WILDERNESS SOCIETY MEETS

Immediately following the most successful closing of the Florida Audubon's Conference on Sanibel, attended at times by over 200 participants, another leading American organization in the same sphere of activities will convene on the island.

The Council of the Wilderness Society is meeting at the Casa Ybel Resort from Monday evening November 18 through Friday, November 22 of this coming week. The Council is the governing board of the Wilderness Society, the national Conservation organization particularly concerned with the preservation of America's wilderness. Many Floridians are members.

The Wilderness Society is actively involved in such Florida projects as applying the Wilderness Act to the Everglades National Park and to the dozen National Wildlife Refuges that lie in Florida. Successful action will assure that these publicly owned areas permanently retain their dominantly natural character, despite all the increasing pressures to put everything from TV towers to super highways to oil and mining rigs in, on, and through them. These projects are typical of the basic conservation battle going on all over Florida today--a battle to assure the conservation of Florida's extraordinary natural environment for man's use and enjoyment.

The Wilderness Society Council on Thursday, November 14 began a four-day field trip during which it will examine, under the guidance of informed Floridians, such significant natural areas as the Key Deer and Great White Heron National Wildlife Refuges along the Florida Keys, the new Biscayne National Monument, John Pennycamp Coral Reefs, Everglades National Park, the Ten Thousand Islands, Corkscrew Swamp, and Sanibel's Ding Darling National Wildlife Refuge.

On Tuesday, November 19 at the Casa Ybel Resort the Council will meet with state officials and prominent Florida conservationists to learn at firsthand more about various Florida natural resource problems.

Sigurd F. Olson of Ely, Minnesota, a nationally famous ecologist, author, and natural resources consultant to government agencies and private organizations, is the President of the Wilderness Society. Stewart M. Brandborg, originally of Montana and now of Washington, D.C., is the Executive Director. In addition to the fifteen Council members, the party includes four members of the professional staff and the wives of several of the Councilors and staff.

ATTENTION ADVERTISERS!!!!

Because of the Thanksgiving holiday, the ISLANDER will be delivered on Wednesday, Nov. 27, this coming week. This, of course, plays havoc with our regular deadline, so we will be attempting to pick up advertising copy today (Thursday) and tomorrow.

Since this is a bad year, paper-wise, for holiday schedules, our Christmas edition will be coming out in four weeks on Dec. 19, so don't be too surprised if someone carrying a Christmas book pops in to see you starting next week.

And while we're on the subject of papers and such, we would very much like to obtain, by fair means or foul, a reporter for Sanibel and a reporter for Captiva. While we are greatly indebted to all the wonderful people who have helped us by submitting news items and personals (and we hope they keep it up) we really do need someone on the Islands who could devote a couple of days a week to the process of news gathering. You don't have to be able to write; just to spell. If you, or anyone you know, is interested, call MO 4-6792.

Thank Goodness

Dotty has been a valuable associate of the Library for several years. Those in attendance at this meeting were Bob Haynie, Elise Fuller, Rex Seigler, Sylvia Strong, Dotty Stafford, Frances Swanson, Jo Romine, Betty Muench, Rhoda Franklin, Sally Beattie, Mary Siegentholer, Marn Carnahan, Wynima Costar, Pauline Wilson, Ann Winterbotham, Don Simonds, Edith Levy and Betty Zojicek.

BEWARE OF "FREE" WIGS

A warning is issued to all residents that an out of state mail solicitation is being received in Lee County, in the form of a postcard and directed to women whose names were selected from telephone directories; the card states that the addressee has "won" an expensive wig free. There's a hitch to the free offer.

The Better Business Division

Turn Right At The Shopping Plaza
Follow the Signs GR 2-2741

has an extensive report on this wig offer, according to Don Bortorff, Executive Manager of the Fort Myers-Lee County Chamber of Commerce, and he suggests that ladies receiving such cards check with the Better Business Division before taking advantage of this "free" merchandise.

FOR THIS, LORD,
WE ARE THANKFUL
by Donald Foscue Modrall

A simple task it is indeed
To plant in Spring a tiny seed
To tenderly care and urge
Thy bounty to age and merge
With cycle and cart
For final resting on our table,
Yet, what wonders Thee has placed
Within that seed, light as lace
And in the hearts and minds of men
Who reap Thy goods and store them in.
It is this essence, the heart and soul --
For this, Lord, we are thankful.

The birds did all kinds of tricks for the Florida Audubon Society to show their appreciation for the wonderful life saving ideas brought forth last week at the Casa Ybel Resort. More than 200 nature lovers assembled in the spacious facilities to hear the latest on bird lore and conservation. Several field tours were conducted into the island sanctuary retreats to glimpse the beauties which are here. We some times need to be reminded of these natural wonders which are now still plentiful but need guarding for future generations and all time.

NOTICE TO POSTAL PATRONS

We would like to remind all of our Rural Route patrons that during the month of December, postal regulations require that all greeting cards and letter mail placed in your box for pick-up by the rural carrier must have postage affixed. Additional sorting bands for "Local" and "Out of Town" bundles of mail are available at the post office or from your carrier.

We would also like to thank you in advance for the cooperation we know we will have, as we always do, in making this a happy season. It is the goal of the Post Office Department to have all Christmas mail delivered by Christmas day and we can only accomplish this with the cooperation of all our patrons.

The U. S. Christmas postage stamp is a partial reproduction "The Annunciation," a painting by Jan van Eyck, the great 15th century Flemish artist who was court painter for Phillip the Good of Burgundy. The small van Eyck painting was sold by a resident of Brussels to William II of the Netherlands in 1819. Czar Nicholas of Russia acquired it in 1850. The USSR sold the picture to Andrew Mellon of Pittsburgh in 1937 as part of a $6.5 million purchase.

The vertical stamp, printed in five colors, is now on sale and is prepared in 6-cent denomination only. Christmas greeting cards will require this amount of postage whether or not they are sealed. As most cards will weigh under 1 oz., they should be sealed as this will indicate they are to be treated as First Class mail. Cards weighing between 1 and 2 oz. should be left unsealed unless additional stamps are attached. Unsealed mail (Third Class) will neither be forwarded if undeliverable at the first address, nor returned to the sender.

Cards for distant states should be mailed before Dec. 11, and those for delivery to nearby states and local areas should be in the mail by Dec. 15.

The following deadlines should be observed to insure Christmas delivery for members of the Armed Services overseas: Space Available Mail (SAM) by Nov. 23 and Parcel Air Lift (PAL) by Nov. 30. Airmail by Dec. 11. Armed services overseas includes dependents living at overseas locations with servicemen, and civilian workers employed by the Government and assigned overseas.

Domestic parcel post packages should be mailed by Dec. 2 for distant states and for closer places by Dec. 15.

Senders should place the name of the sender and addressee as well as a list of contents inside each package as a precaution against possible loss.

Closure failures, broken tape or torn wrappers at the intersection of flaps and openings account for 48 percent of damaged and rewrapped parcels. Torn wrappers usually occur because the paper isn't strong enough. Wrapping paper should be comparable to the strength and weight of grocery bags.

Crushed packages are the result of insufficient cushioning material. Fragile items such as glasses and ceramic objects should be individually cushioned which means that shredded paper or loose excelsior (or even pop corn) should be placed at least two inches deep on all sides of the item.

Sturdy cartons should be used and when Kraft tape is used the package should also be securely tied with cord or string.

ZIP CODES MUST APPEAR ON ALL PARCEL POST PACKAGES and should appear on all mail.

were Webelos Tony Jordan, Dale Legel, Peter Burner, Ronnie Sabatino and Mike Billheimer.

Special Athletic Awards were earned and received by Mike, Peter and Tony. Dale was presented with a Showman's Award.

After the ceremony the boys played games appropriate to the Halloween season. Noses were pinned on pumpkins, apples were "ducked" for and a "spook tunnel" was scary but fun. The spectators enjoyed the games as much as the participants.

The next pack meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Nov. 25. Families and friends are again urged to come.

Mrs. Karr's third graders wrote their own version of "A Dog in a Manger."

THE DOG AND THE HORSE

by Earl Goff

Once there was a dog and a horse. The dog barked at the horse and it scared the horse. The dog didn't want the horse to get the hay. The dog didn't want the horse to eat hay because he couldn't eat hay.

THE JEALOUS DOG

by Stanley Gavin

Once there was a dog who was jealous because none of the animals liked his food. He walked to the fence and heard the cow and the horse talking about him and his food. He went to the barn and climbed into the manger and every time one of them would come in he would bark at them and run them out.

THE JEALOUS DOG

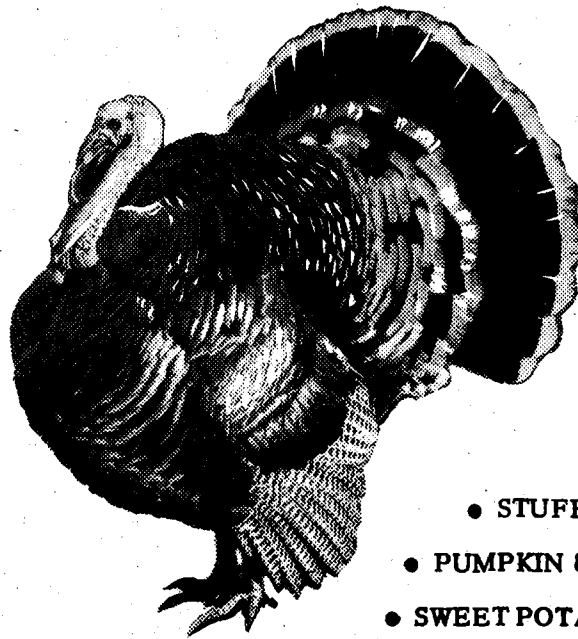

by Gretchen Wilson

Once there was a dog in a manger. The dog got in a box. He was very hungry. As you can see, dogs can't eat oats, hay and other food for horses and cows. Just because he couldn't eat this food, the jealous dog didn't want anyone else to eat it. So he climbed into the manger and drove away the hungry horse.
