

EMERALD '76
RED BANK CATHOLIC
HIGH SCHOOL
RED BANK, NEW JERSEY 07701
VOLUME 32

Beginning a typical day, Jane Doe (Lisa Tollinger) gets off the well-known yellow vehicle with a sigh of relief.

John Doe (Pete Samaras) has a great schedule this year. Second period finds him deep in intellectual conversation during his Sociology class.

Time has given us ourselves; let us give ourselves back to time. Two hundred years ago the United States was an idea, a fight for freedom. One hundred years ago the United States was a nation of people demonstrating that freedom by electing their 18th President. Today the United States is the voice of its people pledging anew the spirit they felt in 1776. America is not today what it was two hundred years ago. We will not be in June what we are now in September.

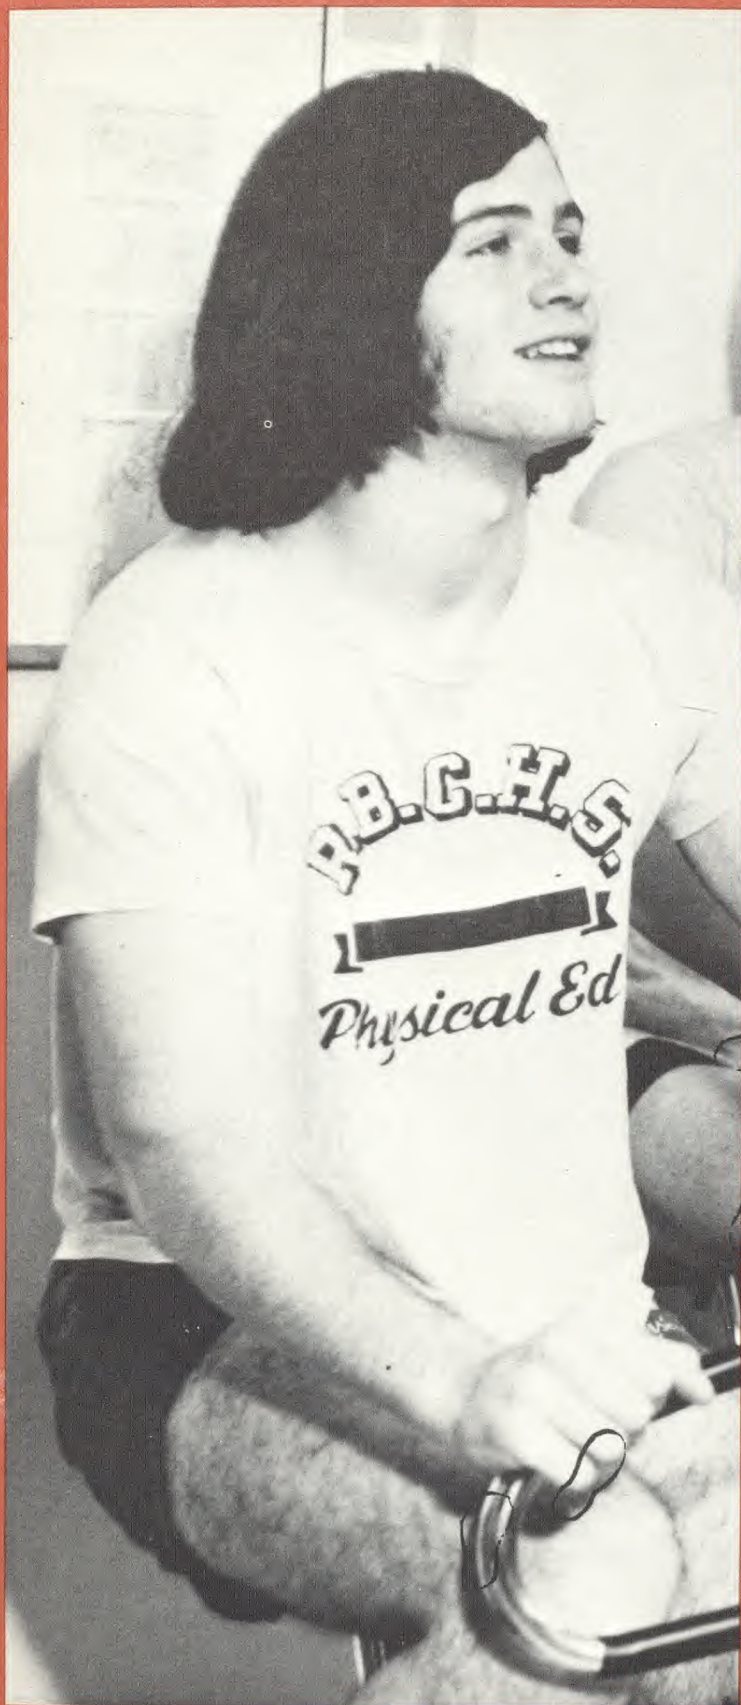

The year 1976 will not introduce anything new to the country or to the Red Bank Catholic community; this year will only heighten that which is already present. The spirit of '76 will resound through the halls of the school whether it be the year 1976 or 2001. Nothing artificial will create the Spirit within us, for we are the Spirit of '76.

To start the day off correctly, Jane (Kathy Dowd & Linda Brock) goes to Freedmans for her early morning nutritional needs.

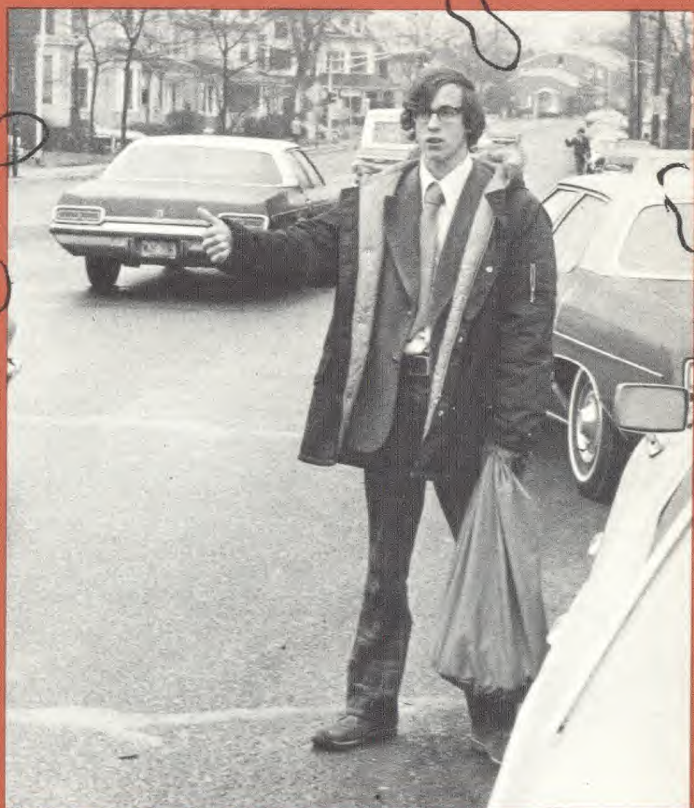

Lunchtime finally! The mid-day break is a welcome relief for John Doe and his friends (Lonnie Burgess and Rich Chmiel).

Reporting to the universal gym in the lower level of the grammar school, John (Wayne Calandriello) finds the bicycle great for the "after lunch feeling".

Dismissal! Jane Doe (Carol Roarty, Cathy Guinnesssey) needs only five minutes to gather up her coat and books and head for Freedmans for a sixteen cent bagle or hard roll.

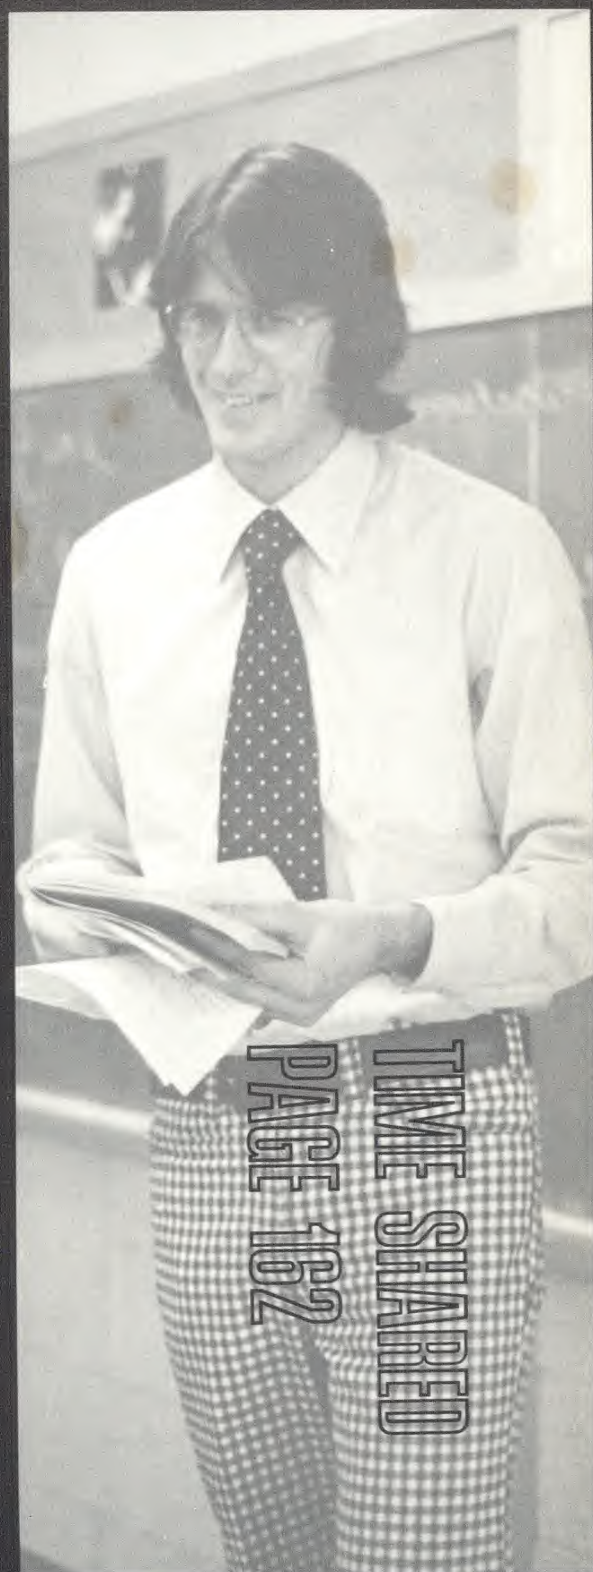

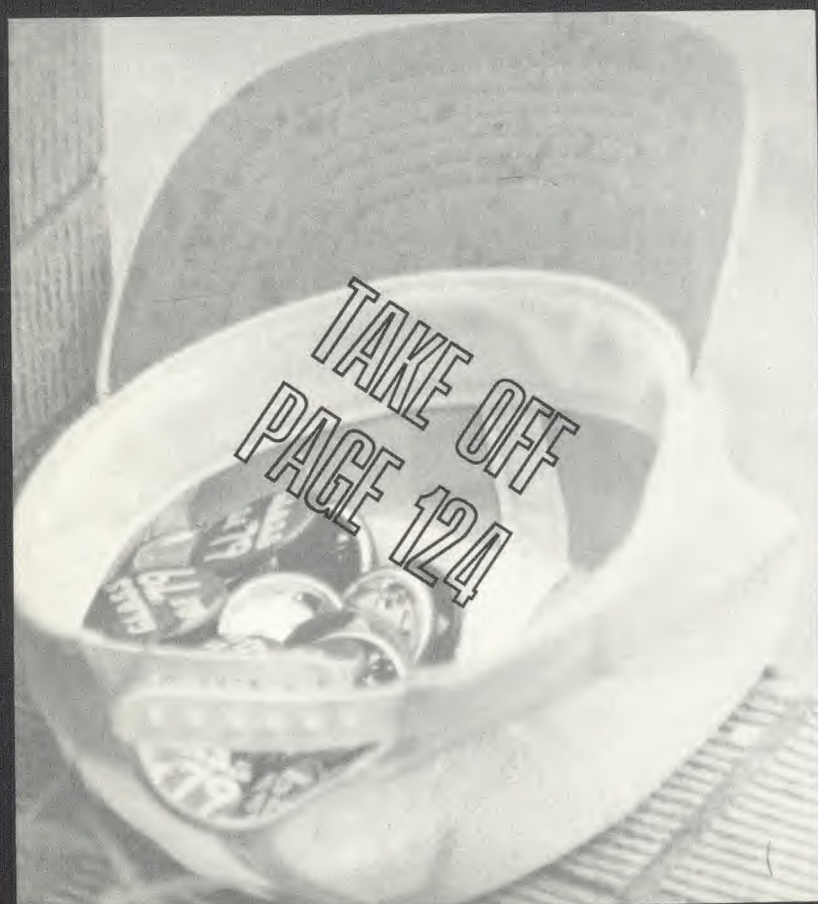

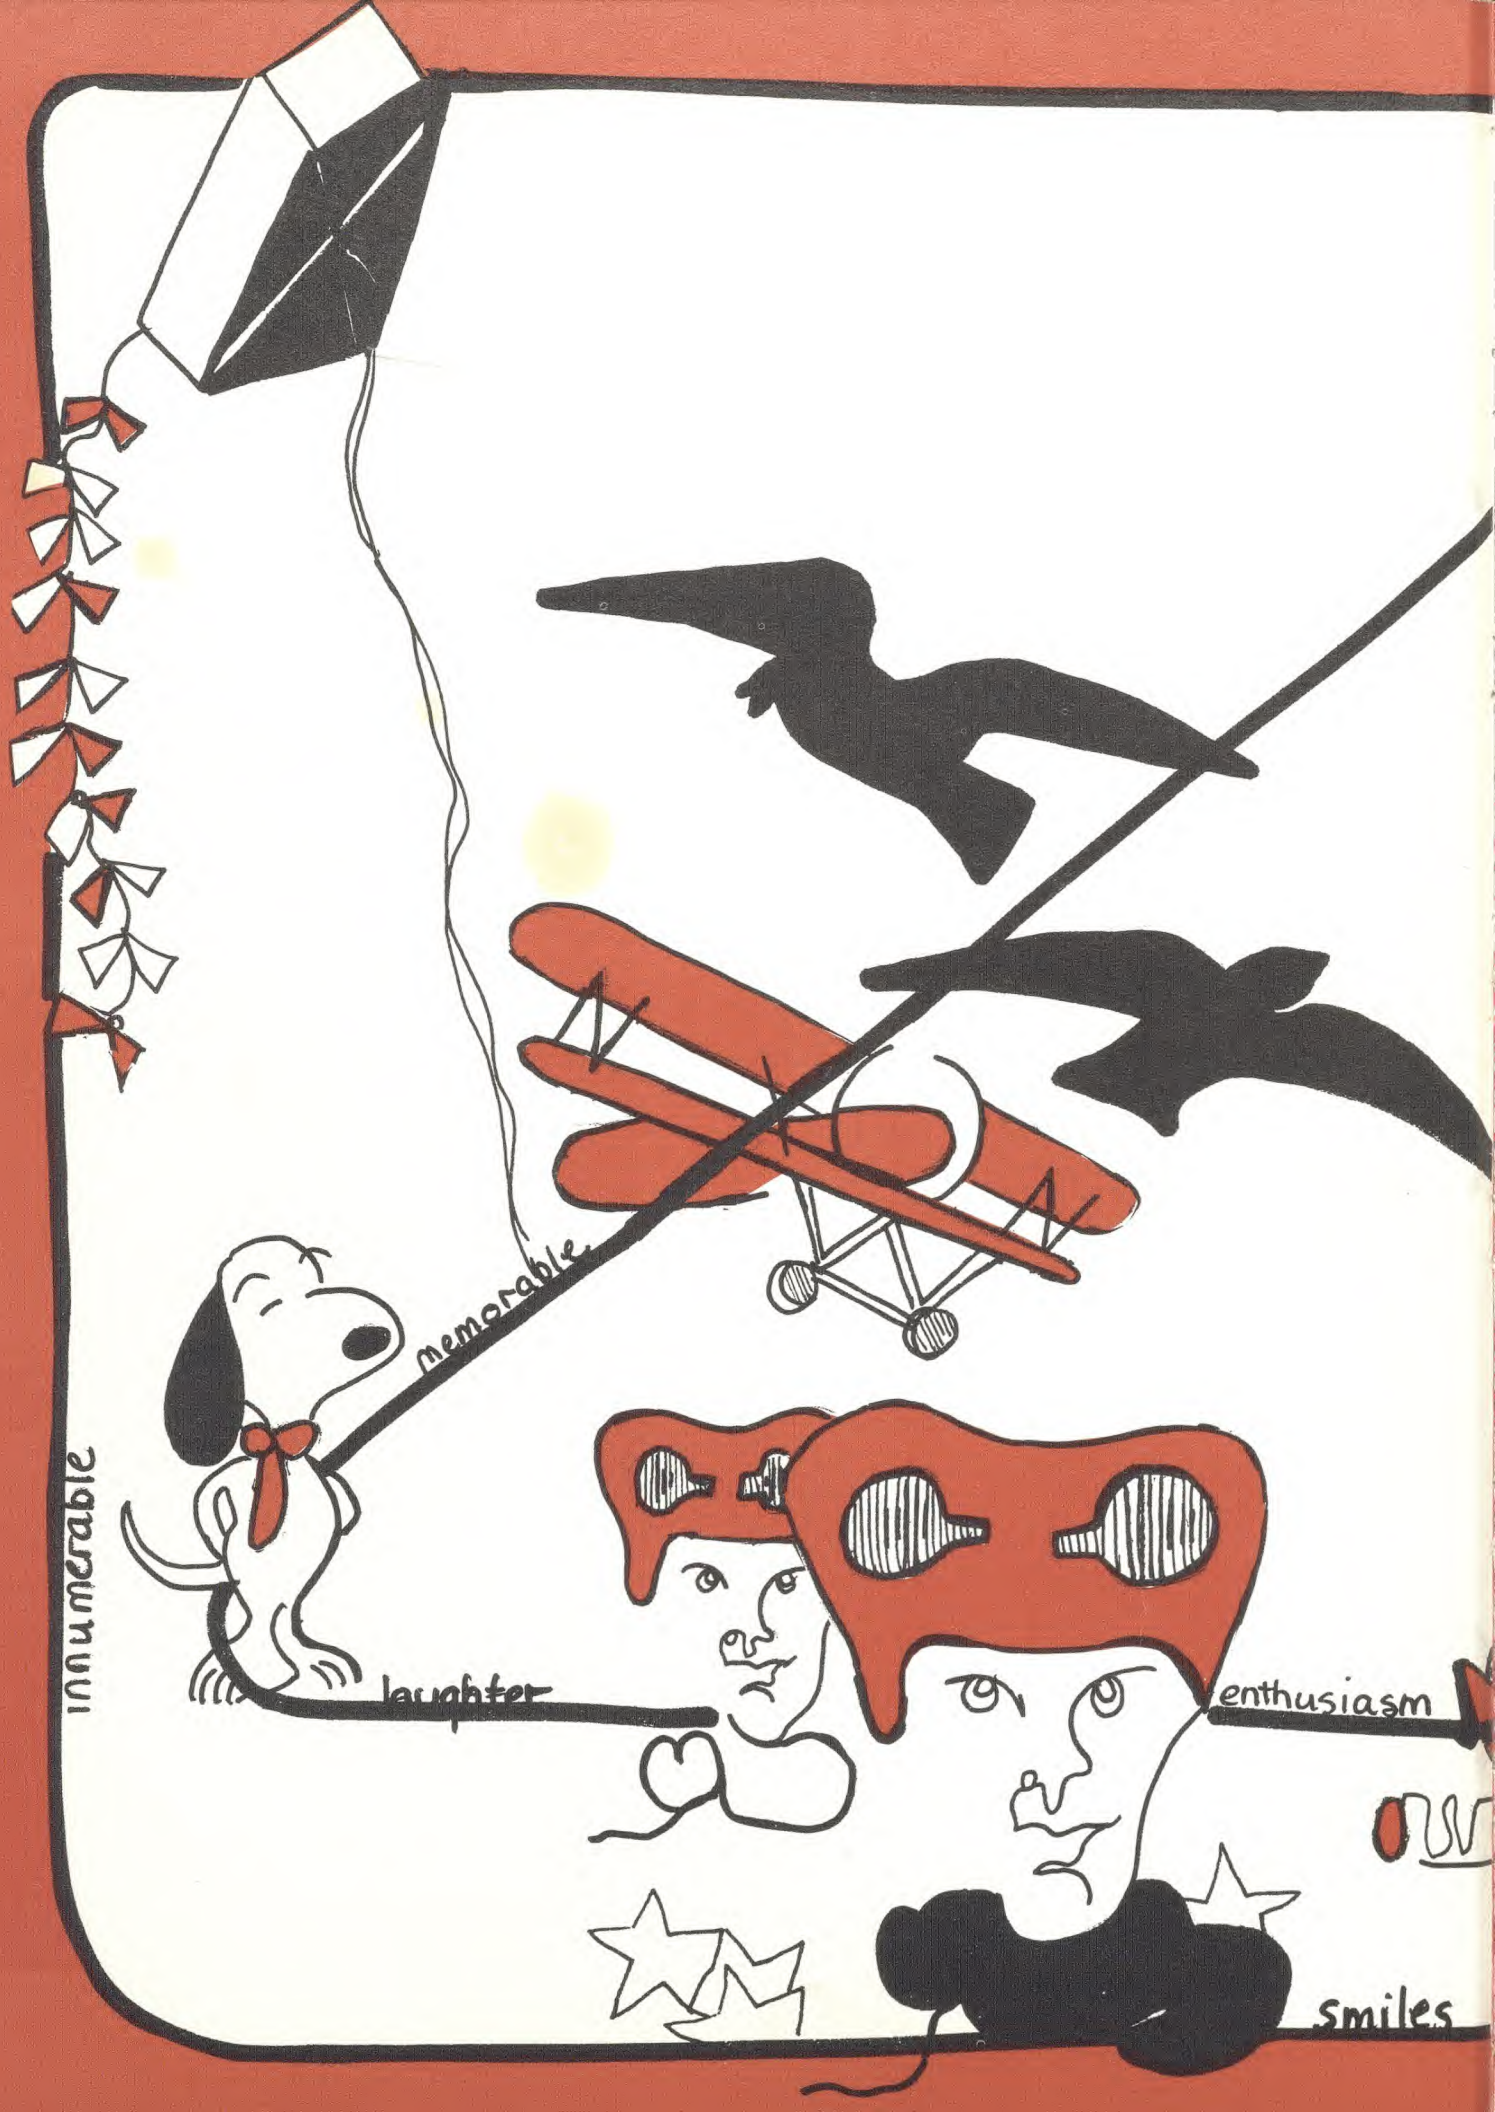

As another school day closes, John Doe (T. Pinto) finds himself "thumbing it home." The year continues...

HAPPY BIRTHDAY AMERICA!

During this Bicentennial year, Red Bank Catholic proved to be a little ahead of its time. We chose to keep in line with two themes. One was from the Diocese of Trenton—"Liberty and Justice to All", and the other was from Monmouth County - the role of women in the American Revolution, more commonly known as "Equality for Women".

This year we are to do all we can within reason to make people aware of the anniversary of our nation's independence.

-Jack Rafter

Mr. Jack Rafter, Bicentennial director at R.B.C., feels that for each student to get something out of the year, they should involve themselves in all that they can. "It is not easy for each student to do something relevant," declares Mr. Rafter, "so to help with ideas, each department sponsored various types of activities."

Student Council members constructed a "76" sign to light up the "Spirit of 76".

Students from Mr. Luciani's U.S. History I and II classes seem pleased by the reactions of their classmates after the production of a Bicentennial Play.

Jackie Davis and Lisa Donahue compete in a battle of the sexes during Bicentennial run sponsored by the Athletic Department.

Mr. Farmer watches carefully as two members of the sophomore team complete the obstacle course at the Anything Goes Assembly.

Stacy Kirk shows her true colors as she dresses for the Bicentennial Run.

Two teams race for the finish in the Paul Revere ride at the Anything Goes Assembly.

The Social Studies Department traced the beginning of democracy by conducting skits and plays. Interested students portrayed characters from American history including Ben Franklin and F.D.R. The students also recited simplified versions of speeches given by these men during their lives.

The Business Department sponsored an "Anything Goes" assembly in which eight students from each level took part in such skits as George Washington crossing the Delaware, and even a fox hunt was staged. The boys blindfolded themselves and chased girl foxes trying to shoot them down with whipped cream. Trophies were given to those grade levels coming in first and second place. Mr. Kristofik expressed his opinion of the assembly by saying, "It was a very different approach to the Bicentennial and proved to be zany and crazy as well as literate."

The Health Department sponsored an essay contest on "The American Dream of 76-Then and Now". Those students interested wrote 76 words or less on their interpretation of Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness.

Students also participated in an essay contest sponsored by the veterans of Foreign Wars on the topic "What America Means to You". The winners were awarded savings bonds.

These along with many other activities were sponsored to show the enthusiasm of the students here at R.B.C. during this Bicentennial year.

TO EACH... A NEW BEGINNING

Several parishioners extend a warm farewell to Monsignor Monahan whose years of dedicated service to St. James parish will be long remembered.

This year at R.B.C., the entire student body and faculty found themselves bidding farewell to long time administrator Monsignor Emmett Monahan.

A testimonial dinner was held in honor of the former St. James Parish pastor at Gibbs Hall on December 11, 1975. Monsignor Monahan received a glowing tribute by a broad spectrum of speakers addressing some six hundred attendants.

Father Valentino was installed as pastor of St. James on January 18, 1976 as the ninth pastor of the 111 year old Red Bank parish. An estimated four hundred persons from both St. Ann's Parish, Keansburg, (Father Valentino's former parish) and St. James Parish witnessed the event.

All of us here at R.B.C. wish both of these illustrious men continued success and happiness.

Jimmy Seuffert represented the agony felt by many students as they were immunized by the state doctors.

Mr. Christopher struggles to recover the ball in an effort to help the Caseys ahead during the Red-Headed Basketball Game.

Michael Tam and Robert O'Connell demonstrate artificial respiration as instructed by a member of the Red Bank First Aid Squad.

Sr. Vincent, you're "marvelous."

Adriana Vinals, treasurer, signs a commitment to the Student Council as Mitchell Search, assemblies chairman, looks on.

In the Spirit of '76, this year's Student Council entered office with its own strong feeling of independence. The ideal of unity among all those at Red Bank Catholic students, faculty, and administration was set as the Council's main objective. All new programs, ideas, and activities were proposed with this goal in mind, and carried out with the cooperation of all involved.

Long hours of hard work were spent throughout the summer months in preparation for the coming fall. The year opened with a totally new program for Freshman Orientation, designed to introduce the frosh as important members of RBC.

Spirited football pep rallies for arch rivals Red Bank and Rumson were held, along with some weekend dances—all proving to be huge social and financial successes. In November, the season was wrapped up with the Homecoming Game and Dance—annual affairs that never lose their glow.

Later, the Council called on the students to help in such community activities as the Thanksgiving Food Drive and the Christmas Gift Drive.

This year was indeed one of innovation and creativity. Activities were done with more flair and style than ever before. For the first time, the Activities Fund had been used for the benefit of the student body, by making such activities as the Little Rascals Film Festival and the Homecoming Dance free of charge. More new events were the Harlem Wizard's Basketball Game, a 50's Sock Hop, and Youth Week.

The Student Council at RBC has never before been so successful in all its endeavors. This is really the start of something good.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

It was perhaps one of the most successful years concerning activities for the National Honor Chapter of Red Bank Catholic. Under the guidance of moderator Mrs. Mary Walton the group of sixty sophomores, juniors, and seniors held trips to New York, for the performances of "Grease" and "Sherlock Holmes", went on their annual camping trip in the spring raised money in various ways for both community and personal use.

Perhaps the most memorable activity was a tag day held at the Thanksgiving Day game vs. Rumson-Fair Haven Regional for the benefit of Alton Palmer, a student from Red Bank Regional who was seriously injured in an early season football game. As the rain drizzled on and off, a committee organized and directed by Dan Norton, a senior N.H.S. member, roamed through the crowds and successfully collected a sum of over $200.00 for the benefit of the Palmer medical expenses.

Installation was held in late March for the new members. Speakers at the installation were members Chas O'Byrne, Scott Trimboli, Jaime Santelle, and Linda Rupy. They spoke about the characteristics of a N.H.S. student which included leadership, scholarship, service, and character. Concluding the ceremony were the actual installations, and a slide show presenting scenes from N.H.S. activities and gatherings. Musical entertainment and refreshments were also a part of the evening.

Officers of the society, elected in the start of the year, included Lorna Lopez as president, Paul D'Aloia and Adriana Vinals presiding as co-vice presidents, Patti Morris as treasurer and Carol Scarpellino as secretary.

This year's National Honor Society has lived up to its title and outwardly shown the community the characteristics which designate such a member — scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

CCSI ACTION

The Committee Concerned with Student Involvement was initiated to stimulate participation among the students in the academic process of RBC. Currently there are fifty-five members: seniors, juniors and sophomores who are divided into groups according to the academic departments of the school. The members worked with these departments to promote a closer communication between faculty and students. In March, the Committee sponsored a Bicentennial festival open to the student body and their parents. The organization was unique in that the Committee does not have a president. Instead there were two co-chairpersons that worked together to insure that the ideals of the Committee were carried out. Mrs. Bliss was the Committee's advisor and, it was through her patience and guidance that the students were able to achieve their objectives.

A BOOK OF DISTINCTION...

Each year, the Emerald tries new ideas with the sole purpose of satisfying the school community. This year was no exception, in fact Emerald 1976 has expanded to include more art work and unusual layouts under the guidance of Mrs. Callahan and Sister Rosemary Jeffries.

The many talents, and hours of dedication put forth by the editors and their staff deserve commendation. Incorporated into this book were different and effective ways of presenting the material contained within it. It is an explosion of unique literary and art styles reflecting the events and people of the Red Bank Catholic community. 1976 was not only the birthday of our nation but also an exciting beginning of modern publication for the Red Bank Catholic's Emerald.

HALFTIME

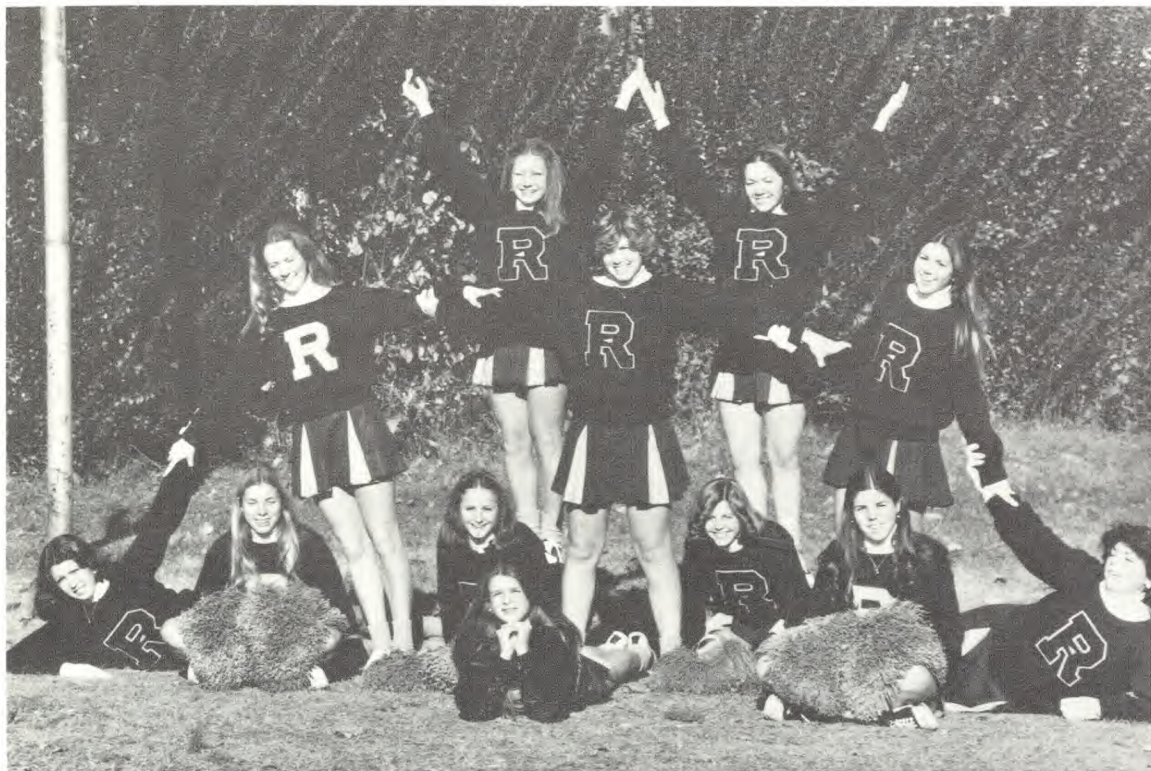

The Red Bank Catholic High School Band and Marching Unit have proved to be "in the mood" of the spirit of '76. Their combined efforts have united the student body.

The Band has performed successfully in various parades including the Veteran's Day Parade in Asbury Park and The Saint Patrick's Day Parade in New York. As part of their Bicentennial spirit, our Band and Marching Unit performed a "Spirit of '76" halftime show at the Thanksgiving Day Game. The flagtwirlers, cheerleaders, and color guards all carried American flags in a musical tribute to our country. Wishing America a happy birthday, the Band then joined in with a medley of songs including, "America the Beautiful," "God Bless America," and "My Country 'Tis of Thee." Despite the downpour of rain, a prize-winning performance was given if one was to judge by the reactions of the fans. Setting the mood for the holiday season, our many talented Band members performed in a Christmas Concert to bring to all the spirit of Christmas through music. The concert was open to anyone who wished to attend and the response was great.

The talents of these students are not only at the games or in the parades, but at pep rallies and in school as well. As the Band plays "We've Got The Whole School On Our Side," and the Marching Units perform, the entire student body responds enthusiastically. When members were asked what it was like to be involved in this group, the majority replied it required a lot of work and practice, but it was a satisfying experience as they represented Red Bank Catholic.

In conclusion one must call attention to the moderators that shaped and maintained this Unit. Mr. Cole has been both an advisor and an inspiration to all the Band members. Mrs. Pennotti and Miss La Banca both have given many afternoons and evenings to help them become a well knit group. Miss Campbell has enabled the Marching Unit to structure themselves better. Through the guidance and patience of these persons, the Red Bank Catholic Band and Marching Unit has reached its' goal.

RAINDROPS ON ROSES...

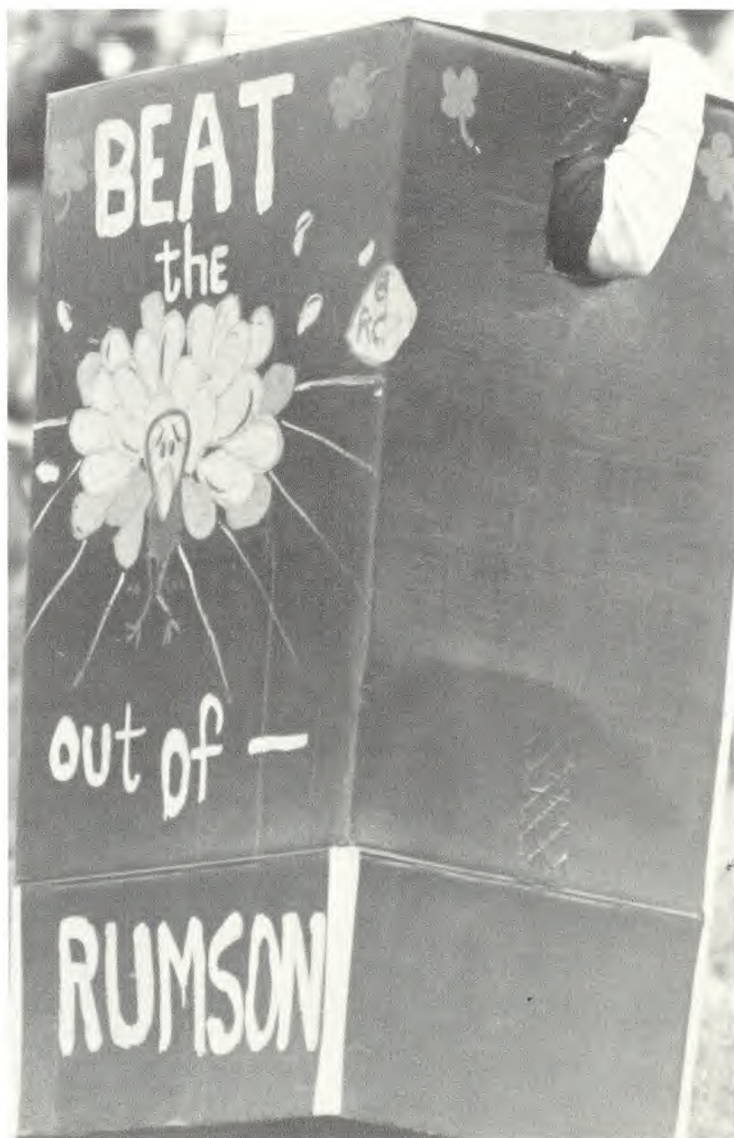

The crowning of the 1975 Homecoming Queen marked the end of a successful football season. Although the day itself was drizzly and dismal, the stands were filled with loyal and spirited spectators, who were there to witness the Caseys' final football contest against their traditional Turkey Day rival, Rumson-Fair Haven, and to extend a hearty cheer of congratulations to the '75-'76 Homecoming Queen, Patty Travis. The R.B.C. Band and Marching Unit performed a Bicentennial tribute as Patty and the runners-up Mary Ellen Haynes and Mary Copperthwaite were escorted onto the rain-soaked field. Monsignor Monahan crowned Patty with a floral wreath as the fans shouted, "Three cheers for Patty Travis, the best of them all."

Despite the dampening weather, our fabulous fans at the Rumson game just won't quit.

Over the past three years, the Teacher Cadet program at Red Bank Catholic has proven to be a great success.

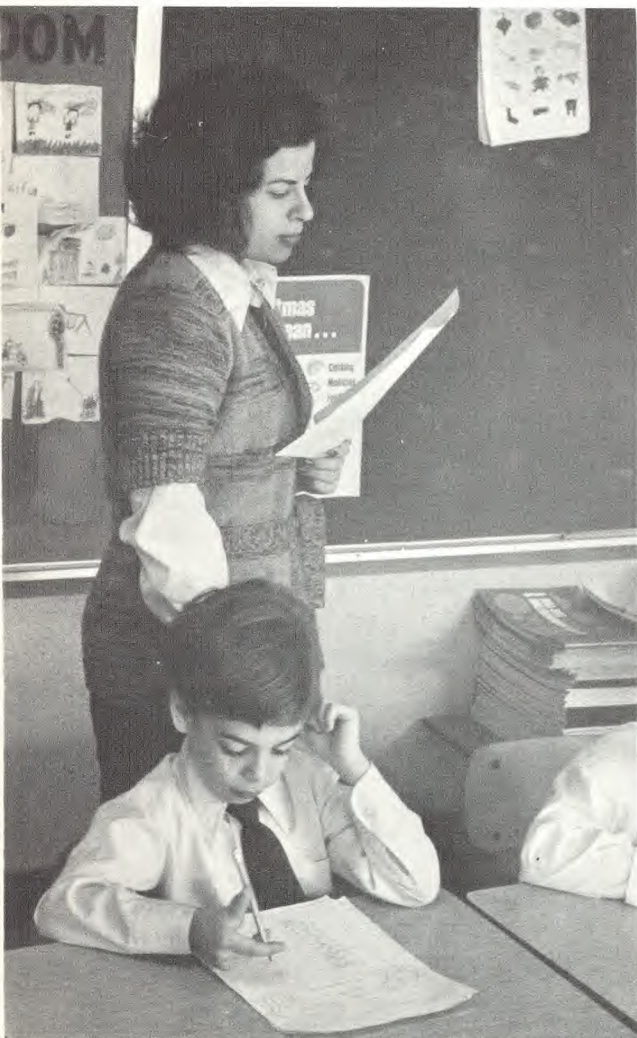

Through their work, students in the program became aware of the needs and difficulties of others, and have acquired a sense of understanding and sensitivity. It is via this encounter with the other students that the cadets became conscious of their capability to work with people.

There are approximately 89 students involved with the Teacher Cadet Program. It consists of various areas of education, science, P.E., language, photography, etc.

Co-ordinator Sister Mary Vincent states, "I feel the program is self-satisfying for both the students and myself. The students have put their training to use in a majority of classes and have shown enthusiasm in their endeavors." Sister Vincent also mentioned that you don't have to be an "A" student to be a teacher cadet, but you should have the willingness to give service.

In the past, the Red Bank Catholic High School Forensic Team had established an excellent reputation. This year was no exception. Continuing with past traditions, this year's members have also achieved outstanding performances.

The students compete in various areas of speech, including declamation and prose interpretation, poetry reading, original oratory, and poetry interpretation. Special mention should be made concerning Junior Chas O'Byrne who excelled in extemporaneous speaking while Junior Lisa Gambacorto gave prize-winning performances in humorous interpretation, and Senior Kathy Beck's dramatic interpretation was overwhelming.

This year's team has traveled far and wide striving for perfection. They have attended tournaments at the Bronx High School of Science in New York; Pennsylvania; Cranford High School and Long Branch High Schools in New Jersey; and took second place as a team in a Marlboro Tournament. A successful tournament was also held at R.B.C. on February 14, 1976.

The team as a whole prepares the entire school year practicing many long hours. Moderator Miss Kammerman along with new co-ordinator Mrs. Devonshire is proud of the entire Forensic Team and feel that this year's spirit may bring success to the team at the finals in Colorado.

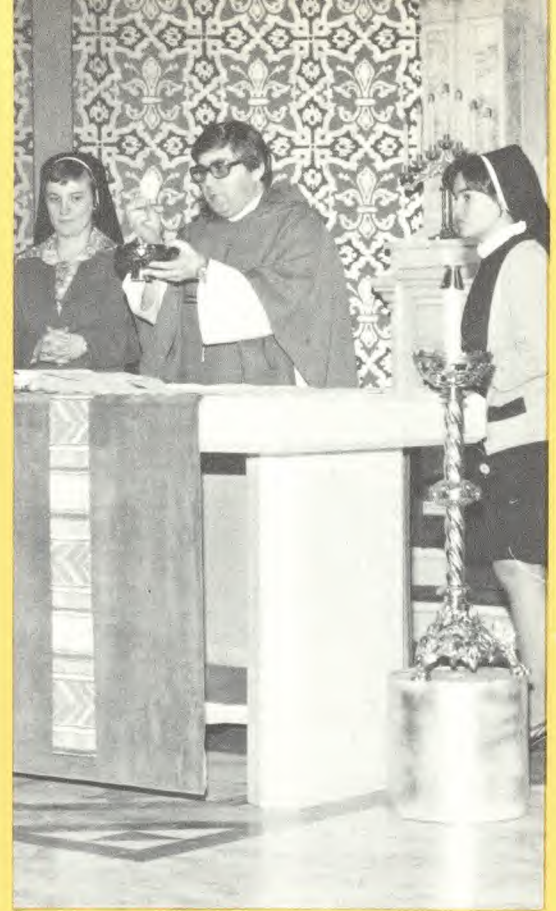

The Folk Club is made up of 15 members who work together to create a special atmosphere through their music during masses and spiritual get-togethers. The group is moderated by Mr. John Soviero and meets approximately once a month.

Renewal was initiated three years ago by Sr. Rosemary Jeffries with the intent that students had much to offer each other. The program served as a means for the students to work as a group for a common goal.

This year a record number of students included the full year religion course in their schedules. After participating in a weekend retreat as juniors, many of these same students decided to become a part of Renewal in order to aid the R.B.C. community in becoming aware of God and their surroundings.

Renewal is guided by Sr. Rosemary Jeffries with the assistance of our school chaplain, Fr. Mike Corona and Sr. Mary Francesca.

When several students were asked to explain Renewal they replied,

"Renewal is a reaffirmation of faith - an expression that transcends beyond the wall of the classroom and textbook religion to reach out to the community through witness and service."

This year Renewal was kept busy within the school community by initiating three major programs, namely Rite To Life, Ashes To Easter, Unicef and several minor activities as a class. They proved to be rewarding experiences for the student body and for each Renewal member as well.

The Renewal group has realized and experienced many things this past year and this quote from the Gospel of St. Luke sums it up beautifully:

"When a man has had a great deal given him, a great deal will be demanded of him; and when a man has had a great deal given him on trust, even more will be expected of him."

THE ROVING REPORTERS

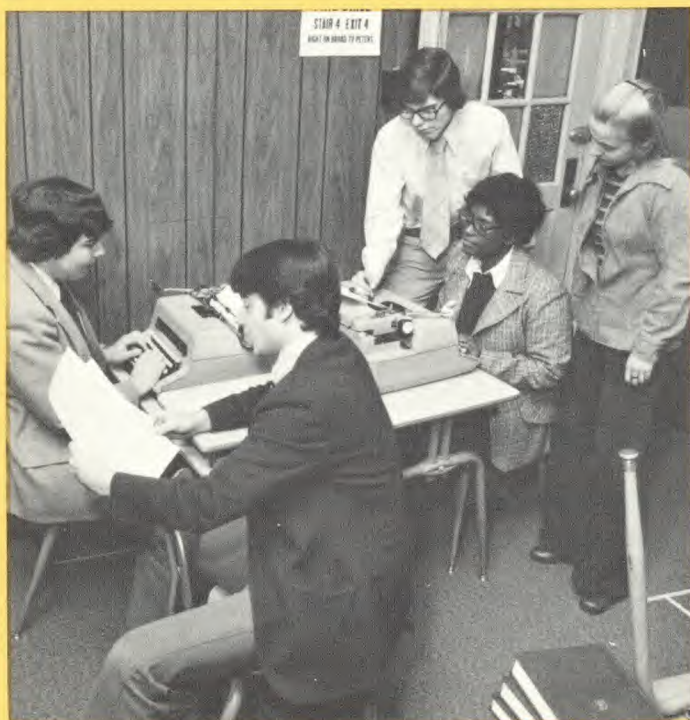

LITERARY MAGAZINE—STANDING: V. Gedrys, F. Brydon, C. O'Byrne, Mrs. Bliss, moderator.
SITTING: S. DeMaio, J. Benyus, L. Pisano.

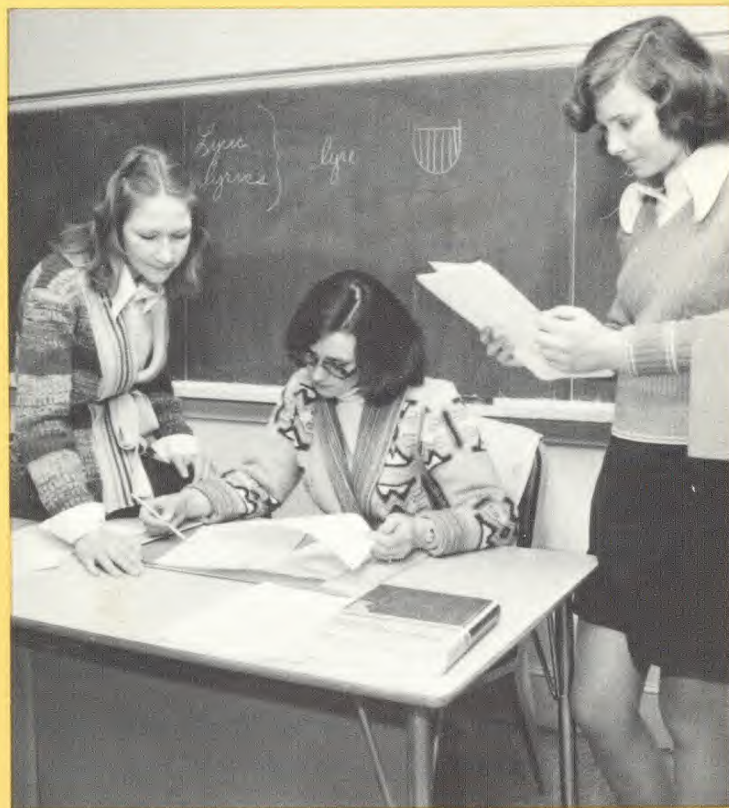

The Signpost, Red Bank Catholic's newspaper, is published four times during the school year and is a member of the Catholic Press Association. Charles O'Byrne served as Editor-in-Chief, and Charles Muldaur and Aileen Ancrum were Assistant Editors. Mrs. Carolyn Devonshire functioned as faculty advisor. It was through these people, and the entire staff, that the student body was kept aware of happenings in the school as well as out.

The paper presented a capsule summary of the myriad activities which took place at Red Bank Catholic. The Signpost sponsored photography contests and permitted students to express their opinion on music, theater, and school events.

Highlights of this year's issues were: a spotlight on new teachers, a concert update, and a special tribute to Monsignor Monahan, pastor of St. James parish and school director, who was transferred during the school year.

SIGNPOST EDITORS—J. Vincent, E. Kleissler, D. Norton, A. Ancrum, Mrs. C. Devonshire, Advisor.

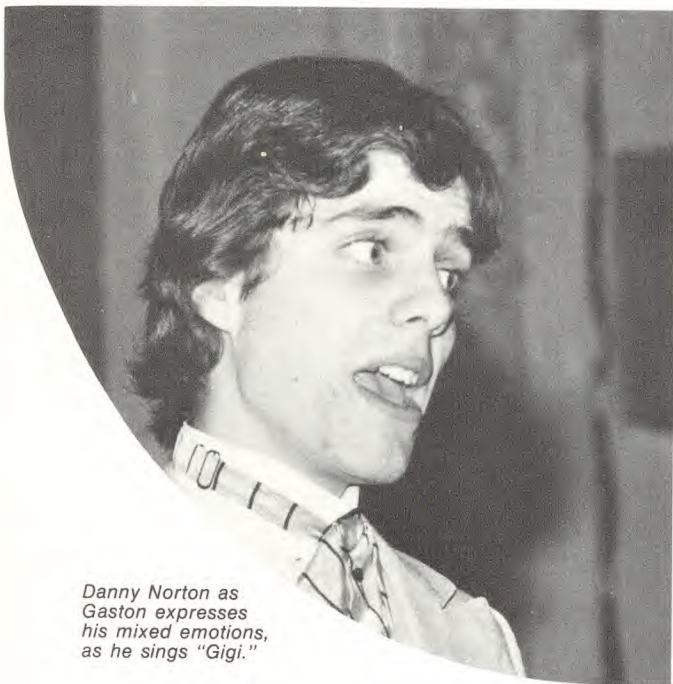

Vicki Gedrys and Janine Benyus work diligently with Mrs. Bliss as the deadline approaches for the Literary magazine.

Mamita (Patricia Mulvaney) and Aunt Alicia (Mary Angers) uncover Gaston's true feelings for Gigi.

Kathy Beck emerges as a "New Gigi."

Danny Norton as Gaston expresses his mixed emotions, as he sings "Gigi."

In recent years the plays at Red Bank Catholic have been of a serious nature. This year, however, called for a change of pace. The administration was not only looking for a light-hearted love story, but a musical as well. What better choice could they have made but to select the Broadway production "GIGI".

"GIGI" is a love story. It centers around a young girl growing up in Paris where society stressed that young ladies be trained to be women of the world. Gigi could not bring herself to go along with this concept and the delightful story unfolds.

This year, the main cast of characters is comprised almost entirely of seniors.

David Finley did a superb job of recreating the role of Honore Lachailles, a middle-aged man of the world and Gaston's uncle. Dave also portrayed the Pilot in the school's Christmas play, "The Little Prince".

Honore portrayed by David Finley gaily sings "I'm glad I'm Not Young Anymore!"

"THANK HEAVEN FOR LITTLE GIRLS"

Liane (Mary Copperthwaite) exclaims "How sweet" as she is introduced to Gigi.

Melina Melone, Choreographer, and Meredith Pennotti, Assistant Choreographer, discuss during rehearsal some possible dance steps.

Maitre Dufresne (Patrick Maloney), Aunt Alicia (Mary Angers), Mamita (Patricia Mulvaney), Maitre Duclos (Charles O'Byrne), sing about "The Contract," they secured for Gigi's future with Gaston.

The Can-Can girls delightfully entertain the distinguished guests at Maxim's.

Gaston Lachailles, Honore's nephew who is bored with the Paris social life is played by Daniel Norton. After seeing him perform as the Snake in "The Little Prince" and now in "GIGI", Danny renews our faith in him as a fine actor with a great future.

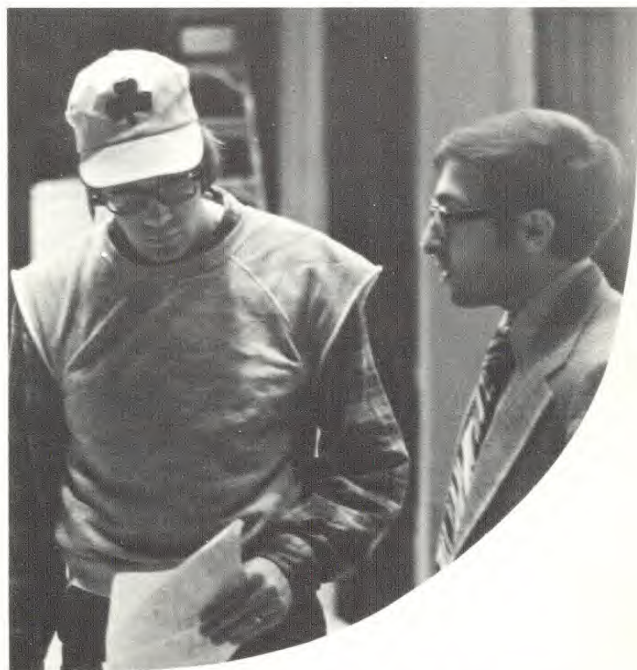

Kathy Beck creates her first leading role in the school play "GIGI". This would prove a challenge to most of us, but not for Kathy, however. She said since she "is basically a little girl" it is easy for her to identify with the character.

Portraying Gigi's sophisticated Aunt Alicia was Mary Angers. This was Mary's second year as a leading performer in the school play. Last year she starred as Abigail Adams, wife of John Adams, in "1776".

Mamita, Gigi's grandmother, is played by Patricia Mulvaney. Tricia was the only junior performing in the main cast, so we can look forward to her talents in next year's play.

Many other students were also involved in the cast, chorus and crew. They too have been given credit for all their personal achievements.

Probably the most unforgettable moments in the play were the lyrics and music by Lerner and Frederick Lowe. The audience watched and listened to Mamita (Tricia Mulvaney) and Honore (Dave Finley) reminiscing their love by singing "I Remember It Well." When Gaston (Dan Norton) realized that a young girl had become a woman he sang "Gigi". Honore summed up the entire play when he sang "Thank Heaven For Little Girls".

Mr. Christopher Merli, Set Constructor, and Mr. Robert Cioffi, Producer-Director, review some final details about the set.

Happiness finally comes when Gigi (Kathy Beck) accepts Gaston's (Danny Norton) hand in marriage.

Peeking behind the scenes of "Gigi".

GIGI

According to Mr. Robert Cioffi, the director of GIGI, R.B.C. is the first high school to stage this musical production.

GIGI made its debut at 8:30 p.m. on Friday night, March 5. It continued running the following evening, March 6 and the next weekend on the nights of March 12 and 13.

The reaction of the audience was exuberant. During intermission and after the performance, everyone who attended made comments on how excellent and authentic the production was.

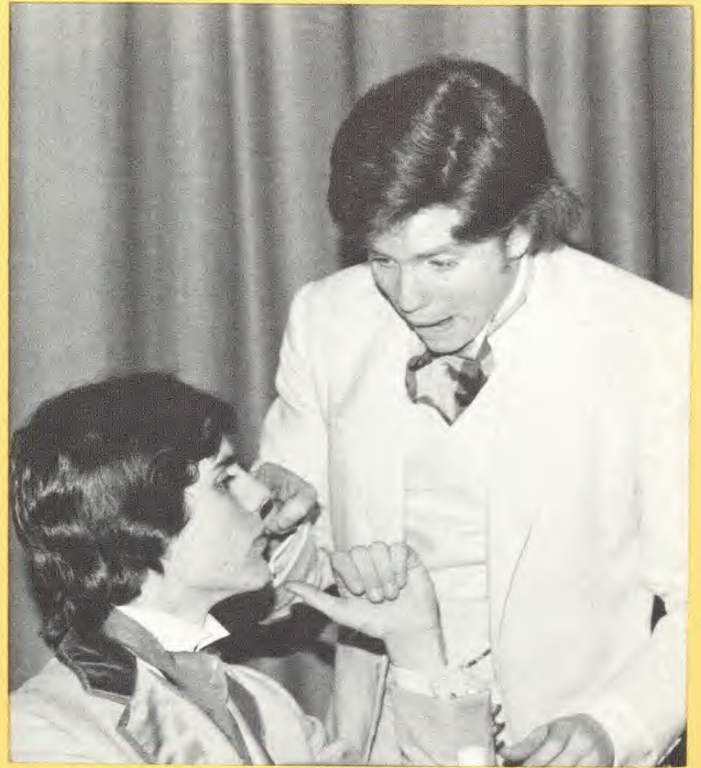

Mr. Robert Cioffi, along with Miss Mary Carmody, Miss Meredith Pennotti, and Sr. Mary Francesca spent long hours directing the cast in their singing and dancing. The success of the play proved that we were all proud of their efforts.

Gigi joins the fun with some swimmers at the beach in Trouville, where Gaston brought Manita and Gigi for the weekend.

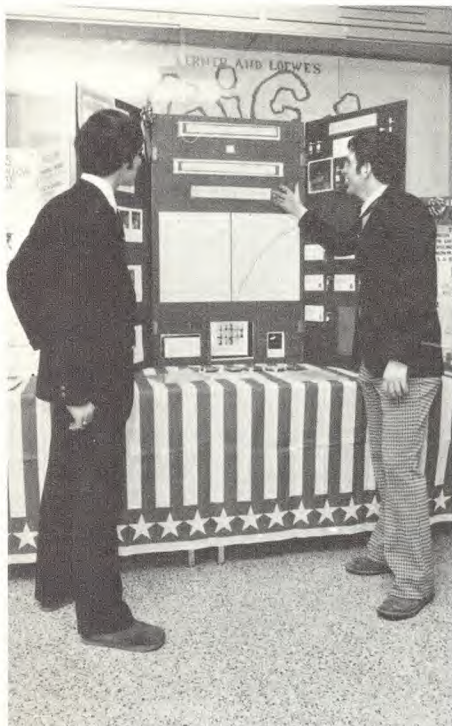

Honore (David Finley) and Mamita (Patricia Mulvaney) reminisce as they sing "I Remember It Well."

One of the many times Gaston (Danny Norton) turns to his wise uncle Honore (David Finley) for advice.

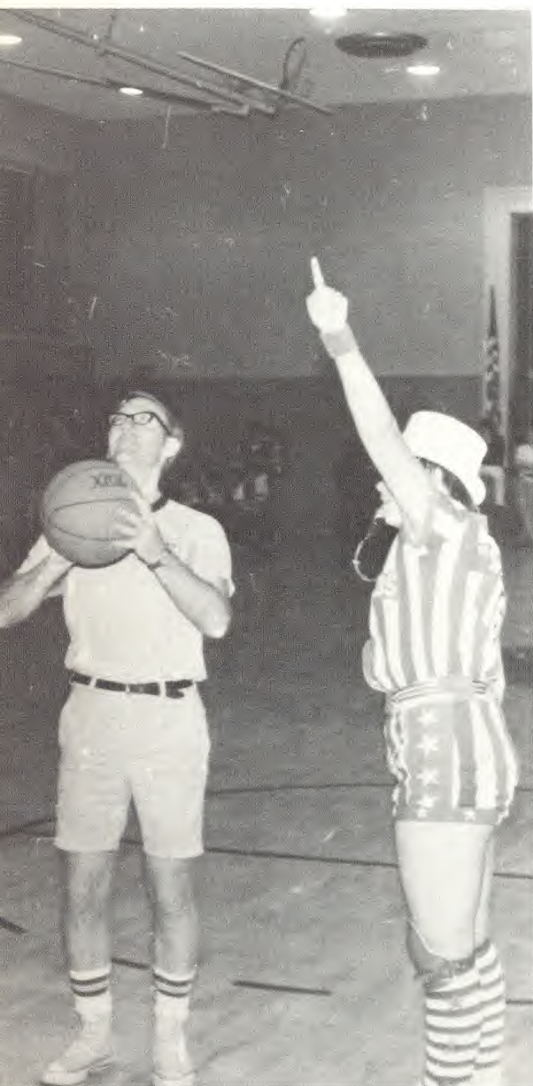

Sr. Mary Francesca, Production Coordinator, and Miss Mary Carmondy, Assistant Director, look on as the cast goes through a trial run.

THE TRIP THAT FINALLY WAS

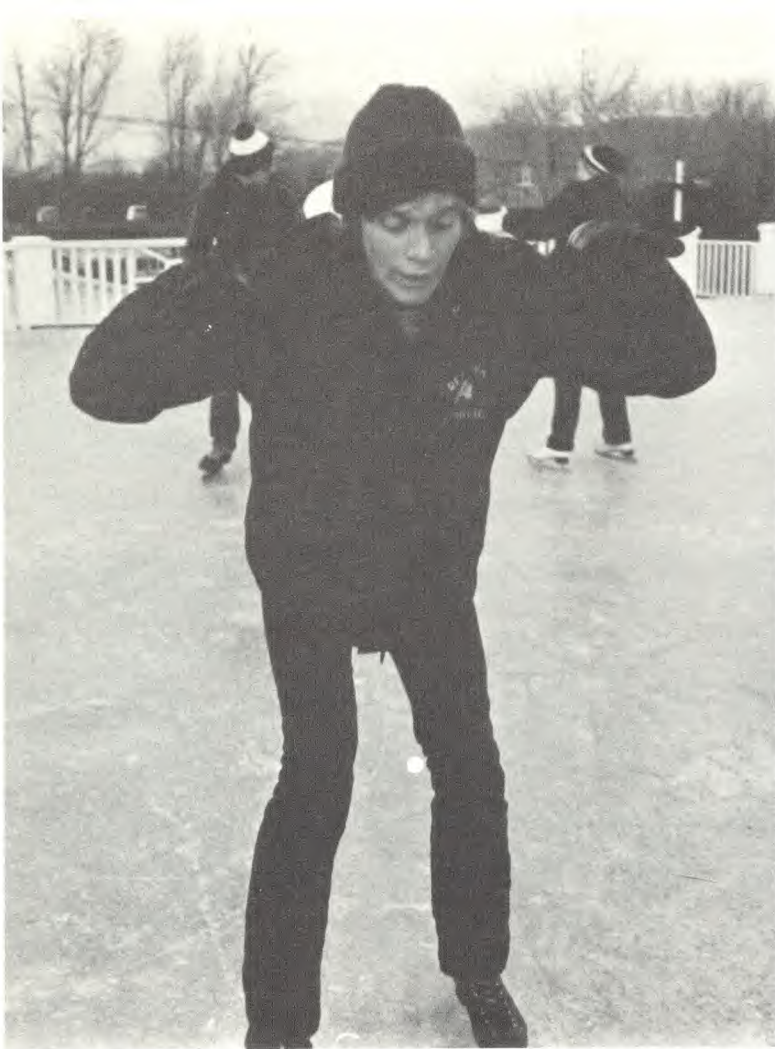

January 27th was the beginning of a fun-filled three day trip to Eastover, Mass. for the class of '76. Music and laughter filled the bus during the four hour trip to the resort. Upon arrival it was discovered that there was to be no skiing as a result of the weather conditions. This was somewhat of a disappointment for the more experienced skiers as well as for the beginners in the group. However, it was not enough to dampen their spirits as there were other activities offered. The first day was mainly spent exploring the surrounding areas of the resort. The following days proved the indoor pool, sauna and game rooms to be equally entertaining. Meanwhile, horses received much exercise and the toboggan run proved to be challenging for both students and chaperones alike. That Wednesday night the seniors danced to the music of "The Union Break" at the Tally-ho Barn. As Mother Nature decided to shed some snow, skiing became the major activity for the morning hours of Thursday. After a final meal, suitcases, skis, and people boarded busses at two p.m. Four hours later, one hundred and sixty weary seniors arrived home with heads full of memories of one of their final tastes of high school life.

"What could be more fun than getting your skis crossed?" ask Monica Loncola and Alicia Tierney as they prepare to take on the icy slopes at Eastover.

The roof of one of the many buildings at Eastover provides Dave Jennings with the chance to challenge the ice, on skates or otherwise!

Laurie McGowan, Mary Menna, Bettianne Kaiser, Sue Massell, and Suzie Arnone fill in for the band, "The Union Break" during the dance provided by Eastover at the Tally-ho Barn.

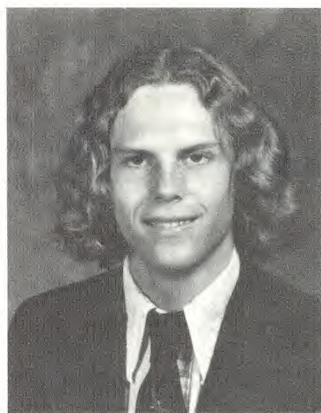

Behind the windows of the main house existed one hundred and fifty noisy Seniors breakfasting, lunching, and dining during the three days of their stay at the resort.

Lookout! Joe Atkins once again hitches a ride on the back of Peter Ministri's skis for an interesting trip downhill.

Open until 10 p.m., the indoor pool and sauna definitely made up the greatest evening activity at Eastover.

During her business class, Mary Ann Guzzi asks the typical Senior question, "Where's the party?"

SENIORS!

"Tides are turning, we are learning, (forever changes)." This quote symbolizes all that Seniors faced in this year of decisions, impressions, and farewells. Seniors saw this year as one of a transition period between adolescence and adulthood. They were not yet adults, but were expected to make adult decisions, that would determine the rest of their lives. They were not still children and they were criticized if they acted as such. They had to bide their time until they grew into the right role.

As a whole, Seniors felt responsibility resting on their shoulders. Responsibility for their jobs, for their school work, for their future. The cliché about how "Seniors lead the school" may be old, but it still holds true. The spirit, the good times, the planning, the responsibility all told the school what kind of community and class they were becoming.

Academics played a large role in Senior life, especially in the beginning of the year, as Senior year is the time to decide whether or not to go to college, to which college, and for what reasons. When asked in a questionnaire distributed randomly, "What are your plans for college?", most said that they were going to take a year off to work, and then decide for the future. The need to go on, to do something worthwhile, and at the same time fulfilling, was faced by each Senior. Much of the Senior curriculum was course choices made by each Senior based on their interests, and of course, their credit need. Most Seniors felt the course choices were relevant, and that they were ultimately responsible for their own career's preparation. Many also felt that RBC had adequately prepared them for college. It was not to be disregarded that paper work, such as transcripts, applications, forms, and day to day classwork, broken up by visits to college campuses, demanded much of a Senior's time.

Senior-itis, one of the most prevalent afflictions, had apparently not settled in according to results of the Senior questionnaire. Most Seniors felt that spirit was still resounding through the halls. As one classmate put it, "Our class could have always been Seniors. We have good ideas and good leaders." Many however could see how jobs, decision-making and other commitments have gotten in the way.

"THE BEST IS YET TO COME"

Seniors felt those pressures and the need to make vital decisions, and this was reflected in the slowness of activity at the start of the year.

Since much of the flavor of Senior year is memories, looking back at Freshman year, Seniors remembered their continual clashes with the faculty and administration. They could vividly recall the episode in the church, during which some freshmen leaped over the pews, and of course the ensuing assembly with the administration. It seemed somehow that the "Spirit of '76" which the class brought with it through four years of school, overflowed into rowdiness, and that spelled trouble. The ready acceptance of the "Robin Hood" hats and the pranks that go along with Freshman Orientation, was considered as tradition.

THE YEAR OF THE TURKEY...

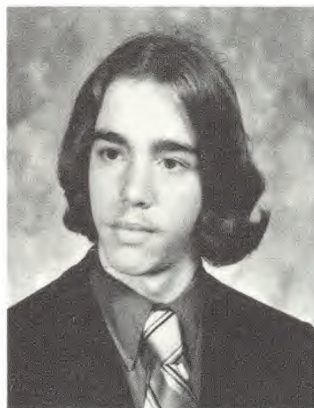

It was not that the Seniors possessed the authority to "do unto others as others did unto them." The reputation of being rowdy began from the first introduction of this class to RBC, but it grew and developed until that same reputation was put to good use in accomplishing many activities and goals.

Sophomore year was one of adjusting; to the system, to the feeling of not being a freshman anymore, and to the other people. The Freshman-Sophomore Coffeehouse, two iceskating trips, and a successful toy drive were some of the activities the class accomplished. Also, some of the class participated in Christmas caroling at the Hudson Center. Sophomores were still birds, but they were wiser now. It was a slow year as far as activities were concerned, but a good year to get to know one another.

Most Seniors saw their Junior year as one of unity, accomplishment in many areas, and just plain old fun. The year was likened to a hyena-everything was a laugh. The Junior Buffet was one of the most successful activities, planned to raise money to help defray the cost of the Junior Prom. The theme of "Eat, Drink, and Be Merry" proved to be well-chosen, as everyone agreed there was plenty of fun, along with plenty to eat and drink. The Junior Prom, set to the theme of "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" was held at the Essex and Sussex Hotel in Spring Lake on May 22. The fun of being together, and partying together was a fantastic ending to a fantastic year.

And then, Senior Year. The Football Hall of Fame on the third floor corridor left no doubt that the Seniors were leaders in sports as well as in spirit and activities. The Senior Buffet started the year off well, with the profits going toward the Class Trip. The entertainment started off on a mellow note with Joe Lanigan playing the guitar and got more vibrant as the night went on with the rock 'n' roll music of Mike Melicia, Chris Johnson, and Tom Woods. There was no question that the food was good and response outstanding. The atmosphere of Halloween Harvest set the mood of relaxation. A lot of hard work, and fun, paid off at the end as it was a huge success. The Seniors made the freshman feel welcome to their school by organizing a Freshman-Senior Mass with a reception following. The Class Trip, which so many Seniors looked forward to, was held at Eastover, where it had been for the past five years. The food was excellent, with many types of activities available for those who skied, and for those who did not. Following all of these events came the whirl of the Senior Prom, which was held at Mike Doolan's in Spring Lake on May 13.

GRADUATION

Participation is thought to be key to successful planning and activities. This Senior class had a variety of personalities, talents and backgrounds come together and they produced worthwhile and fun activities. And finally, after all those years of waiting came the ultimate goal of graduation! June 6, 1976! With smiles and tears, the Seniors waved good-bye to a segment of their lives in which they grew up.

... THE ULTIMATE GOAL OF GRADUATION!

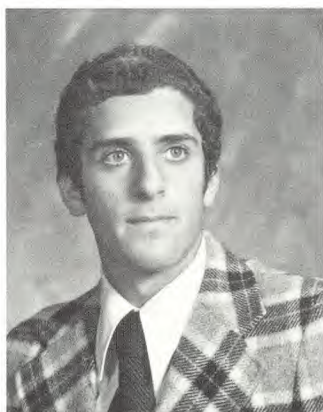

The spirit and rowdiness of this class provided such cheers as R-O-W-D-I-E and A-L-R-I-G-H-T and successful fund raisers as buffets and breakfasts. Those characteristics led the football team to a first round state championship playoff.

In looking back, it is easy to remember the major and most successful activities. However it is not easy to recall the day to day frustrations and pranks.

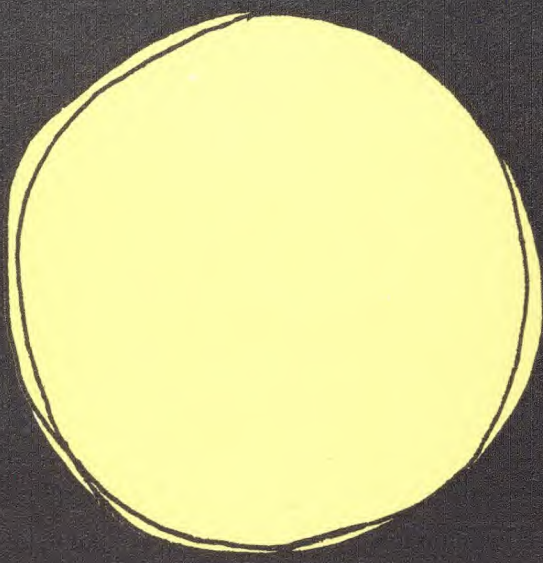

THE YEAR OF THE LION

The Seniors should always be able to remember the plate-breaking in the cafeteria, and Sr. Vincent's collections to cover the cost. The Seniors must remember the classes, the teachers, the friends who came and went, the shock of death of a contemporary, the scare of college boards, and the joy of attaining their desired goals. However, their lasting impressions of RBC were due mainly to the influence of their friends. They made some friendships in these last four years that they know will last a lifetime, and yet they also had friends who they think they could never forget, but the memory will fade in time. Throughout it all Seniors realize... "Tides are turning, we are learning, (forever changes)."

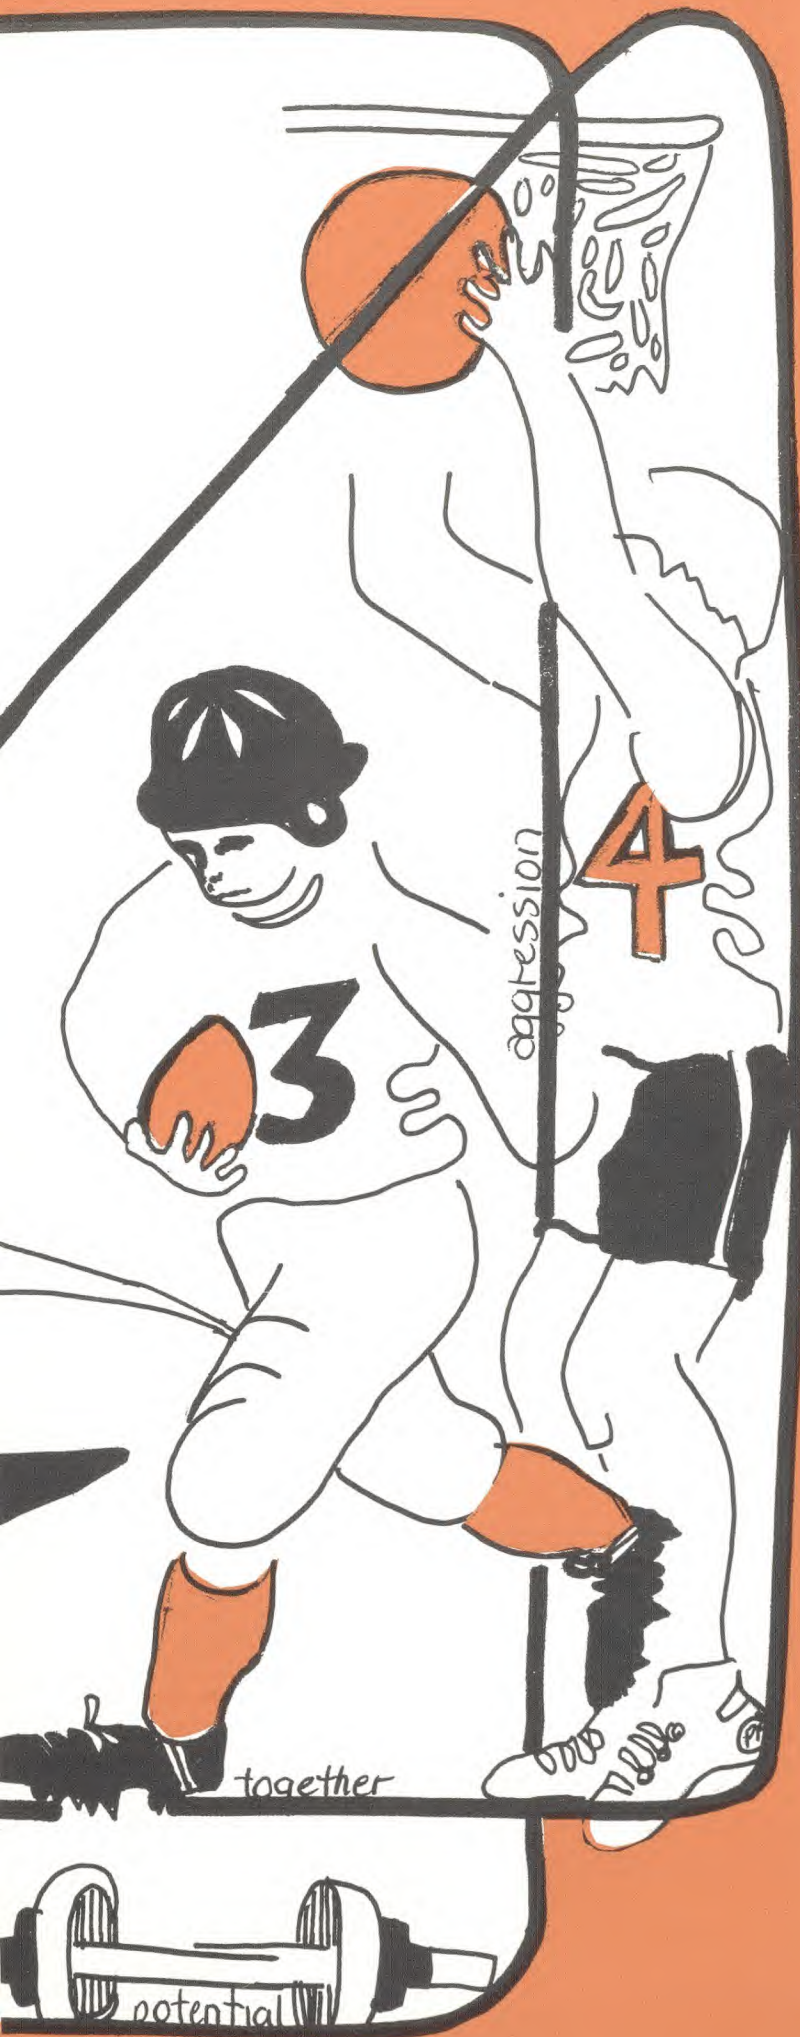

Let us call the ocean home
For she challenges us to seek new horizons.
We then have the freedom to reach as high as the sky
For we do not know where it ends—

Coach Mautner displayed extreme confidence in the abilities of the team members. "Saddlebrook and North Hunterdon were probably the closest opponents to R.B.C., but hardly a match for our well trained girls."

Senior tri-captains Susan Frentz, Monica Loncola and Mary Copperthwaite provided the experience and leadership needed for the team. Coach Mautner stated that it was difficult to recmembers, but Marianne Meehan, Sharon McCabe and Sue Frentz were worthy of special recognition. JACK'S HARRIERS

The rugged Casey Country team completed a successful season in which they received recognition as one of the top teams at the shore. With 13 senior harriers providing the strength and experience, this year's squad completed a fine season by posting a hard-earned 13-4 record.

The secret of their success this fall can be attributed to the great team spirit instilled by Tri-captains Jim Seuffert, Tom Max, and John Murphy. However, much more went into it than just this. Many long, hard hours of practice and a lot of determination made the season as successful as it was. In addition to the regular SEASON HIGHLIGHTED BY PLAYOFF BERTH

The 1975 Casey football team turned in a fine season as they posted a 6-3-1 record. The year was highlighted by a Casey berth in the State playoffs. The key to much of the gridders success was the ability to come through in tough situations. The Casey Green Machine shifted into high gear after dropping a 20-0 decision to cross-town rival Red Bank Regional and went on to capture the next five games by a combined score of 104 to 27.

The Casey offense was powered by quarterback John Sutphin and All-Shore selection Paul D'Aloia as the Caseys constantly outscored the opposition by large margins. Also adding to the potent attack was the presence of excellent receivers such as Jim Lake, R.J. Bates and Rich Kelly who came up with many outstanding catches.

DEFENSE WAS SUPERB ALL YEAR

The defense was superb all year. Anchored by All-Shore junior Chris Shellenbach and All-Parochial middle guard Bill Berth, the Casey defenders turned in sparkling performances which made them one of the better defenses at the shore. Other key players were tri-captain Chris Eagan, linebacker John MacDonald and end Mike Morley. Hopes are running high for next season as the Caseys will have many returning let-termen.

CASEYS ROLL 27-0

One of the best efforts turned in by the Caseys this season was during the game against Shore Regional.

With the strong running of senior halfback Paul D'Alòia coupled with an awesome defensive unit, Red Bank Catholic romped past Shore Regional 27-0. D'Alòia, in top form after an early season shoulder injury, scored two Casey touchdowns and gained 121 yards rushing for the day.

Defensively, the Caseys held the Blue Devils to only sixteen yards total offense, recovered three fumbles and intercepted two passes and a pitchout. The Casey defense to the State meet with anticipation.

Led by captain Jennifer Morley, the team posted an outstanding 11-0 record at the close of the regular season. Tough competitors such as Brick Township and Bridgewater were easily swept aside by the powerful Caseys. Coaches Mr. Woods and Miss Harvey attribute their success to "a lot of hard work: much time is devoted to the perfection of skills."

Indeed, it was hard work, with practice sessions held every day after school in the Broad Street Auditorium for two and a half hours.

CASEYS VAULT TO CROWN

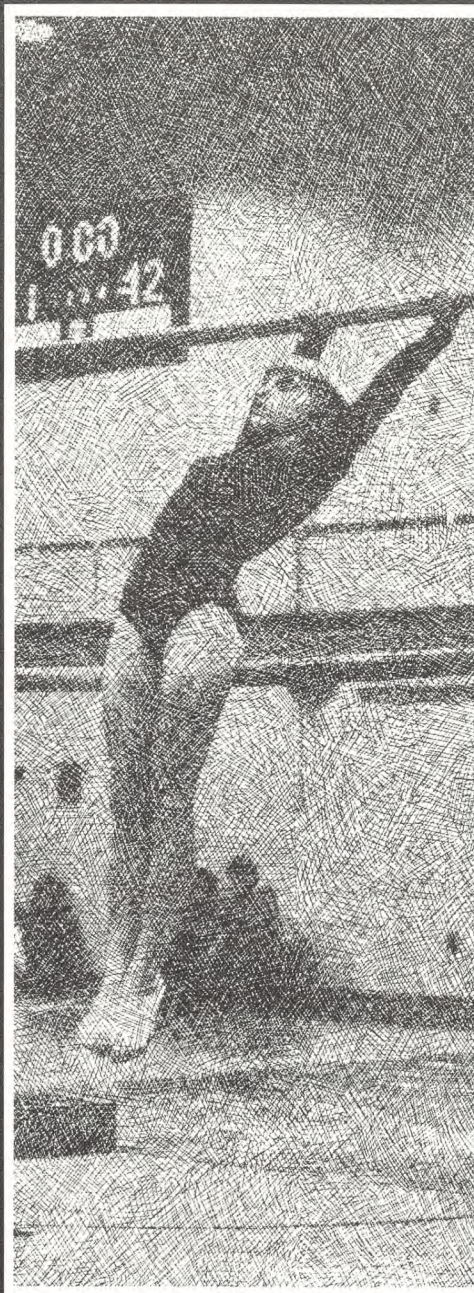

The spectator could only sit speechless while the girls executed their skills with precision and poise. Graceful floor exercises, powerful performances on the uneven bars, vaulting, and carefully perfected balance beam routines all contributed to the fine display of talent.

Friday, November 28 came all too soon, but the girls faced the State Meet with confidence in themselves and in their teammates. Tension built and the Caseyettes realized the State title rested entirely on the vaulting. Outstanding performance by Missy Sweeton, Ann Woods, Jennifer Morley, and Joann Ryan brought home victory and the title once again to Red Bank Catholic.

CAGERS NET 14 WINS

The 1976 Varsity Basketball Team compiled an outstanding 14-11 record in a season highlighted by victories over such Shore Area powers as St. Rose, Henry Hudson, and St. John Vianney. The Casey cagers began the season spectacularly by running off an 8-2 record after the first 10 games.

Strengthened by the leadership of co-captains Bob Mahon and Jackie Davis, this relatively young Casey squad combined team play with fine individual performances to be recognized as one of the top teams around.

Based on their fine record, R.B.C. made it as far as the Parochial Championships, but were eliminated by a three point loss to a tough Holy Spirit team.

Supplying much of the scoring power for the Caseys was 6-7 center Tom Seaman while 6-6 junior Billy Howes controlled the boards. Rounding out the starting five was Pete Clabby who proved himself to be an outstanding defensive player. Continually coming off the bench to spark the Caseys with needed punch were guard Joey Rodriguez and forwards J.C. Chemiel and Ralph D'Ambrosio.

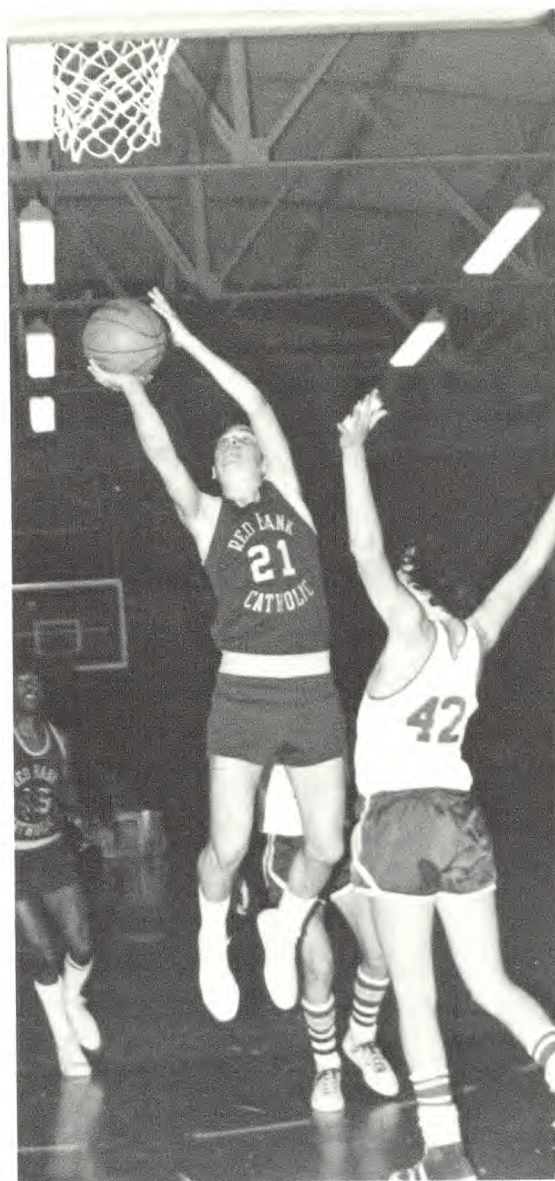

With three starters back for next season, and competent underclassmen ready to step in at the other two positions, next year's outlook seems even brighter.

GIRLS SHOOT FOR VICTORY

When girl's basketball tryouts were held in mid-November, Coach Lynn Dooley found herself faced with a difficult task. The girls practiced in the gymnasium after school, vying for a place on the team. By showing enthusiasm in trying out, each girl was in fact stating her desire to represent the girls of Red Bank Catholic, and making a promise to exhibit dedication and a will to work. Unfortunately, Coach Dooley had to eliminate several of the girls. Cuts were made and the twenty jayvee and varsity members prepared for the upcoming season with anticipation.

Being a member of any team involves more than showing up on the day of the game. It involves work, talent, and time. The girls on the basketball team were no exception to the rule. Everyday after school and on Saturdays, they donned their sweats and proceeded to perfect those skills necessary to shape a winning team. While Ms. Dooley supervised, the girls practiced jump balls, executed lay ups and conducted scrimmages.

At the end of the season, the girls posted a fine 13-12 record. However, it goes without saying that the most impressive victory came when the Varsity team defeated the previously undefeated

GRAPPLERS FACE EXCITING SEASON

After a slow start, R.B.C.'s Varsity Wrestling Team went on to capture eight of their last nine matches to end the season with a fine 11-7 record. The season was climaxed with a convincing 36-17 victory over heavily-favored North Bergen, which eventually went on to win its District championship. Coach Mautner's squad also took first place in the C.B.A. Christmas Tournament.

Captain Steve Girona along with Brian Kirgin were the mainstays of the team posting 18-4 and 20-5 records respectively. Girona's record was the best in the Shore Area in the 141 weight class, and he was also credited with 10 pins. John Pinto 13-7 and Gerry Copperthwaite 15-9-1 also compiled outstanding records. Rounding out the team was Don DeFelice and juniors Kevin Kleva, Mike Servidio, Bill Berth, and Tim Guinnesssey.

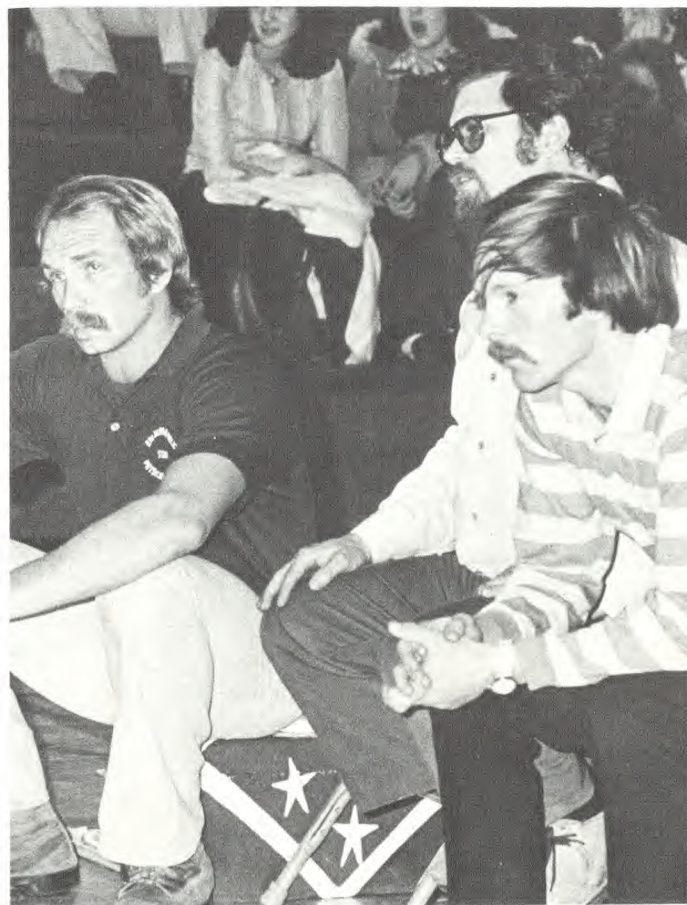

Looking ahead to next season, Coach Mautner is counting on members of the 11-5 J.V. squad. R.B.C.'s underclassmen took third place in the Red Bank Regional Novice Tournament which consisted of 16 teams. SERVE'S UP

Since its initiation three years ago, the Red Bank Catholic girls tennis team has gradually made a name for itself in the Shore area. The twelve member team closed out the 1975 season with an impressive 7-2 record, and clinched first place in the Independent class. Under the direction of Coach Mary Carmody, the girls triumphed over several strong opponents, such as Toms River South and Middletown. Shutouts were easily handed to Asbury Park and Southern Regional.

Due to the lack of a home court, the team worked out at Monmouth Beach Club, and later at Thompson Park. Carpools were set up for transportation purposes. Coach Carmody expressed extreme pleasure with the many victories, although the girls faced obstacles — lack of home court, a majority of away games, and transportation difficulties. "The girls still managed to keep a victorious spirit throughout the season."

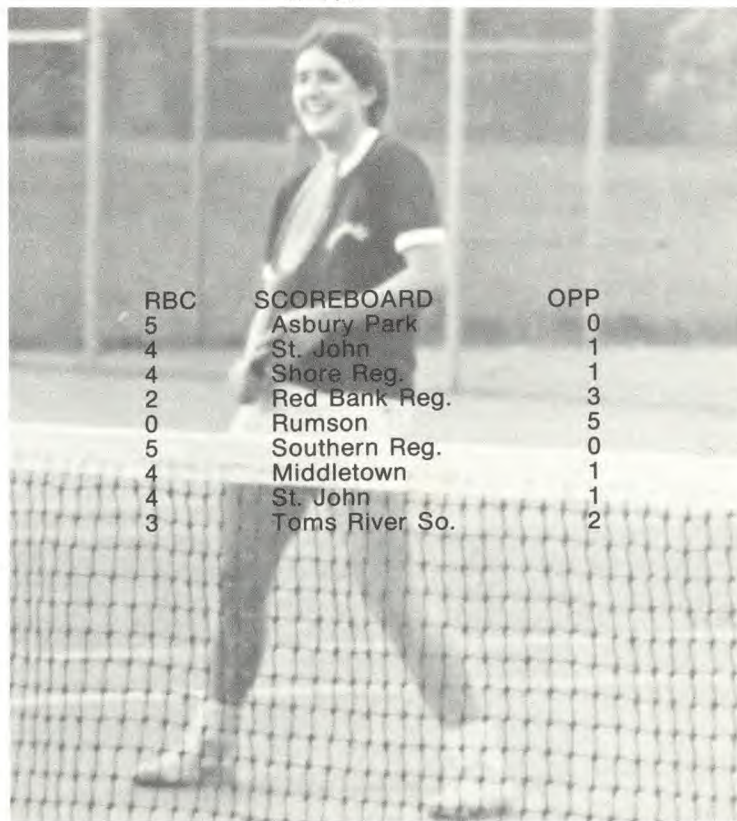

Leadership for the racketeers was provided by team captains Mary Ellen Haynes and Joanne Tierney. In addition, seniors Cathy Loberman and Marianne McHugh were cited as outstanding team members by Coach Carmody. Miss Carmody views the future as optimistic because underclassmen Karen Stanley, Robin Sole, and Margaret O'Byrne exhibit the potential to keep the team victorious in '77.

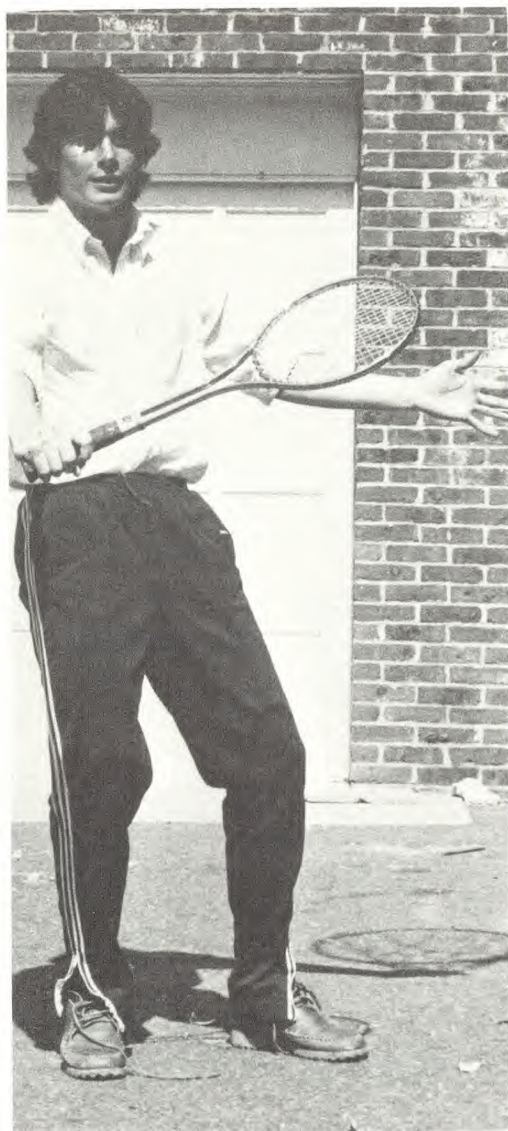

Colleen Rafter and R. Sole have discovered that tennis isn't all fun.

One of the fastest growing sports in America is gradually making a name for itself in the athletic program at Red Bank Catholic High School. A growing interest in tennis was reflected in the successful boy's team as well as that of the girls. In mid-March the male racketeers were given the opportunity to compete for one of the few positions open on the boy's tennis team. Immediately after final cuts were made, the aspiring Jimmy Connors' set out with victory in mind for the '76 season.

Due to the courtesy of the New

Shrewsbury Raquet Club, the boys were able to serve, lob and smash on beautiful indoor facilities.

In his second year as tennis coach, Mr. George Gill anticipated a very good season for the Casey racket team. His optimism was based on the fact that two of the strongest team members, John McMahon and Jack McNamara had returned as varsity members to lead the team. Other outstanding talent was exhibited by senior Jim Keale and underclass players Rody Angers and Marshall Culver.

FORE!

The Red Bank Catholic golf team "teed off" the 1976 season in early March. This year, the team is relatively young and inexperienced. However, all members possess a love of golf and a real dedication to work. Coach Tony Howard, pleased with this season's turn-out of 15-20 members, stated that "Anyone is welcome to join the Golf program. No cuts are made for the team. The only requirement is to know a little about the game of golf."

Practice sessions were held two to three times a week at Bamm Hollow Country Club in Middletown. There, members of the team chipped balls, practiced driving and putting and prepared for matches against such strong opposition as CBA and Rumson.

Approximately twenty matches were scheduled for this season. Each match consisted of nine holes of golf played by the five team members chosen by Coach Howard before the match. In most cases, those "duffers" who turned in the best practice scores were entitled to represent RBC in the match. One great advantage of being on the golf team was that the members had the opportunity to play some of the finest courses in the Shore area.

TWENTY MATCHES SCHEDULED FOR THIS SEASON

Coach Howard and the golf team set the State Tournament in May as their ultimate goal for the season. As for the future, Mr. Howard is very optimistic, due to the great many freshmen who turned out for the team this year.

Casey upperclassmen are off and running on their first day of practice.

The 1976 Boys' Track Team, under the new leadership of Head Coach Chris Merli, looks brighter than ever. With many returning lettermen, the Caseys look strong in most events. They are led by 2 mile men Jim Seuffert and Pete Fasano with Tom Max and Chris Wilcox anchoring down the 1 mile run. The weight team is counting on seniors Paul Kiernan and Jim Gaul. The high hurdle unit is led by Ken Killian, Bill Baldinger, and Pat Harmon. Also Jim Monachello will provide keen competition in the 880. These seniors combined with talented underclassmen, Neil Hughes in the pole vault, Pete Brown in the 440 and half, and Kim Foulkes and Joe Phieffer in the sprints should produce quite a year for this Casey team.

Mr. Rafter and Ms. McKenzie, girl's track coaches, decide the practice strategies for the day.

It all started in early January when head coach Jack Rafter started the countdown to the March 1 tryouts for girl's track. "Girls are reminded that there are only 52 days left to prepare for tryouts on March 1..." Since that time, reminders were periodically posted in the bulletin to keep the girls of Red Bank Catholic aware that March arrives all too soon. Indeed it did, for on March 1, approximately 250 nervous but anxious girls gathered in the cafeteria for a meeting. However, only a lucky 78 were chosen to continue with the tradition of girls track... that is, victory.

The first official team practice was held and although the worry and excitement concerning tryouts had vanished, the enthusiasm of the girls never failed. Daily practices were held and the team worked out diligently, knowing that hard work can only pay off in a successful season. Managers, coaches, team members all worked together as a unit, striving to make the '76 performance second to none in the Shore area.

Although the Caseys realized they faced tough competition, they always had the optimistic attitude that made last year's state Championship team. The season held not only dual meets, but the Casey Relay Festival, which attracted the best girl's track teams in the East.

Senior members furnished the confidence and leadership necessary in the course of the season. Numerous underclassmen were a reminder that the future will also hold victory for the Caseys.

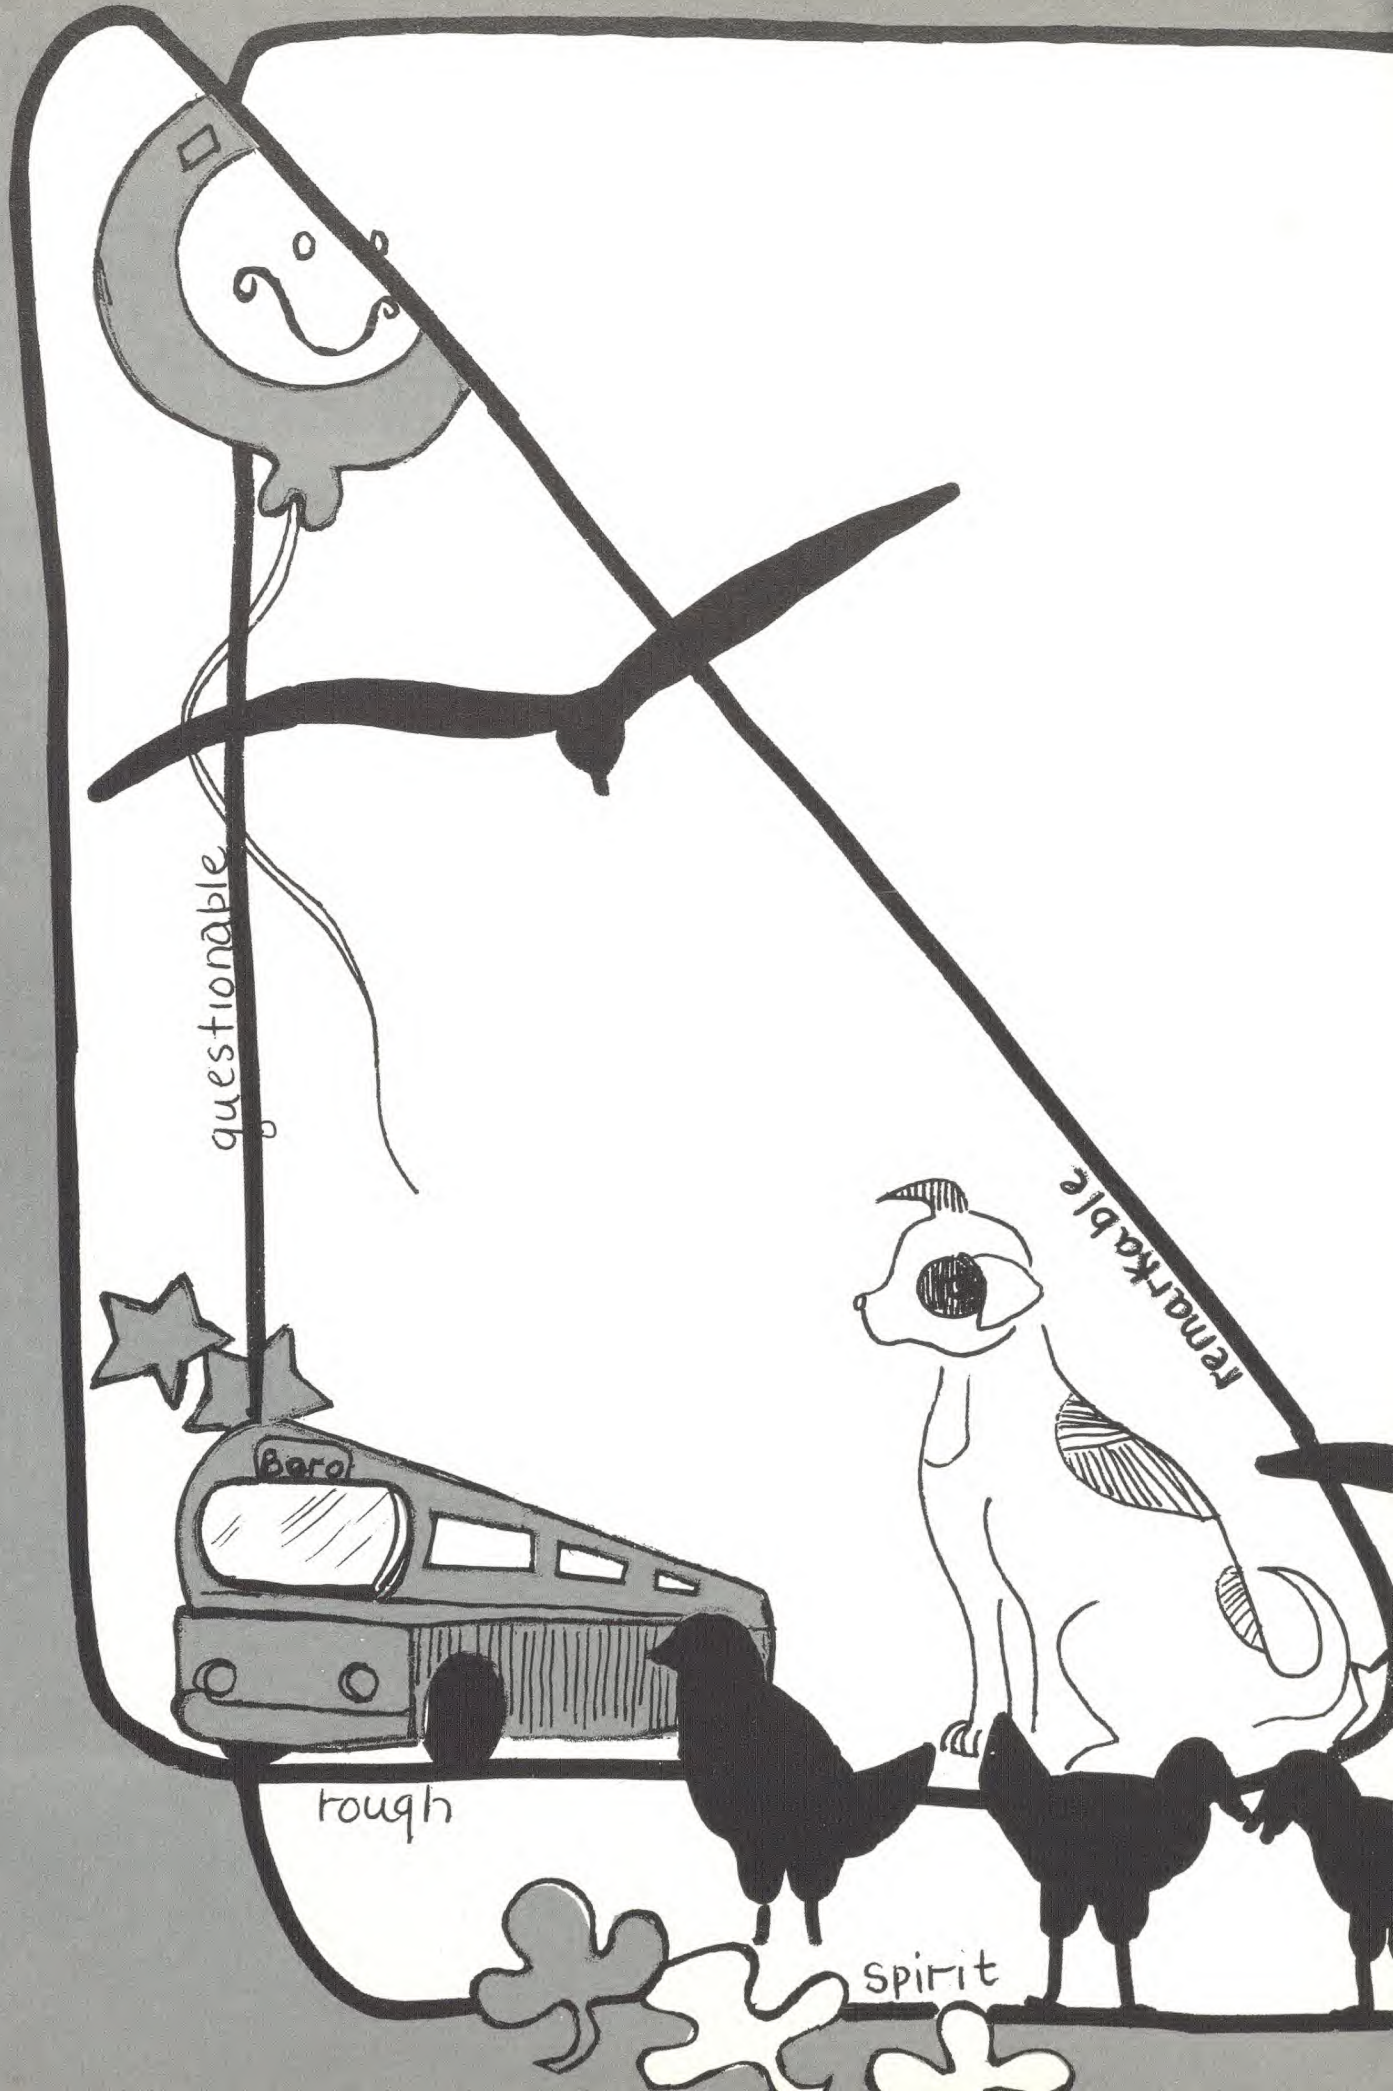

Lynn Brady, Sue Frenz and Marianne Meehan find that running in a group makes practice a little easier to take.

TAKE-OFF IN '77

The Junior class as a unit, consists of many individuals. These individuals each with their own special talent, formed a class separate and distinct from all others.

When they entered Red Bank Catholic three years ago, the class of '77 viewed junior year as the distant, practically uncomprehensible level of upper classmen. Yet looking back, recalling all the memories — time has certainly passed quickly. Suddenly, but confidently, . . . the "Gold of '77" assumed the role of co-leaders of the school community. Enthusiasm and spirit is the Junior's key to success . . . Success academically has set the pace for their achievement in a variety of activities. Much of this success can be attributed to their class officers: John Malley as President, Cris Kinslow as Vice-President, Louise Mellilo as Activities Chairman with Ms. Meredith Pennotti as their class level moderator who did an outstanding job in the organization of class activities.

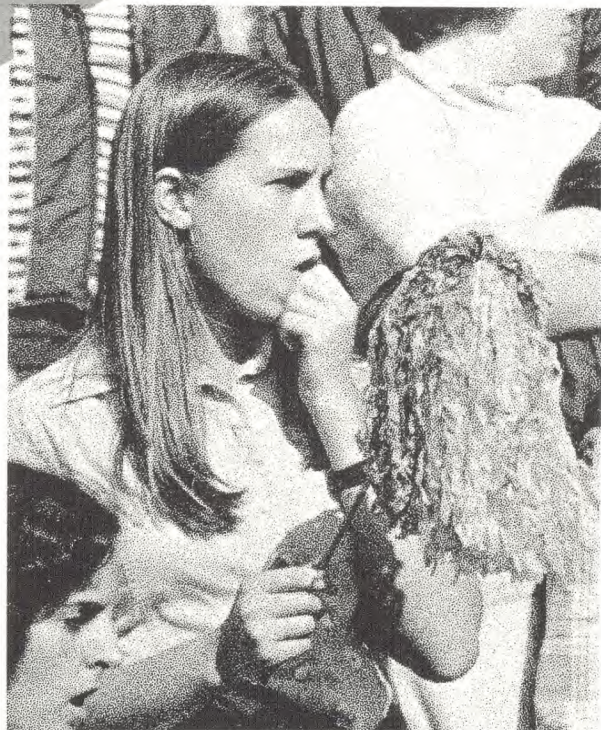

With these things set, the class pulled together and began one of the most memorable years of their scholastic career. Teachers persistently reminded the juniors that they were now mature young adults and should begin to act it. The old standby excuses for "slacking off" and incomplete assignments would no longer be accepted or tolerated. It was time to buckle down and get to work. For some, this meant mastering the intricacies of Algebra II and Trigonometry; for others it meant attacking the typewriter keyboard in room 313 with vigor (and in many cases remorse).

Serious consideration of future plans also came to enter the minds of these people. College catalogues and handbooks slowly but surely became more familiar to all. Juniors went through the typical anxieties of PSAT's and college boards yet met these challenges with their usual "go get 'em" attitude.

Though the awareness of duties and obligations always remained in their minds, the Juniors never allowed it to overshadow their desire for fun and relaxation, coupled with involvement and recognition in extra-curricular activities. The same spirit that permeated the class for the two previous years carried on through their junior year. By this time most of the Junior class knew each other fairly well. The change and development in individual personalities did not separate them, but served to bring the Junior class closer together in true unity.

Their enthusiasm was channelled in various directions . . .

On November 21, success was seen at the Junior Buffet. It was the first activity sponsored by the Juniors to help lower the cost of the Prom. In the Bicentennial Spirit the buffet took shape. Its "Bicentennial Show", which featured the Juniors, gave a musical account of the twentieth century. Musical selections ranged from the slapstick comedy of the '30's to the "do waa" sound of the '50's and finally to the thought provoking sounds of the '70's. The food prepared by Juniors themselves, was planned to suit everyone's tastes. Twelve turkeys, chicken, and trays of lasagna, along with various salads, vegetables, and deserts covered the serving tables. A tremendous turnout of faculty, parents, and students alike filled the cafeteria. The Junior Buffet proved to be the largest fund raising event organized by the students in the history of Red Bank Catholic.

A major event in every Junior class is the ring ceremony. To be a part of the upperclassmen is a goal worth while reaching to most Juniors. The ceremony

Lunch is the saving moment of the day in the life of Juniors like Bruce Tuchol and Brian Forsman.

The Juniors earnestly began preparations for their Prom in early January. Homeroom representatives worked diligently on committees and soon carloads of students were out listening to bands; pricing and choosing decorations and favors; and etting up seating arrangements. MAY 26 finally arrived and the elegant atmosphere of the Shadowbrook in Shrewsbury with its beautiful gardens and excellent food was the setting chosen for the prom. The evening was enjoyed and will long be remembered by all.

A Junior's seventeenth birthday could mean many things, but most importantly it means "driving." The long hours in Driver's Education, the countless practices behind the wheel, and the six month wait for the driver's test was now a reality. K-turns and parallel parking became the new obstacle to tackle for each Junior. The excitement of being their own chauffeurs came with a smile. No more troublesome worries of finding or waiting for a ride home. Feeling free to go as you please, where and when you want. The problem then became getting the car . . .

To be sure, there was rarely a stagnant moment during this unique year. As a class, the Juniors gave their best effort, whether it was in the scholastic, athletic, employment, or leisure moments of their lives. The Golden Jubilee class of '77 was always on the move and in the mood of the spirit of Red Bank Catholic.

TAKE-OFF IN '78

The spirit of '78 was expressed through the Sophomores as they began the school year with new ideas and ambitions. Though they coordinated few activities, their enthusiasm and adventure were evident.

The year of the woman was exemplified in the class elections. It was a chance to test female capabilities as they experienced the task of leading and unifying the Sophs. President Michele Byrne, Vice Presidents Denise Taylor and Kathy Robinson, and Activities Chairperson Kathy Callahan, along with class moderator, Mr. Eugene Luciani, merged into an effective team.

'78 sponsored two Freshman-Sophomore dances early in the year.

One September night the cafeteria was the scene as last minute dance preparations were concluded. Soon the band, "Shine", arrived and the atmosphere grew lively as people edged their way to the center of the floor. For the entire evening the crowd of freshman, sophomores, and many upper-classmen bumped and swung their way around the dance floor. Both dances were great successes resulting in sizeable profits which benefited the whole class.

Early March saw the excursion of a busload of Sophomores to New York City with tickets to see the Broadway musical, "Grease". This was a chance for over forty students to relax away from the school atmosphere and experience the hopping and bopping of the 50's.

But spirit does not end with dances and activities; it also represents long hours of work and study. This meant tackling new type of courses, such as proofs and theorems of Geometry, and in-depth study of second year languages. For many, taking on honors classes such as American Literature, U.S. History II, or BSCS Biology proved more of a challenge. Lab itself was a new mystery, as many students probed the problems of disappearing crayfish and murky microscope slides. Goals were met by many Sophomores as they obtained first and second honors on the Principal's Honor List. Seasoned athletes also contributed their talents to make this year's J.V. teams very successful.

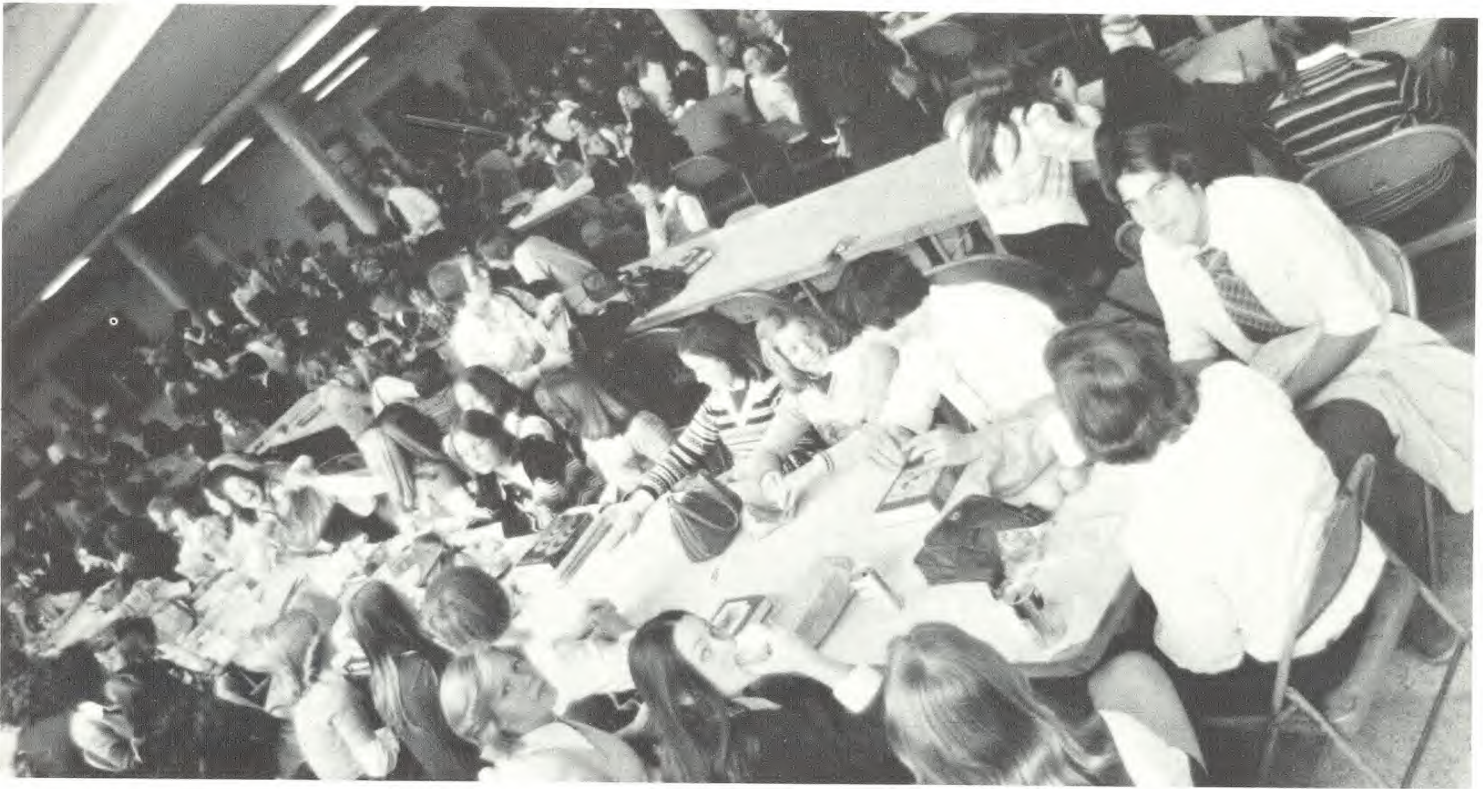

Sophomore year is also tenth period lunch. Perhaps the hardest adjustment was enduring a long day and wondering what it would be like to find an abundance of food in the cafeteria. However, the Sophs soon forgot their problems in mustard fights and flying food, and in looking forward to that last class of the day . . .

As the school year closed, the class of '78 had proved themselves as one determined not just to fit in, but to stand out. And that they certainly did.

TAKE-OFF IN '79

Upon their entrance into R.B.C., the '79ers walked the halls in wonder knowing that there were seniors lurking in the shadows, waiting for the change to pounce upon an unsuspecting freshman. For one seemingly unending week, these newcomers got a taste of the R.B.C. life style. When the bell rang, the frosh would dash from class to class in hopes of avoiding the senior initiators. At the end of initiation week, the class of '79 threw off their pins and became full-fledged members of R.B.C. Their first activity as part of the school was a Freshman-Sophomore dance. On Friday night, September 12, they danced to the light of "Shine." For the freshman, it was their first opportunity to get acquainted with their new classmates outside of a school atmosphere. It was an enjoyable evening for all. Their first decision as a class was to elect three fellow classmates who would represent their interests on Student Council. Following the elections, Maureen Holahan became President, Susan Trimboli Vice President, and Margurite Festa Activities Chairperson. After being installed with the rest of the council, these three people worked towards the unification of the largest class R.B.C. had ever known. The class of '79 had much to be thankful for in the achievements of their officers.

Another big event in their life was the freshman pep rally; R-O-W-D-I-E — that's the way they spelled rowdy and it was obvious to all that they knew the meaning of the word. Led by the cheerleaders, the frosh sparked their football team in hopes of victory against Rumson. Their spirit was not confined to their own pep rally, but was also infectious during Varsity games. Their presence was felt by all others.

The class of '79 not only excelled in extra-curricular activities, but scholastically as well. In the beginning of the year they entered a new and perhaps more difficult classroom atmosphere, but made adjustments according to the demands of high school life. For many students, Modern Algebra was a new concept that represented a challenge. Foreign languages also had not been studied by many as of yet, so freshman year marked the time to decide upon Spanish or French, or even German or Latin. High school was also a chance to concentrate on special interests for those with an appreciation of music and art. Opportunities to create outlets, and also to test one's talents became available. The freshmen joined clubs varying from history to art, and from chess to skiing. Stage productions were another outlet as students auditioned for singing and dancing parts.

Altogether the year was a new experience for the freshman class of '79, as many friends, decisions, and memories were made.

Standing since 1926, Red Bank Catholic has withstood changes in time as seen in this familiar archway.

TWENTY-TWO YEARS . . .

After twenty-two years in the St. James parish, Monsignor Monahan regrets the thought of leaving. He has spent more than half of his priesthood in this district. Since this is his first Pastorate, he is naturally very attached to the area and its people. He knows the parents whose children now attend Red Bank Catholic, therefore, he has to admit that it is very hard leaving something that is so much a part of him. Monsignor also realizes that it is the will of God and accepts the fact he must move on.

Monsignor Monahan's career here has had many highlights and contributions. In 1965 the new wing was added to the high school and 1960 the new grammar school was built. These are two of his most lasting accomplishments. Monsignor has had much success in developing the parish through its liturgical, social, and educational aspects. He improved the CCD program and started the Parish Council in 1968. According to Monsignor, the new wing of the high school could not have been built without the full cooperation of the parishioners who worked with him to make St. James a most progressive parish and one of the first to have its own business manager.

Monsignor will be moving on to St. Mark's in Sea Girt. He hopes that he will be taken in there with the same love that was shown to him at St. James. Monsignor has fulfilled his goals for the St. James Parish and now must move on to new challenges elsewhere. He hopes that God will give him the power to do the work which benefits his parishioners.

On Friday, January 16, 1976 the Reverend Frederick A. Valentino became the ninth pastor of St. James Parish. Fr. Valentino, formerly of St. Ann's Parish 'has become known throughout Monmouth County for his exceedingly successful record as an administrator.

During his nine years at St. Ann's, Fr. Valentino undertook the complete remodeling of the parish plant. He was able to maintain a tuition free grammar school at the same time. It is one of the only two tuition free schools in the Trenton Diocese. Adding to this the parish pays half of the tuition of its students in the Catholic High School and also provides for fifty scholarships a year.

Fr. Valentino born in Trenton, studied at St. Charles College and St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore. He was a member of the first class ordained by Bishop Ahr on June 3, 1950. After a number of early assignments, he found himself in his native city at St. Joe's. There he became the Mercer County CYO Director. Fr. Valentino also served as Northern Monmouth County CYAC Director.

In succeeding The Right Reverend Emmett A. Monahan, Fr. Valentino looks forward to a fruitful stay at St. James.

OUR MAIN GOAL

The philosophy of education at Red Bank Catholic High School arises from our belief in man's dual nature: a material body and a spiritual soul. As a concerned Christian Community, we believe that each student has the right to receive the best possible instruction that can be provided by a learned and aware faculty, alert to every manifestation of the growth process within the individual student. We hold that through innovative programs and imaginative teaching techniques, each student will be caught up in the process of learning, and will be inspired to maximize his potential as a future citizen in a democratic society.

To achieve the development of the whole man through effective academic, physical, aesthetic, spiritual and social problems; to create an atmosphere which promotes faculty growth and fosters the educational process; to assist students to understand options and to make decisions within the bounds of Christian behavior; to further self-development withing a structure of discipline and order; and to cultivate individualization by providing meaningful opportunities for self-realization is our goal.

Miss Kathleen Harvey, one of the many famous Harvey sisters who we have here at R.B.C., is a graduate of Red Bank Catholic and is just starting her teaching career. Her area is Physical Education and naturally her free time is spent doing anything related to sports.

ONE OF THE MANY FAMOUS HARVEY SISTERS

Mr. Paul Franzen graduated from Ursenus College and teaches Physical Education. He is a football coach but would like to coach more sports and hopes to be involved in the physical testing and weight training of students. When not jogging, a daily morning activity, he enjoys skiing on snow or water. The one thing which impressed him about this school was the students attitude towards physical fitness as an important part of life.

Mr. Christopher Merli graduated from Red Bank Catholic and attended the University of Maryland and Monmouth College. He teaches Sociology and Psychology. Mr. Merli was on the varsity track team for four years when he attended R.B.C. Now he has graduated to coaching the football and track teams. Mr. Merli admired the much more relaxed atmosphere the school has now, a difference from when he was a student here. Also, the greater extent of administrative organization.

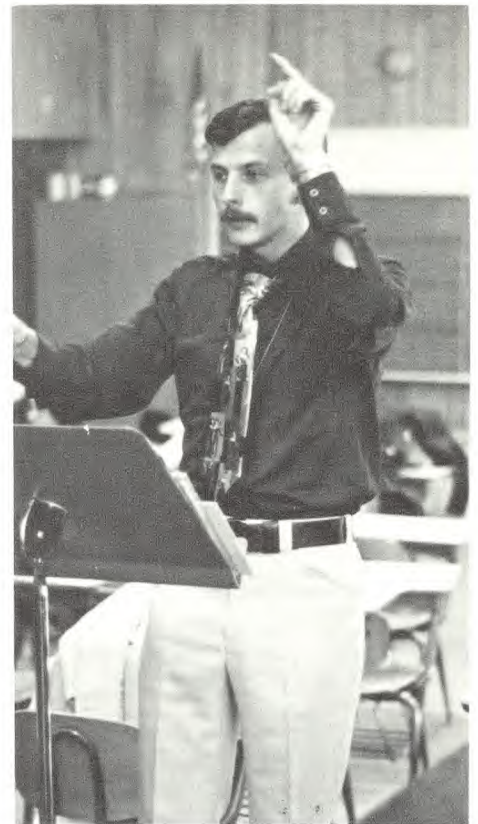

Mr. Louis DeSimone graduated from Red Bank Catholic and then went to Monmouth College for his B.S. degree. Mr. DeSimone teaches Physical Science and Patterns and Processes. He also moderates the Radio Club. He did teach before at Union Beach Junior High but says that Red Bank Catholic is a unique experience.

A UNIQUE EXPERIENCE

Mrs. Carolyn Devonshire graduated "Cum Laude" from Monmouth College and student taught at Red Bank Catholic last year. Mrs. Devonshire teaches Channels of Communication, is moderator of the Signpost, and helps with the Forensic Team. Her greater interests lie in the fields of writing and speech. She hopes that sometime in the future she will attain her Masters Degree in Speech Therapy.

One of the main concerns of St. Mary Denise of the English Department is advancing the reading skills of the Senior class. Also, during the fourth quarter, she offered a speed reading mini course. Sr. Denise, originally from St. Joseph School in Keyport is very impressed with the friendliness of the students at R.B.C. She enjoys teaching here and has a great interest in the basketball team.

To conclude our long list of new teachers is Sr. Mary Kerwin. Sr. Kerwin has a most interesting background, after serving as directress of Mt. St. Mary's Academy for seven years she was selected to study in Rome last year. Her situation is more than unique as she was one of thirty-six of the English speaking women envolved in this international, intercongregational study of scripture, theology and the religious life. During her year of study in Rome she also spent two years in Israel.

Sister is more than qualified to teach Scripture, which she loves, as she also has a M.A. in French.

The IDEA program is a group project developed by four teachers: Mr. Johnson, Mr. Lemig, Miss Carmody, and Mrs. Pennotti. Miss Carmody is the chairperson of the program and also teaches English. There are two individual areas in IDEA. One consists of English and History and the other Math and Science. The teachers of the two subject groups must work and plan together. The English and History are interdisciplinary as are the Math and Science.

This course emphasizes the basic skills as students work on an individual basis with A.V. equipment supplemented by lectures. Teacher Cadets are a very important part of the class. They assist small groups of students while the two teachers work with the large group.

The IDEA program is in its third year and it has helped many of its students to understand their courses better.

UNCLE JACK LOOKS BACK

Sister Percylee felt that this year would not be complete without a bicentennial program which hopefully would involve as many students and departments as possible. Mr. Jack Rafter became coordinator of this program.

The purpose of the program was to rekindle an appreciation of the spirit of America. The aim was to rebuild the interest in our laws and their meaning and at the same time to parallel our aims of the bicentennial year with that of our church.

The Diocese of Trenton used the motto "Liberty and Justice for All." This is what we have tried to bring out here in this program. Liberty and justice for all; no matter what creed or color.

Monmouth County was designated by the Diocese of Trenton as the county that will dedicate its study to the place of women, such as Molly Pitcher, in our revolution. An appeal went out to each department chairperson to present his or her own project, play, or something to represent this event. Each department presented an event that was representative of their area.

Mr. Rafter also brought out the fact that he was pleased with the student body in their acceptance of the real meaning of the Bicentennial. He remarked that we do have concerned students here at Red Bank Catholic who will care if we give them something to care about. The key word is involvement.

With every right there is a responsibility but how can one understand their responsibility if they don't understand their rights.

A QUICK LOOK AT OUR OLD FAVORITES

Mr. David Allen started out the new year by zipping through the parking lot on his new motorcycle. Mr. Louis Montanaro is still checking out the restaurant business and Mr. Robert Cioffi, along with Miss Mary Carmody and Mrs. Meredith Pennotti, took over the difficult task of coordinating the schools' plays "Gigi" and "The Little Prince" and are loving every minute of it. Carrot-topped Mr. Elwood Malick

A TRIBUTE TO SISTER ALMA

Sister Mary Charitas and Sister Percylee Hart join Sister Mary Alma in celebrating her Golden Jubilee.

Sister Mary Andrew prepares the centerpieces for Sister Alma's Jubilee Dinner.

It is with great pride that we recognize Sister Mary Alma's fiftieth year as a Sister of Mercy. In an interview she reminisced about the past and the future. As a person with a tremendous gift for helping students, she saw guidance and supervision as her field within the religious life. She helps others by teaching them how to help themselves. We all need to feel rewards within our lives, and Sister's rewards have come from seeing uncertain freshmen mature into educated competent adults ready to meet the challenges of a waiting world.

Sr. Alma has seen a need for curriculum change to fit our modern society especially in the vocational field; therefore, she instituted a modification of the business courses.

So again we salute you Sister Alma, may you have a very happy future.

Guests at Sister Mary Alma's Golden Jubilee recount some of the humorous stories of her past life in the convent.

Sister Mary Edwarda, Sister Percylee Hart, and Monsignor Monahan honor Sister Alma at a Jubilee Dinner.

Sister Mary Alma addresses the guests and friends from her fifty years of ministry.

The guests toast Sister Mary Alma's fifty years of dedication.

... to the Junior Ring Ceremony ...

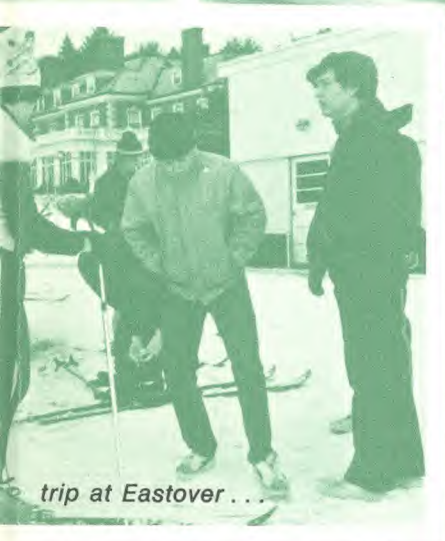

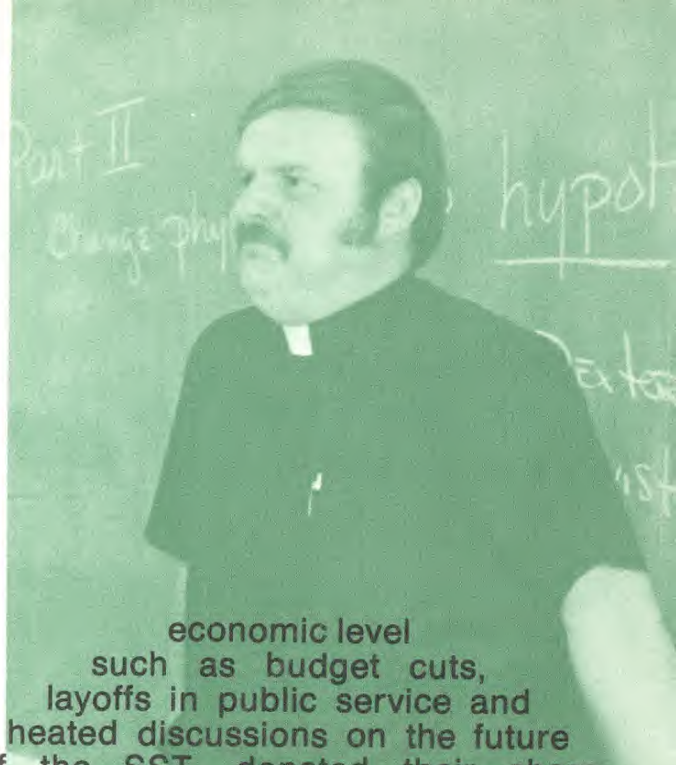

... to the Senior

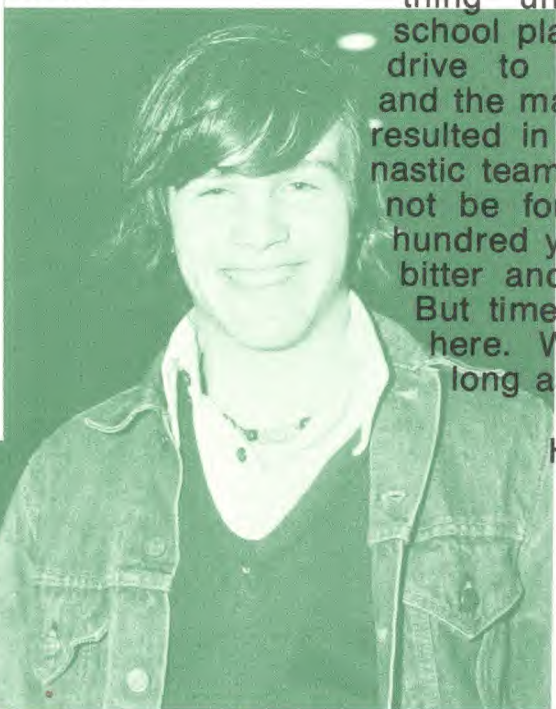

The slow walk of the second hand has again brought us to June and the close of another year. What has contributed to the uniqueness of this year? The answer is found in international events as well as those in our school, for these happenings can never be repeated in the exact same way. It has been a painstaking experience for Miss Hearst to relive on trial her months as captive of the S.L.A. Heartbreaking discussion surrounded Karen Quinlan, a twenty-one year old girl, caught in a comatose state hovering between life and death. It was a new beginning for Hua Kuo Fong, who became the acting premier of China after the death of Chou En-lai. Medical knowledge marked this year with a hopeful tone. It was stated that in a period of ten to thirty years, heart attacks would no longer be a prevalent cause of death. Changes on the economic level such as budget cuts, layoffs in public service and heated discussions on the future of the SST, donated their share to making this year the year that "was". In RBC, Father Time had a hand in everything undertaken. The success of the school play "GIGI", the concerts, the candle drive to benefit the school economically, and the many athletic victories; some of which resulted in a state championship for the gymnastic team are just a few examples. It should not be forgotten that it has also been two hundred years of success outlined with both bitter and bright moments for our nation. But time is endless and we will not stop here. We shall continue to strive as long as Time exists ...

Happy Birthday, America!
