GALA BENEFIT FOR P.T.A. ANNOUNCED

For the past five years, come February, Mario Hutton has offered the premiere of his latest 'photo-verse' compositions to Sanibel. The occasion has always been a gala benefit with all the proceeds going to a worthy local cause. The tradition will be maintained in 1974 and this year the organization to receive the total proceeds from admissions and other sources will be the Sanibel-Captiva PTA which will use them for much needed improvements to the Sanibel Elementary School's facilities. As in past years, the event will be repeated on two successive evenings, in order to accommodate 600 persons.

The program, to be presented under the general title of "Serenading Sanibel," uses a novel technique created by Mr. Hutton for blending his artistry as a noted nature photographer with that of a sensitive poet. His technique met with instant success eight years ago and since then has been acclaimed at conventions of the Smithsonian Institution, the National Audubon Society, the Nature Conservancy, the Wilderness Society, and before appreciative audiences in over 30 Florida cities.

As implied by its title, the new show will include a well balanced selection of features covering the unique aspects of Sanibel's beauty. Not only famed landmarks, such as the Sanibel Lighthouse and the Ding Darling Wildlife Sanctuary, but the lingering charm of the island's remotest spots will unfold through a series of haunting color slides against the backdrop of the versified commentary that is Mario's specialty. The wildlife that still thrives on our shores and in the backbays will, of course, figure predominantly in many inspired or whimsical essays. And the splendor or the drama of sunrises and moonlit nights, storms and red tide will offer an unforgettable tribute to the fragile loveliness of our land.

- New Feature -

However, one new feature will be a distinct departure. It is entitled "Words are a Sword," and deals with the magic power of language, seen as perhaps man's greatest discovery. The infinite significance of the spoken or written word is graphically

SANIBEL LIBRARY OPEN HOUSE SET FOR FEBRUARY 3

Instead of a formal dedication, the Sanibel Public Library will have an informal open house Sunday, Feb. 3 from 2 to 5 p.m. to celebrate the opening of its bright new building on Palm Ridge Road. No speeches. No formalities. Just a chance to get acquainted with the Library and its volunteer staff, and to see an exhibit of island paintings and of old island photographs.

The Library has been operating in its new quarters since mid-October. During that time new stacks and furniture have been added inside and much landscaping done outside. So the Library Board, headed by President Robert C. Haynie, decided it was time to invite the public, especially the many hundreds of persons whose contributions made the new building possible.

What you will see Feb. 3 that you haven't previously seen at the Library will be the following:

1. An art exhibition sponsored by the Sanibel-Captiva Art League in the new meeting and exhibition room. League President Dorothy Robinson has asked Helene Sparkes to head a group which will select and hang the paintings. League members have been asked to bring up to two paintings each to the Library at any time from Jan. 28 through Jan. 31. This will be the first inside show by the League in many years. The subject matter will be mostly scenes on Sanibel and Captiva.

2. A display of at least a dozen old photographs of island subjects dating back to 1910, and perhaps 1907. Ben and Suzanne Pickens have been working on this, copying and enlarging pictures owned by Elise Fuller and Clarence Ruland, among others.

Members of the Library Board of Directors and volunteer workers will serve as hostesses and hosts, to explain the Library's operations and to advise members of the public how to get the most out of their Library.

TRASH REMOVAL GUIDELINES FOR SUBSCRIBERS

At a slight additional charge, a limit of four bundles per pickup of yard clippings, not exceeding four feet in length and 16 inches in diameter and not over forty pounds in weight, tied securely, (e.g., tree limbs under four inches in diameter and palm fronds) will be picked up at curb or roadside only, along with the regular garbage collections.

Service requests other than the above would be by agreement between customer and operator.

Sanibel Disposal, phone 481-3447.

Captiva had a regular "meeting" of the United Nations last week. Several U.N. members had dinner together in Washington, D.C., and then some of them flew off to Captiva to enjoy a winter respite in seclusion. Imagine their surprise to run into several of their recent dinner partners on Palm Avenue! Heading the list of celebrities were Baron & Baroness VON LINDEN from the Netherlands, who had their son and family from Holland as guests. The charming LeDUCS and daughter from the French Embassy were here too, and Ms. MARGARET MITCHELL. Mr. & Mrs. A. HAYMAN with two cute nine-year-old twin sons were here and Prof. & Mrs. R. MITCHELL from the University of Chicago. Mr. & Mrs. ED BENNETT, Jr. from Lake Forrest, Ill., were in the Aschom Cottage. What a bright, personable group it was! The Baron and Baroness were so full of verve and charm. They said Captiva was even more beautiful than they remembered it.

Who's Who & Why

Mrs. ADELAIDE McTIGERT of Guilford, N.H., brought her guests to Captiva to shell and beachcomb too. They are Mrs. ERMA ASBURY of Bedford, Ind., and Mrs. DOROTHY COTTON of Guilford. They spent some evenings trying to get a glimpse of elusive Kohoutek, and did manage to see it one evening when it was directly above Venus. But only for a moment, and then it was gone, leaving a trail like a small match blown out in this great galaxy, making some comment, "I was not impressed." The tides were not as great as was expected since the moon, sun and tides are all in position of direct influence, a relationship that has occurred only 21 times in the past 300 years. With the moon on the wane, tides are almost back to normal, never having been extraordinary.

Other guests on Captiva are Mr. & Mrs. HENRY LESKOWSKI and Mr. & Mrs. A. J. SHIRE, all from Port Charlotte.

Owners of Sandalfoot Condominiums, BURT and MONA KLEIN from Lawyerville, N.Y., entertained unit owners and their guests and the HODOSKOS, managers of Sandalfoot Condominiums, at a soiree last Monday and all had a gay time. The beautiful buildings are almost complete and some units are already occupied.

The Zeldas are waiting for completion of their charming new home in Loggerhead Cay, but meantime are enjoying their Captain's Walk apartment. Zelda, Jr. will be leaving for college around the middle of the month, but will be back on Sanibel for spring vacation.

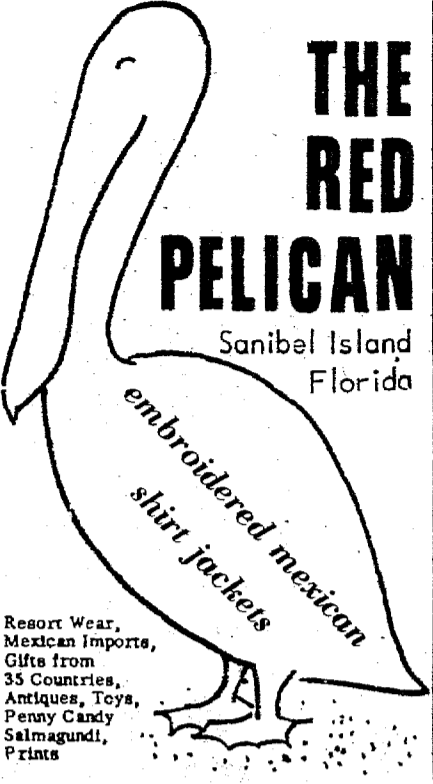

Visitors at Periwinkle Park are FRED and MARGE ACONGIO from Washington Crossing, Pa. This interesting town is reputed to be the place where Washington led his men across the Delaware, and in the fall the whole town turns out for a giant festival. BILL and ALICE HOULTON of Edgerton, Ohio, and daughter, LINDA EWING, from Milwaukee, Wis., are busy shelling and Linda found a lovely golden olive. Alice found a junonia in excellent condition. Mrs. Houlton fashions all sorts of lovely things from her shells; a huge shell table, two wreaths and jewelry for gifts, and the Houltons already have their reservations made for their return to Periwinkle Park next year. They say "It's the best place in Florida, in fact, the only place."

EARL and MIRIAM RUSSELL are here at the Park from Lafayette, Ind., for the season. RICHARD and ELIZABETH WEBB are on a return visit from Springfield, Tenn., and their hobby is collecting shells which they take home for the children to make novelties and gifts. The Webbs are extensive travellers but love Sanibel and Periwinkle. DAVID and MARY MacLENNAN are here for an extended visit. Dr. MacLean is an optometrist from Scotland but living and working in Haliburton, Canada, his adopted home since 1947. They love Canada but Sanibel is their choice in the winter.

The LEIGH J. BAIRS have been entertaining their many returning friends and visitors with a series of cocktail parties, one on Tuesday and another on Sunday

Visiting Mr. & Mrs. ROBERT E. BARRY are her uncle and aunt, Mr. & Mrs. WILLIAM VOGT, and daughter MARY here from Carrollton, Ind. They came down for a brief vacation especially to see Mrs. Barry perform as Florence in the "Curious Savage." They arrived here for the opening and the play was so well received that first night jitters were soon dispelled. The Vogts enjoyed the sand and sun also before returning home with a great tan.

The DWIGHT WILSONS of Captiva have guests from Duesseidort, Germany. Christa's first cousin is visiting with her family, Mr. & Mrs. HANS WERNER FUCHS and children NORBERT and MARTINA, who are thoroughly enjoying the islands, just can't believe the sun shines so brightly every day. Their stay will include a visit to Disney World and Miami. Last Thursday, the Wilsons held a family reunion for two uncles, two aunts, all from Germany, and their children from Hollywood, Fla. Eighteen in all enjoyed a barbecue at the Wilsons.

Mrs. STEVEN PELCZAR from Newmarket, N.H., has two guests visiting her on Captiva: Sister EVA SZACIK who is a vocalist and teaches music at Notre Dame College in Manchester, N.H., and LYNDA BICK, a teacher of Chemistry and Physics at Phillips-Exeter Academy, were enjoying shelling and bird-watching. Sister Eva looked like one of her own pupils, so young and attractive was she. Lynda too looked young and fresh. Why didn't we have such young teachers, or did we, and in the eyes of our youth they appeared old? It's a good question to ponder, but I know mine weren't as pretty.

RETRACTION

Although our faces are red at not having checked our source more thoroughly, we are happy to report that it was not, repeat NOT, Wayne Bashaw who accidentally ran into Mark Bartholomew on the Sanibel-Captiva Road last week. The Sheriff's office, however, was unable to give us the name of the driver of the car.

Actually young Bashaw was a Good Samaritan who only stopped to give aid.

School News

Mr. Runnels has been attending a reading clinic. Under the Emergency School Aid Act, the clinic is funded by the Federal government and is taught by Ruth Carroll and Mrs. De Schazzo. It is located near Evans Ave. in temporary quarters. Mrs. Winans has already completed the course.

"They learn a good deal of psychology, not only to teach reading but to help build up the child's self image," said Richard Ivill, principal. Dr. Jerry Drury presented a talk and film to the children on tooth care at Sanibel Elementary School this week, which was National Children's Dental Week. A poster contest is being held for the 4th and 5th grade pupils with winners to be announced later.

HOME RULE COMMITTEE MEETS

The Home Rule Committee met at the Community House on Sanibel on Thursday morning with Ralph Zeiss presiding. Dick Workman reported on his contacts with Tallahassee, and as a result of the following discussion, it was moved that Sanibel and Captiva be designated critical areas of land use. Though there are, as yet, no penalties for land use violations, the group agreed that it would be good for all those on the islands interested in control of land use to band together with the Chamber of Commerce, the Home Rule Committee and the Sanibel-Captiva Planning Board to send a joint letter to Tallahassee. The group's many related interests, such as the up-dating of building permits and water hook-ups were discussed, and Vernon MacKenzie is working on these problems.

The new Flood Insurance laws and setback laws are being studied, and a letter in support of the flood wash law of 1972 is to be drafted by Paul Howe to the Dept. of Natural Resources. A charter concerning Home Rule should be ready by April with passage by May and then with public hearings plus a thirty-day delay, the earliest date for self determination of home rule for Sanibel would be in November. A report of Jim Robson, chairman of the Personnel Committee, presented Aileen Lotz for consideration as the consultant on planning and study for Home Rule. She was endorsed.

LEGISLATIVE HEARINGS TO BE HELD ON FEBRUARY 18 AND 19

Representative Paul Nuckolls has been elected chairman of the Lee County Legislative Delegation as of Jan. 8, 1974. The 1974 Legislative Hearings will be held on Feb. 18 and 19, 1974, at various locations throughout Lee County. The exact times and locations will be announced at a later date.

Any governmental agency, individual, or group of citizens, may introduce proposed legislation to the delegations; however, it should be prepared in draft form before being placed on the agenda.

Because of Rep. Paul Nuckolls' belief in Home Rule and legislation passed in prior years relating to Home Rule, legislation will not be heard at the Public Hearings that could, otherwise, be handled by local governing bodies. Rep. Nuckolls feels that the state has gained too much power over local government and that all matters pertaining to local government should be handled locally to prevent any further encroachment of the state's powers.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE

North-South winners at the Friday night game were Don Brown and Charles Wilson. Mr. & Mrs. Richard Brownlee came in second.

East-West winners were Joseph Gay and John Morton. Mr. & Mrs. Alf Chown came in second.

BLUE ANGELS MEET

Kay Schultz hosted the Blue Circle girls for January at her charming home on the bay at Captiva; bright colors everywhere blended so well one stops to question, "Am I outside looking in or inside looking out?" A tidy assortment of bandages were rolled by seventeen pairs of busy hands. The group, Mary Stolz, Thalia K. May, Georgia Hemphill, Sylvia Olling, Dot Seymour, Peg Racek, Dorothy Robinson, Alice E. Sparkes, Pin Mills, Sarah Dennis, Margaret Dunham, Sally Kirby, Margaret Fischer, Frances Shaver, and Ruth Hunter were honored with a visit from Rev. Kinsolving's wife, Mary, of Captiva's Chapel by the Sea.

The Blue Circle Angels are very grateful to Tween Waters Inn for a gift of sheets which will be made into bandages for the sick and poor throughout the world through the Catholic Medical Mission Board of New York.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE ISLANDER:

In reference to the scare stories about our spending the remainder of our lives with inadequate fuel supplies, please consider that the United States Geological Survey has estimated that we have a 500-year supply of petroleum and a 300-year supply of natural gas in the continental shelf of our Atlantic Ocean area, Gulf of Mexico and Pacific coasts, in Alaska and in deep mainland areas. We have coal reserves for 1,500 years. We have capacity and raw materials for an almost inexhaustible supply of nuclear energy. Government Geologists estimate that there are two trillion barrels of high-grade oil in shale rock, an amount six times greater than all proved resources of crude oil on the entire earth.

The editor of an oil industry magazine predicted in 1962 that the present situation would be brought about unless the methods and morals of the oil industry were changed.

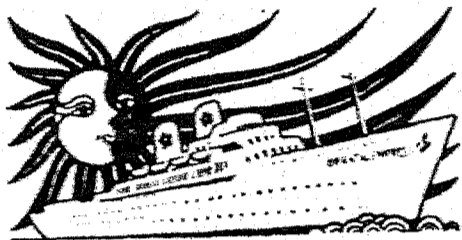

Presently, we have an extremely bright future in relation to oil supplies from Alaska. At any moment Standard Oil of Indiana may announce the discovery of their fantastic oil well at the extreme southwest tip of Alaska on the Cathedral River. This may be one of the outstanding discoveries of the generation. Furthermore, such large oil discoveries as Prudhoe Bay on the north slope of Alaska are not isolated pools. For that reason, it can be expected that the total reserves in Alaska will amount to 100 billion barrels of oil. Thus, Alaskan fields alone would provide two thirds of the known reserves of Saudi Arabia.

TO THE ISLANDER:

I have been coming to Sanibel for 8 years and have seen this problem grow and grow. Every year it seems that some people seem to think that "Keep Dogs on Leash" law doesn't pertain to their dog and invariably its someone with a huge German Shepherd who leaves his dog roam the beach. This year I saw a giant German Shepherd who was not on a leash tear up a small Pekinese who was on a leash. Last year I saw a German Shepherd bite a small child on the beach. I own a dog myself but I have respect for other people's rights and always keep it on a leash. I would like to see stiff fines for the people who think their dog is something special and the leash law doesn't pertain to them.

Joe Underriter
Affton, Mo.

TO THE ISLANDER:

I would like to announce that the flag at the Pirate Playhouse will be flown at half-mast on January 22 to mark the day of the Supreme Court's decision against the innocent unborn.

SCOTTISH TRAVELOGUE IS TO BE GIVEN BY BILL MADSEN

A talk on Scotland will be given next Wednesday, Jan. 23, by Bill Madsen at the Island Cinema, 7 to 9 p.m.

Mr. Madsen is an accomplished speaker and a world-wide traveller who has captured many of his experiences on film and in print. Scotland covers 30,500 square miles in which few places are over 40 miles from the sea and its capital, Edinburgh, is considered one of the most beautiful cities in the world. Indeed the whole country is a panorama of magnificent scenery.

Mr. Madsen's appearance is sponsored by the local Kiwanis Club and their profit will go to support their many island service projects.

FREE PHONE STICKERS ARE AVAILABLE AT FIRE HOUSE

Capt. Phil Verdung of the Sanibel Volunteer Fire Dept. would like to inform all Sanibel residents that new stickers with the emergency telephone numbers on them are now available at the new Firehouse. They were purchased through the courtesy of the Sanibel Community Association and can be picked up any time between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

KNOW YOUR NEIGHBORS: TWO LIVELY LADIES AT CASTAWAYS
by Fran O'Callaghan

Whether Betty Gardiner and June Henry, the new owner-managers of Castaways Resort on the tip of Sanibel, are such interesting people because they've lived such interesting lives or vice versa is a moot question. Ms. Henry was born in Palmer, Mass., attended Sullins Jr. College in Bristol, Va., and received her B. A. Degree from the University of South Carolina. At age 22, she built and operated the first drive-in restaurant on Cape Cod and also owned and operated a gift shop there. Then she enlisted in the U. S. Air Force, and after 21 years, retired with the rank of full colonel last July. Her career in the Air Force was varied as she worked in logistics, plans, programs and systems, materiel management and was squadron commander. She has received more than a shelf full of awards: The Legion of Merit, Meritorious Service Medal, and many others, and she served on President Johnson's Task Force in the War Against Poverty. Sandwiched in her career, she served as assistant production manager for a New York City advertising agency, and general manager for a paint manufacturer.

Betty Gardiner was born in Gainesville, Fla., attended Florida State University in Tallahassee and graduated from Columbia University in New York City with a nurse's degree. Her mother and brother still reside in Gainesville, and she visits there when possible but she loves the islands.

Ms. Gardiner was Health Education Consultant with the Florida State Board of Health for some time and was affiliated with the Pinellas County Health Dept. in St. Petersburg, Fla., for 14 years. She worked with the National Job Corps Center for Women in St. Petersburg, which was the first Job Corps in the United States. Her most recent position was a Chief of Training for the District of Columbia Health Dept. in Washington, D.C., and it was there that she met Col. Henry, and they formed a lasting friendship leading to this joint venture as owner-managers of Castaways. You are bound to see them in the restaurant or the motel if you go that way, and you are bound to receive a hearty welcome from them. We wish them the best of luck in their new venture, and for people who have always been a success, how can they miss?

WILLING DONORS NEEDED TO COVER RECENT WITHDRAWAL FROM ISLANDS' BLOOD BANK

Inasmuch as the Blood Bank is available to any Islander when needed, all are urged to contribute their blood to build up the supply. Lee Memorial Hospital will accept your blood donation any time between the hours of 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. So please drop in when you can.

This Blood Bank for Islanders is administered by the Sanibel-Captiva Lions Club Sight Conservation and Health Committee, so notify a Lions Club member if blood is needed.

WILDLIFE NOTES

Sanibel has lost -- at least temporarily -- one of its finest nature spectacles. The hundred of birds who have regularly roosted in the Bailey sanctuary have suddenly gone elsewhere.

For many years, fifteen to this writer's knowledge, people have been able to come into the sanctuary in the late afternoon and watch small flights of white ibis, snowy cattle, and great egrets; Louisiana and little blue herons, and at the times other birds which soared in to settle on the big mangrove clump and sleep out the night.

Or, even more spectacular, the birds could be seen in the pre-dawn hours almost literally turning the mangroves white. One could watch them awaken, bestir themselves, talk to each other, and leave, the herons and egrets in small groups, the ibis all together in huge flights.

Now this activity has shifted elsewhere, and why or where to no one knows.

There are large roosting areas in Pine Island Sound where pelicans, cormorants and other birds are mixed in with the herons and ibis, and chances are the Bailey birds suddenly decided to join one of these more remote colonies accessible to man only by boat.

The birds may still be seen, of course, throughout the islands, feeding or roosting, but the big accumulations in the evening may no longer be seen by those on foot.

The white ibis were the first to be discovered missing from their usual roosting place. For a few nights thereafter, the herons and egrets continued to sleep in the sanctuary and then they, too, started going some where else.

Whether they will return cannot be predicted. Some evenings, after the roost had been deserted, small flights of white ibis were seen coming in and then flying about as though searching for companions and, finding none, soaring away. For these are intensely social birds. Wherever they are sleeping now you can be sure of one thing -- they gather each evening in large flocks.

For the past several years the birds have also used the Bailey roost as a nesting place in the spring. Perhaps they will return for this.

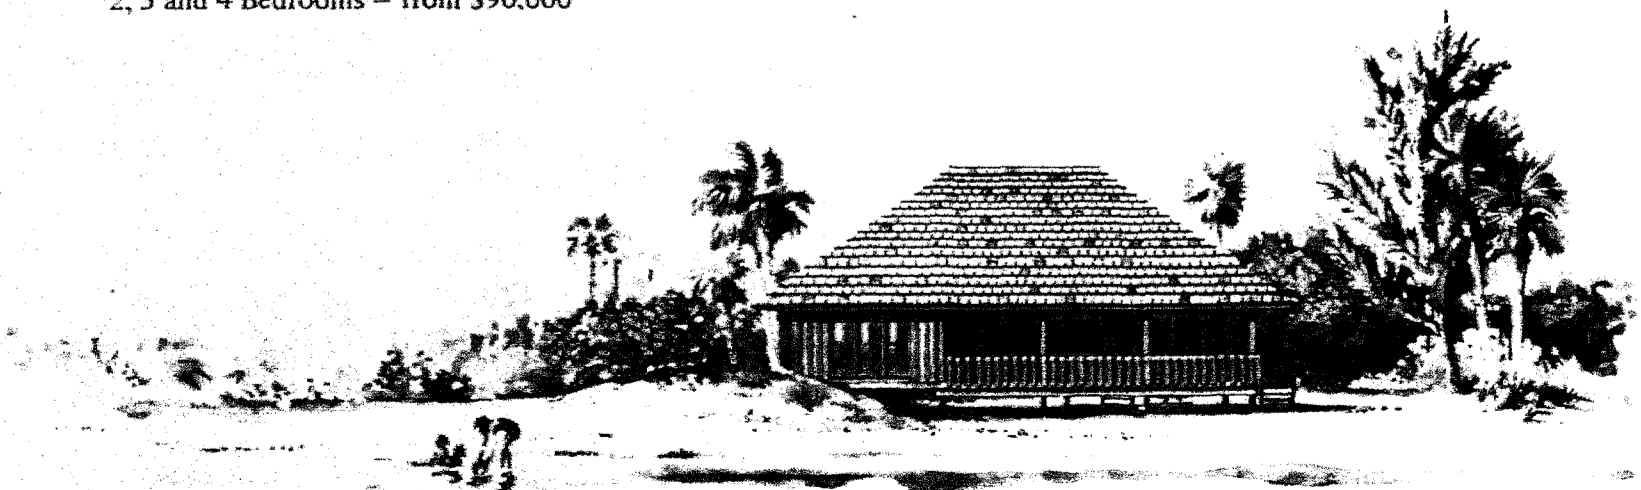

For information about bird tours call the MacIntosh Book Store, 472-1447.

BEACH HOMES
at SOUTH SEAS PLANTATION

2, 3 and 4 Bedrooms -- from $90,000

Inquiries invited 472-2523 or Island Brokers

Mr. Frank O'Mally, Bill Sherman and Barry Morrow came up with this large catch of 83 blues, mackerel and snappers while fishing with Capt. Doug Fischer out of South Seas Plantation.

A Grain Of Sea Salt by betzi abram

I'm not much for beer. To me it tastes pretty much (I imagine) like the Japanese beetles my sister kept sampling the summer she was 14 months old. She'd pick one off her play-pen, bite off its head, make a terrible face, spit it out and then try another one. But by and large, beer drinkers are a pretty jolly crew. And you can find a nice variety of them sitting around at Rankin's Anchorage most anytime of day. It's a warm, friendly little bar, never crowded but rarely empty, where you can walk in, stranger or habitue, in your best bib and tucker or hot and sweaty right off the dock, and feel perfectly at home. Somehow even the cokes taste better there -- flavored as they are with salty conversation, exotic adventure tales of the high seas, and somewhat suspect advice on everything from how to unfreeze your outboard motor to how to sleep 8 on a 4-passenger sailboat.

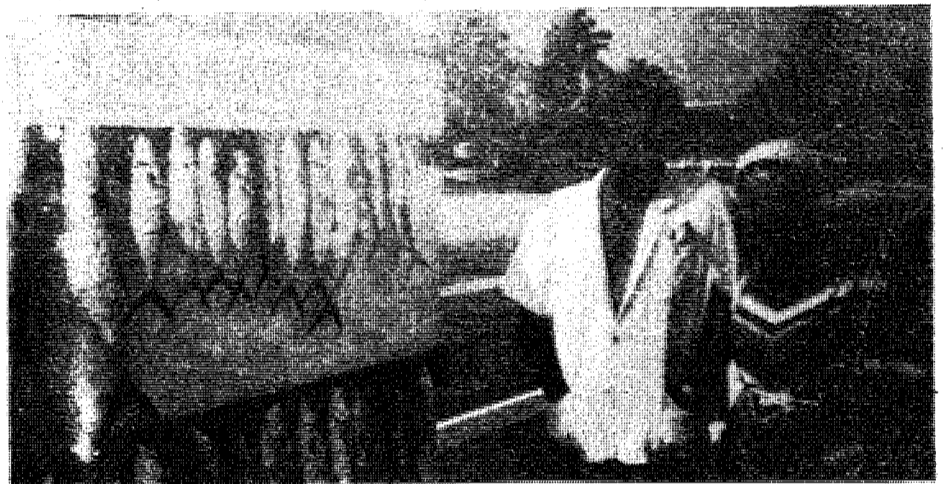

The place is clean as a hound's tooth, the bar itself a handsome wide one lovingly crafted by Al Rankin who built the place himself with care and precision and often presides over from behind a pair of huge, dark glasses which rumor has it he removes only when he showers. Sharing the chores are Vi, his wife, a small elegant woman, whose ladylike demeanor in no way hinders the firm way in which she quashes any one misguided enough to use bad language (as distinguished from lively colloquialisms!) or to show a flash of bad temper -- and George, an agreeable fellow with an unbelievably luxuriant mop of white hair and a sunny disposition to match.

Tucked away in its own little bend of the bay, redolent of tar, brackish water, fresh salty breezes and an occasional whiff of some unidentifiable but unappetizing odor, the Anchorage is just about the next best thing to being actually afloat. The waves slap against the dock, through the windows you can dreamily contemplate the swaying masts of the boats anchored there or indulge in a bit of covetousness for the handsome houseboats or the big cabin cruisers. Palm trees grow down to the sea wall, hibiscus bloom in the grass and the sun dapples the water where the pelicans float.

Conversations flow and ebb; how to paint your boat, how the fish are running, how to solve the energy crisis, what the customs inspectors are doing ("crawling over the docks like cockroaches" -- I mean no disrespect, I only quote) who needs a rig-man and what happened to the Molly D. You can learn the alcoholic content of near beer (1 half of 1 percent), how to describe a dachshund (2 dogs long and half a dog high), where to get a good hair cut (next door), and at least a half a dozen nostalgic jokes that you haven't heard since kindergarden. A lot of good natured kidding goes on but there's always a helping hand if you have a problem, not just advice, but the loan of a tool or a sturdy back or some hard-to-find little gizmo without which your motor won't go or your boat will sink.

Your drink is cold, the bar stool comfortable, the service prompt but relaxed. Outside you can hear a fellow scolding a friend in a flowing stream of cuss words that have almost a poetic lilt -- the fluid rhythm of, say, Shakespearean pentameters -- which bring a smile to the faces of the listeners; not because they're cuss words but because they're so beautifully delivered. And best of all, you're almost sure to run into someone who says, "Hey, I'm just about to go for a little sail. Wanna come along?" And we all know the answer to that.

GUIDED TOUR OF OFF-ISLAND ENVIRONMENT OFFERED FREE

The Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation is offering free a special field outing for Sanibel-Captiva visitors and residents. A guided nature tour of pine woods, cypress heads and other natural environments different from Sanibel's will leave from the Sanibel Community House at 9 a.m. on January 22, 1974. Transportation for the trip to the mainland and return will be provided. The outing will end by mid-afternoon. Participants should bring a sack lunch. A cooler will be provided for chilling soft drinks.

The guided trip will be conducted by the Lee County Environment Education department in the Caloosahatchee State recreation area. Each participant will receive a 30-page nature guide describing the different biological communities and the successional changes.

The outing will be a rewarding and interesting experience for those who have not seen the broad range of natural environment in Southwest Florida. It will be an excellent opportunity to see plants and animals not found on Sanibel.

The trip is free to all who wish to attend. Remember to bring an adequate lunch and drinks (no snack stands in the forest), wear comfortable, protective clothing and be at the Sanibel Community House at 9 a.m., January 22, 1974 to board the bus for an enjoyable day with mother nature.

For further information call the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation office, 472-2329 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

impressed on the viewer in a kaleidoscopic sequence of fanciful images, each symbolically related to the accompanying text. The result is most unusual and thought provoking.

Unusual in a very different way is another story to be shown for the first time. It is intriguingly called "Something to CROW About." As most islanders know, CROW stands for "Care and Rehabilitation of Wildlife," and is descriptive of the activities conducted here by two dedicated and hard-working girls who operate a bird infirmary which fills a crying need on this last frontier of unspoiled Florida. A surprising variety of transient or permanent winged patients is shown against the background of a mini-pool and other outdoor facilities where many are nursed back to health before being released, and others are lovingly cared for during the rest of their lives.

"Takes, Double-Takes and Mistakes," a third presentation recently completed, again belongs in a different category. It betrays Mario's irresistible penchant for a tongue-in-cheek approach to the humorous and the incongruous. Twenty-six unrelated episodes are presented in a series of brief hilarious take-offs, as unexpected as they are irreverent. In this day and age, all can very well use the laughter they compel.

Thanks to the generous cooperation of the management of the Island Beach Club, the two performances of "Serenading Sanibel" will be presented at 8 p.m. in the Lawdin Auditorium on Friday, February 15, and Saturday, February 16. Under the leadership of Mrs. Cynthia Herman, president of the local PTA, committees are being formed on Sanibel and Captiva to assist in the distribution of admissions, consisting of a minimum donation of $3.00 per person. Further details on the benefit which will include the raffling of valuable door prizes offered by island businesses, will be published in the near future.

THE ENVIRONMENT DICTATES THE ARCHITECTURE

Traditionally, island architecture has emphasized both open space and unrestricted aquatic views. Mariner Pointe portrays a renaissance of sub-tropic island architecture. Unique among its competition, Mariner Pointe links the past with the present. Wood, stucco and lush tropical foliage provide the warmth and solidarity of tradition. Floor plans which magnify usable space and site planning that provides each individual a panoramic view of aquatic activity and recreation.

The theme is all things — casual, elegant, and functional — much like Sanibel herself. Mariner Pointe is the water oriented sportsman, and its functional island living.

A PARTY IS A PARTY IS A...

Margaret is the girl Santa Claus forgot, but she is making up for that through the kindness of people at Castaways Resort on Sanibel. Though Margaret is over 20, (no one really knows her birth date) she has the mentality of a child and the same exuberant disposition. When new managers, June Henry and Betty Gardiner, at Castaways needed help, they found out about Margaret who has lived for some years at Sunland Training Center and knows no relatives. They made a place for Margaret at Castaways, with everyone on the staff helping in her training program to become a useful and self supporting citizen. Margaret is employed at the restaurant and June and Betty decided to have a birthday party for her, complete with cake and gifts to compensate somewhat for the Christmas celebration she never had.

Lia Woodring Morell, waitress, decorated the beautiful cake that Alene Rutledge, the cook, baked. Alene is Margaret's mother image, and she maintains a home for Margaret, a sort of half-way house for her.

This Week at the Sanibel Library

by Hal H. Harrison

Among the non-fiction best selling books at this time is still another of those "inside the White House" disclosure tomes, but this one has no political overtones. J. B. West, chief usher of the White House, 1941-1969, tells what it was like to spend his days with the First Ladies in a book appropriately titled "Upstairs at the White House." Profusely illustrated, this is the anecdotal and intimate memoirs of a man who was responsible for running the White House for six presidents and their wives.

A short swift novel by May Sarton, "Kinds of Love," deals with an old woman trying to keep alive in a nursing home in a remote rural community. The situation is tragic but the effects of Ms. Sarton's writing is to challenge compassion and imagination where the old are concerned. She deals with problems that most of us would rather close our eyes to.

Trevarian's sequel to "The Eiger Sanction" is enjoying a big circulation at the library. This one is "The Loo Sanction," and its protagonist is the same Jonathan Hemlock, the art collecting professor. This time Hemlock goes to England for a rest and runs right into British Intelligence which badly needs his skilled assistance. He must take the assignment or be "framed" for murder. His mission: to locate a set of secretly made films incriminating a number of high ranking officials.

If you liked "The Eiger Sanction," I'll bet you will also enjoy "The First Deadly Sin" by Lawrence Sanders. Here is another crime novel about mountain climbing that affords some chilling adventures. An evil alpinist finds fulfillment in splitting the skulls of strangers with an ice ax. The detective is Capt. Edward X. Delaney, whose work, along with the climbing scenes, is convincing. This is not a whodunit but rather "Why we do it." Sanders is also the author of "The Anderson Tapes."

A tale of high adventure in which the riddles of an ancient African culture conceal menacing dramas of love, hate, violence and death -- all of which lie in wait to ambush the minds and bodies of an unsuspecting team of archeologists -- that's "The Sunbird" by Wilbur Smith. The author, a Rhodesian educated at Rhodes, also wrote another book in the library, "When the Lion Feeds."

Ed McBain is my favorite detective story writer. In my library I have all 29 of his books about the famous 87 Precinct. In the years that it took McBain to publish that many cliff hangers, he never made the best seller list. Maybe he never will. But if he is ever going to make it, I think it will be thanks to his new one, "Hail to the Chief." In this one, McBain has served up an unusual surprise -- a clever, devastating surprise that has political overtones going far beyond the mystery of six bodies lying naked in an open ditch.

Col. Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin, Jr., gives us the first candid inside look at the human side of the space program in "Return to Earth." This is Aldrin's story of how he returned to earth from the historic first landing on the moon to begin a long and trouble odyssey -- an ordeal that involved a secret mental depression and the near dissolution of his marriage.

OF THINGS TO COME: An agreement to publish the dramatic story of former Vice President Spiro Agnew has been signed by Viking Press and the Washington Post. The book is scheduled for March release.

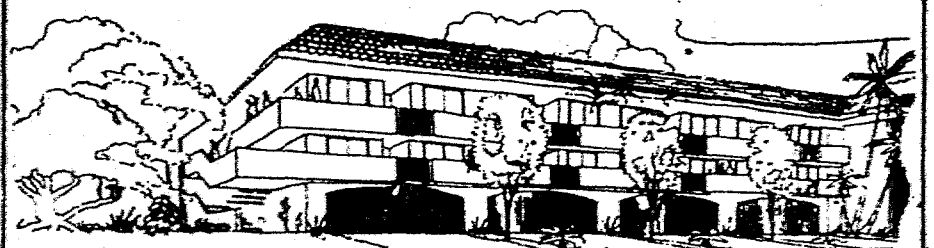

DEAR FRIEND:

WOULD YOU BELIEVE THAT OLIVER OTTER IS LEARNING TO SPELL SO WELL THAT HE ACTUALLY CALLED ME UP AND TOLD ME THAT SOMEONE (NATURALLY HE DIDN'T ACCUSE ME) HAD MISPELLED GRANDMOTHER BYRD'S NAME. I THOUGHT THAT WAS VERY SHARP OF HIM, BUT OF COURSE I DID EXPLAIN THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A MISSPELLING AND A TYPO! ANYWAY, I MUST TELL YOU ABOUT THE NEW DOLLS AT OUR STUDIO ON ESTERO BOULEVARD. NO, I'M NOT KIDDING. THE DOLLS ARE ANTIQUES (OR REPRODUCTIONS) WHICH MEANS THEY'RE OLD, BUT WE JUST GOT THEM SO THEY'RE NEW. AND THEY ARE THE CUTEST THINGS. YOU KNOW SOME PREJUDICED PELICANS SAY THAT THEY CAN'T TELL ONE HUMAN BEING FROM ANOTHER AND THAT GOES FOR THEIR DOLLS, BUT GRANDMOTHER (WHO WAS A WISE BYRD) ALWAYS SAID THAT THIS WAS NOT TRUE! IF YOU LOOK AT THEM CAREFULLY AND IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN THEM, YOU CAN SOON TELL THEM APART. AND THAT IS CERTAINLY TRUE OF THESE DOLLS. THERE'S A LITTLE BISQUE FELLOW, MOST CERTAINLY A BABY BOY IN SPITE OF HIS PEPPERMINT-STRIPPED NIGHTIE, THERE'S ALSO A YOUNG LADY CALLED A BONNET DOLL WHO LOOKS VERY FRENCH, (AND I DO KNOW WHAT FRENCH LOOKS LIKE BECAUSE GRANDFATHER PERRY ONCE TOOK ME TO NEW ORLEANS WHEN I WAS JUST OUT OF THE NEST.) BUT WE HAVE LOTS OF OTHER THINGS BESIDES DOLLS- PICTURES OF ALL KINDS, SHAPES, SIZES, COLORS AND I CAN ASSURE YOU, IT IS VERY EASY TO TELL THEM APART. WE'RE OPEN FROM 9 A.M. TO 4:30 P.M. EVERY DAY AND OFTEN YOU WILL EVEN FIND LARRY HUSTON THERE HIMSELF. (IT ALWAYS PAYS TO GO RIGHT TO THE TOP, GRANDFATHER USED TO SAY) JUST TELL HIM I SENT YOU:

PAINTINGS BY STOLZ WILL BENEFIT CAPTIVA LIBRARY

On Tuesday, Jan. 22 through Feb. 19, the Captiva Memorial Library will have an exhibition of paintings by Mary Margaret Stolz (Mrs. Frank Stolz). They may be seen during library hours on Tuesdays and Saturdays from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon and on Fridays from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The paintings will be for sale and a percentage of each sale will go to the library.

Mrs. Stolz was born in New York City, studied art at local schools, then attended New York School of Fine and Applied Arts (Parsons Institute) on an art scholarship. Later she studied at the Art Students League with Nan Greacen Faure, noted portrait painter, Cecile Johnson and Charles Kinghan, nationally famous watercolor artists.

An active member of the Scarsdale Art Association for 14 years, she has exhibited at various shows in the New York area. She has had experience in various fields such as sculpture, ceramics and cloisonne enameling on silver. Mrs. Stolz retired two years ago to Captiva Island with reawakened artistic talents and broadened interests. She is a member of the Sanibel-Captiva Art League and has exhibited at several island art centers. She is active in community affairs and currently serving as secretary of the Captiva Civic Association. Recently she was commissioned by Ruth Hunter of the Pirate Playhouse on Sanibel to paint a seascape for the current play "The Curious Savage" which received a standing ovation on opening night. The painting, a watercolor of sea and rocks, used as a prop for the plot of the play, will go on sale after the play's run.

PRIZE FOR FAIR

This is one of the four prizes to be drawn on the final afternoon of the Sanibel Arts & Crafts Fair, Feb. 9-10. Somebody who has purchased a 50 cent ticket (three for a dollar) will win this peace rose crafted from dyed tarpon scales by Janet Tenney. The other three prizes to be drawn are eggery, an ostrich egg faberge by Helen Denny; abstraction, copper and filament creation by John Sallemi; and a shell arrangement mounted on simulated driftwood and framed for hanging, done by Eugenia Wright. Tickets are being sold at the Library now, and later at the Fair itself for each prize.

FOR YOUNG ARTIST'S AWARD

Zelda Seigler, daughter of Mrs. Zelda Butler of Captain's Walk, was chosen from among many contestants at the Young Artists Contest sponsored on December 29 by the Fort Myers Symphony Orchestra, to perform with the orchestra in a special young artist's concert. This concert will be held Saturday, May 4, at Shell Point Village Auditorium.

Zelda, 19, is a sophomore majoring in piano and music at Columbia College, Columbia, Mo., where she studied under David O'Hagen. She won not only this opportunity to perform with the Symphony Orchestra, but a cash award of $50.00.

OLD CURIOSITY SHOP

Art in the Afternoon on Wednesdays during the season will open again this Wednesday Jan. 19, at Old Curiosity Shop adjacent to Pirate Alley at the Pirate Playhouse.

On permanent display in the tiny museum will be the original costumes of Ruth Hunter as Ellie May in Tobacco road on Broadway as well as a wedding dress of a Sanibel resident at the turn of the century.

The special exhibit this Wednesday, Jan. 16, will be photographs of some of the world's masterpieces at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City. These photographs were a gift from Hofstra College to Ruth Hunter as a memento of her lecture there on the theater.

Art in the Afternoon, Wednesday, Jan. 19, 3 to 4:30 p.m. The 50 cent donation goes to Right to Life and Meals for Millions to save the lives of precious babies the world over.

MANY DEMONSTRATIONS AT ARTS & CRAFTS FAIR

Visitors at the third annual Arts and Crafts Fair, Feb. 9 and 10, not only will see, and be able to buy, the work of Sanibel and Captiva craftsmen, in many cases they will also see how the craftsmen do it.

Of the 46 exhibitors who have already signed up for the exhibition and sale of the Sanibel Community House, 15 have said they would be glad to demonstrate their work. Those who have agreed to demonstrate their craft during the Fair include the following: Arly Buntrock, macrame and decoupage; Emmy Lu Lewis, ceramics; Bob and Cookie Dugger, ceramics and china; Amy Meyer, cone craft; Janet Tenney, shell flowers; Martha McCullough, bark collage; John Sallemi, ceramics; Toni Andrews, pottery; Eleanor C. Atwood, egg decoupage; Mada Harrison, macrame and shell art; M. Fleischl, lettering; Fae Muller, shell art; Wesley Heilman, design and hook rugs; Margaret Galloway, bamboo recorders and stone jewelry; Bettye Puff, drawing.

Other exhibitors, grouped according to their craft are, paintings: Elizabeth Zeiss, Mary Stolz, Leon Levy, Wilb Snyder, Winifred Iurka, Mary F. Layman, Kathryn Mamet, Jane Bancroft, Kathryn R. Cooper, Sylvia Olling, Alice Kullo.

Hand painted articles: Grace Shepherd.

Eggery and ornaments: Helen Denny.

Crewel and decoupage: Helen Winterrowd.

In some cases the exhibitors do more than the craft listed above.

George C. Tenney, chairman of the 1974 Fair, said both the number of exhibitors and those willing to demonstrate were the highest ever for the event operated for the benefit of the Sanibel Public Library.

The deadline for signing up for the 1974 Fair is January 18, and applications should be made to Mr. Tenney.

The public is invited and there is no admission charge.

WORLD FAMED PIANO DUO TO APPEAR IN BEACH CONCERT

An outstanding cultural event is being brought to Fort Myers Beach under the sponsorship of the local Rotary Club. World famous piano-duo "The Haddens" will appear in concert on January 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the American Legion Hall.

Earlier this year "The Haddens" were the featured performers at a state dinner given in the White House for President Bhutto of Pakistan: A year earlier they were the first American pianists to visit and tour China since before 1949.

Tickets will go on sale soon and will be announced

SCHOOLHOUSE GALLERY
ARTISTS WIN 4 AWARDS
IN CAPE CORAL SHOW

The 8th annual Cape Coral Art League National show, now at Edison Jr. College through Jan. 31 is showing 48 paintings, drawings and prints. Over 270 works of art were submitted by artists from all over the U.S.A. Ten of the beautiful pictures selected are by artists represented by the Schoolhouse Gallery.

The Mayor of Cape Coral, Mr. Chandler Burton, awarded the prizes and the judge for the entries and awards was Mr. Syd Solomon, internationally known artist. Jean Dean, local Cape Coral artist, won two awards. A blue ribbon for her watercolor collage "The Reaper" and an honorable mention for her acrylic painting "Mother Earth." Ms. Dean has won 35 awards in the last 8 years and recently had a one-man show at Edison College.

Norio Azuma of New York, won a red ribbon for his Serigraph "Image G." Mr. Azuma is represented in the White House collection, the Library of Congress and in many of the leading museums in the U.S.A. Judith Shahn of Mass., won a red ribbon for her acrylic painting "Red Sunset." Ms. Shahn's charming little drawings appear every week in the New Yorker Magazine. They bought 400 of them! Among the other artists accepted by the Cape Coral Show and represented by the Schoolhouse Gallery were Cecily Gill of Cambridge, Mass. Her acrylic collage "Legend" seemed to fascinate many at the opening of the show.

Calvin Libby of N.H., who is president of the New Hampshire Art Association, has a striking collage "Green Field" in the show. Margaret Philbrick of Mass., has a print that combines intaglio, collograph and a little etching. Ms. Philbrick has recently been chosen as one of America's artists to be in a show that will travel around the world. Mac Squires of Conn., has one of her lovely, serene acrylic paintings "Island Barn" in the show. Wait 'til you see her "Sand Bars" at the Gallery! Ms. Squires will be visiting the Foxes on Feb. 27 and seeing Sanibel for the first time.

A large oil painting by John Lorence of Maine, "Vine Reflections," received many favorable comments by the other artists there. And because his work in bronze, iron, oil, acrylic, collage, watercolor and prints is so greatly admired by most artists who visit the Gallery, the Foxes have invited him to Sanibel as the first of many guest artist-lecturers to give a talk in the Gallery on Sunday, Feb. 17. The public is invited. He will also be giving a two-day mini-seminar for artists on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 15 and 16. In addition, Lorence will give a slide lecture at one of the schools in Fort Myers while here. His visit to Sanibel should prove one of the highlights of the 1974 season for artists and knowledgeable patrons of the arts. The Portland, Maine, Museum School has granted Mr. Lorence a leave of absence for this important visit.

Everything entered in the Cape Coral Show had to be no older than two years and also not a previous award winner. This automatically eliminated several of the fine artists shown in the Schoolhouse Gallery.

USE LOCAL NUMBERS FOR TAX FORMS, NOT TOLL-FREE NOS.

A. J. O'Donnell, Jr., Internal Revenue Service district director for Florida, today encouraged many Florida taxpayers to use special local telephone numbers for ordering their tax forms.

Mr. O'Donnell urged taxpayers in Fort Myers to call 332-3289 for ordering all tax forms. Citizens living outside these areas may use the following toll-free numbers for obtaining tax information: Area Code 305, 1-800-432-7575; area codes 813 and 904, 1-800-342-8300.

Many Florida citizens who do not have enough taxes withheld are required to pay their final installment of 1973 estimated Federal Income Tax no later than last Tuesday, January 15. Also due at that time were amended estimates from citizens whose 1973 income changed substantially during the last quarter.

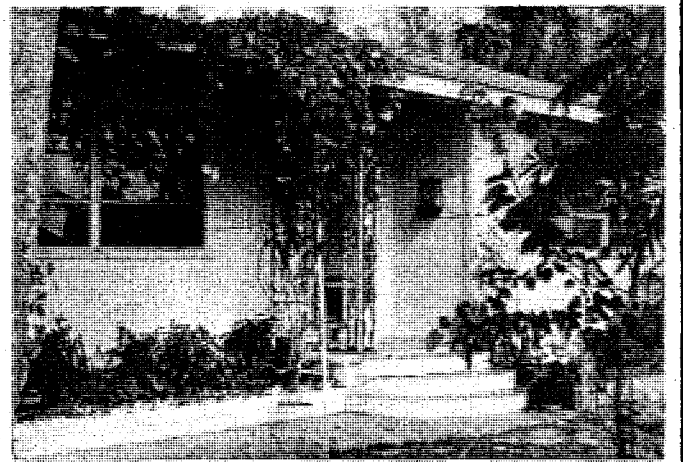

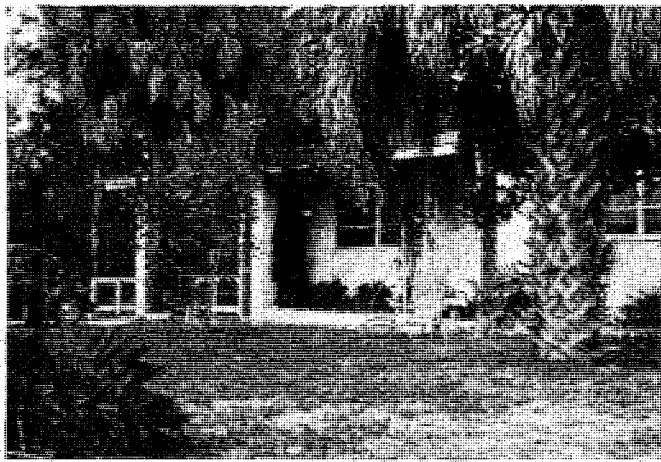

"Many taxpayers first met the requirements for filing a tax declaration during the last three months of 1973," said Mr. O'Donnell. "Taxpayers are generally required to file an estimate if they owe the IRS more than $100 not covered by withholding. The estimates in this case are due January 15.

"There is one exception to this rule," he said, "and that's when the taxpayer files his return and pays all tax due by January 31. In that case the final 1973 installment is not required, the amended declaration is not required nor is an original January 15 declaration required."

Farmers and fishermen who have not filed their 1973 declaration of estimated Federal Income tax must have filed and paid that tax by last Tuesday, January 15. The sole exception to this rule is if they file their income tax return and pay the total tax due by March 1.

Farmers and fishermen are defined as those persons who earned at least two-thirds of their 1973 gross income from farming and fishing.

SANIBEL ISLAND, FLORIDA WE MAIL ANYWHERE 472-1447

LIKE A STATUE -- The Lipizzan stallion, Favori Siglavý, does the levade with Otto Herrmann, Jr., riding. The levade is the classical pose seen in so many equestrian statues. The Royal Lipizzan Stallions of Austria will be at the Edison Stadium at Fort Myers High School for one performance on Sunday, Jan. 20., at 2:30 p.m. Tickets are on sale at Bailey's General Store on Sanibel and Garl's Drug Store at Fort Myers Beach.

One of the great adventure stories of all time, the rescue of the rare Lipizzan horses from the Russian army during the last of World War II, will be called to mind when the Royal Lipizzan Stallions of Austria perform in the Edison Stadium at the Fort Myers High School on Sunday, January 20, at 2:30 p.m.

A living legend, and the star of the show, is Colonel Ottomar Herrmann, who smuggled out a group of Lipizzans from under the very noses of the Russians in those perilous times, riding at night and hiding by day. During the show he gives a short speech, with a heavy Austrian accent, telling his experiences.

"We move out in the night with nothing," he remembers, "only a handful of horses." But the horses he saved, he declares, were more precious than jewels.

At about the same time Colonel Alois Podhajsky took out the Spanish Riding School horses. Both sought the protection of General George Patton. Colonel Herrmann gives a stirring tribute to Patton and Podhajsky during the show.

The way the rare breed was saved was told in the Walt Disney movie, "Miracle Of The White Stallions." One of the stars of the show is Wolfgang Dellefont, formerly as instructor at the Spanish Riding School, and the first rider behind Robert Taylor in the making of the Disney movie.

The Lipizzans that Colonel Herrmann saved represented blood lines that had been in his family for generations. The Hapsburg Austrian emperor, Ferdinand II, gave Lipizzans to one of Colonel Herrmann's ancestors, the Knight Ritter von Schoebel. Hapsburgs gave Lipizzans to the nobles leading their armies as a mark of special favors.

Von Schoebel fought in the bitter Thirty Years War, which devastated central Europe between 1618 and 1648. His magnificent Lipizzan stallions fought the enemy with their hooves and teeth, while he fought with a sword. Using the "airs above the ground" which were originally battle maneuvers, the stallions did caprioles, courbettes and langades, devastating the enemy.

The art of training the "airs above the ground" was passed on from generation to generation. When gun powder made the "airs" just one more obsolete weapon, they were refined and performed for just their aesthetic beauty.

Other of his Lipizzans do the famous triple capriole, the spectacular high capriole, the courbette, langade, levade, and the whole repertoire of the almost lost art, the "airs above the ground" of the middle ages.

Tickets are on sale at Garl's Drug Store in Fort Myers Beach and Bailey's General Store on Sanibel.

LEAPING LIPIZZAN -- The Lipizzan stallion, Flying Falcon, does a jet propelled langade. Rider is Harry Herrmann. The langade is one of the famous "airs above the ground" for which the Lipizzans are world renowned. The Royal Lipizzan Stallions of Austria will be at Edison Stadium at Fort Myers High School for one performance on Sunday, January 20, at 2:30 p.m. Tickets are on sale at Bailey's General Store on Sanibel, and Garl's Drug Store in Fort Myers Beach.
