SANIBEL — CAPTIVA

ISLANDER

Serving the Islands since 1961

Vol. 16, No. 27

Tuesday, July 13, 1976

1 section — 10 cents

Plan to pass tonight?

Tonight MAY be the night -- the night Sanibel's City Council may pass the Comprehensive Land Use Plan (CLUP) into law. A public hearing will start at 5:01 at City Hall, and according to what Mayor Porter Goss told the ISLANDER Friday morning, passage of the CLUP will depend mainly on what public input is offered this evening. Be sure to attend!

Park plans

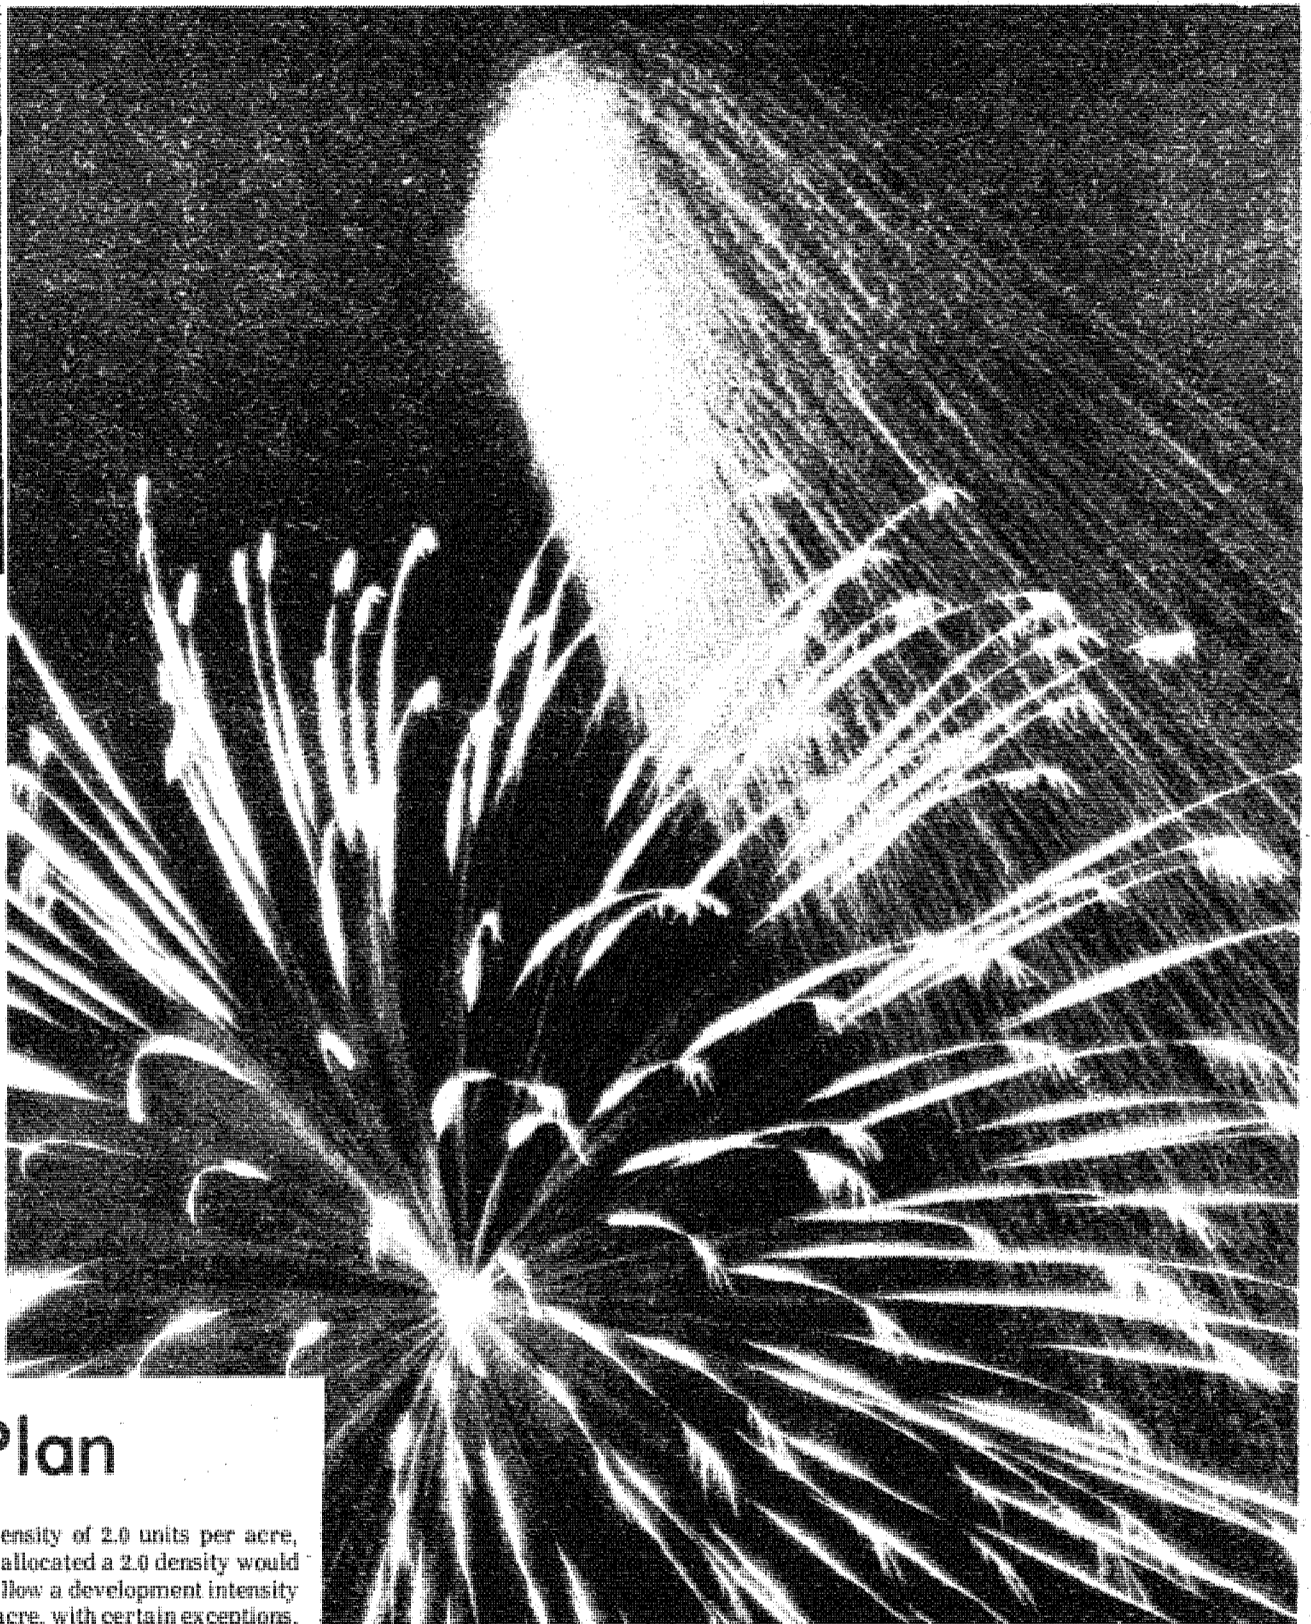

The Sanibel City Council last week gave tentative approval to Lee County Director of Community Services and Parks, Larry Gnagey, to proceed with plans for the installation of the long overdue Sanibel-Captiva Community Park on ground owned by the Lee County School Board behind the Sanibel Elementary School.

The proposed recreational facilities planned for the site include an Olympic-size swimming pool, softball fields, and a regulation Little League baseball field among others, while four lighted tennis courts are slated for installation within the year, along with the $15,000 earmarked for the Islands in the Lee County Parks Department budget and an equal amount of matching funds from the City of Sanibel, to come from the proceeds from the J.N. (Ding) Darling National Wildlife Refuge. The parks department will have $30,000 set aside for the Islands in next year's budget, Gnagey claimed. The entire project is expected to cost in the vicinity of $300,000 and take five lighting and resurfacing of the existing basketball courts at the school.

The immediate plans are to be accomplished with the Council reviews Plan

Last week was a relatively quiet week for both the Sanibel City Council and City Planning Commission, in terms of their final review of the city's proposed comprehensive land use plan (CLUP). Both councilmen and planners spent much of the week reading the numerous files of correspondence that have accumulated from interested citizens commenting on the plan. With the originally scheduled adoption of the CLUP slated for tonight at a public hearing to be held at the Sanibel City Hall, one wonders if last week's relative lull in the planning controversy might not have been the proverbial calm before the storm.

Both the council and the planning commission met late last week for a final bout of workshop sessions on the CLUP, the planning commission Friday morning, and the council later that afternoon. Primarily, those sessions were intended for final editing and revision of the plan, as well as for the consideration of a few dangling policy matters.

The major change in the proposed CLUP which evolved last week was that the development intensity for all areas allocated a 4.4 or a 2.9 density in the plan would be changed to a density of 2.0 units per acre, while all areas allocated a 2.0 density would be changed to allow a development intensity of 2.2 units per acre, with certain exceptions. The changes were made to provide equity throughout the plan to modern platted subdivisions.

The long, long awaited final adoption of the plan could come tonight at the public hearing at City Hall, although a number of councilmen have stated publicly that they would delay the final adoption another week or so if the public expresses a desire for more time to digest the recent revisions at tonight's hearing.

"We're going to do our best to sort out all genuine concerns that the public might have with regard to the plan in whatever length of time it takes us to do so," Mayor Porter Goss told The ISLANDER last week, "but of course, no amount of further consideration will suit those who are just plainly opposed to planning on principle. We're at the point now where most of the policy questions are pretty well decided anyway."

"I think this is a good plan for the first year," Goss continued, "although granted, we'll have to make some adjustments as

vote

Don't forget -- today, July 13, is the date representatives from the Office of the Supervisor of Elections will be at the Sanibel Community House from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. While this will not be your only chance to register before the books close for the September primary (you will be able to register in town until July 24) it will certainly be your most convenient.

To register, you go in and sign an affidavit that 1) you are a U.S. citizen by birth or naturalization, 2) you are 18 years of age or over and 3) you are a permanent resident of Sanibel and will not be voting anywhere else.

In your opinion . . .

Have you ever experienced a hurricane and what was it like?

Lisa Tuttle, Captiva: "Well, we were vacationing in Blind Pass Cottages when the hurricane hit Mobile, Alabama some years ago, and it washed out the whole Blind Pass area. That strip of land down there moved from the Bay side to the beach side."

Warner Heinstein, Sanibel: "I've been in several tornadoes, but not in a hurricane. Tornadoes are small compared to a hurricane—they go quick! It's the water that would bother me, not the wind. I think the program at the Community Association last Tuesday was very helpful."

Victor Mayeron, Captiva: "Yes. I lived through hurricane Dora back in 1964. I was in fourth grade and I remember them coming in and telling us they had to close the school. (Maybe that's why I had to do the fourth grade over?) It sounded like children crying outside when the wind came up. We were living in Jacksonville at the time and the neighbors came over very worried and stayed with us—it was pretty heavy. There was a lot of cleaning up to do afterwards."

David Dossi, Fort Myers: "Never have, and I don't want to either. Period."

Scott Howerin, Captiva: "It was like windy and stormy and raining hard! And mucky out."

Donald (Duck) Mayeron, Captiva: "Yes. I was in Jacksonville when Dora hit. It was the most weird, scary, helpless feeling anyone can experience. You just sit and pray that everything goes past you."

Free tickets for kids!!!

Parcells and Gentrey Real Estate, Inc., Realtor, happens to have 55 FREE tickets for "All Kids Day" at Terry Park, which starts at 2 p.m. Sunday, July 18. The tickets are available for young people from 7 to 15 years old just for the asking at the firm's office at 1628 Periwinkle, in the Heart of the Islands Shopping Center. First come, first served—no catches, nothing to sign—just a day to enjoy. Call 472-4100 to make sure they have some tickets left before you stop by. Oh, there will be door prizes at the Park and a game between the Saint Pete Cardinals and the West Palm Expos. Sounds like fun—don't miss out on it.

Shots for school

The State of Florida, in its infinite wisdom, requires all kindergarten and first grade students (or students new to the Lee County School System) to be immunized against Polio, Diphtheria, Whooping Cough, Tetanus, Measles (regular) and Rubella (German Measles). The state also strongly recommends that the children be given a vaccine for Mumps (evidently they expect a bumper crop this year) but the latter is not an ABSOLUTE requirement.

Anyhow, the state has found out that two-thirds of all pre-school children have not had complete (and in many cases, any) of the required shots. And to get your child into school, public or private, you must present a certificate of immunization to the school before your child can be accepted. To get a certificate, (and, of course, the shots) see or call your family doctor or the County Health Department.

Actors on parade

The Islands' Bicentennial Parade had many interesting sidelights—one of which being the fact that Ruth and Philip Hunter decided not to be Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln, but to instead play the role of watchers (which every parade certainly needs) and ring the bell at Pirate Playhouse as each float or entry went by.

They also (need we mention!) kept count of how many marchers had appeared in Playhouse productions over the years, and came up with a minimum of 12... Mary Ann Aleck (Happy Journey), Raymond Rhodes (January Thaw), Barbara Nave (Aaron Slick from Punkin' Crick), Brian Keith (Girls in 509), Robert Krepin (You Can't Take It With You), Porter Goss (Isle of Umbrellas), Keith Trowbridge (Curious Savage), George Tenney (Apple of His Eye), Don Whitehead (Bishop Misbehaves), Grace Whitehead (Busybodies), Helene Sparks (Make Mine Mink) and Jean Culpepper (The Great Sebastions) plus Pam Toomer on the fire truck, and Kathie Strickland in the ISLANDER's car, who are scheduled to make their debuts at the Playhouse's 1977 season.

Derring do an' all o' that Normally, we don't concern ourselves with national and international news unless the first wave of World War III decides to land at Bowman's Beach but we were completely bouyed up by Israel's daring and successful raid to free the 100 captives held in hostage by hijackers who took over an Air France plane last week. What with last week and last weekend being what they were (very, very busy and hectic) we didn't get a chance to even look at a "Big City" paper till the day after the deed was done.

We had had a real down feeling that after the Israel government agreed to "negotiate" so the non-Israelies could let 90 free, that they'd turn around and say, "Okay, fellas, that's it" and refuse to dicker anymore. It's nice to know that a real life country can dream up and carry out an even more complicated and cliff hanging rescue than Alister McLean, particularly in these days of gloomy world and local news reports.

What makes it worth while!

Every once in a while in this business (the newspaper game, dear friends) one sort of wonders, "Hey, what am I doing here?"... and then you see someone reading the paper over lunch, or a store calls up two days after publication and says "Hey, we're all out of ISLANDERS: please bring some over right away," or some such.

This week started off well in that our bank statement arrived with a balance way over ours, and then the second envelope we opened up had a subscription form (to be found, folks, on the inside lower right of the back of the paper as you open it up) which carries our slogan—"The original little paper which really gets around"—and hand written after it, was "all the way to California" with a check enclosed for a new subscription. Thank you, Mrs. Wood of San Diego—you made our day this week!

time goes on. Still, I think this plan is a good place to start."

So, by all means, any interested Islanders should attend tonight's hearing to voice their opinions on the new revised version of the CLUP, which has been available in City Hall since early last week. The plan is supposed to reflect the needs and concerns of Sanibel residents. It cannot do so without your support and participations.

The meeting will begin at 5:01 p.m. in compliance with the recent state law governing zoning changes, and will continue until all reasonable comment has been heard. Mayor Goss tells us that the council will sit in session until at least 9:00 p.m. to accommodate those who must work late or who have other scheduling difficulties.

Police report

'Twas quite a week in more ways than one—first off, "that" alarm went off 29 times, triggered by such various sounds as "a loud crash!" people nearby decorating a parade float, ringing telephones and one real B&E which was taking place down the block a way. Seven other alarms decided to join the fun and went off for unknown reasons at one time or another.

Two tickets were issued for speeding, two moving violation tickets or warnings were issued, four cars were parked where they oughten of been (two on sea oats, yet) six calls for assistance were made and answered, the ambulance was called for once, seven cars were broken into with total losses reaching over $2,000, one wallet and two dogs were lost, while three wallets and "medic alert" bracelet were found, two "open door" checks proved fruitless (doors left open by mistake, but no damage done and/or intended) and there were a few B&E's which we shall go into later.

We've said it before, and we'll say it again—PLEASE do NOT leave things of value in your parked car, especially if it is parked at a beach access or in a large public parking lot—this past week, people lost anywhere from $25 to well over $800 in auto B&E's. Unfortunately, Sanibel and Captiva are not the secure islands they once were—it seems the world has caught up with us, and we'd better start locking our doors, and cleaning out our cars and so forth.

A late afternoon call came in that a young person was firing what appeared to be an air rifle "around the property all day and, in fact, was now by the garage." Unfortunately, the officer on duty was at the end of Bowman's Beach trying to extract a Lee County Sheriff's Office vehicle from the sands. By the time the car was unstuck, the kid was gone.

Break-in was reported—said break-in being accomplished by removing glass sections from a door. Nothing was apparently stolen with the exception of space and time, since building seemed to be used as a "love nest."

Call came in that a front wheel had been stolen from a bike; when officer responded to call immediately, there was nothing to investigate, since everyone had gone home with or without wheels.

Officer on routine patrol noticed three people standing by a canal looking at alligators. Since one of the three persons had a white bucket, the officer said he put two and two together and asked the bucket holder if he were feeding the alligators. Bucket holder readily admitted doing so, saying he had been feeding 'em for 47 years. When the officer pointed out the sign which clearly read "Do Not Feed The Alligators" bucket holder responded that he was of the opinion that the sign was there for tourists, not him. Officer informed feeder that if he were caught again, he would be arrested. Officer didn't think man believed him.

Man came in to SPD to report a horse was running loose up Periwinkle. Four other citizens shortly called in same complaint. Officer on patrol saw horse on Periwinkle, at which point, horse evidently wanted to window shop, as it entered shopping center parking lot and cantered down the row of shops, then disappeared behind the buildings. Next report of horse was that he was at the end of a road. Officer arrived to find that a resident had horse under control. Since no one could identify owner of horse, and since horse wasn't talking, horse was left at resident's house off the night. Owner of the horse showed up the next day and took it home.

The power failed at 10:45 Saturday. SPD called Lee County Co-op to report it and started SPD generator. (Power outage was reported to SPD by a number of people who couldn't get through to the electric company. Power was restored at 4 p.m. that afternoon.)

Manager of sleeping place called in to report vandalism—a fire extinguisher emptied in office the previous night, eight brass washers in the Coke machine, and two fire extinguishers emptied on beach earlier, PLUS somebody liberated a large conch shell from the office.

Call came in that "Dune Buggies were racing on the beach." Turned out Fish & Wildlife official had been driving a six-wheeled vehicle in the Sanctuary.

A small grey Honda was reported stolen.

Complaint came in that complainant was trying to work using a front end loader, and someone in a nearby boat was shining a light in his face, since the light owner wanted to sleep. Time was 9:30 p.m. Officer arrived at 9:39 and worked out a compromise—30 minutes more work and then sleep for all.

Fire alarm went off; one police vehicle and one fire vehicle responded. False Alarm!

People who were asked to move out of quarters apparently vandalized the apartment when they were asked to pay rent. Garbage and other stuff strewn around; two inch chip knocked out of sink. Took pictures.

SPD loaned $3 for gas to stranded couple who had no money, since purse had been stolen.

Palm tree reported on fire on causeway; officer interviewed a citizen who said that a "substance was thrown out of a motor vehicle (and) caused the tree to be set on fire." (No, it WAS NOT the city's fireworks!)

Officer on patrol reported a five-foot alligator had been hit on the San-Cap Road and was severely wounded, its side being split open, although the gator was still alive. SPD couldn't find alligator expert for advice so called conservation foundation. It was decided that the gator should be put out of its misery, which officer did with one shot. Gator disposed of.

A commercial B&E resulted in the theft of almost $1,500 of merchandise. The figure is a wholesale one; retail value would double it. B&E accomplished by prying a window open and then ripping through some screening and shelves. Fingerprints and photographs were taken. Investigation continues.

Off islander came in to SPD to see if she could get any gas since the attendant at an apparently open station told complainant to get a policeman to help her, as attendant was "busy closing up." Officer responded and ended up pumping gas not only for original visitor, but for five other cars as well. Report ends with a notation that it is a pity, since there are four stations on the Island that they don't rotate staying open late once a month so tourists could get gas.

Call came in that noisy motorcycles were making circles on the street. Officer arrived and heard them, but couldn't find 'em since they left the road and rode off into the brush and boon-docks.

Complainant called in to report that "the same sorry bunch" who lived on a shop's steps all winter were back, this time in back of the shop, and were free-loading.

One of those alarms did some good, as it was triggered by an attempted B&E a few doors down from the place of alarm. Evidently scared of attempted thieves, as the door was insecure, but no one got to the goodies.

Call came in that an attempted B&E was in progress; young person tried to get into business three different ways, then jumped on bike and fled. Owner called; checked premises, money still there.

A horse was reported running loose again. Two firemen proceeded to scene with a long rope, intending to capture horse and return it to presumed owner (the same owner who claimed the other horse.) Well, it was the same horse, but had already been corralled by a citizen, who returned him, her or it to owner.

Call came in from a man who said he wasn't complaining, but just wanted to report the sighting of an UFO—a low, fairly well lighted object over Gulf. Officer on duty saw lots of lightning, but no identifiable UFO.

weekdays thru 6:00 p.m.

SPECIAL NOTE: This is the week of the Democratic Convention in New York, which wreaks havoc with all scheduled programming. (As NBC rather plaintively ended one of its press releases, "Convention times will be constantly changing as dictated by events occurring at the convention.")

Therefore, if you tune in expecting to see "The Doctors," and see instead the vice president being nominated, please don't blame either your local TV station or The ISLANDER. Neither of us have any control over when the networks will decide to visit the convention.

SCHEDULED daytime substitutions are:

On Ch. 11 (WINK) Today, Tuesday, 1 p.m. till midnight, and Thursday, 4 p.m. till 11:30 p.m.

On Ch. 20 (WBBH) Today, Tuesday, 3 p.m. till 6 p.m. with a notation that whenever the convention begins early, don't expect to see "Somerset" at 1 p.m.

Ch. 26 (WEVU) has not mentioned any daytime changes, and only a few hours are scheduled for nighttime. Then again, ABC is always hard to figure out anyway, so perhaps the local station is just crossing its collective figures and hoping.

Now, if you're not looking at a convention, this is what you might see this coming week:

with a pinch of salt. . . by ginni brown

It's really too hot to eat, let alone cook, so we tried to think up some cook-less nibbles that are cool to fix as well as eat. They are all very simple and don't require heating.

Tomatoes are plentiful right now, and taste simply delicious when sliced very thin (with a VERY sharp knife) and placed on a platter in layers, with a pinch of oregano, garlic salt, olive oil and wine vinegar sprinkled on each layer. (You need at least three layers for the full effect, so if you're only using two tomatoes, say, use a small bowl.) Cover and refrigerate for at least an hour so the flavor soaks through.

Speaking of layers, here's a way to make cucumbers "burpless"—we know some people are trying to (or already have) grown some which aren't supposed to make you burp, but this you can do with regular cukes in your own kitchen. And please don't ask why it works—we don't know... it just does.

Anyhow, peel and slice the cucumbers into very thin slices, salt heavily and layer in a bowl (covered) for about a half hour. Then, sort of rinse them off, slice some yellow onions (also very thinly) and layer cucumber slices (which should still have some salt, but not a thick layer) and onions in a small, deep bowl. Mix two thirds of a cup of cider vinegar with one third of water (you want enough liquid to cover the layers) add a pinch of alum to the liquid and stir well before pouring over the cukes and onions. Cover and refrigerate for at least one hour or longer. (The alum will keep them crisp for two to four days if you really want to.)

Another nibble which is both cool and filling is chick pea (or garbanzo) salad. Chill a can of chick peas. Chop up two to four scallions (depending on size) and mix in with a sauce made from a half cup of mayonnaise, a quarter cup of wine vinegar, salt, pepper and garlic to taste. Stir in chilled, drained chick peas, and rechill for about an hour or so.

The last idea is for instant vichyoisse, for which you just dump a can of Campbell's cream of potato soup into a blender with a can of half and half (or light cream if you don't care about calories, but do care about carbohydrates) and blend. Taste—you MAY want to add a little salt, and probably some white pepper and a pinch of garlic powder. (We normally make it up in two can batches, since it almost always tastes a lot better than you remember it being.)

Chill in a covered glass container, pop a couple of thick mugs into your freezer, and serve about an hour after making in the chilled mugs. It's even better with chopped chives sprinkled on top, which you can get by growing them, or buying them dried or frozen.

Or else get someone to take you out to dinner!

Captiva building

The zoning hassle resolved to everyone's satisfaction apparently, work has commenced once again on the new building at the corner of Coconut Street and Captiva Road that started such a outcry on Captiva when construction first began some months ago.

At the insistence of Captiva Civic Association attorneys, the plans for the structure were revised from five units in three stories to three units in two stories to comply with the Lee County zoning standards for the property.

Other concessions made by the developer were moving the pilings for the building back two feet further from the roadway and situating the septic tank for the units on the east side of the property, rather than on the beach side as had been planned originally. The latter concession was made on the advice of the Lee County Health Department officials.

Captiva Civic Association Vice-President Don Seymour called the agreement an "amicable settlement," and said that the revised plans for the building should make it more "aesthetically acceptable" to Captiva residents, whose assistance was invaluable in halting work on the site originally, opined Seymour in appreciation.

The dispute over the construction did serve to incite Lee County Commission Chairman L.H. "Bob" Whan and Director of County Development Don Malloy to undertake a review of the county zoning for the island, with an eagle-eye to avoiding over-development of Captiva in the future.

Completion of the new triplex is expected within approximately three months.

It was a Bicentennial the Islands will never forget — the parade, teen dance, fish fry, fireworks, box lunch, Casa Ybel dance . . . all just wonderful!

Twin Palms expanding

For the last approximately two months now, Twin Palms Marina on Captiva Island has offered marina services, including marine gas, live bait, ice, boat rentals and expanded docking facilities. And the future holds even brighter things in store for Twin Palms, with owner Arrel Doane planning to extend the dock another fifty feet out into the channel, ending in a one-hundred foot "T" to enable Twin Palms to provide complete hookup service to Captiva fishermen.

Coincidental to the expansion of the marina facilities, Twin Palms is currently in the process of acquiring an off-premises consumption liquor license in order to sell beer and wine to island boaters.

Nestled amidst the palms on the bay side of Captiva, Twin Palms also offers twelve rental cottages with complete housekeeping facilities, a laundromat, a tackle shop, and a variety of boat rentals, including Sunfish sailboats with 9.9 horsepower outboards, making it an ideal vacation spot for anglers and other water sportsmen. Eventually, the new managers of Twin Palms hope to expand the tackle shop into a gift shop for all tastes.

The new managers, Jacque and Rick Glowniak, are even newer than the recent dock expansion, having assumed the position less than two months ago. The couple moved to Captiva just about a year ago from the Florida Keys, where they had both lived off an on for the previous twenty years.

Rick is no newcomer to the marina business, however. In the 50's Rick's father built Bud and Mary's Marina on Islamorada in the Keys and has operated a charter boat out of it almost from that day to this. The boat, the "Rick-O-Shay," was named for his son, Rick. Although born in Homestead, Florida, back when the hospital there was still but a clinic, Jacque went to school and grew up in Rutherford, New Jersey, her parents visiting the Keys almost every summer. Jacque moved back to Florida permanently in 1971.

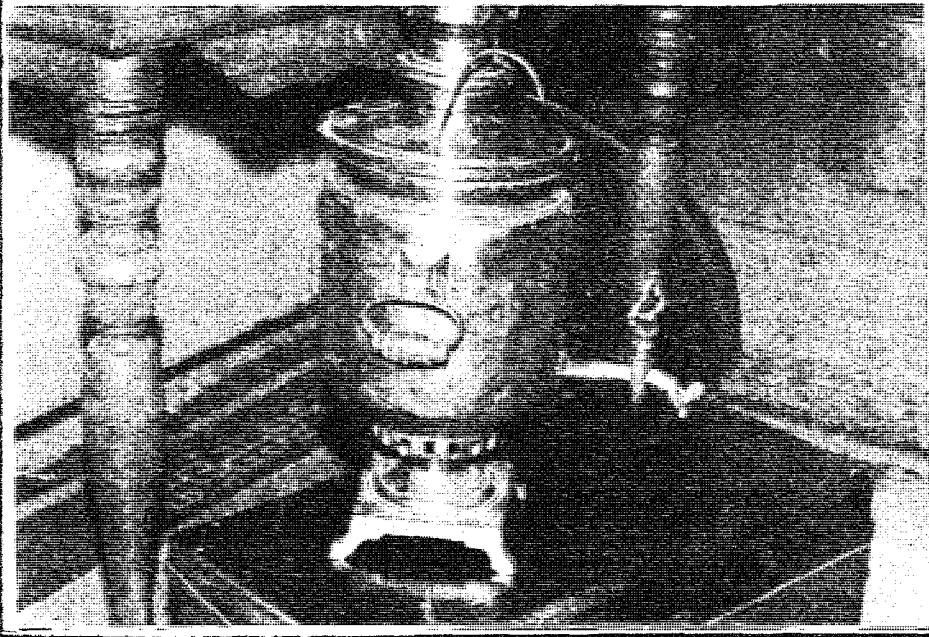

The couple were married on Upper Captiva Island this past March by Reverend John Wilcox of Sanibel, after having dated one another for the past five years. Prior to taking over the management duties at Twin Palms, Rich had worked as full-time cook at Timmy's Nook on Captiva. Even now, he still cooks at "The Nook" on Sunday and Monday nights.

The Glowniaks live on a Morgan out-island 28-footer docked at the marina, and are looking forward to taking a vacation cruise to the Keys and Bahamas during the slow tourist months ahead.

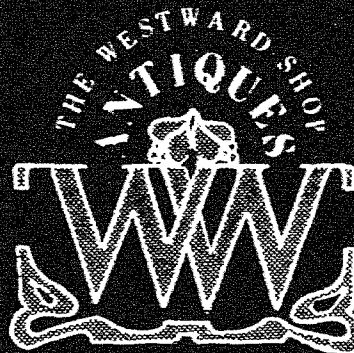

"We're really looking forward to the completion of our full marina facilities so that we can offer the boating public the type of service that makes for good fishing," Rick told The ISLANDER, so first chance you get, drop by Twin Palms Cottages and Marina and scope out the new facilities, as well as the new managers. Tell 'em you-know-who sent ya!

10 ways to save on your phone bill

1. Dial direct. You save money by dialing long distance calls without operator assistance.

2. Call during evening, night and weekend bargain time periods. See the rate chart on pages six and seven of your phone book.

3. Avoid costly calls such as person-to-person, collect, credit card or charge-to-third number calls.

4. Make a list before calling long distance. You'll remember the things you want to discuss, questions to ask.

5. Charged for a long distance call you or your family didn't make? Deduct it from your bill and enclose a brief note of explanation. Or, call the United business office and we'll remove the charge.

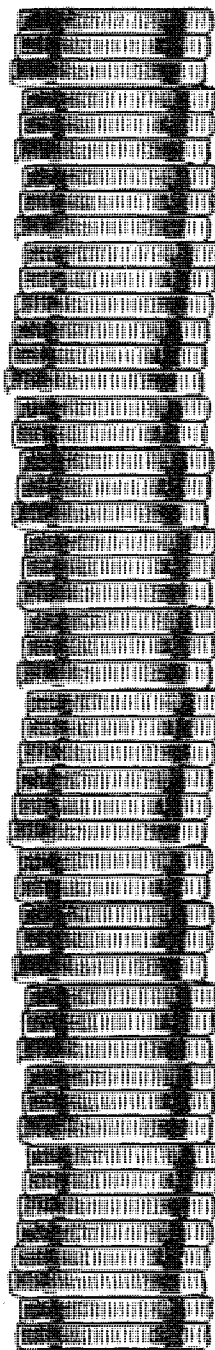

6. Time your calls. Keep a watch, clock or time-piece handy to avoid over-time charges.

7. Reach a wrong number when dialing long distance? Tell the operator immediately so we won't charge you.

8. Cut off on a long distance call, or get a poor connection? Call the operator for help.

9. If a coin phone takes your money without completing your call, dial "Operator" from a phone that works. We'll mail you a refund.

10. Going to be away from two to eight months? Call our business office to apply for vacation rate service for residential customers.

Soft ball notes

The Sanibel Fire Department team won their eleventh straight game last Tuesday night, beating the American Legion team by a score of 13 to 8 to remain the only undefeated team in the Sanibel summer softball league.

The high-scoring game found firemen Oscar Gavin, Charlie Frederick, and Allen Nave all hitting home runs, with the latter two being inside-the-park home runs as opposed to Oscar's over-the-fence boomer. Tom Schultz of the Legion team also hit one out of the park, to become the first player not on the Fire Department team to do so. Legion outfielder Karl Whiteman made an outstanding grandstand play in the game to rob fireman Curtis Nave of yet another home run.

Curtis did get his home run last Monday afternoon, however, as the Fire Department beat the Legion's Club team 10 to 2 in what was their tenth straight victory of the season. Oscar Gavin's 11 of three balls out of the ball park in that game.

One possible nemesis for the undefeated Fire Department team could be the Kiwanis Club squad, according to fireman Phil Verdung, who thinks that the defeat of his team is inevitable.

Groin hearing

Word has it that the final public hearing on the two rock groins proposed by South Seas Plantation on the northern tip of Captiva Island has been moved up from July 29 to Tuesday, July 20.

The permit application awaits the decision of the Governor and his Cabinet before going to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for final approval. It is rumored that the State Department of Natural Resources has already submitted a favorable recommendation on the proposal.

The hearing will be held in the Governor's meeting room in Tallahassee.

Tides courtesy of Priscilla Murphy, Realtor, Inc.

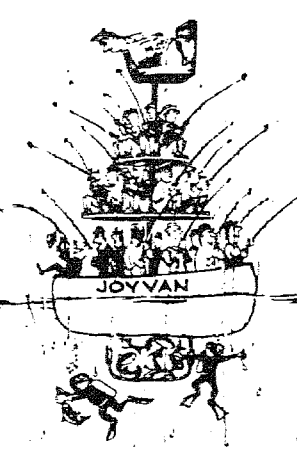

Conversion table: The above tides are for the lighthouse point of Sanibel only. To convert for Redfish Pass (north tip of Captiva), add 55 minutes to the time shown for every hi tide, and subtract two (2) minutes for every low tide. (NO, we don't know why, but it works. Instructions following are even less sense-sical but, as we stated, they do work.)

For Captiva Island, Gulf side, subtract 30 minutes from each high tide, and subtract 1 hour and 16 minutes for each low tide.

For Captiva Island, Pine Island Sound (bay) side, add 1 hour and four (4) minutes for each high tide, and add 52 minutes for each low tide.

In between these points on gulf or bay --- guesstimate --- and have good fishing and - or shelling.

Mary Anne Bunting and Deena Nikki March lead off the traditional Greek wedding dance at the reception at Coconut Grove Sunday evening.

Deena Nikki Aleck and Mary Anne Aleck, the daughters of Mary Kontinos Aleck, became the brides of Raymond R. March and William W. Bunting Sunday afternoon in a double traditional Greek Orthodox wedding ceremony at St. Isabel's Church Sunday afternoon. Mr. March is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond March of Bonita and Mr. Bunting is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bunting of Wesley Chapel, Fla.

Mrs. March and Mrs. Bunting and their bridegrooms were the guests of honor at a dinner dance given in their honor by Mrs. Aleck and Mr. and Mrs. John Kontinos, aunt and uncle of the brides, at the Kontinos' Coconut Grove, where the festivities went on far into the night.

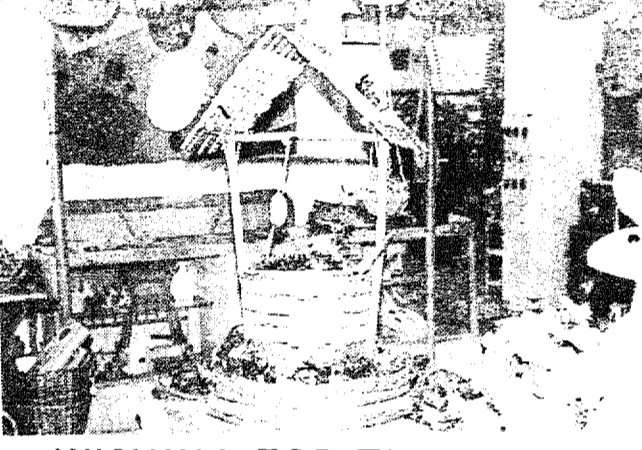

The impressive ceremony was conducted by The Rev. Fr. Arthur Kontinos, also the brides' uncle, assisted by The Rev. Fr. Demetrios Kalaris, also an uncle, and the Rev. Fr. Thomas Madden, retired rector of St. Michael's and All Angels Church.

Letter to The ISLANDER

To The ISLANDER:

"The term 'land use planning' has come into vogue in the last few years, particularly in relation to protection of the environment and development of natural resources.

"Land use planning is bureaucratic jargon devised by government planners to disguise their assaults on the constitutional right to property. 'Land Use planning' really means control of private lands. It means a person can have control of his property only if he uses it precisely as the government tells him to. 'Land use planning' is a modernized version of Mussolini-style fascism, which was so much admired by the New Deal social reformers before World War II.

"Attempts by the government to control private lands aren't new. Cities and counties have long had the power to zone land uses. But that isn't good enough for the federal planners. They want to move the zoning power to Washington and have one huge master planning zone for the entire nation. The first step is to get Congress to pass the National Land Use Planning Act which will force the states to initiate statewide management of zoning authorities. The next step will be to take management away from the states and entrench it in a new Washington bureaucracy.

"Fortunately, Congress has successfully defended the Constitution and turned down the National Land Use Planning Act for the past two years. The planners will keep trying, however. They operate from within the security of the federal bureaucracy, and they can afford to keep coming back and coming back until they wear Congress down.

"If we don't stop and start to protect our private property rights, there will be no private property and we will all be living in public housing like in the Communist countries."

The above quote came from Ronald Reagan's "Call to Action" - The candidate's official position on every major issue of the day. Published by Warner Books.

The park is to be run by the county as a community facility for both Sanibel and Captiva, with no charge to the general public for use of the facilities. The park will be staffed and maintained by the county parts department, and like other county parks, will be open except for those hours when school is in session.

The city council approved the project and the $15,000 expenditure subject to the signing of an interlocal agreement with Lee County and the resolve of certain questions the council posed with regard to the dual taxation issue.

Your astrological week especially cast for the Islands

by Madam Dorinda (phone: 481-3051)

Aries: Good time to finance home or property. Take care of health matters. before it goes too far. Don't believe everything you hear regarding social events or group activities.

Taurus: Imposition by insensitive people is likely. News from a distance is going to raise your hopes. Good aspects for promoting creativity or selling.

Gemini: Assist others in their efforts to show a profit and you will gain yourself. Be careful with flammables and control tempers especially where family members are concerned.

Cancer: Look out for news leaks or manage them to your advantage. Its a very good time for a trip this coming week-end. A call or letter can be very beneficial. Get it published now.

Leo: Important details may slip your mind. Don't trust your memory. Write it down. Aspects favor efforts to advertise or publicize. Others will respect your opinion, even if they don't like it.

Virgo: A good time to join others for fun or profit. Avoid becoming too involved with the details of other persons problems. You will receive much encouragement from others.

Libra: Changes can lead to a better job and more money. Catch up with behind the scenes projects. Pay attention to your intuition and hunches. Good time to redecorate.

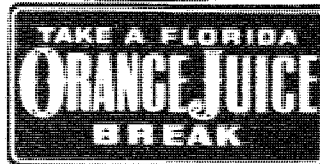

Scorpio: Fixed costs and obligations will not be able to be avoided. You are going to be relieved of responsibilities you thought you would have for a long time.

Sagittarius: Collaboration with a co-worker can result in unexpected home or health advantages. Stay away from impulsive financial ventures, however.

Capricorn: You will have to rush, rush, but take time to sort out a story from someone who is eager and pushy. You are likely to be very sensitive regarding loved ones or legal matters.

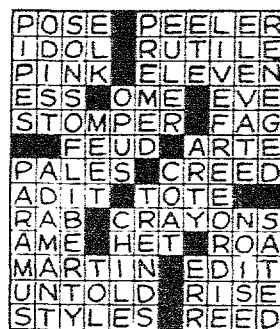

Aquarius: Your disposition should improve greatly because of domestic plans that go well. Other people will be ready to act while you are dragging your feet in work, or career.

Pisces: Avoid involvement in a fight with an authority figure that has a phony proposition. A rendezvous with an old flame could be very diverting. Don't irritate those who can help you.
