Conservation Foundation Presents Film

A memorable film event -- John Muir's High Sierra, Filmed and narrated by Dewitt Jones, Jr., Sunday April 1, at 8 P.M., at Island Beach Club.

Mr. Jones' Muir film has received enthusiastic praise in its initial showings on the East and West Coasts. Under the partial sponsorship of the National Geographic Society, he spent 18 months in the Sierra, following the footsteps of John Muir, the noted conservationist. Highlights of the film include Yosemite Valley; climbing Washington's Column; backpacking into the high country.

Dewitt Jones Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt Jones of Captiva, graduated from Dartmouth in 1965. After traveling throughout Europe, he produced, "Written in the Water" for the National Geographic Society. This film traced the story of a kayak expedition around Japan.

Mr. Jones will personally present and narrate his unique new color film for the benefit of the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation.

Tickets may be bought at the office of the Conservation Foundation, Periwinkle Road, Sanibel -- office hours 10-2. Also at the Captiva Post Office March 29 and 30, from 9 to 12; and at Bailey's General Store, Sanibel, March 29 and 30, 10 to 12, and 2:30 to 4:30. Donation $3.

New Book To Be Published

"Native Trees and Shrubs for Sanibel-Captiva Landscaping."

This is the title of a book by Mrs. Hal Harrison, soon to be published.

Two years ago, Mrs. Gerd Remus suggested this idea to members of the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation -- compiling a list of native plants for the benefit of islanders. After much research in depth, Mada Harrison followed the suggestion. For invaluable help on the research, she gives credit to Mrs. Maxwell Hayford, Mrs. Marie Kalman, Mrs. Benton Blair, Mrs. Erard Matthiessen and Mrs. W. H. Tusla. Illustrations were done by Mrs. Joseph W. Woods, Mrs. Francis Bailey and Mrs. George Winterbotham.

The various plants are too numerous to list here, but in coming weeks we will write about a few, in anticipation of the book you can buy later. The proceeds will go to the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation.

"Ding's" Things

Several times during the past year, the usually infrequent visits of an endangered sea mammal have made the J. N. "Ding" Darling National Wildlife Refuge look suspiciously like the setting for one of Jacques Cousteau's recent movies. Sea cows or manatees -- now thought to be the mythical mermaids -- have taken refuge in several of the federal bays and bayous. The most recent live sighting was in the boat basin at the Tarpon Bay residences in January. Also in that month, a dead yearling was found tangled in the mangrove roots on the Tarpon Bay canoe trail.

Once numbering in the tens of thousands on both Florida coasts, the manatee is now endangered and limited in range to Southern Florida. Man still poses the greatest threat to this gentle creature even though legislation now provides for legal protection throughout Florida. Before this protection was initiated, manatee hunting reduced populations significantly. Hides were used for canoe coverings, the meat was fed to slaves, manatee oil was in demand, and rumor has it that the manatee tears were sought as an aphrodisiac. At times wanton slaughter of the animal purely for sport occurred in Florida. Even with the elimination of manatee hunting, man's activities still deter population increases. The silting in of coastal feeding grounds and injuries from boat keels and propellers take their toll. Freezing weather has been known to induce pneumonia in these warm-blooded mammals, and crocodiles and sharks probably take the very young manatees.

Several management techniques have been proposed for the manatee, but many have proved unsuccessful. A "sea ranch" was established as a managed area for the animals, but this failed due to coralling difficulties, the fact that the animals each require about 300 pounds of vegetation a day, and the breeding characteristic of bearing only one calf. In addition to establishing sanctuary areas for manatees (of which the Everglades National Park is the largest) and to continuing legal protection, the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife is suggesting that certain areas be impounded and experimentally stocked with manatees.

Populations of manatees appear to have stabilized though there are no reliable estimates of their numbers. They are the most difficult aquatic mammal to observe. One factor in favor of the manatee is its herbivorous eating habits. Its usefulness in controlling aquatic vegetation in canals and ditches may encourage its protection.

WHO'S WHO AND WHY

SHIRLEY and WILLIAM COMPTON are back at work again on their delightful handmade items, after a summer and fall of travel, and many of their own handmade things are worth a visit to Thetan next to the B'Hive to see. Along with some other newest fashions in young styling, there are some hand woven Greek cotton dresses. They are in soft pastel plaids, long and free flowing. And their authentic American Indian turquoise and coral jewelry is straight from the Zuni and Navajo reservations of the Southwest. Incidentally, turquoise is now in the precious stone classification, due to its growing scarcity, according to Shirley. Do stop in and see their Beach Peepers, their mirror embroidered pillows and all other new and exotic items.

Every time we venture into Island Travel Agency, we go on an imaginary tour, with a little helpful self-guiding: by HELMA or JOHN REYNOLDS. One wall picture shows Sumerla Monastery near Ankara, Turkey at Trabzon. We think Helma was pulling our leg when she said the Monks go up and down by basket and pulley, for a visitor has told us there is a road, just barely discernible, behind the monastery, located on a sheer cliffside. And the mountains are the Pontic mountains which border north along the Black Sea. Anyhow, sounds like a marvelous place to visit, in the summer, for we once travelled the Mediterranean in early spring and the Taurus mountains along the Mediterranean Sea and the Dardenelles were snowcapped, at that time. The Reynolds offer some fantastic tours almost anywhere in the world.

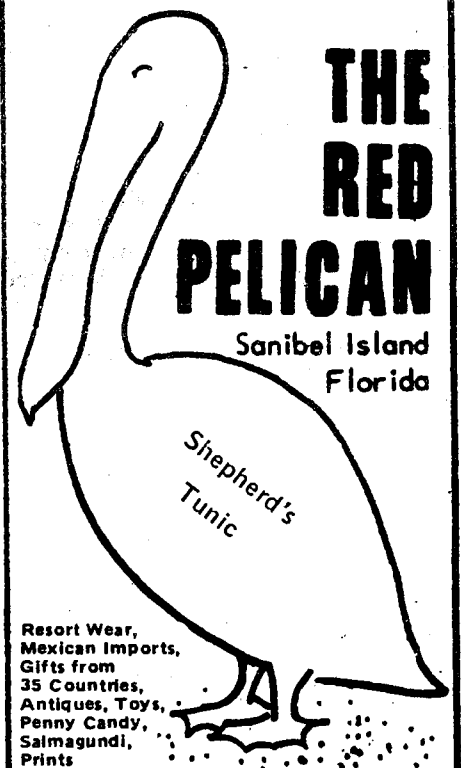

JOHN KENEDY'S auction held on Sunday was again a great success. The fine silver and all the other nice things on sale were much appreciated and were well called by auctioneer supreme BILL ALQUIST. Among those seen at the auction were DOTTI McQUADE, MR. & MRS. HARVEY GIGSTAD, MR. & MRS. BOB CHAPLIN, MARY CLARK, MR. & MRS. STEVE REYNOLDS of the Clove Hitch, ISABEL McWHORTER, MRS. CLARK NEWCOMBE, FRANCIS and ADELAIDE BAILEY, and MR. & MRS. EMERY DURSTINE and many more. Auctioneer Bill deserves accolades for his fine performance.

Another island home tour has been completed by the Women of St. Michaels' and All Angels' Church group, and it was well attended as usual and all seemed to enjoy the generosity of those six families who permitted outsiders to see into their beautiful homes & gardens. "Over 250 tickets were sold and the project was a definite success," said chairman MRS. GEORGE TENNEY. "And many thanks to the JOSEPH WINTERROWDS, MR. & MRS. LESLIE G. P. WALLER, the JAMES C. WORTHYS, MR. & MRS. CHARLES J. WILSON, The CRAWFORD CATES, and ROBERT HOUSTON and GEORGE RUSCH."

Those who were not attending the auction, and there were a passel of them, about 400, swarmed into the Artisan Shop to view and buy the works and paintings of the well known and loved DON LEMON. Not only islanders were there, but many from Del Ray Beach, Tampa and Naples and other Southwest Florida regions. The showing was virtually a sellout. "I was most favorably impressed with the warmth and enthusiasm of the Sanibel and Captiva people," said DR. LEMON, "Their sincere appreciation was most gratifying to me," he averred as he passed out autographs. Assisting GRACE ROSCHE and VI JONES in the role of hostesses at the showing were MRS. LEONARD LONG, MRS. DICK FRIEMAN and MRS. BILL NORTH.

Attendants at the sad funeral for FATHER J. NORMAND HARDY at the tiny church in Lehigh Acres were in tears over the tragic death of such a great man, and some from the islands attended, including FATHER MADDEN. The little church was jammed with mourners, and Father Hardy will long be missed and remembered.

HARRY & BETTY TRENER

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Islander:

This is my birthday and I am so happy the Good Lord has let me enjoy the wonderful things which have happened to me. But in all these years, and they are many, never, never, have I experienced such goings on any place in the wide world as I have at the Planning Committee Hearings. It is Uncle Tom's Cabin all over again.

I call it cruelty, and I mean cruelty, for our neighbors and friends to have to relate to several other neighbors and friends the reason they don't want their property "grandfathered," which means that an owner (no matter that he has been here for years doing the same things) must now be told that he cannot rebuild it if it burns down, expand it, or if owners are incapacitated for a year, it is kaput, etc., etc. Whoever thought up these things in this our America?

One listening to all of their pleas, "I only want what I have worked for and earned, to stand as it is," can't help but wonder why anyone would want to hurt another human being, and especially some one whom he knows and lives with. (Three times it has been said 'somebody has to lose out') What possible pleasure can any man get out of denying an honest man his right to work. Why would he want to stop a man from enjoying the things he has rightfully earned? Psalm 132:1-2 Ecce, quam bonum et quam jucundum habitare fratres in unum. (Behold how good and how pleasant it is when brethren dwell together in unity!)

MAKING TRACKS
with Sandy

I sat at home Sunday afternoon and traveled all over the world. I traveled to Australia, New Zealand, Japan, Hong Kong, Tonga and the Fiji Islands, among other faraway places, and my guide was Mr. Brian Kane. Each one of us listening to his fascinating verbal descriptions felt as though we were experiencing the journey.

Mr. Kane, a winter visitor to Island Inn from Chestertown, Md., kept his audience in rapt attention as we accompanied him by plane and ship through a South Seas storm to the serenity of a Japanese garden, and finally to a Fiji Island where his uncle had lived.

It was the latter sojourn that was the highlight of his travelogue, and at our urging he began the dramatic account of his uncle, Tom Stockwell - adventurer, sheep herder, opal miner, philanderer, vagabond sailor, and finally, husband of the beautiful cousin of Tonga's Queen Salote. "The Adventures of Uncle Tom" would make colorful reading in book form and would prove that truth, indeed, is stranger than fiction. Here is the story.

Tom Stockwell, brother of Brian Kane's mother, left home at age 18 and disappeared. When next heard from a couple of years later, he was in Australia drifting from job to job seeking his fortune. Leaving this country, he sailed the high seas on tramp steamers - taking any sort of job offered him, traveling the world.

"Uncle Tom" in true Stockwell style was shipwrecked on a Fiji island where he eventually met the Queen of Tonga's cousin.

"Her name was Malaia Waingolo," Brian Kane told his attentive listeners, "and the next thing we heard from him back home was that he had fallen in love." The story takes a dramatic turn when the two approached the Queen for her consent to their marriage. She agreed, but made two stipulations: 1. that they wait seven years; and 2. that there should be no children. It was obvious that Uncle Tom was in love, for the man who had made ladies swoon from San Francisco to Singapore was willing to wait seven years for the only real lady in his life.

After the lavish wedding ceremony and feast, Mr. and Mrs. Stockwell left for the island of Katafaga (in the Lau group) which he had leased for 99 years. Here the couple happily lived for twenty years until his death in 1945, and here it was that he introduced his bride to western ways and culture.

It was as though they had their own little kingdom, for Tom Stockwell's every thought was for his "Queen," providing her with fine Paris gowns, jewels, and all the comforts of life, including a complete silver service, rare china and linens which he required for the evening meal. (Though Malaia had lands of her own, it was the income from her husband's coconut plantation that gave them more than enough to live on).

Through the terms of the will, Mr. Kane was made sole heir and guardian and because of this, he makes periodic trips to "Loma Loma", where Malaia now lives. Of the very first trip he relates:

"I traveled by ship the last 36 hours and I found that the produce hoisted onto the ship at various ports was all to be used at a feast in my honor. When at last my destination was in sight, a most terrible storm came up and I was forced to jump into the water and wade ashore with the aid of ropes. There was Malaia waiting for me in the downpour, dressed in her Paris gown, and throwing her arms about me cried, "You look just like Tom," and burst into tears. Never was a person more royally treated and I might have been eating in one of the finest restaurants in New York. I was waited on hand and foot by well-trained servants and my every wish was their command."

In the ensuing years, Mr. Kane's wife, Hilda, and their daughter, Nancy, have accompanied him to Loma Loma to visit Malaia, who is in her 80's now.

As guardian of Tom's widow's estate, Brian Kane learned (as has been the case everywhere inflation has upset the economy) that it would require a substantial increase in the will to allow her to live in the style his uncle would have wanted. Therefore he has added many comforts to her "buri" (house) and even brought electricity to the island.

Thus ended the romantic story of a couple from two different worlds - just like a fairy tale.

THIS WEEK AT THE SANIBEL LIBRARY
By Hal N. Harrison

With the recent death of the Nobel and Pulitzer Prize-winning author, Pearl S. Buck, we moved immediately to acquire for Sanibel patrons her latest book, "All Under Heaven," which was announced less than a week before her death. The novel is about an American diplomat forced to leave Peking after the takeover by Mao Tse-tung.

After the book was ordered, I began to wonder just how popular Pearl Buck has been with Sanibel readers, so I checked the list of books we have acquired over the years. The total is 19 and it indicates her popularity locally. Indeed, one on that list is also new: "Once Upon a Christmas." You may not want to wait until the Holidays to read it. The book contains 14 stories gathered from her own tales and her Christmas reminiscences of nearly a lifetime. This is a lovely book for both adults and children. It is both fiction and personal experiences, much of it in China.

Miss Buck's most famous novel was "The Good Earth," which won her the Pulitzer Prize in 1931, just two years after she started publishing. In 1938, she became the first American woman to win the Nobel Prize for Literature on the basis of six of her works on China. Special mention was made at the time of two biographies of her missionary parents, "The Exile" and "Fighting Angel."

She was born Pearl Sydenstricker in Hillsboro, W. Va., on June 26, 1892, but spent most of her first 43 years in China where she went with her parents as an infant. She learned to speak Chinese before she spoke English.

In 1964, she started the Pearl S. Buck Foundation with $1 million contribution. Since then the foundation has helped more than 2,000 Asian children who were fathered and abandoned by American servicemen.

Despite her profound sympathy and love for Chinese people, she was denied permission to visit Red China last October. The Chinese declared her works took "an attitude of distortion and vilification toward the people of China and their leadership."

Here are Pearl Buck's books available at the Sanibel library:

"All Under Heaven," "Once Upon a Christmas," "The Good Earth," "The Exile," "Fighting Angel," "The Big Fight," "China Flight," "Dragon Seed," "The Goddess Abides," "These Are Our Children," "Imperial Woman," "The Living Reed," "Mandala," "The New Year," "Pavilion of Women," "Peony," "Portrait of Marriage," "The Time is Noon," "Three Daughters of Mme. Liang."

MARIO HUTTON SHOW TONIGHT

Tonight, Thursday, March 22, the local Audubon will present one of the highlights of the season at 8 p.m. in the Sanibel Community House. For the last time this year, Mario Hutton, President, will offer under the title, "Beyond Beauty" one of his very popular "Photo-verse" shows. The program will include a number of features covering the natural beauty, wildlife and other aspects of our islands, among them "Worlds Apart," "No Vigil need be Vain," "Great Blue," "Woodmen of the World," "The Yucca Parade," "Vigilantes All," and "Not too Cereus..." Mr. Hutton will also present an unusual story called "The Other Coney," and "Caloosahatchee Canto," one of his all-favorites.

As usual, the program is open to the public, and all are cordially invited.

PROFESSIONAL SINGERS AND INSTRUMENTALISTS

Twelve professional singers and instrumentalists specializing in the performance of Renaissance and early Baroque music of the 16th and 17th centuries will appear at the Song of the Sea Inn, Sanibel Island, on March 24, at 8:00 p.m. The Ensemble is under the direction of George V. Cripps III.

The group, in costume, will present a varied program of chorus, solo and small ensemble music using a challis harpsichord, a consort of recorders and small percussion.

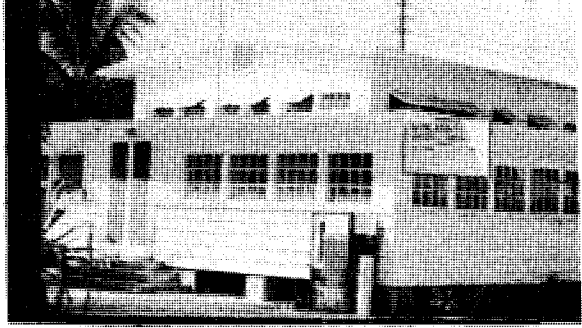

Appearing with the Ensemble will be Margaret Wible, soprano and percussion; Mary Ann Hanke, soprano and recorder; Patricia Peterson, soprano and recorder; Dorothy Robinson, soprano; Dorothy Hedden, alto; Barbara Klacking, alto; James Varner, tenor and recorder; Frank Klacking, tenor; Norman Jones, baritone; William Mudgett, bass; Aileen B. Cripps, harpsichord.

The concert will be held in the beautiful courtyard of the Song of the Sea Inn. Tickets are limited and reservations may be made by calling 472-2220. In the event of poor weather the performance will be held at the Sanibel Community Center on Periwinkle Way.

Recipe of the Week

CANTONESE SHRIMP and BEANS

- 1 1/2 lbs. raw shelled deveined shrimp
- 1 1/2 tsp. chicken stock base
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1/4 cup thinly sliced green onion
- 1 clove crushed garlic
- 1 Tbsp. oil
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. ginger
- dash pepper
- 1 pkg. (9 oz.) frozen cut green beans
- 1 Tbsp. cornstarch
- 1 Tbsp. cold water

Dissolve chicken stock base in boiling water. Cook onion, garlic and shrimp in boiling water. If necessary, add a little chicken broth to prevent sticking. Stir in salt, ginger, pepper, green beans and broth. Cover and simmer 5 to 7 minutes (or until beans are cooked but still slightly crisp). Combine cornstarch and water and add to shrimp mixture, cooking until thick and clear, stirring constantly. Serves 6. (approx. 128 calories per serving.)

SANIBEL - REMINISCING
By Gilbert Barner

Gulls and Sandpipers flying o'er their constant home, the shore
Shells click in murmurs under the sound of the sea - carried in by green baskets made of waves
The sounds of fish splashing back to the water after their try for the sky

Rustling palms, old brushing against new - sunshine cascades from the sky but shadows fill the baskets

Quiet and peace among the constant sound

Sanibel.

MIGRATION FROM THE SEA
By Gilbert Barner

The roads were filled - the beaches teaming,

Birds fought for space among the people - Coney Island with shells

Then, by some form of magic, the migration from the sea begins

Sunburns and floppy hats - shells that have no special name. Sand and green coconuts flow over the causeway - going to Iowa, flying to Michigan, Sanibel sand ending up in shoes in Indiana - emmisaries of times gone by on Sanibel.

And -

Sanibel goes calm again.

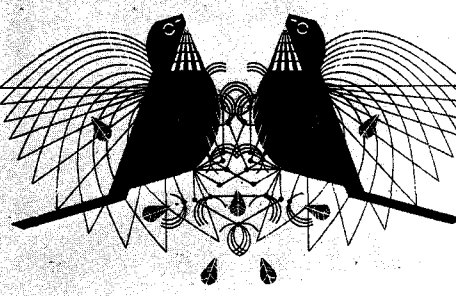

Gulls find room to stand, shells remain uncrushed underfoot - that job left to the sea to whom it rightfully belongs.

Beaches stretch in natural beauty - sand castles in disrepair -

Sand, shells and the sea reclaim their home -

Sanibel.

On Friday morning MR. & MRS. SPRAGUE HAZARD and their friend, JACKIE THOMAS, Chartered Capt. Doug Fischer aboard the El Rayador from the South Seas Plantation Marina. They caught these 4 snooks (to 10 lb.) on a half-day excursion.

Tony Rosse, age 4, caught his first 20 lb. snook at Red Fish Pass. His father, Charles Rosse, cast the line and netted the fish. Tony did the rest.

Seeing is Believing

Having been to Sanibel and loved the quiet, casual family atmosphere (so difficult to find in this day and age), we want Island Families to know about the comparable atmosphere at Lakeside Hotel on Clear Lake in Indiana. We don't have Sanibel's sea shells, but we do have a beautiful sandy beach. Lakeside is a Charming Family Hotel where grandparents bring grandchildren, parents bring children, and entire families meet to be together during the Summer.

Write for brochure and pictures.

JOIN MORE THAN 1,600 OTHER ISLAND LOVERS AND HELP US TO:

- Complete and preserve the J.N. "Ding" Darling National Wildlife Refuge;
- Create a FRESH WATER WETLANDS sanctuary on Sanibel as an essential complement to protect the "Ding" Darling Refuge.
- Establish a NATURE CENTER for the public and for use by students, researchers and other interested groups.
- Develop a MARINE RESEARCH STATION, with the cooperation of other marine science agencies in the state and nation.
- Sponsor a program of research and education at all educational levels, utilizing the above natural resources and physical facilities

DRAWS CROWD

Dorothy A. Mendenhall, noted ornithologist and licensed operator of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, drew a large crowd of interested onlookers and photographers at her Thursday Lecture and demonstration sponsored by the Sanibel-Captiva Audubon Society. Mrs. Mendenhall had set up some almost invisible black nylon nets to trap birds for banding. She succeeded in netting a ground dove and demonstrated how to band his leg with a lightweight but sturdy aluminum marker, which slipped over the feet like a bracelet, explaining that the process was painless and harmless to the bird which she then released.

Over a period of many years, Mrs. Mendenhall has a wide range of experience in identifying and observing the migratory habits of many birds, both in Central America and in the United States, and in particular at her home in the summer and fall in Maryland. She is here in the winters and her show was staged at Island Inn with its background of local trees and grasses. She has frequently banded more than five hundred birds in one day in her studies, and she has thus been able to determine their flyways, which often follow rivers.

Children of the fourth and fifth grades under the direction of Mr. Runnels watched Mrs. Mendenhall at work with her field implements, along with about 100 other island spectators and visitors.

FANS AND PURSES

Art in the afternoon at the Pirate Playhouse on March 28th will feature all the prop fans and purses used in the theater's productions. There's a purse made from sweet grass, one used to purchase from roadside stands on the way to Florida, a fan made especially to commemorate Lindbergh's arrival in Paris, a purse made completely of cork from Peru, a knitted finger purse among many others, and several beautiful plume fans.

Besides the lovely water colors of Lester Baker, there will be Hazel Whitehead's Alice In Wonderland Dolls and she's made some new "Alice Dolls" with long gold hair to delight the fancy of any little girl. Music will be Arthur Rubenstein playing Brahms Concerto No. 2 with the Boston Symphony Orchestra. The time is 3:30 to 4:30 - March 28th and the Admission charge of 50 cents per person goes to help Right to Life to Save Precious Babies and toward a bike path for Sanibel bike riders to enjoy life on the islands.

THE SAND, THE SHELLS AND THE SEA
By Gilbert Barner

Waves ride along like blue-green carriages white-capped, crowned
They come to rest on white sand, ebullent, joyful
Releasing their passengers in every form the Murex, the Olives, the Cones - they mingle excitedly
The waves go home, but not the shells - not all - some remain, and call our home their home

A second home on Sanibel Island

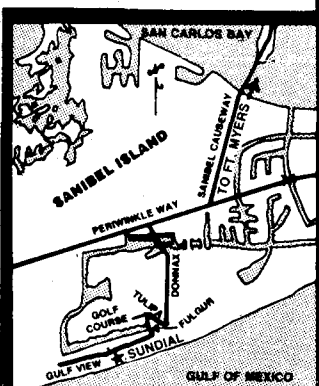

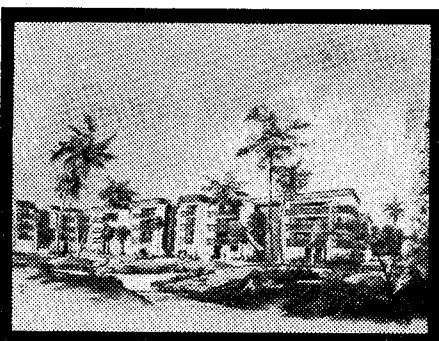

Your second home for vacations and holidays... amid the tranquil splendor of Sanibel Island. And, when you're not there, our on-site real estate broker or any local broker will be happy to help you rent your apartment. Sanibel enjoys a large year-round tourist population.

Tennis, next-door golf, swimming and fishing (of course), and some of the world's finest shelling. All yours. There'll also be the King's Crown, Sundial Room and Angel Wing — restaurants, lounge and entertainment.

Choose now — from club to two-bedroom with den suites at pre-opening prices from $33,900.

Come stay a few days or weeks and see for yourself — some apartments will be ready for renting about Mar. 15. Please write for color brochure and rental rates.

Visit soon — stop at Sanibel Chamber of Commerce for directions. Model apartments open daily, 9 to 6.
