HELP FOR BURNED AND CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Mrs. Bowen J. Rupert, P. Chairman of the Ladies Oriental Shrine of North America is actively helping to raise money for transportation for needy burned and crippled children to and from the Burns Institute in Valveston, Texas and the Crippled Children's Hospital in Greenville, S.C.

If you would like to contribute to this worthy cause you may purchase a delicious pound and a half Benson's fruit cake for $2.00 at Priscilla Murphy's main and branch offices. All the proceeds from the sale of these cakes goes directly to the transportation fund for the children. Thank you.

SHRINE PAGEANT

The Pageant begins at 8:30 p.m. with these lovelies and their sponsors: Sharon Kay Michael, Sponsor, C.O.P.; Barbara Studstill, Sponsor, VFW Post 10097; Amy Evanson, Sponsor, The Cotton Shop; Mary Springer, Sponsor, Battery B National Guard; Betty Hunter Pritchard, Sponsor, Merle Norman Cosmetics; Kay Lomen, Sponsor, Russ Miller, Inc.; and Mary Katherine Shafer, Sponsor, Kiwanis Club of Fort Myers Beach.

County Commissioner Julian Hudson is Master of Ceremonies. Five local citizens will have the hard job of picking the winner. Joyce Villers, Shrimp Festival Queen will crown the winner. The newly crowned Queen and her Princesses will rule over the dance to follow.

Tickets are $2.50 each to be purchased at the door. Proceeds go to support Shriners Crippled Childrens Hospitals.

The Shrine Club building has been beautifully redecorated on the exterior, and inside facilities further enhanced for the occasion, the first event of the winter season to be followed by many others generated by Lee County's most active and versatile Shrine Club. Don't miss the big event.

SANIBEL BRIDGE REPAIRS

The Sanibel Bridge fenders on the west side have been smashed three times in the past year, and they are still under repair, as they are smashed faster than they can be fixed.

Bridge Engineers Ford, Bacon and Davis have been quked by the County Commissioners if there is a navigational problem involved in the accidents.

The last crash of October 6 was caused by a three barge tow handled by two tugs smashing onto the west fender system, snapping 41 pilings and causing $25 to $30,000 damage. Damage to the bridge itself is feared, which the fenders are supposed to protect. A tide flow meter and marine channel radio have been installed so the bridge fender can give directions to the approaching tugs about strength of currents. Commissioners have approved a contract with River Construction Co. for labor to make the repairs for the October 6 damage. They have approved purchase of the 50 ft. piling, and $900 to the Glades Lumber Co. for treatment of already delivered piling. A bill for $1,250 to the River Construction Co. for diving and inspection of underwater damage was presented and paid. All money comes from tolls collected, and is to be reimbursed in part as least by insurance money.

It was reported by the diving team that one concrete piling was broken and one of the huge footings holding the drawbridge parts shows wear and tear. The damage will be analyzed and assessed by engineers, according to Dick Schmidt, comptroller of the board. The representative from Ford, Bacon and Davis will be here from the New York office on October 19, said Schmidt.

The bridge fenders received their first damage Nov. 26, 1969 by barges the "Sea Inspector" was towing of Foster Marine Contractors of Fort Lauderdale. Those repairs cost $14,932; $11,535.50 of which was repaid by insurance money.

The next accident occurred August 25 when the tug "C. L. Anslow" owned by Tugs and Salvage of Tampa and cost $14,238 worth of damage. The last damage was when the tug "Boaz" of the Florida Canal Industries of Orlando assisted by the Maura-O of Fort Myers Shell Co. hit the fenders, despite the fact the two tugs were employed one at each end to try to avoid a collision.

The bridge channel is 90 ft. wide between the fenders, and most barges are 50 ft. wide or less. River Construction has been on the site since repairs started last Spring.

WHO'S WHO AND WHY

Guests at the Shalimar this week are Mr. & Mrs. ROBERT S. GORDON of Ft. Lauderdale, who are great golf fans. Mr. & Mrs. M. J. Mr. & Mrs. EDMUND FITZGERALD from North Miami have returned for a quiet rest as have Mr. & Mrs. K. G. FERGUSON of Lakeland. Mr. & Mrs. J. HOPKINS of Palm Beach are great fishermen and somehow knew this is the good fishing season coming up, and were joined by Mr. & Mrs. GEORGE F. PITCHER of Summit, Fla. Shell addicts are Mr. & Mrs. MALCOLM WHITLOCK of N. Palm Beach and Mr. & Mrs. STEPHEN L. MASSACO of Pompano Beach.

Visiting the JOHN MARKS is Mrs. Mark's mother, Mrs. LILLIAN MORRIS of Edgewater, Fla. They have all shown much interest in the quail which the Marks recently imported.

Mr. ROY WEBB of Castaways fame is home from the hospital and getting around in a walker. "I feel wonderful," he remarked.

Miss CHRISTINE BRANDON, a newcomer to Sanibel Island has been doing the Pirate Playhouse a great service. For the last week she has been cataloging the arena's costumes and packing them systematically in the theater's trunks. Director Phillip Hunter and Ruth Hunter are indeed grateful.

Mrs. MARGARET BENNETT of Ann Arbor, Mich., revisiting the islands for the first time in several years, was stunned by the amount of new building all over Sanibel and the new supermarkets and charming shops. "The islands still retain much of their native growth and beauty, but there is progress too," she noted, "and what makes it more unique is the absence of litter and billboards, a restful sight indeed."

Fishermen report that the fishing is getting better. Mr. JOE NEWMAN of the Chamber of Commerce reports some of the winter residents are coming back. "Some who own homes here are back, and some who are here for six months in the winter have returned too," he said. "Everybody is busy as bees, painting up and prettying up for the season," he remarked.

Mr. & Mrs. LEROY WERLE from Lexington, Ky. have returned to Shell Harbor Inn to shell, rest and fish mostly. Shelling has been very good lately with the high tides and very low lows.

Back at the Reef Motel for annual vacation are Mr. & Mrs. DONALD G. Wilmot of Albany, Fa.; Mr. & Mrs. HENRY PALMER of Parma Hgts., Ohio; Mr. & Mrs. C. H. WESTENDORF, with their guests, Mr. & Mrs. THURMAN FRASHURE all of Dayton, Ohio. Mr. & Mrs. Westendorf will return for the Shell Fair. Mr. W. found a lovely junonia and feels lucky indeed. ### MEET YOUR ISLANDER REPORTER

Fran O'Callaghan, new reporter for Sanibel and Captiva on the Islander, wishes she could live on the islands. "I graduated from Chatham College in Pennsylvania, so many years ago, my typewriter won't count up that far. I was licensed to teach French and English in the secondary schools, but usually keep this a secret, hating to fail a challenge by a real French man. Then I spent many years as a social worker, parole officer, and medical social worker in various places where my husband happened to be stationed in the Army."

"Changing careers midstreams, so to speak, to accommodate a growing family, I taught school for ten years, in various places, the last one being in North Africa. During this time, seemed to find me always writing and in charge of publicity or other literary activities. And so by the force of gravity, have become your career reporter on Sanibel and Captiva.

"I am counting on your help and cooperation in doing as good a job in reporting as possible. See you on the Islands on Thursdays."

Rattle Trap: The family car may not have all the zip and power it once had, but it now has some very interesting sound effects.

After the divorce many women insist on receiving alimony because they have an aching heart... which in many instances are only symptoms of an itching palm.

Silver threads among the gold,
Was written by some careless
Bird ... who didn't stop to think
There's guys like me, quite hairless.

If I possessed a shop or store,
I'd drive the grouches off my floor,
I'd never let some gloomy guy
Offend the folks who come to buy.
I'd never keep a boy or clerk
With mental toothache at his work
Nor let a man who draws my pay
Drive customers of mine away.
I'd treat the man who takes my time
And spends a nickel or a dime
With courtesy, and makes him feel
That I was pleased to close the deal,
Because tomorrow, who can tell?
He may want the stuff I have to sell.
And in that case, then glad he'll be
To spend his dollars all with me.
The reason people pass one door
To patronize another store
Is not because the busier place
Has better silks or gloves or lace
Or cheaper prices, but it lies
In pleasant words and smiling eyes;
The only difference, I believe
Is in the treatment folks receive.

Two women met in a department store.
"I just can't stand my husband's nasty disposition. He makes me so jittery that I'm losing weight!" Her friend: "If it's as bad as that why don't you leave him?"
First gal: "That's exactly what I'm going to do --- as soon as I get down to 115 pounds!"

THE ISLAND GARDENER

Gardening in Florida is just backwards to what newcomers have been used to in the north according to the Florida Nurserymen and Growers Assn. (FNGA). The spring vegetables you planted in March or April back home are now planted in the fall in Florida. There are many vegetables that can add to your dinner table. It is time to plant snap beans, beets, cabbage, carrots, radishes, spinach and turnips. Most of these vegetables will grow with the greatest of ease. They need only fertilizing when planted and usually once thereafter when they are approximately half grown. Spraying will be important because we do have many winter insects. If the vegetable is leafy avoid using a residual spray. Read the directions carefully before applying any spray to something you are going to eat.

One of Florida's finest fruits is the mango. Those of you that have not tasted this delicacy should make every effort to grow a tree in your yard providing you are in an area that will not kill the tree during cold weather. Mangos should be fertilized now. Use a complete analysis such as a 6-6-6, or even a citrus fertilizer would be satisfactory. Apply the fertilizer at the rate of one pound for each foot of tree spread.

Oleanders have grown during the summer months and it is now time to cut them back. Don't forget that the oleander is poisonous so avoid burning the removed parts of the plant.

One of the nicest flowers to grow during the winter months is the nasturtium. This plant can be an asset to the garden or border. The leaves and the flowers of the plant can be used in salads or in soups. The flowers provide an attractive coloring for an otherwise drab yard. Frequently nasturtiums fail to produce an abundance of flowers because of over-fertilization. This plant is one of the rare ones which does not require fertilizer but once or twice during its growing period. Make your bed on the south side of the house where it is warm and sunny. Set the plants at least ten inches apart which will permit them to grow quite large. Leaf miners will be a problem on nasturtiums. One of the best sprays for the control of this insect is either diazinon or malathion.

matt tanza's memories

Hello Folks:

One of my most pleasant experiences was my association with the Boy Scouts of America. I joined one of the first troops of Boy Scouts that was organized in New York. It was before World War I and our patrol met in the social room of the Congregational Church. We used to carry staffs made from the bamboo poles that rugs were rolled on. We never missed a scout meeting. To get to the church basement where we met we had to walk about four miles each way. We never missed; summer or winter.

Some of the things we learned were wrestling, boxing and good sportsmanship. We held jamborees and went on hiking and camping trips. In New York, at that time we had a hurricane once in a great while but we frequently had winter storms that were more devastating than the hurricanes. One February, over Washington's Birthday, we camped in a crater where a very old and huge oak had been blown over. The crater was at least fifteen feet in diameter. We pitched our tent with the flap facing the upturned roots and built our fire between the tent and the roots. It was cold, windy and snowy, but in this shelter it was almost as good as being in a shed.

About this time the now city of White Plains, N.Y. had uncovered various relics of the Battle of White Plains on a hill overlooking the city and called, Battle Hill. The city fathers decided to erect a monument to Washington and his troops on Battle Hill. The whole county turned out for the dedication and unveiling of the monument and the Boy Scouts were assigned the task of keeping the crowd at a suitable distance. We did this by spreading out with our bamboo staffs stretched out between us.

Governor Charles S. Whitman, the Tom Dewey of his time, was the principal speaker. A ball was held that evening in the Governor's honor and the Scouts were individually presented to the Governor preceding the ball. It surely was a thrill.

Charles S. Whitman had been a crusading District Attorney in New York City. His most famous case and the one that made him Governor was the trial of Lt. Becker of the New York City Police. Lt. Becker was in charge of the Vice Squad and a tyrannical and ruthless ruler of the underworld. The case started when Herman Rosenthal, the proprietor of a famous gambling casino accused Becker of being his silent partner and his blackmailer. Rosenthal, prior to his scheduled appearance before the grand jury, was shot and killed in cold blood.

Whitman prosecuted Becker relentlessly. Jack Rose and Jack Zelig were his principal witnesses. Both turned State's evidence. Jack Zelig had supplied Rose with four killers. One Bridgie Webber paid for the murder, all, as alleged, on orders of Becker. In spite of at least one reversal, Whitman persevered and Becker eventually was electrocuted. If you want some interesting reading try the Becker case and meet Jack Rose, Jack Zelig, Dago Frank, Gyp the Blood and many others. It outdoes fiction any day.

With Love,
Matt Tanza.

SANIBEL PASSION PLAY AND OKTOBERFEST TOUR

by William MacIntosh

Our Sanibel group tour this year was called Sanibel Passion Play and Oktoberfest Tour. This was so because we were featuring the Passion Play at Oberammergau and the Autumn Festival at Munich. One other event equally important should have shared the spotlight and that was our stay in Vienna for the opening of the opera season.

We left Fort Myers on Sept. 9, that is, nine of us did. The twenty others we picked up at Kennedy Airport in New York.

TWA, as usual, had provided us with a comfortable room and refreshments at their terminal building, where we had an opportunity to get together and get acquainted. Actually, for most of us it was a chance to renew friendships made on our previous tours.

We took off from Kennedy around 7 p.m. and arrived early next morning at Frankfurt.

After some delay getting through Customs and Immigration we set out by motorcoach for Heidelberg, where we were to spend our first two nights in Germany.

Our hotel there, the Park Haarlass, overlooking the Neckar River, was a picturesque holdover from an era of tallyho coaching days complete with comfortable accommodations and good food.

After two days in this university city of song and story, we set out in our private motorcoach and journeyed south to Oberammergau in the Bavarian Alps.

It was early in the afternoon of Saturday when we arrived in this famous and very lovely town -- famous because of the Passion Play which is performed only every ten years, and lovely because of the beauty of its surroundings and decorated houses.

Next day (Sunday) we attended the all-day performance of the Play -- an experience that will not soon be forgotten -- 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. with a two hour break for lunch.

From Oberammergau we proceeded to Innsbruck, but first making a stop at Neuschwanstein. There we visited the castle, perched high on a mountain top, of the Mad King Ludwig, and had lunch at an attractive inn.

Our hotel in Innsbruck, the Roter Adler (the Red Eagle) was located in the very heart of the city, making it convenient to browse the main shopping centers or visit the main points of interest. There are not many cities that can equal the grandeur of scenery that surrounds this capital city of the Tyrolean Alps.

From Innsbruck we proceeded eastward to Vienna, where we would spend four days.

Reservations for good seats at the State Opera House had been made for our entire group months before. "La Traviata" was to be performed and we were all eagerly anticipating it. As it turned out it was one of the high spots of our tour, a great performance and elegantly staged.

And that could be said of all Vienna. Our four days were not enough and it was with reluctance that we left.

Salzburg, our next stop, is the birthplace of Mozart, and (if you are a movie fan) of "The Sound of Music" -- a pretty good movie, I'm told.

From Salzburg back into Germany and Munich, the capital city of Bavaria, in time for the Oktoberfest (or beer festival) and the best; the very best beer guzzling anywhere.

The beer festival is the big event of the year in Munich and lasts about three weeks, beginning around September 20 through the first week in October. The amount of beer consumed during this time is literally staggering. But I have never, ever seen so much happiness and good will any place, anytime, as I did in Munich at the beer festival. It was with a sigh and a burp that we climbed aboard our bus for Rothenburg, the next stop on our itinerary.

From Munich to Rothenburg the route followed is largely the so-called "Romantic Trail" and rightly so, because the road is a narrow, twisting one through villages and small towns that somehow seem to have been overlooked or perhaps mislaid or left behind in the frantic effort to keep in step with progress.

Maybe, they didn't care.

Which brings us to Rothenburg. With a little imagination it is entirely possible to erase 500 years of history by closing your eyes as you enter a gateway to the walled city of Rothenburg. You are leaving behind you the 20th Century and entering a city, and you now see it as Columbus would have seen it had he decided to discover Rothenburg instead of America.

As it was with Heidelberg, Innsbruck, Vienna, so it is with Rothenburg: a regretful goodbye. Thank you for the opportunity of knowing you. I shall not soon forget you.

From Rothenburg to the Rhine for a boat trip past the castles and the Lorelei; then on to Wiesbaden and Frankfurt and a Jumbo Jet via London to New York and back to Sanibel, where it all started.

FLOOD INSURANCE TO BE DISCUSSED

Flood insurance, building and zoning criteria and codes are relatively unknown, although the county has temporary approval for a year. After a discussion Wednesday, the Lee County Board of Commissioners voted to invite Frederick Smith or a representative to come to Lee County to discuss the problems and clear up a lot of questions. Smith is assistant regional administrator for the program coordination and services office of the Atlanta Region, Dept. of Housing and Urban Development.

AUDITING FIRM RENAMED

The Lee County Board of Commissioners switched from Davis, Probe and Richards auditing firm for the Sanibel and Cape Coral bridges back to Bogue, Taylor and Edenfield as regular auditors at the request of Bruce Scott. But the former auditors had already cost taxpayers $1,480.

The work sheets done to date are to be turned over to the County. $21,280 for resurfacing 8,000 lineal feet of the Casa Ybel Road with sand and asphalt was voted and approved by the Commission Wednesday.

LYKES TRACT TRADED

Lykes Bros., wholesalers of meats and meat products of Tampa, traded a 28.5 acre tract of land adjacent to the Sanibel Elementary School to the U. S. Government for the expansion of the Sanibel National Wildlife Refuge. The property received in trade was about 1,800 acres in Citrus and Hernando Counties, and the trade price was set at $117,500.

Last week in the same general area, Olive Rhodes sold a parcel of land to the Government for $24,000 which will be used for enlargement of the National Refuge.

In this week's sale, a one-third interest in the estate of Hazel P. Simmons on Sanibel was sold to Clarence Duane White for $28,000.

OUR MANY THANKS

We would like to extend our thanks to our customers and friends for the help they gave us in obtaining our rate increase. It is greatly appreciated.

ACQUISITION OF BIG CYPRESS CHECKED

The U. S. Dept. of Interior sent a water resources team to Naples Wednesday to assess possible control and public ownership of the Big Cypress watershed area.

A Washington source said the area to be surveyed will include the lands east of State Road 29 and south of Alligator Alley and possibly the Fakahatchee Strand, Big Cypress and the Fakahatchee Strand have been in the news in connection with the effect the Dade-Collier jetport site would have on the million acre Everglades National Park, and more recently the negotiation with GAC in swapping overdredged lands in Cape Coral for the Fakahatchee Strand. These lands are in the Remuda Ranch Grants area, and involve 20,000 acres.

The Washington spokesman said the water resources team will study the whole situation with a view to determining whether GAC holdings in the Strand of around 60,000 acres should be in the acquisition or control area of public domain.

Public uses being considered are as a recreation area, a wildlife management area or turning it over to Florida for state uses.

There has been no definite authorization nor cost of acquisition report. The team will consider only the feasibility of public control or ownership in regard to water resource protection and uses.

ISLAND STORE REOPENS

Mr. Arthur Mills, proprietor of the Island Store on Captiva, has reopened after a month's vacation. The Island Store has been the only grocery on Captiva for the past 21 years, and Mr. Mills has tried to stock all needs and necessities from tooth picks to roasts. Roasts are not actually stocked but Mr. Mills can procure some if ordered a day ahead of time, but the regular stock of fresh meats includes hamburger, liver, pork chops, cold cuts, bacon and many more convenient meats, but on order he can supply a leg of lamb or rib roast too.

All sorts of canned goods and an assortment of store bought breads and buns are available too, and some frozen foods and fresh vegetables. His stock in trade is the staples, so that a rib-sticking meal of meat and potatoes can be bought and prepared from his stock.

Mr. Mills is the mainstay clerk in the store, but his wife will pinch-hit for him in case of necessity. It is worth a trip to the store just to see the real old-fashioned kind in operation, and you are bound to find something to your liking and desire.

SPEED LIMIT ON PERIWINKLE CHANGE

P. A. Geraci questioned reducing the speed limit on Periwinkle Way. The limit is now 45 mph one and 35 mph in the other direction. There have been requests for a reduction in the speed limit but the county engineer's office has not been able to make a study of the situation, due to the press of other business. Someone called asking Mr. Geraci to take immediate action, but the matter is to be tabled until the engineering study is made.

KEEP HER SHIPSHAPE

A place for everything and everything in its place is the motto of experienced boatmen, according to Frank J. Stafford, Jr., Commander, San Carlos Bay Power Squadron. Good housekeeping float is more important than good housekeeping ashore. Don't let loose pieces of equipment, or tangled lines, clutter up your boat.

HUTTON'S SLIDES A SUCCESS

Mario Hutton's slides accompanied by verse narration at Edison Junior College Sunday night were a delight to an adult audience. Beautiful colored scenes of Sanibel and Captiva wildlife in tasteful grouping were shown. Strangely beautiful were the infra-red filming of the islands, making mangroves look like they were clothed in fall foliage. It was the first time this technical filming had been used in this fashion.

ATTEMPT TO UNITE CONSERVATION GROUPS

Mrs. Gladys Donohue of Ochopee, Conservationist, has begun a one-woman attempt to form a coalition of Conservationists throughout South Florida.

The first organizational meeting is set for October 25 at 10 a.m. at the Big Cypress Nature Center in Naples. "There are many conservation organizations, all working independently, and I would like to bring together all those groups for an exchange of ideas and projects," said Mrs. Donohue. "I have talked with many people who have been helping fight drainage development and cutting up the Everglades into little pieces and despoiling it."

The latest threats to the Everglades are the routing of I-75 two miles north of U. S. 41 and the desire of some to keep the Collier-Dade jetport in the Everglades, according to Mrs. Donohue. She has requested the more than 25 private and public conservation organizations to unite in the meeting by sending a representative to it. Other interested individuals are also invited to attend.

CAPE CORAL WATER SKI TEAM

The Cape Coral Water Ski Team, under the direction of Jon and Sharon Broderick, would like to announce that their first ski show for the season will take place on October 25, Sunday afternoon, at 2 p.m., next to the North Bay Marina on Tamiami Trail next to the old bridge.

This is the first in a series of ski shows to be presented to the public during the tourist season. The shows are FREE to the public and each show has an individual sponsor. The first sponsor is Fort Myers Insurance Agency.

If there is any question on the above, please call Sharon Broderick at 542-5494. Thank you.

HAUNTED HOUSE OPENS

Witches, monsters, ghosts, rooms of various "Spook" tacular effects, carnival games and concessions are open to the public this week at the annual Haunted House in Fort Myers.

The "Haunted House" is a unique fund-raising project sponsored by the Junior Welfare League of Fort Myers, Inc. A charge of 50¢ per person will admit anyone brave enough to take the "terrifying tour." Proceeds are used to support the Community Service projects of the League such as the Suitcase Museums distributed throughout the elementary schools of Lee County; Children's Concerts presented at the schools twice a year in cooperation with the Fort Myers Symphony Orchestra and the school music department, and support of the Volunteer Service Bureau until it becomes an agency of the United Fund in 1971. A new project being promoted by the Junior Welfare League this year is a community-wide effort to build and maintain a Junior Museum and Planetarium for Lee County.

Location of the "Haunted House" is 3725 Cleveland Ave., and will be open from 4 - 9 p.m., Oct. 26 - 31. It is a fun filled treat for the whole family, enjoyed by all ages. Children under age 6 must be accompanied by an adult.

TRAINS, TRAINS, TRAINS

"We took three of them to the coast," say the Hunters, Ruth and Philip, "and three of them back. What fun! From the moment we choo-chooed out of Fort Myers it was adventure. Folks waved and the old whistle blew and we felt very much at home, remembering when we were little chugging through the night with that eerie whistle taking us to some far away place. There were times when we played in Chautauqua when Philip and I ran alongside of the train and hopped back on again. And there were daisies growing on the tracks,

"The best part of train travel hasn't changed at all, and that's the good old crew. The porters, conductors and the train stewards, etc., were all born good natured. They laugh and enjoy their work whether it's Seaboard, Santa Fe, or good old Milwaukee and St. Paul.

"The coach trains are most comfortable. There's foot rests so you can sleep through the night and fluffy pillows. A passenger now goes down to the stainless steel washrooms so that the riding on the second level is much more smooth. The food is fine and not too expensive and our maitre d'e was Pierre from Canada who vacations in England each year. Riding the dome car through Arizona is a big treat. There were many good passengers too --- a university professor who's card had a tiny colored rock attached because that was his hobby which he was pursuing at a convention in San Francisco. Conversation brought out that they had just enlarged their home in Illinois so his mother could be with them and the old lady loved it. A good idea --- she had her privacy and yet made to feel one of the family. Then there was the flashy attractive public relations manager of a Loas Vegas hotel with 17 pieces of baggage and a dear little negro boy with his grandmother to play "ghost" with; and many other interesting fellow passengers.

"There were delicious almond crescents and fresh hot coffee in the club car along with the latest magazines, stationary and beer.

"Many railroad stations are painted up and very neat, music and plants in Los Angeles and Jacksonville. In Wyoming, there's an old stage coach (Overland Trail pictured above) at Cheyenne Station. You can get off the train to see it and buy souvenirs.

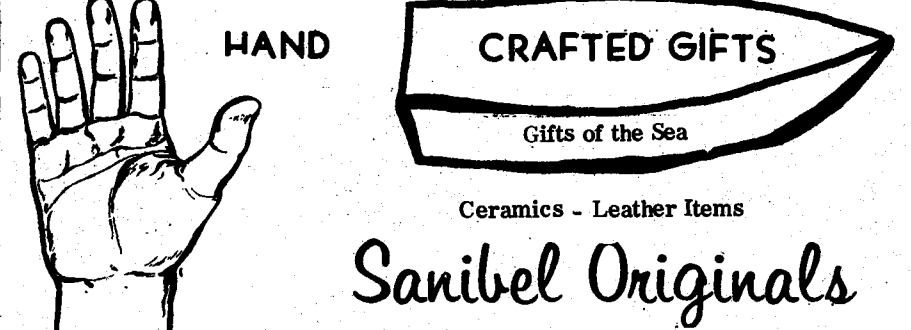

"Fort Myers station, with two of the friendliest and efficient ticket agents, as well as one of the best stations architecturally and building wise, in the whole United States is now the most dilapidated. Paint comes off in ribbons when you sit in front of the ticket office. It is impossible to rest in the waiting room because dirt and muck are on the benches and plaster falls on passengers heads. It's good that Mr. Thomas Edison, who loved his Fort Myers so, can't see Fort Myers station now. Can't something be done about it?"

BOAT SAFETY IMPORTANT

In the past several weeks several near disasters have occurred on the waters around the Islands, and most of them can be blamed on carelessness, a dangerous business in boating.

First, two couples and a teenage girl were feared lost when they stayed in harbor on Captiva to avoid rough seas. This was a very commendable thing, but they should have let interested parties know of their whereabouts, for they notified the Coast Guard when the two couples did not rendezvous, and helicopters searched for them.

Then another couple off Sanibel last week capsized their catamaran sailboat and were in the water almost three hours before being rescued by a passing craft.

This week, in the same area, another small craft had their motor die, and they spent many hours adrift before the Coast Guard was able to effect a rescue and tow them ashore. The moral to all these stories is to treat all boats with a great deal of respect, and remember and observe all safety rules. Remember, they said the Lusitania was unsinkable. Something can go wrong with any boat; so please use caution, care and common sense.

REPORT ON LEE COUNTY HUMANE SOCIETY

by Fran O'Callaghan

Having been reading some pretty revolting letters in the Mailbag lately about the Humane Society, we have wondered what in the world has happened to it in the years since we had occasion to visit it. We came to the building with mixed emotions, but with every effort bent toward an open mind. First off, we entered a busy office in a rather new building. Phones were ringing and everyone seemed as busy as bees, but someone asked our business, and shortly, Mr. Victor DesRoches dropped everything and started telling us the facts of life about the whole operation.

While we talked several stray dogs came and licked our legs, and Mr. Des Roches took time out to pet each one.

He showed us a letter of approval of his operation from the American Humane Society in Denver, indicating a recent visit of the Humane Officers with nothing but approbation for Mr. & Mrs. Des Roches' operation of the Lee County Humane Society. Then he took me on a tour of the building. The cages were spotless! In comparison with the Colorado Springs Zoo, which is world famed as the cleanest zoo in the world; these dog pens were even cleaner. All of the animals seemed happy. But there was a Pekingese, a newcomer, who was frightened. He was one out of the cages and in the offices being petted and made to feel at home. "He is still nervous and frightened, and so we will keep him out here with us until he is less apprehensive about going into the kennels with other dogs," said Mrs. Des Roches.

Each of the kennels accommodates one or two or even three dogs depending on the size of the dogs, and there is a back room allowing more freedom of movement and for exercise of the dogs. "You notice the dogs crowd into the front part of the pens," said Mr. De Roches. "That's because this is where the action is. Dogs love people and want to be with them, and so they come out here."

"We make every effort to have happy well animals. The Humane Society is as its name implies -- a humane operation. We make every effort to keep these dogs well and happy and find them a happy adoptive home," said Mr. Des Roches.

"We placed Bruno here in a home with children, but he accidentally knocked one of the children down. He became worried that he might accidentally do it again inadvertently. He became morose. The next day, he was outside of the kennels waiting to be let in, having found his way back home here. He is happy here and so here he stays."

"At present there are about 200 dogs here. If a dog becomes incurably ill and threatens the health of the other animals, we must put him to sleep. We put him in the euthanasia room. The gas is colorless, odorless and watercooled. The dog simply goes to sleep. It is carbon monoxide gas," said Mr. Des Roches, and again he produced a letter of approval of the euthanasia methods employed.

There were several cats and kittens in cages too, and even a skunk, a parrot and hamsters. Then for the beautiful part of the whole place. Outside on the Arcadia Road side were several large outdoor cages with chicken wire tops and sides. In the first cage were an array of bright colored little birds, some canaries, finches, dear little Philippine doves and other small exotic birds. There were gophers and box turtles on the ground. In the next cage were parakeets, doves, pouter pigeons, two young white ducks brought in while we were there, a South American Iguana and various other exotic lizards. The children who came to visit were allowed to enter these cages and fondle the animals. There were other cages with ring necked pheasants, peacocks, even a common mocking bird and pigeons. Some had been donated and nursed back to health when they had been injured, but they were frequently unable to fly and so would make their home here permanently. There were ducks, and one mallard was taking a bath and cavorting around. They let the mallard fly away hoping he would resume life on the outside, but one day there he was back in the cage, home to stay.

Mr. & Mrs. Des Roches maintain a 24 hour service. A call at any hour of the day or night brings them on the run to rescue a hurt animal. "Unfortunately, sometimes we are called by someone, say on Sanibel. By the time we make the trip over there, often the ailing animal is dead. We wish we had someone on the Islands who could take care of these emergencies for us until we can get there and do what is necessary for them," said Mrs. Des Roches. On questioning, we learned that what little money is received for the Society from public funds is only enough for the emergency care of the animal, not for any continuing care, and so they must depend on other donations, and so they have the thrift shop. But people do not realize that in caring for the animals they often hear of greater human needs, which they take care of. "Not long ago a family was burned out. They had no clothes, and so we went through our thrift shop clothing and gave the family replacement clothing from our store," remarked Mrs. Des Roches. "Another time an elderly lady became ill enough to have to go to the hospital. She was destined never to come home, and so we took care of her pet dog until he died of old age."

These are some of the things this devoted couple do for animals and people. Both have been offered better paying positions in more glamorous settings, but because of their devotion to a cause have refused them.

The Des Roches hope to have a small animal zoo for the school children to come and enjoy. "Children must be able to feel, cuddle, talk to and smell an animal to know him. Many see them only in pictures." They have a pony now and several monkeys. The shelter is across from the City well-field which is in the process of being made into a County Park and Nature Center, of 12 acres. The shelter has a little over 4 acres of land. They hope to have the shelter a place of joy for the children and other visitors to be proud of, and indeed it is on the way to becoming just that. Yearly memberships are only $2.00 per person.
