AN EDITORIAL

We would like to endorse two candidates in the run-off primary May 28---Frank Lott, Democratic candidate for School Board, District #2, and Chris Stafford, Democratic candidate for County Commissioner, District #3.

Stafford, who has been well known to us for a number of years, is an experienced, honest and intelligent man. We feel his election would give us one more man on the County Commissioners Board who not only knows what he is doing, but has the good of the entire county at heart.

Frank Lott, who is the incumbent for School Board, also impresses us as an honest man who knows what he is doing---and one who will work intelligently for the entire school district. While he knows what he is about in the business world (and the School Board members should have business experience as they budget a great deal of money each year) he is also open to suggestions from parents and taxpayers at all times.

Don't forget to vote Tuesday, May 28.

BOTTOMS UP!

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS

Next week, Memorial Day falls on Thursday. (As a matter of fact, ALL holidays this year seem to fall on Wednesday or Thursday---except Labor Day---which plays havoc with our schedules.)

Anyhow, this means the paper will come out on WEDNESDAY, May 29, instead of Thursday. This also means that our deadlines will be pushed backwards---we will pick up all copy and ads on the Islands on THURSDAY, when we deliver this week's paper. Last minute news items may be called in to the Islander office Friday afternoon or between 9 and 11 a.m. on Saturday. Thank you for your cooperation.

THE ISLANDER'S ISLANDERS
 by e.c. bailey

OLIVE SEASON

Mrs. James Garrett of Sebastian, Florida, a guest at Casa Turquesa Motel on Gulf Drive, found a perfect golden olive in The Rocks area last week. She has also found two Lion Paws and a number of Lemon Pectins. Needless to say after such fabulous shelling she plans on returning to the Island this fall.

Claudia Holloway, whose mother is manager of Sand Castles Motel, also on Gulf Drive, found a lovely golden olive in the same area, on Mother's Day. It is quite a coincidence that her mother's name happens to be Olive.

LUCKY HARRY!

Harry Blank, a guest at the Tradewinds Motel, really had some marvelous luck. While fishing in front of the motel he caught a 28 pound Snook, using cut mullet for bait. That is a sizable catch! A number of smaller Snook were also taken.

CHAIN HELP REACTION

Marty Stokes, a grandson of Mrs. Pearl Stokes, won a stack of records from station WMYR, by providing the answer to this question: "What were the first words spoken by Greta Garbo in her first talking picture 'Anna Christie'?" With a half hour to find the answer and the telephone handy, inquiries went out to Ruth Hunter of the Pirate Playhouse, and she in turn referred the question to Jean Culpepper, who upon checking her reference books, came up with the right answer which was, "Gif me viskey, ginger ale on the side, and don't be stingy, Baby."

BALL PLAYERS NEEDED

The Sanibel-Captiva ball team could use players I was told by one of the team members, anyone interested in some good healthy exercise?

The team will be playing its first game on Sanibel Saturday,

May 18, and we wish the team every success. By the time this reaches the eyes of our readers, of course this game will have already been played.

Some more news about one of our young people. Sammy Sharp, son of Mrs. Pat Murphy, has been accepted as a cadet at the Florida Air Academy at Plantation, Florida, and will be starting there in September.

Continuation of last week's story "Islander Returns for a Visit."

As was mentioned in last week's article the first home that the Knowles' family had was built of Palmetto. This shack had a dirt floor, where the young Bob played many happy hours. His mother went down to the beach and brought white sand to spread on the floor, with this and shells, she succeeded in covering the black dirt. This first Island home of their own was destroyed by fire.

When young Bob reached the age of four, or four and one half, his father was working on his own, cutting buttonwood into stove lengths, loading it into a sailboat, and delivering it to Fort Myers. Sometimes this trip would take as long as a week, as the rate of progress was governed by the winds, which as we all know can be very fickle. Bob and his mother went along on these trips occasionally and their bed at night was a mattress spread on the deck, but what good sleeping! One recollection that he has of one of these trips is when the Boom came around, striking the father and knocking him overboard. Luckily the water was only about neck deep and his father managed to scramble back aboard. Can't you just hear young Robert breathing a sigh of relief to see his father safely back aboard? This was the family's source of livelihood for a while.

When mother and son remained home, they never knew just when Mr. Knowles would return, and many times they would walk to the shore and watch for a sail on the horizon, and when one hove into view, then they rejoiced to know he had made a safe return.

One recollection of Mr. Knowles' is of attending a religious service with the Bryant family on another island. Their method of transportation was by boat, and as they were proceeding along the wind arose and blew quite hard, they were all sitting on the high side, and someone said, "Robert, sit hard," his reply was, "I is sitting hard."

Another time he and his parents were in a rowboat when a big fish came up under the boat and began to nuzzle it, which to a small boy was quite frightening, but since it did not seem to disturb his father at all, he gradually became calm again.

A little later his father built a home on Buck Key. This was originally homesteaded by H.P. Knowles, young Bob's grandfather. The house was built by the side of the dock, and the house was built over the water. His playground at this time was the dock, and his playmate a little girl named Ann Brainerd. One day as they were playing together on the dock, using a grocery box as his boat, a stick nailed to one end for a mast, and a rag tied to it for sail, as all good sailors must, he climbed the mast, it toppled over and so did young Bob. The water was about six feet deep, and the tide fast going out. Young Ann nonchalantly walked to the kitchen door and said, "Mrs. Knowles, Robert tumbled overboard." Quickly his mother ran by his grandmother's room, grabbed her, then to the dock where she found her son clinging to a piling. Mother looked over, son looked back, and then he spoke, "Oh, my Lord." Mother replied, "Oh, you're alright," and then with grandmother's aid he was rescued from the briny deep, just as wet as a drowned rat. After that he sat around in the house for several days in a deep study, having been told that the big fish in the water would eat him, he marveled at his escape, and that was the last time he fell overboard.

Ruth Hunter called to say that the Angel Trumpet tree is in bloom on the east side of the Pirate Playhouse. Be sure to look for it when passing by.

WHAT'S NEW ON PALM AVE, CAPTIVA?

Glenn Zadra found a beautiful big black shark's tooth on May 17---on the beach on Palm Ave. Glenn has quite a collection in the few months he was here. He has two ladies ears, two Lions Paws---lots of Sand Dollars all sizes and shells of all colors and sizes, Saturday Glenn leaves for Milwaukee, Wisconsin with his mother, grandmother and sister, Susie. His father is home from Viet Nam and will now fly out of Milwaukee on United Airlines.

CHILDREN'S HOME NEEDS DRIVERS

The Volunteer Service Bureau is looking for people to drive the teenagers from the Lee County Children's Home to the Teen Club and the Beehive on Friday and Saturday nights during the summer. The drivers do not have to stay and chaperon, but will be required to return to pick the teenagers up and take them back to the Home.

Mrs. Robert Arnall, President of the Bureau, said Riverside School is in need of volunteers to instruct the children in swimming from 12:30 to 1:30 at the Fort Myers City Pool, Monday through Friday.

If you are interested in this or any other type volunteer work, contact the Volunteer Service Bureau at Edison 7-6551 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. The Volunteer Bureau is sponsored by the Junior Welfare League of Fort Myers.

NEW YORK---AND VICEVERSA

To recuperate from the hustle and bustle of Sanibel's hectic winter season, Mario Hutton decided to get away from it all by visiting dear old little New York. Back from his two week "vacation," he reports that his trip was fruitful on several counts. Among the highlights can be listed a "command performance" of a medley of his "photo-verse" programs at Audubon House, attended by the President and many Directors and department leaders of the National Audubon Society. As an immediate result, the Manhasset Women's Club and the Oyster Bay Garden Club engaged Mario for two shows to be held on Long Island in October. Also, he reached a long-term agreement for nation-wide bookings with Keedick Lectures, Inc., one of America's oldest and foremost lecture bureaus. Finally, Charles Callison, National Audubon Executive Vice President, requested Mr. Hutton to convey to the leaders and members of the Sanibel-Captiva Chapter his warm appreciation for the growing scope of their activities. Mr. Callison also offered definite assurances that National Audubon will cooperate and lend the full weight of its support if situations arise on our Islands, requiring the defense of conservation or wildlife protection causes.

MATTHEWS - ROBERTS

Miss Sally Jackson Matthews was married to Charles Kenneth Roberts last Saturday afternoon at St. Michael and All Angels' Church in a double-ring ceremony performed by Fr. Thomas A. Madden. Miss Betty Sears was organist.

Mrs. Roberts is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson Matthews of Fort Myers. The groom is the son of Mrs. Inez Roberts, also of Fort Myers, and the late J.B. Roberts.

The bride wore a floor-length lace gown with long seed-pearl-trimmed sleeves and a chapel train. Her silk illusion veil was topped with a headpiece of seed pearls and organza petals, and she carried white daisies and orchids.

Her sisters, Miss Jane Matthews and Miss Virginia Matthews were maid of honor and bridesmaid. They wore formal A-line yellow crepe dresses and carried yellow and purple spider mums.

John Hartman was best man, Joe Matthews, brother of the bride, and Thomas Skripps were ushers.

Mrs. Birgit Dickey and Mrs. R.T. Kirk assisted as the reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Matthews in the parish hall and patio of the church.

The couple will live in Orlando, where Mr. Roberts will continue his studies at Florida Technical College. Mrs. Roberts, a graduate nurse, will take a job as a staff nurse there.

FACTS ABOUT BOOKS

Two Sanibel winter residents, Mrs. Vera M. Cantor of Gulf Drive, and Mrs. Muriel F. Lesser, a Palm Lake property owner, are the co-authors of a new children's book just released by the Smithsonian Press. The book, Cal Rodgers and the "Vin Fiz," is the first story written for children published by the Smithsonian Institution Press of Washington, D.C. It tells of the first Atlantic to Pacific flight in 1911 by Cal Rodgers. Mrs. Cantor and Mrs. Lesser thought of writing the Cal Rodgers' story when they were flying in a jet from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Despite the fact that Cal Rodgers pioneered this route, the tale of his epic flight has been almost unknown.

The authors spent many months unearthing the scattered facts about Cal Rodgers' historic flight from microfilm of old newspapers, research files, and personal interviews.

The original Vin Fiz may be seen in the National Air and Space Museum, Smithsonian Institution at Washington, D.C.

Whereas, private property ownership is an inherent right and a principal safeguard of a free society, evidenced in Florida and the nation by the fact that more than two-thirds of our families own their homes, and Whereas, this right is zealously guarded by Realtors of Florida, who have contributed toward public confidence in real estate ownership by their pledge to uphold the Code of Ethics of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, and Whereas, Realtors have contributed much to every level of local and state government by their participation in public affairs and charitable and educational causes, and
