TROPHIES FOR THE 1969 SHELL SHOW

Mrs. John Van Arsdell has assembled a fine array of trophies for the coming Shell Fair. Once again the top award will be the Trophy sent by the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia, given to the exhibit which in the opinion of the judges is the most outstanding exhibit regardless of category. The Mary Cunningham Memorial Trophy, donated by the Islander is given to the outstanding shell entered by an Elementary School child. Other trophies given by the Sanibel Community Association are presented for the best Elementary School exhibit, the best High School student exhibit, the best Sanibel-Captiva self collected beginners exhibit, the best Sanibel-Captiva experienced self collected exhibit, the best miniature Sanibel-Captiva exhibit and the best Sanibel-Captiva beautiful exhibit.

In addition, special awards are given to the Sanibel Shell-of-Show and the Worldwide Shell-of-Show. First, second, third and honorable mention ribbons will be awarded in all three divisions, Scientific, Shell Craft and Commercial Shell Dealers.

If you have neglected to send in your entry blank and intend to exhibit this year please see to it soon. The space is fast being allocated and we want to avoid any last minute disappointments. Get your entry blank at any Shell Shop on either Island or the Chamber of Commerce and mail them to Mrs. John Van Arsdell, The Rocks, Sanibel Island, Fla. 33957.

PLANNING & ZONING STUDY COMMITTEE

The Committee's activities were outlined in a letter this month to an interested developer. In general the letter covered the following:

The Committee was formed last November at meeting of representatives of all civic organizations in Sanibel. These are The Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation, The Sanibel Community Association, The Audubon Society, The Sanibel-Captiva Chamber of Commerce, The Interested Citizens Committee, The Rocks Association and The Palm Lake Association.

Prior to the formation of the Committee, several of its members had been active during 1968, working with Lee County's Planning and Zoning Consultants (Adley Associates of Atlanta) and with County Zoning officials. The county, through these consultants, is preparing a new zoning ordinance and new zoning maps. A long range planning study of roads, bridges, and general county-wide development is also part of this effort.

The Committee has established a close working relationship with both County Executives and their consultants.

In several meetings, the Committee has presented its case for controlled development of the islands. It has made formal requests for certain controls and the consultants have indicated that the proposals will have favorable recommendation in their presentation to the County Commissioners.

When Adley's proposals reach the Commissioners, there will be public hearings. Upon acceptance by the Commissioners, the new ordinance and plans will become effective. The Adley people have advised that the ordinance is in its final draft stage and should be in the Commissioners' hands soon.

Some of the recommendations that are expected to be approved are: A height limitation of two stories. A limit on the height of first floors above the ground. Setback restrictions for building locations. Re-zoning to residential where present use is residential.

One of the most treasured features of these islands is the tropical island silhouette, uncluttered by high-rise buildings. The residents, and more recently county officials, have come to regard this view as one of their most attractive and unusual sights.

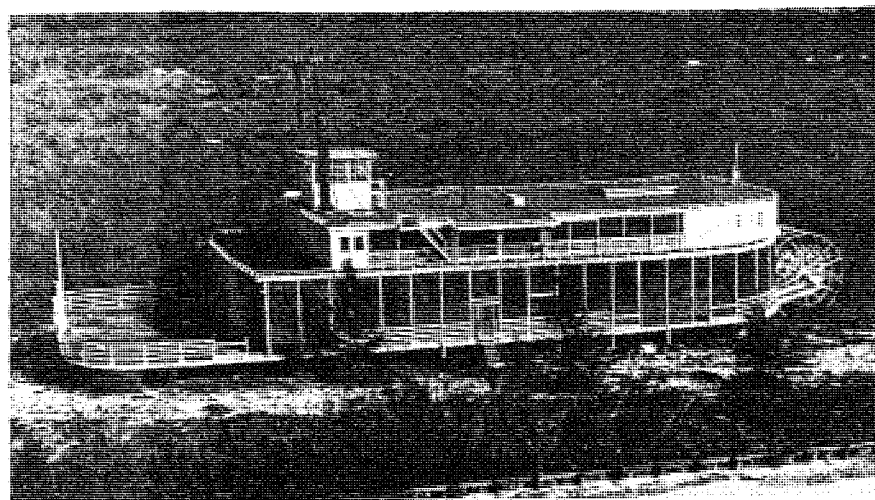

Recent attempts to obtain re-zoning to industrial and commercial purposes have brought out such strong community resistance that the zoning board and the Commissioners have unanimously rejected the petitions.

There is only one best on this Island and we wear that
responsibility seriously.

JERRY LAUER, ENGINEER,
TELLS OF FIRST
SANIBEL FERRY
by Vera M. Cantor

The last of the six cars, a Model T Ford, chugged up the ferry gangplank; the whistle blew a piercing blast; and the Sanibel ferry was on its way from the old Sanibel post office landing slip to Punta Rassa, that warm Sept. 18th, in 1926.

Small groups leaned against the rails, gazing out at the choppy waters. The women, in their graceful dresses, held onto their small cloche hats in the stiff, salty wind.

In his pilot house, Gene Shanahan, the captain, kept his 80 ft. boat to about five knots, fighting the tide and the wind-whipped waters.

Although the trip was scheduled for 30 minutes, it took a little longer that day, in those angry waves, but at last the trim white and red ferry reached Punta Rassa, under heavy, cloudy skies.

"Good-by Gene! See you tomorrow morning on the trip back. I'm staying over tonight in Fort Myers," a friend told the captain.

But the winds screamed that night and the great hurricane of 1926 was born. Winds of fantastic speed roared upon the coast and the Bay was a mass of seething foam. The engineer of that first Sanibel ferry, Jerry Lauer, a Sanibel resident of today related what happened. "The ferry broke loose from its mooring and was lost in the hurricane," stated Mr. Lauer. "They never found a bit of it, not a scrap of board, not a life-saver!"

NEW CHAMBER COMMITTEE

There is general agreement that there should be one place in the world where developers should not try to crowd the last room into a plot of ground, and into the air above it. Our beach extent is strictly limited, and it is already becoming crowded.

The fact that the Chamber of Commerce backs this restriction is a good indication that a business can profitably survive in two story establishments.

During the past year, several fairly extensive motel and hotel facilities have been put up on Sanibel. The owners of all of them have limited themselves to two story structures, in recognition of the community spirit and the good sense of this restriction.

It is hoped that at an early date recommendations for the protection of the unique beauty of the islands will have legal effect. Any violation of these plans, in the meantime, would be a bitter blow to all of the residents and island friends who have worked so hard to bring this about.

The Committee has also been delegated to speak for the Islands' residents in future matters of general interest, such as requests for re-zoning. We will work, particularly, closely with the Conservation Foundation in the protection of the Wildlife Sanctuary, and other natural island attractions.

The Committee is chaired by Mr. Malcolm Beattie. Members are: Mr. Roy Bazire, Mr. Bob Haynie, Mr. Clarence Conklin, Mr. Andrew Melody and Mr. Bob Dormer.

While in Nassau, Bishop Luxton attended an Anglican Council for North America which included the United States, Canada and the West Indies.

For the past twelve years, the Bishop and his family have spent a few weeks at Island Inn just before Lent.

Bishop Luxton was an informal observer at the second Vatican Council toward its conclusion. He and Pope Paul discussed new relations with the Roman Catholic Church and the Anglican Church.

In the Bishop's own cathedral in Ontario, they are working toward better understanding in the two churches. A Roman Catholic Bishop is to be one of the Lenten preachers along with a nun from a Catholic order and a woman minister from the United Church of Canada. Many of the doors that have long been closed are opened and they are greatly enjoying the new comradeship.

Bishop Luxton had attended an organizational meeting at the time when Saint Michael's Church was formed. He and Father Madden were graduates from the same college--Trinity College in the University of Toronto. In Father Madden's early ministry, he served in the Bishop's diocese of Huron, Ontario.

Last week, the Bishop found a perfect lemon pectin on the beach near Island Inn.

Bishop Luxton and his family have always enjoyed their visits to the Islands. They returned home on Saturday, Feb. 8.

BIRD BANDING

Mrs. Dorothy Mendinhall delighted the youngsters at the bird banding demonstration sponsored by the Sanibel Public Library Saturday, Feb. 1.

Mrs. Mendinhall banded twelve birds caught in special nets. She explained and demonstrated identifying, weighing, checking for fatty tissue, measuring and banding. She showed the children how to hold the bird properly and what to do in case a banded bird was found.

When you feel there's nothing to do on Sanibel remember the time to do it is Friday night at Game Night. The games start at 7:30. Bring your own partner or meet one at the Community Association. We still play bridge, pinochle, pennies from Heaven, canasta, and there has been talk of mah-jongg --- anyone for mah-jongg?

P.E.O. RECIPROCITY LUNCHEON FRIDAY, FEB. 14 AT HOLIDAY INN

P.E.O.'S in this area (visiting or resident) are reminded to make reservations for the 12:30 Valentine's Day reciprocity luncheon.

Reservations may be made directly with Holiday Inn but be sure to indicate P.E.O.

A nice feature of the luncheon will be the regular monthly fashion show put on by the Gulf View Shop and coordinated by Ginni Brown.

FORT MYERS BEACH SHELL CLUB

Meet Mrs. Dorothy Stearns, the 1969 Driftwood Chairman of the Sanibel Shell Fair. Dotty came to the Island four years ago for a brief visit from Amityville, Long Island and had the usual "love at first sight" affair with this southern island that was to be her permanent home. Three years ago she built a home on Gulf Drive and has been most enthusiastic about all things at Sanibel ever since. No stranger to island living, she had spent much of her life around the Oyster Bay area combing northern beaches for material to follow her hobby, shell craft. At the first work session held last Wednesday at the Sanibel Community Center she had on display many examples of the lovely and clever items she has fashioned of shells gathered here on Sanibel.

Dotty is now conducting free classes at the Community Center twice a week from now until Fair time. Classes are set for Monday and Wednesday afternoons at 1:00 p.m. Anyone interested in learning Shell Craft while contributing a service to the community are cordially invited to attend. If you have excess shells you would like to use please bring them along but shells will be provided for you to work with.

Dotty will welcome all willing hands at any of the work sessions from now until Fair time. You can contact her at GR 2-4581 or just show up at the Sanibel Community Center any Monday or Wednesday afternoon.

Dotty Stearns is looking forward to meeting you.

"TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY" by Russell Kay

There seems to be a space race on, I'm not talking about our trying to see who can land on the moon first, it has to do with the space right here on earth. The problem now seems to be to try and locate as many people in a limited space as possible.

Those vacant lots we expected to see homes built on are now apartment and condominium sites where hundreds of people will eventually be housed. And you find them everywhere.

Most of these high-rise buildings are designed to provide as many living units as possible, plus a small lobby, shops, recreation rooms and perhaps a coffee-shop jammed together on the ground floor.

One new such development seems to be getting away from the jammed up idea and has designed a spacious, well planned condominium community and still using the land efficiently with no crowding.

The location is Point Brittany, on the Bayway Isles, 10 minutes from downtown St. Petersburg on Florida's rapidly developing West Coast Bay Area.

Point Brittany is Florida's first such planned community and the developers have put a million dollars into the Point Brittany Resident's Club, entirely separated from the main condominium buildings.

At the present time the condominiums consist of a V-shaped 44-unit building and a 10 story, 80-unit condominium is under construction scheduled for completion in April.

The Resident's Club, instead of being a jumbled, crowded section on the main floor of the residential units, is housed in a separate building, designed by decorator-designer Sandy Paula. It is individually styled and decorated and includes a pool and billiard room--called the Place--a grand ballroom, arts and crafts room, lounge and his or hers exercise and sauna rooms. Outside is a heated salt-water swimming pool and sundeck for non-swimmers. There are two small heated whirlpools, with permanently-mounted card tables in the centers, where members may sit around the perimeters and play cards or just relax.

A gazebo for band entertainment or receptions overlooks the large pool. At one side of the club are facilities for shuffleboard, lawn bowling and putting green. Planned additions include a bowling alley, auditorium, cocktail lounge, other meeting rooms and a gymnasium. There is a lighted promenade along the seawall overlooking Boca Ciega Bay, whose waters completely surround Bayway Isles.

Future construction at Point Brittany will be other medium and high-rise condominiums, garden apartments, and town houses, an exclusive shopping mall, executive golf course and marina.

With a total of 460 acres, Point Brittany and Bayway Isles offer just about everything anyone could ask for from the standpoint of better living with plenty of space for any activity.

PARKING COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN

Marshall Tabacchi is hiding behind his beard again and thereby hangs a tale. It all began two years ago when he suffered a very bad burn to his face and couldn't shave so he grew a beard. When it came time to take over his duties with the Shell Fair parking his full beard caused so much comment that he decided to grow one every year especially for the occasion.

As chairman of the Parking Committee for the Sanibel Shell Fair for the past seven years, Marshall has introduced many innovations that have helped solve some of the parking problems. Now all attendants wear white hats not just to tell you they are "good guys" but to identify them more quickly. He also uses easily seen white clorox bottles as markers for the various sections. He uses a walkie-talkie system to contact and direct his helpers for a better flow of traffic over the large area. He has set aside special areas to handle cripples and the elderly who may need wheel chairs and has one area designated especially for trailers for easier maneuvering. And as all who have heard it can attest his special line of patter has added a unique flavor to the Fair.

Marshall has served in many other areas in the Community since coming to the Island in 1959 from St. Louis, Mo. Besides running the Villa Capri Motel which he owns and operates with his wife Hazel, he has been active with the Audubon Society, a past Commander of the American Legion and has served with the Sanibel Volunteer Firemen and the Mosquito Control.

We salute this "good guy" behind the beard.

HEALTH NEWS

Florida parents who have not had their children immunized against measles should do so as soon as possible. The state has a measles problem which is centered in Jacksonville where 173 of the state's 183 cases of measles were reported between Jan. 1 and Feb. 4.

Dr. Wilson T. Sowder, state health officer, said that perhaps 10 times this number occurred but were not reported. The present situation reflects a measles case rate of 33.6 for each 100,000 persons in Duval County since Jan. 1, as compared with .58, or less than one case, per 100,000 elsewhere in the United States. About 200 persons died of the disease in the nation in 1967.

While many parents consider measles as only a mild childhood disease, Dr. Sowder pointed out that one out of six children who contract measles develop some type of complications. The most serious is measles encephalitis, which can result in mental retardation. Other complications are pneumonia, deafness, blindness and convulsive disorders.

Although many communities and county health departments have already conducted mass measles immunization campaigns, there are still many children in Florida who are not immunized against the disease.

The State Board of Health recommends that all healthy children over one year of age who have never had measles, or the measles vaccine, be given live virus measles vaccine. This is available from private physicians or county health department clinics.

VETERAN NEWS

Public Law 90-631, signed into law by President Johnson with an effective date of Dec. 1, 1968, provides federal education and training benefits to widows of men who died and the wives of veterans who are totally and permanently disabled, as the result of military service, according to Melvin T. Dixon, Director of the Fla. Dept. of Veterans Affairs.

These wives and widows, after Dec. 1, are eligible for the same Veterans Administration educational assistance now available to the sons and daughters of veterans who died or are permanently and totally disabled as the result of military service. This marks the first time, Dixon said, in the history of the veterans benefits in America, that widows and wives will be authorized by the VA for educational assistance allowance.

Payments will range, according to Dixon, from $130 a month for full-time training to a maximum of 36 months to $95 for 3/4 time training and $60 for half-time training.

Dixon urges all widows and wives interested in education and training benefits in this field to contact their local Veteran County Service Officer or contact him at P.O. Box 1437, St. Petersburg, Fla.

SANIBEL ISLAND TENOR
FEATURED IN EDISON
PAGEANT OF LIGHT

Mr. Friday was selected by the Edisonian Court officials to sing the traditional "I'll Take You Home Again Kathleen," which was Thomas Alva Edison's favorite song, and the song that is featured each year at the Pageant of Light festivities. Mr. Friday will also sing a solo to the Queen Miss Edisonia, a song written especially for the Pageant of Light by Johnny Broderick.

In addition to the solos, the Sanibel tenor is also singing with the Edisonia Minstrel Court in all of their production numbers which includes such proportions of such popular shows as Brigadoon, Camelot and Cinderella.

The first production was presented to the public on Friday night Feb. 7 and a second program will be given tonight, Thursday, Feb. 13 at the Exhibition Hall in Ft. Myers. The production will also be presented at Lehigh Acres Auditorium the following week.

Katherine M. Weiler of Myrtle Beach, S.C. sent us the following recipes.

HEART TRANSPLANT

Valentine's Day takes on special meaning for "Snoopy," one of the trained raccoons at Florida's Weeki Wachee. The other 364 days of the year find this ring-tail rascal giving his heart to the thousands of visitors who stop by to say hello and watch him perform. One of his many friends no doubt has found the heart to return the favor. Here we see "Snoopy" completely absorbed in admiration of the gift and, we suspect, the unknown donor as well.

The heart makes no distinction between two legs and four when friendship walks in.
