WHO'S WHO AND WHY

Mrs. C.F. REPLOGLE had as visitors for a few days, POLLY BERGEN'S mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. WILLIAM BERGEN. They were here in Florida visiting their daughter, Mrs. RICHARD SIBLEY, of Titusville. The William Bergens are from Albuquerque, New Mexico, and this is their first visit to the Island and they really loved it.

Mr. and Mrs. ALTER FIFE of Morris Plains, N.J., who are visiting at Shalimar, were walking along the beach last week and found a---guess what! A fat live seahorse. Being a couple of gentle nature filled with kindness and compassion, they put same in a bucket of sea water, at which point, he sort of rolled around and gave birth to hundreds of baby seahorses.

Faced with caring for a larger family than they had originally bargained for, the Fifes promptly called wildlife expert Charles LeBuff, who at last report, is valently trying to keep the family alive and healthy. Hope he does.

Also arriving over the weekend was Mr. E.M. DURSTINE from Columbus, Ohio. He joined Mrs. Durstine and her mother, Mrs. LOGAN, who arrived a week ago to get their new home on Gulf Drive in order. The rest of the family---children and grandchildren---will be coming in shortly.

H.A. VROOMAN of Captiva Island, who has been running a successful radio and television business on the Islands since 1960, is another example of a "Florida retiree" who ends up working twice as hard as he did at home. He started a radio and electronics business in St. Louis in 1921 (for those of the younger generation, that was back in the days before popular commercial television) and worked hard for almost 40 years. Then, figuring 'twas time to relax, he sold the business, moved to the Islands---and you know the result. Work, work, work---but at least it's a lovely climate to work in!

HERB and EMMY LULEWIS flew in Friday from Saint Paul, Minn., to take up residence for the winter at their home on Gulf Drive, "Moonshell Cottage." With them is a new addition, "Yoyo," a Schnauzer puppy.

TO THE ISLANDER:

Reader R. Ungerdunger's timely article in the December 7 issue of the Islander has been read by us with great interest, as we are presently undertaking a Fellowship research study on the early morning marauding habits of the Moray and/or Electric Eel; including, of course, its questionable overtones of salt water mayhem.

It is indeed providential that scientist Ungerdunger has released at this time his observations on ANGUILLA BOSTONIENSIS, which is a member of the larger MURAENIDAE family. Currently, our study is considering the possible extinction of the beloved Flying Fish because of eel egg stealing from their mangrove nests. We are happy to report that the Flying Fish now appear to be moving their nests to such heights that they may soon be co-existing with the doves, hawks, and other such high flying birds.

We were acutely shocked to know that shell-jingling is the only way to short-circuit a Flying Fish egg-gorged eel while it is in a turned on tail-in-mouth regenerating catalepsy.

The next phase of our ichthyological study will be devoted to varying degrees of the liver disease which we believe to be indigenous to the Moray. We hope to establish once and for all how far advanced the disease becomes in order to agitate the increments of its usual vile personality. The depth of pigmentation, size of spots, and epidermal coverage should lead to the answer. There is one remaining question we feel will never be answered; viz, should the spots denoting a liver ailment stop at the neck of the eel, thus indicating a margin of safety for shell-jingling.

And so we say to your readers, we strongly advise heeding the wise old adage "Let the Buyer Beware" when considering the purchase of the Chinese silk as it may have come from an ill eel.

/s/ Mrs. Holden Hill
Chairm. of the Fellows
P.S. We hope this current thesis throws more light on such an illuminating subject.

ISLAND POSTMASTER SLOT STILL UNDER CONSIDERATION

Word regarding status of the plans for a new postoffice and postmaster for Sanibel has been received by the Sanibel-Captiva Democratic Club, ANNE WINTERBOTHAM, president, reports. Congressman PAUL ROGERS has written that "preliminary notices advising applicants of the grades they received on the written portion of the examination for the postmastership were mailed in November." It is expected that it will be three to four months before the commission can examine the second part of the examinations.

An inspection by a Postal Service Officer was requested by the Postoffice Department "to see if the bids being considered meet the needs of the community location-wise." Report on this survey is "expected momentarily," Congressman Rogers advises, "and the Region advises me that they will accept a bid pursuant to the findings of the survey shortly thereafter."

SANIBEL COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION

More than one hundred and twenty five Islanders and guests were on hand for the December buffet dinner and business meeting of the Sanibel Community Association.

The building was decorated throughout with a Christmas motif by hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burt, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Cousins and Mrs. Dellmar Reynolds, who also presided over the buffet table. Following dinner a brief business meeting was held. President Gerald Martin announced that Mrs. Sylvia Strong has accepted chairmanship of the Driftwood Booth for the 1968 Sanibel Shell Fair and Mrs. Otto Jones will again serve as chairman of the Registration Booth. New members welcomed were Col. and Mrs. Robert Aycock and Mr. and Mrs. George Czajak. Mrs. Tom Nix advised that category and rules sheets for the 1968 shell exhibits are on hand and may be picked up at the Chamber of Commerce or your favorite shell shop, also that judging by entries already received the new addition to the building will also be filled with fine exhibits.

Program chairman Mrs. William Newman introduced Lee Roy Friday who served as master of ceremonies for the evening's entertainment which included lullabies sung by Miriam Schriener accompanied by Ruth Ross, a Christmas skit under the direction of Jo Romine with Linda Legel as narrator. Actors were Julie Woodring, Wayne Woodring and Dale Legel. Mrs. Newman gave a beautiful reading from Ben Hur. Marian Chapin, composer and musician, sang several of her original compositions accompanying herself on the piano. Mr. Friday sang several solos accompanied by Jean Culpepper then led all the assembled guests in closing the program with Christmas Carols.

AMERICAN LEGION
AUXILIARY

The December meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. Marshall Holtz on San Carlos Bay.

Boxes of articles for use at the three Veteran's hospitals were ready for mailing. Lap robes, pillow slips and utility bags had been made by Mrs. Holtz, Mrs. Floyd Pflough and Mrs. Tom Nix.

Most of the Claxton fruit cakes had been sold but a few are still available from Goldie Nave, Priscilla Murphy and Mary Nix.

Following the business meeting Mr. Holtz and his mother, Mrs. Alice Holtz, who is visiting from Arlington, Virginia, joined the members for a social hour.

CHRISTMAS IS A MANY SPLENDORED THING

E. Bruno Warych

It's holly leaves, and crystal snow---the scent of spicy pine, and the sparkle of tinsel---ribbons and packages and greeting cards. It's peppermint sticks and plum pudding, chestnuts roasting over an open fire and laughter 'neath the mistletoe.

Christmas is the love of your loved ones. It's children's laughter and the "ohs" and "ahs" of anticipated satisfaction. It's homemade costumes and a pageant of the three wandering Kings. It's Dickens and Scrooge and Tiny Tim. It's the singing of familiar carols---the warm greeting and hearty handshake of friends.

Christmas is many things---the silent snow settling on the roof tops of the world---a husband and wife exchanging a kiss---a treasured memory, a family feast, forgiveness of wrong and injury. It's a season of good cheer, goodwill, and peace.

Christmas is a bell, carols, manger, church at midnight, a bowed head, a vast hush, the midnight heaven, the majestic swell of a church choir. Christmas is a time of prayer, renewal of spirit, of inspiration, of hope.

Christmas is Mary and Joseph and the Child wrapped in swaddling clothes, being adored by the simple shepherds and cherubs. Yes, indeed, Christmas is all these splendid things and many, many more.

CHRISTMAS AT CHATEAUX SUR MER

Dr. Rolf Steffen and family, Heidi, Roy and Claudine, will arrive on Sanibel the nineteenth of the month to take charge of their new home. For the past few months Michigan Co. has been busily building their beautiful three bedroom home on the Gulf front. Dr. Steffen is a professor at Purdue University as Head of their Physics Research Department. The entire family will spend the holidays decorating their new home and also planting new trees and shrubs. We hope that some time will be left for swimming and just plain relaxing.

On the twenty-sixth the George Armstrongs will arrive from Toronto. Their new home was finished this past summer. George and Reina spent several weeks in November completing the furniture arrangements and also the planting around the yard. The holiday season is for the family to view the handiwork of the parents and to give to George and Reina a rest. Ruth Ross is expecting Mr. and Mrs. Rhinehart and their son, Andy, and a friend of his for several days after Christmas.

Howard and Mim Schriener will be entertaining Mr. and Mrs. G.E. Bounds from Largo. Russ and Dot Kraft will also be busy entertaining friends from Fort Lauderdale. Pat Konrad will arrive the twenty-second from Boston to spend the holidays with his family. He is a junior in Boston University. Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to ALL.

FORT MYERS-LEE COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

General Maxwell D. Taylor, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and U.S. Ambassador to South Vietnam, 1964-65, will come to Fort Myers January 25, 1968 to address the 47th annual meeting of the Fort Myers-Lee County Chamber of Commerce, Inc.

The announcement was made yesterday by President Lewis B. Barber, who said that 2,000 reservation order forms for the meeting will be mailed next week to Chamber members.

Currently president of the Institute for Defense Analysis, General Taylor toured Southeast Asia capitals on a Presidential mission in connection with the Vietnam war earlier this year. A news special on his findings there, entitled "The Cause in Vietnam Is Being Won" appeared in the New York Times Magazine Section on October 15 of this year. The General's subject in Fort Myers will be "The Realities of a Vietnam Settlement."

Having served as a special advisor to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, the General has authored a number of books, his latest being "Responsibility and Response." Famous as an erudite general yet known for his appreciation of practical politics, it was because of his advocacy of a so-called "limited war strategy" that the General resigned as chief of staff of the Army during the Eisenhower administration, which had based its defense policies on "massive retaliation."

The General's inclination toward scholarly rhetoric was reflected in the choice of a title for his book criticizing the Eisenhower defense policies. He called it "The Uncertain Trumpet." It was because of his "limited war strategy," as outlined in this book, that President Kennedy recalled the General to government service and later made him chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in

From that time on, either as an advisor at the White House, in uniform at the Pentagon or as an Ambassador in Vietnam, he has been a major contributor to the United States policy in Vietnam.

Barber said that tickets for this year's steak dinner will be $8 per person and that a new and unique seating arrangement is planned to accommodate guests more comfortably. Entertainment will be provided during the dinner hour. Dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m.

Gifts of books to the Sanibel Island Public Library recently have added to the titles and the service the library can offer.

"The Country Team" by Robin Moore has been donated by Mrs. Sylvia Strong. Mrs. Strong also has given "The Thing of It Is . . ." by William Goldman. Both books are fiction.

Unknown donors also have added to the children's and teen sections with gifts of sets. One 11-book set comprises Life's Nature Library. Another set of 11 books recently donated is the American Heritage Junior Library, covering various aspects of American history and geography.

One part of the junior section of the library has been set aside for books of interest to teenagers. These books have been marked with a red "T" at the bottom of the binding for easy identification.

Mike Newcome and Mary Moore of Chicago, Ill., with 21 Redfish, 2 Snook, 6 Sheepshead they caught with Bob Sabatino.

Mike is staying with his aunt, Mrs. Beach Clow, on Captiva. Mrs. Clow and Mike caught 18 Redfish on a previous trip with Bob.

(contd. from last week)

On a calm day, you may even want to venture out into the bay. One of our favorite spots is one of the Wulfert Keys, a roost for hundreds of pelicans. But it's not the pelicans that attract us---rather the company that searches them out---the frigate birds, one of the most graceful species aloft. For its body weight the frigate bird has the widest wing span of any bird. It sails like a glider through the air, waiting to dive onto a pelican to rob it of its catch. (For the frigate bird disdains doing its own fishing. Because of its wing span it can't take off from the water.) During the breeding season in November, the male bird has a bright patch on its throat which shows from the distance like the aillight of a car.

The mudflats between the Wulfert Keys and stretching all the way into the now blind pass that used to separate Sanibel from Captiva, as well as those in the Roosevelt Channel separating Captiva from Buck Key, are ideal for shelling. Most people get discouraged after having once stalked through the gooky mud with little to show for their efforts but some barnacled whelks. The ideal time to shell is when the flats are still covered with a few inches of water. The shells are still active and visible, and when you know the spots, you won't have much trouble picking up live tulips, horse conches, lightning conches, king's crowns, and---if you have the patience and knowledge to dig for them---angel wings.

Except for a kayak there is really no other boat with which you could do all this as well. You couldn't glide in three-inch deep water with any other boat, or pull it off a mudflat as easily if you get stuck; there is nothing that can be propelled so noiselessly through water to watch birds or surprise alligators; its the only craft you can push through thickets of cattails; there is no unmotorized craft that can move so swiftly; and last, but not least, it provides the most satisfying, wholesome exercise, especially for people who are beginning to suffer from those office-desk back aches.

If you don't own a canoe, you can rent one at the Red Pelican, recently relocated on Bailey Road, in the old Bailey store, which in itself is somewhat of an historical monument, dating back to the times when all supplies for the Island came in by boat from Fort Myers.

SHELL TABLE ON DISPLAY

The Community Association's shell table, which will be given away to some lucky ticket holder during 1968's shell fair will be on display at Bailey's in the Shopping Center through Christmas Eve Day. Christmas week through New Year's Eve Day you can see it at Priscilla Murphy's office.

Don't miss it---and don't you think that chances on it might make good "stocking stuffers?"

GULF DRIVE SANIBEL

SANIBEL-CAPTIVA CONSERVATION FOUNDATION, INC.

Formal organization of the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation, Inc., of Sanibel and Captiva Islands, was announced by the directors following a meeting of the organization last week. The purpose of the Foundation is to further conservation efforts in their broadest scope on Sanibel, Captiva, and other islands of the offshore chain.

The Foundation is the successor to the Jay N. "Ding" Darling Sanctuary Committee, which for the last six years has worked to have the area of the present "Ding" Darling Sanctuary on Sanibel set aside as a memorial to the late cartoonist and conservationist. The committee was an arm of the J.N. "Ding" Darling Foundation of Des Moines, Iowa.

Separation from the Darling Foundation, and reorganization as an independent foundation, was mutually agreed upon by the members of the former Darling Committee and the Board of Trustees of the Darling Foundation. Both organizations will continue to work together, but it was recognized that the local group has broader interests in the offshore islands than the Des Moines Foundation, and that distance created administrative problems that could best be handled by separate incorporation of the local group.

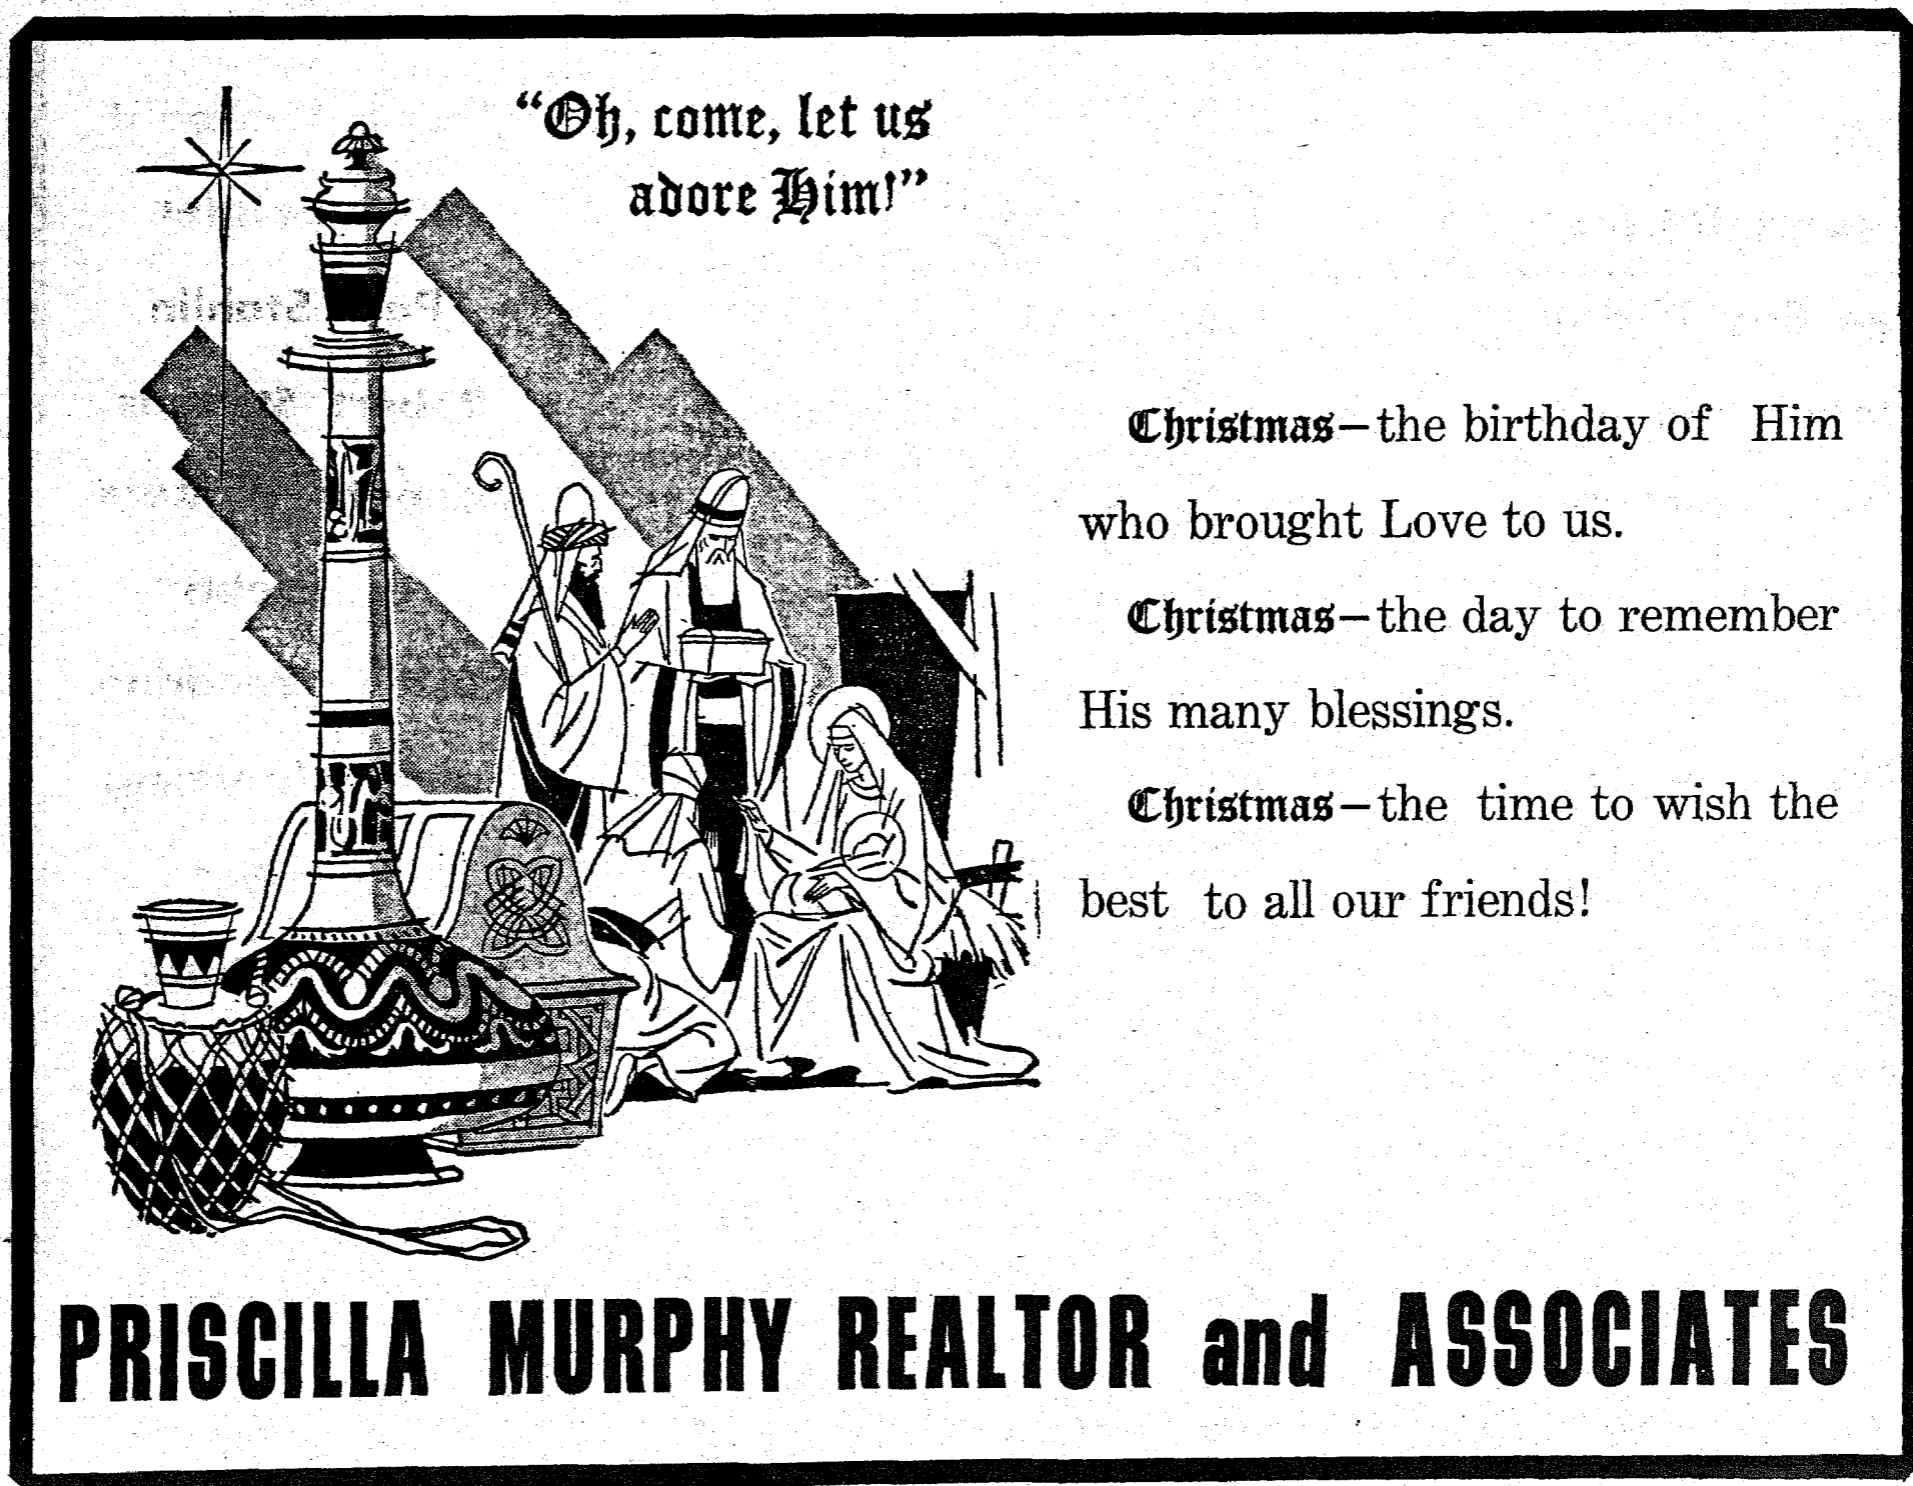

In announcing the separation, Sherry R. Fisher, chairman of the executive committee of the Darling Foundation, and Mrs. Herbert Lewis of Sanibel, chairman of the board of the Sanibel-Captiva Foundation, stressed the intent of both organizations to cooperate closely in the future as they have in the past. Arrangements are being made to transfer all funds donated for use in the Sanibel Sanctuary but deposited with the Des Moines Foundation.

The Board of Directors of the Sanibel-Captiva Foundation, Inc., established under the laws of the State of Florida in November, 1967, are: chairman, Mrs. Herbert Lewis; vice chairman, Roy Bazire; secretary, Hervey Roberts; and Mrs. Willis Combs, James Jack, Joe Gault, Tom Wood, Charles LeBuff, Jr., Mrs. George Winterbotham, Griffing Bancroft, and Tom Mitchell.

AUDUBON CHRISTMAS SHOW

The Sanibel-Captiva Audubon will offer a special show for children and adults on Thursday, December 21, at 8 p.m., at the Sanibel Community House. The program will include two beautiful films by Bill Baird, America's foremost puppeteer, called "The Nativity" and "The Night Before Christmas." The second part of the program will be a presentation by Mario Hutton of some of his best liked "photo-verse" features, among them "Granny's Field Trip," "Blizzard Over Ding Darling," "We, Your Spoonbills," and the ever popular story of "Old Pete, the Pelican." Hutton will also present for the first time three new features, written in a festive vein, titled: "Party Boat Party," "The Hepsy Generation," and "Plumed Guests at Periwinkle Park." The show will be open to the public.
