDLETOWN — A local detective was slightly injured Friday night after becoming involved in a five car chain-reaction accident on Rt. 35 south of Harvard St.

Police report that Detective Richard Deickmann, 36, of 18 Mohawk Ave., was taken to Riverview Hospital by members of the Fairview First Aid Squad where he was treated for neck and shoulder injuries.

He was driving south on the highway in a car which was involved in an accident with vehicles operated by Comillo P. Maletto, 46, of 45 Alameda Court, Shrewsbury; Calvin S. Wood, 44, of 136 Jersey Ave., Cliffwood; Dave Diggins, 17, of 30 Elmwood Lane, Fair Haven, and John R. Olsen, 20, of 44 Fairview Drive.

Sgt. Ernest Volkland is in charge of the investigation.

Trains Delayed By Breakdown

RED BANK — The freight train breakdown caused a delay of an hour and 20 minutes for shore-bound commuter trains during the Friday evening rush hour.

A Penn Central spokesman said the freight broke down near Woodbridge around 4:45 p.m. Friday, "the worst possible time." He said trains leaving New York after 4:30 p.m. became stacked up behind it until the freight could be cleared from the tracks.

The Long Branch railroad station reported trains were running one hour and 20 minutes to an hour and a half late.

The trains returned to their normal schedules by 9 p.m., according to officials.

Sweitzer Enters Plea of Innocent

FREEHOLD — Former Manalapan Township Administrator Jack P. Sweitzer has pleaded innocent to charges of misconduct in office and neglect of official duty.

Sweitzer was arraigned before Superior Court Judge Patrick J. McGann Jr. who released him on his own recognizance. No date has been set for a trial.

Sweitzer was indicted with Manalapan Township Committeeman Gerald K. Loeb and Manalapan Mayor A. Barry Brandt who are scheduled to be arraigned this Friday.

The county Grand Jury indictment alleges that Manalapan had paid for more than $200 for personal calls made by Loeb and that Brandt and Sweitzer knew about the situation and failed to take any action to see that the township was reimbursed. The calls were allegedly made between March and August, 1972.

Robert Guncz of 33 Shrewsbury Ave., Highlands, has denied breaking into the home of John Bahrs, Highlands, Nov. 16, 1971, and stealing articles valued at $625.

Robert N. Alston, 27, of 34 Cherry St., New Shrewsbury, denied robbing Emily J. Turner, 64 Linden Place, Red Bank, of $250.50 in cash and a checkbook of blank checks Nov. 20 in Red Bank.

Larry Caver, 19, of 397 Columbus Place, Long Branch, denied possession of burglar tools and receiving stolen property Oct. 24 in Long Branch. He is accused of receiving a set of car keys belonging to Marie Roe, Westwood Ave., Long Branch, and a camera and film stolen from Gerry Stockert, Virginia Courts, Long Branch.

Stanley R. Platts, 21, of 3 Grant Court and Leroy White Jr., 24, of 33 Seaview Manor, both Long Branch, have pleaded innocent to a seven-count indictment charging them with four breaking and enterings and three larcenies.

They denied breaking into the home of Dominick Mazza, Franklin Ave., on Oct. 14 and stealing $1,654 worth of property; breaking into the home of Ralph Pecora, Cooper Ave., Oct. 17 and stealing property valued at $2,873; breaking into the home of Thomas Gagliano, Rockwell Ave., Oct. 19 and stealing items valued at $1,180.35 and breaking into the home of Lucille Champion, Chelton Ave., Oct. 21.

Huston Pegram, New Brunswick, denied breaking into a car belonging to Daryl S. Londner, Ice Meadow Lane, Matawan, March 15, 1970, in Matawan Township.

John J. Kelly, Jersey City, denied threatening to kill his wife, Patricia E. Kelly, 28 Highland Ave., Keansburg, in that borough March 13, 1972.

John T. Reed, 1318 Asbury Ave., Asbury Park, denied issuing two forged $98.52 payroll checks from Bender Machine and Tool Co., 160 Linden Ave., Highlands, on Oct. 22, 1971, one in Asbury Park and one in Neptune City. Reed is accused of issuing the checks to Press Plaza Pharmacy, 576 Cookman Ave., Asbury Park; and to Card-O-Rama Inc., Rt. 35, Neptune City.

Girl Held Up At Work In Bayshore

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS — Police are seeking a lone male who escaped with approximately $181 in cash after threatening a female employe of a Rt. 36 dairy store.

Sgt. Kenneth Grover said he and Patrolman Louis Papa were dispatched to a Cumberland Farms Store on Rt. 36 at First Ave. at 10:11 p.m. Thursday when it was reported by Miss Donna Diaz of Highlands that an intruder demanded the store's receipts be turned over to him. He allegedly told the lone employe he had a gun in his belt.

Sgt. Grover said the suspect was described as black in his early 20's, 6 feet 1 inch tall, 170 pounds with a goatee.

He was wearing a three-quarter length brown jacket with brown pants.

He was last seen running toward First Ave. in the direction of Middletown.

Your Horoscope, Birthday

MONDAY, JANUARY 8 — Born today, you are an excellent example of the well-balanced personality. Wit and humor lighten the serious side of your nature; sympathy and generosity do much to lessen what would otherwise be the utter practicality of all your decisions. You are an independent person; at the same time, you realize the importance of being a good "follower" when it is another's good fortune to occupy the position of leadership and authority. You know how to give orders in such a way that they are willingly obeyed; you also know how to take them and carry them out successfully.

You have splendid mental resources and are fully capable of tackling successfully difficult intellectual exercises in problem solving. You also enjoy to the fullest the physical side of your nature. Sports may well be — or become — a big part of your life, for you will become more proficient in both participation and understanding as you gain control over your body and mind in the maturation process. Indeed, your greatest wish is to be considered tops by intellectuals and athletes alike.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 9

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — So long as you have definite plans for the day, all should go well. Don't rely on instinct to get you where you want to go at this time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — A stimulating morning followed by an active afternoon. An interesting opportunity may arise late in the day; leave room in your schedule for it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21) — There are obstacles to overcome this morning — but once this is accomplished, the day offers excellent opportunity for gain. Use your time well.

ARIES (March 22-April 20) — Time now to push ahead energetically. You should be able to come within sight of the end of the current project if you go about it systematically.

TAURUS (April 32-May 21) — A bonus is in store for the Taurus who takes on extra chores and does them well. Matters on the employment scene take a turn for the better.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Keep to your present plan of operation. Advance your current interests — but not at the expense of another's immediate success. Be considerate.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — Take encouragement from another's ability to overcome a handicap. You can do as well as anyone else in your current efforts to move ahead.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Pleasure enlivens the morning. Be sure you are doing precisely what you want to be doing before you turn down an opportunity for change.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Appeal to business associates for an increase in performance. Your accurate understanding of the present situation is vital to its success.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Cling to your basic ideals. Consult with one who you know is capable of advising you. Otherwise, continue to rely on your own knowledge.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — An important day for the Scorpio who has successfully taken matters into his own hands. Don't be surprised to find strong opposition to your plans.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Behind the scenes activities mean more to the success of the present project than does actual labor on it today. Reconsider recent decisions.

Sheinwold's Bridge Advice

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

South's opening bid of three spades in today's hand was a bit unorthodox. Both the bidding and play come from an English match, and English bridge players are traditionally fond of bids that you won't find in textbooks. West's double was meant for penalties.

West opened the king of diamonds, continued with the ace of diamonds, cashed the ace of clubs and then led the eight of clubs.

South put up the jack of clubs from the dummy to create the impression that he still had a low club in his hand. East covered with the queen of clubs, and South played the king, as, of course, he was bound to do.

South led the king of hearts and then continued with the six of spades. This sequence of plays was very carefully planned.

Conveys Impression

The idea was to give West the impression that South had a low club still in his hand and only a singleton king of hearts. If this were the case, he would get to dummy with the king of spades and take a discard on the ace of hearts.

Nevertheless, West stolidly played a low spade when South led the six of spades. It was clear that West held the ace of spades. Why didn't he go right up with the ace of spades and try to get a club trick?

The answer was clear. West thought he had the contract beaten anyway, and therefore was bound to have the jack of spades as well as the ace. Acting on this assumption, South let the six of spades ride for a finesse, and this finesse assured the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold: S-Q 10 9 8 7 6 3 H-K 4 D-Q 6 C-K 5. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. Don't make a shutout bid in first or second position with so much scattered strength. After your partner has passed, it's all right to open with three spades.

Buckley, Moyers to Be Dropped by Public TV

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — William F. Buckley's "Firing Line" on public television will stand down next May unless the Corporation for Public Broadcasting has a last-minute change of heart.

The one-hour show, first aired on public television in May 1971, was put on "deferred" status by CPB when the agency approved 30 other shows for the 1973 fall season.

An option to renew the show expired New Year's Day without CPB action. And the contract that now keeps new "Firing Line" segments on the air ends on May 1.

Several other hard-hitting public-affairs programs — most notably "Bill Moyers' Journal" and "Washington Week in Review" — also are missing from CPB's approved list for next fall.

But the absence of "Firing Line" from the list surprised many who have enjoyed the probing questions and sophisticated, sardonic repartee of an eloquent conservative.

It startled Buckley, too.

"I was told this was going to happen about three weeks ago, but I was very much surprised at that particular point because the program has rated very high among stations," he said.

Did CPB explain why "Firing Line" was deferred?

"They said they were going to do away with all public-affairs programs that are centered on an individual," Buckley said. "In other words, they will finance documentaries and that kind of thing, but they will decline henceforth to back any public-affairs programs in which an individual is in the center."

Henry Loomis, the new CPB president, gave a different explanation last month in a separate interview in which he was asked why the Buckley and Moyers shows were being deferred.

He said "there is a general feeling on the CPB board that we ought to be spending our money on the kinds of programs that are going to stand up timewise for six months or a year."

Loomis, when asked if the Buckley and Moyers shows wouldn't meet this criteria, replied: "That's correct."

And, he added, "All of this is relative. It isn't that those aren't good programs. But you've only got a little money, and the question is how to best spend that money."

Television Comment

Buckley says he thinks the CPB is trying to eliminate public-affairs programming but he doesn't view the move as an attack on him personally.

"I know it's not an attack on me because, after all, I'm simply part of a category," he said. "And it's the whole of the category that is being let go, so I don't take it personally at all."

He was asked if he thought CPB was setting a dangerous precedent by taking increasingly direct control of programming.

"If you're going to have public television pooling certain shows, it seems to me that the individual stations ought to be the ones that decide which programs go out over the line," he said.

"Otherwise, it becomes a venture in paternalism which strikes me as a little bit overwhelming."

However, he admitted he isn't sufficiently acquainted with the public-broadcasting law "to know whether somebody is abusing the line of authority that was statutory or administratively conceived."

"Firing Line" began in 1966 as a syndicated show for commercial television. Buckley did 240 of those shows before switching to public television and logging another 72 programs.

What now?

"I hope to stay in public television, but I'm not making any commitment," he said. "I may go back to commercial."

Pioneer Filmmaker Is 100

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Pioneer filmmaker Adolph Zukor, a Hungarian immigrant who founded Paramount Pictures and was the chief architect of the big studio system, celebrated his 100th birthday yesterday.

Zukor, who with ailing Samuel Goldwyn is the last remaining link to the beginnings of the film industry, was to be honored at a special $125-a-plate dinner last night.

After moving to the United States at the age of 16, Zukor learned English at a night school and began operating his own fur business in Chicago. Later he began investing in penny arcades.

The demand for new pictures to show in the nickelodeons got Zukor active in making films. In 1912 he formed Famous Players, the company which later became Paramount.

Zukor guided the studio in its formative years, rode out the Depression when Paramount declared bankruptcy and was still holding the reins when the studio boomed in the 1930s and 1940s. He remained active with the company until his 80s and still is board chairman emeritus.

Despite impaired eyesight and hearing, Zukor still goes out for a walk every day, eats a big lunch at the Comedians' Roundtable at the Hillcrest Country Club and spends time in the club's card room.

And he is able to discuss Paramount's 1972 prosperity, thanks mainly to the success of "The Godfather."

"That shows you how the picture business has changed," Zukor told a reporter on the eve of his milestone birthday. "Quantity doesn't get the business any more. One or two big pictures are all a company needs to profit.

Environment Art Course Is Planned

MATAWAN — Environment art for children in grades 3 through 6 is one of the courses to be offered in the spring semester of the Matawan Student Program.

Designed to make youngsters aware of their environment through exploration in art, the course will be instructed by Miss Susan Shincarick, second grade teacher at the Strathmore Elementary School.

Enrichment program classes, based on arts and sciences, meet Saturday mornings in the Lloyd Road School. The 10-week sessions are aimed at developing special skills and broadening cultural interests, while stimulating student creativity and self-expression.

The MSEP also features a scholarship program and an aide program. Teenagers who participate as aides are offered a free course of their choice in an alternate hour. Further information may be had by writing the MSEP at 45 Ivyhill Drive, Matawan Township.

Mrs. Velia Bauso is accepting registrations for classes. Residence in Matawan or Matawan Township is not required.

Scouts Plan Paper Drive In Hazlet

HAZLET — The next monthly Boy Scout paper drive will take place Jan. 13 between 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The area of curb pickup includes all of the township between Union Ave. and the Garden State Parkway, and Raritan Valley.

Residents are asked to place boy-size bundles at the curb before 9:30 a.m. for curb pickup.

Residents of areas not included in curb pickup, and those in surrounding towns, may drop off papers during the same time period to a truck that will be parked at the J.M. Fields parking lot, Rt. 35 and Hazlet Ave.

The scouts are accepting crushed aluminum cans as well as bottles that have been clipped of metal rims. These items will not be picked up, but may be delivered to the parking lot.

Plans are under way to expand the curb pickup area to a larger section of the township.

The drives are conducted the second Saturday of each month by Boy Scout Troops 135, 136, 137 and 430 in cooperation with the Conservation Commission and Citizens for Environmental Protection.

Board Holds Action On Theater Plea

LONG BRANCH — An application by Edward Grant of Red Bank, owner of Cinema III there, to build a similar facility here was held by the local Zoning Board for consideration at a special meeting Jan. 18.

Leslie B. Aaron, board chairman, said a ruling will be made on a technical point of the variance application.

The legal question, Mr. Aaron said, is to determine whether the zoning board may issue a final decision on the application or whether that panel must decide the issue and make a recommendation to the City Council prior to an ultimate ruling.

Also set aside by the board was an application by Pat Bruno, owner of the American Fence Co., here.

Mr. Bruno asks permission to conduct his business from a garage owned by his sister, Mrs. Joan Meyers, at 33 Community Place.

The applicant said that he would keep his supplies and equipment inside the structure to protect them from pilferage and to keep the property from becoming unsightly by outside storage.

Church Opens Relief Center

KEYPORT — The Reformed Church, Osborn and Warren Sts., has opened its doors as a reception station for food donations to Nicaragua earthquake victims.

Desperately needed is dried non-fat milk, canned soup, juices, can meats and all nonperishable items.

Donations will be accepted at the parish hall this weekend between noon and 5 p.m.
