PIONEER FAMILIES OF THE ISLANDS

by elinore dormer

Mr. Arthur Gibson is our oldest pioneer resident. He came with his family to Wulfert in 1900 where they farmed. Most of his life, "Uncle Arthur" was a boatman, working on the steamers that served the islands, first with The Plant Line then Kinzie Brothers, on such well remembered boats as Belle of Myers, Dixie and Gladys. The day he recalls most vividly, however, was Oct. 16, 1910 when he was caught in the fury of a hurricane, one of the ten worst in Florida's history. The weather was threatening but, in the true spirit of "the mail must go through," he set out in the little Belle of Myers to do his job. As the day wore on and weather conditions worsened, Arthur managed to get his craft into a bayou near Wulfert but the high seas and shrieking winds were too much for her and she sank, mail bags and all. Somehow, Arthur managed to get himself and all thirteen bags of mail ashore and there he hung his dripping cargo on the mangrove trees to dry. Nearly two days later, when the fury of the storm had abated, he righted the boat, collected the bags and finally got it into Fort Myers. There were complaints, of course, from people who couldn't read the washed out ink

SEVEN SEAS RIFLED

The Seven Seas Shop was rifled by what is believed to be a group of professional burglars Wednesday night. The owner, Paul Adams, is vacationing in Canada. Investigator Tom Darr said the store had been robbed of at least 14 racks of clothing and much costume jewelry and estimated the loss in all at about $30,000. It is thought that a truck was used in carrying the stock off the island.

Investigation of the robbery continues, and the Adams are still being sought to be notified of their loss.

WHO'S WHO AND WHY

Mrs. JUDITH ANN WYNN and children, SHANNON, MITCH, and KIM MOODY of Miami and Mrs. SUSAN WILLE and daughter ANGELA of Hialeah are visiting KATHY and FRED BUNNEL, parents and grandparents respectively of the visitors.

Mrs. HAZEL WHITEHEAD, mother of Mr. DONALD WHITEHEAD, deserves orchids for bird, dog and cat sitting while the Whiteheads were on their recent European trip. She will be returning shortly to Shawnee, Okla., and she will be missed.

Seventy-five Independent Insurance Agents from Lee County had lunch at the South Seas Plantation Saturday Sept. 19 and discussed insurance problems at a business meeting. They were members of the Lee County Assn. of Independent Insurance Agents.

JERRY and JUNE MUENCH of Periwinkle Trailer Park are the proudest of parents of new baby daughter JENNIFER JANE born at Lee Memorial Hospital Sept. 15. Asked if he had any other news, father Jerry said, "No, that's all I can say right now." Mother and daughter are doing fine at home.

BILL and SHIRLEY GARRETT on San Carlos Bay Dr. have just returned home after a business trip to Pine Bluff, Ark. and Cape Girardeau, Mo. They were able to combine business with pleasure and visited some friends and family and genuinely enjoyed the change of scene and climate.

Mr. & Mrs. BARRY A. BUMP and son AL, Pan American Airlines pilot, are at the Surf Rider on a needed vacation and thoroughly enjoying the quiet and rest. Other guests there are Mr. & Mrs. M. GABEL of Miami and Mr. & Mrs. GEORGE WILDERMAN of Atlanta, Ga., Mr. & Mrs. VINCENT DeBONIS of Brooklyn, N.Y. and friends, Mr. and Mrs. JOSEPH MOODY of Hollywood, Fla. and Mrs. K. C. NIEDERMILLER of Lighthouse Park, Fla., Mr. & Mrs. SAM JOHNSON from Columbus, Ohio and Mr. & Mrs. WILLIAM G. KARFLAS of Miami.

Mrs. MARTHA LAUB, who is active in civic organizations and particularly the Republican Women's Club, in Riviera Beach, is visiting Mr. & Mrs. ROSGAM-BEL of Captiva and enjoying a quiet vacation, at the South Seas Plantation.

Sgt. & Mrs. HERB PURDY, Jr. were Godparents Sunday to LAURA LEE FRIDAY, new daughter of Mr. & Mrs. RICHARD FRIDAY of Fort Myers. After the baptism at the All Angels Episcopal Church, where Rev. Thomas A. Madden officiated, the group were entertained by the HERB PURDY, SR. at Segunda. Herb Purdy, Jr. had to return to Jackson, S.C. where he is stationed, the next day.

Mr. & Mrs. FRANK POST of Coral Springs are vacationing at the Segunda. They caught a 10 lb. snook and six nice reds fishing on Tarpon Bay, and will take back nice memories of the Islands.

Lucky fishermen at the White Caps are Mr. & Mrs. J. H. TRAUB and Mr. & Mrs. M. J. TRAUB, brothers from Union and Afton, Missouri. They caught a large 2-1/2 lb. Pompano on the causeway along with some other nice fish. "It is the first time anyone has caught a prompano here" said Mgr. BOWERS. Other guests there are Mr. & Mrs. H. M. HALL of Dayton, Ohio, Mr. & Mrs. FRED SCHROEDER of Cincinnati, Ohio and Mr. & Mrs. TOM FRAZER of Dunedin.

At the Shalimar for their yearly visit and vacation are Mr. & Mrs. M. N. GROSSEL-ROSSI of New Orleans and Mr. & Mrs. WALTER A. BASHAW of Atlantic Heights, N.J. and daughter and grandbaby, all of whom are enjoying a restful sojourn before the rigors of winter at home.

Mr. & Mrs. GEORGE WIDICAN of Akron, Ohio heard from friends about Sanibel and Captiva so often, they decided to vacation at the Surf Rider and see for themselves. "It is all we anticipated," they said. Vacationing here also are Mr. & Mrs. TOM LEVERETT and Mr. G. W. AMEL of North Palm Beach, who wanted to get away from the hustle and bustle of the East Coast.

THE COLONY GUESTS

Mr. & Mrs. G. D. Stendahl of Avenel, N.J. have returned once again to The Colony to try their luck in shelling. Mr. & Mrs. Chuck Kubat of Clarendon Hills, Ill. are back for a month's stay. Also visiting is Irene Nachman of Miami, Fla., Mr. & Mrs. T. Stokes, Ridge Manor, Fla.; Mr. & Mrs. E. Whitehair of Miami Shores, Fla.; Mr. & Mrs. Eugene Shigley of McHenry, Ill.; Mr. & Mrs. John Szczepanski of Miami; Mr. & Mrs. C. Cason of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Mr. & Mrs. Robert Rost of Loveland, Ohio; Mr. & Mrs. A. Fluke of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mr. & Mrs. William Crenshaw of Atlanta, Ga.; and Mr. & Mrs. Richard Steves of Bethany, Ohio.

NEW RESIDENTS

New permanent residents of the Island on Lindgren Blvd. in Shell Harbor are the Rev. Dr. Frederic C. Wood, Jr. and his family. Dr. Wood is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Frederic Wood of Lighthouse Way.

The Wood family, which includes three girls, comes to Sanibel from Poughkeepsie, N.Y., where Dr. Wood has served as Associate Professor of Religion and Chaplain at Vassar College. Although he will continue to serve as a consultant to the college on part-time leave, he plans to devote more time on Sanibel to his writing activities and interests. Dr. Wood is the author of two books, "Sex And The New Morality" (1968) and "Living In The Now" (1970), published by Association Press of New York, of numerous articles in professional and other journals. His special area of training is the interrelationships of psychiatry and religion, in which he received the doctoral degree from Union Theological Seminar of New York in 1964.

Before coming to Vassar, Dr. Wood served as a chaplain at Goucher College in Baltimore and at Cornell University, and in the parish ministry at St. James' Episcopal Church in New York City and at St. Peter's Church of Richmond, Va. Mrs. Wood, the former Jane Louise Barber of Baldwin, N.Y., has taken over the teaching of first and second grades at the Sanibel Elementary School. She has prior teaching experience in school systems in Poughkeepsie and in Maryland and Virginia. She has had special training at the Masters level in reading education and remedial reading at Columbia University Teachers' College.

VISIT TO LETIZIA'S

by Fran O'Callaghan

We stopped by Letizia's to see the four beautiful Siamese kittens for sale. They were almost white with black tipped fur, straight tails and very blue eyes. Mr. Letizia said they are perfect Siamese seal point kittens. Their mother Kishu was keeping a wary eye on us. But the aromas from the kitchen were so enticing!

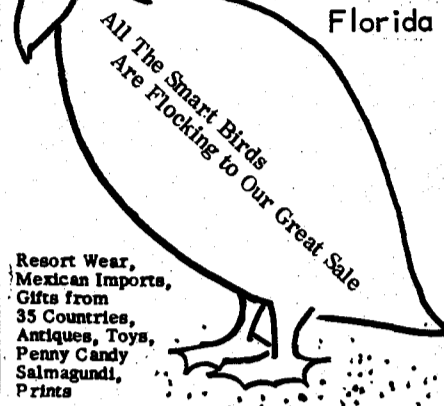

Mr. Letizia specializes only in gourmet dishes, and they are for the connoisseur. One particular delight is Braciolini; stuffed round steak with sausage and spices in a tantalizing sauce which is cooked for six hours.

This is one of the simpler recipes, but the really difficult one to prepare is eggplant Parmesan, which is done in several stages and requires three days in all to bring to perfection. Even spaghetti is a gourmet dish, as the sauce is specially prepared and the spaghetti is the thin kind that is less fattening than regular spaghetti. Mr. Letizia inherited the wonderful Neapolitan recipes he uses from his grandparents in Naples, Italy. And all the wines served with the dinners are imported too. Really quite worthy of a call for a reservation.

Letter To The Editor

To The Islander:

Exception I must take, of course, to at least some of the remarks in Mr. Cyrus Biscardi's letter in the 8/13/70 issue of The Islander.

To begin with, I wonder what Mr. Biscardi uses in place of 'that green stuff' from the mint, which he complains about in his next to the last paragraph. If there is a substitute I would certainly like to know about it.

I also note that Mr. Biscardi is a home owner on Sanibel. Does he live on the island year round so that he understands the seasonal and ecological changes which are so peculiar to these islands as compared to the mainland in this general area? Golf courses provide abundant oxygenation, provide employment to numbers of people and are things of beauty.

In regards to homes, does Mr. Biscardi wish to deny others the privilege of owning homes on the islands? If he would prevent people from building and moving into high rises (as we have come to know them), and also prevent them from building homes, where then would the orderly progress which he says he supports, be in effect?

I think that we have all been the subjects of too many quotes from eminent university professors, some of whom have never seen Sanibel and Captiva; and of too many figures denoting bacteria counts in areas which (at least at present) do not concern these islands. I am fully aware that this situation could change quickly.

In closing I would like to state that I am the pawn of no developer and as a bulldozer owner I feel that the Caterpillar Tractor Co. has done much to bring millions of square miles of lands into a condition which people can at least get in to see. It could of course be possible that we should halt the federal highway program but at this point it seems to me to be a little late. More people need more land and houses. Perhaps we should all get behind the pill.

Kindest regards to all island home owners, residents and visitors.

GOLF IN THE YEAR 1771: In the fields called the Links, the citizens of Edinburgh divert themselves at a game called Golf, in which they use a curious kind of bats tipped with horn, and small elastic balls of leather, stuffed with feathers, rather less than tennis balls, but of a much harder consistence. This they strike with such force and dexterity, from one hole to another, that they will fly to an incredible distance. Of this diversion the Scotch are so fond that, when the weaner will permit, you may see a multitude of all ranks, from the senior of justice to the lowest tradesman, mingled together in their shirts following the balls with the utmost eagerness. Amongst others, I was shown one particular set of golfers, the youngest of whom was turned fourscore. They were all gentlemen of independent fortunes, who had amused themselves with this pastime for the best part of a century, without ever having felt the least alarm from sickness or disgust; and they never went to bed without having each the best part of a gallon of claret in his belly.

....From Tobias Smollett's Humphrey Clinker.

Work a little harder; smile a little oftener; think a little straighter; serve a little better; consider the other fellow a little oftener.

"Watered" stock means the public is going to get soaked.

Choose your words, you might have to eat them.

Doing something for someone will bring more happiness than doing someone for something.

THE ISLAND GARDENER

Citrus trees are loaded with green fruit and if you have practiced good procedures your fruit will be clean according to the Florida Nurserymen and Growers Assn. (FNGA). Regardless of how careful you have been in spring in watering you may encounter some fruit splitting at this time of year. This condition is most prevalent on Valencia oranges. The inside of the orange grows more rapidly than the skin does and causes the cracking. At the present time there is no known control for this problem.

Limes and lemons are maturing now and many of you will be using them for beverages and desserts. You may notice on the blossom end of limes and lemons a sunken area about the size of a half dollar. This area may be light yellow to a dark brown. It is called styler end rot. It does not impair the edibility of the fruit, but it is rather unsightly. There is no known control for this problem either.

A plant not widely used but with great potential is the Gerbera daisy. Now is the time, according to the FNGA, to divide your Gerberas. If there are signs of root knot damage you should treat the plants when they are set in the ground with nemagon. Gerberas are like strawberry plants. They must not be placed too deeply in the soil. If the crown is covered the plant fails to bloom properly.

Tropical sod webworms are in abundance now. They feed on the young, tender blades of grass causing a trashy appearance in the lawn and frequently may give the lawn a brownish cast. Sod webworms can be controlled with several materials. It is suggested you consult with your local nurseryman or garden supply store for the best materials.

The orange dog worm appears on citrus at this time of year. It is a brownish black worm about an inch and a half or two inches in length and is often mistaken for bird droppings on trees. When the worm is disturbed it projects two reddish colored horns on the front of its head. These emit a very disagreeable odor. The control for these worms is hand picking. Look for the worms late in the evening.

matt tanzas memories

Hello Folks:

Re this and that:

One year I took the night classes at New York University Law School in Greenwich Village. The hours varied -- some nights 7 to 10 p.m. and some 8 to 10 p.m. I worked for a couple of lawyers during the day -- doing the dirty work -- serving summonses, subpoenas and other processes -- collecting claims and investigating accidents -- searching titles -- and when not too busy, keeping the library indexed and up to date.

I commuted back and forth from my county seat by train. After classes were over a friend and myself would stop at Child's on 14th Street for pancakes and sausages. Sometimes we took off early and attended a show on Broadway. As a result of all this I often missed my station on the way home, being sound asleep, and had to take a taxi back home, a distance of five miles.

Minsky's Burlesque was in top form at that time and I often left work, early in the afternoon, to take in the burlesque. It seems to me that a familiarity with the feminine nude is a good thing for the young, unmarried male. It's like everything else -- what you know doesn't bother you -- it's the mysterious and hidden that stirs the senses. I think nudity shows are a good escape valve for the young.

Have you ever noticed that men, as a general rule, especially the married ones, are eager to criticize and ridicule the married friend who is having a successful affair? Jealous, of course. They cover this and justify themselves by engaging in a hypocrisy of condemnation.

I was parking one day in a parking meter zone in my home town. As I was putting the nickle in the machine, a good friend, one of the respected members of the community, and a government employee, came up to me and said, "What are you putting a nickle in for? Why don't you use a pair of hand pliers like I do -- I'll show you" and with that he went to an adjoining, unoccupied meter and turned it to its maximum time. All of a sudden I comprehended what the Devil wants.

I have known sound citizens who thought nothing of getting by on a train ride without surrendering their ticket or paying -- workers who thought nothing of walking out of a plant with anything they could get away with -- clerks who had hundreds of dollars in postage stamps in their desk drawers at home, and so on, ad infinitum.

You keep this up long enough and it becomes a way of life. It's most vicious aspect is that it destroys your integrity and your pride. The people who do these things justify themselves in various ways -- they are underpaid -- must make it up somewhere -- won't be missed -- would be thrown out or wasted anyhow -- it's nothing compared to what the bosses are getting away with -- and so on and so on. The big crook uses the same methods of justification -- to whom it may concern, please -- don't demean yourselves by descending to their level.

Let's strive to make the highest morality our common denominator.

With love,
Matt Tanza.

THE MAGNIFICENT DOG

Thomas and Marilyn Reymont are the proprietors of "The Magnificent Dog" grooming salon and dog specialty shop on Fort Myers Beach. Although their shop has been open only a short time here, they are by no means newcomers to the business having had successful businesses both in Fort Lauderdale and Camp Hill, Pa., where they are originally from. Both Tom and Marilyn are graduates of "Docktors Grooming School" in Philadelphia. Before coming to the Beach they lived on Florida's east coast where Tom worked as a diver for the porpoise show at Ocean World in Fort Lauderdale.

The Reymont family consists of Tom and Marilyn and their toy poodles Fido and Mouse who, as some of you may have noticed, are colored pink and blue. Since moving to their new apartment, which adjoins their shop at 6080 Estero Blvd., they have acquired a new addition: A fine kitten named "Killer" which can be seen perched on Tom's left shoulder in the picture.

The Reymonts plans for the future are to build a weekend cottage on Upper Captiva Island where they have some land and also to get back to the main interest which is sailing; perhaps some day a trip around the world.

Transportation arrangements are planned if enough Island dog owners are interested in the service. Anyone interested should call The Magnificent Dog.

Mario Hutton is back from his fifth fishing expedition in two years aboard the commercial boat Harbor Queen out of Fort Myers Beach. The trip had to be cut short because of the unexpected arrival of 'Felice' in the Gulf of Mexico, but precisely because of this tropical storm the trip turned out to be highly successful.

About 24 hours before the hurricane struck, Mario and his two professional companions were lucky enough to come upon large schools of fish indulging in the "biting frenzies" they go through before violent weather shifts. As a result, about three hours of frantic action yielded no less than 175 red snappers from 4 to 25 pounds, 8 mutton snapper averaging 20 lbs., over 50 black and red grouper from 10 to 30 lbs., various other valuable deep sea fish, not to mention numerous hefty amberjacks and several sharks, two in the 8 foot class. All told, three days of fishing netted over 2600 pounds. On the basis of this and previous experiences aboard the Harbor Queen, Mario is utilizing the best among hundreds of slides taken, to prepare a "photo-verse" feature that he hopes to show this winter in many Florida cities and, of course, on Sanibel and Captiva.

FLORIDA SHERIFFS BOYS RANCH

The Florida Sheriffs Boys Ranch will throw a party to celebrate its 13th birthday on Sunday, October 4, and the public is invited.

A free barbecue will be served at 12:30 p.m., and a special chapel service will follow at 1:30 p.m. with State Representative Ed Blackburn, Jr., of Tampa, as the featured speaker. Blackburn formerly served as Sheriff of Hillsborough County, and was the first Executive Director of the Boys Ranch.

Visitors will have an opportunity to inspect facilities valued at over $2 million, including a new 100,000 gallon elevated water tank, and a just completed "radio shack" for the amateur radio club.

Located on the Suwannee River nine miles north of Live Oak, the Boys Ranch is a home for needy and worthy youngsters. It is sponsored by the Florida Sheriffs Association and supported entirely by voluntary contributions.

The Sheriffs Association has also chartered The Florida Sheriffs Girls Villa, a similar institution for girls, and is looking for a suitable building site.

Laughrey & Holtz, Milton F. and Gretta Stanley to Donald H. and Jeanette Case, Harbor House Restaurant.

HARBOR HOUSE SOLD

Laughrey & Holtz Island Real Estate, Inc. report the sale of the "Harbor House" Restaurant, a Sanibel landmark, from Milton and Gretta Stanley to Donald and Jeanette Case; formerly of Islip, Long Island, New York.

The Case family include sons Donald, Jr. and David, and daughter Deborah. The sale transaction closed on Sept. 15. The Stanleys plan to move to Hudson, Florida. They had purchased the property in 1963 from Gertrude Cole who, with her late husband, made it well known as "Jack's Place." The Cases plan to serve breakfast, lunch and dinner daily except Mondays, at "Case's Harbor House."

PIONEER FAMILIES OF THE ISLANDS

on their letters and the service, they said, was terrible!

Mrs. Charlotte Kinzie White knew all about that hurricane. She heard it from both sides of her family. Her father, Andrew Kinzie with his brother, George, owned and operated the Kinzie Brothers Steamer Line and, later, the ferries, our lifelines from 1904 to 1963. Many of us have nostalgic memories of these boats, especially the Dixie, recalling her distinctive "Hoooot!" as she signaled her landing at Bailey's dock. Charlotte's mother's people were natives of Germany, Bernhard and Clara Eyber who came to Captiva in 1904. Bernhard was working in a drug store in New York City as an accountant. Dr. Turner, of Fort Myers, bought his medicines there and upon finding the young man ailing, one day, prescribed the climate of Captiva. Bernhard, who loved books and nature, was enchanted with life on Buck Key, his grapefruit grove and farming, but to gentle young Clara, it was a rough life. When she was offered the job, she became operator, cook and trouble-shooter for the new hotel, Eyber House, first on Captiva. It was there she met her most dramatic moment during the hurricane of 1910, when, in her own words, "the waters of the bay and the Gulf met in the middle of our living room!"

Mrs. Beulah Brainerd Wiles is the granddaughter of Mrs. Hattie Gore, formerly Brainerd, who was postmistress for many years on Captiva. The Brainerds came from Canada in 1896 and farmed on Buck Key. There were two children, Gordon, who was to become Beulah's father, and his sister, Ann. Ann was a sweet and lovely child who loved to watch the sunset over the Gulf. Often, she and her mother would cross to Captiva by boat and walk through to a little knoll that was Ann's special place. She owned just one thing of value, a gold piece given her before she left Canada, and she decided to use this to buy the small piece of land she so dearly loved. Sadly, she did not live long to enjoy it for at the age of ten, she died of tetanus and her grave on her land was the beginning of the Captiva Cemetery.

The Nutt sisters, and their mother, well educated and genteel to their finger tips, came to Sanibel from Frankfort, Kentucky, before the turn of the century. Before the Civil War impoverished them, Lettie, Cordie and Nanny had lived the life of the southern aristocrat. Their plantation home, maintained by a small army of slaves, was the epitome of elegance, where Gen. Robert E. Lee, himself, was frequently entertained. The girls were not permitted to attend an ordinary school but were tutored at home. Cordie briefly attended a finishing school in Baltimore but was withdrawn when the "War Between the States" broke out. The girls read Greek as most of us read English and their spoken French was faultless. When her husband died, Mrs. Nutt, accompanied by her brother, journeyed to Sanibel to make a new home for herself and her daughters. Each of the ladies homesteaded and their home, The Gables, was both boarding house and school and furnished with many lovely things from their former home. Nanny married Mr. Holt but Lettie and Cordie remained spinsters and taught school both on Sanibel and in Alva. It was at Alva that Miss Cordie had her run-in with the school board. They insisted on testing her with a history book she knew to be incorrect. When she refused to match her answers with that of the text, she was sacked -- for "ignorance and incompetence!" Mrs. Florence Martin, cousin to the Nutt sisters, lives in their former home.

These are our pioneers. We are very proud of them.

BATTLE OVER MARSHES OF GULF COAST EMERGES

Because the clash between conservationist Jack Rudloe and Finley McMillen looms in the north pan handle Gulf area, and so resembles some of the controversy in the Everglades, and this area, we quote from some of the feud.

The area is near to Tallahassee and so a problem close at home to our legislators. Loring Lovell, director of Conservation '70 says, "I am afraid the potential for a real problem is brewing in the Big Bend. This area is richly endowed with beautiful estuarine and marsh areas, and perhaps is the breeding area for all of Florida's sports fishing and commercial fishing industries. Anytime you have waterfront property and people who are overzealous to develop it, you're in trouble."

So far Big Bend, 90 miles of coast land between the smelly Fenholloway River which is badly polluted by a cellulose plant, and St. Joseph Bay, where a pulp mill pollutes the waters, has been a salt marsh feeding marine life into the surrounding waters. Fishermen, oystermen, and crabbers fish the waters of St. George Island, and at East Point and Aplachicola and Dog Island. Then south of the little city of Panacea is Alligator Point where most of Tallahassee seems to congregate over weekends, armed with fishing rod and beer can in hand. Waterfront lots are selling for $100,00 per front foot, and available waterfront is running out fast. Draglines have gone into operation to throw bay bottom sands on the marshes to make beaches and land fills.

"It's the old Florida rape job. Hurry up and develop it, and sell it to the suckers and leave," said Rudloe. He feels that abundant marine life in the Apalachee Bay area is being killed by turbidity and landfills that will be lost forever. Marine and seashore life that has suffered so far are: fiddler crabs, beach hoppers, willets and herons, sea urchins and all fishing and shrimping. Marshes provide shelter for the offspring of small fish which feed bigger fish, and as marsh grasses break down they feed nutrients into the bays and estuaries which in turn nourish plant life and simple forms of animal life, and so on in a life cycle, called the ecology of a place.

Finlay McMillan is a realtor selling Florida's last frontier. "All we want is controlled growth and progress," he says, noting that "Panacea could be a city of 50,000. That would be quite a livelihood for a lot of people. This area has got to grow." And while Rudloe and realtor McMillan fuss and fume over these arguments, State Interior Resources Director J. V. Sollohum claims that the cross-Florida barge canal still is useful to open water barges and ought to be allowed to plow up the marshes for this purpose.

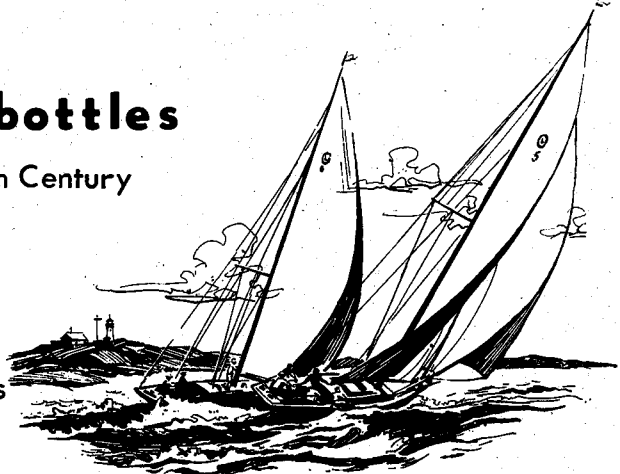

No one, either conservationist or developer, is happy with actions of state officials on disputes over coastal land uses and areas. Rudloe is against dredge and fill permits, and McMillan states, "It is getting tougher to get a dredging permit or an okay to bulkhead your own property or to renourish waterfront property washed away by a storm." And so goes a controversy that we are beginning to feel and understand nearer here at home, as we observe what has happened in the Naples area of development and has happened in the Miami Beach area and on and on, in all the coastal cities.

THE ISLAND CHEF

SHRIMP SALAD, SPANISH STYLE

2 cups, plus 6 shrimps, cooked, cleaned and deveined
3 cooked medium potatoes, cubed
4 hard cooked eggs, chopped fine
1 small sweet onion, finely chopped
2 Tbsp. minced parsley
1/2 cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
1 Tbsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. hot pepper sauce
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
1 Tbsp. wine vinegar
Lettuce
6 anchovy fillets
6 very thin green pepper rings
Paprika (optional)

Reserve the 6 extra shrimps for garnish. In wide bowl, combine first 6 ingredients. Sprinkle with lemon juice and toss lightly. In separate bowl, combine next 5 ingredients. Beat vigorously with rotary beater. Pour over mixture in first bowl and toss lightly once again to mix well. Divide salad among 6 lettuce lined salad plates. Place an anchovy fillet across each serving. Then a green pepper ring in center. In center of pepper ring, place a shrimp. Sprinkle all with paprika if you wish. Makes a very attractive salad.

RED SNAPPER, SPANISH SAUCE

6 red snapper steaks, 6 to 8 oz. each
28 oz. can tomatoes
Salad oil
1 medium-size onion, finely minced
1 medium-size clove garlic, very finely minced
1 sweet red pepper, finely minced
1 bay leaf
1/4 tsp. basil
6-oz. can tomato paste
1/2 cup dry white wine
1/8 tsp. saffron
Salt, pepper, celery salt
Flour

Drain tomatoes, reserving juice; chop them coarsely and set aside. In saucepan, heat 2 tablespoons oil. Add onion, garlic, sweet pepper, bay leaf and basil and saute until onions are tender but not brown. Add tomatoes, tomato juice, tomato paste and white wine. Crumble saffron slightly and add to saucepan. Simmer slowly, stirring occasionally, about 1/2 hour. Add salt and pepper to taste. Sprinkle fish with salt, pepper and celery salt. Dip in flour and shake off excess. Heat oil to a depth of 1/4" in large skillet. Saute fish until medium brown on both sides. Pour hot sauce over fish on serving platter or plates. Serves six.
