Baldinger's Chopped

A Taste Tickler

Patrick Muldowney, Jr. (pictured) found his first golden olive at The Rocks beach while staying at the Cardeza house in the Rocks. Patrick, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Muldowney of Hoffman Estates, Illinois and his sisters Peggy and Mary Jo have been coming to Sanibel for several years and have become ardent shellers, but this first golden olive is the highlight of all their trips.

ENGLISH VISITOR ENJOYS ISLANDS

Mr. Steven Guylee, 22, of Leeds and Sheffield, England, is winding up a two-week holiday with a visit to his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Woodhams of Gulf Drive, Sanibel Island. Steven, a graduate of Scarborough College, is presently employed with the Nevin D. Hirst Advertising Agency in Leeds, Yorkshire. His visit was inspired by a photo album Mr. Woodhams sent to England showing the Woodhams family gathering on Sanibel for their Christmas holidays.

After looking over the array of 1st and 2nd cousins, he decided it was time to get to know them. His first stop was to see Cousin Betty, Mrs. Neil Smith and her family, in Orange, California. The Smiths took him to San Diego, San Francisco, The Farmers' Market, Disneyland, a pizza parlor (he'd never seen one of those) and finally to Las Vegas.

He thought America was turning out pretty wonderfully.

Steven then flew to Margaret's, Mrs. Theodore Horn and family in Charlottesville, Virginia, and toured the points of interest in Virginia and the Shenandoah Valley. He was overwhelmed with the history of the places he saw.

He had a short stopover in Washington for a few snatches of sightseeing and flew to Chicago where friends of the Smiths showed him around the windy city until time to fly to Peru, Indiana, and a visit with Walter Woodhams, Jr., and his family.

He enjoyed a good old barbecue and a romp in the pool with his five young 2nd cousins and then climbed aboard another plane to fly to Fort Myers via Tampa.

His comment, when he was met at Fort Myers, was that he never knew there were so many different airlines. It was quite a contrast from traveling across his relatively small country.

Mr. Woodhams is still recovering from surgery, so his friends have taken over for him and are showing Steven some of the wonders of Sanibel. Wilson Wright is taking him out in the bay for fishing and a ride through the mangroves. Dr. Curtis House is taking him out in the Gulf and for a trip around the island. Howard Schriener is taking him on a shelling trip and ride through Ding Darling Sanctuary to duplicate the trip taken by Steven's mother and father when they visited Sanibel two years ago.

Steven leaves tomorrow (Friday) from Miami to fly to Nassau and then home and he's wondering if he'll get a chance to see anything of our conventioners while passing through Miami.

Steven says he will long treasure the kaleidoscope of pleasant memories of this remarkable tour and he is grateful for the opportunity of getting to know his American family. Steven's mother is Mr. Woodhams' younger sister. The Woodham family, originally from Marshall, Indiana, lived at Schriver Drive in Fort Myers before moving to the Islands.

To The Islander:

I enclose my check for $3.50, to continue my subscription to the Sanibel-Captiva Islander. I don't miss a word of the Islander, as everything about Sanibel fascinates me, and has done since we first started going to Casa Ybel in 1949. You are doing a fine job with the paper.

/s/Yours sincerely,

Katherine S. Rosin

P.S. The way I first heard of Sanibel was an advertisement in the Personals column of the Saturday Review, which I was in charge of from about 1939-1941. I can't remember the wording, but it went approximately as follows: Will send a box of beautiful Sanibel shells anywhere in the world for a dollar. Signed Ex-Reverend Beachcomber. Do any of your subscribers know who he was and if he still exists? I would appreciate a little notice in the Islander about this, merely as curiosity. Perhaps he does not want to be found.

Guests at the Beachview Cottages are Dr. & Mrs. J. D. LYNCH and their two children of Altamonte Springs, Florida, here for their annual vacation. On his second day here, Dr. Lynch hauled in a 16 lb. snook and two 14 lb. snook.

Also here for their annual visit are Dr. and Mrs. DONALD DOUGHTY of Coral Gables; Dr. & Mrs. A. M. NOGUEIRS and family of Miami are on their second visit to Beachview; Dr. & Mrs. CONRAD HAVEN and their two boys of Daytona Beach are expected to arrive at Beachview on Friday and reportedly have plans to do some vigorous fishing while they are here. (Sounds like a doctor's convention.)

Guests staying at the By The Sea Motel are: Mr. & Mrs. DONALD MAC LAUGHLAN of Bethel Park, Pa., Mr. & Mrs. EDWARD L. MICHEL and friends are visiting from Richmond Hill, Long Island, New York; Mr. and Mrs. DONALD SMITH of Ft. Myers; Mr. & Mrs. CECIL EDWARDS of Oreville, Ohio; Mrs. ROSS HAL-LAS and her two sons of Bridgeton, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. JAMES PERCH of Clearwater; Mr. and Mrs. ALBERT IRVING of Philadelphia, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. LELAND FISHER of Leesburg, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. THOMAS ROGERS and Mr. & Mrs. EDWIN JONES of Orlando; Mr. and Mrs. FRED CRUMMEL of St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. CLICK of Hollywood, Fla.; Mr. & Mrs. MOODY of Birmingham, Ala.; Mr. & Mrs. EMMETT COATS of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. VINCENT CAMSAROTO of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. LORIN WHITE of Lima, Ill. and Mrs. RITA OSENICO of Isly Terrace, Long Island, New York.

VIVIAN REMUS found a live sunray venus on the Gallery beach ---for those who are not familiar with the sunray venus, it's a shell, not a girl!

ROGER FIRESTONE spent a few days at the South Seas Plantation Marina on his 68 foot Trumpy Built yacht the "Tireless." Things are really gay at the regular Saturday night dinner dances at South Seas and if you haven't seen MARY GAULT do the Alley Cat you ain't seen nothin' yet! The Saturday night dances will continue as a regular at South Seas and the public is welcome.

To The Editor:

An experience, perhaps which is commonplace to most of the residents of the beach area, delighted myself, and my family last week.

We went deep-sea fishing in the green, green waters of the Gulf of Mexico. The eight hour excursion on a local chartered vessel was enhanced by everyone catching a handsome catch of fish.

What could mar such a weather-perfect, thrilling day?

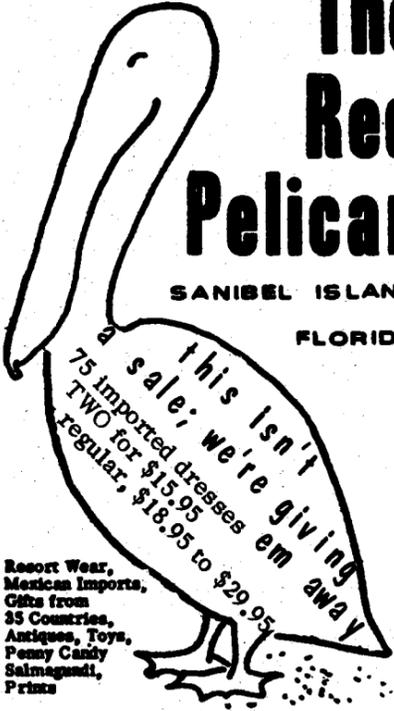

While on board our charming vessel, the guests, following the lead of two of the employees threw overboard their paper cups, cans, bottle caps, napkins, cigarettes, paper sacks, orange-peelings, etc.

How can people be so careless - sure, a lot of this stuff may sink to the bottom (another few generations, and the bottom of the Gulf will be one big garbage dump) but most of this is washed up on the near beaches. I used to blame those who came to our beaches to sunbathe, but now I realize they are not alone in the gulf. This was only one boat, and one day...please think of our future children, and their pleasures.

Please help to keep America beautiful.

/s/ D. M. Earnest

Well, when we start making mistakes, we never stop at one. The gentleman above, Lee Limbert, who went fishing while on the Islands with guide Jerry Way, is holding a lovely large fish which we called a 23 lb. trout. We now wish to say that while a 23 lb. trout would undoubtedly be found in Sanibel waters, if anywhere, and would also establish a world's record weight, the lovely fish Mr. Limbert is holding is a 23 lb. snook. Which is altogether another kettle of fish.

The Fridays

Amy Williams and Joan Yates, inspired by their catch of snook, pose happily for guide Bob Sabintino on Captiva. They're staying at the Pickard House on Captiva Island. Bill, Joan's husband, and Joan also caught an even dozen of snook the day before.

MORE

More information, that is. The guide for Art Coffey and his grandson (printed in the Islander) last week was none other than (to quote Syracuse newspaper columnist Joe Beamish) "young, quiet, modest" Jerry Way of Sanibel Island. We thought you might like to know, especially since Jerry threatened to take us out tarpon fishing and dump us overboard if we didn't print it. (he didn't really threaten us---it just sounds better that way.)

By the way, the aforesaid Joe Beamish devoted a whole column to the Islands when he got home a couple of months ago. He liked everything---the causeway, the beaches, the shelling, the fishes, Jerry, the robins, and "one of the best trailer camps on the west coast," Periwinkle Trailer Park, owned by the Muenches.
