HEY NONNY NONNY AND HURRAH, HURRAY!

We are most pleased to be able to announce that we (the ISLANDER) now has a reporter, at least for the summer. She is Miss Ann Walther, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Walther of Lagoon Drive, Sanibel Island.

She plans to attend Florida Presbyterian College in the fall, but she'll be here to help during the summer months --- and we hope you'll cooperate with her when she calls you --- or possible you could call her, if you happen to have a hot news item, 2-4022.

By the way, because of the 4th of July, we will be PICKING UP ALL AD COPY ON THURSDAY (TODAY) July 2nd, for publication in the July 9 ISLANDER. Pickup will be made when the paper is delivered.

News will be picked up SATURDAY MORNING, July 4, at Priscilla Murphy's office and at Miss Walther's home. We will not be picking up news at any other place. Thank you again --- and be sure to drive and boat safely over the holiday!

NOTICE

The meeting of the County Commissioners on July 7 is to consider sign regulations for Sanibel and Captiva. It will not concern high rise construction.

CONSERVATION FOUNDATION

The Florida Chapter, The Nature Conservancy has proposed the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation for the Governor's Award for 1970 to a conservation organization in Florida.

Below is the summary of the Foundation's programs which was included in the material presented by the Florida Conservancy.

Creating a unique "open space community" within and part of a national refuge-private sanctuary, plus educational-research recreational complex, is the ultimate goal of the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation's programs. "The total plan... is extraordinarily well founded and when completed might serve as a model for other communities blessed with unspoiled natural areas," reported The Nature Conservancy in its "Summer News," 1969.

Basic programs embrace (1) perpetual protection of the J. N. "Ding" Darling National Wildlife Refuge and its expansion per the Concept Plan prepared by the U. S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries & Wildlife; (2) creation of a fresh water wetlands sanctuary in the interior of Sanibel as an essential complement to the "Darling" Refuge; (3) establishing a "learning-research" nature center as an educational tool to be used from elementary school to university, and for the general public; (4) establishing a marine research laboratory to be operated by Florida's major institutions of higher learning; (5) conducting continuing programs of research, using the natural resources and physical facilities of the preceding.

The Foundation's first project was the investigation of the feasibility of a Nature Center on Sanibel. This was undertaken by the National Audubon Society with funds granted by the Alice O'Brien Foundation at St. Paul, Minn., through the island organization. Development of this facility is long-range and will depend upon raising an endowment to assure its successful operation. In the meantime, a beginning use of the Nature Center site by the Lee County School system has been worked out by Mr. William Hammond, Environmental Science Director for the Lee County Schools.

Three annual conservation conferences were sponsored by the Foundation, starting in January 1968. From these the Board of Directors hammered out the program of action outlined above, and its implementation in land purchases, marine research, Lee County School program, specialized research on the loggerhead turtle, and a membership and fund raising program.

Land purchases began with the acquisition in March 1969 of 147.8 acres of interior slough lands on Sanibel for the nature center site, and 22 acres of land on Pine Island Sound for the marine research laboratory site. Total cost was about $170,000.00. In addition, nine parcels of interior lands totalling about 24 acres and valued at more than $50,000.00 have been given to the Foundation.

The Foundation is now working with the National Audubon Society and the Nature Conservancy on a new land acquisition program for which a major foundation grant has been requested. It is hoped this may lead to further acquisitions with matching Federal-State funds. The Foundation has prepared a proposal outlining plans for the Fresh Water Sanctuary in detail, but this cannot be revealed until it has been presented to the proper officials.

The marine research program began in 1969 with Florida Atlantic University, Boca Raton, involving marine, terrestrial and ecological studies by faculty and students of that institution. At the third annual Conservation Conference in January 1970, representatives of five major Florida institutions of higher learning and of the Florida Institute of Oceanography attended. They expressed great interest in the study of the island environment and a beginning program of research is being developed with them, as well as a continuing program with Florida Atlantic.

Major specialized research has been the loggerhead turtle research project of Caretta Research, sponsored by the Foundation.

Recognizing that acquisition of land is meaningless unless accompanied by steps to preserve it from pollution, the Foundation early began studies through the faculty

1971 SHELL TABLE

The shell table for the 1971 Fair has been beautifully custom made by Mrs. Charles LeBuff, Sr. of Naples, of Bubinga wood and Philippine mahogany in a medium brown finish.

Donations of Florida shells will now be gratefully accepted by Mrs. Vernon G. MacKenzie, 472-7061 or Mrs. Walter E. Strong, 472-5362.

AMERICAN LEGION

On Saturday, July 4, Post 123 will hold its annual Independence Day Fish Fry at the hall. Legionnaires will be serving from noon until there is no more left. Tickets are priced at $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for children. Proceeds will go to the many worthy causes supported by the Legion.

CURB HOLIDAY DEATHS

The Florida Highway Patrol today announced plans for a massive enforcement effort to curb their predictions of 14 traffic deaths for the July 4th holiday weekend.

These plans supplement Governor Kirk's "Arrive Alive" safety campaign which begins July 1.

The weekend period begins at 6 p.m. Thursday, July 2 and ends midnight Sunday, July 5.

Commander of the Patrol, Colonel Reid Clifton, said, "Our experience shows that intensive enforcement with great numbers of troopers patrolling the highways works to reduce traffic accidents and deaths. We plan to have every available trooper and auxiliaryman working traffic."

Patrol plans include cancelling days off, assigning all troopers to patrol duty for the holiday period, and extensive use of aircraft spotters, unmarked patrol cars, radar and 200 recently installed VASCAR speed computers.

Last year there were 17 people killed during a similar 78 hour period.

LIONS CLUB

The Sanibel-Captiva Lions Club, at their first meeting of the 1970-71 fiscal year, Wednesday, July 1, installed the following officers who had been elected in April. President, Lion Bob Aycock; 1st V.P., Lion Duane White; 2nd V.P., Lion Don Marshall, 3rd V.P., Lion Francis Bally; Secretary, Lion Fred Bunnell; Treasurer, Lion John Cook; Lion Tamer, Lion Karl Wightman; Tall Twister, Lion Norm Chambers. The gavel was passed to the new president by outgoing President, Lion Bob Dormer.

The meeting was combined with a Ladies Night with music and dancing after the installation ceremony. The affair was held at the Golden Sands Restaurant on Periwinkle Road, Sanibel.

CONCERT ORGANIST AT PIRATE PLAYHOUSE

Merlyn Parkes Winters will be introduced to Pirate Playhouse theatergoers at the Saturday performance of "Please Call Me Sol." At the console of the theater Hammond organ Mrs. Winters, in her inimitable style, will present a petit concert.

Mrs. Winters' experience has been with symphony orchestras. She has won many scholarships, one at the age of nine for study with Arturo Rubenstein. She is a graduate of Southern Methodist College and Chattanooga Conservatory. For many years she has taught piano, organ and voice. She is a member of the American Guild of Organists.

Mrs. Winters is the wife of the island's new dentist, Dr. George Winters. They will soon take up residence on Sanibel. She will bring with her to her new home her Baldwin theatrical organ and Knabe concert piano.

PIRATE PLAYHOUSE PRESENTS

For the past five winter tourist seasons the Pirate Playhouse on Sanibel Island has provided outstanding theatrical entertainment with a repertory season which runs from mid-December until after Easter.

Beginning last year the Playhouse inaugurated a policy of scheduling two performances for visitors to the islands during the Fourth of July holiday. This year on Friday, July 3 and Saturday, July 4 three excellent one act comedies round The House, a satire on today's TV western, Save Me A Place At Forest Lawn, a delightful comedy by Lorees Yerbe and one of the most touching little comedies ever written entitled Please Call Me Sol. Appearing in these plays will be Ruth and Philip Hunter, New York actors, and Elaine Patton from television and off-Broadway.

Tickets may be purchased at the box office or by phone, GR 2-3943. Curtain, 8:15.

Letter To The Editor

To The Islander:

I have just returned from a brief but never to be forgotten visit to your beautiful islands.

I enjoyed every minute of the time that our family spent there. The warm and friendly atmosphere of your islanders too, will never be forgotten by our family.

I was enchanted by this island as much as my parents were when they were first here in January. They enjoyed the islands so much that they wanted us to be able to appreciate and comprehend all that your islands offer in the way of natural beauty and wonderful hospitality.

Our return visit will be insured as long as you keep the greatest natural resource the world has ever known, friendly people. One of whom we especially enjoyed was the delightful but charming Bella Catina whose husband owns the Coconut Grove where each meal was thoroughly enjoyed.

I am looking forward to returning to "Sunny Sanibel" and wading in her beautiful beaches while shell hunting and of course above all "starting new friendships and renewing old ones."

THE ISLAND GARDENER

One of the most voracious worms, according to the Florida Nurserymen and Growers Association (FNGA) is the canna leaf roller. Almost every canna growing at this time of year can be found with ragged, jagged, and chewed leaves. In addition to this, there may be many leaves folded over; and beneath this fold is a long, grayish-green worm with a large brown head. This is the canna leaf roller. He can literally devour a leaf in two or three days. Control is difficult. It is best to keep a stomach poisoning on the leaves throughout the summer months.

You may want to use chlordane or sevin.

Hibiscus are producing many blossoms now and if you are picking the blossoms or cutting the plant back use extreme care. Why, you may ask? The main reason is that the saddleback caterpillar feeds on hibiscus and if you touch this caterpillar with your arm you may find a severe stinging sensation and later a large blister. Generally saddleback caterpillars are kept under control by a parasite, but frequently they are to be found feeding on hibiscus. There is no good control other than a stomach poisoning.

Koras frequently show iron deficiency according to the FNGA. This deficiency can be corrected by applying either iron sulfate or iron chelate. It is more desirable to use iron chelate since it will not stain the house or the driveway. One application should correct the condition. Iron deficiency usually is associated with a soil that is very sweet. When iron is lacking in a plant the leaves are extremely yellow and the veins are dark green.

Bird of paradise plants require an organic fertilizer and broken shade for best blooms. These plants are related to the bananas and also require quite a lot of water. Bird of paradise plants need to be at least 3 or 4 years old before blossoming.

It may not be too early to find a few sod webworms in your lawns. St. Augustine grass particularly is subject to sod webworms, and the damage will appear as a trashy brown area in the lawn. If you find such a condition it is suggested that you spray with sevin. You may need to repeat application of spray in about 10 days. Watch closely for any other worms. They can work rapidly in a lush, green lawn.

WE CAN PRESERVE THE NATURAL ENVIRONMENTS

A general disregard for the natural environments of our inshore marine waters has been in practice in this country and in other parts of the world ever since man first took up residence on the sea coast. Losses resulting from this procedure of ignorance and greed have been quietly insidious. Little by little natural marine habitats have been adversely changed. Step by step, in a manner hardly noticed by the casual observer, our bay and sea beaches have been blocked from the general public as if they were private property; many productive marine habitats of our bays and estuaries have been scooped up as a source of fill or covered to provide building sites or seaside golf courses.

At the same time that this has been going on, pollution has been running rampant, expanding logarithmically. Untreated sewage and industrial wastes are converting our bays and inshore waters into giant septic tanks. DDT and other forms of broadly toxic and persistent pesticides or herbicides are accumulating in our inshore waters, even in the sea as a whole, and sometimes rendering sea foods dangerous or at least open to suspicion. Radioactive by-products continue to be an ominous threat.

Here at Sanibel and Captiva, islands famous the world over for the great variety and beauty of their mollusk populations, there has been a reduction in abundance of some of the most desirable species. Those now less abundant may have suffered somewhat from the collecting of living specimens, but not so much on the part of individuals as from wholesale gathering of everything in sight. They may also be suffering from a change in the environment.

This has happened in Tampa Bay. Let me illustrate.

Back in 1942 and 1945 when agar was a critical war material, we were harvesting certain kinds of seaweeds in lower Tampa Bay. The harvesting did not affect the abundance of these plants as only loose material was gathered. It would have eventually washed ashore anyway. But since the early 1940's, there as been a steady decline in the abundance of several kinds of seaweeds in lower Tampa Bay, and I believe this is the result of a man-induced change in the environment.

I think most anyone will agree that during the past 25 years there has been a steady reduction in the areas of the seagrass beds in Tampa Bay as a result of pollution and dredging. The algae that we harvested during the war start out as young plants attached to seagrass leaves. The ultimate abundance each season appears to be directly proportional to the area of the seagrass beds.

This is an example, based upon my own experience in my field of research, marine algae. I feel sure that other species of marine organisms are also less abundant, locally at least, than they once were.

Here at Sanibel and Captiva there is a wonderful opportunity to show to the rest of the world what can be done through organization and community cooperation. With an organization like the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation and the kind of interest and spirit that is so clearly demonstrated by the attendance at this meeting, there are so many things that can be done. We can monitor and manage both the land and marine environments here for the general good. We can eliminate at least some of the damage that has been done in the past. We can restore some environments to their former natural condition and productivity. We must work together. We must study the ecology of this unique island area. We must undertake more projects like the remarkable loggerhead turtle research and management program that you now have under way here.

Those of us involved in ecological and related research at the oceanographic organizations of our universities know what we want to do. In order to do these things we need modest amounts of financial support for our graduate students who are interested in undertaking field work that is critical to the preservation and utilization of our valuable marine environment.

(The above is a summary of a speech given by Dr. Harold J. Humm, Director, Marine Science Institute, University of South Florida at the third annual Conservation Conference, sponsored by the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation, January 22, 23 and 24, 1970.)

Shapes That Pass In The Night:
The sidewalk restaurants reveal
That life is earnest, life is real;
The curves that pass supply a graph,
Which constitutes an epitaph,
Inspection of the passers-by
Has made me cease to wonder why
The girdle business goes to pot
In summer, when the weather's hot.
Peace: Give me the money that has been spent for wars and I will clothe every man, woman and child in an attire of which Kings and Queens would be proud, I will build school houses in every valley over the whole earth. I will crown every hillside with a place of worship consecrated to the Gospel of Peace.

-- Chas. Sumner

So They Say: When a guy claims his gal is cold, he should remember that so is dynamite until you start fooling around.

Hot Or Cold: I hold her in my arms, a feeling of warmth creeps over me. I pull her closer, her soft rosinness pressed tightly against my cheeks, soothing, satisfying, perfect bliss. I could lie here forever with Emma ... my trusty hot-water bottle.

Reading Material: When a guy can read a girl like a book, he's usually just pouring over her lines.

Hip! Hip! Hooray!: The first woman may have been made from a man's rib. But these days she's usually made with something from a man's hip!

Memory Test: If you can recall when a bureau was a piece of furniture, you'll look better with your hat on.

Early Bird: If you would end a task begun, be up before the rising sun.

of Florida Atlantic University. Its initial work on the Sanibel River or Slough led to a cooperative State-County pollution study of that body of water, completed just recently. In consequence, the Lee County Health Department is moving to take corrective steps to eliminate existing pollution and establish controls for the future. As the first step in public education on the problem, the County Health Department made a presentation to the island communities at a meeting on Sanibel May 18. Joint sponsorship of the event was obtained from nine major civic organizations on the islands, led by the Foundation. The Foundation has assisted the County in its work by paying for the consulting services of a major engineering firm, Black, Crow & Eidsness, as well as through the faculty of the Department of Biological Sciences of Florida Atlantic.

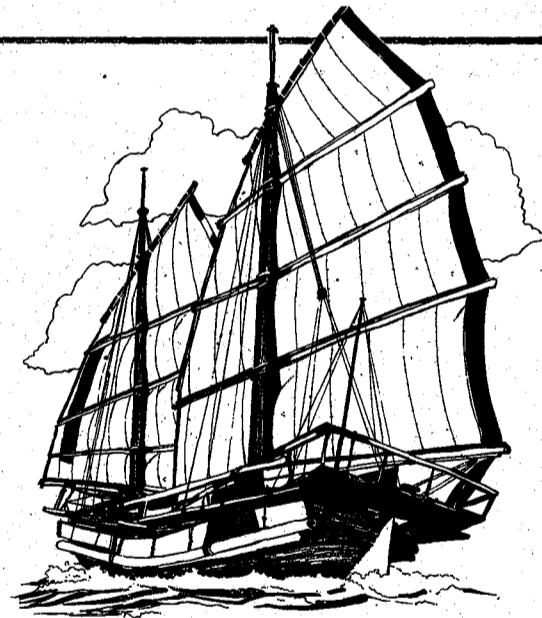

The work of the Foundation received national recognition when the American Heritage Society last winter selected it as one of only 12 local conservation groups throughout the country (and the only one in the Southeast) to receive a special award.

Achievements to date have resulted from a unique partnership of effort and purpose by government -- Federal, State and County; private endeavor; and major support from leading conservation organizations -- again national, state and local.

The Foundation, in a two year membership and fund raising effort, has won the support of approximately 750 individual members, with almost $150,000 raised to finance its programs.

"Cutover" Day

When United's $10 Million Electronic Switching Center goes to work for you

Things are changing at United Telephone. Starting July 12th "Dialing's Different!" Our new switching center . . . a $10 million project . . . will bring you the most modern and efficient telephone service available today. Some of the dialing changes you will benefit from, beginning July 12th, are: Dial "1" for Direct Distance Dialing — seven digit (all-number) calling — toll-free calling between greater Fort Myers and Fort Myers Beach — plus other improvements. Check your new phone book for new dialing instructions and number changes.

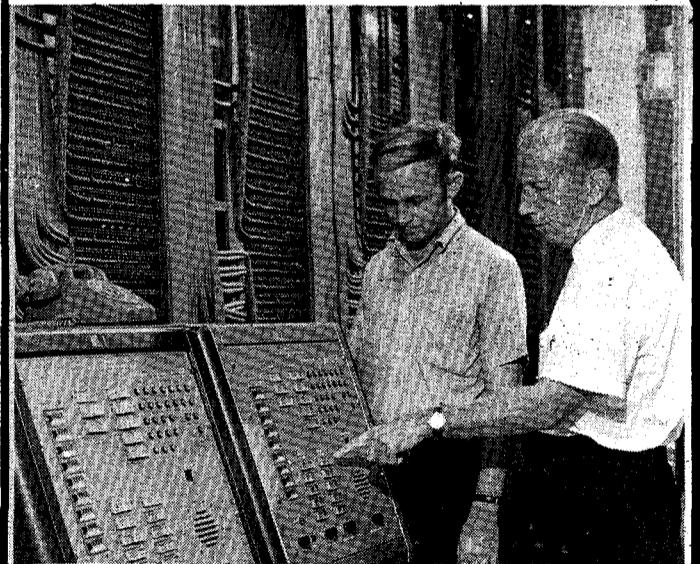

UNITED TEAMWORK IS BRINGING YOU BETTER TELEPHONE SERVICE

United Telephone switchman Joe Sato checks a "number group", part of the crossbar switching equipment going into service Sunday, July 12th.

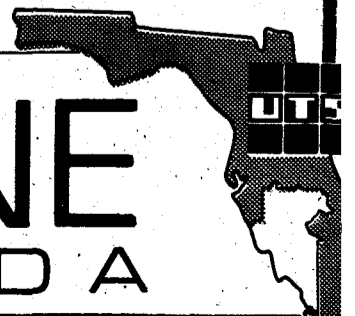

Jim Earhart, left, and George Carver are checking punched tapes at United's new ticketing equipment which records customer bill data automatically.

Switchman Jim Burns and major project manager Norm Doving test circuits with an Orvac automatic switchboard "routiner". This modern device tests call functions for customer lines and can diagnose equipment and circuit trouble.

FISHING AROUND THE ISLANDS BY OLD SALT

The spotted sea trout also called spotted squeteague, speckled trout and weakfish. The mainstay of all southern coastal fishing is the spotted sea trout, or more widely known as speckled trout. They are good fish for the table, being on the lean side and fillet nicely. The skin is delicate and the scales easily scrape off.

The silver trout also called squeteague, summer trout, salt water trout and weakfish. This species is found only on the Florida coasts. It attains a greater size than the spotted sea trout. It is said to have reached weights of 30 lbs., but 19 lbs. is the largest on record. Ten to twelve pounds is rare with the average weight three to four pounds. The silver trout takes almost any kind of bait, especially shrimp, trolling spoon, and plugs. First dash from the boat reels off ten yards quickly. Often leaps to shake hook. Extremely soft mouth that tears easily. Food value is excellent.
