BOAT ADRIFT

Three people adrift in a boat 8 miles off Sanibel all night Tuesday were located and brought in by the Coast Guard Wednesday evening. Mrs. Marge Rinehold of Waterway Estates reported to the Sheriff's Department that her husband Dick Rinehold, his brother-in-law and nephew were in the boat. The boat had no running lights and so could not be located in the dark, but Wednesday a Coast Guard plane and helicopter from Miami all joined the 44 ft. Coast Guard vessel for the search. The plane located the boat about 7:15 p.m. just before dark and brought back the three. Besides the Coast Guard, the Sheriff's Department had sent out a craft to help in the search and we are happy the venture ended with no casualties.

OPEN HOUSE HELD

Post offices at Sanibel and Captiva held open house on Thursday, July 1, inaugurating the new United Postal Service which took over operations officially then. Mail operations were taken over then, but the same official set-up will be in force and the same service is planned, according to postmaster Dodie Booth on Captiva and Alvin P. Mast, Clerk-in-Charge at Sanibel.

Free postal service envelopes were given visitors and also pamphlets about the new service. First day covers and stamps went on sale at 8¢ each, and historic stamps posters were on display in the lobbies, and also on sale by order. The first day covers and stamps probably will be collector's items of the future.

BAPTIST CHURCH BREAKS GROUND

The First Baptist Church of Sanibel, sponsored by Mission McGregor Baptist Church of Fort Myers, will have a ground-breaking ceremony on Sunday, July 11, at 3 p.m. at the Baptist Mission Church on Sanibel. The ceremony marks the beginning of construction of an education building and living quarters for the Pastor, Reverend Jack E. Otis. Guest speakers at the ceremony will be the Rev. James Holbrook, pastor of the McGregor Baptist Church, the Rev. Arnold Shower, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Fort Myers Beach and also moderator of the Royal Palm Baptist Association, and Dr. H. Fred Williams of Fort Myers, Royal Palm Baptist Association Superintendent of Missions. The public is cordially invited to attend the ceremonies by Rev. Otis.

THE LOVABLE BROWN PELICAN by Larry C. Huston © July 1971

The clacking of the beak and gestures with the head are made each time the mama or papa returns to the nest. These sounds and movements are the key words before exchanging places. They greet one another each time as they enter the nest. It is something like, "it's me Sally, Joe, and look what I brought for the kids to feast upon. Why don't you go stretch your wings a bit while I look after the youngsters?" And she may say, "Oh Joseph, you are so strong and wonderful and such a good provider. I believe I will take a short trip out where the fishing was good yesterday. Look after the babies while I am gone."

The brown pelican starts building the nest in late April in the South Florida area. This continues until the middle of July when things are really going strong in the rookery. So is the odor! Every tree and bush is filled with nests which are built with rather large sticks about the size of a thumb. They are gathered from the ground and trees wherever available.

The average nest has from two to four eggs which are chalky white with mottled brown spots. They are about the size of a goose egg. The parents incubate the eggs for the next four to five weeks. They alternate with one another until the eggs are hatched.

A baby pelican just out of the egg is blind, ugly, unattractive and reptile-like. Only skin covers them until they are a couple of weeks old when pure white down appears over the "goose bump-like" skin.

Nests are so close together that an older nestling may have his feet in his own nest and his head hanging over another nest while his tail is resting on smaller birds to the rear. But everyone gets along. There are a few clashes from adjacent tempers when one gets fed and others go hungry. The food is anything from the sea that is animal. It may be eels for breakfast and fish for lunch. Or crabs ala carte. And the younger the bird, the more digested the parent makes the meal which is regurgitated. As the hatchlings grow older the parents feed them whole fish. Some times the fish is almost as large as the young bird. They usually take them head first and with large fish, the tail sometimes sticks out the beak till the head digests gradually slipping into the vast gullet.

The noise is terrific. Each nest makes its own sound. The adults go fishing one at a time to return with food for the nestlings. Then the other adult flies away for food. This takes place many times each day as the appetites grow.

They start pecking at the neck or pouch of the adult. After a while the adult opens its mouth and the baby birds reach their heads into the gullet for food. This feeding sequence takes several burps and grunts from the adult and lots of squacking from the babies.

The parents have strong inherent feelings for their young. It takes several months of feeding the babies to bring them to a size when they can leave the nest. Their wing feathers must develop. The youngsters try to fly away but usually end up in the water or on the ground. It takes a lot of strength and completed feather growth for them to fly. But once airborne, they are on their own to fish and scrounge for themselves.

The brown pelican is quite a bird. And an old one too. Its ancestors date clear back to the Lower Miocene deposits some 20 to 30 million years ago. They are so similar to the present day bird they are placed in the same genus, Pelicanus.

WHO'S WHO AND WHY

Mr. & Mrs. CHARLES B. PASCHALL of Captiva have had as their guests for several weeks Mrs. WILLIAM J. SHIELDS and her four daughters, LISA, JOHANNA, CAROL and LINDA. Mrs. Shields is the daughter of the Paschalls. Joining his family for ten days was Mr. WILLIAM J. SHIELDS, all of Denver, Colo. At the same time the Paschalls had as a guest their son, CHARLES B. PASCHALL, JR., of Wilmington, Del. Mr. & Mrs. Paschall will leave the island in August for visits north. While away they will attend the wedding of their grandson, C. BAYARD PASCHALL, III of Ohio.

Mrs. RAY SALMONS of Ft. Lauderdale has had fabulous luck fishing at Blind Pass and thereabouts of Castaway's. Last week she caught an enormous snook, and has been sharing her luck with all.

Mr. BOB SABATINO is now guiding from Tween Waters but is still accepting calls from his well known telephone number too, and he can assure you of a good catch and much enjoyment in the area.

Mrs. ALLAN (Frances) HALLINRAKE is back at the South Seas Plantation Gift Shop as new manager and will be happy to greet old friends and new too.

Mr. & Mrs. Douglas Davis of Miami, charming honeymoon couple, are at the Beachview, and Dr. & Mrs. Conrad Hazen and sons of Daytona are back to enjoy relaxation and fishing. Such a charming family group they are; their pictures have appeared on the Chamber of Commerce booklet and also the Florida Guide.

Mr. TOM WEIR of Bay City, Mich., while staying at Sanibel Cottages, hauled in an 18-1/2 lb. snook fishing near The Rocks with Capt. Dick Kromer of Fort Myers Beach.

Daughter CAROLE WEIR found an unusually large and perfect fan at Bowman's Beach the same day.

Mrs. KENNETH RUNYON of Milford, Ohio, was thrilled to find a purple olive alive on the public beach at the end of Tarpon Bay Road on Sanibel, and that is indeed a rare find.

THE REEF

Returning guests are the Hershel Katz family, Silver Spring, Md., and the Abraham Yalom family from Hyattsville, Md.

Enjoying the swimming and fishing are the M. Kielawa family of Valley Stream, N.Y.; the Dale Hecker family, Olmsted Falls, Ohio; Mr. & Mrs. Guy Waltman of Willoughby, Ohio; and Mrs. Jessie Deaton, Mrs. Norma Deaton and Mrs. Marie Smith, all of Miami.

Newcomers include Mr. & Mrs. L. Hillis of Miami; the Panay family from Toronto, Canada; and the Ernest Hutter family of Jupiter, Fla.

SURFRIDER MOTEL

by kathy bunnell

A lot of old friends are back at the Surfrider, plus some new ones, too. Col. & Mrs. Slater Marshall are enjoying the fine weather and shelling this year and the Colonel is getting some excellent miniature specimens.

Mr. & Mrs. Blackside of Jacksonville are enjoying the sun and clean sand and Mr. & Mrs. Walter Beberle of Chesterfield, Mo., are having ball; Mr. B. is trying out the greens on Captiva.

Mrs. Janet Wright was a welcome guest to see with her son and daughter. She went on a shelling trip and got some beauties. The Heinstaedts are in two of the units and they have been making the most of the fine weather and the warm Gulf.

The Roy Glovers of N. Miami Beach are at their second home again. The Norman Scotts of Jackson, Mich., went on one of our guided shelling trips and have been cleaning shells since. The M. O. Wehmeyers of Plymouth, Mich., are here for some R&R and enjoying the beach. Mr. & Mrs. Drescher and Mr. & Mrs. Harold Wallace of Frankfort just left for home after having a real nice vacation here. The Harpers of Merrit Island, who are regular visitors, were here again and enjoyed a nice week. Also wending their way homeward are the Wm. McCoy's of Detroit.

One of our honeymoon couples, Mr. & Mrs. Larry Reyman of Tampa, are enjoying the quiet of Sanibel. The Kardas of Limont, Ill., will be leaving for home tomorrow. The Paul Lentzes of Concord, N.C., could not get over the quiet and friendly attitude of our people.

Caroline Vrooman of Clearwater, Fla., runs down real often and we were glad to see her again. Mr. & Mrs. R. Cednick of Mt. Prospect, Ill., have spent 10 days here and are now leaving for Miami. They are not sure they are going to like it. The Steve Opatichs of Columbus, Ohio, are looking forward to next year already. Mr. & Mrs. Charles Dziulon of Winter Park have already made their reservations for Thanksgiving. Arnold Revels and friend, Ron Brent of Pembroke Pine spent their vacation here. Mr. & Mrs. James Johnson and Steve and Cindy had a fine vacation and are planning on next year.

The William Kizers of Brandon, Fla., spent a week at the motel as did Mr. & Mrs. Ray Phillips of Anderson, Ind. Mr. & Mrs. James Milton Craft and daughter Alice of Memphis, Tenn., who formally stayed at Fort Walton Beach, are sold on Sanibel and shelling.

AMERICAN LEGION FISH FRY SUCCESS

The traditional Fourth of July Fish Fry was held at the Sanibel American Legion Post Home on Periwinkle Road on Sanibel from noon to 4 p.m. on Sunday. We say traditional, because folks come from far and near to partake of the homemade good food they serve each year. The fish, hush puppies, baked beans and cole slaw were served to a goodly group, and friendliness is the main ingredient of a successful venture such as this, which the Post is noted for.

NO JELLYFISH HERE

Hordes of jellyfish which have joined the intrusion of red tide and blue-green algae in Southwest Florida coastal waters, have not been observed in Sanibel and Captiva waters. Much of this is concentrated in the Caloosahatchee River, where jellyfish in various sizes have been drifting up and down the river and also in the passes and canals, rising and falling with the tides.

Dr. Charles E. Lane, functional biologist at the University of Miami's School of Marine and Atmospheric Sciences said they are the common jellyfish and that as a rule, they do not sting people, but people with extremely sensitive skins should still avoid any contact with them, as they can be stung or develop an allergic rash.

Dr. Lane said, "The jellyfish in the Caloosahatchee River now were probably spawned last year; so watch out for next year's crop."

The Portuguese Man of War jellyfish is not found near these shores, but is plentiful on the east coast and also some are found in greater depths in the Gulf.

Some dead fish appeared in the Captiva area but there was no "red tide" in the area visible to interfere with swimming or fishing, but the ban on clam and shellfish eating is still on in the area, as a precautionary measure. No dead fish were reported on the Turner Beach area or the causeway area either.

The theory has been advanced by some old timers that the death of the gigantic sea turtles has lead to the appearance in number of jellyfish, as the turtles eat these.

TAMPA BAY AGATIZED CORAL

gifts-driftwood-specimen shells

Located on Main Road, 3 Miles North of Captiva Bridge

BROWSING AROUND

You must see the habitat vases, which are an old art form borrowed from the Arabs and consist of a group of tiny vases of pretty ceramics in lovely glazed colors, joined in a group. The Artisan shop has them, and almost any arrangement of greenery or tiny flowers is pretty, as the bouquet arranges itself in the decorative vases. And scrimshaw-whale bone artistry is in! And reasonably priced too!

And McCauls on Captiva has not only necklaces and bracelets in the now becoming rare Tampa Bay coral, which is unusual and original, but they have some other jewelry in Italian goldstone, turquoise, amazonite (from Brazil), amethyst and shells. They also have a few choice antiques. And speaking of antiques, the Serendipity Shop is open and they have some real beauties in the antique line, too.

Dotti has an antique fairy lamp and has a history of it you can read. Since this valuable antique is worth many hundreds of dollars, she has it under lock and key, but will let you look at it, when you come into see the lovely wares she offers. Right now, everyone is talking about the handmade patchwork jacket she is featuring looking forward to cooler days, with matching skirt.

It is a rare day that you cannot find just the outfit you need at Seven Seas or the Seahorse, or the spacious new Marylou's.

And for the way out look, Thetan Crafts has all sorts of goodies, and so does the Red Pelican and the Corner Shoppe who have a new feature -- rental bikes. For the lady-like gown for informal entertaining, the Open Gate has the much wanted long dresses in chic, svelte lines.

There has been a dearth of places to eat; so many have been on a much earned vacation, but Harbor House is open again with its features of good seafood and other real good eating. Coconut Grove and the Sanibel Sandwich Shop are still operating and dispensing ever dependable good food. Also the Dairy Queen has been back in business several weeks and the Snack Shack has filled the bill satisfyingly and continues to give forth with sandwiches and dinners and good service with a smile.

Castaways, just over the bridge from Captiva, has its tasty menu going too, and on Captiva, there is Tween Waters and South Seas Plantation where elegant food is the order of the day. Harbor House, for always reliable edibles, is open; Letizias, too, with their elegant Italian menus.

For that lovely high style hairdo, the Tender Touch can make you oh so glamorous. And for the men, the Island Barber Shop can shape your side burns and give your hair that soigne look with razor shaping for that appealing well-groomed look.

Mary Aleck at the Sanibel Beauty Salon has been known to call a doctor in talking of your hair problems; so interested is she in not only your good looks, but your general health and welfare, all so necessary to good looks. She truly understands each individual problem and brings out the best in each so that when you leave you know you are the glamor girl you always wanted to be -- thanks to her loving care.

Ladies, the library is asking for you to join, and men too, and become a member of the library which has so many delightful books for whiling away the summer hours or learning painlessly. There is something for everyone, and the reading and story telling program is under way for each age group of children now. Makes you wish you were in the group.

REAL ESTATE SALES

Priscilla Murphy, Realtor, reports the following sales:

From Ellen B. Bevilacqua estate to Mr. & Mrs. Gregory Neff of Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., a lot in Castaways.

From Mr. & Mrs. Don Burman to Mr. & Mrs. Cecil Rhodes of Doylestown, Pa., a lot in Tahiti Shores.

From James D. Spivey, trustee, to Mr. & Mrs. James R. Amrein of Westport, Conn., a lot in Pejuan Shores.

SAFE BOATING WEEK

President Nixon has declared July 4 to July 10 as Safe Boating Week. He stated, "I urge all who use our waterways to acquire the skills essential to their own safety and that of others and apply them carefully," when he signed the proclamation at the White House.

Hundreds of local boating groups, as well as 21 national organizations, are joining the National Safe Boating Week Committee in supporting the week's activities and efforts to publicize the program.

The summer Boat Show opens July 9 and closes July 12 at Port Everglades for Florida and is the only state show in the country which is a part of National Safe Boating Week by Presidential Proclamation, opening the annual drive for boat safety on July 4. This is the official emblem that will be displayed at the show. We need safe boating on a day and night schedule, year around, in our area.

THE LOVABLE BROWN PELICAN

They are comical to watch. What one does they all do. They loaf, fly, preen their feathers, fish while swimming or diving and in general stay in groups.

While flying or soaring their wings seem to flap together and glide together. When diving they may be 50 feet in the air when they see their prey and down they go. Wings are folded and legs awkwardly askew until the last moment before entering the water. Head first they thrust their head and neck forward with legs straight to the rear. At this moment the fish usually winds up in the huge beak. The pelican sometimes switches the position of the fish while inside the pouch. Other times they will flip the fish in the air and grab it with its head toward the gullet instead of the tail.

Another thing is happening while all this is going on. The laughing gulls are following the pelican on his way down. When he emerges to the surface the gull sits on his head and grabs anything he can from the pouch. Sometimes even taking the fish right out of the pelican's mouth. There is never any display of temper. The fishing is usually good and another fish is there for the taking.

Those who have never seen a pelican dive into the water and come up with a fish too large for its pouch or the comical things they do in every day life have missed a beautiful sight. The brown pelican is fast losing out to the ravages of man. Their population is dwindling. Their reproduction is threatened. Next week ... Man, the Killer.

JOHN CARTER ELECTED BOYS STATE SENATOR

John Carter, a junior at Cypress Lake High School, and Boys State representative of Sanibel-Captiva American Legion Post 123, was elected to the Boys State Senate at Tallahassee.

The boys, about 300 of them, are sent in a body to the University of Florida by various American Legion Posts throughout the state for a week's stay with intensive studies of Americanism and political science at work. The boys, who returned home on Friday were selected originally for their outstanding school records, not only academically, but for all around citizenship and participation. After their training sessions on legislative procedures and the drafting of bills the boys attending the session convened in the Capitol in Tallahassee for observation and participation in the workings of government.

PLANE THEFT SUSPECT SENT TO ARCADIA

Ralph David Jameson who was charged with attempting to steal a $40,000 amphibian plane at Sanibel on March 30, was sentenced by Judge William Lamar Rose to Arcadia Mental Hospital. He was found incompetent to stand trial after Judge Rose heard testimony from Dr. James V. Hoagland and Dr. Clarence H. Schilt, psychiatrists.

Jameson will be committed to the mental institution until he is found competent to stand trial on a charge of attempted grand larceny.
