1971 SANIBEL SHELL FAIR

The 1971 Sanibel Shell Fair takes its place in the history as another beautiful experience for Islanders and visitors. There were 143 separate exhibits, both scientific and artistic which were set up efficiently and in a minimum of time by Helene Eker, Eugenia Wright, Dan Malone and Tom Nix who made up the registration committee.

Gisella Koncz served again as Judges' clerk and coordinated the decisions of the judges so efficiently that the lists of winners in all categories were ready for distribution to the news within minutes after the final decisions of the judges.

All the judges arrived and went to work about 4 p.m., although the artistic judges had only seven classes to judge, there were so many entries that it took over two hours to finish. They advised that the high caliber of all the entries made them wish that they could have put a ribbon on each one. The originality expressed in each entry was refreshing.

In spite of the fact that there were twenty two separate classes in the scientific division, the judges declared their awards as final in three and a half hours.

Some of the displays that were of special interest to Islanders included the entries of 'Uncle' Clarence Rutland who over a period of fifty years, along with his deceased wife Ruth, gathered one of the most magnificent collections of local shells to be seen on Sanibel. Priscilla Murphy's Epitonium collection, which is the most complete outside any museum, was much admired for the exquisite shells in this small family. Mrs. William Stevenson had made drawings of shells, worked them in needlepoint and showed the shells and needlepoint together. Elsie Malone's private collection of Florida shells is the most extensive known to collectors. It was on display in the commercial category and had a continuous group of admirers during the entire show.

Attendance at the fair was greater than in any previous year. On the first day alone,

Attendance at the fair was greater than in any previous year. On the first day alone, Marshall Tabacchi clocked more thatn 800 cars in and out of the parking area, Each day the building was filled from opening to closing time with spectators.

WHO'S WHO

Dr. & Mrs. R. A. JENSEN of Minnetonka, Minn., have returned to the islands and Beachview Cottages after an absence of several years. First, they were amazed by the new bridge and just a little nostalgic about the ferries being replaced by it. And then they were further amazed by the fantastic growth of the islands and all the new buildings, homes, condominiums and motels. "But the beach and the Gulf remain the same," they noted, and just wish they could take some of the sun and surf back to Wisconsin with them.

ISLAND INN

Combining business with pleasure, are the William Maguires of Largo who have come to the Island Inn for the annual general meeting of the Island Inn directors. President of the company, Mr. William Kimball, will preside at the meeting on March 8 at the Inn.

Other guests at the Inn who are here for brisk but pleasant March weather are Mrs. A. H. Rowen of New York City, Mr. & Mrs. Richard Bell of Hinsdale, Ill., Mrs. W. B. Ball of Orleans, Mass., Mrs. Mary H. Albertsen of Forest Hills, Long Island, N.Y., and the Newell S. Knights of St. Louis, Mo.

Enjoying a resful visit with quiet interludes on the beach are the J. G. Worts of Toronto, Can., the N. H. Whitesides of Hinsdale, Ill., Mr. & Mrs. Edward Reynolds of Sturgeon Bay, Wis., Mr. & Mrs. Robert Eichler of Concord, Mass., Mrs. Leonard Eyges of Wellesley, Mass., and the B. T. Clarks and friend from Fort Myers.

GULF BREEZE COTTAGES

Many old guests who have been coming to Gulf Breeze, for from five to twelve years, who meet and party together each year at this time are: Mr. & Mrs. Art Goehring, Indiana, Pa.; Mr. & Mrs. Floyd Walker of Green Lake, Wisc.; Mr. & Mrs. Herbert Klum of Chicago, Ill.; Mr. & Mrs. Curt Methfessel, Yonkers, N.Y., and their daughter and grandson, Eva and Billy Cano; Mr. & Mrs. Peter Azuka, Amityville, N.Y., Mrs. Mildred Raines, Orlando, Fla., Mr. & Mrs. W. C. Tennent of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and new guests Mr. & Mrs. Wm. Neilson and Mr. H. G. Gude, of Tenefly, N.J., and Mr. & Mrs. Wm. Dove of Mattituck, N.Y.

Thursday night, Jerry Funk was chief cook and organizer of a cookout, for all the guests plus Mr. & Mrs. McMara, Mr. & Mrs. Bill Newman, Dan Moore, and Ethel Reynolds. A lot of food and drinks and good time was had by all.

SEGUNDA APARTMENTS

The Herb Purdys entertained a houseful of guests last Saturday when they served cocktails and smorgasbord supper to 40 people. Guests who have returned to the Segunda for a spring visit and vacation are Mr. & Mrs. Victor Hagerstrom of Bedford, N.Y. Mr. & Mrs. John Ohlandt of Mt. Kiska, N.Y., are enjoying shelling, and Mr. & Mrs. Austin McElroy of Columbus, Ohio, were viewers of shell wonders at the Shell Fair.

Mr. & Mrs. W. R. Travis of Kingston, Ont., Canada and Mr. & Mrs. Sydney Hamilton of Willondale, Ont., are enjoying the definite change from the Canadian scene and are happy to change their winter coats for casual beach attire.

Mrs. Leslie Jonap of Rosslyn, N.Y., and dear friend of the Purdys is back to shelling on the beach again, and know she will have news of her new finds, as she is most lucky.

SONG OF THE SEA

Lori has returned to Song of the Sea and has renewed acquaintance with Minea the Saluki. The joie de viore of the miniature poodle is matched by the zest of her owners Miss RUTH and Miss FRANCES WILLIAMS. Their sister, Mrs. WEINSTEIN and her son and daughter-in-law are with them this year making a happy family group from Williams ille, N.Y.

THE REEF

Among the returning guests to The Reef are Mrs. Robert Jarrett, Simsbury, Conn., here this year in time to enter her collection in the Shell Fair. Other returnees include, Mr. & Mrs. Rex Metz, Greenville, S.C., Mr. & Mrs. Daniel Jones and daughter of Edina, Minn.; Mr. Lloyd Forster and family, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.; Dr. & Mrs. H. J. Hansen and family of Sheboygan Falls, Wisc.; Mr. & Mrs. Lowell McElroy of Scarsdale, N.Y.; Mr. & Mrs. J. Huble, Minneapolis, Minn.; Mr. & Mrs. F. C. Blauvelt, Wychoff, N.J.; Mr. & Mrs. Donald Durrell, Wellesley Hills, Mass.; Mr. & Mrs. David Loudon, Summit, N.J.; and Mr. & Mrs. John Anderson from Lexington, Ky.

Many newcomers are coming every week. Mr. & Mrs. Donald Ross, Tulsa, Okla.; Mr. & Mrs. S. A. Perkins, Newton, N.J.; Mr. & Mrs. Thomas Feten, Arlington Heights, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Krebs, Burnsville, Minn.; Mr. & Mrs. C. E. Janes, Ontario, Canada; Mr. & Mrs. H. H. Parsons, Ontario, Canada; Mr. & Mrs. Albert Richman, Springfield Hgts., N.J.; and Mr. & Mrs. Dave Smith from Birmingham, Mich.

GALLERY MOTEL

Guests enjoying the pool and basking on the beach are Mr. & Mrs. Hal Holladay and their little girl from Winston Salem, N.C.; the Richard A. Swenson family of Mequon, Wis.; Mr. & Mrs. Fred Finlay from Ottowa, Canada are visiting his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. & Mrs. W. W. Finlay of Southbury, Conn., also staying at the Gallery.

Other guests here for some rest, shell collecting and sunning on the beach are Mr. & Mrs. Willard Curtin and their dog, Gretta, of Morrisville, Pa.; Mrs. W. H. House of Bloomfield, Mich.; Mr. & Mrs. Harmon Elder from Bethesda, Md.; Mr. & Mrs. Harry Broud from Kansas City, Mo., and Mr. & Mrs. S. W. Davidson.

Also Mr. & Mrs. Tate and Mr. and Mrs. Fouse, friends from Barrington, Ill., are enjoying their time in the sun; Mr. & Mrs. Robert Mayer of Beckett, Mass.; the Ivan Reynolds of Robbinsville, N.J.; the E. J. Buechels of Louisville, Ky.; Mr. & Mrs. Richard Wattans of Webster Groves, Mo.; Mr. & Mrs. Rowson of Terry Point Long Island, N.Y.: Mr. & Mrs. Bernard Cherry of Tonawanda, N.Y.; the Raymond Swansons of Calumette City, Ill., also making the most of the bright sunny days.

Also seen on the beach and sunning by the pool are Mr. & Mrs. Dodgers of Rochester, N.Y., and Mr. & Mrs. Cady of Winchester, Mass., who are vacationing together. Others relaxing in the sun are Mr. & Mrs. Glen Anderson of Washington, D.C.; Mr. & Mrs. L. Rodriguez from St. Louis, Mo., Mr. & Mrs. Charles Underwood from Fergus Falls, Minn., and Mr. & Mrs. L. T. Mueller of Arlington Hgts., Ill., who are enjoying the change of scene and pace at the Gallery.

CELEBRATES 90th

Stella Dean Mitchell, a resident of Sanibel for the past 36 years, and for some sporadic years before then, celebrated her 90th birthday on Wednesday, with a lovely luncheon at the Castaways Restaurant. Eight guests were present including her son Dean and his wife and three children from Fort Lauderdale, who presented Mrs. Mitchell with a dozen American Beauty roses, a birthday cake, and various gifts of great charm and beauty.

Roy and Gert Webb brought a very unusual cake, topped with a doll whose skirt was the cake with swirls of blue tulle-like icing. Dr. & Mrs. Peter Steyaart gave Mrs. Mitchell a nosegay of real violets, grown on the island, and Dave and Sylvia Roughead presented her with a lovely corsage of pale green orchids. The house was very festive with a beautiful bouquet of pink rambler roses from the Kinzies in Fort Myers, who are friends of long standing of Mrs. Mitchell.

Mrs. Mitchell is owner of Mitchell's Castaways, and is best known for her many kindnesses over the years to friends

Letter To The Editor

To The Islander:

Each year we take our winter vacation at Sanibel Island. The past few years we have been going to the Community Church. I cannot think of the pastor's name but I look forward, with eager anticipation of a revealing sermon, from the word of God. I do not feel I have been let

I wonder if the people in the community realize how dedicated this man is. I am a Baptist but I feel very much at home when I attend this church.

/s/ N. M. Krutsinger Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Ed. note: Mr. Krutsinger refers to Dr. H. E. Sheely, Pastor.

To The Islander:

I would like to submit my report concerning the "M. C. Silva-Can't Have Everything-Rudolph Ungerduner, Ph. D.-Camel Caravan Issue." (I use the term "issue" rather loosely.)

I've done some light research on the subject of local Camel Caravan Crossings since reading Dr. Ungerduner's letter in The Islander, March 4. Early last Friday I positioned myself in a blind on Sanibel near an area dotted with small, yellow crosses. There were two crosses on one side of the road, but only one on the other. (I won't go into methods and positioning of such signs --- that is another can of worms.) The object of my intense observation was, hopefully, to witness an approaching Camel Caravan and, in addition, to witness the effect, if any, of the small, yellow crosses on the movements of said caravan.

I was disappointed as the morning passed uneventful. No Camel Caravans. I went to the police station in Fort Myers. They informed me that accidents in this area involving Camel Caravans were virtually non existent. Oh yes, there was the time back in '54, on the road to Captiva, when a driver hit some sort of large, moving object.

'What was it?" I inquired.

"Don't know, really," replied the portly officer. "Never did find out for sure. Next morning all we found were some large, black spots laying around in the road but ---

"Near the yellow crosses?"

"Yes, as a matter of fact," the officer affirmed.

"Did you find any (gulp) humps."

"Did you find any (gulp) humps?" Unfortunately, at that moment the interview ended rather abruptly and without explanation.

The next morning I was back at the blind. I spent four hours shivering in the bush (a cold front had just passed through). Nothing. After a while I was looking for a caravan of mosquitoes or gnats or anything, even black spots. But there was nothing, only the peaceful Sanibel sky, full of beautiful birds and (on the road) an occasional passing car.

I was about to leave, feeling that I had just flunked Elementary Reporting 101, when Bill O. (an old fishing friend of mine) pulled over. Naturally, he assumed I had been fishing.

"You get anything this morning, Don?

"Naw, Bill," I said, trying to hide my camera, binoculars and notebook. "Well, I didn't either. Say, what the hell are you fishing here for?"

"Ah, well --- I a ahhh." I was sort of shuffling toward my car. "Ah, well, Pill. I uh. uh -- '

"You mean to tell me there's a canal back in there?" He was pointing back into the boondocks where there is absolutely no water of any kind.

"No, Bill," I admitted. "I was waiting for a Camel Caravan."
"A Camel Caravan?" Bill shook his head. He looked at me again. "Camel Caravan." He shook his head again and as he drove off, I could see his lips moving, "Camel Caravan,"

So, here is my lengthy, red-faced report. I'm sure Dr. Ungerduner appreciates the embarassment his letter put me through, but it was for a good cause. I can only assume from my observations that the small, yellow crosses are doing their job --- at least as far as Camel Caravans are concerned.

As for M. C. Silva, far be it from me why he can't have everything, Donald C. Taplinger Sanibel Island, Fla.

To The Islander:

My wife and I would like to thank all residents of Sanibel and Captiva for their kindnesses in making the past three months the most pleasant we have spent in Florida in 20 years. We visited north and south on the mainland the nicest part of each visit was getting back to the Islands, As we return to Carbondale and Southern Illinois University we will be looking foward to our return next winter.

/s/ Charles C, Feirich

To The Islander:

As a future resident of Sanibel Island, would like to sound a note of warning.

We have lived in Venice for over three years and watched the entrepreneurs take over and commercialize the area. I may say we didn't let it happen without opposition, but found ourselves without power to stop it.

As the condominiums came in with the blessing of the city council, we found our sewage facilities, water supply, police protection, fire protection and equipment were all insufficient to take care of the added population. We found that the added taxes we received just didn't cover the additional costs. Streets were broken up by the trucks and had to be re-paved. Some streets are now being widened to take care of the extra traffic.

We also find that the condominium residents are able to out vote the house owners, and get special consideration when it comes to paying for improvements. All water in the bays and rivers are now polluted.

We like Sanibel and the area, Please don't let this happen to you.

/s/ E. H. Hartman

LIFE IS A RIVER (a song)

by Donald Foscue Modrall

Hurry down the river Chase that elusive bend, Dodge her rocks and brambles Meet me where she ends.

Don't be concerned 'bout my being gone Please don't worry for my sake, I'll be there -- it won't be long There're a few stops I must make.

Hurry down the river Chase that elusive bend, Dodge her rocks and brambles Meet me where she ends.

There's a shady bank, I must report Where I'll pause but cannot stay, For 'though my time is getting short I've some love to give away.

Hurry down the river Chase that elusive bend. Dodge her rocks and brambles Meet me where she ends.

There's a pond they say, down yonder Where the current stops to play, I'll be there by morning Just leave a sign along the way.

Hurry down the river Catch that elusive bend, Dodge her rocks and brambles And meet me where she ends.

GEORGE TENNEY JOINS

APPLE OF HIS EYE

George Tenney of Water Shadows will join the cast of "Apple Of His Eye" on Saturday, March 13, in the role of Ott Tobin. George is no stranger to the footlights, having for many years, been a member of the Bohemian Club of San Francisco, which is famous for the rousing musicals and other theatrical ventures it has produced each year in our country's golden gate city.

The excellent players of "Apple Of His Eye" include Jo Neff as Tobin's daughter, Lily, the Apple of Sam Stover's eye. Philip Hunter is Sam.

The actors who complete the caat of this "sweet, cidery comedy" are Bill Bates, Karen Kemle, Yvonne Nave, Ted Fonda, Ruth Hunter, Elaine Patton and Duane White.

MAKING TRACKS with Sandy

The following just goes to show that our actions do speak louder than words and people observing us can tell little things about us that we are totally unaware of ourselves. We were attending a party the other night on Sanibel and I was sitting next to a man I didn't know very well. I was chatting away about nothing in particular trying to keep up a conversation, when he interrupted me by saying, "You don't like me very well, do you?" "Huh," I said in disbelief, stopping and staring at him. He stared back and said, "If you liked me you wouldn't have crossed your leg AWAY from me and pointed your foot in the other direction. "Then he told me that all of his life he had been a salesman and that he looked for these things while making a sales pitch. Of course he explained that things didn't always work out this way, but that nine times out of ten they "Take a prospective client who sits with his arms crossed," he went on to say, "he's showing resistance and it's a challenge to me to get him to UNcross them before I know he's becoming interested. See that woman across the room? She's staring into her lap which means she's shy or bored or both." The whole idea had interested me so much that I found I had crossed my leg with my foot pointing toward him --- all unconsciously, of course, and I was sounding off my own ideas at great length. But do you know my salesman friend was sitting with his head down staring into his lap and his foot pointing away from me and he undoubtedly hadn't heard a word I said!

ONE MAN SHOW

A one man show of paintings by Leon Levy, Sanibel, has been announced by the Sanibel-Captiva Art League for the display area of the Captiva Post Office on Thursday and Friday, March 18 and 19.

Mr. Levy is one of Southwest Florida's best known artists and has been a prize winner consistently in judged shows throughout the area. The work, in mixed media that Mr. Levy will show at Captiva, are new, many displayed for the first time. As always the public is invited to view the show. Hours are 9 to 3 p.m.

ART EVENING

The monthly Art Evening on Thursday, March 18, at 8 p.m., on Donora Blvd., will have as guest speaker, Lois Bartlett Tracy. Well known for her instruction in the Arts at Edison Jr. College, Mrs. Tracy acted as juror for the Beach Art Association Spring Juried Show now on view at the Art Center. She will present a critique of the paintings she selected for the show. This will allow artists the rare opportunity, as a group, to observe at first-hand the "how and why" of judging. Mrs. Tracy will also review paintings not accepted for this show if members wish to bring these to the Art Evening.

Members and art friends are invited. A brief business meeting will precede the

ART DEMONSTRATION

On Wednesday, March 17, at 12:30 p.m., Leon Levy will give a demonstration of his "Happy Accident Technique" at the Art Center on Donora and Shell Mound Blvd. Donation is $1.00.

SEA SHELLS Ly Alice Kyllo

In the depths of the blue-green water, on the sandy ocean floor, lies a wealth of color and beauty to treasure evermore. A humble creature fashions a marvel of symetric design, whose lines of beauty and color, would baffle the human mind. The crushing waves rush in, and tumble them on the shore. But, some by chance are spared and their perfection we adore. We hold them in our hands and marvel at the power, which designed and created this thing of beauty and all others. Our thoughts rush on and we concede, that we are but one small unit in this great universe. Our lives are but one moment in the decades that will pass. So, roll in mighty sea and toss your gems sparkling at our feet. We clutch them with a joyous hand and find our moment of peace.

CAMERA CLUB STARTED ON SANIBEL

The first meeting of the Sanibel-Captiva Camera Club was held Tuesday night at the Sanibel Community House with 17 people attending.

The meeting was opened by John Shepherd, who is program chairman of the Sanibel Community Association. He introduced Sue and Ben Pickens who will conduct a series of these informal meetings until the club sees the directions in which it wants to go and can formally be organized.

Each person introduced himself, told where he was from, what kind of camera and equipment he used and what type of pictures he was interested in. The meeting was then open to general discussion.

So much enthusiasm was generated that it is planned to hold more than one meeting per month.

The next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, March 16 at the Sanibel Community House at 8 p.m. Each member may bring four interesting photographs or slides to show. Possible field trips were discussed for the future and picture contests on such subjects as "Sanibel Bends" and "Skimmers."

SHELL FAIR HOSTS GREAT CROWDS

The Shell Fair opened its 1971 exhibit on Thursday, March 4, but before it was official time to actually open a crowd had gathered in anticipation, and was allowed to come in ahead of scheduled hours, despite a cool wind. Exhibitors, ranging in age from 6 to 80, displayed shells in their protective glass exhibit cases in scientific categories, but many were so beautiful, even a novice could enjoy them, and they came from far and near shelling areas. There was a group of beautiful shiny cowries from Africa and Australia and other far-away spots, and one tastefully arranged group from Vietnam, even.

Ralph Woodring's live shells, encompassing spiny seaurchins, colorful sea biscuits and other fragile and beautiful living specimens attracted lines of people waiting to view the underwater animals, displayed in aquariums. Beautiful live red coral, sand dollars, star fish and even a live sea turtle were displayed.

And The Galley, under the supervision of Mrs. Gladys Anderson, dispensed hundreds of hot dogs and drinks to busy fair attendants. The Driftwood Shop was mobbed with ekers of their delights in the culinary department, such as seagrape jelly and all mner of goodies known mainly to old-time Sanibelites, Mrs. Charles Muller supervised the outdoor shop, and there was even some local and hard-to-come-by driftwood on sale, along with some local shells.

The Sanibel-Captiva Audubon Association had an outdoor exhibit of photographs mostly of shells and birds offered by Mario Hutton, who was hard put to keep the wayward winds from blowing some of the lovely pictures off their hooks.

Art works on display were predominately local scenes and featuring shells and waterfowl. A clothesline group attracted many by its display of reasonably priced works

The Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation had a group of ecological study themes by Joe Warner Jr., a senior at Cypress Lake High School, which attracted much interest in the marine biological studies offered, and this was under the aegis of Roy Bazire and

Dr. Moore, often a visitor at Sanibel, and a resident at Stuart, spoke of Sanibel and Captiva's outstanding Shell Fair. Mr. & Mrs. "Rusty" Bennett won the much coveted trophy of the Delaware Museum of Natural History for the most outstanding exhibit of the show. The Bennetts are from

Mrs. Fae Muller, Chairman of the Driftwood Shop

MY THANKS

Mrs. Fae Muller, chairman of the Gift & Shell Booth (Driftwood Shop) of the 1971 Sanibel Shell Fair, wishes to thank the following ladies who so generously donated their time to help in making this booth at the fair a success:

Mrs. Helen Godfrey of Sunset South, Mrs. Jeanne Walther of Lagoon Drive, Mrs. Helen Hoffman of Tahiti Drive, Mrs. Vallere Burt of Schooner Place, Mrs. Wib Romizer of Gulf Drive, Mrs. Marge Toadvine of Cape Coral (sister of Mrs. Romizer), Mrs. Freida Iurka of Pecten Court, Mrs. Ruby Elliott of Whelk Drive, Mrs. Jeanne Denyes of Lighthouse Way, Miss Blanche Ford of Periwinkle Trailer Court, Mrs. Ruth Axling of Coquina Drive, Mrs. Emma Bahner of Philadelphia, Pa., a friend of Miss Ford, Mrs. Vivian Mills of Northfield, Illinois, now staying at The Reef. And now a very extra special and grateful thanks to Mrs. Holly Moore of Periwinkle Apts., and to Mrs. Dorothy Stearns, without whom I could never have gotten through the three day Fair turmoil. Many, many thanks to all these lovely ladies.

Mrs. Muller also wishes to thank the following persons and shops for their creativeness and donations to the Booth: Island Bake Shop for wonderful banana bread, Red Pelican, Artisan Shop, Elsie Malone Shells, Sea Horse Shop, Sea Horse Aquarium, Straw Shop, Margaret Carner's Ceramics, Sanibel Originals, Case's Harbor House, Reynolds Craft Shop, Black Pearl, Houston Photos, The Shell Net, Legel Supply, Sea-Ramics, Wilt's Cabinet Shop, McCaul's Driftwood Shop, Mrs. Mary Lou Banks of Dearborn, Mich., Mrs. Roxanne Badenoch, Mrs. Vallere Burt, Mrs. Mary Purdy, Mrs. Jeanne Culpepper, Mr. & Mrs. E. J. Wilson of Beachview Apts., Mr. & Mrs. Hal Hoffman of Hurricane House, Mrs. Ann Bendix, Mrs. Toni Denson, Mr. & Mrs. Cy Runnel, Mrs. Helen Denny, Mrs. Willie Glass, Mrs. Jeanne Denyes, Mrs. Gerry Curtin of the Gallery, Mrs. Wm. Such of the Surfrider, Mrs. Lillian Skinner, Mr. H. A. Vrooman, Mrs. George Tenny, Mrs. A. S. Kelly, Mrs. Don Marshall, Mr. Wm. Romizer, Mrs. Joyce Erwin, Mr. R. C. Stephenson, Mrs. Dorothy Stearns, Mrs. Holly Moore, Mrs. Tom Nix, Mr. Francis Bailey and to Mr. & Mrs. Howard Sexauer of Vermont who started collecting shells and making grapefruit peel candy way back in October of 1970 as soon as they arrived for the winter. Thanks again.

KATHY BUNNELL

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER AT PIRATE PLAYHOUSE

Susan Wille drinks her tea while she waits for the villian (Duane White to appear) in the "Pot Boiler," and her real mother, Kathy Bunnell gives some sage advice as Miss Colley in "Some of My Best Friends." They both play in this evening of comedy at the Pirate Playhouse March 14.

On the same bill are Jean Bair, Donald Foscue Modrall, George Brinkworth, Priscilla Murphy, Melinda and Charles Otterson, and the Hunters, Ruth and Philip who also directs.

Sunday, March 14; curtain 8:15; box office, 472-1692.

SHELL CLUB MEETING

Another excellent program has been planned for the March meeting of the Sanibel-Captiva Shell Club, which will take place at the Captiva Community Center on March 17, at 8 p.m.

The feature presentation of the evening will be a shell lecture entitled "Lovell Reeve - Amateur Conchologist." Lovell Reeve was a 19th century English conchologist whose name, as an authority, appears frequently in shell books. Thie shell lecture has been prepared by, and is narrated by Jean Cate. As an added, and most interesting attraction, the club secretary, Ada Dayton, will give a talk on the Tulip Shells (Fasciolaria tulipa and F. hunteria). Mrs. Dayton has been studying the tulips for several years, and won the DuPont trophy for her exhibit at the recent Naples Shell Show. She will have this exhibit on display at the meeting so that any who were unable to attend the Naples Show may see

As usual, a large attendance is expected, and visitors are cordially in-

UNITED TELEPHONE COMPANY

United Telephone Company announced today that Sanibel and Captiva Island telephone customers are to be offered extended area service (free toll calling) to metropolitan area Fort Myers, including Cape Coral, Fort Myers Beach, North Fort Myers, Pine Island and Alva.

In early February, the company forwarded its proposal along with survey results taken by the Sanibel-Captiva Chamber of Commerce to the Florida Public Service Commission in Tallahassee, for their consideration.

United President, Harold R. Bollinger said, 'If our customers and the Regulatory Commission approve of this service offering our company will provide this expanded service at the earliest possible date. Since a rate increase for Sanibel and Captiva customers is involved the Public Service Commission has requested that a post card survey be made in order to determine the wishes of the present subscribers. A letter, detailing the provisions of the offer with an enclosed post card for our customers to fill out and mail directly to the Commission in Tallahassee, will be mailed Friday. The post cards are to be returned to the Commission on or before March 25."

According to United's District Commercial Manager Phil Spicer, "should the Florida Public Service Commission approve this service offering, United will invest $185,400 for additional facilities and equipment in order to handle the increased calling load resulting from the removal of the toll charges between the two points."

The rate increase for Sanibel and Captiva customers will result in their paying rates identical to those that Fort Myers metropolitan customers are now paying. The increase (not including Federal and State Taxes) is as follows: Private line business increase, $4.20; Two-party line business increase, $3.00; Semi-public coin telephone increase, $4.20; Private line residence increase, $2.40; Two-party line residence

Spicer further said, "The manufacture delivery and installation of equipment will require from 18 to 24 months subsequent to the Commission approval."

Mc INTOSH -WILLIS WED

Miss Lynn Gail McIntosh and Andrew Hewitt Willis were wed at St. Michael's & All Angels Episcopal Church on Sanibel at 7 p.m., on Thursday, with Rev. Thomas A. Madden officiating. White and yellow glads decorated the sanctuary, and Betty Sears acted as organist.

The bride, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Thomas W. McIntosh of Periwinkle Lane, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white street length dress of shantung with daisy lace trimmed round neckwaistline with lace marking the A line skirt. She carried a sheaf of white carnations with yellow roses. The bride's white tulle waist length veil was trimmed with daisy and lace appliques.

with daisy and lace appliques.

Maid of honor, Miss Laura Preston, wore a yellow satin headpiece with tiny veil. The groom is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Hewitt A. Willis of Lavin Lane, North Fort Myers. Brother Bobby was best man and ushers were Larry Gavin and Mathew Preston.

A reception followed the ceremony at the bride's home. A tiered wedding cake with yellow and white glads centered the refreshment table. Mrs. Marilyn Clark and Mrs. Barbara Stone assisted with the bride's book and hospitalities.

For traveling on a honeymoon trip to the Keys, the bride wore a soft green plaid jacket-suit with plain skirt.

The bride is an employee of Bailey's Store and the groom is employed at Addie's Restaurant while attending Edison Junior College. The couple will make their home on Sanibel on their return from the Keys.

CHILDREN SEND MICE

TO COLLEGE

The Sanibel Elementary School children are planning to send 75 mice to college! In participating in the Cancer Drive, children are planning to donate 27¢ each for the purchase of a mouse for laboratory research in colleges working on a cure for one of the nation's major killers. Leukemia, which strikes children more often than adults even, is a form of blood cancer, preventing the formation of red blood cells. A cure, per se, has not been found, but there are several encouraging treatments for the once almost immediately fatal disease, and since the "cure" is so close to achievement, it is hoped that it can be found this year. The number of lives already being saved is very gratifying, and "some chemist may already have the cure in a test tube, but not know it," according to some optimists, working on the research for it.

Sanibel children will do their bit for the cause, and who knows, it could be a mouse purchased by one of these children that could be the winning mouse to effect a cure.

Children will place a quarter and 2 pennies in an envelope for the cause. So, if you are asked to donate for a mouse to go to college, you will know why, and please give generously.

CAPTIVA GROUP MOVES TO BOOST BOND DEBT LIMIT

A special act raising the bonded indebtedness limit from $200,000 to $2 million for the Captiva Erosion Prevention District, for a beach nourishment project, is being sponsored by the district board.

The bill, amending the 1959 act which set up the district, will be subject to a public hearing with other local and special acts March 19.

A referendum is required before any bond issue is approved by public bodies, so another amendment allows the district to set an election date other than the state primary elections.

Paul Stahlin, executive manager of the district, said the original act was timed so that the referendum was keyed to a primary election.

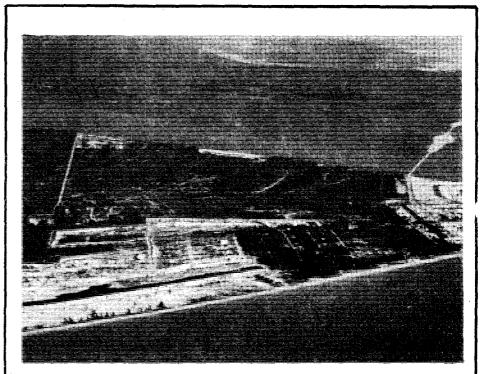

Stahlin is compiling a report on renourishment of eroded beaches by offshore dredging. The project may cost $2 million, but the district expects some outside aid from federal and other sources.

Currently the district owes $148,000 of an original $200,000 bond issue floated to install groins to slow erosion. The district also budgets about $10,000 a year for restoration, generally spending it through the County Public Works Department.

The millage cap on the district is 10 miles. But the current levy for the bonds is only 2.47 mills.

AUDUBON TO PRESENT " DESTINATION DESERT "

Tonight, Thursday, March 11, the Audubon Society will hold one of its most interesting programs of the season at 8 p.m., in the Sanibel Community House, Hal H. Harrison, noted writer, photographer and lecturer will personally present and narrate his exciting adventure film "Destination Desert." This is the true color story of a vaat and primitive wilderness. In addition to a roaring flash flood, a spectacular sand rm, a cloudburst and a complete story of the desert wildlife, the film includes er before photographed scenes of animals at night at a desert waterhole.

Mr. Harrison, now a resident of Sanibel, is vice-chairman of the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation. His program, that as usual is open to the public, promises to attract a large attendance.

GRIFFING BANCROFT TALKS ON FRESH WATER WETLANDS

Griffing Bancroft, vice chairman of the Conservation Foundation spoke on TV Station WINK, Wednesday evening in behalf of the new recreation fresh water area planned by the Foundation. He explained that the Sanibel-Captiva Ding Darling sanctuary is a salt water refuge given by Ding Darling, a conservation lover, to the people, and after his death, it was turned over to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, which has government funds for the purchase of lands to increase the acreage of about 5,000 acres at present.

About 200 acres have been either purchased or donated to the Conservation Association for the fresh water sanctuary along the Sanibel River. This acreage is composed of fresh water wetlands, and has been used in studies by college students under the direction of William Hammond, Science director of Lee County Schools, who also brought students to the U. S. Fish & Wildlife areas, but the fresh water areas are of equal ecological importance, and Mr. Bancroft said he believes there is room for both the federally financed salt water refuge and the fresh water one also.

Conservationists and developers have been pictured as directly opposing each other, it is the helief of many that they can live together is harmony it is the belief of many that they can live together in harmony.

It is hoped that a Marine Laboratory can be established on Pine Island Sound for the furtherance of marine ecological studies. The islands are important for their unique natural areas, and residents are anxious to keep this uniqueness intact.

HOUSE TOUR

The women of St. Michael's and All Angels Episcopal Church will sponsor the seventh annual house tour of six Island homes on Friday, March 26 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. (rain or shine). This year there will be four homes on Sanibel and two on Captiva featured on the tour. In addition, for those interested in different species of native plants, Mr. & Mrs. Willis Combs have graciously consented to let guests go through their Registered Audubon Sanctuary to view some 85 native or naturalized trees, shrubs and herbs which are all labelled with the common name as well as its latin counterpart.

Tea will be served on the church patio from 2:30.

Tickets will be on sale commencing March 12 at most of the leading Sanibel stores and on the day of the tour tickets can be had at a booth in front of the Chamber of Commerce building just over the Causeway and also in front of St. Michael's Church.

On Captiva tickets will be sold in front of the post office both March 24 and 25 from 9 until 12.

MAM'SELLE CHER' POM POM

The evening of March 1 will long be remembered by Main'selle Cher' Pom Pom, the Glory of the Sea's beloved poodle. The occasion was the grande dame's twelfth birthday, and her guests included Black Pearl's Bit O' Honey, better known as Betsy, who being the only blond, was having more fun; and the young, dark and handsome Pujo and Jale who belongs to Selma Heinke and Phyllis Morsman.

The party was a fine success from tidbits and favors, to birthday cake of angel food and hot dogs.

Cher', who is resting today, says she will never invite that blond to another of her parties, going around flirting with all the good looking boys, etc.

Does that sound a bit familiar? Somehow it rings of people parties.

MAN RESCUED BY

BEACH COAST GUARD

The Island Inn on Sanibel wishes to thank the Coast Guard of Fort Myers Beach, Charles LeBuff of Ding Darling Sanctuary, Ralph Woodring and others for their efforts in helping to locate Mr. Howard Ives, guest of the Island Inn, who unfortunately lost his way in Lady Finger Bayou. Mr. Ives spent a nerve wracking night on the rented boat in the shelter of the mangroves on Tuesday.

He was located by the Coast Guard helicopter when he was long overdue, and promptly rescued by aboat dispatched by the believes. ed by the helicopter.

We are happy to report Mr. Ives to be none the worse for this experience. But we must warn others that it is very easy to become lost when out of sight of land or even just behind a mangrove island, as they all look alike to the novice
